'Bible says no rapture'

By SARAH LUMAN

Not only is the rapture not going to happen in the next three days, two local pastors say, the Bible does not teach that it will happen at

Birdwell Lane Church of Christ's preacher, Billy Patton, disagreed Saturday with the book, "On Borrowed Time," which is also titled, "88 Reasons Why the Rapture Will

St. Thomas Catholic Church parish pastor Robert Vreteaumoi also disagreed Saturday with the book's claim that the world will end before Wednesday in conjunction with Christ's return to earth.

"It's certainly not going to end in the next three days," Vreteaumoi said. "The rapture, as they are using the concept, is not even Biblical. If they want to believe

The Bible does not teach that there will be a rapture," Patton said. "If they want 88 reasons, just take that and repeat it 88 times.' He said the book, written by Edgar C. Whisenant, was not unlike other books of the same type, such as Hal Lindsey's "The Late Great Planet Earth." He also cited a 1970 book by Herbert W. Armstrong that predicted that within 15 years, all the world's nations would join in a utopia.

'When that did not come to pass, Herbert W. Armstrong had to explain it, and what he said was, 'For some reason the Lord hasn't done it yet.... He died disillusioned about it."

That kind of disillusionment, Patton says, could infect and embitter believers who expect the resurrection of dead loved ones.

"I have loved ones who have passed away," Patton said. "If I believed in this book, I'd be out there at the cemetery (Sunday) morning, waiting for their return from the graves — and Wednesday morning, when they had not come back, I would be brokenhearted and disillusioned.'

He said he fears many believers will experience that letdown when the predicted rapture does not occur — but even worse for Christianity, he said, will be the effect on nonbelievers.

"They will be able to say, 'That just proves again that the Bible isn't true,' and they will put us all RAPTURE page 9-A

Dukakis blasts Bush; George leads in polls

By ROBERT M. ANDREWS Associated Press Writer

Democrat Michael Dukakis and running mate Lloyd Bentsen turned up the heat Saturday in a gettough campaign against Republican George Bush, who buoyantly prepared for a crosscountry tour of industrial states rich in electoral votes.

Dukakis, spending the weekend in Boston, accused several of the vice president's closest aides of using the White House as a "back door for foreign lobbyists" and declared that "in a Dukakis White House, the staff will pledge allegiance to only one flag - Old

Preceding Bush to Los Angeles, Bentsen inspected evidence of gang violence — guns, knives and a bullet-riddled car — which he said had increased during the Reagan administration. Bentsen said Bush had led the war against drugs as vice president and "blew it badly."

The GOP nominee, elated by an eight-point lead over Dukakis in public opinion polls, relaxed at his Washington home this weekend before leaving Monday for appearances in New Jersey, Illinois, Missouri, California and Ohio.

Bush also planned to announce the formation of a national security advisory task force including former Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, former U.N. am-Brzezinski, who was President Carter's national security adviser.

"I mean to win this election," Bush said repeatedly last week. And Dukakis finally heeded his worried supporters' pleas to take a more combative, aggressive stance against Bush.

The Democratic nominee stepped up the attack at a news conference Saturday in which he denounced the vice president for employing three senior advisers who also are partners in a Washington lobbying firm hired by the government of the Bahamas to ment of Mr. Bush. improve its image among Reagan administration officials.

Dukakis released a memo by the firm of Charles R. Black, Paul J. Manafort and Roger J. Stone that boasted of the company's influence inside the administration and listed more than a dozen contacts in Bush's office. The firm received $800,000 in 1985 and 1986 from the Bahamian government. The Bahamian prime minister, Lynden O. Pindling, long has been suspected of involvement with drug traffickers. "The measure of a president is the quality and the integrity of the people with whom he surrounds himself," Dukakis said. "The American people have the right to activities, and took the occasion to know that the back door of the bassador Jeane Kirkpatrick, White House will not be the front tion's anti-drug campaign former national security adviser door for paid agents of foreign Brent Scowcroft and Zbigniew governments. In a Dukakis White House, there will be no back doors for foreign lobbyists.

Dukakis referred to other campaign aides who reportedly have been sympathetic to Nazis and Nazi organizations, including Jerome Brentar, who resigned as co-chairman of a Bush campaign organization for ethnic groups when it was disclosed that he once defended convicted Nazi war criminal John Demjanjuk. "I think it says a great deal about that campaign," Dukakis said. "It says a great deal about the judg-

Dukakis also twitted Bush, as president of the Senate, for never proposing that senators recite the Pledge of Allegiance as part of their legislative business.

That comment, and his reference to pledging allegiance to only one flag, was the nominee's response to Bush's frequent criticism of Dukakis for vetoing a state bill aimed at requiring public school teachers to lead their classes in reciting the pledge. Dukakis says he was advised that the bill was unconstitutional.

Deaths leave unanswered questions

By MICHAEL DUFFY Staff Writer

Inez Petty is mourning the death of a man she loved "like a son" and is confused by the senseless waste of a human life.

Jimmy Carrillo died Sept. 3 at age 26 in unceremonious fashion: His body was found in the parking lot of the Ritz Theatre, 104 S. Main

The cause of death is listed as aspiration — inhaling of foreign objects or materials into the lungs after his head struck the asphalt pavement on the theater's parking lot, according to Dr. Robert Rember, the pathologist who performed the autopsy.

Police are still awaiting tox- was at times "an unhappy person," icology results and are gathering information that will be presented to a Howard County grand jury.

Petty believes the toxicology tests will reveal a high concentration of alcohol in Carrillo's blood. She knew him very well and of his affinity for hard drinking. Carrillo lived at 1014 Bluebonnett Avenue with Petty and her husband James for the past eight

"He was kind of like a lost puppy dog when my son (Joe Petty) brought him to our home when he was 18. We just accepted him and took care of him," Petty said. Although she advised Carrillo he was also a man who cared about 'Joe always considered him like a brother. He was a good kid and we trusted him. We took care of him when he was sick and he did things for anyone," Petty said. She was aware, however, that

Carrillo had a darker, more melancholy side to his personality. "He did drink to excess and when he did he became angry," Petty may have given heavy drinking a new meaning.

Petty said he and friends would sometimes purchase a gallon of Seagram's Crown Royal bourbon and begin "shooting.

The 80 proof whiskey is generally considered one of the finest — and most expensive — in the United States. For the uninformed, Petty said shooting is a slang term for the rapid intake of alcohol in shot

She said Carrillo, who weighed 250 pounds, and one or two friends could consume a bottle of Crown

Royal in "15 to 20 minutes. The end result of his rapid consumption of that amount of liquor would often lead to Carrillo initiating fights - and often not remembering what happened.

Petty believes he had been shooting bourbon several hours before his death "He was so full of alcohol it was like he was pickled," she said authorities have told her.

Petty only hopes that Carrillo's death did not occur in vain.

"What's it going to take for these kids to learn," she asked. "These are unhappy children, but they're not children anymore, they're young adults. If these kids would just think.

Carrillo was a sensitive person who had compassion for other people. Petty said.

TAMMY GRAY By MICHAEL DUFFY Staff Writer

It was during the early morning hours of June 23 when a 27-yearold Big Spring woman apparently drowned in Lake Colorado City yet 21/2 months later investigators still await a final autopsy report to learn the exact cause of her death.

"I haven't heard anything from them," she said.

The only information that can be released is whether the report is complete — and it isn't, the spokeswoman said Thursday.

Mitchell County Sheriff Wendell Bryant said his department's investigation into Gray's death is continuing and will not be complete until a final written autopsy report has been reviewed by him. Bryant said he has contacted the medical examiner's office regularly, however, he has been informed that all the test results have not been completed.

"They tell me that they are tremendously busy," he said. Autopsies that take prolonged periods of time to complete are not uncommon, Bryant said.

"We investigated the case of a man who died on Feb. 7 and we just received the final autopsy report 6 or 7 weeks ago," advised.

Repeated attempts to reach the chief investigator into Gray's death, O.D. Majors, have been unsuccessful.

Gray was pulled from a section of Lake Colorado City by her husband, Travis Dale Gray, who drove her to the Mitchell County Hospital where physicians' attempts to revive her failed, accor ding to reports.

Gray filed for divorce against her husband in late April, but apparently didn't pursue the action. Besides her husband, the last people to see her alive were patrons of the Brass Nail II club, on south Highway 87, hours before her death, according to Patsy Payne, Gray's mother.

For Payne, the grief she has felt since her daughter's death has turned into frustration.

