TDC team expected

BIG SPRING — Officials with the Texas Department of Corrections are expected to arrive in Big Spring Friday, Howard County Commissioner Bill Crooker announced Tuesday evening.

A three-member fact-finding team from the TDC is expected to tour the proposed prison site and visit with local officials, Crooker said. Big Spring is one of six specific sites this particular team will visit, he said.

If TDC officials are delayed by a visit to another proposed prison site they should arrive next Tuesday, he said.

Crooker made the announcement Tuesday to an 18-member committee formed by county officials to answer any questions prison officials may have about utilities, available medical facilities and quality of life.

Forsan amends budget

FORSAN — Forsan Independent School District board members amended the total budget to $3.728 million at a special meeting Monday night, said Superintendent J.F. Poyner.

He said so far the district has expended $3.638 million.

Also at that meeting, appraisal periods were set for Sept. 25-Jan. 12, Jan. 22-May 25 and Sept. 25-May 25. The appraisers are the three principals: Bill Creger; Doug Parker; and George White, and Special Education Coordinator Gary Allen and Poyner.

In other business Band Director Bobby Fishback was moved to career ladder level II and an ambulance contract for senior high football games was made with RuralMetro of Big Spring for $75 a game for five games.

A discussion on testing for lead and radon testing was postponed.

Fryar president-elect

SAN ANGELO — Neil Fryar of Lomax was elected president-elect of the West Texas Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts during the group's meeting here recently.

FRYAR

Fryar, who farms and ranches in Howard, Martin and Midland counties, will serve in the position for one year. He then will succeed to the office of president.

A member of the local conservation board for 15 years, Fryar has been active in district work, attending national, regional and state meetings. He recently returned from the four-state South Central Regional meeting of the National Association of Conservation Districts held at South Padre Island.

In addition to his conservation activities, the Howard County native has been active in other agricultural and community affairs, holding various offices in related organizations including: the ASCS County Committee; Cap Rock Electric Cooperative board of directors; Howard County Farm Bureau; Stanton school board; and the Howard County Fair Association.

Fryar, who currently serves as chairman of the Howard County Soil and Water Conservation District, attended the meeting with local board members Bobby Cathey and Ray Russell. Sam Buchanan, district conservationist with the Big Spring Field Office of the Soil Conservation Service, and district employee Bernice Cason also attend the West Texas Association meeting held at the Texas A&M Research and Extension Center.

Police salaries spark council debate

By RUTH COCHRAN
Staff Writer

BIG SPRING — Even a week-long break from budget matters couldn't ease frustrations for city council members here.

Veiled accusations were aimed at various council members, as well as city management, during Tuesday night's special session. The council met to discuss the 3-cent tax rate increase approved last week, but spent most of its time arguing. It also met in executive session to discuss personnel matters pertaining to City Manager Hal Boyd.

An apparent mistake in the proposed budget caused some council members to question the police department budget, prompting a long discussion about possible cuts the city could make to erase a $60,000 deficit in the proposed budget for 1989-90.

City Councilman Sidney Clark said he felt there were $70,000 in police department salary increases that could be cut to balance the budget. Green asserted that according to his figures, police department personnel were getting 8 percent salary increases.

Police Chief Joe Cook, however, said his budget doesn't contain salary increases for his entire staff. It includes increases for officers who improved their certification standing, he said, but those increases were put in place by previous city councils. "It was a pay plan that was set up before I got here," Cook told the council. "It said based on their accumulation of certificates, ... performance ... and time, they would receive pay increases. They're not automatic."

Green continued to assert that according to his copy of the proposed budget, salary increases were included for every member of the BIG SPRING — One of the apparent casualties of the recent city budget battle is the Corral, an outpatient service of the Howard County Mental Health Advisory Board.

The Corral, which provides socialization, recreation, and self-directed activities for patients and out-patients of the Big Spring State Hospital, receives $6,000 per year from the county for the lease of a building at Third and Benton streets, said W.C. Drug tests favored by Howard College athletes

By STEVE RAY
Herald Editor

BIG SPRING — For the first time in the school's history, Howard College cheerleaders and rodeo team members joined other athletes Tuesday in undergoing drug testing.

Drug testing of college athletes began at Howard College "several years ago," according to College President Bob Riley, but the school's drug policy was adopted by school trustees only this summer.

Tuesday's tests will be the first time athletes other than baseball and basketball players have been forced to prove they have not been using drugs.

"I don't mind, not at all," says second-year cheerleader Stella Vidlak. "I think every athlete, even in high school, should undergo drug testing."

"A lot of kids look up to you (when you are an athlete or a cheerleader), the kids idolize athletes ... and I don't mind because I have nothing to worry about."

Here's what the students say:

Here's what some Howard College athletes had to say about taking a drug test Tuesday at the school:

• Monique Cook, Lady Hawks basketball — "I think it (the drug test) is a great idea. I think basketball should be drug free."

• Linda Waters, Lady Hawks basketball — "I think it's perfectly fair. I don't do drugs. I don't think anybody should do them. I don't think people should do drugs clean."

Riley agreed. "I think it's good, I think everybody should do it," Riley said. "We do activities and represent the college. What we do reflects on the school."

• Shannon Lawson, Lake Hawks basketball — "I think it's fine. I don't mind it at all. I think coaches have a right to know what their players are doing. I don't think a drug test should be forced, but if you want to participate in the sport you ought to have to take it."

• Tim Ross, rodeo and cheerleader — "It doesn't bother me a bit. I don't do drugs. I don't think anybody should do them. I don't think people should do drugs just to be more competitive than other athletes."

• Julio Jimenez, baseball — "In some ways it may be unconstitutional because you should mind your own business. But athletes should go through it and try to keep clean."

• Vance Self, cheerleader — "I don't mind. I have nothing to hide. I don't do drugs. Half of these people are getting to go to college free. They owe it to the college not to be using drugs."

team be interviewed. "I don't want you talking to my team," the coach stated.

The basketball team contained the only athletes ever dismissed at Howard College on drug charges. In 1987, two of the players were kicked out of school after being accused of smoking marijuana in their dorm rooms.

Dean of Students Dusty Johnston said that the tests given Tuesday, along with physicals for each of the athletes, will not identify any specific drugs that students may be taking.

"Our whole drug policy is designed around rehabilitation," Johnston said. "We're not going to jump anybody. We're not going to kick them out (of school). We're going to try education and rehabilitation before we do anything."

Johnston said he had heard complaints from "a couple of girls" about the test, but he said it was more for modesty reasons than concerns about the drug test. The drug tests were given by a urinalysis.

"Everyone else seems like there is no problem. It is just fine with them," Johnston said. "Every kid

KBYG files Chapter 7 bankruptcy

By STEVE REAGAN
Staff Writer

BIG SPRING — A spokeswoman for a San Angelo attorney confirmed today that the owner of a local radio station has been placed in Chapter 7 bankruptcy.

The woman, who works for attorney William Irving, said that Giraffe Communications, owner of radio station KBYG-AM of Big Spring, were placed in Chapter 7 by a justice with the Northern District Court of Texas at Abilene Aug. 22.

Giraffe Communications, headed by Dick Fields, filed for Chapter 11 reorganization in federal court Sept. 22, 1987. Chapter 7 proceedings call for liquidation of the company's assets, the spokeswoman said.

Attempts to contact Fields today have been unsuccessful.

John Dunnam, sales manager at KBYG, confirmed that the radio station has been placed in receivership but is still in operation, and has been placed under the trusteeship of Henry Seals of Fort Worth.

Seals said today his duties are to BIG SPRING — With mouths to feed and bodies to clothe, the Northside Community Center at 110 N.E. 8th fequred a total budget of $36,460 last year. United Way of Big Spring provided $10,280 of it.

This year, United Way has pledged the center $11,209 of the $2.3 million it hopes to get in its fund drive, slated for Sept. 6 through Oct. 31.

Last year, other funds for the community center came from a $10,000 federal grant for utility assistance, about $6,000 from an annual walkathon, $2,800 from private grants and the rest from church and community donations, said Tommy Welch, president of

Leland's wife says no

HOUSTON (AP) — Rep. Mickey Leland's widow, citing her family as her primary concern, ended speculation and said she would not run for her late husband's congressional seat in a special election this fall.

Alison Leland, a 30-year-old investment banker with Shearson Lehman Hutton Inc., released a one-page statement from her office Tuesday that said she would not be a candidate on the Nov. 7 ballot.

Mrs. Leland, who has a 3-year-old son, Jarrett, and is pregnant, said her family responsibilities are too important to consider running for Congress.

"My priority now has to be to my son, who already misses his father very much and needs and deserves my attention even more now," she said. "We also have a new baby on the way, and I want very much for this child to come into the world happy and healthy, too."

Police chief resigns

CANADIAN (AP) — A Texas Panhandle police chief who was suspended because of a dispute with city officials over a drug dog who wouldn't perform properly has resigned, city officials say.

Canadian Police Chief Phil Taylor announced his resignation Monday, City Manager Dean Looper said Tuesday.

Taylor cited unhappiness with his department's budget as the reason for his resignation, Looper said.

"He's announced for some time that he was going to resign," Loo said Tuesday. "He cited his reason for resignation as dissatisfaction with police budgetary projections for the next fiscal year."

Speed limit expanded

AUSTIN (AP) — About 42 additional miles of roads in Texas will be posted with a 65 mph speed limit, officials said.

The State Highway and Public Transportation Commission adopted the speed limit increase Tuesday. The change will take effect Sept. 8.

Recent changes in federal laws have allowed states to extend the 65 mph limit.

"We believe these new boundaries will appear more logical to motorists, since a change in speed limits will now occur at locations that better distinguish rural travel from urban travel, and thus result in more compliance," said Henry Thomason, highway department deputy director for field operations.

Meridian shooting spree leaves three dead

MERIDIAN (AP) — A man fatally shot his father-in-law, mother-in-law and brother-in-law, bound and gagged his three daughters and a nephew and abducted his estranged wife, then intentionally crashed his car in an apparent suicide attempt, authorities said.

Billy Wayne Coble and his estranged wife, Karen Coble, were pinned in the wreckage Tuesday night. They and the driver of the truck they hit were taken to Goodall-Witcher Foundation Hospital in nearby Clifton, where they were reported to be in stable condition early today.

The incident apparently began between 5:30 p.m. and 6 p.m. Tuesday when Mrs. Coble's brother, Waco Police Sgt. John Bobby Vicha, was shot to death in the garage of his home in Axtell, a community about 15 miles northeast of Waco.

