Credit union theft

BIG SPRING - The Education Employees Federal Credit Union reported the theft of $37,000 in documents and security agreements from the building Tuesday.

Police are investigating the incident; the offense may be re-classified, Capt. Lonnie Smith said.

DPS predicts deaths

AUSTIN (AP) - The Texas Department of Public Safety predicted as many as 52 persons could die on state roads during the holiday period, while health officials urged caution when using fireworks. Col. Joe Milner, DPS director, however, said the number of traffic fatalities could be lower if drivers follow a few simple rules.

Monday.

Boaters in Texas will face a new law over the July 4th holi-day that is intended to curb drunken boating and water skiing.

The law, which takes effect Saturday, July 1, establishes a definition for intoxication and a means for law enforcement officers to perform a breath or blood test.

A first offense under the law would be punishable by a fine of $100 to $1,000, and a maximum jail term of 180 days, or both. Punishment would be tougher for subsequent convictions.

Penalties also would be increased if an intoxicated boater was involved in an accident that caused a serious

Supercollider ambush

WASHINGTON — Critics of the Superconducting Super Collider are hoping to ambush a House spending bill this week to remove $110 million that would pay the ground-breaking construction costs of the $6 billion atomic particle accelerator.

Rep. Dennis Eckart, D-Ohio, has been lobbying against the Energy Department project for months, claiming the 53-milelong underground atom smasher would drain federal money away from other scientific research. Eckart's campaign against the SSC has been joined by Rep. David Obey, D-Wis., and Rep. Bruce Morrison

D-Conn. The battle will take place when the House takes up next year's $18.5 billion budget for the Energy Department, the Army Corps of Engineers and several smaller agencies. In that bill is $200 million to begin work on the SSC, which would be built south of Dallas, Texas.

Hoping to attract more support, Eckart is not asking the House to eliminate the SEC project, but to cancel the $110 million for actual construction next year.

"We are willing to leave $90 million in the budget for continuing research into the project to see if really offers new technology, but we want to eliminate any construction money," he said Tuesday.

Texas lawmakers were jubiliant last week when the House Appropriations Commit-tee approved $200 million for the project, but they expected Eckart to lead some opposition on the House floor.

Rep. Jim Chapman, D-Texas and a member of the appropriations panel, said he expects broad support in the House for the project.

The vote will be an important indicator of congressional support for the SSC, however, because it marks the first time because it marks the first time the House has confronted the ssue of whether to actually build the high energy physics

Morrison acknowledged that opposing the SSC will be an "uphill" fight.

Nuclear route doesn't worry area officials

By MARC SCHWARZ Staff Writer

Despite Texas Attorney General Jim Mattox's fears that West Texas' water supply may be threatened by the construction of the Waste Isolation Pilot Project (WIPP) near Carlsbad, N.M., local officials are taking the proposed site in stride.

Mattox and Texas Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower criticized the project during a hearing Monday in Odessa, one of several being held across the United States in which citizens were to comment about WIPP, where the government plans to store plutonium-contaminated, defense-related waste in a salt formation 2,150 feet underground.

The attorney general said the U.S. Department of Energy (DOE) is rushing too quickly to open the Waste Isolation Pilot Plant near Carlsbad, N.M., and should wait until the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency develops new groundwater standards.

Martin County Judge Bob Deavenport was more stoic about the proposed site and the subsequent "nuke route" that Interstate 20 would become as containers of nuclear waste are ferried from the Savannah River, S.C. nuclear weapons plant to the WIPP site.

"If it comes, I'm interested in seeing the waste handled as safely as it can be," Deavenport said. "From what I've seen, the Mattox cited fears that radioactive leakage from the site could seep into groundwater and contaminate the Pecos River, which he called "a precious resource in this very arid part of the state."

Deavenport said he lacks the "technical expertise" to judge the safety of the plant itself, but is not overly concerned about the transportation of the wastes.

"We've had toxic chemicals traveling up and down on the railroad in these part for years," he said. "Everyone is concerned about transportation of the waste, but we have to accept it as a facet • ROUTE page 3-A

Forrest, mayor of the southeast New Mexico city that stands to gain most economically when and if WIPP opens, accepted and almost endorsed the announcement Tuesday by Energy Secretary James Watkins that the underground waste disposal site would not open as scheduled in

"I think the best decision is to take a complete new look at the DOE's (Department of Energy) operations," Forrest said in a telephone interview with The Associated Press. "If it means WIPP is delayed six months or a year, it has to be, because safety has to be the number one concern

Forrest said Watkins' decision to delay the opening of WIPP indefinitely became inevitable given the growing opposition to the $700 million facility. The DOE project is designed to store plutoniumcontaminated defense-related waste in underground rooms carved out of ancient salt beds, 2,150 feet below the surface some 26

Commercial pulled after Indian protests

HOUSTON (AP) - Complaints from members of the local American Indian community have prompted a barbecue restaurant chain to stop the use of a television commercial that showed two Indians in war paint, braids and feathers.

Officials of Luther's Bar-B-Q said Tuesday they will no longer show the commercial after members of the Indian community complained that they were examples of racism.

The Intertribal Council of Houston demanded in letters to Houston television stations and Luther's corporate headquarters that the commercials be pulled off the air immediately and asked for a public apology from stations that aired the commercial.

"We are not really a militant group," said Preston Thompson, a Winnebago Indian and chairman of the council. "But this kind of depiction goes against everything we work for and believe in. It just serves to reinforce prejudicial attitudes

Child rescued from underground culvert

7-year-old Latricia Reese was sucked into a storm culvert and disappeared into an underground drainage system, police divers gave up plans to search in the fastmoving water and her mother had abandoned hope. But Latricia, dazed and battered after being swept 30 feet below ground, clung to the cracks in the storm sewer lining while the flood waters from tropical storm Allison swirled around her.

"I just held on to the crack in the cement," Latricia said, complaining of mosquitos and ants that bothered her throughout her ordeal.

"It was a horrible night and a terrible storm, but we found a rainbow at the end," her mother said after two construction workers lifted manhole covers and called the child's name until they heard an answer.

"I gave up most hope and everybody kept telling me not to give it up, but I did," Karen Reese said Tuesday, while Latricia rested in a hospital bed and watched Latricia was playing in a flooded ditch near her south Houston home around 7:30 p.m. Monday when her cousin saw her lose her footing and vanish into an 18-inch, round concrete culvert that had gone undetected by the children.

'She spent the entire night in the city's major sewer system with all that flood water coming in on her, and hardly had a scratch," said Fire Department spokesman Mike Warnke. "It's just a miracle that she could still be alive.

The water was pouring so quickly into the drain where Latricia disappeared that authorities were unable to reach her, or even conduct a proper search Monday, Warnke said.

When the police diving team was called out, the water was still flowing at a rate they believed too hazardous to risk entering the unfamiliar storm sewage system.

"They thought that at that point, because the water was moving so fast, that she would have been swept down to the place where the sewer system empties into the bayou," Warnke said.

"The diving team told me they can't do any more, it's too dangerous for them. They told my friend theydn't do any more and they were just waiting for her body to float up," she said.

The 4-foot girl was retrieved around 8 a.m. Tuesday by two construction workers who removed manhole covers near the spot where she disappeared and found her clinging onto some cracks in the brick lining of the sewer.

