Test will affect HC students, administration

By STEVE GEISSEN
Staff Writer

A new state-mandated basic skills test "will really impact" Howard College students and its administration, said Linda Conway, the college's director of admissions.

Students entering Texas colleges and universities next fall must pass all three parts of the Texas Academic Skills Program test before they can enroll in upper-level courses.

The test — that measures students' reading, writing and mathematics skills — is designed to identify students who are lacking basic academic skills and are unprepared for college level studies.

It was approved by the Texas Legislature last year, and is being implemented by the Texas College and University System Coordinating Board.

The test is a result of "a growing concern within the state and the nation that students were entering college with educational deficiencies," said Michael Kerker, program director of the TASP for the Coordinating Board.

The intent of the test is to "identify deficiencies students may have in these areas, so they can get help to remedy the deficiencies," he said. "Hopefully they will remedy them and get more out of their education and be more successful."

Although students are not required to take the test until the fall of 1989, the test will first be offered on college campuses March 4, 1989, Kerker said.

High school students who have passed the 11th grade exit-level

Texas Assessment of Minimal Skills test and have been accepted to attend a college or university will be eligible to take the test March 4, he said.

Students who are enrolled in college next spring and are pursuing a degree in education may also take the TASP in lieu of taking the Pre-Professional Skills Test. The PPST is the current test which education students must pass before receiving their degree.

Students who have successfully completed at least three collegiate hours — hours that are deemed transferrable and applicable towards a degree — before the fall semester of 1989 will not be required to take the test, Kerker said.

Students entering college in the fall who do not have not three hours of college credit must take the test before they advance past 15 collegiate hours, Conway said. And a student will not be able to advance past 60 hours or receive an associate degree from a junior college until he passes all three sections of the test, she said.

If, for example, a student were to fail the mathematics section of the test, he would be required to take a remedial math class before enrolling in a freshman-level math class, but would be allowed to enroll in other freshman level classes such as English.

If a student were to fail the reading section of the TASP, it will be the college's responsibility to determine which classes the students may take while he is receiving remedial reading instruction, Conway said.

As a result of the test, Howard College will have "to gear up a little." COLLEGE page 3-A

Bonds: 'No rule'

Editor's note: This is the first of two articles on the system of bonding in Howard County.

By MICHAEL DUFFY
Staff Writer

When an individual is charged with a crime what are the factors in a magistrate's decision to set bond?

In Big Spring, it is up to the discretion of the Howard County justices' of the peace or municipal court judge on call at the time, officials said.

"There are no fixed rules on determining what a person's bond should be set at," Howard County Justice of the Peace China Long said.

The most common misconception the public has about determining bond is the purpose it serves.

"Bond has nothing to do with punishment," Long advised. "Its primary purpose is to assure a person charged with a crime appears in court when he is supposed to."

Magistrates do consider specific factors in making a decision on what price bond should be assessed, she said.

"The amount of bond cannot be oppressive. What that means is that the bond cannot be so high that the defendant has no chance of being able to make it," Long explained.

The nature of the crime — murder, rape, or robbery, for instance — and what circumstances led to the commission of a crime must also be considered, she said.

"Other considerations are the future safety of the victim, the defendant's criminal record and whether he was on parole when an offense was committed," Long stated. "If the defendant is on probation we often check with the probation officer as to whether he is a continuing risk."

Long said magistrates investigate: whether a defendant is from the area; if relatives live here; and employment record.

"If a defendant has been jailed for an extended period — and his attorney believes the bond is excessive — he can petition the court for a writ of habeas corpus. At that time the district judge will make a decision and that takes a formal court proceeding," she said.

In the event the district judge denies the attorney's request for a client, he has the option of appealing the decision to a higher court.

Bond for Frankie Hernandez — recently convicted of murder in the death of Noe Perez — was originally set at $125,000; however, Hernandez's attorney Tom Morgan requested a reduction that was eventually denied by District Judge James Gregg.

Morgan appealed Gregg's decision to the Court of Criminal Appeals in Eastland and the judge's decision was reversed.

The Howard County sheriff does not set bond, although he does have the right to provide input.

"If the county jail is getting crowded, and he believes that person is not a threat to the community, the sheriff can speak with the magistrate about it," Long said. She added that a person accused of a crime has specifically guaranteed rights.

"Under the Constitution, a person is innocent until proven guilty," Long said.

Municipal Court Judge Gwen Fair said she bases her bond decisions on the seriousness of the

Gorbachev heads home to direct earthquake relief

By TERENCE HUNT
AP White House Correspondent

Mikhail S. Gorbachev headed for home today to cope with the crisis of a devastating earthquake, breaking off a New York visit highlighted by his dramatic announcement of a major reduction in Soviet troops and his summit with President Reagan and President-elect Bush.

In a farewell telephone call to the Soviet leader, Reagan today expressed "deep personal sorrow" over the earthquake tragedy. The president, speaking from his second-floor living quarters in the White House, also told Gorbachev their meeting on Wednesday was "very useful ... for both sides."

Soviet officials said Gorbachev was returning home to direct relief efforts after the quake in Armenia that produced casualties numbering in the thousands. That meant junking an elaborately planned day of sightseeing in New York, as well as trips to Cuba and England that had been on the schedule for later in the week.

British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher, standing outside 10 Downing Street with the Soviet ambassador to London, endorsed Gorbachev's decision to cut off his trip. "Obviously his place is at home at this time," Mrs. Thatcher said.

Soviet mission for the airport throughout the morning in advance of Gorbachev's departure just before noon EST.

In his telephone call, Reagan expressed concern over the magnitude of the Soviet loss. "If there is any way we can be of assistance, either bilaterally or through the international community, please let me know," Reagan said. His comments were relayed to the press by White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater.

Nancy Reagan also spoke with Raisa Gorbachev, expressing sorrow over the quake and saying she and the president hope to see the Gorbachevs again, either in California or the Soviet Union.

At least one event planned for the Soviet leader went on without him. A Soviet trade show opened, with goods ranging from vodka to furs and to fruits on display. Viktor Kamentsev, a deputy Soviet premier, opened the show along with C. William Verity, the U.S. secretary of commerce.

Gorbachev was making his hasty exit from New York while Western leaders were trying to digest his announcement of a cut of 500,000 troops, including withdrawal of 50,000 from Eastern Europe.

Reagan and Bush both heartily embraced the announcement when it was made on Wednesday. Secretary of State George P. GORBACHEV page 3-A

Grand jury to hear evidence in Dunn slaying case

By SARAH LUMAN
Staff Writer

Despite witnesses' and grand jurors' difficulties with traveling icy roads, a special session of a Howard County grand jury was to convene today to hear more details of an April slaying.

Assistant District Attorney William Dale Dupree said today grand jurors had been summoned to the courthouse for a 9 a.m. session, but at 9:15 several still had not arrived to hear what he called a murder case.

Members of the August grand jury have been recalled to consider a Texas Ranger's testimony and further evidence in the April 12 shooting death of a 26-year-old Big Spring woman, Caryle Dunn.

She died of a single gunshot wound to the chest after her husband, former Big Spring police officer Dennis C. Dunn, 39, drove her to Scenic Mountain Medical Center after a 10:30 p.m. shooting in the couple's Ent Drive home.

Dunn was arrested at the hospital on a preliminary charge of involuntary manslaughter and released within hours on $90,000 bond. He remains free on bond today.

Dupree said defense attorney Robert H. Moore III had the right to decide whether Dunn should appear before the grand jury, and said the district attorney's office was not aware of plans for Dunn to appear. Dunn's present whereabouts, Dupree said, are "known to his attorney and to his bondsman" and are of no concern to the district attorney's office unless he is called to court for trial and does not appear.

"At that point we would issue a bond forfeiture and it would become of concern to us," Dupree explained today. He said the grand jury has the option to clear Dunn of all charges by a no-bill or to indict him on "any charge from murder on down. I will tell you that right now we are presenting it as a murder case."

Texas Ranger Joe Sanders, arriving shortly after 9 a.m. to present evidence resulting from his investigation into the case, declined to comment on the results of that probe.

District Attorney Rick Hamby has said Sanders' testimony before the grand jury and presentation of evidence uncovered by his investigation was "imperative."

He also said physical evidence in the case would be taken before the grand jury. The jurors had not ruled on the case during their August meeting, he said, requesting further action on the case. Hamby DUNN page 3-A

'Yah,' 1,200 new words enter English register

By ROBERT BARR
Associated Press Writer

LONDON — Previous euphemisms for lying are now, to use one outdated word, inoperative. In the latest British lingo, to withhold the truth is to be "economical."

"Economical" has been enshrined in the Longman Register of New Words, among 1,200 words and phrases including "plonker," "loadsamoney," "bank journalism" and "yah."

All, according to Longman's editor, John Ayto, have insinuated themselves into the language of Chaucer, Shakespeare and Dickens since 1986.

"Economical" owes its new meaning to court cases involving "Spycatcher," the expose by former intelligence official Peter Wright that the government attempted to suppress.

In a court case in Australia over "Spycatcher," former British civil service head Sir Robert Armstrong admitted he had previously been "economical with the truth."

"Economical" thus has come to be euphemism for "deliberately withholding something from public knowledge."

"Sexy" has been tamed, now meaning attractive, enjoyable or trendy, the Register said, but the language has found new ways to talk about the birds and the bees.

