Man arrested

BIG SPRING — Drug task force personnel made another bust Tuesday with the arrest of a Big Spring man.

Phillip Mendoza, Jr., 1209 Ridgeroad Street, was arrested by the Big Spring Police Department and charged with possession of a controlled substance (cocaine), possession of drug paraphernalia, and possession of a controlled substance (marijuana under two ounces).

According to a police department news release, members of the department, the Howard County Sheriff's Office and the Permian Basin Drug Task Force executed a search and arrest warrant Tuesday night.

The group seized about 21.7 grams of a substance believed to be cocaine, as well as property believed to be stolen and a useable amount of a substance believed to be marijuana, the release said.

Mendoza was being held in jail in lieu of bonds totaling $40,700.

CISD OKs budget

COAHOMA — The Coahoma ISD School Board met Monday to approve, among other things, the 1989 budget and set the 1989 tax rate.

The board approved a $5.1 million budget, about $500,000 dollars more than last year, according to Gary Rotan, school superintendent. The tax rate was approved at $1.44 per $100 dollars. "This reflects a ten cent drop from last year's rate," stated Rotan. "I also feel very good with the budget and the tax rate. The board, in adopting the tax rate, addressed the needs of the students and the teachers, as well as the needs of the taxpayers. All the teachers received a $200 dollar raise this year and the tax reduction helps everyone."

The board also approved the hiring of three teachers to complete the staff for the upcoming year.

• Pamela Collinsworth comes to Coahoma from Brownwood. She has a BS degree from Angelo State University and has 9 years teaching experience with the Brownwood ISD. Collinsworth's assignment this year will be instructing the junior high science class.

• Dianne McPherson was also added to the staff as a third grade teacher. McPherson has a BS degree from West Texas State and twelve years experience, eleven of them from Amarillo ISD.

• To complete the 1989-90 staff, Jennifer Shirey was hired. Shirey will be the elementary music teacher. She has a BS degree from West Texas State University.

Other items approved were dairy and bakery bids. Gandy's received the dairy bid and Holsum received the bakery bid. Hospitalization insurance for employees was selected with the bid going to Blue Cross-Blue Shield.

New LVN program

BIG SPRING — Howard College will implement a new Licensed Vocational Nursing program in the fall of 1990.

The new program will allow LVN students more flexibility, more complete training and will save 1,000 clock hours.

The purpose of the change from the existing program is to develop a multiple entry, multiple exit curriculum, allowing students to get the skills needed to obtain licensure as an LVN or as a Registered Nurse (RN).

Students could exit the program after 12 months with a Certificate in Vocational Nursing or remain an additional 12 months and earn an Associate in Science degree in Nursing.

The certificate allows students to sit for the state examination for licensure as an LVN. The associate degree allows them to sit for the National Council Licensure Examination to become RN's.

In the past students had to enter the LVN program in August.

Students interested in entering the nursing program in the fall of 1990 need to look at prerequisite courses this fall.

Council OKs 2.4% tax rate increase

By RUTH COCHRAN
Staff Writer

BIG SPRING — Despite a parade of residents urging the city council here to support whatever tax increase was necessary, council members voted 4-3 for a 2.4-percent increase in the tax rate.

About 75 people showed up for a public hearing on the 1989-90 proposed budget Tuesday night, with a majority of residents saying they would support a tax increase if it would improve city services.

A significant portion of residents at the hearing also voiced their opposition to a tax increase, saying it would drive businesses and residents from Big Spring.

the current tax rate from 68 cents to 71 cents, the council will have to make additional cuts in the proposed budget it has recommended to avoid a deficit of $62,000. The council had previously slashed $1.5 million, including cuts in the streets, fire and police departments, from its proposed budget to make up for a deficit of $1.8 million.

Because the increase is less than 3 percent over the effective tax rate of 69.2 cents, the council is not required to hold a public hearing on the rate change. The effective tax rate is the rate needed to earn the same amount of revenue as was earned last year.

Even though most of the residents at the hearing said they didn't want any more cuts in city services, councilmen Tim Blackshear, D.D. Johnston and Sidney Clark and Mayor Max Green voted for the almost 3-percent increase. Councilwomen Pat DeAnda and Gail Earls and Councilman Chuck Condray voted against the rate.

The council was presenting its recommended $16.5 million budget

Voyager searches for more new moons

By LEE SIEGEL
AP Science Writer

PASADENA, Calif. — Voyager 2, only a day away from its close encounter with Neptune, was ready for new computer commands today as it searched for more moons and rings after discovering a first complete ring around the storm-wracked planet.

Engineers prepared to send Voyager the computer program this afternoon to control how the spacecraft aims itself, its cameras and other sensors during its flight past Neptune and the major moon Triton, said Doug Gruntir, deputy mission manager at NASA's Jet Propulsion Laboratory.

The latest navigation information shows that after a 12-year, 4.4-billion-mile flight, Voyager will be within one second and 22 miles of where it is supposed to be for the Neptune flyby, he said.

"The spacecraft is working marvelously, with no problems at all," Griffith said.

Lighting up practice!

PATRICIA — The Klondike High School marching band was able to practice on the football field for about 30 minutes Tuesday as threatening weather headed towards the area. The ap-

Coffee hopeful for new prisons

By BRADLEY WORRELL
Staff Writer

BIG SPRING — Howard County may try to attract as many as four new prisons, and county commissioners are expected to meet Saturday to consider a contractual agreement with officials for one of the proposed facilities.

"Both of these are in the realm of possibility," County Judge John Coffee said Tuesday of attempts to attract two private prisons to Howard County. Private Prisons of America Limited (PPAL) and Corrections Concepts Inc. (CCI) have both expressed interest in building a facility in Howard County, he said.

Coffee also expressed optimism about the county's chances to draw as many as two state prisons here. County officials, in conjunction

Prisons created economic bonanza for city

Editor's note: This is another in a Herald series of stories on Canon City, Colo., sometimes called Prisons town, USA.

By BRADLEY WORRELL
Staff Writer

CANON CITY, Colo. — The presence of seven state prisons has created an economic bonanza for this southern Colorado community, city and state officials agree, but it's impact on the future of city's economy is less certain.

Skip Dyer, executive director of the Fremont County Economic Development Corporation, said there are "several other economic factors" in the community besides the prisons, but said the facilities are important for their part in providing a source of "growing, steadily balanced revenue."

The prisons are a "very permanent source of income" for the community, said Harold Lewis, interim city manager for Canon City.

There was more lenient sentencing a few years ago; it's become more stringent now," Lewis said. "People want to see criminals in jail," he said.

That, in turn, has increased the need for more corrections officers and meant more jobs for Canon City and the rest of Fremont County, he said.

Mark McGoff, director of administrative services for the Colorado Department of Corrections, said that the number of employees at the Canon City facilities is constantly expanding. The current total is about 1,200, he said.

"Obviously that's a plus for the community," he said simply. McGoff said nearly $55 million is annually budgeted for the Canon

City facilities, the majority of that in salaries.

The number of jobs the prisons provide is one of the most significant things the prisons mean for the community, he said. "We're the largest employer by far."

The salaries the state pays are very competitive with any other industry in the area, McGoff said, about $25,000 on the average.

A beginning corrections officer makes $1,667 a month, a corrections technician $2,025 a month and superintendent — the title now used in place of warden — makes $3,636, according to Colorado Department of Corrections information.

The prison also attracts a number of professionals into the community, such as doctors, engineers and others not generally found in a community that size,

McGoff said. "There's a lot of things available that wouldn't be available without the department of corrections."

Dyer said he believes the prisons have brought services a county of 30,000 would not normally enjoy, such as two hospitals, seven nursing homes and a number of health professions.

McGoff said another benefit for the community is the large number of corrections officers who live in the area. Their familiarity with police procedures may help dissuade crime in the community, he said.

McGoff said the prison system stimulates the local economy through the purchase of goods used for the prisons. "A whole lot of small purchases are made in the area," he said.

City turns out to greet retirement center prospect

By STEVE REAGAN
Staff Writer

BIG SPRING — If the St. Francis Retirement Village board of directors decide not to locate a retirement community here, it won't be for city officials lack of trying.

Local dignitaries rolled out the red carpet for the St. Francis board Tuesday as a crowd of about 200 gathered on scenic Mountain to eat barbecue and welcome the visitors from the Chicago area.

Even Mother Nature appeared to conspire to make the retirement village officials seem welcome to Big Spring. Rain showers visible in all directions from the mountain avoided the gathering and a brilliant sunset punctuated the evening.

The board of directors are in Big Spring through Thursday morning to evaluate the possibility of locating a retirement community here.

While none of the St. Francis officials seemed committed to locating such a facility here, they all were impressed by the welcome they received.

"I think we've been pleasantly surprised by the warm greeting we received," said board member Marge Ryther. "Everybody's made an effort to get to know us and show us in such a short time the beauty of their town."

"The people have been very gracious," board member Marianne Flesher echoed. "They have welcomed us so warmly and sincerely."

The Rev. Al Mertz, the St. Francis official who made the initial visit to Big Spring in April, said the group is far from deciding on the matter, but that Big Spring does offer some of the things conducive to a retirement village.

"One of the reasons the board is interested in Big Spring is that the housing here is similar to the St. Francis village (in Crowley)," Mertz said. "Plus, this is a congenial town. The friendliness has been genuine."

Food donations increase

HOUSTON (AP) — Some residents wanting Rep. Mickey Leland's efforts to feed the hungry to continue after his death have helped prompt an increase in monetary donations to local food banks.

Last week, monetary donations to the End Hunger Network Houston Chapter almost tripled, said Mary Keegan, chapter president. She expects food donations to increase this week as well.

Leland and 15 others were killed earlier this month when their plane crashed into a mountainside in western Ethiopia while en route to a refugee camp near the Sudan border.

Instead of flowers, the Leland family has asked that people donate food or money.

The Houston Food Bank also experienced "a definite increase in monetary donations in the past week," spokeswoman Mitzi Coleman said Monday.

Young driver reprise

AMARILLO (AP) — It was an abbreviated driver and not an inebriated driver discovered by Amarillo Police officers when they responded to a report of a car that appeared to be driverless.

Officers discovered that the driver was a 7-year-old boy who last Thursday had taken his parents' 1981 Buick, his 3-year-old sister and an 8-year-old friend and was attempting to drive to visit his grandfather in Oklahoma.

This time the boy and sister were driving on an Amarillo street when a caller reported seeing what appeared to be a driverless car on a street in the Panhandle city early Tuesday.

The story had a slightly happier ending this time. Last Thursday, the young driver was discovered after the car struck a construction barrel on Interstate 27 on the outskirts of Amarillo.

Fugitive gets life

HOUSTON (AP) — A former fugitive on the FBI's most wanted list was given two life terms plus 17 years in prison for the abduction of two women during a 1986 crime spree.

U.S. District Judge David Hittner on Tuesday also imposed a $1.25 million fine on Danny Michael Weeks, Hittner earlier gave the same sentence to James Lee Colvin, Week's cohort in the crime spree.

A jury in June found Weeks guilty of kidnapping a woman in Louisiana and a female military officer in Houston in separate incidents, transporting the women's cars across state lines, using a firearm during a violent crime.

Conservationists going to appeals court

WASHINGTON (AP) — Conservationists who fear thousands of endangered sea turtles will drown in shrimpers' nets unless the Gulf Coast fishermen are required to use turtle excluder devices are taking their case to a federal appeals court.

A U.S. District Court judge on Tuesday denied the National Wildlife Federation's request that shrimpers be required to use the devices, known as TEDs.

Wildlife Federation attorney Robert Irvin said he would appeal the decision by U.S. District Court Judge Stanley Harris to the U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia.

"We are disappointed," Irvin said. "We're confident we're right on the facts and the law and that's why we're going to the Court of Appeals."

Five conservation groups, meanwhile, filed suit Monday against Commerce Secretary Robert Mosbacher, alleging his actions on behalf of shrimpers have virtually assured the drowning of thousands of threatened and endangered sea turtles.

The lawsuit claims Mosbacher acted unlawfully when he suspended regulations that require shrimpers to use TEDs, which prevent sea turtles from becoming ensnared in their nets and drowning.

The lawsuit also seeks to force Mosbacher to resume enforcement of the suspended regulations on TEDs.

Mosbacher suspended TEDs regulations after shrimpers, angry about having to use devices they claim reduce their catch by as much as one-third, blockaded shipping channels along the Texas Gulf Coast.

Under a court order to protect endangered sea turtles in a separate lawsuit by the Wildlife Federation, Mosbacher then ordered shrimpers who don't use TEDs to limit their trawling times to 105 minutes at prescribed intervals.

Michael J. Bean, an attorney for the Environmental Defense Fund, said there has been "no sign" that Gulf Coast shrimpers are complying with the limited trawl times.

Although Mosbacher was led to believe shrimpers would comply with the restricted tow times by their organizations and congressmen, "all the evidence available suggests the secretary was tricked. They (shrimpers) don't want the federal government telling them they have an obligation to protect sea turtles," Bean said.

Commerce spokesman Brian Gorman said the agency is waiting "for the courts to make a judgment about the appropriateness of our course of action" but declined to comment further because the matter is in litigation.

The Coast Guard, which enforces the regulations, has found an in-

Clements irate over furloughs

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas must review the way it grants furloughs to prisoners, Gov. Bill Clements said, after a newspaper reported that some leaves have been approved for convicted murderers who have been denied parole.

"I can assure you, we're going to get back into this. I do not want these capital murderer inmates on the streets of our state, that's all there is to it," Clements said Tuesday. "It's not complicated."

The furlough policy prohibits leaves for people convicted of capital murder. Rossanna Salazar, Clements' press secretary, said the governor opposes furloughs for any convicted murderers.

The Texas Board of Corrections last year tightened the furlough policy, but the Express-News in San Antonio reported Sunday that prison records show some unsupervised furloughs have been approved for convicted murderers who have been denied parole.

Board member Allan Polunsky told the newspaper Monday that the board is taking action to stop unsupervised visits for such convicts.

"I think that they went far enough temporarily, but apparently there's been a relapse, and we need to treat the patient again," Clements said of the prison board policy.

Ms. Salazar said prison board members "had assured the governor that this type of furlough program would not occur. The governor is demanding that this practice be stopped, and that the entire furlough policy be reviewed."

Clements said he believes the TDC staff is "ooching" on the board's directive to place restrictions on furloughs.

"I think that the board is aware of this. I know they're terribly concerned about it," Clements said. He said he also had met twice on the issue Tuesday with Rider Scott, who heads his office's criminal justice division.

Mesa to stay in Amarillo

AMARILLO (AP) — Mesa Limited Partnership will remain in Amarillo although officials of the high-profile energy company headed by T. Boone Pickens has relocated 30 employees to Dallas, a company official says.

Mesa President Paul Cain told Amarillo city commissioners Tuesday, "It is our intent to stay in Amarillo, and to remain strong supporters of the city."

Cain also said that the 400 Mesa employees still in Amarillo guide the operations of the oil and gas business.

Speculation continues to surround the company's decision to relocate 30 employees to Dallas, but Cain said the move was necessary because the longstanding controversy caused by the city's lawsuit against Mesa and Energas Co. was draining employees' attention.

"During early 1989, (Mesa consultant) Sidney Tassin and I became more aware that our most productive people were preoccupied with the city controversy, and were not spending enough time on developing new business opportunities," Cain said.

"Mesa's sales of gas to Energas represent less than 10 percent of our production, yet we were spending over half of our time dealing with city problems," Cain said.

"In spite of repeated efforts to re-focus, it became obvious that we needed to take the city involvements away from these people," Cain said. "So we urged (Mesa General Partner T. Boone Pickens Jr.) Boone and the financial group to relocate in Dallas, where they would not be distracted by what appears to be a never-ending conflict."

Cain added that negative publicity about the natural gas dispute has caused the company to be "converted from a very popular company to one that is constantly attacked by the media."

"Mesa is very important to Amarillo, and I personally do not like to see our people treated like second-class citizens," he said.

Cain pointed out that Mesa has contributed about $4.9 million to various entities, including West Texas State University and the Amarillo Independent School District magnet school.

Judge rebuffs district's desegregation bid

DALLAS (AP) — A U.S. district judge has spurned a public school district's bid to be declared desegregated and prohibited the system's board from resubmitting its petition until next year.

The Dallas Independent School District did not comply with a July 21 directive to answer questions about a request by plaintiffs in a desegregation suit, Judge Barefoot Sanders ruled Tuesday.