Authorities speculate that John and Zeldia Vicha were shot to death at their nearby home a short time later. Mrs. Vicha was found in the garage and her husband in a back room, McLennan County Sheriff Jack Harwell said. Justice of the Peace David Pareya said both were shot in the head.

Coble then apparently went to the home of his wife and children, also in Axtell.

WACO — McLennan County lawmen gather information outside the home where they found two bodies in a triple murder near Axtell. A third victim was killed within 300 yards of where the bodies were found.

Chad Stanley, 16, of Axtell told authorities he went to the Coble home to see his 16-year-old girlfriend, but Mrs. Coble came to the door.

"She had her hands behind her back, and she was shaking real bad," Stanley said. "And she moved her lips like, 'There's somebody in the house.' It was like she was giving me a signal."

Stanley said he and two friends later returned to the Coble home and found his girlfriend, her sisters, ages 14 and 10, and Sgt. Vicha's 10-year-old son with tape over their mouths and their hands tied behind their backs. Mrs. Coble was not there.

"We got them out of the house because they said he was coming back, and he said he was going to kill himself," said Stanley.

Waco Police Sgt. Steve De La Rosa said that Waco police broadcast a description of Billy Wayne Coble, and the car he was driving and said the man was wanted on charges of capital murder and aggravated kidnapping.

A deputy sheriff in Bosque County, which adjoins McLennan County on the northwest, reported spotting Coble's vehicle on Texas Highway 22, near the Bosque County seat of Meridian, about 65 miles northwest of Waco. The deputy followed the car for a time, waiting for backup help, officials said.

"The chase didn't last very long," said Bosque County chief deputy Dewell Harper. "The guy sped up to 80, then intentionally ran into a truck that had pulled over to the side of the road."

"That's what he was trying to do — suicide and another murder," Harper said.

Officers found two handguns in the car after getting Coble and his wife out of the wrecked car.

Vicha, an 18-year veteran of the police department, worked directly under Waco Police Chief Larry Scott, a police spokesman said.

Bullock projects a budget surplus

AUSTIN (AP) — State government's no longer operating in the red.

Comptroller Bob Bullock says the state will wind up the 1989 fiscal year Thursday with a positive balance of about $300 million. That's up from the 1988 ending balance of $113 million and the second year in a row no deficit has been left at year's end.

"We're closing the books on another good year for state government finances. We've got money in the bank and we can pay our bills," Bullock said Tuesday.

The past two years have been a sharp contrast to 1986 and 1987, when the oil price collapse helped drag the state budget into the red.

The state's 1986 ending balance was a negative $231 million, and the state wound up fiscal 1987 some $745 million in the hole.

Oil prices plunged from near $30 a barrel late in 1985 to less than $10 by mid-1986. That collapse sparked a major economic downturn in Texas, with the real estate and banking industries both falling into trouble.

Faced with a deepening deficit, the Legislature in 1986 raised taxes by about $1 billion, and in 1987 Gov. Bill Clements wound up signing the largest tax increase in state history — nearly $6 billion.

Bullock said this year's positive budget balance is due to the state's rebounding economy and to the 1987 tax hike.

He said that, technically, the $300 million is not a budget surplus because it represents funds that are earmarked but not yet spent. The ending balance could have totaled more than $600 million, Bullock said, but lawmakers elected to pay some major state bills before the end of the current fiscal year.

State tax collections for the 1989 budget year will have totaled $12.9 billion, a 4 percent increase over 1988, he said. Most of the gain comes from increased sales tax collections, which have jumped 11 percent from 1988 to 1989.

Natural gas, motor vehicle and hotel-motel taxes also showed solid 1989 gains. Natural gas collections were paced by strong industrial demand and rising prices, while the other levies were the results of increased auto sales.

New passenger train on track

HOUSTON (AP) — After 6 1/2 years of work and more than $1 billion in expenses, the Texas Limited began a new era in Texas by becoming the first passenger train in 20 years to link Houston and Galveston.

"It's been an extremely difficult project to put together," said Franklin Denson, the Houston businessman who has spearheaded the project.

"We're dealing with three railroad companies; we had labor organizations we had to work out problems with; and we had Amtrak to negotiate with," he said Tuesday.

"It's just what we came to them with was a hybrid animal that nobody had ever seen before. The passenger trains disappeared between Houston and Galveston many years ago and the companies that own these railroad tracks have been out of that business over a generation. And here we come along trying to put something back together that's been gone for a long time."

Denson, 42, whose great-grandfather was president of the Birmingham Southern Railroad Co., once worked as a brakeman for the Santa Fe Railroad before he went into banking.

Denson said despite all the headaches in planning the project, he never doubted it would be completed.

"I felt it was a question of time and persistence," he said. "I'm absolutely ecstatic. It's going to do so much good for our city."

A special inaugural run for the five-car train was scheduled for Thursday, with the first public service set for Friday. Regular service will be Thursday through Sunday, with two round trips on Saturdays.

Tuesday's first 50-mile trip to Galveston on the Gulf of Mexico left Houston's Amtrak station at 9:34 a.m., about a half-hour later than expected because railroad officials insisted on last-minute brake tests.

Officials back off on license motto

AUSTIN (AP) — The state highway commission has dropped plans to place "The Friendship State" on Texas license plates, but commissioners don't want people outside the state to think Texans are unfriendly.

Commission Chairman Robert Dedman said Tuesday the debate should continue on a slogan for license plates and said he hoped a consensus could be reached on a positive slogan that would temper outsiders' views of Texans.

"We should do everything to say 'Y'all come' to visitors to the state and 'Y'all come in bringing hi-tech and other jobs," he said. But the commission made it official, Texas will not be "The Friendship State."

Commissioners conceded defeat, urged unity and asked for help as they unanimously rejected placing the slogan on Texas license plates, ending a debate that stirred Texans' imagination and pride.

Responding to the avalanche of complaints about the earlier decision to use "The Friendship State," Dedman said perhaps "Never give up" should be the new slogan.

As it is, Texas' plates next spring will remain sloganless, although more colorful with a red, white and blue state flag.

On July 19, the three-member commission approved, with little fanfare, "The Friendship State" for the approximately 27 million Texas license plates.

Friendship is the official state motto and the word Texas derives from the Spanish pronunciation of an Indian word meaning "friends."

But once word of the move reached the public, thousands of Texans, prouder of their independence than their friendliness, jammed telephone lines to the highway department.

Hearing into paper squabble adjourns without ruling

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — A federal hearing adjourned Tuesday without a ruling on whether to dissolve a temporary restraining order in a legal battle between two Dallas newspapers over publication rights to syndicated columns and comic strips.

"Nothing substantial came of it," David Oliver, an attorney for Universal Press Syndicate, said of the hearing before U.S. District Judge B. Brook Bartlett.

Bartlett granted Universal Press' request for the temporary restraining order last week, saying he wanted to keep the Dallas Times Herald from doing anything to infringe on his jurisdiction.

The Times Herald and The Dallas Morning News are fighting over rights to several Universal Press features, including Dear Abby and Doonesbury.

The features currently appear in the smaller Times Herald, but an agreement between Morning News parent A.H. Belo Corp. and the syndicate would give the Morning News exclusive right to publish the comics and columns beginning next week.

On Monday, the Times Herald won its own temporary restraining order from a state judge in Houston barring the Morning News from publishing the features.

State District Judge David West in Houston said Monday that his order in granting the restraining order could mean no Dallas newspaper will be carrying the features and comics. "Until the logjam is broken, that's what the result is," he said.

Oliver said the hearing before Bartlett Tuesday broke down because the parties could not decide when to reschedule a hearing on the syndicate's federal copyright suit against the Times Herald.

How's that?

Q. How can I obtain copies of my military service records which are not a part of my Department of Veterans Affairs claims file?
A. According to the VA Medical Centers Office of Public Affairs, military records are kept at the National Personnel Records Center in St. Louis. Any VA regional office of veterans' service organization can assist you in requesting copies of your military records.

 operate the station until either a new buyer is found or its assets are liquidated.
 Dunnam said that the station will be in operation for at least the next 90 days.
 "Usually, under Chapter 7, you'd put a lock on the door and liquidate the assets (immediately)," Dunnam said. "But a radio station is an exception. On the air, it might be worth $3 million, but off the air, it's not worth anything."
 Other factors working in the stations favor are its continual operation in Big Spring for 40 years plus its being the only country-western station in a "country-oriented" area, he said.
 Fields tendered his resignation with the station effective Aug. 23. Since that time, operations have been "business as usual," Dunnam said.
 No other KBYG personnel were affected by the action, Dunnam said, although Oldies 101, the FM station previously owned by Giraffe, has severed all ties with its AM counterpart. The FM station also is still in operation, he said.
 No buyer for KBYG has been found as of this morning, Dunnam noted.

 that participates in athletics will be getting the test."
 Johnston said that under a new drug policy pushed by President Bush, students receiving federal money have to sign a statement saying that they have not and are not using drugs.
 "We've done this for several years with baseball and basketball players," Riley said Tuesday. "This year we felt that all our students participating in the athletic program should have a physical."
 Riley said the drug test was just a small part of the physical. Cheerleaders and rodeo team members were added to the groups to get physicals following the death of a Quanah, Texas, rodeo rider at another school. It was later determined the student had a congenital heart defect.

 "If any of our athletes have problems of any kind we certainly want to identify it now so we can protect them as well as their teammates," Riley said. "Everyone gets a physical."
 Riley said that as a result of last year's physical it was determined that some athletes had sickle cell anemia and blood disorders.
 "Out of 80 something kids we tested last year, 18 of them had some sort of disorder," Riley said.
 But Riley did say that if drugs were evident in the urinalysis "the next step would be counseling with the kid."
 "We would need to find out if he was taking a medication... make sure that there wasn't something wrong with him we needed to know about."

 "Once the counseling session was over... if a kid had a problem later on... counseling would be required and further tests conducted."
 "If a student has been using drugs we will try to counsel and rehabilitate them," Johnston said. "Then we will retest them."
 "The drug policy adopted by the trustees this summer states that all athletes should undergo a physical, urinalysis and drug tests."
 "We don't have a drug problem," said Riley. "Two years ago we sent a boy home for smoking marijuana. We hated it but the coach walked in his room and caught him smoking it. We don't have a problem because our coaches spend a lot of time screening athletes before they come to Howard College."