The press' infatuation with sex has produced the term "bank journalism," defined in the Register as "journalism concerned with obtaining and printing accounts of the supposed sexual activities of well-known people."

Fujitsu America to open Dallas complex

RICHARDSON (AP) — Officials from Fujitsu America Inc., a U.S. subsidiary of one of Japan's largest high-technology firms, planned to join Gov. Bill Clements and other state officials today to announce the firm's plans for a new manufacturing and office complex in this North Dallas suburb. Clements and Dallas multimillionaire businessman Ross Perot announced they would attend a major economic development announcement at the Richardson City Hall today. The announcement comes after nearly two weeks of speculation about the Tokyo-based Fujitsu Ltd. worldwide electronics company that manufactures and sells computers, communications systems, semiconductors and car audio equipment. Real estate sources previously told the Dallas Morning News that Fujitsu, which posted revenues of $16.4 billion in 1987, has contracted to buy about 100 acres from Perot on the east side of Shiloh Road in Richardson. The property is located in Shiloh Business Park, an office and industrial district just north of the Dallas County line. The property, adjacent to the new State Highway 190 freeway loop, would be used for construction of a 1 million-square-foot office, research and manufacturing complex. Sources say Fujitsu America, which employs 300 people in an existing office and manufacturing plant in Richardson, plans to employ about 1,500 people during the next year, with an estimated 5,000 to 6,000 new jobs added in the Dallas area within five years, making it the one of the biggest relocations to the area. Fujitsu America looked at more than a dozen locations in the Dallas area before choosing the Richardson site, real estate brokers said. Fujitsu, which also has a regional sales office in the Dallas area, opened a 50,000-square-foot telecommunications facility in Richardson in 1984. Two years later, the firm doubled the size of

Laborer charged in kidnapping/murder

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — A 21-year-old laborer has been charged with capital murder Wednesday in connection with the abduction and slaying of 5-year-old Lottie Margaret Rhodes, who had been a kidnap victim twice in a span of two years. Jackie Barron Wilson was being held in Arlington City Jail today in lieu of $500,000 bond on a probable cause charge of capital murder. Police already had Wilson in custody Wednesday on an unrelated theft warrant from Lubbock. Wilson knew "Maggie" and her mother, Toni, because he was a friend of Ms. Rhodes' live-in baby sitter, Joe Martinez, authorities said. He had often visited at their apartment, police said. The girl was abducted from her bedroom early Nov. 30. Her body was found by a truck driver later that day beside a rural road in Grande Prairie. She had been sexually assaulted, strangled and had suffered massive head injuries. Investigators said it appeared Maggie was run over by a car. The girl had been kidnapped last year, but managed to escape from her abductor a few hours later, authorities said. Officers said they didn't believe there was any connection between the two abductions. Several witnesses said Wilson was at the Rhodes' apartment often, according to Arlington police spokesman Dee Anderson. "We still have a lot more investigating to do in the case," Anderson said. "We feel strongly we have arrested the right person." Police recovered forensic evidence Tuesday that they matched with Wilson, but would not speculate on what was found. Wilson pleaded guilty to misdemeanor charges of resisting arrest and evading arrest in separate incidents at the Arlington Village apartments, the same complex where the Rhodes' live, in 1986 and April 1988, according to Anderson. Lubbock police issued the warrant for Wilson in connection with a car theft.

Teachers win dispute in Texas Supreme Court

AUSTIN (AP) — A contract victory for 26 Southeast Texas teachers in the state Supreme Court could, in the future, affect as many as 100,000 Texas educators, according to an attorney who represented the teachers. "Dec. 7 may be a date of infamy in the minds of many Americans, but I think in the minds of Texas teachers it's going to take on a new meaning. This is, in effect, an emancipation proclamation for Texas teachers," said Austin attorney Jay Brim. The court Wednesday ruled that school districts granting "continuing contracts" must decide by Aug. 1 what they are going to pay teachers for the upcoming school year. If a district "has not set a determinable salary by Aug. 1, then it is obligated to pay the salary from the previous year," Justice William Kilgarlin said in a unanimous opinion. Brim, an attorney for the Texas Association of Professional Educators, said historically teachers have been required to perform contracts "without even knowing what they were going to be paid."

(Austin attorney Jay) Brim said the practice of school districts in waiting to the last minute to set salaries had never been tested before in court, and was challenged in the Lumberton case because "this is the worst example of what can happen. It has been common for districts to wait until school opens (to set salaries) and, of course, at that point it's too late for a teacher to go look for a job in another school district."

Kilgarlin said teachers who sued the Lumberton Independent School District were correct in stating that "it is unconscionable to bind them to employment contracts under penalty of law without a specific agreement as to what the compensation will be." He noted that after Aug. 1, a teacher may not resign without losing his or her teaching certificate for a year. "If the teacher is bound to perform at this point and has incurred a detriment, then there is no reason why the district should likewise be bound," he said. The suit was filed after Lumberton school trustees — one month after school started and salaries were set — voted to decrease certain salaries because the state had lowered its share of the payment. Brim said salaries were reduced for 107 teachers; 26, plus two librarians, joined in the lawsuit. Some teachers lost as much as $2,800 a year under the trustees' decision, according to the professional educators association. Brim said there is still time for the other Lumberton educators affected by the ruling to seek relief in court. He estimated that 100,000 teachers in some 200 of Texas' 1,000-plus school districts — including many urban districts — are covered by continuing contracts, and would be affected in the future by the court ruling. Kilgarlin's opinion noted that once a teacher achieves continuing contract status, or tenure, employment continues "without the necessity of annual school board approval. Brim said the practice of school districts in waiting to the last minute to set salaries had never been tested before in court, and was challenged in the Lumberton case because "this is the worst example of what can happen." "It has been common for districts to wait until school opens (to set salaries) and, of course, at that point it's too late for a teacher to go look for a job in another school district," he said. The Lumberton educators lost in a Hardin County trial court and also the Beaumont Court of Civil Appeals. The Supreme Court reversed the appeals court and returned the case to the trial court for a final judgment consistent with Kilgarlin's opinion. The opinion noted that if the librarians are found to hold teaching contracts, they are entitled to the same relief as teachers.

Doctors plan new type of patient care

DALLAS (AP) — American Medical Association officials say they are going ahead with plans to establish training programs for a new category of hospital worker who would provide bedside care. The decision came Wednesday, despite objections from some members of the association's 422-member House of Delegates, the group's policy-making body. Called a "registered care technician," or RCT, the new worker category also has been opposed by organized nursing. Lucille Joel, president of the American Nurses Association, told an AMA House of Delegates committee Monday that her organization would not cooperate.

Ms. Joel and other nursing leaders have argued that RCTs, trained to provide bedside care such as applying bedpans or delivering meals, would only duplicate work already performed by nurse's aides and licensed vocational nurses. Hospitals should instead hire more workers to stock cabinets and perform other tasks unrelated to patient care that have fallen upon nurses, Ms. Joel said. But Dr. James Sammons, executive vice president of the AMA, said Wednesday that just because the nurses association doesn't want to cooperate doesn't mean nurses don't want to. "I'm sorry Lucille said that, because she now has driven the wedge even deeper," Sammons said at a news conference after the final session of the House of Delegates semiannual meeting in Dallas. "RCT is not a nurse. It's not meant to be a nurse, and it's not meant to replace a nurse," said AMA trustee Dr. Joseph Painter, a vice president of M.D. Anderson Cancer Center in Houston. An RCT advisory committee made up of doctors, nurses and hospital officials will convene in January. Painter said the first pilot program should begin by mid-1989.

Dunn

also said Sanders was unavailable to testify in August.

Dunn was suspended from the police force after his arrest. After a separate incident in late April he was arrested for public intoxication; following that arrest Cook announced that Dunn had been terminated from the police force.

Injured in a one-car accident near Pampa, Dunn is believed to be living in the Amarillo area, Hamby had said in August. The district attorney also said at that time that Dunn's parents had signed his bonds.

Bonding

alleged offense.
Fair said she usually sets bond on a Class C misdemeanor at $500 and the bond for an individual charged with first-offense driving while intoxicated is assessed at $1,000.

One example of the discretion used in setting bond is the difference in the amount set by Howard County Justice of the Peace Bill Shankles for three men charged with the early Sunday shooting death of George Talaveras; the wounding of Richard Talaveras; and alleged beating of Paul Talaveras.

Three of four men were charged in connection with the incident were released on $60,000 bond each only hours after being arrested on warrants charging them with murder; attempted murder; and aggravated assault with a deadly weapon.

They were arraigned by Shankles, who set bond.
A fourth suspect who was arrested one day later and faces the same charges was arraigned before Fair who set bond at $105,000. He is also free on bond.

"It's really a matter of what price do you set bond for someone who is charged with taking someone's life," Fair said.

Until several years ago members of a Bail Bond Board determined the bond set on persons charged with crimes, however the board has been dissolved, Fair stated.

Most Texas cities rely on the Bail Bond Board system and the amount of bond set by magistrates in Howard County has been a recurring source of controversy until Police Chief Joe Cook called a meeting to establish guidelines several months ago.

Sources close to the police department said a Big Spring man charged this year with aggravated sexual assault — who was subsequently released on bond and allegedly sexually assaulted another woman — angered Cook and prompted him to take action.