In his two-page order, Sanders wrote that although school officials may not have intended to disobey and risk contempt of court, they "are subject to sanctions for such non-compliance."

Sanders rejected the school board's May request to declare the district "unitary" or desegregated, a ruling that would prompt less court oversight and eventually end the 18-year-old case.

Another petition "must be accompanied by a brief specifying the actual and legal grounds upon which the motion is based" the judge said, addressing concerns by plaintiffs; the Black Coalition to Maximize Education, an intervening group; and the court-appointed desegregation auditor. "He (Sanders) wanted an answer," said Robert Thomas, the school board's attorney in the more cuts in its budget, because the 3-cent increase now leaves the proposal with a deficit of $62,000.

City Secretary Tom Ferguson said the 3-cent increase over the current tax rate will earn the city an extra $98,000 in revenues based on a 93 percent collection rate and each cent earning about $32,500. However, the recommended $16.5 million budget was based on a 5.6-cent tax rate increase. That rate would have earned the city about $170,000 in additional property tax revenues.

Ferguson said if the council wants to balance the proposed budget, it will have to either cut $62,000 from it or find an additional source of revenue.

Before reaching the 4-3 majority on the 3-cent increase, the council twice turned down the 5.6-cent increase, as well as an 11-cent increase and a 10-cent increase. The 3-cent increase also was rejected once.

Clark first proposed a 5.6-cent increase, gaining support from Blackshear, but DeAnda, Earls, Condray, Johnston and Green all voted against it. DeAnda, Earls and Condray all said the increase was only enough to maintain city services and not enough to make capital improvements.

"The 8 percent increase we're setting is just like we did last year," Earls said. "I think we need to look forward."

Green stood fast on his campaign promise not to raise taxes. Earls next offered up an 11-cent increase, saying the council always could lower the rate after a public hearing. Earls made the proposal after City Attorney Jean Shotts said he didn't think the council legally could raise the rate after informing the public of its intentions.

Earls said an 11-cent proposal would give the council leeway in deciding what kind of tax increase it needed. Her proposal, however, gained support only from DeAnda and Condray.

Clark then moved again for a 5.6-cent rate increase, and although he picked up the support of both Blackshear and Johnston, the measure was again defeated.

Johnston then moved that the council accept a 3-cent increase, but DeAnda, Condray, Green and Earls defeated the motion.

Earls offered the motion for a 10-cent increase in the rate but again gained the support of only Condray and DeAnda.

After a lengthy discussion where Green quizzed city management on the utility fund, the mayor concluded that no money could be transferred from utilities to the general fund. Because of that, he said he would be willing to vote for a tax increase.

Clark moved for a 3-cent increase, and he, Blackshear, Green and Johnston made up the majority needed to pass the motion.

DeAnda said she voted against the 5.6-cent increase both times because she felt it would limit the city's progress. Because of Shott's opinion that the council could lower a tax rate proposal but not raise it after it was announced to the public, DeAnda said she wanted a slightly higher rate to work with.

"I was going on that premise: not to raise taxes 10 or 11 cents but to give some leeway where we could work," she said.

DeAnda said the 3-cent increase means the council will have to cut even more into an already pared-down budget.

"We're going into flesh now," she said. "We're going into the meat because we've trimmed about as much fat as there is."

Earls said she also wanted a 10-cent rate increase, but only as a starting point to work from.

"I think we need to ask for the 10 or 11 (cents) that gave us room to work," she said. "I don't think we ought to stand still. With this we're just making ends meet."

Earls said she doesn't know where the council will find $62,000 to trim from the budget.

"I have no idea because some of the cuts we had at 8 percent (tax increase) I wasn't in agreement with."

The councilwoman charged that with the 3-cent increase, the council definitely went "just the opposite of what the public spoke for," during the public hearing.

Clark agreed that the council apparently went against the majority of residents' wishes, but said the council needed to make some kind of decision instead of continuing to stalemate. The increase, he said, still provides the council with almost $100,000 in additional revenues. Now the city will have to make budget cuts or pursue other sources of revenue such as a bond election, Clark said.

Blackshear, who had maintained all along that he supported no more than a 5-percent increase, said the less than 3-percent increase means the council faces hard decisions.

"Cut, cut, cut," Blackshear said of the budget. "I don't want cuts in the fire (department) and I don't want cuts in the police department. I still think the money's there. I can't say (where)."

Green said he changed his mind about a tax increase after discussing the utility fund with city management. Green said he thought he'd discovered $125,000 in the utility fund available for use, but then found that didn't appear feasible.

"Plain pure and simple it's a compromise," he said. "I could not get support for the (effective tax rate of 69.2 cents)."

"Mr. (D.D.) Johnston's proposal was a flat 3-cent increase which would raise it from 68 cents to 71 cents, which is just a very small increase. And, I could get a majority vote on it."

Green said the council will have to go over the budget carefully in hopes of finding more cuts.

"I don't know," where the cuts will come from, he said. "I really and truly don't know."

Condray, who had supported a larger tax increase, was resigned to the task the council faces.

"It was the council's consensus and that's what we'll operate on," Condray said. "Services will be cut."

Those cuts will dismay a large number of citizens who turned out for the public hearing. A large majority said taxes should be raised so that the city's streets, water system, police department and fire department could be improved.

Big Spring resident Billy H. Johnson earned an ovation from the crowd after he asserted that the city has put off improvements for too long already.

"This town is going backward instead of forward," Johnson told the council. "It takes a little giving in order to receive a little bit. This town's been laid-back so far, so long..."

Ben Bancroft also earned applause after warning the council that it would make the same mistake past councils have by rejecting a tax increase.

"A lot of the problems we're experiencing now could have been prevented," with expenditures made 10 years ago, he said.

However, some residents told the council a tax increase would drive some already struggling businesses into the ground and others out of Big Spring.

"I think we need to freeze the budget and don't raise taxes until the economy gets better," said James Leffler.

"I'm concerned about these taxes," said long-time resident Bill Morris. "Those taxes are going to make me move if they don't get ahold of them."

"The department of corrections puts a lot of money into the community," Dyer agreed. The prisons are "good neighbors, they buy a lot of items."

Taxpayers across the state also benefit from the prison industry, he said. Because the industries are all "profit oriented," their gains help defray expenses associated with incarcerating inmates, he said.

Inmate industry includes manufacture of license plates and road signs, construction, lumber, printing, dairy, metal work, livestock, crop planting and breaking wild horses.

McGoff said he did not have any figures on how much money the state industry generates, but said, "Every dollar made (in the corrections industry) is one dollar taxpayers don't have to pay."

The impact on recruiting new industry to the city is less certain.

Lewis believes the prison system creates the potential to recruit other industries to the area, particularly because the city can offer incentives like water and sewer service made possible because of the prison.

"Absolutely, it makes providing utilities for other industries possible. It allows us to extend service to anyone," he said.

Lewis said he does not see a negative impact from the prisons, and if there were there would be little the community could do.

"If they have a concern, and concerned erroneously I think, there's not much we could do about that," he said.

What's important is what the local citizens think, he said. And the community in a recent poll gave high marks to attract an eighth, federal prison — something that is an endorsement of both the new and existing prison system, he said.

People realize the benefits the prisons provide, he said. "We feel the majority of the citizenry feel that way."

But Dyer said the presence of the prisons can generate a bad public relations image with some companies who are considering locating a business in the area.

"Yeah, I think that's safe to say, in certain circles it does. It is a factor," he said.

Dyer said the economic development group deals with it by "intentionally bringing it up" with prospecting businesses and telling about the good the prison does for the community.

"They're no different than others, they want to know about the dangers," he said.

"We say we're a heck of a lot safer than Denver, any larger city."

They also make it clear that the prison has existed in Canon City for a long time, and that the community accepts it, he said.

"There are concerns. History has shown... there is some reason for that," Dyer said, adding, "There's been nothing in the last 35 to 40 years that amounted to too much."

Dyer said new people "look over their shoulders for a while, kind of wonder about it for a while, talk about it and then forget about it."

Asked if he's worried the need for prisons might eventually decrease, Dyer replied, "That's a distinct possibility if we learn how to manage a society... I hope we can work it out."

McGoff remained more cautious. "A lot of towns in Colorado have gone through a boom and bust cycle over the years. We still have that now."

Weather

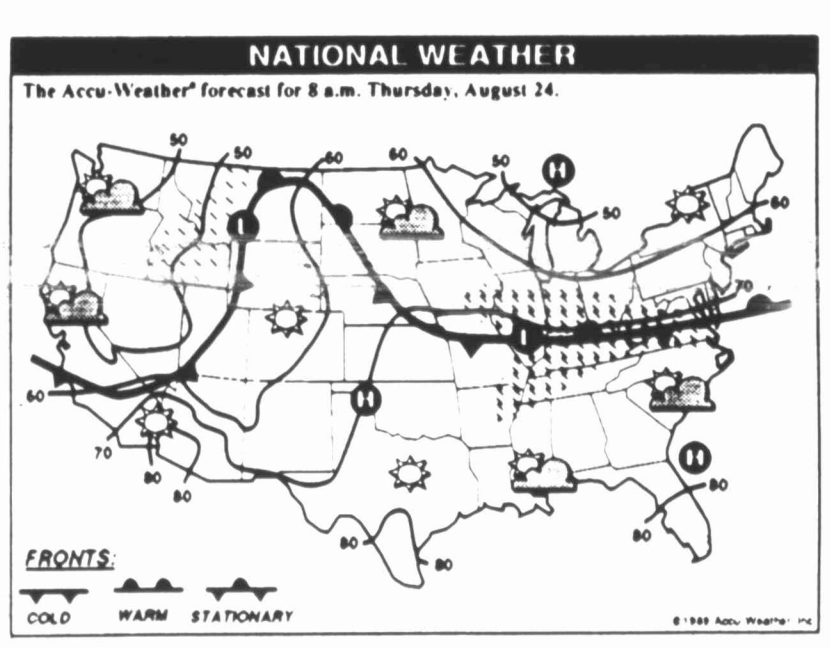

Shows and thunderstorms were moving eastward across the lower Missouri Valley early today, and strong winds from thunderstorms blew through several areas of the nation.

Thunderstorms moving through south-central Kansas produced wind gusts to 50 mph at Winfield, and gusts to 60 mph at Marion. Wellington was drenched with 2 inches of rain in two hours.

A flash flood watch was in effect for northeastern Kansas Tuesday night, when thunderstorms produced up to 2 inches of rain south of Salina and southeast of Topeka.

Showers and thunderstorms also fell in northern and eastern Iowa early this morning.

Thunderstorms produced high winds in northeastern Iowa and southwestern Wisconsin early Tuesday evening. Strong thunderstorm winds downed trees north of Dubuque in Iowa, and gusts to 65 mph at Balltown, Iowa. Thunderstorm winds also downed large tree limbs in Grant County, Wis.

Strong southwest winds continued in western Nevada ahead of the cold front. A wind gust to 45 mph was reported at Lovelock, Nev., Tuesday evening.

On the light side

AUGUSTA, Maine (AP) — When Gov. John R. McKernan's mother walked into a popular capital deli and insisted a sandwich be named after her son, the owner obliged.

But sandwich man Michael Burns first made sure the menu entry — a turkey sandwich — didn't offend the chief executive.

"We've got other turkeys. We've got a turkey named after veteran legislator Dan Hickey, a good legislator. But I sent a messenger over to the governor's office to ask. He thought it was fine," said Burns from behind the orange counter at Burnsie's Lunch.

His spokesman, Willis Lyford, said McKernan was delighted with the honor.

"As long as it's not baloney," Lyford added.

About a block from the Statehouse complex and gubernatorial mansion, the lunch shop has a back wall covered with comic illustrations of the many choices. Customers need only point, Burns said. Some are named after past and present politicians who are caricatured by Walter Winchester of Augusta.

"Joe Brennan was governor when I came here, of course we became friendly," said Burns, recalling a visit by the two-term governor. "We talked for a while, then I said, 'We've got to have a sandwich named after you.'"

The "Big Governor Joe," a popular item at Burnsies, is prominently advertised.

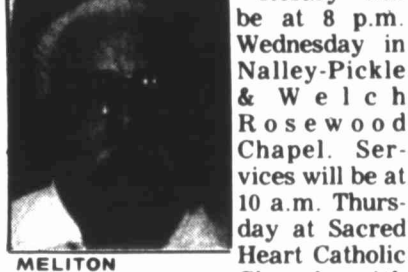

"Well, Mrs. McKernan came in one day and saw that and said, 'Where's my son's sandwich?'"

The Duke's Special, named after a capital barber famous for his informal — but usually accurate — political polls, led to a situation that Burns characterized as "really quite comical."

Deaths

Meliton G. Montelongo
Meliton G. Montelongo, 70, Big Spring, died Monday, Aug. 21, 1989 in a local hospital.

Rosary will be at 8 p.m. Wednesday in Nalley-Pickle & Welch Rosewood Chapel. Services will be at 10 a.m. Thursday at Sacred Heart Catholic Church with Rev. James Delaney, pastor, officiating. Graveside military honors will be in Mt. Olive Memorial Park under the direction of Nalley-Pickle & Welch Funeral Home.

MELITON MONTELONGO

He was born March 10, 1919 in Comal County. He was a member of Sacred Heart Catholic Church. He served in the Army Air Corps during World War II. He came to Big Spring as a child with his parents in 1930. He was a retired chef and had worked for 36 years before retiring in 1985.

Survivors include three sons: Meliton R. Jr., Dallas; Juan G., Big Spring; and Cecil Gamboa, Torrance, Calif.; one daughter, Manuela Juarez Bejarani, Midland; one step-daughter, Loraine Martinez, Tucson, Ariz.; two sisters: Paula Asuncion, Watsonville, Calif.; and Bernarda Oroscio, Gilroy, Calif.; eight grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

He was preceded in death by two daughters: Eulalia and Eulalia, by his parents, six sisters and two brothers.

Pallbearers will be Willie Rangel, Meliton Rangel, Mark Rangel, Juan Rangel, Henry Montelongo and Alfred Diaz.

Taking a giant step backward

Big Spring city council took a giant step backward Tuesday night.

Despite repeated calls for the council to move the city forward, council members voted by a 4-3 margin for a less than 3 percent tax increase — not even enough to maintain current city services.

No one likes to pay more taxes.

Some businessmen say that marginal businesses will fold and others would have to increase prices to survive.

Other people tell us that homeowners can't afford to shoulder any more of the burden.

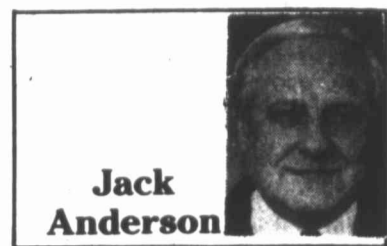

But it takes money to run a city — and run it effectively. Businesses can't survive without proper police and fire protection; homeowners can't afford not to have good streets and properly maintained water and sewage lines.

Council members were presenting a recommended $16.5 million budget to the public during the hearing Tuesday. The proposed budget, which worked on the premise of an 8 percent increase in the tax rate, featured more than $1 million in cuts from the original proposal presented by city officials.

But even that increase probably wasn't enough.

Here's what city officials say adopting that 3 percent tax increase, rather than a more realistic figure, will mean:

- We will not be able to maintain current levels of services in all the major departments of city.
- There will be a possible reduction of city employees.
- It will force increased maintenance costs on city equipment, i.e. dump trucks, police cars, fleet cars.
- There is a possibility that the low tax increase could create problems with plans to meet standards set forth by the Environmental Protection Agency, Texas Water Commission and health department.
- City policemen won't be getting any new police cars (another engine blew on an old one last week) and the fire department won't be getting a new set of jaws of life, or coats and boots that meet fire standards.
- Police cannot control crime without the proper equipment and communications to do it.
- Firemen cannot effectively fight fires with ragged gloves and hoses that are worn and tattered.
- City workers cannot be expected to do skilled jobs for substandard wages.
- Money for flood control at Bealls Creek cannot be put off year after year without finally catching up with us. Water lines, streets and sewage facilities can only be patched so many times before they fall apart.
- There are 197 miles of water lines and 150 miles of streets in Big Spring. They have to be maintained whether there is 30,000 people in the city or 20,000 living here.
- City Manager Hal Boyd says that for each dollar of monies deferred to repair streets, it will cost Big Spring $5 in the future.
- What the city council showed Tuesday night is that they have learned nothing from the mistakes of the past.
- You cannot cure something that needs major surgery with a bandaid approach.
- That's exactly the kind of approach approved by four city council members.
- Tuesday, the council had a chance to prove they could do what they were elected to do — lead us boldly into the future.
- Instead they have left us teetering on the edge of uncertainty.

