Bush: Iran must share in tragedy

Vice President George Bush, as he has done repeatedly over the last few days, defended the captain of the USS Vincennes. "One thing is clear," he said, "the USS Vincennes acted in self-defense" in firing two missiles at the jetliner, which it had deduced was an Iranian F-14 fighter closing in on the cruiser.

By TOM RAUM
Associated Press Writer
UNITED NATIONS — Vice President George Bush today called the accidental U.S. destruction of an Iranian airliner carrying 290 people a "terrible human tragedy" but told the U.N. Security Council that Iran shares in the responsibility.
Presenting the U.S. case in the Security Council's debate on the downing of Iran Air flight 655, Bush defended the U.S. naval presence in the Persian Gulf as "our legal right." Iran, which asked for a council condemnation of the U.S. action, was represented by its foreign minister, Ali-Akbar Velayati.
Bush said that Iran "allowed a civilian aircraft loaded with passengers to proceed on a path over a warship engaged in battle. That was irresponsible and a tragic error."
The vice president said he would not "dignify with a response the charge that we deliberately destroyed Iran Air 655."

And he said that Velayati "knows better."
Bush called the Persian Gulf a "region of vital importance to the United States and the economy of the world." He said the U.S. presence in the gulf was intended to help ensure the flow of oil and protect neutral commerce. "This is our legal right," he said.
Bush accused Iran of "reckless behavior toward neutral ships engaged in lawful commerce."
Bush, as he has done repeatedly over the last few days, defended the captain of the USS Vincennes. "One thing is clear," he said, "the USS Vincennes acted in self-defense" in firing two missiles at the jetliner, which it had deduced was an Iranian F-14 fighter closing in on the cruiser.
Bush called on Iran to immediately divert civilian air traffic away from areas of "active hostilities" and to join with Iraq in accepting an immediate ceasefire in the war that has raged since 1980.
"The victims of Iran Air 655 are only the most recent casualties of a brutal and senseless war that has brought immense pain and suffering to the people of both sides," Bush said.

Bush said he came to the United Nations, where he served as ambassador from 1971 to 1973, at the request of President Reagan, "because of the importance of the issues at stake."
Bush said it was "not just the terrible human tragedy of Iran Air 655 but the continuing conflict between Iran and Iraq" that brought him to speak.
Speaking with reporters on Air Force Two as he flew to New York, Bush said he had been selected because "the president decided to put some real emphasis on the policy of the United States by elevating the level of representation."
The appearance is likely to give the prospective Republican presidential nominee high visibility at a time when Democrats are preparing to nominate Michael Dukakis as their presidential candidate.
However, presidential

spokesman Marlin Fitzwater said Reagan's selection of Bush "reflects the importance of the issues at stake" and was not made for political reasons.

Dropouts target of group

By STEVE GEISSEN

In an effort to provide Big Spring with a comprehensive dropout prevention plan, the district's dropout task force met Wednesday to hear progress reports.
Seventeen of the committee's 26 members attended the 4 p.m. meeting held in the high school board room.
Murray Murphy, assistant superintendent for instruction and personnel, began the meeting by informing the group of the plans of the Hispanic Women for Progress, a newly formed group that will offer tutorial services for students in need of remediation.
"I think we'll see many positive things to come out of meetings such as these," he said.
Murphy also told the committee of the district's plan to open an alternative school for 16- to 18-year-old Howard County high school dropouts.
He told the group that the purpose of the school would be to "recover" high school dropouts. "The alternative school is part of the dropout recovery mode," Murphy said. "It is not an end, it is purely a means."
Only high school dropouts would attend the school, Murphy said. The purpose of the school would be to identify the educational weaknesses of the dropouts and then prepare them to take the General Equivalency Diploma test, he said.
Murphy expressed gratitude for the participation of Job Training Partnership Act in the alternative school program. JTPA will provide the initial funding for the school, he said.
Murphy emphasized that the alternative school proposal must be approved by the school board, adding that he believed the the district and the board was committed to going ahead with plans for the school.
He said the district has advertised for a coordinator for the alternative school and has received 10 applications.
After Murphy spoke, Loren Spencer, a member of the business/civic involvement subcommittee, told the group of the success of the vocational exploration program for economically disadvantaged youths sponsored by JTPA.
Spencer said that 20 area youths, primarily 14 to 16 years of age, have participated in the six-week summer program. The program provides vocational instruction in fields such as metal trades, electrical trades and drafting, he said.

