Ag chair blasting notices' timing

By GUY DARST Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON - The chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee accused the Reagan administration on Saturday of timing foreclosure warnings to hit about 90,000 farms just after the election.

However, the head of the Agriculture Department agency involved denied the charge and said the regulations involved were too complex to have been completed earlier

The notices will tell delinquent borrowers from the Farmers Home Administration that they are seriously behind in their payments, should start considering their options and tell FmHA within 45 days what they want to do. The notices will lay out the options farmers may

Those options, under 1987 legislation signed by President Reagan early in 1988, permit the FmHA under some circumstances to write down some debts or to grant new terms. The legislation required a major reorganization of FmHA programs, including the notices to delinquent borrowers.

"Giving the administration the benefit of every doubt, the notices could have gone out by Labor Day,'' said Sen. Patrick Leahy, D-Vt., chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee.

Draft regulations were published for comment Sept. 14, to take effect Nov. 14, which is Monday. FmHA officials said in late October they expected to begin mailing the notices soon after Nov. 14, and Leahy said he tried to bring this out in campaign appearances in farm states on behalf of fellow Democrats.

"There's no question in my mind it was deliberately held off" so the notices would follow the presidential election but precede the return of Congress and inauguration of the new president, Leahy said.

But Vance L. Clark, head of the FmHA, said the timing "had nothing to do with the election.

"We had a tremendous job in training field people to make these regulations work and we had to scrub the list to make sure it was clean," Clark said.

Treva Cantrell doesn't have much in the way of possessions, but she does have a white leather baby shoe, and she's not about to part with it.

After rummaging through her white vinyl purse, which is imprinted with someone else's initials, Cantrell pulled out the little shoe and showed it to her companion, Patrick Radecker.

Radecker hadn't seemed to have heard of this superstition before, but he didn't offer any objection.

For a couple who recently spent the night huddled under a bridge in Big Spring, a little luck could undoubtedly go a long way

To hear Radecker tell it, he hasn't had much luck since the day in 1963 when he got "hit with 7,000 volts of electricity" while working as a roofer.

A 30-foot antenna on the roof he was working on hit a power line, killing a co-worker and severely injuring him, Radecker said.

He worked at various odd jobs after recovering from the accident. But hampered by recurring vision problems caused by cataracts, Radecker found it dif-ficult to hold a steady job. For the last 10 years he worked on labor pools in Los Angeles, but has been unable to find full-time employment.

September that Radecker met Cantrell, who is afflicted with a chronic form of mental illness and was living in a convalescent

While in Los Angeles, the two decided to set out for New Orleans where Radecker's relatives reside. The couple had managed to hitchhike their way to Fort Stockton where they were temporarily separated.

Cantrell, whose perception often wavers between the past and the present, was seen talking to herself outside a restaurant and the police picked her up. She was eventually transferred to the Big Spring State Hospital.

Radecker was waiting in Fort Stockton to receive food stamps before continuing on toward New Orleans, but once Cantrell was taken to the local hospital, he decided to immediately follow

Honors to veterans

By STEVE GEISSEN Staff Writer

When Joel Griffin received official recognition more than 40 years after his distinguished service in World War II, he received it in a big way.

Along with 59 other veterans who gathered Friday at the Veterans Administration Hospital for a Veterans Day ceremony, Griffin received a Prisoner of War medal recently authorized by Congress.

But Griffin received eight other medals and one ribbon as well. The medals presented to Griffin at the Veterans Day ceremony included the Air Medal, the Purple Heart and the Pacific Campaign medal.

For Griffin - whose daughter,

Julia, completed the governmental paperwork so her father could receive the medals he earned in the 1940s .— the honor of being officially presented with the medals was "a "I had never bothered to get them before," he said. "When the war was over, I just wanted to come home. I didn't want to wait around to get my medals. "I knew I had had a bunch of stuff on my discharge, but I didn't realize what it was," he added. Griffin, a former Airforce tailgunner, was shot down in a B-17 over New Guinea in June of 1943 and was taken prisoner by the Japanese. As a prisoner of war, Griffin endured food deprivation and "interrogation" - which consisted largely of being beaten with rifle butts when his captors didn't like his answers to their questions.

When liberated after 21/2 years of imprisonment, his weight had dropped from 190 to less than 100

Today, Griffin, a retired elementary school principal who lives in Snyder, is quick to joke, "If you know anybody who wants to find out about a good diet tell them to call Joel Griffin.

Before Griffin and other veterans were given POW medals, speakers told of the debt that Americans owe the men who fought for the preservation of freedom. "History teaches us that freedom isn't free and it certainly isn't cheap," said keynote speaker Colonel Glenn Dishman, of Goodfellow Air Force Base. "A nation that forgets its hero's forgets its very

Fifty years in the state prison was the penalty handed to a 28-year-old Big Spring man by the 118th District Court jury that found him guilty of murder earlier

County jail. Under regulations of the Texas State Board of Pardons and Paroles, because he was convicted of a crime occurring before Sept. 1, 1987, he must serve the lesser of 20 years or one-third of his sentence, to be considered.

Under the one-third sentence guideline, he could be paroled in 16.66 years.

Defense witness Jeannie Hernandez Fonseca, sentenced to life in prison after pleading guilty to a different slaying in July, will be eligible for parole after serving one-fourth of her sentence, or 15 years, whichever is less. ### Ag chair blasting notices' timing

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON - The chair man of the Senate Agriculture Committee accused the Reagan administration on Saturday of timing foreclosure warnings to hit about 90,000 farms just after the election.

However, the head of the Agriculture Department agency involved denied the charge and said the regulations involved were too complex to have been completed earlier.

The notices will tell delinquent borrowers from the Farmers Home Administration that they are seriously behind in their payments, should start considering their options and tell FmHA within 45 days what they want to do. The notices will lay out the options farmers may pursue

Those options, under 1987 legislation signed by President Reagan early in 1988, permit the FmHA under some circumstances to write down some debts or to grant new terms. The legislation required a major reorganization of FmHA programs, including the notices to delinquent borrowers.

"Giving the administration the benefit of every doubt, the notices could have gone out by Labor Day," said Sen. Patrick Leahy, D-Vt., chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee.

Draft regulations were published for comment Sept. 14, to take effect Nov. 14, which is Monday. FmHA officials said in late October they expected to begin mailing the notices soon after Nov. 14, and Leahy said he tried to bring this out in campaign appearances in farm states on behalf of fellow Democrats.

"There's no question in my mind it was deliberately held off" so the notices would follow the presidential election but precede the return of Congress and inauguration of the new president, Leahy said.

But Vance L. Clark, head of the FmHA, said the timing "had nothing to do with the election.'

"We had a tremendous job in training field people to make these regulations work and we had to scrub the list to make sure it was clean," Clark said.

'After all these years it's nice to at least know that people remember and are grateful," said Wilson, Midland, commander of the Permian Basin American Ex-Prisoners of War and a former Army Aircorp gu ner who was imprisoned in Germany for 14 months after his B-17 was shot down.

Wilson's wife, Jean, said she 'was very proud'' of her husband and "real excited" about his being presented with the POW medal. She also expressed gratitude for the work of the VA Hospital officials who organized the event. "You can't say enough about what John Webb and Conrad Alexander have done," she said. "They've gone out of their way to work with the POWs.

"POWs have a different set of problems," she added. "They are a little reserved about asking for anything. Sometimes they feel like they didn't do enough, even when everybody else thinks just the opposite.

Virginia Howle — the wife of Big Spring resident Russell Howle who was imprisoned in Germany for 13 months during World War II summed up the feelings of many of the family members in attendance, saying: "I'm just thrilled to death that they were honored after such a long time. They certainly deserve the recognition. After all we wouldn't be here if these guys hadn't fought and sacrificed for

Ray did say, however, that more Howard County residents voted in the 69th District state representative's race and the United States Senate race than in the presidential election

"I think that proves people were not that impressed with either candidate for president," Ray said.

In the general election, 10,905 Howard County voters cast ballots for state representative: Republican Troy Fraser received 5,772 votes and Democrat Johnnie Lou Avery received 5,133, Ray Howard County voters favored Republican George Bush over Democrat Michael Dukakis by a 6,024 to 4,445 margin.

Only 9,642 votes were cast, however, in the special election for state representative. That is a difference of 1,263.

In the special election, Fraser captured 5,179 votes in Howard County compared to Avery's 4,463. Ray attributes the difference to straight party voting.

Write-in wins

Drawing 19 votes in his declared write-in candidacy, E. "Zeke" Valles won the race for constable in Precinct 1, County Clerk Margaret Ray said Friday.

Valles, a 22-year veteran of Sid Richardson Carbon Co. who resides at 1410 Bluebird St., was the winner of a four-year term for the position.

Such a position allows for the office holder to serve papers and other duties similar to those of a sheriff, according to county officials, and pays $20 per month.

League considers goals, leadership, AIDS, EEOC

"Women are one of our culture's strongest resources; said Big Spring Councilwoman Pat DeAnda in an impromptu keynote speech at Saturday's district meeting of the League of United Latin American citizens.

DeAnda was called to fill in for the scheduled speaker, Jesse Trevino, who was ostensibly prevented from attending because weather conditions in Austin prevented travel.

Citing the large numbers of women officers in LULAC, both nationally and locally, DeAnda said "Mexican-American women have become more assertive in recent years about assuming leadership roles in the community." DeAnda laughingly praised Mexican-American men for alllowing women "the opportunity to participate.

Night of shame for entire world

Whatever doubt still lingered in the civilized world about the character and intentions of Adolf Hitler and the Nazis ended 50 years ago Nov. 9. On that night. Kristallnacht, the night of the broken glass, rampaging Nazi thugs, organized by propagandist Joseph Goebbels and SS leader Reindhard Heydrich, smashed thousands of Jewish-owned businesses and homes, business synagogues, murdered scores of Jews and rounded tie some 30,000 to ship to concentration earnps. It any date can be set for the beginning of the holocaust, the date is Nov. 9, 1938

What was most frightening was the response of ordinary Germans — a response that ranged from silence to active support of the pogrom and the relative indifference of the rest of the world. The only thing that turned out to be seriously embarrassing for the Nazis was that, in their rampage, they also destroyed many buildings -- generally those that housed the Jewishowned shops — owned by non-Jews, thereby putting a huge burden on German insurance companies. Herman Goering solved that problem by confiscating the compen sation due the Jews and returning it to the insurance companies and then assessing the Jewish victims one billion marks — about $200 million at the time—for "their abominable crimes.