'We used a flashlight and saw a little figure about 30 feet under the street," said Timothy Gabrysch, who went into the drain Tuesday morning. "It was pitch dark and she couldn't see anything. When she saw us, she ran to us.

"It's an experience I guess you can't explain. I have no idea how she stayed there. It's pretty nasty down there. There's all kinds of debris down there.

Latricia, her hands white and wrinkled and her body covered with scrapes and bruises, was suffering mild shock Tuesday but was reported in good condition at Humana Hospital-Southmore, said spokeswoman Ramona Branch.

"Unless the PUC requires that executives of a monopoly exert good management judgment then any problems just get worse," Carriker said. "A utility should not simply be automatically granted a rate increase just because costs go up. If their executives are guilty of mismanagement that should be considered."

TU Electric was formed in January 1984 with the merger of Texas Electric Service Co. and two Dallas-Fort Worth utilities.

In March 1984, TU Electric filed through mismanagement and said if that is so, that's against a rate increase request, but the PUC turned it down and implemented a relatively small

He was not slowed Tuesday by the heat and humidity of northern New Jersey as he mandained his daily schedule of four 12½-mile stages. Depending on the weather and terrain, he wheels 50 miles three out of every four days.

The distance usually takes between four and four-and-a-half hours. On smooth downhill surfaces, his wheelchair has reached speeds of 42 mph.

Duff, who spoke Tuesday under a plaque that read "Hard Work Got Me Where I Am. Where Am I?, said he thinks about the next stop while wheeling the highways, and invariably goes to bed feeling

"I can pat myself on the back and say I didn't quit," he said. Cars honking support also keep him going, though in Washington last week, his arrival during rush hour drew some angrier horns.

"Actually, I thought more people"s in the Northeast would be abrasive, but they to not," he said. "The American people all over are real-

Duff said he and his crew of eight traveling in three vehicles have been welcomed by hundreds of schools, hospitals and civic groups.

'To anybody in a wheelchair, Bill is like the sports hero," said Duff's 36-year-old brother, Louis. In addition to raising money for the Miami project from corporate donations and contributions along the way, Duff said he hopes his odyssey has shown disabled people that they can overcome physical obstacles and raised the awareness of non-disabled people.

"It's easy to be bitter." Duff said. "The hard thing is to accept all the curves that life throws you."
One person who gained inspiration from Duff was Larry Parsons, who has spent 31 years in a wheelchair after being diagnosed with muscular dystrophy at age 5.

'The trip shows that someone with a disability can accomplish goals," said Parsons, a spokesman for Newark Mayor Sharpe James, who greeted Duff on Tuesday at City Hall. "We're not sitting back anymore. We're not feeling sorry for ourselves."

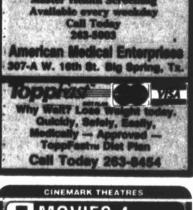

Duff was a 19-year-old sophomore at Texas Tech when he was a passenger in a car driven by a friend who was drunk. The car crashed, leaving Duff a paraplegic. He said that after a few weeks of self-pity, he decided to channel his earlier interests in soccer, golf and basketball into wheelchair sports

Last year he finished 12th In a pre-Olympic trial 1,500 to determine the eight competitors in the 1,500 wheelchair final in Seoul, South Korea.

Soon after, he began training for the 5,000-mile trip.

"I thought it was a joke when I first heard about it," said Louis Duff, who joined his younger brother on the trip in Kansas City. "I thought 'you're out of your nut." But then I could see his determination."

So after 5,000 miles, what are Duff's plans for next week? He laughed and said, "Sleep."

Justice Department panel considers gun owner cards

WASHINGTON (AP) — One way to try to keep criminals from purchasing guns would be requiring all weapons buyers to have a national gun owners identity card, a Justice Department study has proposed.

The card plan, which has been strongly opposed by the gun lobby, was one of the suggestions in a package of options outlined by a Justice Department task force.

The study was required by Congress last year as part of anti-drug legislation. Congress, noting that illegal weapons play an increasing role in the epidemic of illegal drugs, ordered a review of ways to try to keep felons from buying guns.

Eight funnel clouds were reported within an hour around Monroe in northern Louisiana Tuesday afternoon. No serious injuries were reported, but one twister destroyed five houses and damaged about 100 others along a one-mile path.

Heavy rains continued to fall across the state early today. Street flooding was reported in Baton Rouge, where 4¾ inches of rain fell in the six hours ended at 2 a.m. EDT, and in Lake Charles, where more than 21/2 inches fell.

Rain was expected to continue in Louisiana through much of today and a flash flood watch was in effect for most of the state and a small portion of eastern Texas, where Allison dumped up to 14 inches of rain in the 24 hours ended Tuesday morning and was blamed for one traffic death and a drowning.

A warm and humid air mass remained over much of the eastern half of the nation this morning and thunderstorms were clustered over portions of Vermont, New Hampshire, New Jersey and Delaware.

Severe thunderstorms occurred late Tuesday in several parts of the

New York state and in northern New Jersey. A storm dumped an inch of rain in an hour at Pittsburgh's airport, blew down trees and disrupted power service to about 17,000 customers in southwest Pennsylvania.

Herald opinion

Reaffirm the commitment

Twenty-five years ago this month the families of three civil rights workers in Mississippi waited in agony for word of the young men's fate. When it came, their worst nightmares were confirmed. James E. Chaney, Andrew Goodman and Michael H. Schwerner, in Mississippi during the summer of 1964 to help register black voters, had been hustled out of a county jail late one night and murdered along a country road near Philadelphia, Miss. Their bodies were buried in an earthen dam.

Last week, family members were in Washington for a meeting in the Oval Office with President Bush. It was not a social call. As the widow of Michael Schwerner told reporters, they were there to urge the president to "deal with the Supreme Court decisions that have so badly eroded civil rights in this country.'

Schwerner was referring to five court rulings handed down this year that have, in effect, narrowed the scope of civil rights remedies for past discrimination. Two of the cases involved affirmative-action programs; the other four dealt with federal statutes that addressed employment discrimination based on race and gender.

Many who for years have fought the long and difficult civil rights fight view the decisions with alarm. They fear the court is reneging on its commitment to equal justice under the law.

We would not go that far, though we do believe that Congress needs to reaffirm its own commitment to equal rights. Although Congress cannot overrule the Supreme Court when it interprets the Constitution — as in the affirmative-action decisions — it does have the ultimate power to shape federal civil rights statutes. The 14th Amendment guarantees that right, as the Supreme Court noted explicitly last week.

Twice this decade, lawmakers have overridden Supreme Court rulings in civil-rights cases. In 1982, Congress approved a law extending the enforcement of the 1965 Voting Rights Act, thereby answering a 1980 court ruling. And, last year Congress passed a law to override a 1984 decision that said Title IX of the 1972 Education Act Amendments barring discrimination applied only to specific programs receiving federal aid.

The recent court decisions make a similar reassessment necessary. The families of Schwerner, Goodman and Chaney need to be assured that their loved ones did not die in vain. So do all Americans, regardless of color or gender. President Bush, we hope, will endorse the effort.