 "These students are scholarship athletes. Nearly all of them are highly motivated and perform at an extremely high physical level."
 "We feel not only for their protection, but for the protection of their teammates, we are going to know if they are physically ready for the rigors of sports."
 "We want them to be healthy and able to represent Howard College to the best of their ability."

Officials: HC drug tests OK

BIG SPRING — Despite a federal judge's ruling that declared mandatory drug tests in a Southeast Texas school district unconstitutional, officials at Howard College said they believe the drug tests they administered Tuesday are perfectly legal.
 "The public school is such a different institution than an institution of higher education," said College President Bob Riley. "The students at that school were going to school because the law said they had to... those kids don't have a choice. Our students had a choice (of where to go to school)."

The ruling, issued Thursday, said the mandatory tests required of students in the East Chambers Consolidated Independent School District were a constitutionally improper intrusion of students' individual rights. The district was ordered not to administer them again this fall.
 The high school tests were somewhat similar to tests at Howard College. Students were required to produce a urine sample for drug testing before taking part in such activities as sports, cheerleading and band.
 Under the high school program, a student testing positive for drugs would be suspended from extracurricular school activities and placed in a counseling program.
 A student testing positive a second time would be suspended from school for one semester and a student testing positive a third time would be suspended for one year.

Riley said the drug tests at Howard College were just part of a physical required of all athletes.
 Dean of students Dusty Johnson said athletes at the college are not forced to take the drug tests, but did say that if the athlete refuses, he or she may lose their scholarships and be removed from the team, according to the drug policy adopted by the school trustees this summer.
 "I am assuming that the state will help," said Choate. "We are going to present a request to the state."
 Choate expressed his sense of pride in the facility. "We're giving the members a place to come to, giving them job training and jobs."
 The Corral serves 132 members, according to Joanne Forrest, program director. The average daily attendance is 32 people.

 department budget, then a 3-cent tax rate increase will be sufficient.
 "The whole thing is this chief: somebody blew it," Green said of the differences between the police department budget and the budget Cook turned in.
 In the council's copy of the budget, the police department salaries for 1988-89 do not reflect a $50 per month raise that all city employees received, Boyd said. The proposed salaries listed for 1989-90 do reflect that change, he said.
 It appears that police department personnel are receiving a new $50 per month raise, when actually that is the increase approved last year, Boyd explained.
 Some of the officers, however, do receive raises in the 1989-90 because of certification changes, Boyd said. Certification pay raises also are given to fire department personnel and utility department personnel who qualify, he said.
 "Through no fault of the police department, this error existed," Boyd said. "We did not catch it. We feel item three (1988-89 salaries) was strictly a reference item."
 "We regret the error and the confusion it brought about at the meeting last night."
 Boyd said he would brief both Green and Clark today before the council holds its budget workshop at 6 p.m.
 Green said this morning he doesn't know if certification raises will be cut from the police department budget.

 "This is going to be a decision for the council to make," said Green, who hadn't yet been informed about the error when he spoke with the Herald. "It was my understanding that there were not any raises in the budget, including the police department. The paperwork indicates that there are nice raises for everybody in the police department."
 Green said he will take a close look at the certification pay increases because "I don't know anything about it."
 Cook said this morning that he will ask the council to continue paying certification raises for officers who qualify as it has since 1986.
 "That's what the officers came on board believing they would receive," Cook said.
 Tuesday's meeting, which originally was a budget workshop, was changed to a special session at the request of several council members.
 That request prompted Councilman D.D. Johnston to question the motivation behind it.
 "While two of the council members (Green and Johnston) were out of pocket, they tried to call a special meeting," Johnston said, asking who it was.
 Councilwoman Gail Earls said she asked for the special session over the tax rate because she still feels the increase is not high enough to at least maintain city services. She said she didn't make the request because two councilmen were out of town.

 "I would like for us to go back to our original plan that the city staff brought us," which included a 5-cent rate increase, Earls said. "We flat did not listen," to people at the public hearing asking for the 3-cent increase.
 A quick consensus of the council showed Earls, Councilwoman Pat DeAnda and Councilman Chuck Condray favored reconsidering the tax rate. Councilmen Johnston, Clark and Tim Blackshear, as well as Green, recommended keeping the 3-cent increase.
 The council also met in executive session with Boyd, a request made by Green.
 "It was relating to Mr. Boyd and no one else," Green said of the executive session. "About all I can say is that it improved the communications between the council and management."
 The council agreed to cancel Thursday night's budget workshop but will meet tonight to discuss the budget, including requests for funds from various community groups and services.
 Another workshop was scheduled for Tuesday, Sept. 5 at 6 p.m.

 Board renewed a request to the city for matching funding of $6,000 per year from the city.
 "We have not been officially turned down so we still have some hope," said Earnst, who admitted that funding by the city did seem unlikely.
 The city council is planning to discuss funding for community services in today's meeting. Mayor Max Green said the Corral request will be considered.
 "If the majority of the council votes to spend the money, then yes, they will receive the money," he said.
 The building that houses the Corral is owned by former mayor A.C. "Cotton" Mize, who agreed to lease it to the board about 2 1/2 years ago, after an extended search in which no other suitable space for the program was found. Mize renovated the building at his own expense, including installation of handicapped facilities, and has maintained the building for a monthly rental of $500.
 When the building was rented, said Earnst, the board requested funding in the amount of $6,000 from the county and a matching $6,000 from the city.
 The city declined to fund the project because of a possible conflict of interest.

 "Because I was the mayor and making $100 a month, the rest of the council felt it would be a conflict of interest for them to fund a program for which I received rent," said Mize.
 Mize said that because he thought the program was badly needed by the city, he agreed to pay the utilities while he was mayor.
 "There was nothing for these ex-patients to do before the Corral," said Mize. "They were hanging out in the cafes and businesses in the downtown area."

It was a nuisance to the businesses.
 "It cost me between $11,000 and $12,000 up to now to pay the utilities. As of Sept. 31, I can no longer continue to do it. I'm retired now and can't afford it anymore."
 "I think Cotton has gone above and beyond what a private citizen should do," said Carroll Choate, chairman of the Advisory Board. "He has helped fund this program since its beginning. I would like to have seen the city pay part of the funding, especially since the county does."
 Although there is no question of the Corral being forced to close, new funding for the utilities will have to be found.

 "I am assuming that the state will help," said Choate. "We are going to present a request to the state."
 Choate expressed his sense of pride in the facility. "We're giving the members a place to come to, giving them job training and jobs."

 the center's board of directors.
 "The center takes any types of donations," Welch said. "Some of the local churches will take collections."
 Serving as the center's facilities is a remodeled house nestled into the corner of a neighborhood park adjacent to a fire station. The building is leased from the city for $1 a year, Welch said. "It's nothing elaborate at all."
 It is open Monday through Thursday from 10 a.m.-noon and from 1-4 p.m. On Friday it is open from 10 a.m.-1 p.m. It is closed on the weekends.
 Transients, alcoholics, single men, and women and children pass through the doors at a rate of more than 50 a week. Welch said the center's director, Marianne Brown, with the help of another full-time staff member, assisted 240 people during the month of July.
 "She takes care of people who can't take care of themselves," he said.
 Besides food and clothing, the center also provides emergency lodging. "Sometimes we provide long-term lodging for a family or a single mother," Welch said.

 Helping people pay utilities when they have been turned off is another service, he said.
 "In the middle of the winter if they have their utilities cut off, there is money administered through the center that takes care of that." He said it is a one-time service.
 Other services include legal advice for divorce and abuse cases and infant care service. Even furniture is given out if it is available. When the center cannot assist someone, a referral is made to another agency, Welch said.
 "We're kind of a small agency," he said. "We feel like what we do is a much needed service."

Sheriff's log

The Howard County Sheriff's Office reported the following incidents:

Columbia needs aid in drug war

The democratic government of Colombia is struggling for its very survival against the ruthless, powerful Medellin cartel, supplier of most of the world's cocaine. For the past decade, the drug dealers have steadily expanded their bloodstained command over the country's civil authority, particularly the judiciary and law-enforcement establishment. The hour now has arrived for Washington and Bogota to join in a broader alliance against the narcotrafficantes before the country's civil rule collapses altogether.

President Virgilio Barco Vargas is battling a gangster force that is highly armed with weapons and cash, and sustained by an international network of cocaine profiteers and users. His valiant appeal for emergency help from the United States must not be brushed aside. As the globe's largest consumer of illicit cocaine, this country has an enormous stake in Colombia's fight to overcome the Medellin warlords.

The use of American ground troops to search out the hundreds of cocaine processing laboratories and personal hideouts scattered throughout the remote mountains of Colombia would probably be as ineffective as it would be controversial. But the United States should be prepared to provide technical assistance of a military nature to the Colombian army. This should include such hardware as helicopters and advanced surveillance equipment, as well as shared intelligence and advice on deployment of Colombia's military resources.

Although the Medellin cartel has penetrated virtually every sinew of Colombian society, the leaders of the army remain relatively uncorrupted. The Bush administration ought to give whatever help it can to bolster the army's emerging campaign against narco-terrorist strongholds. Similar military cooperation between the United States and Bolivia — in which American helicopters were employed in Operation Blast Furnace — achieved some success in disrupting the cocaine trade in that corner of the continent.

A potentially more potent weapon is the U.S.-Colombian extradition treaty.

After more than 200 judges and other court officials were slain by Medellin gunmen since 1981, the accord allowing for the transfer of drug kingpins to the United States for prosecution was suspended. President Barco has pledged to reinstate it following the submachine-gun assassination of presidential candidate Luis Carlos Galan.

Mr. Galan became a prime target of the traffickers because of his vigorous support for extradition, the one measure feared by every leader of the cartel. U.S. marshals hold warrants for 52 major Colombian narcotics figures, including Jorge Ochoa, considered to be at the top of the Medellin power structure. The first test of the revived extradition policy will be whether Colombia turns over Eduardo Martinez Romero, another Medellin leader who is wanted on charges in the United States. He is among more than 10,000 suspects picked up in government sweeps following Mr. Gallan's murder.

Under existing conditions, prosecuting such powerful drug chieftains in Colombia is often impossible. Judges, police officers and others responsible for arresting and detaining Medellin leaders are usually confronted by the choice of a generous bribe or a bullet to the head. Although many jurists have bravely sought to enforce the law, their lives are clearly in jeopardy as long as the drug dealers continue to exert such sweeping control over Colombian society.

