When I mentioned this to a pilot friend of mine, he told me that once he and his daughter were flying to Corpus and had to make a quick descent. One of his daughter's teeth started hurting so badly she began screaming. The first thing they did after landing was to visit a dentist.

One of my dentist friends told me the problem had a name. It is called aerodontalgia, meaning dental problems at altitude, or "flyer's toothache.

Another dentist friend sent off to the American Dental Association and to obtain the latest information on the subject.

Before, during and immediately after World War II, aerodontalgia was primarily a military problem. Pilot's judgment and reasoning were often impaired by excruciating tooth pain, creating potentially diastrous situations. Some emergency landings had to be made.

Even with so much air travel today, aerodontalgia is still far from common. The first research on the subject indicated that only about 2 percent of flyers are bothered with

Some painful conditions of the teeth and jaws that are aggravated by flying may persist for long or short periods after landing. In most instances, a trip to the dentist is the only remedy. The treatment is usually a root canal or extraction.

The problem is pressure changes, which occur by rapid ascent to high altitudes. These pressure changes lead to alterations in the volume of entrapped gases in teeth or jaws. For example, the gas within an infected root canal will expand as the airplane climbs. The gas expansion exerts pressure on nerves and leads to a toothache.

Pains of dental origin which occur only during descent may be due to a sucking action which pulls the soft tissues into the root canal. In some instances in flight, an existing chronic inflammation may be pushed to an acute stage. If pain occurs during ascent, the tooth is usually alive. If pain occurs during descent, the tooth is usually one in which the nerve has been removed. To relieve the pressure, dentists cut into the gum to drain the abscess or drill into the tooth, providing an escape valve for the trapped gases. Persons susceptible to aerodontalgia include those with an abscess around the root of a tooth, a decay which reaches the pulp of a tooth, a sinus condition, or those who have had recent extractions or restorations.

Some dental patients are told to avoid air travel for 24 hours after a trip to the dentist. One Air Force dental surgeon says it has been his experience that from 48 to 72 hours are required for the dental pulp to settle down after dental treatment.

In 86 percent of the cases reported, restorations were present in the involved teeth. Chances are if you've had dental work, you may sometimes have a problem in open house for their employers race. I wrote to Farmington, N.M., from 6-9 p.m. Tuesday in the HECE department at Big Spring High School. Students in HECE are employed half days in food services, child care, institutional home management, home decorating, clothing industry, and as nursing aides.

HECE students host open house at school

Each employer develops a training plan for the student in conjunction with the school. At open house, students will show daily records of the hours they worked and the experiences they had. Framed certificates of appreciation will be given to employers. Billie Grisham is in charge of the program and teaches a course in work skills, with focus upon business management and interpersonal relationships. Her largest class meets at 7:30 a.m. daily; Joel Jennings is president of that class. Presidents of other HECE classes are Mike Rush and Jennifer Craven.

Runnels and Goliad choirs will present a concert Tuesday at 7 p.m. in the BSHS auditorium. Selections prepared for the UIL contest Thursday in Odessa will be presented. A concert by Rhapsody is scheduled for Friday at 8 p.m. in the BSHS auditorium. Runnels and Goliad bands will participate in a concert and sightreading contest in Odessa Friday. Members of the Spanish Club competed in the Foreign Language Festival at Angelo State University April 7. Events in a chosen langauge included poetry reading, prose reading, sight-reading, extemporaneous speaking, skits, and written tests.

Linsa Rodriguez is president of the Spanish Club at BSHS. Other officers include Tracey Schaffner, vice-president; Deanna Beckham, secretary; and Rex Tucker. treasurer. Sheila Abusaab and Bud Baker sponsor the group.

A "Student of the Week" program has been initiated by the guidance department at BSHS to honor students who display outstanding citizenship or noteworthy achievement. The student's picture is placed on the bulletin board. First student to be honored is Ernest Taggart, a freshman. * ~*

Jenny Wallace wrote about a letter the class received.

"Last Christmas, the class wrote letters to a man in the navy. His name was Mark W. Smithee. He works on a ship named the USS Bagley. He works with a gun. It is called MK 68. He has been in the navy over two years now. He has been on the USS Bagley for almost a year. He has traveled to such places as Hong Kong, Bahrain, and Korea. He also goes up and down the coast of Alaska to his homeport, San Diego. Mark enjoys it a lot. He says they eat, sleep, and work on the ship. He sent us a picture of his ship. We are proud of it. Thank-you, Mark."

Drew and Jenny are studnets in Carol Boyd's second grade class.