Baseball leagues need support

Our junior and senior baseball leagues are in trouble as far as finances, lack of interest by parents and kids, and the city in general.

What is really sad, most game nights our umpires will not show up; they say the games are too long, not enough money paid.

I don't think our umpires really read their rule books, but it (the book) says umpires shall be volunteers. Ha, ha, money is everything, I guess! What about our children?!

Just take a look at Big Spring's past records in previous years in state playoffs!

If you were out at our fields Tuesday, we play a pretty strong game of baseball. This year's group of young men, I think, will be stronger than ever, but this group could be the last! Most of these kids in their Little League all-star tournaments have been 1986, 2nd place; 1987, champs; 1988, 3rd. Now they are together in junior and senior league play. Any help would be great.

Nominee buddy to nuclear industry

By JACK ANDERSON and DALE VAN ATTA

WASHINGTON - President Bush is about to drop a bomb on Americans who live near nuclear weapons plants. The man Bush will nominate to clean up those environmental disasters is Victor Stello, the best friend that the nuclear business ever had.

Stello is a meltdown waiting to happen. In his rise to the top bureaucratic job at the Nuclear Regulatory Commission, Stello left his fingerprints on almost every major nuclear power scandal, beginning with the accident at Three Mile Island.

Now, FBI agents are quietly doing a background check in preparation for Bush to nominate Stello as assistant energy secretary in charge of defense programs. He would move from nuclear power plants to nuclear bomb plants and take all of his ugly baggage with

In the new job, Stello would take charge of the Energy Department's discredited weapons plants now under criminal investigation for illegal dumping of radioactive waste and deliberate coverups.

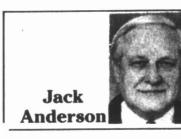

Into this mess will step Stello, a man with a reputation for thumbing his nose at any federal investigation that crimps the style of the nuclear energy business. Our associate Stewart Harris has documented Stello's disdain for criminal inquiries. It started in 1980 during a probe of Three Mile Island. Federal attorneys were looking into the possibility that leak tests at the plant had been falsified. Properly handled, the tests could have prevented the accident at Three Mile Island by showing that the plant was losing a Senate committee looking into the NRC in 1987 that Stello and some of his underlings "actively misled" the investigators in the Three Mile Island incident. The company that operated the plant eventually pleaded guilty to falsifying the tests. The prosecutor, Julian Greenspun, told the Senate that Stello said he did not approve of the investigation because it was 'bad for the operators' morale" at Three Mile Island.

In his response to the Senate, Stello explained that an FBI investigation had cleared him of wrongdoing. Stello was vacationing and we could not reach him for

Last year, the NRC's own inestigators looked into the possibility that the top nuclear official at the Tennessee Valley Authority had lied about the safety of a TVA nuclear plant. Stello's top aide put together a panel of eight NRC officials who concluded that the TVA official did not mean to lie, scuttling any chance of bringing the official to court.

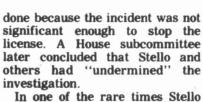

The NRC, under Stello, did virtually the same thing in 1986 in an investigation into the Fermi nuclear power plant in Michigan. The plant accidentally started its own nuclear reaction before it was licensed, and the owners neglected to tell the NRC about the mishap until the day after they got their license. An NRC panel under Stello A former federal prosecutor told decided that there was no harm

In one of the rare times Stello sanctioned an investigation, he went after one of his own NRC investigators and he botched it. Stello's office last fall arranged to pay an informant $6,000 in "consulting fees." But the NRC is not supposed to pay informants. And the snitch's allegations about a top NRC investigator have not panned out. A report of the fiasco is expected to be released by the Senate Governmental Affairs Committee chaired by John Glenn, D-Ohio. It could come out just in time to spoil Stello's confirmation hearings.

When the Northerner goes South

By LEWIS GRIZZARD

A nationwide competition ended the other day when Sears announced that it's moving part of the company to a Chicago suburb. Previously, the company had considered moving 6,000 of their employees from Chicago to Charlotte. At that point, an anonymous comedian concocted a two-page "Application to Live in North Carolina' and circulated it amongst Sears' employees in Chicago.

There was a section where the applicant was asked to identify his or her "Daddy." That was followed by, "If unknown, at-tach list of three suspects."

There were blocks to identify the applicant's neck color, and there was also a section that asked the applicant to put down how many teeth were exposed in a full grin.

What the application amounted to was an exercise in trite Southern stereotypes that indicated all Southerners were illegitimate, toothless, ignorant

The application went on to ask how many empty beer cans were on the floor of the applicant's truck. The applicant was asked to define such terms as "chitlins" and "fatback," and to name favorite vocalists from Donna Fargo to Conway Twitty.

There also was a section asking whether the applicant could count over 10.

My office has received dozens of copies of the application, which was published in the Charlotte Observer.

Those who sent the copies all asked I write a rebuttal to the application and "defend the

I really don't think the South needs any defending just because some yahoo in Chicago thinks Southerners don't know who fathered them.

And if Sears had moved some of its people out of Chicago to Charlotte it wouldn't have taken them long to realize we now have paved roads and indoor plumbing, and nobody marries

But, because I am a strong believer in getting even, I would like to offer a listing of a few things North Carolina residents might have expected of Sears' employees from Chicago if they had been tranferred south.

Stereotyping is such fun: • They dress funny. A favorite summer outfit of Northern men tends to be a pair of knee-length Bermuda shorts, a pair of sandals and black stretch socks they attempt to pull all the way up to their armpits.

• The women have fat, hairy thighs.

 Someone ought to open a reptile farm. Yankees love to actually pay to go inside one.

• They all talk louder than you do.

• They tend to be on the obnoxious side, and whenever they become confused, they all say, "This ain't duh way we did it back in Chicaga."

• They eventually will like grits once somebody points out grits are actually very good if you put cheese and butter on

 But they won't admit it. They pick their noses in

They have greasy hair.

 They don't use deodorant. They belch loudly in public

• They never have heard of Richard Petty.

 They do not believe it when you tell them Michael Jordan was a North Carolina Tarheel long before he became a Chicago Bull.

 They do not believe it when you tell them it was two guys in North Carolina who invented the airplane.

 And they would never go back to Chicago. 30

Oregonians approve export ban

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP). -Oregonians voted overwhelmingly Tuesday to keep Oregon logs at home to preserve mill jobs rather than allow them to be shipped overseas for premium prices.

With 8 percent of precincts reporting in unofficial returns, Measure 2 was passing 43,263, or 92 percent, to 3,701, or 8 percent.

The measure will amend the state constitution to keep logs cut from state-owned forests at home for processing, but Congress would have to adopt enabling legislation before the export ban could go into effect.

The measure also calls on Congress to permanently ban the export of logs grown on national forests and other federal timberlands. The Bush administration has proposed lifting the annual ban on exporting federal logs to boost revenue by an estimated $200 million.

Cuban hero admits smuggling

HAVANA (AP) — A military tribunal recommended Tuesday that one of Cuba's most highly decorated generals be courtmartialed for betraying his country by trafficking in drugs, ivory and diamonds

The tribunal's recommendations raised the possibility that Gen. Arnaldo Ochoa, one of only five officers ever awarded the Hero of the Republic of Cuba, could face a firing squad.

