Soviets may have recorder

By TIM AHERN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — The Air Force can't find the flight data recorder from a nuclear test missile and the Pentagon says the Soviets may have snatched the device from where it splashed down in the western Pacific Ocean.

The recorder was aboard a Minuteman 2 missile test-fired from California at Kwajalein Atoll in the Marshall Islands on July 7, 1987, according to Army Maj. Bill O'Connell, a spokesman for the Defense Department.

The story was first reported Tuesday by the CBS Evening News and later confirmed by the Pentagon.

The flight data recorder was part of the dummy warhead on the missile, which did not carry any nuclear weapons on its launch from California. The Air Force periodically tests missiles by launching them from California at Kwajalein, 5,000 miles away.

"It is unlikely that the Soviets recovered it (the recorder) in the hours between splashdown and the first search, but that possibility cannot be ruled out," said O'Connell.

Gennady I. Gerasimov, the Soviet Foreign Ministry spokesman, said at a news briefing in Moscow that he had heard news reports of the incident, "and I checked with our central information agency."

"They said they couldn't find anything in the lost and found," he quipped.

The Minuteman is one of the main components of America's land-based nuclear missile force.

O'Connell said the recorder has failed to turn up in five searches of the area where the missile splashed down.

The recorder would contain valuable information about the performance of the Minuteman 2 missile. It was not classified, O'Connell noted, but its recovery "would be useful to our missile testing efforts."

"There are many possibilities that might account for the loss, including accidents during the handling of the recovered debris, poor record keeping, and problems in shipping," he said. "None of these possibilities has been ruled out and the investigation is continuing."

But he did confirm that Soviet personnel may have landed on Kwajalein, which is supposed to be uninhabited.

U.S. officials found "vodka bottles, cigarettes, bug spray and a few technical items of Soviet manufacture that could not have floated ashore and would have been unlikely to have been left ashore purposefully," he said.

CBS said a Soviet trawler was about 50 miles away during the splashdown, and a Soviet mini-submarine may have been used to snatch the warhead's flight recorder.

O'Connell refused to say if a Soviet sub had been detected in the area. "There have been a number of reports of Soviet submarine sightings and these reports are not being ignored," he said. "I cannot,

With the end of the six-week grading period approaching, students in the Runnels Junior High School industrial technology class are busy completing projects. Tammie Grisson, 14, daughter of Steve and Dora Cobb, checks the edge of her

Twist: Victim decides fate of rapist

By TONY KENNEDY
Associated Press Writer

MINNEAPOLIS — A woman who was allowed to decide her rapist's fate chose a plea-bargained 4½-year sentence that will put him behind bars immediately, then said of being asked to choose: "Wasn't that something?"

"He was so kind," the 65-year-old victim said of Hennepin County Judge William Posten. "He said, 'It's your decision.' I liked that."

Posten called the victim into his chambers Monday and gave her two choices in the prosecution of James Halvorson, 25. She could have the case go to trial and hope for a conviction, which could have meant a nine-year prison term, or she could accept a plea agreement providing for a 4½-year sentence.

The woman chose immediate incarceration in lieu of a trial because Halvorson was free on bond and she feared being attacked again, said Assistant County Attorney Kevin Johnson.

"She knew he would be going straight to prison" and wouldn't be eligible for parole for three years, Johnson said Tuesday.

Halvorson was accused of breaking into the woman's house through a kitchen window in the early morning hours of June 16, according to a criminal complaint. The noise awoke the woman and she went to investigate. A man dragged her from the kitchen to the bedroom, covered her head with a blanket and raped her. He fell asleep after the attack and the woman ran to a neighbor's house to telephone police, Johnson said.

Halvorson's attorney, Earl Gray, said Halvorson was "drunk out of his mind" at the time.

Halvorson had recently been convicted of drunken driving for a fourth time and had received a delayed jail sentence two days before the rape, authorities said.

The woman was haunted by the thought of a second attack and had moved in with family members, her home of 30 years put on sale, said Cindy Clarkson, a sexual assault counselor who worked with the victim.

"She was feeling pretty powerless," Clarkson said. "What the judge did was wonderful. Just wonderful. She just couldn't believe that someone in the system like a judge would take the time to listen to her and actually give her a choice."

Posten said he allowed the woman to choose the sentence because of her age, the viciousness of the assault and the court delays.

"I'm not advocating that the victims decide the penalty but I thought it was the fairest thing to do in this case," the judge told the woman. "You tell me what you want me to do and I'll do it."

After announcing her decision, she said, "Wasn't that something?"

"I knew it could be months before there'd be a trial," she told the (Minneapolis) Star Tribune. "The only thing I wanted to know is if he would be in jail during that time."

"Somebody that is raped early in the morning and it's a little lady that's a great-grandmother — all this had an effect," Posten said.

Because the project will extend into Main St., nine parking spaces in the 100 block of Main Street will be eliminated. Twelve spaces on the south side of First Street bordering the plaza will be created.

However, despite opposition from T&P Credit Union representatives, the council approved the first reading of the ordinance to vacate the Main St. easement by a vote of 6-0.

There was no opposition to second reading of the ordinance during Tuesday's council meeting.

The steering committee faced a "surprising number of obstacles" in its efforts to clear the way for construction of the plaza, Beil said.

Beil predicted the plaza would serve to improve the appearance of the downtown area, increase commerce at existing businesses, and attract new businesses.

Construction will likely begin later this month, and should be completed in the summer, Downtown Coordinator Teri Quinones said. "It's a five-month process that could be elongated to seven months if there are any bad-weather days."

devoted to the project. Union Pacific has donated a caboose to the plaza.

Construction will likely begin later this month, and should be completed in the summer, Quinones said.

"It's a five-month process that could be elongated to seven months if there are any bad-weather days," she said.

Details of the construction plan and its phases will be discussed today, she said.

Charles Beil, chairman of the steering committee, responded to the council's approval by saying he was "very gratified" construction of the plaza could soon begin.

Progress on the project has been slow since the plan was introduced to the community in April 1987 because of the need to coordinate public and private actions, Quinones said.

Opposition to the project surfaced publicly at a Dec. 20 city council hearing.

Representing T&P Federal Credit Union, David Roman, general manager, expressed opposition to the elimination of three parking spaces in front of the credit union.

Proposed Railroad Plaza clears final hurdle

By STEVE GEISSEN
Staff Writer

Construction of the Railroad Plaza is scheduled to begin in late January as a result of the Big Spring City Council's vote Tuesday night to vacate a public easement on Main Street.

Upon voting 6-0 to approve the second reading of an ordinance vacating a portion of Main St. at the corner of First Street, the council removed the last hurdle blocking construction of the plaza.

The Railroad Plaza, a project developed by the Downtown Steering Committee, is designed to be a landscaped marketplace area, commemorating Big Spring's railroad history.

Located across the street from the Union Pacific Railroad Company, it will feature two rail boxcars and a caboose that will house a restaurant and gift shops.

The city ordinance will allow the Railroad Plaza to extend 64 feet into Main Street; two-way traffic on Main Street will be rerouted to the east of the plaza.

Teri Quinones, downtown development coordinator, said representatives of the steering committee and Johnston Contractors, which was awarded the construction contract, will meet this afternoon to sign the agreement.

The construction cost, which excludes landscaping and furnishings such as park benches, is $175,237. Construction will be financed using only private donations, Quinones said.

The downtown steering committee has funds totaling $181,000 — $150,000 of which came from private donations. The committee has also received a pledge of $50,000 from Fina Oil and Chemical Company that will be

Library will get elevator

HERALD STAFF REPORT

A private foundation has agreed to finance the addition of an elevator for the Howard County Library, county commissioners were told Monday.

During the regular session of commissioners' court County Librarian Judith Gray presented a proposed letter to members of the board of the foundation, which has requested that its name not be revealed, expressing the library's thanks for the grant.

County commissioners have budgeted funds for a three-to-five year plan involving expansion and renovation of the library. Gray said Monday the grant will enable the library to reduce the requirement for county funds in the renovation "or it will make it possible to accomplish some things that might be put on hold," she noted. "So this grant is fully appreciated."

Gray said plans call for bidding on the elevator and its installation to begin within a matter of weeks. She did not reveal the exact figure of the grant but said it "should come very close" to completely financing the elevator.

Any remaining funds from the grant would be used to further renovations in the library, including plans for an expansion that will move the children's library collection and programs into the basement, Gray said, under an agreement with the foundation board.

Lewis says new taxes unlikely

AUSTIN (AP) — Speaker Gib Lewis, the second representative elected to serve four terms as Texas House leader, urged lawmakers to pursue such issues as excellence in education but reminded it would have to be done without a tax bill in 1989.

"I think the economy's on the rebound. If you look at all the recent indicators, Texas is slowly rebounding back," Lewis, D-Fort Worth, said after being re-elected by a 149-0 vote on the 71st Legislature's opening day Tuesday.

"The economy's stabilizing," he said. "I look to the comptroller to give us a better and more favorable finance forecast in the next 30 to 60 days."

The Legislative Budget Board, which includes Lewis, has said there is a $1 billion gap between projected revenue and the cost to maintain state services for the next two-year budget.

In addressing a packed House chamber and gallery, Lewis called on lawmakers to address such issues as education, prisons, worker's compensation, the tax system, AIDS, drugs and health care.

But he added later, "I rule out a tax bill in 1989."

Lewis said he believes the mood of lawmakers is to "do what we have to do with what we have," but he said he expects the money to be found to address priority areas.

Budget problems are nothing new for Lewis, first elected speaker in 1983, following Billy Clayton, a Springlake Democrat who was elected four times to that position beginning in 1975. Founder of a label manufacturing company and a hunting enthusiast, Lewis first was elected a state representative in 1971.

In his management of the House, Lewis described himself as a "member's speaker." He has appointed Republicans — who number 57 in the 150-member House — as well as Democrats to head committees.

"Members, let us unite as one to forge ahead in confronting the challenges of a new Texas," Lewis said.

"For many years, Texas meant opportunity. Today, many no longer believe in the promise and potential of Texas. It is a time, therefore, for us to show that we believe in ourselves," he said.

Lewis was nominated by Rep. Stan Schlueter, D-Killeen, and seconding speeches were given by Reps. Larry Evans, D-Houston; Patricia Hill, R-Dallas; Ashley Smith, R-Houston; Juan Hinojosa, D-McAllen; and Mark Stiles, D-Beaumont.

Schlueter, chairman of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, noted the state fiscal troubles in recent years, including the drop in oil and gas prices, the ensuing need for new taxes and federal court orders to improve the prison system and facilities for mental health and mental retardation.

"Through it all, Gib has been an island of calm in a sea of conflict," Schlueter said.

Among those attending the opening day ceremony in the House were Gov. Bill Clements, state Comptroller Bob Bullock, Attorney General Jim Mattox, Treasurer Ann Richards and several Texas congressmen, including U.S. House Speaker Jim Wright.

Wright, noting he and Lewis both are from Fort Worth, said the town is "stereophonic" because it has two speakers. And Lewis said he and Wright consider themselves "speakers-in-laws."

"I got a lesson in Leadership 101 as I sat back there and watched this board," Wright added, referring to the House voting board where members registered yes or no votes for Lewis' election by pushing a green or red light.

"There was a faint flickering of red here and there, but one by one, the red lights extinguished to be replaced by a solid field of green," Wright said.

'Elephant Man' to undergo surgery

ODESSA (AP) — She was called "Elephant Man" because of her body, and classmates' taunting became so intense that her only refuge became an empty classroom.

"It was hurting me," recalls Corina Gutierrez, now 27. "It was me, what they were saying, and I couldn't do anything about it."

Along with the normal crises of a seventh-grader in Odessa, she had the horrific realization that her bones were not growing properly.

"I used to wonder why I looked like this. I didn't feel like a person," she told the Midland Reporter-Telegram. "At school, I wasn't doing good because of all the kids, you know. I wasn't getting anywhere. So at lunch I would just go and stay in the room at lunchtime. I didn't want to go outside."

On Tuesday, Corina traveled to Dallas' Humana Hospital, where surgeons will remove the bony growths from her forehead, ears, and inside her mouth that caused her to be compared with John Merrick, the Englishman who was shown around the countryside in 19th Century freak shows.

Like Merrick, who became known as the "Elephant Man," Corina suffers from Proteus syndrome, an extremely rare disorder characterized by the bony growths, which are little understood. The name is taken from the Greek god, whose name means "more than one."

Corina had a normal birth in Odessa and was 5 years old before her mother noticed the first growth behind her right ear. A forehead swelling was noticed next and in between were dozens of visits to doctors. Some of the physicians said the growths were calcium deposits while others "just said they didn't know," Corina said.

Finally, about a year ago, her constant headaches — and fatigue caused by a heavier than normal skull — drove her to visit an Odessa clinic run by the Texas Tech Health Sciences Center. A doctor there referred her to Dr. Carol Clericuzio, a physician with the state-run Genetic Screening and Counseling Service.

Dr. Clericuzio was the first to recognize Corina's disease, according to Sharon Davison, the regional clinic coordinator with GSCS, an agency of the state Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation.

Once the disease was suspected, a trip to the Dallas institute confirmed it, Ms. Davison said.

"That's when they determined they were going to do the surgery," she said. "We don't know about the prognosis. We really don't know if it would have been fatal or not. But it would have become more and more disabling."

The cost of the surgery is estimated at $10,000, and is being paid by the Texas Rehabilitation Commission, Ms. Davison said during a visit Monday with Corina at the Midland office of GSCS, where the two met to iron out details of the Dallas trip. The surgery will be performed at the International Craniofacial Institute at the Dallas medical center.

The lead surgeon, Dr. Kenneth Salyer, has obtained X-rays of Merrick. He will review them before Corina's surgery, Ms. Davison said.

Convicted former thrift director ordered to pay FSLIC restitution

MIDLAND (AP) — A man convicted of frauding a now defunct Odessa thrift has been ordered to pay $7.2 million to the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corp., which insures deposits.

The order comes almost a month after a federal jury convicted Louis Rochester of four counts of bank fraud, including mail fraud, misapplication of funds and fraudulent participation in a loan in 1984, when he was an advisory director of Odessa Savings Association.

The jury acquitted Rochester of 21 additional counts. Rochester, 70, said Tuesday he shouldn't have to pay the restitution and denies engaging in fraud. U.S. District Court Judge Lucius D. Bunton ordered the payment Monday after considering the loss caused Odessa Savings, bought out last year by Olney Savings Association, and after considering Rochester's financial resources.

About $7.56 million of the approximately $8 million Odessa Savings Association loan was funded, according to Monday's order, which requires Rochester to pay the principal balance of approximately $6.2 million plus about $1 million of accrued interest.

"I was surprised at the decision made to pay restitution," said Rochester, a former board director. "I didn't deal with Odessa Savings. I dealt with (business partner) James Pruett on that matter."

The FSLIC asked, in a Dec. 8, 1988, request to the court, that Rochester be ordered to repay an approximately $8 million Odessa Savings loan made in 1984 to Rochester's Arlington business partner James Pruett.

The loan was made to James Pruett Construction Inc. for the development of a real estate project involving Pruett and Odessa Savings Association.

Spindletop marks 89th anniversary

BEAUMONT (AP) — Eighty-nine years ago Tuesday the ground rumbled and the sky seemingly rained black gold amid cheers of roughnecks at the foot of a spewing derrick.

The place was called the Spindletop field and it put Beaumont on the map and brought Southeast Texas into an era of boom.

Spindletop — the first gusher — became a household word. History repeated itself in 1925 when Yount-Lee Oil Co. struck paydirt again, ushering in a second boom and adding to the shacks, stores and stables that sprouted amid the derricks.

The shacks were home to families whose members made their livings from the oil business and whose children played hide and seek in the mud streets in the shadow of the derricks.

Only a handful of those children remain alive. But for some of them, now in their 80s and 90s, the word "Spindletop" still is magic.

"I looked out and it was the most beautiful sight in the world," says Anna Rose, 80, of the second gusher. Her father ran a blacksmith shop at Spindletop, and she and her sister, Louise Jones, now 84, remember helping him with some of the tasks.

"Now he never made us do anything too heavy, but when we'd be at home he'd say, 'Girl, come on here and help me,'" Ms. Jones told the Beaumont Enterprise.

They and the many other Spindletop kids walked to South

Officials seek ban on citrus

HOUSTON (AP) — Texas state officials pitted against the U.S. Department of Agriculture today will try to convince a panel of federal appeals judges to impose a quarantine on Florida citrus entering the state.

Federal agriculture officials last February lifted a ban on shipments of fresh Florida citrus into Texas and other citrus-producing areas. The fruit was quarantined after a Florida outbreak of citrus canker disease in August 1984.

Canker, which occurs in different strains, can damage citrus trees and cause lesions on the fruit or make it drop prematurely.

Rene Hicks, an assistant state attorney general who is presenting the case for Texas before a panel of the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, said he will argue that the USDA's quarantine should be reinstated because the agency did not follow proper procedure in lifting the ban.

The USDA lifted its ban saying the disease no longer posed a threat, a move that drew complaints from Texas agriculture officials who felt the federal agency had buckled to pressure from Florida producers.

The Texas Attorney General's office and state Department of Agriculture filed suit in Brownsville last March contending the USDA violated its own rules by lifting the ban without allowing time for comment.

U.S. District Judge Filemon Vela, however, ruled against Texas last May and said the new protocol was so similar to one the USDA proposed in the fall of 1987, but withdrew last January and that there had been plenty of time for comment.

USDA officials involved in the case were unavailable for comment Tuesday.

When the USDA lifted the ban, Texas issued a 30-day emergency quarantine, which included highway roadblocks.

Truckers with shipments of Florida citrus destined for points outside of Texas were allowed through the state, but were sealed to prevent Texas deliveries.

Texas grapefruit and orange growers on Nov. 23, 1988, called for a renewed ban on shipments.

How's that?

Definitions

Q. What do they mean when they say someone has graduated summa cum laude, magna cum laude, or cum laude?

A. Summa cum laude means with highest distinction, magna cum laude means with great distinction, and cum laude means with distinction. It usually has to do with one's grade point average.

however, confirm that there was Soviet submarine activity in or near Kwajalein.

The test shot came nine months after the Soviets ended a fishing agreement with Kiribati, the island nation next to the Marshall Islands. O'Connell noted that the fishing agreement had still been in effect, the Soviets would have had support capabilities to try to take the payload by sub, he said. But in July 1987, the Soviet fishing fleet only had access to Vanuatu, over 2,000 miles from Kwajalein.

