Tropical storms blast Central America

Miriam threatens Salvador

By MARCOS ALEMAN
Associated Press Writer

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador — The government declared a state of emergency and evacuated residents from flood-prone coastal areas in the path of a tropical storm that re-energized in the Pacific today after killing 111 people as an Atlantic hurricane.

In Nicaragua, the storm killed at least 50 people and left 300,000 homeless as it crossed the Central American isthmus, its 125 mph winds weakening to tropical storm status along the way.

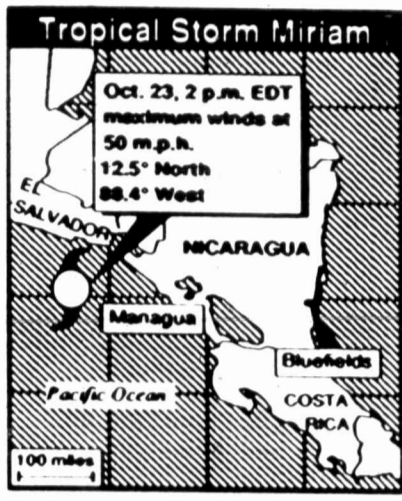

But the storm gained strength over the warm waters of the Pacific. Forecasters gave what had been Joan a new name, Miriam, and said it could become the first Atlantic hurricane to gain the same status in the Pacific.

"We are ready for it," declared Interior Minister Edgardo Bellosio Funes as rains began falling in southeastern El Salvador. He said a hurricane last struck El Salvador in 1934.

At 5 a.m. EDT, Miriam's center was just off the coast about 25 miles southeast of San Jose, Guatemala, with maximum sustained winds near 55 mph, said the National Weather Service in Miami.

It said the storm was centered at latitude 13.7 north, longitude 90.6 west and was moving west-northwest at 10 mph. It was expected to continue in that direction for the next 24 hours.

Tropical storm warnings covered the Pacific coast of El Salvador and Guatemala. Flash flood and mud slide warnings also were in effect in both countries. "As soon as it got over the water offshore, it started to strengthen again," said weather service forecaster Randy Lascody in MIRIAM page 3-A

Killer typhoon leaves thousands homeless

By EILEEN GUERRERO
Associated Press Writer

MANILA, Philippines — Typhoon Ruby roared across the Philippines today with heavy rain and winds topping 100 mph, causing mudslides and tidal surges that left thousands homeless. Officials said at least 13 people died.

The military reported another 30 people were missing and feared dead in a storm-related bus accident and that an inter-island vessel with 481 passengers and crew was missing in stormy seas.

The coast guard said the missing vessel, the Marilyn, reported engine trouble en route from Manila to Tacloban City and could have taken shelter in an isolated harbor. It was last reported about 200 miles southeast of Manila.

The government warned of more flooding as the storm approached Manila. At 4 p.m., the storm sustained winds of 102 mph and its center was moving northwest at 16 mph toward densely populated Luzon Island.

"This is one of the worst typhoons this year," said Juanito Lirios, deputy weather service director.

Some flights were canceled and schools were closed in Manila. The U.S. military's television network reported wind gusts to 140 mph. All six U.S. military bases in the Philippines were put on maximum storm alert.

States of emergency were declared in some areas of the southern Mindanao Island, and thousands of people were evacuated.

Ruby is the 18th typhoon or tropical storm to hit the Philippines this year and the second in four days. There were conflicting reports on casualties because the storm knocked out communications in the affected areas.

Rodrigo Roldan, civil defense director on Panay Island, said at least five people were killed today when a bus carrying about 90 people careened off a bridge during heavy winds and rain and plunged into a river.

The army said another 30 passengers were missing and presumed dead. The state-run Philippines News Agency said most of the passengers were sleeping when the accident occurred and were unable to escape.

Roldan said at least 19 people were rescued.

Police seek suspect

Police say they have a suspect in the late Sunday shooting of a Big Spring couple, although an arrest has not yet been made. Detective Sgt. Bill King said today.

Ernest Zubiate, 36, and Adela A. Juarez, 25, P.O. Box 3190, were shot by an assailant they knew about 10:10 p.m. as they stood next to a car in the 600 block of N.W. 4th Street, King said.

Both were shot with a small caliber handgun, according to police reports.

Zubiate assisted Juarez into the vehicle and drove to Kwikie Drive-In No. 1, 510 N. Lamesa Highway, where he summoned help, King said.

The couple was transported by ambulance to Scenic Mountain Medical Center where Juarez underwent surgery for gunshot wounds to the left arm and back this morning and is listed in stable condition in the hospital's Intensive Care Unit, a nursing supervisor said.

Zubiate, who suffered a gunshot wound to his ankle, is listed in stable condition, although he will not require surgery, the supervisor said.

Elusive facts are campaign fodder

By RITA BEAMISH
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — To hear George Bush tell it, Democrat Michael Dukakis is against every new weapons system "since the slingshot." From the Dukakis perspective, Bush was winking and nodding while Panama's Manuel Antonio Noriega went wild dealing drugs.

Both assertions are part of Campaign '88, and neither bears much relation to provable fact.

But they typify a campaign in which befuddled voters are bombarded with negative campaign information and are faced with a nearly impossible task of sorting fact from distortion, half-truth and flat-out fiction.

