Robbery

Man sought in First Federal heist

By MICHAEL DUFFY
Staff Writer

Local and federal authorities are asking the public's help in identifying a man who robbed First Federal Savings, 500 South Main St., shortly before 1 p.m. Tuesday.

Of particular interest to investigators is anyone who was in the parking lot of the Big Spring Post Office between 12:50 and 1 p.m.

Capt. Lonnie Smith said police responded to an aggravated robbery call at the savings and loan institution about 12:52 p.m. and discovered a white man in his early 20s wearing a blue sweat shirt, had entered the lobby, gave a teller a note demanding money and fled east on foot toward the post office parking lot, located across the street from First Federal.

The note was described as "threatening," according to police reports.

The suspect did not show the teller a weapon, although authorities are unsure if he had one in his possession. No one was injured, Smith said.

Police Chief Joe Cook said he has been advised by the two FBI agents from Abilene sent to investigate the robbery not to disclose the amount of money taken — a common procedure in bank robberies.

Authorities released a composite drawing of the suspect who is described as being five-foot, seven-inches tall with a slender build. The suspect had thick, curly, collar-length hair with a medium complexion and very pronounced, pock-mark scars on his face.

Detectives, patrol officers and Cook interviewed witnesses inside First Federal, took fingerprints from the front door, checked license plates and notified other area banking institutions that a robbery had occurred, Smith said.

Police cordoned off the front of First Federal for about one hour while witnesses were being interviewed, however, normal business resumed before 2 p.m.

Several detectives and patrol officers were checking leads in the parking lot of the men's dormitory at Howard College about 2:30 p.m. They were apparently unfounded.

"We've put this (robbery and suspect description) on the regional teletype and we will be doing additional things later," Cook advised.

The FBI agents arrived in Big Spring about 6 p.m. and met with police for shortly over one hour before issuing an official statement and composite drawing about 7:15 p.m.

Tom Clark, one of the FBI special agents investigating the robbery, said today "they (Big Spring police) ran out quite a few leads," but there are no suspects at the time.

Asked if investigators believe the man had an accomplice, Clark said:

"That's always a possibility, but there's nothing we can directly tie that to."

Sgt. Bill King said today he has assigned two detectives to investigate the robbery with the FBI special agents.

Cook said the robbery investigation is being handled jointly by the FBI and Big Spring police, although federal authorities have jurisdiction in the case.

"If and when we catch this person he will be prosecuted in federal court," he said.

Cook said he had "no idea" if the suspect is from the Big Spring area.

Any person who may be able to provide information about the robbery suspect is being asked to contact the Abilene office of the FBI at (915) 677-6191; the Big Spring Police Department Criminal Investigation Division at 263-8311; or the Crimestoppers line at 263-1151.

Hernandezes are released; bond lowered

By MICHAEL DUFFY
Staff Writer

Two Big Spring capital murder defendants — who have remained in the Howard County jail since their arrests nearly 11 months ago — were released Tuesday afternoon on $50,000 bond each.

Frankie Hernandez, 27, and his brother, Joe Hernandez, 20, were released after the 116th District (Eastland) Court of Appeals overruled District Judge James Gregg's ruling on June 21 not to reduce the $120,000 bond the men were being held on.

The appeals court ruled that the "appellant has established that the trial court abused its discretion by refusing to reduce his bail."

The court's ruling for both men was identical, District Attorney Rick Hamby said today.

Five factors are applied to determining the amount of bail, according to the Texas Code of Criminal Procedures:

- The bail shall be sufficiently high to give reasonable assurance that the undertaking will be complied with.
- The power to require bail is not to be used as to make it an instrument of oppression.
- The nature of the offense and the circumstances under which it was committed are to be considered.
- The ability to make bail is to be regarded and proof may be taken upon this point, and
- The future safety of a victim of the alleged offense may be considered.

Both men were arrested Oct. 27, 1987.

In its ruling on Frankie Hernandez, the appeals court stated that he has "close family and community ties," that he was employed by the Big Spring Herald and that their family was able to raise the $50,000 bond required.

Frankie had been employed as mail room supervisor at the Herald and Joe as a mail room employee at the time of their arrests.

The court also stated: "Appellant's supervisor at the Big Spring Herald testified (at the June 21 bond reduction hearing) that appellant's job was 'waiting for him if he gets out of jail'."

Herald management denies that statement.

Heard Publisher Richard White said that the men's immediate supervisor never made that statement and he was not present at the hearing.

White further said: "This is a business and it's run as a business. Frankie is no different if he were the editor or production manager. He's been away for a year and we had to replace him. We promoted internally and the person who replaced him has done a good job. We expect him to stay with us. The circumstances don't affect our decision."

Hamby said the district attorney's office opposed the bond reduction, but said they are prepared to prosecute Frankie Hernandez on Oct. 31, the day his trial is scheduled to begin.

A trial date has not yet been scheduled for Joe Hernandez.

At Frankie Hernandez' pretrial hearing Tuesday, Gregg ruled on about 40 motions, a process that took most of the day, Assistant District Attorney William Dale Dupree said.

The brothers are charged with capital murder in connection with the April 1987 slaying of Noe Perez, 39, of Grand Prairie.

They are charged with killing Perez by hitting and kicking him and pulling on his neck with a rope, according to January indictments against them returned by Howard County jurors.

The sister of Joe and Frankie Hernandez, Jeannie Hernandez Fonseca, 29, also of Big Spring, pleaded guilty to murder in another slaying on July 7.

Residents cry 'fowl'

By STEVE GEISSEN
Staff Writer

Ten local residents met Tuesday night to draft a proposal calling for revisions in the city ordinance that forbids residents to keep fowl within the city limits.

The informal meeting held at the residence of Marvin Wise was attended by citizens who keep chickens within the city limits and are opposed to a recent council decision not to grant exceptions to the ordinance, Wise said.

The ordinance, part of the Big Spring City Code, states, "It shall be unlawful for any person to keep or maintain within the city limits any fowl or swine..."

In the past the council has granted permits to residents for who requested exemption from the ordinance, but the council recently decided to uniformly enforce the ordinance and not grant permits.

"If there's an ordinance against it, why waste the council's time," Councilwoman Pat Deanda has said. "We decided we are going to stand by the ordinance."

Wise said the resident's proposal asks the council to consider revising the ordinance so that chickens could be kept within the city limits as long as the chickens are housed in pens; are not a health hazard; and do not illicit complaints from the community.

He feels the council can reach a compromise with the local chicken owners.

"I think the council will work something out, and come up with some type of changes," he said.

Wise said he planned to submit the proposal to councilwoman Gail Earls.

The proposal suggests that a complaint system could be instituted whereby residents could keep chickens as long as they do

GOP slows minimum wage vote

By MATT YANCEY
AP Labor Writer

WASHINGTON — Senate Republicans, demanding lower pay for unskilled workers and Democratic action on President Reagan's nominees to the federal bench, are stalling action on raising the $3.35 minimum wage in high-stakes parliamentary maneuvering where the biggest stake is presidential politics.

"Unless we see progress with the judges and keep our ability to amend, we're going to be on the minimum wage a long time," Senate GOP Whip Alan Simpson of Wyoming said Tuesday.

Simpson made the comment following separate party strategy luncheons after Democratic Leader Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia filed a second closure motion in as many days to limit further debate on the bill by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.

According to the Senate Judiciary Committee, 25 nominations by Reagan for federal judgeships are now pending before the panel and four other nominations are on the calendar for Senate floor action.

Kennedy's bill would raise the minimum wage by 40 cents an hour each of the next three years — to $3.75 in January, to $4.15 in 1990 and to $4.55 in 1991.

Vice President George Bush's presidential campaign said Tuesday that Bush likely would not unveil any specific minimum wage proposal until after his debate this Sunday with Democratic nominee Michael Dukakis.

"We're exploring a modest increase so long as it's tied to a sub-minimum or training wage," said David Sandor, a Bush campaign

Beware: A battle to the breath

By STEVE REAGAN
Staff Writer

Amid the fun and frolic of the Howard County Fair, a war of sorts was fought in the Entertainment Tent Tuesday night.

It wasn't warfare in the classical sense; no bullets were fired, governments weren't overthrown and nobody was killed — although one of the combatants was swathed in bandages.

But to its miniskirted participants, the third annual Battle of the Cheerleaders took its place beside other historical skirmishes such as Gettysburg, Verdun and Porkchop Hill.

Squads from Forsan and Garden City high schools, as well as their junior-high counterparts from Runnels, Goliad, Forsan, Garden City and Grady, competed for plaques, school pride — and bragging rights.

To the Garden City varsity cheerleaders, their goal was clear: To unseat two-time champ Forsan.

"We're ready; we'll show no mercy," junior Stephanie Seidenberger said in preparations. Her cheer-mate Tiffany Jost admitted to pre-contest jitters.

"This is more nerve-wracking (than cheering at a football game)," she said. "You're cheering to win, not just for the football team."

For their part, the Forsan cheerleaders — who have never lost this contest — were preparing for battle without one of their own. Junior Laurie Roberson, injured in a recent car wreck and heavily bandaged on the knees and forehead, would be unable to participate.

"We had to make some last-minute changes because of Laurie being out," Forsan cheerleader Tanya Clinton said. The changes had been time-consuming and frustrating, but Clinton still predicted her short-handed squad would successfully defend its title.

As the time for the battle approached, the different squads busily made last-minute preparations. While the Grady Junior High girls did a final run-through of their routine, Runnels cheerleader sponsor Teresa Harrel huddled with her troops nearby — apparently giving words of encouragement.

"They've been working hard all summer — they've been practicing constantly," said Harrel, an English teacher at Runnels when she isn't busy choreographing routines. "They're ready to cheer anywhere. It doesn't matter where; here, at a volleyball game, wherever."

For those who are unaccustomed to cheerleader contests, a word of warning: They are loud. Very loud. If it wasn't the yell leaders screaming support for their alma mater, it was the highly-vocal crowd roaring their approval.

Although the audience was supportive of all the groups, it was obvious they reserved the most decibels for both Forsan squads. Whether the partisan crowd gave the Buffalo cheerleaders the advantage they needed is debatable, but the results are not: Forsan swept the competition for the third year in a row.

"I'm very happy," sophomore Brandi Nelson said. "We got so much support; everybody from our school was here."

Roberson was understandably proud of her friends' accomplishment.

"They did great," she said. "It was hard (having to miss the competition), but I was yelling for them."

"I'm just — I don't know — I'm excited!" freshman squad member Lee Patterson said in summation.

Although they were unsuccessful in trying to unseat the reigning champs, the Garden City cheerleaders took solace in their football team's recent successes.

"Oh well, we (beat Forsan) in football," one said. "We're 3-0 and they're 0-3. You can't go to state in cheerleading, but you can in football."

Wright accuses CIA of inciting protests

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Reagan administration has used the CIA to foment civil unrest in Nicaragua and in the process has damaged efforts at a long-term peace accord between the leftist government and the Contra rebels, House Speaker Jim Wright says.

In a highly unusual disclosure, Wright told reporters Tuesday that the CIA has employed agents covertly in Nicaragua to organize and promote anti-government rallies and protests.

Wright, speaking at his regular daily news conference, said Congress has received "clear testimony" that the CIA has sought "to provoke an overreaction" by the Managua government.

Elaborating later in an interview, the speaker added: "Agents of our government have assisted in organizing the kinds of anti-government demonstrations that have been calculated to stimulate and provoke arrests."

Wright said the CIA had made the admission under questioning from members of Congress. Presumably, the disclosure would have come in closed-door oversight sessions of the congressional intelligence committees, most of whose work is classified.

A CIA spokeswoman, Sharon Basso, said, "There isn't anything the agency would say publicly about that to confirm or deny it. We do brief Congress, but wouldn't discuss that publicly."

Wright said he opposed the CIA activity as detrimental to regional peace efforts because it has led to government crackdowns on the opposition and complicated already hostile relations.

"I do not believe it is the proper role of our government to try to provoke riots ... or deliberately to try to antagonize governing officials into foolish overreactions," he said. "We should be using the influence of the United States to encourage the peace process, not discourage it."

Wright's disclosure raised fears in the Reagan administration that the Sandinistas might take the comment as evidence that the jailed protesters were CIA-sponsored subversives, according to an administration official who spoke on condition of anonymity.

The Contras are asking for release of the Nandaime prisoners as a gesture of good faith before resuming high-level peace talks with the government.

The use of agitators to stir up protests is a common method of intelligence operatives seeking to destabilize regimes deemed unfriendly.

Boy crushed beneath wheels of school bus

DALLAS (AP) — A 13-year-old boy fell beneath the wheels of a school bus he was attempting to board and was crushed to death while hundreds of students watched, authorities say.

Adonis Collins, a student at Gaston Middle School, was pronounced dead at Baylor University Medical Center Tuesday morning, officials said.

The eighth-grader was trying to catch his bus as it pulled away from the curb at John Henry Brown Elementary in South Dallas. The boy pounded on the side of the bus, jumped up and clung to a window to get the driver's attention, but he lost his grip, fell to the pavement and was crushed by the rear wheels, witnesses said.

There were 66 students aboard the bus as it pulled away from the curb and dozens of students at the elementary school and from Pearl C. Anderson Learning Center who witnessed the accident.

Homer Garner, 59, an alternative education teacher at Gaston and driver of the bus, was being counseled by a Dallas Independent School District psychologist Tuesday. Garner was not at fault and no charges would be filed against him.

Owners find stolen van

ALTUS, Okla. (AP) — A van stolen from an Altus funeral home has wound up back with its rightful owners through a coincidence that has Dallas police scratching their heads.

The passenger van disappeared Wednesday from Tims Funeral Home in Altus. On Saturday, cousins Timmy and Todd Tims were in Dallas when they took a wrong exit off the interstate — and found themselves driving behind their stolen van.

The cousins followed the van to a parking lot, where a security guard helped detain the driver for Dallas police. Authorities first questioned the cousins' story, but gave them the van back when it was verified.

Authorities took the driver of the van into custody for questioning.

Cavazos plans staff meetings on first day

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lauro Cavazos reported for his first full day of work as the new education secretary today with plans to meet his staff and outline where he stands on the issues and how he'll manage the Department of Education.

Cavazos, confirmed by the Senate 94-0 and sworn into office by fellow Texan and Republican presidential nominee George Bush in a White House ceremony Tuesday, had planned three get-acquainted sessions with department employees this morning, a spokesman said.

"He considers that an important courtesy, that people should meet their boss directly before they meet him on television," said spokesman Tom Lyon. "He has made it clear it is something he wants to do."

Cavazos planned to fly home to Lubbock, Texas, later in the day to pack his belongings, following a scheduled news conference at the department.

The president of Texas Tech University and its medical school, Cavazos is the first Hispanic member of a president's Cabinet.

President Reagan called the 61-year-old registered Democrat "a sterling example of the magnificent contributions Hispanic Americans have made to our national life."

Vice President Bush gave Cavazos the oath of office as Cavazos' wife, Peggy, held the family bible. The couple's 10 children also attended the East Room ceremony.

Earlier, senators praised Cavazos, the son of a Texas cattleman on the legendary King Ranch who worked his way through college and graduate school to become president of Texas Tech, as an American success story.

Sleeping child dies alone in fire

HOUSTON (AP) — An 8-year-old girl left sleeping alone in her home died of apparent smoke inhalation after a fire broke out in the kitchen, authorities said.

Jennifer Carvo, who celebrated her birthday last month, was found lying on the floor next to her bed, said Assistant Fire Chief M.S. Brown.

A preliminary investigation determined that the fire ignited on the wall of the northeast Houston home's kitchen, where authorities found the remnants of a microwave oven and an electric coffee maker. It was not immediately known whether the appliances sparked the blaze, officials said.

The fire, which was reported by a neighbor shortly after 6 a.m., was confined to the kitchen and roof, B. own said.

The child's mother works as a delivery driver, and had left Dallas en route to her home about 4:30 a.m., her boyfriend told investigators. The man said he left the home around 5:30 a.m. for work while the girl slept in her bed.

Crash analysis focuses on flaps

WASHINGTON (AP) — A preliminary analysis of evidence in the crash of Delta Flight 1141 shows the jet's wing flaps may have been lowered for takeoff, but in an improper position, officials said in a published report.

A source familiar with the investigation told the Dallas Morning News in today's editions the analysis of the plane's cockpit voice recorder picked up the sound of two "clicks."

Some investigators say the clicks could be the sound of the crew moving the Boeing 727-200's flap-selection lever, first to the 2-degree setting and then to the 5-degree position.

Federal investigators have previously targeted the flaps in a search for the cause of the Aug. 31 crash that killed 14 people. Investigators have been trying to determine whether the plane's flaps, control surfaces on the wings that provide extra lift, were extended in their proper 15-degree position at takeoff.

Sources said the plane's flap control lever has notches that could produce clicking sounds as the lever is moved.

Honor guard to be at boy's funeral

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston police plan Friday to bury as one of their own an 8-year-old cancer victim adopted as the department's mascot.

Michael Lumpkin, given his own child-size police uniform and known as "Officer Mikie" to his friends on the force, died Monday of leukemia at M.D. Anderson Hospital.

The boy will be buried with a full police honor guard and a 21-gun salute. It will be the first time a non-officer has been given a police funeral in Houston, officials said.

It was four years ago when Skoczen and other members of the police department's Leukemia Relay Team were visiting the pediatric unit at M.D. Anderson that the little boy caught the officers' attention.

"Mikie, for some reason, stood out like a sore thumb," Skoczen said. "He always had that smile on his face and he always helped us out when we needed him."

The HPD relay team, which has raised $320,000 to aid leukemia victims, made Mikie a special officer and its mascot, presenting him with a special police uniform.

A memorial fund was set up at the Houston Police Department Credit Union to help pay for funeral costs and hospital expenses from Mikie's repeated stays at M.D. Anderson.

Jury deliberates in Wade trial

SHERMAN, Texas (AP) — James Wade was the "drug lord" of Orange County who "used the power he had to dominate and dominate," Assistant U.S. Attorney Stuart Platt told a federal jury in final arguments Tuesday.

But Wade's defense attorney, Gary Richardson, said the government used its power "to intimidate bargains and buy testimony" from witnesses against Wade.

Richardson said Wade used bad judgment, including an attempt to pretend to be a crooked sheriff. But, Richardson told the jury, bad judgment "is not a crime."

The jury will begin deliberating Wednesday. Jurors heard more than 70 witnesses in the case over the past six weeks, the Beaumont Enterprise reported.

Wade, 43, of Vidor was sheriff of Orange County from Jan. 1, 1985, until July 11, when he was removed from office on order of a state district judge.

A federal grand jury May 2 indicted Wade on 10 counts, including conspiracy to make and sell illegal drugs.

City debates wisdom of legalization of liquor

ABILENE, Texas (AP) — Ten years later, the debate is not quite laid to rest, and both sides have figures that would seem to support their claims.

Those who say it was a mistake to legalize liquor following a long election battle and prolonged court fight can point to driving while intoxicated arrests, which have gone up from 517 in 1977 to 710 last year.

And several local ministers say they have encountered many more families with alcohol-related problems.

But liquor supporters can point to at least $1.2 million in mixed drink tax revenue that the city didn't have access to before.

The Texas Supreme Court allowed non-membership sales and beer sales at liquor outlets on Sept. 20, 1978, after legal haranguing over the slim 122-vote "wet" victory.

"We had a real great place where people wanted to raise their kids," said Neil Fry, a leader of the "dry" proponents and now a Taylor County commissioner. "And when it was decided that Abilene could sell alcohol we lost something special."

But others point out that liquor was available in Taylor County since 1962. And even before the 1978 election, residents could buy drinks simply by purchasing memberships from any of 30 private Abilene clubs.

Or they could drive north to Impact or south to Buffalo Gap, where drinks were available without memberships.

Residents can now buy liquor in 210 locations, 83 of which are clubs or restaurants.

Opponents of more liberal alcohol laws said at the time that Abilene would lose its reputation for clean-living, and would be struck by increased crime and drunkenness.

Asked if open liquor sales had made crime a bigger problem, Police Chief Dwain Fyburn said, "I couldn't tell, and as far as I know there's no way to make a real assessment."

Witness says woman held, gang-raped

SAN DIEGO, Texas (AP) — A prosecution witness said he saw a group of men sexually assault a 19-year-old woman on the hood of a car, including Orlando Garza, the first of 10 men to face trial in the gang-rape case.