San Diego's old wounds reopen with trials approaching

By JOEL WILLIAMS Associated Press Writer

SAN DIEGO, Texas — The approaching trials of 10 men accused of abducting and gang-raping a 19-year-old mother of two, have reopened old wounds in this South Texas town that for years has lived under the cloud of Duval County's bad reputation. Many in the dusty city of 5,000 think the negative image is undeserved, that sins of the past should be forgiven and forgotten. 'They always felt like the county had been given a bad name, and

The alleged victim and the boy will testify at the trials, the prosecutor added. The woman told authorities that she was taken against her will to a colonia - an unincorparated area north of town where an illegal cockfight was being held the night of March 26. There, and in two other locations, she said she was repeatedly raped and sodomized by as many as 20 men before she "Tentatively, Capt. Davis may talk with the NTSB early next week, depending on his condition, which may change from day to day," Thompson said in his statement.

NTSB officials, anxious to interview Davis about what might have gone wrong and to find out how 95 people survived, complained that they were being kept away from the Delta captain by overprotec-

WASHINGTON Lauro F. Cavazos says it's time for the nation to "start caring" about the educational needs of all citizens, and is promising to put the focus on the issue if confirmed as the next education secretary.

'I know this won't be turned around in a decade. We can't wait any longer, we've waited too long,' Cavazos told the Senate Labor and Human Relations Committee as it considered his nomination Friday to replace outgoing Secretary William J. Bennett. If sworn in, Cavazos would become the first Hispanic member of a president's Cabinet.

Cavazos appeared headed for an praising the son of a King Ranch cattle foreman who went on to become president of Texas Tech University.

He became the first Hispanic and the first graduate of the school in Lubbock to hold the post with his selection in 1980.

"He is eminently qualified for this appointment with considerable experience in higher education,' said Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I.

"And in view of the fact that he has 10 children between the ages of 21 and 31, he has also had a central investment in elementary and secondary education.

Committee Chairman Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., said he was impressed and reassured by Cavazos' testimony that he would fight for increased spending and for making the Education Department a vigorous advocate of education for all.

"Your responses have been enormously helpful and I look forward to supporting you now," Kennedy said. "I'm going to do everything we can to assure an early confirmation."

Kennedy said a vote by the committee may be taken Tuesday.

'It seems like you're the type of person who can come in here and heal any wounds that might exist, and build that consensus," said Sen. Orrin Hatch, R-Utah.

President Reagan last month nominated Cavazos to replace the often-confrontational Bennett.

Cavazos, 61, during questioning by Kennedy, said he disagreed with some of Bennett's positions, including the secretary's claim that bilingual education had been a Bennett declared in 1985 that there was no evidence that the Bilingual Education Act had helped children, but Cavazos said: "I believe there has been a tremendous amount of success across a long period of time.

But Cavazos praised Bennett and the administration's leadership in education, saying that in the past seven years "we have arrested the decline in American education, but . . . we still have much to accomplish.'

'We must do everything in our power to help each student reach his or her potential," Cavazos said. To remain a great nation, we must ensure that no human resource is left untapped.

"We must keep our young people in school, make our citizens literate, provide opportunity to our minority students, and foster independence for handicapped students. America needs the full participation of every individual and the only way to ensure this is through quality education.'

Cavazos has a bachelor's degree in zoology and a master's degree in cytology - the study of cells from Texas Tech and a 1954 doctorate in physiology from Iowa State University

Insurance collapse hits teachers

AUSTIN (AP) - A self-federal bankruptcy code, the years ago provided health and hospitalization coverage for more than 22,000 Texas school teachers and their families, has collapsed, leaving $8.5 million in medical bills unpaid. Without coverage, the teachers and other school employees will have to pay the full amount owed, principally to doctors and hospitals.

Soaring costs led to higher premiums and cash-flow problems that delayed reimbursement payments by months. As a result, many members quit the program and found insurance coverage elsewhere.

Amarillo to eye natural gas pact

AMARILLO (AP) — Amarillo consumers could see lower fuel bills soon, if City Commissioners approve a tentative agreement reached by Mesa Limited Partnership and Energas Co.

After months of negotiations, Mesa and Energas announced their proposal Friday to settle a city lawsuit against the firms on behalf of the city's natural gas customers

Mesa agreed to cut gas prices to Energas by $6 million to lower the price from $2.76 to $2.60 per 1,000 cubic feet of gas, retroactive to the first of the year. The terms of the agreement would allow a 2 percent increase in price over the next five years until Jan. 1, 1993, the Amarillo Globe-News reported.

In addition, city officials say there is a possibility that another $3 million could be included in cuts over the next five years that will be passed on to consumers if the commission approves the settlement at its regular Tuesday meeting The settlement proposal would allow Mesa to sell or exchange gas from acreage in the West Panhandle Field outside of Amarillo as long as comparable volumes are returned for distribution in the city.

Amarillo has contended it has rights to claim damages on behalf of gas consumers in the city under a contract for that property. Mesa believes the city is an incidental beneficiary of the contract between two other parties

Miss Minnesota named Miss America 1989

Miss Minnesota Gretchen Elizabeth Carlson, a self-assured performer who wants to be a Harvard-trained lawyer, on Saturday became the first classical violinist to win the Miss America crown in a close contest that needed two polls of the judges.

Miss Carlson erupted in tears as her name was announced. She laughed and cried as she took her wictory walk along the runway at ammontion Holl.

The 5-foot-3, 108-pound Miss Carlson impressed judges with a spirited violin piece titled "Gypsy Airs." The piece started slow and moving, then jumped into a splashy, fast-paced beat.

But getting her name from the judges was not easy. As television host Gary Collins walked to the judge's area in front of the stage to learn who had won, he was told

Officials: Combining libraries not feasible

HERALD STAFF REPORT

A study of a proposal to combine the Howard College Learning Resource Center and the Howard County Library has shown combining the libraries not to be feasible, officials said Saturday.

Howard College President Bob Riley, PhD., and Howard County Commissioner Bill Crooker agreed Saturday afternoon that the project would not be practical, primarily because of the cost of constructing a facility to house the combined

Abortion issue

Abortion is a highly emotional issue and one on which it is almost impossible to remain neutral. Unfortunately it is also a subject that seems to defy reasoned, rational

Regardless of the emotions involved, abortion in the United States is a legal procedure and has been since the 1973 Roe vs. Wade Supreme Court decision that recognized abortion as a fundamental constitutional right. Furthermore, poll after poll has shown that a majority of citizens favor abortion.

It is therefore disturbing to read that the Medical Center Hospital of San Antonio has had its funding threatened because of the abortion issue.

Bexar County Commissioner John Longoria was reported to have taken the position of opposing the Hospital District's budget because abortions are performed at the medical center. The hospital, in a prepared statement, said it will be responsive to what the Commissioner's Court decides.

Longoria backed down from putting the abortion issue to a vote of the commissioners and apparently the hospital funding is safe for this year. The question remains, however, why abortion and hospital funding were ever linked in the first place.

A licensed physician performs a legal medical procedure in an approved medical facility at the expressed wishes of the patient. Whether the medical procedure is an appendectomy, a kidney transplant or an abortion is irrelevant. The hospital is clearly performing its proper function — within the boundaries of the laws of this Hospital records show that 325 abortions were performed at the Medical Center in 1987. Presumably these abortions were obtained by women who felt they did not want to have a child, for whatever reason, at that particular time.

It is difficult to argue that an unwanted child should be brought into the world, especially since there is no guarantee it will be the perfect white baby preferred by

Until every child in this country is assured a safe, healthy and secure home it seems more appropriate to direct our efforts toward the living instead of the unborn.

The time, money and energy lavished on the yetunborn could be spent solving the problems of low wages; inadequate health care for the poor, lack of affordable child care, limited enforcement of child support, neglect and abuse, and all the other social ills that affect our nation's living children.

True Texas vice president over a presidency of Bush?

In the days immediately after his nomination, Vice President George Bush made a point of campaigning in Texas wearing a pair of boots embroidered with the Lone Star flag. There is obvious concern in the Bush camp about the survey that found that more than 60 percent of Texas voters do not consider Bush a "real Texan."

The question of Bush's status as Texan rivals the Pledge of Allegiance furor for lack of substance. But the issue was first raised by Texas Republicans as they touted the supposed advantages of a president from Texas over a vice president from Texas. But there is room for debating the

The state of Texas had no place, really, in George Bush's formative years. Texas was simply his opportunity to make a quick buck and go while the getting was That's fine. But the question that emerges is: If Bush is elected and proves to be the eastern scion many say he is, who would take the concerns of Texas to heart? Certainly not the candidate from Indiana. Indeed, in the ways of Washington, it may well be that a Texan vice president in the person of Lloyd Bentsen would give Texas a "third" senator, given that the vice president presides over the Senate and breaks tie votes therein. In the event of a 50-50 party split in the Senate, a Texas vice president would be a powerful force in that chamber, casting critical tie-breaking votes.

