Sulphur Draw group studies water, funds

PAUL ALLEN

By SARAH LUMAN
Staff Writer

STANTON — The Sulphur Draw watershed study group — meeting for the first time — has begun planning a study of flooding and possible solutions in the watershed. Also being considered is the impact on Natural Dam Lake, Beal's Creek and Big Spring.

Howard County Commissioner Paul Allen was named vice chairman of the group by acclamation Thursday. The panel named Martin County Commissioners E.D. Holcomb, chairman, and Donald Tollison, secretary, by acclamation.

In a 3½-hour meeting — that sometimes sounded like an extended session of a county commissioners' court — the panel's members (five county commissioners and representatives from the city of Big Spring and the Colorado River Municipal Water District) discussed possible study funding with Texas Water Development Board representatives.

Reg Arnold, the board's executive administrator, also said the problems along Sulphur Draw are related to problems with Beal's Creek and Big Spring sewage treatment plant operations.

Dan Black, a financial analyst for the board, pointed out that loans are available — with interest rates varying from as low as 5 to as high as 8½ percent — for water development, sewage treatment, and flood control projects statewide through the sale of bonds.

In addition to those bond-sale-supported loans, the panel also may be able to garner funds from the board's 50-percent study grant — a prospect that caused Big Spring representative Tom Decell to raise the question of where the other 50 percent would come from.

As a direct result of his question, Holcomb and Decell discussed a proposal to have Decell contact the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers concerning possible expansion of its study of Beal's Creek upstream to beyond Natural Dam Lake.

CRMWD assistant general manager Rod Lewis told the group that the water district has already begun work to strengthen Natural Dam, which presently contains approximately 20,000 acre-feet of water. Once the work on the dam is finished, Lewis said, estimates are that the dam could contain 40,000 to 45,000 acre-feet of water, larger than Lake Colorado City.

But, he said, that would mean the Andrews Highway would be underwater. The lake peaked earlier this summer at almost 30,000 acre feet, Lewis said, an amount of water about equal to Lake Colorado City.

The water is of poor quality and high salt content, however, and is being released gradually into Beal's Creek; eventually the saltwater arrives in Lake E.V. Spence, from which CRMWD supplies water for the cities of Big Spring, Midland, Odessa and points between, CRMWD officials have said.

Allen expressed concern about the ability of Natural Dam, which is currently being strengthened by the district and has been nearly overtopped in the past, to indefinitely contain large amounts of water.

The group also heard from engineering representatives with the water development board, who offered to contract for construction of flood control projects once funding is available.

Big Spring representative D.D. Johnston raised the question of the group's authority and what it will be named, saying that those details are necessary for applying to the water board for funding and other assistance with the studies.

As a result, Jerry Tschauer of the Permian Basin Regional Planning Committee agreed to research the panel's legal responsibilities and provide an outline of the authority available under various names.

The group will meet again after information from Decell and Tschauer becomes available. SULPHUR page 3-A

Debate causes confusion

By MARIO CRISTALDI
Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Surrogates for the presidential candidates were concluding an informal debate here Thursday over health care and aging issues, when one woman in the audience asked George Bush's spokesman a complicated question.

Looking embarrassed, David Walker, an assistant U.S. labor secretary, apologetically admitted he didn't know Bush's stance on the issue. But surely the vice president would have a good answer, he quickly added.

"That's indicative of the kind of (Republican) campaign we've been seeing," grumbled the woman, a Massachusetts native and supporter of Democratic Gov. Michael Dukakis. Walker was a last-minute substitute for another Bush adviser and had earlier spoken forcefully — but vaguely — for the Bush candidacy.

But his inability to answer the question did say something about the forum sponsored by the National Council on the Aging, which represents thousands of older Americans and had clearly intended a substantive debate on health care and other issues affecting older Americans. Instead, the 90-minute talk reflected the general tenor of the long presidential battle — short on specifics and long on rhetoric.

Predicably, Walker and Dukakis surrogate Edward Howard both claimed their candidate has the better domestic policy blueprint for the future and is committed to affordable, equitable social programs. But they offered few specifics and often strayed from the assigned topic, favoring slogans over substance and, like the candidates themselves, dwelling heavily on ideological differences.

To underscore their respective candidates' virtues, Walker invoked Bush's call for a "kinder, gentler nation," while Howard echoed Dukakis' refrain of "good jobs at good wages." Accustomed to such campaign puffery, and perhaps grateful for the absence of ponderous technical detail on social programs, the audience of about 100 did not appear to feel shortchanged by the debate.

During his opening remarks, Walker pointed to various Reagan-era accomplishments, among them ELDERLY page 3-A

Kenny Gillespie, displaying one of his mules, will be the superintendent at the second annual Howard County Fair Mule Show Saturday at 6 p.m.

Mules None stubborn here, thanks

By STEVE GEISSEN
Staff Writer

Anyone who comes to the mule show at the Howard County Fair Saturday at 6 p.m. expecting to see stereotypical displays of stubbornness will likely be disappointed, said Kenny Gillespie, mule show superintendent.

But for people who enjoy the excitement of a good mule show — mules running at breakneck speed while pulling a rider sitting on a strip of cowhide, mule races featuring riders wearing bloomers, and jumping mules who can "leap like cats" — the local show won't disappoint, said Gillespie.

"A lot of people say mules are stubborn," he said. "But that's an old cliché, there's nothing to it. There won't be one stubborn mule at the show tomorrow."

The second annual Howard County Fair Mule Show will be divided into six categories: halter; western pleasure; the hide race; the bloomer race; the balloon bust; and run, saddle, ride and leap.

After the mule show, a goat-dropping and penning event is scheduled.

The halter and western pleasure are events in which the physical characteristics and obedience of the mules are judged, Gillespie said.

Two crowd favorites are the hide race and balloon bust, he said.

The hide race is an event in which contestants "make wild dives" onto cowhides tied to the saddles of racing mules, he said.

"The rider on the cowhide gets a pretty good ride. It's a pretty wild event."

The balloon race consists of a ring full of riders who have two balloons tied to their waist. The object of the event is for the riders to burst the balloons of their opponents and protect their balloons.

Gillespie expects about 30 entries in the mule show. Contestants are expected to come from such Texas towns as Andrews, Merkel, Snyder and Muleshoe as well as Stratford and Ada, Oklahoma. Most entrants will compete in several events, he said.

Generally, the people who enter mule shows are a different breed than people who enter horse shows, Gillespie said.

"Mule people are a little different clique than the horseman," he said. "Our stuff is not as commercialized. The old country boys can come to town and have as good a chance as winning as anybody."

All the animals in the event will mostly likely be true mules — a cross between a male donkey and a female horse, he said.

Gillespie said he doesn't expect to have any hinnies — a cross between a male horse and a female donkey — entered in the show.

He said none of the mules entered in the contest are pampered mules kept solely for show.

"After the show these boys will take their mules back and put 'em to work," he said. The mules typically will be used as mounts for general ranch work, and are also used in raccoon hunts.

Mules are "a lot harder than horses," he said. The donkey part gives him his hardiness, but it also takes away from his speed a little bit.

Nonetheless, race-track mule races are becoming more popular, said Gillespie. And some mules can leave horses in the dust.

Said Gillespie, "There are a lot of mules that a person wouldn't want to make his saddle horse race against — because he'd get beat."

Shooting testimony prompts Cantu revocation

By MICHAEL DUFFY
Staff Writer

District Judge James Gregg revoked the probation of a Big Spring man Thursday for his alleged participation in the July shooting of two women at a northside apartment complex and ordered him to serve 10 years in the Texas Department of Corrections.

Gregg ruled that Pedro Medez Cantu, 40, violated the terms of his 10-year probation on a 1987 aggravated assault conviction after listening to witnesses' testimony about a shooting incident during the early morning hours of July 15 at the Northeast Apartments, 1002 N. Main St.

Howard County District Attorney Rick Hamby said the probation revocation can be appealed. Cantu's attorney, Mike Thomas, was attending a seminar today and unavailable for comment.

Lydia Yanez, 39, testified Thursday morning that she and members of her family were outside their apartment when Cantu walked across the street with a pistol in his hand and began firing at her husband, Jimmy Yanez.

Yanez said she was wounded when Cantu began "shooting everywhere."

Shortly afterward, Yanez testified that she heard her daughter, Lizzie Franco, 20, screaming she had also been wounded by gunfire.

Yanez underwent surgery for her injuries. Besides Cantu, she identified George Armandariz and Adam Valencia as participants in the shooting.

Valencia was not charged in connection with the incident.

A warrant charging Cantu with two counts of aggravated assault was issued by Howard County Justice of the Peace Willie Grant on the day of the shooting. He was arrested by police at Scenic Mountain Medical Center after treatment for superficial gunshot wounds he suffered during the incident.

Gregg gave Cantu credit for 72 days served in jail.

Cantu shook his head and said "no" when asked by Gregg if he wished to make a statement after the ruling.

Following the hearing, Assistant District Attorney William Dale Dupree told Thomas "We didn't put on all of our case."

"You didn't have to convince me," Thomas responded.

When the shooting occurred, Cantu was serving a 10-year felony probation for the March 30 (Easter Sunday), 1986 shooting of

Denver talk angers astronauts

HOUSTON (AP) — Some NASA astronauts are angry over a briefing they were required to attend to hear singer-actor John Denver talk about his plans to fly on a Soviet space mission, the Houston Chronicle reported today.

Many NASA astronauts are said to oppose sharing space flights with the NASA employees preparing for the launch of the space shuttle Discovery, slated for Sept. 29.

The various sources, including astronauts who requested anonymity because of fears they may endanger their flight status, described the meeting with Denver as ranging from "hostile" to "cool" to "dynamic," the newspaper said.

Denver, who was rejected for a shuttle flight by NASA, has accepted an invitation extended to him by the Soviets to prepare for a possible flight.

Chief astronaut Dan Brandenstein said he allowed Denver to address the group because he felt they already knew of the popular singer's plans.

"There was a lot of stuff about John in the media, and hearsay, and I thought it would be worthwhile since our folks would probably be asked a lot about John's plans," Brandenstein said.

Officials look for cause of detour

MONTERREY, Mexico (AP) — Officials are investigating why five buses swept away by Hurricane Gilbert made a detour from their planned route into a riverbed, putting them in the path of the disaster in which at least 140 people died.

In a controversy dubbed by the local press as "the detour to death," state police said they were looking for reasons that the five buses detoured from their planned route, only to be swept into the raging waters Saturday morning.

"We're trying to understand why they were detoured there and who was responsible," said Gilbert Sanchez of the state police.

He said in a telephone interview that the buses that pass through Monterrey to other parts of the country normally would have been on a road nearly a mile from the riverbed.

Transit police from Monterrey and neighboring San Pedro apparently detoured the buses, but Sanchez said reports that they were detoured because of a gas leak had not been confirmed.

"It's under investigation," he said. "We're getting a lot of versions."

At least 5,000 families remained in shelters throughout northern Nuevo Leon state after last week's flash floods caused by Hurricane Gilbert destroyed homes in the normally dry Santa Catarina riverbed and near other flooded rivers, the government said Thursday.

Odessa business contests merger

MIDLAND, Texas (AP) — An Odessa businessman trying to stop the merger of two video store giants says the deal will cut into the profits of the franchises of the companies.

A request before the Securities and Exchange Commission proposes Blockbuster Entertainment Corp. of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., acquire Major Video Super Stores Inc. of Las Vegas, Nev., and make Major Video, a Blockbuster subsidiary.

But the plan is being contested by several Major Video franchisees, including Bobby Cox, an Odessa businessman who formerly owned a 53-store chain of fast-food Taco Villa restaurants, and his partner, Odessa accountant Roger Ellis.

Cox-allied lawyers on Wednesday and Thursday presented arguments and witnesses to U.S. District Court Chief Judge Lucius D. Bunton for an injunction to prevent the merger, which Cox and his cohorts claim will dwindle their profits.

Major Video, concentrated in West Texas, and Blockbuster, which has been focusing on the larger metropolitan markets, are rivals in the movie-video business and compete for business sites in the marketplace.

Federal judge charged with DWI

SHERMAN (AP) — A federal judge who presided at the drug trial of former Orange County Sheriff James Wade was charged with drunken driving Thursday.

U.S. District Judge Howell Cobb was charged with misdemeanor offenses of driving while intoxicated and public intoxication by Grayson County prosecutors on Thursday.

State Department of Public Safety troopers stopped for speeding Aug. 31. Cobb is scheduled to appear before Grayson County Court-at-Law No. 1 Judge Richard Pennell for arraignment Oct. 14.