"They were just like dogs," Jose Carlos Briones said in Spanish Tuesday through an interpreter during the first day of testimony in the 229th District Court in Duval County.

Prosecution testimony was scheduled to continue today. Briones said he saw the woman "necking" with Garza inside Garza's car shortly before the alleged assault took place near a shed where a cockfight was being held.

Later, he said he saw Garza forcing the woman to perform sexual acts, and that the defendant also helped restrain her while other men attacked her.

All 10 men in the case have entered innocent pleas on charges ranging from kidnapping to aggravated kidnapping to sexual assault.

Defense attorney Albert Pena questioned Briones' credibility by bringing out a court-ordered competency report on the witness. Corpus Christi psychiatrist Laurence Taylor reported in June that Briones told him, "She was lying there letting everybody do it. She loved it — no screaming from her. She was a run-around."

Briones said Tuesday he did not remember making that statement. The competency examination, requested by Briones' attorney, found that he was capable of facing trial.

The woman told authorities she was assaulted repeatedly over a period of several hours by as many as 20 men.

Briones testified Tuesday that the woman initially appeared willing to be with Garza, but later resisted.

"She was groaning and crying," Briones said.

Garza also faces a kidnapping trial in connection with the case. Briones admitted fondling her, but denied raping her.

The 29-year-old witness said he remembered seeing the woman sodomized, with Garza as one of the participants.

Asked how many men participated in the alleged gang rape, he answered, "I don't remember because there were a whole bunch of them."

Sexual assault is punishable by two to 20 years in prison and, or a fine of up to $10,000.

The boy pounded on the side of the bus, jumped up and clung to a window to get the driver's attention, but he lost his grip, fell to the pavement and was crushed by the rear wheels, witnesses said.

There were 66 students aboard the bus as it pulled away from the curb and dozens of students at the elementary school and from Pearl C. Anderson Learning Center who witnessed the accident.

Homer Garner, 59, an alternative education teacher at Gaston and driver of the bus, was being counseled by a Dallas Independent School District psychologist Tuesday. Garner was not at fault and no charges would be filed against him.

Pat Raney, assistant director of the Dallas County Schools transportation services, said Garner told the bus system safety supervisor that the boy often was late catching the bus and he had discussed this problem with him.

"There was no way the driver was at fault," Ms. Raney said. "It was a freak accident. It was almost unpreventable."

The driver was in shock after the accident, she said.

"At first he was handling it real well, but I think he was really in a state of shock," she said. "He wanted to continue to drive the route, but the supervisor had another bus pick up the students."

"Then, after he got to school and the assistant principal told him the student had passed away, he became very emotional. He is very upset, and I'm not sure when he'll drive again."

Teams of psychologists counseled children who witnessed the accident.

The boy was carrying a handwritten copy of bus safety rules in his notebook at the time he died. They had been given to students as part of the current observance of National School Bus Safety Week.

Owners find stolen van

ALTUS, Okla. (AP) — A van stolen from an Altus funeral home has wound up back with its rightful owners through a coincidence that has Dallas police scratching their heads.

The passenger van disappeared Wednesday from Tims Funeral Home in Altus. On Saturday, cousins Timmy and Todd Tims were in Dallas when they took a wrong exit off the interstate — and found themselves driving behind their stolen van.

The cousins followed the van to a parking lot, where a security guard helped detain the driver for Dallas police. Authorities first questioned the cousins' story, but gave them the van back when it was verified.

Authorities took the driver of the van into custody for questioning.

Cavazos plans staff meetings on first day

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lauro Cavazos reported for his first full day of work as the new education secretary today with plans to meet his staff and outline where he stands on the issues and how he'll manage the Department of Education.

Cavazos, confirmed by the Senate 94-0 and sworn into office by fellow Texan and Republican presidential nominee George Bush in a White House ceremony Tuesday, had planned three get-acquainted sessions with department employees this morning, a spokesman said.

"He considers that an important courtesy, that people should meet their boss directly before they meet him on television," said spokesman Tom Lyon. "He has made it clear it is something he wants to do."

Cavazos planned to fly home to Lubbock, Texas, later in the day to pack his belongings, following a scheduled news conference at the department.

The president of Texas Tech University and its medical school, Cavazos is the first Hispanic member of a president's Cabinet.

President Reagan called the 61-year-old registered Democrat "a sterling example of the magnificent contributions Hispanic Americans have made to our national life."

Vice President Bush gave Cavazos the oath of office as Cavazos' wife, Peggy, held the family bible. The couple's 10 children also attended the East Room ceremony.

Earlier, senators praised Cavazos, the son of a Texas cattleman on the legendary King Ranch who worked his way through college and graduate school to become president of Texas Tech, as an American success story.

Sleeping child dies alone in fire

Jennifer Carvoo, who celebrated her birthday last month, was found lying on the floor next to her bed, said Assistant Fire Chief M.S. Brown.

A preliminary investigation determined that the fire ignited on the wall of the northeast Houston home's kitchen, where authorities found the remnants of a microwave oven and an electric coffee maker.

It was not immediately known whether the appliances sparked the blaze, officials said.

The fire, which was reported by a neighbor shortly after 6 a.m., was confined to the kitchen and roof, Brown said.

The child's mother works as a delivery driver, and had left Dallas en route to her home about 4:30 a.m., her boyfriend told investigators. The man said he left the home around 5:30 a.m. for work while the girl slept in her bed.

Crash analysis focuses on flaps

WASHINGTON (AP) — A preliminary analysis of evidence in the crash of Delta Flight 1141 shows the jet's wing flaps may have been lowered for takeoff, but in an improper position, officials said in a published report.

A source familiar with the investigation told the Dallas Morning News in today's editions the analysis of the plane's cockpit voice recorder picked up the sound of two "clicks."

Some investigators say the clicks could be the sound of the crew moving the Boeing 727-200's flap-selection lever, first to the 2-degree

City debates wisdom of legalization of liquor

ABILENE, Texas (AP) — Ten years later, the debate is not quite laid to rest, and both sides have figures that would seem to support their claims.

Those who say it was a mistake to legalize liquor following a long election battle and prolonged court fight can point to driving while intoxicated arrests, which have gone up from 517 in 1977 to 710 last year.

And several local ministers say they have encountered many more families with alcohol-related problems.

But liquor supporters can point to at least $1.2 million in mixed drink tax revenue that the city didn't have access to before.

The Texas Supreme Court allowed non-membership sales and beer sales at liquor outlets on Sept. 20, 1978, after legal haranguing over the slim 122-vote "wet" victory.

"We had a real great place where people wanted to raise their kids," said Neil Fry, a leader of the "dry" proponents and now a Taylor County commissioner. "And when it was decided that Abilene could sell alcohol we lost something special."

But others point out that liquor was available in Taylor County since 1962. And even before the 1978 election, residents could buy drinks simply by purchasing memberships from any of 30 private Abilene clubs.

Or they could drive north to Impact or south to Buffalo Gap, where drinks were available without memberships.

Residents can now buy liquor in 210 locations, 83 of which are clubs or restaurants.

Opponents of more liberal alcohol laws said at the time that Abilene would lose its reputation for clean-living, and would be struck by increased crime and drunkenness.

Asked if open liquor sales had made crime a bigger problem, Police Chief Dwayne Pyburn said, "I couldn't tell, and as far as I know there's no way to make a real assessment."

Witness says woman held, gang-raped

SAN DIEGO, Texas (AP) — A prosecution witness said he saw a group of men sexually assault a 19-year-old woman on the hood of a car, including Orlando Garza, the first of 10 men to face trial in the gang-rape case.

"They were just like dogs," Jose Carlos Briones said in Spanish Tuesday through an interpreter during the first day of testimony in the 229th District Court in Duval County.

Prosecution testimony was scheduled to continue today.

Briones said he saw the woman "necking" with Garza inside Garza's car shortly before the alleged assault took place near a shed where a cockfight was being held.

Later, he said he saw Garza forcing the woman to perform sexual acts, and that the defendant also helped restrain her while other men attacked her.

All 10 men in the case have entered innocent pleas on charges ranging from kidnapping to aggravated kidnapping to sexual assault.

Defense attorney Albert Pena questioned Briones' credibility by bringing out a court-ordered competency report on the witness. Corpus Christi psychiatrist Laurence Taylor reported in June that Briones told him, "She was lying there letting everybody do it. She loved it — no screaming from her. She was a run-around."

Briones said Tuesday he did not remember making that statement.

The competency examination, requested by Briones' attorney, found that he was capable of facing trial.

The woman told authorities she was assaulted repeatedly over a period of several hours by as many as 20 men.

Briones testified Tuesday that the woman initially appeared willing to be with Garza, but later resisted.

"She was groaning and crying," Briones said.

Garza also faces a kidnapping trial in connection with the case.

Briones admitted fondling her, but denied raping her.

The 29-year-old witness said he remembered seeing the woman sodomized, with Garza as one of the participants.

Asked how many men participated in the alleged gang rape, he answered, "I don't remember because there were a whole bunch of them."

Sexual assault is punishable by two to 20 years in prison and, or a fine of up to $10,000.

Jury deliberates in Wade trial

SHERMAN, Texas (AP) — James Wade was the "drug lord" of Orange County who "used the power he had to dominate and dominate," Assistant U.S. Attorney Stuart Platt told a federal jury in final arguments Tuesday.

But Wade's defense attorney, Gary Richardson, said the government used its power "to intimidate bargains and buy testimony" from witnesses against Wade.

Richardson said Wade used bad judgment, including an attempt to pretend to be a crooked sheriff. But, Richardson told the jury, bad judgment "is not a crime."

The jury will begin deliberating Wednesday. Jurors heard more than 70 witnesses in the case over the past six weeks, the Beaumont Enterprise reported.

Wade, 43, of Vidor was sheriff of Orange County from Jan. 1, 1985, until July 11, when he was removed from office on order of a state district judge.

A federal grand jury May 2 indicted Wade on 10 counts, including conspiracy to make and sell illegal drugs.

Panel looks for ways to cut the federal deficit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Out of the glare of the presidential campaign, a bipartisan commission is quietly crafting a proposed solution to the federal budget deficit that would include cuts in Social Security and defense spending as well as possible increases in consumption taxes.

That is the word from Democrat Robert Strauss, who is co-chairman of the 12-member commission along with Republican Drew Lewis.

Strauss provided a tantalizing glimpse Tuesday of what options the panel is considering recommending to the new president. The panel, concerned about becoming embroiled in the presidential campaign, has purposely kept out of the public eye since July.

Strauss indicated that work has been going on behind the scenes and he said the commission will resume holding public hearings immediately after the Nov. 8 election. The commission would like to finish its work by Dec. 21.

The commission, which is split evenly between Democrats and Republicans, was created by Congress last year in an attempt to break the impasse between President Reagan's refusal to increase taxes and the refusal of the Democratic-controlled Congress to cut government spending enough to bring the deficit under control.

Strauss said the group probably will recommend a four- or five-year plan to eliminate the deficit, which this year is expected to total about $152 billion.

Social Security benefits, Medicare and other entitlement programs and defense spending will have to be cut, Strauss said, since they account for 68 percent of total spending.

Strauss said the commission was aware of the political firestorm likely to be triggered by such suggestions.

"That means you are withholding money from the sick, the elderly and the defense of the nation," he said.

Strauss said top priority will be given to spending cuts and only after they are exhausted would the commission look at possible tax increases as a way of balancing the budget.

His comments marked the most detailed discussion yet of where the commission is headed. The panel has been criticized for not holding public meetings in the past several months, opting instead to hold informal discussions with less than a quorum present in order to avoid requirements of the Government in the Sunshine Law.

But Strauss defended this approach, saying the commission's spokesman. "But there's nothing scheduled for this week."

Bush's vice presidential running mate, Sen. Dan Quayle, R-Ind., offered an amendment in the Senate Labor Committee in July for raising the minimum wage over two years to $4 an hour and coupling it with an 80 percent subminimum for new hires.

The minimum wage has been at $3.35 since 1981, with the Reagan administration contending for the past three years that any increase would have to be coupled with a subminimum standard.

The White House reiterated that position Tuesday, saying its senior advisers would recommend that Reagan veto any minimum wage increase that does not include a "training wage at a rate approximately four-fifths of the minimum wage for a specified period of time."

"The training wage would permit the administration to consider a reasonable increase in the minimum wage that would not bring about the unacceptable adverse economic effects" of Kennedy's bill, the White House said in a statement of administration policy.

The White House listed the primary adverse effects as fewer new job opportunities and higher inflation.

Byrd stopped short of accusing Republicans of filibustering the minimum wage bill, saying his petitions were aimed only at curbing unrelated amendments.

The closure motions, if approved by 60 senators in votes scheduled for Thursday and Friday, would effectively require an up-or-down vote on the minimum wage package.

Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., complained that Byrd's parliamentary maneuvers to force a vote would preclude consideration of Big Spring police reported investigating the following incidents:

- Manuel O. Sosa Jr., 46, 901 Sgt. Paradez Blvd., and Santiago O. Trevino, 47, 903 N.W. 3rd St., were arrested on warrants charging them with tampering with physical evidence. Both men were released from the sheriff's department on $1,000 bond each.
- A woman who resides in the 2400 block of Morrison Drive reported unknown persons took a mobile phone from her car.
- William Monroe Monroe Byers, 47, no address available, was arrested at the Howard County Fair on a warrant charging him with a parole violation.
- A man who resides in the 800 block of Birdwell Lane reported unknown persons took three rings, valued at $475, from his car.
- A woman who resides in the 600 block of Elgin Street reported unknown persons took a lawn mower valued at $400.

Guard bus has accident

AUSTIN (AP) — Twenty-nine National Guard and Army Reserve members were taken to an Austin hospital today after the bus in which they were riding slammed into a ditch, officials said.

Two soldiers, guardsman Rojelio Rice, 44, and reservist Charles Harris, 36, were admitted. The others were being treated in the Brackenridge Hospital emergency room, officials said.

"We don't know exactly why it happened yet. We're looking into it," said Texas National Guard spokesman Lt. Col. Ed Komandosky.

He said the guardsmen and reservists were attending a two-week military petroleum handlers school. They were being bused from one training site to another when the accident occurred between Elgin and Bastrop, east of Austin, about 6:30 a.m., he said.

"The headlights on the bus apparently failed," he said. As the bus approached an intersection, the driver didn't see a stop sign. "By the time he realized it was there, the bus had crossed the highway and slammed into the ditch on the other side."

Wise said he shows chickens in contests and keeps 25 to 30 chickens in pens on his property which is about two blocks from the city limits.

He said none of the residents at the meeting keeps chickens for commercial purposes.

"Some of them keep them for pets, some of the older ones keep them to have something to do, and a lot of them have them just to take to shows and fairs and contests," he said.

HJCD Board approves Brownwood program

By STEVE GEISSEN
 Staff Writer

The Howard Junior College District board of trustees approved the establishment of an associate degree nursing program in Brownwood during its regular monthly meeting Tuesday afternoon.

The board also heard a report from Bob Riley, college president, who said the school's record-breaking fall enrollment will enable the district to receive additional state funding.

The nursing program approved by the board will be located at the Brownwood Regional Hospital, and will be funded entirely by the hospital, Riley said.

"The program will be of no cost to the taxpayers of Howard County," he said.

The program, scheduled to begin June 1, 1989, will offer the same type of instruction and degree plan as is provided at the college's Del Rio campus.

An official with the Brownwood Regional Hospital approached the college and asked it to consider offering the program at the hospital, Riley said. The hospital is suffering from a registered nursing shortage and hopes the program will provide an available pool of qualified nursing applicants, he said.

The program will likely serve about 20 students, Riley said.

As for funding of the program, he said the college "will merely take 25 percent of the total revenue generated, and the other 75 percent will be put back into the program."

The 25 percent share of the revenue will fund the college's expenditures on the program, he said.

Riley told board members the district's fall enrollment of 1,888 students will enable the college to receive additional state funding.

"This being a funding year, there are so many positive things that are going to happen because of the increased enrollment," he said.

State funding for junior colleges is determined according to a college's enrollment during "base years." Howard College's base year began June 1 and will end May 30, Riley said.

Thus, Riley said, exactly how much additional state funding the district will receive for the biennium beginning in the fall of 1989 will not be known until the conclusion of the spring enrollment period.

The college is "working toward" a spring enrollment of at least 2,000 students, he said.

An increase in state funding would provide increased student services and course offerings, he said.

This fall's record enrollment marks the fifth consecutive semester the college's enrollment has increased.

Riley attributed the rising enrollments in part to the district's growing vocational programs, and the increase in the number of recent high school graduates attending the college.

He said the college is now a "more acceptable option" for recent high school graduates.

"We currently have more college-age students at Howard College than we've had in the past," he said. "Part of the reason for that is parents are not as willing, or are unable, to send their kids to a four-year university as they have in the past."

Riley also said that the college's counseling services had been instrumental in attracting recent high school graduates to the school.

In other business, the board:

- Named Leslie Kelley, former Howard College history instructor, as its first professor emeritus. Kelley began teaching at the college in 1951, and taught full-and-part-time until last spring.
- "I enjoyed every minute and that sums up my feeling about Howard College, and all the people I met here," Kelley said after receiving the honor.
- Heard a report concerning the insurance appropriations for state supported junior colleges. Riley said that indications are that the state's junior colleges will be provided state funds to finance its employee insurance programs.
- Governor Bill Clements vetoed the insurance appropriations in August 1987, Riley said, but has recently admitted he erred in doing so. If the insurance appropriations are restored, Howard College would receive approximately $240,000 and SouthWest Collegiate Institution for the Deaf will receive $70,000, Riley said.
- Riley said the elimination of those funds led the college to increase taxes for the 1987-88 school year. Texas junior colleges could receive the insurance appropriations as early as the beginning of next year, he said.
- Approved the employment of Pam Walker as SWCID student activities director, Pam Linza as SWCID developmental education instructor, Regina Organ as federal projects coordinator at Howard College, and Hap Weaver as ornamental horticulture instructor at the federal prison camp.

Sheriff's log

The Howard County sheriff's department reported investigating the following incident:

- Leonard Glenn McPeak, 27, 608 State St., was arrested by Department of Public Safety officers on a charge of driving while intoxicated, 3rd offense. He was released on $1,500 bond.

Death

James Vaughn Russell

James Vaughn Russell, 24, Big Spring, died Monday, Sept. 19, 1988, in a Lubbock hospital after a lengthy illness.

Services will be at 2 p.m. Thursday in Myers & Smith Funeral Chapel with Rev. Dixie Robertson, Lubbock, officiating.

Burial will be in Trinity Memorial Park under the direction of Myers & Smith Funeral Home.

He was born June 3, 1964 in Big Spring and grew up in Big Spring and Lubbock. He was a 1983 graduate of Big Spring High School. He was active in band, choir and theater in high school. He attended Howard College, Midland College and Hardin Simmons University and was a music major. He was also a member of the Midland Symphony and a Methodist.

Survivors include his parents, Mickey and June Russell, Big Spring; two sisters: Lisa Price and Loryne Russell, both of Big Spring; grandparents, George and Johnnie Amos; and Opal and Floyd Hitchcock, all of Big Spring; great-grandmother, Merintha Amos, Phoenix, Ariz.; two nieces and a number of aunts, uncles and cousins.

pallbearers will be Bill Amos, Jay Amos, Hank Schauer, Billy Russell, Todd Gilbert and Jay Purser.

Family suggest memorials to the First United Methodist Church of Big Spring choirs and handbell choirs. The family is receiving friends and relatives at the home of George Amos.

Guard bus has accident

AUSTIN (AP) — Twenty-nine National Guard and Army Reserve members were taken to an Austin hospital today after the bus in which they were riding slammed into a ditch, officials said.

Two soldiers, guardsman Rojelio Rice, 44, and reservist Charles Harris, 36, were admitted. The others were being treated in the Brackenridge Hospital emergency room, officials said.

"We don't know exactly why it happened yet. We're looking into it," said Texas National Guard spokesman Lt. Col. Ed Komandosky.

He said the guardsmen and reservists were attending a two-week military petroleum handlers school. They were being bused from one training site to another when the accident occurred between Elgin and Bastrop, east of Austin, about 6:30 a.m., he said.

"The headlights on the bus apparently failed," he said. As the bus approached an intersection, the driver didn't see a stop sign. "By the time he realized it was there, the bus had crossed the highway and slammed into the ditch on the other side."