Many people still recall that night as a particular moment of terror, people who unfil then assumed that with the assimilation of Jews in German society, with the long German tradition of civil action, the threats and rhetoric of Hitler were mostly bluster. Total night, as people were dragged into the streets and as others wat ched helples ly while their homes were smashed and burned, they began to understand how veries they had been.

There will be an extensive some about a restacti events, many of them in West occasion. . . . . and a that despite residual anti-sen itism, has conked high in the past generation to confront its demonic past. But if the Germans have to confront the long shadow east by the holocaust, so do we all. After that night, the world had to know what was happening to the Jews. It did very little to then the stock questions have been raised about the Democrats' inability to elect a president. Yet, their continued control of Congress and a majority of the nation's governorthips disproves theories of mass political realignment and demonstrates the willingness of voters to vote Democratic.

Democrats need to change strategy

So why do the Democrats consistently lose the Presidency? Those Democrats shouting and encouraging "92! 92!" at Michael Dukakis as he conceeded to George Bush should consider an answer: First, the Democratic Party loses · itimal elections because it has noted to correct its flawed minating process.

It is skewed both geographically in favor of the North) and ideologically (in favor of liberals); The developers of Super Tuesday had the right idea: to nominate a most rate southerner. But their Tailegy backfired. Jackson and reduction both northern liberals, won Because the demographics of autonal elections favor less liberal candidates from the South or West, the same candidates and strategies that prevail in the primaries guarantee deteat in the general

In Texas, for example, the Democratic primary can be won by appealing to those most receptive plac voting: Hispancis, Blacks and Liberals But these same groups cannot carry a national election. There is a lesson here for Texas Democrats as they ready their 1990 lineup. As things stand now, they would lead with Agiculture Commissioner Jim Hightower for the U.S. Senate, not terribly promising prospect.

more than 50% of the country's population lives in the South and West. Since 1960, these regions have gained almost 50 million people while the North and East have gained only 11 million Between 1970 and 1980, for example, the center of the U.S. population moved from Mascoutah, Illinois, to DeSoto, Missouri. That trajectory would eventually bring the population center to Wichita Falls, Texas (which in 1992 will pass New York as the second most populous state in the Union).

After the 1990 Census further skews the elecotral college in favor of the South and West, can the party nominate another northeasterner and win?

This is a painful dilemma. The strongest and most able Democrat at the moment besides Texas Senator Lloyd Bentsen is New York Gov. Mario Cuomo.

Anyone who caught the all-American Cuomo on either the Larry King Show or This Week With David Brinkley last week cannot help but be impressed.

In spite of Cuomo's magnetism, hard-core Democrats should begin planning to nominate a southerner. The votes against Robert Bork by people like Georgia Sen. Sam Nunn and Lloyd Bentsen prove that southerners are as willing to fight for civil rights today as Lyndon Johnson was in the 60's.

Blacks, in particular, should note this. They face returning to the status of a political minority in the South if the GOP continues to solidify its hold of the region. Is there room in the Republican Party of a Strom Thrumond, a Phil Gramm or a Trent Lott for blacks? The Democratic Party must give Hispanics face the same question trivial compared to some.

It all Democrats can grasp the change in the party's historic geographic fix, they will be able to accept the rest of the answer to the perplexing quesiton of why the national ticket cannot win, and that is: The Democratic Party loses nationwide elections because it fails to realize that its national campaigns cannot be won on a national basis. They are won as a collection of statewide victories. Simply put, the management of the campaign within each individual state should be directed by the highest elected Democratic officials in that state. In Texas, for example, the vouthful Dukakis camp never realized the incalculable damage of Bush's libelous gun control advertisements. Would Bush have gone unanswered if Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby or Comptroller Bob Bullock had been running the campaign in Texas? In Ohio, the incompetence of the imported managers and the detatchment of the Boston bosses exasperated state Democratic own television ads too late. Ditto in California.

A rereading of Theodore White's master work, The Making of the President 1960, demonstrates the skill with which John Kennedy depended on the chief Democrats of the time - mostly elected officials — to head the campaign. If Dukakis originally hoped to pattern his campaign after Kennedy's in this critical aspect, he failed. He depended on individuals presuming to know more about Texas and Texans than a Hobby or a Bentsen.

Barring a worse-than-1929 economic crash and a resulting Rooseveltian landslide in 1992, the Democrats have some serious reflecting to do. Party die-hards who control the nominating process, the hitmen who can win a primary but nothing else, and the Jackson contingent need to sacrifice their personal power for the good of the party and country.

If they refuse, the Democratic Party may never win another presidential election.

Russian dissident is optimistic about change

leader Mikhail Gorbachev is trying to break resistance to reform by centralizing political power through new laws and constitutional changes that are "tantamount to a coup," says dissident scientist and human-rights campaigner Andrei D. Sakharov. The new laws will set back the trend toward glasnost, or greater openness in the Soviet Union. Sakharov said Friday at a meeting with Helsinki Watch, the organization founded 10 years ago to monitor human rights in Sovietbloc countries.

A package of changes in the Soviet-Constitution that was drawn up without public debate "is an attempt by Gorbachev to retain enough power to break the resistance to reforms by the apparatus," Sakharov said.

"It looks like he was faced with the necessity to get all the power in his hands," he said.

"I believe he is doing it with good intentions," the 67-year-old Nobel Peace Prize winner continued. 'Nonetheless, I consider it a dangerous development.

Sakharov, who also spoke Friday

'The change in our personal situation was part and parcel of general change in conditions in our country, said the physicist, who was in internal exile in the closed city of Gorky with his wife, Yelena Bonner, until they were freed by Gorbachev two years ago.

Sakharov was banished in 1980 for opposing the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan.

"It's with great hope and a lot of excitement all of us are, but unfortunately with a lot of fear as watching the process unfold," Sakharov said through an interpreter.

He told the Academy of Sciences gathering that there is a saying going around among Moscow intellectuals: "Let's not pamper Gorbachev.

Coalition pushes 'English only'

AUSTIN (AP) — The founder of the American Ethnic Coalition says 23 of Texas' 181 lawmakers have agreed to sponsor legislation making English the official language of Texas

Lou Zaeske, founder and chairman, also said he would run as a Republican for the state Senate in 1990 for the seat held by Democrat Kent Caperton, D-Bryan.

At least 70 percent of the senatorial district supports "Official English," but Caperton 'refuses to even support, yet alone sponsor, Official English legislation," said Zaeske.

It is a little early to be planning for 1990, and he has not decided whether he will seek re-election or, perhaps, run for another office, said Caperton.

"I agree with President Bush that official English is ill-advised and should not be part of our Constitution or our law," he said.

At a news conference, Zaeske called attention to three states — Florida, Colorado and Arizona voting in the recent general election to establish English as their official language. 'We are happy about the three victories . we're disappointed Texas couldn't be the 17th state" to do so, he said.

"Had our Legislature in its infinite wisdom — and I use that term advisedly — if they had just let the people speak to the issue in Texas, it would have passed overwhelmingly," he said.

Zaeske said the American Ethnic Coalition had identified 51 legislators who promised they would sponsor, or co-sponsor, legislation making English the official language of Texas, if they were elected. Of that total, 23 were elected to the Legislature and four to Congress, he said.

"We feel we have a pretty good base to work from there. Zaeske said the coalition would work in the 1989 Legislature to: Repeal a law that provides lower tuition rates for Mexican students attending public colleges

'We really can't understand why the citizens of this state should be required to underwrite foreigners going to school here. when many of the children of citizens of this state are unable to go to college here because of not being able to pay the tuition,' Zaeske said.

"For the state to provide services like that to one ethnic group in this country is discriminatory in and of itself.

 Allow public schools to discard bilingual education.

Require foreign instructors at Texas public colleges to pass an English proficiency exam before being allowed to teach.

- Stop all state agencies from engaging in bilingual governmental operations except in unusual emergencies Ask Attorney General Jim

Mattox to issue an opinion on the constitutionality of the state engaging in bilingual Repeal a law that requires the Texas Employment Commission to print its forms in English and Spanish.

Require the state comptroller to report "on the current extent of government bilingualism in Texas and its cost to the state, agency by agency.'

Church says no to first female bishop

DALLAS (AP) - The nation's first woman Episcopal bishop has been denied affirmation of ordination by the Standing Committee of the Episcopal Diocese of Dallas, church officials said.

The Rev. C.V. Westapher, parish priest of the Church of the Incarnation and president of the committee, said Friday that the vote was 3-2, with one abstention, against the proposed consecration of the Rev. Barbara Harris, a priest from Philadelphia.

The vote was taken Tuesday, Westapher said.

The Rev. Harris, 58, was elected last month by the Diocese of Massachusetts in September as suffragan, or assistant bishop of Massachusetts.

Before she can be consecrated, however, her election must be approved by a majority of the 118 diocesan bishops and their standing committees. The failure of either group to give majority consent voids the election.

Westapher said he could not predict how other standing committees in the church would vote. No election in anyone's memory has been overturned, he said.

The Rev. Harris' consecration has been set for early February.

From the outset, her election was controversial among traditionalists who oppose the ordination or consecration of women as priests and bishops. All but a handful of dioceses, however, have ordained women as priests.

The Dallas committee is composed of three clergy and three laity members. Westapher, noting that the church has many black bishops, said race was never an issue in the committee's discussion. The Rev. Harris is black.

Because he is the only conservative on the committee, Westapher said, he was the only one who objected to a woman's elevation to the episcopacy. Only one member found her divorce a problem, he said.