Cobb presided over the trial in which suspended Orange County sheriff Wade was found guilty of drug-related charges earlier this week.

If convicted of a first-offense DWI, Cobb could face a maximum penalty of two years in jail and a $2,000 fine. The public intoxication charge carries a maximum penalty of a $200 fine.

Cobb was booked and released on $500 bond from the Grayson County Jail Wednesday, a few hours after a jury convicted Wade of nine federal charges including making and selling drugs.

Because Cobb refused to take a breath test designed to measure blood-alcohol content, DPS officials in Austin are beginning procedures to suspend his driver's license.

Drought responsible for fire ant invasion

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — Fire ants are setting up house in homes in a big way for the first time, possibly because of the current dry spell, says a Texas A&M University entomologist.

Not since fire ants invaded American soil some 60 years ago have they behaved as badly as they have this summer.

"They're behaving unusually bad this year," entomologist Brad Vinson said. "They are going into people's houses, into the kitchen, the bedrooms, even in the closets."

"They have entered people's homes in past years, but it's never been the kind of problem it has been this summer," Vinson said. "Either that, or people are just calling in a whole lot more."

Before this year's drought drove the pesky critters into our living rooms, fire ants were known mostly for entering a home during heavy showers. But they would eventually return to the outside, Vinson explained.

"In past summers when it got so hot and dry they retreated into the

Texas tax structure outdated, panel says

AUSTIN (AP) — A study committee on taxes, which says the Texas tax structure has not kept pace with the changing economy, plans to have its recommendations completed for the Legislature in early December.

Dan W. Cook III of Dallas, who heads the Select Committee on Tax Equity committee, said the panel hopes to have a proposed version of its recommendations by Nov. 28, with final action being taken Dec. 8.

His timetable was announced after the panel Thursday unanimously approved a report on problems with the state's current tax system, including some antiquated levies, hard-pressed local governments and an inability to keep pace with a changing Texas economy.

"The Texas tax system served the state well for two decades... But after 25 years, the system has developed serious problems," said the report. "The state economy has changed, but the tax system has not always kept pace."

The final report did note several problems. Among them:

- A tax structure that "places a heavier proportionate burden on low and middle income Texans than it does on those with higher incomes."
- Three major tax increases since 1984. The state has enacted a total of more than $14 billion in new taxes, fees and other revenue-generating moves since 1983.
- The state budget is "momentarily in balance" after a nearly $6 billion tax hike in 1987. "Still, the problems which created the need for that massive tax bill have not been fully addressed, and new challenges doubtlessly lie ahead," the report said.
- The corporate franchise tax, the state's major business tax. "Only 15 percent of the businesses operating in the state pay the franchise tax," it said, although it noted that those are the businesses which account for the majority of business activity.
- A heavy reliance on taxes based on volatile commodity prices.

Alleged victim: Rape was not first assault

SAN DIEGO, Texas (AP) — The alleged victim of a gang rape said it was not the first time the first defendant on trial in the case had sexually assaulted her.

The woman wrapped herself in a blue shawl, hugged a white stuffed toy animal while on the witness stand Thursday, and said she never consented to have sex with Orlando Garza.

"I was screaming and telling him (Garza) to stop" during the alleged gang rape, she said Thursday.

"He was holding my legs. I was trying to push him off."

Three days earlier, she said he entered her house and raped her while her baby's cries filled the home.

"When he was leaving, he said he would be back," the woman said in the third day of testimony in Garza's sexual assault trial.

Garza, who also faces an aggravated kidnapping trial, was indicted with nine other men in the case.

The woman broke down more than once during her graphic testimony of the night of March 26-27, when she said she was abducted, taken to a ranch north of town and raped repeatedly there and at two other locations.

Defense attorney Albert Pena worked to discredit her testimony by trying to show she was having an affair with Garza and was a drunk and willing sex partner the night of the alleged gang rape.

"How many other times did Orlando Garza rape you?" Pena asked her.

She answered "None."

Pena also asked why she did not report the alleged gang rape to police until several hours after one of the defendants dropped her off near her home.

"Because we didn't have a phone and I didn't know where to go," she answered.

"Isn't it true your husband didn't bring you down here until you slept it off?" Pena asked.

"I was not drunk," she answered.

The woman, who has moved from San Diego to an undisclosed location since reporting the incident because of alleged harassment, was accompanied by a nun and counselors from Crisis Services of Corpus Christi.

Court upholds pit bull ordinance

RICHARDSON (AP) — A state district judge has ruled that this Dallas suburb can set strict requirements for the owners of pit bull terriers.

Judge Merrill Hartman Thursday ruled against six pit-bull owners who had filed suit against the city saying the ordinance unfairly discriminated against a particular breed.

The decision will be appealed, said Charles Yull, attorney for the dog owners.

Pit-bull owner David Dailey said he does not want to have to keep Princess, his 51-pound American Staffordshire terrier, leashed and muzzled when the dog is outside its pen.

Dailey, a veterinary hospital manager, said he feels discriminated against and added that the temperament of a pit bull, like that of any other dog, depends on the owner.

"I don't feel that this is a vicious dog," he said of Princess. "I feel the popularity of the breed is really what hurt them. They got into the hands of the wrong owners."

The ordinance requires owners of any pit bull terrier to keep the dog confined either in the house or in an enclosed structure. When the dogs are not in a confined area registered with the city, they must be muzzled and leashed, the owner must have $50,000 in liability insurance and must post signs warning that a pit bull is in the area.

Violation of the ordinance can result in a fine as high as $1,000 for each offense.

The ordinance, which went into effect in January, was approved by the City Council a year ago, following a series of pit-bull attacks on people and pets in the Dallas area and across the country.

City officials said they believed the courts would strike down a total ban.

Aide denies Bush discussed money laundering with Noriega

WASHINGTON (AP) — A top aide to Vice President George Bush says the Republican presidential nominee complained to a high-level Panamanian official about drug-money laundering during a visit five years ago but did not discuss it with Gen. Manuel Antonio Noriega.

"This story is something we've discussed before. It's not something we've attempted to hide," Fuller said. Later, Fuller said again "it is not news" and said the Bush campaign wanted to "clear up any lingering questions" before Sunday's debate with Democrat Michael Dukakis.

He said Espriella assured Bush at the meeting that his government would step up "efforts to try to curtail this laundering."

Fuller also denied an allegation that Noriega had information — on alleged training of Nicaraguan Contra soldiers in Panama — with which he planned to blackmail the vice president.

Fuller said, "That's a foolhardy notion. We don't believe he's blackmailing us."

Diaz and Jose I. Blandon, a former senior intelligence officer in Panama, were quoted as saying Noriega claims to have pictures and tape recordings that would link Bush or his aides to secret training of Nicaraguan rebels.

From October 1984 to October 1986, U.S. law prohibited any U.S. government aid to the Contras in their fight to topple Nicaragua's leftist Sandinista government. The documentary did not say when the pictures were taken nor when the tape recordings were made.

"We have learned that as early as 1983... George Bush sat down with Gen. Noriega to complain about the laundering of drug money in Panama," reporter Julian Manyon said on the Thames Television program, which was screened for reporters Wednesday.

Manyon said the meeting raised "important questions" about Bush's contention the administration acted as soon as it learned of allegations against Noriega concerning the laundering of drug profits.

In an interview from Venezuela Diaz said he once saw Noriega examining photographs that apparently showed Contras being secretly trained in Panama under an arrangement with Lt. Col. Oliver North, the White House aide dismissed over the Iran-Contra affair in which profits from arms sales to Iran were funneled to the Contras.

Accident

BIG SPRING — Cosme A. Ramirez, 55, 800 N. Scurry St., was arrested about 6:30 p.m. Thursday after the 1977 Ford LTD he was driving crashed into a City of Big Spring pickup that was legally parked at 1314 Stadium Ave., according to police reports. He was arrested on charges of driving while intoxicated, no driver's license and failure to maintain financial responsibility, reports stated.

Cantu

Ramon Calderon at Comanche Trail Park.

He was indicted by a Howard County grand jury on a charge of attempted murder, but was convicted instead of aggravated assault on March 18, 1987.

Calderon suffers permanent blindness as a result of a shotgun blast fired by Cantu, according to district court records of trial testimony.

Moments before he shot Ramon in the face, Cantu testified he intentionally shot Ramon's brother, Enrique Calderon, according to published reports.

Cantu's two children were in the car he was driving through the park when the Calderons began making verbal comments to him and approached the vehicle, court records stated.

Called by Thomas to testify at the hearing Thursday morning, George Armendariz, 23, Odessa, invoked his Fifth Amendment rights against self-incrimination.

Armendariz — who has also been charged with two counts of aggravated assault in connection with the wounding of Yanez and Franco — was returned to Big Spring to testify on warrants from the Texas Department of Corrections.

He surrendered to the Ector County sheriff's department on July 25 in connection with a January 1987 assault with a deadly weapon conviction.

An Ector County jury convicted Armendariz of the charge on Jan. 7, 1987, although he appealed the decision and was released on bond three weeks later.

He was arrested again April 27 on charges of delivery of cocaine and unlawfully carrying a weapon. Those charges are still pending.

The appeal on the assault with a deadly weapon conviction was denied this year and an arrest warrant was issued for Armendariz. He is currently serving the two-year sentence.

Howard County District Attorney Rick Hamby said today he was unsure whether Cantu will stand trial on the two counts of aggravated assault.

"I hope to have a clearer picture later today or early next week after I meet with his attorney," he said.

Holcomb said. He specified that the group would meet again within at least 30 days "because if we let it go longer than that we are letting this thing lag and letting it die."

Morris Wilkes, aide to Texas Senator John Montford, D-Lubbock, was also present and promised help through the senator's office to assist the group in any way possible with funds searches. He also said the senator's office will coordinate the group's work with the state highway department.

Flooding in the watershed has been blamed for repeated washouts of county and state roads, damage to croplands and farm homes, and damage to personal property. Martin County Judge Bob Deavenport estimated that losses in Martin County amount to 10,000 acres of cropland.

Howard County Commissioner O.L. (Louis) Brown also attended, as did Dawson County Commissioner Rudy Arredondo, Nestor Hernandez and Alvin Riddle, representing the Martin County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service and Soil Conservation Service respectively, also attended.

Riddle and Hernandez told the panel that funds for individual farm conservation projects were available through the ASCS and SCS offices and federal farm programs. Hernandez said some $20,000 in conservation funds had been returned to the federal government from Martin County this year — because no one applied for them.

Tillery resigns to accept new position

F Leroy Tillery, executive vice president of the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce for the past nine years, announced his resignation at a hastily called new conference Friday morning at the chamber office.

Tillery said his resignation is effective immediately.

He said he has accepted the position of economic development director of the Weatherford/Parker County Joint Economic Development Cooperative in Weatherford and will begin work Oct. 1.

"This is a good opportunity. I've been looking at several opportunities. This is the first one I looked at and the one I really wanted."

Chamber President Clyde McMahon Jr. expressed surprise when informed by a reporter of Tillery's resignation, but said he has done an "excellent job" and "will be hard to replace."

"We have more active chamber LEROY TILLY members on our committees now than ever before," McMahon said, a fact he credited to Tillery's leadership.

Tillery advised that his new responsibilities will be similar to those in Big Spring, however, he will be concentrating fulltime on economic development.

He tersely said "no" when asked if he had any regrets about leaving Big Spring.

As part of his duties, Tillery said he will be working jointly with city and county officials, along with private business, on economic development plans.

"I'm looking forward to this challenge and opportunity and making sure growth is an organized and desirable growth," he said. Tillery's office will be located in the Weatherford Chamber of Commerce building, he said.

McMahon said there are no immediate plans to replace Tillery, but the chamber's board of directors will meet soon to organize a search committee.

Before coming to Big Spring, Tillery served as assistant manager of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce and was recently appointed to a two-year term on the Texas Industrial Development Council.

Police beat

A 55-year-old Big Spring man was arrested Thursday night on charges of driving while intoxicated, no driver's license and failure to maintain financial responsibility after the vehicle he was driving struck a parked car, according to police reports.

Cosme A. Ramirez, 800 N. Scurry St., was arrested after he struck a legally parked car in the 1300 block of Stadium Avenue about 6:30 p.m., reports stated.

In a separate accident, a mother and daughter suffered minor injuries in a one-vehicle accident in a convenience store parking lot, according to reports.