"I don't recall an election where the ads have been as negative as this year," said political analyst William Schneider of the American Enterprise Institute in Washington. "If things aren't going too badly, and the election looks like it's going to be close, they've got to have something to talk about. So they talk about each other."

Most recently, Dukakis was angrily displaying campaign literature mailed out by the state Republican Party in Illinois, which he called "political garbage." The brochure alleged that Dukakis, "let murderers, rapists and child molesters free on weekend passes" and suggested that in Dukakis' home state of Massachusetts, Illinois mass murderer John Wayne Gacy, now on death row, would be allowed to go free.

The Bush campaign disavowed any connection with the fliers, which cite the case of murderer Willie Horton who escaped while on a weekend furlough from Massachusetts prison, then raped a Maryland woman and slashed her boyfriend.

Dukakis aides said Gacy would have been ineligible for release under terms of the furlough program, which has since been amended. Schneider said the candidates "are careful about outright lying," but that in an era of complex issues, the advertisements and campaign slogans "become more and more simplified."

For instance, Dukakis ads claim Bush "personally cast the tie-breaking vote to cut Social Security benefits."

But in reality, that 1985 vote by Bush as vice president was not to cut Social Security, but to temporarily freeze Social Security cost-of-living increases as part of a broad budget resolution. Dukakis, as a member of the National Governors' Conference, had voted in favor of the same thing as part of a package of economic recommendations.

But Dukakis said he had first fought unsuccessfully to exempt Social Security from the federal budget freeze.

The Democrats also like to link Bush on drugs by linking him to Panama's Noriega, who is currently under indictment on federal drug charges.

A Dukakis ad states that Bush "was made responsible for stopping drug traffic from coming into this country," a reference to Bush's chairmanship of the South Florida Drug Interdiction Task Force.

"What happened?" the ad goes on. "Cocaine traffic up 300 percent. More drugs in our classrooms. And Panamanian drug lord Noriega kept on the government payroll."

There has been no proof that Bush knew about Noriega's drug connections before the Justice Department indicted him, and Bush has denied any such knowledge. He counters allega-

United Way: Still hope of reaching goal

By STEVE GEISSEN
Staff Writer

Three weeks after the official end of its 1988-89 campaign, the United Way of Big Spring is $62,324 short of its campaign goal of $205,000.

But, according to the organization's campaign chairman, the local United Way will likely reach its goal within a week, provided it is able to collect expected donations.

"We feel like we've got a real good chance to reach the goal," said Scott McLaughlin, campaign chairman. "We're still optimistic."

The United Way had received pledges totaling $142,675.62 as of Friday, said Sherrie Bordofske, executive director.

The organization plans to begin a "sweep campaign" that will consist of contacting targeted local businesses and individuals who have given to previous United Way campaigns but have not yet donated this year, said McLaughlin.

"We feel like there are a lot of people who want to give, but haven't been able to in the time frame we wanted them to," he said.

McLaughlin said the United Way expects to receive approximately $20,000 as a result of the Fina employees fund raising drive, and has targeted "40 to 50" other potential businesses and individuals to be contacted as a part of its sweep campaign.

As of Friday, the pledges received by the United Way divisions

- Out of Town: $3,800.
- Pacesetters (donations of $500 or more from individuals or companies) — $49,950.
- Commercial (businesses and employees) — $13,091.38.
- Golden Age (senior citizens) — $1,045.
- Combined Federal Campaign (government employees) — $7,873.71.
- Professional (doctors, lawyers, accountants, etc.) — $10,615.
- Special Events — $140.75.
- Loaned Executive (employees of Big Spring's 15 largest employers) — $49,498.78.
- Residential/Rural — $5,451.
- Agency Board Members (board members of agencies receiving United Way funds) — $1,210.

Local non-profit agencies that receive United Way funds are: the American Red Cross, the Boy's Club, Buffalo Council BSA, Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center, West Texas Girl Scout Council, Northside Community Center, Salvation Army, West Side Day Care Center, West Side Community Center and the YMCA.

According to Bordofske, companies that have 100 percent participation of its employees in the United Way campaign are: Saunders Company, Westside Community Center, Southwest Savings, Gameo Industries and Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center.

County OKs bids, insurance

By SARAH LUMAN
Staff Writer

Howard County Commissioners today approved bids on county fire insurance and liability coverage, and purchased office supplies.

Contracts for $37,982 in fire and liability coverage for all county buildings and contents were awarded to Parks Insurance, and for $4,034 in office supplies were awarded to L&H Supply. Both submitted low bids for the items.

The commissioners approved a lengthy roll of budget amendments for the 1987-88 budget and also approved homestead refunds of $401.60.

The commissioners — meeting for the second time in three sessions without County Judge Milton Kirby, who was hospitalized Friday for treatment of emphysema — also approved a resolution supporting the constitutional amendment which appears on the general election ballot as Proposition One.

Commissioner Paul Allen suggested the court support the amendment officially, noting that it is designed to ensure that gasoline tax revenues collected by the federal government for maintaining Texas highways are guaranteed to be spent for that purpose.

The resolution passed unanimously.