Cosmonauts hailed as heroes

By JACK ANDERSON and DALE VAN ATTA

STAR CITY, U.S.S.R. — There is a mystical aura about this city, which is as much a shrine to past cosmonauts as it is a training center for future space travelers. It is a sealed-off monastery for these gods of the Soviet Union. They fly rockets for a country that has trouble making household appliances work.

Population is a world problem

By LEA WHITEHEAD
Staff Writer

Mankind's customs, traditions and social behavior continue to evolve in response to changes occurring in his environment.

Even the meaning of the word "environment" has evolved; now when we use the term we are most apt to think of the world environment. Our concerns must go beyond our neighborhood or our community or our country; whatever happens across the world may have an effect on each of us.

The evolution — or changes — that take place often cause upheaval, hostility, pain and even violence. In our own country, in relatively recent years, that was great public resistance to giving women the right to vote and in granting blacks the rights due them as American citizens.

It seems to be human nature to resist change; we all want things to be the way they were. But the question must be: should we go back?

A case in point is the current controversy over abortion. The widespread demand for abortion, it seems to me, is a painful response to a changing social structure which we have somehow failed to manage.

If our respected institutions — our government, schools and churches — would support responsible control of our sexuality, we could practically abolish the need for abortion.

The Rev. George A. Stallings, a black American Catholic priest who wants reforms in the church, calls for the Vatican to relax its doctrine on birth control. The church refuses to condone birth control, he says, yet it does not come forth to help the child born in-population is doubling every decade, outstripping economic growth and decreasing the per capita income. According to the "Blueprint for the Environment," prepared for President Bush by the environmental community, "We have begun to strain the limits of global life support systems — our oceans, farmland, forests and wetlands."

Around the rim

Environmental groups have suggested that President Bush adopt a U. S. population policy. Remember, each child born — no matter in what part of the world — will need food, breathe air, wear clothing, live in a home, ride in a car, all of which must come from the world's overburdened resources.

In addition to the basic problems of feeding and sheltering the growing numbers, the world's wildlife is pushed to extinction, rivers and oceans are polluted, and waste accumulates at an astonishing rate. (Some plastics, in disposable diapers ironically, take 1,500 years to decompose.) What kind of existence will these future generations have?

The world can no longer afford to "go forth and multiply" with scant regard for the consequences. It's time international political, religious and educational leaders come to grips with a social problem that must be put above religious dogma, cultural barriers and politics.

Every baby born in the world deserves a chance for a productive life; every adult has the responsibility to take care of the world in his lifetime.

The issues of birth control, abortion rights, sex education in the schools, in the world community are only the tip of the iceberg.

The city of 4,500 is an hour's drive northeast of Moscow. The training center in Star City is named after Yuri Gagarin, first man in space. He died in a MiG-15 test in 1968 and has since been all but deified in the Soviet Union. He has been buried in the Kremlin Wall and can boast more busts and statues than any Soviet but Lenin.

A large statue of Gagarin looms over the entrance to the restricted area. A shrine to him fills one room in a temporary museum — a replica of Gagarin's office exactly as it was when his plane crashed at 10:41 a.m. on March 22, 1968.

To this place come all the cosmonauts to reflect before a launch. They will often salute Gagarin's empty office chair. (The entire "Salyut" space station program was named as a "salute" to Gagarin.) When they return from space missions, the cosmonauts come back to "report" to Gagarin, and record some of the achievements in a book kept there.

We spoke with one of the more distinguished of approximately 50 cosmonauts here, Alexander Serebrov, who will soon be sent on his third trip into space, this time for a six-month stint. He is 45 and blessed with matinee-idol looks.

For Serebrov and other cosmonauts, the space program carries an aura of spiritualism. He remembers the day of the U.S. moon walk 20 years ago as the day a rare flower bloomed:

"I was coming back from the Crimea, where we track satellites and have our communications center. It's down south. I was actually relaxing there. There, in the garden — which was very surprising — for the second time in one year a white acacia all of a sudden blossomed on that day. I did not invent this story. It is a real fact."

The cosmonauts have reason to be superstitious and other-worldly about space. The Soviets have had spectacular successes — the first man in space, the first space walk and thousands more hours logged in space than the United States.

But they have also had some spectacular failures and near misses. Serebrov knows about some of them, and has dodged the bullet more than once. He doesn't talk about it, but U.S. intelligence sources do.

His first flight was in August 1982, aboard the Soyuz T-7. He was rushed into training because the Soviets believed they needed him to help a woman, Svetlana Savitskaya, on her first space trip. The Soviets had flown the first woman in space, in 1963, but had not sent up another one after her. They hurried Savitskaya through the program to upstage America's first woman in space, Sally Ride, the following June.

Then came the aborted April 1983 Soyuz T-8 mission with Serebrov, Commander Vladimir Titov and flight engineer Gennadi Strekalov.

All went well until they approached the Salyut space station. The station's radar antenna, which calculates distance and speed for docking, failed to deploy. Titov and the crew decided to try the nearly impossible task of manual docking, using only a viewfinder. When the ship was less than 200 feet from the station, Titov quickly pulled up, knowing they were going too fast and would crash. The rocket was ordered to return to Earth without docking at the station.

The same crew was then scheduled to launch six months later with the necessary equipment to dock. But Serebrov was bumped to make room for more fuel. As Titov and Strekalov sat on the launch pad in their capsule atop 300 tons of liquid fuel on Sept. 27, 1983, the rocket exploded underneath. The escape system lifted the capsule up with tremendous force — more than 10 times the force of gravity, throwing it several thousand feet in seconds. It rolled out of its casing like a tennis ball from a tin can and parachuted to earth three miles away from the launch pad.

Chamber gets high marks

To the editor:

I would like to inform the citizens and businesses of Big Spring about a very special group of people in our community. I had the following experience with them and would like to share that experience at this time.

I brought two associates of Hospitality Industry Specialists from out of Dallas to the Chamber of Commerce unannounced to visit with Mr. Wayne Moore, the Executive Vice-President of the Chamber. He was very gracious of his time to us; he let us walk into his office with no waiting. He was very informative and most helpful with his answers.

Mr. Moore seemed anxious to help us in any way possible. Mr. Moore's attitude and manner was quite refreshing to my two friends who had come from Dallas to find out about Big Spring.

I might say that Mr. Moore's manner is commonplace with all of the Chamber staff. They are for our city and for you, the citizens, as well as the business man or woman. So I say, "hat's off" to the Chamber and its staff. My two friends, Mr. Michael Chowales and Mr. Hank Walpert have the same sentiments also.

I would like to ask any businesses who are not chamber members to please examine their status as to whether they can join the winning team of Mr. Wayne Moore and his excellent staff and the other businesses that are striving to make Big Spring number one in the area, as "Crossroads Country."

The women players raise a racket

By LEWIS GRIZZARD

I know an important issue when I see one, and if making a rule that men can't play tennis with their shirts off on public courts isn't something to get fired up about, John McEnroe is a choirboy and Martina Navratilova doesn't look like Hulk Hogan's sister.

Here's what has happened in Atlanta.

The city recently turned over several of its tennis facilities to a private tennis management company.

Said company promptly said male players cannot play shirtless on the courts.

Why?

"Women players have complained," said a company spokesman.

My tennis career ended four years ago after 16 years of mediocre, yet fulfilling, play because I could no longer brush my teeth with my right arm, much less serve a tennis ball.

Tennis can take a terrible toll on the body.

I'm not certain how many sets of tennis I played, but I am certain most of them I played without a shirt.

I was a regular at a city-run facility, the Bitsy Grant Tennis Center.

Few men played with a shirt on at Bitsy because Bitsy himself, a former world-class player, didn't play in his.

You couldn't go out and tell the late, great Bitsy Grant to put on his shirt, because the place was named after him.

And Bitsy, stubborn as he was, wouldn't have worn his shirt if ordered to do so in the first place.

Let me assure you playing tennis without a shirt is beneficial.

It's a great way to get a tan without having to go to some beach and lie around on the sand which gets in your swimsuit and makes you terribly uncomfortable.

And speaking of uncomfortable, both men and women athletes will tell you of a horrible condition known as nipple burn, and I'm being serious here.

Your tennis shirt, after a set or two, becomes drenched in perspiration and turns heavy and abrasive and rubs against your nipples, and the resulting pain is indescribable.

Women athletes can overcome this by wearing a bra or using tape for protection.

Men don't have such options.

If a man puts on a bra, he might get to the finals in the women's club championship, but male players likely would avoid him. And as far as the tape thing goes, there's the matter of chest hair.

And women complain about seeing a man shirtless on a tennis court?

Do they complain when men go shirtless at the beach? Can't I walk through a city park without wearing a shirt and catch no grief? Can't I jog along city streets shirtless and offend no one?

And what about this? Can't Jim Palmer pose with nothing on but his underpants on giant billboards without women complaining? Of course he can, and now we are at the bottom of all this.

If all men had bodies like Jim Palmer, women wouldn't care if we played tennis without our shirts.

But most women don't have legs like Kim Basinger, either. So let's see how they like playing tennis in long pants.

Your serve.

Tainted water linked to deaths

DENVER (AP) — Tainted drinking water has been linked to the cancer deaths of two children and the health problems of six others, according to two experts cited in a lawsuit against a defense contractor and the Denver Water Board.

The lawsuit, filed in U.S. District Court on behalf of several families in the Friendly Hills subdivision, claims that pollutants from Martin Marietta Corp.'s aerospace plant at Waterton contaminated their water supply.

The families say the Water Board knew about the contaminated water long before it closed its Kassler treatment facility, located downstream from the aerospace plant. It was closed in December 1985 because of tainted water.

Martin Marietta and the water board deny the allegations. The Environmental Protection Agency and the state Health Department say there is no evidence to link the deaths and disease with Martin Marietta or the Kassler plant.

S&L bailout may not be enough

WASHINGTON (AP) — The $50 billion savings and loan bailout signed by President Bush this month probably isn't large enough, federal regulators are indicating after a look at new figures on the industry's health.

The nation's 2,934 S&Ls lost $3.7 billion in the April-June quarter, up from $3.5 billion in the first three months of the year, the Office of Thrift Supervision said Tuesday. It was the biggest loss since the record $4.1 billion loss in the second quarter of 1988.

The latest discouraging report came just two weeks after President Bush signed legislation authorizing $50 billion to close or sell failed institutions over the next 26 months.

During the six months leading up to the bill's approval, administration officials repeatedly said they believed $50 billion would be adequate, although they couldn't guarantee it.

Now, regulators' statements indicate that private analysts probably are right in predicting the administration will have to come back to Congress for more money.

Newton adrift, friend says

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Huey P. Newton, the charismatic co-founder of the Black Panther Party, was adrift without a battle to fight in his final days, a close friend said.

Newton's bullet-riddled body was found before dawn Tuesday in a neighborhood known for drug violence. Police had no suspects and no motive for the slaying, said Lt. Mike Sims.

Newton, 47, was killed in the neighborhood where he began organizing blacks more than 20 years ago, several miles from his present home. About 200 mourners marched Tuesday night at the scene of the shooting, some chanting, cheering, carrying candles and holding their fists in the black power salute.

"There are those who are going to try and make him look like a gangster but we know he was a brother. We know he was a fighter," said the Rev. Cecil Williams of San Francisco, one of the participants.

Fred Hiestand, a Sacramento

VILNIUS, Lithuania — A crowd assembles for a mass rally in Nagorni Park Tuesday, marking the 50th anniversary of the Soviet-German pact which divided Eastern Europe in 1939.

Thousands ready for human chain

TALLINN, U.S.S.R. (AP) — Thousands of people rallied in Lithuania to mark the 50th anniversary of the pact that turned the Baltic nations into Soviet republics, and a million more prepared to link arms today in protest.

Planners say up to 1.5 million people were to join hands along a 370-mile route from the Gulf of Finland to Vilnius to mark the Aug. 23, 1939, anniversary of the non-aggression treaty between Josef Stalin and Adolf Hitler.

Eight days after the signing, Adolf Hitler attacked Poland and started World War II.

About 50,000 people gathered Tuesday in Vilnius, the Lithuanian capital, to mourn the Soviet takeover. Hundreds gathered again today with signs denouncing the Soviet Union as imperialist and paraded effigies of Hitler and Stalin.

Leaders of the Lithuanian People's Front activist group in Vilnius today approved their most explicit demand for independence. About 170 leaders of the group voted to call for "the creation of an independent democratic Lithuanian republic not under the power of the Soviet Union." The vote followed criticism today in the Communist Party daily Pravda, which accused People's Front leaders of distorting history and seeking full secession from the Soviet Union.

Activists Tuesday in Riga, Latvia, demanded that Moscow and the world recognize the absorption of the Baltic lands by the Soviet Union was a crime carried out by Stalin and Hitler.

In the Estonian capital, Tallinn, announcements today on the official radio told participants how to get to their spots on the human chain, and organizers scheduled news conferences, meetings and concerts.

"The Estonian people are very united and the mood is very good," said Ulo Kaevats, a member of the Estonian People's Front, one of the grass-roots groups that organized the event. The protests "are dedicated to victory over the evil that the pact and the Soviet occupation begat," he said.

Events marking the pact also were scheduled in other regions of the western Soviet Union that were absorbed under the secret pact.

Hijackers arrested, none hurt

PARIS (AP) — An Air France plane with 115 people aboard was commandeered today after it took off from Paris, but the hijackers were arrested shortly after the plane landed in Algeria, the airline said.

An Air France spokeswoman, speaking on condition of anonymity, said the hijacking ended at 3:25 p.m. (10:25 a.m. EDT), barely an hour after the plane landed in Algiers. She said the 102 passengers and 13 members of the crew were unharmed.

The official Algerian news agency, APS, quoted an unidentified source as saying the hijacker or hijackers had demanded that an international conference on the war in Lebanon be convened.

The Air France spokeswoman said she could not confirm the reported demand.

Police arrest five suspects

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — Police arrested five men suspected in the assassination of Luis Carlos Galan, the presidential hopeful whose slaying sparked a government crackdown on Colombia's notorious drug traffickers.

Also Tuesday, police said they had started proceedings to extradite the reputed finance chief of the Medellin drug cartel to the United States, where he faces conspiracy and drug trafficking charges. The arrests in Galan's slaying created additional security headaches for a nation under a years-old campaign of terror by drug traffickers and their hired hitmen.

The arrests in downtown Bogota appear to reflect an unusual efficiency on the part of security forces. Never before in a major drug-related assassination had police announced key arrests with such speed. In many cases no arrests were ever made.

Conservationists claim success

ROME (AP) — From Tahitian tree snails to Arabian antelopes, international wildlife conservationists say they are succeeding in saving some of the world's endangered species.

About 200 specialists of the World Conservation Union's Species Survival Commission met in Rome this week to discuss ways of protecting animals threatened by poaching, destruction of habitat and encroachment by man.

The union, based in Gland, Switzerland, groups governments, government agencies and non-governmental organizations such as the Sierra Club.

The three-day Rome meeting, which ended Tuesday, examined the well-known plight of the African elephant, whose numbers have dropped from 1.3 million to 700,000 in the past 10 years because of poaching.

But the experts also discussed the prospects for saving lesser-known species such as the Mediterranean monk seal, Himalayan snow leopard, Florida panther, Javan rhinoceros and Liberian mongoose.

Officials recover more bodies

LONDON (AP) — Thirteen more bodies have been recovered from the River Thames, bringing to 44 the number of people known to have died when a pleasure boat sank after being rammed by a barge, police said today.

Police believe the death toll from Sunday's accident could be as high as 57, meaning 13 people remain missing. Seventy-nine people on board the Marchioness pleasure boat survived.

A spokesman for Scotland Yard said 13 bodies were recovered from the river overnight and early today in a variety of locations, some carried miles from the accident scene by strong tides.

Autopsies were being performed.

The 90-ton Marchioness, carrying revelers on a late-night party cruise, sank after being hit from behind by the 1,475-ton dredger Bowbelle near Southwark Bridge in central London.

CHARLOTTE, N.C. — Michael Williams, of Charlotte, is shown by his vending truck near the federal building after the start of jury selection in the Jim Bakker trial. Williams, who bought his parents lifetime memberships in PTL, hopes to make back a few of the dollars he spent on PTL by selling food to people attending the trial.