But a more serious consideraoffice of the vice president. both to Bentsen's counsel and his

Ironically, the office began to grow in stature during the tenure of the last Texan to hold that office. Lyndon Johnson

Johnson was the first vice president to have an office outside the Capitol building. From his vantage point as majority leader, first, and then from his office next door to the White House, Johnson vastly influenced the nation's space program something that did not hurt Houston or Texas.

With the space pr retreat, it may be time to send another Texan to head a reconstituted National Aeronautics and Space Council, as Johnson did. Duakais has already said he would appoint Bentsen as its chairman. He has also accepted Bentsen's position — and that of many Texans — favoring the construction of a space station.

Bush himself has seen the vice presidency grow in importance. Washington outsiders Carter and Reagan, elected to the presidency in the aftermath of Watergate, have relied more heavily on their vice-presidents than did previous presidents. Vice presidential budgets, staffs, and input to the president have all increased. As another Washington outsider, Dukakis would probably continue tion lies in the changing role of the this trend, giving serious weight

As president, Bush would be under constant scrutiny and unable to legitimately supervise the interests of any one state. But given the private nature of vice presidential advice, Bentsen would be in a perfect position to quietly shepherd the causes of Texas through the Washington jungle, much like powerful congressmen have always done, only more so.

Thus, for example in the debate surrounding the superconducting supercollider, the selection of Texas might have been better served had there been a nativeborn Texan in the White House and a third senator, if you will, barnstorming for it in the Senate.

Perhaps Texans will have a clearer picture of Bush when the location of the giant atom smasher is announced. Since he now enjoys a slight lead in Texas polls, Bush has no need to expend the political capital that would be required to locate the facility in Texas. Any astute Republican would give the prize to California or Illinois instead, attempting to reverse Michael Dukakis' lead in one of those states.

For Texans, faced with the daunting challenge of diversifying the state's economy and counting on every resource to do so, the question may be: Is it better to have a vice president near the Oval Office who will work for Texas than a President in the Oval Office who once happened to work

bugging

By ROBERT WERNSMAN

A lesson was learned last week: Never talk about yourself when writing a newspaper column. A metropolitan newspaper columnist wrote that it was the first lesson he learned about column writing. Then he apparently decided to ignore it, or maybe write rule two: Proceed to do so anyway.

And that's just what he did, telling that it's really all right to lose your hair if you're a man his age and, really, there's a stream of examples of people who accomplished some perfectly wonderful things after, presumably, their heads were a mere reminder of what once was, but is never going to be again. I'm not going to do that, either talk about balding or talk about me at all. This column belongs to some people I saw and talked with in the past several days. One guy I watched was in a high school stadium press box and knew as much about either of the teams playing as I did. He had read his newspaper's preseason football special issue report on the squad from Stanton and was ready to do what many in this business have school football. The game was really pretty interesting, and if you find interest in baseball, you'd have loved it. With a final score of 2-0 it was obvious to several in the press box that this game was very much like a baseball game.

done for many years: Report high

It was going to be lost, quite likely, by the team who made the bigger - or more significant

And that was exactly what happened. One bad snap, in one deep end zone and the Seagraves Eagles couldn't do much but sulk their way home.

But this is not a sports column; it's a column about bugs, it's sad to report.

The fella in the press box enjoyed the ballgame, more so than he really expected, actually. What he couldn't deal with so well was the attack of the flying Sugar Babies.

All right, ridicule me if you'd like, but the Stanton Buffaloe press box barely withstood the onslaught of the June Bug '88 attack. And to my way of thinking, stationary June bugs always do a good impersonation of Sugar Baby candies (but are much better for your teeth, no doubt).

It was an incredible offensive effort by these June bugs, and at last three sportswriters remained at their station despite an attack by the most persistent, most disgusting little bugs imaginable. One guy said he'd never seen so many in all his days, despite having lived in at least four states. No matter where his future leads, it's doubtful that he's going to run into anything in coming years comparable to Sept. 4, 1988, when the swarming June bugs were at their zenith and there was no stopping them. He may dream about this incident a time or two, but unless an Alfred Hitchcocktype does a sequel of "The Birds" and names it "The Bugs" it's unlikely he'll live long enough to ever again see a group of June bugs congregate in such numbers. All this may sound exaggerated

(don't exaggerate, that's rule No. 3 in column writing) but every word, nearly, is the truth. Sitting in a warm pressbox and staring toward a football field two feet away from a window opening of, say, 14 inches by 18 feet makes you the perfect target for these June bugs seeking the warmth and friendship, no doubt, of sportswriters.

You could ask the guy; it was awful. Although he didn't look like the type who cared for insects much in general, these seemed to really, excuse me, bug him:

I thought it was about as bad as it can get when a guy heard this whole story a few days later and bettered it with two simple questions:

'Gosh, do you know anything worse than hearing loudly that sound of a fast-approaching mosquito toward your ear, and then it just stops? Don't you wonder where it went?"

The fella in the press box thought he knew what was really an attack, but maybe he forgot that mosquitoes have such an uncanny sense for the ear. Besides, as numerous as those Sugar Baby bugs are in West Texas, they're really pretty quiet.

Firefighters brace for long day on the line

YELLOWSTONE NATIONAL arrived at West Yellowstone, PARK, Wyo. (AP) — Thousands of firefighters braced Saturday for gusty wind threatening to feed already enormous forest fires, and three Cabinet-level officials inspected damage to the oldest national park.

Park headquarters and a nearby mining town were evacuated.

Some feared it would be the worst day on fire lines since the plazes broke out nearly three months ago in and around Yellowstone All roads and entrances were closed to visitors Saturday, and reporters had to travel in convoys escorted by park personnel. 'We're making sure people don't get into situations they can't get out of,'' said Yellowstone spokeswoman Marty Tobias.

"We're here to listen and learn at this point. I think later in the day we may have something more to say, but now we're here for a briefing," Hodel told reporters when the group arrived. Fires have charred more than 816,000 acres of the 2.2-million-acre park. Adding destruction in the national forests and parks surrounding the park in Idaho, Montana and Wyoming pushes the figure to and Washington. So far this year, Western fires have burned nearly 3.8 million acres, an area larger than Connecticut, in what officials call the worst fire season in 30 years.

Bill Tregre, a spokesman for the two companies which supply electricity to most of south Louisiana, said the storm cut power to about 70,000 Louisiana Power & Light Co. customers and about 33,000 customers of New Orleans Public Service Inc. Nearly 40,000 remained without power by noon.

Ciko said Central Louisiana Electric Co. officials told him that 12,000 to 14,000 customers were without power at the height of the said a weather front would bring steady high wind with gusts to 60 mph, similar to those on "Black Saturday" that fanned fires across about 150,000 acres in just one day.

Aug. 20. * The only bright spot in the forecast was a drop in temperatures, which were expected to get no higher than the mid-70s through Wednesday. Park spokeswoman Sonia Capek said a 222,000-acre fire had reached Bunsen Peak, about 11/2 miles from park headquarters at Mammoth Hot Springs. All non-essential employees were evacuated from Mammoth Hot Springs. The Mammoth Hot Springs Inn, the last of the lodging facilities available in Yellowstone, was closed Friday. It had been scheduled to stay open for the season until Sept.

The 650 residents of Gardiner Mont. which is at the north entrance to Yellowstone and Tive miles north of Mammoth Hot Spr ings, stood ready to evacuate.

In Washington state Saturday, searchers discovered the burned wreckage of a helicopter that disappeared Friday while fighting that state's largest forest fire, a 46,000-acre blaze. The craft, believed to have been carrying two people, was spotted near a ridgeton north of Wenatchee, said Greg Thayer, a spokesman for the U.S. Forest Service.

"It doesn't appear there were any survivors," Chelan County Sheriff Joe Collins said.

The first death directly at tributable to fires this year occurred last week in Glacier National Park in Montana, when firefighter was struck by a tree.

CIUDAD JUAREZ, Mexico (AP) - Luz Estrella Aguayo, 13, stands quietly before the TV cameras as her plight is explained to viewers of "Contacto 44," a nightly program aired on Channel 44-XHIJ in Host Arnoldo Cabada explains that Ms. Aguayo's mother died of cancer a year ago, and her father, Juan, is in a wheelchair, unable to move his legs because of a stroke.

