The Big Spring City Council is expected to approve an emergency reading of an ordinance adopting a revised version of the 1988-89 fiscal year budget at tonight's regular council meeting.

The revised budget is apparently related to a 75-minute Monday night executive session concerning a proposed settlement of a class action lawsuit filed by the firemen's relief and retirement fund against the city about two years ago.

City Manager Hal Boyd refused to discuss specifics, but said all details about the proposed settlement will be released at tonight's

One man was injured Monday in an accident after an electrical failure at the Fina Oil and Chemical Company refinery east of the city, according to Refinery Manager R.J. (Bob) Johnston, who said the plant's safety systems performed properly.

Texas Utilities Electric Service Company's district customer service and operations manager Bob Goodwin said today that TU fail-safe equipment also operated properly. He said no damage to the utility's equipment or injuries to its personnel resulted from the incident. 'We had one injury, Johnston confirmed early today. "One of our operators, Kenneth Scott, was burned by steam. He is in (Scenic Mountain Medical Center) hospital.' Johnston said Scott, a 26-year veteran of the refinery, had suffered burns to his back and forehead. He described the in juries as "not minor, but not life-threatening." Scott was injured when a steam line expansion joint failed, Johnston said. The failure is the only damage reported so far at the refinery, he said, and no one else was injured. Scott was listed in good condition at the hospital, with burns to his chest and arms as well as back and face, according to his COSDEN page 3-A Analysts said Fahd's statement came as the market was looking for positive news following a string of negative indicators that had steadily eroded prices.

Fahd's statement, reported by the official Saudi Press Agency following a weekly government Cabinet session, had a strong impact on the market because the king rarely makes public statements related to the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries, brokers said.

Before the statement was released, analysts had focused on the inability of OPEC's 13 members to keep within their production quotas despite the worldwide oversupply OIL PRICE page 3-A

The driver and four passengers died, and 14 passengers were injured, Ms. Carrion said.

A large rock tumbled from the mountain as the bus approached, said State Police Officer Harold Zuni. It was raining at the time.

"It sheared the front end of the bus off," Zuni said, describing the boulder as "about as big as the front end of a car."

Witnesses said the impact of the boulder pushed the bus into some other rocks, keeping it from falling into the water 40 feet below. The driver apparently was killed instantly.

The bus "did not go into either river." Ms. Carrion said.

It was initially feared that some of the passengers may have been thrown into the river, but O.R. Mascarenas of a search and rescue team said all 21 people aboard had apparently been accounted for. Jones, a Mormon missionary

Local private schools witness enrollment declines for 88-89

By STEVE GEISSEN Staff Writer

Enrollment at two private schools the only ones in Big Spring that provide post secondary instruction has decreased this year, according to their administrators.

Seventy-six students are attending St. Mary's Episcopal School this year, administrator Bebe Mc-Casland said. Last fall, she said 93 students were enrolled in the school.

There are 41 students enrolled for the current school year at Hillcrest Christian School, administrator John Gustin said. Last fall, approximately 75 students attended the school.

Gustin attributed the decrease in enrollment at Hillcrest to elimination of the school's eighth through 12th grade classes, and the sluggish local economy.

McCasland, who has worked at St. Mary's for 23 years, said the school's enrollment has historically fluctuated with the local population.

The emphasis on individual attention and biblical instruction are two reasons why parents choose to send their children to private church-affiliated schools, according to both administrators

St. Mary's Episcopal School provides instruction for students in kindergarten through the third grade, and Hillcrest Christian School offers kindergarten through seventh grade instruction. Asked why St. Mary's might be viewed as an attractive alternative to public school education, Mc-Casland said: "I think the small class size, more individual attention and the accelerated learning programs are appreciated by the parents."

In addition to its basic curriculum, St. Mary's offers students of all grade levels instruction in art and music appreciation, and a foreign language, she said.

"I think it's very important for young children to be exposed to a foreign language," she said. "The sooner you can teach children a foreign language, the better.

St. Mary's students regularly attend chapel services, said Mc-Casland. The school's teachers also read short biblical stories to their classes to reinforce the message delivered in chapel services, she said.

The school is affiliated with St. Mary's Episcopal Church, but the majority of the school's students come from families who are not Episcopalian, she said.

We tell our students the stories of the Old and New Testament," she said. "We don't try to make Episcopalians out of them." Hillcrest Christian School also adheres to a non-demoninational teaching of biblical scriptures, said Gustin.

The school is affiliated with Hillcrest Baptist Church. But the school "does not emphasize doctrine," he said, adding, "We emphasize biblical teaching.

Since Hillcrest's largest class is comprised of 14 people, the school offers its students "a little more individual attention" than public schools are able to provide, Gustin said.

St. Mary's has 13 teachers, all of whom are degreed, McCasland said

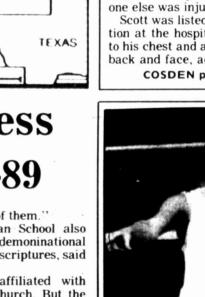

Hillcrest has six teachers, two of whom are not degreed, Gustin said. One of the teachers who does not have a degree is pursuing one, and all of the school's teachers have completed at least two years of college, he said.

Tuition at St. Mary's is $1,140 per year for pre-kindergarten and kindergarten students, and $1,495 per year for students in grades one through three. McCasland said.

Tuition at Hillcrest is $115 per month for kindergarten students, and $135 per month for students in grades one through seven, Gustin said. Hillcrest also charges a $100 registration fee.

Cisneros to forego run for fifth term

By DAVID SEDENO Associated Press Writer

SAN ANTONIO - Saying the time has come for him to move on, Mayor Henry Cisneros vowed not to seek a fifth term, but declined to rule out the possibility of running for a higher office in the future.

The 41-year-old mayor's fourth 2-year term will expire next spring. and Cisneros said he will go into private life.

Along with handing over the gavel to the nation's ninth-largest city, Cisneros also will pass along some major civic projects he once said were the reasons he wasn't interested in seeking higher office.

When his term ends, the popular mayor and one of the country's leading Hispanic politicians will have served his native city for 14 years

"It's been work, and it's been fun. Mostly, it's been the most engrossing and fulfilling thing I've ever done;" Cisneros said at a news conference Monday.

"Basically, I've been at it for 14 years – eight years as mayor and six as council member. That's a long time to go at full throttle," he said

"Our country believes that eight years in a high office should be enough to get a job done. Presidents serve eight years. Governors serve eight years. And eight years is a good round number for a mayor, especially this one,"

The charismatic, bilingual mayor has served on several international commissions, was interviewed by Walter Mondale as a potential vice presidential running not seek a fifth mayoral term.

