Shamir pledges to work for peace

By BARRY SCHWEID
AP Diplomatic Writer

WASHINGTON — Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir began a visit to Washington today pledging to work with the United States in a search for peace openings in the Middle East.

"We are among friends," Shamir said.

During the visit the prime minister will sketch his plan for Palestinian elections on the West Bank and Gaza.

In an arrival statement, Shamir said he hoped his visit would open "vistas" to peace while he works with U.S. officials "in mutual understanding and respect."

His aim in the election proposal is to find leaders other than from the Palestine Liberation Organization to negotiate some form of self-rule for the 1.2 million Arabs in the territories.

The 73-year-old prime minister steadfastly refuses to negotiate with the Palestine Liberation Organization, and told a conference of Jewish-American organization leaders that sitting with the PLO "will bring disaster."

While Shamir has withheld many of the details until he sees Secretary of State James A. Baker III today and President Bush on Thursday, he apparently intends to hold the elections only after the 15½-month uprising subsides.

The Bush administration is seeking a more immediate change in the situation. And yet, a U.S. official, briefing reporters Tuesday at the White House on the visit, said, "We want to listen to what Prime Minister Shamir has to say how the peace process can be moved forward, but I don't want to pre-judge what, in fact, he is going to tell the president."

Shamir follows close on the heels of Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak, who said toward the end of his Washington visit on Tuesday that he saw no way to stop the violence in the territories lost by the Arabs in the 1967 Middle East war.

The Palestinian has cost the lives of 418 Palestinian Arabs and 18 Israelis.

"If anybody could stop it, we would be very pleased," Mubarak said. "But how?"

The Egyptian leader made no public demands on the United States or Israel. He said he was simply "trying to find out what's the best way to achieve peace" through negotiations.

Mubarak, who has insisted that Israel deal with the PLO, withheld judgment on Shamir's proposal. He said the criterion should be whether an election would help advance the peace process.

The Egyptian leader was warmly received by the Bush administration. Bush took him to Baltimore on Monday to see the Orioles and the Boston Red Sox play in the opening game of the American League season.

Shamir will be entertained with a series of luncheons and dinners, but there was no event scheduled to match the friendly spectacle of Mubarak and Bush sitting side-by-side at the ball game.

The U.S. official who gave the briefing Tuesday praised Israel as a staunch U.S. ally. But he also said there would be "candid give-and-take" with Shamir, which is a

Panel probes benefits

By JIM DRINKARD
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — The House ethics committee is looking into whether $100,000 in benefits paid to House Speaker Jim Wright by his business associate were unreported gifts intended to buy influence over legislation affecting the savings and loan industry.

A key to that question, as the panel resumes its deliberations today after a two-week Easter break, is whether Fort Worth real estate developer George Mallick had a direct interest in legislation dealing with S&Ls when he paid the benefits to Wright.

Committee Chairman Julian Dixon, D-Calif., said he expected the panel could reach some conclusion on the Wright case next week.

But the Washington Post reported in today's editions that the panel has decided several charges against Wright should be dropped.

Those include Wright's intervention with federal banking regulators on behalf of hard-pressed Texas institutions, his intercession with government officials on behalf of a Texas oil and gas company, and his use of a government-paid staff aide to compile parts of a book.

But the report said the committee still must resolve Wright's dealings with Mallick.

Mallick, Wright and their wives were partners in a small investment corporation, Mallichtco, from 1979 until last year. During that time, Mallick gave Wright the use of a Fort Worth condominium for only a nominal fee, the use of a 1979 Cadillac and until 1984 paid Wright's wife, Betty, $18,000 a year in salary for part-time investment advice.

Sources familiar with the investigation have said the panel's outside counsel, Richard Phelan, has been highly skeptical of the benefits that went from Mallick to Wright and doubted whether Mrs. Wright

Diabetic program to expand

By BRADLEY WORRELL
Staff Writer

County officials, largely pleased with the first instructional meeting on diet and health care for diabetic indigents, have decided to expand the program to twice-a-month sessions.

"I think they were happy (with the program)," County Welfare Director Irene Rodriguez said of the first meeting.

"There were others who weren't clients who called and wanted to know if they could attend too," she said.

"I'm not convinced yet," Rodriguez said of the possible effectiveness of the program, "but it feels good." Twice-a-month meetings should allow for more instruction and more review from previous lessons, she said.

County Commissioner William B. Crooker, a diabetic and the originator of the preventative health care program, said he was encouraged by last month's attendance for the meeting.

"I was there for the start of the meeting. The attendance was good," Crooker said, noting that husbands and wives of diabetics also attended the meeting.

Crooker, who originally envisioned monthly meetings, said the meetings have been changed to twice a month while the program is still new to help it get started.

"We'll think about monthly meetings for later," he said.

County Extension Agent Naomi Hunt was more guarded in her opinion of the meeting. "I'm really tentative; I'm hopeful, but I haven't seen any changes yet," she said, noting it was the first group meeting so far. Hunt added that people who have been diabetic for years may find the changes in diet difficult to adapt.

The next meeting, scheduled for April 14, will focus on the importance of diet, Crooker said. Hunt, who will rotate instructional responsibilities with the county nurse or a dietician, is scheduled to teach at the next session.

"What I'm going to teach is what the (food-exchange program) means," she said. The exchange is learning how to create balanced meals using the different food groups, she explained.

"(Getting too much) carbohydrates is the biggest problems for diabetics," she said.

The goal of the program, Hunt said, "is presenting information about what the disease is and how it works a level they haven't understood before."

The ability of the preventative health care program to cut down on medical bills may be difficult to monitor at first, but Crooker said he believes in the ultimate success of the program.

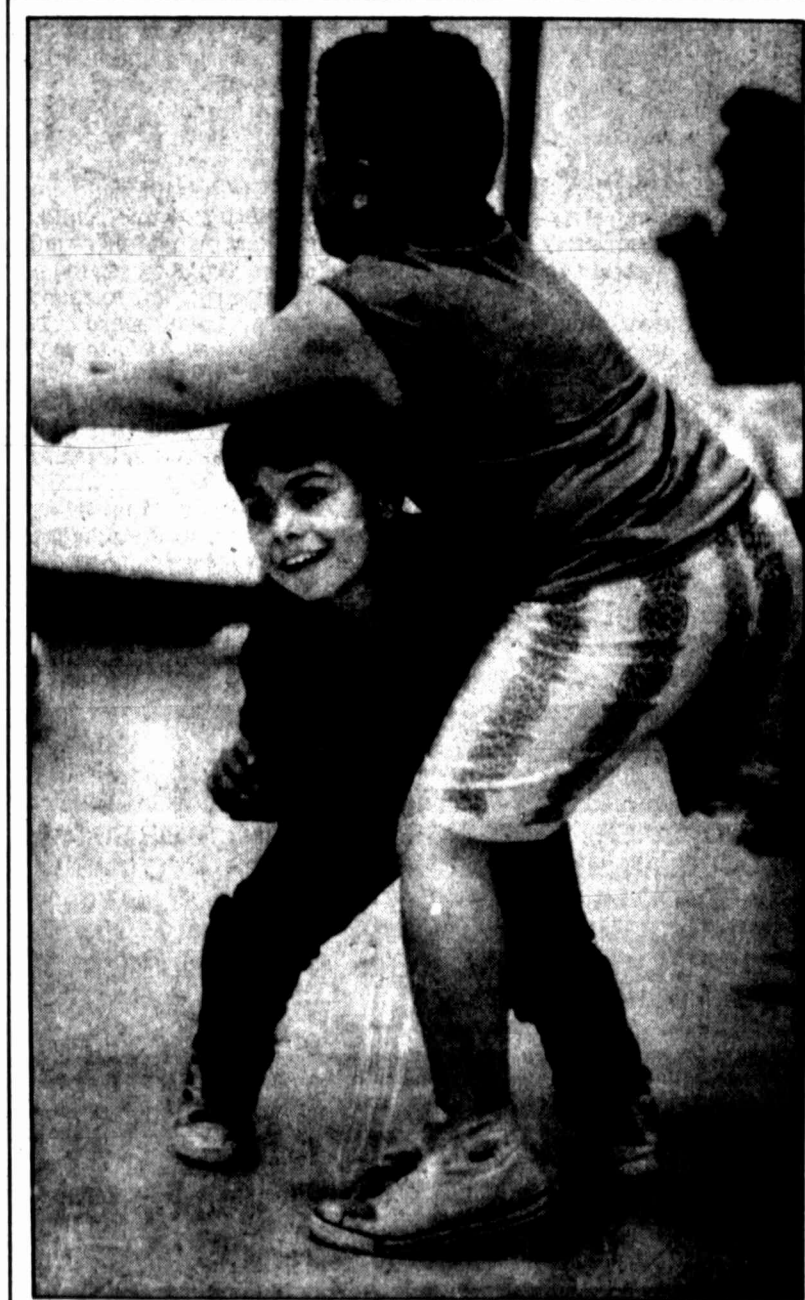

"Our success will help them and the county (by) lessening the tax burden," he said. "We're hoping to give them a better, healthier life and save tax dollars in the process."

'Are you OK?' — computer helps care for sick, elderly

By TONY KENNEDY
Associated Press Writer

COON RAPIDS, Minn. — A self-taught computer wizard is attracting the attention of police from around the nation and Scotland Yard for a computer dialing program that checks on elderly people who live alone.

"Good morning!" the recorded message announces. "Are you O.K.?"

If the recipient of the call utters a response, the computer assumes the answer is yes and moves on to the next person. If there's no answer or the telephone is busy, the computer repeats the call.

But if there's no answer a second or third time, the computer designed by Bruce Johnson sounds an alert to law enforcement officials who dispatch a squad car to see if anyone is in danger.

"It's a good deal all the way through," said Clyde Ritter, 73, of rural Osage, Iowa. "They say it saved my life."

Ritter had gone into a diabetic coma one morning in August at his home five miles northwest of Osage.

The town's "Are You O.K.?" computer at police headquarters alerted authorities that Ritter failed to answer a second call, and a deputy sheriff was sent to the home. He found Ritter comatose and summoned an ambulance.

"I guess I credit the system for saving at least one life," said Osage Police Officer Michael DeKruif. "We've had tremendous success with it."

Besides Ritter's rescue, the system has alerted Osage police to an elderly man whose hands were caught in a window — trapping him inside his own home — and to three elderly people who had fallen in their homes and needed police to help them.

"I haven't seen anything like it," said Retha Jefferson, a police department desk officer in Belhaven, N.C. "It's just that officers respond to calls all the time of neighbors not seeing their neighbors for two or three days and then it's too late."

Jefferson, who manually calls about 45 elderly people each day to check on them, said Belhaven is raising $7,000 to buy a system.

Death changes city's outlook

By RICHARD BENKE

LOS ALAMOS, N.M. — When Jennifer Fleming died after a car crash early on New Year's Day 1988, it changed the way Los Alamos looked at alcohol.

"It's totally just not cool to drink and drive anymore," said Los Alamos County youth coordinator Peggy Vigil. Students "see those who drink and drive as the enemy. They saw public outrage, perhaps you could say community anger."

Jennifer, 16, a Los Alamos High School junior, was fatally injured while driving around to help sober up a friend who'd been drinking. Jennifer had spent the evening at an alcohol-free dance she'd helped organize.

"I didn't want to go home at the time because I was afraid my parents would find out," said Laura Root, who was with Jennifer's and two friends when a pickup swerved to avoid a stopped car and crushed Jennifer's car.

"Before the accident, I was on a crash course," Laura said. "I was doing things. I was lying to my parents. I was totally out of control. I guess for me it took one of my best friends dying to realize I couldn't live that way any more. It wasn't worth it. It just wasn't worth it."

She lost 12 teeth, suffered a bruised spinal cord and a crushed knee that had metal from the wreckage embedded in it. "They're still reconstructing my mouth. Sometime this summer they should be done."

Jeff Bussolini permanently lost all but peripheral vision in his left eye and suffered a fractured hip, arm and 20 to 30 fractures in his face.

Stephanie Van Dyck had fractures of the foot, arm, ribs, hand and face and a punctured lung. She still feels pain more than a year later.

After they got out of the hospital, Jeff, Stephanie and Laura helped found a chapter of Students Against Driving Drunk. The 20-member chapter held an

Shamir

I am not going to get into the diplomatic way of suggesting disagreement.

The U.S. official, who insisted on anonymity, called the situation on the West Bank untenable but declined to say whether the Bush administration held the PLO accountable.

"The Palestinian insurgency, which Shamir and other Israeli officials say was inspired and is maintained by the PLO, began in December 1987 and has had the effect of enhancing U.S. interest in the situation on the West Bank and in Gaza.

Mubarak, in response to a question, told reporters: "Neither you nor anybody else would be able to stop the intifada. . . . Let us be realistic and practical. We all hope that we could reach peace and avoid losing lives and spending money for killing and bloodshed."

In a statement timed to Shamir's visit, 200 American Jews challenged the prime minister and urged him to open negotiations with the PLO.

"Many American Jews, loyal supporters of Israel, do not support the suppression of the Palestinian people and the continued occupation of the West Bank and Gaza," the statement said. "You do not have a blank check from American Jewry to continue these policies."

The statement was released in Oakland, Calif., by Tikken, a bimonthly magazine that concentrates on political and cultural issues of special interest to American Jews.

Mallick testified in a deposition in the case last May that he knew the loan was going bad early in 1986, and blamed the problem in part on pressure on S&Ls by federal regulators.

"Many of the institutions were under the supervision of the regulators," Mallick said in the deposition. "They weren't able to be flexible with their borrowers in order to maneuver and work things out."

Mallick organized a meeting later in 1986 at which area developers and lenders complained to Wright about the heavy-handedness of regulators, and he prepared a report on the subject at Wright's request.

At the time, Wright was lobbying savings industry regulators on behalf of some Texas institutions, and later approached House colleagues to argue for requiring that regulators be more lenient with troubled S&Ls.

Wright has maintained he is innocent of the charges against him since the probe was opened last June, and strongly denied on Tuesday that Mallick has ever asked him for favors.

"He has never asked me for any official assistance in any way, shape or form," Wright said. He said that many other Texas lawmakers of both parties had favored the same legislation because of their state's depressed economy.

But in recent weeks Wright has made his denials less categorical, admitting he may have made mistakes.

On Tuesday, some ethics committee members took new depositions.

HERALD STAFF REPORT

Mayor candidates Maxwell Green and A.C. "Cotton" Mize will face questions from city businessmen during a Thursday community breakfast.

The breakfast, sponsored by the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, is scheduled for 7 a.m. at Furr's Cafeteria and should last about one hour. The event is open to the public on a "pay-your-own-way" basis.

Ken Dunwoody, chairman of the major employer's committee, said a three-member panel will moderate the question and answer session. The panel will have a prepared list of questions and will accept business-related questions from the floor after a short review, Dunwoody said.

Dunwoody said the review is necessary to ensure no questions have been planted in the audience by the candidates.

The panel includes: Robert Wernsman, Big Spring Herald; David Wrinkle, radio station KBST; and Dick Fields, radio station KIOL.

Each candidate will be given a certain amount of time for responses and both will have a chance to answer each question, Dunwoody said.

The community breakfast is the second in five months sponsored by the chamber. It won't be a regular event, Dunwoody said, but will be held on an as-needed basis.

"When we see an opportunity for the business community to sit down and discuss common concerns, then we'll have one," Dunwoody said.

Windham granted continuance

HERALD STAFF REPORT

The trial of W.W. Windham in Abilene's federal court has been granted an indefinite continuance, federal court officials reported Tuesday.

Jury selection for the trial was to have begun this week. However, the trial on charges of falsification of five monthly wastewater discharge reports, was continued — possibly until summer — federal prosecutors have said.

The reason given for the continuation, court officers said, was for "additional discovery."

had done any substantial work in return for her salary.

It was unclear whether the ethics committee — six Democrats and six Republicans — agrees with Phelan's assessment.

"The standard that is to be applied (to the Wright-Mallick relationship) is obviously one that has to be discussed," Dixon said.

Further complicating the situation is a $2.2 million loan made in 1985 to Mallick's sons, Stephen and Michael, and co-signed by their father, to develop a small shopping center.

The loan, first reported on Tuesday by the Wall Street Journal, has since been foreclosed and the Mallicks are being sued for $1 million in losses suffered by the lender, In-terwest Savings Association, which later was taken over by regulators. Mallick testified in a deposition in the case last May that he knew the loan was going bad early in 1986, and blamed the problem in part on pressure on S&Ls by federal regulators.

"Many of the institutions were under the supervision of the regulators," Mallick said in the deposition. "They weren't able to be flexible with their borrowers in order to maneuver and work things out."