Aguayo has three sisters, ages 4, 11 and 15. The family's plight has been eased for the last year by monthly donations from "Contacto

The girl is one of about 30 people who receive help this evening on the program, started by Cabada eight years ago.

Cabada's deep voice, his intense brown eyes and his expressive hands would lead you to believe that the 51-year-old Juarense is an evangelist. He is, in a sense. Cabada, the owner of Channel 44, is a man with a mission.

He says he does it because he knows what it's like to be poor. Cabada got his start 27 years ago, working for Channel 5 in Juarez. About seven years after that, he began his first program to help the poor.

'It was a lot smaller, more modest," he recalls. "I didn't have many resources, and it wasn't my TV station."

Within 10 years, the program Cabada has received more than 500 community service awards and two National Awards in Journal nalism in Mexico. In 1979, he left vestigation to verify need, says the Channel 5, and the next year he program's head nurse, Genoveva founded Channel 44, and with it Carrasco de Garibay. "Contacto 44" ("Contact 44")

The station also takes care of 150 senior citizens who don't have families. The station pays their room and board. Friday programs, in fact, are reserved for senior citizens in need of help.

The immensity of the program is belied by the simplicity of its production.

A photographer wheels in the camera and flips on the bright light, and Cabada, seated behind his desk, simply looks into the camera and begins to talk, without using a script.

He tells the viewers that this is their chance to make a difference in some unfortunate person's life. This is a chance to give and share with other human beings.

During the short commercial break that follows this reflection. the camera is rushed, still on its tripod, down the hall and into an enormous studio with bare walls and a few straight-back chairs. There, the people are waiting with their tales of misfortune.

story of Bonnie Parker and Clyde Barrow ends with the pair getting pumped full of bullets in a Louisiana ambush.

Then there's the legend, beefed up by people who came in contact with the bank robbers in the early '30s, when North Texas served as one of their stomping grounds.

In Mansfield, for instance, quite a few folks over 60 claim to have either jumped out of the way of Bonnie and Clyde's getaway car or been approached by mysterious strangers who asked the way to the nearest lowsecurity bank.

Claude Galloway said he caught frequent glimpses of Clyde whenever the gangster was hiding out with Galloway's nextdoor neighbors on Short Steet in Mansfield.

"He was kind of short. He wasn't bad-lookin'. He was an average dresser, I'd say," said Galloway, 85, a retired Mansfield service station operator.

"They'd pull a deal, naturally you'd hear about it. Just gossip, I guess you'd call it," said William Wright, 79, of Mansfield Nursing Back then, to farmers like Wright, talk about the couple's exploits provided relief from forging out a living in dried-out cotton fields. "Most people spoke well of them," Wright said. "They said they'd help the poor and steal from the rich.'

A favorite story, circulated widely, was that Bonnie and Clyde left 220 to 250 in the Clyde came from a good family, a family that raised him to work hard in the cotton fields in his youth, Barrow said. Clyde's family moved from East Texas to a west Dallas shantytown, with Clyde joining them later.

Not until the move did Clyde begin hanging out in pool halls and gambling, Derrell said.

Clyde and Bonnie met in January 1930, shortly before Clyde was sent to prison at Huntsville on seven burglary and theft convictions. Bonnie wrote letters to Clyde while he was in prison.

Bonnie, blond and slight, chainsmoked cigarettes and denied that she smoked the cigars that helped give her a tough reputation.

When Clyde Barrow was paroled on Feb. 2, 1932, he teamed with Bonnie and resumed his feud with society. Taxpayer 'Bill of rights' passes Senate committee

WASHINGTON (AP) - The David Pryor, D-Ark. Senate Finance Committee approved a package of tax changes Thursday, including a first-time "bill of rights" to protect taxpayers involved in disputes with the Internal Revenue Service.

The IRS would be required to give a written explanation of rights to any taxpayer being audited or subjected to collections actions, and would be prohibited from promoting employees on the basis of how much money they collect.

The "taxpayer bill of rights" approved by the Finance Committee was sponsored chiefly by Sen. taxpayer's property.

It would assure a taxpayer the right to tape-record meetings with the IRS; require the IRS to forgive any penalty that was imposed because of erroneous advice furnished by the agency; permit the IRS ombudsman to halt any agency action that would impose a significant hardship on a taxpayer; and require that any tax-due notice include a full explanation.

The measure also would require the IRS to give 30-day notice, up from the current 10 days, before attempting to collect tax by seizing a

Patton, who has been preaching for 28 years, said he could not count the number of times he has heard or read of events similar to the response to Whisenant's books.

Archie Parr, known as the Duke of Duval, became ruler of the county shortly before World War I. In 1914, when his use of county funds was coming under investigation, a fire destroyed courthouse records essential to the probe.

Parr passed the power down to his son George, who was convicted of income tax evasion in 1934. George Parr in 1948 altered the course of history by directing the famous Box 13 ballot-stuffing incident in neighboring Jim Wells County that won Lyndon Johnson an 87-vote margin in the Democratic Party's primary runoff for the Senate.

George Par fought 555 mulet

ments from county probes during the 1950s and '60s, but after another conviction for income tax evasion he committed suicide in 1975.

His nephew, Archer Parr, was later convicted of comitting perjury during a grand jury investigation. Part of his probation was that he not live in Duval County until after the probation ends in December.

Yet the Parrs, who contributed more than any other individuals to the county's history this century, are not mentioned or pictured even once at the Duval County Historical Museum on the main plaza in San Diego. It is as if the town is uncomfortable carrying certain parts of its history

"Write something good about us," a woman working at the museum told a visiting journalist. "Pretty women, nice, friendly

The gang rape case puts the county on trial once again, Uresti

"The county is in a helluva position," Uresti said. "If they don't do anything, it will make everybody look bad. The vast majority of peo-ple in Duval County are lawabiding citizens.

Jaime Garza, court-appointed defense attorney for Felipe Chew, a 28-year-old Mexican national accused in the San Diego says the case subjects the town to unfair scrutiny

"All of South Texas is on trial," said Garza. "People from the outside are upset about this. They want these guys to hang.' The community, he said, is blows to its image. He would not reveal what might be expected in the trials, but said, "In any rape case, consent is always a potentially important question. Nago Alaniz, who with Corpus Christi attorney Albert Pena will represent five of the defendants, said he expects 23-year-old Orlando Garza of San Diego to go on trial

The testimony should bring some surprises. Alaniz said. "There's too many things there that are not out yet; they haven't been brought out yet," Alaniz said.

The case's notoriety is similar to the New Bedford, Mass., case in was gaing-raped on the pool table of a bar. Four men eventually were convicted and two acquitted. "Now we have a case where ere were 20, 25 people there when this thing arose, and in the process of elimination, we end up having 10 people indicted." San Diego resident Canuto Solis. father of 17-year-old Roel Solis, the alleged victim's cousin, whose testimony before a grand jury helped indict the 10 defendants, unable to defend itself from the said two men drove up to his house one evening after the indictments, shouted, "Stoolie," and fired shots.

'You go to the restaurants, the Dairy Queen, and listen to the people talk," Solis said. "They defend the rapists, not the girl... Everybody's related here. She's not from here, doesn't have any relatives here. There's no way they'll be convicted.'

Richard Garcia Yaeger, a friend of the victim, said he does not think she ever will be able to move back to San Diego, because people will make it unbearable by pretending they do not exist in a town where the friendliness is a way of life.

Everybody waves at everybody," said Yaeger, holding up his arm. "I even do this when I'm driving at night, when they can't even see my arm. Imagine what it would be like to be ignored by everybody all your life

Lawyers on both sides said they expect the first trial or two to set the stage for what happens with the rest of the defendants.

"Regardless of the outcome of this case," said defense attorney Garza, "it's going to be felt for vears

When Carrillo was drinking, however, sensitivity often turned into anger.

"He was a whole different person. I think because of his size he felt he was indestructible," Petty said.

She criticized the introverted mentality of some young people who reside in the Big Spring area.

"I was told he (Majors) works at night and if I wanted to talk to him I would have to come back then.

The judge's office was locked. "When I asked the sheriff what he knew (about the investigation); anything," Payne said

The only legal document Payne possesses about her daughter's death is a copy of the death certificate and that tells her very little, she said

The certificate lists the "immediate" cause of death as cardiopulmonary arrest, caused by drowning.