In general, Westapher said, the committee based its judgment on what members considered the Rev. Harris' lack of qualifications. He talked about the politics involved in electing her over others who he said were "much better qualified." Westapher added: "Don't misunderstand us. She is brilliant. But she never went to college or had structured seminary training. That is part of the discipline of preparation for the ministry whether it be for a deacon, priest or the episcopacy.' has been a priest for only eight years - "not long enough to test one's temper" - and said there was concern about her "radical politics," which he said some have described as being "far left of the church.

The Dallas priest quoted from an editorial in the church's publica-tion "Living Church." Writer Boone Porter called the diocese's decision to elect the Rev. Harris over "one or more other candidates with obvious qualifications and long-term personal knowledge of the diocese (of Massachusetts)" a ploy to "score a dramatic vic-

Chief Mack Vines had earlier fired the officers when an internal affairs investigation found they kicked and beat a man in the freeway altercation.

Police said witnesses to the beating at a service station told them gas attendants locked themselves and the victim inside an office to prevent the two officers from continuing the attack.

"It's an unfortunate situation that obviously taints and tarnishes the image of the department in the eyes of the citizens," Vines said. Police said the officers were on

The officers pulled in behind the Houston men, blocked Johnson's car with their own, identified themselves as police officers, "forcitly removed Johnson from his vehicle and, at that point, mistreated, detained and searched Mr. Johnson," Holt said.

"There was physical assault on the officers' part," said Vines. Witnesses told investigators that the officers kicked and beat

FORT WORTH (AP) — The rare Elie Nadelman sculpture aquired by Amon Carter Museum previously sold for $1.4 million during a December 1987 auction at Christie's of New York and is an item that topped the museum's shopping list.

"You know, every museum has a wish list," Linda Ayers, the museum's curator of paintings and sculpture, told the Fort Worth Star-Telegram. "And a cherrywood-and-gesso figure from Nadelman was right at the top of ours.

The museum purchased Chef d'Orchestre (Orchestra Conductor) for an undisclosed price from Gerald Peters, a Dallas and Santa Fe art dealer who acquired joint ownership of the piece at the Carved of cherrywood and created about 1919, the figure stands 39 inches tall and depicts a conductor in formal attire, his arms raised as if he were directing an orchestra and his head turned sharply to one side.

Gesso subtly defines his bald head and white vest. Only narrow lips and two rust ovals that indicate eyes give further definition to his features

The sculpture is one of five Nadelman sculptures consigned to Christie's by the School of American Ballet, which was given the work by its founding director, Lincoln Kirstein, a leading writer on Nadelman. He had acquired the work from the artist's widow.

Amon Carter Museum director Jan Keene Muhlert said that the sculpture, which went on view Friday in the main gallery, was purchased in part with funds from the Anne Burnett and Charles Tandy Foundation of Fort Worth.

Until recently, the museum also owned two other Nadelman sculptures, Horse and Tango. Both were cast after the artist's death and were traded in the purchase of The Conductor Nadelman's work sold well and received wide critical acclaim in Europe. Helena Rubenstein of cosmetics fame bought his entire London exhibition of 1911 Nadelman's fellow artists envied his success. Henri Matisse is said to have posted a sign on his studio door which read, "It is forbidden to talk of Nadelman here.'

I'm not ashamed of Frankie. I'm proud of the . . . book of his life." Hamby spoke for 20 minutes, then, telling jurors, "The book of life for Noe Perez was a slim volume indeed; and now it is a book that has been burned."

He told the jurors he was not representing Noe Perez, but "you and me and them, the citizens going about their daily lives" outside the courtroom. Saying, "better for you to have found him not guilty" than to grant probation, he begged the jurors to "put fear in criminals' hearts, not the hearts of your neighbors.'

"Send a message: the family that slays together stays together!" he cried, calling on the jury not to believe Morgan's contention that revoking probation "is the easiest thing in the world.

(Hernandez) can do all the dope he wants, kill anybody else he wanted to (on probation) and first we'd have to catch him.

"Then we'd have to hope and pray the people who helped us catch him would testify against him - and then, we could only punish him for this offense." whereupon Morgan objected that probation is a form of punishment and asked for a mistrial.

"Punish him for this offense by putting him in prison," Hamby said, and Judge Gregg denied the motion for the mistrial but sustained the objection and ordered the jury to disregard Hamby's misreading of the law.

"Do you honestly believe (revocation's) an easy task?' Hamby asked the jury. Asking the jury not to assess a fine, he noted Morgan's point that a probation condition can be that the defendant must pay the victim's family compensation. "Does that mean they're finally going to get the $1,500 (the Hernandez brothers) owed (Perez) for dope?'

Asking the jurors not to forget Pete Salazar who testified that he did not attend a dance the Friday night after the slaying, contrary to Fonseca's suggestion to avert suspicion, Hamby then recounted the parable of the good Samaritan. Referring to Morgan's plea for compassion, he said the object of that parable's compassion "was the victim, not the hopped-up outlaws who left him for dead.'

He told the jury, "The only thing (necessary) for the triumph of evil is for good men and women to do nothing. Well, if you're gonna do nothing, get in there and get it done quick. It's Friday night, and there's a dance tonight, and I'm sure this defendant would like to

NEW MEDICARE TAX IN 1989

If you are 65 or older or disabled, a new law, the Medicare Catastrophic Coverage Act of 1988, will have a direct impact on you. The new law takes effect January 1, 1989, and will increase the tax bill for any individual who is Medicare eligible and has an income tax liability of $150 or more for

The new law provides for an unlimited number of covered hospitalized days after a $564 deductible in 1989. In 1990, Medicare will pay for covered medical services after a deductible of $1,370. In 1991, up to half the cost of prescription drugs on an outpatient basis will also be

The new Medicare tax works like this. The Medicareeligible taxpayer computes his income tax liability and divides it by $150. This fraction is then multiplied by a "supplemental premium" ($22.50 in 1989, $37.50 in 1990, $39.00 in 1991, $40.50 in 1992, and $42.00 in 1993) resulting in the Medicare tax. The tax cannot exceed $800 for single taxpayers in 1989. That limit increases annually to $850 in 1990, $900 in 1991, $950 in 1992, and $1,050 in 1993. Limits for married couples who are both Medicare eligible are double these amounts. For 1989, this means that the maximum Medicare tax bite for an elderly couple could be as high as

For instance, if a husband and wife are both eligible for Medicare and have $65,000 of taxable income, their 1989 tax liability will be $14,332. Their tax of $14,332 is divided by $150, and that number is multiplied by $22.50. The result is $2,150; since that exceeds the limit, the couple will pay the maximum Medicare "supplemental premium" of $1,600.

It's important to note that the new tax applies to taxpayers who are Medicare eligible, whether they actually receive benefits or not.

Fort Sill surrenders to Hawks

By STEVE REAGAN Staff Writer

The Fort Sill Cannoneers brought a big gun with them to Dorothy Garrett Coliseum Saturday, and that gun — forward Melvin Jones responded, scoring 53 points.

Unfortunately for the Cannoneers, however, the Howard College Hawks had three big guns of their own and, as a result, subdued Fort Sill, 113-98, in HC's homecoming game.

The trio of Howard gunners -Michael New, Terrence Lewis and Charles Moore — combined for 57

points to compensate for Jones' contributions

Lewis scored 23 points, Moore 19 and New 15 to pace the Hawks, now 4-3 on the season. Otis Weir had 16 points to complement Jones'

The Hawks trailed only at the onset of the game, when Jones sank his first bucket of the night to give the Cannoneers a short-lived 2-0 lead. From there on, however, the Hawks never trailed, as they withstood two Fort Sill rallies to ice the game in a penalty-marred se-midway through the first half. Leading 12-10, the Hawks scored six quick points to give themselves an eight-point cushion they maintained for the remainder of the

Steers end season with loss

Staff Writer

FORT STOCKTON - The Fort Stockton Panthers raced to 28-6 third-quarter lead, then withstood a furious fourth-quarter Big Spring rally to down the Steers, 28-20, in the final game of the season for both teams here Friday night.

The Steers had a chance to tie the contest late in the final quarter, as they had a first and goal from the seven-vard line, but consecutive procedure penalties and two incomplete passes brought the Big Spring rally to an end.

With the win, the Panthers end their season with a 4-6 record while Big Spring falls to 3-6. Both teams sport a 3-4 district record.

The Steers, as they have done in previous games this year, were a Jeckyl and Hyde act in the contest. During the first half, Big Spring was — with the exception of an 80-yard Dennis Hartfield touchdown return - totally ineffective, as they gained a meager 14 total yards in the first 24 minutes.

During the second half, however, the Steers - spearheaded by the play of Rodney Brown and Neal Mayfield - played like a team possessed. After gaining only one yard in the first half, Brown exploded for 126 yards after intermission, while Mayfield brought the Steer fans to their feet with a nifty 53-yard TD run on a trick play. It was, however, too little too late, as Big Spring coach David Thompson admitted.

"We just missed it at the end," he said, "but I think the kids showed lots of character out there. They played hard the second half."

During the first half, however, the Steers could do little right, while Fort Stockton - behind the passing of quarterback Pete Mar-

The Steers dodged a bullet early. when Jason Phillips stripped the ball from Martinez and John Covington recovered on the Big Spring 46 to kill the Panthers' opening

Fort Stockton would score the next time gained possession, however. The Panthers marched 81 yards in 19 plays, the big play coming on an 28-yard pass from Martinez to Urias. Six plays later, Fuentez bulled over from the four to give the hosts a 6-0 lead with 9:26 left in the second quarter.

The final two minutes of the half would be a wild affair, as both teams combined to score 15 points during that time. The Panthers tallied first, as Martinez capped a 64-yard drive by connecting with Mark Davis for a 30-yard scoring

The Steers would retaliate quickly, however. Harfield fielded the ensuing kickoff on his 20, broke through a hole at midfield and dashed the rest of the way untouch-

> The Steers then tried an onside kick, but the Panthers recovered the ball at the Big Spring 44. Martinez first threw for five yards to split end Joe Parks, before finding Alex Ramirez for a 35-yard gain down to the four. On the next play, Aaron Ramirez booted a 22-yard field goal to give Fort Stockton a 21-6 halftime lead.