O'Connell said the Pentagon objects strongly to any clandestine Soviet landings in the Marshall Islands that may have occurred. He called such incursions "illegal and a clear infringement of the sovereignty of the Marshall Islands, in addition to being a challenge to the security of the U.S. testing programs."

Sheriff's log

Howard County Sheriff's Department officers reported the following incidents as of 10 a.m. today:

• Jerry Bevers, 43, Lubbock, was sentenced to eight years probation after pleading guilty in 118th District Court Tuesday afternoon to a charge of indecency with a child.

• Roberto Huertas Abila, 32, 2503 Hunter Drive, was released on $1,000 bond after being arrested by city police on charges of class A assault.

Police beat

Big Spring police reported investigating the following incidents:

• Roberto Huertas Abila, 32, 2503 Hunter St., was arrested on a charge of Class A assault.

• Dollie Marie Gieger, 44, address unavailable, was arrested on warrants charging her with dog running loose, failure to appear and possession of drug paraphernalia.

Study: Most workers never tested for drugs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Twenty percent of all American workers are now employed by companies that test for drug use, but only one employee in 100 actually is tested in a 12-month period, the government reported today.

Ninety-nine percent of employers have neither testing nor counseling programs, the Labor Department said, but larger companies are much more likely to have such programs.

Job applicants are far more likely to be tested than employees, the department said. It billed its survey of 7,500 establishments as the most extensive study to date on drug testing in the workplace.

Among establishments with testing programs, about two-thirds tested only those workers suspected of drug use, while one-fourth had programs that subjected all employees to possible testing.

In the 12 months prior to the Labor Department survey, taken last summer, establishments with testing programs reported testing slightly fewer than 1 million workers — or about 1 percent of all workers. Of those, about 9 percent tested positive for drug use, the study said. Of 3.9 million applicants who were tested, 12 percent tested positive for drug use.

In another study, released Tuesday, researchers said 31 drug testing laboratories that follow industry guidelines had an overall accuracy rate of 97 percent in testing urine samples for narcotics.

"Inaccuracies should not be used as an argument against drug testing," said Christopher S. Frings, director of the study conducted by the American Association of Clinical Chemistry.

However, he conceded that not all labs adhere to proper procedures.

The Labor Department, in the study released today, said there appears to be no rush among employers to launch testing programs. Only 4 percent of the employers without programs said they were considering establishing one in the next year.

A breakdown by industry found the highest rate of positive test results — about 20 percent — among employees in wholesale and retail trade.

That industry also had the highest rate of positive test results among job applicants, 17 percent for wholesale trade and 24 percent for the retail sector.

The lowest rate of positive test results among employees was in transportation, 5.6 percent, a statistic influenced by mandatory testing in many sectors of the industry. Nearly 10 percent of applicants for transportation jobs tested positive for drugs, the study found.

The rate of positive test results among applicants was lowest, at 5.5 percent, in communications and public utilities. Nearly 8 percent of workers in those industries who were checked tested positive for drugs.

Mining, communications and public utilities, and transportation establishments were most likely to have drug-testing programs, partly because of regulatory requirements, the study said. Least likely to have testing programs were retail trade, service and construction establishments.

Size was by far the largest determining factor in whether an establishment had drug-testing programs and some form of employee assistance program.

Of the nation's largest establishments, those with 1,000 employees or more, 43 percent had drug testing and 76 percent offered counseling or some other form of assistance. But only about 2 percent of the smallest establishments, those with fewer than 50 workers, had testing programs and 9 percent had employee assistance programs.

Of establishments with employee assistance programs, 90 percent are management-sponsored and 10 percent are run by unions or jointly by union and management.

Torrez trial to resume Jan. 23

HERALD STAFF REPORT

Jesse Nunez Torres will remain in Howard County jail until Jan. 23, awaiting trial.

Torres, 31, will face an amended indictment when testimony commences. District Judge James Gregg granted the state's motion to amend its indictment Tuesday afternoon, despite court-appointed defense attorney Wayne Basden's argument that the state has "no statutory authority" to amend an indictment's "form or substance" after trial proceedings have begun.

Basden registered a formal objection on behalf of his client after the trial — scheduled to begin at 1 p.m. with testimony before a jury chosen Monday — had been briefly delayed.

Judge Gregg charged the jurors not to read about the case in the newspaper, listen to broadcast accounts of the case, discuss it or "remain within hearing of anyone discussing" Torres' case prior to their scheduled return to court at 9 a.m. Jan. 23.

Torres has refused to cooperate with his attorney, according to Basden's statement during the defense's formal objection Tuesday.

He told the court the state had filed its announcement of ready during Monday morning proceedings and trial had been ordered to proceed despite a defense statement that the defense was not ready because Torres has refused to cooperate with his attorney or communicate with him.

Basden also told the court that the amended indictment was District Attorney Rick Hamby's attempt "to substitute what it is his opinion the defendant should have been indicted on."

Assistant District Attorney William Dale Dupree answered Basden's charges by pointing out case law precedents allowing the state to amend a felony indictment in cases where the indictment was not wholly erroneous and where there exists an "underlying felony" in the charges.

Basden had filed a motion to quash the indictment as fatally flawed, a point Dupree disputed. Judge Gregg denied the motion to quash and ordered trial to recommence Jan. 23 at 9 a.m.

Evidence of black hole spotted

BOSTON (AP) — The discovery of a river of gas flowing toward the middle of the Milky Way supports the belief that an infinitely dense speck more massive than 1 million suns lies at the heart of the Earth's galaxy, astronomers say.

The speck is known as a black hole, collapsed stars with such intense gravitational pull that nothing can escape from it, not even light. While many astronomers believe that a massive black hole exists at the core of the Milky Way, this has still not been proven.

In research presented Tuesday, astronomers described their discovery of a 90-trillion-mile-long stream of gas that apparently is being sucked across the heavens into the black hole.

Although black holes cannot be seen, astronomers look for other evidence of their existence, such as the tug of their gravity on nearby celestial objects.

Paul Ho, who directed the research at the Harvard-Smithsonian Center for Astrophysics in Cambridge, noted that the galaxy's center is a gravitational well.

"We think that stars drift toward the center," he said. "It's a natural place for a massive black hole to form."

Ho's radio telescope observation was made with astronomers from the Max Planck Institute in Munich and the University of Cologne, both in West Germany, and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

The report was presented at a meeting of the American Astronomical Society here.

"This is a complex region," Bonner J. Teegarden of NASA's Goddard Space Flight Center in Greenbelt, Md., said of the study. "Results like these are adding a lot to our understanding."

Teegarden said that most astronomers believe that a massive black hole exists at the center of the Milky Way.

He noted that the nature of this and other black holes is one of the most exciting areas of research and speculation in astronomy.

"It pushes hard on the basic concepts of physics," he said. "Physicists don't really know what happens when you collapse a million solar masses of matter down to a point. The laws of physics, as we know them in the laboratory, are inadequate to explain such an extreme situation."

Earlier, astronomers have spotted signs of a massive gaseous cloud spinning around the Milky Way's center, which is 30,000 light years from Earth in the constellation Sagittarius. A light year is 6 trillion miles, the distance light travels in a year.

Appraisal board to meet

HERALD STAFF REPORT

The Howard County Consolidated Tax Appraisal District's board of directors is expected to formally accept its chief appraiser's resignation today during a 2 p.m. meeting.

Further consideration of the six finalists among more than a dozen applicants for the opening left by F.E. "Gene" Pereira's early resignation in December is also expected.

Routine other business including approval of bills is also expected during the meeting, along with matters not on the agenda for a Jan. 4 special session, according to Ruth Mitchell.

Deaths

George Franks

Colonel George E. Franks, United States Air Force, Ret., 75, died Monday, Jan. 9, 1989 at Bergstrom Air Force Base Hospital.

Services will be 10 a.m. Thursday at Cook-Walden Chapel of the Hills, Austin, with Rev. Jim Mayfield officiating. Burial will be at 3 p.m. with full military honors at Sunset Memorial Park, San Antonio, with Rev. Calvin Froehner officiating. Arrangements are by Cook-Walden Chapel of the Hills.

He was born in Bainbridge Island, Wash., the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Franks. He attended Moran Junior College and the University of Washington, where he was a member of the Phi Kappa Sigma Fraternity.

He entered the Army Air Corps as an aviation cadet in 1939, and received his wings at Kelly Field. He served at Randolph Field as a flight instructor.

He served in many assignments at all levels of command, including a stint as inspector general of the 5th Air Force in Japan and Korea. He concluded his military career as commander of Webb Air Force Base, Big Spring.

Col. Franks received many service decorations, including the Legion of Merit. After retirement in 1968, he became active in several organizations, including the Boy Scouts of America, life member of the Order of Daedalians, life member of the confederate Air Force, Retired Officers Association, Kiwanis, and Terrytown United Methodist Church.

Survivors include his wife, Virginia Hall Franks, Austin; one daughter, Anne Hanto, Tampa, Fla.; one son, Larry Franks, Austin; one sister, Margaret Lundy, Seattle, Wash.; and four grandchildren.

He was preceded in death by a daughter, Martha E. Franks. In lieu of usual remembrances, memorials may be made to the S.W. Foundation for Biomedical Research, P.O. Box 28147, San Antonio 78284, or to a charity of choice.

CRMWD board approves appropriations

HERALD STAFF REPORT

Colorado River Municipal Water District officials have approved almost a quarter-million dollars' worth of appropriations for operations in the coming year.

At a Tuesday morning board meeting in Big Spring, the CRMWD officially adopted a $205,000 slate of activities ranging from a water quality study to implementation of the district's weather modification plan for another year.

Special protectants for a 42-inch water line costing $20,000 were approved; a $125,000 continuation of the weather modification program also was approved; the district will supply $15,000 toward the cost of a U.S. Geological Survey of water quality on the Stacy Reservoir watershed, extending along the Concho River and up the Colorado River to Lake J.B. Thomas, according to district public information officer Joe Pickle.

The board also approved $35,000 in water royalties for the year, and $10,000 for supplemental travel.

Board members also discussed extending Sun Oil Company's water purchase contract in Coke County. Sun Oil has reduced its contract quantity by half, to 22,500 barrels of water per day.

The board also granted two right-of-way easements and named an independent auditor for the 1988 financial records. That contract was awarded to Lee, Reynolds and Welch of Big Spring.

A change in insurance coverage for the district to the Texas Water Conservation Association's Risk Management pool also was approved.

General manager O.H. Ivie reported that the Stacy reservoir project has nearly reached its halfway mark and the dam will be completed within available funds, with good prospects for settling such mitigation items as archaeology, environmental concerns, highway relocations, and game preserves, Ivie said.

District President John L. Taylor presented a $500 check to the employee of the year, Roger L. Holmes of Big Spring.

Changes in monthly fixed charges to three member cities — Big Spring, Snyder and Odessa — were approved, not because of budgetary increases but because annual revenues for plow-back operations had dropped from $1.6 million to $1.4 million, Pickle said.

The monthly charges cover basic operation expenses for the district and debt service; an additional fee is charged each member city based on delivery costs. Rates for member cities are calculated by dividing a city's annual gallon total into the sum of its fixed and delivery charges.

Big Spring increased its total consumption in 1988, and therefore will absorb a larger share of the fixed monthly charges to member cities in 1989. The change — a 10.15 percent increase — will take costs from a monthly $87,632 payment last year to a $96,529 monthly payment this year.

Odessa's monthly payment will rise 3.6 percent, from $258,647 to $267,593 per month.

Snyder's total delivery percentage dropped in 1988. The new $39,958 cost compares with the 9.7 percent lower figure from 1988 of $39,572 per month. A calculated rate based on estimated deliveries of 138 million gallons for the city's new prison facility, will total 46.79 cents per thousand gallons — below the previous year's 50.58 cent rate.

Material under-runs at Stacy Dam have allowed the district to maintain its cost below the low bid and still restore a $1,116,953 alternate procedure.

Board members authorized upstream dam slope protection with soil cement, rather than rock; even with the additional cost, the board was told, construction can be finished for $214,000 less than Brown and Root USA's low bid of $30.54 million, Pickle said.

Ivie told the board that savings on certain volumes of materials in the project will enable the contractor to restore the soil cement protection from elevation 1,500 to elevation 1,565, or more than 13 feet above the lake's conservation level. From there, modified riprap will be used; convenient maintenance is cited as the basis for seeding the topmost eight feet of the dam with grass.

Ivie said this will be the first use of soil cement in a CRMWD reservoir, but the material is generally regarded as a more efficient protection against wave action and can be maintained at lower cost.

Completion of the dam is due in the first quarter of 1990.

Roofing, litigation on BSISD board agenda

Roofing and desegregation litigation will be among the items the Big Spring Independent School District board of trustees will discuss during its regular meeting Thursday at 5:15 p.m. in the high school board room.

The board will meet in executive session to discuss "past and pending litigation as it relates to desegregation and roofing matters," according to the full agenda describing the meeting.

Also during executive session, the board will meet with the superintendent for evaluation purposes.

During open session, the board will consider a $900 budget amendment to allow for the purchase of mandated test materials, the sale of a school bus, the transfer of chapter 1 and 2 funds, and employments and resignations.

The board will hear information reports on: the operation of the Anderson Kindergarten Center, the Texas Association of School Boards membership services for 1989, the district's auction, an education legislative workshop, weekly enrollment and the second meeting

The lobby also ready for session

AUSTIN (AP) — When the state House and Senate opened for business at noon Tuesday, another group that works hard to influence the outcome of legislation was waiting in the Capitol wings — the lobby.

More than 500 paid lobbyists registered with the secretary of state's office in advance of this year's 71st regular session, making up what often is referred to as the Legislature's "Third House."

That number means there will be at least three lobbyists for every member of the House and Senate, and the lobbyists' numbers are likely to grow as the 140-day session unfolds.

The lobbyists registered so far represent more than 1,000 special interests, ranging from Baptists to bankers, architects to tobacco producers. And they usually are backed by big bucks from political action committees.

Lobbyists try to influence lawmakers to support the interests of their clients.

They hang around the corridors of the Capitol and sit in on committee meetings. They provide legislators with information about bills and proposals. After hours, lobbyists, many of whom represent more than one client, wine and dine lawmakers. They also arrange paid trips, often hunting and fishing excursions or golfing outings at swank Austin-area country clubs.

Lobbyists are not allowed on the floor of the House and Senate when those bodies are in session. But they stand just outside the doors on alert ready to protect their interests.

The lobbyists can pass messages into legislators on the floor, ask them to come out, or confer with aides.

The impending legislative fight over workers' compensation will feature an army of high-powered lobbyists representing business, insurance, doctors, trial lawyers and labor.

When an issue nears boiling, lobbyists rally supporters to contact their legislators.

Don Adams, considered one of the consummate lobbyists in Austin, said he has seen the business grow in recent years.

"In the last four or five years, lobbying entertainment has escalated a lot," Adams said. "A lot of other people are doing it so you almost have to keep up with what they are doing."

But Adams said he doesn't believe lawmakers are influenced by the free trips and free dinners, and there are certain ethical standards lobbyists should maintain.

"I tell people who work for me I don't want you lobbying in bars," Adams said.

Above all, he said, lobbyists must provide legislators with the facts. "That's the quickest way in the world to get out of this business — to misrepresent things."

The extent of lobbyists' influence over the Texas Legislature concerns some groups.

"Lobbying is a legitimate function in the political process. Our concern is the role of how money seems to affect politics and who has the power," said Pam Fridrich, executive director of Common Cause, a citizens' lobby.

"I can't say they (lobbyists) have too much power, but we've been concerned about money and how it allows access," she said.

Full house

AUSTIN — Lawmakers and their families fill the House chamber in Austin, as Secretary of State Jack Rains gavels open the 71st regular session of the Texas Legislature Tuesday. Lawmakers desks were decorated with yellow roses as rules were eased to allow family members and friends to join the representatives on the floor of the House for the noon session. Three-term Speaker Gib Lewis, D-Fort Worth, was elected to a fourth two-year term as presiding officer.

FEC finds Bentsen's duel campaign legal

WASHINGTON—In a post-script to the Nov. 8 defeat of the Democratic presidential ticket, the Federal Elections Commission has rejected a claim by Ohio Republicans that Sen. Lloyd Bentsen broke the law by seeking his Senate seat and the vice presidency at the same time.

Though Bentsen won Senate reelection handily in his home state of Texas, retaining his powerful chairmanship of the Senate Finance Committee, the presidential ticket of Massachusetts Gov. Michael S. Dukakis and running mate Bentsen fared poorly, capturing just 11 states.

Bentsen's presence on the national ticket apparently didn't help in Texas either, where president-elect George Bush won easily.

The ruling against the Ohio Republican central and executive committees is the first public pronouncement on the legality of Bentsen's dual office-seeking by the FEC, said spokesman Fred Eiland, although the FEC could be considering similar complaints from other groups.

Citing agency policy, Eiland said he could divulge whether other complaints have been lodged against the Dukakis-Bentsen team, or whether the nation's chief enforcer of federal election laws was investigating any others.

"This is the first one that has made it to the public record," Eiland said.

Despite the FEC's rejection of the complaint, Brian Berry, executive director of the Ohio Republican party, said he believes the party was right in pursuing the matter and that Bentsen's status could have created problems for the Republican presidential ticket in Ohio.

"We're not surprised by the FEC's decision," Berry said, but "we still maintain that Sen. Bentsen had a clear, unfair advantage" over the Republican ticket.

Ohio Republicans feared that Bentsen would hold fundraisers for his Senate race in Ohio, Berry said, using Senate campaign funds to underwrite presidential campaigning.

"A lot of things turned out a lot differently," Berry said, because Bentsen did not campaign much in Ohio and the Dukakis-Bentsen ticket lost.

But the Republican state official said Bentsen's dual status as a candidate in two federal races "lights a fire for future elections."

While the Ohio Republican party will probably not appeal the FEC decision to federal court, Berry said it will increasingly focus on federal elections law in the coming year.

"We're moving into a new age in politics," he said, "and that's campaign election law." Berry said the Ohio Republican party intends to begin training programs for candidates statewide this year on the procedures and pitfalls of federal law.

As well, he said, the party will continue to watch Democrats for potential abuses of campaign law.

"The party has an interest in it," Berry said of campaign law. "...to either make a claim or a point"

Given the increasing amounts of money funneled to elections, changes in technology and the growth of advertising, Berry said "elections law is ever-changing," and bears careful monitoring.

Along with campaign budgets and advertising expenditures, political parties have also grown, he said — "they're really big business today."