AIDS nurse: 'You learn from children'

Editor's note: The legions of nurses who have devoted their working lives to the AIDS epidemic have been called unsung heroes. The federal government is honoring 14 of them today to celebrate the dedication and compassion of them all. This is the second of two profiles of AIDS nurses.

WASHINGTON — Morphine snaked slowly, silently down the tube and into the boy's vein. His dark eyes were round and open wide, too big for his wasting body. The light was low. Fear filled the room.

"I hurt all the time now, Dotie," he said.
The nurse tightened her grip on the boy's hand, almost imperceptibly. She didn't speak for a while.
"Do you get scared?"
She asked it serenely, quietly, matter-of-factly.
The boy nodded slightly, a little ashamed.
"A lot of kids get scared," she said. "It's a really scary time."

There was more silence. She kneaded his hand for a long time.
"I'm gonna go now," she said, finally.
"Why?"
"I have to see some other kids."
"No."
"I'll come back."
"When?"
"After lunch. Is that OK?"
"No."
She didn't go just yet, waiting until he was more ready.
"Don't you want to see my ear?" he asked, stalling. "The scab fell off."

The nurse lifted the gauze.
"Oh, that's great. It's looking much better."
The boy looked pleased. He was ready now. As ready as he could be. He left.

In the hallway outside, Dorothy Ward-Wimmer explained that the 6-year-old boy "won't get to leave the hospital unless he gets to go to an extended care facility."
What she means is that he will die. Perhaps not soon, but too soon. He will not go home again.

The medical team making the rounds of AIDS patients on this day at Children's Hospital had conferred for 10 minutes outside the boy's room about how to help the youngster cope with pain. That's all they were left with.
There was talk of finding another place for him — a hospice.
Maria Simmons, the boy's primary care nurse in the floor's intensive care unit, is having difficulty with the prospect. Her eyes moisten. There is discomfort

Rural/Metro Transport fee will increase

By MICHAEL DUFFY
Staff Writer
Users of Rural/Metro ambulance service will be paying 25 percent more for transportation per mile, while the city and county's subsidy of the service apparently will remain the same, it was decided Wednesday.
The Ambulance Advisory Committee voted 4 to 1 Wednesday night to increase — by $1 a mile — the fee Rural/Metro charges to transport patients and to retain the service with continued monthly subsidies.
The increase will be covered by Medicare and Rural/Metro Operations Manager Michael Black said the increase is still less than the $7.50 per mile he called "the industry standard."
Black estimated the $1 per mile increase will cost patients $20 more when transported within the city limits.
Howard County Commissioner O.L. (Louis) Brown cast the dissenting vote, saying the rate increase "was too much."
Maxwell Green, advisory committee coordinator, Dr. Donald Crockett, Henry Sanchez and Richard Atkins voted in favor of the increase.

MICHAEL BLACK

The committee also approved increases for certain medical supplies, although specific figures were not released.
The recommendations will be presented to the Big Spring City Council and Howard County Commissioners for approval.
Green said the city and county contribute $9,429 in subsidies to the ambulance service monthly. In other business, Black said

Rural/Metro personnel would take over staffing and upkeep responsibilities for a fourth ambulance.
Big Spring Acting City Manager Hal Boyd said the city is "not prepared" to handle those responsibilities for the coming year.
Fire department personnel have been staffing the fourth ambulance, officials said.
Green told the committee city officials had asked to be relieved of those duties because of budgeting concerns.
Black said a fourth ambulance would be used in an emergency situation only.
Firefighter Paul Brown expressed concern about a recently implemented policy that does require fire department personnel to assist Rural/Metro on a third-run ambulance.
Firemen will drive the ambulance to the hospital in the event emergency personnel were involved treating a patient, Black said.
Black said Rural/Metro responded to 1,700 emergency calls during the past year and called for fire department assistance only once.

