Dukakis fights to close gap

By ROBERT FURLOW
Associated Press Writer

Michael Dukakis fought to make up ground on George Bush Saturday, declaring he has reduced home-state crime through a commitment "right out of my gut" while Bush merely postures on TV. Bush, leading the presidential race with just over three weeks to go, said, "I'm not going to mess up."

Dukakis received endorsements from Hispanic law-enforcement groups in Los Angeles and spoke at a rally there before flying to Texas for more campaigning. Bush, accompanied by Hollywood actors and two of the Beach Boys singing group, led a bus tour of rallies in seven California cities.

Dukakis' running mate, Texas Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, said Saturday that despite polls showing Republican gains "the momentum is ours." But he also brought up a story generally cited only by political longshots — the 1948 newspaper headline incorrectly declaring Republican Thomas Dewey had defeated Democratic underdog Harry Truman.

"I can't help but remember Harry Truman out there when the press had written him off," Bentsen said.

FPC inmates stage work slowdown

By MICHAEL DUFFY
Staff Writer

Prompted by a series of stories on prison furloughs that appeared in USA Today, about half of the inmates at the Big Spring Federal Prison Camp participated in a "mini work slowdown" Friday, Superintendent Phil Spears confirmed.

Approximately 300 inmates who work in the prison's broom and cable factories caused production to be down "about 50 percent and nobody wanted to confront them," Spears said.

The superintendent said he spoke "for about three or four hours" with many inmates and his staff Friday and the situation seems to be under control.

"I'm not trying to downplay the situation because it could be real volatile," said Spears, who stressed that there are no plans to curtail the furlough program.

Stories, surveys and editorials regarding the prison furlough system — most of which portrayed it in a positive way — appeared on Page 10A in Friday's edition of the nationally circulated publication.

"A congressman who appeared on the Today Show Thursday or Friday apparently said the furlough system was going to stop," Spears advised.

He stressed that furloughs at the Federal Prison Camp have a "99 percent" success rate and will continue.

Spears admitted had concerns because furloughs have been denied to some inmates recently "who pose a risk to the community."

An Associated Press story that ran Friday indicated that prison furloughs have been successful throughout the United States, according to a survey of corrections professionals.

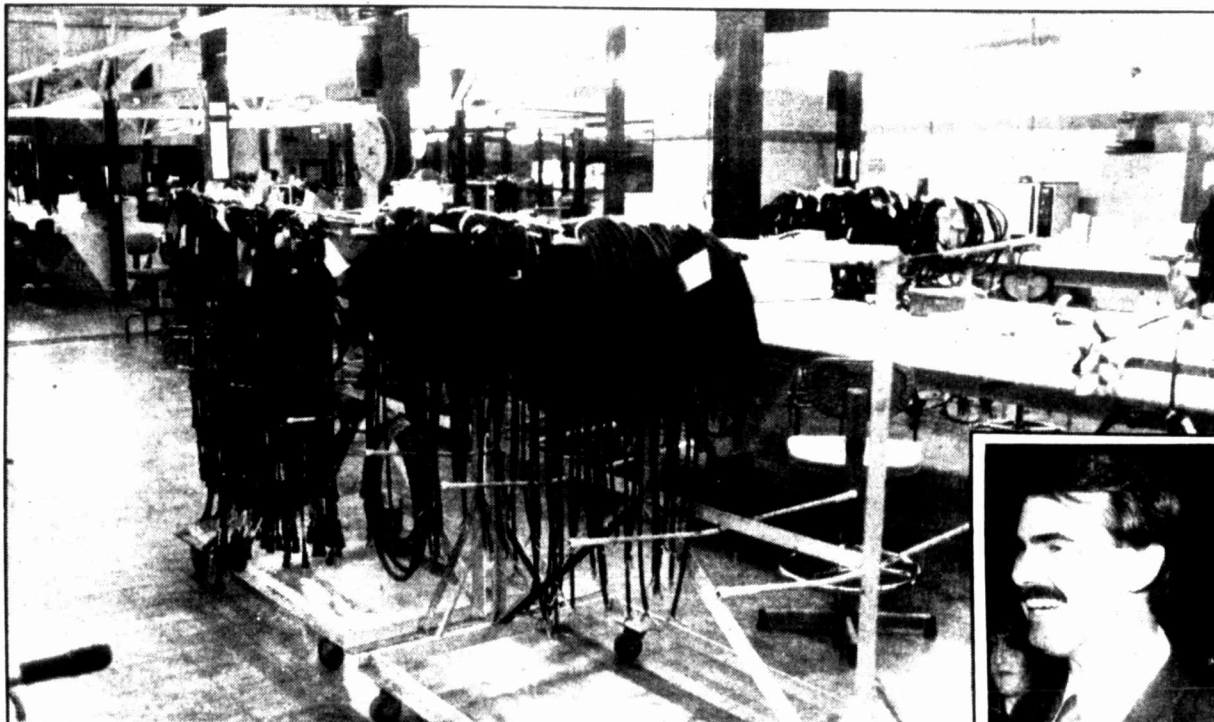

Furloughing prisoners serving life sentences has been a topic of debate between Vice President George Bush and Democratic candidate Michael Dukakis.

Bush has repeatedly stated that Dukakis is soft on crime and has singled out a case involving Willie Horton, a Massachusetts murderer released on furloughs. On his tenth furlough, Horton failed to return.

Nine months later, Horton broke into a home in suburban Maryland, terrorizing the owners. He beat and stabbed a man and raped his fiancée.

The fact is, however, that all states, the Federal Bureau of Prisons and the District of Columbia have some form of furloughs or temporary release programs, according to the survey.

Thirty-six states, the federal system and the District of Columbia allow furloughs for prisoners speaking life sentences, the survey indicated.

Spears called the issue a "political hot potato."

"Of course I'm concerned about it when I have to respond to a concerned citizen who worries that an inmate on furlough may commit robbery or rape in the community," he said.

The Big Spring Federal Prison Camp, which houses about 680 inmates, is a minimum security

Family members agree: Crawford was 'full of life, vigor'

By MICHAEL DUFFY
Staff Writer

After listening to four days of painful testimony in the trial of Arthur Clay McIntire, Ginny Crawford found it difficult to understand who was charged with a crime — the defendant or her son, Randal Wade Crawford, who was shot and killed on Jan. 9.

"Randal was not a horrible person like Hardy (Wilkerson) tried to make him sound," Ginny said. Wilkerson was the defense attorney representing McIntire who was convicted of voluntary manslaughter and sentenced to 16 years in prison on Oct. 6.

However, instead of a prison sentence, a six-man, six-woman Howard County jury ordered him to serve 10 years probation.

Preston Crawford, Randal's uncle, feels Wilkerson "took some information that was fact and built a case on that."

Preston knows something about the legal process. In February 1987 he was convicted of voluntary manslaughter in the Nov. 19, 1985 shooting death of 19-year-old Jimmy Yanez.

Preston said what was not brought out in the McIntire trial was the compassionate side of his nephew.

Only months before his death, Randal came to the aid of a 14-year-old boy who was being stabbed and beaten by several older youths, Preston recalled. "He took several stab wounds and blows to the head from a baseball bat, but when those kids realized that he was not going to give in they took off and ran. Randal didn't have to do that," he said.

It was extremely distressing for Ginny to hear the negative testimony about her son at the trial knowing there was no way she could defend her son's name.

"Randal helped a lot of kids and acted like a big brother. He helped a lot of people in the short time that he lived," Ginny said.

She disputes the insinuations of some at the trial that Randal had a drinking problem and doesn't believe that her son was nearly as drunk at the time of his death as pathologist Dr. Robert Rember testified.

Rember told the court that Randal's blood alcohol level was 20 — twice that considered legally intoxicated in Texas.

"I'm a nurse and Randal was pronounced dead at 1:50 a.m.

They didn't do the autopsy until about 10 the next morning. I really don't believe his (alcohol) level was even 10," Ginny said.

She explained that she saw Randal less than 12 hours before his death and he was in good spirits.

"He had just picked up his books (at Howard College) and he was full of life and vigor. It was the last time I saw him," Ginny said.

Preston said Randal was forced to grow up quickly following the

TROY FRASER

By SARAH LUMAN
Staff Writer

After a yearlong run for state office, Troy Fraser has grown comfortable campaigning.

"It's getting easier," he said during a recent farm tour sponsored by Holland Cottonseed. "I think it's gotten easier as we've gone along. I'm really enjoying this campaign."

Fraser, a Republican candidate for the 69th District State Representative's job, bases his appeal to West Texas voters on a "very conservative, very strong stand on the issues."

Working with one paid staff member, Fraser said he had run a "bare-bones" campaign — and still found the cost of running for office "shocking." The GOP provided limited money, making available his campaign manager, Jamie Walter, he said, and has been supportive with endorsements.

"President Reagan has targeted 70-some races across the nation in this election. Out of the more than 5,000 state representative's races, he has targeted mine, and I received his endorsement just the other day," Fraser said.

Other endorsements for Fraser have come from Sen. Phil Gramm, Judge Roy Barrera Jr. and such areawide supporters as Dorothy Garrett and Rich Anderson of Gail, Charles Wade of Monahans, Ted Westmoreland of Kermit and David Gomez of Big Spring.

During the farm tour, he shook hands and introduced himself to some 200 prospective voters. Fraser's campaign organization includes more than 1,000 volunteer workers, he said.

He can campaign full-time because he has turned most of his responsibilities in Fraser Industries to its management team in preparation for the way the business must be run if he's elected, he said.

"I'm lucky to have a business that's at a point where I can have an additional income if I'm elected," he said. He said he did not consider the $600-monthly state representative's salary a potential problem because of his business income and because "I do not plan to move to Austin."

Opposed to gun control, state income tax — or any other increase in state taxes — and further growth of state government, he said he favors tougher penalties for drug dealers, local control of school spending and tighter control on the state's outlays.

"I'm a very strong conservative," he said. "This race (with Johnnie Lou Avery, Democratic candidate for the 69th District State Representative post vacated in August by Larry Don Shaw) is not a Republican-Democrat race."

"This race is a race between a conservative and a liberal point of view," he said. "It's not a race where people can vote for a personality; people are going to have to decide where they stand politically."

He said he had heard many

JOHNNIE LOU AVERY

JOHNNIE LOU AVERY

By SARAH LUMAN
Staff Writer

Johnnie Lou Avery has added another string to her bow — she's a candidate for the Texas House of Representatives from the 69th District.

A positive-outlook Democrat, Avery seeks the chair vacated in August by former State Rep. Larry Don Shaw. Like her opponent, she is a well-known figure in Big Spring.

She built her consulting firm — Avery & Associates — from the ground up after working for many years as a professional educator, and says she took on the campaign out of loyalty to the party.

A former lobbyist with several years' experience in active politics, first-time candidate Avery is a staunch supporter of such conservative Democrats as U.S. Rep. Charles Stenholm, D-Stamford.

She said the cost of campaigning for the $7,200-per-year job shocked her. Avery cannot mount such a campaign from her own funds, she said, and so must turn to other sources — such as lobbyists.

"I will accept their money as long as it has no strings attached," she said. "I would much rather have 100 $10 gifts than 10 $1,000 gifts, but I don't have time to call 100 friends and ask for $10."

Avery, whose energy and enthusiasm have made her successful as a motivator and workshop director for large groups, also has a lengthy history of involvement in education, civic organizations, community work and political activism.

Her backing from Democratic leaders John Montford, Lloyd Bentsen, Charles Stenholm and such other legislators as Jim Rudd and Ray Farrabee offers her something she believes her opponent can't match: An existing coalition of legislative supporters Avery says can work together for West Texas.

She says she is a firm believer in keeping an open mind and studying all sides of an issue before choosing a position. She also notes that she is well-versed in the arts of negotiation and compromise, and promises that she will listen closely to her constituents and represent their concerns in Austin if elected.

She said she would support a tax increase to achieve solutions to Texas problems "if it were proven necessary."

Avery said she believes a quality education on all levels is a must — so teachers, programs and facilities must receive proper funding. "The fine-tuning and momentum of HB 72 must be continued."

She favors governmental intervention to promote economic diversity in Texas. "The state must take a more active role in developing new jobs and diversifying the Texas economy," Avery said, "and it must not forget West Texas."

She also said she believes public and private sectors must work together to solve agribusiness problems, and says Texas needs "a strong extension and research program, an open line to Washington, and a good highway/distribution system."

A statewide commitment to small business is necessary, she says, "because that is where the overwhelming share of new jobs is created. Austin and Washington must work together to control unnecessary regulations and spending, to allocate adequate funds to spur fair trade, faster growth, lower interest rates and more research."
Opposed to a state income tax, she says the Texas tax system "must be restructured. The Tax Equity Committee will have a full report with recommendations later this year, and discussion on that should be deferred until it is complete. The key word, however, is equity in taxes."
She also said she encourages efforts to require financial accountability from state agencies to insure progress.

On the energy issue, Avery said, "We are often a voice in the wilderness regarding the economic and social well-being of this nation in protecting our energy sources and supplies, being at the whim of distant, unfriendly foreign countries. We have to have a sensible, workable energy policy."
Her views on workmen's compensation are another area where she awaits further information, saying there is a labor and business committee studying the issue now.
She says an ample supply of quality water remains a concern for all Texans, and encourages state leaders to address this "number one long-term priority" by guaranteeing future water supplies.
She is in favor of stronger, tougher parole laws and the construction of adequate prisons to eliminate "unjustified early paroles. We need a stronger anticrime package," she said, to make the streets safer and cleanse "our schools, worksites and communities of illegal drugs."

She says intergovernmental cooperation is needed to address the problems of the aging and to help keep rural hospitals open throughout the district. "Medicaid funding for hospitals and nursing homes must be adequate, our TFW health science centers must be supported and the issue of AIDS must be actively addressed."
She also pledges not to give short shrift to the environment, secure an open line to Washington for veterans and the VA hospital in Big Spring, and strengthen the banking and finance industries.
Avery opposes Sunset Act closures of the Texas Education Agency, Higher Education Coordinating Board, Department of Agriculture and the Animal Health Commission.

voters express dislike of the way in which Shaw, who resigned his seat and moved to Austin, had been replaced on the November ballot.
"People come up and tell me, 'I'm a Democrat, Troy, but I'm going to vote for you because what they did isn't fair,'" Fraser said. Like some of them, he said, he will vote a split ticket this year: Fraser backs U.S. Rep. Charles Stenholm, D-Stamford, because of his work on behalf of West Texas.
"I believe there's an invisible wall along I-30, and we're just forgotten, almost written off out here in West Texas, by Austin," said Fraser.
He said he plans to serve the people of West Texas as a strong conservative voice in Austin who will also be a ready listener within the district.

"There's a need for compromise and negotiation, and I understand that," Fraser said. "But Shaw had gotten so deep into that Austin circle of trading votes and influence that he sold us out. He wasn't voting for the district — he was selling votes in Austin. That's something I just won't do."
His concerns include water, agriculture and agribusiness — particularly in relation to what he calls the "totally out of control" workmen's compensation system in Texas — industry, and economic development.
He is also concerned about education, he said, and is watching the developments in the Edgewood case. "That's a good example of the need to get more local control," he said, "not just in the school districts but in every aspect of the government.

"The state has a responsibility to its citizens to provide certain basic services," Fraser said. "But the state cannot provide all things to all people, and should not. We have to regain local control."
Pointing out that Texas had ended its fiscal year with a revenue surplus, he said there is "no reason for a tax hike. In fact, we should be trying to trim" the budget. "There's entirely too much money spent in the administration of programs in Austin."
"Local people should be making most of the choices in their government, in their school district, in their programs," he said. "We're slowly losing more and more of our local control, and we've got to go back in the other direction."

death of his father, Jackie, in November 1980. Jackie Crawford was killed in a traffic accident.
Five other close relatives died in 1980 and at age 13 Randal was forced to become the "man of the house."
"His friends started calling him Dad." He stepped in and did it (accepted the responsibility) well," Ginny said.
During the trial, a former Big Spring police sergeant testified that he arrested Randal on June 19, 1986 after he walked into the police station "extremely intoxicated," waving a .32-caliber pistol and stating he had killed someone, but later admitting he had tried to kill himself instead.
Preston said the death of Randal's grandfather — with whom he had been living at the time — prompted that behavior.
"A lot of people have had serious problems and contemplated suicide," he said.
Admitting that as a mother she is naturally biased, Ginny spoke of Randal's exploits on the football field while he was a member of the Coahoma junior varsity team and displayed numerous Big Spring Herald sports page clippings that mentioned her son prominently as a standout offensive and defensive player.

Preston called his nephew a "natural" in the sport.
"Randal broke a lot of bones in his body and still played. The other guys on the team couldn't believe it," he recalled.
Preston said Randal was "not the type of person to sit and mope around."
"He worked with me for three or four years as a plumber, but although I advised him against it, he was determined to get out of plumbing. The last year of his life he really knew what he was going to do," Preston said.
Ginny said he earned his GED, had enrolled at Howard College, joined the Navy and was scheduled to begin active duty in May.
Preston admitted Randal wasn't a "lily white saint."
"He drank and he did his share of hell raising. He was a typical American boy. He had some friends that I told him to stay away from, but he would just tell me what was good about them. He always stressed the positive."

Preston observed.
Randal's sister, Dawn Privett, said her brother displayed admirable qualities at a young age.
"His family was everything. He took on people three times his size that tried to hurt us. He usually lost, but he kept them from hurting us. He would sacrifice himself for other people," she said.
Asked if the circumstances surrounding his voluntary manslaughter conviction were similar to those of McIntire, Preston said he was forced into a life threatening situation and the sentence he received was fair.
"I shot and killed a young man, but I was being dragged by a car and was in fear for my life. I know there are people that don't agree with (probated sentence) it, but I don't care. There's only three people who know what happened that night — me, Jimmy Yanez, and he's dead, and Ruben Gonzalez and he was too drunk to know," Preston stated emphatically.