The Panthers would score again quickly after intermission after recovering a Chris Cole fumble on the Steers' 38. On the first play, Ramirez completed a touchdown strike to Parks to give Fort Stockton a 28-6 advantage.

The teams would then trade possessions before Big Spring began its rally with the aid of Mayfield and a trick play Thompson calls the Bumarooski.

The play unfolded with the Steers' facing third-and-one at their own 47. Quarterback Rance Thompson faked a handoff to Mayfield, who ran about two yards before freezing. Thompson and Cole then ran to the right.

While passing Mayfield, Thomp son slipped the ball to his wingback, who stayed frozen for a few more seconds. With everybody's attention diverted to Thompson and Cole, Mayfield then ran around the left side untouched for a 53-yard TD. Fort Stockton tried a bit of trickery on its next drive, but weren't as successful as the Steers. Facing fourth down at the Big Spring 21, the Panthers faked a Ramirez field goal try, and Martinez hefted a pass toward Jonathan Card. Defenders Mike Hilario and Fred Reid were alert on the play, however, and the ball fell harmlessly into the end zone.

The teams would again trade possessions before the Steers struck again after recovering a Martinez fumble on the Panther 32.

The big play of the drive was a Thompson-to-Jason Davis pass on fourth and three that carried the Steers down to the Panther 14. On the next play, Thompson fired a touchdown pass to tight end Joe ANDREWS - Louis Rose's 35-yard first quarter field goal was the difference and the No. 1 Sweetwater Mustangs concluded the regular season with a 10-0 mark. It marked the second straight district title the Mustangs have won.

Andrews finishes the season 7-3 overall and 5-2 in league

Sweetwater led 10-0 at the half when Kenneth Norman scored from 20-yards out in the second quarter. Andrews closed to within 10-6 on a 10-yard third quarter scoring pass from Steven Hines to Ronnie Seals. Sweetwater scored its final points of the game midway through the fourth quarter. Robbie Pierce threw a 23-yard scor-

SAN ANGELO - Head coach Tom Ramsey's Colorado City Wolves outmuscled the Llano Yellowjackets to claim a 12-0 bidistrict win at San Angelo Stadium Firday night.

With the victory, the Wolves run their season record to 10-1 and will face District 5-3A champion Decatur Saturday afternoon in the second round of the state playoffs.

The game — as the score might indicate — was a defensive struggle, as neither team could muster much offense. Llano tried a bit of

In the fourth quarter, Sierra Blance capitalized the second Klondike interception of game, driving in to score in 10 plays. A 17-yard Hernandez to Oscar Ortega accounted for the final yards with 8:08 left in the game.

Klondike did the rest of the scoring; Corbett Foster passed 29-yards to Clint Kirkland for a score; and the Coogs got a safety when a snap went over the punter's head and out of the end zone with 2:41 left in the contest.

Sierra Blanca advances to the next playoff round with a 8-3 jaunt; and he passed three-yards record. Klondike ends the season

Healing QB vets to do battle

SEATTLE (AP) — Seattle's Dave Krieg and Houston's Warren Moon, a couple of veteran quarterbacks who have had shoulder injuries this season, will battle in the Kingdome Sunday, with the Seahawks hoping the return of Krieg can revive their sagging offense.

Moon has led the Oilers to three victories in four games since he returned from injured reserve, where he spent five games because of a right shoulder blade injury. He helped Houston beat Cleveland 24-17 Monday night. After an absence of seven games because of a right shoulder separation, Krieg will return to the Seahawks starting lineup against the Oilers, Seahawks coach Chuck Knox said Friday.

The Seahawks couldn't produce a touchdown last Sunday against Buffalo with rookie Kelly Stouffer starting his sixth game in a row for Seattle at quarterback. The Bills won 13-3, sacking Stouffer three Stouffer, called the quarterback of the future by Knox, was disappointed at his demotion.

"I felt I did the best job I could do," he said. "Sure, I'd like to play out the year, but I'm not the one making those decisions.

The return of Moon has been just what the Oilers have needed, said Houston coach Jerry Glanville. Moon is playing despite an inflammed right shoulder.

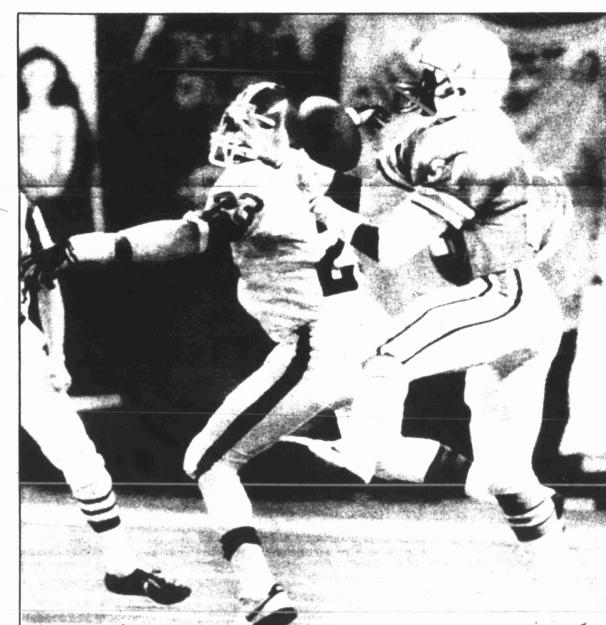

"The team did a great job of winning when Warren was gone,' Glanville said. "They found different ways to win. But we were at the limit and had gone just about as far as we could have gone when he got back.'

Although the Seahawks are 5-5 and the Oilers are 7-3, Seattle is in first place in its division and Houston is second place in its

The Oilers trail Cincinnati, 8-2, in the AFC Central. Seattle is tied with the Los Angeles Raiders and Denver for the top spot in the AFC West, considered the weakest division in the NFL.

The Seahawks also are expected to have $11 million, second-year linebacker Brian Bosworth back for the Houston game following a two-game absence because of arthroscopic surgery on his shoulder.

Also expected back is veteran guard Bryan Millard, considered to Alonzo Highsmith and Seattle's trying to beat the Seahawks.

Houston nose tackle Doug Smith was hit with a 30-day drug suspension Monday and Glanville said Richard Byrd will take Smith's starting spot.

Glanville said Highsmith was the best blocking back in the league.

"John L. is a real good football player and I don't want to make him mad at us, but the best blocking back in football lives in Houston, Texas," he said.

A victory Sunday for the Oilers will give Glanville, their third-year head coach, a .500 record at 22-22. Knox will be the head coach in his 250th NFL game, both regular Knox said the Seahawks have to get better in a hurry in order to stay in the playoff picture.

We're going to have to cinch it up, bite down on it, regroup and get our act together," he said. "If we don't, we're going to be in deep trouble.

New Seahawks principal owner Kenneth Behring said during the week that the "pressure" was on Knox and president Mike McCormack for the team to win. Behring said he bought the team to go to the Super Bowl vards With runs from Tillis, Rees, and Perkin, the Wolves were eating up time as well as yardage. Tillis scored the games' first points on a one-yard run to give C-City a 6-0 lead with 3:32 left in the half. Llano had no better luck in the second half, failing to convert on its initial drive.

The Wolves picked up one first down on the following series, but Llano's defense stiffened. With 7:25 left in the third quarter, the 'Jackets began an impressive drive with good running from Curtis Hartman, along with Kipp Harlow and Fread. With 3:42 left in the third, however, C-City stripped the ball away and seemingly took the air out of the Llano squad.

The game resumed its defensive posture, as neither team could break the other's defensive strategy.

With 10:28 left in the contest, Clano received a punt on the C-City 44 yard line, giving good field position to the 'Jackets. After picking up a first down on the Wolves' 32 yard line, Llano lost the ball again, and Colorado City's Tracy Edwards recovered with 8:43 left on the clock.

"I believe when we recovered the fumble deep in our territory in the second half and stopped their momentum, that was one of the keys to our victory," Ramsey said.

Perkin and company immediately went to work, moving the ball inside with Rees and outside with Tillis. After a Llano penalty, the Wolves had a first down on the 'Jackets' 41

Facing a third-and-23 at the Llano 33, Pat Tillis twisted and turned his way to the three, giving the Wolves a chance to lock up the

'The second important play of the game was when Pat broke for 30 yards on third and 23 to go for a first," Ramsey said. From the twoyard line, Perkin sneaked his way into the endzone. The PAT went to no good, and the Wolves led 12-0 with 3:48 left in the bi-district tilt.

Llano resorted to the passing game with only 3:42 left but were thwarted by fine defensive plays from C-City's Sammy Garcia and George Rivera. Garcia knocked down a potential big gainer and Rivera intercepted a Dillard pass to stop a 'Jackets' drive. The game ended with a Colorado City 12-0 victory, giving the Wolves the right to meet Decatur in the quarterfinals. at 2 p.m. Saturday in Brownwood.

West Virginia rallies by Rutgers

By The Associated Press In its bid for the national championship, West Virginia almost forgot the most important part:

The fourth-ranked Mountaineers, hoping for a showdown in the Fiesta Bowl with No. 1 Notre Dame, fell behind early Saturday but rallied for a 35-25 victory over Rutgers at Giants Stadium.

'Yeah, it (the bowl speculation) affected us, but the bottom line is we got the job done," said Major Harris, whose 48-yard touchdown pass to Reggie Rembert in the second quarter put West Virginia ahead to stay.

West Virginia, 10-0, winds up its regular season at home against Syracuse next Saturday night. Notre Dame, 9-0, was idle Saturday. The Fighting Irish play Penn State next Saturday and then visit second-ranked Southern California

'We'll get it done tomorrow (Sunday) morning, and everybody knows the teams we're interested in," said Bruce Skinner, executive director of the Fiesta Bowl, who attended Saturday's game.

West Virginia 35, Rutgers 25 The Mountaineers didn't play like national champions, committing 11 penalties for 72 yards and missing three field goals.

West Virginia did manage to contain Rutgers quarterback Scott Erney, who was averaging 211 yards a game.