Juveniles questioned about train incident

Three possible juvenile suspects in the Nov. 18 unleashing of three unmanned, million-dollar locomotive trains have undergone polygraph tests in connection with the incident.

Capt. Lonnie Smith said that three juvenile male suspects were transported to Midland Tuesday morning, where polygraph tests were administered at a Department of Public Safety facility.

Smith said a Crimestoppers tip led to the latest development in the case.

Police Chief Joe Cook said the parents signed the necessary consent forms to allow their children to be tested, and accompanied them to Midland.

Smith said the detectives have interviewed the juveniles and they are under investigation, but he has not yet received the results of the polygraph test.

Cook stressed he did not know what the test results revealed.

Union Pacific Railroad has offered $25,000 reward for information leading to the arrest of the perpetrators of the incident that severely damaged two locomotives.

Unknown persons disengaged three locomotives during the early-morning hours of Nov. 18 and sent them traveling across 214 miles of West Texas tracks at speeds reaching 80 mph before officials derailed them seven miles east of Van Horn.

the bit in our developmental curriculum" and may have to hire additional teachers to provide remedial instruction, said Bob Riley, president.

The college's developmental education department currently offers remedial classes, Riley said, adding that the college also tests entering students to determine whether they need remedial instruction before enrolling in freshman-level courses.

Riley said the college would likely continue to administer its own test to entering students "for at least a year or two" after the implementation of the TASP test.

Many universities do not have extensive remedial education programs and as a result they may opt to contract with junior colleges to provide remedial instruction for students who fail the TASP, Riley said.

Asked if he supported the implementation of the TASP, Riley said "it depends upon the test that is eventually developed.

Gorbachev

Shultz met today with NATO allies to try to persuade them to insist on further cutbacks in Soviet troops in Europe beyond those Gorbachev has offered to withdraw from East Germany, Czechoslovakia and Hungary.

In his farewell meeting with the 15 foreign ministers, Shultz hoped to keep the allies focused on the 2-to-1 manpower edge U.S. officials say the Warsaw Pact still enjoys.

Gorbachev's early departure was an unexpected ending to the Soviet leader's New York visit.

He melted diplomatic reserve at the United Nations with a sweeping disarmament pledge, met cordially for two hours with Bush and Reagan and even managed a quick motorcade tour

"If its a test that adequately and fairly assesses academic skills, and if a student can receive remediation, take the test again and pass it, then it will be good. But if it is a test that eliminates higher education for a large number of students then I would not be in favor of it."

Conway expressed concern about the expense of the test, which will cost $24 the first time a student takes it.

If a student fails all three sections of the test, he must pay $24 to take the test again, Kerker said. But if a student were to pass the writing section of the test — the most expensive section to grade — and fail the math and reading portions he would pay $16 to take the two sections he failed.

Kerker acknowledged that the cost of taking the test could be prohibitive for lower-income students, and said the Coordinating Board has requested that the legislature provide funds to pay the costs of the test for financially disadvantaged students.

of Manhattan, jumping from his limousine to greet startled New Yorkers on the sidewalk.

The Soviets said concern for his people, rather than any political developments in his homeland, caused Gorbachev to cancel further sightseeing in New York today and subsequent stops in Cuba and Britain.

Reagan, Bush and Gorbachev all were in high spirits when they met for two hours on heavily guarded Governors Island in New York Harbor. When Bush offered a welcoming handshake, Gorbachev seized it in a two-handed embrace.

After two hours of talks, Reagan summed up the mood. "Read our smiles," the outgoing president said.

Soviets announce military cuts

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — NATO Secretary-General Manfred Woerner on Wednesday welcomed the announcement by Soviet President Mikhail S. Gorbachev of a unilateral cut in Soviet military forces, a spokesman said.

The U.S. mission to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization called Gorbachev's speech at the United Nations "a positive step." Gorbachev announced the cuts in a speech to the General Assembly in New York. It came on the eve of a two-day meeting of Secretary of State George Shultz and other foreign ministers of the 16-nation Western alliance.

In response to the Soviet announcement, NATO spokesman Florent Swijsen said Woerner "welcomes any measure that may lead to long overdue reductions of overwhelming Warsaw Pact superiority in conventional forces in Europe."

Gorbachev said the Soviet Union will unilaterally cut its military forces by 500,000 troops and reduce its conventional arms substantially. The military, he said, "no longer can or must be an instrument of foreign policy."

Following are the troop and equipment reductions that Gorbachev said his country will implement in Europe:

Over the next two years reduce Soviet troops by 500,000, about 10 percent of the estimated total of 5 million. The North Atlantic Treaty Organization estimates current Soviet ground forces assigned to the Warsaw Pact at 2.2 million. Warsaw Pact total ground forces are estimated by NATO at 3.09 million. Ground forces for the 16 NATO countries are 2.2 million.

Gorbachev said the Soviet Union would withdraw by 1991 six tank divisions from East Germany, Czechoslovakia and Hungary and disband them. The Soviet Union has 37,000 main battle tanks assigned to the Warsaw Pact, according to NATO estimates. He said Soviet forces in those countries would be cut by 50,000 men and by 5,000 tanks.

Soviet forces in the European part of the Soviet Union and in the territory of the Warsaw Pact countries reduced by 10,000 tanks, 8,500 artillery systems and 800 combat aircraft. NATO estimates are that the Soviets have 33,000 artillery weapons in the Warsaw Pact and 6,050 combat aircraft.

Gorbachev said the move comes "without relation" to international negotiations on conventional forces in Europe. But his offer would likely give a new push to those stalled talks in Vienna, Austria, on reducing Warsaw Pact and NATO conventional forces in Central Europe.

While meeting Thursday and Friday, the NATO foreign ministers are expected to discuss their position in the arms negotiations, called the Conventional Stability Talks. Those talks are expected to get under way early next year.

Views of other Texas papers

Zero tolerance for hate

Hate is like an infection. If not treated promptly and properly, its poison can spread quickly. At its most virulent, it can be fatal.

For reasons about which we can only speculate... the United States has become a more hateful nation than it was just a few years ago. Hardly a week goes by without news from throughout the country about incidents — some quite violent — against various racial, ethnic or religious groups.

State Sen. Craig Washington, D-Houston, has a plan for ending the confusion. Washington has pre-filed a bill defining "hate crimes" and calling for tough criminal and civil penalties for people convicted of committing them.

Washington's bill is designed to establish a pattern of harsher punishment for people who commit crimes because of a victim's "race, color, ethnicity, national origin, sex, age, sexual orientation, religion, creed, disability, political affiliation, ideological belief or position in a labor dispute." If convicted of a hate crime, a person would be subject to punishment currently assessed for a crime one degree more severe.

The time has come for society to take a firm stand against such vicious activities. Washington's bill, or one even tougher, is needed to stem the infection before it becomes an epidemic.

Today's troubles are being caused by only small groups of thugs, but it is necessary to remember that that is how the Nazi movement began in Germany in the early 1930s.

Kill 'Official English'

A Texas state senator has pronounced any effort to make English the state's official language "dead on arrival" at the 71st Legislative Assembly next year.

Here is one more call for the Legislature to pull the plug on such an ill-advised idea.

At issue is an idea, endorsed in March in a statewide non-binding referendum, to make English the state's official language.

The measure is bad for several reasons:

- It has a xenophobic ring. Texas does not need to act as though it is afraid of others of different cultural, ethnic or linguistic backgrounds.

- It contradicts the nation's self-proclaimed pride in its diversity.

- It is insulting. How ironic to put such a measure on the ballot, since under state law, the ballot must explain the measure to voters in English and in Spanish. The Spanish-speaking citizens of Texas would have every right to take offense at such a ludicrous juxtaposition of existing law and ill-conceived intent.

Latin democracy

How long will the springtime for democracy last in Latin America? In truth, recent events are discouraging. Although it eventually failed, the military rebellion that began last week in Argentina against the government of Raul Alfonsin — the third such uprising Mr. Alfonsin has faced — was nonetheless quite alarming. So, too, is the resurgence of the extreme right and death squad activity in El Salvador. Guatemalan news reports routinely underscore the delicate minut that President Vinicio Cerezo must perform so as not to rile his own military.

While each of the Latin nations possesses its own unique history, it can nonetheless be said that throughout many of these countries, military-dominated regimes have been willing to give up control of their governments as the economic situation began to decline and civilians demanded change. But if the economic situation deteriorates to a point where the social order of each nation is threatened, the pendulum may well swing back to military dictatorship. From Guatemala to Argentina, the top brass is champing at the bit.

As usual, a balanced U.S. diplomatic approach based upon a realistic appraisal of the situation in each of the Latin countries is in order. It is true that there is too much evidence of Soviet, Cuban and Nicaraguan assistance to rebels in Central America for the United States to relax its guard, geopolitically speaking. On the other hand, it is equally harmful to U.S. interests if we fail to identify the economic roots of Latin unrest as well, and position ourselves to seek stability through economic initiatives.

Dear Christmas Man

By ART BUCHWALD

It's time once again to ask the Christmas Man some questions.

Dear Christmas Man,

I was brought up to believe that you couldn't buy love. Now my grandchild tells me that I can. All I have to do is get him a Nintendo set, he says, and he'll love me a "lot." What am I to make of this?