The crisis in Colombia is shared by all Americans. If the United States fails to join the combat on the front lines, it will be only a matter of time until the corrupting influence of the Medellin barons is felt much closer to home.

United by shared information

By KAREN MCCARTHY
Staff Writer

I love to read and probably spend more time doing it than I should. A lot of my reading is purely recreational — trashy novels, murder mysteries, autobiographies by uninspiring people, half-baked theories of social behavior, etc. Every once in a while, however, I pick up a book that is informative, well written, persuasive, and one that changes the way I look at the subject.

Cultural Literacy by E.D. Hirsch Jr. is such a book.

Hirsch defines cultural literacy as a knowledge of the basic network of information that is assumed to be shared by every literate person within a culture. This shared information forms the backbone of our identity as a group, such as the people of the United States. We have a common background of concepts, facts, literature, phrases, ideas. This shared information both unites us and allows us to communicate our differences.

A speaker or writer is able to assume his audience has basic information that allows them to understand commonly perceived referents with no further explanation. If he talks about the Civil War, he does not have to tell us it was fought between the northern states and the southern states between 1861 and 1865 or that the North won. If he mentions George Washington he can assume his audience will place Washington as the first president of the United States and that they will have some information about Washington's life and times. Hirsch argues that the decline in reading and comprehension skills found in U.S. students is due to a decline in the amount of shared knowledge these students possess. It is difficult to understand even a simply written passage if the basic referents are unfamiliar. According to Hirsch, the curriculum in our public schools has become so fragmented that basic background material is deemphasized or overlooked.

Hirsch's thesis, however well documented and well reasoned, would be just another abstract study of "why Johnny can't read" except for the inclusion of a list of approximately 5,000 words, dates, phrases, names and quotations which Hirsch and his colleagues believe form the basis of cultural literacy in the U.S. These are terms that appear in newspapers, magazines and books without explanation.

While I might quibble about the inclusion of some items on the list (those terms which I either did not recognize or had only the most fuzzy knowledge of) I can see the value of such a list in setting national standards of education.

I tried out the dates 1066, 1492, 1776, 1861-65, 1914-1918, and 1939-1945 from the list on a group of teens who will be entering college this fall. Three of the six dates were not identified by any of the students. Older adults recognized all of the dates with the exception of 1066, which two did not know.

Since I am quite sure these dates were taught in school, I have to assume they were lost in a jumble of other information and never emphasized as being important enough to retain past the next test. As we went down the list, the students missed more and more items I took for granted they would know.

This leaves the writer with a dilemma; how much information will he have to provide for the benefit of younger readers at the risk of over-simplification to older readers.

A companion dictionary has recently been published which defines the 5,000 words and terms on the list. I would like to see it become required study for every high school student.

The dictionary is available in the Howard County Public Library for those of you who want to self-test your literacy level.

Watch Bush's lips more closely

By JACK ANDERSON and DALE VAN ATTA

WASHINGTON — The $160 billion thrift bailout has been approved by George Bush, the same guy who said, "Read my lips, no new taxes." You may still be trying to read his lips, but the savings and loan industry doesn't have to. It has his signature on the bottom of the law.

What happened here? One day Ronald Reagan and his minions were telling you that things could only get better if he deregulated the thrift industry and let it reach its full money-making potential. Today each American man, woman and child is looking at a $1,000 personal bill to pay the price of the free market run amok. We'll borrow from an old caveat: There ain't no such thing as a free market, and the only check in the mail is the one you'll be writing to the IRS.

Eight years ago, no one would have imagined that the financial scandal of the century would begin at the corner savings and loan — that friendly place that handed out toasters and home mortgages.

Behind those familiar doors grew a bizarre industry that threw your life savings into wildly speculative deals. And then, one by one, as the deals fell through, the thrifts closed their doors until Reagan left the White House and Bush was left to apologize and clean up the mess.

Edwin Gray was the chief regulator of the savings and loan industry for most of the Reagan administration. He was a Reagan loyalist who followed his president into the deregulatory quagmire. But unlike Reagan, Gray was smart enough to realize when he was up to his knees in quicksand.

He couldn't get the Reagan administration to take the crisis seriously. He tried to crack the whip, propose regulations and refinance the depositor insurance fund. But he found himself increasingly alienated from the administration. And now the entire country is up to its neck.

In an interview with our associate Michael Binstein, Gray recounted how it felt to be treading the crisis.

"My one goal was to pass a FSLIC (Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corp.) recapitalization bill. It was so damn critical," Gray said. "We knew that Jim Wright (former Democratic Texas representative and Speaker of the House) had life and death power over this legislation. He was, in a sense, strong-arming me. He seemed to be far more interested in protecting his friends, who we knew were running massively insolvent institutions, to prevent them from being closed down. He didn't seem to have any concern for protecting depositors, only savings and loan operations."

Gray needed more regulators and more expertise to police the money brokers who were shifting the money around to whatever savings and loan was offering the best interest. "The razzle-dazzle guys in the money brokering business sought to portray me as old-fashioned, out of step with the times," Gray recalled. "But these fellows knew what they were about. They were making big money off brokered funds transactions and taking no risk, none whatsoever. The only risk was to the FSLIC. The money brokers who were screaming the loudest were so damned hypocritical. They knew we were critically short of examiners."

Gray couldn't get any more money out of the Office of Management and Budget to hire more regulators, because that would fly in the face of deregulation. In fact, Gray couldn't even get budget director David Stockman to talk to him. Instead, Gray was reduced to sending messages through Stockman's underling Connie Horner. He says she responded by telling him that he didn't understand deregulation and that government needed to get out of the pocket of big business.

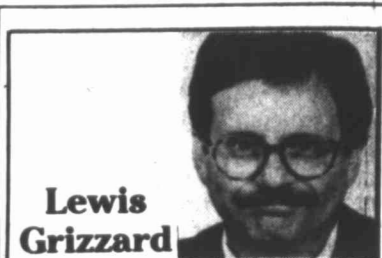

Whose pocket are they in now? GOOD NEWS OR BAD — The latest reports from Moscow describe a disturbing development. The Communist Party structure is eroding. That might sound like good news, but behind the Eastern Bloc where change happens slowly, there can be too much of a good thing.

The erosion has caused great alarm among top Soviet leaders who may feel compelled to take drastic action to stop the disintegration.

The Kremlin's secret polls show that the party's popularity has plunged. In the Baltic republics, the opposition parties are stronger than the communists. That has encouraged local politicians to call for independence from Moscow.

In Kuzbass, Siberia, political power has already passed from the communist leadership to rank-and-file workers' committees. So, in the backrooms of the Kremlin, the hardliners are warning that Mikhail Gorbachev's reforms are destroying the party. They want to unleash the secret police to crack down again on opponents. They're also talking about imposing martial law and using the Red Army to prevent a complete collapse of communist rule.

The era of painless dentistry

By LEWIS GRIZZARD

It was just a small item in the papers, but after I had read it — several times, to make certain my eyes were not deceiving me — I felt elation unmatched since I found out there really wasn't a bogieman and that they can't give you a death sentence in a divorce trial.

What follows is the first paragraph of the item. You might want to sit down if you are in the habit of reading the paper while standing up.

"A laser beam that vaporizes pockets of tooth decay, treats cavities without drilling, anesthesia or pain, a researcher says."

Did you get that? A laser beam can zap Mr. Tooth Decay. And there's no drilling, no shots of Novocaine into your tender gums and no pain.

I feel like singing: "Goodbye, Novocaine Good-bye, painHello, laser beamFor somebody more afraid of dentists than snakes and spidersyou are a dream."

Here's what the story had to say: "When it (the laser) was used on 100 teeth with cavities or shallow decay, 95 percent of the patients reported feeling nothing," said Richard Klein, a dentist. The others reported a brief warmth or tingle that was not uncomfortable.

Dr. Klein of Madison Heights, Mich., spoke at a recent news conference for a dental laser developed by Sunrise Technologies of Sunnyvale, Calif. The device has been sold in other countries, but it has not yet been approved by the Food and Drug Administration for general use in the United States.

Well, what is the Food and Drug Administration waiting for? This is a miracle. This is a giant step for mankind. Not to mention womankind, kidding and terrified-by-dentists-kind, the category into which I fall.

I went to the dentist for the first time when I was 5 and it scarred me for life.

I'd rather eat liver every day for a week than go to the dentist. I'd rather get stuck on an elevator with Regis Philbin or have a son who turned out to be a punk rocker than go to the dentist.

But hold the celebration for a moment. What concerns me here is even if the FDA approves the laser, how many American dentists will get one? I'm convinced most dentists are latent sadists who couldn't find anybody to tie up and whip so they went to dental school instead.

Why else would anybody want to spend his or her days in somebody else's mouth?

No drilling? No anesthesia? No pain? Without any of that, where's the fun in being a dentist?

Remember Steve Martin as the dentist in "Little Shop of Horrors"? An excellent characterization of dentists, I thought.

By day Steve Martin tortured his patients. By night, he'd get on his motorcycle and go beat up his girlfriend and run over any cats that happened to get in his way.

For all the pain they have dealt out over the years, dentists should be willing to suffer a little, too.

As much as it might hurt, I hereby challenge the American Dental Association to endure whatever pain might be involved in putting away the needles and drills and instead provide us with the dream of painless dentistry — warmth and tingles instead of the cold wrath of agony.

Open wide, ye grinders and flossers, and accept an idea whose time has come.

Bush, PM Mulroney to meet

KENNEBUNKPORT, Maine (AP) — Progress on trade and acid rain issues have U.S.-Canadian relations in pretty good shape as President Bush welcomes Canadian Prime Minister Brian Mulroney to his vacation home today, says Bush's national security adviser.

The 15th day of Bush's nearly three-week vacation also included a scheduled speech to the Kennebunk-Kennebunkport Chamber of Commerce, which is giving the president its Citizen of the Year Award.

Mulroney, his wife Mila and their four children were to arrive in late afternoon at Bush's Walker's Point compound for an overnight visit.

Bush's national security adviser, Brent Scowcroft, said Tuesday the private visit would give the two leaders "a chance to relax (and) a chance to exchange views" on world events, including the dramatic changes in Poland as well as the crises in Lebanon and Colombia.

Scowcroft said the two old friends share "a close similarity of views ... on world affairs and a kind of unique personal closeness and frankness in exchanging views."