WASHINGTON—The federal agency's board of directors has rejected a recommendation by the Office of Management and Budget to cut federal government spending by $1 billion.

Glenn, chief of the Office of Management and Budget, had asked for the current federal budget to be cut by $1 billion over the next five years.

GAO, the Government Accounting Office, has responded to the request by reiterating its opposition to the cut. It says that the volume of federal government spending is growing faster than the economy, and that the cut would be a "penny for the dollar."

The new government is "The United States is a big country, and we have a lot of people crossing the border. The volume of people crossing the border is large. The data show a lot of people crossing the border."

GAO calls for one border agency

WASHINGTON—More than 15 years after it first called for one federal agency to police the nation's borders, the General Accounting Office has repeated its recommendation in a new report to Sen. John Glenn, D-Ohio.

Glenn, chairman of the Senate Governmental Affairs committee, had asked the GAO to report on current federal efforts to watch over the nation's thousands of miles of land and ocean borders and recommend improvements.

GAO, the investigative and accounting arm of Congress, responded with a report that reiterates its 1973 call for a merger of U.S. Border Patrol, Customs Service and Immigration and Naturalization Service duties governing imported goods, illegal aliens and drug smuggling.

The new report says the federal government faces a daunting task: "The United States is accessible across thousands of miles of land and sea," the report said. "The volume of cargo, vehicles and people crossing the U.S. border is very large. The most recent published data show that over $424.1 billion worth of legal merchandise was

Despite an increase in funding, GAO said in the new report that "over the last decade and a half, the literature on border management has had a common theme: border control programs are fragmented and duplicative, and interagency rivalries, conflicts and jurisdictional disputes are obstacles to effective control."

report that "over the last decade and a half, the literature on border management has had a common theme: border control programs are fragmented and duplicative, and interagency rivalries, conflicts and jurisdictional disputes are obstacles to effective control."

While the recent creation of a "drug czar," a top federal manager of all anti-drug programs, was a good idea, the GAO said criticisms of federal border programs are still valid.

To improve federal policing of illegal aliens, drugs and the importing of foreign goods, GAO's Senior Associate Director Arnold P. Jones said Glenn and Congress ought to look back to his agency's 1985 recommendation for border tant border policing duties are still split between Customs, INS, the Coast Guard and the Border Patrol, despite that 1985 recommendation and similar proposals and recommendations in 1973, 1974, 1977, 1979 and 1983.

For example, the GAO said, the Customs Service handles only inspections at "ports of entry," such as airports and seaports, while the Border Patrol is supposed to review only illegal alien activity along stretches of the nation's borders between ports of entry, and the Coast Guard is supposed to police the nation's borders within the three-mile coastal limits.

While the new GAO report is critical of overall border management by federal agencies, it focuses on anti-drug efforts because most recent GAO work has been done in that area.

Even though some federal agencies have worked together on joint operations in hopes of reducing duplication and interagency squabbles in the war on drugs, the GAO concluded that such efforts haven't worked.

"In a June, 1988 report we pointed out that a joint Customs Service/National Guard operation intended to (stop) airborne drug smugglers coming across the U.S.-Mexico border failed, partly because the operation was not adequately planned and coordinated," the new report said.

policies.

In commenting on President Reagan's Private Sector Survey on Cost Control, the GAO said that "the administration (should) develop a comprehensive border management policy... and all responsibility for primary inspection functions currently performed at ports of entry (should) be placed in one agency."

The new GAO report said imporported in 1987. INS inspected almost 6.2 million (trips) and processed 7.3 million visitors in fiscal year 1988."

The GAO said the federal government has increased spending for border policing from $1.3 billion in 1983 to $1.9 billion in 1987, in part because of Congressional concern over drug smuggling.

Despite that 35 percent increase in funding, GAO said in the new

Homeless at home

AUSTIN — Members of Austin's homeless community sit on couches on the steps of the State Capitol Tuesday. The group was trying to draw attention to their plight as lawmakers came to Austin for the opening of the 71st Legislature.

Dropouts expensive for Texas

AUSTIN (AP) — Each "class" of school dropouts costs Texas $17.12 billion over their lifetimes, a special committee reported to the Legislature Tuesday.

The committee considers the dropout problem "not as just a school problem... but it is a parental problem and it is a community problem," said Rep. Ernestine Glossbrenner, D-Alice, co-chair of the Joint Special Interim Committee on High School Dropouts.

Dropout costs include tax revenue lost and indirect expenses, such as welfare and incarceration, said Richard Hamner, legislative director for Sen. Gonzalo Barrientos. Barrientos, D-Austin, was co-chair of the committee.

Almost 90 percent of the Texas prison population dropped out of school, the committee report said, and two-thirds of Aid to Families with Dependent Children payments are made to people who failed to finish high school.

Over the lifetime of the 1985-86 dropout class — students who were to have been graduated that year but left school before then — losses in tax revenue average approximately $60,000 per dropout, the committee said in its report to the 71st Legislature.

Among the committee's recommendations is a proposal to allow some students to make up unexcused absences of longer than the five days now allowed under the law. The 1984 education reform law made it mandatory that students who had more than five days of unexcused absences not be given credit for a class.

Rules and local plans should be tailored to at-risk students, the proposal said, and "not be a loophole to permit excessive non-consecutive absences."

"While this, (five-absence rule) is an effort to keep students from missing excessive amounts of school, it also acts as a barrier to prevent those students who have temporarily withdrawn from school to return," the committee said.

Among other recommendations:

- School districts with large numbers of students from low socioeconomic populations should provide alternative education programs for pregnant and parenting "school-age" students. Alternative programs would include daycare for children of students who are parents.

- Every school should develop and maintain a campus-based parent involvement program.

- Districts should establish a school-based program to provide care before and after school for pre-kindergarten, kindergarten and elementary grade school children.

- Three-year-olds whose family income is below poverty level or who are otherwise potentially disadvantaged should be eligible to enroll in a two-year pre-kindergarten program. The current limit is 4 years of age.

FBI captures America

What, we wonder, is the true measure of a man or woman's worth, the criterion by which all Americans can be judged?

Easy — the length of their FBI file. Yes, we have before us a shopping list of sorts from the G-men themselves. It's a seven-page directory of FBI files available to the public, with 48 hours notice, in the Freedom of Information Act Reading Room at the agency's Washington headquarters.

These are by no means all the files the FBI has on prominent and not-so-prominent Americans. We suspect they are merely the most popular. The FBI's "Greatest Hits," so to speak. Like all things American, the list has its quirks.

We wonder, for instance, why Albert Einstein's file (1,427 pages) is more than a thousand pages longer than John Dillinger's (410 pages). Why does "Ma" Barker rate only five pages while Errol Flynn has 391? What appears on the single page in Janis Joplin's folder? Why is Martin Luther King Jr.'s file (16,659 pages) eight times fatter than Al Capone's (2,032 pages)? Has Ted Kennedy read all 87 pages on Chappaquiddick?

There are other files of note, which we list here in descending order of FBI interest: Paul Robeson (2,680 pages); Jesse Jackson (1,250 pages); Elvis Presley (807 pages); Dashiell Hammett (354 pages); Ernest Hemingway (125 pages); Jim Morrison (89 pages) Marilyn Monroe (80 pages); John Wayne (48 pages); and Jimi Hendrix (5 pages).

Surely, America can be safe in the knowledge that these villains have not escaped the bureau's roving eye, right?

Still, we wonder if "Baby Face" Nelson will ever really rest easy knowing that his file (231 pages) will never measure up to "Pretty Boy" Floyd's (15,786).

But then, who are we to speculate? Just the facts, ma'am.

Safety device long overdue

After decades of research and development, and not a moment too soon, the Federal Aviation Administration has issued a rule requiring all aircraft carrying more than 30 people to be equipped with a device that automatically senses another aircraft near it and advises the pilot to climb or descend. Thus, finally, the nation's overburdened and understaffed air traffic control system will have a backup on the very planes it tries to keep out of each other's way.

But that doesn't mean the risk of midair collisions has been eliminated. For one thing, the rule gives commercial airlines and private aircraft until 1991 to comply. It should take at least that long for the devices to be installed in the nation's huge fleet of civilian airplanes. For another, because of the lack of commercial availability, a somewhat less comprehensive warning system for commuter planes carrying between 10 and 30 people will not have to be installed for six years. So the risk of accidents remains for the next two years, and in some respects for the next six.

The greater problem, however, is that the device required by the FAA can only recommend altitude changes, not tell the pilot of a threatened aircraft whether to turn right or left. A more sophisticated machine must still be developed to do that. And with the increased crowding of the nation's airspace, altitude changes alone may not be enough to avoid a collision in the future.

Still, that is no reason to delay installing the current device until its more versatile successor is perfected, as the airline industry now calls for. Such a delay would risk lives in the short term to save money in the long. It cannot be justified.

Huge deficits a Reagan legacy

By WILLIAM M. WELCH
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The president who rode to the White House on an anti-Washington sentiment, promising to balance the books while shaking things up, is leaving office after the largest credit binge in the nation's history.

The final budget submitted Monday by President Reagan symbolizes what he admits is one of his biggest disappointments and possibly the biggest failure of his eight years: the legacy of red ink he leaves behind.

The federal budget Reagan sent to Congress, his last as president, was like all the others that bore his name. It was far out of balance under even the rosiest of economic forecasts.

Reagan said in delivering it that by getting the deficit under $100 billion in the 1990 fiscal year, his budget would show that "gradual elimination" of the deficit is possible without raising taxes.

At his inaugural eight years ago, Reagan declared: "You and I, as individuals, can, by borrowing live beyond our means, but for only a limited period of time. Why, then, should we think that collectively, as a nation, we're not bound by the same limitation?"

In one of his farewell addresses last month, Reagan spoke of the deficits with regret. "One of my great disappointments as I leave office is that the federal budget itself is not yet balanced," Reagan said.

He leaves to his successor George Bush that legacy of deficits, one that together with his no-tax increase pledge severely limits the new president's options.

As Democrats frequently point

out, the federal debt under Reagan grew more than under all the presidents before him. From under $1 trillion when he took office in 1981, the national debt has risen to more than $2.6 trillion.

Many point to the 25 percent tax cut Reagan fought for and won early in his first term, reducing the government's revenue and increasing pressure to borrow.

Reagan's first budget director, David Stockman, left office as a vocal critic of the administration's tax and budget policies. In his book "The Triumph of Politics," Stockman called the result "the Reagan era's fabulous free lunch" and spoke of frustration in trying to get the president to confront the deficit problem.

The administration's version, however, is that the tax cuts stimulated the economy and generated growth — and that Congress is to blame for failing to carry out all the cuts in spending proposed by Reagan. In his budget, Reagan also blamed the 1981-1982 recession for lowering government revenues.

In his farewell speech, Reagan blamed a new "iron triangle," giving a new definition to a term often used in Washington to represent the triad of special interests, Congress, and the bureaucracy that supports various programs. Reagan's version removed the bureaucracy — for which as president he was responsible — and replaced it with the press, for what he said was uncritical reporting of the special interests' views.

But none of his cuts would have been enough to balance the budget — Reagan has never proposed a balanced budget.

Among the projections of his 1990 budget document are a balanced budget by the year 1993, though many doubt it possible. Even so, that's 10 years later than candidate Reagan was saying in 1980.

The target began slipping even before he was sworn in. In his first budget he predicted a surplus by 1984. Instead of a surplus, the government suffered a deficit of $185.3 billion that year. It got worse, peaking at $221 billion worth of red ink in fiscal 1986. It's been lower since, but the deficit has not been on a downward trend; it grew in 1988 over 1987 and is estimated to do so at the end of fiscal 1989, too.

While he succeeded in trimming many domestic programs, Reagan ruled out targeting the major middle-class government benefit programs, including Social Security.

With the increase in debt has come the increased burden of interest payments. In the new budget, 15 cents of every dollar in government spending will go to pay interest on the debt.

Jeff Faux, president of the Economic Policy Institute, a labor-backed think-tank, called Reagan's final budget "sad testament to eight years of borrowing from our children."

But Stephen Hess, government analyst at the Brookings Institution, said the budget deficits may not be a harmful legacy. "I'm prepared to say it may not be so big a deal," Hess said. "The man left us at peace, literally, and employed, and with low inflation. And it's going to take some time to figure out how big a price we paid for that, but that is pretty exceptional."

In the huddle with Bush

By LEWIS GRIZZARD

George Bush and certain members of his staff were discussing America's schedule of military opponents for the upcoming Bush administration.

Scheduling opponents is just as important for countries as it is in football.

Hitler, for instance, made the mistake of scheduling too many difficult opponents. As long as his Germans were up against Poland and Czechoslovakia, no sweat.

But then Hitler decided to upgrade and schedule the Soviet Union and the United States. He lost both of those, so goodbye to the trip to the Lovenbraun-John Deere World Domination Bowl.

Anybody, back to Bush. "Anybody got any idea who we should open with?" the president-elect asked.

"I'd say let's kick it off with Libya," offered Jack Kemp, the former professional quarterback. "Libya's been the Gipper's favorite opponent, and we can just about count on a win there. We shoot down a couple more of their jets and maybe drop a few bombs close to Khadafy's house."

"Why don't we also blow up the controversial chemical plant Khadafy is using to produce poisonous gases?" asked Elizabeth Dole.

"Stay out of this, Elizabeth," said Bush. "This is man-talk."

"It's agreed, then," said Bush. "We open with Libya. Who's next?"

"Are there any more American medical students in Grenada we need to rescue from the Cubans?" asked James Baker.

"If not," said Kemp, "we can plant a few Grenada would be a pushover, too, and we'd be 2-0 and on our way."

"How 'bout a third opponent?" asked Bush.

"We need at least a fairly tough opponent in order to gain in the polls," suggested John Sununu.

"Iran?" asked Bush.

"Perfect," said Sununu. "We'll bomb a few offshore oil rigs and then blow a few armed Iranian patrol boats out of the water."

"Then," said Kemp, "we'll schedule Angola. Then we'll send in some more military advisers to help the Contras kick butt in Nicaragua. And I think we could get away with sending troops into Haiti to restore order."

"What if Haiti doesn't need its order restored?" asked Secretary Dole.

"For the last time, Elizabeth," interrupted Bush, "stay out of things you don't know anything about."

"We need four more opponents," Bush went on. "Any ideas, Danny?"

"What were we talking about again?" asked the vice president-elect.

"Elizabeth," said Bush, "would you and Danny please go get some sandwiches and coffee? We've got a lot of work to do here."

Those remaining in the conference put their heads together and came up with four more opponents for the United States military schedule.

Syria was picked for some offshore naval bombardment, and then it was agreed to send troops to El Salvador to stop the further spread of communist influence in Central America.

It was also agreed to invade Iceland, just for the heck of it, and then end the season with a strong opponent where a win would add credibility to a perfect record.

Kemp suggested fighting Norway over fishing rights, Sununu came up with Mexico to stop dope and illegal immigrants, and Baker got a wild idea and threw in Portugal, but nobody could think of anything to be mad at the Portuguese about.

So Bush finally settled the argument and decided to invade Canada in 1992 during the Democratic convention because all that land should have been ours in the first place.

"The Gipper," beamed Kemp, "would be proud."

Vet arrested; espionage charged

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — A former Navy enlisted man tried to sell submarine warfare secrets to the Soviets because he had been discharged for indecent exposure, according to authorities who said no damaging information was passed along.

Craig D. Kunkle, 39, was arrested Tuesday at a Williamsburg motel as he tried to turn over classified documents to two undercover FBI agents posing as Soviet officials, said Irvin B. Wells III, head of the FBI's Norfolk office.

Kunkle, a former chief petty officer, was charged with attempting to deliver classified information to a foreign government. If convicted, he could be sentenced to life in prison.

Kunkle, of Virginia Beach, was discharged from the Navy in October 1985 as non-judicial punishment for multiple acts of indecent exposure committed at the Barber's Point Naval Air Station in Hawaii, according to an FBI affidavit filed in U.S. District Court.

Reagan to give farewell address

WASHINGTON (AP) — George Washington delivered his farewell address to a Philadelphia newspaper, Lyndon Johnson and Gerald Ford delivered theirs to Congress, and Ronald Reagan is turning to the medium of which he is most the master — television.

Reagan's swan song as president will be delivered at 9 p.m. EST tonight from the Oval Office and will be carried by the networks.

The White House press office said the address, expected to last about 20 minutes, would be the 43rd television speech of Reagan's presidency.

"We expect it to be a very personal kind of look at what President Reagan tried to do, and what he sees as his accomplishments, and the problems ahead," White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater said Tuesday.

"It will be an opportunity for him to talk directly to the American people as he has done so often in the last eight years."

Famed prosecutor steps down

NEW YORK (AP) — U.S. Attorney Rudolph W. Giuliani, who successfully prosecuted inside stock traders, corrupt politicians and the Mafia, announced his resignation Tuesday but refused to say whether he planned to run for mayor.

"We'll figure that out in the next few weeks," he said.

Giuliani, 44, said he would leave the office by the end of the month and possibly return to private practice with his top assistant, Dennison Young Jr., who also resigned.

"I truly and absolutely don't know what I'll be doing," Giuliani said at a packed news conference.

"When I spoke of crime five or six years ago, most people thought of street crime and violent crime," said the man whose office convicted former Rep. Mario Biaggi, D-N.Y., for his role in the Wedtech scandal, as well as the heads of five New York crime families. "We have now broadened those areas to business and politics."

Payments could take 60 years

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sponsors of a law to compensate Japanese-Americans who were forced to live in internment camps during World War II say it would take 60 years to make reparations under the spending plan proposed by President Reagan.

"Unless Congress appropriates the authorized maximum amount... many of the eligible recipients may die before receiving their token compensation," Sen. Spark Matsunaga, D-Hawaii, said Tuesday.

Matsunaga and the other lawmakers who sponsored the 1988 law said they would press the House and Senate budget committees to vastly increase the $20 million in the president's 1990 budget for the reparations.

Up to $500 million can be appropriated in any single year until $1.2 billion has been paid out.

No payments have been made under the law, which promises $20,000 each to an estimated 60,000 survivors of internment camps, where Americans of Japanese ancestry were forced to live from 1942 to 1946.

Matsunaga called the Reagan proposal "woefully inadequate."

WASHINGTON — President-elect George Bush speaks at the White House workshop on education at the Old Executive Office building Tuesday. Bush pledged to be a spokesman and advocate for public school improvement.

Bush pledges push for school reforms

WASHINGTON (AP) — The man who would be education president says he'll push certain public school reforms and provide whatever aid he can in "tough budgetary times" to districts trying to improve their schools.