Anderson Kindergarten students enjoyed participating in the 1989 Spring Coloring Contest at the Big Spring Mall. Winning first place ribbons were Issac Vasquez, Erica Holguin, Jessica Way, Jonathon Becerra, Elaine Sandridge, Vanessa Rodriquez, Bobbie Jo Moran, Veronica Romo, Crystal Puga, and Jimmy Issacs.

Other first place winners include T.J. Colvin, Jessica Pierson, LaToya Banks, Robert Kerr, Teri Denton, Leandro Sanchez, Beth Ancisco, Matthew Andrews, Ben Schmitt, and P.J. Garza.

Students in Mrs. Cain's second grade at Washington Elementary are learning about fractions in a neat and tasty way. Each student brought two favorite recipes from home, which the class combined into cookbooks.

A SMILE - Childish candor has a way of making adults a bit uncomfortable at times. One Sunday morning after church services, Rev. Clayton Hicks was pleased to have his young son Joe express great enthusiasm for his sermon. Clayton asked his son what he liked best about the sermon, "Well, Dad," was the sincere reply, "it was short."

Retired teacher Ed Shive tells this story: "Years ago, I taught a vocational shop class in a large high school. It was customary for my supervisor to come by and visit for awhile several times each week on his way home. We would plan and discuss things we might do to improve the vocational program and education in general.

"This particular afternoon, I was expounding in detail some of the things we could do to improve our instruction in the long run.

Crimestoppers

A pickup truck was stolen from an auto parts store, set on fire and destroyed March 7, the Big Spring Police Department reported.

The vehicle was parked at Carrolls Auto Parts, 607 S. Gregg St., with the keys in the ignition and the doors unlocked, a police report said. The owner of the vehicle was only in the business about 10. minutes when he came out and discovered the vehicle missing, according to the report.

The pickup, described as a red 1986 4-wheel drive short-bed, was found about two hours later 11 miles north of Big Spring on state highway 669. Damage is estimated

Anyone with information regarding the above crime or any other felony crimes are urged to contact crimestoppers at 263-1151, 24 hors a

Reg Martin, chairman of the board of the Dunlap Company, has announced the purchase of M.M. Cohn, based in Little Rock, Ark. as well as the purchase of Clark's of Lufkin.

M.M. Cohn was founded in Little Rock by Mark Mathia Cohn in 1874. The company has a solid tradition of fashion, value and customer service in its markets.

M.M. Cohn operates three stores in Little Rock, four stores in Memphis, Tenn., a store in El Dorado. Ark, and a store in Oklahoma City. Clark's was founded in Lufkin by Elbert E. Clark in 1944. The store has become the dominant fashion retailer in the Lufkin area, placing high priority on superior value and excellent service. The Dunlap company, now with 43 locations, is committed to the philosophy of local autonomy for its stores and still believes that taking care of the customer is the most important job. according to Cliff Ataway, Big Spring Dunlap's manager.

Four Bell Community Relations Teams of Volunteers were honored at the Southwestern Bell Telephone employees in the West Texas area at an annual awards dinner

Among those teams was one from Big Spring composed of Donnie Duffey, Diana Fergerson and Stan Stansel. The Rainbow Easter Egg Hunt, a fundraiser; and Christmas in April, were some of the most outstanding projects performed by the team.

'We are very fortunate in this area to have so many dedicated employees with strong volunteerism and caring about the communities where they live,' said Darlene Gifford, area manager of public relations for Southwestern Bell.

A father-son team has opened a security and investigations company in Big Spring.

Fred Pace, who has been involved in the law enforcement field for 30 years, along with his son Wesley, who has eight years experience as a security officer, have combined talents to establish the company.

"Our motto is 'Satisfaction guaranteed because we care.' Pace said. "At the present time we are establishing our security patrol routes and invite . . . management people to be thinking about using our service.

Jeannie Babes, owned and operated by Jeannie Cunningham and Richard Fleener, has opened in the Big Spring Mall, according to Tammy Watt, manager of the shopping center.

The store specializes in ladies fashion apparel including the latest in fashion jewelry, dresses and fashion coordinates

"We are thrilled to be able to open a business in Big Spring Mall and hope to fill the needs of Big Spring and the surrounding area with all the newest and hottest items available,'' said Cunningham.

Located across from the soon to be open Sears location, Jeannie Babes employs one salesperson and operates Monday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. and Sunday from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. "Jeannie Babes is a welcome ad-

Weather watchers honored

Spring; Clarence Williams, Forsan and Charles Seals, Coahoma, will be among those honored during National Volunteer Week for their contributions as volunteer Weather Watchers. They will be joined by Weather Watchers from across the Permian Basin at a reception held in their honor at the studios of KMID TV, Big 2, Midland/Odessa. Their work is especially appreciated as the Permian Basin enters that time of year when severe weather is more common. The Weather Watchers are a part of Big 2 Weatherman J. Gordon Lunn's information network, keeping a close watch on weather developments throughout the Permian Basin. The Weather Wat-

they have survived a hard winter.