Teresa Lynn Sparks, 20, and her four-year-old daughter, of Whitesands, N.M., were injured when the car Sparks was driving struck a guy wire in the parking lot of Town & Country Food Store, 1100 North Lamesa Highway, shortly before 5:30 p.m. Thursday, reports stated. Big Spring police also reported investigating the following incidents:

• A man who resides at the Northcrest Apartments, 2001 N. Main St., reported unknown persons stole items valued at $315.

• A woman who resides in the 2100 block of Morrison Drive reported unknown persons took a swimming pool liner valued at $1,600.

• In a story about a traffic accident involving cars driven by Gary Melcher Rodriguez and Big Spring Patrol Officer John Stowers it was incorrectly reported Stowers unit was traveling north in the left lane in the 500 block of North Lamesa Highway. In fact, Stowers vehicle was traveling in the right lane when the collision and alleged illegal turn occurred.

Sheriff's log

Howard County Sheriff's Department officers report the following incidents as of 9 a.m. today:

• Gary M. Rodriguez, 18, was released on $1,000 personal recognizance bond. Rodriguez, 104 N.W. Seventh St., was arrested by city police on charges of driving while intoxicated.

• James Walker Jr., 24, 707 W. Seventh St., was sentenced to 10 years' deferred adjudication probation in 118th District Court Thursday after pleading guilty to delivery of marijuana.

• Carlos Vega, 26, 405 Benton St., was released on bonds totaling $1,200. He had been arrested by city police on charges of assault and resisting arrest.

• Sara Heredia, 23, 1207 Young St., was released on $500 bond. She had been arrested by city police on charges of resisting arrest.

• David Timmons, 27, 111 Grant St., was released on modified conditions of his probation for delivery of a controlled substance.

• Shawn Marcus Cooley, 20, 311

W. Sixth St., was sentenced to 10 years' probation and ordered to pay $2,325 restitution after pleading guilty in 118th District Court to possession of a controlled substance.

• John Bruce Gay, 30, 1425 E. Sixth St., No. 28, was sentenced to six years' probation after pleading guilty in 118th District Court to burglary of a building.

• James Hale, 36, Gail Rt., was released on bonds totaling $9,000 Thursday. He had been arrested on charges of felony failure to stop and render aid, driving while license suspended and no insurance.

• Cosme Ramirez, 48, 800 N. Scurry St., was released on $1,000 bond. He had been arrested by city police on charges of driving while intoxicated.

• Coahoma High School coach Kim Nichols reported that someone took an unspecified amount of money from school lockers between 7 p.m. and 7:15 p.m. Thursday.

A kind word for the liberal arts

The humanities, in college and out, often are considered soft courses. Parents and career counselors frequently urge students to spurn majors in literature, philosophy, history or religious studies. Majors in business, law and medicine are so much more practical, the advice goes.

The advice is taken, as Lynne Cheney, chairman of the National Endowment for the Humanities, points out in her newly released report, "Humanities in America." She notes that only one in 16 students is majoring in the humanities today compared with one in six 20 years ago. One in every four students is majoring in business.

Those are troubling statistics for people who believe, as Cheney does, that the humanities enrich lives. They also are troubling for those who know that liberal arts majors who venture into business or the professions are likely to bring qualities of judgment and perspective they might not have gained from a narrower undergraduate focus.

The statistics also remind us of the vital role the humanities play in a kaleidoscopic culture. Any culture, particularly one as dynamic and restless as this one, needs an ever-renewing acquaintance with the ideas and ideals that bind the culture together. That's what an awareness of history and philosophy, literature and languages — the humanities — can offer a people.

Ironically, the decreasing interest in the humanities as an undergraduate major may be nourishing a growing interest in humanistic learning as an adult avocation. More and more people outside the academy, Cheney maintains, are taking advantage of burgeoning opportunities to engage in literary, philosophical and historical study.

Museums, libraries, educational television, state humanities programs and college-extension offerings in the humanities are becoming what Cheney calls "parallel schools." Books that are challenging and substantive — Paul Kennedy's "The Decline and Fall of the Great Powers" and Allan Bloom's "The Closing of the American Mind," for example — now appear regularly on best-seller lists.

More money on cultural events than on sporting events. To some extent, that could be because dance, theater and other cultural offerings cost more these days, as cultural organizations try to make up for cuts in government funding.

Without question, however, interest has increased. Cheney mentions that, between 1957 and 1987, attendance at the National Gallery of Art in Washington, D.C., is up 660 percent. Increased government subsidies would allow cultural institutions to reach an even broader spectrum of Americans eager to experience this nation's rich and diverse cultural offerings.

The impression Cheney leaves with her report, and we suspect it's a valid one, is that the humanities are thriving everywhere but on campus. As student interest lags, academic overspecialization continues; there's sure to be a correlation.

The challenge for Lynne Cheney and others devoted to "the pleasures of the mind" is to persuade academic humanities scholars that their work has meaning and significance to the larger community.

And now, a word from the women

By LYNN HAYES, SARAH LUMAN and KAREN MCCARTHY Staff Writers

For self protection, the three of us full-time women in the newsroom have to spend a lot of time Reagan-watching — Steve Reagan, that is. Otherwise, he might do something silly, like a review of Cosmopolitan. (Such as that which appeared in the Sept. 15 Herald.)

Actually, we don't object to the review. It's the ribald comments he makes as he leans back with his feet on the desk and looks at the lingerie ads.

If we were really serious about retaliation, we'd buy a Penthouse or a Playboy and make our own ribald comments. However, we've decided that this would be undignified and petty — and besides, the best ads for men's underwear are usually in women's magazines.

We used to think ads for men were placed in women's magazines because we generally get stuck with the shopping. Now we know it's because the advertisers realize men read Cosmo, etc., too.

Lacking an article on "what women talk about when they talk about men," we decided to pool our resources and tell our readers — and Steve — what we say about men.

First of all, we deny that we spend a lot of time analyzing men. Karen says when she reaches the point of talking about the direction a relationship is taking, she's looking for a painless way to end it.

Women prefer a clear-cut ending — agreed to by both parties — to a "I'm tied up for a few days but I'll call you Friday" copout from some jerk we never hear from again.

According to Sarah, men seem to divide themselves into two groups: the ones worth a second glance, and the rest.

Fortunately, four of the men with whom we must work in close confines every day belong to the first category. Unfortunately, there are five men.

Really Fantastic Men, alas, are few and far between. Many come from a rural background — men who work and live on the land, one day at a time. Most, if not all of them, are older than 30. They've had time to gain experience and they don't take themselves too seriously. The reason they're not plentiful is because anyone who gets one certainly tries to hang on to him.

We have a list of qualities women most want and admire in men. Not too surprisingly, our list is very similar to the men's list Steve quoted.

No one would disagree with intelligence, humor, self-reliance, beauty and sex appeal. We look for the same things in our women friends, for heaven's sake. They are ideal human characteristics.

We all want men who are at least as intelligent as we think we are. Maybe it's more a matter of being on the same wave length — people who's outlook on life is similar to your own are generally more appealing.

Humor is nice in any relationship, but maybe good-nature is more important. We don't want men who take themselves too seriously or who force us to be too serious. We like easy-going men with a positive attitude about life.

Self-reliance means men who are not only able to support themselves and their share of the household, but who are able to cope with the little problems that for generations women got stuck with. For instance: calling the plumber, changing the diapers, taking off work with the sick child, cooking the meals, even doing their share of scrubbing the bathroom.

Beauty was the one area we could not agree on, except that it is more an attitude than a physical characteristic. Basic cleanliness we insist on, and a certain amount of grooming, but other than that we don't much care.

And sex appeal — that's a matter of chemistry. Just look at who your friends find sexy.

Like Lynn says, the future of humanity is in our hands. We basically look for a partner who we can trust to share the responsibility with. So we add another characteristic that we all think is real important — dependability.

Obviously our expectations aren't outrageous. We all have (had, will have again) men in our lives whom we think fit in the Really Fantastic Men category.

And fellows, we really do enjoy you.

Councilwoman 'sets record straight'

To the editor: On September 16th a letter appeared by Mrs. Nell Draper about chickens in the city limits and my determination to enforce an ordinance on the books. You guessed wrong Mrs. Draper there are too many ordinances on the books that are not being enforced and I don't understand why more are added. That is to say "Why make an ordinance that will never be enforced?" Doesn't this baffle you?

Today Wednesday, September 21, 1988 an article, Residents cry "fowl" and AGAIN I was quoted as saying: "If there's an ordinance against it, why waste the council's time? We decided we are going to stand by the ordinance."

Since Mrs. Draper and all these other concerned citizens have not bothered to check the record and since none of my colleagues on the council have made their vote known let me take you through the start of this controversy. It started when Mr. Hernandez (I believe) came before the council for a permit to keep fowl. I moved that we accept the application at which point Mrs. Earls raised the objection stating that she believed that if an ordinance was on the books it should be enforced or else there was no reason to have any ordinance. I then proceeded to explain how acceptations had been made in the past to which she replied: "Not while I'm on the council!" A vote was taken. I was the ONLY councilmember who voted against denying the permit.

The quote in Wednesday's and preceding articles would lead all Big Spring citizens and these non-attending concerned citizens to believe that I was against it from the start when the truth of the whole matter was that I was the ONLY one in favor of granting the permit.

The comments came on the heel of the following meeting when a request for the same (fowl) came up.

What was said was to reinforce what the majority of the council had voted to do away with at the previous meeting. Doesn't it make sense? Why present the council with something they have already decided they will no longer accept? Why petition for something that will never again be excepted?

I am very disappointed with the media's coverage of this — when a reporter is always there and knows exactly what transpires and in essence allows the innocent to be wrongly judged. Mr. Wise, why didn't you present the proposal to me? I have been for it from the start. Could it be I'm a councilmember but live on the wrong side of town? This kind of action should make a lot of people understand why I say "My constituency" because there are those in other parts of our "fair minded what's best for the whole community" city who want no part of this segment of the community, from its councilmember to the residents living within that district.

PAT DEANDA Councilwoman 809 Aylford

Editor's note: The quote Mrs. Deanda is referring to initially appeared in a story that ran in the Aug. 30 edition of the Big Spring Herald. The story focused on an ordinance that prohibits keeping swine or fowl within city limits and the council's decision to enforce the ordinance uniformly. The comments attributed to Mrs. Deanda in the story were the result of a Herald reporter's conversation with the councilwoman — not statements made at a specific city council meeting. The quote that appeared in the the Sept. 21 story was taken from the Aug. 30 story. Given the limited space requirements, not every issue the council discusses can be reported on. It is not the Herald's intention for "the innocent to be wrongly judged."

His fear of flying

By LEWIS GRIZZARD

All of us who fly — even the bravest and the most experienced — had to share some of the same feelings when we heard the sickening news a Delta 727 had crashed and burned and killed some people as it tried to take off at the Dallas-Fort Worth airport.

I flew out of DFW a few weeks ago. On a Delta 727.

We remembered all our own takeoffs and landings and we wondered if one day, on some airplane, at some airport, it might happen to us.

I joke about this sometimes — only now it doesn't seem like so much of a joke.

Ever notice how everybody reads on an airplane? They're looking down at either a newspaper, a book or a magazine. But you know what? I've never seen anybody turn a page during takeoff.

The plane's nose is turned toward the runway. There's the first sound of the engine being revved.

And that sound becomes a whine, gets louder and louder, and the increasing speed pushes you back into your seat.

There's that enormous sense of power, and then the nose of the airplane pulls upward and, please, God, let the rest of us follow.

We have all had to wonder if we're actually going to get airborne or is something going to happen.

Will all that power and speed and lift suddenly vanish and will the ground come up to slam us all to a fiery death?

I heard one of the crash survivors on TV:

"We were going down the runway, like usual," she said, "and then you just knew something bad was going to happen."

(I also heard the Delta public relations guy talking to reporters. He was talking about Delta's overall outstanding safety record. I wanted to tell him to sit down and shut up. People were dead.)

I fly more than 90 percent of the rest of the flying public. I lost count of my frequent flier points years ago.

But from 1970 until 1978, I would not — under any circumstances — get into an airplane. I was terrified of flying.

In the late 1940s, my mother, who was critically ill, was flown from Fort Smith, Ark., to Washington on an Army hospital plane. It was her first — and only — flight, and it took 12 hours and she was strapped on a stretcher and she was terrified.

She passed that terror on to me, and in 1970 I decided I no longer could stand the fear I felt in an airplane.

But there came a time in 1978, when I was 32 years old, I had to make a decision. Either I had to start flying or I had to get into another line of work.