"I do want to help," President-elect Bush told educators Tuesday at a White House workshop on experiments that give parents wide freedom to select their children's public schools.

"I do intend to provide every feasible assistance to states, to districts interested in further experimentation with choice plans and other valuable reforms," Bush said. "I will ask the Department of Education to monitor and focus continued attention on the need for future progress, and I'll be a spokesman and advocate for further public school improvements."

Bush said he is particularly enthusiastic about having parents and students being able to choose their public schools, calling the prevailing system of assigned schools a trap and their students "captive clients."

"It's a system that can perpetuate mediocrity," he said. "Poor schools have no incentives to improve."

Supporters of choosing schools say it makes schools more competitive and responsive, improves morale and attendance, reduces disciplinary problems and dropouts, and improves learning among students.

President Reagan, addressing the workshop earlier in the day, cited the examples of "a Harlem school district in which scores have risen dramatically because parents are now permitted to choose which school to send their children to" and a Minnesota program "that is fostering unprecedented competition among public schools to make them more attractive to parents and students."

Referring to the Supreme Court's Brown v. Board of Education in 1954 that integrated public schools, Bush said it is now time to focus on what goes on inside those doors.

"Quality education has become a central civil rights question of our time," he said. "And too often today it is our disadvantaged children who are most likely to be burdened by inadequate public education."

Bush said that for choice to work, teachers and principals need greater autonomy and authority, while parents need better publicized, more reliable performance evaluations of schools.

Strikers protest boss' arrest

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Refinery operations across Mexico were crippled today as tens of thousands of striking oil workers protested the arrest of their union boss following a gunbattle in which a federal agent was slain.

The arrest of Joaquin Hernandez Galicia on gun-running charges Tuesday was widely seen as a surprise challenge to the powerful union by the new administration of President Carlos Salinas de Gortari.

The official Notimex news agency said soldiers blew down the union boss' door with a bazooka shot during the morning raid on his home in the northeastern city of Ciudad Madero.

The allegedly corrupt Petroleum Workers Union of the Mexican Republic controls more than half the lucrative drilling contracts issued by the government oil monopoly Pemex, or Petroleos Mexicanos, S.A.

Investigators probe 737 crash

LONDON (AP) — The pilot of a Boeing 737 was questioned again today by investigators trying to determine why his plane's apparently undamaged right engine was shut down long before the jet crashed, while the burning left engine remained in operation.

The Transport Department recommended more frequent inspections of Boeing 737 engines until investigators discover what caused the British Midland Airways jet to crash Sunday.

A communique issued by the department's Air Accidents Investigation Branch said investigators were still looking into the possibility that both engines "might have suffered a related failure."

It did not refer to suggestions in the British media that the pilot shut down the wrong engine when a fire alarm went off.

The reasons for shutting down the engine "are not yet clear and are still under investigation," the communique said.

Shiite battle threatens alliance

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The fierce battle between rival Shiite Moslem factions for dominance of Lebanon's largest sect has split families and jeopardizes the strategic alliance between their masters, Iran and Syria.

Amid the carnage of Lebanon's 13-year civil war between Christians and Moslems and the country's myriad other mini-wars between feuding militias, the Shiite conflict has fractured Lebanon's largest sect.

Shiite sources said the battle has pitted brother against brother, father against son as they side either with the fundamentalist Iranian-backed Hezbollah, or Party of God, or the secular, pro-Syrian Amal militia led by Lebanon's Justice Minister, Nabih Berri.

More than 500 people, many of them civilians, have been killed and about 1,500 wounded since the inter-Shiite rivalry broke into open warfare in April.

Robber calls bank to say thanks

VANCOUVER, British Columbia (AP) — A robber called to say thanks after taking an undisclosed amount of money from a branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia, police said.

"Ten minutes after he had hit the bank he called up and thanked them for their service and told them that the money will be well spent," detective Bjorn Bjornson said Tuesday.

"At first he presented the teller with a withdrawal slip for $400, but it was illegible and he was asked to fill in the account number clearly.

"Then he produced an envelope bearing a badly written note. The teller got the message and filled it with money," Bjornson said.

There was no sign of a weapon, but the officer quoted a teller as saying a gun might have been mentioned in the note during Monday's heist.

Police were still looking for the culprit early today.

Reagan S&L proposal panned

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Reagan administration's parting shot on the savings and loan crisis — a recommendation to curtail deposit insurance — landed with a thud on Capitol Hill and at the president's own Treasury Department.

Secretary of the Treasury Nicholas F. Brady, who will remain in the administration of President-elect Bush, moved swiftly to disavow the proposal, which came Tuesday in a report to Congress by the White House Council of Economic Advisers.

Brady is formulating the next administration's plan for the S&L industry, in which a post-Depression record of 205 institutions were closed last year.

Until now he's refused to release any details of the work in progress, but the White House suggestion prompted him to make a rare disclosure. In a statement released through Rep. Chalmers Wylie of Ohio, the ranking Republican on the committee, Brady denied emphatically the administration is even considering reducing the $100,000 limit on insured accounts.

News of the Reagan report reached the House Banking Committee on Tuesday, in the middle of a six-hour hearing on the S&L problem, and provoked an outcry.

"I think it's wrong to even discuss limiting the insurance," said Rep. Kweisi Mfume, D-Md.

The Reagan report did not suggest how much the insurance limit should be reduced, nor did it say if the reduction should apply to existing deposits, or just to new deposits.

Most depositors would be unaffected, even by a sharp reduction. According to the U.S. League of Savings Institutions, a trade group, the average S&L account at the end of 1987 had $8,440.

Nevertheless, Congress is extraordinarily sensitive about anything that might spook depositors into withdrawing their money — all that really keeps insolvent S&Ls afloat is Congress' word that it will stand behind the deposits.

"I'm appalled at the timing of the administration... I think the public needs more reassurance," said Rep. Charles Schumer, D-N.Y.

The Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corp., which itself has been technically insolvent since 1986, simply does not have the cash to pay off depositors in failed institutions. Instead, it has been wiping out failed S&Ls' losses by issuing promissory notes, pledging income the fund expects to receive in the future.

Congress is looking at ways to pump more money into the insurance fund, and most private analysts believe it will have to turn to the taxpayer.

The Council of Economic Advisers acknowledged that deposit insurance, provided by the government ever since the wave of bank failures in the 1930s, discourages bank runs and provides poor and middle-class people with a safe place for their money.

But it "also dramatically reduces the incentives for depositors to monitor the financial health of their bank," the report said. Because insured depositors don't care how well their institution is run, bank officers have less incentive to manage wisely, it argued.

Lowering the insurance limit "would restore much-needed discipline to the system," it said.

Regulators are leery of reducing the limit because a run by a few big-money depositors is just as damaging, if not more damaging, than a run of many small depositors.

Accusing teen makes his retreat in style

DEAR ABBY: I've read, seen and heard many instances of the rudeness of the younger generation, but I'd like to relate an incident that restored my faith in young adults.

Dear Abby

My teen-age daughter was very proud of her new leather "bomber" jacket she had bought with the money she had saved from baby sitting. While standing in the lunch line, she was approached by a high school senior who had spied the jacket. He had bought one just like it for his girlfriend — and her jacket was missing.

He proceeded to question my daughter about the jacket she was wearing and eventually accused her of stealing his girlfriend's jacket. Only when my daughter was in tears in front of the packed lunchroom did the girlfriend appear WEARING her "missing" jacket.

The senior of course apologized to my daughter and went even further by having a vase of yellow flowers delivered to her while she was in her afternoon class. Chivalry is not dead! — IMPRESSED

DEAR IMPRESSED: You call this "chivalry"? I call it a grandstand play. First he humiliates a girl publicly — calling her a thief. Then on discovering he had made a mistake, he sends flowers to her classroom. This kid is a natural showman. He should go far in the P.R. business.

DEAR ABBY: A lady asked, "What do you do with a 28-year-old man who rarely showers, never washes his hair and doesn't own a toothbrush?" You replied, "Nothing." Well, I was married to a man just like that for 40 years. He was a good provider and a gentle person in all his actions. Even though I hinted often and spoke negatively about other men who never cleaned themselves up, he never got the hint, so I also tried to do "nothing."

I slept on the far side of the bed, feigned sleep and weariness and avoided closeness whenever possible.

I know I hurt his masculine ego many, many times. Poor soul. How I wish I could have said something definite about it instead of living those 40 years in that unhappy situation, and doing so little to make him happy and satisfied.

Abby, I would have advised that lady to tell her husband to shape up or ship out. That is what I should have done 40 years ago. — TOO LATE NOW

DEAR TOO LATE: If your husband is still alive, it may not be too late. Get "Love and Sex After 60" (Harper and Row) by Dr. Robert N. Butler, former head of the National Institute on Aging (and Pulitzer Prize recipient for his book, "Why Survive: Growing Old in America"). But all the books in the world will not help you unless you look your man straight in the eye and tell him the truth: "I love you, but I can't make love with a clothespin on my nose."

"How to Write Letters for All Occasions" provides sample letters of congratulations, thank-yous, condolences, resumes and business letters — even how to write a love letter! It tells you how to properly address clergymen, government officials, dignitaries, widows and others. ### RSVP schedules March tour

The Retired Senior Volunteer Program is planning a tour to Fort Worth, Waxahachie and Granbury March 21-25.

Fee is $450 per person, double occupancy, and includes visits to the Fort Worth Science and History Museum, the Omni Theater, Kimbell Art Museum, a get-acquainted dinner at the Stockyards Area, and the Tandy Building.

The tour will then proceed to Dallas where participants will have lunch and visit the Old City Park, a special museum of restored 19th Century structures and furnishings.

Participants will tour the Dallas Museum of Fine Arts, and the Biblical Arts Museum.

A shopping spree and sightseeing tour in Los Colinas and a visit to the Ramses II Exhibit, the largest collection of ancient artifacts to leave Egypt, also is on the agenda. After a tour of the Union Station, participants will be treated to a barbecue dinner at "Texas Lil's Diamond A Ranch, where they will be entertained by singing cowboys. Hayrides, a "Quick-draw" contest and lasso lessons also will be available.

The following day, a trip to Waxahachie is scheduled, where a guide will lead the group through the area. Lunch will be at a restored restaurant. Dinner will be at "Cookoo's Nest." Then they off to the Opera House to enjoy "Dirty Dealings on the Brazos."

After lunch in Abilene on Saturday, the group will return to Big Spring late in the afternoon.

The $100 registration fee is due by Jan. 25.

DA dismisses gambling charges

ODESSA (AP) — Gambling promotion charges have been dismissed against four baby pageant organizers who said the event was a fund-raiser for the Ronald McDonald House.

District Attorney Gary Garrison, who took office Jan. 3, dismissed the charges Monday because of insufficient evidence.

"I don't think justice would have been served by sending these people to prison," Garrison said.

"I campaigned for six months that I thought it was a bad idea in explaining his decision to dismiss the four cases brought last year by former District Attorney Eric Augesen against four organizers of the March 1988 Permian Basin Area Baby Pageant.

The pageant, halted temporarily after the charges were filed, eventually was held but without drawings for trips or prizes.

Augesen had claimed the out-of-town organizers were bilking unsuspecting parents for thousands of dollars while billing the pageant as a Ronald McDonald House Benefit. The House was to receive $5,000 in proceeds, but Augesen claimed organizers would have taken more than $70,000 from the community. A district judge awarded the charity $10,000 in seized funds in July 1988.

Law enforcement agencies maintained pageant organizers were operating illegal lotteries based on ticket sales for drawings for trips and other prizes, and some winners had complained of never receiving their prizes.

In a case in Beaumont, a woman pleaded guilty in federal court last month to one count of mailing lottery tickets in connection with a pageant conducted in that area, according to a spokeswoman in the U.S. Attorney's office. No sentencing date has been set.

Meanwhile, Odessa Police Lt. Barbara Gillis cited the Beaumont plea bargain in her contention that Odessa authorities had a strong case against the organizers of the Permian Basin pageant, which she said was operated in a similar fashion.

Garrison has said the McDonald House will receive approximately $2,000 in additional funds as a result of an agreement between his office and defense attorney John Green of Odessa.

Green, who represented pageant organizers Stephen Davis, William Clyde Burris, Dennis Alton Deering, all of Lubbock; and Donna Burris, Odessa, said he's pleased the cases against his clients were dismissed.

"I think it's what should have been done," Green said. "My clients felt they shouldn't have been arrested in the first place."

Ronald McDonald House Manager Gloria Madrid, meanwhile, said board members believe Davis intended to help the charity. "He didn't mean to harm anybody," she said.

But Madrid said the pageant controversy has convinced board members to seek legal advice before participating in other charity benefit programs.

Policies

We will be pleased to announce the news of your engagement, wedding, silver or golden anniversary in the Lifestyle section of the Big Spring Herald. We try to use the story on the date you request, but sometimes space does not permit this.

The information must be submitted to us on a form available at the Herald no later than Wednesday noon before the Sunday it is to be published. The form must include a name and telephone number of a person whom we can reach during the day for more information.

We will use a picture of the couple in the announcement. Or in the case of engagement announcements where a picture of the couple is not available, we will use one of the bride-elect. The picture must be a professional quality studio photograph. We prefer a 5 x 7 glossy black and white print. We ask for this kind of photograph so that it will reproduce well in the newspaper. Following the picture's publication, it may be picked up at the Lifestyle department.

The information for the story may be brought to the Lifestyle department of the Herald, which is located at 710 Scurry. Or it may be mailed to Lifestyle Department, Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 1431, Big Spring, Texas 77720. Call us at (915) 263-7331 if we can help with more information or clarification of our policies.

ENGAGEMENTS Information of engagement announcements must be submitted to the Lifestyle department of the Herald anytime after the engagement is a reality until at least three weeks prior to the wedding. Anything closer than three weeks will not be published. The engagement form must be submitted no later than Wednesday noon prior to the Sunday it is to be published.

If the bride-elect, prospective bridegroom or their parents do not now or have never lived in our area, we need to know why you are submitting your engagement to the Herald. If only grandparents live in our area, please give their names and addresses.

Recipes for soupin' up your homemade salad bar

Food

Salad bars are everywhere, from upscale white tablecloth restaurants and fast-food outlets to supermarkets.

Their popularity is due in part to a focus on healthier eating. But it's also the result of the fact that Americans like to "do their own thing" in everything from the way they dress to the way they eat.

A salad bar allows people to customize their meal. If they're dieting they can select lower calorie ingredients. But if counting calories isn't the objective, they can add cheese, nuts and lard to the dressing to satisfy even the heartiest appetites.

To complement today's consumer focus on convenience, nutrition and variety, Campbell Soup suggests that salad bar fans try "souping up" their salad bars by presenting a soup and a salad... and garnishes appropriate for both.

The result: a customized meal. Soup and salad is a natural combination — and many salad bar ingredients are also great additions to soup.

Soup helps to round out a meal, making diners feel as if they've had a lot more than "just a salad."

A soup and salad bar is great for a party for 10 to 100. Guests can select the combination of ingredients that suits them and the hostess can relax and enjoy the party with her guests.

All the preparation can be done in advance. To keep the soup hot, use a crock pot or chafing dish. Keep salad ingredients crispy and cook by setting those items in a bowl on ice. Be sure to have plenty

MEDITERRANEAN SOUP AND SALAD BAR

Pesto, a wonderful basil-flavored sauce, gives tomato soup a Mediterranean feel. Olives, croutons and sun-dried tomatoes allow your guests to add their personal touch.

Soup base
1/2 cup packaged basil leaves
2 tbs. lightly toasted pine nuts
1 medium clove garlic, minced
2 tbs. olive oil
2 tbs. grated Parmesan cheese
2 tbs. grated Romano cheese
1 can (10 3/4 ounces) condensed Special Request tomato soup
1 soup can water
1 tbs. balsamic vinegar

To make pesto: In covered blender or food processor, blend basil, pine nuts and garlic until a paste forms. Add cheeses and olive oil, blend until just mixed; set aside. In 2-quart saucepan, stir soup, water and vinegar until smooth. Over medium heat, heat through, stirring often. Stir in pesto. Heat through, stirring often. Do not boil. Makes 3 cups or 3 servings.

Salad base
Romaine and assorted exotic greens (rocket, mache, arugula, radicchio, Belgian endive)
Juliened fresh basil leaves
Tomato wedges
Crumbled feta or mild goat cheese
Toasted pine nuts
Basic vinaigrette dressing made with virgin oil, aged balsamic vinegar, garlic and freshly ground black pepper

Toppings for soup and/salad
Flaked Italian tuna or crabmeat
Strips of prosciutto or cured ham
Imported olives
Blanched haricots verts, cut diagonally
Sun-dried tomatoes
Grilled or sauteed ratatouille vegetables (eggplant, zucchini, sweet red pepper, onion)
Freshly grated Parmesan cheese
Cooked small shell pasta
Garlic croutons
Suggested breads
Baguette of French bread
Crusty Italian hard rolls
Sourdough boules (rounds)
Individual brioche

SPICY SOUTHWESTERN SOUP AND SALAD BAR

Turn a family meal into a fiesta with a south-of-the-border soup bar. This hearty family fare uses homestyle bean soup as a base; garnishes make it something to shout "ole" about.

Soup base
1 can (11 ounces) condensed homestyle bean soup
1 soup can water
1/4 cup salsa or picante sauce
1/2 tsp. ground cumin
1/4 tsp. grated lime peel

In 2-quart saucepan over medium heat, combine soup, water, salsa, cumin and lime peel. Heat through. Makes 3 cups or 3 servings.

Salad base
Torn romaine and spinach leaves
Grated jicama

Orange segments
Red onion rings
Juliened zucchini
Toasted pumpkin seeds
Basic vinaigrette made with lime juice and jalapeno peppers, creamy dressing made with sour cream or mayonnaise and picante sauce, or creamy avocado dressing
Toppings for soup and/or salad bar
Chunks of grilled or roast turkey
Crumbled chorizo or other spicy pork sausage

Shredded cooked beef
Grated Monterey Jack or Cheddar cheese
Diced avocado
Strips of roasted red pepper
Sliced ripe olives
Chopped green chilies
Minced cilantro leaves
Sour cream
Fried tortilla strips or chips
Suggested breads
Warm cornbread squares made with jalapeno peppers if desired, serve with honey butter

Warm fresh flour tortillas with butter
Deep fried corn tortilla wedges or chips
Crusty sourdough bread or rolls
DOWN HOME CHOWDER SALAD BAR
Celebrate a bountiful harvest surrounded by family and friends. Offer a traditional soup from the heartland of America, corn chowder. Top with bacon, mushrooms and red peppers to add a new twist to this old favorite.