Sincerely,
Willy Wooster

Dear Willy,

Unfortunately, your grandchild is right. You can buy love but it is no longer cheap. The going rate for a $10 to $20 doll is one wet kiss on the cheek. Any train set from $20 to $50 will guarantee a hug, and for a $100 Walkman your grandchild will climb onto your lap and let you tell him a story. There are children who will love you even if you don't bring them anything. But to this date, nobody has ever met one.

Sincerely yours,
C.M.

Dear Christmas Man,

Last year I gave a close friend a lovely gift. She has never mentioned the item or thanked me. Now that Christmas is coming up again, I am not sure if I should send her a present or not. My kindest thought is that she never received the gift, and I don't want to penalize her for what could easily be another monumental screw-up in the Post Office. But what I really think is that she has no manners.

Sincerely,
Billy Boy Louder

Dear Billy Boy,

Join the club. Millions and millions of people never get thanked for Christmas presents they sent to relatives and friends. It is now estimated that only one out of eight gift-senders has ever received a note. When sending a gift I have found it very helpful to enclose a letter addressed to myself, thanking me for the gift and raving about it. I ask the recipient of the package to please sign the thank-you note and return it to me in the self-addressed envelope. This more or less guarantees an acknowledgment of the present, and saves the other person an awful lot of guilt.

Cheers,
C.M.

Dear Christmas Man,

My son, Jeremy, is home for the Christmas holiday, but is never in the house. Since we paid for his air fare, do we have any visitation rights? I still worry about him, especially when he is driving and comes home late.

Sincerely yours,
Ann Dean

Dear Ann,

You have no such rights to your children once you enroll them in college.

As for being worried about your son coming in late, the only way to reassure yourself that he is safe is to leave a saucer of milk outside his bedroom door. If the milk is gone in the morning, then you will know that he is all right.

Sincerely,
C.M.

Dear Christmas Man,

What is the world record for a salesperson writing up a purchase in a department store at Christmas, and who holds it?

Sincerely,
Frank and Dorothy Kleinman

Dear Frank and Dorothy,

The world's record for a person transacting a sale is 22 minutes and 12 seconds. It is held by Myra Blunt of Macy's, who completed the paper work, including checking the charge card, in what is now considered a world record. The speed was so phenomenal that Myra was asked to take a steroid test to make sure that she hadn't cheated. Myra passed the test with flying colors, and is now working in fine lines.

Happy Holidays,
C.M.

Helmets: adult rider should have a choice

By STEVE REAGAN
Staff Writer

It never ceases to amaze me how tragedy spurs people to action.

Mankind by its very nature is a fairly complacent lot, content to sit on its haunches until forced to do something. But let a town get leveled by a tornado, or have a friend's daughter be stricken by leukemia, and just watch the milk of human kindness begin flowing.

This is all fine and decent and laudable, but sometimes it goes too far. Such is the case with public reaction to actor Gary Busey's motorcycle crash.

Busey, 44, was injured Sunday in California when he was thrown from his motorcycle and landed headfirst on a curb. He is in serious condition as of this writing.

The kicker is that Busey was not wearing a helmet at the time of his wreck.

The outpouring of sympathy for Busey — who received an Oscar nomination for his portrayal of rock'n'roll star Buddy Holly — has been predictable. So, perhaps, have been the renewed calls for legislation mandating helmets for all "cycle riders.

In Texas, Dean DeSoto, chairman of the Governor's Motorcycle Operator Training and Safety Advisory Committee, is using the occasion of Busey's crash to renew his pleas for the state legislature to adopt a law requiring cyclists to wear helmets.

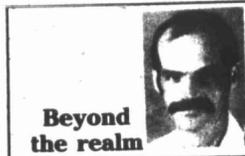

"I think there's a better chance (for a new law)," DeSoto told the Dallas Morning News. "It (the Busey crash) might very well have helped."

The group is calling for the legislature to change the current law requiring helmets for riders under the age of 18 to include all riders, regardless of age.

While the group's aim — more safety for motorcycle operators — is laudable, I must differ on this point.

At best, I am ambivalent on the subject of motorcycles. I personally consider them to be hazardous little machines that invite death or injury but, at the same time, I would not be so bold as to try to restrict their use by enthusiasts.

I have lost two friends to motorcycle wrecks. The first died when he was flung head-first into a telephone pole; he was wearing a helmet, but it made not one whit of difference. The other died when he was struck from behind by a drunk driver. For what it's worth, he wasn't wearing a helmet.

Whether helmets increase a rider's chances of surviving a collision is not the point here; I would wager that both factions in the argument could proffer statistics espousing their particular point of view.

No, the point here is whether we as citizens should adopt another in a long series of laws designed to protect us from ourselves — or if we should leave this particular action — wearing a helmet — to the discretion of the person involved.

Too many times in the past — from Prohibition to reading materials to seat belts — well-meaning persons have attempted (and succeeded at times) to restrict activities that serve to hurt no one but the person performing said activities.

It's as if we as a society are saying: "Yes, you are responsible adults, and yes, we live in a free society. But — for your own good — you can't do this or that because you might hurt yourselves."

Those against wearing helmets have brought several arguments to bear, but the one that makes the most sense is this: They are the ones who are putting themselves at risk, so they should be the ones who make the decision.

And I cannot argue against that point.

If I want to do something — and the only person I might be harming is myself — why on earth can't I be allowed the freedom to decide on a particular course of action?

After all, doesn't being an adult at least imply that society is trusting me to make decisions on my own?

Freedom of choice is a phrase that is sometimes overused, but not in this case. Gary Busey made his choice; pro-helmet wearers made theirs. And, if by some quirk of fate I decide to ride a motorcycle, I will make mine.

But — please — let me make the choice.

Family barricaded inside home

MONONGAHELA, Pa. (AP) — Three family members were barricaded inside their foreclosed house early today, a day after shots were fired at officers as they tried to serve them an eviction notice, authorities said.

Sheriff's deputies, police officers and firefighters were posted outside the 2½-story, white aluminum-sided house in Carroll Township, about 15 miles south of Pittsburgh. A special emergency response team from the state police headquarters in Harrisburg arrived late Wednesday.

Power to the house was cut off, but the building just outside Monongahela was illuminated overnight by portable lights erected outside by authorities.

Complaint over nude panty raid

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Sorority sisters whose house was raided by nude fraternity members filed a criminal complaint Wednesday saying the prank was frightening at a time when several campus-area rapes remain unsolved.

"Fraternities frequently pull pranks on sororities," said Michele Knapp, president of the 117-member Gamma Phi Beta chapter. "But this went too far. Quite frankly, the women were petrified hearing strange men pounding on their doors — especially since there has been a rash of rapes on campus recently."

Police say they believe two men are responsible for as many as 14 rapes on and near the Ann Arbor campus since September 1987. The last rape reported near the campus was Oct. 18, Sgt. Tom Caldwell said. Most of the assaults, for which no arrests have been made, occurred inside buildings.

The panty raid occurred in the early morning of Nov. 29, Knapp said. Three or four nude fraternity members entered several bedrooms, stole lingerie and asked girls to sign their posteriors.

Court agrees to hear lawsuits

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — California's Supreme Court agreed Wednesday to hear insurers' lawsuits challenging the Proposition 103 rate reduction initiative, but allowed immediate enforcement of all major provisions except a 20 percent rollback in auto insurance rates.

The portions of the measure that the court allowed to take effect will force companies to base insurance rates primarily on a driver's record and experience and repeal an exemption from state antitrust laws for insurance companies.

Government pays $106 million

WASHINGTON (AP) — Final payments totaling about $106 million are going out to states as their share of national forest sales receipts this year, the Agriculture Department said Wednesday.

Deputy Secretary Peter C. Myers said the money is in addition to a preliminary payment of $212 million which went to the states on Sept. 27, bringing the total for the fiscal year that ended Sept. 30 to more than $318 million.

By law, 25 percent of the revenues collected by the Agriculture Department agency for the sale of timber and other use of national forest resources must be returned to the states where the forests are located. Actual receipts in fiscal 1988 totaled approximately $1.26 billion.

The states are required to use the funds for schools and roads.

An earthquake measuring 6.9 on the Richter scale devastated the town of Spitak, Armenia, southern U.S.S.R. Wednesday morning.

Destruction prompts Gorbachev's return

MOSCOW (AP) — An earthquake that devastated much of Soviet Armenia leveled cities and killed thousands of people, including at least 50 children buried by rubble when their school collapsed, officials said today.

When the magnitude of the destruction became clear, President Mikhail S. Gorbachev cut short a trip that would have taken him on to Cuba and Britain to return home from New York today.

Officials said Gorbachev would travel to Armenia to direct rescue efforts.

The 16,000-resident town of Spitak, near the epicenter of Wednesday morning's tremor, was reported wiped out. The government newspaper Izvestia said just one of the town's eight schools still stood.

The quake struck in mid-morning, when schools were in session and factories operating. The U.S. Geological Survey said it measured 6.9 on the Richter scale.

The government rushed soldiers and civilian volunteers to the disaster area, which encompassed most of northwestern Armenia.

State television showed film of crumbled buildings in Kirovakan, Armenia's third-largest city, and in Spitak. In one shot, a man put his hands over his head in grief as he stood amid a collapsed building.

"Practically all apartment buildings of nine floors or higher are destroyed," the official newspaper Komsomolskaya Pravda said. "There is significant damage in five-story apartment buildings. Only individual one-story and two-three story homes of old construction remain whole."