SAN ANTONIO - This city's mayor, Henry Cisneros, holds his son, John Paul Anthony, during a City Council meeting break in November 1987. Cisneros formally announced Monday that he will mate in 1984 and was frequently mentioned as a possible Cabinet level appointee.

Last year, Cisneros said he would not be running for statewide office because he wanted to devote time to San Antonio projects and to his son, John Paul Anthony, who was born with a congenital heart defect and stomach abnormalities. Earlier this year, Cisneros declined an offer to make a keynote address to the Democratic National Convention. The former president of the National League of Cities said he wanted to devote time to the city projects, which include a controversial $160 million domed stadium proposal and a regional water plan.

Cisneros was approached this year by several San Antonio businessmen about the prospect of forming a business to handle business investments. He said he has since received numerous job offers, but declined to elaborate.

The mayor's salary is less than $5,000. With two daughters nearing college age and an ill infant, Cisneros supplemented that income by writing columns and giving lectures. However, he had to reduce his outside activities because of his son's health dnd the ime-consuming city projects.

"Today is a little sad for me. It has to be," Cisneros said Monday. 'But I expect to wake up tomorrow arning ready to make the most of the next eight months, same pace, same energy, same devotionto the city until midnight of the day before the next mayor takes

Crash survivor suing Delta, pilot

DALLAS (AP) - One of 94 people who survived last month's crash of Delta Flight 1141 has filed suit against the airline and the pilot, alleging that she suffered physical injuries, emotional trauma and economic loss.

The suit, filed Monday by Alicia Hayes, 32, seeks unspecified damages for the crash that killed 14 people at Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport Aug. 31.

The flight had originated in Jackson, Miss., and was to fly from Dallas to Salt Lake City when it crashed moments after taking off. The Dallas woman was not hospitalized, but suffered substantial trauma to her neck and lower back, according to her lawyer, Frank Branson.

"The total horror of the impact is still being felt by Miss Hayes," said Branson, who filed the suit on behalf of Hayes in Judge Adolph Canales' 298th State District Court in Dallas.

Delta "failed to exercise ordinary care that a reasonable aviation common carrier would have exercised," particularly in regard to inspection, maintenance and repair of the Boeing 727 aircraft that crashed after takeoff, killing 14 people, the suit alleges

The suit alleges that pilot Larry Davis of Greenville failed to exer cise proper care in inspecting the aircraft before the flight.

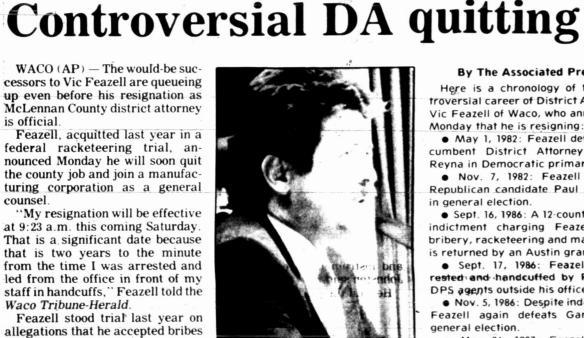

The suit does not now name Boeing or Pratt & Whitney, maker of the aircraft engines, as defendants, Branson said, but they could be added through the filing of an amended suit.

Any further responsibility for the woman's injuries would be determined through court motions for discovery of evidence, he said.

"We do know that (Delta's) pilot was flying it, and they had a duty to get my client safely from Dallas to Salt Lake City - and that didn't happen," Branson said.

The trial is the first of several scheduled as a result of the woman's allegations.

State District Judge Ricardo Garcia granted a prosecution motion to block references to the alleged victim's sexual history in the presence of the jury without first determining whether such discussion would be admissible evidence.

Defense attorney Albert Pena protested that prior sexual behavior "touches on the very basis of the defense of consent. Pena also cautioned potential jurors to ignore rumors and media reports in deciding Garza's fate.

"He is on trial here today, not anyone else you may have heard of," Pena said.

Pena told the potential jurors they would have to ignore the extensive media coverage the case has attracted since the woman reported that on the night of March 26 she was abducted and gang raped by a total of as many as 20 men over a period of several hours.

Ten men were indicted on various kidnapping or sexual assault charges. A 14-year-old youth also has been charged in the case.

Witnesses will include the alleged victim and a 12-year-old boy, prosecutors said.

Garza, a 23-year-old native of San Diego, a town of 5,000 about 55 miles west of Corpus Christi, also faces a later trial on a charge of aggravated kidnapping.

State District Judge Ricardo Garcia denied motions by the defense to have the sexual assault trials of Garza and 23-year-old Corando Perez Jr. combined.

Pena and attorney Nago Alaniz represent the two along with three other defendants.

Judge Garcia also denied defense motions to quash the jury panel. The defense unsuccessfully tried to make a case that the jury pool somehow had been stacked in favor of the prosecution. Assistant District Attorneys Rodolfo Gutierrez and Rocky Carrillo are the prosecutors in the case

The defense tried to show that an inordinate number of the potential jurors were relatives of Carrillo and residents of areas of Duval County where Carrillo's family has a 'historical political stronghold."

Talking tough with Israelies

Israel and the United States are trading verbal barbs over the Israeli practice of deporting Palestinians accused of instigating uprisings in the West Bank and Gaza.

The State Department claims the policy violates a 1949 Geneva convention banning forced transfers of people in occupied countries. Israel counters, with barely concealed contempt, that the treaty cited does not apply and, more pointedly, that how it deals with the uprising is its own business and not Washington's.

American criticism of Israel's heavy-handed tactics is neither new nor unjustified: Nothing remotely resembling due process is applied by Israeli authorities in expelling Palestinians from their homeland. But the increasingly angry tone of the dialogue isn't helpful.

Both countries are deep into national election campaigns. On the Israeli side, the suspicion grows that the Reagan administration is trying to throw its weight on the side of the Labor Party, which is generally more conciliatory toward the Palestinians than its more conservative coalition partner, Likud. If that suspicion is true, the U.S. tactic is both risky and ironic, since Labor supports the deportation policy.