The world is geared to air travel. It runs on jet time.

With a little help — from very good friends at Delta, I might add — I began to fly again.

I understand what the statistics say. But I also understand there is no such thing and there never will be such a thing as a fail-safe airplane.

I'd like to stop flying.

But I can't and neither can you. We never will know another time when there will be a mode of transportation faster or more convenient than some sort of air travel.

So, in the wake of the late August crash and all the others before it, what do we do?

We continue to play the odds, and the odds are in our favor. After the Delta crash, a business associate said to me, "You want to fly to Birmingham next week or drive?"

"Let's drive," I said. "It'll be just one less flight I'll ever have to take."

House passes harsh drug bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House adopted legislation that could make Americans pay dearly for possessing a single marijuana cigarette or a small bag of cocaine, and the Senate must decide whether to follow suit.

The drug-fighting bill passed the House on a bipartisan 375-30 vote Thursday, after minority Republicans molded the legislation to target drug users for special punishment.

Those who consider themselves recreational users could, under the bill: lose student loans, public housing and other federal benefits; face civil penalties of up to $10,000 for each drug possession violation; and have their drivers' licenses suspended if their states participate in a proposed drug enforcement grant program.

EPA wants to increase recycling

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Environmental Protection Agency believes it can increase the proportion of garbage and trash recycled by Americans from 10 percent now to 25 percent over the next four years.

It hopes to do so through a grab-bag of initiatives that include advertising campaigns, exhortation to industry to reduce waste through manufacturing methods and package design, planning help for states and municipalities, stepped-up research and studies, and economic incentives.

EPA's new garbage strategy, introduced Thursday, was drafted by a special agency task force over the past seven months to be exposed to public comment at hearings this fall.

Garbage "is on top of us," increasing in volume at 2 percent per year at the same time large sections of the country are running out of landfill space, J. Winston Porter, EPA's assistant administrator, said.

Of 160 million tons a year — 3.5 pounds per day for every man, woman and child, which is a pound more than what West Germans produce — about 80 percent is buried in landfills. EPA wants to reduce that to 55 percent in 1992.

House supports sanctions on Iraq

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bipartisan House majority is ready to ignore objections by the Reagan administration and approve legislation imposing sanctions on Iraq for its alleged poison-gas attacks against Kurdish villages.

Sanctions legislation cleared the House Foreign Affairs Committee on a voice vote Thursday after senior Republicans told administration officials there is strong support for it.

One official, Peter Burley, deputy assistant secretary of state for Middle Eastern affairs, told the panel the Reagan administration believes the sanctions legislation is "premature."

Armored car robbed of $200,000

NEW YORK (AP) — Two Brink's armored car guards were held up at gunpoint and robbed of about $200,000 during a routine pickup at a Brooklyn car dealership, police said.

No one was injured in the daylight robbery Thursday at Bay Ridge Toyota, said police spokesman Sgt. John Clifford.

A short time before the afternoon stickup, two men were browsing at the rear of the showroom among the new cars, Clifford said. As they were shopping, two armed guards from Brink's entered the business to pick up its receipts, leaving a third Brink's guard in the armored truck, he said.

The two "browsers" pulled guns and held up the two guards, taking their .38-caliber pistols and a money bag containing an estimated $200,000 in cash and checks, Clifford said.

CHICAGO — Paramedics remove the body of Clemie Henderson, 40, from Moses Montefiore School Thursday after Henderson killed four people in a shooting spree. Henderson was killed in the school building by a wounded police officer.

Unemployed veteran kills four in Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — An unemployed beautician bent on killing "everybody I see" shot to death an auto parts store owner and his manager, a school custodian and a policewoman before a wounded officer struggled to his feet and killed the gunman.

Clemie Henderson, described by friends and relatives as a man who had been emotionally disturbed since serving in Vietnam, died Thursday as he stalked a West Side school near the store.

Henderson, 40, had been charged at least nine times between 1971 and last month for such offenses as battery, marijuana possession and disorderly conduct, Martin said.

Family members said Henderson had been on medication for a psychiatric illness he developed in Vietnam, the Chicago Tribune reported today.

Armed with a .38-caliber revolver and nearly three dozen rounds of ammunition, Henderson walked into the Comet Auto Parts store Thursday morning and opened fire, Martin said.

The store's owner, John Van Dyke, 41, and manager, Robert Quinn, 26, were killed. Henderson missed a third worker, who pretended to be hit and fell to the ground.

Henderson fled out a side entrance and shot a city garbage collector, Laplose Chestnut Jr., 34, in the hand as he headed toward the school across the street. Chestnut was in fair condition today at Cook County Hospital, said spokeswoman Wanda Robertson.

Minutes later, Henderson shot and killed Arthur Baker, 33, a custodian at Moses Montefiore Public School.

Rival governments vie for power

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Leaders canceled another effort to elect a new president as Lebanese awakened today to life under rival Christian and Moslem governments.

The sectarian strife threatened to reignite a 13-year civil conflict that has taken more than 130,000 lives.

Today's scheduled session of Parliament to elect a new chief of state was called off after President Amin Gemayel named an interim military government led by a Christian. The Maronite Catholic president announced the caretaker Cabinet on Thursday night — five minutes before his six-year term expired.

Moslem leaders branded his move a virtual coup and vowed support for the existing Moslem-led Cabinet.

The denunciations came Thursday on a day of renewed religious violence. Three leaders of the main Shiite Moslem militia, Amal, were assassinated earlier.

Though Gemayel's move was aimed at assuring a measure of unity in the crisis, it initially appeared to have the opposite effect. Three Moslem appointees immediately refused to serve in the Cabinet.

Leftist rebels attack army post

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — Leftist rebels attacked an army post with mortars and catapult-launched dynamite, killing at least 15 soldiers in what appeared one of the most successful guerrilla operations in recent months.

Eleven guerrillas were killed and 11 soldiers were wounded in the attack in eastern Morazan province, according to a communique issued by the Armed Forces Press Office.

The raid on the army post began an hour after guerrillas lifted a road traffic ban that had paralyzed most transportation nationwide since Monday. In lifting the ban, the rebels called on supporters to step up sabotage of vehicles that had ignored the measure.

Marxist-led rebels of the Farabundo Marti National Liberation Front have fought the the U.S.-backed centrist government for nearly nine years. About 65,000 people, mostly civilians, have been killed.

One man missing in oil rig fire

ABERDEEN, Scotland (AP) — Fire broke out on a North Sea drilling rig Thursday near the site of history's worst oil disaster, and one man was reported missing, officials said.

The Royal Air Force and the Ministry of Defense said 66 of the 67 workers aboard the rig were rescued.

One of the rescued men suffered minor injuries during the incident aboard the Ocean Odyssey rig, 138 miles east of Aberdeen, officials said. The cause of the blaze was not immediately known.

Energy Minister Peter Morrison ordered a full investigation into the fire, which occurred 110 miles southeast of the Piper Alpha platform where 167 men died July 6.

Homeless

Efforts continue to help those who are in need

GALVESTON — Volunteer Paulette Leet prepares leftovers for another meal recently at the Daily Bread, a Galveston center for the homeless that serves about 2,000 meals daily. Stores and restaurants have donated a great deal of the food to help.

GALVESTON (AP) — Like many other 1-year-olds, Erica Kelley wants a warm meal and to snuggle close to her mother; unlike other 1-year-olds Erica is homeless and has a mother who is pregnant. A free meal at the Daily Bread is her main source of food. The Daily Bread reaches out to Erica and nearly 2,000 other homeless people in Galveston, said Ted Hanley, associate director of the center. Daily Bread does more than give a free meal to the homeless, it also helps bring them back into society, he said.

As Erica looks about the immaculately clean shelter she may not notice the hard work of many volunteers who donate food, materials and their time to help Galveston's downtrodden. As she plays patty cake with the men in the shelter she may not know the tales of woe that brought them to skid row.

Unlike most homeless people it wasn't mental illness, drug abuse or alcoholism that threw little Erica onto the streets. The children of the homeless are often secondary victims of their parents' misfortunes, Hanley explained.

Erica's mother, Tina Kelley, said she takes her daughter to the Daily Bread to shield her from the hot sun.

Grocery stores and restaurants have donated a great deal of food to help the destitute, so there is usually more than enough food at the center. But there is a great need for donations of clothing and of cleaning supplies, he said.

The center also needs about $15,000 to renovate their garage so they can store and collect more food. Volunteers are also needed to help with food preparation, transportation, office work, cleaning and many other tasks, Hanley said.

Cleaning supplies are in great demand, Hanley said. He noted that since many of the people coming to the center are ill it is necessary to keep the building clean to prevent the spread of disease.

About 85 percent of Galveston's homeless are adult men. Mental illness and substance abuse are the primary reasons they are on the streets, Hanley said.

"The Daily Bread will not help others commit suicide," Hanley said.

If the staff determines a person is using the free meals provided by the center as a crutch to stay on the streets, workers may discuss the problem but the center will not turn away a person in need.

Many people think homeless people come to Galveston from the North to escape the winter, but this does not appear to be true because the Daily Bread serves many more people during the summer, Hanley said.

But, he said, many homeless families are attracted to Galveston because they think they can live in their vehicles on the beach.

James Bredehoeft, a homeless Galvestonian, said he comes to the Daily Bread because of the fine meals provided and for companionship.

The crippled former Houston welder said it often gets lonely living and sleeping on beaches, sand combing the seawall for discarded cans. Bredehoeft said he likes the center because the people are clean.

Free showers are just one of the services provided by the Daily Bread, Hanley said.

"We try to treat everyone here with dignity," Hanley noted that many places serving the homeless are dirty and unattractive, but the Daily Bread is kept clean and cheerful. Unlike soup kitchens, people do not line up to be served. They must make a reservation and they will be served at their table.

In addition to feeding people the center also helps the homeless by making them face their problems, Hanley said. Many of the people served by the Daily Bread are unwilling to admit they have a problem. Excuses such as "I was robbed of all my money and thrown out on the street," are common, he said.

The addicts are directed toward drug rehabilitation centers and the mentally ill are often directed toward mental health programs. In addition to helping people find a place to live, the Daily Bread also can find medical treatment for the homeless, Hanley said.

Homeless people with cancer, AIDS and other diseases come to the Daily Bread, Hanley said. The Daily Bread often helps these people find a place to live after their treatment.

WASHINGTON — The government is back in the business of selling thousands of single-family houses to the highest bidder, but human rights groups are demanding that they be used to shelter the nation's homeless.

Department of Housing and Urban Development officials said Thursday they expect sale contracts to be signed for 2,500 houses within the next few days, and most such sales are to families with low-to-moderate incomes.

About 27,000 HUD-owned houses across the country went back on the market Thursday morning, following U. S. District Judge Oliver Gasch's refusal to extend a ban on their sale. Contracts on the 2,500 were almost ready to be signed when Gasch issued a temporary restraining order three weeks ago.

HUD houses average $45,000 and are being sold in nearly every state, although very few are available in the Northeast or in areas where houses sell for more than $100,000, said Jim Nistler, HUD deputy assistant secretary.

"We are deeply disappointed," said Florence Roisman, counsel for the National Housing Law Project, which has sued to stop sale of the 7,000 houses monthly that HUD acquires through default of Federal Housing Administration-backed loans.

"We consider that when the government owns empty homes and millions of children are growing up in ugly, hurtful, deprived environments, both law and common decency require that the government should use those homes to house those families," Ms. Roisman said.

A National Academy of Sciences report released Monday estimated there are more than 100,000 children among 735,000 homeless on any given night. HUD puts the total number of homeless people at 450,000, while advocacy groups say there are as many as 3 million.

Government lawyers argued that stopping the HUD home sales would bankrupt the FHA's home mortgage insurance fund, which receives its financing from the sales and from the 3.8 percent fee buyers pay for FHA-backed mortgages.

HUD general counsel J. Michael Dorsey said the insurance fund would be bankrupt by 1990 if the sales were stopped. HUD says it has received $2.4 billion from the house sales since the beginning of the fiscal year, last Oct. 1.

Dorsey estimated that the three-week ban on sales imposed by the court order cost HUD $500,000 in maintenance fees and other expenses for the unsold houses.

Dorsey said 70 percent of the HUD houses are purchased by people who are going to live in them, and most of those were families with low-to-moderate incomes.

The remainder are sold to investors, he said, most of whom say they will either sell or rent the home within a year.

Houses are sold, usually through real estate agents, by sealed bids opened 10 days after a house is advertised.