Soup base
2 tbs. butter or margarine
1/4 cup sliced green onions (white portion only)
1/2 cup sliced celery
1 can (10 3/4 ounces) condensed cream of potato soup
1 soup can milk
1 cup frozen corn
1/4 tsp. pepper

In 2-quart saucepan over medium heat, in hot butter, cook onion and celery until tender. Add soup, milk, corn and pepper. Cook, stirring often, until heated through. Makes 3 1/2 cups or 3 servings.

Salad base
Mixed greens
Three bean salad
Chopped tart apples
Toasted walnuts
Herb vinaigrette, or sweet and sour cole slaw dressing

Toppings for soup and/salad
Chunks of country ham
Slivers of smoked turkey
Crumbled cooked bacon
Grated Cheddar cheese
Sliced fresh or sauteed mushrooms

Area hoop teams' future looks bright

By STEVE BELVIN
Sports Editor

The area high school basketball season is getting to the good part — district play, and it looks like the Crossroads Country area should have some representatives in the state playoffs.

Locally, both the Big Spring Steers and Lady Steers have good chances of going into the state playoffs. Coach C.E. Carmichael's Lady Steers will be gunning for their third straight trip to the state playoffs. More than likely, they will make it, including wrapping up their third district championship.

Like my fellow worker Steve Reagan wrote in his column last week — the people in Big Spring are missing the closest thing Big Spring has had to a sports dynasty.

It's a joy watching 15, 16 and 17-year old girls that are so well-schooled in the fundamentals of basketball.

The Steers are gunning for their first trip to the state playoffs under the leadership of coach Boyce Paxton. Although Big Spring doesn't have the most impressive record in the world, the Steers are benefitting in district from a tough non-league record.

In 5-3A basketball, the Coahoma Bulldogettes are synonymous with state playoffs. Coach Truman Meissner's team is coming off a 23-8 season, a trip to the state playoffs, including an opening round 56-55 win over second ranked Decatur.

Meissner returns three starters (Paige Wilson, Kelli Williams and Ann Damron) from that team. The Bulldogettes are another good team that is sound in fundamental basketball. Like Big Spring, girls basketball is the closest thing Coahoma has to a sports dynasty.

In 5-AA girls basketball, the Stanton Lady Bufalos is another team that could be around for post season play. The Lady Bufs proved their worth by losing to a good AAA Greenwood, 71-67 in five overtimes. More proof for coach Rob Young's basketball program was an 59-58 win over Coahoma last week. ## Burnett lights Steers' fire

By STEVE BELVIN
Sports Editor

Every team, no matter how good it is, needs a spark every once in a while to pick it up. Tuesday night the Big Spring Steers had Brandon Burnett. He was the spark that prevailed the Steers to a 50-45 win over the Sweetwater Mustangs at Steer Gym.

Burnett, a junior guard, came off the bench late in the game and ignited the Steers to a 11-6 run, for their margin of victory.

DISTRICT STANDINGS
Big Spring	4-0
Andrews	4-0
Pecos	3-1
Lake View	1-3
Fort Stockton	0-4
Monahans	0-4

Most noticeable was his defense, as his aggressive play forced three Sweetwater turnovers. Burnett got two steals himself, dished out two assists and made four points down the stretch.

Steers coach Boyce Paxton was most grateful for Burnett's actions. "Brandon Burnett saved our team, he saved these guys (Steers) record," he said of Big Spring gaining its fourth league win in as many tries.

"He came in and gave us our spark, he moved the ball and made things happen. The kids were flat. I've been preaching and preaching to them about not looking ahead," he said of Friday's encounter with undefeated Andrews.

The Steers might have been looking ahead, but the Sweetwater Mustang defense had a lot to do with Big Spring's struggle. Employing a halfcourt trapping press, and then dropping back into a 2-3 zone, the Mustangs made good Steer shots hard to come by.

The Steers put the ball up only 39 times, making 16 attempts. While Burnett supplied the defense, Doug Young supplied the offense for the Steers. The burly senior guard pumped in four three-pointers, finishing the contest with 17 points.

Junior post player Joe Downey also turned in a strong game. All night he battled Sweetwater's front line of 6-5 Tim Taylor and 6-4 Louis Rose. Downey finished the contest with 11 points and seven rebounds.

Guard Abner Shellman chipped in 11 points, and Paxton said it was not one of his leading scorer's better games.

"They played a triangle-and-two on Abner, they worked on him pretty good. I hope this is the only bad offensive game he has. But Abner did a good job on their big man (Tim Taylor). Abner's defense is really coming around."

Although he gave up five inches in height, Shellman limited Tim Taylor to 12 points and 12 rebounds. Guard Chris Taylor led Sweetwater in scoring with 13. Rose scored eight points and grabbed 12 rebounds.

The game was close all the way. The score was tied at 9-9 after one quarter of play, and Sweetwater led 22-21 at the half. The Mustangs led 22-14 with 3:25 left in the half, but the Steers rallied on a free throw by Thane Russey, a basket by Downey and two buckets by Shellman.

Downey and Young vaulted the Steers to a 35-30 lead going in to the final period. In the third quarter Young bombed two three-pointers, and Downey scored three times inside.

The Steers led 37-30 at the start of the quarter when Burnett hit a jumper just inside the three-point line. Sweetwater tied it up at 39-39 with 3:09 left, on a tip by Kenneth Norman and a Norman assist to Chris Taylor.

The streak ends Sweetwater snaps Lady Steers' league win mark

By STEVE REAGAN

SWEETWATER — As a George Harrison album from the early 1970s suggests, "All Things Must Pass" — including winning streaks.

The Sweetwater Lady Mustangs overcame a first-half deficit, built a nine-point third quarter lead, then held off a late rally to down the Big Spring Lady Steers, 41-39, here Tuesday night.

In the process, the Lady Mustangs broke Big Spring's 27-game district unbeaten streak, dating to 1986. More importantly, Sweetwater's record of 17-4 overall, 6-0 in district, gives it sole possession of the District 4-4A lead, one game ahead of Big Spring, which fell to 17-3 and 5-1.

Junior Pam McNary scored 17 points to pace Sweetwater. Gisila Spears scored 12 points and Tami Wise and Jennifer Hendleman 10 for the Lady Steers.

Trailing 23-19 at the half, Sweetwater outscored Big Spring 13-5 in the third quarter to take control of the contest, then held on as a Lady Steer comeback fueled by Spears, Wise and Hendleman fell just short at the end.

"I think early in the game, our girls were nervous and intimidated by (Big Spring)," Sweetwater coach Barry Hughey said. "After we came out in the second half, we gained a little confidence. We started executing on defense and rebounding better."

Part of the reason for the Lady Mustang victory was their defense of Wise, Big Spring's leading scorer. Hughey credited what he described as a "hybrid 1-3-1 defense" that limited the Lady Steer star to one of her lowest scoring outputs of the year.

"We thought if we held (Wise) to 10-14 points, we'd have a chance to win the ballgame," he said. "We almost didn't. The other (Lady Steers) did a good job."

After complimenting the Lady Mustangs on their defensive performance, Big Spring coach C.E. Carmichael said there was four keys to the Sweetwater victory:

• With the Lady Steers leading 15-9 in the second quarter, Big Spring committed three consecutive turnovers against the Sweetwater full-court press, which Lady Mustang Nikki Heath converted into five points.

This brought Sweetwater to within a point of the Lady Steers, as well as getting the home crowd back in the game, Carmichael said.

Big Spring responded well to this thrust, however. Peggy Smith scored four points, and Wise and Spears two apiece to provide the Lady Steers with their halftime margin.

• The third quarter, in which Sweetwater scored 12 unanswered points — including eight by McNary — before Hendleman sank a free throw with 2:40 left. This turned the tempo of the game around to the Lady Mustangs' favor.

• Missed free throws by the Lady Steers late in the contest, which nullified their comeback. The first missed charity toss, by Hendleman with 4:39 remaining, would have tied the game at 34-all.

Sports Briefs

Hawks to travel to Roswell

The Howard College Hawks will resume Western Junior College Athletic Conference when they travel to Roswell, N.M. to take on the New Mexico Military Institute Broncos Thursday at 8:30 p.m.

The Hawks are 11-7 overall and 2-1 conference play. NMMI is 5-12 and 0-3 in league play. Monday the Broncos lost to Western Texas 79-67.

Frosh Steers run record to 14-1

The Big Spring freshmen Steers ran their record to 14-1 by taking a 60-48 win over the Greenwood Rangers frosh here Monday night. Pat Chavarria led Big Spring with 26 points.

Big Spring will be hosting a freshmen tournament this weekend. The Big Spring black team will play Sweetwater at 1:30 p.m. Friday and the freshmen gold team will play Colorado City at 3 p.m. Friday.

Boosters hosting chili supper

The Big Spring Sports Booster Club will be sponsoring a chili supper Friday, Jan. 13 at the Big Spring High School cafeteria from 5-7 p.m.

Tickets are $4 per person and this includes chili, beans, crackers, salad, fruit cobbler, tea and coffee. The chili supper will be before the Steers-Andrews basketball game at 7:30 p.m. in Steer Gym.

Tickets can be purchased at the high school office, Big Spring Athletics, or at the door.

For more information call Linda Davis at 267-4010.

Boxers do well in tournament

ODESSA — The Big Spring Boxing Club had two winners at the West Texas Boxing Tournament, held Saturday and Sunday in Odessa.

Enrique Urias defeated Howard County Boxing Club fighter Juan Garza to take the 100-pound division, while Rene Villa won the 147-pound title in a walkover. Both boxers now advance to the American Boxing Federation State Championships, to be held Feb. 25-26 in El Paso.

In a related development, BSBC fighter Angel Villa was runner-up in his division at the recent Silver Gloves competition in Dallas. He lost by decision to Dallas boxer J.J. Gonzalez.

Coaches of the BSBC are J.V. Martinez, Manuel Villa and Zeke Villas. The boxers will return to action Jan. 21 at a boxing tournament in Fort Stockton.

Giants lineman has another bout with cancer

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) — Months of chemotherapy stare him in the face. His wife is pregnant and about to deliver any day and his soon-to-be 3-year-old daughter is asking Daddy about the "boo-boos" on his chest.

Cancer is again challenging Karl Nelson, but it hasn't deprived him of his dream of one day again playing for the New York Giants.

Nelson said Tuesday that he still hoped to continue his NFL career despite learning that doctors have found Hodgkin's disease in his chest for a second time and that it also has spread to his neck.

"The way you deal with this is not say 'Why me?'" the 28-year-old Nelson said during a packed news conference at Giants Stadium. "You say, 'OK, what do I have to do to get better?'"

Nelson's treatment will involve 12 sessions of chemotherapy over a six-month period. The twice-monthly treatments will be conducted at a doctor's office and will not require hospitalization, he said.

"If you go into the treatment thinking it won't work, I feel it won't," said Nelson, who underwent radiation treatment when cancer was first diagnosed in 1987. "You have to have a positive attitude."

East Rutherford, N.J. — New York Giants offensive tackle Karl Nelson 28, gestures to his chest during a news conference at Giants Stadium on Tuesday to reveal that he will begin chemotherapy treatments.

Nelson does, and that's why he is not ruling out his chances of playing again, although they do seem small. Nelson will not finish his treatment until July and that would be just before training camp.

"I think I have a chance," Nelson said. "I think I can. I don't know whether it will happen. I'll try again."

Doctors have told Nelson he can work out while undergoing treatment, he said.

"He may be able to play again," Dr. Eli Glatstein of the National Cancer Center at Washington said. "A lot depends on how the chemotherapy affects him."

Nelson's contract with the Giants expired at the end of the season, but both Nelson and Giants general manager George Young said getting Nelson healthy again is the more important issue.

Nelson sat out the 1987 season after cancer was diagnosed, and played for the 1988 season, playing in nine games and starting three, including the opening two.

"At first I thought I was having a problem with my thyroid medication and that we would need to adjust that," said Nelson, who had been undergoing physical examinations four times a year since the cancer was discovered.

Elmore are all solid players. In District 16-A girls play, the area has three teams that are legitimate playoff contenders.

Going back to dynasties, Borden County truly has established one under the leadership of Bill May, in his eighth season as coach. But May will be the first one to tell you Borden County was winning district titles long before he came.

The Coyotes are definitely the team to beat in district, mainly because May returns all five starters from last year's 22-5 team.

May said that Elana Himes, a 5-10 All-State senior post player, has the ability to play on the college level. Himes is flocked with a good supporting cast to the tune of Lisa Sternadel, Kate Phinzy, Vida Balague and Kristi Adcock.

The Grady Wildcats girls are another team to be contended with in the district. Coach Randy Peel's Wildcats have only three losses, and should challenge for a playoff spot.

Sophomore post player Sheri McMorries is already a dominating force, and Naomi Morales and Freda Garza are also quality players.

The Klondike Lady Cougars could throw a wrinkle in the district race. The more this young team plays, the better it will get.

Coach Terry Simpson's squad has two talented frosh post players in Emmy Defee and Dina Simpson. Junior Shelly Kirkland adds leadership qualities.

The Lady Cougars proved they are for real Friday, defeating Grady on the road, 47-46.

The Sands girls can't really be counted out, either, although they've been beaten twice by Borden County. Deanna Herm can score from the outside for Sands, and if 6-2 junior Jo Ann Staggs can establish herself inside, the Lady Mustangs will be tough.

The Stanton Buffalos could challenge for the 5-AA boys title.

The Buffs had a slow start because of the state football playoffs, but seem to be in the groove now.

Guards Brad Holland and Barry Cain are strong outside players and Kevin Barnes and Robert Jones provide the firepower inside.

In District 16-A boys play, the Sands Mustangs and Klondike Cougars could very well end up playing for the district championship.

Sands is a well-rounded team that features strong inside play from Shannon Nail and Jay Johnston and feisty outside play from guards Damien Zarate and Albert Franco.

Klondike, which is known for producing good hoop teams, has a balanced squad that features inside and outside scoring, as well as quickness and size. On any given night, Clint Kirkland, Jody Simpson, Steve Cope, Ron Davis or Corbett Foster might be the one that scores 20 points.

Sands and Klondike have already met once in the Borden County tournament, and Sands won the contest 53-42. But in all fairness to Klondike, the Cougs played most of the game without leading scorer Kirkland, who suffered a sprained ankle early in the game.

So as you can tell, the area basketball outlook looks good. Don't be surprised to see at least eight of the 20 Crossroads Country team reach the state playoffs.

Spears later missed two free throws that allowed Sweetwater to hang on to a 36-33 lead with 3:49 left in the game.

Big Spring also failed to score from the field when it counted, also. After Wise sank two free throws to bring the Lady Steers within two with 28 seconds left, Sweetwater's Letha Atkins missed the front end of a one-and-one and Wise rebounded.

Unfortunately, Big Spring was not able to capitalize, as both Wise and Spears missed field goal tries during the final seconds.

Controversial referee calls late in the game that cost the Lady Steers possession of the ball. "I wasn't for sure that we could've won," Carmichael said. "I felt that the people who were in control of the game wouldn't let us win."

The first controversial call came after Spears' last shot with 12 seconds left. Sweetwater rebounded, but a Lady Mustang's pass appeared to go out of bounds untouched. The referees, however, awarded possession to Sweetwater.

The second disputed call came with seven seconds left, when the referees again awarded the Lady Mustangs possession after one of their passes went out of bounds. It should be pointed out, however, that Spears made a lunge for the pass and may have tipped it before it went out of bounds.

"I believe that if we had gotten those calls, we would've pulled it out," Carmichael said.

The Lady Steers must now rebound from the loss and face the Andrews Mustangs, one game behind Big Spring in the district race after their victory against Monahans Tuesday. Carmichael said he is confident his girls will be

Lakers still can't win on road

By The Associated Press Sacramento Kings coach Jerry Reynolds put his team's second straight home victory over the Los Angeles Lakers in perspective.

"This is the most fun I have had since the Fourth of July festival in French Lick (Indiana)," Reynolds said.

Pat Riley, coach of the defending NBA champion Lakers, who now have lost a record-tying eight consecutive road games, tried to put it in a different perspective.

"So we're 9-12 on the road," Riley said after the 106-97 loss Tuesday night. "But we're still 13-0 at home and we're in first place in our division."

True. And Sacramento is still in last place in the Pacific Division with an 8-21 record. But the Kings also won their last meeting against the Lakers in Sacramento last season.

The Lakers' eighth straight road loss tied a 13-year-old club record.

LaSalle Thompson had 23 points, 11 rebounds and a season-high four blocks to lead Sacramento. Smith added 19 points and a season-high 14 assists, while Harold Pressley had 17 points.

The Kings never trailed the Lakers in the second half. The closest the Lakers were able to get was 75-73 when Orlando Woodridge hit a jumper to start the fourth quarter.

"We got too far down against a good team," Riley said. "It's the same old problem on the road. Every time we get within four, they'd pull something out and we'd be down again."

Magic Johnson scored 18 of his 22 points in the second half for Los Angeles, which also got 22 points from James Worthy.

Trail Blazers 125, Sonics 109 Reserve Steve Johnson scored a season-high 27 points and triggered a second-half surge that lifted Portland over Seattle. The loss snapped the Sonics' five-game winning streak.

It was the Blazers' 12th straight home victory. Clyde Drexler led Portland with 29 points, while Kiki Vandeweghe had 21 points, his most since coming off the injured list five games ago.

Portland took the lead for good at 71-69 on Johnson's three-point play, then outscored the Sonics 15-3 to start the final quarter.

Chicago scored 14 of his 48 points in the final 7:18 as Chicago erased a 14-point deficit to defeat Atlanta and snap a two-game losing streak. The Hawks missed three 3-point shots in the final 20 seconds.

Moses Malone gave Atlanta a

95-81 lead with 7:45 remaining on a 14-foot jumper, but the Hawks scored only six points — two field goals and two free throws — the rest of the way.

Dominique Wilkins led Atlanta with 28 points.

Bullets 120, Nuggets 117 John Williams' snazzy layup with 18 seconds remaining and Jeff Malone's two free throws 13 seconds later led Washington over Denver and snapped the Bullets' two-game losing streak.

Washington trailed 117-116 when Williams put in a double-pump, left-handed layup. Malone then hit his free throws before Denver's last-second try at a tie by Walter Davis was blocked from behind by Charles A. Jones.

Bernard King led the Bullets with 33 points, while Alex English paced the Nuggets with 28.