"One pays for treason with one's life," state television showed Ochoa telling the tribunal, his voice growing husky during a 30-minute statement.

He admitted his guilt but said his smuggling did not indicate discontent with the Cuban government: "It was to be expected that the enemy would try to use this. But nothing is further from the truth than this having been for political motives.

PROVIDENCE, R.I.(AP) -Jackie Sexton had to look no farther than her father's stomach for inspiration in a contest for practical inventions

The 11-year-old East Greenwich resident won a regional prize for her design of an expandable dress shirt for "pudgy

When the contest sponsored by the non-profit Invent America was announced in her sixth-grade class, she immediately thought of a complaint by her father, Richard, that his dress shirts show too much stomach when he sat down.

"My father complained for years about his shirt," she said. Jackie split the side seams of one of her father's shirts and sewed in spandex. The shirt was a success the first time he sat down.

Her invention, "Pudgy Pop, the Expandable Dress Shirt for Men," won the Rhode Island and regional competitions. The young inventor won a trip to Washington for herself and her family and a $500 savings bond, as well as a $750 grant for her teacher and a $1,250 grant for her school.

Cheyenne has trouble living up to town slogan

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP) — Carrie Bray was looking for real-life cowboys when she came to Cheyenne but the closest the 14-year-old Texan got was a peek inside the "Howdy Wagon" parked in front of the chamber of commerce.

"There's got to be some cowboys around here somewhere," the Dallas teen-ager said during a recent visit with her mother.

Sorry. Tourists lured to Cheyenne to "Live the Legend" are finding there's little legend to live in the southeastern Wyoming city of 47,000 residents. City officials know they're letting tourists down and admit they might be deceiving them with the advertising slogan. "Can they 'Live the Legend?'

No," said Mayor Gary Schaeffer. 'As soon as people start making up slogans, there's a perception of problems or they wouldn't need a slogan. We have to give them what they need to live it. Realizing the western deficiency of the Cowboy State's capital, civic leaders are beefing up frontier activities and sinking thousands of dollars into marketing surveys and tourist promotions.

"People who come here from the East expect to see the Old West like they see it on television — dirt streets, swinging saloon doors,' said Scott Binning, director of the Cheyenne Visitors Council. "Some are totally disappointed because we have paved streets, electric lights and running water."

So, Cheyenne this summer will have mounted police riding the streets: mock gunslingers - many of them real estate agents and carpenters — shooting it out at high noon in the town square; and, for horse in Cheyenne.

CHEYENNE, Wyo. — One of the few western to lure tourists by touting the city's western heritage. as a burgeoning city on the verge of economic greatness and cultural sophistication, he said.

State Sen. Win Hickey, a member of the Cheyenne Downtown Development Association, said a little western flare is fine, "but by no means should we lose sight that we're living in the 21st century

"If everyone wore western; clothes, and horses and carriages rode downtown, it might be fun to come and look at but I can't believe they would say this is a progressive city and I would like to invest in it." she said. "There needs to be a melding of what would attract the tourists, but not detract the business person.

State Rep. Don Sullivan of Cheyenne, the chairman of the local historical society, said the city's mansions, museums and railroads are rich in the lore of cattle barons, rustlers and hangmen.

Texas child dies after bite by rattlesnake

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP) - A 3-year-old Angleton girl has died after she was bitten by a diamondback rattlesnake while on a camping outing with her family, authorities say.

Dr. Gonzalo Trillos, a Corpus Christi pediatrician, said Anna Marie McKelvy died late Monday, more than 24 hours after she was bitten on the leg while on an outing with her family Sunday near Lake Corpus Christi. . .

Hospital records at Driscoll Hospital here indicate that about 20 children have been treated for snake bites during the past year.

Food Deli meals Summertime sandwiches, salads

Let's face it. Most people these days can't possibly cook a full meal every night. They're too busy. But fast-food restaurants can't fill the gap because a diet of hamburgers and pizza get old very quickly.

Supermarket delicatessens offer an alternative with an assortment of nutritious meats, cheese, breads and salads. The delis is now the fastest-growing department in the store.

In 1980 just 42 percent of all U.S. supermarkets had service delis. That number has soared to 71 percent a year ago — and it's still growing. In fact, almost every store that opens this year will have a full-service delicatessen.

Those with dietary concerns also count on the deli to meet their special needs. For example, turkey breast is a good choice for people who are cutting down on fat and cholesterol.

Lorraine cheese has less sodium and cholesterol than most other cheeses. And Dijon mustard is a tasty, low-calories way to make sandwiches special — it can even be used on bread in place of mayonnaise,

Summer is a good time to try delicious, easy-to-make deli dishes, including hearty deli sandwiches that can be packed in a travel cooler. You can also create a smorgasbord of deli delectables to take to a backyard

Try a chili-flavored pot roast

Today, we are going to fix "Papa Joe's Chili Bean Pot Roast.' Everybody likes chili-flavored foods, and a chili-flavored pot roast is the best. For this great dish, you will need the following ingredients: Chuck Roast (3 to 4 lbs.)

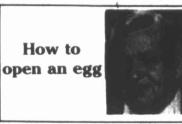

Salt (1 tsp.) Pepper (1/4 tsp.) Shortening (2 tbsp.) Brown sugar (2 tbsp.) Mustard (3 tbsp.) Paprika (1 tsp.)

Chili powder (1/4 tsp.) Beans (1 can chili-style in chili

Onion (1 medium, chopped)

Flour (1 tbsp., all purpose) Set oven thermostat to 350 degrees. While oven is heating, season the roast with the salt and pepper. In a Dutch oven, brown the meat on all sides in hot shortening. Now combine the brown sugar, mustard, paprika, and chili powder. Rub over surface of the meat. Top with beans and onion. Cover and bake in the 350 degree oven for about 2 to 21/2 hours or until tender. Remove the roast and beans to a warm platter. Skim off the fat and add enough water to the pan drippings to make one cup of liquid. Combine the flour with 2 tablespoons of water and add to the pan juice. Cook until bubbly. Serve this gravy on the side. You have to admit, it's a pot roast with a different flavor. It will probably become your favorite way of fixing

To go with "Papa Joe's Chili Ben Pot Roast" you will need a great vegetable dish and I have just the thing; "Papa Joe's CP Delicacy." Now the CP means cucumber and peas. I thought if I spelled it out, right at the beginning, you might become discouraged. Trust me, this is delicious. For the "CP Delicacy," you need:

Cucumber (1 large) Mayonnaise (3/4 cup) Green peas (1 pkg., frozen) Sour cream (3/4 cup)

Lemon juice (1/2 tsp.) First peel and slice the cucumber into thin slices. Cook in a small amount of boiling water until tender. This will take about five minutes. Meanwhile, cook the green peas according to the directions on the package. Drain the water from both vegetables and mix together. Salt and pepper to suit taste. Now mix 34 cup of mayonnaise with 34 cup of sour cream and a 1/2 teaspoon of lemon juice. Heat this mixture until hot. Do not boil. Pour over vegetables and serve while hot. Believe me, you'll get raves over this dish.

I don't want to keep sounding like a broken record, but men, if you will listen to me, follow my instructions, you can be any woman's equal, no longer considered a second class citizen. You can take your place beside any woman in any kitchen in the land.