Jim Stimpson, HUD expert on homeless policy, said about 400 of the HUD-owned houses have been sold at a discount to agencies providing living space for the homeless.

HUD has a program that allows the houses to be sold for use by the homeless at as low as 60 percent of value, depending on how long they are on the market, Stimpson said.

But homeless advocates say the federal government has not done enough to turn over space it owns to people who have been living in the streets or temporary shelters.

"I don't think HUD is supposed to be in the real estate business," said Maria Foscarinis, counsel for the National Coalition for the Homeless, which has a separate suit trying to force the agency to inventory all government buildings that might be used by the homeless.

She said the coalition does not expect the government to simply turn over all the houses and empty government buildings, but "a lot of local, non-government, non-profit agencies are desperate for buildings in which to operate programs for the homeless."

"It's clear," she said, "that the federal government would rather sell its property in order to generate money."

Survey: Sex practices leaving many at risk for deadly disease

ATLANTA (AP) — A new survey released Thursday indicates that as many as 700,000 young American men may have at least 10 sex partners a year, putting them at "considerable risk" of sexually transmitted diseases including AIDS.

The national Centers for Disease Control reported that a survey of U.S. sexual habits shows that "most Americans appear to be at relatively low risk of infection" with the virus that causes AIDS, acquired immune deficiency syndrome.

"However, a sizeable percentage of young, never-married men report more than 10 partners in the past 12 months," including 5 percent of those 18-29.

The survey interviewed 1,481 people, asking them to write privately and submit anonymously their answers to four questions about their sexual habits.

Three percent of the men interviewed reported five to 10 sex partners in the previous year. One in 100 reported more than 10 — including 3 percent of the men between 18 and 29. 1 percent of the men 30-44 and 2 percent of the men 45-60.

"This is something that concerns us," said Dr. William Darrow, a CDC AIDS specialist. "You're talking about millions of people... and we don't know whether they're taking other kinds of precautions," such as discussing AIDS testing with partners and using condoms.

Applied to the U.S. population, the survey indicates more than 700,000 single men aged 18-29 and more than 100,000 aged 30-44 may have 10 or more partners a year, leaving them "at considerable risk" of AIDS, the CDC said.

AIDS is spread chiefly through sexual contact or the sharing of drug needles; persons with multiple sex partners are considered at increased risk for the deadly disease. More than 70,000 U.S. cases have been reported, and federal health officials believe as many as 1.5 million Americans are infected with the virus that can cause AIDS.

Overall, 22 percent of the respondents said they had had no sex partners in the previous year, and 60 percent reported only one partner. Eleven percent said two to four, 2 percent said five or more, and 6 percent did not answer the question. "At least 80 percent seem to be at relatively low risk of infection" from sex, Darrow said.

People also were asked about the status of their sex partners — their gender and whether they were spouses, friends, pick-ups or prostitutes.

Six percent of the men and 1 percent of the women surveyed said at least one of their sex partners in the previous year was a "casual date or pick-up." Well below 1 percent reported paying for sex.

Of the men reporting sex in the previous year, 3 percent said their partners included males and another 6 percent didn't answer the question. Homosexual men make up the largest group of AIDS patients in the United States.

CDC researchers "really didn't know what to expect" from the survey, Darrow said, noting there have been no definitive scientific sexual behavior studies in recent years.

The survey reported Thursday included adults living in households; prisoners and transients were not included, "and they may be at greater risk," Darrow said.

Every good turn deserves . . .

DEAR ABBY: I have a message for Jennifer Morales, the "nature lover" who resented all the "No Trespassing" signs she saw while vacationing in the north woods of Wisconsin. Grow up, Jennie! If you invite strangers on your property to smell the roses, you'd better carry plenty of liability insurance!

I run a deep-sea charter fishing boat service, and three years ago, my mate, a customer and I pulled a drowning man from Fire Island Inlet (the inlet to the Atlantic Ocean). In one practiced move, my mate ran aft, kicking off his boots and throwing the life ring. As luck would have it, the drowning man caught hold of the line and we pulled him into the boat. It took three of us to haul him aboard.

A week later, my insurance company called to inform me that a claim of $150 had been placed against me. It seems that when we pulled the drowning man aboard, he lost his eyeglasses and wallet!

I was notified that because my deductible was higher than the claim, I had seven working days in which to reimburse the company or my insurance would be canceled.

CAPT. JOHN BILITSKY JR., NORTH BABYLON, N.Y.
 DEAR CAPTAIN JOHN: Incredible! Truth is, indeed, stranger than fiction.

DEAR ABBY: I am the mother of an intelligent, attractive, well-educated 32-year-old daughter who is single and has a very successful career. For the first time in her life she is in love. The man is very nice, but, Abby, he is 21 years old.

I have mentioned this to many of my friends, and they give me examples of Joan Collins, Priscilla Presley and Cher! Abby, they are in Hollywood, and my daughter is living in the real world.

I am worried about the pain that might result due to critical remarks made by friends and family members. I love my daughter very much and want to see her happy. She may have moments of happiness when she's secluded with her "young man," but she must work and live with others who may not approve of her choice.

What do you think about this "youthful situation?"

WELL-MEANING MOTHER
 DEAR MOTHER: I would trust an intelligent, well-educated, 32-year-old woman who has a successful career to make an intelligent choice for a companion. She may place more importance on "chemistry" than arithmetic, which is her right and her business. She may be sufficiently secure and happy to be totally unaffected by their critical comments. Don't worry, Mother.

DEAR ABBY: I read you faithfully in the Anchorage Times and would like to respond to "Concerned in Cleveland," the married lady who is paranoid about her husband receiving mail from "single chicks" through Operation Dear Abby.

I am a 15-year-old girl living in a remote bush community of Alaska because of my parents' occupations. Here, mail is a once-a-week blessing from heaven! Thanks to you, Abby, I have a new friend with whom I correspond, and I am positive that his wife doesn't mind one bit. And no, I didn't send him a picture of me in a bathing suit. There are still plenty of us moral single girls who are mail-hungry,

Dear Abby

way you can sign me. MAIL-HUNGRY, NOT MALE-HUNGRY IN ALASKA

The facts about drugs, AIDS, and how to prevent unwanted pregnancy are all in Abby's new, expanded booklet, "What Every Teen Should Know."

In the three-dimensional division, the grand championship was awarded to Judy Tereltsky and the reserve championship to Gloria Roe.

Sands homecoming included 60-year-old diplomas

Sands homecoming was celebrated last weekend with one of the largest number of exes present for many years.

Richard and Rita Pitts were head of homecoming activities this year, and participants said they were pleased with their performance. Recognition was given to some of the older board members, as well as to the persons traveling the farthest distances. Anne May Stewart Kincaid from LaJunta, Colo. won that honor — barely winning over Leonard Higgins from San Augustine.

The school year 1928 ended early because of finances, so the two graduates never received their diplomas. Thus, Opal Springfield Phillips, Dallas and Leon Bodine, Acklery were presented diplomas Among the highlights of the evening was the "Coming home Queen," an honor bestowed upon Nora White Hambrick, who was escorted by E.B. Baker, Seminole.

1979 Hyperion club gathers

The 1970 Hyperion Club met Sept. 9, in the home of Mrs. Bradford Glass, 2802 Coronado. Refreshments were provided by Mrs. Skipper Driver, Mrs. Forrest Wester and Mrs. Glass. Mrs. Dwayne Fraser presided over the business meeting. Mrs. John Freeman, vice-president and program chairman, gave highlights of the year's program of study "Parade of Big Spring Personalities." Members of the club also attended the Hyperion Council Luncheon at the Big Spring Country Club on Sept. 15.

WW I veteran's auxiliary meets

The Ladies Auxiliary to the veterans of World War I, Barracks 1474 met in regular session Sept. 10, at Canterbury South, with President Virginia Younger in charge. Seventeen members and one guest, Commander C.D. Phillips, Barracks 1474, answered roll call. Several reports were read from the state auxiliary bulletins; "thank-you" letters were also read from Conrad Alexander of the VA Medical Center.

The Auxiliary president reported on the recent National Convention in Oklahoma City.

Bernice Micallef reported on serving cake and coffee to the patients of the VA Medical Center. She also reported on the several members who are ill or in nursing homes.

After a short social, the group gathered at the Golden Corral for a luncheon.

The next meeting will be Oct. 8 at 10 a.m., Canterbury South.

Students named

Two Big Spring residents are among 13 McMurry College students named cast members in the school's first fall theater production, "Summer and Smoke," by Tennessee Williams.

Trey Gardner and Cecelia Aragon will be among the performers in the production to be presented Sept. 29 and 30 and Oct. 1, 6, 7 and 8 in the Army Graves Ryan Fine Arts Center.

1938's class members sought

The Big Spring High School class of 1938, in preparation for a high school reunion, is looking for several of their lost class members.

Anyone with information about any of the following people are asked to contact Marguerite Thompson (W.L.) at 267-5931 or 263-2759, or Virginia Davidson (R.B.) at 267-6804.

Would-be extras seeing ghosts in film hoax

DALLAS (AP) — Who you gonna call? Hoaxbusters?

Aspiring movie stars didn't see any ghosts when they showed up for what they thought was going to be the filming of a scene for the sequel to the hit movie, "Ghostbusters."

In fact, all the approximately 100 people saw were other people who showed up at the Hard Rock Cafe here in response to an erroneous call for 2,000 extras to help shoot a scene for "Ghostbusters II."

"Who they gonna call? Extras!" read a newspaper and radio appeal. "Ghostbusters director Ivan Reitman said he and his crew will shoot a scene for the sequel to the hit movie at noon Wednesday in front of the Hard Rock Cafe on McKinney Avenue in Dallas."

A crowd gathered around the restaurant, a large converted church just north of downtown.

Workers at the Hard Rock thought they were seeing things, too.

"It was a little confusing at first; we weren't really sure what was going on," said Colston Burgher, cafe manager. "They were standing out in the street. Some of them came in. They said they had heard on the radio that there was a need for extras to film the movie. I really don't know where the story came from."

The story, which later turned out to be a hoax, said that Reitman needed 2,000 extras for the shoot and asked that "people planning to attend not wear 'outrageous clothes.'"

The would-be extras said they had heard the appeal on four area radio stations.

Clint Culp, manager at one of the radio stations, KTXQ, said his station aired the appeal, but corrected it later.

He said his station broadcast a correction after someone at the station called.

"It was a well-placed hoax," Culp said.

One report said the movie was really being shot at the Hard Rock in Los Angeles — not Dallas. But a Hard Rock representative in Los Angeles said no filming was taking place there.

Friday Football Forecast

Compiled by Herald Sports Staff

Sonora (2-1) at C-City (2-1)

The Colorado City Wolves will try to rebound from a humbling loss last week in Slaton when they host Sonora tonight. Both teams bring 2-1 records into the contest. Last week aside, this is an improved pack of Wolves over last year, and the pick here is that C-City will come back strong.

C-City 21, Sonora 13

Coahoma (1-2) at Crane (1-2)

After nearly a year, the Coahoma Bulldogs broke back into the win column with a victory against Tahoka last Friday. The Big Red can ill-afford a bout of overconfidence this week, however, as they hit the road to face long-time rival Crane tonight. The Golden Cranes and Bulldogs have both lost to a common opponent this season. Seminole downed Coahoma, 28-6, in week one, and bested Crane, 6-3, last Friday. This should be a close game, but we'll give the Golden Cranes the edge on the basis of the home-field advantage.

Crane 18, Coahoma 14

Stanton (2-1) at Garden City (3-0)

This should be the game of the week for Crossroads Country football fans. The Garden City Bearkats will put their spotless record on the line when they host the Stanton Battlin' Buffs Friday night. Garden City has displayed an awesome offense so far this season, outscoring its three opponents by a combined score of 106-21. Stanton, meanwhile, has won with a stingy defense. Conventional wisdom dictates that defense wins football games, but every rule has an exception — and the Bearkats should escape this one with a win.

Garden City 28, Stanton 10

Blackwell (1-2) at Grady (0-2)

Grady fans are hoping the third time will be the charm when the Wildcats host the Blackwell Hornets tonight at 8 p.m. Grady ran into a hornet's nest (no pun intended) in its first two games, losing to six-man powers New Home and Loraine. The 'Cat offense has proven explosive at times, but the defense could stand improving. Fortunately, they meet a team that has struggled as well. Blackwell won its opening game, 51-0, but was bounced by its next two opponents — most recently by Sands last week. The more we think about it, the better Grady's chances for breaking into the win column look.