Culver stumps for support

By MICHAEL DUFFY
Staff Writer
Texas Supreme Court Justice Barbara Culver was able to see only a small portion of the presidential debate Thursday night because she was in Houston participating in a debate of her own involving 12 other candidates for the state's highest court.
Six Republicans, six Democrats and one Libertarian are competing for the six supreme court seats.
"I feel very good about the questions and about the answers I was able to give," she said.
Culver, a Republican, was in Big Spring Friday to address a luncheon gathering sponsored by the West Texas Republican Women at La Posada, 206 N.W. 4th St.
Appointed in January by Gov. Bill Clements to fill the seat vacated by Robert Kimball, Culver stressed her qualifications that include 25 years on the bench as a county and district judge in Midland.
She called her opponent, Jack Hightower, "a professional politician," whose only judicial experience was a two-year stint as first assistant under Attorney General Jim Mattox.
Culver earned a Bachelor of Arts degree in journalism from Texas Tech University and a law degree from Southern Methodist University.
Surprised by the large amount of money required to run a statewide campaign for the Texas Supreme Court, Culver said the first question Clements asked about her appointment to the bench was "How was I going to raise a million-and-a-half dollars? (for the November election)."
"Well, I'm going to raise $500,000 and that's a lot of money," she

BARBARA CULVER

Christi and El Paso, "but I can't get overconfident," Culver advised.
"Word of mouth is still the most important weapon, more important than all the advertising we can scrape together to buy," she said.
Saying she has been a "part of West Texas since 1951," Culver said "we can't afford to have what strength we have to be watered down."
The justice believes that Vice President George Bush is more in tune with the goals of Texans than his Democratic counterpart.
"George Bush reflects the interests of the Texas oil and gas industry," she observed.
Culver said if Dukakis carries Texas "no Midland County Republicans expect to be elected."
Responding to a question from a woman about minorities in the state, Culver said she has been impressed with the high number of "wonderful, bright Hispanic people."
"Women, blacks and Hispanics are considered minorities, but I think if you put us all together we'd be a majority. I think the court has been responsive to all parts of Texas," she said.
Voters in Texas should be "excited about this election," according to Culver, because it affords them the opportunity to select six new justices and put an end to the controversy surrounding the process of electing supreme court justices in Texas.
Culver said she has noticed a coming together of different factions who support her candidacy. She is the first woman supreme court justice in the history of the state and hopes to be the first one elected to office.

Peruvian woman recalls a 'serious, affectionate' Dukakis

LIMA, Peru (AP) — Blanca Nunez del Arco is back home after traveling to the United States to campaign for her "American son Miguel" — Democratic presidential candidate Michael Dukakis.

In an interview Saturday at her home in suburban Lima she said of her trip last month to New Jersey: "I wore campaign buttons. I went to the stores and shops and said 'Dukakis — Yes!' She spoke in Spanish but said 'Dukakis Yes!' in English.

She said Dukakis spoke Spanish "very well" when he lived with her family in Lima for eight months while he was a university exchange student in 1954 and 1955.

"From the first moment I treated him as if he were my own son," she told The Associated Press.

The Massachusetts governor has occasionally referred to his stay in Peru during the presidential campaign against Republican Vice President George Bush, and has used his facility with the Spanish language to address Hispanic audiences along the campaign trail.

The Nunez del Arco "family represents a lot to me as does the Peruvian family in general," Dukakis was quoted as saying in a recent interview in Noticias del

Mundo, a Spanish-language newspaper in New York.

Mrs. Nunez del Arco's comments offered a new glimpse of the 54-year-old candidate's more formative years.

Speaking of Dukakis' stay in Lima, she said, "He was very intelligent, very thoughtful. He wanted to learn everything about the world, especially the problems of Latin America."

"I explained the little that I knew," she said.

Mrs. Nunez del Arco denied allegations in the local press that Dukakis led a Bohemian life in Lima and once went to see but did not enter a famous brothel in La Victoria, a rough section of Lima.

"It is all lies. He did go to La Victoria, but he went with me to visit the shantytowns," she said.

Mrs. Nunez del Arco said she did part-time social work in the slums and Dukakis went with her on several occasions after he expressed an interest in understanding the problems of the poor.

She described Dukakis as a serious young man but affectionate. "He definitely is serious. He knows what he thinks and tells the truth. With me Miguel was never cold. He was always very affectionate."

She said that she and her husband Victor, a retired lawyer, and three of their children were greeted with "open arms" by Dukakis when they arrived in New Jersey on Sept. 26.

She recalled that Dukakis told them, "Here are my Peruvian parents. It's an emotional moment to have you at my side."

Dukakis studied political science and Spanish at San Marcos University in downtown Lima.

Mrs. Nunez del Arco said Dukakis had little time for socializing while in Lima. She said he was busy with classes and his studies, frequent trips with family members around the city and lengthy chats with her about Latin America.

"He was like an older brother to the children," she said, noting that her six children then ranged in age from 7 to 13. She jokingly refused to give her age.

Mrs. Nunez del Arco said Dukakis has written to her family several times a year since his visit to Peru and two of her children had stayed with the Dukakis family.

"I have a lot of faith in Miguel," she said. "His country and all countries are going to be better off with Dukakis. He has a great sense of social responsibility."

Suspect in First Federal robbery still unidentified

HERALD STAFF REPORT

Twenty-six days after First Federal Savings was robbed, authorities have few concrete leads as to the identity of the bandit.

Big Spring Police Capt. Lonnie Smith said the department continues to receive leads in the case that are being investigated.

Smith said the police department appreciates the public's cooperation.

"A lot of people have called to say this guy or that guy might have been involved and we follow up every lead," he said.

FBI Agent Tom Clark said he continues to compare possible similarities between other area robberies and the one in Big Spring, but so far no serious connections have been established.

"We have nothing new to report. The leads have pretty well dried up at this point and we don't have a suspect in custody," Clark said today.

Shortly before 1 p.m. on Sept. 20, a white male in his early 20s entered the savings and loan institution, located at 500 S. Main St., gave a teller a threatening note demanding money, and fled on foot with an undetermined amount of cash.

The suspect is described as being about five-feet, seven-inches tall with a slender build, thick, curly shoulder-length brown hair and very pronounced pock-mark scars on his face.

Authorities are still encouraging anyone who may have information about the suspect to contact the Abilene office of the FBI at (915) 677-6191; the Big Spring Police Department Criminal Investigation Division at 263-8311; or the Crimestoppers line at 263-1151.

Candidates

sen told a crowd at a farmers' market in St. Louis.

Bush's running mate, Indiana Sen. Dan Quayle, campaigned in Wisconsin, telling cheering supporters in Eau Claire and Appleton that the state "is going for George Bush."

At the University of Wisconsin at Eau Claire, he ran into demonstrators carrying signs questioning his military record. He brushed past them, saying, "See you after the election."

Dukakis has been striking back aggressively since Thursday night's debate, an encounter that polls indicate put him farther behind Bush.

He also has been hurt by tough Bush television ads accusing him of presiding over a Massachusetts prisoner-furlough system that gave a weekend pass to a murderer who later attacked a Maryland couple.

Dukakis said little about such charges for weeks but now addresses them vigorously and at length.

On Saturday, he called Bush "cynical and hypocritical" for seeking political gain from what Dukakis calls a tragic incident.

He spoke of murders in California by inmates on furlough during Ronald Reagan's governorship. And he said that while Bush has been vice president there have been thousands of federal prison furloughs and an incident last year in which an inmate on furlough raped and murdered a mother of two in Arizona.

Dukakis also speaks of a murder and rape committed by a man who escaped from a Houston halfway house Bush supported.

The governor said that he and Reagan took responsibility for their programs but that Bush has refused to take blame for his failures.

"Talk versus action, TV commercials versus results, that's what we're dealing with here," Dukakis said, comparing Bush and himself.

He noted his state's 14 percent decline in the rate of major crime, and its lowest homicide rate among industrial states. That progress, he said, resulted from his personal involvement in a statewide anti-crime council.

Bush, who like Dukakis has been in California all week, campaigned Saturday with actors Telly Savalas and Chuck Norris and singers Mike Love and Bruce Johnston of the Beach Boys.

"We're going to take the high road and leave the pessimism and the tearing down of America to somebody else," he said.

Armed robbery

Big Spring police are investigating the armed robbery of a convenience store early Saturday, according to Detective Sgt. Bill King.

A black male entered the Seven-Eleven Food Store, 300 Owens St., about 3:20 a.m., pointed a small handgun at a clerk and demanded money, King said.

The man fled with an unspecified amount of cash, King said.

The clerk was unharmed in the robbery, he said.

King noted that armed robberies are not common in Big Spring and said the "main concern" of the police department is that the clerk was not injured.

Sheriff's log

The Howard County sheriff's department reported the following incidents:

• Roy Geyer, Muskogee, Okla., was arrested on a charge of driving while intoxicated and unspecified Dallas County warrants. He is being held in lieu of bonds totaling $2,000.

• Sheriff's deputies investigated a domestic disturbance at Canyon Trailer Park early Saturday.

• A woman who resides in Howard County reported unknown persons took a watch valued at $350.

Protesters arrested

The band has performed for audiences ranging from White House guests to state fair crowds, and with musicians such as Charlie Daniels, The Statler Brothers and Juice Newton.

The group also performs throughout the United States in conjunction with Navy recruiting, and has appeared on the Grand Ole Opry, the Wheeling Jamboree and the nationally televised Country Music Awards show.

Senior Chief Musician Bill Emerson is the director of the band and performs on banjo and vocals. A Virginia Country Music Hall of Fame member, Emerson was a founder of Country Gentlemen and later enlisted to help establish Country Current.

Police beat

An 18-year-old Big Spring man suffered minor injuries early Saturday when the car he was driving crashed into a telephone pole, according to police reports.

Robert Lester Wilbanks, 1206 Harding St., told police he fell asleep while driving his car westbound on Old Highway 80 shortly after 4 a.m.

He was cited by police for failure to meet requirements upon striking a fixed object.

Big Spring police also reported investigating the following incidents:

• A man who resides in the 1600 block of Virginia Street reported unknown persons took a color television valued at $200.

• A man who resides in Gail reported unknown persons took a rifle and scope valued at nearly $200.

Opinion

Herald opinion

Who is to set punishment?

A guilty verdict of voluntary manslaughter in Big Spring has drawn a penalty that requires imprisonment. Such a report, in the opinion of some, is news in itself. But it may be more than that, and it will be interesting to see its impact on future trials involving slayings in this city and county. We have several on the horizon that will tell if a trend has been established or if an aberration has occurred.

Are people angered by a moniker on this city that Big Spring's the place to get away with murder? Perhaps. A 16-year sentence for such a crime stands in stark contrast to 10-year probations that have been levied against offenders found guilty of voluntary manslaughter in recent months.

Any number of reasons could have influenced the decision and the sentencing, but those reasons are meaningless for the time being. The decision and the sentence are now realities. One might wonder why the verdict was reached. There was a great deal of emotionalism and, at times, sensationalism during the course of the trial. Courthouse veterans report that nothing new went on, it was business as usual on the third floor.

If so, the question begs: Does emotionalism determine guilt, or do the facts determine guilt? Does emotionalism determine penalties, or do the facts and precedents determine penalties?

This does not question the judgment of the jury that did its job and its duty.

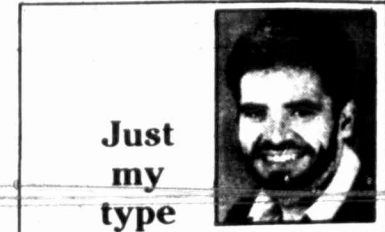

If facts and evidence are the core of your case and that case is soundly grounded with research and reason, than emotionalism and theatrics do not have a place in the proceedings.

And when emotionalism determines guilt and penalties, is justice served?

The business of the jury is best served by limiting it to the arena of guilt or innocence, provided that those who do the legal arguing prepare well and present well. Determining the penalty when the accused has been found guilty might better be left to an established sentence for a particular crime — otherwise a murder in one county might well be better committed in another county for the sake of punishment.

But always the evidence must succeed in convincing the jury that there is guilt without question for the charge being considered.

I knew Jack Kennedy, I served with Jack Kennedy. Senator Jack Kennedy was a friend of mine... You're no Jack Kennedy.

Change those debates?

By ROBERT WERNSMAN

I must confess, I had a jolly good time Thursday night.

Drama, comedy, politics — nearly everything that critics say make good television these days save romance and violence — were displayed during the last presidential debate of this season. And at the price of admission, how can you complain?

Well, now that you mention it, yes there may be a few complaints to lodge against the debates.

I don't expect that the League of Women Voters or anyone else involved in organizing the debates in 1992 will come running to Big Spring to learn how they can be improved — but if they do, I'll be prepared.

Let's begin by clearing the hall, unless the people know how to behave. Behavior modification techniques? I'd suggest that if you're going to invite an audience they understand they're welcome only if they can sit quietly and listen. If not? Escort them through the same door they entered. A few examples and the crowd would get the message, I'm sure.

That would minimize the interruptions and remove the partisanship displayed. The fact is that the audience was not necessary for my appreciation of what was being said, nor for the candidates to make their points. They were merely window dressing and they need to be silent. Booming anywhere, anytime, is crass.

Was audience noise the worst of it? Hardly.

What else might I change when the debate wizards seek my advice? We'd have more debates. One a week between now and Nov. 8 sounds about right.

With all due respect for his office, I believe the vice president is wrong that the people of the United States are tired of debates. In fact, I'd say he is about 62 million wrong.

That's how many chose to watch the debates, at least in part, and that tells me something that these two seem to ignore too much of the time: We are more interested in the issues of this campaign than the presidential candidates appear willing to admit.

So, you say, we didn't have much choice — the debates were on all three major networks and a fourth news cable station. Choice? In this age? Let me think what I might have done otherwise: re-runs, ballgames, game shows, satellite, cable, video rentals, good books, a sunset, a cool West Texas breeze — there was much to enjoy if I didn't want to be burdened with the heavy responsibility of listening to the two men who want to lead this country for at least the next four years.

I, and 61,999,999 other folks, decided that what we really wanted to do Thursday night was hear how they answered specific questions, without the opportunity to ramble too far afield for too long a time.

Besides the question of any more debates, I disagree with George Bush on some other things including the need to face the burgeoning federal deficit that threatens our economic stability. However, there was no question — as a result of Thursday's debate we can easily say there are enough specific differences between these two that it won't be hard to decide who to vote for.

I fault Michael Dukakis also for not stepping forward and declaring: "I'll debate, anytime, anywhere. Just say when." He missed a golden moment.

Instead we have been sentenced to three more weeks of cross-country campaigning, where both candidates (and their underlings) do all they can to knock the legs out from under their opponents, throwing about figures and statements like so many discarded remnants with little chance of being confronted by facts.

I didn't think either candidate was diminished by the controlled circumstances of the debate. For the most part they came across as more professional than at other times during this campaign — one that has been faulted for its lack of substance even by politicians with bad reputations.

That's what I'd change — plus, let's take off the ties one time, guys. Relax just a little and prove that you're just folks beneath those tailored suits.

Gun control from the other side of the scope

By JESSE TREVINO

Case No. 88-2840877 is now a file with the Austin Police Department.

As an aggravated assault, it is not that unusual. Last year, in the instances most familiar to readers, Californians drove paralyzed with fear as guns were emptied into cars on the Los Angeles freeways. Then it started happening in Texas, but it soon abated.

Last week, it happened in a residential section of Austin. A silver pellet ripped through an open car window and cut into the throat of the front seat passenger. I was that passenger. The doctor said a difference of an inch would have resulted in penetration of the larynx and more serious injury.

The fear and shock of being randomly attacked have proved more serious than the physical injury. But in the aftermath, my thoughts turned angrily to the crime-related issues in the current non-campaign for president.

Perhaps my reaction has been intensified because gun control is so hot an issue in Texas. My attitude toward guns has always been complacent. Reared in South and West Texas, the guns I came to know and respect were my father's hunting rifles.

They were trained on deer, coyotes, and rabbits, not humans. With this background, I have always turned the other cheek on gun control — partly out of courtesy to my compatriot Texans, some of whom are rabid on the subject, but also because I believe we should strive for more, not less, freedom for the individual.

But my experience last week is of particular interest in light of the misinformation being peddled by George Bush about Michael Dukakis' stand on gun control.

Bush has swamped Texans with literature proclaiming the peril of their firearms under a President Dukakis. Bush's allegations are just that. They are supported by the National Rifle Association.

In its attempts to derail any and all gun legislation, the NRA handles the truth like guns handle so many humans — the organization victimizes it.

This year, the NRA waged its typical hysterical campaign against modest gun reform proposals. In its wake, the organization even sought to protect the plastic-coated bullets now being imported by drug traffickers.

These new bullets pierce even the hardest armor, and drug dealers are using them to maim and kill policemen. Surely, this is one reason for the diametric opposition of most law enforcement groups to NRA positions.

Thus, the Bush-NRA nonsense is offensive because it is so wild and radical, besides being untrue. The Bush gun control propaganda is inconsistent, too.

For example, Republicans claim to be tough on crime. They deride the Massachusetts prison furlough program which is similar to programs in more than 20 states.

Appalled at the system

To the editor:

I am proud to be an American citizen and a native citizen of this great state of Texas, but I am appalled at our judicial system.