Papa Joe's Kitchen Tips: We're still learning about herbs and Today, let's look at oregano. Lots of dishes call for this herb. It is a plant of the mint family and is an excellent flavoring for any tomato dish, especially pizza, chili con carne, and Italian specialties.

By NYU MEDICAL CENTER

Chest pain or discomfort could signal a serious problem that may signal a serious problem that may or may not be related to the heart, according to a cardiologist at New York University Medical Center.

"Pain or discomfort in the chest is a message from the body that something might be wrong," said Dr. Howard E. Winer. "Every structure in the chest —muscles, nerves, bones, organs — can produce pain."

An article in an upcoming issue of the center's Health Letter states that while chest pain can be caused by anxiety, digestive problems, lung inflammation or a strained muscle, the possibility of heart disease generates the most concern.

"Angina pectoris — literally, choking or strangling of the chest—is a symptom, not a disease," explained Winer, associate professor of clinical medicine. "It represents an imbalance in the economics of the heart: the heart's demand for oxygen exceeds the ability of the coronary arteries to supply oxygen-rich blood."

This usually occurs when one or more of the coronary arteries is severely narrowed by atherosclerosis, but a narrowed valve or other causes could also be responsible.

Grandmas say they know the score

DEAR ABBY: I've been reading the letters about grandmothers who are inclined to be more generous to the children of their daughters than to the children of their sons.

Well, I'm one of those grandmothers, and I'd like to explain the reason for my favoritism. I am a widow with a daughter living at one end of the state and a son living at the other end. I'm in the middle.

My son and his wife have six children. They are all adults now, but when they were growing up, I'd send them lovely clothes — always the best. These clothes were soon in rags because the children had never been taught to take care of them. When I visited them, I'd see their clothes on the floor. They would deliberately walk on them — and the dog slept on them! I bought them expensive toys, and they made a game out of who could break them the fastest!

They never said "thank you" for anything. Nor did they write a note of any kind. When they were older and came to visit me, if I asked them to help me with something, they'd ask me how much I was going to pay them.

Now, let me tell you about my daughter's children. They took good care of whatever I gave them. a good reason why grandchildren are partial to one set of grandparents. I am in a position to know,

Dear Abby

They sent me handmade thank-you notes on which was scribbled, "I love you, Granny," when they were tiny tots. When they were grown, they'd call me just to say, "I'm thinking of you and love you very much." They really made me feel I was loved.

Abby, I love all my grandchildren, but I must be honest, I can't help but favor my daughter's children.

I know there are exceptions in every family, but I have observed that the children of daughters are usually more loving to their grandparents than the children of sons.

as I have three sons and two daughters — with a total of 10 grandchildren.

We love all of our grandchildren and have tried not to favor the children of our daughters, but we can't help doing so. Our daughters' children have been raised to be very loving and attentive to us, but I can't say the same for the children of our sons.

Since all three of our sons married local girls, every time they come to town, there is the sharing of time, and the sons' parents are the last to be considered, or so it seems.

A little story helped us to accept the order of things after our eldest son was married. Here's the story: There was a knock on the door. The young son answered the door. The visitor said, "Hello. I'm your Aunt Ellen — on your father's side."

The little boy calles, "Well, I can tell to right now, you're on the wrong e."

So, whenever we begin to feel left out, one of us will quip, "I can tell you right now, you're on the wrong side!" Immediately, a chuckle replaces any possible resentment.

pull off another one

As usual, the city Little League tournament was outstanding. Since my five-year tenure here, I've grown to look forward to the tourney each year.

Usually, my coverage consists of senior high and college athletes, but there's something about covering a contest that has 10, 11 and 12 year olds away from all that pressure to win and down and dirty tatics. These youth go out and have fun, and that's what the game is all about.

You set a good example for your children. For the second consecutive year, sly, veteran coach Johnnie Hobbs pulled off another league championship. Only this year it was a harder row to hoe.

Last year it was a harder row to noe.

Last year the American League Colts went through tournament play undefeated, winning five games. This year, playing in the shadow of a tough International League, the Colts lost their opener 9-7 to the International League Tigers, a team they would meet again.

Playing in the loser's bracket, the Colts worked their way up again, winning the next four games and playing their way into the title game against the unbeaten Tigers. The Colts surprised everyone in the second confrontation by pounding the Tigers 15-4. Gabe Rodriguez handcuffed the contact-hitting IL squad, leaving the door open for Hobbs to go with No. 1 hurler Trey Terrazas in the finale. fronically, Terrazas was the losing pitcher in the first meeting of the tourney.

This time Terrazas and Co. proved outright they were the better team, downing the Tigers 9-4. Credit Hobbs with some good coaching, as he ordered his team to be aggressive on the base paths. They swiped 10 bases in the game, including a triple steal, that keyed the four-run

That was too much for the Tigers to overcome, and it was a two-in-a-row for Hobbs and Crew.

But if there was a Cinderella team in the tournament, it ad to be the Tigers. The team that finished third in their igue went through the first four tournament games like busters. Personally, I conceded them the champion-when they heat International League champion

But the Colts had other plans. The National League Lions went into the tournament as the top seed since they fielded a undefeated mark in the strong National League. The IL Rebels, however, I felt was the team to beat. This team had strong pitching, contact hitters and good defense. But in the playoffs, the Rebs had one game of errors that resulted in the 6-5 loss to the Tigers, and they were eliminated 2-1 in a pitcher's duel between the Colts' Terrazas and Rebels' Jason Henderson.

The tournament did prove that the International League gest overall. The Tigers, Rebels and Indians cond, third and fifth respectively. After the Colts in h, the Astros were the next AL squad, finishing ninth. The National League Lions had the highest finish of its league, fourth. The NL Rangers were sixth, Cards seventh and Ponys eighth. It was a very good show.

Those Amazing Colts "Never Nervous" No. 1

NEW YORK (AP) - On his chest, Pervis Ellison will wear No. 42, but for one night at least, he was No. 1. And finally, the secret is out.

Ellison's selection Tuesday night ended a month of speculation over how Sacramento would use its No. 1 pick in the NBA draft.

'It's hard for me to say how I feel, how happy I am," said Ellison, a second team All-American from Louisville.

And when did he find out he would become the first of this year's college class to go pro? "When the commissioner announced it," he said.

All-American Danny Ferry, who led Duke to the Final Four this year for the third time in four seasons, was the second pick, taken by the Los Angeles Clippers. Another All-American, Sean Elliott of Arizona, went third to the San Antonio Spurs. Either could have been No. 1.

"I was 90 percent sure I wasn't going first," said Elliott, The Associated Press 1989 Player of the Year, "so it didn't bother me at all. I thought I could go anywhere from No. 2 to 6. It was such a crazy draft this year that anything could have happened."

Five of the first six players taken were big men, the exception longshooting Glen Rice of the national champion Michigan Wolverines, taken No. 4 by the Miami Heat. North Carolina forward J.R. Reid went next, staying in the same state when he was picked by Charlotte. Stacey King, Oklahoma's All-American center, went sixth to the Chicago Bulls.

The first point guard taken in the draft was George McCloud of Florida State, who averaged 22.8 points and 4.2 assists, taken seventh by the Indiana Pacers. Eleven of the 27 first-round picks were used for backcourt players.