Hot air coming from wildfires

Billowing clouds of smoke and fine ash from the devastating wildfires in Yellowstone Park, the nation's oldest and most-loved national park, have drifted hundreds of miles east to Pennsylvania and New York, according to meteorological reports. And, to the south, those same fires are generating a lot of hot air in Washington.

Politicians from Wyoming and Montana are calling for the resignation of William Penn Mott, director of the National Park Service, for his refusal to deviate from the federal policy of allowing fires to burn unchecked in wilderness areas unless persons are endangered.

Because of this policy, anyone living near the park has suffered an uncomfortable, frightening, even traumatic experience. Much of the area is suddenly charred, black smoldering, and inhospitable. Thus, the politicians, in their frustration, are howling for Mott's blood.

Yet, if the policy needs to be changed, now is not the time to do it. Only when the last fire has been extinguished, when reason prevails and when all the factors affecting the ecology of the area have been aired and understood, should any new policy decisions be taken.

This year, the fourth or fifth year of drought for some parts of the West, eight exceptionally intense fires have raged through the 2.2 million-acre park, fed by an unnaturally large buildup of tinder-dry, woody fuels. Environmentalists assert that the buildup was the result of the government's previous long-standing policy of extinguishing all wildfires immediately.

That policy was abandoned in 1970 to allow fire to play more of its natural role in the environment, but the buildup was not removed until the present spate of fires started during June.

In the heat of the moment, as it were, Secretary of the Interior Donald Hodel said recently that the disastrous 1988 fire season probably has persuaded federal officials to abandon the controversial policy of letting fires burn themselves out.

There is "almost no doubt that the let-burn policy will change," he told reporters after a tour of the fire-ravaged areas. In addition he promised "reforestation or revegetation," which is also contrary to federal park policy.

Lightning-ignited fire has played a natural part in the evolution of wilderness areas for tens of thousands of years, and one of the decisions that might be forced upon Hodel is whether Yellowstone is wilderness or whether it is primarily a recreation spot for human beings. It cannot be both.

If it is a recreation area, then the let-burn policy might need to be modified to preserve the amenities. If it is wilderness, it would be more appropriate to let nature have its way, harsh as that may seem at times.

Many ecologists, it should be noted, regard the fires as a normal process of change rather than a disaster. Fire, they assert, rejuvenates a forest by clearing out undergrowth, fertilizing the soil and providing light and space for fresh new growth.

"The fires are not destroying Yellowstone," says M. Rupert Cutler, president of Defender of Wildlife and a former assistant secretary of agriculture. "they're changing it. And in most cases, those changes will promote a greater diversity and abundance of plants and animals."

Even more important, therefore, that Hodel should not be stampeded into hasty action that future generations might be left to rue.

Is Bentsen a Christian?

To the editor: I want to commend you on what seemed to me to be a very fair article on Mr. Whisenant's book, "The Rapture" and the pros and cons of people's attitude.

However, I take issue with the article about religious profiles of Dan Quayle and Senator Bentsen. The statements (in the Sept 9 Herald) concerning Bentsen were, "He has a strong Christian faith — a man of genuine Christian commitment — his faith is important in how he thinks and feels and in his value system — doesn't carry his Bible out in front of him but is attuned to it privately — he doesn't use his religion in politics."

I realize that you are quoting what other people say, but you had this in the paper for us to read and be influenced by. But we know Bentsen from his long voting record and that is that he has consistently voted against good moral issues. The "Civil Rights Restoration Act" is a good example. Congressman Chas. Stenholm voted against it, and so did Senator Gramm, but Senator Bentsen voted for it even after the President vetoed the bill.

Yes, we know Senator Bentsen has no place being in the White House. If you want to check on any of this a library that carries a Congressional Record is a good place to go.

Contemplating a compromise

By KAREN MCCARTHY
Staff Writer

A couple of news items caught my attention recently.

One involved a woman who took after her niece's kidnapper and managed to hold him with a gun until law officers arrived. Admirable, I thought, until I saw the final paragraph of the story.

An officer had to unlock the gun because she didn't know how.

The second story also involved a woman. She was carrying a gun in her purse. When she dropped her purse, the gun fired and would have killed a man except for a wad of coupons in his pocket that deflected the bullet.

Both of these true stories involve women — while I will grant that women may be less familiar with weapons than men because of socialization, still — I know plenty of men who can't handle a gun either.

Most of us have had some exposure to gun use and safety. Mine was 30-plus years ago. Unfortunately, I don't remember much except to never point a gun at anything I don't plan to shoot. From what I gather, a lot of people are in the same situation.

I have mixed feelings about gun control. I own a gun — passed down from my father who got it from his father — and I'd hate to surrender it. On the other hand, I'm not dumb enough to carry it around.

Around the rim

I appreciate the argument that anyone who wants a gun badly enough will get one, although I'm not convinced that this is adequate reason to sell them over the counter to anyone who asks. I also reject the ownership of a gun as a measure of self-protection.

A study in King County, Wash. showed that during a six-year period — 1978-1983 — there were 743 deaths involving guns. More than half occurred in the home where the gun was kept.

Only two deaths involved intruders shot while trying to enter the home. There were 333 suicides, 41 slayings — mostly of family members in the midst of an argument — and 12 accidental deaths.

A study quoted in U.S. News & World Report indicated there are 120 million privately-owned guns in the United States and that 75 percent of gun owners claim self-protection as a major reason to have a gun. The potential exists for a lot of violent endings to arguments and a lot of accidents.

Since registration or licensing of handguns doesn't seem to be a realistic goal in the near future — given the strength and lobbying ability of NRA and the apathy of the rest of us — I would like to suggest a compromise.

Everyone who owns a gun, or wants to own a gun, or uses a gun, should undergo an annual testing and certification of firearm proficiency, similar to getting a driver's license.

Tragic and/or gory movies could be shown, similar to those in defensive driving classes, of the type of accidents that often occur when a gun is stored or used carelessly.

Obviously, driver's licenses do not stop motor vehicle accidents but at least we learn the basic rules. There are penalties for improper use of a vehicle and there should be penalties for improper use, storage and control of a gun.

Gun accidents and impulsive shootings should never happen and people who want the freedom to keep a gun should take steps to ensure that they do not.

Putting lunches in their plate

By LEWIS GRIZZARD

There's a report out from something called the "Public Voice of Food & Health" (P.V.F. & H.) that says school lunches are too high in fat, sugar and salt.

The report specifically criticizes the U.S. Department of Agriculture, according to news stories I read, for the high fat surplus food it provides the public school lunch program.

"We'd like to see more schools serve healthfully modified lunches that are still attractive to school children like spaghetti with meatballs or baked potatoes with chili," said Eileen Kugler, spokeswoman for the P.V.F. & H.

What I want to know is where was Eileen Kugler and the public voice for whatever it is when I was in school?

Every school day for four years, I had to eat lunch in the high school cafeteria. I don't know about all that high fat and too much salt and sugar business, but I do know somebody was trying to poison me with that food and eventually would have had I not graduated.

I would have loved spaghetti and meatballs and chili with a baked potato.

Perhaps, that was part of the problem. If I could have identified what I was being served for lunch, it might have been easier to get it down.

It's tough to look at a plate of food and know only there's some brown stuff, green stuff and yellow stuff. Maybe the brown stuff was roast beef, perhaps the green was some sort of vegetable and the yellow a fruit.

Then, again, the brown could have come from a camel or a goat, the green could have been something that started out white before it began to mold, and the yellow could have been something imported to this country as a governmental effort to boost a third world economy.

Occasionally, of course, I would be able to identify something on my plate, but I don't know whether it's worse to be eating government surplus pickled okra and know it, or be eating government surplus pickled okra and think it might be something that grows only in a cave.

As far as today's school lunches are concerned we must remember the children of today are the leaders of tomorrow. Certainly they should not be served food with too much fat or salt or sugar, but they also shouldn't be forced to go through a daily visit to cafeteria-from-hell like we did.

Here is how I would run today's school lunch program:

1. Each serving should be truthfully identified. Perhaps the boys in shop could make little signs the cooks could stick in the food.
2. Faculty members, as well as lunchroom personnel, should be made to eat the same food the students are being served in full view of the students.
3. Any student requesting seconds should be sent away for psychiatric review.

I recall the immortal words of my boyhood friend and idol, Weyman C. Wannamaker, Jr., a great American. He forked the mystery meat on his plate one day at lunch, held it aloft to study it and then said, "You'd have to be crazy to eat something as ugly as this."

Alcohol warning label considered

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate panel has approved a bill requiring warning labels on alcoholic beverages. One lawmaker said the measure was an attempt to counter the alcohol industry's $2 billion-a-year effort to "glamorize" their products. The bill approved unanimously Tuesday by the Senate Commerce Committee would require labels stating that alcohol could impair driving abilities and cause birth defects and other health problems.

"Labeling is realistic, it will work, and I think we can move this bill through Congress this year," said Sen. Ernest F. Hollings, D-S.C., chairman of the committee.

Jackson's half-brother charged

GREENVILLE, S.C. (AP) — A prosecutor plans to seek the death penalty against Jesse Jackson's half brother for allegedly hiring members of a Chicago street gang to kill a man two years ago, a newspaper reported today. Noah Robinson, a 45-year-old Chicago businessman and Greenville native, was charged with murder Tuesday for the 1986 slaying of Leroy "Hambone" Barber, who was shot outside a downtown building owned by Robinson. Robinson turned himself in to police Tuesday evening and was in the Greenville County Detention Center awaiting a bond hearing today, Solicitor Joseph Watson said.

Although Robinson and Jackson share relatives in Greenville, the former Democratic presidential hopeful has said he has had no recent contact with his half brother. Authorities have alleged that a five-member team from Chicago's El Rukn street gang shot Barber in the head Jan. 2, 1986, after he was called to a pay telephone outside a lounge in the Greenville building.

Grand jury clears city officials

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The decision to close a federal probe into the fatal 1985 MOVE confrontation without indictments ends the criminal investigation, but bitterness and civil suits linger in the case.

The U.S. Justice Department announced Tuesday that a grand jury cleared Mayor W. Wilson Goode, other city officials and police of criminal wrongdoing in the bombing of a west Philadelphia rowhouse.

The police bombing — approved by Goode — and resulting fire that officials allowed to rage out of control left 11 members of the radical group MOVE dead and 61 homes destroyed.

Five children and six adults died inside the barricaded rowhouse when police bombed the dwelling to evict MOVE followers. The bomb, dropped from a helicopter, contained the powerful military explosive C-4.

The bomb touched off a fire that raged out of control while fireman held back, afraid they would be hit by gunfire that had echoed through the poor neighborhood.

Court bars mandatory prayer

PHOENIX (AP) — A federal appeals court ruling barring a Christian-operated manufacturing plant from requiring employees to attend prayer services will spark new rounds of court action, a lawyer said Tuesday.

The 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in San Francisco ruled Monday that Townley Engineering and Manufacturing Co. of Eloy, Ariz., must allow employees to skip the services if they want to.

Monday's 2-1 ruling requires the Florida-based company to offer non-participation to employees whose religious convictions conflict with the service. The ruling does not, however, ban the services outright as the EEOC had sought.

The plant, about 55 miles southeast of Phoenix, makes mining equipment.

Owners Jake and Helen Townley say the business, like the rest of their lives, reflects their born-again Christian faith; they enclose biblical tracts in all mail, put biblical verses on business documents, and require employees to attend "non-denominational" services during work hours once a week.

Autumn equinox earliest of century

WASHINGTON (AP) — The autumnal equinox occurs at mid-afternoon on Thursday, the earliest start of fall in this century.

The actual moment of the equinox is 19:29 universal time, which is 3:29 p.m. Eastern Daylight Time.

This is the earliest arrival of the equinox since 1897, reports LeRoy Doggett, head of the Nautical Almanac Office at the U.S. Naval Observatory here.

"The equinox is trying to move in the direction of Sept. 21," and will continue to do so until the year 2100, when the absence of a leap year will shift it to later dates again, Doggett explained.

It isn't a smooth change, though, since the four-year cycle of inserting an extra day in leap years tends to shift the dates of natural phenomena such as the equinoxes and solstices, at least on the calendar.

The equinoxes are the days of approximately equal amounts of daylight and darkness, marked by the sun's apparent crossing of the Equator on its annual trip north or south.

Many people, including calendar makers, arbitrarily consider the autumnal equinox the start of fall, and the spring equinox the start of spring, although there are no official definitions of those seasons.

The tendency of the equinox to occur earlier in the year will be seen again in four years, when it comes at 18:44 universal time on Sept. 22, 1992, and also when it is at 18:01 UT on Sept. 22, 1996.

And since 2000 is a leap year, the equinox will edge all the way back to 17:29 universal time on Sept. 22 of that year.

Universal time is also known as Greenwich time. It is five hours ahead of Eastern Standard Time and four hours ahead of Eastern Daylight Time.

All this equinox shifting occurs because the Earth's actual year doesn't come out to an even number of days.

But it takes 365 days, 5 hours, 48 minutes and 46 seconds to go from one equinox to the next.

Burma cracks down on dissidents

RANGOON, Burma (AP) — Saw Maung, the hard-line general who seized power in a weekend coup, was named prime minister today by the new military-dominated government and pro-democracy activists were reported going underground.

Saw Maung's ruthless crackdown on dissent kept demonstrators off the streets for a second day.

In the heart of Rangoon, troops conducted house-to-house searches following a rocket attack on two key government buildings Tuesday and the killing of 59 people by the army, according to residents and officials.

By independent estimates, more than 200 people have been killed since Saw Maung, the armed forces commander, seized power Sunday to quell a nationwide uprising against 26 years of repressive, one-party rule.

Some Western diplomats in Rangoon placed the number killed at up to 400. One diplomat said army trucks loaded with bodies were seen after the height of the shooting. "At Rangoon General Hospital, there were 200 corpses on Monday night and that was only one hospital," he said.

A Western diplomat in Bangkok said students, who have spearheaded the uprising, were going underground and might resort to guerrilla tactics against the 186,000-member military.

Attack claimed by Red Army

BONN, West Germany (AP) — The Red Army Faction, West Germany's most notorious leftist terrorist gang, claimed responsibility for a shotgun attack on a senior government official, authorities said today.

The group claimed it staged Tuesday's attack on Hans Tietmeyer, one of Chancellor Helmut Kohl's key advisers, in a letter left at a news agency's office in Bonn, said a spokesman for the Federal Prosecutor's office.

Tietmeyer was not injured when his car was fired on near his home in the Bonn suburb of Bad Godesberg. Officials said the attack was apparently aimed at disrupting international finance talks that begin this week in West Berlin.

Government sources, speaking on the condition of anonymity, said there were indications the attackers planned to kidnap Tietmeyer.

Security officials say the Red Army Faction has about 20 members and several hundred sympathizers. It has been responsible for a series of arson, bombing and assassination attacks against government, industrial and military targets since its formation in the early 1970s.

Reprisal killings on rise in Haiti

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti (AP) — Soldiers sacked their commanders and workers struck state-run companies, ripping apart a boss's home in one instance, as Haitians released pent-up rage at three decades of authoritarian rule.

Violence and sporadic gunfire continued throughout the capital today, four days after soldiers toppled the regime of Lt. Gen.

Henri Namphy.

Radio reports said troops were removing more and more commanders and reprisal killings and spontaneous street demonstrations were on their rise.

Lt. Gen. Prosper Avril, who declared himself president Sunday after lower-ranking soldiers staged the coup, tried to end the unrest Tuesday by appointing a new armed forces chief.

Emperor's condition still serious

TOKYO (AP) — The palace said today that the ailing Emperor Hirohito's condition was improving, but Cabinet ministers stayed near telephones for fear of the worst and members of the imperial family canceled scheduled activities.

The frail 87-year-old, who began vomiting blood Monday and has since had three transfusions, was in serious but stable condition and under constant medical surveillance, palace and press reports said.

A chapter in Japan's modern history will close with the passing of Hirohito, the world's oldest and longest reigning monarch. The Japanese media monitored the emperor's condition round-the-clock.

Miss Anne Dameron is 1988 County Fair Queen

By LAVERNE GASKINS
Special to the Herald

Beauty, personality and talent were in the forefront today night, as a full house viewed the Howard County Fair Queen's contest, when 25 girls vied for the crown.

Anne Dameron, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Dameron, Coahoma, was named the 1988 Howard County Fair Queen.

A local trio, composed of Marcie Weaver, Ronnie Wheeler and master of ceremonies Donnie Wheeler, opened the evening's entertainment with a medley of patriotic songs.

Each of Howard County's finest was presented a flower by Summer Smith, as they approached and entered a brass arch, entwined with Boston Ivy and accented with red bows and large plants.

Donnie kept the contestants at ease and the audience entertained with his amiable banter, quips and questions.

Ronnie Wheeler crowned Miss Dameron, Nora Dawn Phillips, also of Coahoma, was named runner-up, while Della Schater was chosen Miss Congeniality.

Concluding the evening's entertainment was a barbershop quartet: Robin Vasicek, tenor; Will Sass, lead; Lyn Fite, all of Midland, and Donnie Wheeler, baritone.

Judges for the event were Gwen and George Sawyer and Miles and Pam Tollison from Stanton,

The U.S. Postal Service delivers Monday through Saturday to any place in the United States, whether it's a remote spot in Alaska or an apartment in New York City, for the same price.

Dear Abby

Also, when a letter isn't delivered, it's usually the fault of the sender who has used an incorrect address, wrong ZIP code or insufficient postage.

VICKI DUKE, LAKE CHARLES, LA.
DEAR VICKI: Three cheers for the red, white and blue. You can lick our automobiles, but you can't lick our postage stamps! Now, let's hear it from a carrier:

DEAR ABBY: I've been a mail carrier for a year, and after hearing so many complaints about the Postal Service, I would like to air a few of my own to the public:

- Why isn't your house number clearly visible on your mailbox or on your house?
- Why is your mailbox hidden behind bushes and fences?
- Why do you park in front of your mailbox when your driveway is empty?
- Why is your dog out roaming the streets?

• When you moved, why didn't you file a change of address with the post office, and also send individual change of address cards to your utility and credit card companies, your magazine subscriptions, banks, etc.?

• Why do you send mail with incorrect addresses (i.e., incomplete street numbers, no apartment/suite numbers, misspelled names, etc.)?

• If you're tired of getting the previous tenant's mail, why isn't your name on the mailbox so that the carrier knows who lives there?

Planters begin new club year

Planters Garden Club started their new club year with a new slate of officers at the home of Mrs. Paul Sweatt, the new president. The new officers were installed at the June meeting before the summer vacation. Other new officers are: Mrs. A.C. (Allie) Moore, vice-president; Mrs. Nadine Hodnett, secretary; and Mrs. (Joy) Luke Fortenberry, treasurer.

Mrs. Sweatt presided over the meeting. Plans were made for the Fall Flower Show at the Howard County Fair. All members were asked to bring their flowers and plants on Sunday, so the exhibits can be set up and ready for the judging on Monday.

Tickets for the annual council and luncheon were distributed to the ten members attending the meeting. Anyone wishing to buy tickets may contact Mrs. Paul Guy or any Garden Club member.

The luncheon will be in Garrett Hall of the First United Methodist Church on Oct. 10. Tickets are $3.50 each, with proceeds from the luncheon going toward scholarships for college students.

Mrs. Ada Chanler joined the club.

The GFWC Forsan Study Club met on Sept. 12 at Scenic Mountain for a nature photography tour. Following this time of pictures the members went to Linda Light's home for a business meeting.

Yearbooks were distributed and Tammi Jones presented a short devotional and read the treasurer's report. Sandy Shanks read the "Club Etiquette" and volunteer hours were recorded.

President Eunice Thixton presided over the business meeting, at which time Cindy Breyman was added as a new member. The new members present at the meeting were Kim White and Loretta Yarbrough.

The Dessert Smorgasbord Committee discussed the details and the work schedule concerning the Smorgasbord. It followed the Homecoming game on Sept. 16, and the cost was $2 per person. Recipes were in the newspaper and will be compiled into a cookbook.

The meeting was adjourned. Refreshments were provided by Linda Light and Carole Hope.

Constitution program planned

A program in observance of Constitution Week is being planned at the Veterans Administration Medical Center, according to Conrad Alexander, Medical Center director.

Public Law 84-915 of Aug. 2, 1956, states that Sept. 17-23 will be Constitution Week each year.