U.S.-Israeli recriminations are not going to damage prospects for early Middle East peace talks: Those are blocked anyway – by stubborn refusal on both the Israeli and Palestinian sides to budge from long-standing positions and by Israel's forthcoming election. Yet it makes no sense to exacerbate an already next-toimpossible situation — at least until after November's elections - and run the risk of making it even more difficult for the next U.S. administration to play a role in crafting an Arab-Israeli settlement.

Certainly the United States should make its views known about Israeli policy. At the same time, it needs to avoid aggravating relations at a time when the Middle East peace process, so-called, is on hold, while also appearing to do nothing to advance that process.

One way of treading that narrow path is to avoid public threats against Israel; another is to give quiet encouragement to those Palestinians who, in the wake of Jordanian King Hussein's recent withdrawal from engagement in the West Bank, are sending out faint peace feelers to Israel.

Given the division within Palestinian ranks, that may well be another Middle East mirage, but it's a safer and saner route than the one Washington and Jerusalem seem to be traveling at the moment.

Accept life's risks or live in a cocoon

By STEVE REAGAN

Staff Writer

Peter Gent, the Dallas Cowboyturned author, described an attitude about flying in the book North Dallas Forty that is semipoignant in light of the recent crash of Delta 1141.

The book's central character related that the only time he felt totally relaxed was when he in flight. His reasoning? While airborne at 35,000 feet and surrounded by screaming engines and thousands of gallons of jet fuel, he refused to take any responsibility for what happened.

A rather fatalistic way of looking at things, to be sure, but in light of the recent spate of crashes Delta's and others - it may not be the worst way to justify partaking in such an unnatural human act as flying.

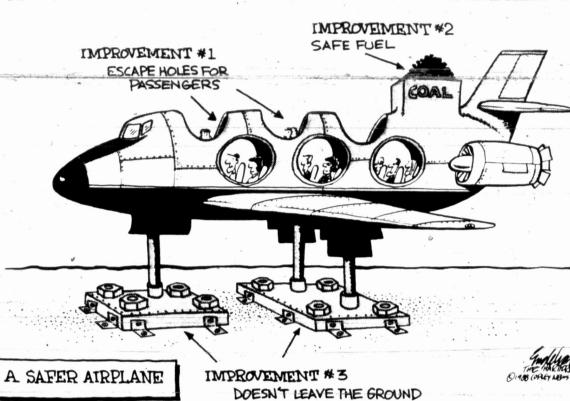

While reading reports from Dallas on the crash, I was struck by the fact that so many people said it was a miracle that 93 people survived. It was as if they wiped their brow and said, "Whew, only 14 died.

I guess some kind of commentary could be made about the implied callousness of that attitude: We have become so accustomed to planes-falling out of the sky that it's a shock only when there are survivors.

When one thinks along that line, the logical progression would be to ask, "Why in the world, if there's an increasing chance one might die in a heap of twisted metal, would anyone want to risk flying in an airplane?

A quick answer to that question is not readily available from this corner. The airline representatives will, undoubtedly trot out their statistics showing airline travel to be a far safer mode of transportation than driving to the cornergrocery.

Of course, the obvious reply would be that it's highly unlikely 14 or more people would die as a result of a fender-bender at Furr's, but that's rather mean-spirited and beside the point, anyway. So, we return to the question:

Beyond the realm

The only answer I can fathom is one that's gleaned from my own experiences, and not totally unlike the attitude of Mr. Gent's fictional hero

I have had only one indirect experience with a plane crash in my 33 years - and that's more than enough for me, thank you. It was the time when - as an air traffic controller in the Air Force I observed a T-39 perform unintentional pirhouettes on the runway.

It's been more than 12 years since that incident, but I still can't feeling of watching a plane lift off, only to return to earth in a resounding thud for officers, gracefully roared down the runway, lifted its nose in the air mee to a haight of about 29. ccc and dropped like water

Upon its reluctant return to earth, the plane's tires blew in a puff of smoke and fire, and the aircraft began turning in crazy circles on the runway.

Fortunately, either by luck, pilot skill or divine providence - or a combination of all three - the plane was able to land on its gear, and the gear remained intact, much to everyone's relief.

We promptly summoned rescue vehicles to the scene and, thank God, they were able to pull the crew from the wreckage unscathed. Still, the episode cast a pall that shadowed participants and observers alike for days

When the plane's crew visited the control tower a month or two later, I — being the smart-aleck 21-yearadequately explain the sickening old I was - asked one of the officers why he would ever want to climb inside an aircraft again.

In true military fashion, he sum-

The jet, a sort of business craft marized his answers: "One, those planes are the best-maintained, reliable aircraft in the world; two, Llove it; and three, sometimes you Personal and the second se the philosophers talk about."

> And then he went to his aircraft and flew - and still does, as far as I know.

"That leap of faith . . .'' — I like that. It appeals to the fatalist inside of me, the part that says sometimes you just have to go with your gut feelings and do it regardless of logic or rational argument.

I realize that all this is of little consolation to 1141's victims or their families, but it serves to remind us that nothing in life is sure. No matter how hard we try, there will always be an element of risk in almost everything we do.

The choice then is clear: Either we accept the risk, or curl up in our cocoons and wither away. Faced with that choice, I'll take a WASHINGTON - We have examined suppressed documents that cast new light on the Iran-Contra scandal. These revealing papers memos, transcripts and tapes withheld from the public under court seal - prove that President Reagan's secret overtures to Iran were on the right track.

He understood that a power struggle was seething inside Iran between the radicals and pragmatists. So Reagan sought to strengthen the pragmatists, who are led by Speaker of the Parliament Hasheimi Rafsanjani. The hope was that Rafsanjani would gain control of the government, wind down the Persian Gulf war, end Iran's diplomatic isolation and restore relations with the United

In September 1986, Rafsanjani sent his favorite nephew, Ali Hashemi, to Washington to negotiate with the White House. Here are excerpts from the secret discussions

Lt. Col. Olive North summarized the U.S. position tersely: "We are prepared to proceed with an improvement in relations between our two countries or to continue differences between our two countries," he said. "Basically, it is up to your government.

A translator gave the nephew's response: "Well, as I mentioned before, we are ready to improve relations You've got to understand that people who have taken this momentous step . . . this is not the agreement of everyone back there. There are a lot of differences and a lot of problems You know for four years after the revolution you were conceived to be as the enemy . . . Now it's only in these last two years that our responsibilities have begun to see the chance for improvement in relations with America

Later, he added, "I want to emphasize that what is really important is the political relationship . . . is that we do it in such a manner that no danger occurs to the people in power in Teheran, because we don't want the reactionary wing to take advantage of us.