Pleased, despite $40,000 lost

Despite losing a projected $40,000 during its first year of service, Rural/Metro Operations Manager Michael Black told Ambulance Advisory Committee members Wednesday night he was pleased with the overall record of the ambulance service.
Rural/Metro's average response time in the city limits of Big Spring during its first year of service has been less than five minutes — a record Black called "fantastic."
He attributed the losses to projections of "eight to ten" runs a day, which "never materialized" and overstaffing based on those expectations.
Rural/Metro averaged five calls per day over the past year, Black said.
To combat the losses, Rural/Metro will reduce staffing from four employees to three, including Black, Monday through Friday.

Committee member Dr. Donald Crockett said he has not received any complaints about Rural/Metro's response time.
"Response times have been down considerably — there's no doubt. I haven't heard a complaint in the past several months and it used to be very common," he said.
Rural/Metro's personnel have been averaging "between 15 and 20 minutes" from the time they arrive at the scene of an accident, treat a trauma victim and transport them to the hospital, Black said.
Although Black said he has immediately contacted people with minor complaints and "everyone seems to be satisfied," committee member O.L. (Louis) Brown disagreed with that assessment.

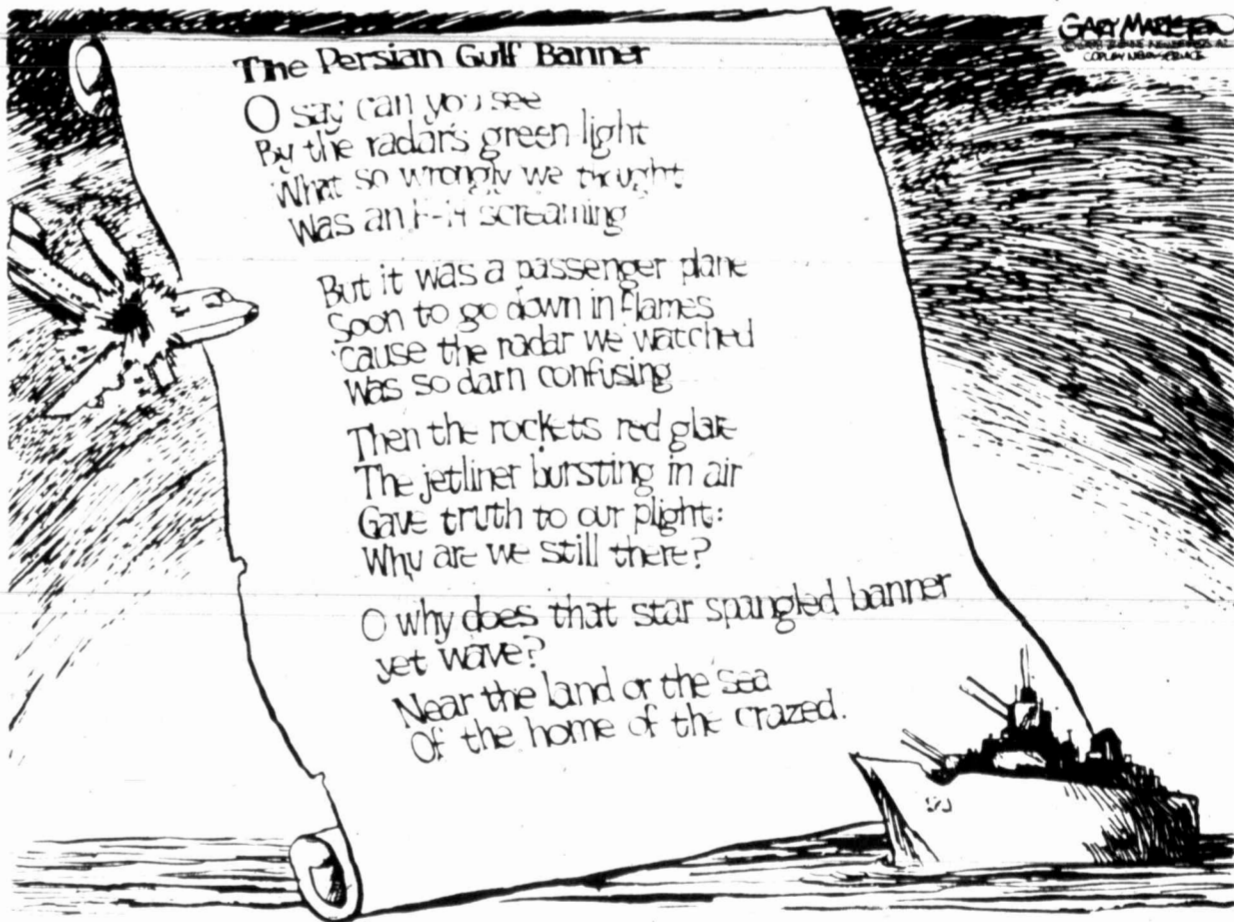

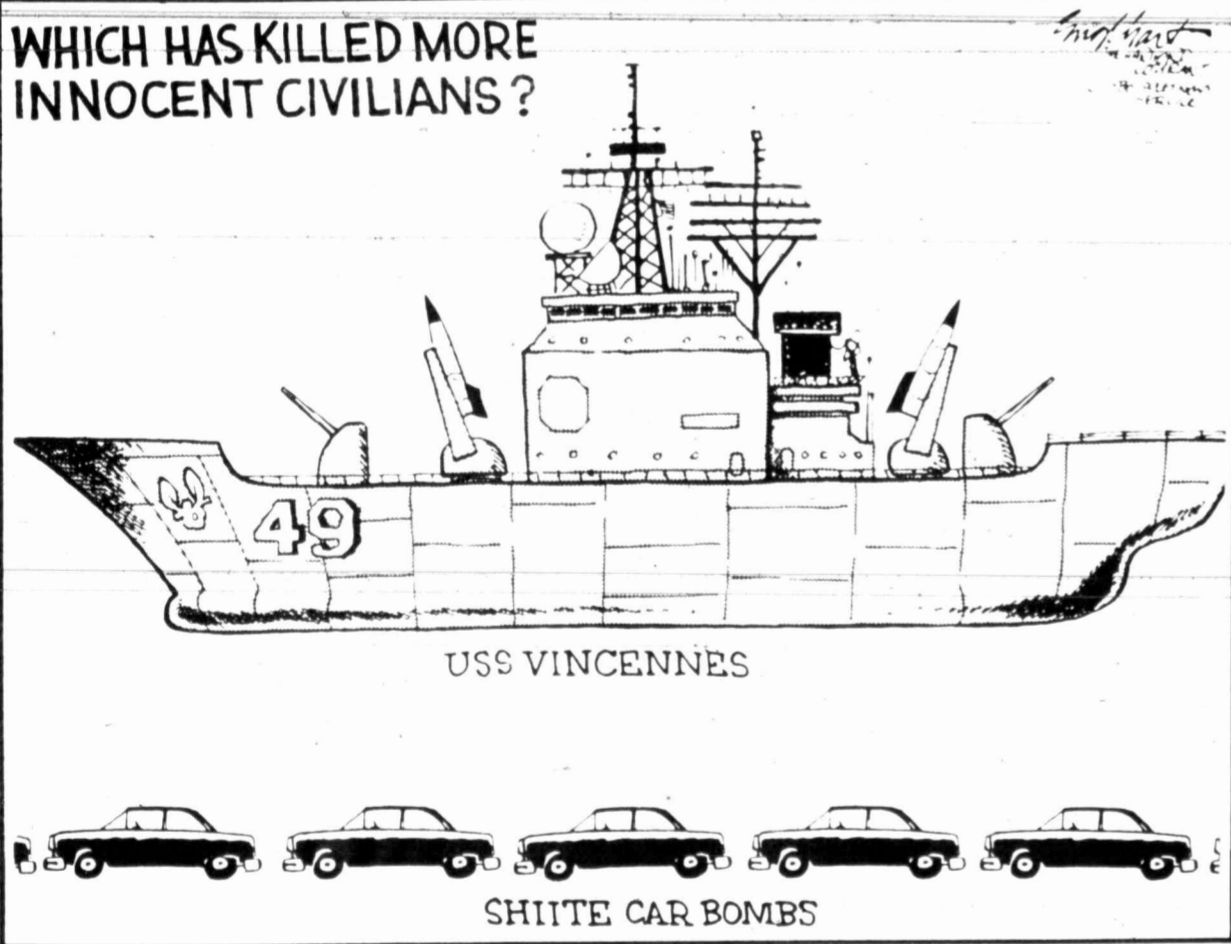

A woman heart attack victim and her husband have vehemently complained to him about one incident involving Rural/Metro, Brown said.
The woman said the ambulance transporting her to an out-of-town hospital broke down near Lamesa, forcing a delay in arrival time, the billing was excessive and the couple was treated "rudely" by Rural/Metro personnel when they inquired about the charges, Brown said.
Black said he has been in contact with the woman and asked Brown to discuss the matter privately after the meeting.
All of the committee members were present. Also attending were Big Spring Interim City Manager Hal Boyd, Fire Capt. Alex Calvio and firemen Paul Brown.