As part of the observance, an essay contest for Goliad Middle School and Runnels Junior High students will be held, with a topic of "What The Constitution Means to Me." Also, an employee patriotic and authentic dress contest will be held on Thursday at 2 p.m. in room 212 of the VA.

The heart folks: 'Trim the fat, cut cholesterol for life'

"Trim the fat and cut cholesterol for life" is the theme of the 1988 American Heart Association's Food Festival, which continues through Sept. 24 in Howard County. The local organization has a booth at the Howard County Fair.

Howard County Heart Association President Diane Linhart said "The body can get all of the cholesterol that it needs by making it, but we also ingest cholesterol directly from foods of animal origin such as meat, poultry, seafood and dairy products."

The Heart Association recommends foods low in cholesterol, at least three servings of fruit daily and three servings of vegetables. When dining out, Linhart suggests looking for steamed, broiled or poached meats and vegetables and choosing lean cuts of meat and fish.

The Heart Association suggests the following recipes for healthy lifestyles.

FILLETS IN LEMON DRESSING
Serves 4, approximate calories per serving — 365
4 fillets of firm-textured whitefish
2 tablespoons grated onion
1 tablespoon finely chopped celery
4 tablespoons oil
4 slices toast, cubed
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
Juice of one lemon
Grated rind of 1/2 lemon
Freshly ground black pepper
Margarine

Saute onion and celery in oil. Mix in remaining ingredients. Place 2 fillets on the bottom of an oiled baking dish. Spread dressing over fish and top with remaining 2 fillets. Dust with paprika, dot with margarine and bake at 375 degrees F for 20 minutes or until fish flakes easily with a fork.

POACHED FISH
Serves 8, approximate calories per serving — 200
2 pounds fish fillets, skinned
2 tablespoons oil
1 small onion, chopped
1/4 cup chopped celery
2 tablespoons lemon juice
Freshly ground black pepper
1 bay leaf
1 cup hot water or white wine
2 sprigs parsley

In a large shallow pan, saute the onion and celery in oil until tender. Placed skinned fillets on top of vegetables, or roll each fillet, secure with a toothpick, and place on vegetables. Add water or wine and seasonings. Cover and simmer about eight minutes or until fish flakes when tested with a fork. Carefully transfer fillets to a heated platter. Serve with lemon parsley sauce.

BARBECUED HAMBURGERS
Serves 1 1/2 cup, approx calories per serving — 200 (320 with bun)
1 pound lean ground beef
1 onion diced
1/2 cup catsup
2 tablespoons chili sauce
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
1 teaspoon vinegar
1 teaspoon sugar
Brown meat, onions in large skillet. Pour off fat that accumulates. Add all other ingredients, mixing well, and simmer 20 to 30 minutes, uncovered. Spoon onto hamburger buns.

BEEF STEW
Serves 8, approximate calories per serving — 220
2 pounds lean beef chuck, cut into cubes
1/4 cup flour

2 tablespoons oil
1 cup onion, chopped
2 cloves garlic, minced
2/3 cup celery, diced
1/4 cup parsley, chopped
1/2 teaspoon rosemary
1/2 teaspoon freshly ground black pepper
1/4 teaspoon thyme
1/4 teaspoon oregano
1/2 cup dry red wine
1 cup water
2 cups tomatoes, chopped
4 medium potatoes, quartered
4 cups carrots diced

Coat beef with flour and brown in oil in large Dutch oven. Add onion, garlic; cook until vegetables are softened. Pour off fat. Add remaining ingredients (except tomatoes, potatoes and carrots); bring to a boil, cover and simmer 1 hour. Add tomatoes, potatoes and carrots and simmer 45 minutes or until potatoes are tender.

TPW: Candidates' reactions

Members of Texas Press Women, District 2, met Saturday at 2 p.m. at the Presidential Museum, 622 N. Lee, Odessa.

The program was "How a Candidate Reacts to the Media During an Election." Speaker was Lorraine Bonner, a TV anchorwoman, magazine editor and former candidate for Odessa mayor.

TPW President Mary Frances Beverly says the organization offers opportunities for professional communicators to share new ideas, job opportunities, successes, setbacks and other forms of networking with other women in their field. "Networking is one of the most enjoyable parts of being a member," Ms. Beverly says. "Whether in public relations, broadcasting, newspaper, advertising or freelancing, members enjoy being with those who understand what they do. We give each other stimulation, encouragement and comfort."

Other programs during the year include: Betty Orbeck, archivist of the Permian Basin, speaking on using archives for historical research; Mike McLaren of KMND Radio on radio and TV commercials; San Angelo novelist Elmer Kelton, Linda Bond on TV and movie scriptwriting, Oatmeal Greeting Cards' Jimmie Fitzgerald; Midland Reporter-Telegram columnist Georgia Temple and romance novelist Parris Afton Bonds.

District 2 covers the West Texas region that includes Alpine, Andrews, Big Spring, Crane, Fort Stockton, Fort Davis, Kermit, McCamey, Midland, Monahans, Odessa, Pecos and Rankin.

Meetings are held in Midland or Odessa the second Saturday of each month at 2 p.m. with the exception of September and April. Guests and prospective members are welcome at all meetings. For more information, call Mary Frances Beverly at 684-6122, Midland, or Pam Wells at 362-9332, Odessa.

Child Study Club gathers

The Big Spring Child Study Club recently held its monthly meeting in the home of Karla Wester. Co-hostess was Lois Cave and Jane Cox.

The club welcomed two visitors, Mary Kay Flanniken and Darlene Carroll. Members gave Liz Lowry a surprise diaper party to welcome her new son. New officers for the 1988-89 year are: Sharon Johnston, president; Lisa Hatfield, vice president; Mary Leatham, secretary; Joy Armstrong, treasurer; Tammy Matus, historian; and Karla Wester, parliamentarian. Meeting was adjourned and refreshments were served.

County ARC installs officers

The Howard County Association for Retarded Citizens met Thursday at 905 Johnson for a salad supper and installation of officers.

Those present were: Maurice Smith, Mary Smith, Mary Lynn Welch, Dorothy Earheart, Joyce Cole, Irene Jackson, Lee Herndon, Bill Smith, Veda Calvin, Sandy Perra, Beatrice Jiminez, Lewis Nixon, Kay Wylie, Mary Hughes, Carol Green, Letha Nixon, Jean Cisar, Josh Hughes, Tommy Smith, Lonora Nixon and Glenn Fillingham. Fillingham presented a report on the completion of the organization's audit.

Installation was conducted by Mary Lynn Welch. Those installed are: Letha Nixon, president; Mary Hughes, vice president; Mary Smith, secretary; and Lee Herndon, treasurer.

Retired rail employees meet

The National Association of Retired and Veteran Railway Employees met Thursday for supper at Kentwood Older Adults Activity Center.

A business meeting was conducted by President Claudia McCreary.

A moment of silence was observed in memory of Mrs. E.D. Appleton, who died Aug. 3.

Bill Marlin is a patient at the VA and Earl Hollis is at Scenic Mountain Medical Center.

Ray Scott celebrated his birthday in August, and Mrs. J.T. Anderson celebrated her birthday in September.

The next meeting will be Oct. 20 at 5:30 p.m. at Kentwood Older Adults Activity Center.

Infant honored at baby shower

Brett Aaron, infant son of Ben and Denise Bennett, was honored Sept. 10 at a baby shower at the home of Nellie Kerby.

Hostesses were Barbara Clark, Marie Pate, Jennifer Andrews and Nellie Kerby.

The baby's grandmother, Mrs. Faye Stoker, and his great-grandmothers, Mrs. Arlene McMurtry and Mrs. Orpha Stoker, and the hostesses, presented the new arrival with several gifts, including a baby bed and mattress.

Joyce Davis presented him with a bowling ball and pin set.

A table, draped with a bridge linen cloth, was centered with a basket of blue and mauve roses, decorated with a balloon that read "It's a boy." A cake trimmed in blue, fruit and punch were served.

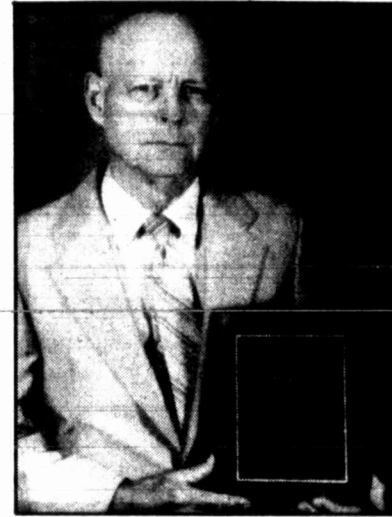

Candidate addresses organization

Johnnie Lou Avery, Democratic candidate for the 69th District representative's seat and local businesswoman, discussed the oil industry and how it relates to the state budget, when the Desk & Derrick Club met Sept. 12 at Days Inn.

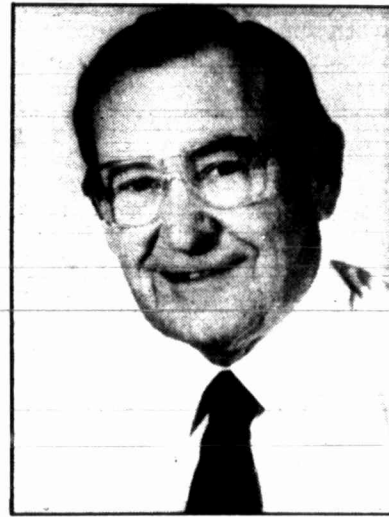

Mrs. Avery said the Texas economic climate and the oil industry have historically been related. At the turn of this decade, she reminded, the industry was booming. That picture changed. Reversals in the industry and a weakened national economy were blamed, she said. When the state legislature met early in 1983, they were confronted with an ambitious budget but severely shrunken revenues.

Since the Texas constitution mandates a balanced budget, she said, the projected shortfalls precipitated sweeping cuts and revisions.

Mrs. Marvin (Margaret) Wise introduced Mrs. Avery, who is owner of Avery and Associates. Guests were Jerry Avery, Mrs. James Walker, Kathy Bayes, Jake Glickman and Marvin Wise.

STEVE VINCENT

ERVEN FISHER

Kiwanis organization honors Steve Vincent

Steve Vincent was recognized recently by the Big Spring Kiwanis Club as its Kiwanian of the Year, at the same time Erven Fisher was installed as president of the organization.

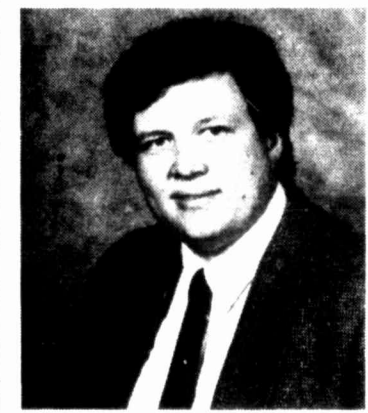

Lee Cowell, Alpine, Lt. Governor of Division 22 of the Kiwanis organization was on hand for the ceremonies at the Cactus Room of Howard College Thursday.

Others who were honored besides Vincent, recognized for his hours of volunteer service to the community, included Don Priddy, for special services in fund raising and Billy Smith, for 17 years as secretary/treasurer of the Big Spring Kiwanis Club.

Smith is also the Texas-Oklahoma Kiwanis District Governor.

Officers and directors for the 1988-89 club year besides Fisher include: Don Proctor, first vice president; J.C. Yarbrough, second vice president; Don McGonagill, secretary/treasurer and directors Tim Thornton, Jack Alexander, Kevin Hamby, Don Green, Don Duffey, Lonnie Coker, Don Priddy, Conrad Alexander and Gene Gresham.

Texas student scores are improved

STAFF AND WIRE REPORT

AUSTIN — Improved scores for Texas students this year on two major college entrance examinations are evidence that the sweeping 1984 public school reforms are working, state officials say.

The Texas Education Agency reported Tuesday that Texas students' scores on the exams rose slightly from 1987 to 1988, and the number of pupils taking the tests rose substantially.

Although Texas students still scored below the national averages on the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) and the American College Testing Program (ACT) exam, the Texas Education Agency said it appears the reforms are producing results.

"While I'm not satisfied with where we are, which is below the national average, I do believe that implementation of education reforms has caused continued progress," said Education Commissioner William Kirby.

"It's been four years since we began implementing the education reforms the Legislature called for in House Bill 72. All of those reforms were aimed at improving student achievement. We must simply work harder to ensure that we achieve that goal," Kirby said.

The mean score for Texas students on the verbal section of the SAT was 417, up from 416 in 1987. The mean SAT math score was 462, up from 459 the previous year, the education agency reported. No such composite scores are available on the SAT for individual schools such as Big Spring. High School Principal Kent Bowerman said this morning.

Both Texas scores were below national averages. The national averages were 428 on verbal, a drop of two points from 1987, and 476 in math, the same as last year. On the ACT exams, Texas students' average composite scores rose from 17.3 in 1987 to 17.6 in 1988. The national ACT average composite score was 18.8, up slightly from 18.7 in 1987.

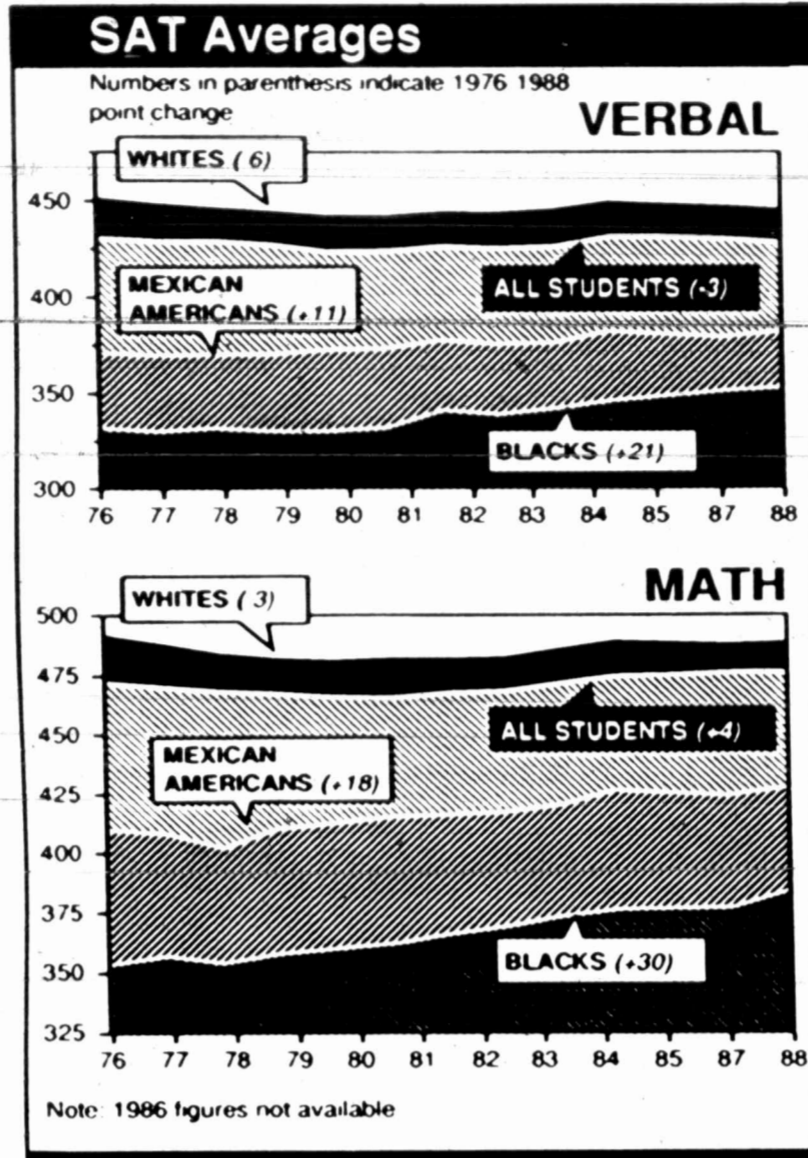

In Big Spring, the ACT English score was up more than one percent and remained the same in mathematics from 1987-88 scores as compared to 1986-87, Bowerman said.

The 1986-87 figures were 17.9 in English in Big Spring, compared to 19.1 in 1987-88; the mathematics testing resulted in the same 15.8 results as had been scored in 1986-87, Bowerman said.

In Texas, 80,107 high school graduates took the SAT, an increase of 4,743 over the previous year. Minority students accounted for approximately 50 percent of the increase, the TEA said. Some 46,288 Texas students took the ACT, an increase of more than 5,000 from last year, the TEA said.

"We are pleased to see that scores continue to improve slightly when there were so many more students taking the SAT and ACT in 1988," Kirby said. "Such a large increase in the number of people taking standardized tests often causes a significant decline in test scores."

According to state officials, Texas SAT scores have increased by 13 points since 1984, while national averages have increased only seven points during that same period.

County fair results

Good crop prospects plus a new sponsor for the Howard County Fair's Agricultural Products Show's Cotton Division saw outstanding exhibits in this year's show, officials reported.

Over-all winner of the grand champion stalk of cotton and a check for $100 was an entry by Martin Nichols of the Knott Community. The judge, Earnest Kiker, Midland County Extension Agent, praised Nichols' entry for its uniform set of large, mature bolls, shape and size of its stalk and stripping qualities.

Other champion awards in this year's cotton show included Steven Nichols with the best stripper type; Katie Gaskins with the most unusual stalk; L.C. Gibbs Jr. with the tallest stalk (6'4"); Cory Maxwell with the cotton with the most bolls (93).

Other blue ribbon cotton entries included those from Joe Mac Gaskins, Clint Schuilke, Larry Shaw, Martin Nichols and Dustin Gaskins. The agricultural products judge also selected Martin Nichols' grand champion cotton entry as the over-all grand champion of the entire Agricultural Products show.

well; reserve champion cantaloupe — Lee Ann Maxwell; blue ribbon winners: pears — Mrs. John Hughes; bell peppers — Lowell Knoop; jalapenos — Kaci Blaggrave; purple ornamental — Gene Priest; tequila sunrise peppers — Gene Priest; Hungarian wax paper — Lowell Knoop; Zucchini squash — Judy Janke; acorn squash — Judy Janke; miniature pumpkins — Jewel Tubbs; prickly pears — Larry Shaw; pumpkins — Cory Maxwell; watermelons — grand champion — Horace Tubbs; reserve champion — Shey Ditto; walnuts — Walter Kizer.

Results in other categories as reported to the Herald: needlework adult grand champion — Gloria Kappes; reserve champion — Carol Denton; needlework youth grand champion — Michell Karnes; reserve champion — Kristie Moates; hobbies and crafts adult grand champion — Paul Schlipt; reserve champion — Dennis Wilson.

District 4-4A football teams have a light schedule this week. Of the eight district teams, only two are in action. The remaining six have open dates.

Snyder and Pecos are in action, and both will find the going tough against Class AAA schools. Winless Snyder will face always tough Littlefield, while Pecos will test Kermit, which is coming off a win over Fort Stockton — supposedly one of the top teams in 4-4A.

Number-one ranked Sweetwater heads the league with three impressive wins. Pecos is next at 2-0, owning wins over El Paso High and Carlsbad, N.M., neither one a top team. The Lake View Chiefs, Andrews and Monahans are 2-1, Fort Stockton is 1-2 and Big Spring and Snyder are winless at 0-2.

So far 4-4A is batting .571 in non-district play. League teams hold a 12-9 edge against non-league foes. District teams have faced their share of quality foes like El Paso Riverside, Frenship, Lubbock Estacado, Abilene High, Odessa High, El Paso Hanks, Kermit, Vernon and Plainview. But they have also beaten up on the weaker teams like Ballinger, El Paso Ysleta, Stephenville, Lamesa and Merkel.

But in all fairness, Big Spring has played the toughest schedule to date, 10th ranked Lubbock Estacado and Plainview. Monahans has played a tough slate also, going against El Paso Riverside, Odessa High and El Paso Hanks, all AAAAA schools.

The only decent test for Sweetwater was Abilene High, picked to finish third in 4-5A by league coaches. But that really wasn't a test; the Mustangs romped 34-7.

After this week, the real deal starts — district play. The Steers draw the top dogs right off the bat. Big Spring travels to Monahans Sept. 30, and then hosts Sweetwater Oct. 7.

Right now it looks like Sweetwater will be the cream of the crop in the league race. Monahans is a distant second and everybody else is a step or so behind Monahans.

One league that seems to be losing its supremacy is District 4-5A. Gone are the days when the league used to be called the Little Southwest Conference.