Blot on Exxon's moral ledger

Exxon is a model corporation — on the books. In an era of declining oil prices, it managed to make record profits. It did so by cutting back on equipment, slimming down its staff, doing all the things that make corporations look good on paper. A model public-relations effort polished its corporate image, lending an aura of integrity to Exxon's promises.

Everything seemed to go right for Exxon's chairman, Lawrence Rawl, until an Exxon tanker ran aground off Valdez, Alaska, spilling 10 million gallons of crude oil into the pristine Prince William Sound.

Then, Exxon's cuts took on a different look. To save money, the Exxon Valdez had been built without a double hull, unlike previous tankers that were protected against spills. Exxon sheared 10 percent of the cost of the tanker. The ship looked great, until the single hull was sheared by rocks, sending a deadly plume of oil hundreds of square miles into the sea.

Exxon also promised that its crew members would be sober. Although the company was quick to admit that its captain was legally drunk, after the fact, the company failed to weed out a captain with a history of alcohol abuse.

Exxon's cuts showed in the inability to react swiftly and effectively to contain an ecological disaster. The company made promises to react within five hours in case of an emergency. But it took days for a small and ineffective effort to be launched. A week later, the spill is largely uncontained.

The company was not the only one caught unprepared. State and federal governments failed to react effectively. And here, Exxon's lobbying and public-relations efforts were indirectly to blame. Rather than investing in safety equipment and personnel, the company spent grandly for lobbyists to convince government agencies that safety measures weren't needed.

Even now, as wildlife and fisheries are imperiled, Exxon's cleanup campaign is small. But Exxon's public-relations machine is cranking up to counter the bad press.

"We believe that Exxon has moved swiftly and competently to minimize the effect this oil will have on the environment, fish and other wildlife," says Rawl in a full-page ad in The Wall Street Journal. "We also will meet our obligations to all those who have suffered damage from the spill."

Exxon is liable only up to $100 million for damages, The New York Times reports. Insurance may pay a large part of it. Even if the company pays the entire amount, it's a pittance compared to Exxon's bottom-line profit of $5.3 billion last year.

"They have the strongest balance sheet in the industry, and even if the cleanup cost $400 million and they had to pay all of it themselves, it wouldn't have any impact on them," says petroleum analyst Dillard P. Spriggs.

No worry. Oil prices are already going up at the pump on the West Coast, as a result of shortages caused by the Valdez port shutdown. Instead of being penalized for the spill, the oil industry is finding a way to make money off it.

"If a company is going to be judged by the extent to which it rewards the shareholder, Exxon scores A-plus," says stock analyst Constantine Fliakos.

The balance sheet looks good. But nature isn't even listed in the ledger. Until penalties for environmental disasters hit companies like Exxon where it counts — in the books — they won't take nature into account. Until corporate executives are held legally accountable for negligence, they can be expected to care more for their image than for keeping promises to the public.

Letters

Letters to the editor on issues of general interest always are welcomed by the Big Spring Herald and always are printed if these guidelines are followed:

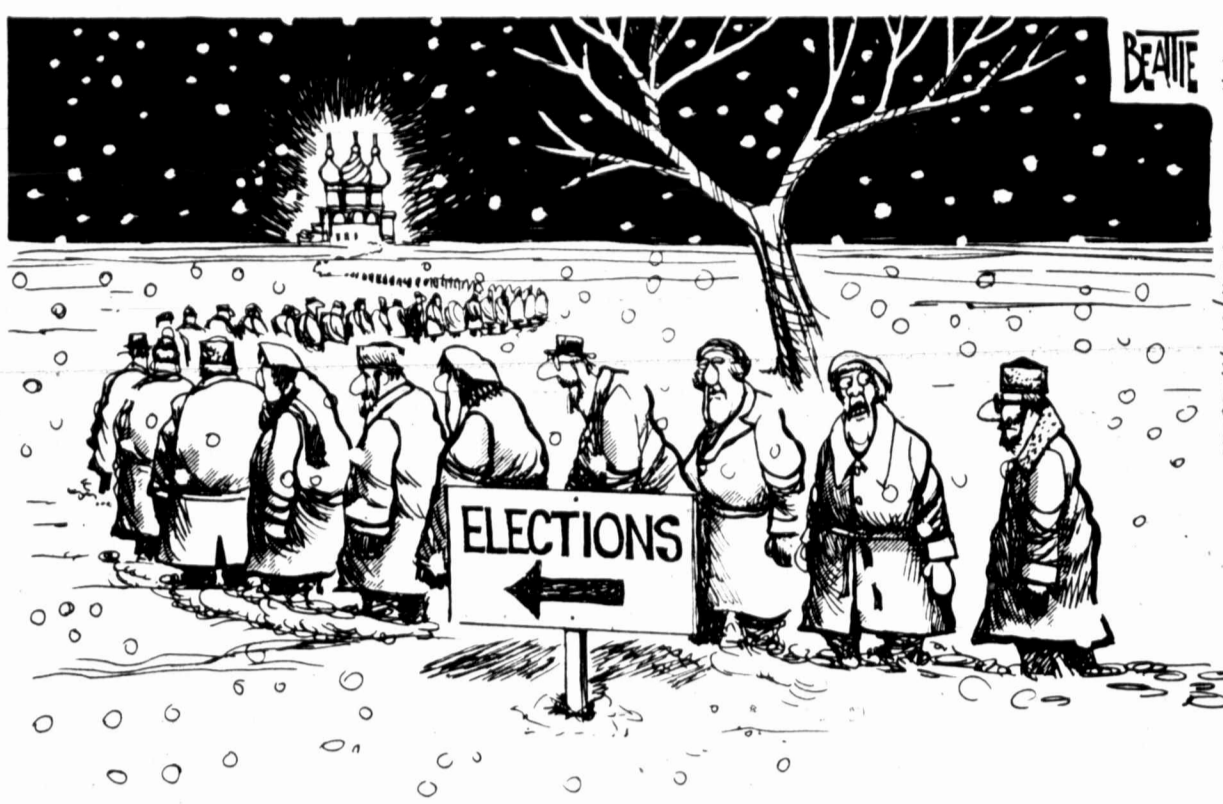

Letters should be 350 words or less, typewritten if possible, and double-spaced. If not, the handwriting must be legible to reduce chances for mistakes.

They are subject to editing, but the essence of the writer's message will not be altered.

They must be signed, free of libelous statements and in good taste. Political endorsements won't be accepted during a campaign. Letters listing numerous donors to projects are not published.

Please write your name and address on the letter and include a daytime phone number for verification. Letters submitted without signatures won't be published.

Address letters "To the editor," Big Spring Herald, Box 1431, Big Spring.

NRC proves need for a watchdog

By JACK ANDERSON and DALE VAN ATTA

WASHINGTON — The agency that is supposed to regulate nuclear power in America waged an internal, scorched-earth campaign earlier this year in an apparent effort to rid itself of several top investigators.

And the fingerprints of some of the highest officials at the Nuclear Regulatory Commission have been found in the rubble of this fiasco.

Last year, Congress mandated that beginning this April 15 the NRC will have an inspector general — an independent official inside the NRC who will report waste, fraud and abuse to Congress. Congress called for the creation of that position after repeated revelations that the NRC was too close to the industry it is supposed to regulate and may have tried to stop its own investigators from pursuing wrongdoing by nuclear power companies.

Congressional investigators and agency sources suspect the NRC began this latest campaign to purge a number of those conscientious investigators before the inspector general came on board. With the inspector general in place, it will be harder for the NRC to rid itself of any thorns in its side.

The NRC launched a probe of Ben Hayes, director of the Office of Investigations, for allegedly abusing travel funds and doling out unjustified cash awards to investigators. Another inquiry was launched in a failed effort to find out who provided information to our associate Stewart Harris, who, for the past two years, has reported details of the NRC's coziness with the industry.

Singing the blues over once white socks

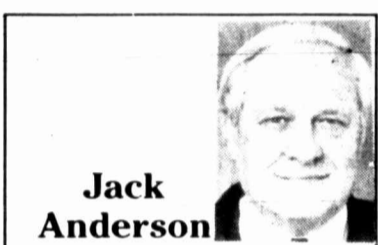

By BRADLEY WORRELL Staff Writer

I admit it, I did it. When I lived at home I let mom do the laundry. That's what makes mom such an invaluable part of our household — she's the only one who understands what all the knobs and buttons on the electronic appliances are for. Somehow, even in college when I was on my own, I found ways to avoid doing my laundry.

Obviously, I was going to be in for a rude awakening when I finished school. I came to a place where I couldn't dupe anyone else into doing my dirty work. (pun intended), and tried to do my first batch of laundry for myself.

How the heck was I supposed to know which of my clothes are 'sturdy permanent press' and which are 'delicate permanent press'? Or how much ¾ cup of detergent equals in squirts of liquid detergent — one? two? 40?

My job at home was a lot simpler: I took out the trash. Personally, I'm still recovering from the first time I tried to do my own laundry. What a disaster! My colored clothes became faded and pale-white, while my white

But the witch hunt that has piqued the most interest on Capitol Hill involves Roger Fortuna, deputy director of the NRC Office of Investigations.

Behind the scenes stands Victor Stello, the NRC's executive director of operations. A slush fund created by Stello was used to pay an informant to provide testimony and evidence against Fortuna. Unlike the FBI, the NRC is not authorized to pay snitches. So, when the agency hired an informant, it called him a "contractor" and paid him $6,000.

An NRC spokesman defended the "contractor" arrangement, saying it has been used in the past.

The contractor was Douglas Ellison, a former employee at the Nine Mile Point nuclear power plant near Syracuse, N.Y. We obtained a transcript of Ellison's testimony, which shows that the NRC wanted to know if Fortuna had given sensitive investigative information to opponents of nuclear power.

The payment to Ellison appears to have been a waste. He could provide few details. When asked if Fortuna had leaked information to outsiders, Ellison said, "I don't know that for certain." Tape recordings of Fortuna's telephone conversations with nuclear power opponents reveal no disclosure of secrets, according to sources close to the investigation. Fortuna remains suspended from his job, with pay.

The NRC's nemesis, Sen. John Glenn, D-Ohio, is investigating the payments to Ellison. Reps. Sam Gejdenson, D-Conn., and George Miller, D-Calif., wrote a protest letter to the NRC calling the payments "disgraceful" and a "mockery of the NRC's investigative process."

The NRC inquiries were taken out of the hands of Sharon Connelly, director of the NRC Office of Inspector and Auditor, after "Inside NRC," a newsletter that covers the nuclear power industry, learned that Ellison was being paid out of what the newsletter called a "slush fund." A former administrative judge is now handling the investigations.

Stello declined to talk to us. An agency official close to the inquiries denied that there was any coordinated campaign to get rid of the investigators.

NEWTS HIT LIST — House Democrats are preparing for a civil war. They want to attack the Republican pit bull, Newt Gingrich, before he attacks them. Gingrich, of Georgia, is the new House minority leader. He may look like a conservative blowhard, but his fellow members of Congress don't underestimate his power. It was Gingrich who initiated the ethics investigation into House Speaker Jim Wright, D-Texas. An aide to Gingrich told us the new minority leader has a list of Democrats that he wants to take on when he finishes with Wright. The list includes Democratic Whip Tony Coelho of California and 16 others.

clothes became colored. People may not notice, but there's definitely something less appealing about wearing off-blue socks that were once crisp white.

Creating chameleon clothes is probably enough to make a bad day for anyone, but even if I was any good at doing laundry, it would still be one of my least favorite tasks.

Think of the decor of most laundry mats — few windows, no pictures, no paneling, no wall paper, usually not even a poster. (Except for the curious ones that express concern we might accidentally put the family pet or small children in the dryers.) Usually it's just stale gray cement walls and steel pipes — not exactly a cozy place where you'd like to spend a couple of hours if you could help it. (Unless the Attica State Penitentiary look appeals to you.)

And if you're going to spend a couple of hours someplace, there ought to be at least something to do, right? Some people bring a book with them — in a vain attempt to read while doing the laundry, which rarely succeeds because the "whir whir" of the old clunker washers tends to destroy any attempt to concentrate. Others, not content to sit idly by, amuse themselves by checking every 45 seconds to see if their socks are dry yet.

Knowing if the the washer or dryer you choose is going to work is a little like playing the lottery — you put in your money and take your chances. It seems I'm not very good at the lottery — I frequently lose my last 50 cents.

Still, as rough as doing the laundry may be for me, if I'm to believe all those commercials I've seen about how static cling and ring around the collar destroys the lives of middle-aged housewives, maybe my lot isn't quite so bad.

Okay, so maybe doing the laundry isn't really so bad. Just one thing — can anybody tell me how to get the blue out of my socks?

Home remedies for the flu

By LEWIS GRIZZARD

For ten days I had the flu. I don't remember feeling so rotten. Ever see a glass that has recently been emptied of buttermilk? I felt the way that glass looks.

I didn't go to the doctor because every time I go to the doctor, he puts me in the hospital and a guy slices my chest open.

I decided I would see if I could heal myself. I went for certain natural healing processes.

It took ten days, but I finally did return to the pink, and I am convinced it was my carefully selected home remedies that did the job.

I offered my story and my explanation of my remedies for the flu to various journals of medicine, but I was turned away each time.

"We don't print such drivel," I was told by one editor. "Your remedies are comparable to voodoo."

"Voodoo," the man said. Voodoo, indeed. I didn't resort to any voodoo; I used a little common sense and tossed in a little knowledge passed down from my grandmother who could cure everything from warts to an ingrown toenail. People came all the way from other countries to seek her medical counsel.

"Bury a dead chicken in your yard at midnight under a full moon," was Grandmother's cure for just about everything.

I didn't bury any dead chickens at midnight under any full moon, but what I did try I offer here at no other charge rather than what you paid for this newspaper. See if you can get your doctor's help for that price.

My remedies:
COCA-COLA ON CRUSHED ICE: Drink one every four hours but don't prepare it yourself. Have somebody — a friend, a lover, a husband or a wife — do it for you and have them bring it to you in bed.

The Coke and the ice will ease your head and settle your stomach and the realization there is somebody who feels sorry enough for you to wait on you hand and foot will make you feel even better.

WATCH OLD BLACK-AND-WHITE MOVIES ON TV: Anything with Barbara Stanwyck, Bette Davis, Robert Cummings or Claude Rains is perfect. Old movies calm the nerves. Stay away from any channels owned by Ted Turner, however. He's colorized all the old black-and-whites and seeing Claude Rains with a green face will make you feel sicker.

CALL YOUR FRIENDS AND WHINE: They feel good and you don't and that's not fair. Calling to whine does the most good when you know your friends are quite busy.

REFUSE TO BATHE: If you don't bathe, after about three days, you will smell like a dead chicken. This will drive away the germs that have attacked you, not to mention the individual who was bringing your Coke on crushed ice to your bedside.

TELL YOUR FAMILY AND FRIENDS YOU ARE RETHINKING THE WILL: You will be surprised how many suddenly will develop a keen interest in your health and offer to do anything to make you feel better so as to get on your good side. That's also how you get your Coke on crushed ice delivered to your bed again even after the smell gets thick enough to see it.

I guarantee you these methods will work. In the unlikely event they don't, then bury a dead chicken in your yard at midnight under a full moon and call me in the morning.

Daley reclaims father's office

CHICAGO (AP) — Richard M. Daley, scion of Chicago's venerated "Boss," reclaimed the mayor's office his father held for 21 years and promised blacks that City Hall's "doors will remain open."

In ending six years of black control of the nation's third-largest city, Daley defeated black Alderman Timothy C. Evans, who ran as an independent.

Republican Edward Vrdolyak also ran in Tuesday's court-ordered special election to complete the final two years of the late Mayor Harold Washington's second term.

Daley, 46, used overwhelming white support, low black turnout and the shoe leather of precinct organizations whose efficiency recalled the political army controlled by his father, the late Richard J. Daley.

"We were determined to prove to a doubting world that Chicago has grown beyond the politics of division and name calling," Daley told cheering supporters.

AT&T, unions open bargaining

WASHINGTON (AP) — AT&T and its unions opened the year's largest round of collective bargaining today, talking optimistically of avoiding a third strike this decade but sparring immediately over the company's finances.

"During these negotiations, AT&T's financial future should not be an excuse for evading a reasonable economic package for our members," Jack Barry, president of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, said at a brief meeting with reporters prior to the first day of contract talks.

The IBEW is for the first time this year negotiating jointly with the Communication Workers of America, whose president also said it was time AT&T workers got a bigger share of the company's success.

"It is our members who are the most skilled people in the world at their jobs, who have made AT&T the industry leader," CWA President Morton Bahr said.