Spray an easy cleaning, whitewall cleaner generously onto the sidewalls. Avoid getting any spray on mag or aluminum wheels, if you have them. Thoroughly rinse the tires with clean water and a softend nylon bristle brush or sponge.

Allow them to dry and generously spray the sidewalls with a rubber preservative, which can be readily found on the automotive chemical shelves. Let it set for an hour or so, then spray a soft cloth with more preserver and wipe over the whitewalls.

Tony Taroni and Kay Porter, Big chers' reports are combined with data from weather radar and weather satellite to provide a comprehensive view of weather patterns as they move across West

Texas and southeast New Mexico. The reception is taking place during National Volunteer Week, April 10th thru the 16th. During this week, the contributions of volunteers across the country and across the Permian Basin are being recognized. It is hoped that the spirit of volunteerism will continue to grow throughout the year as millions of Americans contribute their time and their skills to helping others and, perhaps, to achieving that 'kinder, gentler nation' President George Bush has called

Driving on 'empty' obviously unwise

It should be obvious to all motorists that you shouldn't drive when the gas gauge reads, "Empty."

Not only are you taking a chance of running out of fuel before reachaing the next filling station, but too little feul in the tank also can lead to other problems.

According to the Automotive Information Council, too little gasoline allows condensation to accumulate and the effect is similar to pouring water into the gas tank.

The AIC suggests: periodically glance at the fuel gauge and get a fill-up when it's three-quarters empty. Also, consider beginning each work week with a full tank of gas, since some people find it more difficult to get to a gas station during the middle of a busy week.

Vehicle owners are better off when the can tell a service r technician what's wrong with their car, according to a new pamphlet by the Automotive Information Council, reprinted in part here. When communication is done properly, the AIC contends, it will save you time and money.

Giving your car a spring check

Spring is a good time of the year to take a walk around your car, to check a number of needed repair items, perform some do-itvourself maintenance or schedule a full tune-up at your friendly mechanic's place of business.

The most commonly needed seasonal services can each be done for less than $10 by a backyard mechanic and in fewer than 20 minutes, according to service experts at Champion Spark Plug Company.

If all of these are performed, you can be sure that you have enhanced the chances of safe, economical and emission-free

The five seasonal services that meet these requirements, Champion engineers say, are:

 Replacing the windshielf wiper blades and filling the washer reservoir; Changing engine oil and filter;

 Replacing the air filter; Flushing the cooling system and replacing antifreeze; and Replacing spark plugs.

Wipers Windshield wiper blade refills usually cost about $3 to $4, sometimes less when you take advantage of rebates. They can be replaced in five minutes or less following the instructions on the Adding water to the reservoir mat take an additional two or three minutes Oil and Oil Filter

Changing the engine oil and filter costs about $6 for the oil plus another $3 for the filter, depending upon engine size, brand of oil, and where you buy it.

The procedure involves removing the crankcase drain plug and allowing the oil to drain into a container, then unscrewing the oil filter and disposing of it.

Now the drain plug can be replaced, a new filter installed, and the new oil poured into the filler hole on the top of the engine. It's a 15 or 20 minute job.

To replace the air filter takes no more than five minutes on most cars. Usually a thumb screw and, possibly, four spring clips hold the lid on the filter housing. Remove these, lift out the filter, put the new one in, and replace the cover.

Most air filters cost about $5 or less. Watch for specials.

Cooling System Unless the cooling system is rusty and deteriorated, it can be drained and flushed in about eight minutes. Chemicals for cleaning the system cost about $2. Figure another 10 minutes or so for refilling the system with antifreeze coolant, which will cost another $4 to $6, depending upon the size of your engine.

can the same thing be said about your car? The answer will likely be a confident, "Yes," if all the items on this list are checked and necessary maintenance performed. Some of the items listed below will require assistance from a professional mechanic, although many may easily be performed by car owners themselves. A few other service items may require a more experienced do-it-yourselfer. Will it overheat?

• Check hoses. They should be firm, but flexible with no cracks, bulges or soft spots. Check connections for leaks.

 Check belts. When pushed with a finger, they should not "give" more than one-half inch. They should show no signs of fraying or wear and age.

• Check radiator coolant. (Do not remove radiator cap.) The recovery tank should be filled to "cold" mark.

• Check pressure. Test cooling system with pressure to determine if there are any leaks. Check radiator cap. It must manual will give proper tire pressure for your car. Check condition of all tires. There should be no excessive wear, cuts or other abrasions.