Sherman Douglas, the All-American guard from Syracuse, did not go until Miami made him the first pick of the second round, PHILADELPHIA — Philadelphia 76ers took Louisville's Kenny Payne as the 19th selection in Tuesday's NBA draft. Payne met the media in Philadelphia and displayed his new number.

28th overall. The Big Ten player of the year, guard Jay Edwards of Indiana, was the Clipper's secondround selection, No. 33. The Big East player of the year, guard Charles Smith of Georgetown, was not drafted at all, probably Oklahoma had the first doubleheader. After King was selected by Chicago, the New because he only weighs 165 pounds.

Reid, who just completed his junior year at North Carolina, was the first underclassman taken, and Blaylock of the Sooners with the 12th pick.

The 6-foot-9 Ellison averaged 17.6 points and 8.7 rebounds last season for Louisville, where he earned the nickname "Never Nervous"

After trading centers LaSalle Thompson and Joe Kleine in the same week last season, the Kings were left without a true, everyday pivotman. It showed as Sacramento finished 27-55, next-to-last in the Pacific Division. The Kings needed help up front.

So, the 6-10 Ferry said that while he thought he could have gone No. 1 after averaging 22.6 points last season at Duke, he won't be surprised, no matter where he winds

"I'm not 100 percent sure I'll be with the Clippers," he said. "You never know with trades. I'll sleep better tomorrow night.

As a junior, the 6-8 Elliott took Arizona to the Final Four, averaging 19.6 points a game. Last year, he averaged 22.3, and was judged the best college player in the Next season, he'll be playing alongside center David Robinson and forward Willie Anderson, second in last season's rookie of the year voting.

Louisiana Tech forward Randy White was the eighth selection, by Dallas, and Georgia Tech forward Tom Hammonds went No. 9 to Washington. Pooh Richardson, the UCLA guard, was the 10th selection, going to the expansion Minnesota Timberwolves.

The league's other expansion team, the Orlando Magic, picked 11th, taking small forward Nick Anderson of Illinois, another college underclassman.

The Los Angeles Lakers used their first pick, 26th in the first round, to pick a 21-year-old Yugoslav, 7-1 center Vlade Divac of Partizan Belgrade.

Lady Hawks sign two

Howard College Lady Hawks new coach Royce Chadwick has signed two post players for next year's hoop team, Deedra Haskins and Mulu Tosi

The 6-1 Haskins is from Liberty, where she played at Hull-Daisetta High School. The past season she averaged 19.6 points, 11.5 rebounds, five blocked shots and made 60 percent of her field goals. She was MVP of the district. In 1987 she was Sophomore of the Year and '88 she was Offensive Player of the Year

Coach Chadwick said 'Deedra is an excellent post prospect. She is a high jumper in track and has a tremendous amount of athletic ability. We are very pleased to have a player of her stature in our program.

The 6-2 Tosi played at Morse High School in San Diego, Calf. This past season she averaged 22.6 points per game, 15.9 rebounds and carried a 3.20 grade point average. Tosi had seasonhighs of 37 points and 32 rebounds against Serra High School. She was an all-district performer, and MVP of the Eastern League All-Star game.

Chaddwick said: "Mulu is the type of girl that is so hard to find. She had good size, great work habits and has the potential to be an outstanding

Mac makes great comeback

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Trust John Patrick McEnroe.

LONDON — Defending champ Steffi Graf reaches to return a shot from Britain's Julie Salmon on

On a day when everything before and after him was predictable and dull, the world's most charismatic tennis player lit up the world's most famous tennis court with the comeback of his 14-year career.

"I don't ever remember coming back from two sets down before, the mercurial McEnroe said after his 4-6, 4-6, 6-2, 6-3, 8-6 first-round victory over Darren Cahill of Australia on Wimbledon's Centre Court on Tuesday.

"It's great to come back and win the match," he said. "Let's face it, I could easily be out of the tournament."

Technically, the match may not have been of the highest quality. Both players struggled with their first serves. But it transcended tennis. It was pure theater.

"I never really got my game in total gear," McEnroe said after the 31/2-hour battle that started in sunshine and finished in evening gloom with a standing ovation for both players. "I don't think it's the greatest match he's ever played either. But for excitement

For excitement, it beat the rest of the day's matches put together. They included straight-set victories for defending women's champion Steffi Graf and her three main rivals, Martina Navratilova, Chris Evert and Gabriela Sabatini.

Graf, playing her first match since losing the French Open final to 17-year-old Arantxa Sanchez, gave up only eight points on serve as she swamped Julie Salmon of Britain 6-1, 6-2. Navratilova opened her bid for a record ninth women's singles title with a 6-3, 6-2 victory over Jill Hetherington of Canada.

Evert, recovered from an ear infection, downed Peanut Harper 6-1, 6-1, while Sabatini conceded fewer games than any of the main contenders by trouncing Diane Balestrat 6-1, 6-0.

But of all the 42 completed singles matches on the second day of the championships, one stood out the best rally of McEnroe's

"I expected a tough match. I didn't expect something like this," McEnroe said. "It's a positive just to be able to sit and dwell on this for a day but I'm proud of this, coming from two sets down to win.

For two sets, the left-handed American, who gave up a large part of the European clay-court season to concentrate on winning a fourth Wimbledon crown, appeared to have wasted all the preparation.

Deserted by his serve/ - he double-faulted 16 times -McEnroe allowed his 23-year-old opponent, at No. 26 the highestranked non-seeded player in the men's draw, to control the match.

Cahill, a dangerous serve-andvolleyer who beat Boris Becker on his way to last year's U.S. Open semifinals, appeared set to become the second unseeded Australian in successive years to end McEnroe's Wimbledon hopes

Centre Court at Wimbledon Tuesday. Graf won

Last year, Wally Masur upset the three-time champion in the second round in McEnroe's return to Wimbledon after a four-year absence

But with the crowd behind him and his temper in check apart from sporadic swipes of his racket, McEnroe dug deep into his repertoire of unorthodox strokes and turned the match around

As his first serve and returns of serve improved, McEnroe broke Cahill twice in the third set and again in the fourth, passing the Australian with flicked backhands and mixing up the pace on his

In the fifth set, McEnroe's touch and variation were at their best. But he blew five break points and, serving second, was under continued pressure.

He kept his cool, broke Cahill with a backhand cross-court pass to go up 7-6 and served out the match with a pair of swinging, swerving aces.

They were two of his best serves in the match.

No Texans in in NBA draft

DALLAS (AP) - Houston coach Pat Foster says the Southwest Conference's showing, or lack thereof, in the NBA draft is not indicative of the league's talent base.

"I think it's going to be a year or two before the league really has an impact," Foster said. 'It's coming. It's on the way.'

There were no SWC players among the 54 selections in Tuesday night's NBA draft. But coaches maintain their league is blessed with underclassmen who possess NBA potential.

The league's top three scorers last season were all underclassmen. And five of the 11 players named to the first two teams of The Associated Press All-SWC squad will return next

"I think it just goes in cycles," Foster said. "Our down cycle in this league is going to go deeper than the ACC or the Big Ten.