I am Clay McIntire's aunt, and I am proud of that. His trial was like a three-ring circus. The D.A. and his office staff acted out of character for the office in which they hold. The manner in which they acted was deplorable. These are elected officials of our county and should act accordingly. He made sarcastic remarks, harassed the witnesses, and made improper jokes throughout the trial. His assistant constantly came in and out of the courtroom. His secretary repeatedly opened and shut the back door. All in all they caused a disturbance.

The D.A. let his witnesses sit just outside the courtroom and harass our family. The court bailiff and the assistant were both informed about this and nothing was done until we went down to the sheriff's office, and they came up and put a stop to it.

Also, I do not feel that an elected official of the city should have been allowed to sit on a trial that was so closely related to the city. I'm sure his influence hung heavily on the jurors.

The gun expert that was brought in didn't even test the gun with live ammunition. How can you make a fair judgment by just hitting the floor with an unloaded gun?

Any 18-year-old who shot a person, accidentally or otherwise, would not act in a rational manner. The D.A. tried to convince the jurors about how Clay should have acted. No one who has not experienced such a tragedy can say how you react, and too, everyone reacts differently.

I don't know who told the assistant D.A. that he could "rot in hell," but that was after he asked "what about Randal Crawford?"

My husband told him we did not need to hear anymore about Randal Crawford, we had heard it for four days and to let it ride. The D.A.'s office and staff should have had the "dignity" to have left the courtroom and let us be alone together.

When Clay got into trouble as a juvenile, and paid his restitution, we were told that when he turned 17 the files would be sealed and destroyed; that what happens as a juvenile could not and would not ever be known. A sealed document in the juvenile probation officer's office is only a folder laying on her desk. Where is the protection of our children?

A law was passed last year in the legislature that when someone is charged with murder their juvenile files can be opened, but only by a court order by a district judge. They failed to inform Clay about the change of law, therefore when he was asked if he had ever been in trouble before, he said no. Then the D.A. said he lied. I call that unreasonable.

The reporter reported (Oct. 7) that the jurors were led one-by-one quickly out of the courtroom, starting at Clay and Lilo, and showed no emotion. I believe if I had just sentenced a 19-year-old, with a wife and 4-week-old baby to 16 years to the Texas state penitentiary, I would have had some very high emotions, of some kind.

But I will say Michael Duffy did give an accurate account of the week's proceedings in the Sunday Oct. 9 paper.

Everyone was glad that justice was served. I see no justice in such a stiff sentence for an accidental shooting that was committed by someone who had never been in trouble, never caused any trouble and was sorry beyond words for what he had done. So where is — and justice for all?

Finally: A miracle at last

To the editor:

I must confess that I had almost lost faith (life having been so normal and so predictable lately) and had nearly reached the conclusion that the day of miracles has surely passed. Then there broke in upon my complacent disbelief last week's (Wednesday, October 5) AP story about Operation Rescue in Atlanta — the one reporting conflicting claims about police brutality.

Since over a week has passed without a correction or retraction, I must assume that the facts relayed in the original story are correct — and a miracle has occurred! According to the writer of the story, a Mr. Gene Guerrero, executive director of the Georgia chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union, "said Operation Rescue was going beyond the limits of free speech." Further, Mr. Guerrero was quoted as stating, "There is a real interference now."

Now, to my knowledge, never before has any official of the (infamous?) ACLU acknowledged the existence of any limits on free speech whatsoever. It hasn't been too long, after all, since the ACLU, while deploring the murder of a small boy during an SM child pornography photo session, asserted absolute constitutional protection of the publication of the pictures of the boy's naked body with the butcher knife protruding from his chest.

Can the ACLU be moving in the direction of sanity? Amazing! Miracles do still happen. I truly do hope so, especially if the nation elects as its next president Michael Dukakis, who is an avowed "card-carrying member of the ACLU" and proud of it.

On further consideration, it does make sense that this miraculous ACLU acknowledgement of "limits" to free speech should be provoked by anti-abortion protestors expressing their distress over the butchery of unborn children by peacefully blockading the doors to abortion clinics. I wonder if the ACLU would acknowledge "limits on free speech" if the time were the early 1960s instead of the late 1980s and if the protestors were blacks treated as second-class citizens instead of pro-life advocates. Would the ACLU consider it "real interference" if it were "whites only" lunch counters in Birmingham being blockaded instead of abortion clinics in Atlanta?

Well, I suppose faith in miracles spawns its questions; but, I am happy to know that miracles do still occur.

Study: Deficit cost nation jobs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The $170.3 billion trade deficit the United States suffered last year cost the country 5.1 million jobs in manufacturing and associated services, according to a study released Saturday by a labor-backed research institute.

The Economic Policy Institute sought to determine how many jobs would have been created if the record trade deficit had been completely eliminated and imports and exports had been in balance.

The report concluded that 5.1 million jobs had been lost because trade was not in balance, with 3.1 million of those jobs in manufacturing and the other 2 million in related industries, such as business services.

The study said the job losses had been spread evenly around the country with 1.43 million in the West, 1.38 million in the Midwest, 1.29 million in the Northeast and 1.04 million in the South.

Comments irk conservatives

WASHINGTON (AP) — In his two months as attorney general, Dick Thornburgh has disappointed a number of conservatives who feel he has tried to get political mileage out of making what they regard as veiled attacks on his predecessor, Edwin Meese III.

Thornburgh denies suggestions that any of his actions have been aimed at Meese, who the former Pennsylvania governor has known since the early days of the Reagan administration when Meese was White House counselor.

"What I have tried to do is to dampen the enthusiasm for Ed Meese-bashing that seemed to be prevailing prior to my coming here," Thornburgh said in an interview Friday. "If anybody's going to be bashed it ought to be me. I'm the attorney general. I can take it."

Nuns barricaded in infirmary

MORRIS TOWNSHIP, N.J. (AP) — Five nuns locked in a spiritual battle over the intrusion of the modern world into their cloistered lives approached the end of their second week barricaded in their monastery's infirmary.

Their diocesan leader, Bishop Frank Rodimer, is calling the increasingly tense standoff within the Roman Catholic Church a scandal and says it stems mainly from personality differences. The dispute has even involved the Vatican, 1979 Nobel Prize winner

Mother Teresa of Calcutta and, indirectly, Walt Disney and Julie Andrews.

The Carmelite nuns at the Monastery of the Most Blessed Virgin Mary of Mount Carmel are cloistered, ordinarily having no contact with the outside world.

But the five rebels have a spokeswoman, 28-year-old Sister John of the Cross, who has handled the media with a touch of savvy while explaining that the five are fighting the introduction of modern conveniences into the monastery.

Nevada gambles on wet winter

RENO, Nev. (AP) — Water experts in this gambling state have staked their savings on what is at best an even-odds bet for a wet winter, draining most of western Nevada's drought-depleted reservoirs to keep faucets flowing this fall.

"We'll get through this year. But we're going to go into next year with basically everything empty," said Bob Firth, water resources manager for Westpac Utilities.

The principal reservoir for the Reno area is Lake Tahoe, the scenic resort destination for tourists astride the Nevada-California border. Its boat docks were on dry land early this summer, and Thursday its feeble flow to Reno went dry altogether when its level dropped below the spillways for the first time in 11 years.

Anticipating the loss of Tahoe's overflow, Westpac Utilities has been tapping Donner Lake, just across the state line in California, and is pumping as much groundwater as the state will allow to supply its 50,900 customers around Reno.

The Reno area is in a stage-three drought alert.

55 arrested after abortion protests

By The Associated Press

More than 50 opponents of abortion were arrested Saturday outside a clinic in Indianapolis, while another anti-abortion demonstration in Jackson, Miss., was peaceful.

In Atlanta, meanwhile, scene of three months of anti-abortion demonstrations, of the 463 arrested outside four clinics earlier this month, only seven remained in jail over the weekend.

In Indianapolis, some 150 to 200 protesters gathered outside Affiliated Women's Services on the city's west side, said Lois Bennett, director of the clinic.

The protesters, some of them children, sat before the entrance to the clinic, locked arms and sang the spiritual "The Battle Hymn of the Republic." They refused to move when Marion County deputies asked them, and some were carried away one by one, Bennett said. Fifty-five were arrested.

The clinic was prepared for the demonstration and had about 25 escorts on hand to accompany clients, about 30 of whom were scheduled for visits Saturday morning, Bennett said. "We had a couple of cancellations and reschedules," she said.

More than 450 people were arrested in Atlanta earlier this month after the anti-abortion group calling itself Operation Rescue began picketing and blocking entrances at clinics in that city. About 1,200 demonstrators have been arrested in Atlanta since the protests began during the Democratic National Convention in July.

In Jackson, Miss., about 75 abortion protesters chanted, prayed, and held signs in front of three clinics where abortions are performed, during what group leaders called Operation Rescue II.

Roy McMillan, head of the Christian Action Group that sponsored the protest, told the protesters they were trying to "warn people of the evil way" of abortion.

At the Mississippi Women's Medical Clinic, an unidentified female protester had a confrontation with security personnel because she trespassed while trying to stop two women from entering the clinic.

"Please don't kill your babies," the protester yelled at the women.

Police arrived to arrest the woman, but she reportedly had left.

Among those still in jail in Atlanta were Richard Cowden-Guito and James McWilliams, who were arrested in a July 19 demonstration.

Vatican pleas for contributions

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican was in the red by nearly $64 million last year, its second-largest deficit ever, according to a financial statement issued Saturday by the Holy See.

Church officials who released the document appealed to Roman Catholics to contribute more so that the Vatican could "adequately carry out its pastoral mission."

It was the ninth year in a row that the administrative center for the world's 850 million Catholics has operated at a loss.

The deficit will be covered by $50 million from "Peter's Pence," the annual offering from Catholics to the pope, and the rest by reserve funds, a news release said.

The Vatican said its 1987 deficit was 74.6 billion Italian lire, down from a record 76.6 billion a year earlier. Using the 1987 end-of-year exchange rate, the church said the 1987 figure equalled $63.8 million.

Serbs rally for provincial control

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — More than 200,000 Serbs rallied Saturday in four towns to push demands for Serbian control over two neighboring autonomous provinces.

The Communist Party leader of the northern republic of Slovenia said meanwhile that the country is "on the threshold of imposing emergency measures" after violent demonstrations.

"We have to sober up and stop this insanity," said leader Milan Kucan.

His speech at an official rally in Slovenia came during intense politicking before a meeting of the national Communist Party's Central Committee. The meeting, starting Monday, is expected to shake up Yugoslavia's leadership during its worst crisis since World War II.

Hundreds of thousands of Serbs demonstrated in Sombor in autonomous Vojvodina province near the Hungarian border; and in Leskovac, 90 miles south of Belgrade in the republic of Serbia.

Conditions wretched for refugees

KHARTOUM, Sudan (AP) — Relief workers trying to stop famine deaths in the southwest spoke Saturday of feeding refugees so wretched they can't afford clothing and live in huts fashioned from sticks and scrub undergrowth.

Death from starvation is an everyday occurrence in the refugee camps, although the toll has tapered off to 10 daily from 80 a day in July and August, the worst months in a summer that some relief officials say took up to 10,000 lives. The tiny town of Abyei, 500 miles southwest of Khartoum, has become a gathering place for people dispossessed in a bitter civil war that is largely ignored by the world.

Just beyond the reach of the fighting, it also became the target of a U.S.-financed supply mission aiming to airlift 90 tons of food.

"The people in Abyei are totally emaciated," said Cole Dodge, Khartoum representative of UNICEF.

Hirohito's vital signs stabilize

TOKYO (AP) — Emperor Hirohito's vital signs stabilized Saturday, but doctors were concerned about his worsening anemia and jaundice, palace officials said.

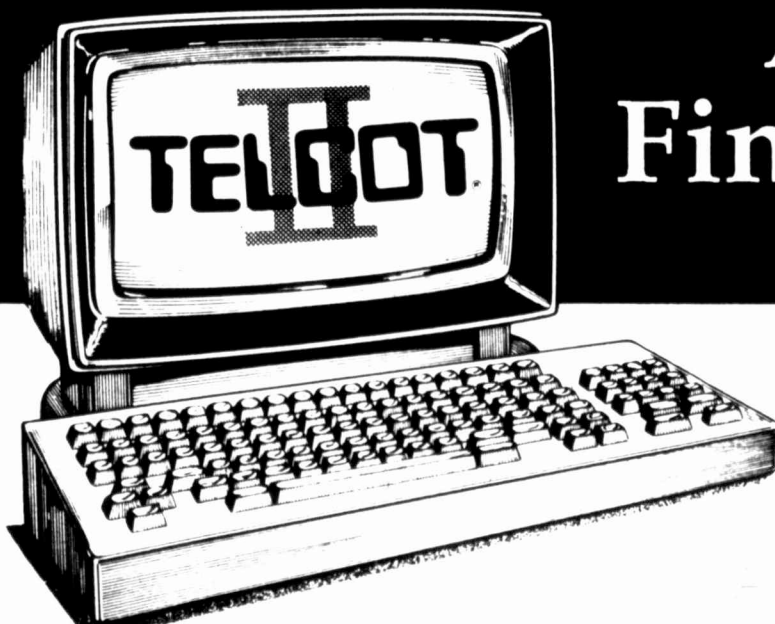

The 87-year-old emperor's temperature, which went above 100.4 degrees on Friday, declined to 99.1 degrees Saturday night. His normal temperature is about 98.9 degrees.

Physicians gave the emperor another 0.84 pints of blood to help counteract his anemia and internal bleeding, palace officials said. "His condition as a whole is leveling off," said Kenji Maeda, Imperial Household Agency spokesman. "But the blood transfusion was given to improve his condition, particularly his anemia."

The world's longest-reigning living monarch has been bedridden since Sept. 19, when he vomited a large amount of blood because of an intestinal hemorrhage. He has received a total of 16.6 pints of blood since then.

Private problems tarnish mayor's image

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Mayor Henry Cisneros, the popular Hispanic official who used his charm, political and language skills to catapult his city into the national spotlight, has become the latest politician whose private problems succumbed to his public obligations.

The 41-year-old mayor, who has announced he will not seek reelection to a fifth mayoral term next spring and does not want to seek a statewide office in 1990, talked Friday about his close, personal relationship with his former political fund-raiser, Linda Medlar, 39.

The mayor is a former president of the National League of Cities who has served on bilateral commissions, was interviewed in 1984 as a Democratic vice presidential running mate and has met with Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev.

But while he was jetting across the globe, trying to attract new industries to the city, his marriage to Mary Alice Cisneros steadily was deteriorating.

The mayor spoke Friday about his relationship with Mrs. Medlar after the San Antonio Express-News reported the pair were romantically involved.

"I am saying that I am a human being in addition to being mayor, that I am not perfect and that I have various kinds of needs of friendship and support," Cisneros said.

"I am sorry that I haven't been able to present a completely, compact and tightly packaged finish to my period as mayor, but human problems being what they are I don't know there is any way to avoid that," he said.

"You can't change your basic mix of human composition. You can suppress things and you can guide them and discipline yourself in a thousand ways, yet human nature and the spirit seeks the sustenance it needs and the happiness it needs," he said.

What Cisneros had wanted to do was to get away from public life, go into the private sector, straighten out his problems with his wife, which might have included a divorce, and then provide for his teen-age daughters, Teresa and Mercedes, and look after the medical needs of his ailing toddler, John Paul Anthony.

But the Express-News article detailing Mrs. Medlar's love for the mayor changed that.

"He's the love of my life," she said. "I've never before met such a charming, talented man. Our rapport is marvelous and we hope to be able to live out the rest of our lives together."

The mayor talked about the relationship, his marital problems, but said he was committed to the city for the next eight months and planned to serve out his term.

Some officials believe the mayor can get his personal problems worked out, make some money and return to politics.

"I imagine there may be some people jumping to rash judgment and it might affect his performance," said John T. Garcia, state director of the League of United Latin American Citizens.

"I guess he has to bring it out in public because he is a public figure, but it is a matter between he and his wife. If there is a family break it will be sad, but think he will remain a guiding light in our community," Garcia said.

Cisneros, who makes less than $5,000 a year as mayor, earns most of his yearly salary on honorariums paid for his lectures or writings. He said he didn't know how the revelations would affect that income.

"This takes the mystique away from Henry Cisneros. Henry's now one of us. He's an ordinary human being," said Ruben Bonilla, a Corpus Christi attorney and former national president of LULAC.

Cisneros said he thought the public would give him time to work out his problems and he hoped he would continue to inspire children to continue with their education.

Humane Society to need home for cats

FORT WORTH (AP) — The dogs put up a howl about their new roommates at an animal shelter.

So authorities are hunting a good home for two large cats found in a North Texas residence.

How large? About 175 pounds each. And even though they've been declawed, officials say the Bengal tigers still have their fangs.

The tigers were discovered Thursday night at a residence near the Wise County community of Fairview. Sheriff's deputies seeking a suspect found the house abandoned except for the two caged tigers.

They've been turned over to the Humane Society of North Texas, which has moved them into the "large dog" room of their shelter.

However, they're pretty friendly when not waiting for lunch, said Dolores Barr, the Humane Society's cruelty coordinator.

Legislator says open government resisted

HARLINGEN (AP) — Many public officials in Texas continue to resist laws designed to ensure open government, a state legislator said Saturday.

"The reason they close the doors and act behind closed doors is to keep the public from knowing what they did so they will not be held responsible during election time," State Rep. Juan Hinojosa said at a symposium on the Texas Open Meetings and Open Records acts.

Hinojosa, who during the last legislative session was the House sponsor of a bill strengthening the Open Meetings Act, said most elected officials are honest, but some are not and many simply do not understand laws and the state and federal constitutions.