Robert E. Allen, board chairman of American Telephone and Telegraph, was also on hand for the session, the first time an AT&T chairman has attended the opening of the talks.

Eighth victim pulled from river

COVINGTON, Tenn. (AP) — The eighth victim of a bridge collapse was pulled from the rain-swollen Hatchie River after a specially trained dog led searchers to a submerged station wagon.

Authorities said they don't believe anyone else died but would continue to search the waters where an 84-foot section of the two-lane bridge collapsed Saturday night. Five vehicles, including a tractor-trailer rig, toppled into the river.

"We have not had anymore missing person reports that have been confirmed so we feel like that's all, but we want to be sure," said Fire Chief Jerry Craig.

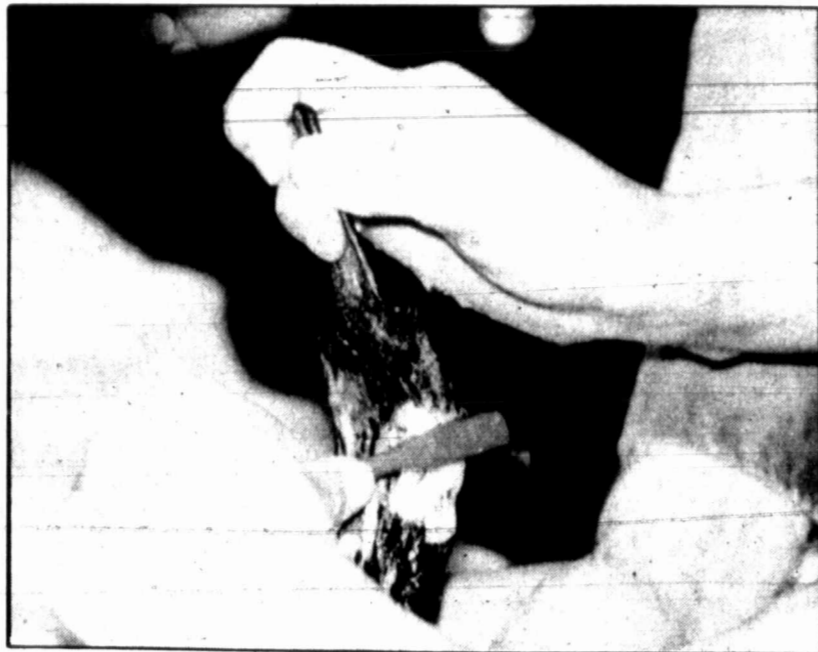

Transportation Secretary Samuel Skinner was to inspect the bridge today, along with Sen. Jim Sasser, D-Tenn., and Rep.

John Tanner, D-Tenn.

The cause of the bridge collapse has not been determined, but officials said high water for the past couple of months may have undercut one of the bridge supports. The 55-year-old bridge carries the northbound lanes of U.S. Highway 51 over the Hatchie River, about 50 miles north of Memphis.

Seven bodies were recovered Saturday and Sunday, but the eighth was not found until Tuesday when divers located the station wagon partly buried in the riverbank under 15 feet of water. The spot had been picked out on Monday by a dog trained to smell bodies buried in rubble or under water.

The latest victim was identified as Adrian Jones, 26, of nearby Ripley.

VALDEZ, Alaska — An oil-soaked bird is cleaned up at the bird cleanup center in Valdez Monday. Birds and other animals have become covered with oil as a result of the tanker Exxon Valdez running aground March 24 in Prince William Sound.

Fugitive captain surrenders today

VALDEZ, Alaska (AP) — Exxon made final preparations to float its still-leaking oil tanker, whose fugitive captain surrendered today to face charges of operating the vessel while drunk.

With claims against Exxon for damages escalating into the millions, U.S. Navy oil skimmers were pressed into service, and Exxon accepted an offer of help from the Soviet Union.

Company officials turned to the Far East in search of a dry dock willing to accept the crippled leviathan Exxon Valdez.

As the oil off Alaska spread over an area approaching the size of Delaware, the fired captain of the tanker turned himself in this morning to authorities in Hauppauge, N.Y.

Joseph Hazelwood, who lives on New York's Long Island, appeared with his attorney 12 days after his ship ran aground and nearly a week after the National Transportation Safety Board said tests showed he was under the influence of alcohol several hours after the accident.

He had been sought since Sunday on a fugitive warrant for three misdeemeanor charges that carry a penalty of up to one year in jail. Alaska authorities have said they will seek his extradition.

Exxon said it has changed its policy because of the spill and now requires crews to be aboard ship, where drinking is prohibited, four hours before sailing.

Oil as thick as mayonnaise has soiled 800 miles of beach, and thousands of animals are known dead, including at least 30 sea otters.

"Dozens of otters are dying before rescuers can get to them," said fish and game spokesman Jon Lyman.

The dead otters included a year-old pup, one of five that had been sent to San Diego's Sea World for treatment.

While the toll from the nation's worst oil spill mounted, its impact on the flow of Alaskan crude was abating.

The Alyeska Pipeline Service Co. said it would resume a normal daily flow of 2.1 million barrels of oil through the trans-Alaska pipeline today. The flow had been cut by 60 percent because of restrictions on tanker traffic in Valdez harbor.

No Soviet nukes in Latin America

HAVANA, Cuba (AP) — Mikhail S. Gorbachev, responding to longstanding U.S. concerns about Moscow's intentions in Latin America, says the Kremlin will refrain from putting military bases or nuclear weapons in the region.

With President Fidel Castro sitting nearby, the Soviet leader said in a speech to the National Assembly on Tuesday that Moscow supports the creation of a "zone of peace" in Latin America and an end to all outside military aid to the region.

Gorbachev's comments were made during his first diplomatic trip to Latin America and seemed directed largely at Washington, whose hemispheric policy for years has been based on concerns about Soviet influence in the region.

Tens of thousands of Cubans lined the streets this morning to bid farewell to Gorbachev as he headed for the airport.

Peace plan in danger of collapse

WINDHOEK, Namibia (AP) — South Africa has threatened to scrap a plan for granting Namibia independence if the United Nations cannot stop an incursion by black nationalist guerrillas who continued battling security forces today.

"Unless active and effective measures are taken within the next few hours to stem the rapid deterioration of the situation, the whole peace process in Namibia is in danger of collapse," Foreign Minister Pik Botha said Tuesday in a letter to U.N. Secretary-General Javier Perez de Cuellar.

Sam Nujoma, leader of the South-West African People's Organization guerrilla movement, says South Africa instigated the fighting.

Nujoma, at a news conference Tuesday in Harare, Zimbabwe, urged the U.N. Security Council to stop South African-led security forces "from butchering Namibians and confine the South African army to their barracks."

He said he would end a 20-year exile and return to Namibia soon.

Intense fighting began Saturday, the day a cease-fire was to take hold and the U.N.-supervised transition to independence began in the territory that neighboring South Africa has ruled for 74 years.

Leaders approve historic pact

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Lech Walesa said Solidarity leaders today approved a historic pact that would legalize the union movement and clear the way for the first free elections in communist postwar Poland.

He said Solidarity achieved its primary goals during its two months of talks with the government on the country's social and economic crisis.

"This is settled. Before Poland and all the world I am saying that we have achieved what we promised to do," Walesa said.

The Solidarity chairman spoke after a meeting of the Solidarity Executive Commission, which gathered today to decide whether to approve the sweeping agreement with the government that resulted from the talks.

"We are signing," he said of the accord after emerging from the three-hour meeting.

Asked when he thought Solidarity would be legalized, Walesa replied, "I think immediately after signing."

State radio announced the final accords would be signed at 5 p.m. (11 a.m. EDT) in a ceremony at the Council of Ministers palace, where the talks between the government and the opposition began Feb. 6.

The interior minister, Gen. Czeslaw Kiszczak, was expected to sign for the government, and Walesa for the opposition, according to a government spokesman.

The proceedings were to be broadcast live nationwide on television and radio.

The government agreed in August to hold the talks in return for an end to a series of crippling strikes.

Church pays $358,000 to abused boys

ATLANTA (AP) — A Roman Catholic archdiocese has agreed to pay $358,000 to the families of three former altar boys who allegedly were sexually molested by a British priest.

The church authorities returned the Rev. Anton Mowat to England for treatment instead of reporting him to police, according to a report published Tuesday in the Atlanta Constitution.

Mowat fled a treatment center there and currently is a fugitive.

Mowat, who spent two years as associate pastor of Corpus Christi Catholic Church in suburban Stone Mountain, was charged last year with molesting four boys, ages 12 to 14, during the 12-month period ending in October 1987.

The out-of-court civil settlement involves three of the four boys.

Robert R. Richardson, attorney for the victims, declined to comment on the settlement.

Rainbow wrestling

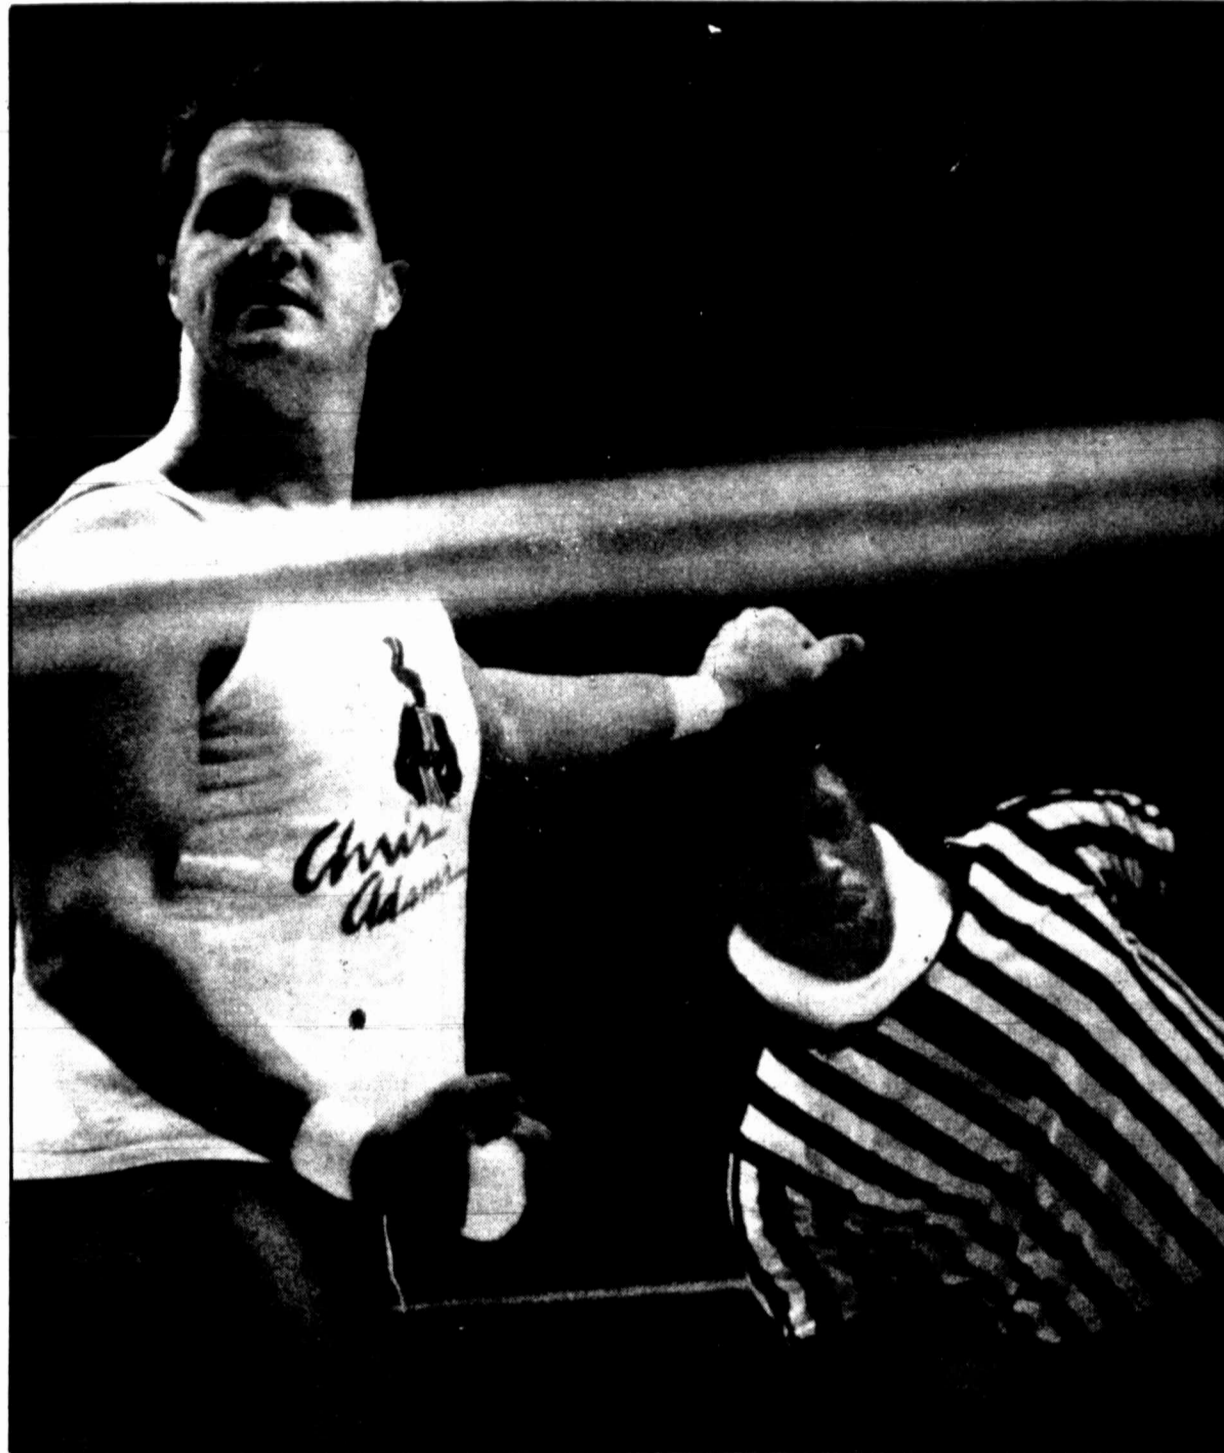

Approximately 1,240 people attended the event, sponsored by the Rainbow Project and KBYG-KIOL, with proceeds going to the Rainbow Project.

Herald photos by Tim Appel

During the first intermission, hundreds of fans surrounded the ring in an attempt to get the autograph of wrestler Kerry Von Erich.

Gentleman Chris Adams asks the crowd to decide the fate of the wrestling official who allegedly made some bad calls and non-calls and also fought with a woman wrestler during matches at the Coliseum Monday evening.

A fan shouts at Beauty, one-half of the tag team Beauty and the Beast, who were the bad guys pitted against favorites Kerry Von Erich and Gentleman Chris Adams.

While their partners take care of business in the ring, Kerry Von Erich and the Beast fight with the use of a chair and post outside the ring.

Create delicious dishes with peanuts

While America loves its peanuts, nobody loves them better than the folks in America's number one peanut state — Georgia.

How do Georgians love their peanuts? Boiled, fried, roasted, in cookie, cakes, and in peanut butter. This week's Recipe Exchange features some of the favorite fixin's for Georgia goobers.

THAT STEAK JOYNT'S PEANUT SOUP

2 tbs. butter
2 tbs. flour
1 quart chicken stock or broth
3/4 cup creamy peanut butter
1 cup heavy cream
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. ground black pepper
2 tbs. chopped peanuts

In large saucepan, melt butter over low heat, add flour and blend to smooth. Cook, stirring for 5 minutes. Pour in chicken stock, stirring, bring to a boil, reduce heat to a simmer and cook 15 minutes. Stir in peanut butter and cream. Correct seasoning with salt and pepper. Simmer until ingredients are heated through, about 10 minutes. Garnish each bowl with a teaspoon of chopped peanuts. Makes 1 1/2 quarts. Six servings.

THAI BEEF SALAD WITH SPICY PEANUT DRESSING

Dressing:
1/2 cup unseasoned rice wine vinegar
1/3 cup peanut oil
1 tsp. salt
1 tbs. sugar
1 tsp. minced garlic
1/2 tsp. crushed red pepper flakes
1/2 tsp. hot sauce
1/2 tsp. soy sauce
2 tbs. lime or lemon juice
1/3 cup coarsely salted peanuts

Salad:
1 1/2 pounds cooked, rare roast beef sirloin, cut into 1 1/2-inch strips (about 4 cups)
2 medium cucumbers, peeled, seeded, and sliced 1/4-inch thick (about 2 1/2 cups)
1/4 pound snow peas, stemmed, blanched 30 seconds
1/2 pound bean sprouts
1 3/4 cup julienned red peppers (about 2 medium)
2 cups finely sliced red cabbage
1 cup thinly sliced green onions
Lettuce leaves
1/2 cup chopped salted peanuts

To prepare dressing, whisk together all the dressing ingredients except the peanuts. Stir in peanuts just before serving. To prepare salad, combine the beef, cucumbers, snow peas, bean sprouts, peppers, cabbage, and onions with the dressing. To serve, arrange salad on lettuce leaves; sprinkle with peanuts. Makes 6 servings.