North replied, "We understand that during this period of very secret contact, we cannot have the president go out and announce opening an embassy in Teheran. You have a domestic political problem. So do we.

The suppressed papers show that the White House's primary objective was to regain a foothold in Iran and repair the damage caused by the loss of Iran to the Americahating Ayatollah Khomeini. Iran dominates the Persian Gulf, which is the jugular vein of the Western world. Half of the West's oil travels through this strategic waterway.

The arms-for-hostages negotiation arose as a secondary issue.

North spoke of the hostages as an 'obstacle" to improving Iranian-American relations. But at the time he stressed that the White House didn't want the hostages to be bartered.

"We're committed to a longterm program to help moderate the government of Iran," North said during an earlier discussion. 'Okay, we're committed to that, and I don't want to start establishing ... They can say, 'Fine, we're going to go kidnap 12 more Americans,' or something. I don't want to get into that.'

During later negotiations over Iran's need for Hawk and TOW missiles, North told Rafsanjani's nephew to his face, "I do not like dealing with a man who is willing to put a price of so many TOWs on human life."

In future columns, we will describe how the Israelis helped the White House establish its first contact with Teheran through an Iranian arms merchant, Manucher Ghorbanifar, who lied to both sides in his effort to promote an arms sale that would bring himself profit. The records show that he then double-crossed the White House.

Meanwhile, Rafsanjani has consolidated his control of the Iranian government. He is now bringing more rational rule to Iran and ending the war with Iraq. As the reporters who first broke the armsfor-hostages story and scathed President Reagan for doing busienss with Khomeini, we are obligated to report now that he made overtures to the right people at the right time for the right reasons.

Today's civics lesson: Jingoism, in one easy try

BY ART BUCHWALD

You never see them, but the key men in this presidential race are the members of the elite Special Scurrilous Presidential Campaign SWAT Teams. They are stashed in the bunkers of the candidate's headquarters and their job is to disseminate wild and hairy stories about the opposition.

I managed to infiltrate a command post to learn how they operate. There was one man in charge of five political yuppies sitting around the table under an electorial map of the United States.

The man on the phone yelled out, "Upstairs wants us to attack what's-his-name for his soft stance on crime. What can we come up with?"

One of the workers said, "How about our candidate saying that his opponent is not only soft on crime but he is the Hillside Serial Killer of Cape Cod?'

"It is dirty enough," someone agreed. "But upstairs will never let our guy say that.

'All the better. We'll insert it in a TV commercial, and then our candidate will insist he had nothing to do with the charge and in Grenada?'

deplores those kind of political tactics in a presidential campaign. It's a twofer. We get to play dirty and he gets to play clean with the same story."

'Good going,'' the man in charge said. "Now we have to do something to dramatize the opposition's stance on defense.'

"I've been working on that one," said Red Suspenders. "We will say the reason what's-hisname is weak on defense is that he has refused to recite the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag for the last 20 years.'

'We better trial-balloon it, just in case people don't buy it. Anything happen on us maintaining that what's-his-name burned the American flag during the war

"We're putting out a story that it was not the candidate but his mother who did it.'

Will they believe it?" "Of course they will. How could anybody make up something like that? "Has anyone dealt with the 'God Bless America' issue?

"We're going to leak a story that if he is elected President what'shis-name has promised the ACLU that he will ban the song from all three networks, if he has to stack the Supreme Court to do it."

"That should play in Orange County. Our man will gladly insert it into his speech without asking us where we got the information."

'We can get more votes by accusing their side of a 'God Bless America' ban than explaining how we're going to balance the budget.

'Speaking of votes, the boss wants us to give him something as good as the stuff we put out on what's-his-name's mental health," Striped Tie said.

"Tell him we're working on it. What do you guys think of this? We say that if Shorty is elected, anybody over 5-foot-1 will lose his right to bear arms.

'That's a little far-fetched Who's going to believe it?"

'The people. They won't believe it the first time we say it, and they won't believe the second time we say it - but the third time around they'll eat the whole thing."

Olympic ads may show events

NEW YORK (AP) - NBC officials have asked Olympic advertisers to allow silent live coverage of certain events to continue during commercials in a corner of the television screen, according to a report published today

NBC Sports executive producer Michael Weisman confirmed that the plan had been presented to certain advertisers and said some have indicated interest, the Daily News reported.

Under the plan, unprecedented in Olympic coverage, NBC would superimpose a silent picture in to $330,000 for a 30-second the lower-righthand corner of the commercial.

television screen during commercials in sports such as basketball, volleyball, cycling and longdistance track events. The sport would occupy one-quarter of the television screen.

NBC is hoping to avoid the harsh viewer criticism ABC was subjected to during this year's Winter Olympics, when goals were scored during commercial breaks of hockey telecasts. NBC has experimented with the technique during telecasts of majorleague baseball games.

Gear causes second accident ths involving a DC-10's landing gear.

United said there were 197 passengers and 10 crew members on board the flight, which originated in Hartford, Conn., and made stops in Detroit and Chicago. No one was seriously injured.

The nose gear broke when the plane went off the runway during landing at Stapleton International Airport at 1:50 p.m.

Rodney E. Under current regulations, socalled mechanically separated meat or MSM can comprise up to 20 percent of the meat portion of certain products, which include hot dogs, luncheon meats, sausage, scrapple, canned spaghetti with meat sauce and other items. Chemical warfare condemned

Big Spring Herald, Tuesday, September 13, 1988

BEIJING (AP) - U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations Vernon A. Walters today called for an U.N. investigation of Iraq's alleged use of chemical weapons against ethnic Kurds.

In London, the British Foreign Office joined the U.S. call, asking the United Nations to send a team to Iraq to look into allegations that gas was used against the Kurds, a minority people who live in northern Iran and Iraq and eastern Turkey.

The New York Times reported in today's editions that West Germany and Japan also were pushing for an inquiry.

Walters said the United States 'is extremely concerned about chemical warfare" and backed a recent unanimous resolution by the U.N. Security Council condemning its use.

"The United States is determined that the use of chemical war fare will not become an accepted part of regional conflicts. It is a danger in its own way as great as nuclear warfare and we intend to stop the proliferation of chemical warfare.

The British Foreign Office said it toughened its stand Monday partly because of U.S. State Department evidence of such attacks, which led the Senate on Friday to vote for tough economic sanctions against Iraq.

The measure still must be approved by the House and signed by President Reagan.