By The Associated Press Clarissa Davis scored 20 points and four other Texas Lady Longhorns scored in double figures in a 92-65 victory over the Rice Owls.

SWC Roundup

In other Southwest Conference women's games Tuesday night, Arkansas defeated Texas Christian, 83-59 and Texas Tech whipped Houston, 57-38. In a non-conference action, Texas A&M edged Louisiana State, 67-54.

The No. 14 Lady Longhorns improved to 7-4 for the season and 3-0 in conference play while the Owls dropped to 9-3, 1-2 in the conference.

Texas used a size advantage to break open a close game in the first half. Texas, led by 6-9 Ellen Bayer's 18 rebounds, outrebounded Rice 60-36.

Bayer also added 10 points and eight blocked shots.

The Owls were led in scoring by Leslie Tassin, who had 26 points, five rebounds and seven assists. Amelia Cooper, the Owls' leading scorer, was held to 12 points.

Susan Anderson had 17 points and nine rebounds for the Lady Longhorns, while Vicki Hall had 14 points and seven rebounds.

Shelly Wallace scored 26 points and grabbed 10 rebounds to lead the Arkansas women to an 83-69 Southwest Conference victory over Texas Christian.

The Lady Razorbacks are 2-1 in conference play, while TCU drops to 0-3.

TCU was led by Janice Dziuk's 16 points and nine rebounds.

Arkansas led 42-27 at halftime and coasted through the second half.

Reena Lynch scored 13 points and Karen Farst added 11 to lead the Texas Tech women to a 57-38 Southwest Conference Victory over Houston.

The Raiders, 7-6 overall and 1-2 in conference, snap a three-game losing streak. The Lady Cougars fall to 7-5 and 1-1.

Donna Roper scored 16 points to lead the Texas A&M women to a 67-64 victory over No. 10 Louisiana State.

LaTanya Irving added 12 points and converted a 3-point play in the final minute while Roper hit a pair of free throws to seal the victory.

The Lady Aggies improve to 10-3, while LSU drops to 7-3.

Franklin led the Lady Tigers with 19 points, and Patricia Wood added 13, all in the first half.

The Lady Tigers led 37-33 at halftime.

Astros get veteran hurler

NEW YORK (AP) — Continuing Dallas Green's quest to rid the Yankees of aging pitchers, New York traded right-hander Rick Rhoden to the Houston Astros for three minor leaguers.

Rhoden, 149-119 lifetime, led the Yankees in starts and innings pitched in 1988, and finished second on the team in complete games and strikeouts. He, like others, felt the turmoil of constant changes in the Yankees clubhouse.

Rhoden, who made $900,000 last season and will earn the same salary in 1989, pitched for Los Angeles before being traded to the Pirates in April 1979 for Jerry Reuss.

"We're giving away a lot of youth, but we feel Rick will be very comfortable in our park," Astros general manager Bill Wood said. "He has pitched in the National League just recently and is a proven winner."

Ex-Rangers executive wants to purchase team

ARLINGTON (AP) — Former Texas Rangers executive Larry Schmittou said he has notified the American League Ownership Committee that he and his partners are interested in purchasing the major league ball club.

Schmittou told the Fort Worth Star-Telegram that any offer from his group — which includes Country and Western entertainers Conway Twitty, Jerry Reed, Larry Gatlin and Richard Starbuck — will include the stipulation that Oklahoman Edward L. Gaylord, who owns Gaylord Broadcasting Co., remain as an active minority partner.

The ownership committee is studying Gaylord's bid to buy out majority owner Eddie Chiles.

"We have great respect for Mr. Gaylord," Schmittou said. "He owns half of Nashville and is in the process of buying the other half. We're not about to do anything that would jeopardize his purchase. I would hope the other groups feels the same way. If we were to have an interest, it would only be if he were turned down and then agreed to stay on. That's how we would do it."

Gaylord owns the Grand Ol' Opry and the Opryland Hotel complex in Nashville.

Schmittou said the contract's financial demands — Chiles' majority interest is expected to bring about $47 million — would be no problem if Gaylord remains a minority partner.

The ownership committee has issued a profile interested purchasers must try to fit.

NBA Today

Wednesday, Jan. 11
By The Associated Press
SCOREBOARD
New York at Detroit (7:30 p.m. EST).
The Knicks have won both of the previous meetings between the teams, including a 48-point, 10-rebound, nine-assist, three-steal triumph on Nov. 23 in The Palace. Auburn Hills, the Pistons' first-ever loss there.
STARS
Tuesday
Michael Jordan, Bulls, made 17 of 29 field goal tries and 14 of 16 free throws in a 48-point, 10-rebound, nine-assist, three-steal performance that helped Chicago beat Atlanta 104-101 to give the Hawks just their third home loss in 18 games. Jordan scored 14 of his points in the final 7:18 of the game as Chicago, trailing by 14 with 7:45 remaining, outscored Atlanta 23-6 the rest of the way.
Kenny Smith, Kings, scored 19 points, handed off a season-high 14 assists, grabbed seven rebounds and made three steals to lead Sacramento to a 106-97 victory over the L.A. Lakers.
Steve Johnson, Trail Blazers scored 27 points on 13-for-17 shooting and grabbed nine rebounds — seven offensive — in 26 minutes off the bench to lift Portland to its 12th straight home victory, a 125-109 decision over Seattle that snapped the SuperSonics' five-game winning string.
STRANGE NUMBERS
Kenny Smith's 19-point performance against the Lakers on Tuesday was forged on some peculiar shooting: the Kings' second-year guard was 3-for-4 from 3-point range, 4-for-9 from 2-point range and just 2-for-6 from the free throw line. Denver's Alex English, 14-for-23 from the field against Washington, was 0-for-4 from the foul line while the Nuggets' Michael Adams, 3-for-6 from 3-point range, was just 2-for-11 from inside the arc.
SCORING
Miami's 92-88 loss to Utah on Tuesday came despite career-high scoring performances by rookie center Rony Seikaly and reserve guard Jon Sundvold. Seikaly, the ninth pick in the June draft, scored 30 points — 18 in the third quarter — on 12-for-16 shooting while Sundvold connected five times in six tries from 3-point range in a 28-point showing.
Sundvold's performance from behind the arc raised his 3-point percentage for the year to an NBA-best .606 — 20 makes in 33 attempts.
SWINGS
Dale Ellis of Seattle, who had made 23 of his last 35 3-point tries, a 657 percentage, hit only once in six long-range attempts Tuesday as the SuperSonics fell to Portland 125-109.
STREAKS
The Lakers' 106-97 loss at Sacramento on Tuesday was their eighth straight road setback, tying the franchise record set by the 1974-75 Los Angeles team that finished the season 30-52. The Kings' victory, their second in a row over the two-time defending champions at Arco Arena, gave them a 2-29 record versus the Lakers in their last 31 meetings.
SHORTHANDED
Dallas, 0-4 in January, is off to its worst start of a month since an 0-5 beginning in February, 1984.
SCOPED
Philadelphia forward Cliff Robinson, who has missed 18 of the 76ers' last 19 games, underwent arthroscopic surgery Tuesday to repair a splintered left kneecap and is expected to miss eight to 10 more weeks.

SEASON OVER CAREER TOO?
Danny Manning, the Los Angeles Clippers' $10.5 million rookie, has a torn anterior cruciate ligament in his right knee that will require reconstructive surgery and sideline him for the rest of the season, team physician Dr. Tony Daly said Tuesday. Manning, the first pick overall in the June draft, was injured last Wednesday in a game against Milwaukee.

Wednesday, Jan. 11
By The Associated Press
SCOREBOARD
New York at Detroit (7:30 p.m. EST).
The Knicks have won both of the previous meetings between the teams, including a 48-point, 10-rebound, nine-assist, three-steal triumph on Nov. 23 in The Palace. Auburn Hills, the Pistons' first-ever loss there.
STARS
Tuesday
Michael Jordan, Bulls, made 17 of 29 field goal tries and 14 of 16 free throws in a 48-point, 10-rebound, nine-assist, three-steal performance that helped Chicago beat Atlanta 104-101 to give the Hawks just their third home loss in 18 games. Jordan scored 14 of his points in the final 7:18 of the game as Chicago, trailing by 14 with 7:45 remaining, outscored Atlanta 23-6 the rest of the way.
Kenny Smith, Kings, scored 19 points, handed off a season-high 14 assists, grabbed seven rebounds and made three steals to lead Sacramento to a 106-97 victory over the L.A. Lakers.
Steve Johnson, Trail Blazers scored 27 points on 13-for-17 shooting and grabbed nine rebounds — seven offensive — in 26 minutes off the bench to lift Portland to its 12th straight home victory, a 125-109 decision over Seattle that snapped the SuperSonics' five-game winning string.
STRANGE NUMBERS
Kenny Smith's 19-point performance against the Lakers on Tuesday was forged on some peculiar shooting: the Kings' second-year guard was 3-for-4 from 3-point range, 4-for-9 from 2-point range and just 2-for-6 from the free throw line. Denver's Alex English, 14-for-23 from the field against Washington, was 0-for-4 from the foul line while the Nuggets' Michael Adams, 3-for-6 from 3-point range, was just 2-for-11 from inside the arc.
SCORING
Miami's 92-88 loss to Utah on Tuesday came despite career-high scoring performances by rookie center Rony Seikaly and reserve guard Jon Sundvold. Seikaly, the ninth pick in the June draft, scored 30 points — 18 in the third quarter — on 12-for-16 shooting while Sundvold connected five times in six tries from 3-point range in a 28-point showing.
Sundvold's performance from behind the arc raised his 3-point percentage for the year to an NBA-best .606 — 20 makes in 33 attempts.
SWINGS
Dale Ellis of Seattle, who had made 23 of his last 35 3-point tries, a 657 percentage, hit only once in six long-range attempts Tuesday as the SuperSonics fell to Portland 125-109.
STREAKS
The Lakers' 106-97 loss at Sacramento on Tuesday was their eighth straight road setback, tying the franchise record set by the 1974-75 Los Angeles team that finished the season 30-52. The Kings' victory, their second in a row over the two-time defending champions at Arco Arena, gave them a 2-29 record versus the Lakers in their last 31 meetings.
SHORTHANDED
Dallas, 0-4 in January, is off to its worst start of a month since an 0-5 beginning in February, 1984.
SCOPED
Philadelphia forward Cliff Robinson, who has missed 18 of the 76ers' last 19 games, underwent arthroscopic surgery Tuesday to repair a splintered left kneecap and is expected to miss eight to 10 more weeks.

Weather

By The Associated Press

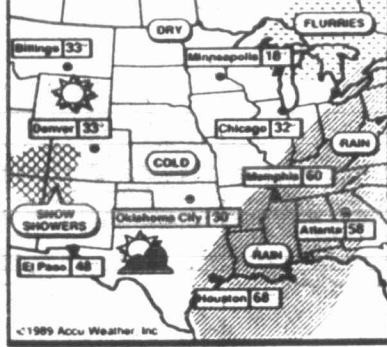

Snow fell across the West and the Midwest today after two people died in an Oregon storm that triggered road-closing mudslides and floods. A rare January tornado in Utah damaged houses.

Snow showers fell in upper Michigan, Minnesota, the Dakotas, Montana, Wyoming, Utah, Idaho and eastern Washington state. Rain and thunderstorms fell from Louisiana to central Mississippi.

Snow advisories were posted for Utah's mountains, North Dakota and northwest Minnesota. Advisories for blowing and drifting snow were issued in northwest and central Colorado and south-central Wyoming.

At Crater Lake National Park, 1 1/2 feet of snow fell by Tuesday, raising the snow level to 113 inches, downing trees and blocking roads.

"Eighteen (inches of snow) at a whack, that really gets everybody hustling," said Park Superintendent Robert Benton.

In Oregon, the bodies of two cross-country skiers were found Tuesday at the base of Mount

Jeanne Dixon's Horoscope

THURSDAY, JANUARY 12, 1989

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Community interests are in the spotlight. Others look to you for leadership. Tackle problems with patience. Write overdue letters today. An exciting invitation comes your way. Consult partner.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Be on guard against superficial attractions. You could be duped by someone who is insincere. Keep your immediate environment orderly and you will turn out more work. Mess is distracting!

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): A great day for sealing bargains, taking a business trip or helping out a friend or lover. Begin new projects. In emotionally charged situations, choose your words carefully.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Seek the best professional advice you can find. Action will be almost impossible without the go-ahead from experts. Think out your basic moves. Impulsive behavior could prove costly.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Surprise visits and messages can relieve tension at work. Pay more attention to domestic matters if trying to strike a better balance between work and family. Mate needs to know you care.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Difficult obstacles can be surmounted today. Choose the best path to avoid running into a stone wall. Think twice before acting. Set a good example for young people to follow. Defend your ideals.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Quiet pursuits can be very rewarding financially. Welcome a new partner or employment opportunity. Keep away from crowds if coming down with a cold. A relaxing evening at home works wonders.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): A conference with an influential person will bring good career or financial results. You could be asked to perform extra duties that will translate into new honors and prestige. Jump at the chance!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Good cheer abounds today, but so do carelessness and extravagance. Do not carry too much cash. Give a wide berth to pessimistic people. A good book or favorite hobby helps you relax tonight.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Start new projects. Put your best foot forward and you will succeed beyond your wildest expectations. Domestic problems are easily solved, thanks to your tact. Pour on the charm.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Curb your excitement. Bragging could be misinterpreted. An emergency will claim your attention later today. Keep calm even if others panic. Higher-ups are counting on you.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): A surprise visit will delight you. Change your schedule to accommodate this special person. A newcomer could play a key role in your financial or romantic future. Do not reveal too much too soon.

Sen. Gramm to speak in Stanton

U.S. SEN. PHIL GRAMM
To visit Stanton Thursday

U.S. Senator Phil Gramm of Texas will be in Stanton on Thursday, Jan. 12, at 1:15 p.m. Gramm, as part of a statewide economic development tour, will receive a briefing and tour of the Farmers Co-Op Gin in Stanton.

The Senator, along with civic and business leaders, will discuss the plentiful cotton crop and its effect upon the South Plains and Permian Basin areas.

The senator will also be available to the media.

The location of the briefing and tour is the Gin Office of the Farmers Co-Op Gin, 2 miles west of Stanton on Hwy. 80. He also is expected to make a brief talk at Cap Rock Electric auditorium.

Among Democratic politicians, who might want to tackle Gramm, several sources said, were U.S. Reps. John Bryant of Dallas, Mickey Leland of Houston and Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby.

A Republican planning to seek a second term in 1990, Gramm solicited $1,000 contributors to join the Gramm Senate Club Advisory Board. The group's first meeting in Washington will coincide with inaugural activities.

Gramm said in a letter that members of his advisory board will be invited to have an intimate lunch with a new Cabinet officer and attend a V.I.P. cocktail reception with other Cabinet secretaries, members of the U.S. Senate and House of Representatives and several Hollywood celebrities, the Houston Chronicle reported.

The letter also said Gramm was working closely with the inaugural committee in securing tickets for club members to attend the swearing-in ceremony, inaugural parade and the inaugural ball.

Members of the advisory board include New York financier Donald Trump, actor Charlton Heston and Texas financiers T. Boone Pickens, Frank Lorenzo, Trammell Crow and Ray Hunt, the letter stated.

Listed on that invitation as special guests were Senators

Bob Dole of Kansas, Orrin Hatch of Utah, Don Nickles of Oklahoma and Connie Mack of Florida.

The invitation also listed a reception honoring Texas administration appointees. There was no indication whether the event would be attended by Bush's Texas appointees — James Baker, secretary of state; Robert Mosbacher, secretary of commerce and John Tower, secretary of defense.

Among the celebrities listed as special guests were Claude Akins, Lynn Anderson, Lee Greenwood, Roger Moore, Joan Rivers, Brooke Shields, Mark Spitz, Lyle Waggoner and Efreim Zimbalist Jr.

Stanton teams begin district competition

Stanton High School basketball teams finished their non-district play with good records. The local squads opened district play on Tuesday night playing Forsan in the SHS gym.

The boys team took the runner-up spot in the Big Lake Tournament this past weekend, bringing their season record to 10-5. The Buffs had opened their season with a seventh place finish in the Coahoma tournament, but bounced back to capture the championship in the Sands tournament.

The girls team has a 9-8 record, but five of their losses have been by 5 points or less. The squad finished second in the Big Lake tournament, and took the third place trophy at Sands.

The boys have an all senior starting team, with Chris Stone, Brad Holland, Barry Cain, Kevin Barnes, and Robert Jones as the usual first unit. They have a strong bench with Seniors Lance Jenkins and Steven Ruiz being joined by Juniors Kelly Inman, Chris Carder, and Darrel Williams.

The girls have a starting unit of senior returning letterman. The starting five is composed of Kaki Elmore, Kelli Glaspie, Karen Graves, Stacie Tom, and Heather Colburn. They are joined on the varsity by seniors Karen McCalister and Shannon Koonce, juniors Jana Heidelberg and Courtney Duke, and sophomores Lori Pardue and Mitzi Koonce.

Both teams have been well represented on all-tournament teams. Brad Holland took honors at Coahoma and Big Lake, while Barry Cain made all-tournament at Sands.

Robert Jones was all-tournament at Big Lake and received the MVP award at Sands.

Kaki Elmore was all-tournament at Big Lake, with Kelli Glaspie receiving the honor at both Big Lake and Sands.

The sounds of Stanton

By PEGGY LUXTON

Cap Rock Electric Cooperative, Inc. For those in our community who like to sleep late, or for those who have unusual working and sleeping hours, it does not take long to realize that Stanton is blessed (or cursed) with many sounds, both during nocturnal and daylight hours.

For instance, Stanton would not be Stanton without the Union Pacific Railway. The tracks have split the town since the town began its first growth. The railroad tracks have been there for so long that people crossing them in their travels from one side of town to the other often forget the danger.

But as well as posing danger to townsfolk and to transient travelers, the railroad tracks are also a source of sound. Approximately four times during every 24-hour period, trains travel through Stanton on their way to someplace else.

It is required of train engineers that blasts be made on the train whistle as it passes through Stanton and all the numberless other little towns the trains roar through on their relentless journeys to and fro. But the design of the whistle blasts are left up to the engineer. According to Martin County Sheriff Dan Saunders, each engineer has a "trademark" whistle blast.

In addition to the train whistles, Stanton also has a Volunteer Fire Department. The Fire Department phone is located both in City Hall and in the Sheriff's Department. City Hall personnel answer fire calls during the day, and the Sheriff's Office answers after City Hall's working hours.