DIXIE PEANUT BRITTLE
2 cups granulated sugar
1 cup light corn syrup
1/2 cup water

1/2 tsp. salt
3 cups raw shelled peanuts, skins on
2 tbs. butter
2 tsp. baking soda
Heat sugar, syrup, water and salt to a rolling boil in a heavy saucepan. Add peanuts. Reduce heat to medium and stir constantly. Cook to hard crack stage (293 degrees F.). Add butter, then baking soda. Beat rapidly and pour on a buttered surface spreading to 1/4-inch thickness.

1 tsp. vanilla extract
Mix all ingredients thoroughly. Drop by teaspoonful onto baking sheet and press with fork. Bake at 325 degrees F. for approximately 10 minutes. Cool before removing from baking sheet. Yields 2 to 3 dozen.

PEANUT BUTTER CUSTARD PIE

1 cup confectioners sugar
1/2 cup creamy peanut butter
1 9-inch baked pastry shell
1/4 cup cornstarch
2 1/2 cup granulated sugar
1/4 tsp. salt
2 cups scalded milk
3 egg yolks, beaten
2 tbs. butter
1/4 tsp. vanilla extract
3 egg whites
1/4 cup granulated sugar
Combine confectioners sugar and peanut butter; blend until the appearance of biscuit mix. Spread 3/4 of this mixture on the bottom of the pastry shell. Combine cornstarch, granulated sugar and salt. Add scalded milk and mix well. Pour small amount over egg yolks. Mix well, then return to milk mixture. Cook in top of double boiler over medium heat until mixture thickens. Remove from heat. Stir in butter and vanilla, then pour into prepared pastry shell. Top with meringue.

To make meringue: Beat egg whites, adding sugar and little at a time until sugar is all dissolved and the meringue is stiff and glossy. Pile onto hot pie filling and sprinkle remaining peanut butter and sugar mixture over the meringue. Bake at 350 degrees F. until lightly browned. Yields 6 to 9 servings.

LEFTY O'DOUL'S SOUTHERN PEANUT DESSERT SAUCE

1 cup coarsely chopped raw peanuts
1/4 cup butter or margarine
1 1/4 cups firmly packed light brown sugar
3/4 cup light corn syrup
3 tbs. all-purpose flour
5 ounces canned evaporated milk
Put peanuts into pizza plate or pie plate. Toast until lightly browned. Stir and set aside. Melt butter. Stir in sugar, corn syrup and flour. Cook 4 minutes. Stir in milk and peanuts. Makes 2 1/2 cups sauce. Server over ice cream.

SUGAR COATED PEANUTS

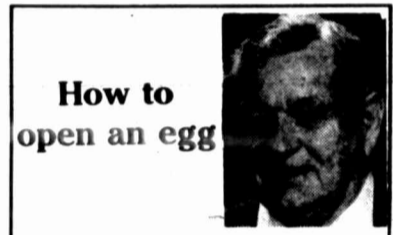

1 cup granulated sugar
1/2 cup water
2 cups raw shelled peanuts, skins on
Dissolve sugar in water in saucepan over medium heat. Add peanuts and continue to cook over medium heat, stirring frequently. Cook until peanuts are completely sugared. Pour on ungreased cookie sheet, separate peanuts with a fork. Bake at 300 degrees F. for approximately 30 minutes, stirring at 10 minutes intervals.

Kitchen is not a strange alien world

Aha! Didn't set the alarm for quite so early this morning, did you? Getting a little more confidence in yourself. The wife seems a little calmer this morning. You're not hearing any tirades about being late to work. Oh, she's muttering a little? Well, that will soon pass. Let's start breakfast. This morning we will be having "Scrumptious Scones."

Notice anything different this morning? Yes, you're right. The kitchen is becoming a familiar place. It's no longer the strange alien world your wife has always led you to believe. You will come to love the kitchen. It will be a place of comfort. A refuge when you want to escape the afflictions and vicissitudes of life. Let me tell you, the women of this world have been hiding this great secret for generations. They have just let men shift for themselves, floundering in problems, never telling us of that haven of warmth and comfort, the kitchen.

But to business. You need to set the oven to 375 degrees. Your ingredi-

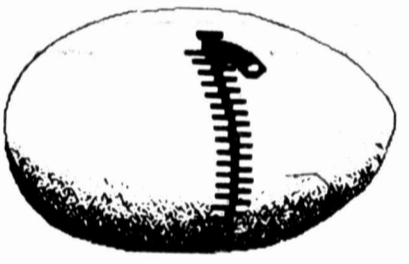

How to open an egg

ents this morning will consist of:
Butter (melted)
Milk
Egg (1)
Flour
Oatmeal (uncooked)
Sugar
Baking powder
Cream of tartar
Raisins (1 cup)

Mix one and half cups of flour with one and a quarter cups of oatmeal. To this mixture, add a quarter cup of sugar, one teaspoon of cream of tartar, one half teaspoon of salt. Mix thoroughly. Now add two thirds cup of milk and the egg. Stir in the raisins. You now have a good wad of dough. Shape it into a ball and pat it out on a lightly floured surface to form about an eight or nine inch circle. Cut into wedges, eight to twelve will do. Put the wedges on a greased cookie sheet and shove it into the oven for about 12 to 15 minutes or until golden brown. Serve with pride to the family along with butter, preserves or honey. Elapsed time? About 20 to 25 minutes.

As the family leaves for work and school, you will notice a glow in the eyes of the children. But you notice also, a perplexed look on the face of your wife. Trouble is brewing. But we will take care of it when it arrives. And it will arrive. Next week for lunch, we will have Lunch Meat Surprise.

Questions & answers

Q. I'd like to make a dark bran muffin like the kind bakeries sell. What will make them dark?

A. Molasses and whole bran cereal make muffins dark. Whole wheat flour and brown sugar will add some color; however, substitutions in existing recipes may result in lower quality muffins. Select recipes developed with whole wheat flour for best results.

Q. What will white spaghetti?

A. Spaghetti and other pastas are made from durum wheat. The wheat and manufacturing process leave pasta yellow or cream-colored. After boiling, pasta will be off-white to white. There isn't a way to further whiten it.

Q. When I double ingredients for chicken casserole, how much longer does the dish need to be baked?

A. There is no hard-and-fast rule. First, be sure to increase baking dish size. Add one-half of original baking time and check the casserole. Bake longer if it doesn't test done.

Q. Can sour cream be frozen successfully?

A. Dairy sour cream should be stored in the refrigerator, never frozen. Some prepared foods made with sour cream, such as cookies and coffee cake, can be frozen.

Q. What would prevent streusel topping from sinking into my coffee cake?

A. Streusel topping should remain crumbly so it can be sprinkled on the surface. The topping should be carefully mixed to prevent too large of pieces, which may sink, or mixed beyond crumbly stage, which will be absorbed by the batter. Some recipes are designed for topping to sink into cake.

Q. What's the best way to store iceberg lettuce?

A. Wash and drain lettuce well. Refrigerate it in a crisper for 5 to 7 days.

Q. Must I add more baking soda or baking powder when I use self-rising flour?

A. No, leavening and salt are already mixed in with flour. Not all recipes allow for direct substitution of self-rising for all-purpose flour. For best results, use recipes developed for self-rising flour.

World hunger expected to rise

NEW YORK (AP) — Hunger and starvation will increase in poor countries as the cost of importing food increases by more than $5 billion, according to the chief United Nations food official.

Edouard Saouma, the director of the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization, said an expected rise in world grain production would not be enough to replenish stocks and meet demand. In a confidential report on food shortages, the organization listed 15 countries that need "exceptional or emergency assistance." The New York Times reported today. They are Angola, Bangladesh, Ethiopia, Haiti, Jamaica, Laos, Lebanon, Mozambique, Nicaragua, Peru, Sierra Leone, Somalia, Sri Lanka, the Sudan and Vietnam.

The decline in world production has meant a fall in grain stocks to about 16 percent.

CHIROPRACTIC COMMENTS
by Jim Crockett, D.C.

Chronic Headaches

Oddly enough, the most common complaint of patients entering a chiropractor's office is headache. I've always said this job is nothing but headaches, pains in the neck, and pains in the rear.

Seriously, the reason people come to a chiropractor for treatment of headaches is that they get relief. That's a good reason. I'm not talking about the occasional headache you get when the in-laws come over. I'm talking about the real skull-busters that change your life.

Why do chiropractors have success with headaches? We look for causes that other doctors might not be able to find. They did find them. We look for things like abnormal neck posture, jamming of the base of the skull onto the neck, jaw joint dysfunction, tension from shoulder misalignment, joint fixation, and that old standby, vertebral subluxation. These are things that no miracle drug can cure. Of course, we'll also look for dietary deficiencies, metabolic problems, high blood pressure, and intracranial pressure, as any doctor would.

If you get a headache once in a while, and aspirin relieves it, you don't need treatment. But if you have headaches every day or headaches that don't go away at all, you need your head examined.

Baby's glasses prompt public curiosity

DEAR ABBY: I have a young child who has worn glasses since she was 4 months old. She is not to be pitied. We consider it a blessing that the problem (strabismus) was diagnosed and corrected at such an early age. Perhaps in time her glasses will not be such an oddity.

Abby, I am finding it increasingly difficult to be gracious to every well-meaning soul who wants to engage me in conversation about my daughter's eyes and treatment while I'm shopping, dining out, etc. Then there are the rude remarks: "Look at that baby!" "How old is that child?" And, "Poor thing — what else is wrong with her?"

These comments come not only from strangers but from our extended family and friends as well — although those familiar to us tend to use the not-so-subtle, "Will she ALWAYS have to wear those glasses?"

Certainly I do not mind talking about it with people I know, but when I'm out running errands with two young children in tow, must I give my undivided attention to strangers just to satisfy their curiosity? How I wish they would keep their questions and comments to themselves. — LOSING PATIENCE IN ST. PAUL

Dear Abby

You have written a very important letter. Young children, on seeing something unusual, will ask questions to satisfy their natural curiosity. But adults should know better.

This is a plea for everyone who is old enough to read: Please refrain from gawking or inquiring about those who are "different" because they wear braces, use crutches, walkers, wheelchairs or some kind of device to help them function better.

DEAR ABBY: I have just ordered a teen booklet from you. I wrote a check and clipped it to my note to keep it straight. I just realized that you could be a tremendous help to the banking industry if you would tell your readers to never, never, never fold a check.

My husband is a banker in Fayetteville, Ga., and one of the biggest problems with the check sorters and other high-speed equipment is caused by creased or folded checks. (It interferes with the rapid processing procedures; ask your banker.)

I realize that people are always asking you to print things, but it would be a big help if you could get this message out to the public. — DORTHEA H. REDWINE, FAYETTEVILLE, GA.

DEAR MRS. REDWINE: I'm a convert as of now. I shall never fold a check unless I absolutely must. It may not help your husband's bank, but the folks at my bank should be tickled pink.

DEAR ABBY: I am 15 years old and enjoy going to the mall to window-shop. There is one problem that I cannot seem to handle and I hope you won't think I'm stupid for asking. Many unfortunate people appear in this mall, and it's almost impossible to avoid encountering the question, "Got any spare change?"

Being somewhat of a timid soul, I usually dig into my jeans and give whatever I have. But having the small income of an average teenager, I sometimes must consider myself one of the needy.

How can I avoid the uncomfortable feeling of guilt if I have nothing to give but a kind word or two? — WEALTHY IN SPIRIT ONLY

DEAR WEALTHY: Don't feel guilty when you give a beggar just a kind word or two. That's more than most beggars get.

DEAR ABBY: Your phrase "All men do not cheat on their wives" is good English, amateur logicians to the contrary.

If you think William Shakespeare wrote good English, you can find the phrase "All that glisters is not gold" in the Merchant of Venice, Act 2, Scene 7, line 65. — BOB WHEELER, HOCKESSIN, DEL.

DEAR BOB: Thanks. I needed that.

What teen-agers need to know about sex, drugs, AIDS, getting along with their peers and parents is now in Abby's updated, expanded booklet, "What Every Teen Should Know." Send your name and address, plus check or money order for $3.50 ($4 in Canada) to: Dear Abby's Teen Booklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, Ill. 61054. (Postage is included.)

Company to publish city's history

Curtis Media Corporation of Sioux City, Iowa, and Dallas, the nation's largest publisher of county and community history books, will publish a history of Big Spring, according to a news release.

The library-quality book will contain the past and present stories of Big Spring, hundreds of photos never before published, the stories of the churches, schools, clubs and organizations, businesses, and the stories of Big Spring families.

Curtis Media Corporation is currently seeking a paid project director for a one-year, part time position and also will hire a local non-profit group to assist in the project.

Extension Homemakers meet

Coahoma Extension Homemakers Club hosted the recent meeting of the Howard County Extension Council.

Theresa Parks read a poem, titled "Friends."

All clubs were represented; regular business and reports were given.

Jowili Etchison, TEHA chairman, gave the TEHA report. The district meeting will be April 20 at Circle 6 Baptist Encampment at 9:30 a.m.

Members discussed the state meeting scheduled for Sept. 13-15 in Corpus Christi.

Naomi Hunt, extension agent, presented literature to each club for the "Spice Up Your Life" program May 8 in Midland.

'Old timers' lead AL

By JIM DONAGHY
AP Sports Writer

The season opener for six teams in the American League turned out to be old timers' day, too.

There were three games in the AL on Tuesday, and they were won by 45-year-old Tommy John, 41-year-old Charlie Hough and 39-year-old Jerry Reuss. Reuss won't have to wait long to join the over-40 club; he celebrates his 40th birthday on June 19.

Reuss' batterymate against California, 41-year-old Carlton Fisk, chipped in with a home run and a single as the two became the oldest batterymate ever to team up for an opening day game in the majors.

Previously, the oldest opening day batterymate was Johnny Niggeling and Rick Ferrell, a combined 79 years old when they played for the Washington Senators in 1944.

But the best story of all belongs to John.

He was given almost no chance of making the New York Yankees prior to spring training. Manager Dallas Green wanted to go with youth and the left-hander had struggled in the second half of 1988.

But John was given $250,000 to visit spring training by owner George Steinbrenner and was told he would get another $250,000 if he made the team.

John not only made the team, he was named the Yankees' opening day starter and beat the Minnesota Twins and Frank Viola 4-2.

"I can't complain about losing to T.J.," said Viola, who won the American League Cy Young Award and the All-Star Game last season. "That son-of-a-gun is 45 years old and can still pitch."

John allowed two runs in seven innings and got out of two bases-loaded jams.

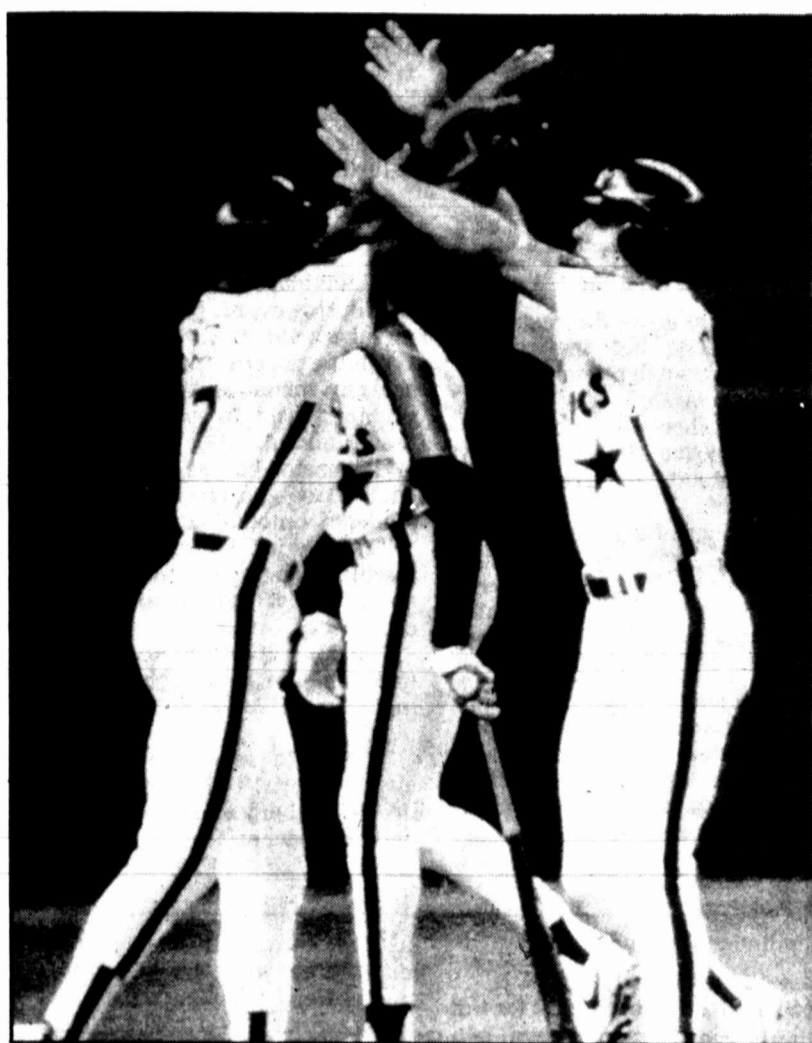

"Dallas was a pitcher and he understands what you have to do," John said. "If you want to get innings out of your pitchers, you have to stick with them. He had confidence in me to get out of jams."