An easement for the city of Coahoma allowing relocation of a sewage disposal line from the centerline of a county road to the west side shoulder of the same county road was approved unanimously. Commissioner Paul Allen noted the easement will cost the county no money.

The commissioners also approved a $500 per month contract with consultant nurse Claudia Turner, who will continue to perform services for the county previously budgeted at $15,000 for this year. The contract is effective Nov. 1.

A contract change in indigent health care was also approved, enabling Howard County Indigent Health Care Director Irene Rodriguez to switch from contracts now being used to more detailed contracts standardized by the Texas Association of Counties.

In other personnel matters, the commissioners approved County Sheriff A.N. Standard's appointment of Ben Lockhart to serve as a deputy sheriff stationed in Coahoma beginning Nov. 1.

Lockhart is a Texas Department of Public Safety Weights and Measures Trooper III with more than 21½ years in the service, who will retire Thursday, according to Weights and Measures Trooper Marvin Keenan.

The commissioners also approved Dwayne Fraser's request to be reappointed to the 911 Emergency Communications District board. Fraser's appointment expired Nov. 1.

Historical base may close

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — A U.S. commission looking to close obsolete military bases may be about to play taps for Fort Douglas, and politicians say they may be ready to surrender the post built in 1862 to protect stagecoach routes.

Members of Utah's congressional delegation consider the picturesque fort and its Civil War-era buildings a likely target in the Pentagon's quest to shut about two dozen bases.

They say they'll have to acquiesce if it can be shown that the move would save money, but some are skeptical that any real savings can be had.

Built in 1862 in foothills between Salt Lake City and the Wasatch Mountains, the fort was named at President Lincoln's suggestion after his Illinois rival, Sen. Stephen A. Douglas, who died the year before.

Older planes better than B-1

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force's B-1 bombers are grounded with maintenance problems far more than the aging planes they are supposed to replace.

Protest

BOSTON — Police hoist an unidentified protester over a barricade outside the entrance to an abortion clinic Saturday morning during a confrontation between anti-abortion demonstrators and pro-choice advocates.

says a congressional study. The General Accounting Office study said the time that B-1s weren't available at Dyess Air Force Base in Texas due to maintenance problems ranged from 47 percent to 66 percent.

The B-1 program, killed by President Carter 11 years ago after the first four planes were built, was resurrected in 1981 by President Reagan, who said 100 of the swing-wing planes were needed as replacement for the aging B-52s in America's fleet of atomic bombers. Reagan pledged that all 100 planes would be purchased by 1988 at a cost of $26 billion.

Indian wants graves saved

INDEPENDENCE, Ohio (AP) — A social worker who is a Choctaw Indian has fought for four years to protect eight weedy acres he believes are a desecrated Indian burial ground.

Since 1984, Mel Fletcher, a social worker at Akron's North American Indian Center has fought to protect the plot known as South Park, which has been threatened as a potential source of cover soil for an adjacent landfill pit.

The site has been ravaged over the years, mostly by amateur archaeologists hunting artifacts from centuries ago, when Indian tribes lived on the bluff above the Cuyahoga River.

Only about 25 percent of the original site remains, said North American Indian Center Director Clark Hosick. The rest was destroyed when the 19-acre, 300-foot-deep landfill pit was excavated.

Agreement in transport strike

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Teamsters drivers have reached a tentative agreement with film and television producers to settle their 3-week-old strike, the Los Angeles Times reported today.

The settlement is subject to approval by North Hollywood-based Local 399, which represents the 2,200 striking studio drivers.

The Teamsters, who transport actors, equipment and props for producers, walked out Oct. 3 just as Hollywood production was gearing up after scriptwriters ended their five-month strike in August. Their strike has had less of an impact on production than the scriptwriters'.

Shiite extremists send threatening statement

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Shiite Moslem extremists holding U.S. hostages repeated their long-standing demands for the Americans' release in a new statement, threatening reprisal if the demands are not met.

The message Sunday was the second threatening statement in three days from the pro-Iranian Islamic Jihad, which holds American journalist Terry Anderson and educator Thomas Sutherland.

The three-page typewritten Arabic statement was delivered to the independent newspaper An-Nahar. A color photograph of Anderson was delivered later to a Western news agency in Beirut — the kidnappers' normal method of authenticating statements.

The picture showed Anderson, chief Middle East correspondent for The Associated Press, with a bushy beard and mustache. He wore a T-shirt and looked straight into the camera. It was similar to photographs of Anderson released April 10, 1987, and on Friday.

The statement demanded: "A — Release of all our mujahedeen (holy warriors) from all Arab and foreign jails.

"B — Release of all Lebanese and Palestinian Mujahedeen from Israeli jails in the occupied lands and its surrogates in south Lebanon's border enclave and (Christian) east Beirut.

"C — Withdrawal of all Israeli forces and their surrogates from south Lebanon without any conditions.

"D — Non-intervention in Lebanese domestic affairs and the discontinuation of support for partitionist, isolationist and sectarian forces in Lebanon.

"E — Reconstruction of south Lebanon and Beirut... And payment of war reparations to all our oppressed people in Lebanon."

"In case of failure to meet these demands and continued support of Israel's aggression against our people the United States will pay the price very soon. This price will reflect adversely on the fate of the hostages we hold," it said.