"JoAnn and I have enjoyed living in Big Spring," said Hank Burnine. "We think a lot of the folks we met - at the VA, the Dora Roberts Rehab, the Lions Club, the First Baptist Church — and everywhere in-between!"

The Burnines, who lived here two years until Hank retired from the VA Hospital, were packing up and getting ready to move to Tyler Thursday to be near their families.

"Tyler is kind of centrally located," Hank explained. Two daughters, Ruthie Vaughn, and Julie and husband Ben Miller live in Dallas; daughter Kandi and husband Dan Dalton, with Ian, 4, and Seth, 1, are moving to Conroe soon. Son Steve and Crin Burnine live in. Jacksonville: the Mark Burnines. with Brittany, 6, Joshua, 3, and Jacob, 1, live in Tuscaloosa, Ala.

Odell and Edna Womack have ust returned from a vacation to San Antonio and Port Aransas with grandsons Ryan and Jerod Womack in tow.

Object of their visit to San Antonio was Sea World, and Edna says "we didn't miss a thing." Edna was especially impressed with the formal gardens, of course.

In Port Aransas they went deep sea fishing for red snapper, and Ryan made the biggest catch -

Recent visitor at Theresa Jackson's home was her daughter, Janice Minter, on a 30-day leave from Yemen, near the border of Saudi Arabia, where her husband, John, is employed by Yemen-Hunt

From here Janice left for Oxford, Ohio, to visit her daughter, Terri and Dave Smetana, who expect their first baby in September. Then Janice was joined by her son. Johnny Minter, Houston, for a flight to the continent where they'll meet John for travel in Greece and Rome, Italy

Theresa's other daughters, Melba Dean Ewing, Tucson, Ariz.; and Billie Jean and Tabor Rowe, Odessa, came home to visit while Janice was in town. The sisters are all graduated in the 1940s from Big Spring High School.

Don and Ellouise Swinney hosted longtime friends from Christ Church, New Zealand, and Vienna, Pam and Bob Vernell were on a three-month trip to the U.S. from New Zealand; Pam and Ellouise met in 1968 at the University of Colorado Medical Center where both had taken terminally-ill babies. Although they had kept in touch, they had not seen each other since then. "Pam promised to name her first adopted son after our son,' Ellouise says. "Their son, named Todd, is 20 years old this year!"

Other houseguests were Otis and Irene Gatewood, Vienna, whom the Swinneys met in 1972 while serving as missionaries in Germany. The Gatewoods have been missionaries in Europe 42 years, Ellouise says.

Wedding

Bailey-Kinman

Sharla Sheree Bailey and Leslie Kyle Kinman, Lubbock, were united in marriage June 24, 1989 at a 7 p.m. ceremony at First Baptist Church, with Kenneth Patrick officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Bailey, Big Spring. Bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. James Kinman, Big

The couple stood before an altar decorated with matching, brass crescent candelabras accented with turn swirl candelabras. A pair of brass, crescent candelabras were decorated with fresh white spidermums, mauve alstroemeria lilies and pink baby's breath. A unity candle entwined with greenery completed the setting.

The bridal aisle was marked with mauve satin bows accented with greenery

Organist was Betty Downey. Pianist was Beth Spence.

Vocalists were Sharla Bailey and Kathryn Dawes, Big Spring; and James Kinman and Rodney Smith,

The bride, given in marries by her father, wore a white, pearlescent, satin and organza gown designed for Ilissa by Demetrios of York. The bodice, heavily beaded with sequins and pearls on re-embroidered lace, featured a deep V-neckline that desceded into a basque waistline. The puff sleeves, covered with a lace and pearls design, were accented with a satin ruffle. The full skirt featured small lace motif flowers above ruffle pick-ups in the front and flowed into a ruffled cathedrallength train.

She wore a floral headband accented with sequins and pearls, highlighted with a pouf and illusion tip veil. Silk flowers and pearls feathered around her face. She carried a cascading bouquet of pink roses, gardenias and stephanotis with touches of ming fern and white freesia Maid of honor was Dana Anderson, Lubbock

Bridesmaids were Shelly Brasel, Big Spring; Crystal McKeown, San Angelo; and Julie Bailey, bride's sister-in-law, Big Spring.

Diet Pills Sweeping U.S.

'Lazy Way' to Lose Weight

U.S. Gov't. Approves Patent Claims for New Diet Pill

BEVERLY HILLS, CA (Special) An amazing new weight loss pill called 'fat-magnet" has recently been devel oped and perfected by two prominent doctors at a world famous hospital in Los Angeles that reportedly "guarant tees" you steady fat loss and calorie reduction by simply taking their tested and proven new pill.

The U.S. government has just approve ed the doctors claims for a hard-to-ge patent that confirms "there has never been anything like their fat-bonding pill process before." It is a totally new major scientific breakthrough and is revolutionizing the weight loss industry.
You Can "Eat Normally"

Best of all, "you can continue to eat your favorite foods and you don have to change your normal eating habits. You can start losing fat and reduce calories from the very first day, until you achieve the ideal weight you desire without exercising".

Flushes Fat Out of Body

The new pill is appropriately called the "fat-magnet" pill because it breaks into thousands of particles, each acting like a tiny magnet, "attracting" and trapping many times its size in undigested fat particles. Then, all the trapped fat and calories are naturally "flushed" right out of your body because they cannot be absorbed.

Within 2 days you should notice a change in the color of your stool, caused by the fat particles being eliminated;
"Automatically" Lose Fat

According to one of the inventors, Dit. William Shell, heart specialist and associate professor of medicine UCLA medical school, "the new fatbonding process is a "lazy way" to lose weight because the pills alone "automatically" reduce calories by eliminating dietary fat. It is 100% sale and not a drug.

The fat-magnet pills are already sweeping the country with glowing reports of weight loss from formerly overweight people in all walks of like who are now slimmer, trimmer and more attractive again.

Now Available to the Public

If you are trying to lose 20, 50, 100 pounds or more, you can order your supply of these "no-risk" highly supcessful fat-magnet pills directly from the doctors' exclusive manufacturer only (includes optional calorie-reduction plan for even better results). Send $20 plan for even better results). Send $40 for a 90 pill supply (+$3 handling), or $35 for a 180 pill supply (+$3 handling), to: Fat-Magnet, 9016 Wilshire Blvc., Dept. W842, Beverly Hills, CA 902 ll. (Unconditional money-back guaranties if nat 100% satisfied.) Vist., MasterCard and American Express Of (Send and number express dem. OK. (Send card number, expire dam. and signature.) For fastest service for credit card orders ONLY call anytime 24 hours, toll free 1(800) 527-9700 ext. W842.

Porter nominated

BIG SPRING — Pat J. Porter of Gail Office Supply House and Yes! business services in the Sparenberg Building has been nominated as a member of Who's Who in U.S. Executives.

Mrs. Porter was notified of her nomination by the Selection Committee today.

New VA intern

BIG SPRING — Miss Stacie Schaper will become the first Interior Design Intern at the Big Spring VA Medical Center on July 18, according to Conrad Alexander, director. This is a result of a Memorandum of Affiliation between the VA Medical Center in Big Spring and Texas Tech University in Lubbock.

This affiliation will provide an educational experience for one or two students each year, and provide the Medical Center with new ideas for Medical Center Interior Design.