"In many areas you have a lot of officials who are very parochial, very narrow-minded, who don't know what they're doing," Hinojosa, a Democrat from McAllen, said during a symposium titled "Responsible Rights: Government in the Sunshine."

The symposium was part of a series of sessions the Freedom of Information Foundation of Texas and the State Bar of Texas are sponsoring in different areas of the state.

Hinojosa said he is considering legislation that would further strengthen the acts, particularly in the area of closed-door "executive sessions." The legislator said he would like to see a requirement that executive sessions be tape-recorded.

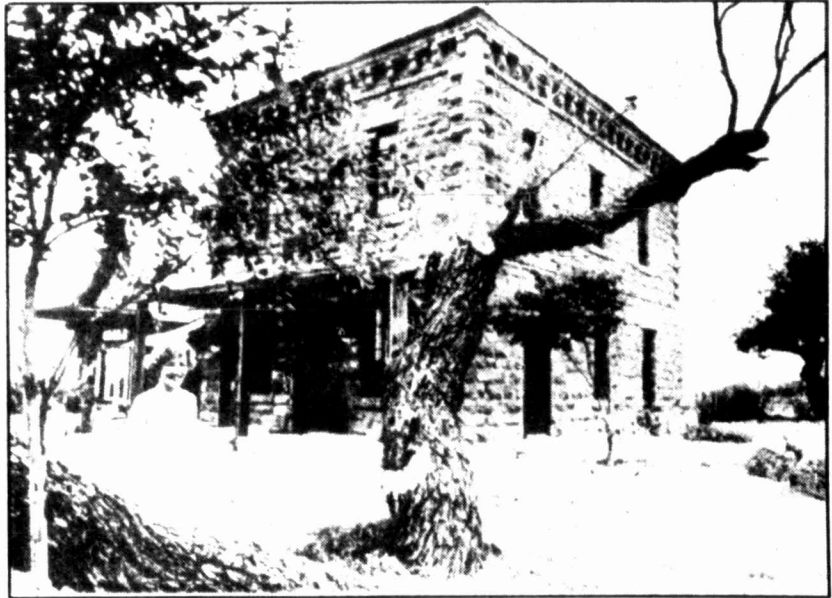

In the area of open records, Jennifer Riggs, chief of the Open Government Section of the Texas attorney general's office, said officials sometimes withhold public records from reporters in the hope that there will be no story written without the documents.

"Write about the fact that you didn't get the information," she told journalists in the audience of about 75, which also included lawyers, elected officials and government employees.

While the law provides 22 cases in which officials may deny access to certain types of information, Ms. Riggs said the burden is always on the government to show why the information should not be released.

"Putting the information through a shredder is not a legitimate response to an open records request," she added.

A relatively new threat to open government, the assistant attorney general cited, is a trend toward hiring private consultants to perform governmental functions.

College changes name

FORT WORTH (AP) — Texas Wesleyan College is becoming Texas Wesleyan University.

The school's trustees voted Friday to change the name effective Jan. 9, 1989, the start of the spring semester.

Throughout the United States and in many other countries the common definition of a college is an institution offering undergraduate degrees only, whereas the term 'university' signifies an institution offering both undergraduate and graduate degrees," said James Nichols, chairman of the board of trustees.

Texas Wesleyan College, with an average enrollment of 1,500, offers 56 and master's degrees in education and in nurse anesthesia.

Texas ranks low in support enforcement

WASHINGTON (AP) — Texas' child-support enforcement program ranks among the worst in the country, according to a congressional study of how well the states and federal government ensure separated parents financial support for their children.

A spokesman for Attorney General Jim Mattox, who runs the Texas child enforcement program, blamed the state's low funding coupled with its huge caseload for the ranking.

"Texas spends less money on child support than any other state in the nation," said the spokesman, Ron Dusek. "We have one of the largest caseloads in the country and yet we have the fewest staff to handle these cases."

Prepared by the staff of the House Ways and Means Committee, the report gave enforcement programs in Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Mississippi and West Virginia a failing grade of F. Also getting the lowest grade possible were the District of Columbia and Guam, but Guam might have failed because of a lack of data, the report noted.

The rankings were based on a state's ability to establish paternity in cases of unmarried women; child support collection rates; the cost effectiveness of the program; interstate collections; and ability to reduce welfare costs. Grades were set on a curve.

Dusek said some problems mentioned in the study have since been remedied, and Texas just had another record year in collections, taking in $100 million in child support for the fiscal year that ended on Aug. 31.

"Federal rankings by the federal government put Texas fifth in the nation in the most improved category," Dusek said. "We may be at the bottom but we're rising fast. We simply don't have the staff to handle the caseload."

Dusek said there are 370,000 open cases in Texas, the third most populous state. Texas' child enforcement budget is $26 million, compared with around $120 million each in California and New York.

There are nearly 9 million mothers with children whose fathers do not live with them, and only about 2 million of those families received their full child support payments in 1985, said Rep. Thomas Downey.

The funds come from the federal government, but are based on a formula that requires the states to contribute some seed money. Thus, the more the state puts in the greater the federal return and ultimately, the program can become totally federally funded, Dusek said.

But he said the Texas Legislature has refused to allow the federal government to totally fund the program.

Mattox, however, plans to ask the governor and the Legislative Budget Board next week to consider putting another $4.5 million into the program. The federal return would be about $13 or $14 million, Dusek said.

The congressional study said Michigan's program ranks best in the nation, with only three other states receiving an A. Delaware, New Jersey and North Dakota. The federal program received a C.

There are nearly 9 million mothers with children whose fathers do not live with them, and only about 2 million of those families received their full child support payments in 1985. Another 1 million families received partial payments, and almost 6 million received nothing, said Rep. Thomas Downey, D-N.Y., acting chairman of the subcommittee on public assistance and unemployment compensation.

"Lack of child support from their fathers pushes many of these children into poverty," the report said.

Both parties call Texas votes critical

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas, Richard Nixon's "big enchilada" of presidential politics, is being fought over with name-calling, negative ads, charges, counter-charges and more this year in a bitter campaign that each side calls critical for national success.

"Of course we're going to win. Losing is not in the game plan. Texas is the keystone of the strategy of the campaign," said John Weaver, director of George Bush's state campaign.

"We'll win. We're competitive in George Bush's home state right now. The debate is shifting, and the election Nov. 8 will be determined on which team can lead us into a strong economic future," said Tom Cosgrove, Michael Dukakis' state political director.

Recent polls give Bush the edge, but Democrats say that gap is closing.

"There's no question Dukakis has taken some real body blows down here. But I don't think he's gone in Texas. I think he is behind, and it's going to be very tough, but with a few breaks here and there he could come out of this," said George Christian, Austin political consultant and former press secretary to Lyndon Johnson. "I don't think either one of these candidates has attracted any sort of confidence level to the extent that Reagan did in 1984. People have not felt as warmly toward either one as they did toward Ronald Reagan," Christian said.

Part of that may be due to the tone of each campaign.

"We've been hit with the most negative, hypocritical campaign. All of Bush's lead in Texas is built on negatives, negatives, negatives," charged Ed Martin, executive director of the Texas Democratic Party.

The Dukakis campaign has responded with charges that Bush has "been AWOL" while the Texas economy collapsed and that the Republican is distorting the Democrat's record.

Republicans, who referred to Dukakis as "Meltdown Mike" and aired TV commercials accusing him of building a revolving gate on Massachusetts prisons, say the Democrats are howling because the offensive has worked.

"I hear that (mudslinging charge) from Democrat leaders. I don't hear that from the rank-and-file at all.

Drug tests have high rate of inaccuracy

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — A study concluded that laboratories fail to detect illegal drugs in urine as much as 31 percent of the time, a finding that a civil libertarian said was troubling because of the increasingly common practice of testing workers.

And even though the labs' percentage of "false positives" — in which drugs were indicated in urine when none were present — was just 1.3 percent to 1.6 percent, experts said that still was a cause for concern.

A rate of 1.6 percent meant that 16 people out of 1,000 could be falsely accused of illegal drug use.

The survey of 50 labs by Research Triangle Institute was published in today's Journal of the American Medical Association.

"What's disturbing are that adverse decisions on people's lives are being made on the basis of laboratory results that may not be reliable," Loren Siegel, special assistant to the executive director of the American Civil Liberties Union in New York, told The News and Observer of Raleigh.

"Millions of job applicants are being tested," he said. "Those tests are not generally followed up by confirmatory tests."

The error rate reported in the study was much higher than some other surveys, partly because it scored the results differently and partly because it set stricter thresholds for accuracy.

The study's principal author, Kenneth H. Davis Jr., said it showed that the accuracy of drug-testing labs across the country is "in need of remedy."

The study was carried out under federal contract to the National Institute on Drug Abuse to help the federal government establish standards for accrediting drug-testing laboratories. Until recently, the federal government has not regulated the accuracy of drug testing.

The survey, conducted in the fall of 1986, monitored 50 labs in an "open" fashion, meaning they knew when they were being monitored. Of those 50, 40 also agreed to allow "blind" tests where they would be monitored without their knowledge.

When the labs knew they were being checked, the rate of "false negatives" — failing to detect drug traces in urine samples — was only 17 percent, compared with 31 percent when they did not know they were under scrutiny.

Furlough program successful, despite political accusations

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — The use of furloughs for prisoners in the United States is widespread, successful and marred by few problems, according to an independent journal for corrections professionals.

The issue of furloughs for prisoners serving life sentences has been debated in the presidential campaign, with charges by Vice President George Bush that Massachusetts Gov. Michael Dukakis' state program was the most liberal in the nation.

But Marj Marlette, editor of Corrections Compendium, said a survey done for the journal didn't support Bush's claim.

"Our survey didn't indicate that the Massachusetts program was that much different from those in the two-thirds of the state corrections systems which allow furloughs for lifers," she said.

The survey was done by Contact Center, Inc., a Lincoln-based non-profit information referral service for criminal justice and human services. It showed that of all states, the Federal Bureau of Prisons and the District of Columbia have some form of furlough or temporary release program.

Thirty-six states, the federal system and that in the District of Columbia allow furloughs for lifers. In 1987 at least two states allowed prisoners sentenced to life without parole to become eligible for furlough, the survey said.

"Our survey didn't indicate that the Massachusetts program was that much different from those in the two-thirds of the state corrections systems which allow furloughs for lifers," — Marj Marlette, editor of an independent journal for corrections professionals.

Bush has cited the case of Willie Horton Jr., a convicted murderer who brutally slashed a Maryland man and twice raped his fiancée last year after escaping in 1986 while on a Massachusetts furlough. Massachusetts no longer allows furloughs for prisoners convicted of first degree murder and serving life without parole.

In 1987, Massachusetts granted 5,857 furloughs, and all but three were completed without incident under the terms of the furloughs, according to information provided for the survey. The three unsuccessful furloughs involved rule violations such as being involved in alcohol or drugs, she said.

Last year, Massachusetts granted furloughs to 1,373 lifers and all of them were completed successfully, according to the survey.

Twenty-two states reported no problems or few problems with the program. Eleven states reported that some furloughs were unsuccessful because inmates committed another crime while on furlough.

"Most often those were escapes, but we don't have a breakdown on how many of those involved lifers escaping in each state. As I said before, the problems were mostly with late returns, drugs or alcohol or some other rule violations. None involved violent crimes," she said.

An estimated 200,000 furloughs were granted in 1987, with more than 53,000 inmates involved. Nearly half of the prison systems reported that their furloughs were 98 percent successful. Mississippi, Nevada, North Dakota, South Dakota, Wisconsin and Washington reported 100 percent success. All but three states — Hawaii, Oregon and North Carolina — had success rates over 90 percent, Marlette said.

"Virtually every system considered furloughs helpful in preparing inmates for release and improving institutional morale," she said.

Lack of child care hurts business growth

BOSTON (AP) — The lack of child care in businesses costs the economy about $3 billion a year, jeopardizing economic growth as more women are needed to enter the workforce, the head of a national child care coalition said Saturday.

Declining birth and labor force growth rates mean that two-thirds of new jobs will have to be filled by women between now and 1995, said Barbara Reisman, executive director of the Child Care Action Committee in Washington, D.C.

"It's fairly clear that the lack of child care is an impediment to entering the workforce," said Reisman, in Boston for a conference of the Massachusetts Association of Day Care Agencies.

Educators to reject dull school texts

MONTEREY, Calif. (AP) — In a blow against dull and contrived reading material, California's Board of Education has moved to reverse the "dumbing down" of student textbooks and recapture the magic of reading.

The 11-member board on Friday approved a list of 25 children's books educators said will replace stultifying, formula-dictated texts with literature and classics of richness and diversity.

California, with 11 percent of the nation's annual $1.5 billion textbook expenditure, has great clout with the publishers.

The board agreed that the new books will go a long way toward reviving the magic of reading for youngsters, and exposing them to good writing.

The exercises in the books stress comprehension rather than single-word fill-in-the-blank answers that do little to help kids understand what they have read. Textbooks determine an estimated 90 percent of what teachers teach, state education officials say.

Current prescribed texts meet a so-called "readability formula" based on rote, repetition, numbers of syllables in a word and the word-count in paragraphs — a dust-dry formula critics say robs children of the very elements that might motivate them to read.

The official revolt against stupidity in education included board rejection of all spelling books that had been submitted for consideration.

The board declared that spelling should be taught along with reading and writing.

Soviets declassify maps

MOSCOW (AP) — Maps of the Soviet Union that long have been classified for fear they might help spies or saboteurs will be made public next year, a newspaper reported Saturday.

"The 'secret' stamp is being removed" to permit printing of 457 new maps and atlases based on the classified charts, with 249 titles scheduled to be printed in 1989 alone, the Sovetskaya Rossiya daily said.

"Until very recently... anyone who managed to see them could be condemned as an enemy of the people," it said.

The chief Soviet mapmaker, Viktor R. Yashchenko, told the government newspaper Izvestia last month that roads, rivers and even entire towns had been intentionally misplaced or left off public maps over the past half-century under orders of the secret police.

He said the distortions began in the 1930s under Soviet leader Josef Stalin and continued until this year.

"People did not recognize their own homeland on maps," he said at the time. "Tourists tried in vain to orient themselves to locations."

Sovietskaya Rossiya said the new, more detailed maps stemmed from "glasnost," the drive for openness pushed by Soviet President Mikhail S. Gorbachev.

Among the new titles planned are a road atlas, collections of maps of cities including Moscow and Leningrad, and hikers' atlases for the Caucasus mountains and the coasts of the Black Sea and Sea of Azov, the newspaper said.

Piper Alpha oil rig raised

ABERDEEN, Scotland (AP) — The huge accommodation module of the oil rig that exploded and burned in July was hauled Saturday from the North Sea to be searched for 112 bodies still missing from the world's worst oilfield disaster.

When the Piper Alpha oil rig exploded in flames on July 6, 167 workers perished and most of the bodies were not recovered.

It is believed many may be in the accommodation unit where workers had their living quarters.

In silence and gathering fog, the 1,000-ton steel structure the size of a four-story building emerged from the sea hoisted by cranes, water pouring from drainage holes drilled in its sides by divers.

Gibson unloads bomb on A's

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Kirk Gibson wrote a Hollywood ending to Game 1 of the World Series in Tinsel Town itself Saturday night.

Gibson, the hobbled hero, limped off the bench and to the rescue with a pinch-hit, two-run, two-out, full-count home run off baseball's best reliever in the bottom of the ninth inning to give the Dodgers a stunning 5-4 victory over the Oakland Athletics.

Gibson, the symbol of Dodger determination all season, came through with the biggest hit of his career when Los Angeles need him most. Unable to start because of ligament damage in his left knee, he fouled off four pitches from A's bullpen ace Dennis Eckersley before homering far over the right-field fence.

"I figure if I could get up there with a guy on and the crowd into it, I could suck it up for one AB," said Gibson, who visibly favored the bad leg that had forced him out of the seventh game of the NL playoffs in the third inning. "I knew I'd be a detriment. It was tough. I've got two bad legs."

Eckersley, who led the majors with 45 saves during the season, had saved all four Oakland victories in the American League playoffs. He relieved Dave Stewart to start the ninth, retired Mike Scioscia on a pop and struck out Jeff Hamilton before walking pinch-hitter Mike Davis.

Gibson connected for the sixth home run off Eckersley in 79 1-3 innings.

Jose Canseco's grand slam shook

LOS ANGELES — Los Angeles Dodgers Steve Sax runs down and tags out Oakland A's Dave Henderson between second and third after A's Jose Canseco hit a ground ball in the fourth inning.

the flagpole and the Dodgers in the second inning. But the can-do Dodgers, who beat the New York Mets in the playoffs after a tiring, two-run, ninth-inning homer by Scioscia, hung tough and came back and now have ace Orel Hershiser going in Game 2 Sunday night against Storm Davis.

Stewart and loser Tim Belcher engaged in an early beanball battle that prompted umpire Doug Harvey to warn both teams. Belcher hit Canseco with a pitch in the first inning and Stewart hit Steve Sax to open the bottom of the first.

Canseco, who led the majors with 42 home runs during the regular season and hit three more in a four-game sweep of the American League playoffs, homered against Belcher, a former minor league teammate.

Belcher hit Canseco with a pitch in the first inning and Oakland went on to load the bases before Terry Steinbach flied out to end the threat. Belcher, a rookie who beat the New York Mets twice in the National League playoffs, wasn't so lucky in the second.

Glenn Hubbard led off with a single and Stewart, batting for the first time since 1983, drew a one-out walk on a full-count pitch. Carney Lansford's walk loaded the bases and Belcher then struck out Henderson.