Islamic Jihad has made similar demands in the past but never combined them all in one statement.

Anderson and Sutherland are among nine Americans held hostage by pro-Iranian groups in Lebanon.

Philippines hit by second storm

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — Typhoon Ruby roared across the Philippines today with winds of more than 100 mph and heavy rain, triggering mudslides and tidal surges that left thousands of people homeless.

At least 16 people may have been killed.

The government warned of more flooding as the storm approached the capital, Manila, and the main Philippine island, Luzon. Flights were scratched and hard-hit areas were cut off after Ruby ripped out telephone lines.

Country debates secession

VILNIUS, U.S.S.R. (AP) — At the inaugural conference of a Lithuanian nationalist mass movement, delegates endorsed greater autonomy after heated debate over whether their republic should demand the right to secede from the Soviet Union.

The Lithuanian Movement for Restructuring, claiming 180,000 active supporters, softened a draft resolution that said the republic "reserves its right to withdraw from the Soviet Union... by constitutionally acknowledged means."

The final version, approved Sunday by an overwhelming margin of the more than 1,000 delegates, was nearly a carbon copy of the Communist Party's position. It said Lithuania's "relations with other Soviet republics should be based on Leninist principles of federalism, national equality and self-determination."

The conference also approved measures calling for control of the republic's economy, establishment of diplomatic ties with foreign countries and freedom for Lithuanian political prisoners.

Arms dealer questioned

MILAN, Italy (AP) — Police say they hope an Italian arms trader with links to the Italian and Swiss secret services can shed light on why a Lebanese woman they arrested was carrying photographs of American hostages along with heroin.

counterfeit dollars and coded documents.

Police said Sunday that the man, Aldo Anghessa, was the intended recipient of the photos and a letter from a hostage hidden in a false bottom of the woman's suitcase.

Italian media speculated Anghessa may have been acting as a go-between in efforts to free the American hostages in Lebanon or could have been involved in a possible exchange of hostages for drugs.

The Lebanese woman, identified as Aline Ibrahim Rizkallah, 36, was jailed in Milan on charges of carrying $1,000 in counterfeit U.S. bills and 50 grams of heroin, police said.

Safety plea

PARIS — About 1,000 people filed on a Paris street Sunday to film a TV spot for safer diving. Statistics show that approximately that many people die each month on French roads.

U.S. indictment aids Philippines

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — The U.S. indictment of Ferdinand Marcos spurs the Philippines from risking political instability by charging the former president with crimes and allowing him to return for the trial.

Philippine authorities conceded that prospects for retrieving the billions of dollars Marcos allegedly embezzled were bleak unless the ousted president were formally charged with crimes.

But the Philippine Constitution bans trials in absentia, and Marcos made it clear he would demand to return from exile in Hawaii and conduct his own defense.

Soviet ships moving to help whales

BARROW, Alaska (AP) — Soviet flotillas churned toward Barrow to offer help for two trapped whales as rescuers tried to lure the mammals to freedom, but biologists said they may have to airlift the animals to open water.

"We're carrying a net built right now" to carry them, David Withrow of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration's Marine Mammal Laboratory in Seattle said Sunday.

He emphasized that an airlift was the least preferred alternative, to be used only if rescuers fail to coax the California gray whales to open water though a series of freshly cut air holes in the ice.

A pontoon-mounted ice auger known as an Archimedes screw tractor was delivered during the weekend by a huge Air Force C-5A cargo plane and was reassembled Sunday.

The device was to begin work today on the outside edge of an ice pressure ridge that stands between the whales and freedom.

"That's the next big project for us," said NOAA biologist Ron Morris, coordinator of the rescue.

NOAA asked the Soviet Union for help, and America's Arctic neighbor ordered the icebreakers Admiral Makarov and Vladimir Arseniev to Barrow, said NOAA Rear Adm. Sigmund R. Petersen, director of the Pacific Marine Center in Seattle.

The ships were 140 nautical miles from the Barrow area, the Soviet news agency Tass reported today.

Another flotilla unloaded equipment for a Soviet station at the North Pole before heading immediately for Alaska, Tass said. Tass did not say how many ships were in the second group.

Readers: Don't call me 'Honey'

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: I am almost 80, and am just as upset at being called "Honey" as that woman who signed herself "Nobody's Honey in Elkhart, Ind." When salespeople call me "Dear," I consider it a slam!

I am a "miler" in the Senior Olympics and walk three and four miles most days, so I neither act nor look decrepit, and I resent people who look down on me with their "Dears" and "Honeys." It's so patronizing.

I know this is worded badly, but this is a sore spot with me and I am so mad right now I can't see straight. I read you daily in The Kansas City Star, and you may use my name.

MRS. WALTER HARVES, LEES SUMMIT, MO.

DEAR ABBY: I just read the letter from "Irritated," complaining because you called a teen-ager "Honey."

I am 15 years old, and not only do I not mind being called "Honey," I welcome it. If someone cared enough about me to call me "Honey" and advise me to listen to my mother, I would take it as a compliment, not a putdown.

"Irritated" is the one who belittles teen-agers. If she feels that teen-agers are too immature to handle receiving affection, she must not have a very high opinion of teen-agers.