Associated Press photo YELLOWSTONE NATIONAL PARK, Wyo. - Burned frees and blackened ground are what remain of a forest on the banks of the PARK, Wyo. (AP) - Firefighters took advantage of a cold spell to make some headway against blazes that have devastated much of this famed park before potentially menacing warmer weather.

Continued cold weather and overcast skies limited fires Monday, offering firefighters a muchneeded break from the rigors of last week, when fires blackened thousands of acres each day.

In California, a fast-moving fire continued to burn out of control today in the Gold Rush country of the Sierra Nevada foothills.

That blaze has consumed 142 buildings, including 92 homes, and forced the evacuation of more than 8,000 people Sunday. Fires also torched a remote section of Sonoma County north of San Francisco.

Fires also burned Monday in Montana, Colorado, Idaho, Utah, Oregon and Washington state. The Interagency Fire Center in Boise, Idaho, which coordinates firefighting efforts in the West, calls this the worst forest fire season in 30 years.

The historic fires have charred 939,270 acres of the 2.2 million-acre park since June.

Officials were also hopeful that a heavy snow will throw a wet, white blanket on the fires soon. Light snow fell on Yellowstone Sunday.

Elsewhere in the Yellowstone area, firefighters in the Bridger-Teton National Forest hoped to control a 38,000-acre fire by tonight.

In northwestern Montana, crews made progress in their battle against a 31,500-acre fire burning in and near Glacier National Park. Gov. Ted Schwinden lifted a sweeping ban on all outdoor recreational activities that was imposed because of fire danger.

CHIROPRACTOR

excites controversy

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — A publishing company closed its offices in the belief that millions of the faithful will be called to heaven today in a prelude to the Second Coming. Most religious scholars and ministers doubt it. All such forecasts in the past have been wrong, noted Malcolm Tolbert, professor of New Testament interpretation at Southeastern Theological Seminary in Wake Forest.

Nonetheless, a woman who answered the telephone at the World Bible Society in Nashville, Tenn., Monday said the office was closed to give employees time to be with their families. The company published the book by Edgar C. Whisenant that contains the prediction, "88 Reasons The Rapture Will Be In 1988.

"If anyone is left here, they'll be here Wednesday morning,' said a woman named Lorraine, who refused to give her last name.

"The odds of anybody being right are certainly greater than the odds of winning the recent Florida lottery," Tolbert said Monday

He noted that such predictions have been made countless times in the past 2,000 years. "Nobody's been right."

Some evangelical and Pentecostal interpreters of biblical prophecy believe "the Rapture" is a sort of prelude to Christ's Second Coming.

But Tolbert said people who believe in the theory support it by plucking various passages from the New Testament.

"People are treating the Bible as sort of a smorgasboard ... and come out with a kind of unified approach that is not justified by any single passage in the Bible,' he said. "So what you have is interpretations by people" who are not biblical scholars.

Whisenant, a former rocket engineer, predicted the Rapture would come by tonight. He used mathematical calculations and biblical interpretations to predict that it would occur in the 48 hours of this year's Jewish New Year -40 years and 120 days after Israel became a nation on May 14, 1948.

The time of the Rapture - by noon EDT - was determined according to the hour of sunset in Jerusalem, said KAAY general manager Dianne McArthur, whose Little Rock, Ark., radio station has been carrying Whisenant's "Rapture 88 Ministries' programs since March.

Whisenant spent most of Monday in Little Rock trying to spread his message.

He fully expects to be taken to heaven today, Ms. McArthur said.

Whisenant will not talk with the secular press "because God plainly told him not to sensa tionalize this," she said.

Whisenant, a 56-year-old self taught Bible student, has predicted on broadcasts carried by more than 90 radio stations nationwide that Jesus would "rapture the church" - take the faithful to heaven.

But several ministers said the exact time of the Second Coming could not be pinpointed.

child's play

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti (AP) Five men and a woman appeared on government television boasting they participated in Sunday's massacre at a Roman Catholic Church and threatening "a heap of corpses" at future Masses.

They said the bloody attack Sunday, in which five parishioners were killed and 77 wounded, was aimed at Rev. Jean-Bertrand Aristide, the church's pastor and militant critic of the military government.

'We were after Father Aristide; what you saw yesterday (Sunday) was child's play. In whatever parish Father Aristide is accepted, a heap of corpses will attend that Mass," a spokesman for the group said on the Radio Metropole broadcast.

The six did not give their names, but their faces were clearly shown on television.

During 9 a.m. Mass on Sunday about 300 people stoned Rev. Jean-Bertrand Aristide's St. Jean Bosco church in the La Saline slum. Then two domen men with guns and machetes burst into the church and shot, stabbed and slashed terrified parishioners, as soldiers watched from across the street and did nothing, radio stations and witnesses said. The assailants then set the church on fire.

Aristide escaped unhurt and went into hiding.

Witnesses at the church said they recognized some of the attackers as city hall employees, but did not identify them.

Mr. Right hides children

DEAR ABBY: I am 38, twice divorced and have three kids, ages 20, 16 and 3. I have always supported myself and my children with no help from anybody.

Six months ago, I met "Mr. Right" - I'll call him Mel. He's 31, kind and honest. He's been divorced for a year after a seven-year marriage (no children). He loves my kids and they love him.

There is only one thing wrong. Mel has been hiding my children from his friends and family. We live 70 miles apart and see each other only on weekends. It bothers me that he doesn't want his family to know that I have three children. (He has asked me not to mention them because he doesn't want them to know yet.)

We have had long talks about our future together. He foresees marriage in about three years. So, what do you think of this, Abby? I really love him and he says he loves me. IN LOVE IN SOUTH DAKOTA DEAR IN LOVE: There is something wrong with Mr. Right. 'Hiding'' your children from his friends and family is downright deceitful. Mr. Right is very shortsighted. If there is marriage in your future, your three children will have to come out of the closet. What then? Put this question to him, and draw your own conclusions.

DEAR ABBY: This concerns something that sounds trivial, but it's actually very serious. I heard that while baseball-players are waiting in the bullpen, they pass the time by pulling the hair out of each other's noses. A man told me that his aunt actually died after she had pulled some hairs out of her nose. This shocked me into writing to you so you could warn your readers. I hope you print this. It may save some lives.

DEAR F.S.S.: I consulted a medical expert and was told that because the membranes of the nose are very delieate, pulling hair fromthe nostrils can cause an infection called furuncle of the hair follicle. However, since the advent of antibiotics, the chances of dying are minimal. Bottom line: This baseball team needs a better way to pass the time.