Gray was pronounced dead at 4:38 a.m. by Dr. Dee A. Roach and her death is "pending investigation." according to the document.

Payne also said it has been an extended amount of time since she has seen her grandchildren -Travis, 7, and Toby, 3 — who are now in the custody of their father. She noted it is upsetting that the site at which her daughter is buried - Mount Olive Cemetery is not marked by a headstone. "I would like to talk to Dale pened to her daughter. Payne, however, said she is seriously considering contacting Sen. Charles Stenholm, D-

Stamford, to see if a conclusion to the probe can be expedited.

"It looks like there is no end to this," she said.

Although she does her best to conceal it, the effect of Carrlillo's untimely death on Petty and her family has been devestating.

"My husband is really grieving. He didn't know how much Jimmy meant to him. It's tearing him apart," Petty said.

The outpouring of love following his death has been comforting, she

"Everyone liked him. All of his friends are trying to collect money for his funeral expenses. He was a very special person. We treated him like he was a son and we're grieving like we've lost a son," Petty noted.

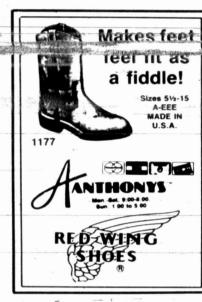

One of the most distressing aspects of Carrillo's death was his state of mind at the time he died.

"He died angry. His fists were still clinched when they found him," Petty said.

If Carrillo's death can have an impact on other young people who are leading their lives in a similarly misguided fashion, she said it will have significance.

"If they'll stop and think ... If this will save one person," Petty Diet Pills Sweeping U.S.

Doctors Invent 'Lazy Way' to Lose Weight

U.S. Gov't. Approves Patent Claims for New Diet Pill

BEVERLY HILLS, CA (Special)— An amazing new "lazy way" to lose weight has recently been developed and perfected by two prominent doctors at a world famous hospital in Los Angeles that reportedly "guarantees" to help you steadily lose fat and reduce calories by simply taking their tested and proven new "fat-magnet" pill.

The U.S. government has just approved the doctors claims for a hardto-get patent that confirms "there has never been anything like their fatbonding pill process before." It's a major scientific breakthrough for weight loss.

You Can "Eat Normally" Best of all, "you can continue to eat your favorite foods and you don't have to change your normal eating habits or exercise. You can start losing fat and reduce calories from the very first day, until you achieve the ideal weight you desire'

Flushes Fat Out of Body The new pill is appropriately called the "fat-magnet" pill because it breaks into thousands of particles, each acting like a tiny magnet, "attracting" and trapping many times its size in undigested fat particles and calories from food that you have just eaten. Then, all the trapped fat and calories are naturally "flushed" right out of your body, reducing the calories you absorb "before" they can turn into ugly bulging body fat and cellulite.

Within 2 days you should notice a change in the color of your stool, caused by the fat particles being eliminated.
"Automatically" Lose Fat

According to one of the inventors, Dr. William Shell, heart specialist and associate professor of medicine at UCLA medical school, the new fatbonding process is a "lazy way" to lose weight because the pills alone "automatically" reduce calories by climinating dietary fat. It is 100% safe and not a drug.

the fat-magnet pills are already sweeping the country with glowing reports of weight loss from formerly overweight people in all walks of life who are now slimmer, trimmer and more attractive again.

Now Available to the Public If you are trying to lose 20, 50, 100 pounds or more, you can order your supply of these "no-risk" highly successful fat-magnet pills directly from the doctors' exclusive manufacturer only (includes optional calorie-reduction plan for even better results). Send $20 for a 90 pill supply (+$3 handling), or $35 for a 180 pill supply (+$3 handling), to: Fat-Magnet, 9016 Wilshire Blvd., Dept. W842, Beverly Hills, CA 90211. NEW YORK (AP) — Steffi Graf became the first person in 18 years to win tennis' Grand Slam when she defeated Gabriela Sabatini 6-3, 3-6, 6-1 Sunday and capture the U.S. Open women's singles title.

Graf also won the Australian Open, the French Open and Wimbledon this, the first player to capture all four major titles in the same year since Margaret Court of Australia in 1970.

Graf, the top seed, is the secondyoungest woman to win the U.S. title since the tournament was opened to professionals in 1968. Tracy Austin was 16 when she won the Open in 1979 and 18 when she won it again in 1981.

The fifth-seeded Sabatini, 18, had handed Graf her only two defeats this year in 61 matches. But the first Argentine to play in a Grand Slam final couldn't stop Graf from winning her 34th straight match and her ninth tournament of the Graf earned $275,000 for the victory, pushing her over the $3 million mark in career earnings and placing her fourth on the alltime women's list behind Martina Navratilova, Chris Evert and Pam Shriver. Sabatini received $137,500.

Graf started to misfire on her groundstrokes as Sabatini won the next three games to take a 4-1 lead.

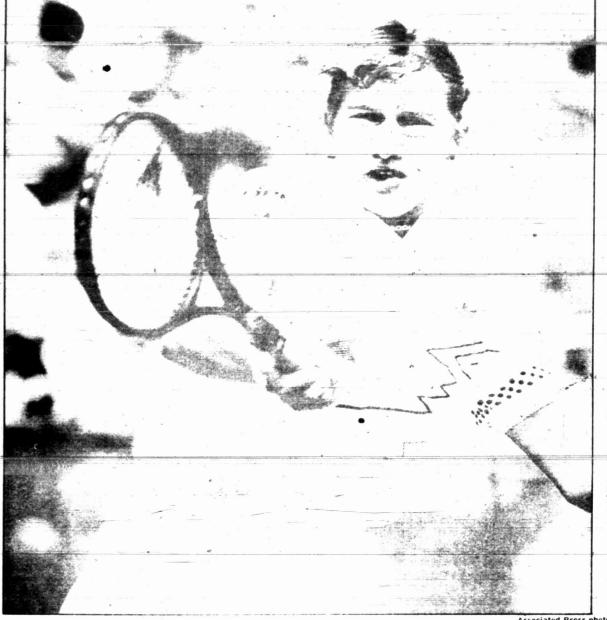

Graf broke in the seventh game with a forehand that landed on the baseline, but Sabatini broke back in the next game and then held serve with a forehand winner to even the match. It was only the second set Graf lost in 27 matches in the four Grand Slam tournaments this year.

With her Grand Slam hopes riding on one last set, Graf took command and surged to a 3-0 lead, breaking Sabatini at love in the second game.

Sabatini rallied from 0-40 in the fourth game to hold serve, but Sabatini double-faulted to lose the sixth game and fall behind 5-1.

After the players battled to deuce in the next game, Sabatini hit a backhand long to give Graf her first match point.

On the final point, Sabatini hit a backhand approach and rushed the net. But Graf wound up and hit a blazing backhand that grazed off Sabatini's racket and fell harmlessly on her side of the net.

Lendl moved to the edge of an unprecedented fourth straight U.S. Open tennis championship on Saturday with a 4-6, 6-2, 6-3, 6-4 victory over Andre Agassi in a semifinal match.

Lendl, the top seed, meets Mats Wilander of Sweden, the second seed, in Sunday's final, a rematch of last year's title showdown. Wilander beat Darren Cahill of Australia 6-4, 6-4, 6-2 in Saturday's other semifinal.

The power and steadiness of Lendl's strokes were too much for the 18-year-old Agassi toovercome. The fourth seed from Las Vegas, Nev., saw his 23-match winning streak snapped. Agassi, who has won six tournaments this year, including his last three, was the youngest semifinalist in Open history.

Agassi broke Lendl in the fourth game of the opening set, but Lendl responded with a break in the seventh game. Agassi then won the set with a break in the

Matadors survive Steers, 30-18

By STEVE REAGAN Staff Writer

The Lubbock Estacado Matadors relied on the big-play offense of running backs Robert Johnson and Steven Norris to overcome a stubborn group of Big Spring Steers, 30-18, Friday night in Memorial

Johnson scored on runs of 24 and 25 yards and Norris scored from 70 yards out to finally outlast the Steers, who hung close to the Matadors until late in the contest.

It was a game where both teams saved the best for last, scoring a combined 32 points in the final quarter, and it was not until Johnson's final TD with 1:05 left in the game that the issue was finally decided.

Both the Steers and the Mats played long-ball offense in the contest - Estacado by ground, and Big Spring by air. The Matadors gained 340 yards on 38 rushes, while the Steers collected 247 yards on 10 pass completions.

Big Spring struck first in the contest. After being stopped on their opening drive, punter Neal Mayfield muffed the snap from center and was dragged out of bounds at the Steers 31-yard line.