So, Abby, the next time you're writing to a teen-ager, please don't refrain from using words like "Honey" or "Dear." It is warm and friendly, and it just may be the way to reach her heart.

JEANINE MORRISON, KINGSBURG, CALIF.

DEAR ABBY: I'm a 16-year-old girl and I'd like to respond to the letter from "Irritated in Fort Collins, Colo." who resented the way you called a 14-year-old girl who wanted to wear a strapless dress "Honey." Whether or not a 14-year-old girl should get a strapless dress is, I'm sure, not as serious as some of the problems you hear from adults, but it was obviously very important to her, if she wrote to you.

In addition, teen-agers are trying to grow up, and when an adult — especially one who many teen-agers look up to — calls a teen-ager a pet name, like "Honey" or "Sweetie," it really seems to reduce the teen-ager's age. Abby, in the future, please don't talk down to teen-agers by calling them "Honey." Treat them like adults.

If you use this, you may use my name, town and state.

LAURA ESHELEMAN, SPRINGS LAKE, MICH.

DEAR ABBY: I can't speak for all the teen-agers in the world, but I can speak for myself. When adults call me "Honey" or "Dear," I feel they are trying to put me in my place — like they are talking to some little kid. But I don't mind being called "Honey" or any other pet name when the person is my age.

I'M NOT EVERYBODY'S HONEY

Queens

For the Queens to have a successful season, they will have to "grow up quickly, and in the process be competitive early before we get beat down in the psyche," Stevens said. "We've got too much talent not to win our share of games."

Members of the 1988-89 Queens, and some of Stevens' comments on them, are:

- Cindy Johnson, a 5'7" sophomore guard from Richmond — "She's our only returning player. She's an excellent, outstanding shooter who was forced to play point guard for us last year. She'll probably play at the shooting guard position this season."
- Jennifer Johnson, a 5'4" freshman guard from Kennedy — "She has a good shooting touch from the outside, and will play the No. two guard position. She still has a lot to learn, but has improved."
- Tammi Hood, a 5'5" freshman guard from Tahoka — "She was out of school for a couple of years, and returned to get her education. She's a good jumper and shooter and will help us on the boards. She's a pleasant find."
- Kelly Kornegay, a 5'7" freshman guard from George West — "She is an excellent rebounder; a very aggressive, physical type of player."
- Linda Waters, a 5'10" freshman forward from Portland.

- Monique Cook, a 5'6" freshman guard from Lake Oswego, Ore. — "She's a point guard and has what every coach looks for: She's a ball handler, quick, shooter... She's a good quarterback type of player, and very tenacious on defense."
- Candice Boyd, a 5'5" freshman guard from Los Angeles, Calif. — "Our other point guard. She's probably the quickest player on the team. She's trying to learn the transition to a more team-oriented style of play than she's used to."
- Ana Carroll, a 5'10" freshman forward from El Paso — "She was an All-State player at El Paso Eastwood High School. She'll play the post and wing positions. Ana's learning to adapt to playing the outside position, but she has shown good quickness, and she's a good scorer."
- Kristen Hedlund, a 6'0" freshman post from Lubbock — "A very strong post player with a nice touch to her shot. Also, she's very aggressive on the boards. Probably the most improved player on the team."
- Stephanie Fetcher, a 5'5" freshman guard from Palestine — "She's a pure shooter; probably the best on the team. I like to think of her as our zone-buster."

- Anitra Wilkens, a 5'7" freshman guard from Compton, Calif. — "The best athlete in our camp. She's quick and runs the floor really well... If she gets some more confidence, she'll really be something."
- Allana Cummings, a 6'2" sophomore post from Warren, Mich. — "She's a transfer from Ole Miss. She was very highly recruited out of high school. She's a strong rebounder and can score around the basket."
- Shannon Lawson, a 6'0" freshman post from Tahoka — "Probably the strongest person on the team. She could be the next in a long line of good post players here. She had 20 rebounds in our last scrimmage."
- Tessa Hood, a 5'3" freshman guard from Tahoka — Tammi's sister is "a great three-point shooter and is deceptively quick." Ore. — "I would be very surprised if she doesn't turn out to be a ex-

Wallace rallies for Delco win

ROCKINGHAM, N.C. (AP) — Rusty Wallace rallied from two laps down to catch streaking Bill Elliott, then poured on the power for a runaway victory in the AC-Delco 500 at North Carolina Motor Speedway.

The victory was Wallace's third straight. And the 33-year-old Missouri racer drew closer to Elliott in the Winston Cup points race.

Heading into the Phoenix 500 — the first NASCAR tour event ever held in Arizona — Wallace has now cut Elliott's lead to 79 points.

"Sure, when you get two laps down it can concern you. But when you have a strong car like this and a strong crew, well, I wasn't that worried," said Wallace, who led 182 of the final 189 miles.

"The title means everything to me. And if I don't win it this year, I'll be really dejected."

Wallace earned $52,150, making him the eighth driver in NASCAR history to win more than $1 million in a single season.

Wallace finished half a lap ahead of runnerup Ricky Rudd and nearly a full lap ahead of Terry Labonte, the only men still on the lead lap at the end of the 4 1/2-hour, 492-lap race. The last 105 laps were run under green.