• Check spare tire. Its pressure and condition are important too. Is it wasting fuel?

• Check spark plugs. If they are worn or have dirty deposits on firing end, replace them. Check gap on each to determine if it meets your car's specifications.

 Check air filter and PCV valve. Hold filter up to sunlight; if light can't be seen through, replace it: PCV valve also requires periodic replacement.

 Clean and adjust the automatic choke, if equipped. • Tune the engine. This includes inspection of points (if equipped), ignition wires, and distributor cap and adjustment of timing and carburetor idle settings. Are its inner workings lubricated?

 Check oil. Examine dipstick and fill if necessary. Change oil at mileage listed in owner's manual. • Replace oil filter, when Check air conditioner. If it is recommended in owner's manual.

 Check transmission fluid. Check level when engine is running and warm and gearshift in park. Is it safe?

 Check brake fluid. Fluid should be a quarter-inch from top of reservoir. Check brakes. Examine brake linings, pads, drums, discs, etc., for wear or degradation. • Check all lights. Headlights (low and high beam), tail lights, brake lights, parking lights, instrument panel lights and all turn signal lights must be functioning. Check horn.

Check exhaust system for leaks.

 Check windshield wipers. They should be working and able to clear moisture without streaking, skipping or smearing. If not, replace them. • Check windshield washer system. Washer pump should be working and reservoir filled with • Check power steering fluid.

• Clean windows and mirrors. Visibility is essential for safe

Curtis Doyle repairs tractors, forklifts and other large equipment — and more often than not he has to go where the customer is. Doyle is shown with his pickup — fully outfitted with tools and mobile phone — ready to leave for a job at a Howard County farm location.

Curtis Doyle, owner of Doyle's many firms. Tractor Service, repairs the giants - tractors, forklifts and backhoes. And more often than not, he loads up his tools in his pickup and goes out onto the fields or roads where his customers are.

He specializes in John Deere equipment — but he works on other brands as well. He has a string of diplomas — eight in all — testifying to his mastery of John Deere training courses. And he has one diploma from Case training school.

Doyle has been making repairs on a big scale for about 16 years, seven of these in the Big Spring area. He presently maintains an operation at 1101 East 2nd, where equipment is brought in when it needs a major overhaul.

Doyle provides monthly preventative maintenance contracts for

During cotton stripping season he's available 24 hours a day seven days a week. Tractors and other equipment that's down can't make money for the owner. So Doyle goes on the road — or across the field ready to fix air conditioning, adjust power lifts, repair hydraulic cylinders or whatever else is needed.

He services a 75-mile radius, and his pickup has a mobile phone.

There is no typical day in this business, says Doyle. "Today I've worked on six tractors." He handles everything that needs work "from the ground up. I do everything except fix flats!" Business used to be more seasonal, he says, but now it's busy all year

One morning he got a call at 1 a.

m. to repair a mower for a company that had contracted with the Texas Highway Department to mow a freeway median. They had to be on the job at sun-up, Doyle explained.

Jan Doyle works with her husband, answering the phone and doing the bookkeeping. Travis Coker helps out at the shop.

'We hope our business will grow," say Doyle. "I give the best service I know how to give." All his work is guaranteed.

The business prides itself on being easy to reach. Usual business hours are 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday, but customers are invited to come by or phone anytime. Office phone is 263-2728; mobile phone is 264-3192. "You can dial the mobile phone from any rotary phone now," Doyle says.

The performance by the Big Spring Symphony Orchestra on a recent Saturday night was a cause celebre — it was the fifth anniversary of the founding of a symphony association in Big Spring.

As the association president, Ricky Mitchell, pointed out from the stage, Big Spring is the" smallest city in Texas to field its own symphony ensemble.

The festive mood continued at a reception at St. Mary's Episcopal Church, where concert-goers sang "Happy Birthday" to Dr. Marianni Gabbi, Las Cruces, conductor, and presented her with a cake iced in a musical motif. (Actually, Marianni's birthday was two days

For Homer and Dorothy Rickabaugh, the evening was a chance to play the role of celebrities. As winners of the Academy Award Contest sponsored by Big Spring merchants and the Herald, the Rickabaughs rode in style to dinner, then to the symphony and on to the reception in a chauffeured limousine furnished by Bob Smith.

Before the concert, Ruth Budke was telling friends that she was retiring later this year after 30

Cindy had befriended an 18-month-old girl who was enroute to Dallas for a kidney transplant. While the girl was hospitalized, Cindy ran errands for the parents, even washing and ironing their clothes. She hired a babysitter, according to Kelleher, to look after her own two children so she could help the family.

Kelleher's voice "swelled with emotion" as he described Cindy's actions, the article pointed out.