Contra defendants say only crime was loyalty to administration

MIAMI (AP) — Men indicted on charges they violated federal neutrality laws by helping the Nicaraguan Contras say the Reagan administration betrayed their patriotic fervor and abandoned them as scapegoats.

They used them and then abused them. Doug Jones, attorney for Thomas Posey, said of the administration. "You will never hear one iota of evidence that anyone asked them to stop."

The federal indictment unsealed Wednesday named seven men, including the brother of Contra leader Adolfo Calero, but no U.S. administration officials or top Contra figures as some had expected.

It accuses the men of sending mercenaries into combat in Nicaragua, including a group that tried unsuccessfully to blow up a bridge in 1985, but was forced out of the country, said Assistant U.S. Attorney Mark Schnapp.

Jeffrey Feldman, the assistant U.S. attorney who prepared the case, declined to talk about it because of "a fundamental obligation to assure that the defendants get a fair trial."

There were no contacts made with this office that attempted to influence the investigation, Lehtinen said.

Reagan returning to WOC microphone

DAVENPORT, Iowa (AP) — Ronald Reagan seems to be the same handsome, good-natured fellow he was in 1932, when he started out as a $5-a-week sports announcer at WOC radio, a former co-worker said on the eve of the president's return visit.

The Senate approved the same measure a week ago by a veto-proof 72-23 vote in the biggest legislative battle of the decade between corporate America and labor unions.

Lindberg junior PARIS — Californian pilot Lee Marshall, 11, waves the American flag and tips his hat to supporters upon arrival at Paris Le Bourget airport today. Salinas wins by record low margin

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Opposition leaders say the governing party stole the presidential election, which final results say Carlos Salinas de Gortari won by the slimmest margin in the Institutional Revolutionary Party's 59 years.

The PRI-dominated commission, which originally promised results the day after the July 6 balloting, said Salinas received 9.64 million votes, or 50.36 percent, far below the 70 percent the PRI has traditionally won.

U.S., Vietnamese officials talk

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — U.S. and Vietnamese officials today opened talks on the United States' offer to resettle thousands of people detained in "reeducation" camps after the Vietnam War, a Western diplomat said.

Doe says coup attempt quashed

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Liberian President Samuel K. Doe said his security forces repelled an invasion and coup attempt led by his former second-in-command, a church-owned radio station reported.

Western pounds Internationals

By STEVE BELVIN Sports Editor
MIDLAND - Midland Western pitcher Robert Settles overcame early inning control problems and the Western hitters unleashed a strong hitting attack to defeat the Big Spring International League All-Stars 22-9 in District III Little League Tournament play Wednesday night.

Settles literally pounded the International Stars, hitting five batters while issuing 12 walks. But Big Spring had a hard time hitting the hard throwing righty.

The lone hit was a two-run scoring single by International shortstop Gabriel Aguilar in the second inning.

LYTHAM, England (AP) - Seve Ballesteros of Spain, playing what he said was about as well as he could play over the first 13 holes, overcame violent winds to take a big lead on the first day of the British Open today.

Ballesteros, the favorite to take his third open title, birdied five of the first nine holes and finished with a 4-under-par 67.

Steady winds of 25 mph and up blew all over the course and made it especially tough on the back nine, where sub-par round after sub-par round suddenly turned sour.

Two Australians were closest to Ballesteros among the early finishers, and they were three shots back.

Former Masters champion Craig Stadler of the United States was 2-under at the turn, along with a pack of other golfers that included English amateur Paul Broadhurst.

But the wind on the back nine, blowing either across the fairways or straight into the golfers' faces, was sending the scores of other hopefuls up in flames.