Philadelphia police are best dressed

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The city's streets may be grubby, but the police officers who patrol them have been named best-dressed in the nation.

Leaders of the National Association of Uniform Manufacturers and Distributors, a New York-based trade association, proclaimed Philadelphia police the best in uniform among 45 large cities.

Runners-up were Louisville, Ky., and Birmingham, Ala. Denver won the award last year, but didn't enter this time.

Police Commissioner Willie L. Williams, wearing a gray suit, accepted a plaque Wednesday from Richard Bistrong, who heads the trade association's police committee.

"The award is to the men and women," Williams said. "In spite of the criticism, and at times the adverse conditions they have to work under, the stresses, they present an outstanding appearance."

with representatives from the city, chamber of commerce and industrial foundation, recently delivered a proposal to the Texas Department of Corrections in hopes of bringing a 2,250-inmate and/or 1,000-inmate facility to the Howard County. Selection of sites for the state facilities, of which the county is one of 46 possible locations, could come in November.

Coffee said after meeting with officials from PPAL Tuesday he is "very much encouraged" about the prospects for attracting the private prison business to Howard County. Another meeting with PPAL officials may be scheduled for Saturday for a specially-called commissioners court, he said.

Coffee said he is somewhat concerned about the time factor with the PPAL proposal.

"I wish we had more time," he said. "We need sufficient time to analyze the contract. We need to know what all the obligations to the county are."

PPAL officials have indicated it will be more difficult for the county and private prison to make a contract after Texas House Bill 1992 takes effect Aug. 28, Coffee said.

Other factors in Big Spring's favor, Mertz said, is the town's size, location and atmosphere. "The interest in Big Spring toward us is certainly a strong selling point," he added.

But the board members noted that they are far from deciding on expansion. Ryther described the visit as a "look-see" into the possibility of expansion, and Flesher stressed that the board was under no timetable to decide on the matter.

"We're not committed at all (on expansion)," Mertz said. Other factors also have to be considered, they said.

"The general marketability of the area is important; can we fill the housing," Jeff Shaddock, manager of the Crowley retirement village, said.

But Shaddock added that if the board does decide on expansion,

Tight jobless benefits a problem in recession

WASHINGTON — Less than one in five unemployed Texas workers received jobless benefits in 1988, reflecting tightened eligibility rules that could cause trouble in a recession, according to a new report.

The report for the Center for Budget and Policy Priorities, a non-partisan think tank that studies policies affecting the poor, said Texas ranked 47th nationally based on the percentage of its unemployed who received benefits.

Just 19.4 percent of Texas jobless received benefits last year, the report said, leaving 488,100 unemployed without benefits.

That was a 4.6 percent decline in the percentage of unemployed Texas workers receiving benefits compared to 1979, the study said.

Nationally, the report said, just 31.5 percent of the 6.7 million Americans unemployed received jobless benefits last year, a record low since the inception of the program. In contrast, 42.1 percent of the 6.1 million unemployed received benefits in 1979.

"The consistently low level of coverage over the last five years is unparalleled in the history of the unemployment insurance program," said Isaac Shapiro, co-author of "Unprotected: Unemployment and Jobless Workers in 1988."

The study blamed the dramatic drop in the percentage of unemployed receiving unemployment pay on state and federal changes governing benefits and changes in the nature of unemployment.

"During the 1980s," the authors wrote, "many states passed laws that restricted their... systems."

House Bill 1992 affects the ability of counties to make contracts with the Texas Department of Corrections and private entities, a spokesperson with the House legislative research library said today.

"After the 28th it becomes more difficult, there's more red tape," Coffee said. The purpose of Saturday's meeting will be to try to beat that deadline, if the commissioners want to attract the private prison.

Coffee said he, County Attorney Hardy Wilkerson and lawyer Tim Yeats will look into the legal implications of the contract before Saturday's meeting with the private prisons group.

The facility proposed by PPAL is a 1,025-bed modular complex which would be used to hold county, state and federal prisoners. As many as 809 new jobs could be created if the facility located here, according to information published by PPAL.

Coffee said the 809 job figure does not mean that many people would be employed at the facility itself, but said other jobs in the service industry would be created because of the prison.

According to PPAL, within the first five years of the contract, two different complexes: a 525-bed work camp and a 500-bed county jail, would be constructed. The complexes would hold county, state and federal inmates, whose holding costs would be paid by the responsible agencies.

Also within the first five years, inmates would take training and begin manufacturing jail and prison components for future facilities. Inmates could eventually earn as much as $5.85 for their labor, according to PPAL information.

After the 15th year of operation, the county would officially receive formal title to the complex, according to PPAL information. The facility reportedly has a 50 year life expectancy.

Howard County's other proposal for a private prison, from CCI, is for a 600-bed work camp for TDC inmates with two years or less before they are eligible for parole, Coffee said. The facility would be sort a work farm, and inmates could make up to $2.70 an hour.

The facility would be built and operating in a shorter period of time than the PPAL proposal. It would employ 107 people, Coffee said.

Oil resources estimate reduced

WASHINGTON (AP) — Undiscovered U.S. oil supplies are far smaller than estimated early in this decade, although prospects in Alaska have brightened, the Interior Department says.

A department report released Friday said 49 billion barrels of crude oil outside known fields could, if found, be developed with existing technology.

At the current price of $18 a barrel, however, only two-thirds of the total would be economic to produce, it said.

In its most recent previous estimate in 1981, the department estimated 83 billion barrels of undiscovered crude. One barrel equals 42 gallons.

Throughout the decade, the amount of known U.S. oil reserves has held steady at about 30 billion barrels and production has remained near 3 billion barrels yearly.

Thus, the new estimate of undiscovered resources means the life expectancy of all U.S. oil resources — except unconventional sources such as oil shales and tar sands — has dropped to 26 years. The 1981 figures implied a life expectancy of 37 years.

"The change is significant," said Gary Hill, chief of the U.S. Geological Survey's office of energy and marine biology. The survey produced the report in collaboration with the Interior Department's Minerals Management Service.

A key reason for the lower estimate of undiscovered oil resources, the report said, is the failure in recent years of drilling prospects once thought to be promising.

"The massive exploration effort of industry of the late 1970s and early 1980s simply did not confirm some of the geological expectations," the report said.

Hill said in an interview that some of the most significant drilling disappointments were in the Overthrust Belt in the Rocky Mountain area and off the Atlantic Coast.

Although prospects have dimmed in some offshore Alaska areas, that state overall has become the most promising development area for oil in the United States, the report said.

The report estimated 13.2 billion barrels of oil are recoverable in Alaska, compared with a 1981 estimate of 6.9 billion barrels. The increase is due largely to new geological data on the Alaska Coastal Plain, the site of the Arctic National Wildlife Refuge. Industry is trying to persuade Congress to open the refuge to oil exploration.

The report said the United States has an estimated 399 trillion cubic feet of undiscovered natural gas, down from the 1981 estimate of 594 trillion cubic feet.

In response to the report, Deputy Energy Secretary Henson Moore said new technologies, such as horizontal drilling, will significantly increase the amount of oil and gas that eventually can be developed.

Fewer disabled are working

WASHINGTON (AP) — Disabled Americans are less likely to hold jobs now than they were earlier this decade, and those who do work have lost earning power, the Census Bureau reported Tuesday.

The share of disabled men who work full time dropped from 29.8 percent in 1981 to 23.4 percent last year, the report said. Disabled women had a slight increase in the same period, from 11.4 percent to 13.1 percent working full time.

Earnings of both disabled men and women declined in relation to all workers during the 1980s, the Bureau reported.

The earnings of disabled men fell from 77 percent of what all workers brought home to 64 percent, while for women the rate fell from 69 percent to 62 percent.

The figures came as no surprise to Paul Hippolitus, director of plans, projects and services for the President's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped.

Safe foods to go: Hot weather precautions

Many of us are concerned about the safety of portable meals in warm weather. While it's true that food safety cannot be taken for granted, there are certain precautions that can help diminish cause for concern.

Food safety really begins well in advance of the picnic or covered dish dinner, when foods are being purchased and prepared. Always purchase the freshest ingredients and pay careful attention to "sell-by" and expiration dates in addition to important storage and handling information found on the package. Dairy products and other perishables should be purchased just before checking out at the supermarket, then taken home immediately and refrigerated until they're used in a recipe or packed for the picnic.

Use an insulated container for foods that need to be kept cold. Pack the container with foods that are already cold, taken straight from the refrigerator.

After eating, discard any perishable leftovers, and re-pack non-perishable foods for the trip home.

The following recipes are good for taking away from home.

CITRUS GINGER DIP

Yield: 2 cups
1 cup dairy sour cream
1/2 cup vanilla lowfat yogurt
3 T finely chopped fresh ginger
Fresh fruits of the season — strawberries, pineapple, cantaloupe, honeydew melon

Creamed smoked turkey salad can be prepared at home, chilled, then packed cold into an insulated container to take to a picnic or covered dish dinner.

Combine all ingredients except fruit; mix well. Refrigerate, covered, 1 to 2 hours to allow flavors to blend. Serve with fruit as "dippers."

CREAMY SMOKED TURKEY SALAD

Yield: 7 cups
Dressing

1 pkg. (3 oz.) cream cheese, softened
1/4 cup dairy sour cream
2 T honey
5 t Dijon-style prepared mustard
1 T minced green onion
1 1/2 t dried basil OR 1 T chopped fresh basil
1/8 t each: garlic powder, salt, pepper

Salad
3 cups cubed smoke turkey breast (about 1 lb.)
2 cups cooked or raw broccoli florets
1 cup julienne red bell pepper
1 can (8 oz.) sliced water chestnuts, drained
For dressing, combine all ingredients; mix well. For salad, place all ingredients in large mixing bowl. Gently toss with dressing. Refrigerate, covered, 1 to 2 hours to allow flavors to blend.

PEPPER JACK SURPRISE MUFFINS

Yield: 9
1 box (8 1/2 oz.) corn muffin mix
1 cup (4 oz.) shredded Monterey Jack cheese with mild or hot peppers
1/4 t pepper
13 cup milk
1 egg
9 bite-size marinated artichoke pieces, well drained
Preheat oven to 400 degrees. Combine corn muffin mix, cheese and pepper in large mixing bowl. Stir in milk and egg just until all dry ingredients are moistened. Spoon half of batter in 9 well-buttered or paper-cup lined 2 3/4 inch muffin cups. Place 1 artichoke piece on top of batter in each cup. Top with remaining batter. Bake 18 to 20 minutes or until golden. Cool on wire rack 10 minutes. Remove from pan and cool completely.

Note: Muffins may be placed in airtight plastic container and frozen up to 2 weeks. Thaw, in container, at room temperature.

U.S.D.A vegetable soup is low in sodium

The following recipe is provided by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. The department is encouraging Americans to count calories, choose low-sodium foods, and use only small amounts of high-fat foods in their daily diets.

VEGETABLE SOUP

1 cup potatoes, diced
1 cup cabbage, chopped
1/2 cup onion, chopped
1/2 cup celery, diced
1/2 cup carrots, sliced
1/2 cup frozen green beans
1/4 teaspoon oregano leaves
1/4 teaspoon marjoram leaves
1/4 teaspoon salt

1 bay leaf
Dash pepper
2 cups water
One 8-ounce can tomatoes (1 cup)

Place all ingredients except tomatoes in a saucepan. Cover and boil gently for 10 minutes. Break up one 8-ounce can of tomatoes; add to vegetable mixture. Continue cooking until vegetables are tender, about 20 minutes. Remove bay leaf before serving. Makes 4 servings.

Simple summer supper

By PAPA JOE REED SR.

Today I want to talk with you about a Tuna Salad. Now don't jump to conclusions. I know what most of you are thinking. The same old Tuna salad. Not so, dear friends. The Tuna Salad we are going to fix today is entirely different. This salad makes for a light and easy supper. I know you'll like it. The name is pretty fancy, but it's easy to fix. You will need the following for:

- TUNA AND WHITE-BEAN SALAD IN TOMATO SHELLS
 - Tomatoes (4-medium-ripe)
 - Oil (1/4 cup)
 - Vinegar (2 tablespoons-red wine)
 - Garlic (2 cloves-minced)
 - Oregano (1/2 teaspoon)
 - Salt and Pepper to taste
 - White Kidney Beans (1 can-20 oz.-drained)
 - Tuna (1 can-drained-broken in small pieces)
 - Onion (1 red-small-sliced thin)
 - Lettuce leaves (optional)
- First, you cut a thin slice off the top of each tomato. Scoop out the pulp (reserving it) leaving a sturdy shell. Drain the shells upside down on a paper towel. Chop the pulp coarse, and reserve. Now in a large bowl, mix well the oil, vinegar, garlic, oregano, salt and pepper. Add the chopped tomato pulp, beans, tuna and onion. Toss well to get a good even coat. Spoon into tomato shells and serve chilled on lettuce leaves. Garnish with pickles or olives or cheese strips. Be creative. Its not only delightful to the eye, its delectable to the palate.
- Now for a dessert to go with this light salad. Tonight, we will have a pudding that tastes rich, but never fear, it only has about 142 calories per serving. You will need the following for:

- DATE FLUFF
- Gelatin (1 envelope-unflavored)
- Skim Milk (1 1/2 cups)
- Egg Yolks (2)
- Sugar (2 tablespoons)
- Peanut butter (Creamy-1 tablespoon)
- Dates (1/2 cup-pitted-snipped)
- Vanilla (1/2 teaspoon)
- Egg Whites (2)
- Pitted Dates-Snipped-Optional

In a saucepan sprinkle the gelatin over milk; stir over medium heat until gelatin is dissolved. Now slowly stir half of the hot mixture into the beaten egg yolks and return all to the saucepan. Cook and stir over medium heat for 1 to 2 minutes or till slightly thickened. Remove from heat. Now blend in the sugar and peanut butter. Stir in the 13 cup of dates and vanilla. Chill till partly set.

Next beat the egg whites to stiff peaks and fold into the gelatin mixture. Spoon the mixture into individual dessert glasses or 6 ounce custard cups. Chill till firm. You can garnish this with snipped dates if you desire. Sure makes it look pretty. There you have it. A delicious Date Fluff Pudding to go with a delicious salad. Together, they make a terrific summer supper.

Papa Joe's Kitchen Tips: If you'll keep a powder puff in the flour canister, it sure comes in handy when you are dusting flour onto the rolling pin or pastry board.

For a more healthful diet

By NANCY BYAL Better Homes and Gardens Magazine

There's one simple step toward a more healthful diet that we can all make: eat five servings of fruits and vegetables each day.

BENEFITS
• Eating plenty of low-fat, high-fiber fruits and vegetables may reduce the risk of cancer, heart disease, high blood pressure and diabetes.

• Fruits and vegetables are rich sources of vitamin A and vitamin C. These vitamins are linked to reduced cancer risk.

• Fruits and vegetables contain no cholesterol.

• Fruits and vegetables are naturally low in calories and sodium.

• Some fruits and vegetables are good sources of minerals, including potassium and calcium.

WHAT'S A SERVING?

- 1/2 cup of fruit or cooked vegetable.
- 1/2 cup fruit or vegetable juice.
- 1 cup leafy vegetable.
- 1/4 cup dried fruit.
- 1 small whole apple, orange or banana.

AIM FOR VARIETY

• Eat at least one vitamin-A-rich selection a day (greens, carrots).

• Eat at least one vitamin-C-rich selection each day (citrus fruit, broccoli, Brussels sprouts, green pepper).

• Eat at least one high-fiber selection a day (prunes, dried peas, dried beans).

• Eat a cruciferous vegetable several times each week (broccoli, cauliflower, cabbage, mustard greens, kale, turnips).

PESTICIDE RESIDUE CONCERNS

Sampling and testing conducted by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration shows that pesticide residues in fruits and vegetables do not pose a health hazard. Nevertheless, if you wish to go a step further toward reducing dietary exposure to pesticides, follow this advice from the Environmental Protection Agency:

- Thoroughly rinse and scrub fruits and vegetables — with a brush, when possible. Rinse with plain water. Do not wash foods with soap; soap residues may be difficult to remove. Soap is not intended for consumption.
- Peel produce, if appropriate, although fiber and some nutrients will be peeled away.
- Discard outer leaves of leafy vegetables such as lettuce and cabbage.

MALONE and HOGAN CLINIC IS PLEASED TO ANNOUNCE

The opening of its all new MAMMOGRAPHY DEPARTMENT.