Canseco had hit several tremendous draws during batting practice, drawing cheers from the normally laid-back Los Angeles fans, bomb page 4-B

Harriers win meet

The Big Spring varsity boys came away the winners in a four-by-mile relay Saturday morning at the old air base golf course.

The meet attracted teams in classifications A to AAAAA. The Steer boys finished ahead of Lubbock High by 10 seconds. Big Spring's foursome of Chris Polymiak, Shawn Doyl, Tim Pruitt and Ben Gonzales ran a 20:35. Gonzales, who was anchor, got the baton eight meters behind and won by 100 meters. His mile time was 4:46.

"All the kids did a good job," said Big Spring coach Randy Britton. "They all ran well. It was a fun meet."

The Big Spring girls finished sixth in the varsity division, while the junior varsity girls finished second behind Lubbock High. Lubbock Coronado No. 2 team won the varsity girls division and Lubbock Monterey No. 1 won the junior varsity boys.

Pavin shoots 66, increases lead to five strokes

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Corey Pavin shot a 4-under-par 66 Saturday and stretched his lead to five strokes after three rounds of the $600,000 Texas Open Golf Tournament.

PGA

"It's my tournament to win now," Pavin said after completing three trips over the Oak Hills Country Club course in 193, 17-under-par and matching the low 54-hole total on the PGA Tour this year.

"A five-shot lead, seven over the next guy, it's a good position to be in," Pavin said.

"If I go out and play well tomorrow (Sunday), I win."

Tom Pernice, who hasn't finished higher, than fifth in three years on the Tour, birdied two of the final three holes for a 67 and was second at 198.

Tom Kite recovered from a double bogey and compiled a 69 that left him in third place at 200, seven back with 18 holes to go in the chase for the $108,000 first prize.

"Seven is a lot," he said. "I've won from seven back before. It is not beyond the realm of possibility. "But for anybody but Corey Pavin, I think it's obvious they're going to have to have help."

Kite's former teammate at Texas, Ben Crenshaw, was another stroke behind at 201 after a 69.

Payne Stewart, with a 68 was at 202 and was the only other player in the field within 10 shots of the leader.

Mike Sullivan, the first-round leader and alone in second after 36 holes, blew to a fat 77 and fell far back at 207.

Tom Watson, a winner on this course last year and needing a high finish to qualify for the rich Nabisco tournament, could do no better than a 72 and completed three rounds at 208, 15 strokes back.

Pavin, three in front when the day's play started, quickly exerted his authority.

He birdied the first hole from 12 feet, then hit short irons inside of eight feet on the fourth and fifth and birdied them both.

"It was the start I was looking for," Pavin said. "I wanted to establish that I wasn't going to go backward."

Steers scalp Chiefs, 38-6

By STEVE BELVIN
 Sports Editor

SAN ANGELO — The Big Spring Steers tasted victory for the first time this season after a 38-6 thrashing of the San Angelo Lake View Chiefs Friday night.

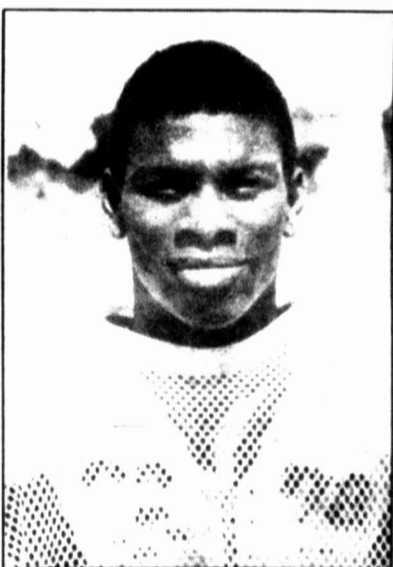

While romping to their first triumph, the Steers put together a stingy defense, along with a powerful running game, to bring their district slate to 1-2. Big Spring is 1-4 for the season, while Lake View drops to 0-3 in league play and 2-4 overall.

There were many heroes in the Steers win. Senior tailback Dennis Hartfield gained a season-high 149 yards in only 12 carries; wingback Tony Lewis caught four passes for 68 yards, and carried the ball five times for 50 yards; tight end Joe Downey caught two passes for 56 yards. Left guard and tackle John Sotello and Mike Calvio opened some holes a truck could have driven through.

Defensively, tackles Dusty Reeves and Pat Wilbert led a charge that limited Lake View to 208 offensive yards. With his 6-4, 263-pound frame, Wilbert clogged things in the middle, while Reeves got three of seven Big Spring quarterback sacks. Also getting QB traps were Chris Crownover, Kevin Pirkle, Chris Cole and Adam Ramirez. Not to be left out is defensive back Michael Hilario, who intercepted his first pass of the Darden's 16-yard punt return. The Steers drove four plays in 27 seconds. Lewis atoned for his earlier miscues by taking a screen pass and waltzing into the end zone from 26 yards out. The try for two failed.

Two possessions later, the Steers drove to their final score late in the first half. Thompson hit Downey for 40 yards, down to the Lake View six. Chris Cole scored three plays later. Again the try for two failed.

Big Spring opened the second-half scoring by driving 31 yards in three plays. Rodney Brown scored from the Lake View 31. Like Hartfield, Brown found the going good on the left side. The senior fullback rambled in untouched.

Danny Ward then booted Big Spring's first extra point of the year, and the Steers led 25-0 with 5:15 left in the quarter.

Hilario picked off a Lake View pass and Big Spring was in business at its own 37. It took the Steers three plays to go 63 yards. Hartfield got the biggest Steers page 2-B season.

 "Our running game was good tonight," said a subdued Steers coach David Thompson after the win. "We were determined to get our running game going, and we did. We dropped a lot of passes though. But I thought the pass and run complimented each other. We had 'em (Lake View) guessing and they never knew what to expect."

The Steers controlled things from the start, taking the opening kickoff and marching 91 yards in five plays. Except for that first possession, Big Spring always had good field position in the first half. Three times Big Spring took over in Lake View territory.

 The big gainers in the opening drive were a 30-yard run by Lewis, and Hartfield's 50-yard TD dash. Hartfield found a big hole on the left side and went untouched. The point after touchdown was blocked, but Big Spring led 6-0 with 9:37 left in the first quarter.

Big Spring squelched a scoring chance on its third possession of the game. Lake View came up short on a fake punt on its 46. The Steers got as far as the three, but Lewis dropped two well-thrown Rance Thompson passes.

Spikers lose close match to Andrews

By STEVE BELVIN

The Big Spring Lady Steers and Andrews Mustangs went to war Saturday afternoon in district volleyball action at Siter Gym. And when all the diving, spiking and great saves were over, the Mustangs escaped with 15-12, 16-14 victory.

Both Andrews and Big Spring are in the middle of the pack in the district race, but they sure didn't play like middle of the road teams.

Both games were so close that the largest lead either team had was four points.

Big Spring took a 4-3 lead on Rene Reinert's serve. It was climaxed by a long volley in which Andrews hit a spike attempt into the net. Big Spring led 5-3 when Melissa Martinez served an ace. Andrews came back and tied it up at 5-5. Big Spring surged ahead 6-5, and then Andrews came back with five unanswered points, taking the largest lead of the match, 10-6.

But the Lady Steers came battling back. Martinez served an ace, Pulver got a kill and Andrews hit another kill attempt into the net. Big Spring trailed 10-9.

Andrews then surged to a 13-9 lead and Big Spring battled back again. Kerstin Schmenger helped her own service cause with a bump that dropped between the Andrews' front and back line. Andrews was called for a hitting violation and then the Mustangs misfired on a kill, cutting the deficit to 13-12.

Andrews scored point number 14 when Paula Jones blocked Pulver's spike. After an exchange of serves, Christina Rogers ended the game by catching Big Spring off guard with a left-handed kill.

Rogers was the dominating force in the first game. The 5-6 jumping jack rolled fours at Big Spring, with four blocks, four kills and four service points. Paula Jones converted five of seven kills in the game.

Big Spring was led by Pulver and Dorothy Viasana with three kills each. Martinez had two kills.

Pulver, Martinez and Schmenger all made great saves during the game.

The second game was even closer. The biggest lead was a 13-10 Andrews' advantage.

Big Spring jumped to a 3-1 lead as Martinez, Tracy Schaffner and Spikers page 4-B

Netters close season out win big win over Pecos

The Big Spring High School tennis team finished its fall schedule in resounding fashion, downing Pecos, 13-5, at Figure 7 Tennis Center Saturday afternoon.

Rocky Tubb and Danny Whitehead kept their perfect record in both singles and doubles play. Tubb downed Jay Fowlkes, 6-2, 6-1, while Whitehead defeated Reggie Chavez, 6-3, 6-1. The Big Spring pair then teamed to defeat Fowlkes and Chavez in doubles, 6-0, 6-2.

Rocky's been struggling with a pulled muscle, but his level of play is superior enough that no one in district can hurt him at this point." Big Spring tennis coach Dave Hay said.

"Both Danny and Eli Stovall (who also won his singles match) showed good patience in their matches," Hay noted.

The local girls — aided by forfeits in four matches — won their Pecos counterparts, 6-3. Tracey Owen and E.D. Barnett led

Lee 35 Abilene 0

ABILENE — Two strong running backs helped the Midland Lee Rebels blank Abilene High here Friday night.

Ferris Strambler led the Rebs' rushing attack, carrying 25 times for 127 yards and one touchdown. David Whiteside topped all scorers with three TDs among his 48 yards on 10 carries.

Abilene coach Larry Pullin said of the wishbone offense and fierce defense, "They're a good football team and we're not able to compete with them right now."

Lee collected three touchdowns in three quarters, then overran a weary Eagle defense for two more in the fourth as Rebel runners racked up 275 yards on 36 carries.

Abilene's sophomore quarterback Robbie Duran hit eight of his 15 passes for 66 yards, but penalties killed each Eagle drive that didn't end in a short-yardage conversion failure.

Abilene's loss puts the Eagles at 1-6 for the season and 0-3 in league play, while Midland remains a contender with a 5-2, 3-1 record.

MIDLAND — Cooper's Cougars killed themselves with mistakes Friday night here, bowing to the Midland Bulldogs 25-21.

Midland trailed 21-7 in the third quarter before turning the game around. Two Wayne Roberts touchdowns led the Dogs; he collected 129 yards rushing for the night.

Cougar runner Scotty Pugh picked up 154 yards had two long touchdown runs during the game.

Following a missed PAT by Midland, Cooper failed to cover the short kick — and the Dog comeback had begun. Midland recovered at the CHS 25; three plays later Roberts dove in from the three. A two-point conversion failed, leaving the Cougars in the lead by 21-19.

Tim Hester's effort to pull in extra yards on a short run resulted in a Cooper fumble at the 18, and Roberts scored from the 11 as the quarter ended.

Cooper falls to 1-3 in district play, 2-5 for the year. Midland rises to 6-1 for the year and 2-1 in league play.

Central 27 Odessa High 15

ODESSA — Bobcat fullback Ricky Ford scored three touchdowns and Central's defense shut down Odessa en route to a 27-15 district victory in Ratliff Stadium Friday night.

The win boosts Central's record to 2-4-1, 2-1 in district; the Bronchos fall to 2-5 and 1-3.

Odessa crossed midfield but three times in the game; a short Robert Pritz punt put the Bronchos inside "Cat territory" a fourth time.

Odessa quarterback Kevin Skinner scored in the second and Dallas Cowan's two-yard TD plunge gave them six more points in the second half. He added a pithout sweep for the two-point conversion around right end with 1:26 to go to make the score 27-15.

Central's Ford scored on a two-yard run in the second quarter, a 2-yard run in the third and a 13-yard rush as the last period opened. He finished the night with 85 yards on 21 carries.

Bobcat QB Michael Emmons scored Central's other touchdown from the one early in the second quarter.

From that point, coach Thompson began playing his reserves and they battled Lake View to a 1-1 tie. The Steers went 85 yards in 13 plays. Thompson hit Downey for a 16-yard score. This time Javier Hernandez kicked Big Spring's second extra point of the year.

Late in the game Lake View broke a 12-quarter scoreless streak by going 65 yards in eight plays. Quarterback Will Burney, who threw the ball well, but had several passes dropped, scored on a four-yard run. The extra point snap was mishandled.

"It's a good feeling," said Big Spring coach Thompson. "The kids are excited about winning. We finally put it all together."

Bearkats swat Hornets, 28-3

By STEVE REAGAN Staff Writer

GARDEN CITY — The Garden City Bearkats broke open a tight defensive game with 21 third-quarter points to defeat the Iriou County Hornets, 28-3, in the district 8-A opener for both teams.

With the win, the Bearkats run their season record to a spotless 6-0 and have established themselves as one of the teams to beat in the district.

"All of these games are important, but it's good to get off to a good start," Bearkat coach Sam Scott said after the game. "We still have a realistic shot at the district title. It wouldn't have been the end of the world if we had lost, but it would have been a lot tougher for us down the road if we had."

Trailing 3-0 after the first half, Garden City — aided by consecutive Hornet turnovers — exploded for three touchdowns within four minutes in the third quarter.

The first came on their first possession of the second half. After forcing a Hornet punt, the Bearkats started on their own 45-yard line. The 12-play drive was the exclusive property of running backs Tony Ramirez and Weldon Hillger — with one exception.

Facing fourth-and-one at the Iriou County 29, quarterback Codie Scott sneaked for two yards to keep the drive going. Six plays later, Hillger bulled over from the three to give the Bearkats a lead they never would relinquish.

Disaster struck the Hornets before they ever had a chance to respond to the "Kat score. Taking the ensuing kickoff, Randy Catano was leveled by Eleazar Madrid and fumbled. Armando Rodriguez recovered the loose ball at the Iriou County 14, and the Bearkats were in business again.

"That turnover was a major point in the game," coach Scott said. "We were able to get a little momentum on our side and take control of things."

Ramirez and Hillger again gained most of the yardage on the short drive, which was capped by Scott's one-yard sneak to put the score at 13-3.

Fumble-itis again struck the Hornets on their next possession. Catano redeemed his earlier mistake by dashing 37 yards to the Bearkat 48, and a facemask penalty against the "Kats had Iriou County in good shape at the G-City 33.

On the next play, however, Catano was leveled just as he received a pitch-out from quarterback Rocky Lawdermilk and lost the ball again. After a mad scramble, Hillger recovered for the Bearkats at their own 45.

The "Kats promptly marched 55 yards for the score. The six-play drive was highlighted by a 16-yard pass from Scott to his brother Jodie, and runs of 12 and 14 yards by Ramirez. Hillger did the scoring honors from two yards out, and a two-point pass play from QB Scott to Ramirez gave Garden City a 21-3 lead with 2:47 left in the third quarter.

The final Garden City score also was the result of a Hornet turnover. Turning to the passing game in an attempt to get back in the game, Lawdermilk saw his toss to Lupe DelaRosa intercepted by Bearkat defensive back Juan Morales at the Garden City 24.

Six plays later, the Codie-Jodie connection worked for a 16-yard touchdown toss to close the scoring for the evening.

The second-half blitz was in sharp contrast to events of the first half. Although they were recipients of two Iriou County turnovers during that time, the best the Bearkats could manage was a 26-yard field goal try by Codie Scott, which sailed wide left.

The Hornets, however, did not have much more luck moving the ball, although star running back Ricky West did manage to gain 70 yards on 14 first-half carries. The lone Hornet score came with 12 seconds left in the half when Ward Sheffy connected on a 31-yard field goal attempt.

Whatever magic West and the Hornets managed in the first half was buried underneath their second-half miscues and a resurgent Bearkat defense. West would rush nine more times on the evening, but only managed 18 second-half yards.

"The kids told me they were probably a little overconfident in the first half," coach Scott said. "I thought they were a little nervous and up-tight, what with it being their first district game.

"We didn't change anything," he said of the "Kats' second-half strategy. "We just stuck with our basic game plan."

Ramirez — who had gained 823 yards coming into the contest — added 134 yards on 24 carries to raise his season rushing total to 957 yards. Hillger gained 110 yards on 14 carries, while Scott completed 8 of 17 passes for 174 yards and one touchdown.

The Bearkats will have another district showdown on their hands when they travel to Rankin next Friday to take on the Red Devils. Game time is 8 p.m.

Monahans 7 Andrews 6

MONAHANS — Lobo defenders rallied twice in the final period to block Andrews' efforts to win here Friday night, 7-6.

Both teams had been undefeated in district play before the Mustangs came up short against Monahans. Ronnie Ramsey scrambled eight yards into the end zone with 4:24 left in the first quarter.

Mike Martinez scored on a three-yard plunge in the third, but Andrews could not convert.

The Mustangs drop to 2-1 in district play, 4-2 for the year, while Monahans remains atop the 4-4 standings with a 3-0 record and rises to 5-1 overall.

Sweetwater 39 Pecos 19

PECOS — Sweetwater's Mustangs ran 60 times for 512 yards as they trampled the Eagles here Friday night, 39-19.

Kenneth Norman led the Pony runners with 345 yards. Ernie Munoz added 135 ground yards. Bobby Ray Smith accounted for all of Pecos' offensive yards with 191 through the air.

The Eagles drop to 3-3 in district play and 4-3 on the season. Sweetwater remains undefeated after six games with three district victories.

But the final margin was misleading. Pecos had a 13-13 tie at the half, and the Mustangs only led by six with 8:35 to go.

Norman unleashed two touchdowns in the fourth and Patrick Villa added another to salt away the Mustang win. Tommy Valdez scored once for the Eagles in the final stanza.

Pecos also had touchdowns on a nine-yard pass from Smith to Eric Bradley in the first quarter and a Valdez one-yard run in the second.