But the Matadors proved in a charitable mood themselves, as on the next play tailback Derrick Shed fumbled the ball away. From there, the Steers drove to the game's opening score.

The drive was a mix of the pass and the run. A 24-yard run by tailback Dennis Hartfield put the ball on the Matador 21. Two consecutive motion penalties put the Steers back 10 yards, and two plays later, Big Spring faced a fourth back Rance Thompson tossed the first of three TD passes — this one to wide receiver Tony Lewis, who grabbed the toss at the 10 and outraced the defense to the right corner of the end zone. Mayfield's extra-point attempt was no good, and the Steers led, 6-0, with 8:05 left in the opening stanza. Estacado promptly responded with a scoring drive of their own, marching 57 yards in 12 plays. The touchdown came when quarterback Reginald Essix plunged over from three yards out. Cory Flores' conversion kick gave Estacado the lead, 7-6, with more than 10 minutes remaining in the first half. After the teams traded possessions, the Steers were again on the march. Beginning at the Mats' 43, Thompson first fired an incomplete pass to Ray Darden before connecting with Lewis for 37 yards to the

After Hartfield was stopped for no gain, Thompson connected with Kenny Everett for an apparent touchdown. A motion penalty against the Steers, however, nullified the TD, and two plays later, Thompson's pass to Joe Downey was intercepted by Norris for a touchback.

"We self-destructed at the goal line," said Steers coach David Thompson. "That motion penalty killed us. We had a chance to go into the half in real good shape.

Estacado finished the first-half scoring when Flores capped an 80-yard drive with a 20-yard field goal right before the halftime gun.

Although neither team scored in the third quarter, this only proved to be the eye in the storm. The fourth quarter would be a wild affair that saw the Mats stretch their lead, only to watch the Steers claw their way back into contention.

Johnson scored the first of his TDs 1:50 into the final stanza to give Estacado a 16-6 lead. This appeared to give the visitors momentum, as they stopped the Steers on three plays immediately

The Mats, however, gave the ball

Dropping back to pass, Thomp son spotted receiver John Wofford streaking down the left sideline, and threw a perfectly-placed pass that Wofford cradled for a 66-yard

After the Mats fumbled the ball away on their next possession, the Steers began a march that had the partisan home crowd anticipating a go-ahead touchdown. Disaster struck for Big Spring, however. when fullback Rodney Brown lost the ball on the Estacado 15.

The Mats then marched 84 yards for a score; the final 70 yards coming on a quick counter by Norris After Flores' PAT kick was good. Estacado appeared to have the game salted away — but Thompson wasn't through with his aerial display just yet.

Garden City Bearkats used a second quarter scoring blitz and and stingy defense to defeat the Grandsfalls Royalty Cowpoys 30-8 Friday night in Class A nondistrict football action. The Bearkats scored three times in the second period to claim their second win in as many tries. The Bearkats oftensive attack was led by the quick feet of tailback Tony Ramirez and the strong arm of quarterback Codie Scott. Garden City's balanced attack completely bafffled the vistors; as the Bearkats rolled up 134 yards on the ground and another

"The second quarter was the turning point of the game, but we had our chances earlier,' said Garden City coach Sam Scott after the win. "The first time we got the ball we drove inside their five and had to settle for a field goal. The second time we got inside their 20 and had to settle for a field goal attempt."

The Bearkats opened the game with Codie Scott passing 49 yards to wide receiver-Leo Garcia, down to the Grandfalls' 6 yard line. The Cats had to settle for a 23-yard field goal by Codie Scott.

On their second possession Garden City got to the Grandfalls' 13, via a 17-yard screen pass to wingback Juan Morales. But the drive stalled, and Codie Scott's 37-yard field goal attempt sailed wide.

But the second quarter was a different story, as the Bearkats scored on three of their four

The first drive was an 11-play, 57-yard march. Ramirez scooted for 14 yards, Codie Scott hit twin brother Jodie Scott with a pass, and a personal foul penalty put Garden City inside the 20. Codie Scott capped the drive with a seven-yard bootleg run. His kick gave the Bearkats a 10-0 lead.

After a Grandfalls fumble, Garden City marched 45 yards in six plays. Ramirez found a big hole at the right side, cleared by guard Jimmy Braden and tackle Martin Mier. and scampered 32 yards for the score. Codie Scott's kick gave the home team a 17-0 advantage with 8:26 left in the half.

Big plays leave Bulldogs winless

By ROBERT WERNSMAN Staff Writer

COAHOMA For the second week in a row, the Coathorna Bulldogs felt the sharp pain of the big play, while the Stanton Buffalos showed its defensive might.

The result? Coahoma suffered another loss and the Buffs woke for the second Saturday morning with smiles on their faces, this time with a 19-6 victory written into the record books. The Bulldogs' first drive was no testimony to the defense from Stanton, as the hosts marched 47 yards on 11 plays after receiving a punt and looked like they were on their way to establishing the tempo of the game.

A bobbled exchange at the 15 yard line, however, changed all of that, when Stanton emerged with the ball. The 'Dogs were unable to put together such a sustained drive

Stanton punted after three plays, amd Coahoma took over on its own 36 before Robert Jones picked off a Shane Walker pass to set up the TD that was to guarantee the Stanton win.

Two running plays covered 12 yards; a roughing the passer penalty moved it to the three, Walker ran for two and Cervantes slipped in from the one to brighten the Coahoma scoreboard, with 8:31 left in the game. The Mike Her-

County judge Saturday refused to hear Chicago Bears fullback Calvin Thomas' request to lift his drug-related suspension, while Richard Dent said he hopes a hearing before the NFL will "get rid of all those stories that I'm a drug addict.

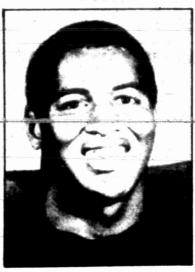

Thomas, hoping to follow Dent's success in getting his 30-day suspension by the league lifted, was denied an emergency hearing by Circuit Court Judge David Shields. Thomas had wanted Shields to consider his request for a temporary restraining order that would have allowed him to suit up for Sunday's Bears-Colts game.

The player's attorneys had argued that Thomas would suffer irreparable harm if he was not allowed to play. But Shields said he was "not satisfied that irreparable harm exists," and that "administrative remedies" other than the circuit court are available to Thomas.

Dent and Thomas were both suspended for 30 days on Wednesday for violating the NFL's drug policy. Dent, a defensive end and former league MVP, refused to take the NFL-ordered test on Aug. 23, while Thomas tested positive and agreed to begin six weeks of substance abuse outpatient treatment.

Court documents said that Dent had tested positive last year, but had subsequently tested negative.

Thomas, like Dent, received no written notifications of the results of drug tests in 1987 and last month, and was not given a hearing as specified in NFL

That flies in the face of every constitutional precept that I know of," said Philip Parenti, an attorney for Thomas. "That's why we are going to fight this ... and ask for a fair hearing. That's all we want."

On Friday, the league agreed to rescind their suspension of Dent after his attorneys dropped a lawsuit challenging the NFL's drug-testing policy. That cleared the way for Dent to play in Sunday's game, although the Bears said they had not decided whether Dent would see any

Of course my public reputation has been damaged," he said. "I'm furious about it (the judge's decision) because the cases are similar.'

Andy Knott, another attorney for Thomas, said the agreement in Dent's case indicates that "all is not well with the league's drug policy" and that Thomas' treatment violates the NFL's collective bargaining agreeement with the players.

But NFL attorney Michael Coffield said he had discussed Thomas with Rozelle on Friday and the commissioner said Thomas's 30-day suspension was mandated under NFL rules because he had failed two drug

LMORE CHRYSLER-DODGE & JI CHRYSLER MOTORS ANNOUNCES THE CAR BUYER'S BILL OF RIGHTS

EVERY AMERICAN HAS THE RIGHT To A QUALITY CAR

You want a car that will start every morning. In numbing cold or in downpours of rain.

You want a car that will age well. And give you years of You want quality. That's your right. Your undisputed Quality should also be the first and foremost commit ment of the carmaker. Without it he becomes morally and fiscally bankrupt. Chrysler has no intentions of forsaking this commitment. Since 1980 Chrysler has initiated Five Key Quality Programs that involve every member of the work force every level of management. Top, middle and first rung.

These programs touch every phase of the car-building process. From drawing board to final inspection. The goal: to top the quality of imports. An ambitious goal, but results are already showing it is within reach.