Schaper is an honor student in her senior year at Texas Tech University. Her home is in Texas City and her goal is to become an interior designer in either the public or private sector after completion of her education

Roberts wins car

DALLAS — Mary Kay Cosmetics, Inc. — famous for awarding cars to top achievers has done it again. Annette Roberts of Big Spring is the latest to win the use of a Pontiac Grand Am as a direct result of her accomplishments as an independent beauty consultant.

Roberts joins more than 1,500 Mary Kay independent businesswomen who are members of the company's VIP Club. VIP means Very Important Performer! The VIP program, which began in February 1984, marked the first time Mary Kay offered the use of a car as an incentive to beauty consultants. Traditionally, famous Mary Kay pink Buick Regals and Cadillacs were awarded only to sales directors.

Mary Kay Cosmetics, Inc. manufactures premium skin, hair, nail and body care products including cosmetics, toiletries and fragrances. The personal care products are sold through a worldwide sales force of 185,000 independent beauty consultants. The company was founded in 1963 by Mary Kay Ash an her son Richard R. Rogers

Wedding

Doss-Lewis

Iris Rose (Sissy) Doss, Big Spring, and Edwin Scott Lewis, Post, exchanged wedding vows June 10, 1989 at a 7:30 p.m. ceremony at Cooper Methodist Church, Woodrow, with Jon Randal, minister of Indiana Avenue Baptist Church, officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Doss, Big Spring. Bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Lewis, Post.

The couple stood before an altar decorated with fresh flowers and greenery in ornate white urns, framed by black candelabras.

Organist was Patty Kirkpatrick. Vocalists were Marita and Benny Jackson.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white gown with a body-fitting sheath encrusted with pearls and irridescent sequins with a tea-length of tulleing. Pearl and sequined high heels and a pearl-encrusted headpiece completed the attire.

She carried a bouquet of white magnolias, white mini-calla lilies, white larkspur, freesia, pink baby's breath and plumosa fern. Matron of honor was Brandi

Doss, bride's sister-in-law, Bridesmaids were Lane Baxter,

Lubbock; and Jeanie Cernosek, Flower girls were Cassie and Jacquelin Doss, bride's nieces.

Best man was Leslie Willard, Groomsmen were Kurt Browning, Albuquerque, N.M.; and Randy Lewis, bridegroom's brother, Post. Ushers were James Doss, bride's brother, Lubbock; Jessie Doss, bride's brother, Big Spring; and

Ronnie Bilbo, Lubbock. Ringbearer was Eric Nelson. After the wedding, a reception was hosted at Teysha Cellars. The bride's table featured a white, three-tiered wedding cake decorated with fresh flowers and frosted grapes. The table, decorated with a crystal punch bowl, was accented with white and silver napkins. The bridegroom's table featured a lemon and chocolate pound cake decorated with fresh flowers and grapes. The table, decorated with black Southwest pottery, black and white Navajo rugs, and black and silver napkins.

The bride is a graduate of Big Spring High School and attended Howard College. She graduated from Texas Tech with a degree in horticulture. She is employed by Avante, Lubbock.

The bridegroom, a graduate of Post High School, received a degree in real estate finance from West Texas State University,

The couple will take a trip to Santa Fe, N.M.

Arhelger retires from SCS

BIG SPRING — Bob Arhelger, Area Conservationist, Soil Conservation Service, USDA, has retired after approximately 31 years of federal service. As head of the Big Spring Area Office, Arhelger supervised SCS field offices serving 15 counties in west Texas extending from the New Mexico state line through Abilene. Arhelger transferred to Big Springin 1984 from Lubbock, where he served as District Conservationist.

Arhelger, a native of San Saba, began his career with the SCS at VAn Alstyne, Texas. He has also worked at Bonham, Liberty, Conroe, and Post, Texas.

During his years of service, Arhelger received seven Certificates of Merit from the SCS for outstanding performance and achievements. His assistance and work has also been recognized with certificates and awards from the South Plains Council of Governments, High Plains Underground Ga. Water Conservation District #1, Texas Tech, and the Llano Estacado Audubon Society.

Arheiger graduated from Texas A&M as a Distinguished Student and Honor Graduate.

count when we meet people, and they count when we buy products. When price, quality and other features of two products are essentially the same, consumers will pick the one most attractively packaged. It's no different when the product is your home.

Real estate agents call a home's first immpression "curb appeal." When potential buyers get out of their cars at the curb in front of your yard, what do they see? Remember, you are selling both a house and a yard.

The easiest and least expensive way to improve "curb appeal" is to make sure your yard is clean and well-kept. The lawn should never look overgrown, and flower beds must always be weeded. Unkept yards just remind buyers of how much yard work they will have to Keep the yard as clean as the inside of the house. That means bicycles, toys and garden equipment need to be stowed when not in use. It's also a good idea to move cars and recreational vehicles out I house and yard. of the driveway. That gives buyers a clear view of your home.

Package your home to sell quickly

Next, consider the landscaping. Numerous studies have shown that similar houses in the same area, with and without attractive landscaping, are regarded differently by buyers. The attractivelylandscaped home will sell faster and for more dollars. A good landscaping job is one home improvement that adds more value to a house than the costs required for labor and materials. You can invest in professional landscaping or do the work yourself. Here are some suggestions for an attractive yard:

1. Fertilize, trim and water shrubs to insure a healthy look.

2. Add evergreen foundation plantings. Foundation plantings cover bare concrete and create an impression of continuity between

3. Extend foundation plantings past corners and around the house's sides. You never know from which direction a prospective buyer's car will approach the house.

4. Cultivate a thick, healthylooking lawn by using appropriate weed killers and fertilizers. Hiring a professional lawn service may be worth the money in the long run.

5. Remove all dead or unhealthy looking bushes, flowers and plants and replace with healthy ones 6. Hide brown spots under shade trees with ground covers. 7. Mask unpleasant views with hedges to create a natural private

8. Use accent plantings of various colors that will contrast against one another. If you do not want to plant and maintain flower beds, plant flowers in containers to add color to the home exterior.

9. Set the stage for buyers to imagine pleasant outdoor living by setting out lawn chairs, picnic tables and grills.

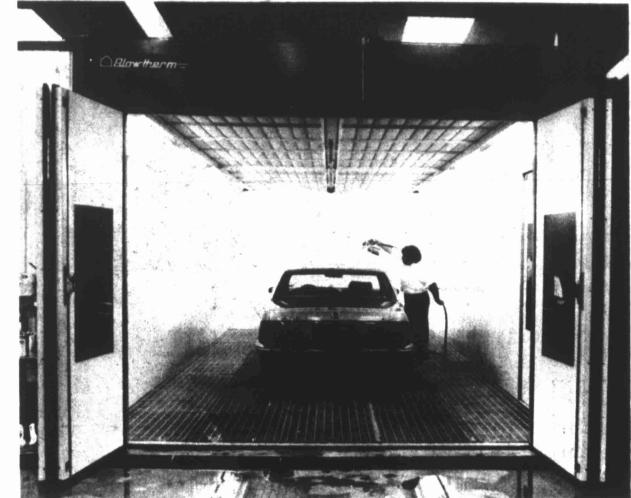

These are just a few of the things you can do to improve your yard and the chances of selling your