A new, high detail screen-film mammographic unit is now available. We believe that this state of the art unit offers the best technology available for early breast cancer detection. No longer is it necessary to go out of town or to use a mobile unit where the films are not immediately available, and reports are given in a less than desirable manner.

Now, your local doctor will have access to both the films and the report. The cost of this screening examination is only $50.00.

Any Malone and Hogan physician's office can help you arrange for your screening mammogram. You may want to bring a friend or give a mammogram as a gift to someone you love.

Maize house

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. — Grand Rapids artist Kaleb Brennan stands within his Maize House which he and poet Dale Hasenick constructed in order to bring about an awareness of the importance of corn in American life. The rows of corn, which stand in the front yard on a city street, provide a backdrop for such household items as a sewing machine, a stuffed chair and a toilet.

Child's birth deserves best wishes

EDITOR'S NOTE: Abby is off on a two-week vacation, but she left behind some of her favorite letters taken from her best-selling book, "The Best of Dear Abby."

DEAR ABBY: Please tell me what to do when a friend has had an abnormal child (a Mongoloid).

I certainly can't send a card or gift of "congratulations" to someone who has had such a tragedy. Would a message of "sympathy" be more in order? Or should something like this be acknowledged at all? — OKLAHOMAN

DEAR OKLAHOMAN: A child, normal or otherwise, is a child to his mother. Don't differentiate. Send a little gift with your love and best wishes.

DEAR ABBY: You once said, "There are no cold women — only clumsy men." How right you were.

I am a man in my middle 50s. I'm short, balding and slightly overweight, but I have been with plenty of women, and I have yet to find one that's frigid.

I am not saying this to brag, but once I make love to a woman I can't get rid of her. A woman needs to hear that she's desirable, lovable and terrific. It's not so much what I do, it's what I say. A woman needs to hear that she's needed, wanted and loved. If a woman is "frigid," it's because the man is selfish, impatient and doesn't know how to turn her on. — DOING ALL RIGHT

DEAR DOING: You are living proof of what I have long contended. Words are a powerful aphrodisiac. If a woman hears the right things from her lover, he's got it (and her) made.

DEAR ABBY: My husband hates to spend money! I cut my own hair and make my own clothes, and I have to account for every nickel I spend. Meanwhile he has a stack of savings bonds put away that would choke a cow. How do I get some money out of him before we are both called to our final judgment? He says he's saving for a rainy day. FORTY YEARS BITCHED

DEAR BITCHED: Tell him it's raining!

DEAR ABBY: My husband has a terminal illness. The doctor said they don't know how long he'll last. Would it be proper for me to wear a large black picture hat with a wide brim and a black sheer veil over it for his funeral? My friend says veils are worn only with small hats, but I am a large woman and don't look good in small hats. Also, could I wear a black tailored gabardine suit with a green and blue flowered blouse? Or must I wear all black? If I wear all black, would it be all right to wear one large piece of costume jewelry? And if I wore black hose and black gloves, would people think I was overdoing it? PREPARING AHEAD

DEAR PREPARING: Don't go overboard on getting an outfit together — he might live!

DEAR ABBY: I wanted to call up my postmaster and tell him a thing or two because I knew he ate my pension check, but I couldn't find his telephone number in the book. I called information, and that's when I found out he had an unlisted number! That really made me mad, so since I knew where he lived, I drove to his house and told his wife off.

Abby, as a taxpayer, I would like to know why a public servant like a postmaster would have an unlisted telephone number? TAXPAYER

Volleyball, football and a good coed softball team

By STEVE BELVIN
Sports Editor

The start of school is right around the corner, and with it brings West Texas' sport — football. Area schools are getting with it in two-a-day workouts.

But there's also another group of athletes that are preparing for their season. Although it doesn't get the notoriety football gets in these parts, it's still a joy watching a good volleyball team play.

And that just might be what coach Lois Ann McKenzie has in the wings. No, the Lady Steers aren't devastating just yet, but McKenzie, a veteran of volleyball wars, might be just the one who transforms them into a good squad.

Just like the 4-4A football race is predicted to be air-tight, the league volleyball race could have the same format. With league powers like Pecos, Fort Stockton and Andrews losing quite a few players and Big Spring returning five letterwomen, including three starters, the Lady Steers have a chance at the state playoffs.

The Lady Steers lost a good player when junior hitter Amanda Ybarra moved away.

This year's squad will have two frosh. Amber Fannin is a hitter-setter and Cassie Underwood is a hitter.

Big Spring will get a good look at the rest of the district teams this weekend at the Monahans tournament. All district teams except Andrews will be competing in the 17-team tourney.

I recently conducted a poll of 4-4A football coaches to see how they foresaw the district race. I'm not going to say who they tabbed as the preseason favorite because the poll will be in the Herald's football tab Sept. 3.

But I will say the coaches predict a very tight race. I'll tell you a little more . . . they think as least five teams will have a chance for the district crown.

The Associated Press preseason football poll came out recently and Odessa Permian was the only school in this area listed in the top 10.

The AP rated the Panthers second, behind Converse Judson, which lost in the state finals to Dallas Carter last season. Carter, which has had a bundle of problems the last nine months, starts out eighth.

Paris is rated No. 1 in 4A while Navasota is tops in 3A, Groveton in 2A and Munday in A.

Rankin is rated fifth in the Class A poll, compared to eighth in the Harris Poll. Garden City, which is in District 4A with Rankin, is ranked 10th by the Harris Poll.

A Panhandle team, the Wellington Rockets, might just be the smartest football team in the state.

The District 2-2A school has 24 varsity players. Of that 24, 12 are on the A-B honor roll, according to Coach James Williams. In fact, there are six seniors on the team that haven't made a B since elementary school.

Williams' method for classroom success is simple — failing a class: no practice, no practice, no chance to play. Williams added that Wellington's standards are higher than those enforced by the University Interscholastic League.

Now, concerning the Herald's coed softball team: We were off Sunday, but the Sunday before we swept a doubleheader, raising our record to 5-0.

The Herald broke a tight game in the fifth inning, and drummed Energas 18-6. Then the team gave the YMCA a shot at revenge. But this time it wasn't a one-run game. The Herald romped 12-4 in five innings. The game was called because of darkness.

The Herald will be off this weekend because of the wedding of player Larry Valverde and cheerleader Debbie Salazar.

C-City Labor Day golf tourney

COLORADO CITY — The Lone Wolf Creek Golf Course in Colorado City will be the site of a Labor Day Invitational Golf Tournament Sept. 24.

This will be a two-man or two-lady partnership, 54 holes at $160 per team. Each division will be flighted, and there are cash prizes in each flight for the top finishers.

There is also a putting contest scheduled. Entry deadline is Aug. 30. For more information call 728-3403 or 728-5514.

Registration still going on Registration for the Little Football League, for Big Spring, Coahoma and Forsan players in grades 3-6, has been so successful, organizers are extending the deadline. Pee-wee gridders can now register Saturday and Sunday from 1 p.m.-5 p.m. at the American Little League field, located east of Howard College.

Fee is $15 per player who has equipment, $20 for a player that does not have equipment. Each player should bring a birth certificate and must be accompanied by a parent. Equipment will be issued upon registration.

For more information call Paula or Earl Sherrill at 263-0613 or Brenda Gregory at 263-4209.

Steers to scrimmage Dunbar

The Big Spring Steers will scrimmage the Lubbock Dunbar Panthers Friday here at Memorial Stadium.

The junior varsity plays at 5 p.m. Varsity action begins at 7.

Parent-Coaches soccer clinic

The Britannia soccer officials will be giving a coaches-parents soccer clinic Thursday at 6 p.m. at the American Little League football field. There is no charge for the clinic.

Coahoma football tickets

Coahoma season football tickets are on sale at the Coahoma High School administration office.

Cost for package for the home football games is $20. The Bulldogs will be playing five home games this season.

Ryan gets mark; loses game

ARLINGTON (AP) — If only Nolan Ryan's teams were always as good as Nolan Ryan.

Ryan got what he came for Tuesday night, his 5,000th strikeout, but took something else home, too — another tough-luck loss.

In a game that summed up almost an entire career, once again Ryan's accomplishments were tarnished by his club's lack of achievement. He struck out 13 and allowed just five hits, but his Texas Rangers fell to the Oakland Athletics 2-0.

"I'm very disappointed we lost," Ryan said. "I once saw Steve Carlton strike out 19 batters and lose 2-1."

Ryan long ago left Carlton and everyone else behind in the strikeout race. Ryan fanned Rickey Henderson on a 96 mph fastball in the fifth inning for the magic marker and finished the night with 5,007.

Carlton is runnerup with 4,136 and Bert Blyleven ranks second among active pitchers with 3,536.

"I'm relieved it's over, but I wanted us to win the game," Ryan said.

Rangers manager Bobby Valentine said it more strongly.

"I don't know how proud he was of us, being so flat," Valentine said. "I don't have much sweetness from it."

A crowd of 42,869, the second-largest ever at Arlington Stadium, made it special. The fans, including Commissioner Bart

Spikers win season-opener

By STEVE BELVIN
Sports Editor

If the Lady Steers season-opening volleyball game Tuesday afternoon against Bronte is any indication of what's to follow, it's going to be an exciting season.

Coach Lois Ann McKenzie's squad thrilled a fairly large crowd by rallying in the last game to win the match 15-11, 11-15, 15-13. The Lady Steers saved their best for last, rallying from a 12-2 deficit to snatch the win from the Loughorn-Honeys.

The Big Spring rally was started by all people, a freshman. Cassie Underwood was cool and calm at the service line with Big Spring trailing 12-3. Underwood was one of the few Lady Steers that served the ball over the net consistently.

This time she served five straight points, putting Big Spring back in contention, trailing 12-8.

Bronte had taken a big lead behind the fine front-line play of Angela Reyes and Darla Scott. The duo combined for several kills in the early Bronte rally. Bronte's defense contained the Lady Steers front-line play, and each Bronte player served a couple of points, slowly building the lead to 12-3.

That's when Underwood began her service, and Big Spring hitters Tevanya Russell and Dorothy Viasana got hot.

The duo took up where a hot Marta Mathews had left off in the second game. Mathews went cold but Russell and Viasana dominated with their hard spikes.

After a Bronte side out, Russell served a point, cutting the lead to 12-9. Bronte's next attempt to score ended with a Viasana kill. The Bronte lead was soon 12-11 when Mathews served an ace and Ronetta Fryar set Viasana for another kill.

NFL Notes

By The Associated Press

John L. Williams proved last year he could catch a football. His latest catch is a four-year contract that could make him the highest-paid fullback in the NFL.

The 15th player taken in the 1986 college draft, Williams reportedly signed with the Seattle Seahawks for $4 million for four years.

"It all worked out for the best," said Williams, the Seahawks' leading receiver last year while earning a reputation as one of the league's best multi-purpose backs. "Hopefully, over the next four years, I'll be able to say I was part of a Super Bowl team."

Last year, as a rookie first-round draft pick, Williams signed a four-year contract that would have given him $350,000 this year, plus a $25,000 roster bonus.

He held himself out of last week's game against New England and reported three days late to the team's training camp because of dissatisfaction over the progress of negotiations.

"The days I've been practicing, I've dropped three or four balls I wouldn't normally have dropped," Williams said. "I realized that (concern over the negotiations)

Big Spring took the lead with Viasana at the service line. Russell downed a kill and Reyes' kill attempt went out. Big Spring led 13-12.

Bronte tied the game when Fryar and Mathews miscommunicated on Reyes' serve.

The Lady Steers ended their gallant comeback with Jennifer Cranford at the line. Cranford, who made some good sets throughout the match, served the final two points thanks to good front line work. Mathews got the 14th point with a kill, and Russell ended the game by downing a set from Fryar.

McKenzie was beaming after the game. "We were trying a three-hitter offense with Mathews, Russell and Viasana. It worked fair in the scrimmage but you never know how they'll play in a real game," said McKenzie. "I'm real pleased with the way they played, especially our freshmen. It was a freshman that got us going. Missed serves killed us."

Big Spring exhibited a relentless hitting attack. Russell, a sophomore transfer from Pecos, downed 15 of 27 kills. Mathews downed 14 of 28 kill attempts, but Viasana was the most consistent, making good on 10 of 16 attempts. As a team Big Spring downed 38 of 76 attempts for 50 percent. Bronte made good on 24 of 45 kills for 53 percent. Reyes led the way, downing seven of 13 attempts. Scott followed with a six of 12 performance. Teresa Vaughn had five kills.

Thursday the Lady Steers will host Odessa High in Steer Gym. Junior varsity begins at 2 p.m. and varsity follows at 3 p.m.

In a rare moment, McKenzie was almost speechless about her squad's spunky comeback. "What can I say? They went out and did it," she said. "If we had been charging people, they sure would have gotten their money's worth."

was the reason."

Seattle still has three veteran holdouts — offensive tackle Ron Mates and linebackers Darren Comeaux and Tony Woods.

In other training camps:

San Diego Chargers
Jim McMahon will make his first start when the Chargers take on the San Francisco 49ers tonight. That's just five days after San Diego obtained McMahon in a trade from the Chicago Bears.

After taking a crash course on San Diego's offensive system and playing briefly in the 24-7 victory over the Bears Saturday night, he's expected to play the first quarter and perhaps the entire half.

"He's always been a fast learner," Chargers quarterbacks coach Ted Tollner said. "He has a very quick mind for football. He visualizes things well and comprehends well."

Philadelphia Eagles
Reggie White became the highest-paid defensive lineman in the NFL when he signed a four-year contract with the Philadelphia Eagles.

Although terms were not announced, Eagles president Harry Gamble said White's contract exceeds the $1.5 million a year earned by Buffalo Bills lineman Bruce Smith, previously the highest-paid defensive player in the league.

In four NFL seasons, White has 407 tackles and 70 sacks, compared with 245 tackles and 44½ sacks for Smith.

New York Jets
Quarterback Mark Malone has signed with the New York Jets, four days after being released by the San Diego Chargers. Malone, entering his 10th NFL season, will compete with Kyle Mackey for the backup role behind Ken O'Brien, a position that opened when Pat Ryan sprained his left knee in Sunday night's exhibition game against Philadelphia.

"He was available and he was a veteran," Jets coach Joe Walton said. "It won't hurt us to take a look at him. He could be the guy for us, or he couldn't be the guy for us. But we'll keep looking."

Washington Redskins
Offensive tackle Ray Brown underwent arthroscopic surgery on his knee and will be lost to the Washington Redskins for six to eight weeks.

Washington's last exhibition game against the Minnesota Vikings and is listed as questionable for the Miami Dolphins, this week's opponent.

Denver Broncos
Veteran receiver Mark Jackson was expected to return to the Denver training camp today.

Jackson, who walked out Monday to protest the lack of progress on a contract extension, was missing from the Tuesday afternoon practice as well. He was unavailable for comment, but his wife, Ronni, said from the couple's home in Aurora, Colo., that she understood her husband would rejoin workouts today.

Broncos coach Dan Reeves has said repeatedly that the team will not negotiate until the player returns to camp.

Denver reduced its roster to 72 by cutting its 12th-round draft choice, wide receiver John Javis of Howard University.

San Francisco 49ers
Pro Bowl linebacker Charles Haley ended a month-long holdout and became the first of eight San Francisco 49ers starters to report to training camp. Haley agreed to PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates' season has been full of could've, should've and would've, but every so often they flash a glimpse of what might have been.

Expected to be pennant contenders after a second-place finish in 1988, they've been mere pretenders as they've labored along in fifth place in the National League East, barely keeping ahead of the Philadelphia Phillies.

But instead of dwelling on the Pirates' past failures and their 53-71 record, Manager Jim Leyland prefers to look ahead to the future — and that future is Bobby Bonilla, John Smiley and Barry Bonds.

Bonilla went 3-for-4 with a homer and three RBIs, Smiley pitched his eighth complete game of the season and Bonds added three hits as the Pirates beat Houston 4-1 Tuesday night, dropping the Astros 2½ games out of the National League West lead.

Smiley, 10-7, has been tough on a lot of teams this season, but rarely has gotten offensive support. He has a 2.54 ERA, but was winless in four previous starts since July 26 despite allowing just five earned runs in 28 1-3 innings.

Leyland said Smiley easily could be a 14- or 15-game winner by now. Bonilla, who hit a two-run homer in the fifth off Jim Deshaies, 11-7, certainly isn't complaining about the guy who's hitting behind him.