SNYDER — The Tigers could not overcome Fort Stockton's defense here Friday night as the Panthers outlasted Snyder 7-0.

The loss, second in three games for Snyder, drops the Tigers to 1-5 for the year. Fort Stockton raised its record to 2-1 in 4-4A play and 3-3 overall.

The Tigers netted three rushing yards in 37 attempts, while the Panthers collected 97 yards on 35 carries. Tiger receiver Jason Presley collected 56 yards with three catches — a majority of the Tigers' 69 air yards.

Bufs rally to victory

By SARAH LUMAN Staff Writer

STANTON — Without a point in the first half, the Battlin' Buffs surprised McCamey here Friday night with a 12-7 victory.

McCamey swallowed the opening kickoff, mounting a 14-play march downfield, capped by junior Servando Venegas' five-yard TD. Junior Shane Patrick added the extra point, and McCamey led 7-0.

Both Buff scores came late, but were touchdowns and both extra point attempts failed. Stanton's first points of the night came on Anthony Inman's punt return for his own 33 with 1:47 left in the third. The Buffs finished scoring with less than a minute left when Barry Cain hauled down a 35-yard pass.

An offside call set McCamey back as the second period opened. Senior David Anglin's keeper on first and 15 lost a yard. He tried it again, gained two, and threw a pass for Eddie Gonzales, but missed, forcing a punt. Manuel Martinez's kick went into the endzone, giving Stanton a touchdown.

Stanton gained four yards on three runs before punter Randy Nevarez booted a straight-up kick to Stanton's 32; on a flag, he kicked over to Daniel Flores at the 39, who defense to give the Buffs one last shot from their own 16 with 26 seconds left.

Brad Holland's pass for Inman hit the dirt; George Reyna ran for a first down; as the clock expired, McCamey trapped Steve Scurlark at the 19. At the half, McCamey led 7-0.

Stanton took the second-half kickoff, and Scurlark was brought down at the Buff 18. A first down and nine plays later, an ineligible receiver downfield nullified a pass play Stanton completed at midfield.

McCamey was frustrated in three plays, punting to the 13. Jones' runback brought Stanton to its 20. From there the Buffs mounted a 10-play drive before punting.

With 3:53 left in the quarter, McCamey started from its own 18, went nowhere on three plays and punted. Inman took the ball at the Buff 33 and sailed all the way to the end zone.

Boos resounded as a flag threatened the play, but the call was holding against the Badgers and the run stood. McCamey blocked the extra point, leaving Stanton trailing 7-6 with 1:47 left in the quarter.

Mustangs slay Dragons

ACKERLY — The Sands Mustangs rebounded from an opening district loss last week, and defeated the Dawson Dragons 26-10 in District 6-A, Six-Man play Friday night.

The Mustangs, the defending district champs, were upset last week by Grady.

Sands broke up a close game by scoring two touchdowns in the final quarter.

Sands scored first when Jay Johnston kicked a 42-yard field goal in the first quarter. Dawson took an 8-4 lead when Johnny DeLaRosa scored from 10-yards out. Hector Cruz's PAT gave Dawson the lead.

Sands got a safety in the second quarter, cutting the lead to 8-6. Sands took the lead at halftime when Teddy Gillispie returned an interception 47 yards for a score. The Mustangs led 12-8 at halftime.

After a scoreless third quarter, the Mustangs scored on a 28-yard pass from Johnston to Johnny Velasco. The final Sands TD was a 12-yard run by Eric Herm.

Dawson recorded a safety with time running out, but the Sands Mustangs held on to a 26-10 victory.

Sands raises its record to 1-1 and 5-2. Dawson falls to 0-2, 2-5. Sands will host Loop Friday.

Wolves edge Clyde

CLYDE — The Colorado City Wolves stepped into the driver's seat of the District 7-3A race, defeating the Clyde Bulldogs in a defensive struggle Friday night.

Colorado City safety Mark Russell was back to his old tricks of picking off passes. Last week against Merkel, Russell picked off four passes, Friday he intercepted two, bringing his season total to eight.

Clyde was guilty of turnovers four of the last five times they had the ball, killing any hopes of staying undefeated in district.

The Wolves came up with two big plays to seal the victory. Clyde threatened late in the third quarter, but a halfback pass by Gary Hall was picked off by Russell at the Colorado City two-yard line.

Then late in the game, with Colorado City punting from mid-field, Wolves' punter Beau Rees had the ball snapped over his head. Just when he was about to be tackled, Rees pitched the ball high over his head. Teammate Danny Luera came up with the ball at the Clyde 37 to give Colorado City another first down.

Clyde's only touchdown was set up when a pass was intercepted from fake punt formation in the second quarter at the C-City 16. Quarterback Jeff Howe passed six yards to Jeff Chon for a six-yard TD.

Colorado City scored both of its TD's in the second quarter. C-City marched 50 yards in eight plays to tie the score at 7-7. Quarterback Chris Perkin hit the ever-present Russell for a 32-yard scoring pass.

Colorado City raises its district record to 2-2 and overall mark to 5-1. Clyde falls to 1-1 and 4-2.

Colorado City will travel to Abilene Friday to take on Wylie.

Grady upsets district favorites

LOOP — In a big upset in District 6-A, Six-Man the Grady Wildcats defeated pre-district favorite Loop Longhorns 35-31 Friday night.

It was a close game all the way, but the Wildcats used two third quarter touchdowns to fuel the victory. The two teams traded TD's in the final quarter, and Grady held on for the win.

Grady scored the first two times in the game. Len Garza passed six yard to Scott Glaze, and Julian Valle ran for eight yards.

Loop came back with a short scoring run by Ricky Casas in the first quarter.

Grady's only points in the second quarter came when Chad Wells returned a blocked punt 75 yards for two points. Loop added two touchdowns and led 19-14 at the half.

In the third period Grady scored twice, and Loop once. Scott Terrell caught a 15-yard scoring pass from Glaze for the first Grady score in the second half. Next Terrell scored from 45 yards out.

Grady's final score came on a eight-yard pass from Glze to Len Garza.

Grady moves its district record to 2-0 and season mark to 3-3. Loop falls to 1-1, 4-3.

Grady will host Klondike Friday in a key district matchup.

WALL — Brandon Braden's six-yard scoring run propelled the Wall Hawks to a an 8-0 District 6-2A victory in a hard-earned defensive struggle Friday night.

Wilde's two-point conversion capped a 57-yard Wall drive.

Braden keyed the drive with runs of 14 and 11 yards. He finished the game with 118 yards in 30 carries.

"We had a good drive going in the second quarter and fumbled at the seven. We were going in to score. The kids played good, they played hard, it was just about four plays that hurt us," said Forsan coach Jan East.

Forsan falls to 0-2 in district play and 1-6 overall. Wall good to 1-1 and 2-5.

Forsan will play at Eldorado Friday.

third.

Stanton kicked off, McCamey's receivers mishandled the ball and the Buffalos recovered at the Badger 39. Then Stanton fumbled the ball away with 55 seconds left.

The Badgers' Frankie Abalos opened the final stanza with a long gain to the Buff 35. Bryan Cain hit Venegas at the Buff 37. On third and three, Venegas dragged two Stanton defenders along to the Stanton 15. Shane Patrick's catch at the three was followed by a Badger fumble. Stanton recovered with 8:31 left in the game.

A Buff punt and a McCamey turnover on downs followed. Stanton — helped by an illegal participation penalty that nullified a Badger interception — scored with 1:21 left when Holland passed to Barry Cain. The two-point try failed, and the Bufs led 12-7 with 56 seconds left.

McCamey ran the kickoff back to the 46 and Chris Phillips' pass for Frankie Abalos was intercepted by Randy Navarez. Stanton ran out the remaining 42 seconds.

Viasana each served points.

The two teams battled and the score was tied 8-8. Then Andrews went on a 5-2 spurt, taking a 13-10 lead.

But as usual, Big Spring battled back. Martinez tied the game with three service points. Viasana got a kill, and Rogers hit two errant kill shots.

The two teams exchanged points, setting the stage for the climax.

With Rogers serving, Andrews got a point when Melinda Gonzales made a diving save, as the ball trickled along the top of the net before dropping on Big Spring's side for a point. Jones ended the game by downing a hard spike off a Big Spring return, ending the war between the Mustangs and lady Steers.

"Missed serves killed us," said a drained Lady Steers coach Lois McKenzie after the match. "The girls played a heckuva game. We missed six serves in that first game alone. The girls were trying too hard."

"The games could have gone either way. I really think if we had won the first game, we would have won the second one. I don't think Andrews was truly the best team today. If you could have ties in volleyball, this would have been one today."

The Lady Steers fall to 4-6 in league play and 8-16 overall. Andrews goes to 6-4 and 11-12.

In sub-varsity action, Andrews won the junior varsity game and lost the frosh game. The Big Spring JV fall to 2-7 and 6-15.

the Steers with singles wins.

"Both Tracey and E.D. will have more confidence in future matches because of their wins," Hay said.

Currently tied for second place in district, the Steers appear to be a long shot for regional competition because of an earlier loss to Snyder. Big Spring finishes fall competition Tuesday in Monahans when it completes a match with the Lobos that was shortened by rain Sept. 17.

and this time he hit the ball even harder. Canseco sent a low line drive to center field that zoomed past the 395-foot mark and clanged off the flagpole.

Stewart overcame a two-run homer by Mickey Hatcher in the first inning and worked around Mike Scioscia's RBI single in the sixth.

Stewart and Belcher each were familiar with the other team. Stewart pitched for the Dodgers in the 1981 World Series and Belcher was sent by the Oakland organization to Los Angeles in August 1987.

Stewart fasts on days of games because he gets nervous, and he got off to a shaky start. After hitting Sax in the back to open the first, Stewart balked with one out; he led the majors a record 16 balks this season.

Hatcher, subbing in left field and in the third spot for Gibson, followed with a home run deep to left and danced around the bases. Hatcher, who had only one home run during the regular season, became the 19th player to homer in his first World Series at-bat and the first NL player to do it since Dusty Rhodes in 1954 for the New York Giants.

Belcher, however, could not hold the lead. The Athletics traded him away because he had control problems and his wildness set up Canseco's slam.

Porkers survive Longhorns

AUSTIN (AP) — The 17th-ranked Arkansas Razorbacks couldn't breathe easy until a game-saving interception by Steve Atwater, but they proved on Saturday they can also play on the road.

Quarterback Quinn Grovey rushed for 118 yards, scored on a 21-yard run, and set up two other touchdowns as the Razorbacks kept their record perfect with a 27-24 Southwest Conference victory over the Texas Longhorns.

It was the Hogs' first game outside of Arkansas this year and only their second victory in Austin in the past three decades.

Arkansas lost 16-14 last year to Texas on the last play of the game, and it was on Grovey's mind.

"I was thinking about what happened last year," Grovey said. "Most of the guys won't tell you that, but believe me I was thinking about how the game ended last year."

His interception, late in the game, was sweet revenge for Atwater, who saw Texas' Tony Jones catch the winning touchdown pass in his area last year.

"It feels good. I was happy to stop that drive," Atwater said. "I was in a zone defense, and Murdoch was looking right at the receiver. He kind of gave it away."

Arkansas sacked the Texas quarterback on the game's last play as he sought to find someone open for a game-winning touchdown pass.

Arkansas coach Ken Hatfield said: "I don't think there was anything surprising for the game to come down to the last play again. It has every year."

"I was never worried that the game was slipping away. I was concerned."

Hatfield said he felt the Hogs did a good job controlling Texas' Eric Metcalf.

"There's ain't a jackrabbit that can run him down in the open field," Hatfield said. "He is such an exciting player, every time he touches the ball you hold your breath."

Texas coach David McWilliams said: "I was proud of our comeback, but we just spotted Arkansas too big of a lead. It was a good effort, but it wasn't good enough."

McWilliams said he switched quarterbacks from Shannon Kelley to Mark Murdoch in the second half to try to ignite the sluggish Texas offense.

Texas Tech 38, Rice 36

HOUSTON (AP) — Senior wingback Tyrone Thurman caught two touchdown passes and scored a third time on a 75-yard punt return Saturday as Texas Tech beat Rice 38-36 in a wild Southwest Conference game.

The loss extended Rice's losing streak to 12 games — the longest in the nation among major colleges.

Both teams combined for 1,109 yards, including a school record 642 for Rice.

The road victory was the first for second-year Texas Tech Coach Spike Dykes after seven losses and a tie.

Thurman, at 5-foot-3 and 135 pounds the smallest player in major college football, caught scoring passes of 5 and 34 yards from Billy Joe Tolliver, then raced 75 yards with a punt for a conference-record fourth career TD punt return.

Thurman previously was tied at three with Lindsay Cole (1968-69) and Blarnd Spearman (1931-32), both of Texas Christian.

Thurman's punt return gave Tech an insurmountable 31-13 lead early in the fourth quarter. Scott Segrist added a 34-yard field goal and James Gray, who had a career-high 181 yards rushing, burst open for a 46-yard scoring run midway through the fourth quarter for the Red Raiders, 2-4 overall and 2-2 in the conference.

Tolliver who hit 17 of 26 passes for 251 yards, also added a third touchdown pass, a 38-yarder to Clifton Winston.

Rice, 0-5 overall and 0-3 in the league, scored four touchdowns rushing, with Lorenzo Cyphers carrying it in on a 6-yard run, Eric Henley from 10 yards, and Richards Williams scoring from 6 and 4 yards.

Clint Parsons added a fourth-quarter field goal from 32 yards and Rice quarterback Quentin Roper connected with Mike Boudousque on a 15-yard TD pass late in the game. Williams' second TD run, with five seconds left, made the score close.

Roper finished with 382 yards, including 105 rushing and 277 passing.

Texas A&M 28, Baylor 14

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — Freshman fullback Robert Wilson of Texas A&M scored twice against Baylor's top-ranked defense and quarterback Bucky Richardson ran 15 yards for the winning touchdown with 4:33 left in the game Saturday in a 28-14 A&M victory in Southwest Conference football.

Although A&M raised its SWC record to 3-0 — 3-3 on the season — the Aggies are ineligible for the conference championship and Cotton Bowl berth as a result of NCAA probation.

Baylor, 4-3, has lost all three of its SWC games.

A&M started the winning drive when Baylor tight end David Bell fumbled after a pass reception and defensive back Alex Morris recovered at the A&M 29.

Richardson ripped off a 39-yard run on the option right as the big gainer in the 71-yard drive.

He scored on what appeared to be the same play.

Wilson, a 235-pounder, scored from the 2 in the first quarter and ran 30 yards for his second touchdown with 11:48 remaining in the final period.

Both of Baylor's touchdowns came on second-quarter passes from quarterback Brad Goebel to flanker Bobby Jack Goforth, for 7 yards and 13 yards.

A&M's Darren Lewis scored the final touchdown of the game with three seconds remaining, on a 13-yard run, after defensive back Kevin Smith intercepted a Goebel pass and returned it 52 yards to the Baylor 2.

Wilson finished with 92 yards on 14 carries, Richardson had 16 rushes for 86 yards and Lewis ran 28 times for 138 yards.

Lewis is ranked No. 4 in the nation in rushing and now has more than 700 yards in five games.

E. Texas St. 41, W. Texas St. 37

CANYON (AP) — Fifth-ranked East Texas State scored 34 points in the second half to defeat West Texas State 41-37 in a Lone Star Conference game Saturday.

The loss overshadowed a 508-yard passing performance by West Texas State's Doak Taylor, who completed 21 of 30 passes and threw for four touchdowns.

And in the end, it was a Taylor pass that helped East Texas State win. Doak threw the ball with his team holding a 37-35 lead only to have Jeff Manuel of East Texas State intercept and return it 40 yards for the winning score.

East Texas State, which is 3-0 in conference play and 6-1 for the season, trailed 30-7 at the half. But the Lions recovered two West Texas State fumbles and converted both possessions into touchdowns early in the third quarter to keep the contest close.

Jarrod Owens led East Texas State's offensive production with 95 yards rushing and one touchdown on 15 carries.

West Texas State is 0-3 in league play and 1-5 overall.

Houston 82, Tulsa 28

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Cougars scored three times in the first five minutes Saturday behind the passing of David Dacus and went on to destroy the Tulsa Golden Hurricane, 82-28.

It was the most points a Southwest Conference team had scored since 1940, when Texas beat Colorado 94-7. Houston beat Tulsa 100-6 in 1968, before it joined the SWC.

Houston improved to 4-1 with the win. Tulsa fell to 1-5.

Dacus threw for four touchdowns. Jason Phillips, the nation's leading receiver, caught TD passes of 20 and 39 yards. Dacus also threw scoring passes of 39 yards to James Dixon and of 47 yards to Brian Williams.

He was one of three Cougars receivers who finished the game with more than 100 yards.

Phillips had 152 yards in 11 catches and two touchdowns, followed by Kimble Anders' 100 yards and two touchdowns and Dixon 124 yards and one scoring catch.

Starting Tulsa quarterback T.J. Rubley left the game after he was shaken up on a third-quarter interception play. Under heavy pursuit, he fled into his own end zone, and was hit from behind as he released the ball.

Backup Tulsa quarterback Frank Cassano, who completed 9 of 15 passes for 105 yards, ran for one fourth-quarter touchdown and threw for three more, including 22- and eight-yard passes to Archie Malloy. Rubley hit 11 of 38 for 129 yards with three interceptions.

Fighting Irish upend No. one Hurricanes

By The Associated Press
Fourth-ranked Notre Dame got its long-awaited revenge Saturday, defeating No. 1 Miami 31-30 as free safety Pat Terrell, who earlier returned an interception 60 yards for a second-period touchdown, broke up a two-point conversion pass with 45 seconds left.