Five-time champ Tom Watson of the United States bogeyed the 11th, 12th and 14th, and was 2-over with two holes to play.

Three-time champion Jack Nicklaus shot a 75, 4-over par but not bad for a man who had so much discomfort from an upset stomach

Jury to render verdict in case of injured college footballer

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) - A Charleston County jury is about to decide who was at fault in the 1985 football accident which left Citadel middle linebacker Marc Buoniconti a quadriplegic.

After hearing testimony from more than 50 witnesses over 22 days, the jury of six men and six women was expected to begin deliberations in Buoniconti's $16.5 million negligence suit late today.

While witnesses for Buoniconti have testified it would take $14.5 million up front to finance his care for the rest of his life, experts for the defense countered that $547,000 would cover the bill.

The lawsuit charges Wallace was negligent in treating a neck sprain Buoniconti suffered several weeks before the game. It also charges Wallace failed to warn him that ex-

Other top hitters for Midland Western were center fielder Angel Davis, who went four-for-five at the plate. Davis singled twice, doubled and tripled, scoring four times and driving in two runs.

Right fielder Ricky Reyes carried the "power bat" for the winners. He blasted two homers and drove in six runs. Settles aided his own cause by collecting three hits and shortstop Danny Uris got two hits.

The Internationals struck first by scoring two runs in the first inning, thanks to Settles' wildness. Settles walked five, including three hit batsmen. John Oliva and Martinez scored for Big Spring.

The Internationals took a 5-3 lead in the bottom of the inning. It would be the last time they would lead. Michael Hernandez was hit by a pitch, and scored on a Western error.

The Midland team took control of the game in the third inning by rocking Martinez for six runs on seven hits. Midland Western got four doubles and a triple in the inning.

Reyes hit his first homer of the game, blasting a two-run shot in the first inning.

Settles surrendered control problems in the bottom of the sixth, walking five and allowing three Big Spring runners to score, as the Midland team came away with a convincing 22-9 victory.

Local trapshooter win again

HERALD STAFF REPORT
RATON, N.M. - Local marksman Kelly Rogers is on a roll.

Two weeks after winning the Texas State Doubles Trapshooting title in Amarillo, Rogers attended the New Mexico state shoot and won the Doubles crown there, defeating Colorado Springs, Colo. native Billy Sayles by three points in a shoot-off.

In addition, Rogers won the long-yardage title in the handicap event, compiling a score of 95X100 from 27 yards. This earned him the Open runner-up spot in handicap. Fellow Texan Bruce West won the Open division with a score of 97X100.

The first and second place finishes allowed Rogers to win the All-Around championship with a combined score of 389X400.

Americans nip Nationals in Triple A All-Star tilt

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Ed Jurak provided a case of deja vu for at one ungrateful onlooker in the inaugural Triple-A All-Star game.

Jurak of the Tacoma Tigers tripped and scored the winning run in the ninth inning as the American League's top farmhands duplicated the feat of their older beat the National League 2-1 Wednesday night in the inaugural All-Star game teaming players from the International League, Pacific Coast League and American Association.

But Jurak's heroics were nothing new for Terry Collins, manager of the team of the National League's best minor league prospects.

"I've seen Eddie Jurak beat me a lot," said Collins, whose Albuquerque Dukes play the Tigers in the PCL. "As a matter of fact, he beat me about a month ago in a big ballgame where he got a base hit with a couple of guys on base. He's a good, solid player."

In a game that featured excellent pitching, an enthusiastic sellout crowd of 19,500 at new Pile Field, an appearance by baseball's buxom "Kissing Bandit" Morganna and the presence of female umpire Pam Postema behind home plate, it was Jurak who held the spotlight as the game's most valuable player.

Jurak, who spent the 1983 and 1984 seasons with the Boston Red Sox, said he thought about being the hero before he opened the ninth inning with his triple.

"It always pops through your mind," said Jurak, an Oakland Athletics farmhand who said Oakland catcher Terry Steinbach's MVP performance in the major league All-Star game gave him added incentive.

"I was telling our second baseman, Lance Blankenship, let's keep it in the Oakland organization as far as the MVP goes," said Jurak, who made a loser out of Richmond Braves pitcher Joe Boever.

Jurak said that, like all the other minor league All-Stars, he's hoping his performance might help him get back into the majors.