In the other games played Tuesday, Hough pitched a five-hitter to beat Detroit 4-0 for Texas and the Chicago White Sox beat California 9-2 behind Reuss.

John tied a major league record when he opened his 26th major league season. Deacon McGuire also played for 26 seasons (1884-1912). It was also John's 287th career victory and moved him past Robin Roberts into 20th place on the all-time list.

"People have doubted me since I was 19 years old, saying that I couldn't throw hard or I wouldn't belong in the majors," John said. "Back in '61, when I signed, people in my hometown were saying, 'Who are you trying to fool?' And here I am."

HOUSTON — Houston Astros Devin Bass and Ken Caminiti celebrate at home plate in the Astrodome after they both scored on a Mike Scott single Tuesday night. The Astros beat the Atlanta Braves, 10-3.

Houston kills Braves

By JIM DONAGHY
AP Sports Writer

Mike Scott didn't have his best stuff, but the Houston Astros still got their money's worth.

On Monday, Scott signed a contract extension worth $3.925 million, and on Tuesday night the right-hander opened the season for Houston and beat the Atlanta Braves 10-3 at the Astrodome. He will be paid $1.3 million for this season.

In seven innings, he fanned seven but walked four and allowed solo homers to Tommy Gregg and Ron Gant.

"I've thrown worse and I've thrown better, but the runs early helped," Scott said. "Having the luxury of a good lead was nice."

It was the most runs in the season opener for Houston since 1962, when the Houston Colt 45s beat the Chicago Cubs 11-2.

Glenn Davis was 2-for-4 with two RBIs and three runs scored for the Astros. Billy Hatcher had three hits.

Elsewhere in the National League, it was Montreal 6, Pittsburgh 5; Chicago 5, Philadelphia 4; and San Francisco 8, San Diego 3.

Scott helped his own cause with a two-run single in the third inning to give the Astros a 3-0 lead.

"It's nice to know he can win without his best stuff," said Art Howe, who made his managerial debut for Houston. "After all we heard about spring training, it's nice to come out on top."

In the seventh, Gregg homered over the right field fence as Scott appeared to tire.

"His control was not good, but it was smart," Gregg said. "He got the fastball up and came back with the split finger."

"He's Mike Scott. What else can you say? When his split finger is on, he's tough to hit."

Expos 6, Pirates 5

Tim Lincecum drew a bases-loaded walk in the ninth inning from reliever Jeff Robinson as Montreal opened the season with a victory over visiting Pittsburgh.

"I think if this had been last year, I would have tried to win the ball game myself," Raines said. "I think I learned from last year that what's important to me is to get my walks, too, and lay off bad pitches."

The Expos trailed 5-4 entering the bottom of the ninth. But they tied the game on Damaso Garcia's bases-loaded single with two outs in the ninth. Robinson then walked Raines on a 3-2 pitch to force in the winning run.

Barry Bonds had four hits for Pittsburgh, including a solo homer off Joe Hesketh in the eighth that gave the Pirates a 5-4 lead.

HC rodeo coach hooked on sport

By RUTH COCHRAN
Staff Writer

Bobby W. Scott just sort of fell into rodeo and agriculture.

Fortunately, it was a painless tumble.

The Howard College agriculture teacher and rodeo coach loves the busy, travel-filled life he's led since he entered his first rodeo as a sophomore in high school.

Scott, 31, said his employer at the time had competed in college, winning the national all-around cowboy title in 1956-57.

"He got me started riding bulls and saddle broncs," Scott said. "Due to a lack of ability, I quickly changed events in college. I went to steer wrestling and that's what I do now."

It was in college the Scott found agriculture — or agriculture found him. At Tarleton State University, he settled on a degree in agricultural education.

"Basically, they told me that degree would open the most doors," Scott explained. "I really didn't plan on teaching, but I found out that would be a job I could enjoy and still get to rodeo. I got the best of both worlds."

Scott, who's currently working on his doctorate in education, kept up with both worlds in Borger, where for eight years he was the ag teacher and rodeo coach at Frank Phillips College. In August, he joined the Howard College staff.

The switch has been positive for Scott.

"I love it here," he said. "I like the people of Big Spring. I like my job because they're totally behind

Annual HC rodeo starts Thursday

Rodeo fans can watch some of the best cowboys and cowgirls in the nation when Howard College sponsors its annual rodeo, Thursday through Sunday.

Performances are set for 7:30 p.m. Thursday through Saturday and 1:30 p.m. Sunday at the Fairgrounds rodeo bowl. Admission is $3, while children under 12 get in free.

HC rodeo coach Bobby W. Scott expects more than 300 competitors from the 22 colleges and universities in Texas and New Mexico which comprise the southwestern region of the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association.

Howard College will be represented by 34 competitors, although only six will make up the actual team. Scott said the Hawks' team will face stiff competition for the overall title, an important stepping stone to qualify for the NIRA national finals rodeo.

"Right now our women's team is sitting fourth in the region," Scott said. "Our men's team is sitting third. We have four rodeos left, so we have a good chance of moving up and going to (nationals) as a team."

The top two teams in the region, as well as the top two individuals in each event, will qualify for the national finals.

HC will field three nationally-ranked competitors in Ken Berry, Jana Pierce and Robin Wardlaw. Berry, from Carlsbad, N.M., is leading the region in bareback riding and is ranked in the top 10 nationally. Pierce, from Crane, leads the region and is fifth in the nation in goat tying, and Wardlaw, of Del Rio, is second in the region in breakaway roping and ranked nationally in the top 10.

HC's women's team, which won the team trophy at the Odessa College rodeo, will be considered a favorite for the title along with Texas Tech University and Tarleton State University.

In the men's competition, Eastern New Mexico University and Western Texas College are favorites for the team title.

the agriculture program and the rodeo team."

Coping with a new group of students has been easy for Scott too.

"We just have some good quali-

"We recruit high school rodeo associations," he said, "but really we have one of the finest rodeo programs out of those 22 colleges and universities (in the region). It kind of recruits itself."

That's good for Scott, since he still tries to find time for rodeos himself.

With his compact but sturdy frame, he doesn't especially fit the mold of the typical large and beefy steer wrestler, but that's what he's been professionally since 1979.

As a member of the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association, Scott competes in pro rodeos year-round. Although he doesn't ever expect to qualify for the National Finals Rodeo — the Super Bowl of rodeo — Scott said he wouldn't think of quitting. The sport is in his blood.

"I enjoy it a lot more than it is profitable," he joked.

"There's a kind of camaraderie among the people that have rodeoed that's not common among other groups."

"I like to travel and I like the competition. You meet a lot of nice people and see a lot of pretty country."

Scott's deep love for the sport doesn't blind him to what he feels are the realities of life. He teaches his Howard College students that rodeo is not a be-all and end-all.

"This is college rodeo, not rodeo college," he said. "I tell them first and foremost that they bear down and make their grades and go on and receive a four-year degree."

Scott said he tells his team that

Split-personality HC splits games

By STEVE REAGAN
Staff Writer

Head Coach Bill Griffin is still waiting for the real Howard College Hawks baseball team to stand up.

Are the real Hawks the anemic-hitting team that was blasted, 12-2, in the first game of a doubleheader with Vernon Junior College, or is Howard the team that rallied for six runs in the last three innings to down the visitors, 7-6, in the nightcap?

"I never know which team is going to show up," Griffin said. "Vernon should have won both games... We were lucky, and you can quote me."

The split allowed Howard to raise its season record to 30-9. Vernon's record is now 23-11.

First game

If one is looking for positives from the first game of the Howard-Vernon doubleheader, that person could at least say the weather was nice.

So much for positives.

Vernon clubbed three Howard pitchers for a combined 13 hits en route to a 12-2 victory in a game that was called after six innings because of the 10-run rule.

Jeff Williams surrendered two runs while striking out two and walking seven to earn his fourth win of the season for Vernon. Howard starter Bailey Deeds allowed four runs in 3 1/2 innings in picking up the loss. Deeds is now 2-2 for the season.

The Vernon attack resembled a leaky faucet in the early innings, dribbling in single scoring runs in the first and third stanzas. In the later innings, however, the visitors turned the spigots wide open to ice the game.

The flood began in the fourth inning. Shortstop Kemp Laidley reached base on an error, stole second and came home on John Jobe's single to centerfield.

HC coach Frank Anderson then lifted Deeds in favor of reliever Brett Tucker, who was greeted by a double from David Coleman that scored Jobe. Coleman then came home on a double from teammate Danny O'Neal.

Anderson sent the third Hawk pitcher of the game, Tim Leahy, to the mound to start the fifth and Leahy retired the first two batters on fly-outs.

But getting the third out of the inning would prove to be an elusive task for Leahy and the Hawks. The next batter, Ricky Pickett doubled to left field, then advanced to third on a wild pitch.

After Jobe walked, Coleman hit his second double of the contest, which scored two runs. Coleman then came home when O'Neal slapped a triple to the rightfield wall. O'Neal then scored the fourth run of the inning when he came home on a double by catcher Rick Pfaff.

The lone bright spot for Howard in the first game came from shortstop Jay Williams, who drove in both HC runs on a double and sacrifice fly.

The loss dropped Howard's record to 29-9.

Two juniors enter NFL draft

NEW YORK (AP) — Four years ago, Bernie Kosar left the University of Miami a year early and took advantage of the NFL rules to land with the team he wanted, the Cleveland Browns.

Steve Walsh, who announced Tuesday he's turning pro, may try to do the same thing, but changes in the rules have made his chances of doing it a lot smaller.

Walsh's announcement came about one-half hour after the NFL granted the petition of another junior, Heisman Trophy winner Barry Sanders, to enter the April 23-24 draft. Sanders, who ran for 39 touchdowns and 2,628 yards and set 24 records in 1988, left Oklahoma State after the school was placed on probation.

Sanders' fate is relatively clear — he probably will be among the top half-dozen players taken in the regular draft.

But Walsh, a junior who doesn't need permission from the league to be eligible because he plans to graduate this summer, still is weighing his options — he can, if he fails to formally notify the league by next Monday, opt for a supplemental draft in July or September.

He said he hasn't had contact with any NFL teams but replied when asked if he expects to be drafted in the first round, "I would think so."

In fact, there is considerable intrigue surrounding Walsh's decision.

He is ranked with Washington State's Timm Rosenbach — another junior who may go in either the regular or supplemental drafts — one level below UCLA's Troy Aikman among quarterbacks.

Aikman was considered a cinch to be taken by the Dallas Cowboys, who choose first, until the team was purchased in February by Jerry Jones. Jones named Walsh's college coach, Jimmy Johnson, to replace Tom Landry.

Johnson reiterated Tuesday through Cowboys' spokesman Greg Aiello that he will not make a decision on his choice until April 23. He could trade the choice to a team like Kansas City, which picks fourth, or San Diego, which picks eighth, for a combination of picks and players and then take Walsh.

But Johnson was noncommittal Tuesday.

"Steve Walsh was an outstanding player for us at the University of Miami. There's no question that he's a winner," he said. "I feel he will be a productive player in the NFL... but we are still in the evaluation process."

Moreover, despite Walsh's denial that he has an agent, one source said Walsh had contact with Marvin Demoff of Los Angeles, who represents such NFL stars as Miami's Dan Marino and Denver's John Elway. The source said the decision on opting for the regular or supplemental drafts would depend on whether Demoff could determine who would likely draft Walsh.

But because of 1985, when Kosar came out knowing that he would be taken by the Browns, who had worked out a deal with last-place Buffalo for the first pick in the supplemental draft, now it's a matter of chance who gets that first pick.

Under the rule in effect for the past three years, it is a weighted lottery — the team with the worst record gets 28 chances for the first choice, the team with the second-worst 27, down to one chance for the Super Bowl winner.

Moreover, some scouts prefer Rosenbach to Walsh if both go in a supplemental draft, making Walsh's fate even more a matter of random chance.

Sanders has two agents, Lamont Smith of Denver and David Ware of Atlanta.

Smith first said Tuesday he would decide on which draft to enter depending on where the best contract potential lay. However, informed that his letter to the

The Hawks survived a last-inning scare to down Vernon, 7-6, and gain a split of the doubleheader Tuesday.

Cory Zielinski scattered five hits and walked four in six innings to gain the win, his seventh against one loss. Greg Kroeger pitched the last inning in relief for the Hawks.

After spotting Vernon a two-run lead, Howard began its rally in the second inning. Darrin Glenn walked, stole second, then came home when the throw to second was mishandled.

The Hawks tied the contest in the fourth when Jose Rubiera walked and scored on a perfectly executed hit-and-run double by Gerry Camara.

Howard gained the lead for good in the fifth when Bill Alexander hit a two-run home run to right field.

After Vernon scored a single run in the sixth on Ernie Espinoza's RBI sacrifice fly, the Hawks countered with three runs in their half of the inning to take control of the contest.

David Wallace led off with a single and stole second. Camara then singled and Glenn reached on an error to load the bases. Vernon temporarily dodged a bullet when Paul Spyhalski's grounder led to a force-out of Wallace at home plate, but Pfaff's attempt to double the runner off second resulted in the throw going into center field, scoring Camara.

Two batters later, Michael Bard doubled, scoring Glenn and Spyhalski.

"We were lucky to get out of there with a win," HC head coach Bill Griffin said. "Vernon out-hit us and out-played us... We just struggled and managed to win the second game... We didn't hit the ball well at all."

The two teams met again today in a doubleheader starting at 1 p.m. at Barber Field.

Big Spring whips Lake View, 7-4

SAN ANGELO — The Big Spring Steers used their muscle early then held off a San Angelo Lake View rally to win 7-4 and stay atop the standings in District 4-4A baseball.

Big Spring ran its record to 3-1 in loop play and 8-7 overall with the win.

The Steers took a 5-0 lead after two innings and allowed Lake View only one run in the third. The San Angelo team exploded for three runs in the fourth, however, to pull within 5-4. Big Spring killed the rally with a two-run fifth inning.

Steers head coach John Velasquez, although pleased with the win, was unhappy with parts of the Steers' game. Big Spring slammed 10 hits, including four for extra bases, but the Steers left nine runners stranded.

"We didn't play well," Velasquez said. "We really played below ourselves. We need to play better Saturday (against Fort Stockton) if we want to stay in first place." The Steers are tied with Fort Stockton and Pecos for first in district.

Velasquez said his team, which is relatively inexperienced, will have to improve its defense to stay in first.

"If we play up to our potential, nobody should score on us," he said. "But we always have one bad inning a game. If we could stop doing that, we could be tough. I think it's just a mental thing." Freddy Rodriguez and Marvin Rubio both went two of four at the plate for the Steers, while Jason Phillips went two of three. Rodriguez, Perez and Phillips all drilled doubles, and Neal Mayfield slammed a triple.

Mayfield got the win for Big Spring, pitching five innings, and Timmy Gutierrez was credited with the save.

The Steers fave Fort Stockton at 2 p.m. Saturday in Big Spring.

college rodeo is not the reason to attend college but the reason some students can attend college. Rodeo scholarships pay a large portion of school expenses.

College rodeo also is a way to make contacts and friends for life, he said.

"The friends they make in college are the ones they'll have the rest of their life," he said. "There is probably not a town in the state of Texas where I wouldn't know somebody I rodeoed with."

Scott, along with co-coach and Dean of Students Dusty Johnston, doesn't actually direct the team the way a high school football coach plots strategy on the sidelines. Since he sees rodeo as an individualistic sport, Scott said during events he leaves team members alone.