Komsomolskaya Pravda reported from Leninakan, a city of 250,000 about 30 miles from epicenter, that preliminary reports indicated "tens of thousands of people became victims of the earthquake."

Albert Khachatryan of the Armenian Ministry of Health said in a telephone interview that 2,000 injured people had been brought to the Armenian capital of Yerevan from Leninakan, Kirovakan and Spitak, and more were expected.

Aircraft crashes into center of city

REMSCHEID, West Germany (AP) — An aircraft crashed into the center of this city in central West Germany today, setting houses on fire, killing at least one person and injuring others, a police spokesman said.

The spokesman, Ralf Berghaus, told The Associated Press "presumably it is a U.S. military aircraft," but he said it was too soon to tell for certain.

He also said it was not certain whether the aircraft was a helicopter or airplane. Berghaus said that "at least one person is dead and numerous people seriously injured" and that "houses are on fire."

"Body pieces are lying around," Berghaus said. Remscheid is 15 miles east of Duesseldorf.

More than 1,700 civilians killed

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — More than 1,700 civilians were killed and another 231 non-combatants disappeared in political violence this year, the independent Human Rights Commission of El Salvador says.

In a report released Wednesday, the commission said 1,747 civilians were killed in politically related violence between January and November.

Citing witness testimony, it said 140 of the civilians reported to have "disappeared" had been abducted by government troops.

The report did not specify who was responsible for the remainder of the disappearances, saying it had found no witnesses.

The government had no immediate comment on the report.

Mandela transferred to a house

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Nelson Mandela, leader of the outlawed African National Congress and jailed since 1962, has been transferred from a clinic to a house on a prison farm outside Cape Town.

The government has been under intense domestic and international pressure to unconditionally release the 70-year-old Mandela, South Africa's most famous black leader.

But officials indicated after Wednesday's transfer that Mandela's outright release is not imminent and restraints on him will be eased in stages so the government can assess the political impact of his possible freedom.

Prison officials said Mandela's wife, Winnie, children and grandchildren would have unlimited access to Mandela at his new quarters in a staff house on prison property. The one-story house has a patio, flower garden and swimming pool.

Strike offer splits Paris unions

PARIS (AP) — Four moderate unions accepted a compromise Wednesday to end a transit strike that has snarled area traffic, but the leading union rejected the proposal and called for the walkout to expand.

Gerard Becker, speaking for the four moderate unions, read a statement saying they accepted the offer and "rejected the policy of all or nothing."

The complex compromise proposal of the Paris Transit Authority would raise base pay for transit workers by $50 a month by Jan. 1, 1990. It would also grant raises of 2.2 percent that were already planned for 1989.

The communist-led General Confederation of Labor, which rejected the offer, is demanding an immediate monthly increase of $170 for all employees. The group has asked workers on the national railroad to walk off the job next week to back its demands.

Homeless A homeless man sleeps on New York's E train as the subway travels between lower Manhattan and Queens. The E line is favored by many homeless people as a place to sleep because most of its long route is underground and the doors open infrequently.

Roberts named club president

Desk & Derrick Club members met Monday at the home of Marvin and Margaret Wise for a covered dish supper.

Mrs. Leon (Grace) Kinney installed the 1989 officers, they are: Mrs. Mamie Roberts, president; Mrs. Wise, vice president; Mrs. Kathy Bayes, secretary; and Mrs. Paul (Charlotte) Sheedy, treasurer.

Members donated money to the Cheer Fund.

Looking to the new year, Roberts noted the major thrust will be to enlarge the club membership roster. She also encouraged the group to indicate their choice of committees that they will serve.

Education of the oil industry is the primary purpose of the club. Mrs. Kinney, assisted by Mrs. Sheedy, led a discussion of oil and gas leases, and division and transfer orders.

Mrs. Wise, who constructed the club's entry for the Heritage Museum's parade of holiday decorations, displayed the miniature door piece.

The next meeting will be in February.

Chapter hosts Christmas dinner

Members of Beta Kappa Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma International met Dec. 3 in the Big Spring High School cafeteria for a Christmas dinner.

Hostesses were: Jill Wilbanks, chairman; Reva Adams, Lila Adkins, Fern Alexander, Mildred Anderson, Nancy Annen, Betty Birdwell, Lucy Bonner, Anita Booth, Connie Gary, Helen Glad-den, Allen Hamilton, Mary Arnold Heffley and Selma Hicks. Virginia Martin, chairman of the music committee, introduced Charlie Dee, KBST radio personality, who presented a dramatic reading of "The Best Christmas Pageant Ever."

The next meeting will be Feb. 4 at 10 a.m. in the Coahoma Elementary School library. Carole Stephens will lead the program.

Confused plant

Some of the flowers planted at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Hughes apparently don't know they're supposed to stop blooming in the summer. According to Edna Hughes, irises normally bloom for a month to six weeks in early spring. "Mine hasn't quit," she said. In fact, the flowers bloomed in October, November and December. "These flowers amaze me 'cause I'm not that good with plants." The petunias also are still in bloom at the Hughes residence at 1710 Harvard.

The 1941 Study Club of Coahoma met Monday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Don McKinney.

President Linda Denton introduced new member, Janelle Nelson.

Vice President Sue Tindol introduced Cecil McDonald of Sterling City, who presented the program "Reflecting on the past to gain inspiration for the present." He reviewed the book "Two From Galilee," by Marjorie Holmes.

The novel depicts the early years of Mary and Joseph, including their courtship before the birth of Jesus. McDonald stated, "This is the greatest love story of all time, and the book reveals a beautiful human aspect of the holy family."

After the program, members exchanged Christmas gifts. Jeanne Darden and Nan McKinney served refreshments.

Members toured the McKinney home, discovering beautifully decorated Christmas trees throughout.

The next meeting will be Jan. 2 in the fellowship hall of the Coahoma Church of Christ.

Wanted: Someone to love, hold a baby

NEW YORK (AP) — The infant gingerly reaches for Ed Belling's mustache. Their eyes meet and a big baby grin spreads across the 2-month-old's face.

The boy's teen-age parents, homeless and drug addicted, aren't there to capture the moment. But Belling is.

He is one of a growing number of 60-minute dads and moms. They give their time and love to help cuddle and care for the city's small army of boarder babies — infants forced to live in sterile hospital settings.

Looking around the crowded nursery at St. Luke's Hospital in Manhattan, Belling, an unmarried box-office clerk, prefers to dwell on the positive: "What I've done is can stay as long as eight months, says Carolyn Yordan, of the Greater New York Hospital Association, which represents 70 hospitals.

Boarder babies are fed and changed at regular intervals by already overburdened staff nurses.

But what about love?

That's where people like Belling come in. They're part of St. Luke's Roosevelt Medical Center's volunteer program to give the infants the human touch they crave.

Nine women and eight men donate an hour each week to care for the hospital's boarder babies.

"Before the volunteers came up to hold the babies in the nursery, the babies were not reactive to anything," said Virginia Crosby, director of volunteers at the medical center. "They would just lie there."

"The staff would go in and feed them when they could. The babies didn't even react to sound after a while."

"Once the volunteers started, it was totally different," Ms. Crosby said. "They began to react to the love and you could see a real difference."

It was there in the face of the month-old boy Loretta Donato gently rocked in a dilapidated rocking chair inside St. Luke's boarder baby nursery, a small, gray-walled room that would be cheerless if not for the efforts of the staff nurses who used their own money to decorate it.

Eight tiny "cribs" — actually, miniature hospital beds, their iron sides disguised with white paint and brightened with colorful mobiles — dominate the room. The desolate hospital walls are masked with a wallpaper border of skating bunnies.

The "Alice in Wonderland" curtains remind Ms. Donato of the story of Alice's tumble down the rabbit hole, and she tells it to the baby content in her lap.

Across the room, Ian McCart, who like Belling is single, expertly changes a 2-week-old girl's diaper.

McCart, a Manhattan banker who lives in Westchester County, went to the hospital 18 months ago to volunteer to help AIDS patients and met Ms. Crosby.

One day, she coaxed him into going upstairs to look at the babies. "I was hooked," he said.

Now, every Thursday after work, he takes care of AIDS patients for an hour and then goes up to the nursery.

"I just love to sit quietly with the child and play (tape-recorded) classical music," McCart said.

"Before the volunteers came up to hold the babies in the nursery, the babies were not reactive to anything. They would just lie there," — Virginia Crosby, director of volunteers at the medical center.

"It's the first peace I have all day long."

For Mel Heiko, a 65-year-old lawyer with two grown daughters and a 9-month-old grandson, the volunteer program is a second chance to experience fatherhood.

When his own children were young, he said, "I was too busy trying to carve out a career."

"Sometimes you sit there and wonder what's going to happen to them," said the 41-year-old Ms. Donato, a married advertising executive who would like to have children but says "nature has not been so kind."

"I often sit there and create whole futures for them," she said. "I like to think positive things. Maybe in some small way it will rub off."

"What I've done is given a tiny baby some nourishment, some comfort, even if it is only for an hour," — Ed Belling.

given a tiny baby some nourishment, some comfort, even if it is only for an hour."

The babies wind up in hospitals for various reasons. Some have been abandoned or have parents who can't afford to take care of them. Most have parents who "aren't fit to take care of them," usually addicts, says Anne Ormsby of the city's Human Resources Administration, which oversees the boarder baby program.