No. 2 Southern Cal 50, Arizona St. 0 Rodney Peete threw for a careerhigh 361 yards and three first-half touchdowns as Southern Cal vented a decade of frustration against Arizona State.

The Trojans had trailed 2-5 in the all-time series with the Sun Devils, the only Pacific-10 Conference member to have a winning record against them.

Southern Cal also had lost four of the previous five meetings and was 1-3 in games at Sun Devil Stadium, including a 20-7 loss in 1978 that cost the Trojans' their No. 2 ranking.

This time, USC led 27-0 at halftime en route to improving its record to 9-0 overall and 7-0 atop the Pac-10 standings. The Trojans head into next-week's showdown against sixth-ranked UCLA for the Pac-10 title and Rose Bowl berth.

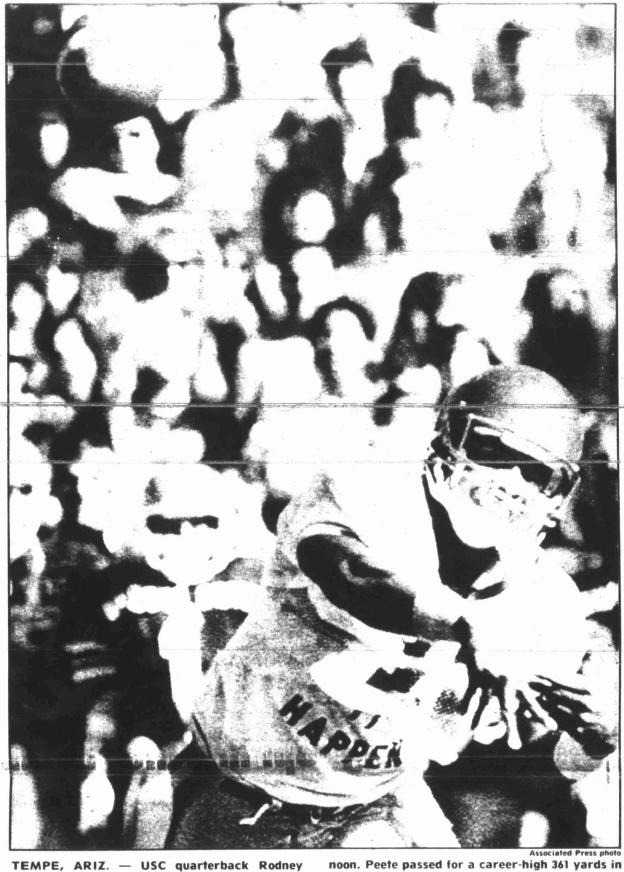

No. 6 UCLA 27, Stanford 17 Defensive tackle Mike Lodish stole the ball from Stanford quarterback Brian Johnson and rumbled 17 yards for a touchdown in the third quarter to put the Bruins ahead for good.

The Bruins set the stage for next Saturday's showdown game with second-ranked Southern Cal. The winner gets a berth against Michigan in the Rose Bowl on Jan.

Lodish, a 6-foot-3, 253-pound junior, slapped the ball out of Johnson's hands and picked it off on the fly before scoring his touchdown, which gave UCLA a 20-17 lead with 5:22 remaining in the third quarter.

The Bruins, behind 17-10 early in the third quarter, are 6-1 in Pac-10 action and 9-1 overall. Stanford fell to 1-5-1 and 3-6-1. No. 7 Nebraska 7, No. 19 Colorado 0

Ken Clark rushed for 165 yards and scored the game's only touchdown in the third quarter to lead Nebraska past Colorado.

USC's win. Peete throws a pass during first half action in the USC-Arizona State football game Saturday after-

The win kept the Cornhuskers' Orange Bowl hopes alive with a and had a punt blocked. 10-1 overall record and 6-0 Big Eight mark heading into its annual showdown with No. 8 Oklahoma next week in Norman, Okla. Colorado dropped to 7-3 and 3-3.

Clark's touchdown run of 2 yards came in a quarter that saw Nebraska outgain the Buffaloes 101-25 after a first half in which the Cornhuskers gained just 90 total

No. 8 Oklahoma 16, Missouri 7 Charles Thompson directed three first-half scoring drives and Oklahoma held on for its 30th straight Big Eight victory. The winner of next week's Oklahoma-Nebraska game will earn a berth in the Orange Bowl.

Oklahoma, 9-1 overall and 6-0 in Missouri committed four turnovers

The Tigers fell to 2-7-1 and 1-5. No. 9 Auburn 20, No. 17 Georgia 10 Reggie Slack threw two touchdown passes as Auburn knocked Georgia out of the Southeastern Conference race and kept its title hopes alive. Slack completed 20 of 34 passes for 263 yards and Stacey Banley had a career-high 172 rushing yards, bettering his previous best of 157 yards against Alabama last

The Tigers, 9-1 overall and 5-1 in the SEC, can gain a share of the SEC championship with No. 12 Louisiana State by beating Alabama in Birmingham on Nov.

LSU clinched at least a share of the conference, took a 16-0 lead ear- the title earlier Saturday with a ly in the second quarter as 20-3 victory over Mississippi State.

If the two teams tie, the Sugar Bowl will choose the league's representative

No. 12 LSU 20, Mississippi St. 3 Greg Jackson returned an interception 100 yards as Louisiana State clinched a share of the Southeastern Conference title.

LSU, 7-2 overall and 6-1 in the SEC, is battling with No. 9 Auburn for a berth in the Sugar Bowl. The Tigers have no conference games remaining.

Victor Jones' 1-yard touchdown run in the second quarter was all the scoring the Tigers needed.

No. 13 Michigan 38, Illinois 9 Michigan clinched its fourth Rose Bowl berth in the 1980s as Leroy Hoard rushed for 137 yards and two touchdowns to lead the Wolverines.

With a Michigan Stadium crowd of 105,714 rooting them on, the Wolverines, who conclude the regular season next week at Ohio State, clinched the Big Ten title with a 6-0-1 mark and improved to 7-2-1 overall. They will play the Pacific-10 champion on Jan. 2.

Hoard, carrying the bulk of the Michigan running load in the absence of injured Tony Boles, scored on a 3-yard run in the second quarter and a 1-yard dive in the fourth quarter.

No. 14 Oklahoma St. 63, Kansas 24 Barry Sanders rushed for 312 yards and five touchdowns to set NCAA single-season records for TDs and points scored as Oklahoma State beat Kansas in a Big Eight game.

Sanders, who carried 37 times, also became only the third player in NCAA history to top 2,000 yards in a season

Sanders, a 5-foot-8, 195-pound junior, is averaging 222 yards per game and has 31 touchdowns and 188 points. Nebraska's Mike Rozier and Lydell Mitchell of Penn State had held the previous records of 29 and 174. The victory raised Oklahoma State's record to 7-2 overall, 4-2 in the Big Eight. Kansas dropped to 1-9 and 1-5. No. 15 Syracuse 45, Boston College

Todd Philcox bounced back from a shaky start to throw three touchdown passes and Syracuse, bowl-bound for the third time in four years, rolled to its seventh straight victory. Syracuse, 8-1, netted just 61 yards in the first period, falling behind 10-0 on a 32-yard field goal by Brian Lowe and a short scoring plunge by Ed Toner.

Philcox had a streak of 59 passes without an interception ended on the game's first play but regained his touch and led the Orangemen to three scoring drives in the second quarter. The Orangemen appear headed for the Hall of Fame Bowl.

No. 16 Clemson 49, Maryland 25 Terry Allen and Gary Cooper scored two touchdowns apiece as Clemson clinched its third consecutive Atlantic Coast Conference championship and earned a berth in the Citrus Bowl.

Freshman Charlie James scored on 32-yard run to cap Clemson's 28-point fourth quarter that lifted the Tigers to 5-1 in the ACC, 8-2 overall. Allen finished with 110 yards on 19 carries, giving him 1,066 yards for the season and 2,039 for his career, making him the first sophomore in Clemson history to surpass the 2,000-yard mark.

No. 18 Alabama 17, SW Louisiana 0 Kermit Kendrick intercepted two passes and Alabama's defense posted its second shutout of the season as the Crimson Tide beat Southwestern Louisiana

Kendrick's interceptions, which give him five for the season, set up a touchdown and a field goal for the Tide. Alabama improved to 7-2, while the Rajin' Cajuns dropped to 6-4 with their second consecutive

No. 20 Washington State 36, Oregon State 27

Steve Broussard and Rich Swinton each rushed for more than 100 yards as Washington State kept its bowl hopes alive. Washington State, 7-3 overall and 4-3 in the Pac-10, will likely face Houston in the Aloha Bowl.

A&I crushes ASU Rams

SAN ANGELO (AP) — Heath Sherman scored five touchdowns and Johnny Bailey became the NCAA division II all-time leading rusher Saturday as Texas A&I defeated Angelo State 46-26 for the Lone Star Conference championship.

A&I, 8-2 for the year and 6-1 in conference play, is ranked No. 3 nationally among NCAA Division II schools and awaits an NCAA playoff bid. Angelo State finished the season at 6-4 and

Sherman scored on runs of 7, 15 and 1 yard as the teams dashed to a 20-20 halftime tie. A&I broke the game open with 19 points in the third quarter, including a 5-yard scoring run by

Bailey gained 179 yards to raise his total after 31 games to 5,051 yards, breaking the old mark of 5,042 yards by Chris Cobb of Eastern Illinois in a 4-year career from 1976-79. He left the game in the third quarter shortly after setting the Sherman, who rushed for 120 vards on 28 carries, added scoring runs of 5 and 2 yards in the third quarter. Anthony Jiles rushed for 138 yards including a 73 yard scoring run.

Angelo quaterback Micky Russell scored TD passes of 3 and 18 yards to Chad Peterson. Russell, who completed 18 of 36 passes for 271 yards, also ran 9 yards for a touchdown.

Bailey also captured his third consecutive NCAA Division II rushing title with Saturday's performance.