District 4-5A teams are battling a mortal .500 against non-league opponents. In 21 games, the league has posted an 10-10-1 record.

Two teams, Midland Lee and Odessa Permian, have 2-1 records. Odessa High, Abilene Cooper and Abilene are 1-2. And when is the last time you can remember the San Angelo Central Bobcats not having a win going into the fourth week? The 'Cats are 0-2-1.

Who would have thought the Midland High Bulldogs would be 3-0 at this point? Not many. But the 'Dogs have not played what one would call a killer slate so far. Andrews, Lubbock Monterey and Lubbock Coronado don't exactly strike fear in one's heart.

When district play begins Friday, the Bulldogs will get a legitimate test when they play cross-town rival Lee.

Probably the top game on tap this week in 4-5A will be Central against Kerrville Tivy, ranked no. 2 in the AAAAA polls.

The Garden City Bearcats and Sands Mustangs remain the only unbeaten teams in the Crossroads Country area.

The Bearcats, with their explosive offense, scored 48 points on Roby, while the six-man Mustangs won a hard-fought battle over Blackwell.

Both of these teams were questions marks at the beginning of the season. Could the Bearcats turn around a struggling program? Could the Mustangs rebound after losing several quality athletes?

The two teams have answered the questions well so far.

Netters whip Sweetwater

The Big Spring High School tennis team officially began district play with a bang, bouncing Sweetwater, 14-4, here Tuesday afternoon. Saturday's match against Monahans was rain-shortened, and will be completed in October.

The boys, led by Rocky Tubbs' 6-0, 6-0 win against Derek Daniels, were particularly effective against Sweetwater, winning all nine matches without dropping a set. Tubbs also teamed with Danny Whitehead for a doubles win.

For the girls, Danene Moore won two matches, first downing Sweetwater's Debra Reed in singles, then teaming with Stefanie Stevenson for a doubles victory.

For complete results, please see page 5-B.

Lady Steers drop league game

SWEETWATER — Big Spring Lady Steers volleyball team dropped its third district match of the season, losing in two games to Sweetwater Tuesday. Big Spring falls to 1-3 and 5-13 overall.

The JV Lady Steers won their match in two games. Big Spring is now 2-1 and 6-8 overall. The frosh lost to Sweetwater in two games.

Goliad spikers gain split

SWEETWATER — Monday the Goliad volleyball teams split matches with Sweetwater.

The Goliad Gold team was defeated 15-12, 15-9. Goliad Gold falls to 0-2. The Goliad White team won 15-7, 9-15, 15-4. Goliad White is 3-2 for the season.

Jordan gets healthy raise

CHICAGO (AP) — In an age when a decent season often sends pro athletes to the front office demanding more money, the Chicago Bulls say it's refreshing to have a guy like Michael Jordan.

Jordan has signed a contract that will reportedly pay him $25 million over eight years, but it came after a year of "leisurely" negotiations, Bulls chairman Jerry Reinsdorf said Tuesday.

Medals spread out

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Gold, silver and bronze hang from Matt Biondi's neck and four more Olympic medals are within his giant reach, but the gold that got away by a hundredth of a second belongs, strangely enough, to a swimmer from Suriname.

Parity has arrived at the Games, scattering medals Wednesday to athletes barely known and nations most unexpected.

Suriname? Yes, that South American jewel with one Olympic-sized pool on the coast north of Brazil has its first medal, matching the feat of tiny Costa Rica.

The longtime superpowers of sport — the Soviets, Americans and East Germans — still top the medal list, but they're finding they can't win as easily as they used to.

China is making a big splash in diving and swimming, and Bulgaria's bulging weightlifters are leading a brigade of medalists in several sports.

American athletes did themselves proud on the fifth day of the Games, highlighted by a world record and gold medal in the men's 800-meter freestyle relay and a 102-87 rout of the Brazil basketball team that upset them in the Pan Am Games last year.

Dave Wharton swam to a silver in the 400 medley behind world-record setter Tamas Darnyi of Hungary. The water polo team beat top-ranked Yugoslavia 7-6, scoring a goal with five seconds left.

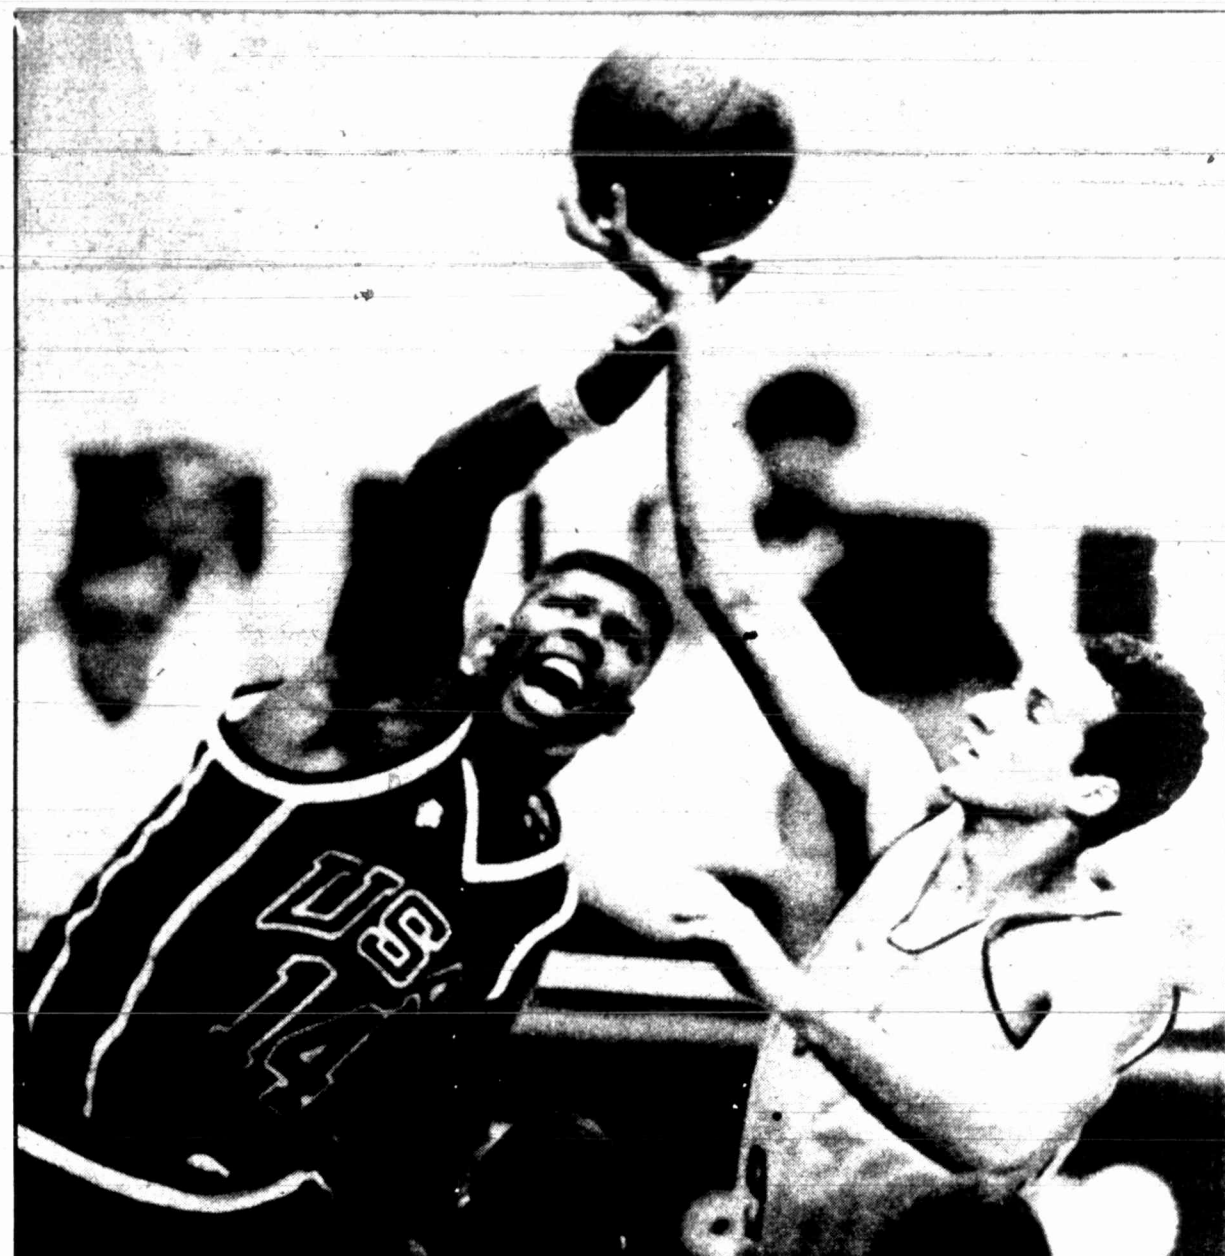

Boxer Arthur Johnson stopped Bishnubahadur Singh, and Michael Carbajal used his "little hands of stone" to pound out a split decision over Korean Oh Kwang-soo.

And Tim Mayotte and Robert Seguso won first-round singles matches in tennis.

Biondi, trying to become the first seven-medal winner since Mark Spitz won all golds in 1972, became this year's first triple-medalist when he anchored the relay and secured the record in 7 minutes, 12.51 seconds.

The U.S. team trailed East Germany by about a meter after the first three laps by Troy Dalbey, Matt Cetlinski and Doug Giertsen, but Biondi made up the difference in the first of his four 50-meter laps, then pulled away. East Germany finished second, and West Germany third.

If Biondi needed any extra motivation, he got it from his heartbreaking loss in the 100 fly to Anthony Nesty, the first swimmer from Suriname ever to make an Olympic final.

Nesty, eight inches shorter than the 6-7 Biondi, reached the wall a hundredth of a second sooner in 53.00 seconds and stood a head taller on the victory stand as his nation's flag, with a bright yellow star, was raised at the Olympics for the first time.

Heike Friedrich of East Germany won the women's 200 freestyle while Silvia Poll won a silver, Costa Rica's first-ever Olympic medal. East German Manuela Stellmach won the bronze.

East Germany also won the women's 200 breaststroke, with Silke Hoerner taking the gold, followed by Xiao Min Huang of China and Antoaneta Frenkeva of Bulgaria.

The U.S. men's basketball team overcame Oscar Schmidt's 31 points in beating Brazil and improved its Olympic record to 3-0, with two games against China and Egypt before the medal round next week.

Schmidt, who scored 46 points in the Pan Am Games final against the United States, couldn't give a typical Oscar performance under constant defensive pressure this time.

The United States led 63-55 at halftime and opened a 22-point lead with a 21-7 run over in the first 5 1/2 minutes of the second half. J.R. Reid led the United States

'Rusty' Metcalf garners SWC's top player award

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas tailback Eric Metcalf gained 285 yards running, catching passes and returning kicks in a first-game performance this season that Longhorn football coach David McWilliams called a bit "rusty."

"I thought that early in the game he ... was still having a problem getting that feel under him as to where the sideline was and making those cuts," McWilliams said.

"Then, as we got on into the game and gave him the ball more, I think he gained a lot more confidence."

Metcalf, a 5-foot-9, 179-pound senior, was a clear choice as The Associated Press' Southwest Conference offensive player of the week after scoring three touchdowns in Texas' 47-0 thrashing of New Mexico.

Arkansas tackle Wayne Martin, who had four quarterback sacks among his eight unassisted tackles in the Razorbacks' 21-13 victory over Mississippi, was named SWC defensive player of the week.

Other defenders considered included Houston linebacker Robert McDade and Texas Christian cornerback Stanley Petry.

McDade, a transfer from Southern Methodist, had 13 tackles in the Cougars' 31-7 victory over Missouri, and Petry intercepted two passes as TCU whipped Bowling Green 49-12. McWilliams said although Metcalf missed Texas' opener against Brigham Young because of a one-game NCAA suspension, he was not preoccupied with making up lost ground in his bid for the Heisman Trophy.

"What's important about Eric Metcalf is that his concern at the half (of the New Mexico game) had nothing to do with what he had done. He was talking about the offense — 'We keep stopping ourselves, and we've got to do a better job getting it in,'" McWilliams said.

"I think that shows how he's thinking, that it was way more important to him that we get some points in there on the scoreboard, and it didn't matter to him whether he carried it in or whatever," he said.

McWilliams pulled Metcalf with 1:42 to go in the third quarter, and he sat out the final quarter after running 21 times for 133 yards, catching five passes for 86 yards, returning two punts for 47 yards and one kickoff 19 yards. He scored on runs of 3 and 21 yards and caught a 7-yard scoring pass.

"I didn't realize what his stats were at the time when I pulled him out," McWilliams said. "I was kind of shocked when they said he had 285 yards because, it didn't look like that many. "You throw a 3-yard pass to him, and all of a sudden it ends up being a 15- or 16-yard gain."

"His teammates feel like at any point you give him the football, he's got a chance to break it," McWilliams said.

Cowboys cut veteran receiver Renfro

IRVING (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys got their money's worth out of Mike Renfro.

He came to Dallas in a trade with the Houston Oilers that also included a fifth round draft pick which later turned out to be Herschel Walker.

In four years with the Cowboys, Renfro caught 163 passes for 2,525 yards and 17 touchdowns. He had four, 100-yard receiving days.

Dallas coach Tom Landry on Tuesday waived the 10-year veteran who had been the Cowboys' premier possession receiver.

"This is the toughest part of my job," Landry said. "Mike was one of my favorite players but I felt I needed to go with a younger receiver (Everett Gay). "Renfro didn't have a good summer. He was injured (a pulled hamstring) and didn't have a chance to compete. It was a big disappointment to me because I think so much of Mike. He made a lot of big plays."

Landry added "I asked Mike if he wanted to retire or take a chance of playing somewhere else. He said he thought he could still contribute so we put him on the waiver wire."

If Renfro clears waivers, the Cowboys could re-sign him at a later date.

Rookie Michael Irvin, the Cowboys' No. 1 draft choice, started the season at Renfro's flanker position.

Last year's starting receivers, Gordon Banks and Renfro are now no longer with the team.

Renfro expressed no bitterness. "My injury kept me from competing and I understand coach Landry's commitment to the youth movement," Renfro said.

"However, I know I can still play and I'm healthy now."

The Cowboys also waived cornerback Charles Wright and activated cornerback Ron Francis, who had been out with a separated shoulder.

"Francis has been out a long time and we'll probably use him on passing situations when we bring in another back," Landry said. "I've been well pleased with Robert Williams at right cornerback. He's really progressed and hasn't been beaten very often. It will take Francis awhile to work back in there to come up to Williams' level. Williams will start again this week."

The Cowboys host the surprising Atlanta Falcons on Sunday and Steve Pelluer, who threw two late interceptions in a 12-10 loss to the New York Giants will start again.

Landry said on Tuesday that Pelluer wasn't to blame for either miscue.

"They blitzed four people up the middle on one of them and the receiver ran the wrong route on the other one," Landry said. "Steve just has to work through all this adversity. It's a tough thing and I hope he comes through it. If he does, he will be way ahead."

TONY LEWIS
Big Spring QB

Stanton linebackers David Lopez, 12 tackles, and George Vna, 10 tackles in a loss to Greenwood.

Forsan cornerback Stephen Scott caused two fumbles, recovered two fumbles and made two tackles in a loss to Roscoe.

In a loss to Slaton, Colorado cornerback Jason Sutton made nine tackles.

Garden City cornerback Juan Galles, nine tackles, ends year with 10 stops. Tony Aragon, eight stops.

Grady linebacker Mike McKaskel made 14 tackles in a loss to Loraine, and cornerback Julian Valle made 12 tackles.

Sands cornerback Albert Franco made 18 tackles in a win over Blackwell.

Other top offensive performers were:

Big Spring wingback Tony Lewis, four rushes for 100 yards, including a 64-yard scoring run, and three receptions for 75 yards. He finished the game with more than 200 yards in all-purpose offense. In the loss to Plainview, quarterback Rance Thompson completed 10 of 18 passes for 142 yards.

Klondike running back Gilbert Guerra carried 12 times for 80 yards, quarterback Corbett Foster completed eight of 15 for 127 yards, and wide receivers Kirkland and Ron Davis combined for nine receptions for 145 yards.

Stanton reserve receiver Gilbert Ruiz, three receptions for 65 yards, including an eight-yard TD.

Forsan right tackle Matt Evans graded 78 percent, the best of the offensive line.

Garden City quarterback Codie Scott, six of 15 completions for 229 yards and TD passes of 59, 42 and 33. Receiver Jodie Scott, six catches, 154 yards, including TD receptions of 42 and 33. Tailback Tony Ramirez, 20 carries, 154 yards, scoring runs of 52, 30, Fullback Weldon Hillger, 10 carries 97 yards, 33-yard TD.

Grady quarterback Scott Glaze, 13 of 22 for 201 yards and three TD's. He also had 15 rushes for 100 yards.

Sands running back John Young, eight carries, 54 yards and two TD's.

In a loss to Jayton, Borden County's Shane Kemper caught three passes for 86 yards and completed four of eight passes for 37. Quarterback Brian Bond was six of 23 for 136 yards and Chris Kilmer had five receptions for 70 yards.

Coahoma running back Carlos Cervantes carried 29 times for 109 yards; receiver David Molina, three receptions for 36 yards, including TD's of eight and 20.

Stros again

nder, making only his second major-league appearance, allowed hits and struck out 11 as the Ex-radial for a split. Johnson is 2-0 since being recalled from Indianapolis a week ago. Mike Fitzgerald's two-run homer (sixth) and a three-run blast by Jay Jones in the seventh gave Houston more than enough support.

Giants 7, Braves 4
Pretti Butler just loves the home of the Braves, much to their agrin.

The San Francisco center fielder loved for the Braves during part of the 1984 season and all of 1982 and still resides in the Santa suburb of Duluth.

Smith homered for the Braves and Dale Murphy scored the 1,000th run of his career. Roger Muehl, 1-2, got credit for his first major league win with 3-1-3 innings and hit relief.

Boggs nets 200th hit

By The Associated Press
Perhaps now the old axiom can be changed to say that life's only certainties are death, taxes and 200 hits every season for Wade Boggs.

Boggs became the first player this century to get 200 hits in six consecutive seasons Tuesday night as the Boston Red Sox trounced the Toronto Blue Jays 13-2 and maintained their five-game lead over the Milwaukee Brewers in the American League East.

American League

"I cherished it the first time I did it, and I cherish it the sixth time. Now I'll try for a seventh time next year," Boggs said.

Boggs, driving for a fourth consecutive batting title and fifth in six years with a .363 average, reached base five times: on his 199th, 200th and 201st hits and his 116th and 117th walks this year.

He got hit No. 200 on a grounder to left in the fourth inning.

The Red Sox victory was only the second in eight decisions since the end of July for Roger Clemens, 17-11. The two-time Cy Young Award winner allowed six hits, struck out three and walked one in seven innings.

The Red Sox have won 12 of their last 16. Mike Greenwell's two-run double highlighted a four-run first inning and Boston scored seven times in the fifth, including Jim Rice's three-run homer.

Rangers 4, White Sox 1

Bobby Witt threw a five-hitter and Cecil Espy scored the go-ahead run on a seventh-inning fielder's choice. Witt, 7-10, overcame six walks to complete his 12th game and break a personal two-game losing streak.

Espy reached on Ozzie Guillen's fielding error leading off the seventh. He took second on his 30th steal of the season, moved to third on Steve Buechele's sacrifice bunt and scored when pinch-hitter Barbaro Garbey grounded to third.

JEANE DIXON'S Your Horoscope

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 22, 1988

HAPPY BIRTHDAY! IN THE NEXT YEAR OF YOUR LIFE: Certain financial and business arrangements can finally be improved. Those ideas that have been whirling around in your brain can be put into action. Be practical. You feel much more optimistic about your personal life. Enjoy the affection that others lavish on you. Some aspects of your lifestyle have begun to irritate you. Make over due changes. New attitudes and procedures prove very rewarding.