Elliott dominated the first half of the race, leading 207 of the first 302 laps. But he cut a tire on lap 335 and lost a lap when forced to pit. By then, Wallace had recovered his own lost laps and had the muscle to keep Elliott from ever getting back in the lead lap.

Elliott can win the points championship by finishing eighth or better in the final two races, even if Wallace should win both.

Wallace had his misfortune early, pitting under green 60 miles into the race with a cut left rear tire. With Elliott dominating the action, Wallace struggled with an ill-handling car over the next 70 miles.

Owner dedicates Budweiser win to late father

By TIM LIOTTA

LAUREL, Md. — Once in a lifetime came a little too late for Dan Galbreath and his Darby Dan Farm.

Sunshine Forever's narrow victory in Sunday's $750,000 Budweiser International prompted the colt's owner to dedicate the triumph to his late father, John, a world-famous horse breeder who died July 20. John Galbreath began Darby Dan Farm more than 30 years ago.

"Some time ago, (Sunshine Forever's trainer) John Veitch said, 'You wait a lifetime or maybe two for a horse like this, and you still might not have one.'" Dan Galbreath said.

"I'm only sorry it didn't happen in Dad's lifetime. It's his breeding, his Graustark, his Roberto... This one has to be for him. It was a tremendous victory."

Sent off the odds-on favorite in the International, Sunshine Forever took command around the far turn in the 1 1/4-mile race. He held the lead until a French colt named Squill drove past him from the outside as the field turned into the stretch.

Squill extended his lead to a length inside the final sixteenth of a mile before Sunshine Forever found another burst of energy and came on to win by a neck in a stirring three-horse finish.

"When those two French horses came out down the stretch, I thought they had him," Veitch said. "It takes a very, very good horse to recover from that. It was, without a doubt, his toughest race, not by the margin of victory, but in terms of the great character he showed."

Frankly Perfect, a French colt ridden by Walter Swinburn, rallied inside the winner and out-finished Squill by a half-length for second.

"I came back a little too early in the stretch," said Guy Guinard, who rode Squill. "When he is too close to the front he loses his concentration."

A winner of consecutive Grade I stakes in his two previous starts, Sunshine Forever made it three in a row under Angel Cordero by covering the distance over a firm turf course in 2:03.

The 3-year-old son of Roberto won for the eighth time in 11 starts this year and boosted his 1988 earnings to $1,583,636 with the International's $450,000 winner's purse.

As the 4-5 favorite in the field of 14 international turf runners, Sunshine Forever paid $3.60, $3 and $2.80. Frankly Perfect returned $10.40 and $6.40, and Squill paid $6 to show.

Each of the first three finishers carried 122 pounds in the weight-for-age race. Older horses carried 126.

Following the first three across the finish line, in order, were: Salem Drive, Media Starguest, Coeur de Lion, Skip Out Front, Silver Voice, Face Nord, Most Welcome, Wanderkin, Dietmar, Rim and Ghost Buster's.

Prior to Sunday's victory, Sunshine Forever won the Man O'War by a half-length at Belmont Park and the prestigious Turf Classic, also at Belmont. The colt returns to New York today before being sent to Louisville for the Breeder's Cup on Nov. 6.

"Of course we won't know for a couple of days what this race took out of him, but his race in the Turf Classic was an easy race on him. The Man O'War, he was hardly pressed," Veitch said. "He has been very fresh. He's just learning what it's all about."

"I think he will bounce back very good. He's a very hearty, strong horse. Nothing seems to bother him. He moves well. He ships well. So we should be in good shape Breeder's Cup Day."

The Budweiser International, known as the Washington, D.C., International in its first 36 runnings, highlighted a five-stakes weekend comprising the International Turf Festival at Laurel Race Course.

Favored Ravinella, a French filly ridden by Guinard, rallied to win by a head in the $250,000 All Along Stakes for older fillies and mares, the first of two supporting grass features at Laurel Sunday.

The other stakes, the $200,000 Laurel Dash, a six-furlong grass race, was won by a longshot from Britain named Steinlen, ridden by Laffit Pincay.

On Saturday, the $250,000 Selima Stakes went to an American filly named Capades, ridden by Cordero, and the $250,000 Laurel Futurity for 2-year-olds was won by Luge II, a British colt ridden by Jose Santos.

zone pickoff by Carl Howard with the Jets ahead by seven points.

"He had a great passing day," McMillan said of Marino. "He is going to get his, whatever he does, but we got the interceptions because we are a great secondary. We figured Marino out before we came here. We knew their formations and who he was going to throw to."

Giants 23, Falcons 16

The Giants didn't seem to know much of anything about Atlanta, but they got the breaks at the end of their uninspired effort. The Falcons, 1-7 and losers of five straight, reached the New York 1 on the final play of the game.

"It's hard to believe we lost," said Miller, who was returning from an ankle injury. "We can grow from this loss, but it's hard to keep growing from all these losses."

"We controlled the ball all day, but to lose like this is heartbreaking. We're a better football team, but we're not going to get better until we win."

Dickerson, the AFC's leading rusher, ran 30 times and pushed his career total to 9,135 yards. It was the 49th time he has gone over 100 yards in a game, and he also had four pass receptions for 30 yards.

"I like carrying the football as long as I'm healthy, and I'm healthy right now," Dickerson said. "They gave us some big lanes today."