"In the practice pen... we can see any mistakes they might be making," and do some coaching there, he said. Other than that, he and Johnston choose the team for each rodeo and try to give their students a mental edge.

"Motivators. We motivate and instill a winning attitude — and good study habits and good citizenship," he said.

The motivation that keeps Scott in coaching is knowing he is making a contribution to each student's life.

"I like to see them growing up," he said. "I like seeing them bettering themselves as cowboys and as students."

I have in the last 10 years."

Roberto Kelly went 4-for-4 for the Yankees with a homer and two stolen bases.

Kelly drove in the tying run and scored the winner in the fifth off Viola. In the ninth, Kelly homered off Juan Berenguer to make it 4-2.

Rangers 4, Tigers 6

Hough struck out five and walked two en route to his 11th career shutout and Scott Fletcher drove in three runs for Texas.

"I had a rough time out there tonight, feel-wise. I didn't feel comfortable," Hough said of his knuckler. "I threw the good pitches when I had to."

The last time the Tigers were shut out on opening day was 1975 when Baltimore's Jim Palmer beat them 5-0.

"When we got a four-run lead, I threw the fastball to make them hit it," Hough said. "I stayed with the fastball because I was having a tough time with the knuckler. I caught Detroit looking a lot."

The sellout crowd of 40,375 in Arlington Stadium included the Rangers' new owners and former Dallas Cowboys coach Tom Landry, who threw out the ceremonial first pitch.

White Sox 9, Angels 2

Reuss held California to two hits and no walks for seven innings as Chicago opened the season with a victory over the Angels in Jeff Torborg's debut as manager. It also was Doug Rader's first game as manager of the Angels.

Reuss allowed only a first-inning homer to Devon White, then retired 17 straight before White doubled with one out in the seventh.

"I was able to pitch the way I wanted," Reuss said. "I was pitching just inside, where they had to swing at it. I also got some good defense behind me."

side in the ninth after loading the bases with none out as Chicago held on at Wrigley Field to beat Philadelphia, spoiling Nick Leyva's managerial debut.

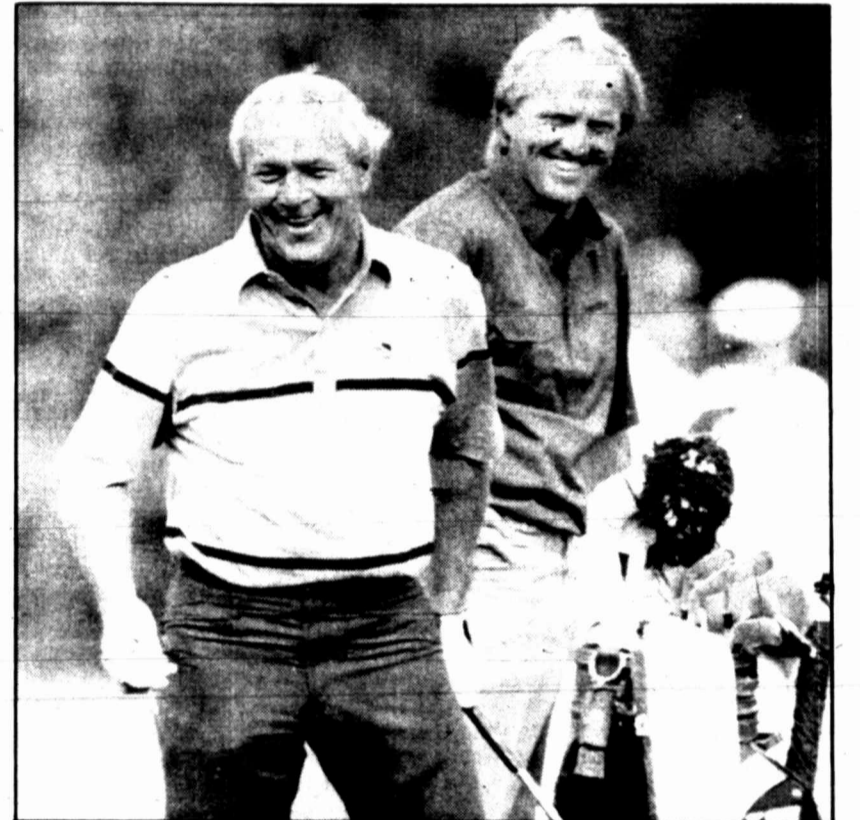

Williams, who came on in the eighth after Mike Schmidt's 543rd homer cut it to 5-4, went 1-2-3 in the ninth. He gave up three straight hits to load the bases in the ninth, but struck out Schmidt, Chris James and Mark Ryal for his first NL save.

Andre Dawson hit his 299th homer for the Cubs. The homer came in the fourth inning off loser Floyd Youmans after Ryne Sandberg had opened the inning with a double.

Rick Sutcliffe won his second straight Wrigley Field opener, the first pitcher to accomplish the feat since Grover Cleveland Alexander in 1925 and 1926.

Giants 8, Padres 3

In his San Diego debut, Bruce Hurst allowed eight runs and 10 hits, including consecutive home runs by Will Clark and Kevin Mitchell in a six-run, San Francisco third inning.

league office required that Sanders be included in the regular draft, Smith said.

"That's fine with us, as long as he's in."

Sanders will be one of the first true juniors ever drafted — he has spent three years at Oklahoma State.

Others, like Craig Heyward of Pitt and Cris Carter of Ohio State were four-year juniors allowed in because of contact with agents. Others, like Kosar and Brian Bosworth, were in the Walsh category — they graduated early.

NFL spokesman Joe Browne said the league had granted Sanders' request to enter the draft because his school, Oklahoma State, is on NCAA probation and because Coach Pat Jones and athletic director Myron Roderick support him.

Weather

Thunderstorms continued to strike much of the Southeast today after dropping dime-size hail in Mississippi and generated high winds that downed power lines and damaged businesses in Alabama.

The thunderstorms developing ahead of a slow moving cold front brought heavy rains from the central Gulf Coast to Georgia and South Carolina.

Heavier rainfall for the six hours ended at 2 a.m. EDT included nearly 2 inches at Montgomery, Ala., 1 1/2 inches at Biloxi, Miss., and 1 1/4 inches at Atlanta.

Showers were scattered across the Great Lakes and the middle and northern Atlantic Coast states. Showers also were scattered from Fair skies prevailed in the Great Plains region and the Southwest.

Today's forecast called for showers and thunderstorms across the East Coast; rain over the Appalachians, the upper Ohio Valley and the lower Great Lakes; snow over northern Michigan; rain likely across Washington state and northern Oregon; and scattered showers over North Dakota, the northern and central Rockies and Idaho.

Highs were expected to be in the 30s in northern Michigan; in the 40s from North Dakota across the upper Mississippi Valley and the Great Lakes to portions of the Ohio Valley; in the 70s and 80s over the southern Atlantic Coast states.

Washington state to western Montana.

Jeanne Dixon's Horoscope

THURSDAY, APRIL 6, 1989

CELEBRITIES BORN ON THIS DATE: actor Billy Dee Williams, newscaster Lowell Thomas, pitcher Bert Blyleven, actress Marilu Henner, magician Harry Houdini.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): You tackle a new project with zeal, impressing higher-ups. New friends and admirers are part of the package. Stop and think before you spend any more money on a hobby.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Quit harboring unrealistic ideas about money. Put the figures down on paper and analyze your situation before committing yourself. The way will become clear. Persist in building savings.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): You could benefit substantially from a relative's new business projects. Tensions at home ease. Let partner take the initiative in romance.

Evening brings mixed results. You get part of what you want.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Career projects, partnerships and personal goals are highlighted. For the next few days, compromise and let others take the lead. Avoid serious mistakes by adopting a more conservative approach.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Plans and ideas change quickly; you need to be aware of certain limitations. Effective communication continues to be of prime importance. Write letters and return telephone calls promptly. Some opportunities come only once.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Be willing to compromise more often in business and romance. Unless you tie up some loose ends, you could become more dependent on others. Your financial aggressiveness pays off. Bank a bonus.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Take the ball and run. You know how to get the best out of talented people. Seize an opportunity to follow through and complete a major task. Prominent person applauds your diligence.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): A secret stubbornness could make waves. Extend the hand of friendship to a newcomer or someone less fortunate than yourself. A temporary change of residence could lead to a permanent arrangement.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Be the peacemaker in a family squabble. Striking a better balance between home and career will restore domestic tranquility. Finances require careful handling. Don't bite off more than you can chew.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Things may not be moving along as fast as you would like. Get closer to the earth. Gardening and other outdoor activities will help reduce tension. Use your nervous energy productively.

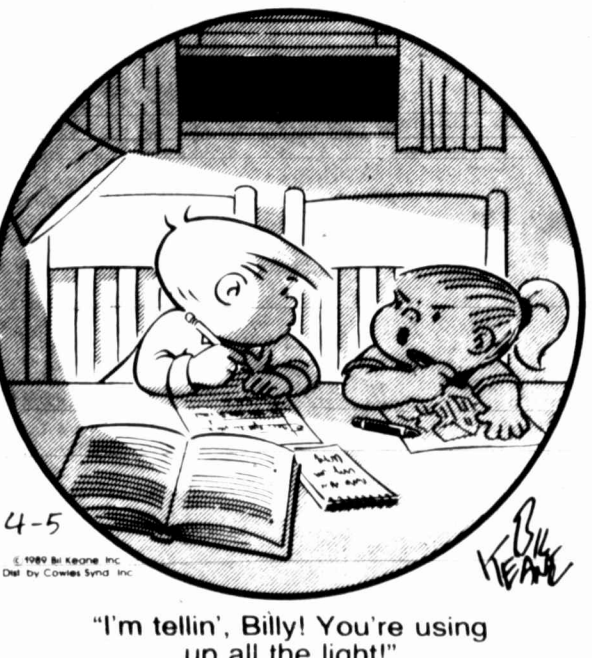

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Your quick wit and charm win new admirers. Insurance matters and joint financial dealings require your immediate attention. Focus on mate's needs and desires. Learn to pull together!

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): The intensity of your desires is strong. Investigate making a major purchase; discuss options with the credit manager. Work conditions will improve if you get organized. Know what you want.

Spelling bee winner Carvell Nguyen is all smiles.

Carvell wins

Carvell Nguyen is returning to Washington, D.C.

The eighth grade student from Runnels Junior High won the regional spelling bee in Lubbock Saturday afternoon, in what seemed to be a relatively easy test of his skills.

Carvell — whose last name is pronounced "win" — won in Lubbock in "45 or 50 rounds, I don't really remember," he said Saturday night. He won his fourth consecutive Howard County spelling bee last month.

His final opponent, Chad Patterson, Lea County, New Mexico, faltered on the word "ersatz," which Carvell proceeded to spell correctly.

He then had to spell "albino" correctly, which he did, and his trip to Washington was assured.

It will be the second time he makes the national trip, having won the regional contest in Lubbock two years ago.

And what was the toughest word he faced Saturday? "I didn't have trouble on any of them," said the self-assured 13-year-old.

The Herald sponsored his participation in Lubbock. His father, Tra Nguyen, will again accompany him to Washington, D.C. May 27-June 3.

Speaker entertains members

Howard County Lioness Club met recently in Memorial Hall at Wesley Methodist Church, with President Madeline Boadle presiding.

After prayer and pledge, led by Frances Mason, Betty Schoenfield introduced Ricky Mitchell who gave his Toastmaster's speech on "A Study of Ornithology" (bird watching). He was a hit! Very enjoyable comic speech that won him several trips to competition Toastmaster meetings.

Connie Ramirez conducted roll call and Leta Kirby gave the treasurers report.

Marguerite Thompson reported the "reading program" is going well. Lionesses will go to College Heights to hear children read Monday through Thursday. She also reported on "White Cane Day" when seven Lionesses worked at Highland Mall.

Jeannine Cunningham reported on the "Rose Sale." Connie Ramirez won the prize for selling the most roses.

Vickie Nichols reported the group has a house to scrape putty and paint on outside for "Christmas in April." Those not working at the assigned site will supply food for feed Lionesses and Lions.

Sheila Abusub reported on the March 30 induction and installation of officers for the new Leo Club.

Kay Clark reported on last week's zone meeting, which five Lionesses attended.

Frances Mason presented the slate of officers chosen by nominating committee and conducted the election of officers to take office in July.

Lola Ardoin was inducted by Marguerite Thompson. Thompson also won a door prize.

Refreshments were served to 23 members and one visitor.

Tickets for Lion's Circus were passed out, five-ring circus under a "big top" will be here April 20 for two shows.

Ten attended the board meeting.

Engaged

DATE SET — Dr. and Mrs. James R. Butler, Houston, formerly of Big Spring, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Julie Joyce Butler, to James. H. Blackmon, son of Mr. and Mrs. F.H. Blackmon, Houston. The couple will wed May 13 at the bride's home in Houston, with Rev. Mike Greenfield, Baptist Student Union director at San Jacinto College, officiating.

Gale's expands

Bramalea Centers, Inc., owners of Big Spring Mall, has announced the opening of Gale's Cakes and Cookies. Owned and operated by Gale Pittman, Gale's Cakes and Cookies specializes in cookies, birthday cakes, wedding cakes and toppers, and special occasion cookies. Gale's also offer a variety of fast foods and many incredible edibles.

"I am very excited to be able to move my entire operation to Big Spring Mall. The move will enable me to offer Big Spring the best in homemade and specialized baked goods," says Pittman.

Gale's Cakes and Cookies employs two saleswomen. Operating hours are 9 a.m. until 9 p.m., Monday through Saturday.

"It is very exciting to see a business like Gale's Cakes and Cookies come in to a space and turn it into something so bright and inviting" says Tammy Watt, mall manager. "Gale's is just another stepping stone in the growth Big Spring Mall is experiencing. We are very proud to welcome Gale's."

Child Abuse Prevention Month

By NAOMI HUNT County Extension Agent

"It should not hurt to be a child," yet the Texas Department of Human Services annually confirms more than 50,000 cases of child abuse and neglect.

While families most at risk are those where parents are troubled by alcoholism, drug abuse, marital strife, low self-esteem and joblessness, child abuse crosses all socio-economic lines and ethnic groupings.

Skills for parenting are not in-born, but require constant development by the parent during the childhood-adolescent period. Most parents genuinely love their children, but find themselves caught in situations beyond their control and do not know how to cope.

Because many Texas families tend to be mobile, they may not have family resources or stable friendships to provide external support. They also may lack basic child development information which helps them develop reasonable expectations of children's behavior at different ages and stages.

There are a growing number of community resources available to parents. Groups such as the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, local churches, school and medical centers offer parenting education classes and special programs.

Members inducted Saturday

The Leo Club conducted its induction ceremony Thursday evening in the Big Spring High School cafeteria.

Sponsored by the Evening Lions Club, the unit begins its career under the umbrella of the Lions International with 23 charter members. Their parents, along with a number of representatives from other Lions groups, were on hand to celebrate the occasion.

Installed as officers were: Christy Alexander, president; Laura Ramirez, vice president; Marilyn Corwin, secretary; Travis Sinclair, treasurer; Pete Buske, Charles Myers and Sarah Ziebell, directors. Bob Noyes, president of the sponsoring club, is advisor, and Sheila Abusaab and Ralph Mat-

Watson speaks on oil industry

Jerry Watson, mechanical engineer with Fibertex Products, spoke at a recent meeting of the Desk & Derrick Club.

Watson's speech was on "The Oil Industry — Present and Future."

According to a club report, Fibertex has a conservative optimism for the near future in the oil industry and a strong optimism for the long term. Many factors affect the price of and destiny of the oil industry, domestic politics, foreign politics and natural disasters.

Oil pricing is set by two factors. The need, or true demand, and the perception of that need or demand. In order for oil traders to generate business, the price of oil must change, either go up or down, not necessarily in large swings — but a change must occur, the report stated. Looking at the day-to-day oil prices may lead to a false sense of security or alarm depending on your position, it is best to look at a longer period to get a real feel for what is going on.

Watson sees the oil price staying around the $20 mark, barring any artificial influence, according to the report. This pricing would provide an environment or stability with a slight stimulation for slow growth.

An announcement was made that the Region V meeting of the Association of Desk & Derrick Clubs will be conducted April 21-23 at the Embassy Suites in Abilene.

Engaged

DATE SET — Mr. and Mrs. John W. Moore, Cedar Hill, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Mitzie Diane Moore, Cedar Hill, to John Christopher Underwood, Desoto, son of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Underwood. Mitzie is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Passmore, Big Spring. The couple will wed April 22 at Cedar Heights Baptist Church, Cedar Hill, with Rev. Jim Hulsey officiating.