CELEBRITIES BORN ON THIS DATE: actor John Houseman, actor Scott Baio, singer Debby Boone, correspondent Richard Hottelet, Dodgers manager Tom Lasorda.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): A great time to travel. The experiences will enrich your life and make you a more productive leader in business. The money picture brightens. Help a family member. Romance looks rosy.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Influential people are easier to approach now. Spend more time and energy on career matters. Explain the financial facts of life to a teen-ager. New developments could lead to a change of residence.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Protect a relationship. Make the right moves early today and you will avoid a domestic upheaval. With your creative abilities, you can do almost anything! Postpone travel until you can really enjoy it.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Let someone who has become a burden go. Once this person finds out what the world is all about, he will be more appreciative. Your dependability is what makes you so special to your employer.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): A phone call could trigger a bright idea. Make the most of any special opportunities that arise. Your close personal relationships are what make you happiest these days. Romance blooms. Nurture it.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): End that feud between you and a family member! Close ties are too important to throw away for no good reason. Romance can be revived. Get better organized at work. Update files.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): You may be surprised by what you learn as you unravel a misunderstanding. Put a positive light on everything you do with a child. Support for your views comes from the top.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): The success of an experiment could put extra cash in your pocket. Travel produces mixed results. Your pursuit of knowledge leads to a rewarding relationship. Widen your social circle. Exchange ideas.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): You could overextend yourself financially if you make a commitment without investigating the cost in advance. Check it out! Love pushes you in a direction that might be wrong for you.

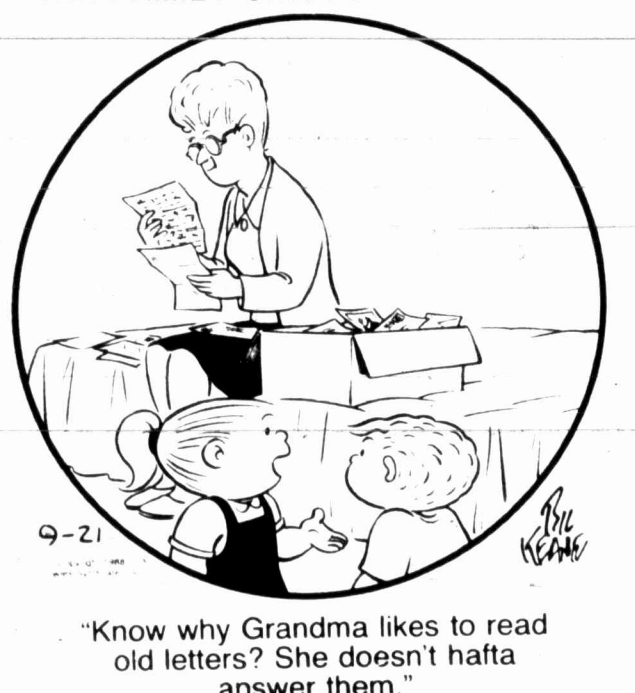

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Honesty and loyalty are what you need in your business partners. Your ability to function on little sleep amazes everyone. Just remember that your health would benefit from more rest. Take cat naps.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Moderation is good for your health, your business and your financial security. Travel brings exciting results. Opening new lines of communication helps a partnership. You find a confidant you can trust.

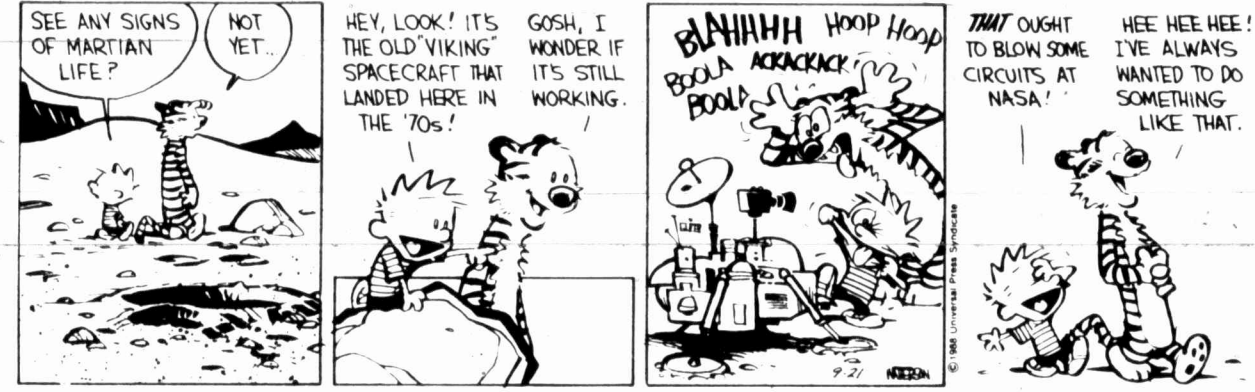

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Agree to a secret meeting, but if you start to get in over your head, excuse yourself and leave. Strike a positive note when trying to settle a family dispute. Love conquers all!

Spending up $67,863

Martin County budget okayed

Martin County Commissioner's have adopted a county budget calling for proposed expenditures of $2,576,618 for the 1989 year. This represents an increase of $67,863 over the 1988 budget.

Insurance cost accounted for $37,000 of the increase with workmen's compensation alone calling for a budget increase of over $20,000.

The permanent improvement fund had an increase of $10,000 to include a number of repairs and possible replacement of the air conditioning at the Community Center.

The expenditures included an increase of $27,000 in the Courthouse and Jail Sinking Fund. The Courthouse and Jail Bonds will be paid off in 1989, and county officials anticipate accrued interest of $24,000 will be available for transfer to the permanent improvement fund.

The 1989 tax rate of 33 cents is expected to produce $1,201,123 compared to $1,221,637 produced by the current rate of 30 cents.

Property values declined $51,000,000 from the previous year. County tax values have declined $182,000,000 in the past two years.

New Stanton National staff members named

Two new staff members have been added at Stanton National Bank according to an announcement this week by Leslie Wood, bank cashier.

Both are long-time Stanton residents and are well-known throughout the county. Mary Belle Keaton, veteran employee of the Production Credit Association, has assumed duties as the bank's loan teller, replacing Cindy Lloyd who has moved to Snyder.

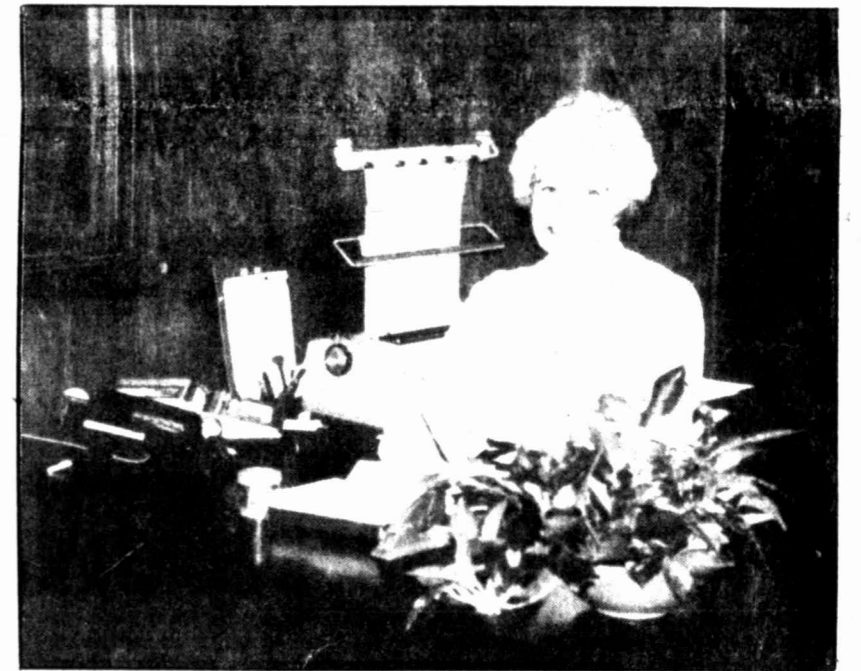

Barbara Ann Phillips, active in the Stanton business community since 1966, will be involved in the bank's proof and computer operations, succeeding Mary Hildreth who has moved to Odessa.

Mrs. Keaton, a graduate of Stanton High School, moved to Martin County in 1943, and was employed by the PCA until the local office was closed effective August 1 this year. She and husband Don, a Mobil Oil Co. retiree, are both members of Stanton's First Baptist Church.

Mrs. Phillips is also a graduate of Stanton High and previously has served with the Martin County tax office, First National Bank and Wheeler Motor Co.

Bank president Joe Hodges and Board Chairman J.D. Crawford both stated they were "really pleased" that the bank had been able to secure the services of "these two ladies who are so well known and who have such excellent backgrounds."

Water Board to meet in Stanton

Representatives of the Texas Water Development Board will be meeting with members of the Sulphur Draw Study Group in Stanton Thursday afternoon. The Study Group resulted from a meeting held in Stanton on July 28, concerning flood problems in the Sulphur Draw drainage area.

Staff members from the Water Development Board that plan on being in Stanton for the 1 p.m. meeting include Reg Arnold, executive administrator; Dan Black, financial analyst; Bobby Crittendon, engineering section; Bob Wear, planning division; and Sherrill Conger, assistant administrator in charge of Governmental Relations. State Sen. John Montford, D-Lubbock, will be represented by his administrative assistant, Morris Wilkes. State Rep. Jim Rudd, D-Brownfield, hopes to attend the meeting.

County Commissioners serving on the Study Group are Rudy Arrandondo and Guy Kinnison of Dawson County, Paul Allen and Louie Brown of Howard County, and E.D. Holcomb and Donald Tollison of Martin County, with the City of Big Spring being represented by City Councilman D.D. Johnston and Tom Decell, director of public works.

It is anticipated that several other agencies will be represented at the meeting to be held in the Commissioner's Courtroom of the Martin County Courthouse at 1 p.m. on Thursday, Sept. 22.

Area youth injured in boat accident

An eight-year-old boy, enjoying his last vacation trip on Lake LBJ at Kingsland before school began, suffered severe cuts and lacerations to his feet as a result of a boating accident on Aug. 22. The youth was rushed to Llano Hospital and then transferred to an Austin hospital by Star Flight helicopter for further treatment.

Ryan Johnson, son of Donald Ray and Pam Johnson who reside at Greenwood, was said to have been sitting on his jet ski 10 feet from the gas dock at the Riverbend Condominiums, when another boat driven by a 17-year-old youth ran over him from the side and the propeller blades cut his lower legs and feet. The impact knocked him and his jet ski under the boat.

After spending several days in the Breckenridge Children's Hospital in Austin, Rayn is confined to a wheelchair with both legs in a cast. But is attending school. His spirits are good, and will be going back to Austin for further surgery on his feet in the near future.

Cap Rock directors careers vary

By PEGGY LUXTON

Cap Rock Electric Cooperative, Inc. Three incumbent directors were elected to retain their seats on the Board of Directors of Cap Rock Electric Cooperative. The election was part of the Co-Op's 49th Annual Meeting held September 10 in Midland's Chaparral Center. The Co-Op, headquartered in Stanton, covers parts of 13 counties in this West Texas area.

Another highlight of the meeting was the awarding of a refurbished service vehicle. The pickup, a 1982 GMC S15, was repainted by Travis Club, Meter Reading Supervisor for the Co-Op. Clay has extensive experience in vehicle repainting and has a paint shop at his home.

The vehicle remained the traditional Cap Rock yellow on top and bottom, but had a wide strip of white added between, with wide black pin-striping. The engine was overhauled and the interior was refurbished. White sports wheels finished off the vehicle.

The pickup was won by Robert

RUSSELL E. JONES

Honeycutt, a long-time Cap Rock member who lives one and one-half miles north of Coahoma.

Winning re-election to his seat in district #9 was Russell E. (Rusty) Jones, 43. Jones is engaged in farming in southeast Midland. he farms in a family enterprise on approximately 1800 acres.

Jones was born in Midland and is a graduate of Midland High School. He attended Tarleton College and Texas Tech University, in a study of agricultural economics.

Married to the former Glynda Meadows of Shamrock, the couple have two children. Kelin is a junior at Texas Tech University and Kellie is a freshman at Clarendon College.

Presently serving as Cap Rock's board president, Jones is past president and present director of the Midland County Livestock Association.

George Anderson, Jr., challenged Jones for his seat on the board.

Carlos Dusek, 43, presently serves as Cap Rock's vice president of the board. He was elected to retain his seat as director of district #4. He is a farmer whose farm is located 11 miles northwest of Midkiff and 25 miles south of Midland.

Dusek and his wife, the former Linda Latzel, have a daughter, Stacey, 8, and a son, Skyler, 6.

Born in San Angelo, Dusek graduated from high school in Ballinger. After National Guard training, he moved to Lowake for a short time, then to the Midkiff area.

Dusek is past chairman of the Midkiff's Farmer's Co-Op Gin and has served on the Soil Conservation Board for Midland County.

Dusek was challenged by two candidates for election to district #4 director. They were Freddy Plagens, who lives 48 miles south of Midland, and Billy Eggenmeyer, who lives near Midkiff.

FNB of Stanton posts profit Not all banks are in trouble

In spite of all the concern about the Banking Industry in Texas, the depositors of the First National Bank of Stanton can feel good knowing that their bank is one of the safest banks in the Nation. For more than a year now, the First National Bank of Stanton has been rated A+ by the Sheshunoff Company of Austin, Texas, having been increased from an A rating in June of 1987. The Sheshunoff Company is a nation-wide consulting firm with expertise in financial institution management and appraisals.

Federal and State Regulators, as well as independent appraisers, rate a Bank by testing the major components vital to the success of any corporation. Five of the major components are Capital, Assets, Management, Earnings and Liquidity, often referred to as the "CAMEL" rating.

Capital adequacy is determined by taking total equity capital as a percent of average assets. Seven percent is the accepted minimum requirement for a healthy institution.

Asset quality is determined by making various tests on the Bank's over-all investment portfolio, including loans. The main elements tested are safety, maturity (repricing intervals), yield and diversification.

Management ability is measured by qualifying the Bank's Board of Directors and Senior Managers. Reviews are made to determine the Directors' percent of ownership of the Bank, financial stability, citizenship, place of residence, conflicts of interest and length of service.

Earnings, like capital, are measured as a percent of assets and must generate sufficient profits to maintain the proper capital structure of the Bank and give a fair return on stockholders' investment.

Liquidity is the ability to convert the Bank's assets quickly to cash for the purpose of paying depositors or funding an increase in loan demand.

The First National Bank of Stanton was organized on Feb. 6, 1906 by a group of local citizens with total capital of ten thousand dollars ($10,000.00).

During the following eighty-two years, the First National Bank has remained strong and weathered many economic storms, including the depression of the 30's and the more recent "Boom and Bust" of the 80's, and has never changed its name.

CAPITAL of the First National Bank is now in excess of 5.5 million dollars, having doubled in the past nine years and is 16.5 percent in assets.

ASSET quality is excellent with 20 million dollars invested in U.S. Treasury Securities and Federal Government Agency Bonds. Non-performing loans are at a minimum and the Bank has 2 million dollars invested in A rated Texas Municipal Bonds.

MANAGEMENT of the Bank consists of 10 members on the Board of Directors, all being local residents with an average of 18 years experience in bank management.

EARNINGS year to date are 2.1 percent of average assets with a ten year average of 1.12 percent.

LIQUIDITY of the Bank is good as evidenced by type and quality of the assets.

Paul Crosthwait, bank president, is reluctant to forecast the economic future, however, he expressed the utmost confidence in the people of Martin County to continue to support their Bank and keep it one of the SAFEST in the state of TEXAS.

Noon Lions hear about water

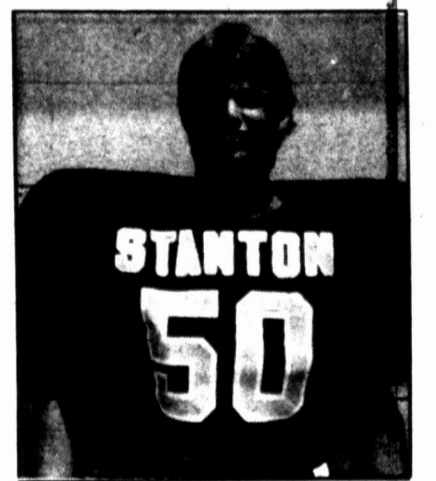

Noon Lions Club met at the Community Center Sept. 12, for their weekly meeting.

Two guests were introduced, Mrs. Derald McWhorter and Rev. Tommy Beck, Methodist minister.

Jimmie Wheeler, program chairman for September introduced Mark Hoelscher as guest speaker. He is connected with the Martin County Underwater Conservation District. He stated quality water not quantity is the purpose of this county not state governed organization.

Hoelscher said they are locating and searching for salt water disposals. They want to keep the salt water out of the underwater system.

They will be glad to test private wells, near the salt water disposals. Contact any member for a test. They are located in the back of the First Banker's building.

PUBLIC HEARING NOTICE CITY OF STANTON COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT FUND TEXAS COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM

The City of Stanton is planning to file an application with the Texas Department of Commerce (TDOC) for a Texas Community Development Program (TCDP) grant under the Community Development Fund. This application will be submitted to TDOC on or before October 27, 1988.

A public hearing concerning the proposed grant application will be held at 7:00 o'clock P.M. on Wednesday, September 28, 1988, at City Hall, Stanton, Texas. The purpose of this public hearing will be to discuss the range of eligible activities, the amount of TCDP funds available for projects in the Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission area and the grant application process.

All citizens are encouraged to attend this public hearing and present their views on the City's community development project needs. Written comments will be accepted by the City up until the time that the City's application is submitted to TDOC.

A second public hearing will be held at a later date and announced by public notice to discuss the specific details of the application which the City of Stanton will be submitting to TDOC. A copy of the City's application will be available for inspection during normal business hours at City Hall, 102 W. School Street, Stanton, Texas.

The basic intent of the TCDP grants is to provide programs to benefit low and moderate income persons, to prevent or eliminate slums and blight and to meet other urgent community development needs. Eligible activities include improved streets and drainage, utility systems and other public facilities improvements. Housing improvement programs are also eligible as are certain public service activities which meet one of the three primary TCDP basic intents noted above.

For further information about the TCDP application process, contact Jimmy Mathis, City Manager, City of Stanton, at (915) 756-3301. Handicapped individuals who might have difficulty in attending this public hearing should contact City Hall to arrange for special assistance.

Leave Pledge out of campaign

Indeed, it's difficult to believe that two grown-ups running for president in this perilous age have nothing better to argue about than whether school children should recite the Pledge of Allegiance.

The Pledge of Allegiance is an emotional issue. Those who believe children should have the right to recite it in unison want to instill patriotism in our youth.

But those who believe children should not be forced to take an oath have an equally important goal — to protect freedom of belief.

Both sides have a strong point to make. Who can say which side is right? The Founding Fathers aren't available for comment on the issue.

Watertown (S.D.) Public Opinion

Is Bush an 'environmentalist'?

Standing on the shore of Lake Erie, George Bush spoke these remarkable words: "I am an environmentalist."

The words were remarkable because the Reagan administration, which he has served faithfully for eight years, has regarded "environmentalist" as something close to a dirty word.

On no other issue — even Iran-Contra — is George Bush so vulnerable to serious, sustained criticism by his Democratic opponents.

Until this year, he has never even murmured a dissent against the policies of a president who came into office maintaining that "trees cause pollution," while appointing James "Second Coming" Watt as Interior secretary, who later disclosed he thought we should use up all available natural resources while there was still time.

The Reagan record on the environment is not merely dismal, it is repellent.

Give NASA some competition

Were we snookered into supporting a badly run government space program?

Sure, NASA did put a man on the moon. But make some big technical project a national priority, throw billions at it — and even the government can accomplish something.

But government is singularly inept at running day-to-day operations of anything, especially of something so complex as space exploration.

Happily, a new era may be dawning.

On Oct. 6, America's first private commercial rocket is scheduled to be launched in Florida by the EPrime Aerospace Corp., a publicly held Florida company. It will be a modest launch, lofting into space a few scientific and industrial experiments.

WALT FINLEY

Editorial writers worry a lot, and I worry about people who worry. They want some assurance that an appreciable number of you are reading their masterpieces.

FOR THEY ARE, after all, human, if you scratch deep enough.

So I've decided to declare an Editorial Writers Week. There are several things you can do to help:

1. Carry your newspaper open to the editorial page wherever you go. Read it as you wait for the traffic light to change. Shake your head in agreement, if at all possible. Above all, don't laugh, for even when one is funny it is supposed to bring only an appreciative nod of the head.

2. MAKE A POINT of meeting an editorial writer. If he regards you with suspicion, it is a throwback to the days of the horse whip. Tell him, "You really told off George Bush today. I'll bet he'll straighten out immediately." If you already know one, call him up and tell him the editorials have been sounding much better recently (but first make sure he isn't on vacation.)