"This was a win by the Notre Dame spirit," Coach Lou Holtz said after the biggest Irish win in years. "It was a win by the spirit of a group of guys who just refused to fold, and believed. You can't pick out a hero. Notre Dame was the hero today."

Notre Dame had been waiting for three years to make up for an embarrassing 58-7 loss to Miami in Gerry Faust's final game as head coach. The Irish first sought revenge last year but lost again, 24-0.

The Irish broke a 21-21 tie when wingback Pat Eilers ran two yards for a tie-breaking, third-quarter touchdown, the first of his career, two plays after the Irish turned back a fake punt.

Reggie Ho's 27-yard field goal late in the third period made it 31-21 and Notre Dame survived three Miami scoring threats in the final 7:04. The Irish also overcame a record 424-yard, four-touchdown passing show by Steve Walsh, but they negated that by intercepting him three times.

With Miami's losing for the first time in 36 regular-season games, the No. 1 ranking in the nation is up for grabs.

No. 2 UCLA made its bid by beating California 38-21 as quarterback Troy Aikman threw two touchdown passes and ran for a third score.

Third-ranked Southern California remained unbeaten by withstanding the same threat as did Notre Dame. No. 16 Washington was within 28-27 with 1:21 to go when Cary Conklin's 2-point conversion pass was too low for Vince Weathersby.

Two ranked teams joined Miami on the short side of the Taylor completed 21 of 31 for 248 yards and a touchdown but was intercepted once and sacked seven times.

No. 3 USC 28, No. 16 Washington 27

Rodney Peete ran for one touchdown and threw for another and Scott Lockwood rushed for 133 yards for USC, 6-0 overall and 4-0 in the Pac-10. Conklin ran for the first touchdown for Washington, 4-2 and 1-2, and then threw three touchdown passes to Brian Slater after USC had built a 21-7 advantage.

USC quarterback Rodney Peete completed 16 of 22 passes for 186 yards without an interception, and also scored on an 8-yard scramble that put Southern Cal ahead 14-0 in the second period. He threw a 41-yard touchdown pass to Scott Galbraith in the third quarter to make it 21-7.

No. 5 Florida St. 45, E. Carolina 21

Chris Parker scored two touchdowns and rushed for 158 yards and Chip Ferguson threw two scoring passes for fifth-ranked Florida State, 6-1. The Seminoles broke a 14-14 tie midway through the second period on Ferguson's 17-yard touchdown pass to Ronald Lewis. Parker, a 216-pound red-shirt freshman who began the season as Florida State's fifth-team tailback, made his first collegiate start because of injuries to Sammie Smith and Keith Ross.

No. 7 Nebraska 63, No. 10 Oklahoma St. 42

The top scoring teams in college football lived up to their billing, with No. 2 getting the better of No. 1, Nebraska, averaging 45 points a game, was led by quarterback Steve Taylor, who ran for three scores and passed for two. Tailback Ken Clark contributed 256 yards and three scores. Oklahoma State, averaging 50 points a game, got three touchdowns and 189 rushing yards from Barry Sanders, the national leader in rushing rushing, scoring and all-purpose yardage. Nebraska is 6-1, its only loss to No. 2 UCLA. Oklahoma State dropped to 4-1. Georgia Tech 34, No. 8 S. Carolina 0

Andre Thomas intercepted two passes, returning one 51 yards for a touchdown and the other 10 yards to set up Stefan Scott's short scoring run, as Georgia Tech ended a 15-game losing streak against Division I-A opposition. The Yellow Jackets hadn't won since beating Duke 34-6 late in 1986.

Tech, defying its underdog status, ripped to a 31-0 lead and coasted. The shutout loss was the first in 71 games for South Carolina, which unceremoniously dropped to 6-1. Georgia Tech is 2-4.

No. 9 Oklahoma 20, Kansas St. 7

Oklahoma ran for an NCAA-record 768 yards, including 123 by quarterback Charles Thompson, who scored three touchdowns and passed for another — all in the first period. The old record of 758 rushing yards was set by Oklahoma against Colorado in 1980.

Reserve halfback Eric Mitchell added 161 yards and two touchdowns on just six carries as Oklahoma ran up 829 total yards. Oklahoma is 5-1 overall and 2-0 in the Big Eight. Kansas State's 18th straight loss to the Sooners left the Wildcats at 0-6 and 0-2.

No. 11 Clemson 49, Duke 17

Fullback Tracy Johnson scored twice and quarterback Rodney Williams accounted for two other scores for Clemson, 5-1. Duke, losing for the first time in seven games, got only 209 passing yards from quarterback Anthony Dilweg, who was held below 300 yards for the first time this season.

No. 12 Auburn 42, Akron 0

Stacy Danley rushed for two touchdowns and James Joseph added a 73-yard scoring run as Auburn improved to 5-1. Akron, 2-5, was on the schedule only because Florida State mistakenly scheduled both Auburn and East Carolina on the same date. Florida State kept East Carolina and Auburn found Akron a willing, if not able, replacement.

No. 14 Wyoming 55, New Mexico 7

Dabby Dawson gained 179 yards and defensive end Dave Edeen returned an interception 78 yards for a score as Wyoming, the class of the Western Athletic Conference, ran its record to 7-0 overall and 4-0 in the league.

stick, but neither got as close as Miami. Georgia Tech, winless against major-college competition since 1986, dominated from the opening snap in mauling No. 8 South Carolina 34-0, and Vanderbilt handed No. 20 Florida its second straight loss, 24-9.

No. 4 Notre Dame 31, No. 1 Miami 30

Walsh's pass to Conley at 12:44 of the second period and the one to Gary came in the final 2:16 of the first half and quickly erased a 21-7 Notre Dame lead.

Mistakes hurt Miami, particularly in the late stages.

With 3:52 left to play, fullback Cleveland Gary caught a 10-yard pass from Walsh but fumbled at the Notre Dame 1-yard line as he struggled to squirm into the end zone.

Linebacker Michael Stonebreaker recovered for the Irish.

With 3:37 remaining, defensive end Frank Stams stripped the ball from Walsh as he cocked his arm to pass, and nose guard Chris Zorich recovered at the 28.

Notre Dame almost gave the game away when Miami defensive end Greg Mark sacked quarterback Tony Rice, shook the ball loose and recovered at the Irish 14 with 2:10 to play.

Four plays later, Walsh lobbed his final scoring pass to Brown but that was as close as the Hurricanes could get. Notre Dame's Anthony Johnson recovered Huerta's inside kick and the Irish ran out the clock.

The victory gave Notre Dame a 6-0 record. Miami is 4-1 after suffering its first regular-season setback since a 35-23 loss to Florida on Sept. 7, 1985.

No. 2 UCLA 38, California 21

Aikman, with 16 touchdown passes this season, threw 52 yards to Paul Richardson in the first quarter and 40 yards to Reggie Moore in the second quarter for touchdowns. His 1-yard sneak just before halftime gave the Bruins a 24-10 lead.

The Bruins, 6-0 overall and 3-0 in the Pacific-10, equaled the fast start of the 1980 UCLA. Cal dropped to 3-3 overall and 0-3 in the league.

By The Associated Press
The San Francisco 49ers have the Los Angeles Rams right where they want them Sunday — in Anaheim.

The 49ers, the NFL's version of The Road Warriors, have won to straight away from home and will be trying to tie the Los Angeles San Diego Chargers of 1960-61 with 11 straight road wins.

That left them at 4-2, trailing the Rams and Saints by a game in what looks like a three-team race for the NFC West title and perhaps two wild-card spots.

"It's going to come down to which club continues to improve, avoids injuries and just turns out to be the best survivor," says Rams Coach John Robinson.

So far the 49ers haven't survived too well at home, where they've lost two of three, including last week's 16-13 overtime loss to Denver, where they were done in by the vagaries of the Candlestick Park winds. But they've done just fine on the road, edging the Saints and Giants and stopping the Seahawks 38-7 in one of the toughest arenas in the league for a visiting team.

They came into Anaheim, however, with the usual soap opera at quarterback.

The question this week is Joe Montana's bruised ribs, which forced him to give way to Steve Young in the Broncos game.

Both Montana and Coach Bill Walsh think he'll play though Young had three TD passes the last time they met — a 48-0 San Francisco rout at Candlestick in the final regular-season game last season.

But this could be a ground war.

Despite its reputation as Air Walsh, the 49ers actually lead the league in rushing — Roger Craig is third in the NFC and is averaging five yards a carry.

And while Jim Everett is the NFL's third-rated quarterback, the Rams are still a team that plays plug-in-the-tailback — Greg Bell, who took over when Charles White was suspended, is second in the league with 622 yards, just eight fewer than Eric Dickerson, the man for whom he was traded.

England, Dallas at Chicago, Detroit at the New York Giants, Green Bay at Minnesota, Houston at Pittsburgh, the Los Angeles Raiders at Kansas City, Philadelphia at Cleveland, Phoenix at Washington, Tampa Bay at Indianapolis, San Diego at Miami, New Orleans at Seattle, and Atlanta at Denver.

The Monday night game is Buffalo against the New York Jets.

Phoenix (4-2) at Washington (3-3)

This could be the game that determines whether the St. Louis transplants are legitimate — they've won four straight, including a 30-21 win over the Redskins in Phoenix three weeks ago.

"We're contenders," says wide receiver J.T. Smith. "Some people might still think of us as underdogs. Let them. We think we're contenders."

Perhaps.

But last week's 35-17 win in Dallas left Joe Gibbs thinking the same of his defending Super Bowl champs. And they have a slightly better track record than the Cards, whose only playoff appearance this decade came in the strike-swollen 16-team postseason lineup of 1982.

The Redskins may also have found their heavy-duty running back in Kelvin Bryant, who ran for 118 yards against the Cowboys. The question mark is what it's always been — Bryant's durability.

"We'll go ahead and make him the primary running back," Gibbs says. "Kelvin, over the past couple of weeks, has stepped it up a notch and he's shown for the first time he can stay healthy and play a bunch."

New Orleans (5-1) at Seattle (4-2)

The Saints, more at home in a Dome than most, will be a test for Kelly Stuffer, who has done little but hand off since taking over for the injured Dave Krieg as the Seahawks have taken the lead in the AFC West.

In wins over the Browns and Falcons the last two weeks, he's just 20 of 37 for 278 yards without a touchdown or interception as Coach Chuck Knox has run his "Ground Chuck" offense against teams that, like his own, have lost quarterbacks.

New Orleans has won five in a row since a one-point defeat by San Francisco — all by eight points or less against teams with a combined record of 9-22. Last week, they were down 14-0 to San Diego after six minutes but rallied for a 23-17 victory.

They're also turning from a ground-oriented team to a passing one as Bobby Hebert matures. He's thrown 11 touchdowns with just five interceptions and has passed for 1,415 yards, fourth in the NFC.

Dallas (2-4) at Chicago (5-1)

Tom Landry thinks his Cowboys are still in the NFC East race and who's to argue in that middle. They'll have to pass a big test this week, but they're meeting the Bears at the best possible time.

Jim McMahon, who went out with a concussion last week will probably be back at quarterback, but both Chicago's safeties, Shaun Gayle and Dave Deperson are out, leaving rookies David Tate and Todd Krumm back there.

"It's cold, calculating and cruel, but you have to continue in spite of the injuries," says Chicago's Mike Ditka, a former Landry assistant who has beaten the Cowboys the last two times they've met.

Philadelphia (3-3) at Cleveland (3-3)

Buddy Ryan thinks the Eagles' 24-13 win over the Giants Monday night moved them into the NFL's upper echelon. Maybe, maybe not, but it did showcase Randall Cunningham (31 of 41 for 369 yards and three touchdowns) as the new John Elway.

Now Ryan is worried about a shortened work week and about Don Strock, the fourth quarter back to start in seven weeks for the injury-haunted Browns, who have already lost Bernie Kosar, Gary Danielson and Mike Papei.

"That's a pretty good fourth string quarterback. He can throw the football," Ryan says. "He's better than the two and three who were ahead of him."

Buffalo (5-1) at New York Jets (3-2-1) (Monday night)

Buffalo's offense, spurred on by the boom of its fickle fans, came alive last week, overcoming a 17-0 deficit to beat the Colts 34-23 as Jim Kelly threw three touchdown passes.

Now they get a chance to open up the AFC East against a team that may be dropping down to its expected level — they turned a win into a tie against Kansas City, then lost to Cincinnati after three straight wins.

But Coach Joe Walton, who cleaned out most of his veterans after last season, thinks his youngsters are on the right track.

"We have the kind of team that is going to slip once in a while," Walton says. "But I think we'll be in most every game if we play hard and improve our techniques. We'll gradually get to the point where we'll hang in there with most teams."

Cincinnati (6-0) at New England (2-4)

This could be a land mine for the NFL's only unbeaten team, which is quite full of itself and might allow New England's 45-3 loss to previously winless Green Bay last week to serve as a sedative.

Not so, says Boomer Esiason, the NFL's leading passer. "Those kind of things are in the past."

Esiason will go against Doug Flutie, who rescued New England against Indianapolis two weeks ago, then needed rescuing himself after three interceptions and three passes batted down against the Packers.

"I think Doug did some good things out there," says Coach Raymond Berry. "He just had bad luck."

San Diego (2-4) at Miami (3-3)

The Dolphins suddenly loom as the only team with a shot at denying Buffalo the AFC East title. Right now, they're doing it with defense — they have yet to give up a touchdown pass this season and in last week's 24-7 win over the Raiders, they had four interceptions, a fumble recovery for a touchdown and a blocked field goal.

Bearcats claw Bulldogs

By MARCELLINO CHAVEZ
Special to the Herald

COAHOMA — The visiting Ballinger Bearcats left Bulldog Stadium Friday night with 27-10 victory, dropping the Bulldogs in district play to 0-2, while improving Ballinger's league record to 1-1.

The visiting team received the opening kickoff, but could not move the ball on four downs and were forced to punt. Cam Tobias and teammate Dale Coates rushed the Bearcat punter B.J. Gomez, blocking the punt deep in Ballinger territory and recovering the ball at the nine.

A stout Bearcat defense kept the Bulldogs out the end zone, leaving the home team to settle for a field goal as Carlos Cervantes booted the Bulldogs into the lead, 3-0, with 9:59 left in the first quarter.

Ballinger's second possession saw another tough defense by Bulldogs' Tobias and Dwayne Bradbury force the Bearcats to quick kick on third down.

Coahoma started on the Bearcat 44-yard line. Runs from Brad Madry and Mike Hernandez were followed by an interference call at the 12-yard line, and the 'Dogs were in great position to add to their lead — until disaster struck.

the Bearcats ahead 14-3.

The half ended that way. With neither team able to move the ball through most of the third period, Coahoma received its first break of the second half when Ballinger fumbled with 2:52 left in the period.

Tobias recovered the bouncing ball to stop a Bearcat drive and give the home team a chance at cutting into the visitors' lead.

As the fourth quarter started the Bulldogs lost the ball on downs to Ballinger, at the Bulldog 10. The Bearcats again were stopped and forced to punt.

With 9:46 to play, Coahoma had another chance to cut Ballinger's lead when the 'Dogs got the ball at the 'Cats' 33.

Cervantes went around left end, gaining 13 yards. Five carries more moved the Bulldogs into scoring territory.

From one yard out, quarterback Ronnie Ruiz sneaked in for the first Bulldog touchdown, cutting Ballinger's lead to 14-10 with 7:03 left in the contest.

Coahoma left its guard down for one play, and Gibbs galloped for 42 yards to increase Ballinger's lead to 21-10.

The game ended with the opportunistic Bearcats winning 27-10.

BUSINESS & INDUSTRY REVIEW

The new Blowtherm Ultra spraybooth oven produces the finest finish on automobiles this side of the factory. The facilities at Pat Gray Body Works underwent extensive alterations to accommodate the imported equipment. A factory-perfect paint job is made possible by perfectly controlled air, humidity and temperature. The Blowtherm Ultra is exclusive at Pat Gray Body Works, located at 700 N. Owens. Drop by and take a look.

Esmeralda Solis, Jill Wells and Adela Padilla display some of the items from the Record Shop Annex — a 250-year-old halberd, an ornate antique sword and a helmet from the Crusades — along with a 78 rpm record. This unique shop located at 217 Main Street features a collection of antique militaria.

Learning What big people do

Lakeview Elementary's Head Start students found this week's demonstrations by policemen and firefighters unusual — and several said they remembered safety instructions firefighters offered for emergencies.

A police car, a firetruck and an ambulance were brought to the school during the week in a program designed to help the children learn about each civic service job.

Paul Dominguez, a 4-year-old in Mrs. DeLeon's class, remembered the police better, however. He said it was neat to "go outside and see them."

Paul also remembered the "mailman, who just came."

An ambulance crew demonstrated its vehicle Oct. 4. On Tuesday, a firetruck arrived for a second demonstration, followed by a police patrol car, on Wednesday and a U.S. Mail carrier Thursday.

Classmate Walter Romero remembered both the police car's visit and the fire truck, also.

"If you catch fire," Paul said, "drop down and roll over."

Paul's brother Pete, a student in a classroom across the hall where teaching duties are shared by Mrs. Porras and Mrs. Garza, also remembered the fire truck and the police car. He remembered the officer who brought the car.

Classmate Gerard Boyd recalled that the policeman's name was "Bobby," and that the patrol car's siren sounded "like a fire truck."

Jocelyn Chavez was a little more talkative, remembering a fire truck that was red and brought to the school by three firemen.

She said they told the students "to get out of the house in case there's a fire," and to "drop down and crawl out of the house."