Hunt presents stress program

Naomi Hunt, extension agent, presented the program "Life in a Pressure Cooker" at the March 13 meeting of the GFWC Forsan Study Club.

President Eunice Thixton presided over the business meeting. Roll call was answered by naming a stress inducer. The treasurer's report was given, correspondence members were voted on.

An addition to the by-laws was discussed. New business included the possibility of a community service project that involves writing to exchange students, the purchase of a book about the history of the GFWC, titled "Reaching Out."

The District Convention will meet April 7. Thixton and Linda Light served as hostesses. Members who attended the play "Joseph and His Amazing Technicolor Dream Coat" shared about their evening.

MEET YOUR MERCHANT
ELLOUISE SWINNEY

QUICK PROFILE
 Ellouise and Don Swinney started installing reverse osmosis units in 1983, then opened Tex-Pure Drinking Water Systems in 1985. They added home and business route water delivery in 1987.

WHAT ARE YOUR HOBBIES?
 Working in their church fills their extra time. They are both active in 14th & Main Church of Christ; he is song leader and both have taught Bible classes. Don is an ordained minister; the couple spent eight years in Germany as missionaries.

WHAT DO YOU DO TO KEEP IN SHAPE?
 Ellouise likes to work in her yard. The Swinneys are building a rock waterfall and pond in their back yard. "We've been working on it two years," says Ellouise. "We hope to finish it this year." The pond will be a wading pond for their three grandchildren — with another on the way.

WHO IS A PERSON YOU ADMIRE?
 "My parents — Ella and the late Wesley Carroll — have done the most to influence my life," says Ellouise.

WHAT IS YOUR FAVORITE TELEVISION SHOW?
 The Swinneys enjoy "L.A. Law," "Roseanne," and never miss "The Cosby Show."

WHAT MAGAZINES DO YOU SUBSCRIBE TO?
 Reader's Digest and Good Housekeeping are read in the Swinney home. Ellouise also enjoys reading biographies, history and fiction.

WHAT IS YOUR FAVORITE LEISURE THING TO DO IN BIG SPRING?
 "We just like to take some time to be by ourselves," Ellouise says. Both are busy — she managing Tex-Pure and he teaching math at BSHS.

WHAT DID YOU DO ON YOUR LAST VACATION?
 The Swinney's like to take short trips. "Sometimes we just go to San Angelo for the weekend." And they like to go to Midland to visit their grandchildren often.

WHAT ARE YOUR FUTURE GOALS?
 "We hope Tex-Pure will continue to grow," says Ellouise. She enjoys running the business — and "Don loves to teach. He wants to teach as long as he can."

Oil/gas

A.K. Guthrie Operating of Big Spring has posted new production data for the No. 3 R.C. Scott in Howard County's portion of the Howard-Glasscock Field, about seven miles northeast of Forsan.

The well indicated ability to pump 38 barrels of oil per day from new perforations in the Seven Rivers Formation, 1,244 to 1,533 feet into the hole.

It originally had been completed in the summer of 1938, flowing 1,517 barrels of oil daily from an interval in the Guadalupe Formation, 2,000 to 2,854 feet into the wellbore. Basin Oil was the original operator.

Water production from the new interval totaled 27 barrels daily. Oil tested at 29-gravity.

Drilling operations are nearing the 3,200-ft. mark at the No. 3 C.F. Umphress et al in the Mer-Max Field, Howard County, two miles northwest of Coahoma. Drilling had gotten underway on March 7, with total depth projected to 9,400 feet. Meridian Oil of Midland is the operator.

Mobil Producing is nearing projected total depth at the No. 3 Dolris Cole, a developmental try in the Howard-Glasscock Field, Howard County, about 15 miles southeast of Big Spring. Spudded on March 8, the well carries authority for an even 8,000 feet of hole making.

Wildcat drilling action is nearing the 7,400-ft. mark at the No. 1 Hamlin, an explorer well located about 10 miles north of Big Spring. Union Oil is the operator. The well was spudded on Feb. 22, with total depth projected to 9,200 feet.

A potent new wildcat oil producer has been completed in Glasscock County, about eight miles southeast of Garden City.

Flowing 463 barrels of oil with 78,000 CF gas per day on a 12/64 choke, the well is known as the No. 1 Neste Currie.

It registered 975 PSI flowing tubing pressure.

With Union Texas Petroleum of Houston as the operator, the well probed to total depth of 10,781 feet. It will produce from a set of Fusselman Formation perforations following a plugback to 10,070 feet.

The production interval is at 10,032 to 10,054 feet into the wellbore.

First production data have been posted for the No. 1 Hyatt "L," a new producer in the Spraberry Trend, Martin County, 16 miles north of Tarzan.

It pumped 54 barrels of oil with 49,000 CF casinghead gas and 165 barrels of salt water daily on open choke. Oiltested at 39-gravity.

The well bottomed at 9,600-ft. TD and will produce from sets of Spraberry perforations ranging from 7,981 to 9,534 feet into the hole.

Parker and Parsley Petroleum of Midland is the operator.

He's put BITE into his advertising!

To my customers and friends:

There is no question that proper marketing of my products and services is crucial to the success of my business — now more than ever. I've tried a variety of advertising as owner of Circuit Satellite and I've discovered which I like best — the advertising that's effective.

It isn't always easy to determine what advertising works or how effective it is. However, I tried a new advertising program this month and I couldn't be more pleased with the results. Using the proven formula of frequent appearance, I've enjoyed the double benefit of the Big Spring Herald's most economical rate with their daily Business Builder series. It calls for an advertisement every day — with flexibility for change — and a strong appeal to the consumer to act. It's worked and the rate is more than economical — because it works.

Although I was hesitant at first, running an advertisement every day has proven to be the most effective advertising ever for me. In fact, the ad more than paid for itself within less than a week — giving me three more weeks to enjoy its benefits for my low monthly cost.

It's advertising that's been effective!

Natural Gas Use Is Preferred

Statistics from the Department of Energy show that natural gas is the best buy for residential energy users.

About 26 percent of the natural gas used in the United States each year is delivered to residential customers, according to the American Gas Association. Over 65 percent of all homes in the United States have gas service, and 55 percent of all homes are heated with gas.

Conservation has reduced gas use per household for space heating by 24 percent since 1973. The new generation of gas appliances and furnaces is at least one-third more efficient than older models.

Natural gas was first used in the United States in 1816, when gas lights illuminated the streets of Baltimore, Md. Today, the American natural gas industry serves more than 166 million consumers in all 50 states.

Natural Gas As A Vehicle Fuel

The same fuel that heats 42 million homes could soon be the fuel that runs America's cars, trucks and buses.

The use of natural gas as a vehicle fuel is growing rapidly, according to the American Gas Association, which estimates that there are already more than 30,000 vehicles in the United States running on natural gas.

"Because natural gas is a much cleaner fuel than gasoline or diesel, it's highly beneficial from an environmental standpoint," says George H. Lawrence, A.G.A. president. "With most major American cities having trouble meeting Clean Air Act standards, the conversion of fleet and mass transit vehicles to natural gas is an obvious solution to achieving compliance."

Currently, compressed natural gas costs about 62 cents per equivalent gallon of fuel, so it's actually cheaper than gasoline, says A.G.A. Existing automobiles can be converted to run on natural gas (and will still run on gasoline, too) for about $1,700. Conversion costs for larger vehicles, such as heavy duty trucks and city buses, range from $2,000 to $2,500. The association notes, however, that the conversion costs can be paid back quickly through fuel savings and reduced maintenance requirements, in addition to significant reductions in emissions.

Although the first U.S. public natural gas fueling station opened in 1988 in Nevada, A.G.A. says that most conversions initially will be fleet vehicles that return to the same locale every 24 hours for refueling. Eventually, however, car owners who have natural gas service where they live will be able to refuel at home. This is already being done in Canada.

Buyer's Guide To Appliances

A well-informed consumer makes the smartest choices when buying a new furnace or appliance. A high-efficiency gas furnace, for example, can pay back its initial extra cost in just a few years through fuel savings, according to the American Gas Association.

To help consumers learn more about new natural gas equipment, the association has published a "Buyer's Guide to Energy-Efficient Natural Gas Furnaces and Appliances." The 20-page brochure covers gas heating systems, ranges, clothes dryers, water heaters and room heaters. It discusses available options, special features, sizes and efficiency ratings such as those provided on some equipment through the federal Energy-Guide labeling program.

Consumers can get a free copy of the Buyer's Guide by writing A.G.A. Public Information, Dept. HT, 1515 Wilson Blvd., Arlington, VA 22209.

Hot weather alert - Keep Cool At Less Cost

During hot days make sure that air conditioners are used wisely to conserve energy and reduce operating costs.

Consumers should find themselves cooler and more comfortable at lower cost by following tips such as these recommended by the Air-Conditioning and Refrigeration Institute, the trade association representing manufacturers of central air conditioning and heat pump systems:

- Set the thermostat control at the highest comfortable level—each degree raised reduces energy consumption by 3 to 4 percent.
- Caulk, weatherstrip, and insulate (especially the attic) to close air gaps.
- Plan hot work (washing and drying clothes, baking, cooking) for cooler morning and evening hours.
- Pull drapes and shades over windows facing the sun.
- Keep windows and doors closed when the air conditioning is on.
- Check the air filter, and replace or clean it as warranted, every 30 days during heavy cooling.
- Keep the outside unit free of leaves or other airflow obstructions.
- When leaving the house for more than about four hours, turn the thermostat up to about 82 degrees or so instead of the 78 usually recommended, and keep the house closed to minimize heat build-up.
- When coming home, don't set the thermostat any lower than the temperature actually wanted. The air conditioning system wouldn't cool any faster, and might waste money by cooling more than needed.

These tips are part of 47 questions answered for consumers in ARI's free pamphlet "How To Keep Your Cool and Save Cold Cash." It's available for a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope sent to ARI, Dept. U-124, P.O. Box 37700, Washington, DC 20013.

Diet Pills Sweeping U.S.

Doctors Invent 'Lazy Way' to Lose Weight

U.S. Gov't Approves Patent Claims for New Diet Pill

BEVERLY HILLS, CA (Special)—An amazing new weight loss pill called "fat-magnet" has recently been developed and perfected by two prominent doctors at a world famous hospital in Los Angeles that reportedly "guarantees" you steady fat loss and calorie reduction by simply taking their tested and proven new pill.

The U.S. government has just approved the doctors' claims for a hard-to-get patent that confirms "there has never been anything like their fat-bonding pill process before." It is a totally new major scientific breakthrough and is revolutionizing the weight loss industry.

You Can "Eat Normally"
Best of all, "you can continue to eat your favorite foods and you don't have to change your normal eating habits. You can start losing fat and reduce calories from the very first day, until you achieve the ideal weight you desire without exercising."

Flushes Fat Out of Body
The new pill is appropriately called the "fat-magnet" pill because it breaks into thousands of particles, each acting like a tiny magnet, "attracting" and trapping many times its size in undigested fat particles. Then, all the trapped fat and calories are naturally "flushed" right out of your body because they cannot be absorbed.

Within 2 days you should notice a change in the color of your stool, caused by the fat particles being eliminated.

"Automatically" Lose Fat
According to one of the inventors, Dr. William Shell, heart specialist and associate professor of medicine at UCLA medical school, "the new fat-bonding process is a 'lazy way' to lose weight because the pills alone 'automatically' reduce calories by eliminating dietary fat. It is 100% safe and not a drug."

The fat-magnet pills are already sweeping the country with glowing reports of weight loss from formerly overweight people in all walks of life who are now slimmer, trimmer and more attractive again.

Now Available to the Public
If you are trying to lose 20, 50, 100 pounds or more, you can order your supply of these "no-risk" highly successful fat-magnet pills directly from the doctors' exclusive manufacturer only (includes optional calorie-reduction plan for even better results). Send $20 for a 90 pill supply (+$3 handling), or $35 for a 180 pill supply (+$3 handling), to: Fat-Magnet, 9016 Wilshire Blvd., Dept. W842, Beverly Hills, CA 90211. (Unconditional money-back guarantee if not 100% satisfied.) Visa, MasterCard and American Express OK. (Send card number, expire date, and signature.) For fastest service for credit card orders ONLY call anytime 24 hours, toll free 1(800) 527-9700, ext. W842. Adv. ©F.M. 1989

Bathroom Product And Lifestyle Options For Today

The spirit of the late 80's American scene is available in bathroom products for different lifestyle options.

Some products are more pristine or more petite, but there are options galore. With realistic pricing, but no sacrifice of luxury or elegance, these options are available from American Standard.

If there were a home fashions style called "country" in the 1980's that was not a reproduction from the past, yet still expressed warmth and simplicity, "The Line" is a collection of simply decorated china bathroom fixtures, would be the choice.

Other options for swagger and élan in new colors of glistening, stiletto Black, or a definite, outspoken Orchid—to mix or match, sometimes with embellishments of precious gold or classic fittings with clear acrylic handles.

pose, play, luxurious comfort, solitude or company are fully dramatized, with the obvious purpose of stimulating spurring consumers to re-think the possibilities of the bathing space.

With these ideas, American Standard again asserts its depth of understanding of the American tempo and its people's desire to express themselves in those facets of life in which there are choices and alternatives. American Standard bathroom fixtures and fittings have a reputation for value and longevity.

For lifestyle option ideas, write to American Standard Inc., Plumbing Products, 1 Centennial Plaza, P.O. Box 6820, Piscataway, NJ 08854.

IT'S HOME IMPROVEMENT TIME
A GOOD INVESTMENT

Based on national average residential energy prices, natural gas remains the most economical way to heat water, says the American Gas Association.

Using Department of Energy figures, the association estimates that, on average, a high-efficiency natural gas water heater costs as much as 69 percent less to operate than a conventional electric water heater.

Although high-efficiency gas water heaters may cost slightly more than lower efficiency models, they usually are the best buy over the life of the appliance because they cost less to operate.

The Federal Trade Commission requires that manufacturers put an "EnergyGuide" label on all water heaters. The label can help consumers compare value by determining which model will be the most economical to operate. The guide also shows consumers how to compute annual operating costs by using local utility rates.

New natural gas water heaters feature better insulation, improved burners and more efficient heat transfer technology. This translates into about a 36 percent reduction in energy use compared with older models.

Tips YOU Can Use From The Garage Door Council

The door to family safety can begin with your garage. If that door gets damaged in any way, it's wise not to put off repairs. For the sake of security, you might like to follow these tips from Frank S. Fitzgerald, president of the Garage Door Council:

Do not add an electric opener to an existing door without proper counterbalancing of the door. An automatic door that doesn't work properly has a reduced life expectancy and can be dangerous.

Keep the tracks and other moving parts properly lubricated. This type of maintenance can be done by most handy do-it-yourselfers.

For safety's sake, make sure your garage door closes properly.

nearby garage door dealer. Look for those dealers who display the emblem of the Far Western Garage Door Association or the Door and Operator Dealers of America.

If you have any questions about garage doors, you can write to Garage Doors, Frank S. Fitzgerald, CAE, 3950 Lake Shore Drive, Chicago, IL 60613.

Sunspaces Are Fun And Efficient

A porch is cleverly enclosed to become a sunspace to save heating costs as well as provide great space for informal dining and indoor gardening. Summitville quarry tiles on the floor are heat and work savers.

By Lis King
Sunspaces have become the fun rooms of the 80s, notes Summitville Tiles, a firm that makes it its business to plot home the new, all-around family room.

That's quite a change from the 60s when the sunspace movement first started. At that time we all became conscious of the environment and wanted to save fossil fuels by adding "glass envelopes to our homes." The movement picked up speed as the 70s brought ever-escalating fuel costs as well as an energy crisis.

Then the high costs of moving to a new and larger home made remodeling the reasonable solution, and again the sunspace fit the bill. Across the country, homes began sprouting greenhouses and other additions with large expanses of sun-catching glass.

Today, sunspaces are so fashionable that they are added onto new homes as a matter of course and most of them defy the textbook definition of "greenhouse," which happens to be "a glass-enclosed space that provides a controlled environment for the growing of plants." For the newest greenhouses are certainly more for people than for plants.

However, the rules for living comfortably in glass additions haven't changed since those early days. Summitville sums them up this way:

If you want to cash in on the sun's heat, the space must face south and have unobstructed sun exposure all through the winter day.

It should be shaded from the summer sun, either by deciduous trees, shutters or shades. Cross-ventilating doors and windows are also necessary in areas with sweltering summers.

If reducing the fuel and/or air conditioning bill is the major purpose of the sunspace, a thermal mass for the absorption of the sun's heat is needed. For this purpose, Summitville recommends a thick concrete slab with a floor of unglazed quarry tile. For such tile has excellent thermal properties, and it actually works with the concrete to absorb warmth from the sun and slowly release it as the air cools in the evening or on cloudy days.