The Colts defense gave San Diego nothing — the Chargers got as far as the Indianapolis 25 just once. It was the Chargers' second shutout at home — they lost 12-0 to Denver on Oct. 2.

Dean Biasucci kicked three field goals.

Browns 29, Cardinals 21

Bernie Kosar came back from an elbow injury that sidelined him in Game 1. He wasn't rusty.

Kosar completed 25 of 43 passes, including 20 of 28 for 224 yards in the first half, for three touchdowns and 314 yards. His 25-yarder to Reggie Langhorne provided the winning score.

"Bernie's started two games this season for us and he's 2-0. That's all that counts for me," Coach Marty Schottenheimer said.

Cleveland, 5-3 and with the NFL's best pass defense, intercepted backup quarterback Cliff Stoudt twice in a three-minute span late in the fourth quarter, then sacked him for a safety. Stoudt replaced Neil Lomax, whose arthritic hip sidelined him in the third quarter.

Redskins 20, Packers 17

Another star QB returned as Washington's Doug Williams, the MVP of the Super Bowl, came back from an appendectomy that benched him for five weeks. Williams completed 25 of 43 passes for 225 yards and Kelvin Bryant has 210 yards total offense.

Max Zendejas, who was criticized by his former teammates when he missed five field goals and five extra points while with the Redskins in 1986, missed a 24-yard field goal with 11 seconds to go.

"This is a sign of a good team when we win one we probably should have lost," Williams said.

Steelers 39, Broncos 21

The Steelers responded to recent criticism about their conservatism with a varied attack that included a no-huddle offense, halfback option passes and reverses. They also got a club-record six field goals from Gary Anderson — he connected twice from 30 yards and also from 32, 21, 37 and 22.

Rodney Carter, who had carried only once this season, ran for 105 yards and two touchdowns and the Steelers picked off three Gary Kubiak passes. Kubiak suffered from the injured John Elway.

The victory broke Pittsburgh's six-game slide, its longest since 1969.

"He was the glue that kept it all together," tackle Tunch Ilkin said of Coach Chuck Noll, who took the brunt of most of the criticism.

Bills 23, Patriots 20

Scott Norwood's third field goal, a 33-yarder with 13 seconds remaining, was decisive for Buffalo, which leads the AFC East by 2 1/2 games at 7-1. Buffalo overcame four turnovers and was helped by New England kicker Teddy Garcia, who missed three field goals and a conversion.

"It's something all kickers have gone through," said Norwood, who had made eight consecutive field goals. "You just have to put it behind you to be successful."

Rams 31, Seahawks 10

Jim Everett continued to sparkle for the Rams, 6-2 and a game behind New Orleans in the NFC West. Everett had his third straight three-touchdown performance, completing 20 of 27 throws for 311 yards.

Cowboys

The controversy placed added pressure on the Eagles, Coach Buddy Ryan said.

But, he said, "They responded real well."

Dallas Coach Tom Landry blamed the penalties for the Cowboys' defeat.

"We had a good chance to win this game," he said. "We played well in the first half. Penalties broke up our continuity and killed us."

Landry added, "They made a good drive (at the end). We just couldn't stop them. That's the fourth time we lost in that situation this year."

The Cowboys might have lost the game in the first quarter by wasting all three of their time outs.

At the end of the half, the Cowboys drove to the Eagles' 13 for a first down with five seconds left. But with no timeouts left, Steve Pelluer tried to stop the clock by throwing an incomplete pass.

"We had trouble lining up with our different formations," Landry said. "I guess our guys got mixed up."

Pelluer ended the game completing 32 of 46 for 342 yards and one touchdown.

The Eagles started their comeback when Cunningham capped an eight-play, 83-yard drive with an 11-yard scoring pass to Keith Byars to cut the deficit to 20-7 with 2:07 left in the half.

They made it 20-10 with 9:13 left in the third, on Luis Zendejas' 39-yard field goal.

Dallas then recovered a fumble at the Eagles' 33 and went in to get a 30-yard field goal by Roger Ruzek for a 23-10 lead with 11:14 left in the quarter.

After a Dallas punt was downed at the Eagles' 1, Cunningham directed a 13-play, 99-yard drive with Toney scoring from the 7, cutting the Eagles' deficit to 23-17 with 6:23 left in the game.

Dallas took a 7-0 lead 4:35 into the first period on a nine-play, 71-yard drive capped by Pelluer's 18-yard score to Ray Alexander.

The Cowboys made it 14-0 with 4:39 left in the first on an eight-play, 80-yard drive with Timmy Newsome scoring from the 1.

years on special teams but was filling in at linebacker for the injured Joe Kelly.

With nine seconds to go in the period, he blitzed, went unblocked, and slapped the ball from Moon. It popped into the air, and Barker grabbed it and raced 34 yards untouched for his first score since Little League.

"Luck has a lot to do with it," Barker said. "You keep coming and keep coming and keep coming and sometimes something happens. This was one of those times."

But then the Bengals shut down.

"Your mind says you have to keep playing with a 28-0 lead but sometimes your body doesn't follow," Esiason said.

Mike Rozier's 5-yard run with 43 seconds left to go in the half cut it to 28-7.