Siren for the City-County Fire Department is located atop a pole outside City Hall. When the button is pushed, it emits three short blasts, which announce a fire and call the volunteer firemen to the fire station. Nelda Turner, who is the Tax Assessor-Collector for the city, states that if there is a storm or other emergency warning to be given, the button is pressed three times, resulting in nine short blasts.

Of course, every Monday night at 7 p.m., Stanton's firemen are called to practice. Three short blasts on the siren summon the firefighters to the practice session.

Lonnie Long is Stanton's Fire Chief. The department has three trucks, plus a van that carries additional equipment. Not all Fire Department vehicles are equipped with sirens, but the pumper trucks do have and use sirens.

According to Police Chief Mike Adams of the Stanton Police Department, the two siren-equipped patrol cars used by the department have multiple-function sirens. The sirens include high-low, wail, and yelp. They use the wail siren, a long, rotating blast, primarily. The high-low siren, the one made familiar by British movies showing British police, is a series of a high note followed by a low note, repeated over and over. The yelp siren is a series of short, sharp blasts. The yelp siren is used primarily when a patrol vehicle is approaching an intersection.

Stanton police officers are authorized to use sirens on any emergency call or when they are in pursuit. Chief Adams stated that sirens are not ordinarily used in stopping a traffic violator, but a very short siren blast may be used to get the offender's attention.

Though the police sirens are used by Chief Adams' department primarily to warn traffic the patrol cars are coming, the chief stated that under ordinary circumstances, his patrol vehicles will not be traveling through traffic at an unsafe speed. He said, "Though certain circumstances might warrant acting differently, our patrol vehicles try to hold their speed at no more than 10 miles over the speed limit, because we realize not everyone will hear our siren or see our flashing lights."

"It is our responsibility to make sure we are able to get through traffic safely, not the responsibility of other drivers."

Chief Adams adds that the main goal is to get there. "If there is a real emergency, we will travel as fast as we safely can." The sirens are used in most instances just to warn other drivers.

The Martin County Sheriff's Office also has cars equipped with sirens. There are four of these. But the Sheriff's Office sirens are not used inside the city of Stanton. "As a matter of fact," says Sheriff Saunders, "we very, very seldom use them at all."

Sheriff Saunders has empathy for the citizens of Stanton who are bombarded by sounds. "At night when our dispatchers are answering the fire phone, I've asked them not even to turn on the fire siren unless we've got a house fire. If it's a barn fire or a trash fire or a burning telephone pole, they don't use it," he said.

Another sound that carries for several miles is the steam whistle, or horn, used at the Trinity Company cotton compress east of town. This horn is used to convey messages to the employees of the compress. There are approximately 40 employees at the compress during the season. The compress season generally encompasses the ginning season, plus one month.

The compress horn is sounded at 12:00 noon and at 12:55 p.m. It is sounded again at 1:00 p.m. A long

Stanton Church of Christ welcomes minister, family

DR. JAMES AND LESA JOHNSON WITH CHILDREN, JONATHAN AND ANGELA.

The Stanton Church of Christ welcomes its new minister and family. Dr. James and Lesa Johnson became Stanton citizens Dec. 29. James, Lesa and their children (Jonathan, 8; and Angela, 6) moved from the Lubbock area where James was chairman of the Communication Studies Department of Lubbock Christian University. He also served as minister for the West Tate Church of Christ in Brownfield.

Lesa is a true "Farmer's Daughter." She was raised on her family's farm outside of Silverton, Texas. She enjoys country decorating, crafts and music. James is no stranger to Stanton; in fact, he was born here in Stanton in 1956. James' father, Ellmore Johnson, served many years here as a teacher and principal and worked with the church for 22 years. The family, however, moved away when James was eight years old.

Dr. Johnson has been in the ministry for over 12 years. He has also taught college for the last seven years. He received a B.A. degree from Lubbock Christian University in Speech and New Testament in 1979, a M.A. from Texas Tech in Communication and Psychology in 1982 and in 1986 he received a Doctoral Degree from Texas Tech in Speech Education and Administration.

He has also written a book on the ministry which will be published in late January. Among Johnson's other experiences, he has worked as a radio announcer and radio producer for Lockerroom Sports. He also worked in the recent Texas Senatorial Campaign as a speech writer and advertising Association for distinguished speakers, Pi Kappa Delta (an honorary speech and debate fraternity), and was named a member of Outstanding Young Men of America.

Johnson will continue to commute to Lubbock twice a week through May at which time he is scheduled to begin work for Howard College in Big Spring as an Administrative Consultant.

The sounds

blast of the horn at either 5:00 or 6:00 p.m. signals the end of the working day.

Sunday morning is especially noisy in many cities and towns, due to church bells announcing time for worship.

Stanton's St. Joseph Catholic Church has a recorder attached to loud speakers. This recorder most often plays the sound of church bells, but it can be programmed to play different notes or melodies on chimes. St. Joseph's bells generally are used before each mass, but are not programmed for any set time. Normally, they are played at 8:45 and 10:45 on Sunday mornings.

The First United Methodist Church has a carillon, but the chimes have been disconnected. At the present time, they are used only to play carols during the Christmas season.

The Martin County Hospital District has two ambulances, both equipped with sirens. The ambulance sirens sound the same as police sirens.

Walt Haislip, EMS Director for the hospital district, says the sirens are used only on emergency calls. If the ambulance uses the emergency flashing lights, they also use the siren. "The sirens are used on runs that are potentially life-threatening," says Haislip. The ambulances are on call 24 hours a day.

Another potential noise-maker for the citizens of Stanton are crop-dusting planes. In the spring and in the fall, the small planes are a common sight around Stanton. To a crop-duster pilot, his expertise in his craft is best shown off by demonstration how low he can fly his plane. The usually start a job very early in the morning and many Stanton citizens would swear a few low crosses over town is the only way a crop-duster can start a job.

And, of course, you have the ever-present neighbor's dog. Sheriff Saunders stated that more officers are "cussed out" over dogs than any other cause. He says that once a dog starts barking and baying at the moon, not only does he not stop all night, but more often than not, he gets a good many other dogs in town to join in the chorus. Saunders says, "If you don't send a man out to check on a barking dog, the neighbor is mad at you. If you do send a man out, the dog's owner is mad at you. It's a no-win situation."

Between the planes and trains and sirens and horns, Stanton is probably not the quietest town off the map. But when you consider that police officers and ambulance drivers warn other drivers with sirens, and firefighters are alerted by sirens, and goods are transported by trucks and trains, and crops are aided by dusters, and a work schedule is scored by horn blasts, you realize that most of these noise-makers are necessary curses.

As for the neighbor's dog; perhaps that problem can best be solved by keeping a tape recorder handy. Tape the dog's barking tonight, then play the tape at its loudest volume under your neighbor's window tomorrow night. The sound of the siren you hear are the law officers on their way to pick up the writer who would suggest such a thing.

Financial management workshop starts Jan. 30

By KATHRYN BURCH
County Extension Agent/H.E.
Martin-Glasscock Counties

Financial Management for Young Couples is a four-part workshop series for young couples that focuses on the role of money in marriage and how to make the most of it.

The classes will start Monday, Jan. 30, 7 p.m. at the Days Inn, Patio Room, Big Spring. Young couples from Big Spring, Stanton, Garden City and St. Lawrence have been invited to attend the workshop.

Martin County Extension Agents Kathryn Burch and Naomi Hunt will be teaching the class.

There is a $20 charge for the class. Ten of which will be returned for attending all the classes. A graduation supper, door prizes and certificates of completion are planned for the final workshop meeting.

Through participating in the program, you'll find out...

- Where your money is going
- How to make your money go farther
- How to live on your income
- How to manage credit
- How to protect your family's financial security
- How to save for the future
- How your spending habits are influenced by family background

These classes are aimed at couples who...

- Are interested in making the most of their money
- Are between the ages of 18 & 30
- Are newlyweds or about to be married

The workshop will be most effective if you and your spouse are able to attend together. Many of the activities include interaction between the couples.

If you would like to enroll in the workshop series or if you know of someone who would, please call Kathryn Burch, County Extension Agent at 756-3316.

See, I told you so

IT'S FROM THE PENTAGON - THEY'RE SHUTTING DOWN OUR BASE.

NICE MEETING YOU, REVEREND... I'LL BE BACK WHEN THERE'S ANOTHER DROUGHT

Strictly personal:
Well, with a little luck combined with "miracle" surgery performed by Dr. John H. Sheets of Odessa I may be able to see some of the mistakes our readers notice in the Stanton Herald — BEFORE the newspaper is printed.
Dr. Sheets removed a cataract from my right eye Friday and I'm beginning to see the light. I was scared and I never prayed as much in my young life.

WALT FINLEY

Now for a few Martin County briefs:
Stanton Police Chief Mike Adams was voted an extra $1,500 by city councilmen in November for working long, long hours enforcing the law due to a shortage of patrolmen.
Glenn Brown, longtime owner of Stanton Drug Store, has lost 23 pounds since suffering a heart attack in early December. However, admits missing milk shakes and donuts.

Better late news than never. Roger Burch, owner of M&M Meter Service and who has a contract with the City of Stanton for refuse collection appeared before the city council to present a request for payment for damages for their refuse truck that happened as follows:
"The truck was working on a collection route on South College Street alley and fell into a filled excavation consisting of dirt and water, thereby tearing the rear wheels from said truck."

Mayor Danny Fryar went to the accident. City crews had performed water line repairs at the location. A motion was made by Councilman Bill Wheeler, recently elected mayor pro-tem, and seconded by Councilman Steve Garlington to accept the claim and send to the liability insurance carrier for the city. The motion carried.
It was through the generosity of Pat and Charlie High of Stanton that enabled "Caliph," the camel, to share the spotlight in the drive-thru nativity in Big Spring.

The Dec. 19-23 event of the First Church of the Nazarene attracted an estimated 6,000 persons, featured a cast of 130 persons, plus livestock.

Everybody sooner or later realizes his parents were right more often than he dreamed possible. It has been that way, no doubt, ever since Cain and Abel and all the other begats.

BUT SOMEHOW I think the current generation is in for the biggest shock of all when it finally finds out how many wrong ideas it has developed.

But let me tell you something. When that time comes, you can count on me to be right there offering solace and saying:

"I TOLD YOU SO, STUPID!!!"

THEN THERE'S my bright cousin, Dr. George Ladd, an Okie from Muskogee, who has a modern type story:

"A burlesque entertainer of uncertain gender, aided by a Danish surgeon, finally grows masculinity.

"He selected the name Vincent, billed himself as the world's only male ecdysiast, and attempted to resume his career.

"Alas for him, the public was not interested in seeing normal Vincent peel.

"Enough?"

HELP STAMP OUT Grapes!

A friend (I forgot who) pressed a rumbled clipping into my hand the other day. It had to do with the theft of 117 miles of sausage skin in England.

"Do you suppose these are the missing links?" he asked. "I think that's why I forgot who it was — repression.

WORD THAT in case of war, or police action or whatever our next involvement may be called, reserves will be sent in has upset some of my friends who are reservists.

"Good golly!" one said. "I didn't join the reserves to go to war!"

As a connoisseur of bumper stickers, I wonder what the first one was. The first one I remember, after an automobile assembly plant was moved to Dallas, was:

Made in Texas

By Texans

Soon thereafter one showed up in answer to that one:

Made in Oklahoma

By Indians

I WONDER if either the paleface or the Indian knew what they had wrought.

So far no Indian has claimed "Paleface speak with forked bumper sticker."

Your Paste-Pot-Man and my banking aunt, Leona Factor, have had a weight-losing contest going for eight months.

Recently we realized we've both gone up 10 pounds, so we are adjusting our calorie counting upward.

MAYBE I'D better leave the man's name out of it, but he's a conscientious father as well as a prominent Stanton businessman. And the other day he got off in a corner with his just-emerging-into-adolescence son for a heart-to-heart talk.

The dad dwelt at some length on the relationship of the sexes and on the dangers of petting and necking — how it often can lead to trouble; why it should be avoided or at least be restrained for the boy's own good.
The son listened respectfully. Then, when the talk was over, he said:
"Dad, that was a fine lecture and I appreciate it. As for necking and petting, I've already tried it, and I've decided I like it."

MY WONDERFUL aunt, Mildred Ladd, says:
"Most women know you can't buy happiness, but they keep trying to put it on their charge accounts."

REMEMBER HOW girls used to close the car windows so their hair wouldn't blow?
Now it's the boys who close the windows — and with hair spray yet.

NEW YORK (AP) — A 40-pound Pacific octopus has become the mother of hundreds of baby octopuses at the New York aquarium. Mother and babies are doing fine — but no one knows who the father is. — News item.

Gonzalo Reyna family celebrates Las Posadas

Our Spanish culture is rich in beauty and celebration. Christmas brings a special time to uphold the Las Posadas tradition.

Las Posadas literally translates "the dwellings." It is a time when friends and family gather first at the church then go in groups to sing and pray at various homes. The baby Jesus is carried from home to home. The singing was originally a gift from one family to the next. Refreshments are also served as part of the celebration.

The Gonzalo Reyna family of Stanton has a special way to celebrate Las Posadas. They celebrate the holiday in the traditional way of Mexico.

The family starts preparation in November with a special trip to Mexico to buy gifts, toys, and ornaments for the baby Jesus. They set apart a place of honor for the baby in a corner of their home. This place is kept intact throughout the year but is decorated for Christmas.

After the trip to Mexico the special corner is decorated with ornaments hung from the ceiling, evergreen shrubs, and various gifts.

It is decorated to honor Jesus' birth.

The Reynas also begin cooking for the special day, tamales, tortillas and chile. On the 25th, the shepherds offered all they had to the Christ child to honor Him, so they celebrate this by serving tamales.

On Christmas Eve friends and relatives gather at the Reynas to honor the baby Jesus. The celebration begins when everyone gathers in front of the manger scene. The padrinos or godparents kneel by the baby in a place of honor. The children go first to kiss the baby and give gifts. The children are given bags of fruit when they are finished. Then everyone has a turn to give gifts and kiss the baby. Prayers are said and songs of worship are sung.

On the 12th day of Christmas, Jan. 6th the 3 Kings arrived to honor the Christ. So to celebrate this special day, the Reynas again serve pastries, sopapillas and the hot cocoa and cinnamon punch called canales. The sopapilla and punch represent the Eucharist, the Lord's Supper, making this a Holy celebration.

After the worship the food is served and friendship shared.

The Reynas are proud of this tradition, that has been practiced for four generations, and this custom makes Christmas a special time of joy and sharing. All the work and preparation are worth the happiness that the celebration brings.

Stenholm nominates 13 to service academies

Thirteen West Texas residents have been nominated to the United States service academies by U.S. Rep. Charles Stenholm for classes forming in July.

The nominees will compete to fill one vacancy at the United States Naval Academy, the U.S. Air Force Academy, the U.S. Military Academy (Army) and the U.S. Merchant Marine Academy.

Big Country nominees and the academies they would like to attend are:

Garry Layne Brewer of Clyde, Merchant Marine; Jerry Britt Etheredge of Roscoe, Air Force; Gregory Shane Evatt of Stephenville, Army and Merchant Marine;

William Watler Green of Anson, Naval; James Robert McCann of Sweetwater, Naval and Merchant Marine; Kelly Dean Parks of Big Spring, Army; Jason Michael Pendleton of Breckenridge, Naval and Merchant Marine; Darrell F. Reinke of Stephenville, Merchant Marine; Conda Holt Richards of Bronte, Army; Jace Lynn Rodgers of Throckmorton, Army; Thane Monroe Russey of Big Spring, Air Force; Tod Neal Strickland of Winters, Naval; and Trevor Lawrence Thuet of Post, Air Force.

50th wedding event held for Millers

In celebration of Jim and Gordean Miller's 50th Wedding Anniversary, the family gave a surprise party at their home in Stanton.

Jim and the former Gordean Tunnell were married Dec. 30, 1938 in Big Spring and have lived in Martin County most of the time since their marriage.

Attending the celebration were the couple's children: Merle and Lucy Miller, Monahans; Jimmy and Reba Kay Miller, Barnhart; Johnny and Sandra Krause, Midland; Johnny and Lynn Miller, Tarzan.

Grandchildren: Kerry and Lynn Miller, Grand Prairie; Kristie Miller, Lubbock; Private Wade Miller, San Diego, Calif.; Jena Miller, San Angelo; Shawn Miller, Barnhart; Jaimie Miller, Barnhart; Troy and Teresa Sapp, Midland; Will Miller, Tarzan and Lee Ann Miller, Tarzan.

Great-grandchildren: Haley Miller, Grand Prairie; and Ashley Sapp, Midland.

Lenorah ginner named to commission

LENORAH — Myrl Mitchell, a ginner and cotton industry leader, has been appointed to the Commission on the Improvement of the Federal Crop Insurance Program by Agriculture Secretary Richard Lyng.

The commission was authorized by the Federal Crop Insurance Commission Act which was signed by President Reagan Oct. 28. The legislation was passed by Congress in response to recent concerns over the number of farmers participating in the crop insurance program.

Mitchell joins 24 others from across the nation on the board.

"We are pleased we have such a well-qualified group to study and make recommendations for the future operations of this program," said Kenneth A. Gilles of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's

Washington office. "While USDA's Federal Crop Insurance Corp. (FCIC) has been working hard to improve crop insurance, we expect the commission to be very helpful in assisting with these efforts."

The commission includes 10 members from agriculture, 10 from the insurance industry, the FCIC manager and four ex-officio members (the chairman and ranking minority members of the House and Senate agriculture committees or their designees).

The commission is required by law to hold its first meeting within 30 days of its appointment and to file reports to Congress on April 1 and July 1, 1989. The commission also is required to file monthly reports on its progress until its termination Dec. 31, 1990. Members will serve without compensation.

Need something repaired? Call the Furniture Doctor

The Furniture Doctor offers repairs to wood, metal, modern and antique furniture "from water, fire, and moving damage to complete refinishing from just old age," says Jan Noyes, owner.

In the carpenter shop, the Furniture Doctor's staff performs the smallest repair from gluing a chair to manufacturing replacement parts, repairing veneers and turning table and chair legs, stretchers, rungs, and chair backs. They also do sheet cane replacement. Jan weaves rush chair seats and repairs minor vinyl damage from burns and tears.

In the strip shop, the staff chemically removes paint and varnish finishes from wood and metal. In the finish shop, the crew sands, stains, seals and finishes or paints all the stripped furniture and new furniture and cabinets. The service also offers minor repairs to furniture in your home.