Teresa Pillon, also a classmate of Gerard and Jocelyn, said firemen told the students, "If your clothes catch fire, stop, lie down, roll over and cover your eyes."

Teachers coaxed their students, trying to remind them of advice given by the police and firefighters and by ambulance crews who brought their vehicles to the schools for demonstrations.

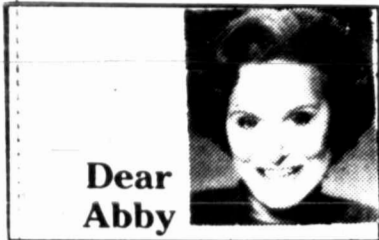

Jeremiah Peters and Brandi Hutcheson experience being on the wrong end of a pair of handcuffs in the top right left photo. Big Spring Fire Department Capt. Alex Calvio lets Cassie Padgett hold a fire hose in the middle left photo. Elijah Peters tries and Davesh Sitram wear hats they made in their class when the ambulance crew visited in the photo above. Students get a closer look at an ambulance in the right photo.

Woman's puzzled by tunes in teeth

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I love music — songs float around in my head, day in and day out, and it doesn't bother me. Once it was different though. I simply could not turn it off!

After my dentist filled two teeth next to each other, I started hearing tunes I was not familiar with. I thought perhaps I had heard them in my sleep. Upon retiring, I heard "Singing in the Rain" from beginning to end — the MOVIE, that is! Singing, dialogue, the works. I awakened my husband and asked if he could hear anything. He said, "No."

He came to the conclusion that those two new fillings in my teeth acted as a "receiver." We checked the TV Guide, and sure enough, "Singing in the Rain" was the late movie! I didn't need to turn on the TV, as I was hearing the whole thing.

After the movie, I heard two policemen speaking to each other on their CBs. I looked out of my window and saw two patrol cars parked outside — one in front of the other. I heard every word they were saying to each other. It was a sleepless night!

I got an emergency appointment with my dentist the next morning, and I told him my story. He laughed, and insisted that this was not possible. However, after filing between those two newly filled teeth, the weird noises, music and voices stopped.

Smart husband — dumb dentist, huh?

— GERI McBETH, DENVER
DEAR GERI: I believe you. Years ago, a schoolmate sat in study hall and said he was "listening" to the World Series — but didn't know how it was getting through to him. The teacher thought the boy was either lying or hallucinating, and told his parents their son needed to see a psychiatrist. As it turned out, he was receiving the ball game through the fillings in his teeth.

***
DEAR ABBY: Why do people get so upset when a bride (or anyone else) wants to exchange a gift? Wouldn't they rather a person be happy with a gift than to have it sit around the house unused?

My sister-in-law sent us cheese every year for Christmas that none of us liked; however, we said nothing and used it when company came over. One year, she asked us if we liked it, and I told her the truth. From then on, she sent us a gift subscription to Reader's Digest, which the whole family enjoyed year-round.

— DONNA FROM ARIZONA
DEAR DONNA: I have nothing against cheese... but Reader's Digest is far more digestible.

***
DEAR ABBY: My spouse and I have been friendly with another married couple for nearly 30 years. They are now getting divorced.

One of them came to us and put us on the spot. We were told: "You will have to make a choice. If you intend to remain friendly with my 'ex,' you cannot be a friend of mine."

Abby, we would like to remain friendly with both of them, but we were given an ultimatum.

How would you handle this?

— BETWIXT AND BETWEEN
DEAR BETWIXT: I'd choose the other one.

Take a hike — you may meet the farmers in the dell

By TUMBLEWEED SMITH

Get a Texas map. Look at that green area about four inches east of El Paso. That's Guadalupe Mountains National Park. Fall is a great time to visit the park and see the colorful foliage. It's a hiking park, so be prepared to spend some time.

Pine Springs is a little community near the park. I love that name. Pine Springs. Sounds cool and woody. About the only thing the place has besides the name is a cafe.

Now — you see that place called Salt Flat? It's west of Pine Springs. Salt Flat has a cafe, too. And lots of salt. The place gets its name from salt flats at the foot of the Guadalupe Mountains. Salt Flat dates back to 1929 when some folks decided they wanted to live there and open a cafe and service station.

West of Salt Flat is farm road 1437. Take it for 13 miles and you're in Dell City. The place gets its name from the song "Farmer in the Dell." Many farmers live in Dell City.

People in Salt Flat call Dell City an upstart community because of its young age — it was founded in 1948. And though it is at the end of the highway and gets little through-traffic, it has nearly 500 residents and is the largest city in Hudspeth County besides the county seat of Sierra Blanca (population 700).

Dell City is surprising. As you enter town a billboard welcomes you to "The Land of Hidden Waters." A giant valley (Dell Valley) is completely surrounded by mountains stretches out for miles and is wonderful farming country, producing cotton, vegetables, fruits, nuts and alfalfa. The area has numerous dairy cattle.

Grapes are a big crop around Dell City. Many later become Mont Sec wine.

Jim and Mary Lynch are the bedrock of Dell City. Jim farms and Mary publishes the only newspaper in Hudspeth County, The Hudspeth County Herald. The Chamber of Commerce started the newspaper in the 50s, then it went through a series of owners before Mary got it. She's had it 25 years now.

The paper comes out every Friday. On Tuesday, Mary takes the paged up pages to Salt Flat and makes sure the paper gets on the bus to Monahans, where it is printed. The 800 copies get back to Salt Flat on Thursday where Mary picks them up and drives back to town, and delivers it Friday.

Jim and Mary are famous for their tumbleweed sculptures of jack rabbits, snowmen, leprechauns and other characters. Jim stacks the tumbleweeds with a pitchfork and Mary puts on the finishing touches: cardboard ears for rabbits, a hat and a bandana for the sheriff, etc.

Last year the tumbleweed figures got to be so popular the Chamber of Commerce staged a contest to see who could make the best one. This year the entire downtown area is to be decorated in tumbleweeds.

Hotline to help with care of latchkey kids

WASHINGTON (AP) — A year-old program to promote the safety of so-called latchkey children who are home alone while their parents work is being expanded to include a tollfree hotline to a national resource center, organizers said Wednesday.

Parents and other adults seeking information about the care of school-age children can call a hotline for "Project Home Safe," a national program developed by the American Home Economics Association and financed by the Whirlpool Foundation.

The three-year project began a year ago and provides research, training, materials and standards on how to improve the care of school-age youth. The term "latchkey children" dates back to the 19th century when working-class children who were on their own wore their house keys on neck chains.

Gladys Gary Vaughn, the association's research unit administrator, said at a news conference that today's latchkey children number an estimated 6.5 million and cross racial, ethnic, economic and geographic lines.

She was joined by Rep. Pat

How-to-tips: Rinsing wastes water and time

CHICAGO (AP) — Hand-rinsing dishes before placing them in the dishwasher is generally just a waste of water and time, according to a recent study.

In the Ohio State University study, 68 percent of dishwasher owners pre-rinsed dishes, wasting an average of 7.3 gallons of water per dishload.

The study showed that the automatic dishwasher averaged 9.9 gallons of water, but when hand-rinsing was added, water use increased to an average of 17.2 gallons per load. The figures compare with an average of 15.7 gallons when dishes were washed by hand.

The study was based on eight place settings plus serving pieces, all consistently pre-soiled.

Hand-rinsing with today's dishwashers is unnecessary, except for burned-on food, according to manufacturers, because of better performance. To conserve even more water, the Association of Home Appliance Manufacturers offers these tips when using the dishwasher:

- Use as few utensils as possible when preparing and serving meals.
- Wash only full loads, using the "rinse and hold" cycle in the interim.
- Use only the cycle and options needed.

Tidbits

Five generations of the family of Vera and the late Alfred Clark, Timperley, Cheshire, England, gathered last weekend for a family reunion in San Angelo. Vera and Alfred had visited their daughter, Lynn Thorpe, here twice in the past 25 years.

This time Vera spent a 10-day visit with Lynn and her daughter, Carol Speaker and husband, Rory, and youngsters, Nichole and Beau.

They joined other family members in San Angelo at the home of Lynn's grandson, Jay Hensley and Lana, who were introducing the newest generation — Delana Hensley, Vera Clark's great-great granddaughter.

Also attending were former residents and BSHS grads Larry and Susan Harvey, with Susan's son and wife, Mike and Marianne Hensley, Iraan; and Gordon and Kay Morris, with Susan and Dexter, Lampassas; and E-4 Kenneth Thorpe and his fiancée, Lucy Garcia, Ft. Hood.

Gordon, by the way, is a three-time sheriff in Lampassas — and was the youngest man ever to be elected sheriff in Texas.

For the past few months Bob "Tumbleweed" Smith has been going back and forth to Dallas, working on sound recordings for a Dallas Children's Theatre presentation, "Bear-Bottom Woods."

"In all, I've done some 25 different sounds for the production," Bob says. "Mostly the sounds are from the woods — crickets and frogs. Some of the more challenging sounds have been deer snorting, squirrels and coons."

Every year or so Bob produces a cassette about Texas. His next one is "Texas Sounds," due out before Christmas. He and wife, Susan, will be in Dallas on a weekend in November to approve the final production.

Saturday, October 8, was a day to remember for Mack and Thelma Underwood — in more ways than one.

For one thing, it was Mack's 75th birthday. And for another, it was the first time in 24 years of marriage that Mack's children and Thelma's children — with their spouses — were together at one time.

And one more thing: it was the first time some of the step-brothers and step-sisters had ever met!

Mack's daughters and their families attending were Harry and Helen Gibbons, Shafter, Cal.; and George and Linda Houle, Wichita, Kan.

Thelma's sons present were Gerry and Rama Sweet, Irving; and L.R. (Reid) and Jayne Sweet, Dallas.

The clan gathered at the K.C. Steak House for dinner, followed by a reception at the home of Mack's sister, Fannie Jo Cates, co-hosted by another sister Mamie Kinman. Twenty-six family members attended, including nieces and nephews, great-nieces and nephews and even great-great nieces and nephews.

Fourteen members of the Mighty Oaks Senior Citizens Club just returned from a 5-day trip to Eureka Springs, Ark., where they saw the famous Passion Play, Christ of the Ozarks, the Pine Mountain Jamboree, the Thorncrow Chapel and much more.

On the trip home, the group stopped to see several former residents. F.L. and Tink Harrell's daughter, Ann Paukunes and her children Julia and Valrie met them for breakfast in Rogers, Ark; and Callie Bennett's daughter and family, Debbie and Benny Parker and children, Michelle and Stacy, who live in The Colony, joined the travelers for breakfast in Denton.

In addition to Callie and the Harrells, others making the trip were Rev. and Mrs. Bob Farrell, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Dean, Mr. and Mrs. Wade Shanks, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Engle, Gertrude McCann, Margaret Franks, Ora Lee McMullen and Mr. and Mrs. Dub Kizer.

ON YOUR FEET

Dr. CARLOS DIMIDJIAN Podiatrist

MORE THAN CURIOSITY

Most people visit their podiatrist only when they have a specific foot complaint for which they expect specific treatment. Sometimes they are unprepared for questions which do not seem to relate directly to their problem, as they perceive it.

However, your physical history may help the podiatrist diagnose and treat your complaint. Your past illnesses, operations, current treatments, use of medication, etc. may have some essential bearing on your foot problem. Your age and your occupation, the sports you play can also be important.

In examining you, your podiatrist will also routinely check for general abnormalities. These include bone structure, circulation, nerve supply, muscle power and gait. And one of his most important diagnostic tools is the x-ray. X-rays do not comprise a total examination, but they are often an indispensable diagnostic tool.

Remember, the questions your podiatrist asks, as well as the tests he performs, are just as important for a successful consultation.

Can you tell why my apples are dropping?

By DON RICHARDSON
Extension Agent

The question is often asked "why are my apples dropping?" The answer, if the fruit are approaching maturity, is "they're mature and need to be picked."

Ripened under our hot Texas sun, most red apple varieties mature without getting good color, but that doesn't mean they aren't ready to harvest. Some varieties may not taste fully ripe when they start to drop, but don't let that stop you. Apples continue to ripen off the trees. Store them for several days at room temperature in a cool part of the house until there is sufficient conversion of starches to sugar to give them a good ripe taste. When fully ripe, store them in the refrigerator.

Don't let this reference to fruit drops as an indication of fruit maturity confuse you with drops of immature fruit earlier in the season. Immature fruit may drop earlier in the season for a variety of reasons including poor pollination, poor nutrition, moisture stress and overcropping (trees with a good fruit set should be thinned to leave only one apple per cluster early in the season).

Date — Remembering when your fruit was matured last year is a good indicator, although harvest dates vary from year to year. The number of days after full bloom is a more accurate indicator of picking time as long as your varieties aren't planted too far south to get adequate winter chill for normal spring bloom.

Common types such as Red Delicious require 135-155 days from full bloom to maturity and "Golden

Ask the agent

Delicious" varieties take 145-160 days.

Peel color — As indicated, most red varieties color poorly in Texas because the red pigments develop poorly under high temperatures. The green portions on the peel are better maturity indicators than the red color. As red apples reach picking maturity, the green peel becomes slightly yellowish. Green or yellow apple varieties change from green to creamy white or yellowish flesh color, flavor and aroma — these are all useful, but inexact, indicators of harvest maturity. The flesh of immature apples usually exhibits a greenish tinge.

When ready to harvest most varieties become a creamy white or yellow. As indicated many varieties are mature and ready to harvest before they taste fully ripe. The aroma becomes more distinct as apples mature, but only experienced pickers can use this to aid in knowing when to harvest.

Pears — The common "hard pears" grown in Texas do not ripen well on the tree and must be harvested mature and then ripened in storage.

To ripen pears, place them in a well-ventilated room at 60 to 65 degrees F for two or more weeks until they become uniformly soft.

Mirai camera by Ricoh: The near-future of camera design

By SANDY COLTON
AP Newsfeatures

By now, Ricoh's new Mirai camera should be on the shelves of major photo stores around the country, giving us a peek at the near-future of camera design.

Recently, other "ergonomically" designed cameras — which really don't look like cameras — have been introduced. These include the Yashica Samurai, Chinon's Genesis and the Olympus Infinity SuperZoom 300.

Although Ricoh waited a little longer than the others, its new camera is packed with many more features.

In addition to the comfortable design, the new Mirai features stepless, through-the-lens, computer-controlled autofocus, plus a zoom range from 35mm to 135mm that's expandable to 200mm with an optional teleconverter. The lens can also be operated manually and has macro capability. A focus-assist beam illuminates automatically in low light so that the camera can be focused accurately even in total darkness.

Shutter speeds range from a fast 1/2,000th of a second down to a full 32 seconds. There's also a "bulb" setting for longer exposures.

Triple-programmed autoexposure selects optimum shutter speeds to match lens length. For example, when the camera is in the telephoto mode, it will choose a higher shutter speed to minimize camera shake. In the wide-angle mode, it shifts to slower shutter speeds to help depth of field. These can be set manually, too.

When the metering system detects a difference between subject and background light that is beyond the limits of "normal" exposure range, the camera automatically decreases or increases the exposure to handle the extreme contrast.

Those who want more exposure control will like the camera's eight-stop exposure compensation dial with plus or minus up to four stops in one-third-stop increments. DX-coding is automatic from ISO 25 to 5,000.

Standard power is supplied by a long-life, 6-volt lithium battery, but you can also use standard AAA cells if a lithium battery is not available.

The built-in flash system alerts the photographer before the picture is taken that the subject is beyond the normal flash range for correct exposure. The system has two operating modes: normal sensor flash, and fill-in flash for balanced lighting in daylight. There is also an "off" mode for available-light photography without flash.

There are no sprockets to engage when loading the film. Instead, an infrared system "reads" the film's perforations, permitting faster, easier loading and improved spacing between frames.

The film-transport system also offers a choice of continuous advances at two frames per second or single-shot frame advance. Rewind is automatic at the end of the roll, with optional midroll rewinding.

There's lots more — Ricoh put everything it has into this model, hoping to make a dent in the higher-priced, serious amateur and professional market. The suggested list is $795.

History buff publishes specialties

PADUCAH, Ky. (AP) — Dave Turner is holding history in his hands. He flips proudly through the pages of a book on World War II vessels that has wound up in the Pentagon Library.

The book on warships is one of several books published by Turner in his antique-filled Paducah office. History is more than his hobby, it's his business.

In just over 10 years in Paducah, Turner has published more than 200 books, and another 28 are planned for this year.

"I have a keen interest in recording history," he says. "Having lost a brother and a father with no warning, I have a deep sense of writing something down. That's why World War II books are so good. The grandkids can get these books and find out what their grandfathers did."

Turner says his company, Turner Publishing Co., is an alternative for history books too small to attract major publishers — histories of rural communities, veterans groups or companies.

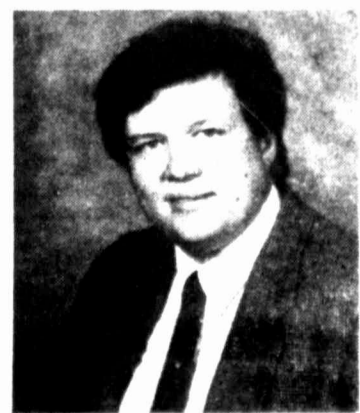

For them, there's no initial cost, just the $40 or so to buy a copy of the book. A sponsoring group encourages its members to provide material for the book — personal memories, biographies, photos — and gives Turner a list of members.

From there, Turner and his staff of 10 get to work.

First, they pre-sell the books to group members, libraries and history buffs. Then they collect and edit the information, doing additional research if needed, and write the book.

None of the books is generally available in bookstores. Press runs range from several hundred to 10,000 copies. It takes 18 months to two years to complete a book.