Big mouth owner makes apology

NEW YORK (AP) — New York Yankees owner George Steinbrenner is apologizing for his criticism of All-Star first baseman Don Mattingly, according to a published report.

Steinbrenner was quoted in today's New York Daily News as saying he would leave the players alone and not criticize them publicly the rest of the season.

"I'm backing off. I've got to back off," he told the newspaper. "So I'm off. I'm clamming up."

Earlier this week, Steinbrenner criticized what he called his "big money players," specifically referring to All-Stars Mattingly, Dave Winfield and Rickey Henderson.

This time, he said of his comments on Mattingly:

"I'm sorry that it came out wrong about Don Mattingly and you can quote me. Listen, here's all I was saying about Mattingly, other than I don't think a guy who's not long off the disabled list should be going to the All-Star Game, which is a carnival, nothing more. Mattingly, you ended up judging him by superman terms. I wasn't calling Don Mattingly a bum. I just was saying Don Mattingly hasn't given me the kind of production he has in the past, if you look carefully at his numbers."

He also reiterated his wish that Winfield tone down his off-field schedule, particularly public appearances.

Coahoma 7, Odessa Jim Parker 5
 The Coahoma Little League All-Stars scored seven runs in the first three innings, then withstood a late rally to defeat the Odessa Jim Parker All-Stars, 7-5, in opening-round action Wednesday.

Brandon Adcock, Jeff Perneton and Jerry Wayne Krause paced an 11-hit attack for the Coahoma stars, with each collecting two hits. Winning pitcher Frank Ortega scattered six hits over 5½ innings to earn the victory.

The game was all Coahoma in the early innings.

"Hopefully, Oakland appreciates it and I'll get up there and get a chance to play in the fall," said Jurak, who was called up briefly by the Athletics earlier in the season.

Pitchers dominated in the game. Seven American Leaguers limited the Nationals to only three hits, one a solo homer by New York Mets prospect Gregg Jefferies of Ironically, Edmonton Trappers pitcher Urbano Lugo, who gave up the Jefferies home run, got the victory.

"It's kind of like spring training, you're seeing a different pitcher every inning," said American League and Oklahoma City 89ers third baseman Tom O'Malley, the only player to get two hits. "Pitching is always a dominant force in baseball. It proved it in the major league All-Star game and in our game here."

Added Vancouver Canadians pitcher Donn Pall, who got the first two National League outs in the final inning, "The hitters haven't seen many of us pitch at all. It seems like when nobody really knows the opponent, the pitchers seem to have the advantage."

One hitter who had an unusual handicap was the National League's Benny Distefano. The Buffalo Bisons designated hitter became the first minor league player to be bussed by Morganna, who said she's kissed 21 major leaguers.

"I turned around and I saw here and I said, 'Gee,'" said Distefano, who got the treatment as he stepped to the plate in the second inning. "I had a lot of fun. It was awesome at the time and it's something I'll never forget."

A grinning Distefano wasn't inspired by the special treatment, however. He popped out to center.

Morganna, who wasn't charged despite the fact spectators aren't allowed on the field, apparently was impressed as well.

"I like this," she said to a national audience that watched the game on ESPN. "I may keep this up with Triple A."

Postema, the first female umpire in the highest minor league classification, worked the game without incident.

Pokes sign all draft choices

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) — The signing of former UCLA linebacker Ken Norton Jr. has allowed the Dallas Cowboys to become the first NFL team to sign all their draft choices.

Norton agreed to a four-year contract that sources say will pay him about $950,000 late Wednesday.

Norton, 21, 6-2, and 224 pounds, is the son of former heavyweight boxing champion Ken Norton Sr., and was the second player selected by Dallas in the recent National Football League draft.

"I had hoped to be there on time. I wanted to learn all I could and have a positive impact on the team. I want to sign as soon as I can. I've missed some training camp, and that's not positive at all," Norton said before reaching the agreement.

"I'm real anxious to play and be the best football player I can be."

Norton will take a physical early today and is expected to join the other players in training camp for a 10 a.m. workout.

Admitting that he will be behind other rookies in camp, Norton said he is confident he can catch up.

"I just have to cut my lunches a little shorter and catch up for those few days," Norton said. "I didn't want to miss too much."