Doctors: Generics still safe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Consumer advocates and physicians say there's no reason to doubt the safety and effectiveness of most generic drugs, and consumers appear to be heeding that advice.

"I don't think there's panic in the streets. I think they're concerned," said Harold Cohen, editor of the trade publication Drug Store News-Inside Pharmacy, referring to drug consumers.

Cohen, who has been visiting pharmacies in St. Louis, Phoenix and Washington D.C. for the past week, said Monday he saw few customers switching from a generic to a brand-name drug.

"As far as we know there is no problem with safety at this time and no problem that is one that would make people stop taking generic drugs," Dr. Frank Young, commissioner of the Food and Drug Administration, said today.

"If you are concerned, see your physician, but don't switch without really checking with someone first," he said on "CBS This Morning."

Disclosures of fraud and corruption in the FDA's generic drug division have tainted the agency's reputation and cast doubts on the industry as well as the safety and efficacy of generic medicines.

Cuban-American wins election

MIAMI (AP) — A strong Hispanic turnout helped make Republican Ileana Ros-Lehtinen the first Cuban-American elected to Congress, ending an ethnically divisive campaign for the seat held by Democrat Claude Pepper for 27 years.

ILEANA ROS-LEHTINEN

"Now it's time to forget our differences and focus on unity. ... we are all Americans," Ms. Ros-Lehtinen said after defeating Democrat Gerald Richman in Tuesday's special election.

During the monthlong campaign, Ms. Ros-Lehtinen refused to debate Richman following claims that his "American seat" theme stirred prejudices against Hispanics.

Richman had said his remark "This is an American seat" was an appeal to voters to decide on qualifications, not birthplace.

MEDELLIN, Colombia — Onlookers view the damage to a government-owned liquor factory that was allegedly bombed by drug traffickers here Tuesday.

Judges resign in wake of threats

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — Three more judges resigned in Medellin, the nation's cocaine capital, after threats were made by drug lords seeking to halt a government crackdown on narcotics trafficking, authorities said today.

The resignations brought to 108 the number of judges who have quit since the traffickers vowed Aug. 18 to retaliate against the government, police, journalists and others regarded as a threat to the drug empire.

The traffickers have said they will kill 10 judges for every Colombian extradited to the United States to stand trial on drug charges.

The Medellin magistrates, who resigned on Tuesday, had been investigating slayings believed to have been ordered by drug traffickers.

The government, meanwhile, was reported to be preparing to extradite to the United States the first drug figure since the traffickers' terror campaign began two weeks ago.

The effort to extradite Eduardo Martinez Romero, an alleged money manager for the traffickers, is seen as a key test of Colombia's will to battle the drug barons.

He was arrested in the first days of an unprecedented offensive against trafficking, which began after gunmen hired by the cartel assassinated presidential hopeful Sen. Luis Carlos Galan on Aug. 18.

The syndicated TV news program "Noticiero 24 Horas" reported the Colombian government notified Martinez on Tuesday of plans to extradite him to the United States. He was told he had five working days, or until next Tuesday, to appeal.

A U.S. narcotics official had said earlier that the paperwork was going forward on an extradition request for Martinez, a 35-year-old economist who faces federal charges in Atlanta in a $1.2 billion operation for laundering cocaine profits. He is being held under heavy guard by the investigations division of Colombia's national police force.

The television did not cite a source for its report. A presidential spokesman said he could not give any information.

President Virgilio Barco re-established the country's extradition treaty as part of a series of emergency measures in the drug crackdown.

World

Police arrest archbishop's wife

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — About 100 black and white women, including the wife of Archbishop Desmond Tutu, were arrested today as they began an anti-government protest march in central Cape Town.

Police stopped the women when they emerged from a church hall to march to the British Embassy. They intended to ask Britain to protest the South African government's handling of student unrest in the Cape Town area and to intercede on behalf of three black activists facing execution for a 1986 killing.

In addition to Leah Tutu, those arrested included Mary Burton, a white who heads the Black Sash civil rights group, and Dorothy Boesak, wife of the Rev. Allan Boesak, a prominent mixed-race activist who is president of the World Alliance of Reformed Churches.

AI demands stop to killings

LONDON (AP) — Amnesty International said today that it has appealed to the Chinese government to "stop using judicial killing" as a way to suppress internal opposition.

The human rights organization said it sent a telex message to Premier Li Peng saying it feared the brutal crackdown on pro-democracy demonstrators in Beijing last June reflected an official policy of crushing peaceful opposition at any cost.

Amnesty International did not release a text of its message to Li. However, the organization said it appealed for the release of all "prisoners of conscience" and for fair trials for all those facing political charges.

The London-based organization, which opposes capital punishment in all countries, also called for an end to executions.

In a report published today, Amnesty International estimated at least 1,000 people were killed when security forces moved against the demonstrators.

Syrians, Christian forces battle

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Syrian and Christian forces battled for six hours with artillery in Beirut today, and mortar rounds exploded near a meeting between a French peace envoy and a Moslem leader.

Police said one person was killed and 19 wounded in the fighting. The latest casualties raised the toll from the nearly six months of clashes to at least 803 killed and 2,287 wounded.

The French envoy, Francois Scheer, drove from the Christian sector across Beirut's dividing Green Line into Moslem west Beirut during mortar and sniper exchanges. He met with Sheik Mohammed Mehdi Shamseddine, the senior Shiite Moslem cleric in Lebanon.

Scheer traveled with an escort of two carloads of bodyguards. During a 45-minute meeting at Shamseddine's second-floor apartment in the Tallet Khayat district, five mortar rounds exploded nearby.

Rebel leader to boycott meetings

ISLAMABAD, Pakistan (AP) — An Afghan rebel leader who has been a major recipient of U.S. military aid will boycott meetings of the guerrillas' interim government until elections are held, his spokesman said today.

It was the latest blow to the Moslem insurgents' government-in-exile, which has been troubled by bickering and fighting.

The leader, Gulbaddin Hekmatyar of the fundamentalist Hezb-i-Islami rebel group, said he will no longer attend the government's cabinet meetings until elections are held, his spokesman, Abdul Qadeer Karyab, said in an interview.

The move fulfilled a threat Hekmatyar made earlier this month when he criticized the interim government for not meeting a six-month deadline for elections and the drafting of an Islamic constitution for Afghanistan.

The charismatic rebel leader has repeatedly been accused of treachery by rival guerrilla fighters.

WE HAVE THE RIGHT ANSWER

Advertisers who want to place their print ads in a quality publication ask the question: "Is your circulation audited?"

We're very proud to answer "Yes."

We are a member of the Audit Bureau of Circulations because we share ABC's belief that circulation audits are an essential assurance of value.

ABC is the premier circulation auditing organization in the world, and has been since 1914. Each year, ABC auditors test and verify that our circulation figures are facts, not claims. An ABC audit is the sign of a sound investment for advertisers.

Not all publications are audited, but they should be. Because when advertisers ask "Is your circulation audited?" there's only one answer.

"Yes."

Papa Joe's Gaucho Salad

By PAPA JOE REED

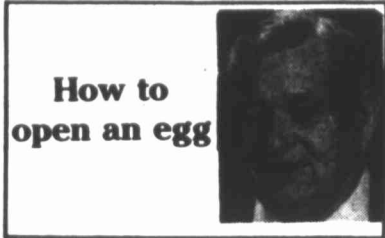

For the last two months we have concentrated on salads. If you have been following this column as you are supposed to, you should be one of the best salad makers in the territory. That's a reputation that you can take great pride in. So many women think of salad as just tomatoes and lettuce smeared with some salad dressing. If that's all you can think of, no wonder people don't care for salads.

Today, we will once again have an unusual, but delicious salad. You will need the following ingredients for:

PAPA JOE'S GAUCHO SALAD

- Salad oil (2 tbs.)
- Vinegar (2 tbs., cider)
- Garlic (1 clove, minced)
- Chili powder (1/2 tsp.)
- Salt and pepper to taste
- Ranch style beans (1 can, drained)
- Celery (3/4 cups, diced)
- Onion (1 medium, cut in rings)
- Sweet pickle relish (2 tbs.)
- Pinto beans (1 can)
- Lettuce

In a mixing bowl, combine oil, vinegar, garlic, chili powder, and salt and pepper. Beat thoroughly with a rotary beater. Set this aside. In another bowl, combine the pinto beans with the ranch style beans, celery, onion, and pickle relish. Pour the marinade over the bean mixture and toss lightly. Cover and chill several hours or overnight; stirring occasionally. Serve in lettuce lined bowls. Garnish with additional onion rings. You can also add strips of bologna and cheese for additional garnish. Serve with crackers and iced tea. A complete meal for the family. You might want a dessert, so lets see what we can come up with.

How to open an egg

How about something cold and colorful? This dessert is called:

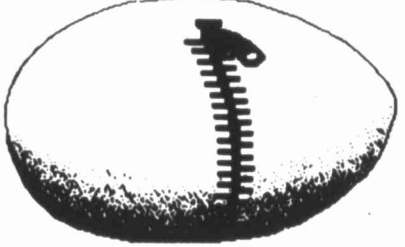

RUBY ICE

- Strawberries (2 10 oz. pkgs., thawed)
- Egg whites (2)
- Sugar (1/4 cup)

About five hours before serving, press your strawberries into a pulp. In a medium bowl, beat the egg whites until soft peaks form. Now slowly add the sugar, continuing to beat until stiff peaks form. Now fold in the strawberry puree into this meringue. Freeze, stirring occasionally, until consistency of soft sherbet. Serve in chilled dishes. Take my word for it, this is delightfully delicious. Everybody will want seconds. Don't spoil them.

If you have mastered these salads I have given you this summer, you should be able to put a complete meal on the table in just a matter of minutes. Let your imagination run wild with garnishes. Its lots of fun.

Papa Joe's Kitchen Tip: When you fry link sausage, if you will skewer them together, you can turn them all with one flip of the spatula. It will also cut down on spattering.

Add variety to your lunch

NEW YORK (AP) — Access to a refrigerator and a microwave can help add variety to your eat-in lunch at the office.

If you have access to a refrigerator, your lunch can include yogurt and fruit; cottage cheese and raw vegetables; tuna fish salad; brown rice salad with cubes of roast or stewed chicken; vegetables marinated in Italian or herb salad dressing; cold cooked pasta with pieces of raw or cooked vegetables.