Grady 48, Blackwell 16

Klondike 1-2 at Christoval (0-3)

No one can accuse the Klondike Cougars of playing an easy non-district schedule. Last week the Cougars played No. 4 New Home to the wire, before losing 26-18. It won't get any easier Friday, because the Christoval Cougars are ranked No. 2 in the state. But don't count Klondike out; coach Tom Ham's troops like playing the best. In fact, they play much better against the best. The Cougar fight will be a doozy, but Klondike won't be able to overcome Christoval's depth and home field advantage.

Christoval 44, Klondike 30

Wilson (1-2) at Borden County (1-2)

Both the Borden County Coyotes and Wilson Mustangs need this victory to install some confidence this early in the season. Both teams have the making of pretty good teams, but the confidence factor is lacking in both. Wilson will rely on quarterback Jeffrey Bednarz while Brian Bond will lead the Coyotes. In an upset of some sort, Bond and Co. will come through.

Borden County 36, Wilson 32

Sands (3-0) at Highland (2-1)

Both the Highland Hornets and Sands Mustangs have been pleasant surprises so far this season. The Hornets finished with a 1-8 record last season while Sands lost a host of impact players from last year's playoff team. But Sands has played consistently well with a new system and new coach. Highland is getting better each game now that its players are maturing. But tonight, the consistent Mustangs will continue to roll.

Sands 40, Highland 24

Forsan (0-3) at Sterling City (1-2)

It's been a long time since the Forsan Buffaloes were 0-3. Coach Jan East's team is going through a rebuilding season, and it is improving slowly. The Sterling City Eagles are also going through a rebuilding year, after going 8-3 and earning a spot in the playoffs last year. The Eagles are down in numbers; only 21 players out for football. This week the Buffaloes will score some points, and the defense will not allow the big play. This will result in V-I-C-T-O-R-Y.

Netters prepare for title chase

By STEVE REAGAN
Staff Writer

When first-year coach David Hay looks at this year's edition of the Big Spring High School tennis team, he sees a mixture of probabilities and possibilities. The probabilities lie with the boys' squad. Led by brothers Rocky and Binky Tubb, the group is one Hay said should have little trouble advancing at least to regional competition.

Less of a sure bet is the girls. Although they are a potentially solid group, the female netters are hampered by inexperience — none of them are past their sophomore year, Hay said.

Add the two groups together, shake well and one would have a group that — if they don't win the district title outright — should have a big say in who does before the season is over.

The locals started their district schedule in impressive fashion, blasting Sweetwater, 14-4 Tuesday. The boys were especially impressive; none lost a set in either singles or doubles competition.

Number one player for the males is sophomore Rocky Tubb. Hay, who came to Big Spring from Austin, says Tubb is an extremely talented player.

"(Rocky) hasn't lost a set in seven matches," he said. "He has a powerful topspin stroke and a very capable serve. He will probably win district."

The number two position is shared by Rocky's brother, Binky, and junior Danny Whitehead. Hay said it is "pretty much a toss-up between the two" in terms of talent.

"Binky relies heavily on his serve," Hay said. "As he gets more consistent, he will be just as difficult to beat in district as his brother. "Danny is still working on his footwork, but he is the best athlete on the team, and has overpowered several opponents so far this year," Hay said.

Senior Eli Stovall is the number four player on the squad. His coach says he has perhaps the most classic groundstroke of all the boys.

"Eli has some very nice groundstrokes," Hay said. "If he can keep his concentration level high, he will probably end up with a strong singles record."

New to the squad is number five player Steve Sims, a sophomore. Hay said the Florida native is an all-around athlete who is making good progress on the tennis court. The coach is especially pleased with Sim's attitude.

"I think he really enjoys the game," Hay said. "I think he will be a key player for us in the next few years."

There is a five-way battle for the number six spot on the boys' squad between seniors Danny Ditto and Troy Simonek, junior Luis Hinojos and sophomores Kevin Nichols and Chris Ficke, Hay said.

In doubles, Rocky Tubb teams with Whitehead, Binky Tubb pairs with Simonek and Stovall and Sims join forces.

Switching from the experience and proven talent of the boys, Hay said the girls — though inexperienced — have the potential to be competitive with other teams in the district.

Sophomore Tracey Owen is the number one singles player.

"She's a capable athlete with some quiet determination and drive," Hay said. "She still needs work on her footwork, and maybe a minor change in her

Orioles give Detroit a helping hand

By The Associated Press

The Detroit Tigers need plenty of help. The Baltimore Orioles are just the team to give it.

The last-place Orioles committed two errors in the first for two unearned runs and wasted a 15-hit attack as the Tigers won 7-4 Thursday night to pull within 4½ games of first in the American League East.

AL

"We're no offensive power anyway," said Brookens, whose two-run double sparked a four-run fourth. "We have to capitalize on the other team's mistakes."

The Tigers, who have won three straight, moved into a tie for third place with New York, 4½ games behind Boston, which was idle. Milwaukee is in second, four games back.

Detroit has nine games left, Boston has 10.

The Orioles left 10 runners on base.

"That wasn't as easy as it looked," insisted Detroit manager Sparky Anderson.

The fourth-inning rally wiped out a 3-2 Baltimore lead.

against Dave Schmidt, 8-5, and Chet Lemon walked one out later. Brookens drove in both runners with a double to left center and Dave Bergman followed with an RBI double to chase Schmidt. Dwayne Murphy greeted Jay Tibbs with a run-scoring single.

Ted Power, 6-7, replaced starter Frank Tanana in the third and allowed one run on six hits in 3 2-3 innings. Mike Henneman, the fourth Detroit pitcher, worked 1 2-3 innings for his 21st save.

"We got enough hits tonight to win three ballgames," Orioles manager Frank Robinson said. "When we get enough hitting, we never seem to get it at the right time."

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Allan Anderson won for the ninth time in his last 11 decisions and Brian Harper had three hits and two RBI as Minnesota beat California.

Anderson, 15-9, allowed seven hits, walked none and struck out three in eight innings. Jeff Reardon closed.

Minnesota jumped into a 3-0 lead in the third. Greg Gagne and John Moses opened with singles and Tommy Herr followed with an RBI single. Randy Bush hit a sacrifice fly and Harper had a run-scoring single later in the inning.

Bush tripled to start the fifth and scored on Puckett's single, chasing starter Terry Clark, 6-6.

Mets clinch division with win

By BEN WALKER
AP Baseball Writer

NEW YORK — While the New York Yankees guaranteed a division championship this season, the New York Mets went out and won one.

The Mets — as expected — clinched the National League East title Thursday night by beating Philadelphia 3-1. They did it the same way they keep winning, with the best pitching in the majors.

Ron Darling held the Phillies to six hits, the defense contributed some key plays and the offense, which has sputtered at times, managed to score enough. In short, a microcosm of the Mets' season.

"We always knew we were going to win it. We just had to keep telling ourselves we would," captain Keith Hernandez said.

The postgame celebration had the usual trappings of spraying champagne and lots of shouting. But it lacked the verve of the victory party in 1986 after the Mets clinched the division.

Maybe the freak accident to Bob Ojeda, who nearly severed a finger on his pitching hand, still was on the Mets' minds. Maybe it was something else.

"We seemed destined to win, but it wasn't exciting enough," Howard Johnson said. "We never really lived up to expectations."

But at least they won. While the Mets held up their half of a Subway Series matchup, the Yankees are on the verge of dropping out of the American League East. In spring training, Don Mattingly promised the Yankees would win their first division title since 1981.

Instead, the Mets won their fourth overall and second in three years. They get a week to relax before the next game they need to win. That will be on Oct. 4 when the best-of-7 NL playoffs start, almost certainly in Los Angeles, and New York was 10-1 against the Dodgers this season.

"It will be nice to go back home," said Darryl Strawberry, who was raised in Southern California. "We know what we have to do out there."

Phillies manager Lee Elia said the Mets have developed into a team that usually does what it needs to accomplish.

"The last couple of years, they've learned how to make a run when they have to," Elia said. "They work hard. Good pitching, good offense, make the plays when

Big Spring JV 20, Post JV 8
POST — The Big Spring High School Junior Varsity Steers rode the passing combination of Shane Myrick and Freddie Rodriguez and a strong defense to a 20-8 victory against the Post JV Antelopes here Thursday.

The Steers opened the scoring in the first quarter when quarterback Myrick connected with wingback Rodriguez for a 60-yard touchdown pass. The duo also paired later in the quarter for another score, and the Steers led, 14-0, after the opening stanza.

After Post scored a TD and safety to make the halftime score 14-8, Myrick tossed a 10-yard touchdown pass to tight end Jimmy Shaeffer in the third quarter to complete the scoring.

The Steer defense acquitted themselves well in the game, limiting the Antelopes to a lone touchdown. In addition, the defenders made a goal-line stand late in the game to prevent another Post score.

JV coach Ricky Long preferred not to single out any individual performances, saying the entire team — both offense and defense — played very well.

stroke to make her competitive with the top girls in the district.

Number two player Tammi Mason is another girl who has plenty of potential. "When she tones down on some of the frustration of missed shots and focuses on the things she's good at, she can be an outstanding player," Hay said.

Freshman E.D. Barnett, the number three player, is described by her coach as one of the hardest players on the squad who has raised her level of play considerably.

"She's very coachable," Hay said. "She follows what she's asked to do. She may compete for one of the top two spots before the season is over."

Two other freshmen, Mary Katherine Terrazas and Danene Moore, hold down the number four and five spots, respectively.

"(Terrazas) has some of the quickest hands on the team. She has a good volley and a very nice serve," Hay said. "Danene has good concentration and determination on the court. She has shown a real desire to win—and tendency to do just that."

As with the boys, there is a battle for the number six position on the team. Hay said the spot is up for grabs between three players: Freshmen Cathy Ogburn and Jana Haney and sophomore Stefanie Stevenson.

Two others that may compete for spots on the varsity team are Gail Reinert and Debbie Dennard, who have both shown improvement during the fall season, Hay said.

Hay said the Steers' major competition will come from Monahans.

U.S. Olympians begin assault on the record book

By STEVE WILSTEIN
AP Sports Writer

SEOUL, South Korea — Watch the clock and check the record book: Carl Lewis is in high gear with a 9.99-second warm-up for Saturday's 100. Matt Biondi is closer to his goal of seven medals, grabbing a third gold and setting a world record with his swimming buddies.

The Olympic spotlight shifted to track and field Friday afternoon — with Lewis' debut and Jackie Joyner-Kersey's assault on the heptathlon record — but shone again in the evening on Biondi, who won his fifth medal anchoring the 400-meter freestyle relay.

The U.S. team of Chris Jacobs, Troy Dalbey, Tom Jager and Biondi sped through the relay in 3 minutes, 16.53 seconds, beating the old record of 3:17.08 by another Biondi-anchored team in 1985.

Equally golden were the performances of Elena Shushunova, a doe-eyed Soviet teen who became the new queen of gymnastics, and Kristin Otto, a big, brawny East German who won her fourth swimming gold.

Shushunova thrilled fans with a perfect 10 that clinched the all-around gold and brought a hug from the 1984 queen, Mary Lou Retton.

The 6-foot-2 Otto, who is going for six golds, put on an unprecedented display of versatility, adding a victory in the 100-meter butterfly to her previous wins in the 100 freestyle, 100 backstroke and 400 freestyle relay. Otto set an Olympic mark of 59 seconds in the butterfly.

America's Mary T. Meagher, a triple gold medalist in 1984, finished a disappointing seventh.

Uwe Dassler of East Germany set a world record in winning the gold medal in the men's 400 freestyle in 3 minutes, 46.95 seconds.

The Soviet Union won five medals to hold its lead in the medal list with 33, including 16 gold. East Germany added nine medals to move up to a total of 28, nine of them gold. The United States won only a gold and silver to remain in third with 15, including six gold.

But Friday saw the American men's basketball team romp over China 108-57 despite minor injuries to several U.S. players and the American boxers gain a sixth straight victory.

Confusion reigned inside and outside the Olympic Stadium as the day began with the women's marathon snarling traffic on the streets and bridges of hot, humid Seoul and delaying fans trying to get to the Games.

Rosa Mota, the "Atomic Ant" of Portugal, bounded over the 26-mile, 385-yard course in 2 hours, 25 minutes, 39 seconds to add a gold to the bronze she won in the same race in the 1984 Los Angeles Games.