"The defense is supposed to be really difficult to learn," he added. "I missed some days that put me behind, but not as far as it could be. It could be a lot worse."

Norton was described by pro scouting combines as "one of the hardest tacklers" in college football. He led UCLA last year with 119 tackles.

He entered UCLA as a running back, having rushed for 840 yards and 10 touchdowns his senior year in high school, but switched to linebacker before his freshman year in college.

Pro scouts called him not only an outstanding tackler but an excellent pass defender with the quickness to handle the speedy runners coming out of the backfield.

Ex-coach has no comment

HOUSTON (AP) — As a two-year NCAA inquiry into the University of Houston football program came to an end, former Coach Bill Yeoman recanted earlier denials of extensive rules violations, the Houston Chronicle reports.

Yeoman in 1987 had acknowledged only limited minor improprieties were committed for "humanitarian purposes" for players and their families. But Yeoman later changed his story, the Chronicle reported today in quoting an unnamed source.

"He saw the conflict in what the NCAA (National Collegiate Athletic Association) had found and what had been said earlier. The heat just came down," the source said.

The University released a 26-page NCAA official inquiry Tuesday that summarizes at least 250 incidents of alleged rules violations, including cash payments to players, said to have occurred during an eight-year period ending in 1986.

Yeoman, who now works as a $103,000-a-year university athletics fund-raiser, has declined to comment on the allegations.

"I see no reason to comment," Yeoman said Tuesday. "Right now, the 90 days (UH has to respond to the charges) is what we need. I'm not going to say anything until everything is over. At that time, I might have something to say."

Several sources indicated that until recently, Yeoman had not cooperated with university and NCAA inquiries that began in March 1986.

Eventually, in meetings with the attorneys hired by the university to investigate the matter, Yeoman acknowledged he had been involved in minor rules violations when, for example, a former football player or his family faced financial trouble.

Big Spring Nationals 6, Midland Tower 3
 Wes Hughes fired a two-hitter and the Big Spring National League All-Stars overcame a 3-0 deficit to defeat Midland Tower.

Hughes yielded a three-run homer in the second inning as the Nationals fell behind 3-0. The Big Spring team scratched for a run in the third, and tied the game at 3 apiece in the fourth. The Big Spring team iced the game by scoring three times in the fifth, sending Tower into the loser's bracket.

Third baseman Matt Cave and center fielder Danny Ybarra led the Nationals, driving in two runs each. Ybarra doubled, and Cave hit two singles. Hughes tripled in the winning cause.

The Nationals will play Midland Western Friday at 7:30 p.m.

Picking Postema PR move?

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Albuquerque Dukes manager Terry Collins believes Pam Postema "knows what she's doing," but says her selection as home plate umpire in the first Triple A All-Star game "probably was a public relations move."

Postema, seeking to become the first female to umpire in the major leagues, said she doesn't care why she was selected for the honor. "I don't really care about how I got it," she said. "I got it."

Aside from a few glares from batters on called third strikes, Postema fulfilled any umpire's desire in Wednesday night's 2-1 victory by American League farmhands over their National League counterparts: she did her job well enough that she went unnoticed.

Although her unique situation automatically brings attention to her, Postema is clearly tired of dealing with the questions about when — or if — she'll ever make it to the majors.

"I'm not thinking about that now," she said. "I really don't want to talk about going up to the big leagues — when or where or if — because I don't know anything."

Postema said she's "uncomfortable with it (the publicity). I really don't want it, but I understand it. I guess we all kind of like to be noticed, but I don't think it's good for umpires. I think umpires' work should be kept on the field. I don't think there's any need for me to be up there talking."

She added, "I understand that I'm different, but I'm just another umpire out there on the field."

The All-Stars gave Postema their approval, although at least one was clearly concerned with the possibility any public comment may come back to haunt him later.

"I don't want to say anything that can get me in trouble," said the Denver Zephyrs' designated hitter Tim Pynzarski, who sees Postema regularly in the American Association.

"She's a decent umpire," he said. "I've seen worse. I've seen better. She's doing the best job that she knows how."

Joe Boever, the Richmond Braves pitcher who lost the game, said Postema is a good umpire. "She's consistent in her calls," he said. "She doesn't take any flak."