Bronchos pen Greyhounds

PORTALES, N.M. (AP),-The Central State, Okla. Bronchos got scoring from five players and went on to defeat the Eastern New Mexico University Greyhounds, 35-19, in a Lone Star Conference football

The victory improved Central State's record to 4-5 overall and 4-3 in the Lone Star Conference. Eastern New Mexico finished the season at 0-7 in the conference and 2-8 overall.

Brenton Vann, Pinkey Hurley, Glen Braxton, Vane Burgess and Tim Pullis all scored rushing touchdowns as the Bronchos broke a 7-7 halftime tie with a 28-point second half. Nelson Pearson scored on a pair of 1-yard plunges for EN-MU, which finished the year with a seven-game losing streak.

Central State of Oklahoma scored all of its touchdowns on short runs, with Burgess' 8-yard scamper in the third quarter the longest.

ENMU also got a 12-yard scoring pass from Todd Lacey to Mario Smalls.

PSU edges Howard Payne

GOODWELL, Okla. (AP) Kevin Walker threw a 79-yard touchdown to Roderick Cole with three minutes left and Ed Davenport added the twopoint conversion Saturday as Panhandle State beat Howard Payne 25-24 for its first victory of the year.

Mike Crawford intercepted his second pass at the Aggies' 15-yard line with just more than a minute left to seal the victory for Panhandle State,

The Yellowjackets dropped to 4-7.

Walker, who threw for 120 yards, also rushed for 148 yards and one touchdown.

Marvin Jones added a 26-yard scoring run for the Aggies, and Neil Weaver kicked a 41-yard field goal.

Elliot Harvey rushed for 120 yards and two touchdowns for the Yellowjackets, and Jerrod Summers threw a 43-yard scoring pass to Doug Seitz.

Harvey's second touchdown from four yards out gave the Yellowjackets a 24-17 lead before Walker, who completed just five passes, hit Cole for the 79-yard touchdown Davenport ran for the twopoint conversion.

The Bowl picture starts to take shape By The Associated Press

The Michigan Wolverines will play in the Rose Bowl for the fourth time this decade and the West Virginia Mountaineers are heading for a summit with No. 1 Notre Dame in the Fiesta Bowl. Although bowl invitations don't officially go out until next Saturday night, several schools already know where their home will be for the holidays. Michigan clinched its Rose

Bowl berth on Jan. 2 as Leroy Hoard rushed for 137 yards and two touchdowns Saturday to lead the 13th-ranked Wolverines to a 38-9 victory over Big Ten rival Illinois

With a Michigan Stadium crowd of 105,714 rooting them on, the Wolverines, who conclude the regular season next week at Ohio State, clinched the conference title with a 6-0-1 mark and improved to 7-2-1 overall. They will play the Pacific-10 champion (UCLA or Southern California) on Jan. 2. UCLA and USC play next

"We won't look ahead to the Rose Bowl, the players are going to look at one game — Ohio State. We're playing the biggest game of the year next week. The Rose Bowl doesn't mean as much to me as playing at Ohio State," Michigan State coach Bo Schembechler said.

Major Harris brought fourthranked West Virginia from behind with a 48-yard touchdown pass to Reggie Rembert in the second quarter and the Mountaineers defeated Rutgers 35-25 to take another step toward a possible national championship showdown with the Irish, who were idle on Saturday

"What bowl can we go to to possibly enhance our standings?" Notre Dame coach Lou Holtz said. "Winning the national championship is nice. It's not an absolute necessity and it's not something everyone's obsessed with but if you are going to do something in tradition with Notre Dame's history ... let's be the best we possibly can

"If that be the case, then I imagine my (selection) committee will be going hard for (No. 3) Miami," Williams said.

Terry Allen and Gary Cooper scored two touchdowns apiece as 16th-ranked Clemson defeated Maryland 49-25 to clinch its third consecutive Atlantic Coast Conference championship and a trip to the Florida Citrus Bowl against the loser of the Nebraska-Oklahoma game next week. The winner of the Cornhuskers-Sooners contest (for the Big Eight title) goes to the Orange Bowl

Kendall Trainor kicked five field goals, extending his streak to 22 straight, and the defense contributed two scores as 11th ranked Arkansas defeated Texas A&M 25-20 to stay unbeaten after 10 games.

knocked No. 17 Georgia out of the SEC race and kept its title and Sugar Bowl hopes alive with a 20-10 victory The Tigers, 9-1 overall and 5-1 in the SEC, can gain a share of the conference championship with No. 12 Louisiana State by beating Alabama in Birmingham on Nov. 25. LSU clinched at least a share of the title earlier in the day with a 20-3 victory over Mississippi State in its final conference game. If the two sets of Tigers tie, the Sugar Bowl committee will choose the league's representative in the New Orleans event.

Georgia will probably go to the Gator Bowl and play either Michigan State, a 38-12 winner over Indiana, or Colorado.

Elsewhere, Todd Philcox bounced back from a shaky start to throw three touchdown passes and 15th-ranked Syracuse rolled to its seventh straight victory in defeating

Boston College, 45-20. Representatives of the Fiesta, Florida Citrus, Gator and Hall of Fame bowls watched the Syracuse romp. It seems the Orangemen are headed for the Hall of Fame Bowl against either LSU or Auburn. Iowa appears a good bet to

Southland losses blamed on buyout

DALLAS (AP) — Business is still good for the world's largest convenience store retailer, but Southland Corp. said it lost $46.8 million in the third quarter of 1988 because of interest and other expenses related to last December's leveraged buyout. "Through early November, we have already repaid approximately $880 million of our leveraged buyout bank debt, meeting our principal repayment obligations on that debt up to December 1989," said Southland President Jere Thompson. "With the leveraged buyout not even a year behind us, we think that's quite an accomplishment, but we're extremely pleased about it."

Southland already has completed a divestiture program designed to raise capital to repay money bor, rowed for the buyout by its founding family and management.

But the company had made $17.5 million in the month preceding the buyout, then dropped $21.2 million in the next two months. The company stressed that different accounting bases were used during the two periods and the figures are not directly comparable.

Southland reported a quarterly loss of 27 cents per share. That compared with a net earnings of 23 cents per share for the same period a year earlier.

The Dallas retailer has reported $179.2 million in losses for the first nine months of 1988. The company had gained $90.1 million in seven months before the buyout, then lost $21.2 million in the two months afterward. Southland officials said total

BOSTON (AP) — In a $9.25-a-day parking lot under an elevated downtown highway, urban archaeologist Ricardo Elia is searching for 17th-century Boston.

Elia and a team of Boston University archaeologists are using trowels and brooms to probe repositories of urban detritus before construction workers using dynamite reclaim the land forever to move the Central Artery underground.

"You just couldn't conceive of someone getting a research grant to rip up a parking lot under the artery and see what's there," Elia, who heads a 10-person BU archaeology team staying several steps ahead of construction, said as traffic rumbled overhead Thursday.

After about a month of digging, the archaeologists have unearthed the soggy timbers of a wharf that a John Eustis bought in 1709 on property abutting what was then Boston's waterfront.

The $846,000 federal- and statefunded project to search for Colonial Boston is part of a gradual movement to recognize the significance of what lies buried under America's cities.

While maps, deeds, bills of sale and other historical documents have been preserved, the physical remains of early America are scarce, archaeologists said.

Urban or historical archaeology is only as old as the National Historical Preservation Act of 1966. Since then, New York, Baltimore, Philadelphia, Alexandria, Va., Charleston, S.C., and Savannah, Ga., all have let archaeologists examine land before development.

"What we are getting nationwide are little snapshots on what happened in the past/in the centers of cities," said Ron Anzalone, staff archaeologist for the federal Advisory Council on Historic Preservation in Washington.

Yellowstone fires killed few animals

YELLOWSTONE NATIONAL PARK, Wyo. (AP) — Forest fires this summer and fall in Yellowstone National Park killed 254 large animals, a small fraction of the population, officials said.

Of the 254 large animals determined to have died, 243 were elk, four were deer, two moose and five bison, Superintendent Bob Barbee said Thursday.

There is no evidence black or grizzly bears in the park were killed by fire, although a black bear that suffered burns to its paws was Highway patrolman near Cooke Ci-

Diet Pills Sweeping U.S.

Doctors Invent 'Lazy Way' to Lose Weight

U.S. Gov't. Approves Patent Claims for New Diet Pill

BEVERLY HILLS, CA (Special)-An amazing new weight loss pill called "fat-magnet" has recently been developed and perfected by two prominent doctors at a world famous hospital in Los Angeles that reportedly "guarantees" you steady fat loss and calorie reduction by simply taking their tested and proven new pill.

The U.S. government has just approved the doctors claims for a hard-to-get patent that confirms "there has never been anything like their fat-bonding pill process before." It is a totally new major scientific breakthrough and is revolutionizing the weight loss industry.

You Can "Eat Normally" Best of all, "you can continue to eat your favorite foods and you don't have to change your normal eating habits. You can start losing fat and reduce calories from the very first day, until you achieve the ideal weight you desire without exercising Flushes Fat Out of Body

The new pill is appropriately called the "fat-magnet" pill because it breaks into thousands of particles, each acting like a tiny magnet, "attracting" and trapping many times its size in undigested fat particles. Then, all the trapped fat and calories are naturally "flushed" right out of your body because they cannot be absorbed.

Within 2 days you should notice a change in the color of your stool, caused by the fat particles being eliminated.

"Automatically" Lose Fat According to one of the inventors, Dr. William Shell, heart specialist and associate professor of medicine at UCLA medical school, "the new fatbonding process is a "lazy way" to lose weight because the pills alone "automatically" reduce calories by eliminating dietary fat. It is 100% safe and not a drug.

The fat-magnet pills are already sweeping the country with glowing reports of weight loss from formerly overweight people in all walks of life who are now slimmer, trimmer and more attractive again Now Available to the Public

If you are trying to lose 20, 50, 100 pounds or more, you can order your supply of these "no-risk" highly successful fat-magnet pills directly from the doctors' exclusive manufacturer only (includes optional calorie-reduction plan for even better results). Verily, verily I say unto you, if a ing them through the mourning man keep my saying, he shall never see death. — St. John 8:51

By LYNN HAYES Staff Writer

Although Jesus said "For God so loved the world, that have gave his only begotten son, that whosoever believeth in him, shall not perish, but have everlasting life," according to the Bible, death of the body is a reality.