Lowest Recalls. On average, over the last 8 years Federal Government records show that Chrysler has the lowest safety recall record of any American car company for passenger cars registered for the '80 through '87

And over the last 5 years, a lower average safety recall record than such prominent in ports as BMW. Porsche and Volvo.

EVERY AMERICAN HAS THE RIGHT TO 2. LONG-TERM PROTECTION

Chrysler has consistently led the industry in long term quality protection. In 1980. Chrysler introduced the innovative 5:50 Protection Plan that protected the most important, and costly part of your vehicle, the engine and powertrain, as wel as protecting against outer body rust-through.

In 1987, Chrysler extended this protection substantially-to 7 years or 70,000 miles, plus 7-year or 100,000 mile protection against outer body rust-through, * inclu sive of every car, truck (except Jeep vehicles) and min van Chrysler builds in North America. This plan was an unprecedented move.

Nov. Chrysler breaks new ground again. With its new Crystal Key Owner Care Program that comes with the Chrysler New Yorker. It is a remarkable warranty. It protects the entire car for 5 years or 50,000 miles. It overs engine, powertrain, air conditioning, steering, rust, suspension, electrical everything right down to the door handles. All you have to do is take care of normal maintenance, adjustments and wear items.

Not even Rolls Royce or Mercedes Benz can match

3. FRIENDLY TREATMENT, HONEST EVERY AMERICAN HAS THE RIGHT TO SERVICE AND COMPETENT REPAIRS

Dealer service is the key link in the relationship between the car buyer and the carmaker. Fully aware of this. Chrysler (under the direction of Lee Jacocca) has taken specific action to strengthen this relationship, and the results have been very gratifying.

Highest Satisfaction. Chrysler owners have the highest level of satisfaction of any buyers of American ars. Higher than GM owners. And significantly higher than Ford owners: As Lee Jacocca says, "The next great Jeap forward in the car industry isn't going to happen in Detroit. It's going to happen at the dealership." Chrysler is stressing customer service to its dealers in the form of educational programs, dealer incentives and monivating awards. If Dodge! Chrysler, Plymouth, Jeep and Eagle dealers do their job right, there is much to gain. The dealer will have achieved one of the highest goals in the auto industiv. a satisfied customer.

THE RIGHT TO A SAFE VEHICLE

Safety is a right we all desire, not just for ourselves. but for our families, too. That's why Chrysler has committed enormous resources and talents to building you a safe car. And that commitment has taken hold:

Chrysler is the first American car company to offer air bags as standard equipment. And by 1990, Chrysler will feature driver-side air bags on every car it builds in Le United States

Every Chrysler-built passenger car has over 30 safety teatures standard for 1988. And Chrysler plans to add many more features between now and the 1993 model

The passenger compartments for coupes and sedans provide protection because of the vehicles' unitized body construction.

By 1992, Chrysler will have spent 440 million dollars on testing to learn how to enhance your safety. Chrysler Motors has a Safety Shield Program from design through assembly. Safety components are identified by a safety shield, so everyone at the factory knows its importance to safety. This program guards against the malfunction of crit ical items such as brakes, wipers; steering systems and starters. And is one of the prime reasons why Chrysler Motors has the lowest average percentage of safety-related recalls for any American car company.

THE RIGHT TO ADDRESS GRIEVANCES

It you have a warranty-related problem with your dealer, you have an impartial ear ready and willing to listen to your side of the story, at no cost to you: The Customer Arbitration Board. This Arbitration Board consists of three voting members: a local customer advocate, a technical expert and a person from the general public. And not one of them is affiliated with Chrysler in any way. All decisions made by the Board include the action to be taken by the dealer or Chrysler and the time by which the action must be taken. All decisions are binding on the dealer and Chrysler. but not on you, unless you accept the decision. The whole process normally takes no longer than 40 days. We believe this Board is, without question, the best in

THE RIGHT TO SATISFACTION

Chrysler believes there's no secret to satisfying customers. Build them a quality product: A safe product. Protect it right with the longest powertrain warranty in the business. Service it right. And treat them with respect. It's that simple.

And Chrysler is doing exactly that. The proof is coming from you, the customer.

J.D. Power and Associates, one of the most respected research organizations in the industry, surveyed over 25,000 owners of 1987 passenger cars for product quality and dealer service. The results: Chrysler Motors has the highest Customer Satisfaction of any American car company-two years running-for overall product quality and dealer service.

We've come a long way, but everything we've accomplished thus far is just a fraction of what Chrysler has planned for the future.

Because Chrysler believes it's our job to satisfy your needs. We have the obligations... you have the rights.

Vhy grandma's special

Most everyone has someone whom he looks up to with the utmost trust and respect, someone who is always willing to help and love him and also have fun with him.

For me, this person is my grandma, Gladine Lane. My grandma is one of the best friends I have for many special reasons. The things that make her so unique are her love for others and Christ, her unique mixture of being old-fashioned and youthful, and her friendship, all traits which are wrapped up into the utmost maturity. to the utmost maturity.

Gladine Juanita Lane is 72 years old and extremely petite at four-foot, 11-inches. Her hair is silvery gray and in a short, curly style. Her eyes and skin are dark because of her Indian are dark because of her Indian background, and she has false teeth that she is always pushing out as a joke. She always catneps while watching the Nashville Network at full blast. She has a very strict diet because of health problems and will never set snuthing that ems and will never eat anything that has been in the refrigerator over one

If one were to meet my grandma for the first time, he would immediately see her extreme open heart and willingness to talk. She can start a conversation with a total stranger and know the person's life story in twenty minutes. She is very open to new things such as fashion and fads. She even went to the Duran Duran concert with me last summer. She also likes to stay in with the latest fashions, and even has some Reebok

My grandma uniquely mixes this youthfulness with still being oldyouthfulness with still being old-fashioned. She still has a little prejudice about her, and she always talks about when she was young. When her children say "times have changed," she agrees but explains that principles are the same. She has always been the one in charge and expects her children to obey and respect her. She teaches her grand-children never to talk back and to always be polite and honest with our authority.

The most important thing in the world, to my grandma, she admits, is her children and grandchildren. She loves all children dearly and has always shown this. She always tells my cousins and me how much she loves us and how around she is.

This is so special to me, and I appreciate it greatly. Her love shines through not only to her children, but to everyone she comes in contact with. This special love comes from her relationship to Christ. She is never hesitant to witness to others and shares the Lord every opportunity.

I wish there could be more people like my grandma in the world. I would never trade our unique relationship as friends for anything. I can truly say that I hope to show her type of love for Christ to others that I came in contact with. There is no one like her in the world!

Readers tell long time couple to go for big-deal wedding

DEAR ABBY: I am writing about the couple signed "Making It Legal." They have lived together for 11 years, have two children, ages 10 and 3, and a third due in September. Now they want to make it legal with a formal church wedding in December, which they can pay for themselves. Family members stated that after 11 years and three children, that kind of wedding would be inappropriate, so the couple asked for your

You disappointed me when you sided with the family.

Abby, being a minister and having performed many weddings, may I offer my input? I see no reason why this couple shouldn't have the kind of wedding they want. It would make them happy, and would be hurting no one. They would be most welcome in my church, and their children could even be part of the service.

Last Saturday, I officiated at a formal church wedding. The bride was eight months pregnant. We threw puffed rice!

THE REV. JOHN ST. DENNIS, HI-DESERT CHURCH OF

RELIGIOUS SCIENCE. APPLE VALLEY, CALIF. DEAR JOHN ST. DENNIS: You win. My mail has been overwhelmingly in favor of letting the couple have the kind of wedding they want. Score: "Making It Legal." 467; Abby, 19.

DEAR ABBY: I thought I had heard every excuse in the book until I met a cowboy from Lodge Grass, Mont.

This guy drove 132 miles to spend a nice, romantic evening with me. In the middle of everything, he decided he needed to check the newspaper to see how the horse races turned out. He asked me where the closest place to buy a newspaper was. I told him, and he

I heard from him a week later when he called me up and asked if he could see me again. Can anybody top this for an

FRUSTRATEDAN SHERIDAN, WYO.

DEAR FRUSTRATED: I hope you told him that you had had enough horsing around, and he should scratch you from the lineup.

DEAR ABBY: A reader asked why the waiting rooms of doctors' and dentists' offices are usually furnished with soft, low furniture from which people find it difficult to get up.

You suggested that doctors and dentists pay a visit to their own waiting rooms and sit down — and if they sink into one of those soft cushions from which they find it replace their furniture with the firm upholstered kind.