DEAR ABBY: I have no problems, complaints or questions, but I would like to tell you what my husband gave me for my 30th birthday

Kevin and I have been married for 11 years and have five daughters, ages 10, 8, 5, 4 and 212. For obvious reasons, I do not work outside my home, and my "outing" is a weekly trip to the grocery store.

Although my birthday is two months in the future, last week Kevin surprised me with a birthday cake and a round-trip airline ticket to visit my best friend in Florida - alone. Yes, all by myself - for eight days!

He had prearranged this trip so it wouldn't interfere with the children's school or the helidays. He lined up a sitter for the kids while he's at work. (I baby-sit weekdays, so he's already informed the children's parents that I will be gone for eight days.) I have nothing to do but pack, and grocery-shop before I leave.

Crossroads Chalk Talk

Crossroads country football teams had the better of it this last weekend, winning five games while losing three.

In the only game where area teams squared off. Stanton outlasted Coahoma, 19-6. In six-man action, Kiondike downed Amherst, 50-16, Borden County shocked Wellman, 21-6, Sands beat Buena Vista, 36-8 and Grady bowed to New Home, 44-14.

Garden City kept its record spotless by blasting Grandfalls, 30-8, while Colorado City did likewise, besting Seminole by a 28-14. Here is what area coaches had to say about last week's games and next week's oppenents:

Randy Roemisch, Sands, on the win against Buena Vista, and the coming game against Blackwell - "We played a sharp game offensively. Our line blocked good. Defensively, we kind of bent but didn't break. I feel like if we can keep them under 200 yards total offense, our offense can produce. 'The kids are playing real well. They look a lot sharper and quicker than I thought we would be at the beginning of the year.

"Blackwell is probably one of the biggest teams we'll face. They have one kid who weighs about 290. ... It seems like we're stepping up every week. Size-wise, we'll be on the bottom. We hope we'll be on top, as far as quickness goes.' Leandro Gonzalez, Grady, on his team's loss to RANDY ROEMISCH New Home, and the coming game against Loraine - "Whenever you play an excellent team like New Home, and they make very few mistakes - and we have poor execution and tackling — that usually equals defeat.

"There's lots of room for improvement. In the first half, we had poor execution. The second half was a different story. Overall, though, you have to give credit to New Home. They have an excellent ballclub.

"Loraine has a quick agile back, and a very powerful team. They play a 2-4 defense, and have a very good quarterback . . . We have to miner dealeting product where it has a state of the we'll give Loraine a good game.'

Steve Park, Coahoma, on his team's loss to Stanton, and this week's game against Tahoka - "I feel we played well enough to win. We just let them have the big play, and we just have to quit giving them away.

"Tahoka has a lot of talent. We'll have to play a good game, and concentrate on every play. Plus, we'll have to do a better job in the secondary.' Stanton head coach Dale Ruth on the Buffs' win against Coahoma, and this week's game with Greenwood - "I'm pleased with the victory. It was a real tough defensive battle, and we really had to come through. We had to play real tough to stay in the game.

'Greenwood should be real tough. We've got to contain them. They're a well-coached team, and we have to be ready for them. It should be one of our toughest games so far this season.

Sam Scott of Garden City, on his team's win against Grandfalls, and this week's game STEVE PARK against Roby -- "We were encouraged by the things we were able to do. As the game progressed, we were able to figure out what they were doing defensively

"I'm pretty well satisfied where we are right now. I feel we're on schedule

'(Roby) is a lot larger than we are, and some of their kids are faster, too, so it looks like we're outsized and outquicked again. They ought to be a good challenge for us."

Colorado City coach Tom Ramsey, on the victory against Seminole,

Cowboys net first win

TEMPE, Ariz. (AP) - The Cardinals may have moved from St. Louis to Phoenix, but one thing hasn't changed - they still can't stop Dallas Cowboys running back Herschel Walker.

Walker rushed for 149 yards on 29 carries, scored one touchdown and set up the clincher in the fourth quarter as the Cowboys beat the Cardinals 17-14 Monday night in the first NFL regular-season game ever played in Arizona.

"Herschel did it almost all by himself. A lot of times, he didn't have good blocking," Dallas coach Tom Landry said. "I think he's going to run this way every week. If we can get him out in the open more, he'll be devastating."

Walker took a pitchout and scored on a 3-yard run around left end with 4:35 remaining in the second quarter to put the Cowboys ahead to stay at 10-7.

He knocked over a television cameraman in the end zone on the play, sending the man to a local hospital with a bruised arm and cut under an eye.

"I hope the guy is OK. I know I took a pretty good shot to the back of the head myself," Walker said. and the surger sector with the sector of the sector sector sector sectors. got the ball and headed for the end zone, that's all."

The 1982 Heisman Trophy winner from Georgia almost did it all himself on a 13-play, 81-yard drive in the fourth quarter. He gained 58 yards on nine carries and got the ball down to the 1-yard line where Steve Pelluer's quarterback sneak made it 17-7 with 5:23 remaining.

"It was a great drive," said Pelluer, who finished 12-of-24 for 162 yards with one interception. "Phoenix had a tough zone defense, so we kept calling Herschel's number and he got us the yards."

The drive started with 10:22 left and was delayed for several minutes as the near-capacity crowd of 67,139 at Sun Devil Stadium caused such a din that Pelluer couldn't call the signals.

The 6-foot-1, 225-pound Walker had averaged 100.3 yards in four previous games against the Cardinals and scored four touchdowns. He had 137 yards and two touchdowns on 25 carries in the to tight end Jay Novacek with 3:52 Cowboys' 21-16 victory in the 1987 to go in the game.

since 1982. Dallas, 1-1 this season, is now 33-18-1 in the all-time series with its NFC East rival and 13-0 against the Cardinals in games where one of its running backs has gained at least 100 yards.

Walker had his first 100-yard game in the NFL against the Cardinals in 1986 and the first 100-yard game of his pro career here in 1983 as a member of the USFL's New Jersey Generals.

Phoenix, 0-2, seemed to be in position to at least force overtime after closing to 17-14 on Neil Lomax's 23-yard touchdown pass

But a pass-interference call on cornerback Reggie Phillips on a third-and-12 play gave the Cowboys a first down with 1:50 remaining and they ran out the clock. The Cardinals also hurt themselves with four crucial mistakes, two involving placekicker Al Del Greco. He was wide left on a 40-yard attempt with 1:27 left in the first guarter and was tackled at the Dallas 16 after a fake field goal try on the half's final play Phoenix's rookie running back Tony Jordan also was stripped of the ball by Ed "Too Tall" Jones, who recovered the fumble at the Cowboys' 27-yard line with 4:46 remaining in the third quarter.