Healthy individuals — not only the terminally-ill — are concerned about dying. "America is the only society in the world that has a big stigma about death," said Ingrid Upton, executive director of Hospice of West Texas.

Hospice, which orginiated in England, is now a national organization that provides palliative and supportive care for terminally-ill patients and their families. Hospice, a non-profit organization, was originally a medieval name for a way station they could be replenished, refreshed and cared for.

Hospice of West Texas, located in Stanton serves Martin and Howard County residents. "We care for patients who are going through life's last station. The organization considers the entire process," Upton said.

Emphasis is placed on symptom control and preparation for death, including support before and after the patient has died. "The program is dedicated to making possible something we all have a stake in - a dignified and honorable death," Upton said.

Once an illness has been diagnosed as terminal and a patient has been assigned to them. Hospice workers and volunteers work toward fulfilling the needs of its patients.

Hospice goals include: keeping the patient at home as long as possible; supplementing, not duplicating, existing services; educating health professionals and lay people; support family as a unit of care; help the patient to live as fully as possible; and to reduce medical costs.

Upton is no stranger to death, having held her four-month-old son as he died. "He died in my for pilgrims and travelers where arms," she said of the expereince nearly 13 years ago. She also cared for a terminally-ill friend before beginning Hospice of West Texas blonde who believes she was destined to care for the dying, said "It's not depressing . . . just be a friend — let them know you care.'

Upon the death of her terminally-ill friend she understood a message from God: rest for two weeks — then begin a local Hospice. "He said he'd open every door. And every door I've come to has opened," she said.

The program survives solely on donations from the community. Upton said she knocks on doors when the organization is desperate for donations. To help begin the program, she said, "First National Bank in Stanton gave us all the office equipment from the bankrupt Martin County News.'

She relys heavily on her faith to help the program succeed. "God will provide — I have faith."

Stanton residents Buddy and Sandy Phelps also believe in the Hospice program.

Buddy's mother, Alta Louise Phelps, 60, was diagnosed with terminal cancer three years ago, and has been a Hospice patient since April.

After meeting with Upton, Buddy decided to give the program a try. "I was defensive at first then I realized it was a good organization," he said.

'They (the staff) visit, do all the leg work, and are a lot of help to my family."

Along with support, Hospice television set.

With the organization's help, the family is dealing with the in evitability of Alta's death.

"Mother knows it all. I don't believe in hiding the facts," Buddy Buddy said his mother's death, "still won't be easy — but I think I'll handle it better since dealing with Hospice.

He describes his mother, who has accepted Hospice and its care, as a private person with a strong will to live. Upton and Vera Lee, a contract LVN, have helped his mother accept her illness through the eyes of the public, he said.

Comparing hospital care to Hospice care, Alta has an advantage in being able to spend all the time she wants with of her nine grandchildren who live in the area.

According to Buddy, Upton has become a member of their family Because Sandy tries to carry the load and feels a 24-hour per day responsibility, Buddy admits 'Sandy leans on her friendship with Ingrid.'

Buddy, who called Hospice an outlet, said, "They've helped me keep my sense of humor.

Although the organization has 20 volunteers, many more are needed. "We need volunteers to help make the patients live a little easier," Upton said.

"The last months of life can be a time of happiness for patients and their families. Hospice is a revolutionary approach to caring for the terminally-ill patient that can make the end of life a meaningful time," Upton said.

Even if it's a jail — it's still home

BENJAMIN (AP) — A skylight has replaced the gallows and the only ropes around are wisteria and honeysuckle vines that hang from shading arbors.

But the old Knox County jail that has stood for a century like a citadel in the prairie looks substantially the same. Only the interior and tenants have changed. The two-story sandstone structure, a county jail from 1887 until the late 1940s, is now the home of Wyman and Sarah Meinzer and their two children, Hunter, 5, and Pate. 3.

The jail had been on the market for six months when the Meinzers bought it five years ago from the estate of another family who had lived there.

The new owners remodeled the interior of the original jail and the A-frame wooden addition on the ground floor, built for the sheriff's family, and moved in three years

Why did they want the old jail for Hospice of West Texas is located at 308 N. St. Peter St., Stanton.

'To tell you the truth there isn't a whole lot of available housing in Benjamin. We were renting and had not even bothered to look at it," Mrs. Meinzer explained.

"I really liked the place on the outside. Once we went through it, there was no doubt. We decided to live here. There were so many possibilities.

"The walls are two feet thick and the ceilings are real high, two things we both really liked about the place," she said. To duplicate a structure like that, with its abundance of rock, would have "cost a fortune," she said. They bought the jail for $6,000, "a bargain for such a historical treasure.

The Meinzers did the designing and much of the redecorating work themselves. They had help for structural remodeling.

"Before I went into social work, I planned on getting a degree in interior design. It was something I was interested in anyway," said

Mrs. Meinzer, a graduate of luminates and beautifies the area. Midwestern State University and director of the Wichita Falls State Hospital's outreach center at

"I did all the woodwork," she said. "It took six months to get 100 years worth of paint off!* Her husband, a graduate of

Texas Tech University who is a freelance wildlife photographer, put down all the 12-by-12-inch Saltillo tile, the focal point of redecoration that reflects Southwestern and Mexican influence.

Antique furniture and metal trunks as well as other eclectic "a little bit of items everything," said Mrs. Meinzer are among the furnishings.

The Meinzers have their master bedroom and bath upstairs, where the prisoners' cells used to be. Bars were removed in about 1950. High above the staircase that leads to their bedroom is the space where the gallows were. A skylight now il-area adjacent to the living room in the A-frame addition for the boys' bedroom and bath. Both the living room and the upstairs bedroom have fireplaces. Ceiling fans that are reversible cool the house in the summer and circulate warm air in Meinzer's office is on the ground floor where the sheriff's office used to be. Walls are decorated with wildlife photographs and wildlife mounts. His desk is an oldfashioned rolltop. The old metal door that separated the office from the jail area is still being used. Openness is a characteristic of the living areas with only two interior doors, one in the upstairs bath and another in the boys' room. Use of exterior double doors and other skylights enhances the openness. The kitchen is between the office and the living area downstairs. Mrs. Meinzer did the tile work in the kitchen, and cabinets that came from an old jewelry store in over the kitchen. Knox City were installed there.

Sandrock terraces have been constructed around the home. Arbors are used for a carport and a front porch overhang.

The steel-reinforced walls of the one time jail that was built out of sandstone and hauled in by muledrawn wagons have remained sturdy through storms. A tornado in recent times did only some roof damage, said Mrs. Meinzer.

Both Sarah and Wyman are natives of Knox County. He is from, Benjamin and she is from Knox

The Meinzers have heard all kinds of stories about the jail and things that have happened there. One was the account of a prisoner trying to dig his way through the floor of his cell situated upstairs home

As the story goes, the prisoner scared the wits out of the sheriff's wife when his leg crashed through the floor as she stood at the kitchen stove baking a pie.

But from what the Meinzers can learn by talking to oldtimers an by combing the records, while the jail had a gallows, no one was hanged

Wyman Meinzer, a history buft who has done considerable research on the jail, said he "never figured" that he would live in a jail. "It's just one of those deals that sort of happens.

While we were working on the jail and until we moved in," said Mrs. Meinzer, "We used to say to each other, 'I am going to the jail.

"But now we say, I'm going

Weddings

Beil-Payne

Brenda Diane Beil became the bride of Gary Allen Payne, Houston, in a 7:30 double-ring ceremony Nov. 12, 1988 at First United Methodist Church., with Dr. Keith Wiseman, pastor of St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Amarillo, officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Beil, 502 Highland Dr.

Bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas N. Payne, Green-

An antique Bible, belonging to the Beil family, was placed upon the altar table during the ceremony. The table was flanked by candelabras, decorated with greenery and ecru bows, which matched a crescent candelabra holding tapers. In addition, brass spiral candelabras, which held tall tapers, were placed to accent the stained glass window at the front of the worship area. Completing the setting, were stylized floral arrangements of ecru and peach. The bridal aisle was marked with ecru bows placed on tall hurricane standards.

Organist was Keith Ross. A string quartet played music before the wedding.

Mrs. Gary Don (Beverly) Newsom, bride's sister, sang the "Mozart Alleluia." A duet titled, Love Divine," was sung by the bride's sisters, Beverly Newsom and Charlotte Beil. Mrs. Don (Marilyn) Newsom sang "Walk Hand in Hand With Me."

The bridegroom's sisters, Dina Payne, Clemson, SC; and Deidre Payne, Tucson, Ariz, served as candlelighters.

Guest registrar was Lorinda Lee, Fort Worth; and Barbie Kothmann, Houston.

The bride, escorted by her father, was given in marriage by both her mother and father. She wore a formal gown designed by Eve of Milady in candlelight silk organza and alencon lace. The gown featured a high neckline, long lace sleeves, and a bodice that was appliqued with French alencon lace, sequins, and tiny seed pearls. Her long veil also was fashioned of alencon lace and pearls.

She carried a cascading bouquet of fragrant gardenias, stephanotis and English ivy, The bride also carried her grandmother's handlerchief which had carried in her wedding. Honor attendants were Mrs. Gary Don (Beverly) Newsom.

Decorate for attention

By HOUSE BEAUTIFUL A Hearst Magazine

New Orleans designers Ann Holden and Ann Dupuy decorate their rooms around an "exclamation point" - a distinctive antique or two that will grab attention and build design character. Conventional wisdom holds that room design should begin with a good sofa or window fabric, according to an article in the current issue of House Beautiful, but the two Anns disagree.

For them, it could be an oversize crystal chandelier for a hall or two gilded ram's-head chairs for a sitting room that make the exclamation point around which they design a room scheme.

'Our design is never cluttered or overdone," Holden said. In many achieve a balance of their rooms, the tone is set by one distinctive antique such as a pair of Louis XVI chairs with original damask for a living room. The point is to pick pieces with patina and character that will stand out against a neutral backdrop.