Abby, no need to buy new furniture! We fit a 3/4-inch-thick piece of plywood under the cushions of any sofa or chair we use on stage It's actually more comfortable. We don't sink down, and we can rise easily and gracefully to our feet.

NANETTE FABRAY MACDOUGALL

DEAR NANETTE: The better to accept a standing ovation - of which you've had your share. Thanks for writing.

DEAR ABBY: Thanks for setting the record straight on Ima and Ura Hogg of Texas. I also had heard difficult to get up, they should about the Hogg "sisters." Some people actually claimed they knew them personally. I am particularly interested in oddball names because my name is Donald Sapp, and when you have a name like that, you might just as well laugh about it - everybody else does

When one is saddled with a name like Hogg or Sapp, it's wise to choose your children's name carefully. I have a relative whose name is Harry Fox. Harry is a great name for a laugh if your last name is Wolf, Lyon or Foote.

Choosing quality in carpet

BY NAOMI HUNT County Extension Agent

family

Since carpeting is a major household investment, it can pay to carefully consider your selection. Consumers often choose carpet primarily on the basis of color, with cost also a factor.

However, quality for the cost should also be a major consideration because it plays an important part in determining the longevity and look of your carpet.

You can determine quality by checking the texture, depth and density of the pile or yarn.

Pile refers to the amount of fiber in a carpet. It's what you actually feel. A good, long-wearing carpet has a dense, closely packed pile that is firmly attached to the carpet backing.

Bend back a corner of the carpet to see how much backing shows. The more backing you see, the less fiber is there to walk on and the less durable it will be. Different types of piles or textures reflect different degrees of durability. Here are some of the most common pile options, or different types of carpet.

 Cut carpets have pile loops that have been cut to expose the yarn ends. This creates a brushed texture.

In a "velvet plush" carpet individual cut tufts are so tightly packed they create a soft, dense pile. This carpet will show shadings from footprints or vacuuming. It's a good choice for bedrooms and living rooms with light to moderate traffic.

"Saxony plush" is a cut carpet that has more twist in the tufts than velvet plush. The piles are usually under a half-inch high and the yarn tufts are well-defined and don't flair open. This carpet has greater durability and can be used in a variety of rooms.

• Loop carpets have no visible ends, producing a rugged texture. "Level loop" is the most basic pile, with looped tufts that rise up, then go back down into the carpet backing. The loops are all the same height for a flat, even surface finish. This is a high-performance carpet, well-suited to heavy traffic areas.

Cut and loop piles are combined to create a sculptured look. The latest in sculptured carpeting is "frieze," a durable carpet with a pebble effect surface. It's a good choice for high traffic areas, including family rooms, children's rooms and stairways.

Don't Overdo Foam Cleaning of Carpets Foam spray carpet cleaners are easy to use and relatively inexpensive, which explains their popularity. You simply apply the spray to a small area of the carpet at a time and work it in with a wet sponge mop. After drying, the carpet is vacuumed, which removes some of the dust and dirt - and only some of the foam. Brighteners left on the carpet make it appear cleaner. However, a filmy, sticky residue remains on the carpet and it will actually attract dirt. This method of carpet cleaning can be used occasionally, but probably shouldn't be used very often.

AUSTIN (AP) - Consumers need to be wary of credit repair firms that promise too much help in altering their credit histories, Attorney General Jim Mattox says.

Mattox said his office has received more than 300 complaints in the past year from consumers, and he has filed a half dozen lawsuits against the businesses.

"Unfortunately, people who need help with their credit are often desperate and make easy targets for unscrupulous businesses that promise them the moon and charge them exhorbitant fees without delivering what the consumers are led to believe they'll get," Mattox told a news conference Thursday.

Mattox also said he was sending a letter to the advertising departments of Texas newspapers, radio and television stations asking them to screen ads submitted by such companies.

The attorney general said he was taking action under a new law passed by the 1987 Legislature that covers businesses that provide services to improve a consumer's credit history or credit rating, obtain an extension of credit for a consumer or provide advice on how to improve or obtain credit.

Mattox noted that in most cases, credit repair companies only can correct erroneous or obsolete information.

"Something else many of these businesses fail to tell people is that a federal law, the Fair Credit Reporting Act, gives consumers the right to go directly to a credit reporting agency and ask that inaccurate information be removed from their files at no charge," Mattox said.

"In other words, these companies normally cannot do any more to improve credit ratings than a consumer can do on his own.

About 90 such firms are operating in Texas right now, Mattox said. Under state law, credit repair businesses must register with the secretary of state and post a $10,000 surety bond.

Mattox said he was mailing Business advisories to the state's Gredit repair businesses, adding that some are properly registered and some aren't.

Women's Vietnam memorial OK'd sion, says only that a monument to scaled-down version of a Senatethe 10,000 American women who approved bill authorizing a monument to American women who served in the Vietnam War was approved Thursday by a House subcommittee.

The Senate bill, approved 96-1 in mid-June, specifies that a bronze statue of an Army nurse be erected on the 2.2-acre grounds of the Vietnam Veterans Memorial near the incoln Memorial

But the measure approved Thursday by the House Administration subcommittee on libraries and memorials, written as a substitute for the Senate ver-served in Vietnam can be built somewhere on federal land in the Washington, metropolitan area.

This will force separate votes by Congress on a specific site and design for the monument, as well as review by three federal Critics including Sen. Daniel J. Evans, R-Wash., who cast the dissenting Senate vote, say a women's statue would violate the artistic integrity of the Vietnam Veterans Memorial and create a "sculpture garden" for specialinterest groups.

The names of more than 58,000 U.S. military personnel killed or missing in the Southeast Asian conflict, which are inscribed on the black granite wall of the Vietnam memorial, include those of eight female nurses

Some critics have suggested that a tribute to women who served in Vietnam might be included in a monument to all women of the U.S. armed forces, which is to be built at the entrance to Arlington National Cemetery.

The approval of all three federal agencies is required for the site, design and construction of any federal monument.

"The building was built between 1935 and 1938," says Carl. "It was during the art deco period. A Dallas architect came over and looked at the place and laid out the floor plan for us and we took it from there."

They had their work cut out for them. Removing the old equipment was no small job. Carl got out his welding torch and cut some of the old machines into pieces so he could maneuver them easier. Replacing some of the old rotted wood where sugar syrup had been spilled for years was not pleasant work.

A tornado came through Greenville some months before Carl and Alice bought the old structure and did some damage to it. Carl and Alice decided to remodel only half of the building for their home and use the rest of the concrete slab for a back yard. The house has 3,200 square feet.

imagination to fill the big open space. They decided to leave the outside of the building in its original Dr Pepper colors. Inside, it is pink and green, decorated in the art deco style:

After they bought the building, Carl and Alice set out on a gigantic shopping spree to find fixtures and furniture to fit their unique house. Alice had been an art deco fan for sometime.

"I've been collecting for about ten years," says Alice, "mainly because I was a big movie fan and I had a lot of movie memorabilia and that kind of thing. The first item I ended up with that was of any size was a barber chair from the old Adolphus Hotel sin Dallas. Basically, we had to get an art deco house to go with all my art deco stuff. I ended up with a lot of things.

The floors are either pink marble or black and white ceramic tile. Glass bricks and chrome are used throughout the house. The ceiling is the original decorative tin, now restored.

It is two-story, with three bedrooms upstairs. A stripe of bright blue-green neon light graces a plexiglass wall along one stairway. Alice loves neon. "They used it commonly as decoration in the 30s in art deco. And as soon as we told the architect about it and showed him some pictures, he told us we just had to use neon. Aqua has always been my favorite color. That's a new color in neon. It just came out this last year. It's the latest thing."

They like living on the edge of downtown. Before they bought the Dr Pepper building they were talking about living above one of the stores downtown. "We were real interested in trying to restore one of those," says Alice, "because they're just sitting there. This is really better because it's in a neighborhood. It was art deco also - so it had everything for me.

One day they walked from their nome to a downtown restaurant for a meal and felt rather strange because they didn't have to look for their car when they started home. They enjoy the convenience of living just a few blocks from a shopping area. They are building a plexiglass headboard for their bed. "We've got an old neon sign," explains Carl, "that came out of the old Sam Schwartz department store that says 'use our lay-a-way plan.' We're gonna put that behind our plexiglass headboard and have it to where it'll light

Carl also is looking forward to working on his enclosed patio area. He wants to paint some of the old engines and equipment in bright colors and place them around as sculptures. Some old Dr Pepper drink boxes were found in one of the old buildings on the property. He plans to make planters out of those and put flowers in them.