Cowboys won their first game of the season, tak-' ing a 17-14 win.

and this week's opponent, Slaton - "It was an exciting game. There were a lot of long passes and kick returns. It was a great game for the spectators.

'(The Wolves) are getting a little better each week. We're 2-0 and happy about that. Defensively, we're playing very well.

'Slaton has a great running back named Davis, and he's a good one — he may be the best we've seen all year. They have multiple offensive sets, and run a little run-and-shoot.

Tom Ham, Klondike, on his team's win over Amherst and this week's tough homecoming game against New Home — "We played a lot better last week that we did the first game. We didn't shoot ourselves in the foot this time, we eliminated the mistakes and didn't have any turnovers. We played with more intensity.

"Homecoming is always a tough week because you have so many other activites going on. That's why you try to not to schedule it for a district game. We're playing a super team too, New Home is ranked fourth or fifth in the state. It's like one salesman told me this week, it's a good thing your coaching is better than your scheduling."

Jan East, Forsan, on last week's loss against TOM HAM Rankin, and this week's opponent, Roscoe - "We played pretty good. I feel like we're getting a little better. If we keep improving week to week, we'll finally get where we want to go.

"We haven't seen (Roscoe) in a long time. They've changed a lot of things. They used to run the Veer, but now they run multiple sets. I honestly don't know what to expect.

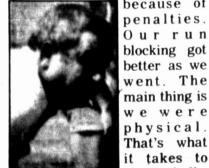

Thompson's Time

Lubbock Estacado and this week's encounter against Plainview.

"We played exceptionally hard. The mistakes killed us though. We had our chances to win and we should have won.

I'm sure they didn't expect us to be able to pass on them they way we did. We did a good jub excuting the pass, we didn't complete enough though. But if we execute, we can pass on anybody.

"We ran the ball well also. We got 192 yards rushing, and had about 40 more called back

DAVID THOMPSON run the ball. 'Our defense gave up 404

Big Spring Steers Coach David yards, so you can't be pleased Thompson reflects on Friday's a with that. The effort was there 30-18 season-opening loss to though, except for two or three plays. Anytime you play a team with the speed of Estacado, they are going to make some big plays.

"Plainview is a big football team. They've got that one Cargill kid (James Cargill, offensive tackle) who's supposed to be one of the best in the state. He's 6-7 and weighs 291.

"They are a power team. They run the Wing-T with lots of traps and counters. They line up and run at you.

"Rance (Rance Thompson, Big Spring quarterback who was injured in Estacado game) because of is okay. He practiced Monday penalties. so I'm assuming he'll play Our run Friday."

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) -American athletes threatened to boycott the Olympic opening ceremonies if the whole team wasn't allowed to march in the parade, but officials swiftly ended the flap with a welcome to everyone.

The jolt to the Olympic spirit hit Tuesday along with reports of Soviet gymnasts spying on Romanians, a new excuse for a steroid scandal among the Canadians and last-minute moves by boycotting Cuba to join the Games.

The International Olympic Committee and the Seoul Olympic Organizing Committee wanted to speed up Saturday's ceremonies by limiting participation to 8,000 athletes, coaches and officials, and leaving out more than 5,000 athletes

Within hours of a threat by American athletes to boycott the ceremonies if they all couldn't participate, SLOOC issued a statement saying, "Any athlete who wants to take part in the parade and ceremonies can do so. It is their right.'

The cutback would have affected all countries with more than 30 team members. Medium-sized teams would have been trimmed by a third, while the largest delegations, such as the United States. Soviet Union, China and host South Korea would have been limited to 42-44 percent of their total.

Only about 300 of the 800-member American delegation would have been allowed to join the ceremonies, a prospect that angered and disappointed many American athletes.

Evie G. Dennis, chief of the U.S. mission, said the restrictions were not acceptable and were resented by the athletes.

'Every American who has a right to compete here feels that the chance to march in the opening ceremonies is the culimination of the Olympic dream itself," said Mike Moran, spokesman for the U.S. Olympic Committee.

Volleyball player Robert Partie said the ceremony is a big part of the Games. "We've been looking forward to doing it and it would be a shame if it didn't work out," he said.

British chief of mission Dick Palmer said his country sympathized with efforts to speed up

GAMES OF THE XXIV TH OLYMPIAD SEOUL 1988

some of the athletes to watch from the stands

Meanwhile, Cuba, which has supported the boycott by North Korea, may try to compete in a nominal way to avoid sanctions from the International Olympic Committee, according to a top South Korean Olympic officials quoted in the Korea Herald.

Cuba is worried that if it boycotts the Olympics it may be denied the right to stage the 1991 Pan American Games, the official said. The boycott has been ignored by most other North Korean allie including the Soviet Union and China

Soviet gymnasts are focusing on their Romanian rivals, with an eye especially on recapturing the Olvmpic women's team championship they won at every Summer Games since 1952 except for the boycotted Los Angeles Games in Romania went to Los Angeles and won the gold, then stunned the Soviets at the world championships last October by winning the women's title again.

The Soviets have come here with a particular grudge to settle

The Soviets snook a peak at the Romanian team practice. Among those watching was Soviet gold medal favorite Elena Shushunova. the 1985 world champion dethroned by Romanian Aurelia Dobre in 1987

When the Romanians spotted the Soviets scouting them at the Gymnastics Hall, the Romanians ordered their athletes off the uneven bars. Feeling the Romanians' hostility, the Soviets left the gym. The Romanians then resumed their workout

A day after Canadian weightlifter Kevin Roy was sent home following a positive test for steroids, the leader of the team tried to explain why Canadians are more likely to be caught using banned drugs.

Yvon Chouinard said the four athletes dropped after testing positive for anabolic steroids three were left in Canada last week probably took the banned drugs because they were having difficulty meeting the Canadian Olympic Association's standard to make the team

ELMORE CHRYSLER-DODGE & JEI AND CHRYSLER MOTORS ANNOUNCES THE CAR BUYER'S BILL OF RIGHTS

EVERY AMERICAN HAS THE RIGHT TO A QUALITY CAR

You want a car that will start every morning. In numbing cold or in downpours of rain.

You want a car that will age well. And give you years of satisfaction.