3. Take an editorial writer to lunch. But leave your daughter, at home.

Pill-pusher Mike Daniels, told this joke while fishing with me:

A little boy came to his mother with the question, "Mama, what's sex?"

"Oh, oh!" thought mama. "Here it is!"

As usual, she was not fully prepared, but did her best. She sat the little fellow down and gave him the birds-and-bees routine as well as she could.

Finally, weary and self-conscious, she said, "Do you have any questions?"

"Yeah," said the boy. "How do I get all that in that little square on my enrollment card?"

THE THOUGHT for the day is from Mildred Ladd:

Man blames fate for other accidents, but feels personally responsible for a hole in one.

This is one of those days. I'm not just talking to myself. I'm arguing. And I'm losing.

EVEN IN A POOR restaurant, all is not lost. The owner could use the slogan: "Where it's a pleasure to diet."

My bashful aunt, Marie Chastain, says kids have a comeback to the TV stations which open the 10 p.m. news by asking: "Do you know where your children are?"

They reply: "We know where we are but where are mama and daddy?"

Stan of Stanton says: "According to statistics, at age 80 there are 10 women to every man. Isn't that a helluva time to get those odds?"

FLASHY ROY LEE BARNHILL asked: "Di you hear about the graduate who tried to blow up the school bus? He burned his lips on the tail pipe."

do and usually a clever thing to say."

THAT EYE DOCTOR, Lee Evans, unveiled what I would call the worst pun of the month except that "worst pun" probably is redundant.

He knew a preacher's daughter who often spoke in Biblical quotations. One day she was sitting on the patio eating a sandwich and tossing crumbs to her kittens.

The felines were at a loss when some morsels fell into the lily pond. The girl said, "Well, cats, your bread's upon the water."

Mrs. Delma Hall, after spending four days in a hospital for a checkup, asks, "On contemplating grocery prices, may I paraphrase Winston Churchill:

"Never have so many given so much for so little."

MY BANKING wonderful aunt, Leona Daniels, reports the tightwad was shopping for an inexpensive gift for a friend when he came across a beautiful but broken vase.

He bought it for next-to-nothing and asked the store to send it to his friend, figuring he would assume it was broken en route.

A few days later the cheap-skate received this note: "Thanks for the handsome vase. It was thoughtful of you to wrap each piece separately."

Marie Chastain, my bashful aunt, says: "Some statisticians said recently that the average American family now has almost two cars as against a little more than one a few years back.

"All of which means that now mom has to lie awake until almost two cars get home.

SOMETIMES I get the feeling that some politicians think Machination will Make-a-Nation.

A Big Spring lady who requests anonymity says she goes through her son's pockets before she puts his blue jeans in the washing machine.

She was shocked silly a couple of days ago to pull out a note which said, "Puff-puff-puff, drag-drag, puff-puff, drag-drag, drag, puff."

The boy was in school so she went racing to his room and looked all over for cigarettes or pot, but found nothing.

When the son came home, she confronted him with the note. "What's this all about?" she asked.

"It's how to play our school song on the harmonica," he explained.

There's a dandy restaurant in Odessa which serves good chili, and I am hooked on a new — to me — type, Irish chili. (It's chili with chopped onion and cheese on top.)

The trouble is they serve only two sizes of bowls — large and jumbo.

When the waitress goes to the kitchen opening and shouts "Jumbo Irish," I wonder if she's talking about me.

Good ol' Jim Beal, on a whirlwind tour of Houston, ran into a Jew who is so orthodox he won't drink Hamm's beer.

NOT ONLY that, Jim says, but the Houston police caught a thief with rubber lined pockets. He was stealing soup.

ROGER BEARD, Big Spring, suggests:

"Now that the folks in Detroit are making the padded dashboard standard equipment on the cars, more people than ever will be driving like crazy.

Friends, I give up. For months I have been trying to work an atrocious pun (if that isn't redundant) into a story. I've asked friends, and they look at me as if I'm nuts. (They may be right.)

The last two lines of the story would be:

"But I bared my soul!" "You should have sold your bear."

Can you help?

Greenwood runs past Battlin' Buffs, 14-8

For the Herald

After two scoreless quarters, Greenwood quarterback Randy Donnell used second half jaunts of 15 and 20 yards to outrun the Stanton Buffalos and pace the visitors to a 14-8 victory Friday night at Buffalo Stadium.

After both teams were unable to start any type of offensive maneuvers on their first possessions, Greenwood's quarterback completed a 40-yard pass to Tom Marvin at the Buffalo 45-yard line to begin a drive. On the very next play, senior safety Steve Scurlack of Stanton intercepted a Greenwood pass at their own 31-yard line to stop the Rangers' threat.

The Buffs again were stopped on downs and forced to punt. With a bad snap from center, the Rangers got great field position on the Stanton 38-yard line. Two plays later, Donnell passed to Randy Marquez to give the visitors a first down on the 18 yard line of the Buffalos.

On fourth and one-foot from the nine-yard-line, the home team made a valiant stand, stopping Greenwood for a loss to the Buff 26.

The Rangers started the second quarter on Stanton's 37 yard line after another bad snap on the prior punt. The home team again put up a fight at their goal with fine performances from Anthony Inman and Brian Cain to halt the Greenwood surge. The Stanton offense could not move the ball, and Greenwood could do no better as both teams went into the locker room with a 0-0 halftime deadlock.

Greenwood opened the half by kicking off to the Buffs but stopped Stanton on three plays, forcing the home team to punt. Donnell ran for 20 yards on an option keeper, and teammate Jimmy Cox added 23, moving to the Buffalo 15 yard line. From that point, Donnell managed to put Greenwood in the lead for good as he scampered around the right end for 15 yards.

A failed PAT gave the visitors a 6-0 lead with 9:17 to go in the quarter.

Donnell began to work on another score for the Rangers, with a series of option keepers and fine running by Cox and Marquez. On the next play, Donnell hit the line of scrimmage like lightning and squeezed into the end zone for his second score. The PAT pass to Sean Holcomb was successful, to put the Rangers up 14-0 with 11:04 left.

Six seconds later, Stanton began a scoring drive, using a good mix of offensive plays to leave Greenwood flat on its heels. With strong running by Kevin Barnes, along with five passes from Brad Holland to Gilbert Ruiz, Stanton put their first points on the scoreboard to cut the visitors' lead.

The PAT was good, adding two points to Stanton's effort, on a fine catch by Randy Esparza leaving the score at 14-8 in Greenwood's favor.

Despite recovering two fumbles on the Rangers' side of the field Stanton could not move the stubborn visitors and the game ended when Tim Flowers intercepted a Holland pass, squashing any hopes of a Buff comeback.

Loraine 56 Grady 34

LENORAH — An inability to score early — combined with seven touchdowns by Loraine running back Josell Williams — spelled defeat for the Grady Wildcats here Friday night.

Grady's offense came up empty four times inside the Loraine 10-yard line, assistant coach Randall Peel said, but rebounded in the second half for a good effort.

"We're disappointed with the loss, but we saw a lot of positive things out there," Peel said. "The offense moved the ball well, and the defense looked good at times.

"We made some changes on defense in the fourth quarter, and it looks like we just about got everybody where we want them," he added.

Williams had a hand in every Loraine score, as he ran for seven TDs and passed for another. His first, a 55-yard run, gave the visitors an 8-0 lead with 6:13 left in the opening quarter.

Grady closed the gap to 8-6 early in the next stanza when Scott Terrell took a Scott Glaze pass and rambled 11 yards for the tally. The conversion attempt was no good.

But two more Williams' runs and a pass to teammate Casey Cooper would provide the Bulldogs with a cushion they would maintain throughout the contest.

Cap Rock sponsors visit to circus

By PEGGY LUXTON
Cap Rock Electric Cooperative, Inc.

The circus is a wonderland for children. The animals, the acrobats, the clowns and the glitter and glamour are what kids' dreams are made of.

To aid in the assurance of those dreams for the kids of Stanton, Cap Rock Electric Cooperative will sponsor 20 children from the Martin-Glasscock Headstart Program to attend the Shrine Circus scheduled to appear in Big Spring Sept. 19. The tickets were purchased by the Cooperative and presented to the Headstart children.

Cap Rock Electric Cooperative places great value on the youth who live within the service system, in Martin County, and in the city of Stanton.

The Member Services Department of the cooperative takes an active role in the support of those youth. It supports the efforts of area 4-H, FFA, and other youth groups and offers scholarships to area winners of livestock shows and others.

Each year, Cap Rock sends youth from its service area on a 2-week, all-expenses-paid trip to Washington, D.C. as a part of the nationwide Government in Action Rural Electric Youth Tour.

Winners of the tour last year were Edward Hernandez of Stanton and Rebecca King of Midkiff.

State Comptroller Bob Bullock was officially recognized recently by the U.S. Department of Defense for his support of national military reserve programs.

"Bob Bullock is being honored with this award for his contributions as a patriotic citizen and for his support of the guard and reserve forces," said Cmdr. Irvin Williams of the Austin Naval Reserve Center.

Bullock was presented with a Certificate of Appreciation by Cmdr. Williams on behalf of the Department of Defense. There are 35 Comptroller employees in the reserve and guard programs.

"The award is exemplary of the spirit and dedication of this agency's employees. The National Guard and the U.S. Reserves are vital components of our national defense — we should do our best to support them whenever possible," Bullock said.

Bullock, an Air Force veteran who served during the Korean Conflict, said employees from both the state and private sector shouldn't be discouraged from participating in military reserve programs.

"Leadership training, responsibility and higher morale are just a few of the rewards employers reap if they offer support to employees who are active in the reserves," Bullock said.

Two other Comptroller employees, Becky Joffrion, Director of Telebank Operations, and Claudia Stravato, Deputy Comptroller, were also presented certificates of appreciation for their support of the reserve programs.

Fitness fair getting bigger daily

By KATHRYN BURCH
County Extension Agent/Ag
Martin-Glasscock Counties

Martin County Fitness Fair is getting bigger each day. The fair has been scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 15. Now, for those of you who are on football time, that's the morning after the McCamey game. Activities will be held at the Community Center in Stanton.

Cholesterol and glucose screening will be made available at the Fitness Fair through your Martin County Hospital. Analysis of the body chemistry of an individual can get extremely detailed and complex. However, a screening is basically just that.

A negative result in itself does not constitute that there is immediate or critical problem. However, for those wishing a more detailed testing, Martin County Hospital in conjunction with cholesterol and glucose screening is offering a total cardiac risk profile. This testing will be done at the hospital and includes a pathologist's interpretation.

Due to the accuracy and complexity of those more detailed test in determining immediate and future heart problems, it is strongly recommended that all test results be taken to your family physician for a complete and detailed analysis.

The hospital will also be making appointments for mammograms. These will be done for $50 each. A computerized health risk appraisal will also be available. We are so thankful that the hospital will be offering these services.

Mark Hoelscher from the Martin County Water District will be testing water.

Several clubs and organizations will be assistant in administering fitness parameters. Martin County EMS will be doing blood pressure and will have the heart monitor on display. Xi Theta Nu will be testing for flexibility. ATPE will be testing endurance. How many set-ups and push-ups can you do in a minute?

The dietary guidelines for Americans as set up by USDA will be promoted.

Grady Young Homemakers will be encouraging you to avoid too much sugar. Stanton Extension Homemakers Club will be encouraging you to avoid too much sodium.

For more information, contact the county extension office at 756-3316.

Homer R. Howard

Funeral services for Homer R. Howard, 86, of Big Spring, was at 3 p.m. Friday in the Nalley-Pickle & Welch Rosewood Chapel. Burial followed in Trinity Memorial Park.

He died Thursday at a Martin County hospital.

Howard was born Nov. 26, 1901, in Tennessee and married Eva Ree Montgomery in 1921 in Merkel. She preceded him in death on June 30, 1986. He was a member of the Fourteenth and Main Street Church of Christ. He farmed in the Tarzan community for several years, retiring and moving to Big Spring in 1965.

Survivors include six grandchildren, Butch Howard, Mike Welch and Jerry Welch, all of Tarzan, Bill Howard of Midland, Danny Howard of ckerly, and Johnny Howard of Stanton; two sisters, Billie Lindsey of Stanton, and Hettie Massey of Tulsa, Okla.; and a brother, Pat Howard of Georgetown.

He also was preceded in death by a son, Homer Howard Jr. in 1968, a daughter, Mary Frances Welch in 1979, and a grandson, Terry Lee Welch in 1976.

Harris Cabinet Works started out as hobby

When Denver Harris retired from the railroad in 1983, he quietly opened up a shop to house his hobby — woodworking — and kept busy making cabinets and wood products for a select few friends.

His talent became so well-known — and his work so much in demand — that he decided it was time to make the change from hobby to business. His son, Gary, joined him in the enterprise in January.

Fine wood cabinetry for kitchen and bathroom is the firm's specialty, says Gary, but they also build furniture for home or office.

"People bring in pictures clipped from magazines," says Gary. "These are frequently items built from particle board, and the customer wants them made from solid wood."

Furniture they have constructed in the past include computer housing — hutches and desks; a 32-gun case with glass doors; free-standing and built-in bookcases.

One of the most unique jobs was a radial spoke wood-and-glass transom and sidelights for the front entrance of a renovated vintage home south of town.

"We also build dressers and night stands — and we'd like to build some water bed frames," says Gary.

The two men do all the finishing and trimming of everything built in the shop. If replacement cabinets are in order, they tear out the old ones and install the new. Cabinet jobs can include anything from adding doors to custom-designing and installing complete new cabinets. They also cut counter-tops and lay formica.

The shop — roomy and well-lighted — is equipped with thousands of dollars worth of specialty machines. There's a machine to make raised-panel doors, one to make drawers with dovetail slots, and another to make the face (front) of cabinets, to name just a few.

Many accessories can be made to match your cabinets — lazy susan, potato bins and the like.

Their newest service is the capacity to supply and install cultured marble tops with integral sinks for bathrooms.

Gary advises that the shop can purchase materials at wholesale prices. "We can get anything on the market," he says. "We're trying to provide another choice in Big Spring for fine wood-working."

Harris Cabinet Works is located at 2810 FM 700. Business hours are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday.

PUBLIC NOTICE

BRIEF EXPLANATORY STATEMENTS OF PROPOSED

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS

GENERAL ELECTION
NOVEMBER 8, 1988

PROPOSITION NO. 1 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 8 proposes a constitutional amendment providing that when the federal government reimburses the state for expenditures of state funds dedicated to acquiring rights-of-way and for constructing, maintaining, and policing public roadways, such federal funds must also be used for those purposes.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows: "The constitutional amendment and/or clarification providing that federal reimbursement of state highway dedicated funds are themselves dedicated for the purpose of acquiring rights-of-way and constructing, maintaining, and policing public roadways."

PROPOSITION NO. 2 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 2 proposes a constitutional amendment to establish an economic stabilization fund in the state treasury. The fund would consist of one half of the unencumbered balance of general revenues at the end of a biennium and three fourths of the difference between the net oil and gas production taxes received in a fiscal year and the net oil and gas production taxes received in the 1987 fiscal year. During any fiscal biennium, the amount in the economic stabilization fund could not exceed 10% of the total deposited in general revenue in the preceding biennium.

The state comptroller and the state treasurer could decide to transfer monies from the fund into the general revenue fund to alleviate a temporary cash shortage in general revenue. The legislature could make appropriations from the fund on approval by a three fifths vote of each house to make up the difference between anticipated general revenue and appropriations. On approval of two thirds of the members of each house of the legislature, the legislature could appropriate monies from the fund for any purpose.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows: "The constitutional amendment establishing an economic stabilization fund in the state treasury to be used to offset unforeseen shortfalls in revenue."

PROPOSITION NO. 3 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 5 proposes a constitutional amendment that establishes the Texas growth fund. All investments of the Texas growth fund must be directly related to furthering economic growth and employment opportunities in Texas. At least 50 percent of the fund must be invested in equity and/or debt security for the initial construction, expansion, or modernization of business or industrial facilities in Texas. Not more than ten percent of the fund may be invested in venture capital investments. Of the funds available for venture capital investments, not more than 25 percent may be invested unilaterally, and the remaining investments must be matched at least equally by funds from other sources. The Texas growth fund will be managed by a board of trustees consisting of four members appointed by the Governor and one member from and elected by the membership of each of the following: The Board of Regents of the University of Texas System; The Board of Regents of the Texas A&M System; The Board of Trustees of the Teacher's Retirement System of Texas; The Board of Trustees of the Employee's Retirement System of Texas; and the State Board of Education. The trustees may set the investment policy of the fund, enter into investment contracts, and take any action necessary for the creation, administration, and protection of the fund. The amendment authorizes the Board of Regents of the University of Texas System and the State Board of Education, in managing the permanent university fund and the permanent school fund, to acquire, exchange, sell, supervise, manage, or retain any kind of investment, including investments in the Texas growth fund. The fund will be phased out after the tenth anniversary of its creation, but the Legislature may create a second growth fund by a two thirds vote of each house.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows: "The constitutional amendment to provide for the investment of the permanent university fund, the permanent school fund, and public employee retirement systems in the Texas growth fund created by the amendment, which will directly create, retain, and expand job opportunity and economic growth in Texas."

Estos son los informes explicatorios sobre las enmiendas propuestas a la constitución que aparecerán en la boleta el día 8 de noviembre de 1988. Cotton and mules to be big feature at fair

By DON RICHARDSON
Extension agent

When it comes to agriculture and its history in Howard County the question of which came first, the cotton or the mules, the answer is about as conflicting as the egg and chicken issue. Regardless, both mules and cotton played a big role in the development of the agricultural economy to Howard County — and both will be featured attractions at this year's annual Howard County Fair.

A new sponsor of this year's agricultural products show will be Holland Seed Company of Big Spring. Special awards will be given to cotton producers who bring in the tallest stalk of cotton, the cotton stalk with the most bolls, the best stripper type of cotton, the stalk with the most open bolls and the most unusual stalk of cotton.

Ask the agent

All cotton producers in the county are eligible to enter this contest and are encouraged to do so. Leon Langly, a member of our county crops program area committee, will serve at this year's agricultural products show at the fair and is looking forward to a lot of good entries in the cotton show.

Other awards will be given for the largest watermelon, the best watermelon and the best farm and garden products and an overall grand championship in the farm products show. All entries in this department must be entered before 5:00 p.m. Monday, in Barn 2 (center barn) of the county buildings complex on the fairgrounds.

Kenny Gellispie of Ackerly is chairing this year's highly entertaining mule show, featuring classes for mules in a halter class, performance classes such as a balloon bust, western pleasure, a bloomer race, a hide

The roping and team penning contests are jackpotted events with cash awards for winners of these events.

This will be the second annual mule show for the fair and in spite of inclement weather at last year's fair the event remained one of the fair's most entertaining events. This year's show will begin at 5:00 p.m. Sept. 24 in the rodeo bowl on the fairgrounds. Regular fairgrounds admittance will enable you to see this event and all the other big events.

Add more fiber to diet

By NAOMI HUNT
Extension agent

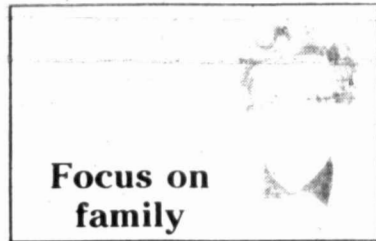

For the sake of a healthier diet, Americans are being urged to eat more fiber.

The advantages of adding fiber are clear. Research indicates that certain types of fiber may help lower blood cholesterol levels and help regulate blood sugar levels. High fiber consumption may also help protect against cancer of the colon and rectum and even promote weight loss.

There's no specific recommended dietary allowance (RDA) for fiber, but health experts generally advise 15 grams for every 1000 calories. For most people, that's about 20-35 grams a day.

Most Americans eat about half that amount — 8 to 14 grams of fiber each day. Try these few changes in your eating habits to improve fiber intake:

- Eat more vegetables. Vegetables are the leading source of fiber in our diets. You don't have to stick with the obviously "high-fiber" vegetables like celery either. Peas, for example, are known for their tenderness, yet they contain four times the fiber, ounce for ounce, than celery.
- Eat more fruit. Apples, pears, peaches, oranges and almost any other fruit you can think of make quick, inexpensive and nutritious snacks. However, only 58 percent of the population eats fruit on a daily basis.