Then Thomas' second interception set up an 18-yard TD run by Brooks for a touchdown midway through the third period and the Bengals looked safe with a 35-7 lead.

They weren't.

First Moon hit Willie Drewrey with a 10-yard TD pass at the end of an 80-yard drive to make it 35-14. Then he threw a 15-yarder to Hill for a score to after a 62-yard drive that used only 1:42 of the clock to cut it to 35-21 with 1:06 left in the third period.

And when Esiason fumbled and Doug Smith recovered at the Cincinnati 22 with 35 seconds left in the period, Houston was back in the game.

Heather Fields sits behind the controls of one of the helicopters on display.

Viewers walk among airplanes ranging from the small T-38s to the large HC-130.

Some of the estimated 5,000 people shade their eyes as they watch one of the stunt pilots perform.

By SARAH LUMAN
Staff Writer

Some 5,000 spectators came to see the Vietnam Veterans Memorial Airshow Saturday at McMahon-Wrinkle Airpark.

Promised parachute demonstrations were prevented by a West Texas wind that would have made the jumps unsafe — but the milling throngs didn't seem to mind as they watched aerobatic craft perform above the runways of the former Webb Air Force Base.

Many in the crowd were planning to attend a Webb exes' reunion afterward in what once had been the officers' club.

Vietnam veterans — for whose fallen comrades the show is designed to fund a memorial at the site of the 1987 Moving Wall visit — also could be seen throughout the crowd. Their faces were serious and sometimes sad — but mostly, they looked proud.

On the ramp — where Webb's jets once waited taxi or takeoff instructions along the flightline — the crowd wandered between the static-display helicopters.

Several were of Vietnam war vintage; a (UH-1) Huey helicopter copilot from the Vultures, Chief Warrant Officer II Korwaski Jeter, pointed to a stenciled legend on his chopper and said, "This is a 1967 model."

The aircraft could have seen service in Vietnam. The Huey — according to Jeter and his crewmates CWO II David Unruh, pilot in command, and crewchief Spec. 4 Mike Sappenfield — is the most reliable helicopter in the U.S. Army's aviation inventory.

"As helicopters go it is not a complicated aircraft," Unruh, an eight-year Army aviation veteran with six years as a pilot, said. "You'll find Hueys everywhere the Army has aviation."

This particular one flies for the 227th Aviation Regiment, Combat Aviation Brigade, First Cavalry, based at Fort Hood.

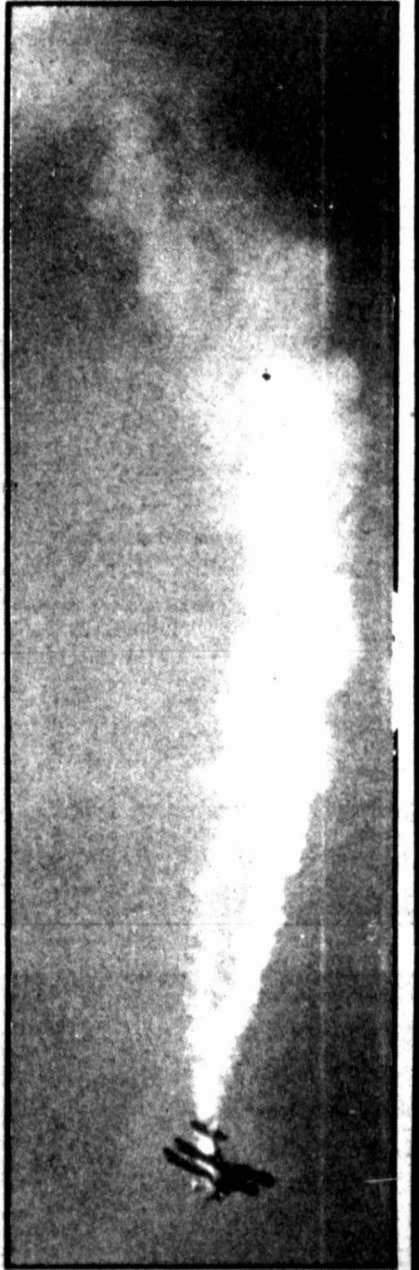

Hueys are "the helicopter everyone associates with Vietnam," airshow coordinator Philip Welch has said.

There were airplanes, too — T-37s and T-38s from Reese Air Force Base in Lubbock, used to train pilots who would later fly F-105 Thunderchiefs and F-4 Phantoms over the jungle canopies of Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia — a T-34 Navy trainer and a USAF Sabreliner.

A flock of private planes appeared, belonging to aeroclub members; a Pitts special performed aerobatics; a two-thirds scale P-51 fighter powered by a 351 Cleveland Ford automobile engine was displayed, as was an example of the genuine Mustang from World War II.

A PBY was there, huge and clumsy-looking; the most massive silhouette on the flightline was a camo-clad HC-130 Hercules, a turboprop from Dyess Air Force Base's Military Airlift Command.

The replica P-51, last to perform for the crowd, landed; before its props stopped spinning, the T-38 pilots had begun their preflight "runup," preparing for departure. Minutes later the slim white jets pounced on the sky, making a fast low pass across the runway — and then they were gone, leading the exodus that left the airfield — abandoned once more — within an hour.