Australian Lisa Martin won the silver in 2:25:52, and Katrin Dorre of East Germany took the bronze in 2:26:20. Nancy Ditz, the top U.S. finisher, came in 17th. Joan Benoit Samuelson, winner in 1984, didn't compete here after complaining of injuries, but Mota said she hoped the American would return to running.

have a long gun," Lewis said, "but then we come here and it's a quick gun. It definitely caught me by surprise in the first round." Lewis ran 10.14 in his first heat.

Johnson, who holds the 100 world record of 9.83, blasted out of the blocks in the first heat, grabbed a huge lead, then coasted to a 10.37 finish. In the second round, he ran 10.17 but finished third behind Britain's Linford Christie and American Dennis Mitchell.

USC to test its luck against Oklahoma

By The Associated Press

When it comes to snapping Oklahoma's Wishbone, Southern Cal has had its share of luck.

On Saturday, the Trojans will try to continue that success in the meeting of inter-sectional football powers.

"I know that this football game is going to be a very physical game and we're going to have to dip down to all of our resources," Southern Cal Coach Larry Smith said as he prepared his team for the heralded matchup of Top Ten teams.

A crowd of about 88,000 is expected for the nationally televised game at the Los Angeles Coliseum between the third-ranked Sooners and fifth-ranked Trojans, one of 15 games involving ranked teams.

Elsewhere, No. 1 Miami, Fla., hosts Wisconsin; Tennessee is at No. 4 Auburn; No. 6 Georgia at No. 14 South Carolina; No. 7 LSU at Ohio State; Purdue at No. 8 Notre Dame; Michigan State at No. 9 Florida State, and Arizona State at No. 10 Nebraska.

Also, it is No. 11 West Virginia at No. 16 Pitt; No. 12 Clemson at Georgia Tech; Vanderbilt at No. 13 Alabama; Rutgers at No. 15 Penn State; San Jose State at No. 17 Washington; Texas A&M at No. 18 Oklahoma State; Wake Forest at No. 18 Michigan and Mississippi State at No. 20 Florida.

In 1981, No. 1-ranked USC beat the visiting No. 2 Sooners 28-24 on a 7-yard touchdown pass with two seconds to play. The following year in Norman, Southern Cal's 12-0 victory snapped Oklahoma's record scoring streak at 181 games. On that day, the Trojans limited the Sooners' potent Wishbone to 43 yards and Oklahoma has scored only seven points in the last six quarters against USC.

In addition, a 7-7 tie with Southern Cal in 1973, Barry Switzer's first season as Oklahoma's head coach, was the only blot on the Sooners' 10-0-1 record. Southern Cal leads the series, 3-2-1.

Oklahoma quarterback Jamelle Hollieway, the consummate Wishbone quarterback, says the Sooners may rely more on the passing attack than the run against Southern Cal.

"We have to put points on the board, and the only way to do that is to throw the ball," he said. "I believe it's going to be a high-scoring game."

Hollieway has attempted 10 passes this year in victories over North Carolina and Arizona, completing five for 134 yards and one touchdown. The Sooners rank fifth in the nation in rushing with 328 yards a game while the Trojan defense is 12th best against the run.

Miami will go into its game against Wisconsin with the longest regular-season winning streak in the country. The top-rated Hurricanes have won 34 consecutive regular-season games, including a 31-30 come-from-behind victory last week over Michigan.

Miami coach Jimmy Johnson is grateful for the chance to play the winless Badgers — 42-point underdogs — after two games against nationally-ranked opponents.

"I think it's a little bit of a relief not going into another week of hype and emotion," he said, hoping to move his team closer to the record of 47 straight victories, set by Oklahoma from 1953-57.

Tennessee is off to an 0-3 start for the first time in 26 seasons and Coach Johnny Majors can't be certain the streak will end against Auburn.

they have to."

The Mets extended their winning streak to a season-high eight and have won 13 of 14.

Darling, 16-9, ran into trouble only once when the Phillies scored in the fourth on Von Hayes' sacrifice fly.

The Mets tied it against Don Carman, 11-12, in the fifth on rookie Gregg Jefferies' RBI grounder, took the lead in the sixth on a wild pitch and added an insurance run in the seventh when Mookie Wilson dashed home from second base on McReynolds' in-field single.

When Darling struck out Lance Parrish to end the game, the celebration started. Unlike 1986, when unruly fans ran onto the field and caused $60,000 damage, not a single fan ran onto the turf this time.

Eighty mounted policemen and another 330 officers in riot helmets prevented anyone in the sellout crowd of 45,274 from joining the Mets' revelry on the mound.

Manager Davey Johnson, whose job next year has not been assured, did not participate in the postgame celebration. He disdained the 1986 party and does not like those bashes, although he also had an upset stomach Thursday night.

The party, though, was sure to last long into the night as the Mets boarded a charter flight to St. Louis. They begin a now-meaningless series Friday night at Busch Stadium, home of the Mets' chief rivals in recent years.

Jefferies, who became a sparkplug after being promoted from Triple-A Tidewater a month ago, hoped the party would last a lot longer. He reached the legal drinking age of 21 on Aug. 1.

"A celebration like this in Tidewater would take about 20 minutes," he said. "I'm sure this one will go on for awhile."

Thursday at 7 p.m. against Monahans in Memorial Stadium.

Runnels A 34, Greenwood 6

GREENWOOD — The Runnels Junior High School A and B Yearlings both were victorious in their games against Greenwood Thursday evening. The A squad crushed Greenwood, 34-6, while the B team won by an 18-14 score.

The A team displayed impressive offense in its contest, gaining 377 total yards. The Yearlings were led by tailback Waylon McGee, who gained 145 yards on 22 carries and scored two touchdowns and a two-point conversion; and fullback Steven Robles, who gained 127 yards on nine carries, scoring three TDs and kicking two point-after conversions in the process.

Greenwood hampered its cause by losing six fumbles, but Runnels coach Ed Gauer said his defense played "outstanding." Singled out for praise were cornerbacks Mike Roff and Gary Green, linebacker Richard Hain and tackle Salvador Trevino.

The A Yearlings return to action Thursday at 5:30 p.m. against Monahans at Blankenship Field.

Runnels B 18, Greenwood 14

GREENWOOD — The Runnels B Yearlings also were successful Thursday, edging the Greenwood Jr. High Rangers by an 18-14 score.

Offensive hero for the Yearlings was running back Ben Baucum, who scored TDs on runs of 26 and 48 yards, respectively. The other Runnels score came on a 31-yard pass from Oscar Valencia to Sonny Olivio.

Gauer also praised the defensive efforts of linebackers Ben Rogers and Israel Martinez, safety Kyle Plumlee and Valencia, who doubled at cornerback.

"I'm real happy with the way they played," Gauer said of the Yearlings' efforts. "Both teams played really well."

The B Yearlings return to action Thursday against Monahans at Blankenship Field. Kickoff is scheduled for 4 p.m.

Garden City JH 32, Forsan JH 6

FORSAN — The Garden City Junior High Bearkats rolled to an easy 32-6 win against Forsan Junior High here Thursday evening.

Halfback Jodie Bradford had a hand in all four Bearkat touchdowns. He opened the scoring in the first quarter with a 40-yard run, and connected with quarterback Shae Scott later in the period for a 31-yard scoring pass to give Garden City a 16-0 first-quarter lead.

Forsan narrowed the margin to 14-6 at halftime when Clark Fields scored on a three-yard run in the second quarter. The point-after try failed.

Bradford scored twice more in the third quarter to ice the game for the Bearkats, tallying on runs of 54 and seven yards, respectively.

Garden City's next game will be at home Thursday against the Stanton seventh-graders.

Iraan JV 26, Garden City JV 16

GARDEN CITY — The Garden City junior varsity gained 324 total yards on offense, but it was not enough as they bowed to Iraan's JV unit, 26-16, here Thursday.

Tailback Mario Aguilar had an outstanding night for Garden City, gaining 218 yards on 20 carries and scoring two touchdowns, on runs of 65 and 81 yards, respectively.

The JV Bearkats return to action Thursday against Reagan County's JV at Big Lake.

FAITH REMINDS US OF OUR MOST PRICELESS POSSESSION

Of all the pleasures we have known
And all the treasures we will own,
There's just one thing that stands alone,
Apart from all the rest.
We learn it's not a brand new car,
The means with which to travel far
Or talent to become a star,
Which some of us possessed.
It isn't any sort of rank,
Or big deposit in the bank;
But our good Father let us thank,
With gratitude expressed
For something which is truly grand
That our great leaders wisely planned:
It's all the freedom in our land,
With which we have been blessed.

For what avail
the plow or sail,
Or land or life,
If freedom fail?

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Does God ever laugh, do you think? I personally enjoy people who have a sense of humor (as long as they're not cruel in laughing at the misfortune of others), but I've always wondered if the Bible says anything about this. — C.J.J.

DEAR C.J.J.: Yes, the Bible says that God laughs — at the folly and stupidity of those who laugh at him and refuse to take him seriously. In Psalm 2, for example, the author talks about kings and rulers who "gather together against the Lord and against his Anointed One." (Verse 2) He then continues, "The One enthroned in heaven laughs; the Lord scoffs at them." (Verse 4)

This should warn that life is serious — and the most serious part of life is our relationship with God. If we go through life neglecting him, we are in effect mocking or scoffing at His ways and laughing at his commands. If we treat life as one big joke and refuse to take it seriously, we are turning our backs on God and his will for our lives. We are refusing to take seriously what God says about sin and our need of repentance and faith in Christ.

The book of Jude in the New Testament warns us that "In the last times there will be scoffers who will follow their own ungodly desires." (Jude 18) Have you taken Christ seriously by realizing your need of his forgiveness and salvation? Have you committed your life to him without reserve? If not, put your trust in him today.

At the same time there is nothing wrong with a healthy sense of humor — in fact the Bible says "A cheerful heart is good medicine." (Proverbs 17:22) Jesus sometimes used humor to get across a serious point. He even compared the joy he gives us to that of a person overcome with joyous laughter: "Blessed are you who weep now, for you will laugh." (Luke 6:21)

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I assume you aren't in favor of divorce, but I don't see any other way out of my situation right now. Would God forgive me if I divorced? My husband is thoughtless and pays little attention to me, and I don't think I can stand it any longer. We're beginning to fight all the time. — Mrs. S.W.

DEAR MRS. S.W.: It's always very dangerous spiritually to do anything that is wrong — no matter what it is — with the idea that it really doesn't matter because "God will forgive me anyway." Why is this the case? Let me mention two reasons (although others could also be mentioned.) First, when we intentionally do something that is wrong in God's eyes, we eventually pay the consequences — even if we seek God's forgiveness and receive it. Second, it is a wonderful truth that God loves us and wants to forgive us for our sins. But his forgiveness is always dependent on our repentance and sorrow for our sin. When we willfully sin, we cannot expect his automatic forgiveness, for repentance and sorrow are missing.

But let me encourage you to turn to God right now and receive Christ into your life by faith. God wants to help you restore your marriage, and he can give you and your husband a new love for each other.

Church, politics — some warnings

NEW YORK (AP) — Church lawyers are laying down some strict guidelines on what religious organization can — and cannot — do in the current crush of political campaigning.

The key warning is that they must not support or oppose specific candidates, or seem by implication to do so, since it would endanger a church's tax exemption.

Attorneys for the country's two largest Christian groups — Baptists and Roman Catholics — have issued lengthy instructions for church organizations on avoiding partisan political activity.

Indications were of a new cautiousness among church groups about the matter in an election year.

The Internal Revenue Service "has a newfound enthusiasm for scrutiny of religious organizations," says Mark E. Chopko, general counsel of the U.S. Catholic Conference.

Citing restrictions laid down in the IRS code on tax exemptions for religious organization, he advises:

The Internal Revenue Service "has a newfound enthusiasm for scrutiny of religious organizations," says Mark E. Chopko, general counsel of the U.S. Catholic Conference.

"During an election campaign, exempt organizations remain free to address issues of concern to them and to their membership. However, such discourse must focus on issues and not personalities."

Oliver S. Thomas, general counsel for the Baptist Joint Committee on Public Affairs, advises that churches, to avoid jeopardizing their tax-exempt status, must heed the following rules:

• Don't support or oppose a candidate directly or indirectly, whether in a sermon, church newsletter, sample ballot, or by financial means. Avoid pejorative labels when mentioning a candidate by name.

• Don't provide volunteers, mailing lists, publicity, nor distribute or display campaign literature on church premises, or provide free use of facilities unless made available equally to all parties and candidates.