There are about 300 such infants in the city, most of them black or Hispanic; children who, at one point, spent as much as three months lying in steel-sided cribs and plastic bassinets, waiting to be put in foster homes.

Reforms in the system have since helped reduce that wait to an average of five days for healthy infants. But those with special needs

DEAR ABBY: I have been married to "Bob" for eight years. We have had our ups and downs like most married couples, but generally speaking we have a strong marriage with very good communication.

Last summer I got reacquainted with a longtime girlfriend of mine — I'll call her Shirley. She had recently divorced and was depressed. We started inviting her to our place for weekends. She snapped out of her depression and we enjoyed her company. Now the problem: Bob recently confessed to me that he has fallen deeply in love with Shirley. Shirley told me she feels terrible about it and she does not return his feelings.

Bob wants to continue inviting Shirley to our place. At first I thought I could do it, but the truth is it hurts too much. Bob says he still loves me, but if I deny him the opportunity to see Shirley, he will be miserable. So what do I do? Invite her and tolerate the pain? Or stop inviting her and have to deal with a miserable husband? Or should I tell him to leave me and the kids until he's over her? — UPSET AND CONFUSED

DEAR UPSET: Don't invite Shirley anymore. But do invite your husband to join you in a visit to a marriage counselor. He is behaving like a lovesick high school boy. You are not his mother, you are his wife, and if you want your marriage to survive, you will insist that he go for counseling. If you tell him to "leave until he is over Shirley," your marriage may be over first.

DEAR ABBY: My wife, age 70 and 65 pounds overweight, has just been diagnosed as a borderline diabetic, and she is delighted! It seems that she either read somewhere or overheard that diabetics have to eat whatever they feel like eating or they risk going into a diabetic coma. What a bonanza for the cake and doughnut market!

I asked her doctor about this, and he wagged his finger in my face and said sternly: "You had better not interfere with your wife's diet. She knows what she has to do!"

It's always puzzled me that certain individuals are able to rationalize carrying a dangerous load of weight, but this diabetic thing is a real "doozie." — HEAVY PROBLEM IN SANTA ANA

According to the American Diabetic Association, if a diabetic allows his blood sugar to fall below a certain level, he should eat something (preferably something high in carbohydrates) to prevent having a low blood sugar reaction — but that is a far cry from eating "whatever they want" and it does not give diabetics permission to stuff themselves with sweets.

The championship game is scheduled for 8:30 p.m. Saturday.

Speaking of hoop action, the Big Spring High School Lady Steers will have a tough test on their hands when they travel to Wall Friday evening for a 7:30 p.m. tilt.

The Lady Steers, 9-1 on the season, will be minus one and maybe two regular starters when they meet the undefeated and state-ranked Hawks. Forward Gisila Spears is out for an indefinite period with an injured knee.

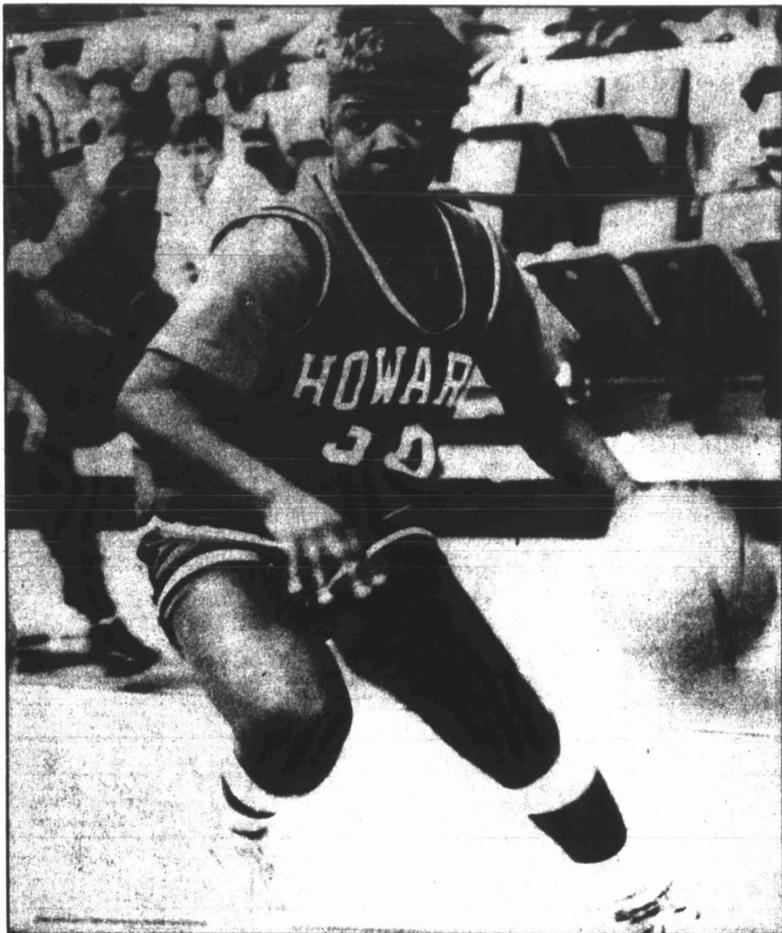

To make matters worse for the locals, point guard Peggy Smith hurt her knee in Big Spring's 67-42 win over Odessa Tuesday, and may miss the Wall game. Head coach C.E. Carmichael said Smith's condition is on a day-to-day basis.

The defending champions of District 4-4A will open league play at home Tuesday when they host San Angelo Lake View. Game time is 6 p.m. for the junior varsity and 7:30 p.m. for the varsity.

Big Spring will be hosting the Big Spring High School Junior Varsity Boys Invitational Tournament Friday and Saturday at Steer Gym and Runnels gym.

There is 12 teams entered in the tournament, including the Big Spring junior varsity and sophomore teams. The Big Spring JV will play Colorado City at 1:30 p.m. in Steer Gym. At 4:30 p.m. Friday in Steer Gym, the Big Spring sophomores will play the San Angelo Lake View JV.

Rocker garners Outland

NEW YORK (AP) — Now it can be told — Auburn defensive tackle Tracy Rocker played football illegally. But not to worry — this violation won't mean an NCAA investigation.

The NCAA has no jurisdiction over youth football and that's where Rocker played in an Atlanta YMCA league for 10- and 11-year-olds when he was only 9.

"The only reason they let me play was because of my size," Rocker disclosed Wednesday after TRACY ROCKER is the nation's top interior lineman.

he was named winner of the 43rd Outland Trophy, awarded annually by the Football Writers Association of America to the nation's top interior lineman. These days, Rocker goes 6-foot-3 and 278 pounds, and he is the leader of the nation's best defensive team. He will, as the song goes, rock you. Rocker won the Outland over two offensive linemen — Michigan State tackle Tony Mandarich and Pitt guard Mark Stepnoski. The selection was made by an eight-member panel and the voting was not disclosed although Bob Pille, president of the FWAA, said it was "a very close vote and a fight to the end."

"When you get to this level, it's the inner strength that makes the difference between being good or great, and then being the best. Tracy has those qualities that set him apart from other people."

Sanders heads All-America squad

By The Associated Press
Heisman Trophy winner Barry Sanders of Oklahoma State, Outland Trophy winner Tracy Rocker of Auburn and Butkus Award recipient Derrick Thomas of Alabama were named today to a record-breaking Associated Press All-America college football team for 1988.

Sanders, Oklahoma State's junior tailback, is joined in the backfield by quarterback Steve Walsh of Miami, Fla., and Texas A&M running back Darren Lewis, both of whom shattered records this season.

The wide receivers are two more record-breakers — Jason Phillips of Houston and Hart Lee Dykes, Sanders' Oklahoma State teammate.

Top-ranked Notre Dame placed three players on the All-America team — offensive tackle Andy Heck, defensive end Frank Stams and linebacker Mike Stonebreaker.

Oklahoma State, Nebraska and Arkansas were the only other schools to be represented by more than one player. Nebraska placed center Jake Young and defensive end Broderick Thomas on the squad while Arkansas had placekicker Kendall Trainor and defensive linemen Wayne Martin.

The rest of the offensive unit consists of tight end Wesley Walls of Mississippi, tackle Tony Mandarich of Michigan State and guards Anthony Phillips of Oklahoma and Mike Utley of Washington State.

Rounding out the defense are down linemen Rocker — selected as the nation's best interior lineman by the Football Writers Association of America — and Mark Messner of Michigan, linebackers Derrick Thomas — winner of the Butkus as the nation's best linebacker — and Keith DeLong of Tennessee, defensive backs Louis Oliver of Florida, Markus Paul of Syracuse and Deion Sanders of Florida State and punter Keith English of Colorado. Sanders is the only repeater from the 1987 team.

The return specialist is Texas Tech's 5-foot-3, 130-pound Tyrone Thurman.

Lewis is the only sophomore on the team while Barry Sanders, Walsh, Stonebreaker and Young are juniors.

The All-America team was selected by the AP's sports editor, college football editor and regional sports editors. A player must make his all-conference or all-sectional team to be considered for the All-America first team.

The AP All-America team will be featured on Bob Hope's annual Christmas special entitled "Bob Hope's Jolly Christmas Show With the All-American Champs" (Monday, Dec. 19, NBC, 8-9 p.m. EST).

reviewed the films of his 257-yard effort in Oklahoma State's 45-42 victory in Tokyo on Sunday, it was decided that two swing passes on which Sanders gained 75 yards actually were backward passes and therefore counted as rushes.