If the sun space harnesses more heat than it needs, this heat can be used in adjoining rooms. Doors and/or registers will distribute the air. Conversely, in summer, the thermal mass can be used to cool down the sun space and perhaps adjoining rooms as well. To do this, cross ventilation is created and the thermal mass absorbs those lovely, cooling evening breezes, releasing them as the temperature rises during the day.

If the sunspace is a lean-to greenhouse type, the wall that it shares with the house can furnish additional thermal storage. A concrete block wall would do the trick, but as in the case of a concrete slab underfoot, it will never earn high marks for good looks. So it makes sense to dress it up with tile. Johnson likes the look of a brick-shaped quarry tile in a natural hue for such walls.

Masonry planters, tiled to match the floor, and tile-topped ledges, platforms and counters used for seating, tables and such, will also soak up the sun's heat.

Aside from its good looks and thermal talents, tile is also extremely rugged and easy-care, certainly desirable traits for rooms that must stand up to kids, parties, indoor gardening, hot-tubbing, family dining, and more.

Heavy tile types and pavers such as those found in Summitville's Quarry Tile group and Olde Towne series of quarry tile and paving bricks are the best choices for sun space floors. Dark colors absorb heat better than light ones, so terracotta, brown and charcoal tiles are great choices.

To find out where to see tiles especially suitable for sunspaces, contact Summitville Tiles, Inc., P.O. Box 73, Summitville, OH 43962.

Clear Facts About Windows

If the many types of windows have you puzzled, you're not alone.

Never before have there been so many choices facing consumers in the market for windows—styles, framing materials, glazing options, etc. It's no wonder many people feel confused. But one thing about windows is abundantly clear: old, obsolete or ill-fitting windows can be responsible for one-third or more of a home's energy loss. That's why it's important to know how to buy new windows and maintain the ones you have.

"Windows," a 36-page color booklet from the American Architectural Manufacturers Association (AAMA) is a comprehensive guide for the proper selection, installation and maintenance of windows. AAMA is the national trade organization that establishes product performance standards for windows, patio doors, skylights, aluminum siding and other products. The AAMA label on a window or patio door indicates it has been tested to meet industry standards for structural strength, weatherability, and ability to resist water and air leakage. Some products also bear a "thermal tested" label to indicate their energy efficiency and condensation-resistance.

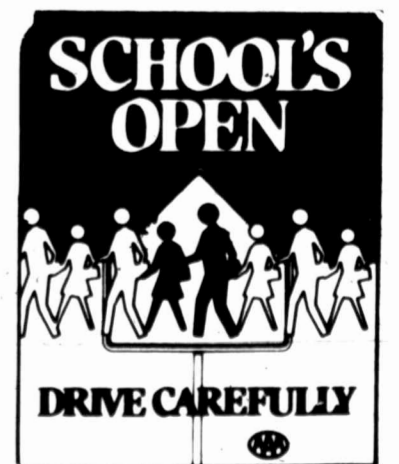

The booklet describes how to select the proper style of window to meet various design requirements and the ways in which windows can be used to save energy. It also compares the different types of glazing and frame materials—aluminum, vinyl and wood. Sliding glass doors, insulating/storm windows and doors are also detailed.

For a copy of "Windows," send $2.00 to: AAMA, 2700 River Rd., Dept. RSPR, Des Plaines, IL 60018.

Engaged

COUPLE TO WED — Dr. and Mrs. George E. Maurer, Ashland, Pa., announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Donna M. Maurer, 403 Hillside Dr., to Dr. Randall T. Amonett, 538 Westover, son of Thayne Amonett, Lubbock, and the late Maxine Amonett. The couple will wed June 24 at First United Methodist Church, Big Spring, with Rev. John Wilson, associate pastor of St. Luke's, United Methodist Church, Midland, officiating.

Military

Marine Sgt. Danny E. Guzman, son of Tony H. and Irene E. Guzman, 1501 Stadium Ave., has been promoted to his present rank while serving with Marine All Weather Attack Squadron-242, Marine Corps Air Station, El Toro, Calif.

A 1982 graduate of Big Spring High School, he joined the Marine Corps in October 1983. His wife, Sylvia, is the daughter of Humberto and Patsy Padilla, 1407 Mesa. Cadet John A. Meyer, son of Mrs. Joan M. Meyer, Big Spring, has been promoted to the rank of cadet master sergeant in the Marion Military Institute Corps of Cadets.

The college sophomore is serving in Company H for the school year 1988-89.

Marion Military Institute is an independent, non-profit institution consisting of a co-educational high school and two-year college. The school also offers a Service Academy Preparation program in addition to the two-year Army Reserve Officers' Training Corps commissioning program.

More than 200 generals and admirals began their military training at the 147-year-old school.

Woman writes about those Marfa Lights

By TUMBLEWEED SMITH (rhymes with husky) owns a book, rock and craft shop in Alpine. She also paints signs. Judith studied art and earned a Ph.D in cultural anthropology, taught for awhile in Arkansas, then six years ago ventured West for her own enrichment.

Tumbleweed Smith

She has written a book on the Marfa lights, titled "The Marfa Lights."

"People coming into the shop would ask if there was a book on the Marfa lights," says Judith. "There wasn't one. So I wrote one."

For years, the definitive work on the lights was a chapter in Elton Miles' book, Tales of the Big Bend. More recently, Kirby Warnock wrote an article called "Ghost Lights" in the premiere issue of Big Bend Quarterly.

Judith collected only first-hand accounts of people who had seen the lights up close or had unusual experiences with them.

The Marfa lights have been with us...for a long time. They are reported from various places in the Big Bend region in Brewster and Presidio Counties and sometimes in Jeff Davis County. They are most frequently reported in the area between Marfa and Paisano Pass to the east. The favorite place to view the lights, known as the official Marfa Lights viewing site, is located about nine miles east of Marfa on Highway 90.

I have gone to see the lights twice. Both times I saw them. They appeared at first to look like half a dozen people were out there carrying large flashlights. Then one of the lights would go out, another would move in a circle, another would veer off in odd directions.

There has been much speculation as to what the lights are, but nobody has fully explained them.

Judith's book is filled with first-hand experiences with the lights. One lifelong resident of the area passed through the viewing site one midnight and felt scared. She looked out her right window and saw something like a ball of fire coming right for her vehicle. The light was two and a half feet in diameter, orange-red and appeared to be spinning or rolling. She stepped on the gas and was soon going 90 miles an hour. The ball of fire was staying with her, as if in a race. She lost the light at a curve in the road.

People have seen colors in the lights. From "stoplight red" to an "almost fluorescent bluish-green."

Another viewer called the lights "real real bright white with a blue aura around them." He could see the ground beneath the lights and the ground was bright white, too.

A former student at Sul Ross told Judith she saw a star swoop out of the sky and meet one of the lights, which was bright enough to illuminate the inside of her car.

One person who saw the lights said, "What was so wonderful was that when I saw these light balls, they created in me such a feeling of happiness and joy and magic that it was well worth going out there."

Judith's book is small, about 50 pages. It sells for $4.95. Her first edition sold out quickly and her second edition is just out. It includes a few more light stories and more conjecture as to what the lights are.

She writes about various theories as to what the lights could be, such as St. Elmo's fire, static electricity, atmospheric tunneling, ball lightning and piezoelectricity. She also mentions some experiments conducted in efforts to discover the source of the lights.

As far as sound, Judith has found no first-hand reports of any Marfa Light ever making so much as a sound, let alone exploding. "I have heard, second-hand," she says, "that they have been known to make popping noises. Maybe other such reports may eventually surface. At present I will regard Marfa Lights as silent and non-explosive."

She hopes to keep updating her book with current stories. Her address is P.O. Box 195, Alpine, 79831.

Staff Writer
Larry and Bertie Shaw entertained friends with an Easter Sunday sunrise service and brunch at their Knott home.
Out-of-town guests included the Shaws' daughter Linda and husband Lawrence Lepard, with youngsters Shawn and Chris, Albuquerque, N.M.; Larry's niece Tammy and husband Coy Blocker, students at Texas Tech; Leslie Welch, Lenorah; and Tim Ballard, Elbow.
Tim took part in the entertainment, joining Kenneth and Patty Schuelke, Mark and Altie Winn in solos and group harmony. Mark also played his guitar.
Others getting up early were Juanita Adams, the Mark Winns' children, Jennifer and Jeremy; the Kenneth Schuelkes' youngsters Clint and Terah; Larry's sister, Joanne Peugh and her son, Danny; Pat and Laverne Gaskins; Ima Robinson, Lloyd and Sue Robinson, with Scott, Kent and Lance; Leslie Welch; Lola Meyers; and Carla Peugh, with Brady, Cody and Tandy.

Donald and Dorothy Douglass took an Easter Week break fishing at Lake Colorado City with family members.
Joining them were son Dee Jon, a student at Texas Tech; son Dusty and his wife Leslie, with Daniel and Dustin, Odessa; and Donald's parents, Ross and Lenora Douglass, Sylvester.

Tidbits
The two planned a week of skiing and trout fishing - they're due back Monday.
Dee and Lynda Elrod spent the holiday weekend in Austin visiting her sister, Kathy, and husband Phil Laurence.

They hit all the major restaurants, Lynda says, "and Dee ate as much Blue Bell Ice Cream as he could hold!"
Friends of Ray Stukel gathered to surprise him on his birthday.
Well-wishers included his wife, Rose, Richard and Elaine Sayles; Mert and Sara Remley; Milford and Carolyn Hackfeld; Moran and Ruth Oppgaard; Claire Jonas; Mike and Mary Lintner; Wayne and Lucy Bonner; George and Bonnie Franklin.
Also Richard and Debbie Sanders; Don and Mary Ellen Proctor; Neal and Marjorie Squires; Harland and Ada Nareem; Jim and Ruth Vineyard; Skeeter and Ruth Salisbury.
By the way, the Stukels have just been notified that their son, Russ, was chosen as Outstanding Hall Director at North Texas University - and went on to win the National Hall Director title. Russ will receive his national award in Oklahoma in May.

Lee Coleman, son of Hannah Coleman, and Kenny Lowery, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Lowery, have just returned from the U.S. Space Academy in Huntsville, Ala., where they studied and trained to be astronauts with 7th and 9th grade youngsters from throughout the United States.
The youngsters flew up on Sunday (after buying a second pair of airline tickets when their Easter tickets bit the dust.)
Their mothers took a week's leisurely vacation driving from

Big Spring to Huntsville to pick them up five days later - staying in Victorian "bed and breakfasts" along the way.
The trip reportedly has the youngsters thinking seriously about space careers. Lee now wants to spend his summer vacation at Cape Canaveral.
Sharon (Mrs. Fred) White was due home this weekend from Melbourne, Fla., where she has been getting acquainted with her new grandson, Landon Alan Hollander. The baby's parents are the Whites' daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Hollander.
Eltha Whisenhunt is the baby's great-grandmother. "It's the Hollander family's first grandson," Eltha says.

BUSINESS & INDUSTRY REVIEW

Smith's offers quality transmission repairs

Billy Smith believes transmission work is a specialized field. "This is the work we do day in and day out. We have specialized training in this field, and stay on top of the latest techniques and equipment. We can guarantee our work because we know we've done the job right."

Smith, owner of Smith's Automatic Transmission, 2900 E. FM 700, says he wants repeat business. "That's why we stand behind our estimates — and guarantee our work." The customer doesn't find any surprises when he gets his bill for work done at this garage, says Smith. The owner believes hidden costs, extra charges and gimmicks erode a customer's confidence.

Smith adds, "If the customer knows he has a solid estimate, and that the work will hold up, he can accommodate it comfortably in his budget." Smith's best advice for owners of cars, pick-ups, RV's and 4-wheel drives is: Service your transmission regularly.

Latent transmission problems sometimes will show up in very hot weather, but if vehicle-owners have attended to their regular servicing, hot weather should present no problems, says Smith.

Owners of late model cars with overdrive transmissions should pay special attention to their service schedule, the owner advises.

"I recommend that the fluid and filter be changed every 20,000-25,000 miles. That's about 1 1/2 to 2 years for the average driver."

The new cars "have to run cleaner," explains Smith. "If you go to 50,000 or 60,000 miles without regular service, you're going to run into trouble. The better and more frequent the service, the longer the transmission will last."

Transmission service is a year-round consideration, not just something you think about when you're going on a trip, says Smith. Owners who regularly drive great distances, drive in mountains or pull heavy loads have added reasons for regular transmission service.

Smith will personally inspect your transmission and give you a firm estimate on any service or repairs needed. "Our estimates are free and without any obligation."

For more information or to make an appointment, phone 267-3955, or just drive your vehicle — car, pick-up, 4-wheel drive or RV — over to the rooey shop just east of Big Spring Mall.

SPECIALISTS — Smith's Automatic Transmission is the place to take all vehicles — cars, pick-ups, 4-wheel drives and RV's — for regular ser-

Weddings

Meredith-Bolding

Shawn DeAnn Meredith and Garry Wayne Bolding were united in marriage March 18, 1989 at a 6 p.m. ceremony at First Baptist Church, with Kenneth G. Patrick, pastor, officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Margaret and Bob Smith, 4048 Vicky St.

Bridegroom's father is T.E. Bolding, 2413 Morrison Dr.

The couple stood before an altar decorated with a tree and arched candelabras with caladiums and spring flowers. The center was decorated with a large spray bouquet accented by ficus trees.

Organist and pianist was Van Hayes.

Vocalist was Bronnda Goates.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore gown with a heavily beaded and embroidered bodice with teardrop beads accenting the lace. The satin sleeves were fashioned of scalloped and waterfall ruffles. She also wore an embroidered cathedral-length train.

She carried a cascading bouquet of orchid-colored roses with mauve, yellow, pink and white spring flowers, accented with Queen Anne lace and satin ribbon.

Maid of honor was Joanie Wilson, Big Spring.

Bridesmaid was Kim Sanders, Big Spring.

Flower girl was Chesnie Smith, niece.

Best man was Weldon Ribble, Big Spring.

Groomsman was David Wright, Big Spring.

Ringbearer was Chase Davis, Sand Springs.

Ushers were David Conine, Brazoria; and Robert Smith,

MRS. SHAWN BOLDING

Midland.

Candlelighter was Robert Smith.

After the wedding, a reception was hosted at the church. The bride's three-tiered wedding cake was adorned with orchid and white roses on a white lacy icing decorated with bells and cherubs.

The centerpiece of purple, lavender, gold, apricot and white flowers, was set in a 4-branch candelabra. The bridegroom's cake was German chocolate. The centerpiece was a boot and barbed wire.

The bride is a graduate of Big Spring High School and Howard College. She is a student at SouthWest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Big Spring High School. He is employed by Western Container.

Kyoung-Holten

Park Soo Kyoung, Seoul, Korea, and Jerome P. Holten, 2505 Larry Dr., exchanged wedding vows March 27, 1989 at a 6 p.m. ceremony at Immaculate Heart of Mary Church, with Fr. Stephen White officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Park Yong Chul and Shin Mi Gyun, Seoul, Korea.

Bridegroom's parents are Joseph T. Holten, San Angelo; and JoAnn C. Holten, Big Spring.

Organist was Betty Pratt.

Vocalists were Ellen Phillips and Manuel Hinajos.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a Southern-belle gown with a modified hoop. The leg-o-mutton sleeves ended at the elbow. The bodice was fashioned of lace secured with several hundred seed pearls. Her six-foot train trailed from her waist. Her veil of illusion extended nine feet and was gathered at the top of her head with several hundred seed pearls and small white bell flowers. The bride helped inset the lace on her dress, which was a work of art in the Oriental fashion.

She carried a bouquet of red roses.

Maid of honor was Park Chung Mi, bride's sister.

Best man was Michael F. Holten, bridegroom's brother, Midland.

Ushers were Matt Holten and Carlos Cruz.

After the wedding, a reception was hosted at Canterbury South. The bride's table, draped with a pink linen cloth, featured a two-tiered cake separated by four pillars. The cake, topped with the traditional bride and bridegroom figurine, was surrounded by pink and blue roses. The bridegroom's table, draped with an ecru cloth made by his great-grandmother, featured a chocolate sheet cake with a gold American eagle emblem. Champagne, cake and punch were served to more than 60 guests and relatives.

MR. AND MRS. JEROME HOLTEN

The bride attended high school and college in Seoul, Korea.

The bridegroom is a 1979 graduate of Big Spring High School, and a 1981 graduate of Howard College. He serves in the U.S. Army.

After a wedding trip to Carlsbad, N.M. and an extended honeymoon to Europe, the couple will make their home in West Germany.