Focus on family

Switch from white bread to whole grain breads. The dark breads, like whole wheat, cracked wheat, rye and others are a richer source of fiber than white bread. But only about 22 percent of the population eats whole grain breads daily.

• Eat more fruit. Apples, pears, peaches, oranges and almost any other fruit you can think of make quick, inexpensive and nutritious snacks. However, only 58 percent of the population eats fruit on a daily basis.

Matching memories to muslin

By TUMBLEWEED SMITH

Charlene Bulls of Spearman is into all sorts of things. She and her husband bought an old hotel building, restored it and made it into a gift shop. She also has a ladies clothing store in downtown Spearman.

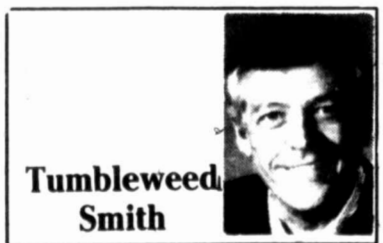

Once at market she noticed she was buying items that she could make herself, so she started doing just that. Most of the things had to do with country crafts and sewing.

While copying some quilting patterns one day she got the idea of copying a photograph on the copying machine and ran it through. The results were good. As an experiment she tried to copy a photograph onto a sheet of muslin. The photograph showed up extremely clear on the fabric.

Charlene was excited and felt she had really come up with something significant. She spent the next two years getting a patent for her idea. It was issued finally in February.

Since that time, Charlene has sold her fabric photos all over the United States and beyond. She charges five dollars per picture. Handling charges are $2.50. "Customers send me their photographs, I reproduce them and send their photos and the reproductions back," says Charlene.

She went to New York and visited with some people who publish a monthly sewing magazine. They liked her idea, too. They agreed to give Charlene a page a month for three years. On the page, Charlene discusses how to use the photos.

The process is amazingly simple. "Actually all I do is stabilize fabric with paper. The fabric itself goes through the copier. It's a deposit of carbon that is put on the fabric. To make the reproduction stay permanent and washable I spray it with a chemical," Charlene says.

She didn't have to invent any new equipment. She uses a common copier. "I have tried several different copiers," says Charlene. "If it has to go around a drum it will not work. But if it goes straight through it will."

Charlene gets requests for photos daily. She recently said she had not filled an order from Hawaii or Washington, DC. Before the week was over, though, she had orders from both. "We have filled orders from everywhere," she says.

Once she copies a photo, the customer does all kinds of things with it. "You can make quilts, put them on aprons, tote bags, pillows, Christmas stockings, Christmas tree skirts, the list goes on and on."

dozen photos of her son. "His quilt started with his birth announcement and ended with his graduation from college picture. There were various pictures in between showing his accomplishments and experiences through the years."

She can reproduce the photos in a variety of colors. She recommends blue or brown.

She knows how valuable some of the family photographs are and treats each picture with respect. "The owners of the photographs don't want to part with them," says Charlene, "but they want to show them to family members. This is an easy way to reproduce them and share those photographs that may be in somebody's old trunk somewhere."

Charlene is working on a ranch quilt. Each square of the quilt represents a section of land. Photos of windmills, structures, cattle, vehicles and irrigation patterns are reproduced on the quilt.

"One of the most interesting quilts I've made recently is a retirement quilt for the mayor of Spearman," says Charlene. "We started with a copy of the minutes from his very first city council meeting and ended with his last one. In the quilt we used photos and newspaper stories about him that were printed over a twelve year period."

Pictures up to size 8 by 10 in black and white or color can be put onto the fabric.

Blood drive

A special blood drive is being conducted Tuesday to benefit 21-month-old John Avant, who will undergo open-heart surgery Sept. 29, according to United Blood Services representatives.

The drive, to be conducted from noon to 4 p.m. Tuesday at Hall-Bennett Memorial Hospital, is planned to replace whatever blood the youth needs in the process of his surgery in Lubbock, said Susan Randolph, with United Blood Services of San Angelo.

He is the son of Janet Avant Big Spring.

Donors with any type of blood are invited to participate. Randolph said.

Pedestrian killed

A Colorado City man was killed early this morning in a hit-and-run accident that occurred on U.S. Highway 87, 2.3 miles north of Big Spring.

Eusebio Gonzalez, 28, was walking northbound on the paved shoulder of Highway 87 sometime after midnight when he was struck from behind by vehicle that left the scene, according to a Department of Public Safety report.

There were no witnesses to the accident, and an investigation is underway in the case.

Gonzales' body was discovered at approximately 8 a.m. by a passing motorist.

Gonzales was pronounced dead at the scene by Howard County Justice of the Peace Willie Grant.

Johnny Lou Avery, Democratic candidate for the 69th District representative's legislative seat, has scheduled an open house for Sunday at 2 p.m.

She will host the reception in her offices in Suite 210 of the Permian Building and discuss her position on issues, said Frank Hardesty, working with the campaign.

She faces Republican Troy Fraser in the Nov. 8 election.

ing; and Brad Sewell, and Kurt Sewell, both of Midland.

Candlelighters were Brad Sewell and Kurt Sewell.

After the wedding, a reception was hosted at the church.

The bride is a 1983 graduate of Plano High School, a 1987 graduate of Baylor University. She is employed as a social worker at Big Spring State Hospital.

The bridegroom is a 1980 graduate of Midland High School, a 1984 graduate of Howard Payne University, and a 1987 graduate of Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary. He is minister of youth and singles at First Baptist Church.

After a wedding trip to St. Thomas, Virgin Islands, the couple will make their home in Big Spring.

Rogers-Brown

Kerri Renee Rogers, Eules, and Ronald Dale Brown, Fort Worth, were united in marriage Sept. 3, 1988, at 3 p.m. at the North Eules Baptist Church, in Eules. Steve Johnson, youth minister of the Immanuel Baptist Church of Abilene, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Duane C. Rogers, Eules. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. Myrlene Rogers, and Mr. and Mrs. Dois M. Ray, all of Big Spring.

Bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Brown, Lenox, Iowa.

The couple stood before a brass heart-shaped archway flanked by peach-colored bows, greenery and a unity candle. Paige Wilson, pianist, and Andrea Ray, vocalist, both of Big Spring, provided music for the ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a white organza gown featuring a V-neckline in front and back, accented with a ruffle of Chantilly lace. Short puff sleeves and the fitted bodice were adorned with Chantilly lace and pearl clusters.

The bride carried a bouquet of white and peach roses and white gardenias.

The maid of honor was Susan Bookheim, Bedford. Bridesmaids were Kim Morgan, Eules; Andrea Ray, a cousin of the bride, Big Spring; Antonette Haggard, a cousin of the bride, Lubbock; and Angie Brown, a niece of the groom, Clearfield, Iowa.

The flower girl was Audrey Johnson, the bride's cousin, Abilene; and the ringbearer was

MRS. RONALD BROWN
Formerly Kerri Rogers

Tyson Brown, the groom's nephew, De Soto, Iowa.

Jim Brown, of De Soto, Iowa, a brother of the groom, was best man. The groomsmen, who also acted as ushers, were Gary Brown, brother of the groom, Lenox, Iowa; Bill Brown, brother of the groom, Clearfield, Iowa; Daron Ray, cousin of the bride, Big Spring; and Brandon Rogers, brother of the bride, Eules.

A reception followed at the church. The bride's table was covered with a peach tablecloth and a white lace overlay. A three-tiered wedding cake was decorated with peach roses.

It was topped with a bride and groom figurine originally used on the wedding cake of the bride's parents.

Hernandez-Moreno

Lupe Hernandez, 1300 Lamar, and Martin D. Moreno, Fort Hood, exchanged wedding vows Sept. 3, 1988 at an 11 a.m. ceremony at Sacred Heart Catholic Church, with Rev. James P. Delaney, officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Elvira Hernandez, 1300 Lamar, and the late Deciderio Hernandez Sr.

Bridegroom's mother is Mrs. Elpidia Moreno, El Paso.

The couple knelt on white satin cushions before the altar, which was among arrangements of summer flowers.

Vocalists were Steve Chavez, Tommy Chavez, Melinda Hernandez, Norma Martinez and Mary Jane Salazar.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Steve Hernandez. She wore a white, floor-length gown of taffeta. The bodice was adorned with pearls, sequins and lace. Long sleeves were fashioned with rows of full ruffles, which matched her chapel-length train.

Her bridal veil was accented with a full band of pearls, forming a point on the forehead. The band was adorned with a white poinsettia and a mixture of silk, white flowers with hanging pearls, beads and flowers on the left. She wore pearl and diamond earrings, a gift from the groom.

The bridegroom was dressed in full military blues with full decorations.

She carried a bouquet of white poinsettias with a mixture of small, white, silk flowers, pearls, beads and ribbon. She also carried one single white rose with baby's breath, which she presented as a gift to Our Lady of Fatima at the church altar.

Maid of honor was Dolores Cisneroz.

Weddings

Huff-Martin

Amy LeVier Huff and Rodney Martin were united in marriage Aug. 19, 1988 in Las Vegas, Nev., with Rev. William Peterson, officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Willis LeVier.

Bridegroom's parents are Betty Pearson, and the late Wesley Martin.

The bride wore an ivory linen dress from the Miss Royale collection, fashioned with rhinestones across the shoulders and neckline.

She carried a bouquet of white roses, carnations, daisies and baby's breath. She wore a matching hairpiece.

The couple was honored at a poolside reception Sept. 10 at the home of A.J. and Debbie Pirkle. Approximately 100 guests were served a variety of hors d'oeuvres, desserts and drinks.

Hostesses for the event included A.J. and Debbie Pirkle, Willis and Dolores LeVier, Levi and Betty Pearson, Max and Kay Moore, Dick and Doris Miltstead, Clay and Mickie Harris, Gary Don Carey, Mike and Barbara Hall, Ben and Kay Bancroft, and Douglas Beams.

The bride is a graduate of Big

The bride is a graduate of Judson High School, Converse. She received a bachelor of business administration from the University of Texas at San Antonio, and is employed by Computerland.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Big Spring High School. He received a bachelor of landscape architecture from Texas Tech University, and is employed by Ford, Powell & Carson.

After a cruise to Nassau, and a trip to Walt Disney World and Epcot Center, Orlando, Fla., the couple will make their home in San Antonio.

Butler-Jones

Charquintyn (Chakie) Butler, 408 N.E. 11th St., and Johnny Ray Jones, Midland, were united in marriage Sept. 3, 1988 at a 5 p.m. ceremony in the Atrium Room at Holiday Inn, Lubbock, with Tony Garcia, minister of Church of Christ, officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Ruby Butler, 408 N.E. 11th St.

Bridegroom's parents are Pete and Arletha Jones, Sioux City, Iowa.

The couple stood before a double arch decorated with purple satin bows and greenery, flanked by a candelabra on either side.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Robert Clark, Big Spring. She wore a white satin gown, featuring a Victorian neckline, fitted bodice, Elizabethan sleeves, all trimmed with Venice lace. The full skirt was fashioned with lace ruffles and a chapel-length train.

She carried a bouquet of white silk carnations and roses with pink and purple satin ribbons.

Bridesmaid was Patricia Jones, Big Spring.

Flower girl was Constance Peppers, bridegroom's daughter, Lubbock.

Best man was Richard Jones, bridegroom's uncle, Lubbock.

Groomsman was Alvin McVea, bride's brother, Amarillo.

Ushers were Jerome Whitmore and Tim Evans, both of Lubbock.

Ringbearer was Jerome Mayberry, bride's nephew, San Angelo.

The couple will wed Sept. 24 at First Baptist Church, with Dr. Kenneth Patrick, officiating.

COUPLE TO WED — Mr. and Mrs. James R. Thurston, 4104 Bigler, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Debra Kay Thurston, Decatur, Ill., to Raymond (Terry) Scott, Decatur, Ill., son of Billy Joe and Betty Scott, West Monroe, La. The couple will wed Nov. 26 at Wesley United Methodist Church, with Rev. James Wilborn, officiating.

The later years can be among the most rewarding: Capitalize on your resources

Grandma Moses was painting at age 100, and Arthur Rubinstein gave one of his greatest recitals at Carnegie Hall when he was 89. While there isn't any magic formula for remaining active so long, Donna Dalton Hummel, Ph.D., author and teacher of development and aging in the Department of Psychology at Castleton State College in Vermont, says that if we can dispel the myths of aging, plan well for retirement, develop financial security and maintain a positive outlook on life, the later years can be among our most rewarding.

"Many sources of information and everyday assistance now exist to help older people," Hummel says. "Most are a telephone call away, but unless a person knows that the programs exist they are of no value."

"It's also important to recognize your fears and then to talk to someone about them," she points out. "We all deal better with fears if we can name them."

In some instances, the elderly are turning to alcohol to cope with loneliness and pain or for solace following the death of a spouse. Hummel says, "Widowers over the age of 73 have the highest rate of alcoholism in the country."

Engaged

DATE SET — D.W. and Jane Overman Jr., 2719 Larry Dr., announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Leslie, Abilene, to Craig Sanders, Abilene, son of Tom and Vicki Sanders, Abilene. The couple will wed Dec. 17 at Southern Hills Church of Christ, Abilene, with Bob Medford, deacon of South MacArthur Church of Christ, Irving, officiating.

Vacation driving warning: Avoid trouble by having oil changed, engine checked

The trunk is jammed, the kids are piled in, the "care" package is loaded with goodies, you're 882 miles away from home, and the oil light on your control panel is lighting up like a fireworks display on the Fourth of July. What do you do?

The automotive lubricating experts at Pennzoil Company, makers of quality Pennzoil Motor Oil, say there is only one thing to do — get to the side of the road and TURN OFF the ignition. Then, they say, have your car towed in for service.

Sign of trouble

The oil light indicates that the oil is not circulating in the engine. That's why, when your car is started, it lights up briefly as the oil begins to circulate. Pennzoil's engineers say that, if it lights while you are driving, and you continue to drive, your engine could burn up. And you'd be stranded!

So, if you're driving this vacation, take a tip from Pennzoil. Before leaving, change your oil and oil filter, and have your vehicle checked out. A broken-down vehicle won't get you very far. ☺

BEFORE HITTING THE OPEN ROAD, have your car checked out to make sure it's running properly, and change your vehicle's oil and oil filter, advise the experts at Pennzoil Company.

Women project themselves through their walk

A woman's walk can speak volumes about her personality, image, self-perception and even the kind of day she's having. In fact, the way a woman walks or the way her feet actually carry her may be saying a lot more than she thinks.

While high heels convey a sense of style, status and sexual attractiveness, they are often so uncomfortable that they carry her in the opposite direction of the image she wants to portray.

According to New York anthropologist Dr. Helen Fisher, certain gait or walks evoke responses based on universal stereotypes.

For example, listless walkers or walkers with a malingering, small-stepped gait convey a lack of self-assurance and subordination. Whether they're mincing along in Paris or Peoria, they frequently can be regarded by niggers as easy targets because their step lacks assurance, implies submissiveness and even fear.

Northern Alabama's John F. Kennedy Trail honors the past president's fitness programs

Extending through Etowah, Cherokee and DeKalb Counties of North Alabama, the John F. Kennedy Trail was coordinated by the Alabama Appalachian Association in honor of the past president and his physical fitness programs.

The 69.5 mile hiking trail was dedicated in 1983, on the 20th anniversary of the death of President Kennedy.

Noccalula Falls in Etowah County marks the beginning of the trail, and DeSoto Falls in DeKalb County marks its end. (Along its length, the trail connects Cherokee Rock Village Park, Yellow Creek Falls, Little River Canyon Mouth Park, Little River Canyon and Little River Falls in Cherokee County.)

The hiking attraction was a joint effort of the three counties through which it winds. Because of Kennedy's dedication to physical fitness and Alabama's desire to promote this scenic area, the idea of the trail was developed and put into action.

Noccalula Falls Park forms the southern terminus of the trail. The main attractions at the park include a botanical garden, pioneer village and a war museum. The trail begins at the J.F.K. Memorial near the Freedom Shrine building.

Along the trail, 19.75 miles northeast, is the Cherokee Rock Village Park. Enormous boulders of all shapes and sizes are found here. Some measure over 100 feet high. Weiss Lake, several states and the valley to the east can be seen from the park.

There are also numerous semi-caves and rock shelters, as well as the usual hallways, chimneys and natural bridges surrounding the area.

Yellow Creek Falls, 10 miles up the trail from the Rock Village, spills off the side of Lookout Mountain and can be seen behind the old Tennessee, Alabama, and Georgia Railroad bridge. Fish camps and water recreation are located there.

The waterfall runs directly into Weiss Lake, a huge body of water covering 36,000 acres and 426 miles of shoreline.

The southern portion of the trail ends with the Little River Canyon. This area is at the deepest gorge east of the Mississippi River.

Little River, with its crystal clear water, is unique in being formed and flowing for most of its length on top of a mountain. Its water purity and wilder character has led to the Little River's official designation as an Alabama Wild and Scenic River. Located at the mouth is a park containing rest rooms and modern camping facilities.

The area from the railroad bridge, following the south bank of Little River through the campground, is known locally as the Little River Canyon Trail.

Traveling northeast, 27.5 miles, hikers come to the Little River Falls area. Water dropping 60 feet to a large rock-encircled pool below, marks the beginning of the Little River Canyon.

About a half mile downstream, the river broadens over a wide rock shelf and drops another 10 feet over a ledge into another large "swimming hole."

Also on the northern portion of the trail is DeSoto State Park. This attraction contains nearly 5,000 acres, stretching from DeSoto Falls to Little River Canyon Mouth. It abounds with some of the most spectacular scenic beauty of the southeast. Its beginning is traced back to 1934, when private property owners donated land to the State for use as a park. Later, the Federal Government gave additional land for the same purpose. The park offers camping, cottages and chalets, a restaurant, country store and swimming.

DeSoto Falls, named after the explorer Hernando DeSoto, is at the northern terminus of the J.F.K. Trail.

This 120 foot waterfall is one of the most famous scenic and historic places in Alabama. A lake was formed by the dam built in 1925.

In addition to these stopping points along the 69.5 mile path, there are 17 scenic areas and parks dispersed along it.

In order to keep the entire area clean and in its natural state, regulations have been set by which hikers must abide.

For more information on the J.F. Kennedy Trail, contact Billy McDow at P.O. Box 309, Collinsville, AL 35961, (205) 524-2161, or Danny Crowder or Joe Barnes, P.O. Box 267, Gadsden, AL 35999, (205) 543-9870.

For more information on any attraction, special event or festival in North Alabama, contact the Alabama Mountain Lakes Association, P.O. Box 1075, Decatur, AL 35603, or telephone (204) 350-3500. ☺

BUSINESS & INDUSTRY REVIEW

Harris Cabinet Works started out as hobby

When Denver Harris retired from the railroad in 1983, he quietly opened up a shop to house his hobby — woodworking — and kept busy making cabinets and wood products for a select few friends.

His talent became so well-known — and his work so much in demand — that he decided it was time to make the change from hobby to business. His son, Gary, joined him in the enterprise in January.

Fine wood cabinetry for kitchen and bathroom is the firm's specialty, says Gary, but they also build furniture for home or office.

"People bring in pictures clipped from magazines," says Gary. "These are frequently items built from particle board, and the customer wants them made from solid wood."

Furniture they have constructed in the past include computer housing — hutches and desks; a 32-gun case with glass doors; free-standing and built-in bookcases.

One of the most unique jobs was a radial spoke wood-and-glass transom and sidelights for the front entrance of a renovated vintage home south of town.

"We also build dressers and night stands — and we'd like to build some water bed frames," says Gary.

The two men do all the finishing and trimming of everything built in the shop. If replacement cabinets are in order, they tear out the old ones and install the new. Cabinet jobs can include anything from adding doors to custom-designing and installing complete new cabinets. They also cut counter-tops and lay formica.

The shop — roomy and well-lighted — is equipped with thousands of dollars worth of specialty machines. There's a machine to make raised-panel doors, one to make drawers with dove-tail slots, and another to make the face (front) of cabinets, to name just a few.

Many accessories can be made to match your cabinets — lazy susan, potato bins and the like.

Their newest service is the capacity to supply and install cultured marble tops with integral sinks for bathrooms.

Gary advises that the shop can purchase materials at wholesale prices. "We can get anything on the market," he says. "We're trying to provide another choice in Big Spring for fine wood-working."

Harris Cabinet Works is located at 2810 FM 700. Business hours are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday.