When the Pirates traded Glenn Wilson to Houston last weekend for leadoff hitter Billy Hatcher, they dropped Bonds into his preferred No. 5 spot in the order.

Bonds went 3-for-4, including a run-scoring double in a two-run first inning, as the Pirates ended Houston's four-game winning streak while beating the Astros for just the third time in 10 games. Houston had been 3-0 in Three Rivers Stadium this season.

Glenn Davis spoiled Smiley's bid for his second shutout with a ninth-inning homer, his career record-tying 31st of the season. Davis has homered in all four of the Astros' games in Pittsburgh this season.

Taiwan romps in opener

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP) — Betty Speziale had the best view of all as Taiwan took a powerful first step toward its fourth consecutive Little League World Series title.

Speziale, the first woman ever to umpire a World Series game, drew the assignment at first base for Tuesday's game between Kaohsiung, Taiwan and Dhahran, Saudi Arabia. The Taiwanese sent a parade of runners past her station on the way a 9-4 defeat of the European champion.

Hsu Ming-Lang, a 5-8, 175-pound 12-year-old, hit a grand slam in an eight-run second inning for Kaohsiung, seeking to become the 19th Far East to win the series title in 23 years.

In Tuesday's other game, Chris Drury pitched a four-hitter and Andy Paul hit a solo home run as Trumbull, Conn., champion of the U.S. Eastern Regional, defeated Central champ Davenport, Iowa, 4-3.

"They said the East region was a weak one. We are out to prove that wrong," Trumbull manager Tom Galla said.

Speziale, a 35-year-old payroll clerk and mother of two, said umpiring a Little League World Series was a dream come true.

"It was great," she said outside the 10,000-seat Little League stadium as passersby called out, "Good game, Betty." Several asked for her autograph.

"She did a good job. I was really proud of her," her husband, Mark, said.

Speziale, of Dunkirk, N.Y., made no controversial calls at first base during the game between Taiwan and Saudi Arabia, a team mostly composed of Americans with parents in the oil business.

Little League officials picked Speziale as one of 11 volunteer umpires at the series. She will work at least six games during the tournament, said Frank Rizzo, umpire supervisor.

In Tuesday's second game,

Trumbull took a 4-2 lead in the top of the fifth inning when Paul hit a leadoff home run and Dave Galla, the coach's son, followed with a two-out single and later scored on a bases-loaded walk.

Davenport came back with a run in the bottom of the inning when pinch hitter Mike Rizzo reached on a fielder's choice, advanced on an error and scored on Matt Jacobs' single.

Drury, who struck out six and walked three, retired Davenport in order in the sixth and final inning.

First-round games scheduled today had South champion Tampa, Fla., against Western champion San Pedro, Calif., and Canadian champion Toronto against Latin American champ Maracaibo, Venezuela.

Semifinals will be played Thursday, with the finals on Saturday matching the United States survivor against the foreign champion.

NFL

terms Monday night.

There was no immediate news on the contract progress of the remaining seven holdouts, five of whom play on the defense.

New England Patriots
Tony Eason will see most of the action at quarterback when the Patriots visit Atlanta on Saturday. Coach Raymond Berry said Eason needs more work and will play at least three quarters against the Falcons.

Berry also said running back John Stephens, sidelined for more than three weeks with a knee bruise, will see considerable playing time against Atlanta, but that recently signed No. 1 pick Hart Lee Dykes may not be ready.

Indianapolis Colts
Indianapolis made a pair of deals with Dallas, acquiring offensive tackle Zefross Moss in exchange for an undisclosed draft choice and sending nose tackle Chuck Ehin to the Cowboys, also for an undisclosed pick. The Colts are hurting on the offensive line due to an injury to Kevin Call and Ben Utt's holdout.

Atlanta Falcons

Starting defensive end Mike Gann ended his holdout by agreeing to a four-year contract. Gann, entering his fifth season, has been a starter since his rookie year. He reportedly will receive $2.4 million over the four years.

Coach Marion Campbell said Gann, who worked out Tuesday, is expected to start Saturday night against New England.

The Falcons still have three veteran holdouts — offensive linemen Bill Frahc, John Scully and Wayne Radloff. No. 1 draft choice Deion Sanders, a defensive back, also is unsigned.

Detroit Lions
When holdout kicker Eddie Murray returned, Ali Haji-Sheikh lost his job. Haji-Sheikh, formerly with the Giants, Falcons and Redskins, was cut Tuesday.

Also cut were offensive linemen Steve Baack and Todd Irvin, defensive linemen Tom Baldwin and Derek MacCreedy, and linebackers Byron Hunt and Mike McCray, reducing the roster to 74 players.

Pittsburgh Steelers
They needed four weeks and a day to do it, but the Steelers finally got both of their No. 1 draft picks on the practice field at the same time.

Running back Tim Worley, the seventh overall pick, took part in his first contact work since signing a five-year, $3.05 million contract. Offensive tackle Tom Ricketts re-joined practice after missing more than three weeks with a broken thumb.

The Steelers waived free agent running back Fine Unga, reducing their roster to 74.

New York Giants
Even after a perfect 8-for-8 night against Kansas City, reserve quarterback Jeff Rutledge isn't sure of a job.

In the past, the Giants have kept three quarterbacks, with Rutledge and Jeff Hostetler backing up Phil Simms. But rule changes concerning injured reserve may force Coach Bill Parcells to keep just two quarterbacks.

Rutledge, 31, said Parcells told him he has not made a decision on how many quarterbacks he'll keep.

Second-year quarterback Mike Perez, who missed all of last season with a hip injury, was one of eight players cut by the Giants on Tuesday.

Ryan

Giamatti and Rangers owner George Bush, son of the president, showered Ryan with standing ovations.

And when he finally struck out Henderson, the tribute lasted a full minute. Rookie catcher Chad Kreuter ran the ball out to Ryan and his teammates on the field met at the mound.

As per Ryan's request, the game was not stopped. He doffed his cap and then resumed pitching.

While the crowd was still cheering, Carney Lansford singled and scored when center fielder Cecil Espy dropped Jose Canseco's fly ball for a two-base error. Ryan ended the inning by striking out Ron Hassey and Dave Henderson for the second time each, and got another ovation and handshakes in the dugout while the scoreboard showed his career highlights.

Ryan's strikeout list now includes 1,066 different players. He has fanned 17 Hall of Famers, 43 Most Valuable Players with the addition of Canseco, six father-son combinations and 11 sets of brothers.

Later in the evening, a taped message from President Bush was shown, congratulating Ryan on his "amazing accomplishment."

By then, however, Bob Welch was pitching a pretty good game for Oakland. Welch, 14-7, gave up five hits and struck out a season-high nine in eight innings and Dennis Eckersley finished for his 26th save.

"I thought the situation was great for me. All the focus was on him," Welch said. "I was the least-noticed person in the ballpark."

Ryan, 14-8, struck out 10 batters for the 13th time this season and the 194th of his career. He leads the majors with 232 and surpassed the team record of 225 set by Ferguson Jenkins in 1974.

Ryan pitched his fifth complete game in 25 starts. It was the first time he has lost a complete game since July 1, 1985.

At least he made history his way.

"If somebody had asked me before the game how I wanted to get 5,000, I would have said, 'Swinging on a fastball,'" Ryan said.

He got that, although the loss dropped his career record to 287-261.

"I've lost something off my fastball, but my control has gotten better," he said. "At my age, if I lose my velocity, I'm out of the game."

But not without another record, one that may never be touched.

"If I can accomplish it, who's to say someone else can't come along?" Ryan said. "To get 5,000, though, you'll have to maintain your stuff and stay healthy a long time."

Names in the news

NEW YORK (AP) — Chris Evert, the tennis star who has won more matches and more tournaments than any other player, says she is retiring from serious competition soon and looking forward to having a baby.

"No more 'maybes.' No more 'probablys.' ... My mind is made up. The 1989 U.S. Open will be my final tournament," Evert says in the issue of Sports Illustrated dated Aug. 28, which is when the tournament starts.

Evert, 34, will still represent the United States in the Federation Cup in Tokyo in October. She and Martina Navratilova will play exhibition matches this fall and winter, and she may make a cameo appearance at a tournament in Boca Raton, Fla., where she lives.

"But as for Chris Evert, serious competitor, yes, I guess I really am outta here," she says. "I don't feel the same intensity. ... I know I've lost some confidence, and I just don't want to pay the price any more."

Evert says she will be "Mrs. Andy Mill, full-time housewife." It is her second marriage, and she says she is looking forward to having a baby.

"No, I am not pregnant yet," she says in the magazine, which on Tuesday released part of the story she wrote with senior writer Curry

Kirkpatrick.

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — What was Cybill Shepherd doing with a bunch of kids at Billy Bob's honky tonk?

She took about 10 youngsters, ages 10 to 17, to the well-known nightspot to reward them for their hard work on the movie "Texasville."

The movie is a sequel to "The Last Picture Show," which launched Shepherd's film career after she already had found success as a young model.

Shepherd treated the youngsters to a night of two-stepping and watching mechanical bull riding.

Jeanne Dixon's Horoscope

THURSDAY, AUGUST 24, 1989

CELEBRITIES BORN ON THIS DATE: author Sir Max Beerbohm, shortstop Cal Ripken Jr., actor Steve Guttenberg, announcer Roger Durward Kirby, auto racer Roger McCluskey, pianist Louis Teicher, musician Mason Williams, Richard Cardinal Cushing.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Use your drive and energy judiciously. Consulting experts will pay off handsomely in the end. Take a practical approach to an emotional matter. You can no longer afford to meet someone's demands.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Handle your obligations cheerfully. Dealing with a middleman could help you realize an important career or financial goal. Showing more originality will let you move ahead at work. Showcase special talents.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Innovative methods can be incorporated into existing work procedures. Profits increase as a direct result. Spiritual growth heals an old emotional wound. You are ready to let go of past disappointments.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): A temporary separation could become permanent. Ties that break now are better off gone. Overindulgence could affect your vitality. Focus on the future and avoid repeating past mistakes. Do not hold grudges.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Do not despair if a business partnership breaks up. Ultimately you will come out ahead. Compromise to get what you want from a personal relationship; you will be delighted with the results!

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Seek quiet surroundings to complete a complex assignment. Someone reveals deep feelings in an unusual way. A private matter must be handled with discretion. Keep your business and personal life strictly separate.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Be careful what you write or say now. Critical comments could be held against you. Enthusiasm is terrific if it is not carried to extremes. Widen your circle of social contacts.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Put the finishing touches on a pet project early in the day. An older person seeks your opinion. Be honest, even if doing so could lead to hurt feelings. Temper candor with kindness.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): A friend provides help with a vexing problem. Show your gratitude in tangible ways. Your ability to read others' motives is a big asset in business and romance. Keep your suspicions to yourself.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Seize a golden opportunity that comes your way. It could mean a move to another state. Consider the risks involved in an unhealthy situation. Put your own interests first for a change.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): An area of personal interest could become a vocation. Do not walk out in a huff when things are not going your way. Put romance on hold if unsure of your feelings.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Take steps to get where you want to go even if it means making certain sacrifices. A candid discussion with mate or partner reveals some fascinating truths. Be as honest as possible.

Peach tree borer is a serious threat to local fruit trees

By DON RICHARDSON
County Extension Agent

The most damaging pest to local peach and fruit trees such as plum, prune, cherry, apricot, nectarine and other similar stone fruits, is the peach tree borer.

An "old" peach tree in Howard County is 10 years old and many horticulturists advise us to just plan on replacing such trees within 10 years in our area. The peach tree borer is primarily the cause of this problem.

Trees suffering from stress from one cause or another, that leaves them, in a weakened condition seem more prone to attract this pest.

The larval stage causes damage to the trunks of trees. Damage from this insect occurs from the soil line to approximately one foot above the soil and causes tree weakness and death. Infected trees are easily identified because of sap or gum flowing from the burrows.

Ask the agent

Frequently, insect droppings or sawdust can be seen in the gum flow. The worms are white with brown heads. They burrow just beneath the bark and frequently girdle the trees, causing such severe damage to the cambium layer that the tree dies.

The peach tree borer has one generation/year. Eggs are laid in August and September on the tree bark near the base of the trunk. Moths are attracted to trees with previous years peach tree borer damage and/or mechanical injury from hail, weed eaters, etc.

After hatching, it takes the small worms about 10 days to penetrate the tree bark. Control with insecticides is easy and inexpensive. Yearly sprays in late August with Dursban (or Lorsban on commercial orchards) will prevent essentially all peach tree borer injury.

Sprays should be applied to wet the trunks of susceptible trees to run off from the base to the first scaffold limbs. Avoid contaminating the fruit.

Hickory shuckworm on pecans

The hickory shuckworm is an important pest of pecans throughout much of West Texas. Each year thousands of pounds of pecans are lost due to shuckworms feeding on pecan shucks. The feeding results in premature shuck death. When the shucks are no longer functional nut filling stops.

The result is improperly filled nuts, pops (nut with no nutmeat) and sticktight (nuts which get stuck in the shucks and do not fall from the trees.)

Several generations of hickory shuckworm occur each year (up to 5). However, most of the damage is caused by the mid-August generation, generally peaks when the nuts reach half shell hardening.

Spraying is warranted in trees in which shuckworms have ruined 20 percent or more of the previous years crop. You should plan for two sprayings, one at half shell hardening and one 10-14 days later.

Hickory shuckworms are usually more damaging in home yard trees in cities and towns than in commercial pecan orchards.

Large numbers of small black beetles emerging from piles of gin trash and invading nearby homes. The insect in question is believed to be the larger black flour beetle which is an obscure pest of stored products. However, this insect apparently does very well in piles of gin trash and in fields which have received applications of cotton burrs.

In years in which conditions are right for their survival they emerge from the gin trash by the millions and are attracted to homes by the lights and possible for other unknown reasons.

They enter houses easily because of their small size. With thousands of these bugs entering homes it is easy to see that they could become quite bothersome. They infest household foodstuffs and are generally a nuisance in homes.

Many insecticides will kill the beetles, but they come in such large numbers that sprays provide only moderate levels of temporary relief. Shutting off lights and caulking and temporarily plugging cracks and openings is helpful.

These bugs can get into houses through cracks, under doors and windows, through air conditioners, dryer vents, fireplace chimneys and through many other openings.

A Texas-size party has been planned for some Chicago visitors this week — and the whole town is invited!

Big Spring is "struttin' our stuff" for the board of directors of St. Francis Village, an agency which provides condominium housing for the retired. They have an eye on Big Spring for one of their operations.

The party begins Tuesday when a Howard College bus picks up our visitors at the airport. Bus hosts are Ralph and Billie McLaughlin, Conrad Alexander, Francis Wheat, Clyde McMahon Sr., James Welch, Stan Wright, David Wiley, Bob Johnston, Marie Hall, Lucille Hopper, Vaurine Smith, Polly Mays, John and Beverly Taylor, Father Patrick Walsh, Wayne Moore and Dusty Johnston.

Hosts at Days Inn are Scott and Mary Kay McLaughlin, chairmen; Glenn and Cassandra Fillingim, Troy and Linda Fraser, Steve and Karen Fraser, Tim and Alice Haynes, Clyde McMahon Jr., Mark and Pam Morgan, Drew and Glynna Mouton, and Rip and Claudie Patterson.

The visitors will enjoy a barbecue dinner — and the magnificent view — atop Scenic Mountain, hosted by Jim and Linda Roger, chairmen; Shirley and Sonny Shroyer, Ranger Richard Grube and Ranger C.R. Chavez.

A Wednesday breakfast at Howard College will be hosted by Bob Riley, Lila Estes and Cliff Ataway. The afternoon break is "Lemonade in Comanche Trail Park," hosted by TU Electric.

Katie Grimes and Jimmy Taylor chair a host-hostess committee of all past Big Spring Men and Women of the Year at a Mexican buffet Wednesday night.

And the part about the whole town being invited? That's right! If you're lucky, you may still get a ticket — at modest cost — for the Scenic Mountain Evening, the breakfast and the Mexican buffet. So call the Chamber at 263-7641 first thing Monday. You can sip lemonade in the park for free!

Cuin Grigsby Sr. was in Houston last weekend for the wedding of his son, Gary, to Luanne Thomas.

The bridegroom's brother, Cuin Jr. and wife Judy, Abilene, hosted the rehearsal dinner at Vargo's, a longtime popular restaurant in the Bayou City.

Among wedding guests were Louis and Luann Stallings, Big Spring; and former residents Thelma Lawson Barham, Odessa, and Wesley Merwin, Dallas. Thelma is Judy Grigsby's mother.