With a microwave, you can bring leftovers from home and reheat them for lunch. Single servings of food left over from a meal, or planned leftovers, can be refrigerated and reheated. Some examples: macaroni and cheese; chop suey; pot roast and vegetables; spaghetti.

Freezing leftovers is a good way to avoid wasting larger amounts of foods. For easy reheating, store in single-serve containers that can go directly from the freezer into a microwave. For best quality, be sure to use frozen leftovers within 3 to 4 months.

No leftovers? Prepared foods include soups, hot sandwiches and frozen meals. Campbell's Souper-Combo is a line of eight, microwave-only soup and sandwich combinations including Vegetable Soup and Cheeseburger and Tomato Soup-and Grilled Cheese Sandwich. Each selection can go from the freezer to the table in 7 minutes or less.

According to Liz Senior, Campbell's project director, 70 percent of all workers now have access to a microwave at their office.

"This is definitely the age of the microwave," she says.

If your office has kitchen facilities, you can make your own lunch at work. For an easy minipizza, spread a bagel with spaghetti sauce, top with mozzarella cheese and then heat in the microwave. Bake a potato in the microwave, then top with shredded cheese, yogurt or leftover vegetables. Warm up a bowl of applesauce or a wedge of pie for dessert.

HOT HOLLY CIDER

The mulled, spicy aroma drifts deliciously through the house.

- 4 cups apple cider
 - 4 cups cranberry juice cocktail
 - 3 cinnamon sticks
 - 6 whole cloves
 - Juice of 1/2 lemon
 - 1/4 cup sugar
- Mix all ingredients in a large pan and heat to boiling. Reduce heat and simmer 15 minutes. Remove spices before serving. Pour into pre-heated punch bowl. Float 2 or 3 small red apples that have been studded with whole cloves. Makes 10-12 servings.

GLAZED APPLES

Great as a ham or roast turkey accompaniment.

- 6 apples, unpeeled, quartered, and cored
 - 3/4 cup sugar
 - 1 tbs. butter or margarine
 - 3 tbs. water
- In skillet, melt butter and add sugar and water. Place apples in skillet. Cover and cook slowly until a golden brown. Makes 4 servings.

APPLE-SAUSAGE-RICE DRESSING

Serve with ham, or steam a green vegetable and serve this as the main course.

- 8 ounces milk pork sausage
 - 1/2 cup chopped onion
 - 1/2 cup chopped celery
 - 1 cup uncooked rice
 - 1 (8-oz.) can water chestnuts, drained
 - 2 cups beef broth
 - 2 tart cooking apples, coarsely chopped
 - 1/4 cup slivered almonds, toasted
- Brown crumbled sausage in large, heavy skillet. Sauté onions last few minutes. Add celery and cook until tender. Add rice, water chestnuts, and beef broth. Bring to a boil; cover. Bake at 350 degrees F. for 30 minutes, or until liquid is absorbed. Remove from oven and stir in apples. Cover and let stand few minutes. Sprinkle with slivered almonds before serving. Makes 8-10 servings.

APPLE FRITTERS

- 1 egg
 - 3/4 cup milk
 - 1/2 tsp. vanilla
 - 1 cup flour
 - 2 tsp. baking powder
 - 2 tbs. sugar
 - 1/2 tsp. salt
 - 4 cooking apples
 - 2 tbs. sugar
 - 1/2 tsp. cinnamon
 - Confectioner's sugar
- To make batter, beat egg, add milk and vanilla. Mix in dry ingredients and beat just until smooth. Peel and core apples. Slice in 1/4-inch rings. Dip rings in batter and drop into skillet containing 1/2-inch hot grease. Fry until golden brown, turning once. Drain on absorbent paper. Mix cinnamon and sugar and sprinkle over fritters, or roll in confectioner's sugar. Serve at once. Makes 16-20 fritters.

APPLE-CHEESE LOAF

This is a very taste and delicious quick bread.

- 2 1/2 cups flour
- 2 tsp. baking powder
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 3/4 tsp. cinnamon
- 1/2 tsp. nutmeg
- 1/2 cup sugar

- 1/4 cup vegetable oil
- 2 eggs
- 3/4 cup milk
- 1 1/2 cups apples, peeled and chopped
- 1/4 cup nuts, chopped
- 2 cups (8-oz.) shredded Cheddar cheese

Sift together dry ingredients into bowl. Make a well and add oil, eggs and milk. Mix only until blended. Fold in chopped apples, nuts and cheese. Pour into well-greased 9x5x3-inch loaf pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 60-70 minutes.

BAKED SQUASH WITH APPLES

- 2 acorn squash
- 2 cooking apples
- 1/4 cup cashew nuts
- 1/4 cup maple syrup
- 1/4 cup butter or margarine, melted
- 2 smokie sausages

Cut squash in half crosswise. Take out seeds and stringy material. Dice peeled apples and slice sausages; fill squash centers. Over this, pour syrup, melted butter and nuts. Place squash in baking pan and cover with aluminum foil. Bake at 350 degrees F. for 45 minutes. Spoon drippings over squash and stuffing. If extra apples and sausages are left, place in small baking dish with squash.

Watermelon cookies

(AP) You don't need a green thumb to create these watermelon slices. The sweet-tasting imposters come from the kitchen, not the garden. Serve the slices as a summer refresher with lemonade or iced tea.

- 2 cups all-purpose flour
- 1 1/2 tsp. baking powder
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 6 tbs. margarine or butter
- 1/3 cup shortening
- 3/4 cup sugar
- 1 egg
- 1 tbs. orange juice or milk
- 1 tsp. vanilla
- Several drops red food coloring
- 1/3 cup miniature semisweet chocolate pieces
- 1 egg white
- 1 tbs. water

Green colored sugar
Stir together flour, baking powder and salt. In a large mixer bowl beat margarine and shortening with an electric mixer on medium speed 30 seconds. Add 3/4 cup sugar; beat until fluffy. Add egg, orange juice, vanilla and food coloring; beat well on medium speed. Add flour mixture, beating on low speed until combined. Cover; chill 3 hours or until easy to handle.

On a floured surface roll half the dough 1/4-inch thick. Cut with a 3-inch round cookie cutter, dipping cutter into flour between cuts. Cut cookies in half; place on ungreased cookie sheet. Press a few chocolate pieces into each. Repeat with remaining dough. Bake in a 375-degree F oven 8 to 10 minutes. Do not brown. Remove; cool on a wire rack.

In a small shallow bowl stir together egg white and water; brush the edge of each cookie with egg white mixture. Sprinkle sugar on edges. Dry on racks. Makes about 60 cookies.

MALONE and HOGAN CLINIC IS PLEASED TO ANNOUNCE

The opening of its all new MAMMOGRAPHY DEPARTMENT.

A new, high detail screen-film mammographic unit is now available. We believe that this state of the art unit offers the best technology available for early breast cancer detection. No longer is it necessary to go out of town or to use a mobile unit where the films are not immediately available, and reports are given in a less than desirable manner.

Now, your local doctor will have access to both the films and the report. The cost of this screening examination is only $50.00.

Any Malone and Hogan physician's office can help you arrange for your screening mammogram. You may want to bring a friend or give a mammogram as a gift to someone you love.

Women to serve on committee

Noble Grand Callie Bennett presided over the recent meeting of Big Spring Rebekah Lodge #284. After opening ceremonies, Bennett appointed Gertrude McCann, Trudy Unger and Jackie Seay to serve on a special entertainment committee. McCann presented Rhonda Meeks and Seay with a special membership certificate, and the lodge received two honor award certificates from the Grand Lodge. Nine members and five past noble grands were present. Meeks and Seay served refreshments.

Council hosts party, meeting

Beta Sigma Phi City Council hosted a pool party Aug. 12 at the home of Pat Howell, Preceptor Delta member. The event was designed to increase membership in Preceptor Delta and Xi Pi Epsilon chapters. A beginning day/model meeting was hosted Aug. 27 at the home of Debbie Walling. President Lisa Choate welcomed guests Maureen Haddad, Jo Stone and Betty Carroll. Connie Edgemon, president of Xi Pi Epsilon, distributed yearbooks to chapter members. Ginny McClain explained the duties of chapter officers and standing committees.

Military

Cadet James C. Meyer received practical work in military leadership at the U.S. Army ROTC advanced camp, Fort Riley, Kan. The six-week camp, attended by cadets normally between their third and fourth year of college, includes instruction in communications, management and survival training. Successful completion of the advanced camp and graduation from college results in a commission as a second lieutenant in either the U.S. Army, Army Reserve or National Guard for the cadet. Meyer is the son of Gary B. Meyer, Columbia, Mo.; and Kay W. Griffin, Lamesa. He is a 1986 graduate of Rock Bridge High School, Columbia. Navy Seaman Renee D. Boulton, daughter of William L. Boulton, Gardendale, recently reported for duty with Fleet Air Reconnaissance Squadron-Three, Naval Air Station, Barbers Point, Hawaii. A 1986 graduate of Gardendale Christian School, Gardendale, she joined the Navy in December.

DEAR ABBY: I will never again say that a letter in your column is too unbelievable to be real. Listen to this:

My husband and I recently attended the 25th wedding anniversary party of a couple we have known for years. It was a beautiful dinner party at a club for about 100 guests.

Around midnight, the husband said that he and his wife had an announcement to make. They stood arm in arm, and he said, "We've had 25 years of marriage. Our children are married now, and there is no longer a reason to go on pretending our marriage is a success. It has been a failure for many years, so we've decided that while we are both young enough to enjoy life we're getting divorced. It's nobody's 'fault.' It's mutual and friendly, and we hope you will continue to be our friends."

They kissed each other and danced together as the band played, "Good Night, Sweetheart."

Can anybody top this? — WAS THERE

DEAR WAS: I hope not.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: How about a letter from a "winner"? My married lover left his wife for me!

I was told that I wasn't breaking up anything; his marriage was dead long before he even met me. His wife had gotten fat. I was married too, but I assured him that my marriage was also over — my husband had gotten dull and boring.

So I divorced my boring husband and he divorced his chubby wife. Oh, yes, we both had children, but we explained that we were in love and when they were older they would understand.

Our marriage was a dream come true. No more lying and sneaking around. At long last we were legal man and wife for all the world to see.

Our apartment was filled with modern furniture and old-fashioned guilt. And plenty of doubt and mistrust.

Two years later he was meeting someone new. I told him he was a liar and a cheat. He said it took one to know one.