That gave Sanders his fourth 300-yard game of the season and pushed his total to 2,628 yards, easily erasing the mark of 2,342 by Southern Cal's Marcus Allen in 1981. Sanders' numerous records also included a single-season mark of 39 touchdowns.

Walsh completed 233 of 390 passes for 3,115 yards and a school record 29 touchdowns, breaking the mark of 26 by Heisman Trophy winner Vinny Testaverde in 1986. Miami is 21-1 with Walsh as its quarterback.

Lewis finished second nationally in rushing to Sanders. His 1,692 yards was a school record and second best in Southwest Conference history. He tied Earl Campbell's 1977 mark of 10 consecutive 100-yard games and was voted the SWC's Offensive Player of the Year. Each of the wide receivers scored 15 touchdowns. Phillips caught 108 passes for 1,444 yards and led the nation in receiving for the second year in a row. He became the fifth receiver in NCAA history to catch 100 passes in a season and the fourth to lead the nation two years in a row.

Dykes' 1,278 yards was second to Phillips and his 74 receptions was fourth nationally. He holds most Big Eight reception records.

No. 2 Michigan annihilates Central Michigan, 108-62

By The Associated Press
 Charlie Coles, the Central Michigan coach, sounded happy that his team lost to No. 2 Michigan by 46 points.
 "I thought Michigan tried to be very, very lenient with us," he said. "They probably could have scored 200 points if they wanted to. Tonight was just a nightmare."
 Glen Rice scored 21 points Wednesday night as the No. 2 Wolverines beat Central Michigan 108-62 and increased their record to 7-0.

in the first half.
 In other Top Twenty games, No. 4 Georgetown beat St. Leo 95-62, No. 8 North Carolina beat Vanderbilt 89-77 and No. 11 Missouri beat Tulsa 73-61.
 Six players scored in double figures for Michigan. Terry Mills had 19, Loy Vaughn 16, Sean Higgins 13, Kirk Taylor 11 and Rumeal Robinson 10.
 Jeff Majerle scored 17 points for Central Michigan, 3-2.
 No. 4 Georgetown vs. St. Leo 62 Charles Smith scored 13 points and had a school-record 16 assists. Freshman Alonzo Mourning had 11 points, 10 rebounds and a school-record 11 blocked shots, breaking Patrick Ewing's record.
 "He's amazing. A heckuva player," Hoyas guard Charles Smith said of Mourning. "He's so good, he may break his own record in the next game."
 St. Leo, 2-4, cut the margin to 29-21, but Mourning made a 10-foot jumper that started a 23-11 spurt.

 Carl Green 26 points for St. Leo.
 No. 8 North Carolina 89, Vanderbilt 77
 The Tar Heels, 7-1, scored the first 15 points. Jeff Lebo scored 25 points, 19 in the first half, including four 3-pointers in the first nine minutes.
 North Carolina led by as many as 23 points in the first half before Vanderbilt, 2-4, closed within 46-39 at halftime.
 The Commodores pulled within 55-50 on a Barry Booker steal and dunk early in the second half, but a King Rice bank shot and a three-point play by Steve Bucknall gave North Carolina a 10-point lead.
 Kevin Madden scored 20 points for North Carolina. Eric Reid scored 17 points for Vanderbilt.

Ryan becomes a Ranger

ATLANTA (AP) — The Texas Rangers are leaving baseball's winter meetings on Ryan's express.
 The Rangers, who turned the annual trade mart into a Texas fairground, came away with one of the biggest prizes Wednesday when strikeout king Nolan Ryan agreed to terms.
 But Bruce Hurst and the San Diego Padres apparently had problems agreeing on potential contract language, and the former Boston left-hander still has not decided with whom to sign. Negotiations with the Red Sox and California may resume today.
 Ryan, a free agent, agreed to a one-year contract plus an option for 1990 that guarantees $2 million. He can potentially earn in excess of $3 million.

free no-hitters, played the last nine years in Houston and led the NL in strikeouts the last two years.
 Mike Schmidt, destined for the Hall of Fame along with Ryan, officially reached an agreement with Philadelphia.
 Schmidt, who underwent surgery in September for a torn right rotator cuff, will be guaranteed $500,000. He gets another $500,000 if he is on the roster May 15, another $500,000 if he's playing on Aug. 15 and can earn $550,000 more in incentives.
 Hurst remained the most wanted free agent. He was studying three-year deals worth $5.5 million from Boston, California and San Diego. According to various reports, Hurst had decided to try to work a deal with the Padres, but the two sides could not agree on contract details, presumably a clause covering payment during a potential lockout in 1990.
 California said it had not heard from his agent, Nick Lampros, and Angels general manager Mike Port planned on returning to California today.
 The New York Yankees also got in on the free agent action, when they started negotiations with San Diego right-hander Andy Van Slyke.
 The Rangers made three deals during the meetings involving 15 players and came away with first baseman-outfielder Rafael Palmeiro, the NL's second-leading hitter at .307, and Julio Franco, the best hitting second baseman in the majors at .303.
 "Our goal was to come here and make some changes to make an effort to be a contender," Texas general manager Tom Grieve said. The Rangers finished sixth in the AL West at 70-91.

 There were two deals Wednesday bringing the total to eight trades involving 24 players.
 The New York Mets traded second baseman Wally Backman to Minnesota for three minor league pitchers.
 In the other deal, Milwaukee sent catcher Bill Schroeder to San Francisco for infielder Gus Polidor.
 Facing a midnight deadline to return to their former teams, several free agents reached agreements on new contracts.
 Outfielder Jeffrey Leonard and pitcher Tom Niedenfuer each agreed to two-year, $1.75 million contracts with the Seattle Mariners. Leonard played for Milwaukee last year and Niedenfuer had 18 saves for Baltimore.
 Right-hander Scott Sanderson agreed to terms on a one-year, $200,000 contract with the Chicago Cubs. Sanderson was injured most of the 1988 season. He was 1-2 in 11 games. He made $950,000 last season.
 Greg Harris, 4-6 for Philadelphia in 1988, agreed to a one-year contract for $325,000.
 Dave Collins agreed to a one-year deal for $225,000 with the Cincinnati Reds, $125,000 of which is guaranteed. Collins, 36, batted .236 in 99 games.
 Pitcher Ted Power agreed to a $575,000 non-guaranteed contract with the Detroit Tigers. He was 6-7 last season with a 5.91 ERA. First baseman-outfielder Dave Bergman also agreed on a one-year contract with the Tigers.

ryan, who got a $200,000 signing bonus, will earn $1.6 million in 1989 and $1.4 million in 1990. If the Rangers do not pick up his option, they have to pay Ryan $200,000.
 In bonus money, Ryan will earn $150,000 for winning the Cy Young Award, $50,000 for being named to the All-Star team and $75,000 for being selected the playoff or World Series MVP.
 California offered Ryan, 41, a deal worth $3.3 million (for one year with an option) and San Francisco's offer was $3.2 million (also for a year with an option).
 Ryan, who has 4,775 lifetime strikeouts, said money wasn't the only factor in his decision.
 "I'm a diehard Texan," said Ryan, who lives in Alvin, Texas. "I wanted to stay in Texas."
 Ryan, who has pitched a record

280 yards and 23 kickoffs for 535 yards. He holds three SWC career punt return records.
 Heck, a tight end until this season, is the anchor of a brand new offensive line that enabled Notre Dame to rush for 258 yards a game. Stonebreaker played a major role on a defense that held opponents to 112.4 yards a game on the ground while the hard-hitting Stams was the leader of Notre Dame's pass rush.
 The 6-6, 315-pound Mandarich is an amazing combination of size and speed.

 Walls was converted from outside linebacker to tight end last spring. His 36 receptions was the most by a tight end in the Southeastern Conference and he also saw action on defense in numerous pass-rush situations.
 "Had he been playing tight end his entire collegiate career, he would be a first-round NFL draft pick," Coach Billy Brewer said.
 After missing three of his first four field goal attempts, Trainer connected on 23 in a row, including a 59-yarder against Miami. English, in his first season as Colorado's punter after sitting on the bench behind All-American Barry Helton, led the nation with a 45.04 average on 51 kicks. He had two punts of more than 70 yards, six of 60 yards or more and 19 that went more than 50 yards.

'We lost a giant'

Three decades of rock'n'rollers pay tribute to Orbison

By PHIL WEST Associated Press Writer

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Three decades of rock 'n' rollers and country stars paid tribute to Roy Orbison, remembering the black-clad balladeer as an angel-voiced original who pioneered the early days of rock.

"Roy didn't copy anybody, but it cannot be said that a lot of people didn't borrow from Orbison. And they'll tell you that — from the Beatles to Bruce Springsteen," veteran recording artist Carl Perkins said Wednesday.

"He was and always will be one of the greats of rock 'n' roll," said former Beatle Paul McCartney.

Orbison, who rose to fame with early 1960s hits like "Oh, Pretty Woman," "Only the Lonely" and "Cryin'" and recently returned to the charts with a group of rock legends, died of a heart attack shortly before midnight Tuesday in a hospital in nearby Hendersonville. He was 52.

He had been visiting his mother, Nadine, earlier in the day.

"It hurts too much today to say a lot about Roy Orbison," said Johnny Cash, who lived next door to Orbison for more than 20 years in Hendersonville.