However, both Catholic and Baptist advisories note that churches may hold non-partisan public forums or debates where all candidates have a chance to state their views and distribute their literature.

The sponsoring church organization, however, must not present its views on the topics discussed, Thomas says:

"It is advisable for the organization, in introducing a candidate, to state clearly and emphatically that the views of the candidate are not necessarily the views of the church and no endorsement is intended by the candidate's presence."

Nevertheless, it was emphasized that religious organizations have a constitutional right to take sides on political issues, so long as their views aren't explicitly applied for or against specific candidates.

"In reality, participation in the public debate on important issues inevitably overlaps with positions taken by certain candidates," Chopko observes.

"Nonetheless, issue-oriented speech is protected by the first amendment of the Constitution, and is entirely proper."

Also, church employees and officials may participate freely in the political campaigning as individuals, providing it is made clear they are not acting as representatives of the church.

Immaculate Heart festival set for Sept. 30 and Oct. 1

The Immaculate Heart of Mary Church, 1009 Hearn, will hold its annual fall festival on Sept. 30 at 6 p.m. and Oct. 1 beginning at 11 a.m.

There will be a large selection of arts and crafts for sale, a cake walk, children's games, and special bingo. Live music will be provided Saturday afternoon by the Eddie James band.

A quilt made by the Altar Society will be raffled, as well as cash prizes for $1,000 and $500, with the drawing at 9 p.m. Saturday. Door prizes will also be given.

There will be a dinner of turkey and trimmings on Friday evening beginning at 6 p.m. The cost is $4.50 for adults, $2.50 for children under 12. On Saturday, beginning at 6 p.m., there will be a Mexican dinner for $3.75, adults and $2, children.

Church of Nazarene plans picnic

The First Church of the Nazarene, 1400 Lancaster, has rescheduled its picnic for 2 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 24 at Comanche Trail Park. For information, call 267-7015.

The public is invited to attend the showing of the film, "What Husbands Need to Know," on Sunday at 9:30 a.m. at the church. This is offered as part of a marriage enrichment series.

The public is also invited to a continuing study group on team ministry on Wednesday nights at 7 p.m.

Pastor assigned to Baker's Chapel

The Rev. William H. Chavers has been assigned as the new pastor of the Baker's Chapel A.M.E. Church at 10th and N. Lancaster streets. Rev. Chavers and his wife Jacqueline will be welcomed on Sunday at 3 p.m. in the church sanctuary.

Rev. Chavers is a graduate of Wayland Baptist University and earned a master of divinity degree from Texas Christian University. He holds a certificate in clinical pastoral education from the Veterans Administration, a certificate in administration from the University of Oklahoma, and is a certified counselor for the state of Texas. He is also the organizer and founder of Opportunity Industrial Center of Fort Worth.

Mrs. Chavez is an English instructor with the El Paso Independent School District.

Crestview Baptist revival planned

The Crestview Baptist Church, at the corner of Eubank and Gatesville streets, is sponsoring a revival Sunday through Wednesday at 7 p.m. The public is invited to attend.

The evangelist will be Rev. Don Roberson, pastor of College Heights Baptist Church, Plainview, and the music director will be Rev. Bobby Roger, pastor of Southside Baptist Church, Perryton.

For more information, call Rev. Sammy Sims, 263-8458.

Homosexual weddings debated

MILWAUKEE (AP) — A Lutheran pastor has asked his congregation for permission to perform homosexual wedding ceremonies, but his bishop says congregations do not have the authority to sanction such unions.

The Rev. James Bartos, pastor of the Village Church, says a decision will be made after a church forum on the issue Sept. 18, when the congregation will discuss biblical and ethical concerns relating to homosexual relationships.

Bishop Peter Rogness of the Southeastern Wisconsin Synod of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America said he applauded Bartos' effort to examine a contemporary question, but "a congregation would not be sanctioned to perform homosexual marriages."

Bartos says that while bishops are influential, church conventions and not bishops set policy, and conventions have not specified whether congregations can authorize homosexual marriages, leaving open the door for congregations to decide about it.

'Holy island' has unique Greek status

By KERIN HOPE
Associated Press Writer

PATMOS, Greece — Nightclubs and nudity are banned on this island where tradition holds that St. John wrote the New Testament's Book of Revelation in a cave overlooking the Aegean Sea.

Under a special government decree, Patmos has a unique status among Greece's 200 or so inhabited islands as a "holy island" still dominated by its 900-year-old Byzantine monastery.

"We prefer our visitors to be pilgrims rather than ordinary tourists and we would like them to respect our tradition," said Abbot Isidoros. He heads the 30-member community at the Monastery of St. John the Theologian.

But plans for an airport coupled with widespread publicity for the monastery's 900th anniversary celebrations are expected to bring mass tourism to Patmos in the coming years.

The tranquility of Patmos, a rocky outcrop in the Dodecanese group of islands with approximately 2,000 residents, attracts wealthy Greeks and foreigners who have restored scores of traditional mansions clustered beneath the monastery's gray fortress-like walls.

Many have given donations to the monastery, to help maintain its library of rare manuscripts and early books, along with a collection of priceless icons — portraits of saints painted in gold and bright colors.

"Patmos is still a place apart, with a unique atmosphere. Unlike other islands, a conscious effort has been made to protect it," said Maria King Constantinides, a Boston antiques dealer with a family home there.

Signs in Greek, French, German or English scattered around the island's beaches point out that nudity is not allowed. One disco operates on a remote bay, but the narrow alleys around the monastery fall silent by 10 p.m., even in summer.

"People sometimes go topless on the beaches, but ... on the whole the rules are respected," said Christos Kyzozis, the island's doctor and also its mayor.

The development project planned by Greece's state tourist organization EOT, together with PATMOS, Greece — The Monastery of St. John the Theologian, top, on the island of Patmos, Greece, celebrates its 900th anniversary Sept. 25-26. Nightclubs and nudity are banned on this island, where tradition holds that St. John wrote the New Testament's Book of Revelation in a cave overlooking the Aegean Sea.

the monastery and town authorities, calls for construction of an airport, zoning for new hotels and bungalows and improved harbor facilities.

"Past experience shows that once an island gets an airport, mass tourism is very difficult to avoid," said Eleni Bonou, who heads the project. "But an airport is essential because it serves the islanders first."

More than 30,000 visitors come to Patmos every year, but two-thirds of them arrive aboard cruise ships that steam away before sunset after a few hours' stay.

On an island too barren to grow its own food, visitors are the only source of income apart from fishing.

"There's a delicate balance to be kept between God and mammon on this island," Mayor Kyrozis said. "There has to be tourism, but not so much it kills what we have to offer."

Trained for a more secluded life, the monks say it's already hard work taking turns to supervise the tourists swarming through the monastery museum, its frescoed chapels and stone colonnades.

"The sheer numbers of people coming through mean that we're exhausted by the time the season's over and there's time to get on with our own tasks," said Brother Chryostomos, the monastery librarian.

The tourists also crowd into the Monastery of the Apocalypse, built over the cave where St. John supposedly wrote his visionary work while exiled on Patmos around A.D. 95.

"It's historical fact that St. John was on the island," said Athanassios Kominis, an Athens University professor of Byzantine studies. "The tradition that he wrote Revelation there is certainly more than speculation, but not quite certain."

Patriarch Dimitrios, spiritual leader of Eastern Orthodox Christians worldwide, plans to lead Orthodox, Roman Catholic and Protestant churchmen in a two-day international pilgrimage to Patmos Sept. 25-26.

It celebrates the 900th birthday of the Monastery of St. John, founded in 1088 by a Byzantine scholar, the Blessed Christodoulos, with special permission from the Emperor Alexius Comnenos.

Religion roundup

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Leaders of U.S. communities of Roman Catholic nuns have voted against compliance with a part of a new federal immigration law that requires employers to verify the legal status of undocumented workers.

The national assembly of the Leadership Conference of Women Religious called for non-cooperation with the requirement, terming it a "concrete form of employment discrimination."

An accompanying statement said about 3 million aliens in the United States were not qualified for amnesty under provisions of the 1986 immigration act and continue living "in the shadows, as an exploited underclass."

NEW YORK (AP) — A new book, "Ministry of Greed," concludes that Moral Majority founder Jerry Falwell tricked fallen televangelist Jim Bakker into handing over his TV empire.

Drawn from Newsweek coverage of the case and further reporting, senior editor Larry Martz says Falwell, who temporarily headed the network for the scandal-bumped Bakker, apparently had miscounted on these possibilities: "At one extreme he (Falwell) might win kudos for statesmanship in rescuing a troubled ministry and easing the corrupt Bakker out of power; at the other he might come away with control of the entire empire."

Falwell has insisted he never wanted it.

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Planners say the North American Congress on the Holy Spirit and World Evangelization in August 1990, will bring together more than 40,000 people from about 40 different denominations.

It is being organized by an ecumenical group of Pentecostals and charismatics, including Roman Catholics and mainline Protestants.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The American Friends Service Committee says adults, especially parents and youth workers, should recognize the dignity and worth of young people who are lesbian or gay.

As part of a two-year project to combat anti-homosexual attitudes, the Quaker organization has issued a guidance book called "Bridges of Respect, Creating Support for Lesbian and Gay Youth."

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Forty-four writers have been enlisted to contribute to a new 40-volume biblical commentary to be published by the Southern Baptists to reflect views of "inerrantists" — that the Bible is free of error in history, science or religion.

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Religious organizations often fail people at the most critical times, especially during their midlife re-examination of values, according to a major national study.

"There's an unstated norm in a lot of church communities that you don't talk about faith, like politics and sex," said Connie Leman, one of the authors of the study sponsored by 23 religious organizations.

The six-year study, "Faith Development in the Adult Life Cycle," combines poll data from the Gallup organization and in-depth interviews with more than 1,000 people nationwide. Directed by the Rev. Kenneth Stokes, the study is for church organizations to help adults through midlife faith crises.

Ceremony of Reconciliation

NEW YORK — Cardinal John O'Connor, accompanied by an unidentified priest, leads a special ceremony of reconciliation at St. Patrick's Cathedral in New York Thursday. The cathedral was the scene of a Wednesday night attack in which a disturbed man beat an usher to death with an iron prayer book stand.

JEANE DIXON'S Your Horoscope

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 24, 1988

HAPPY BIRTHDAY! IN THE NEXT YEAR OF YOUR LIFE: A great weight will be lifted from your shoulders. You will be free to move onward and upward without fearing that someone will drop a bombshell. What you learned about yourself during tough times helps you plan your future. Family ties become even stronger. You are able to bank more of your income and enjoy the good things in life. Your many friendships keep you strong when your spirits dip. Give romance another chance.

CELEBRITIES BORN ON THIS DATE: Joseph Kennedy III, actor Anthony Newley, Muppets creator Jim Henson, writer F. Scott Fitzgerald, sportscaster Jim McKay.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Either revive a business relationship or sever it. Unfinished business should not be left hanging. Discuss finances with family. You gain new insight from something you see today.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): A friendly relationship could become something more. Check the mail carefully. A quick answer to an important query could ensure your chances for success. Consult a doctor about a health problem.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Look forward! Dwelling on the past will only bring aggravation. Opt for the obvious solution to a money problem. Likes attract in love. Let someone know you are not in the mood to play games.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Stop putting yourself down and accept the fact that you are bright and attractive. A long-distance call will give peace of mind. Hold back on a declaration of love. Be sure!

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Fears will be allayed when you ask the right questions. Someone from a different background is strongly attracted to you but fears rejection. Know your own heart. A child becomes more responsible.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Your mind is geared toward deep thoughts this weekend. Try to steal away for a while to contemplate practical applications for your bright ideas. A good day to work on an important presentation.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): A trend may be peaking. It could be too late to cash in on it. Give more thought to a change in lifestyle. Loved ones support your efforts once they understand them.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Spending a fun-morning with your kids provides a happy counterpoint to the past work week. You will get back more than you give. Offer heartfelt encouragement to someone who has been struggling.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Homemade treats make you feel like a kid again. A newcomer may have more influence with you than you realize. Build a more satisfying relationship with a family member. Love conquers all.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Health concerns deserve top priority. A dental appointment should not be postponed. You should afford to lose any more weight. Talk to loved ones about your long-term goals. Ask their cooperation.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Keep your eyes and ears open today and you will learn a lesson that brings benefits for a lifetime. Sports activity excites you. You feel rejuvenated. Answer personal mail. Someone awaits your reply.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Save steps by picking up the phone. You find good news at the other end of the line. Travel is favored if you have the time and money. A search for antiques proves surprising.