The Furniture Doctor has hard to find specialty hardware for trunks, cedar chests, desk locks, brass hardware and screws, and other antique accessories.

For your furniture repair needs, contact The Furniture Doctor at 267-5811. The firm is affiliated with Bob's Custom Woodwork and located at 613 N. Warehouse Road in the Industrial Park. The shop is open Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 12 p.m. and 1 to 5 p.m. or by appointment.

Dollar movie plan at Cinema

HERALD STAFF REPORT

The Cinema at College Park became a dollar movie theatre Friday, according to Inez Petty, a theatre employee.

As a dollar movie theatre, The Cinema will show second-run movies, as opposed to new releases. The Cinema will feature two different movies each week, Petty said.

Marriage and finances

By NAOMI HUNT
County Extension Agent

While money is probably not the only cause for the break-up of second marriages, it is probably a contributing factor in many cases. The divorce rate for second marriages is higher than for first marriages; 54 percent of women and 61 percent of men in their 30s will divorce a second time.

Remarried couples face special situations in which their old methods of handling money may be inappropriate. Here, for example, are some of the common financial problems remarried couples must confront:

- Limited discussions about finances prior to remarriage.
- A man may feel torn between financial demands of two families or may be reluctant to assume financial responsibility for his new wife's children. A woman may be afraid of imposing the financial burdens of her children on her new husband.
- Some men put off revising wills, life insurance and property titles. Women may hesitate to reveal their financial status and hide away money because they fear another divorce. Both men and women are reluctant to disclose all their assets.
- The custodial parent who must reply on his or her former spouse for child support payments may feel financial uncertainty.
- The new spouse in a non-custodial family may fear his or her salary may be used to justify an increase in child support payments.
- Both spouses may face unclear financial responsibilities regarding medical, education and other needs beyond child support payments.

Some suggestions for remarried couples are:

1. Communicate about mutual values and goals.
2. Understand past decision-making and spending styles and agree on current styles.
3. Decide how to handle current financial responsibilities including existing debts, spousal support payments, child support payments, support of elderly parents.
4. Agree to pool or separate finances.
5. Develop and use a family spending plan.
6. Settle legal questions like custody of children, guardianship, property ownership, wills and estate planning.

Newly remarried couples are also eligible to participate in the Financial Management Training which will begin Jan. 30. Kathryn Burch, Extension Home Economist for Martin and Glasscock Counties and I will team teach the series.

The program has 3 components: 1) three, 2-hour workshop sessions; 2) a 5-part lesson series mailed to participating couples; and 3) a final educational event for the couples at the conclusion of the program.

Focus on family

A registration fee of $20 per couple will be charged. Each couple who completes the program will receive a $10 refund; the remaining funds will be used to purchase special program materials and defray program costs.

To help us prepare enough materials it is important to register as soon as possible. To register or for more information, contact Naomi Hunt at 267-8469, or Kathryn Burch at 756-3316 in Stanton.

GOODYEAR CERTIFIED AUTO SERVICE

HAVING TROUBLE STOPPING?

If your brakes are screaming for attention, head for the red, white and blue sign of Goodyear Certified Auto Service. The place where your car — and your brakes — will get the best of treatment.

Goodyear quality care begins with a staff of trained auto technicians. Graduates of Goodyear training schools in high-tech repair and maintenance of today's automobiles, many of them also proudly wear the ASE emblem on their sleeves — having passed the requirements of the National Institute of Automobile Service Excellence. The equipment they use is the very best; on some services it's even computerized for speed and accuracy. And you'll like the job they do, because it comes with a written guarantee. Your Goodyear retailer has the details of our Nationwide Warranty, and a pledge to you to do the job right.

DISC BRAKE SERVICE $89

Preventive maintenance on your car is important. But preventive maintenance on your brakes is very important. Drive to a Goodyear Certified Auto Service Center and ask a Goodyear technician to service your brakes. Our disc brake service includes new front disc pads, repacked wheel bearings and resurfaced front rotors. The price applies to conventional rear wheel drive vehicles. Prices vary for front wheel drive. Hydraulic service, at additional cost, recommended when needed. Limited warranty for 6 months or 6,000 miles, whichever comes first. Ask for details.

COMPUTERIZED WHEEL ALIGNMENT

$38* $48****

*We'll set front wheel caster, camber and toe on cars with adjustable rear suspension while referencing and compensating thrust line. Chevettes, Fieros, light trucks, 4-wheel drive vehicles and cars requiring MacPherson strut correction extra.

**In cars where four wheel alignments are possible, we computer align front and rear wheels to exact manufacturer's specifications, while referencing and adjusting thrust line for maximum tire mileage. Rear shims and installation extra, if required.

Limited warranty for 6 months or 6,000 miles, whichever comes first.

GOODYEAR DOUBLE EAGLE BATTERY

Installed

It's Goodyear's finest battery — the Goodyear Double Eagle. It's maintenance free and has plenty of power to get you started, then be off and running. You'll have all the cold-cranking power you'll ever need.

Limited 6-year warranty. Ask for details.

OIL FILTER, CHASSIS LUBE & OIL CHANGE

$14.95

There's nothing like regular oil changes to extend the life of your car's engine. When Goodyear auto technicians do the job, we'll drain the old oil and replace it with up to five quarts of premium grade motor oil. We'll put in a fresh new oil filter and professionally lubricate your car to manufacturer's specifications. (Special diesel oil and filter type may result in extra charges.)

COMPUTERIZED ENGINE ANALYSIS

$39

We'll do 100 tests on your high tech car before we'll do a tune-up. Our computerized engine analyzer performs more than 100 comprehensive tests on your car's engine. Problems are pinpointed quickly and accurately. And you'll be given a computer printout that clearly identifies problem areas.

Anniversaries The Horace Cooks

Horace and Irene Cook celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Saturday at a reception at Baptist Temple Church.

The event was hosted by their children and grandchildren.

Cook was born April 7, 1914 in Wylie.

Mrs. Cook, the former Irene Gibson, was born Jan. 25, 1920 in Runnels County.

The Cooks met in late 1936 at Guitart Farm in Big Spring, and were married Jan. 9, 1939 at the Howard County Courthouse, with Justice of the Peace J.H. Hefley, officiating.

They have three children: Donald Cook, Houston; Jerry Cook, Plano; and Linda Harben, Lubbock; and eight grandchildren.

During their marriage, the Cooks have lived in Houston and Big Spring.

Mrs. Cook worked in the snack bar at Coliad School for 12 years.

MR. AND MRS. HORACE COOK

They are members of Baptist Temple Church.

When asked to comment about their marriage they said, "It's been wonderful and difficult at times, but mostly its been good to be together so long."

Hobbies and interests include traveling to visit children and grandchildren.

The Martell Lewises

Mr. and Mrs. Martell Lewis celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Dec. 25 at a family gathering at the Lubbock home of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Cundiff.

Lewis was born July 23, 1916 in Blum.

Mrs. Lewis, the former Letha Mae Villyard, was born Aug. 14, 1920 in Humble.

The Lewises met as teenagers, and were married Dec. 25, 1938 at First Baptist Church, Overton, with Rev. C.W. "Happy" Holmes, officiating.

They have three children: Jerry F. Lewis, Killeen; Linda Cundiff, Lubbock; and Peggy

Smith, Spokane, Wash.; and seven grandchildren, and 3 great-granddaughters.

During their marriage, the Lewises have lived in Overton and Big Spring.

Before retiring, Lewis was LGP coordinator for Gulf Pipeline for 41 years.

Mrs. Lewis is an artist and a homemaker.

They are members of East Fourth Street Baptist Church, and are former members of the Prosperator's Club. Mrs. Lewis is a member of the Art Club.

Coahoma 4-H members meet

Coahoma 4-H Club met Dec. 13 at Coahoma Elementary School, with 14 members and seven adults in attendance.

President Denise Walker called the meeting to order; Emily Sanders led the group in the pledge of allegiance; Michael Brooks led the 4-H motto and pledge; and Robb Walker led the group in prayer.

Justin Wood read the minutes of the previous meeting. Becky Walker, treasurer, read the financial report.

4-H Project Day in November.

Wood reported on the Martin County Stock Show; Carol Hiley discussed the District food show at Fort Stockton; and Eli Sanders reported on the pecan show, in which he participated.

Denise Walker discussed the 4-H county-wide Christmas party Dec. 3. The group won first place for their float entry in the Christmas parade.

Members gathered recipes to compile for a fundraiser.

Military

Mark Wray Garrett, son of Paul and Rosemary Garrett, graduated Dec. 17 from Texas Tech University with a bachelor's degree in landscape architecture.

Garrett was commissioned a second lieutenant in the United States Army July 4 at Ft. Riley, Kan.

A 1978 graduate of Big Spring High School, he is married to the former Michelle Soles.

Local auto dealer aids Midland Lee's band

A Big Spring auto dealer has pledged to help send a Midland high school band to Washington, D.C., for the Presidential inauguration Jan. 20.

Midland Lee's high school band needs approximately $150,000 to fly its 300 members and ship their instruments to the nation's capital; according to a Midland radio station advertising executive, the band had raised $54,635 by Friday.

Although other area auto dealers and businesses had been approached, none had "found a way to help (the band)," according to the KNFM accounts representative, who asked that her name not be used, until she approached Big Spring Chrysler dealer J.B. Elmore. "It took him about 60 seconds — just long enough for me to finish the sentence."

Elmore confirmed Friday that his dealerships in Big Spring and Snyder are donating $100 per vehicle sold, new or used, to send Lee to D.C. The campaign will continue through Jan. 21, he said.

"West Texas has been good to us," Elmore said, "and doing this is our way of showing we appreciate it. I believe West Texas will pull together to send these kids to Washington."

"(President-elect) George Bush is local, he's from Midland, he's from West Texas. Let's make him proud of where he's from."

Elmore said his dealerships are projecting combined sales of 150 vehicles during the campaign; six units have sold in Snyder since Jan. 1, and a total of 18 autos have been sold since the campaign began. "We have a long ways to go, but we can do it. West Texas pulls together when it's needed."

Elmore said his customers in Big Spring and Snyder have been "really receptive" to the campaign.

"I believe the entire West Texas region will get behind this (campaign)," Elmore said. "West Texas is real strong in pulling together."

Elmore said Friday that the band will leave Jan. 18, and at that time he plans to present a donation representing the average daily sales figure for the dealerships through Jan. 21 to the band. He said he felt 150 units was a realistic sales goal; if sales exceed 150, resulting funds will be used to purchase equipment for the band.

As the KNFM representative explained Saturday, "It's the whole Permian Basin, not just Midland or Odessa or Big Spring."

"The band's really excited about (the Elmore campaign)," she continued. "The whole campaign is really about one thing: Let's send Lee to D.C." Door-to-door solicitations have raised approximately $10,000 for the band's trip, she said.

"When we talked to the band directors and to Brenda Sorrels, who's involved in financing their trip, they were thrilled to death. Brenda said they had approached other area dealers and had approached other businesses, but none of them had found a way to help."

Wedding

Self-Cunningham

Rebecca Annette Self, P.O. Box 947, and Buddy Alexander Cunningham, 2525 Ent Dr., exchanged wedding vows Saturday, Jan. 7, 1988 at a 7:30 p.m. ceremony at Hillcrest Baptist Church, with Bro. Roy Roberson, pastor of Temple of Truth, officiating.

The bride is the daughter of E.J. and Kaye Self.

Bridegroom's parents are Jack and Nancy Cunningham. The couple stood before an altar decorated with pink and blue carnations, a spiral candelabra and a unity candle.

Vocalist was Barbara Kennedy. Pianist was Maureen Huff.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a two-piece, tea-length skirt ensemble. The shoulders were fashioned with pearls. Her hat, accented with rhinestones and pearls, featured a long, flowing veil.

Bridesmaid was Cheyenne Swafford, bride's friend, Big Spring. Best man was Leon Henry, Odessa.

Ushers were Elmer Clinton and Clifton Clinton, both of Big Spring.

After the wedding, a reception was hosted in the fellowship hall. Guests were served a three-tiered, heart-shaped wedding cake, decorated in burgundy, pink and white. A bride and bridegroom figurine topped the cake.

The bride is a junior at Forsan High School.

The bridegroom is employed by Superior Car Wash.

Diet Pills Sweeping U.S.

Doctors Invent 'Lazy Way' to Lose Weight

U.S. Gov't Approves Patent Claims for New Diet Pill

BEVERLY HILLS, CA (Special) — An amazing new weight loss pill called "fat-magnet" has recently been developed and perfected by two prominent doctors at a world famous hospital in Los Angeles that reportedly "guarantees" you steady fat loss and calorie reduction by simply taking their tested and proven new pill.

The U.S. government has just approved the doctors' claims for a hard-to-get patent that confirms "there has never been anything like their fat-bonding pill process before." It is a totally new major scientific breakthrough and is revolutionizing the weight loss industry.

You Can "Eat Normally"

Best of all, "you can continue to eat your favorite foods and you don't have to change your normal eating habits. You can start losing fat and reduce calories from the very first day, until you achieve the ideal weight you desire without exercising."

Flushes Fat Out of Body

The new pill is appropriately called the "fat-magnet" pill because it breaks into thousands of particles, each acting like a tiny magnet, "attracting" and trapping many times its size in undigested fat particles. Then, all the trapped fat and calories are naturally "flushed" right out of your body because they cannot be absorbed.

Within 2 days you should notice a change in the color of your stool, caused by the fat particles being eliminated.

"Automatically" Lose Fat

According to one of the inventors, Dr. William Shell, heart specialist and associate professor of medicine at UCLA medical school, "the new fat-bonding process is a "lazy way" to lose weight because the pills alone "automatically" reduce calories by eliminating dietary fat. It is 100% safe and not a drug."

The fat-magnet pills are already sweeping the country with glowing reports of weight loss from formerly overweight people in all walks of life who are now slimmer, trimmer and more attractive again.

Now Available to the Public

If you are trying to lose 20, 50, 100 pounds or more, you can order your supply of these "no-risk" highly successful fat-magnet pills directly from the doctors' exclusive manufacturer only (includes optional calorie-reduction plan for even better results). Send $20 for a 90 pill supply (+$3 handling), or $35 for a 180 pill supply (+$3 handling), to: Fat-Magnet, 9016 Wilshire Blvd., Dept. W842, Beverly Hills, CA 90211. (Unconditional money-back guarantee, fee if not 100% satisfied.) Visa, MasterCard and American Express OK. (Send card number, expire date, and signature.) For fastest service for credit card orders ONLY call anytime 24 hours, toll free (800) 527-9700, ext. W842.

BUSINESS & INDUSTRY REVIEW

Need something repaired? Call the Furniture Doctor

The Furniture Doctor offers repairs to wood, metal, modern and antique furniture "from water, fire, and moving damage to complete refinishing from just old age," says Jan Noyes, owner.

In the carpenter shop, the Furniture Doctor's staff performs the smallest repair from gluing a chair to manufacturing replacement parts, repairing veneers and turning table and chair legs, stretchers, rungs, and chair backs. They also do sheet cane replacement. Jan weaves rush chair seats and repairs minor vinyl damage from burns and tears.

In the strip shop, the staff chemically removes paint and varnish finishes from wood and metal. In the finish shop, the crew sands, stains, seals and finishes or paints all the stripped furniture and new furniture and cabinets. The service also offers minor repairs to furniture in your home.

The Furniture Doctor has hard to find specialty hardware for trunks, cedar chests, desk locks, brass hardware and screws, and other antique accessories.

For your furniture repair needs, contact The Furniture Doctor at 267-5811. The firm is affiliated with Bob's Custom Woodwork and located at 613 N. Warehouse Road in the Industrial Park. The shop is open Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 12 p.m. and 1 to 5 p.m. or by appointment.

TRANSMISSION TIP — Transmissions merit attention regularly, especially if you drive a great distance, vacation in the mountains or pull heavy loads. Smith's Automatic Transmission specializes in transmissions, including cars, pick-ups, 4-wheel drives and RV's. The firm is located at 2900 F.M. 700, east of Big Spring Mall. No appointment is necessary.

Tidbits

By LEA WHITEHEAD Staff Writer

Big Spring residents were on the front row to view the Rose Bowl Parade in Pasadena, Cal., January 2.

Gary Don Carey, and children, Kendra and Bill, Lance Moore and Karen Neighbors flew to the West Coast to visit friends Don and Brenda Hill.

"We took our bedrolls," said Gary Don, "and camped out overnight to protect our spot on the parade route!" The spot had already been staked out by friend Don, who camped there the night before.

"Everybody does it," explained Gary Don, adding that his friend had been camping out on the route for the past 20 years. "We were right on the curb." From that vantage point, the floats took on "majestic dimensions," he said.

The group also took in the races at San Anita.

Donette and Rodney Phillips spent part of their Christmas holiday doing handyman jobs!

Their son, Roddy Phillips, has moved into his own home in Austin, and they volunteered to help him do needed repairs. "We spent one night at Roddy's," says Donette, "and he fixed breakfast for us. That was a first."
All the family got together in Austin for a Christmas visit, including Donette's mother, Wanda O'Connor; sisters Cathy Bennight and Patricia Patterson; and brother, Bill O'Connor; and Rodney's mother, Lillie Phillips.

What a Christmas present it was for Cotten and Billie Mize! The Mizes received an all-expenses with gifts of bovine likenesses — on canisters, dishes, trivets, wind chimes, socks, mugs, magnets — even a clock!

Doris Standard and Cynthia Weeks with daughter, Tatum, spent the New Year's holiday in Waco visiting former Big Spring residents, Doug and Amy Mann.

Other guests at the New Year's Eve party hosted by the Manns were Amy's brother, Ewing Shields and his family, who were visiting from Saudi Arabia; Amy's parents, Jack and Nancy Shields, who have recently moved to Waco from Mexico City; and Doug's mother, Laura Lou Shields, who owns a chic children's boutique in Waco.

Meanwhile, while Cynthia was welcoming the New Year in Waco, husband John Weeks and Mike Scarbrough were officiating at the prestigious 31st Annual Holidays High School Basketball Tournament, Dec. 29-31 in Ft. Worth. The tournament, sponsored by the Westside Lions Club, drew 32 teams.

John and Mike have followed this avocation for about 17 years, and from November through March are constantly in demand as game officials.

Ethel McCanless spent a two-week holiday in Jackson, Miss., visiting relatives. She stayed at the home of a cousin, Florence Dixon. "I had a wonderful time," she said.

Ethel's sister, Dorothy Cone, who lives in Florida, joined them for a few days.