"For 30 years, we were heart to heart, sharing the good times and the bad. I have lost one in my most inner circle of friends. He more than deserves all the praise and plaudits that he has received lately," Cash said.

Orbison had 27 straight records on the charts during his heyday in the early 1960s. He recorded for Sam Phillips at Sun Records, the label that launched the careers of Elvis Presley, Jerry Lee Lewis, Cash and Perkins.

His dark attire, ebony pom-

"It hurts too much today to say a lot about Roy Orbison," said Johnny Cash, who lived next door to Orbison for more than 20 years in Hendersonville.

padour and ever-present sunglasses were a virtual trademark. But fellow artists remembered him for his effortless three-octave voice that crooned ballads of lost love.

"He had to be one of the best, if not the best, singers I've ever worked with," Phillips said. "He was an unusual guitarist also, and a great one. But he could sing things that would make you stop and stand at attention."

Lewis called Orbison "a great singer. He worked hard at it ... (it) probably will be a big loss to a lot of fans. I was a fan. I'll miss him."

"He had the voice of an angel," said Billy Joel. "His loss will be felt by anyone who loves rock 'n' roll."

Orbison's recent recordings as one of The Traveling Wilburys — along with ex-Beatle George Harrison, Tom Petty, Bob Dylan and Jeff Lynne — brought him a new generation of fans. The group's "Handle With Care" is No. 45 on the charts, and their swift-selling album "The Traveling Wilburys" is No. 8.

"I've been rediscovered by young kids who had never heard of me before the Wilburys," Orbison said earlier this year in an interview with The Associated Press.

"It's very nice to be wanted again, but I still can't quite believe it."

BOSTON — Singer Roy Orbison, left, seen with performer Eddie Money Friday, died Tuesday in Hendersonville, Tenn. He was 52.

Harrison and Petty said through publicists that they were too stunned by Orbison's death to comment immediately.

"He was as gentle, wise, and mysterious as his voice," said U2's Bono, who recently recorded with Orbison in Memphis.

"Starting over more than once, he was at the time of his death the finest white pop singer on the planet. Writing a song for him was like writing a song for Elvis Presley, the only other comparable vocal talent."

Orbison's career peaked in the first half of the 1960s but tailed off in the aftermath of his wife's death in a motorcycle accident in 1966 and the deaths of two of his three sons, ages 10 and 6, in a fire that destroyed his $150,000 lakeside home in 1968.

His biggest success came with "Oh, Pretty Woman," about a flirtatious episode, which sold more than 7 million copies in 1964. A cover version later was a hit for Van Halen.

Presley, one year Orbison's senior, introduced him in 1977 as "the greatest singer in the world." Bruce Springsteen saluted him in his song "Thunder Road."

Emmylou Harris, who collaborated with Orbison on the Grammy-winning 1980 song "That Loving You Feeling Again," called him "one of the greatest singers that ever lived. There will never be another like him."

"Roy Orbison was a great musician and a great friend to country music. We have lost a giant," said Dolly Parton.

Orbison's business manager-wife, Barbara, was en route to California from Germany early today to arrange for services.

At the movies

The following movies will be showing at local theatres this weekend:

"The Naked Gun," rated PG-13; "High Spirits," rated PG-13; "Twins," rated PG, and "Child's Play," rated R, will be playing at Movies 4.

"The Naked Gun" is a production from the creators of "Airplane" and "Ruthless People." The movie, inspired by the short-lived TV series "Police Squad," tells the story of a visit to Southern California by the Queen of England and a Los Angeles businessman (Ricardo Montalban) who is hired to assassinate her.

"Twins," stars Arnold Schwarzenegger and Danny DeVito who play less than amicable siblings. Years earlier, the twins were part of a backfired experimental genetic operation — one brother got the looks, strength and intelligence; the other, fed up with second place, decides to rid himself of the fraternal comparison.

"Child's Play," a horror thriller from the director of "Fright Night," tells the story of a little boy who's doll receives a murderer's soul at the time the criminal is killed by a police detective. Since the boy is present at the time of a terrible tragedy, the boy and not the doll is mistakenly put to blame.

"Earnest Saves Christmas," rated PG, and "Everybody's All-American," rated R, will be showing at the Ritz.

"Earnest Saves Christmas" features this scenario: Santa Claus has decided to step down and pass on his mantle to a successor, with Earnest being assigned the task of choosing a suitable candidate.

"Everybody's All-American," starring Dennis Quaid and Jessica Lange, chronicles the rise and fall of a Southern football star over the course of several decades.

"Without a Clue," rated PG and "Iron Eagle," rated PG-13, will be playing at the Cinema in College Park.

"Without a Clue," tells the story of Sherlock Holmes, with a twist. In this version, Sherlock Holmes, played by Michael Caine, is a washout as a detective, and Dr. Watson, played by Ben Kingsley, is the brains behind the crime busting duo. But when Watson is kidnapped by the evil Dr. Moriarty, Holmes is forced to use his meager deductive skills to rescue his friend.

"Iron Eagle II," starring Louis Gossett Jr., tells the story of General Sinclair who leads a squadron of American and Russian renegades against an outlaw nation holding the world hostage.

HC Theatre Department to present high-tech Pinnochio

HERALD STAFF REPORT

A children's play featuring a high-tech Pinnochio for the 80's will be presented this weekend by the Howard College Department of Theatre.

"A Christmas Pinnochio" will be performed 3 p.m. Saturday at Highland Park Mall, and 1 p.m. Sunday at the Veterans Administration Hospital.

The public is invited to attend the free performance at the mall.

"A Christmas Pinnochio" written by members of the college theatre department is an adaptation of the classic version of Pinnochio.

The production is "revised and modernized for today's kids," said director Bill Doll.

Last year, the department staged a revised version of the classic in which Pinnochio was "a robot brought to life by a good fairie," said Doll.

In this year's version, the half-boy, half-robot Pinnochio "learns the true meaning of Christmas" and that "giving is more important than receiving," he said.

Doll said the play is geared toward people "from the age of 3 to 300," adding that last year "the adults enjoyed it as much as the children."

Cast members are: Stacey Leonard as Pinnochio, Steve McLaughlin as Cricket, Craig Parker as Jambo, Lauren Russell as Mrs. Geppetto, and Chawnra Freeman as the Good Fairie.

Weather

A cold air mass swept down through the nation's midsection today, dumping snow in Colorado, western Texas, New Mexico and parts of Arizona, while thunderstorms struck northeast Texas.

Snow accumulated on some roads in the Texas Panhandle and northern New Mexico. Rain changed to snow as far south as Roswell, N.M., and across portions of Oklahoma and northern Arkansas.

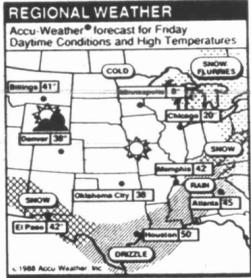

The heaviest snow was expected in the mountains of southern New Mexico and southwest Texas.

Early today, thunderstorms and heavy rain hit portions of northeast Texas. A flash flood watch was in effect this morning. Small hail was reported from a thunderstorm in Leon County, Texas.

Today's forecast called for showers and thunderstorms from the eastern two-thirds of Texas to eastern Oklahoma, the lower Mississippi Valley and the Tennessee Valley; snow through western Oklahoma, western Texas and much of New Mexico; rain scattered through southeast Arizona; snow across Michigan; and high winds in Southern California.

High temperatures were forecast in the teens from eastern Montana to North Dakota, northern Minnesota and western upper Michigan; the 20s and 30s from the Rockies to most of the Great Plains.

Jeanne Dixon's Horoscope

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 9, 1988

ARIES (March 21-April 19): You need to finish certain letters and get them on their way. A money gift could help mend a rift. Take good care of your health. Give a romance another chance.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): All of a sudden things are falling into place again! Be careful not to tread on someone's ego today. Your personal relationships are on a smoother course than in the recent past.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Your mind is flooded with details today. How well you can sort them out will determine your level of success. A research project develops. You could find some important answers. Consult with experts.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Keep your nose to the grindstone and you can score major financial and career gains today. Entertaining at home proves more fun than going to someone else's house. Sign important papers.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): You have been under a lot of stress lately. Some physical activity will help you relax. Romance begins to sparkle. A candid conversation leads to new rapport with someone special. Keep secrets.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Do not take on more than you can handle. Devote your energies to projects already under way. Loved ones are happy to go along with your plans. You enjoy your leadership role.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): A lack of cooperation will make you work harder on your own. Pay more attention to details to prevent costly mistakes. Offer assistance to a friend or neighbor in need. Give practical help.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Do not waste your time and cash on unproductive ventures. Working at home is a good idea when dealing with figures. Arguments with mate can be settled quickly if you are more diplomatic.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Discard outmoded methods to increase profits. Teamwork is favored. Try to satisfy the demands of a critical higher-up. This is no time to appear vague. Have a definite opinion to offer.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Not a good day to make new moves. Be content with recent gains. Promises may not be kept. Bide your time. Entertaining at home is less expensive and more intimate than going out.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Financial affairs are especially sensitive now. A revised budget will help you cut back on unnecessary spending. Romance looks happy. A short trip leads to a new understanding. Protect your privacy.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Push hard to complete tasks at place of employment. Ignore co-workers who spend their time gossiping or goofing off. Good work will not go unrewarded. Personal problems are easier to resolve.