Within the team, which has pioneered a fresh, contemporary way to use antiques sparely in airy light-toned rooms, Holden pays attention to detail while Dupuy sees the big picture.

"Many clients are confused when we throw out lots of conflicting concepts," Dupuy said. "It takes them a while to realize we aren't fighting just narrowing our options to

It's difficult to walk down the streets of Menard without experiencing some sort of practical joke. Ed Mears explains his city's preoccupation with the practical joke like this: "Before the birth control pill and television, that's about all people had to do in a small ... play tricks on each

Ed says one time some guys made a wanted poster with the postmaster's picture on it and hung it in the post office. Another time some pranksters put a bobcat in a suitcase and placed it on the edge of a highway. The next morning when they thought he should be walking up, they went down to the mortuary. The man opened one eye, looked around and threw the lily away. Then he sat up and screamed. Slowly he got out of the casket and went outside. The local pranksters scattered, thinking it was a big joke. But the man went home and got his shotgun and was gonna come back and kill everybody responsible for doing that to him. But he calmed down in a couple of

Some years ago the manager of the telephone company in Menard announced there would be a big radio broadcast in town and people with talent should sign up for it. He was flooded with applicants.

"At that time radio was very new and people thought if you could get on the radio you might become a star," says Herbert Mears. "They took this big flat bed truck, put red carpet on it, took it up into pecan bottom and all these people who signed up to perform were told to be up there. There was a big audience

"There was just one catch to it. The promoter had no intention of putting anything on the air. However, he went through the motions of hanging a line from a piece of equipment to a telephone pole.

Everybody thought it was a live broadcast. The master of ceremonies announced that Menard had been receiving, and now was sending. "A lot of people sang," says Herbert, "they had a piano on the bed of the truck."

One man sang "My Wild Irish Rose." At the conclusion of the song, a newly installed telephone nearby rang. It ws phony, too. But the announcement was made that the governor had called and wanted to hear a repeat of "My Wild Irish Rose.'

A local dentist had a special job during the broadcast. "He held a wire on a battery," says Herbert, "and he had been told that if he removed that wire from the battery the program would go off the air. The dentist held the wire using each finger for a whole hour. The next day his hands hurt so bad he couldn't pull teeth.'

The control panel was a fancy looking apparatus. "They kept pulling switches and twisting knobs. Red and green lights came on and off. Everybody in the audience tried to see who could clap the loudest. They thought they were being heard all the way to New York. But their sounds weren't going anywhere.'

Days later, when everybody learned it was a big hoax engineered by the telephone company manager, they appreciated the practical joke and called it one of the best ones ever pulled in Menard.

Family ties, traditions and rituals

By NAOMI HUNT Extension Agent

The joy of family ties, traditions and rituals creates a sense of belonging and implies that families are trying to stay close. Family traditions are all the family things and activities we take for granted, including, talking and laughing together at the supper table, and going to school and church together as a family. They, too are:

 Things that brings us security, pleasure and joy.

 Things we preserve and want to pass on to other generations. Distress us when challenged, threatened or condemned. Traditions are normally things usually evolve around an already established event such as birtuday holiday or special anniversary. There are traditions in every family. If you think there aren't any in yours, its probably because fast-paced lifestyles.

vou call them something else and don't think of them as traditions.

In each of our memories are special times with our families times which have grown into daily, weekly or even yearly occurrences. Family traditions have a trouve ability to draw families together. They are a source of support and narturance for individual family members who have been pulled away from their families

Traditions and family rituals teach responsibility to family, beliefs, values, acceptable behavior and pride in our roots. Traditions are the ties that unify families and create loving memories

Strong family ties are in defense of strong families. They teach us that families are important to our own growth.

Remember the Family Caregiver Conference, sponsored by the Extension Home Economics Committee. The Conference will be 10:00 a.m.-2:00 p.m., Nov. 19, in the Patio Room at Day's Inn. According to the American Cancer Society, one out of ten women will develop breast cancer sometime in her lifetime. It is currently estimated that over 37,000 women die each year as a result of breast cancer.

Ninety percent of breast cancers are diagnosed by women or their physicians finding a lump in the breast. Women who are diagnosed with a lump large enough to feel have a 50 percent five year survival rate. A woman who is diagnosed as having breast cancer by mammography, before a lump can be felt, has a 97% five year survival rate and a 90% 10 year survival rate. (The cost is only $50.00)

A mammogram can detect a cancer this small, • even before it can be felt.

When I was 2 years old, my ather took me on an outing (my parents were also divorced), and when he brought me back to my mother and told her that he had asked a woman he had never seen before to take me to the ladies' room, my mother was outraged! And this was in the early '60s. Can you imagine what could have happened in today's sick society with so many children being kidnapped, raped and murdered?

No adult should let a 2-year-old child out of his sight for a minute, let alone turn her over to a total stranger.

So, I give you a "bravo" on your answer, Abby. Keep up the good

SEATTLE DEAR SEATTLE: Not so quick with the "bravos." I had more Bronx cheers than bravos on that answer. A sample:

DEAR ABBY: Are you out of your mind? Or haven't you ever seen a men's room? Some have no private stalls - only a row of urinals against the wall, right out in the open!

Can't you just see a little 2-yearold girl wide-eyed at what she will see in there? And what will her father tell her when she asks, Daddy, what are those men

PRACTICAL IN QUEENS, N.Y. DEAR PRACTICAL: I am not out of my mind, and I have seen a men's room. And if the child asks her father what those men are "doing," he should TELL her.

DEAR ABBY: Several years ago you had a letter in your column from a man who wanted to go to medical school but hesitated because he would be "X" years old after 10 years of schooling. You asked him, "And how old will you be in 10 years if you DON'T go to medical school?"

Abby, I have always wanted to go to law school, but my then-husband discouraged me, so after we were divorced, I promised myself that as soon as I got on my feet agair, I'd go back to school. The months, then the years, began slipping away, and I began to think that I was too old (early 30s) to pursue a law career. Your answer to the potential medical student was just what I needed to jolt me to my senses. I immediately enrolled in college part-time so I could continue to work. I attended classes evenings and summers. When I graduated (magna cum laude, Phi Beta Kappa), I was able to quit my job and attend law school full time. Next May I will graduate, and although I am a bit older than my classmates, there are several who are even older than I am. Thank you, Abby. You made my

BARBARA J. CLAIRE, WATERFORD, CONN. DEAR BARBARA: Thank you. Your letter made my day.

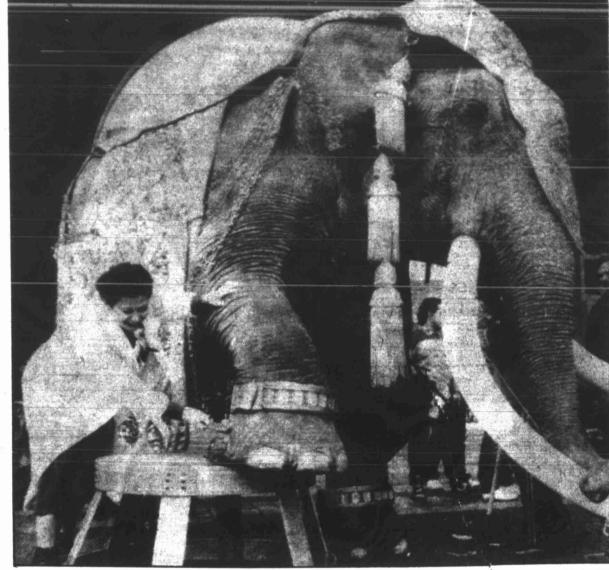

DEAR ABBY: This is for the woman who met a man on the street corner and ended up marrying him. She shouldn't feel embarrassed to tell people how they met. Guess where I met my husband? I picked him up in a Navy bar in Norfolk, Va. And I'm not embarrassed to tell people because nobody believes me.

HAPPILY MARRIED FOR 42 YEARS

DEAR ABBY: I am presently pregnant and unmarried. I tried to tell the man responsible (he lives in another state), but he refuses to see me. Because of his behavior, I have decided not to tell him. I do not want to share my child with someone who doesn't have the time of day for us now. At the same time, I do not want to deny my child a father, although I am not sure he would be a good father. (Maybe no father is better than a lousy one.)

I would like to hear the opinions of people who never knew who their fathers were. I would also like to hear from men who have fathered children out of wedlock. Would any prefer not knowing they were

OR CHRISTI AS.

To most children, Christmas means waking up to toys and presents. But to many needy and homeless children, Christmas means waking up cold and hungry. By supporting The Salvation Army, you can help feed, clothe, shelter, and provide toys for thousands of needy children on Christmas morning. This season, help us make a difference. And make a child's Christmas wish come true.

Depression medication

ORADELL, N.J. (AP)- There are new medications that can control depression, the most common psychiatric disorder, but they are not without side effects, says RN Magazine.

For alternative treatment, researchers are turning to nutritional therapy: specifically, two amino acids that hold promise tyrosine and tryptophan. See your doctor to find out more about these new medications and whether or not they may provide relief for certain depressed individuals.

It's not

bone not a bone? When it is a funny bone — that sensitive place at the bend of the elbow. In this area the ulnar nerve passes close to the surface between skin and bone. Because the nerve is relatively unprotected, any sharp impact stimulates it and causes a sudden, painful, tingling sensation in the arm and fingers.

The funny bone got its name, according to some sources, from its location near the humerus, which connects shoulder and elbow.

> Money saver

VALLEY FORGE, Pa. (AP) -ICI Aerospace here says its value engineering philosophy is benefiting the Defense Department.

It says that last year it contributed $3.7 million worth of savings for the department. In the past 10 years, savings of more than $40 million have been realized by the government as a result of its innovative engineering methods.

Value engineering is the discipline of providing engineering techniques that can result in inmproved quality as well as substantial cost savings.

Beware of flood water NEW ORLEANS (AP) — After a hurricane, eat nothing that has been touched by flood waters. Dispose of all mattresses, pillows and cushions that have been in flood waters.

Disinfect all cans and utensils before use if they have been touched by flood waters.