It was a very interesting weekend for Bob and Jan Noyes.

Along with other Lions and Lionesses, they were treated to a tour of the Lions Leader Dog School for the Blind in Rochester, Mich. last weekend.

Here, the organization trains dogs, and then trains blind owners to work with their dogs. Dogs are provided to the blind without cost through Lions Clubs.

About 400 Lions were on the inspection tour, 42 from Texas, says Bob. Visitors had the option of working with the dogs themselves and Jan volunteered. She put on a blindfold and let the dog lead her — "The dog was just great!" she says.

Denise Crenwelge was back in town this week for the first time becoming press secretary to Congressman Charles Stenholm. Denise is on a two-week trip through the district to introduce herself to the media.

Denise will attend a West Texas Press Association meeting in Odessa this weekend, then spend Sunday night with her parents, Joe and Elizabeth Crenwelge before moving on to other cities in the district.

Bill and Dene Sheppard were among the select guests for a party and tour of Mary Kay Ash's palatial home in Dallas recently. The tour was an award for Dene's top performance in the Mary Kay Cosmetics organization.

Dene, as winner of the Miss Go-Give Award this year, bought a regal purple gown for the walk down the staircase to receive the award from Mary Kay herself. And Bill videotaped the scene.

"He videotaped the whole tour," Dene says.

"I'm on Cloud 9!" Sherrie Bordof-ske says. Both her sons and their families will be home this weekend — David and Darla Bordof-ske, with Justin, 5, and Jerrod, 2, San Francisco; and Terry and Lysette Bordof-ske, Dallas.

The family attended the Saturday wedding of Jacque Hyatt to Kristi Franklin. Jacque and the Bordof-ske brothers are longtime friends from high school; Jacque and Terry roomed together in Dallas before Terry married.

Sherrie, by the way, had a chance to do a good deed this week.

She was in Days Inn, making reservations for NFL great Charlie Johnson to appear at the United Way kickoff Sept. 6, when she noted manager Jan Howard wringing her hands.

"What'll I do?" asked Jan. It seems that a guest had just been notified of a friend's death and the funeral was to be early the next morning in Sweetwater. The man had hastily purchased a pair of pants, but found the store could not hem them in time — and all the cleaners were closed. He turned to Jan for help, but Jan was working alone at the time and could not leave the front desk.

Sherrie rose to the occasion. Jan got the measurements from the guest; Sherrie took the pants home, altered them and returned them to Jan an hour later!

Borden County
Borden County gained a new oil field when the No. 1 Washakie-Hamilton became the discovery well of the Half Breed (Strawn-C) Field about eight miles north of the Gail township.

The Railroad Commission has been asked to set a discovery allowable and establish field rules.

With Dakota Resources of Midland as the operator, the well potential at 226 barrels of 41-gravity oil plus 102,000 CF casinghead gas per day.

It is a pumping well, tested on an open choke and registering 740 PSI flowing tubing pressure.

Dakota took the well to total depth of 8,498 feet and perforated to produce from the Strawn Formation at 8,192 to 8,202 feet into the hole.

A Dallas operator has slapped the dry hole label on an unsuccessful Borden County wildcat just over 19 miles southeast of Gail. Lakewood Fulton's No. 1 Buffalo probed to a dry bottom at total depth of 7,300 feet and will be plugged and abandoned. It was in the Lavaca Navigation Survey Section 81 Block 20.

Plug-and-abandon orders have been issued for the No. 1 Patterson, an ill-fated developmental well in Borden County's West Myrtle Field, 11.7 miles northeast of Gail. The well was taken to total depth of 8,370 feet with no commercial prospects indicated. It was located in the H&TCRR Survey Section 412 Block 97.

Howard County
Graham Royalty Ltd. of Dallas has plugged and abandoned a depleted oiler in Howard County's Moore Field, about two miles west of Big Spring. The well was located in the T&PRR Survey Section 4 Block 33 with total depth of 3,280 feet.

Mitchell County
Astin Inc. of Coppell, Tex., has plugged and abandoned a depleted oil well in Mitchell County's portion of the East Howard-latan Field. Location was about five miles southwest of Westbrook in the T&PRR Survey Section 13 Block 29. The well was known as the No. 1 Barber "B" and had total depth of 1,854 feet.

Winn-Dixie offering Sesame Street books

BIG SPRING — On My Way With Sesame Street, a new 15-volume children's learning book series, debuted in Big Spring's Winn-Dixie supermarket Wednesday.

A collaboration between Children's Television Workshop (Sesame Street's creators) and Funk & Wagnalls, this new educational product will be available to area families at modest supermarket prices during the next several months: Volume 1 is 49 cents and Volumes 2-15 are $2.99.

"Kids really enjoy learning with the wonderful and funny Sesame Street characters," said Ed Volkwein, Funk & Wagnalls' president.

"Every volume contains special 'Notes to Parents' that explain exactly what children will learn in each book, and how to help them get the most out of this shared learning experience," Volkwein said.

"Parents will find it to be an excellent learning tool for their youngsters," he added.

The subject matter of each volume in the series was crafted by the educational experts at CTW. Important learning concepts are presented to prepare preschoolers to deal with the complex world they will soon encounter.

The titles of each volume reflect these basic building blocks of learning: My ABC's; I Can Count; Getting Ready For School; Animals, Animals; All About Me; Colors and Shapes; and others.

Weddings

Franklin-Hyatt

Kristi Leigh Franklin, Midland, and Jacque Lane Hyatt, Dallas, were united in marriage Aug. 19, 1989 at a 3 p.m. ceremony at Midway Baptist Church, with Rev. Bob Webb, pastor of First Baptist Church, Denver City, and bride's cousin; and Chet Haney, pastor of Midway Baptist Church, officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Irven Franklin Sr., Route 1.

Bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Leland Hyatt, 705 West Marcy.

The couple stood before an altar decorated with a 15-branch candelabra with white Lily-of-the-Valley and grape ivy. Two bougainvillea trees, four seven-branch candelabras, Boston fern, and garden setee decorated with fern and Lily-of-the-Valley garland completed the setting.

Harpist was Kim Gorman; guitarist was Mike Harris; pianist was Terri Haney.

Vocalists were Mike Harris and Terri Haney.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a candlelight bridal gown featuring a Sabrina neckline. The bodice was embellished with alencon lace, pearls and iridescent sequins. The fitted sleeve, applied with lace, tapered to her hand. The basque waistline was accented with a satin bow. The gown also featured a chapel-length train applied with alencon lace.

She carried an arm bouquet of bridal pink roses, gardenias, lilyanthe, Queen Anne's lace and baby's breath tied at the stem with a wide satin dusty rose bow.

Matron of honor was Lynda Gayl Wood, bride's sister, Midland. Bridesmaids were Stacy Jo Bates, San Angelo; Kathi Malyn Wallis, Bedford; and Diane S. Franklin, bride's sister-in-law, Brownwood.

Flower girl was Krystal Dawn Wood, bride's niece.

Best man was Leland Hyatt, bridegroom's father.

Groomsmen were Kurt Salisbury, Boston, Mass.; David Bordofski, Plano; and Rory Worthan, Big Spring.

MRS. KRISTI HYATT

Ushers were Fred Franklin Jr., bride's brother, Brownwood; Rick Shortes, bridegroom's brother-in-law, Big Spring; Kent Tibbels, bridegroom's brother-in-law, Big Spring; and Terry Bordofski, Dallas.

Ringbearer was Taylor Franklin, bride's nephew.

After the wedding, a reception was hosted in the fellowship hall. The bride's table, draped with a white cloth, featured a four-layer, pale pink cake with two nosegays of gardenias. A silver candelabra and silver punch service also decorated the table. The bridegroom's table, draped with white lace, featured cherry cheesecakes, a glass vase of gladiolus and a brass coffee service.

The bride, a 1982 graduate of Coahoma High School, attended Howard College and graduated in 1986 from Howard Payne University with a bachelor of arts degree. She graduated in May from Baylor University School of Law where she received a juris doctorate degree. She is employed by the law firm of Cotton, Bledsoe, Tighe & Dawson, Midland.

The bridegroom, a 1983 graduate of Big Spring High School, attended Howard College. He is a systems analyst with Electronic Data Systems.

After a wedding trip to Ruidoso, N.M., the couple will make their home in Midland.

Wolf-Shorter

Roxie Sue Wolf, Coahoma, and Jeffrey David Shorter, El Paso, exchanged wedding vows Aug. 19, 1989 at an 8 p.m. ceremony at Vincent Baptist Church, with Rev. Ray Cunningham officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Vernon and Dolores Wolf, Coahoma.

Bridegroom's parents are David and Jeanne Shorter, Delaware, Ohio.

The couple stood before an altar decorated with an arrangement of peach gerbers, gladiolus, aqua carnations, ivory status and English ivy. Two spiral candelabras covered with ivy decorated each side of the center arrangement. Tree candelabras with matching flowers completed the setting.

Instrumentalists were Sally and Joan Wilson.

Vocalist was Darrell Collins, Snyder.

The bride, given in marriage by her daughter, wore an original gown by Phyllis for Bianchi, featuring imported re-embroidered alencon lace and candlelight taffeta. The fitted bodice, embellished with pearls and paillettes, featured a keyhole back.

The tapered, grand puff sleeves were fashioned of lace and beads. Beaded laced with satin leaves accented the waistline. The design was repeated on the taffeta skirt that fell into a chapel-length train. The hemline was bordered with pearls. A cap of lace and pearls held her double fingertip veil of imported English illusion.

She carried a crescent bouquet of Sonya roses, ivory status and English ivy accented with antique lace ribbon.

Matron of honor was Rhessa Lang, bride's sister, Oklahoma City.

Bridesmaids were Rhonda Wise, Abilene; Kim Wills, Dallas; Tanya Pfluger, Sweetwater; and Stacia Sewell, Dallas.

Best man was Jeff Thompson, Carlsbad, N.M.

Groomsmen were Troyce Wolf, bride's brother, Big Spring; Curtis Gunther, Houston; Ben Courville, San Antonio; and Blair Casey, Plano.

MRS. ROXIE SHORTER

Ushers were Andrew Shorter, bridegroom's brother, Delaware, Ohio; Carl Lang, Oklahoma City; and Brad Day and Jimmy Johnson, both of Carlsbad.

After the wedding, a reception was hosted at the home of the bride's parents. The bride's table, draped with her grandmother's linen cloth, featured a four-tier, heart-shaped wedding cake decorated with cascading peach roses, aqua Forget-Me-Nots and baby's breath. The top tier was adorned with a bouquet of flowers and peach-colored ribbon. The bridegroom's heart-shaped cake was iced with chocolate frosting and trimmed with chocolate shavings.

The bride, a 1984 graduate of Borden County High School, received a bachelor of business administration degree in accounting from Texas Tech University. She is an accountant for Grant Thornton accounting firm, Midland.

The bridegroom, a 1984 graduate of Carlsbad High School, received a bachelor of business administration degree and master's degree in marketing. He is employed by El Paso Natural Gas.

After a Caribbean cruise to the Virgin Islands, the couple will make their home in El Paso.

Wedding

Martin-Ransom

Rebecca Kay Martin, Midland, and Joe Bob Ransom, Andrews, were united in marriage Aug. 19, 1989 at a 7 p.m. ceremony at Kelview Heights Baptist Church, Midland, with Rev. Bill Skaggs, pastor, officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Jerry and Kathryn Martin, Midland, formerly of Big Spring. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Eggleston, Midland, formerly of Big Spring; and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Merrick, Ackerly.

Bridegroom's parents are Bob and Lou Nell Ransom, Andrews.

The couple stood before an altar decorated with two spiral candelabras entwined with palm branches and accented with a double ring candelabra.

Instrumentalist was Myrna Richardson, bride's cousin, Big Spring.

Vocalist was Russ Hale, Midland.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an ivory satin gown designed by Thisa of New York, featuring a streamline sheath silhouette with beaded French alencon lace and pearls. The fitted satin sleeves were trimmed with re-embroidered French lace. The gown also featured a detachable cathedral-length train. Her veil of silk illusion fell from sparkling flowers outlined with seed pearls and cascades of Lilies of the Valley. The bride also wore her great-grandmother's ruby wedding ring.

She carried two large orchids surrounded by a spray of pink roses and greenery.

Maid of honor was Tina Lamb, Midland.

Bridesmaids were Lisa Taylor, Midland; Carol Eggleston, bride's aunt, Midland; and Angela Eggleston, bride's cousin, Midland.

Flower girl was Amanda Turney, bride's cousin, Big Spring.

Best man was Abel Acosta.

Groomsmen were Bob Stewart,

MRS. REBECCA RANSOM

Mack McReynolds, and Evan Eggleston, bride's cousin, all of Andrews.

Ushers were Don Eggleston, bride's uncle, Midland; and Abel Acosta and Bob Stewart.

Candlelighters were Angela Eggleston, bride's cousin, Midland; and Evan Eggleston, bride's cousin, Andrews.

Ringbearer was Wesley Eggleston, bride's cousin, Midland.

After the wedding, a reception was hosted at the church. The bride's table, draped with a pink satin cloth, featured a five-tier wedding cake decorated in pink and topped with a double ring ornament covered with pink and white roses. A candelabra also decorated the table. The bridegroom's table, decorated in a western theme, featured a boot, lariat and a chocolate cake.

The bride, a graduate of Greenwood High School, is a student at Midland College. She is a teacher's aide at Children's Learning Center, Midland.

The bridegroom, a graduate of Andrews High School, is employed by Coats Construction, Midland.

After a wedding trip to San Antonio, the couple will make their home in Midland.

Academia

BIG SPRING — Kevin Billings of Explorer Post 5 has earned his Eagle Scout Award, the highest award given by the Boy Scouts of America.

The 14-year-old Big Spring High School freshman will be honored with a court of honor and reception Sunday in the First Baptist Church chapel.

Kevin has earned 29 merit badges, the Order of the Arrow and the Order of God and Country. He has served as a den chief, assistant patrol leader and scribe and is currently serving as vice president of the Explorer post.

His Eagle project consisted of scraping, repairing and painting the wooden directional signs for the Visitors Bureau of Big Spring. He had to plan the project, gather the needed materials, direct and supervise the project using other Boy Scouts as helpers.

Kevin currently is a member of the Steer Band, freshman football team and Junior Civitans. He is also a member of First Baptist Church and is active in its youth department. His other interests include skateboarding, reading, camping and sports.

Kevin is the son of Jim and Robbie Billings.

BIG SPRING — Ten students from the Big Spring area were selected to attend the Rotary Youth Leadership Award camp in July.

The camp, staffed by Rotarians who donate their time as counselors, speakers and directors, is an annual project of Rotary district 573, which stretches from Pecos to Sweetwater and north through the Texas panhandle.

Attending the session for boys were Big Springers Lee Baker, Jason Davis, Joe Downing, Louis Hinojos and Rance Thompson. They will all be seniors at Big Spring High School this fall.

Five BSHS students attended the RYLA camp for young women the last week in July. Nikki Anderson, Marilyn Corwin, Kristy Geanopolos, Michelle Smith and Kaysie Sparling will be seniors at BSHS this year.

Gregg Brooks and Ann McCann of Big Spring were the local sponsors.

Anniversaries

Mensers and Reids to be honored

Leon and Mildred Menser, and Quinon and Ruth Reid, all of Coahoma, will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversaries Saturday, from 2 to 4 p.m. at Coahoma Church of Christ.

The event, which will be conducted in the church's fellowship hall, will be hosted by the couples' children and grandchildren.

Menser was born in Searcy, Ark. Mrs. Menser, the former Mildred Reid, was born in Howard County.

The Mensers met at a basketball game at Coahoma High School in April of 1939 and married Aug. 26, 1939 in the parsonage of East Fourth Street Baptist Church, with W.S. Garnett officiating.

The couple's children are Dr. and Mrs. Tommy (Debi) Menser, Waxahachie; and Lee and Jerriann Lott, The Woodlands.

The Mensers have four grandchildren, and have lived in Coahoma during their marriage.

Menser is retired from Walsh & Watts Inc. Mrs. Menser is a retired postal clerk.

They are members of First Baptist Church, Coahoma. Mrs. Menser is a member of the Order of the Eastern Star Chapter 499.

When asked to comment about their marriage, they said "The years have been good. We've had lots of fun and we have a great family and friends."

Hobbies and interests include hunting, fishing, camping, handwork, art and crafts, and visiting their grandchildren.