You want quality. That's your right. Your undisputed right

Quality should also be the first and foremost commit ment of the carmaker. Without it he becomes morally and fiscally bankrupt. Chrysler has no intentions of forsaking this commitment.

Since 1980 Chrysler has initiated Five Key Quality Programs that involve every member of the work force. every level of management. Top, middle and first rung.

These programs touch every phase of the car-building process. From drawing board to final inspection. The goal: to top the quality of imports. An ambitious goal, but results are already showing it is within reach.

Lowest Recalls. On average, over the last 8 years, Federal Government records show that Chrysler has the lowest safety recall record of any American car company for passenger cars registered for the '80 through '87 model years.

And over the last 5 years, a lower average safety recall record than such prominent in ports as BMW. Porsche and Volvo.

EVERY AMERICAN HAS THE RIGHT TO 2. LONG-TERM PROTECTION

Chrysler has consistently led the industry in longterm quality protection. In 1980, Chrysler introduced the innovative 5.50 Protection Plan that protected the most important and costly pa t of your vehicle, the engine and powertrain, as well as protecting against outer body rust-through.

In 1987, Chrysler extended this protection substantially-to 7 years or 70,000 miles, plus 7 year or 100,000 mile protection against outer body rust-through, * inclusive of every car, truck (except Jeep vehicles) and mmivan Chrysler builds in North America. This plan was an unprecedented move.

Nov Chrysler breaks new ground again. With its new Crystal Key Owner Care Program that comes with the Chrysler New Yorker. It is a remarkable warranty. It protects the entire car for 5 years or 50,000 miles. It covers engine, powertrain, air conditioning, steering, rust, suspension, electrical everything right down to the door handles.' All you have to do is take care of normal maintenance, adjustments and wear items.

Not even Rolls Royce or Mercedes Benz can match this warranty.

EVERY AMERICAN HAS THE RIGHT TO J FRIENDLY TREATMENT, HONEST SERVICE AND COMPETENT REPAIRS

Dealer service is the key link in the relationship between the car buyer and the carmaker. Fully aware of this, Chrysler (under the direction of Lee Jacocca) has taken specific action to strengthen this relationship, and the results have been very gratitying.

Highest Satisfaction. Chrysler owners have the highest level of satisfaction of any buyers of American cars. Higher than GM owners. And significantly higher than Ford owners."

As Lee Jacocca says, "The next great leap forward in the car industry isn't going to happen in Detroit. It's going to happen at the dealership." Chilysler is stressing customer service to its dealers in the form of educational programs, dealer incentives and motivating awards.

If Dodge, Chrysler, Plymouth, Jeep and Eagle dealers do their job right, there is much to gain. The dealer will have achieved one of the highest goals in the auto indus try, a satisfied customer.

THE RIGHT TO A SAFE VEHICLE

Safety is a right we all desire, not just for ourselves.⁴ but for our families, too. That's why Chrysler has committed enormous resources and talents to building you a safe car. And that commitment has taken hold:

Chrysler is the first American car company to offer air bags as standard equipment. And by 1990, Chrysler will feature driver-side air bags on every car it builds in the United States.

Every Chrysler-built passenger car has over 30 safety features standard for 1988. And Chrysler plans to add many more features between now and the 1993 model vear.

The passenger compartments for coupes and sedans provide protection because of the vehicles' unitized body construction.

By 1992, Chrysler will have spent 440 million dollars on testing to learn how to enhance your safety.

Chrysler Motors has a Safety Shield Program from design through assembly. Safety components are identified by a safety shield, so everyone at the factory knows its importance to safety.

This program guards against the malfunction of critical items such as brakes, wipers, steering systems ind starters. And is one of the prime reasons why Chrysler Motors has the lowest average percentage of safety related recalls for any American car company.

THE RIGHT TO ADDRESS GRIEVANCES

If you have a warranty-related problem with your dealer, you have an impartial ear ready and willing to isten to your side of the story, at no cost to you: The Customer Arbitration Board.

This Arbitration Board consists of three voting mem bers: a local customer advocate, a technical expert and a person from the general public. And not one of them is affiliated with Chrysler in any way.

All decisions made by the Board include the action to be taken by the dealer or Chrysler and the time by which the action must be taken.

All decisions are binding on the dealer and Chrysler, but not on you, unless you accept the decision. The whole process normally takes no longer than 40 days We believe this Board is, without question, the best in the industry.

6. Chrysler believes there's no secret to satisfying customers. Build them a quality product. A safe product. Protect it right with the longest powertrain warranty in the business. Service it right. And treat them with respect. It's that simple.

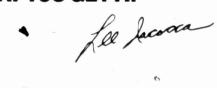

And Chrysler is done; exactly that. The proof is coming from you, the customer.

[1D] Power and Associates, one of the most respected research organizations in the industry, surveyed over 25,000 owners of 1987 passenger cars for product quality and dealer service. The results: Chrysler Motors has the highest Customer Satisfaction of any American car company two years running for overall product quality and dealer service.1

We've come a long way, but everything we've accomplished thus far is just a fraction of what Chrysler has planned for the future.

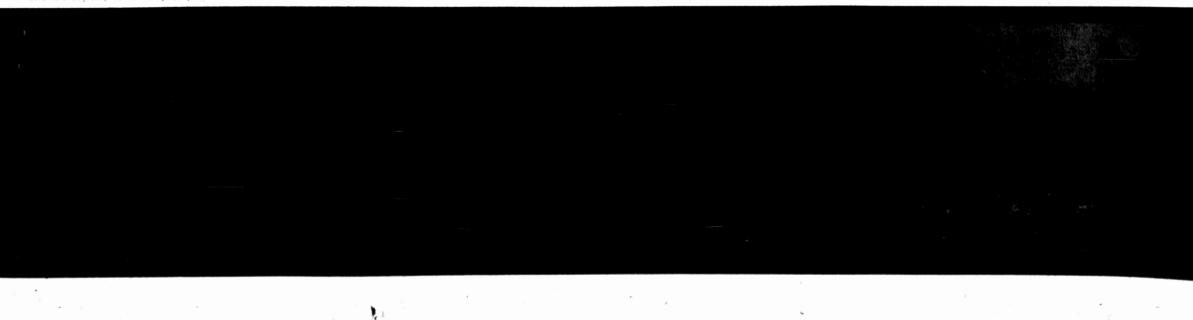

Because Chrysler believes it's our job to satisfy your needs. We have the obligations... you have the rights.