And by the way, he's gotten a little dull and boring, and I've put on a little weight. — A WINNER

DEAR ABBY: I am an Italian man, age 34. I am medium build and am told that I am good-looking. I drive a sightseeing bus by day, so I speak a little English. I am single and would like to correspond with an American woman between the ages of 30 and 60.

She doesn't have to be beautiful, but I want one who has a steady income and owns a late-model American automobile.

If you know of a woman who would like to correspond with me, please ask her to send a picture of the automobile. — VITO IN NAPOLI

DEAR ABBY: I am a girl who just celebrated her 21st birthday. On this occasion my boyfriend took me out to dinner. He doesn't drink much and neither do I, but before dinner we each had three martinis. During dinner (just to celebrate), we split a bottle of champagne. After dinner, we each had four brandies.

Did I do wrong? — BLONDIE

DEAR BLONDIE: Probably.

DEAR ABBY: What's the difference between a wife and a mistress? — BESS

DEAR BESS: Night and day.

DEAR ABBY: This question may be a little out of your line, but I am going to ask it anyway: What do you think we were put here on earth for?

DALLAS PHILOSOPHER

DEAR PHILOSOPHER: I'll go along with W.H. Auden, who said: "We are here on earth to do good to others. What the others are here for, I do not know."

Britons reminded of the road to battle

LONDON (AP) — "Good evening, the headlines tonight," Sue Lawley tells BBC-TV viewers. "Britain has sent a warning to Herr Hitler: we will stand by Poland whatever the consequences."

There's an eerie quality to "News 39," a weeklong series of mock newscasts that marries 50-year-old old footage to high-tech TV to recreate the last days before World War II.

With her reassuringly English tones, as well as the period jewelry she bought especially for the program, this doyenne of British television seems born to the role of wartime newscaster.

But at 43, Ms. Lawley wasn't even born when the war ended. And computer graphics have an unsettling impact as they mingle with grainy black-and-white photos of helmeted Germans and gas-masked babies.

The reporters on the 15-minute news roundups are real, like Tim Sebastian, reporting on evacuees coming home from the Continent, or Charles Wheeler, the BBC's White House correspondent, now "reporting from Berlin" and appearing in color against a backdrop of the Brandenburg Gate in black and white.

Britain is being deluged with memories of Sept. 1-3, 1939, when Adolf Hitler invaded Poland and Britain declared war on Germany.

The TV schedules are saturated with documentaries and drama. Newspapers are publishing special supplements.

More than 100 new books about the war are being published, from fresh histories to coffee-table volumes of photographs. The emphasis is on the small, almost forgotten details of life on the home front.

"News 39" even claims to have unearthed a 50-year-old scoop: newly discovered footage of crowds falling over rubber balls that were strewn by an anti-war protester outside the prime minister's Downing Street residence.

This week "will be a time of sadness for many. For some it will bring a nostalgic smile, a memory of a small but personal part in history," says Paul Fox, managing director of BBC-TV.

"For those born after the event it will be a time to learn what happened and why."

But for some, it's too much. "All those trench coats. All those tin hats. All those smiling cockneys with a mug of tea amid the sepia ruins of London. I can't face it. I'm off," wrote Stephen Pile, an iconoclastic Sunday Times columnist.

For most Britons, the war years have taken on a burnished, nostalgic glow, where "there is never any doubt where the division between good and evil lies, and where there will always eventually be a happy ending," as Christopher Booker put it in The Daily Telegraph.

But although the collective memory is of a nation united, making huge sacrifices in the noblest of causes, the anniversary is also reopening old controversies.

Historians once again are debating whether the pre-war British government, in seeking to appease Hitler's territorial demands in Europe, was abjectly craven or playing for time to rearm.

There is even a debate about whether Britain should have joined the war.

That argument was rekindled by Cambridge University historian Maurice Cowling, who argued in The Sunday Telegraph that from a purely conservative viewpoint, a victorious Germany would have been preferable to a postwar Europe dominated by the Soviet Union and the United States.

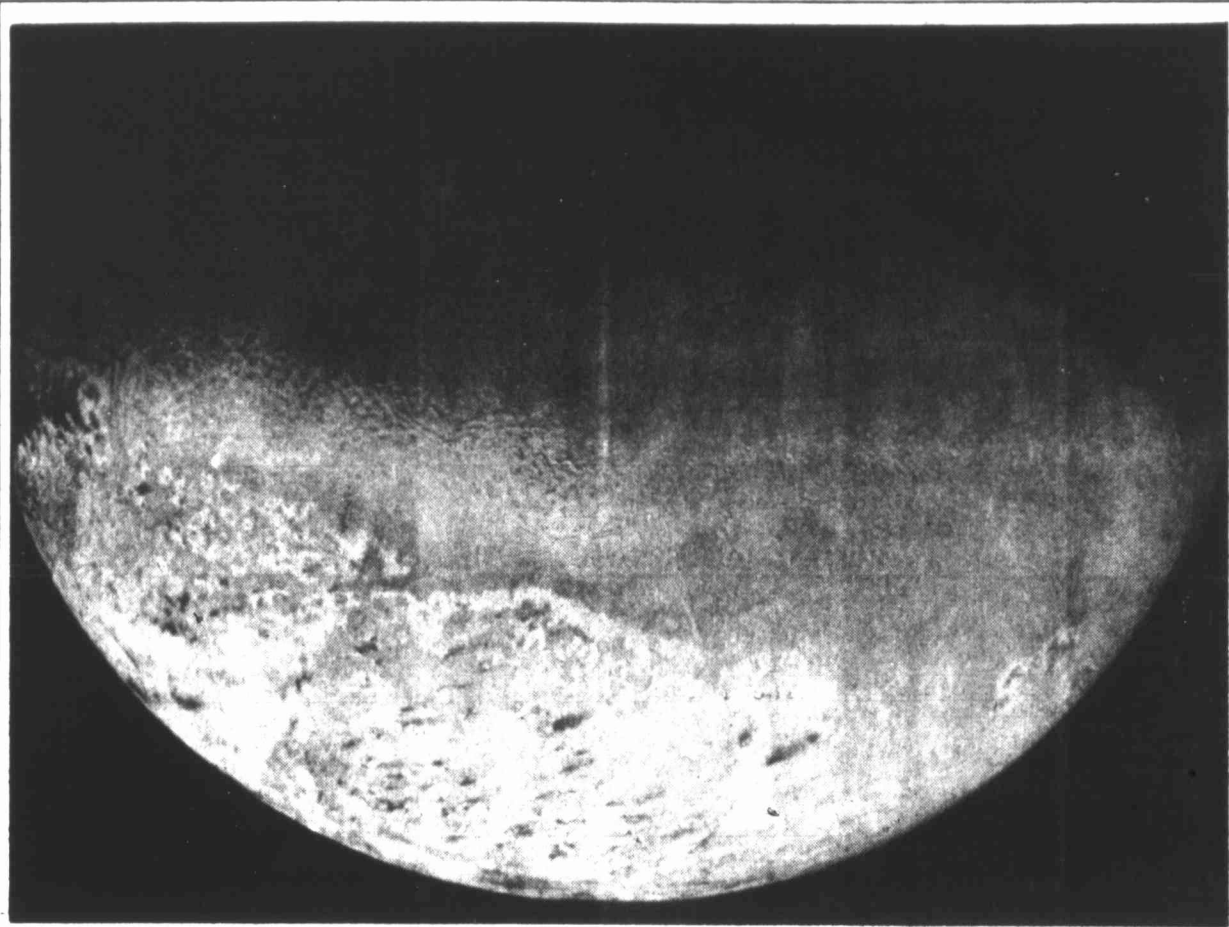

By staying out of the war, he wrote, Britain would have allowed Hitler to destroy its natural enemy, Bolshevism, and left the British empire intact.

"It is wrong to assume that a dominant Germany would have been more intolerable to Britain than the Soviet Union was to become, or that British statesmen had a duty to risk British lives to prevent Hitler behaving intolerably to Germans and others," he wrote.

Cowling conceded that "these are harsh judgments which will be offensive to men of good will," and the flood of outraged responses to the Telegraph proved him right.

Professor T. E. Allbone, who worked on the development of the atomic bomb, wrote that had it stayed out, Britain would eventually have come under the domination of a nuclear-armed Germany.

Other historians said the empire already was disintegrating before the war, and Lord Glendevon, a former Tory minister, wrote that the war saved civilization, "and I am deeply thankful that I was old enough to join in."

Triton

eroding up through fractures, crisscross the area. To the east, top center to right, are plains showing large-scale surface volcanic ice flow. Impact craters dot this area.

First hydrogen protogalaxy found

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Science Foundation says astronomers believe they have stumbled across evidence that galaxies may still be forming in the universe.

The evidence is a massive cloud of hydrogen, 10 times larger than the Milky Way galaxy, all by itself and close by astronomical standards — 65 million light-years away, the foundation said Monday.

The hydrogen cloud was found by Riccardo Giovanelli, adjunct professor of astronomy at Cornell University and head of the radio astronomy group at the foundation's National Astronomy and Ionosphere Center in Arecibo, Puerto Rico, and co-worker, Martha Haynes, associate professor of astronomy at Cornell.

"Before stumbling into this thing, neither I nor Martha were great believers in the existence of such objects," Giovanelli said.

Who said American Little League baseball is dead? Those doubters who watched the Little League World Series championship game Saturday might very well change their minds.

Trumbull, Conn. defeated Kaohsiung, Taiwan 5-2, proving that when it comes to competing against Far East teams, American Little League baseball may be down, but not ready to be read its last rites. Trumbull's victory was one of the biggest upsets in the history of the Series.

Everyone thought it would be like finals in recent years; I think American teams were beaten something like 21-1 and 11-1. A U.S. team hadn't won a World Series since 1983, when Marietta, Ga. won the crown. Korea took the title the next two years, and Little Leaguers from Taiwan were winners from 1986-88. Far Eastern teams have won 18 of the last 23 world championships.

In fact, the team from Trumbull bucked the odds in making it to the championship game of the Little League World Series.

No Eastern Regional champion has made the finals of the tournament in 14 years.

Trumbull manager Torh Galla said before the title game that he had heard before earlier qualifying games that his group wouldn't get past strong teams from New Jersey and New York.

But they did, and arrived in Williamsport just in time to hear themselves classified as a team in the weakest regional in the field.