Reid was born in Hayden, Ariz. Mrs. Reid, the former Ruth Menser, was born in Poyner, Mo.

The Reids met in Coahoma and married Nov. 11 1939 in the manse of the Presbyterian Church, Coahoma, with Rev. George Pagan officiating.

The couple's children are Ronald Lee Reid, Coahoma; and Quinett Jones, Odessa.

The Reids have lived in Coahoma during their marriage, and have five grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Reid is retired from Texas

Electric Co. They are members of the Church of Christ. Reid is a member of the VFW, Permian Basin Ex-P.O.W.s, and Masons.

When asked to comment about their marriage, they said "It has been fun."

Hobbies include camping, reading, and arts and crafts.

The Reids and the Mensers invite all their friends and relatives to help share their memories.

Both couples request no gifts.

Receives award

LUBBOCK — Kenneth Walling of Coahoma receives the 20-year tenure award of the Vocational Agriculture Teachers Association from organization president Bobby Winters. The award was presented at the annual awards program for the association held here recently.

Women honored at barbecue

Mrs. Lad (Olive) Cauble celebrated her 80th birthday Aug. 16 at a barbecue at the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Richard and Moe Cauble.

Also celebrating her birthday was Sunny Brush, Whittier, Calif. Sunny was 65.

Hosting the event was Mr. and Mrs. (Ula Mae) Rogers, Don and Vi Lee Orr, and Don's mother, Mrs. Orr, Ark.; Steve and Judy Westbrook and their son Jimmy; Rickie and Trisha Cauble and their son Trey, and Dot and Charles Hood.

Mrs. Cauble was born Aug. 16, 1909.

Mrs. Brush was born Aug. 21, 1924.

Isn't it about time we gave Big Spring the business?

Doctors Invent 'Lazy Way' to Lose Weight

U.S. Gov't Approves Patent Claims for New Diet Pill

BEVERLY HILLS, CA (Special)—An amazing new weight loss pill called "fat-magnet" has recently been developed and perfected by two prominent doctors at a world famous hospital in Los Angeles that reportedly "guarantees" you steady fat loss and calorie reduction by simply taking their tested and proven new pill.

The U.S. government has just approved the doctors' claims for a hard-to-get patent that confirms "there has never been anything like their fat-bonding pill process before." It is a totally new major scientific breakthrough and is revolutionizing the weight loss industry.

You Can "Eat Normally"

Best of all, "you can continue to eat your favorite foods and you don't have to change your normal eating habits. You can start losing fat and reduce calories from the very first day, until you achieve the ideal weight you desire without exercising."

Flushes Fat Out of Body

The new pill is appropriately called the "fat-magnet" pill because it breaks into thousands of particles, each acting like a tiny magnet, "attracting" and trapping many times its size in undigested fat particles. Then, all the trapped fat and calories are naturally "flushed" right out of your body because they cannot be absorbed.

Within 2 days you should notice a change in the color of your stool, caused by the fat particles being eliminated.

"Automatically" Lose Fat

According to one of the inventors, Dr. William Shell, heart specialist and associate professor of medicine at UCLA medical school, "the new fat-bonding process is a "lazy way" to lose weight, because the pills alone "automatically" reduce calories by eliminating dietary fat. It is 100% safe and not a drug."

The fat-magnet pills are already sweeping the country with glowing reports of weight loss from formerly overweight people in all walks of life who are now slimmer, trimmer and more attractive again.

Now Available to the Public

If you are trying to lose 20, 50, 100 pounds or more, you can order your supply of these "no-risk" highly successful fat-magnet pills directly from the doctors' exclusive manufacturer only (includes optional calorie-reduction plan for even better results). Send $20 for a 90 pill supply (+$3 handling), or $35 for a 180 pill supply (+$3 handling), to: Fat-Magnet, 9016 Wilshire Blvd., Dept. W842, Beverly Hills, CA 90211. (Unconditional money-back guarantee if not 100% satisfied.) Visa, MasterCard and American Express OK. (Send card number, expire date, and signature.) For fastest service for credit card orders ONLY call anytime 24 hours, toll free 1(800) 527-9700, ext. W842. ©F.M. 1989

FDIC to hold auction in Midland

The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation in Midland is conducting a public auction Tuesday and Wednesday of a wide variety of assets — including drilling rigs, a sports car (1988 Lotus Esprit), airplane, veterinary equipment, mobile homes, construction equipment, cars, trucks, office equipment and furniture and much more.

The auction will be conducted at the FDIC auction location — 9900 County Road 125 West (west of Midland International Airport on Highway 80).

Inspection will be Monday from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. with the auction being conducted on Tuesday and Wednesday, beginning at 10 a.m. each day.

Administrator relocating to Dallas

Weldon W. McElreath, administrator of Buckner's child-care services in West Texas for the past 17 years, is leaving to become administrator of Buckner Children's Home in Dallas.

The varied child-care services Buckner offers in this area. In addition to the Buckner-Rainbow Youth Shelter in Big Spring, a residential treatment for adjudicated teenage males, the West Texas operations include a large children's home and emergency shelter in Lubbock, the Buckner-Odessa Boys Home, also for adjudicated youth, and family aid and foster care in the Lubbock area.

The post also includes supervision of a group foster home in Tyler, and foster care, and in-home assistance for one-parent families in Dallas and Ft. Worth. The Dallas Home is the original and largest child-care operation of the state-wide Buckner Benevolences social care system, which has services in 19 Texas locations.

McElreath, a graduate of Howard Payne University, with a degree in accounting, served as assistant controller at the Buckner Benevolences administrative offices in Dallas for seven years before assuming the leadership position in Lubbock. McElreath is already at his new post in Dallas.

Wedding

Scott-Kirby

Shelly Scott and Marty Kirby, Big Spring, were united in marriage Aug. 19, 1989 at an 8 p.m. poolside ceremony at the bride's home, with China Long, justice of the peace, officiating.

MRS. SHELLY KIRBY

The bride is the daughter of Becky Reeh, Big Spring. Bridegroom's mother is Arlene Robertson, Big Spring.

The couple exchanged vows as floating candles decorated the pool. A bridge that extended over the pool was decorated with peach garland and bows.

Pianist was Carrie Alexander; guitarist was Rich Murray. Vocalists were Carrie Alexander and Rich Murray.

The bride, given in marriage by her mother, wore a traditional satin and lace gown enhanced by a delicate lace teardrop at the neckline. Elizabethan-style, puffed sleeves tapered at the wrists. She carried a cascading silk bouquet of peach satin lilies, peach roses and buds with pearls and ribbon.

Maid of honor was Gina Scott, bride's sister, Big Spring. Bridesmaid was Amie Jones, Big Spring.

Best man was James Williamson. Groomsman and candlelighter was Mark Kirby, bridegroom's brother. After the wedding, a poolside reception was hosted. A three-tier cake, decorated with silk peach roses, featured a winding staircase. The cake was topped with satin bells.

The bride, a graduate of Big Spring High School, is employed by Sunshine Day Care.

The bridegroom, a graduate of Big Spring High School, has enlisted in the U.S. Army. After a wedding trip to Midland, the couple will make their home in Big Spring.

Military

Marine Chief Warrant Officer Donald F. Page, whose wife, Monta, is the daughter of Monte and Novell Griffin, Lamesa, has graduated from The Basic School. While attending The Basic School, located at the Marine Corps Combat Development Command, Quantico, Va., Page was prepared, as a newly-commissioned officer, for assignment to the Fleet Marine Force.

struction on land navigation marksmanship, tactics, military law, personnel administration, Marine Corps history and traditions, communications and the techniques of military instruction. Page was also taught leadership by example and the importance of teamwork. He was also required to participate in a demanding physical conditioning program. A 1974 graduate of Lamesa High School and a graduate of Texas Tech University, with a bachelor of science degree, he joined the Marine Corps in March 1983.

BUSINESS & INDUSTRY REVIEW

MAKING ROOM — Room additions and garage conversions are a specialty at Bob's Custom Woodwork. The firm offers turn-key jobs on construction, including foundation, roof, plumbing, electrical work, painting and fixtures. The homeowner never has to worry about all those small details. And Bob's additions look like part of the house, not a room that's "added on." Pictured is a sun room recently constructed for a Big Spring home.

Remodeling Specialty at Bob's Custom Woodwork

Put your plans to work now for that dream kitchen. Or the added space a garage conversion can provide. Or a brand new room or bath addition.

The first step is to call Bob's Custom Woodwork and share your ideas with Bob Noyes.

As a general contractor, Bob provides turnkey construction on all your major remodeling projects. That means his firm handles everything from slab to roof, including sheetrock, painting, electrical, plumbing and cabinets. Every detail — even little things like latches and special trim — is taken care of.

When you engage Bob's Custom Woodwork, you're entitled to the exclusive advice and counsel of Bob Noyes, who supervises every job.

For room remodeling, Bob's staff can remove walls as necessary, close doorways, change window locations, repair floors, and add or remove electrical or plumbing work.

For a kitchen renovation or updating, the firm will design and install new wood cabinets. They'll do major remodeling in kitchens — or smaller jobs such as installing microwave ovens, dishwashers, new counter tops or a skylight.

If you are adding or remodeling a bathroom, Bob's will order and install custom-made cultured marble vanity tops with one or more sinks; or tubs and whirlpools — all made of 90% crushed Israel marble, blended with polyester resin. Stand-alone vanities, tubs and showers are also available.

Consider transforming a garage into a comfortable family room. Garage conversions by Bob's crew are designed to carefully match the style and materials in your home so that it never looks "added on."

Bob's Custom Woodwork accepts Visa and MasterCard, and helps arrange 100% financing. The firm is a member of the National Association of the Remodeling Industry (NARI) and is a charter member of the Permian Basin Chapter of NARI Professional Remodelers.

Bob's Custom Woodwork is located in Building 913 at the Industrial Park. Office hours are 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday, or by appointment. Call Bob Noyes at 267-5811 and get started on your remodeling ideas large or small.

Fish, shellfish inspection

By NAOMI HUNT
County Extension Agent
Current seafood inspection programs and consumer assurances regarding safety have recently been questioned by consumer interest groups.

First and foremost, seafood processors and marketers are responsible for the wholesomeness of the products they sell. They serve their own best interests by providing safe and wholesome products in compliance with the government regulations.

The safety and wholesomeness of fish and shell fish are regulated by the USDA through the Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act. This legislation sets the framework for monitoring products for conformance to regulations governing pesticides and other contaminants and for maintaining extensive surveillance of imported products.

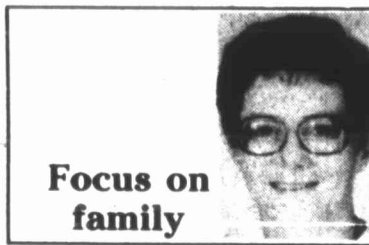

To enforce this law, the Food and Drug Administration conducts periodic, unannounced inspections of food plants, including seafood facilities.

Seafood is also subject to inspection by state health authorities.

Officials of 23 coastal states whose waters produce clams, oysters and mussels have joined with the FDA, the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration and other federal agencies in a program called the Interstate Shellfish Sanitation Conference.

Participants cooperatively monitor waters where shellfish grow, certify shellfish coming from safe growing waters and prohibit commercial shellfishing in waters that have become polluted.

Many major seafood producing companies subscribe to an additional voluntary federal inspection program that is provided by the U.S. Department of Commerce's National Marine Fisheries Service. This program is designed specifically for fish and seafood and enables a company to contract for a number of different inspection programs.

Focus on family

Under the program, inspected seafood products carry federal inspection marks such as "Packed under Federal Inspection" or "U.S. Grade A," depending upon the type of inspection performed.

However, there is a need to review present inspection programs. To continue to maintain wholesomeness and quality of seafood, industry and government officials are working to improve inspection programs for each major seafood product category. This will be in effect by the early 1990s.

The safety and wholesomeness of seafoods is maintained through proper handling, storage and preparation, a responsibility which also befalls consumers after purchase.

It is important to keep in mind that inspections are not what protect our food supply. What is critical are the attitudes and practices of the industry, the cares taken by consumers after purchases.

Inspection is often confused with regulation inspection, however, is just one tool of regulation, the enforcement mechanism.

Self-employed journalist finds writing and fun make a pair

By TUMBLEWEED SMITH

On Aug. 1, 1969, I went into business for myself. I had been thinking about it for sometime, really. I was influenced by my father, who had a business of his own. I noticed that he worked very hard — harder than people who didn't have their own businesses to run — but he was extremely happy and never complained.

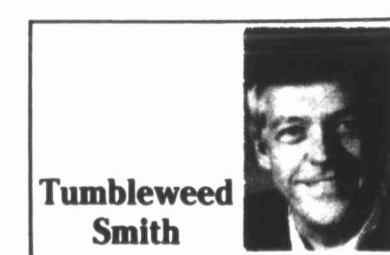

When problems arose, he solved them. I somehow knew that I would be in the same situation one day and would also love it.

One day I just got tired of working for the other fellow. During the previous nine years I had five jobs, all of them in journalism. I enjoyed working for all my bosses and tried to make them a good hand.

I remembered my father telling me that the best bosses had been good employees. He told me once that if the man I worked for wanted me to scrub the floor with a toothbrush I should do it and not complain. The closest I came to doing that was while I was in the Army. And although the brush I used was larger than a tooth brush, I did complain.

The work I chose to do on my own was reporting on people who love life and have a sparkle in their eyes. I had grown weary of news work. I wanted a larger palette and had a desire to cover a broader spectrum of humanity.

I made journalism my life's work because of a patriotic streak within me. Eisenhower was president of the United States when I graduated from Baylor in 1967 with a degree in English. He spoke at my graduation. I joined the Army that same year and went to Europe in 1968 for two years.

A couple of times our unit was contacted personally by Eisenhower. He praised us for some work we did.

That time away from home and family was valuable because I learned what things really meant the most to me: home and family. I recall driving along the Spanish Costa Brava one midnight and hearing the star spangled banner sign off Armed Forces Radio.

I stopped the car, got out and stood at attention. I learned a lot about my country by being away from it during some very impressionable years.

I remember coming into New York harbor and listening to radio along with a few thousand other enlisted men. The first commercial we heard actually brought a cheer from the crowd. The commercial represented America. I kissed the pavement as soon as I could after leaving the ship. I was glad to be home. I decided then and there to do the most American thing I could think of: news and/or advertising.

I went home to Ft. Worth for awhile, then ventured down to Waco and got a job at a small advertising agency. Then I headed west for a radio job. Next I went to Houston to work in TV. I realized I was in a field I loved, but didn't really have any education in it. So I went back to school and ended up with a master's degree in journalism from the University of Missouri. I got a job at a large radio-TV station in the midwest. While there, I did free lance feature work for NBC radio.

I missed Texas, so came back home and got a job in radio news. In less than two years, I decided to go it on my own. I traveled to radio stations all over Texas and tried to convince the owners and managers that I could do feature reports for them — one per day — that people would listen to them and their station would increase in audience and make lots of moneys.

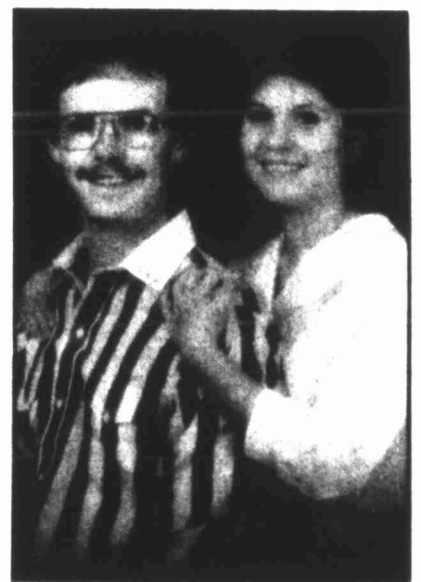

Thank goodness about a hundred stations decided to take a chance on me. Most of the stations have stayed with me, even though they faced tough times financially.

For the last couple of years I have been writing this newspaper column. It gives me much satisfaction. I've learned that people do like to read.

Just like my dad, I'm working hard, facing problems, but have no complaints and am very happy.

Twenty years is such a short time when you're having fun.

Engaged

COUPLE TO WED — Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Jansa, San Angelo, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Danielle Jansa, San Angelo, to Darrell Halfmann, Garden City, son of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Halfmann, Garden City. The couple will wed Sept. 9 at a 3 p.m. ceremony at St. Ambrose Catholic Church, with Father James Plagens officiating.