It really didn't seem like the Americans had a chance against the powerful Taiwanese team. Kaohsiung, which won World Series titles in 1974 and 1977, barreled into the final this year by outscoring the opposition 22-4. Kaohsiung buried the Latin American champion, Maracaibo, Venezuela, 13-0 to reach the finals while Trumbull got past San Pedro, Calif. 6-3. Trumbull has eight hits and one home run in two World Series games, compared with Kaohsiung's 14 hits and five homers.

And it took some disciplined hitting, and a smooth right-hander by the name of Chris Drury to stop the Taiwanese. Drury pitched a smart game and was an excellent leadoff hitter, going 2-for-3 three at the plate, driving in two RBIs.

The American team was disciplined enough not to be distracted by Kaohsiung pitcher Lee Chien-Chih's style. The right-hander had a submarine delivery that rivaled ex-Pirates reliever Kent Tekeluve.

It is an accepted fact that Far East youths have the upper hand on the Americans mainly because they play more baseball. Taiwanese youths practice seriously and play baseball 12 months a year. They play baseball in elementary school in Taiwan, then play Little League in the summer.

I'll say the Americans bucked the odds!

For one player on the Trumbull team, the excitement was tinged with sadness. Left fielder Dan McGrath will have to return home with his family to Australia in December after a four-year stay in the United States.

But McGrath, who said he would have liked to stay in the United States for at least another two years, said he will always remember his trip to Williamsport, Pa. and the night he was cheered by thousands. "It made me feel like someone special," he said.

And he and his teammates are indeed special.

Evert brightens crowd's day

NEW YORK (AP) — Chris Evert knows where she is headed. Pam Shriver has no idea where she's going.

Evert, the six-time U.S. Open champion who has announced she is playing a major tournament for the final time, won her first-round match before an adoring crowd that greeted her every move with warm applause and cheers. Shriver, not at all sure what she wants to do with her life, was eliminated.

Evert brought a bouquet of sunshine to a humid, overcast day that ended with heavy rain and a suspension of play. Ivan Lendl was ahead 6-1, 7-6, 2-0 against Diego Perez when the match was halted. French Open champion Michael Chang didn't get a chance to start.

But the fans were there mainly to see Evert win her 98th Open match, a record. They got what they sought as she beat Bettina Fulco of Argentina 6-4, 6-2.

"I'm aware of the people's reaction," she said. "I feel that they're a little more supportive because it is my last U.S. Open."

"I could get real emotional if I let myself. But I can't do it because I don't want to forget why I'm out there — and I'm not out there for them to clap and praise and thank me for all of the years of tennis. I'm out there to win a tennis match."

"I'm trying to not let it filter in and think about it emotionally."

While Evert is fighting the emotions, Shriver is trying to get them flowing again. She was totally uninspired in losing to Larisa Savchenko of the Soviet Union 6-2, 6-3.

"I think in order to beat Savchenko, you have to be really eager and really strong mentally and physically and get out there and want to battle the games out," Shriver said after lasting just 55 minutes against Savchenko. "The emotions of a good effort just didn't get started."

Shriver hasn't gotten started all year, falling from fifth to ninth in the rankings, and is wondering if she can make the commitment necessary to stay near the top.

"I've got to start enjoying myself

Tors spike Lady Steers

By STEVE BELVIN
Sports Editor

BIG SPRING — As far as the Big Spring Lady Steers are concerned, the Butler did it. In this case, it was a couple of Butlers — Lamesa's Saresa and Stacy Butler.

The two hitters led the Golden Tornadoes to an easy 15-8, 15-3 match victory Tuesday night in volleyball action at Steer Gym. It's not that the cousins had to do it all; they had a great supporting cast in Rachel Brown, Kendra Williams, Shannon Reid and Shelly Hall.

The fired-up visitors totally dominated the Lady Steers, jumping on Big Spring early in both games. Saresa, a 5-8 sophomore, was the most explosive. She finished the night with 8 kills in 15 attempts.

Stacy, a 5-7 senior, wasn't as dominating as her younger cousin, but she was more consistent. Stacy finished 3-3 in kills, and had two blocks to go with it. She also made several key saves. In all, Lamesa downed 17 of 30 spike attempts for 56 percent.

Hall, who came in early when Shontondra Jimerson sprained her ankle, played a strong defensive game. She hampered the Lady Steers' net play with four blocks.

And to top things off, Lamesa was excellent at the service line. Time after time, their low, hard serves were too hot for the Lady Steers to handle. To be exact, Lamesa served up nine aces in the match.

On the other hand, the Lady Steers just never got untracked. And when they tried, their shots just kept missing. Big Spring was a dismal 9 of 34 in kill attempts for 26 percent. Big Spring's kill percentage is usually 50 percent or better.

Tevayan Russell led Big Spring with 3 kills in 17 attempts. Dorothy Viasana, Marta Mathews and Ronetta Fryar had two kills each.

In the first game, Lamesa jumped out to a quick 6-1 lead as Saresa Butler downed 4 of her first 6 spike attempts. The lead was soon 12-1 before Big Spring made any kind of comeback.

With Russell serving, Big Spring cut the lead to 12-4. Fryar aided the cause with a kill. After a couple of side outs, Viasana served two more points and the Big Spring crowd sensed a comeback with the lead cut to 12-6.

Cassie Underwood served a point and the lead was 12-7. But Lamesa came back with two service points by Brown, and Jennifer Cranford served a point for the Lady Steers, putting the score at 14-8, Lamesa.

Fittingly the Golden Tors ended the game as Hall served the sixth ace of the game, giving the them a 15-8 win. In the second game, Lamesa vaulted to a quick lead behind the service of Reid. The junior spiker served eight straight points. Mixed in were two aces and three Big Spring kill attempts that went out.

Big Spring didn't score until Lamesa had an 11-0 lead. Cranford served two points on a Lamesa mis-hit and a kill by Russell. But for all practical purposes, the contest was over.

"About the only positive thing I can say is we didn't miss a bunch of serves," said Big Spring coach Lois Ann McKenzie. "Player-for-player we can match up with anybody we've seen. We are just as good as they are; they (Lady Steers) just don't know it yet.

"Our serve-and-receive was better, but our sets were horrible. Although we can come back on some people, we can't keep spotting them those big leads every night. We just had an off night."

The Lady Steers fall to 4-3 for the season while Lamesa goes to 5-2. Big Spring will play in the Denver City tournament Friday and Saturday.

LAMESA MAKES IT A SWEEP In freshmen volleyball action, Lamesa downed the Big Spring frosh 15-5, 15-4.

In junior varsity action, Lamesa won 5-15, 15-13, 15-9. The Big Spring JV is now 3-4 for the season.

Bench pressing frog

DETROIT — Bill Steed, who fancies himself a "doctor of frog psychology" watches as his frog Doc Holiday performs a bench press at the Michigan State Fair Tuesday. Steed's frogs are named and sponsored by celebrities performing at many of the state fairs. Doc Holiday is sponsored by Willie Nelson. Nelson will perform at the state fair Thursday.

Everson plays forecaster

DALLAS (AP) — Cornerback Everson Walls, deciding to play soothsayer, predicts that Coach Jimmy Johnson will pick Troy Aikman over Steve Walsh as the Dallas Cowboys' starting quarterback.

"I think it will be Troy, and nothing against Steve," Walls said. "I think he (coach Jimmy Johnson) will pick Troy."

"Johnson has to pick between two different styles. There is a lot of pressure on both of them. I think Steve has played well, but Troy will make fewer mistakes."

Johnson has refused to make a decision on which of his rookies will get the job because "we owe it to the fans who come out to the game to announce it then." Johnson said the lineup that takes the field for Saturday night's exhibition game against the Houston Oilers will get the call for the regular-season opener as well.

Thirteen suspended for steroid use

NEW YORK (AP) — The NFL's first-ever suspension of steroid users seems to demonstrate that Commissioner Pete Rozelle's warning last March that the crackdown was coming may have worked.

When the first suspensions were announced Tuesday, just 13 players were caught for using the muscle-building substances. Of those, only Pro Bowl guard Ron Solt of the Eagles was of any prominence.

The number seemed to please even the NFL Players Association, which is challenging the accuracy of the testing procedure and the validity of the suspensions.

"The fact that so few players have been suspended for alleged steroid use indicates that the public perception of the steroid problem in the NFL is greatly exaggerated," said Gene Upshaw, executive director of the union and himself a former All-Pro guard.

Meanwhile, the old drug policy caught two more prominent players — All-Pro cornerback Leroy Irvin of the Los Angeles Rams and tight end Orson Mobley of the Denver Broncos. They were suspended for the final exhibition game and the first three regular-season games after testing positive for the second time for illegal substances.

"It hurts me, it disappoints me, but surprise me? No," Coach Dan Reeves of the Broncos said of Mobley's suspension.

They were the second and third players suspended this season under the policy which set down 24 players in 1988. Tony Burse, a fullback for Seattle, was suspended earlier this summer.

The steroid suspension policy was announced last March 21 by Rozelle and a letter detailing the plan was sent 10 days later to all NFL players. Rozelle said he made the announcement so early to allow time for players who might be using steroids to get the substances out of their systems before training camp tests.

In both 1987 and 1988, 6 percent of the players had positive steroid tests at camp, but no suspensions were imposed.

The percentages were much lower this time, and the warnings seem to have worked, even by the testimony of one of those caught, linebacker Mark Mraz of the Los Angeles Raiders.

"He was very disappointed and very emotional," Raiders coach Mike Shanahan said of Mraz. "He said he was aware of the new policy since April 1. He informed me that he had not been on them since then."

But Coach Lindy Infante of Green Bay, who lost offensive linemen Keith Uecker and Mike Ariey, said the warnings may not have been enough.

"After all that was mentioned about it and all the letters that had gone out and all the notoriety about the decision to test for it and punish the people caught for it, I'm quite shocked that anybody would run the risk of this happening," Infante said.

"I think this proves that there is no guarantee that if you stay off of it for a period of time, you're not going to get caught with some of it in your system because I don't think either of the players are on it now or were on it just prior to training camp. There were traces in there somewhere for it to have shown."

The 13 players from eight teams also include three from the Buffalo Bills — brothers Tom Doctor, a linebacker, and Sean Doctor, a fullback, and linebacker Matt Jaworski.

Others suspended were defensive back Maurice Douglass of the Chicago Bears, running back Vince Amoia and wide receiver Bobby Riley, both of the New York Jets, tight end Vernon Kirk of the Los Angeles Rams, and running back Keith Henderson and nose tackle Rollin Putzler of the San Francisco 49ers.

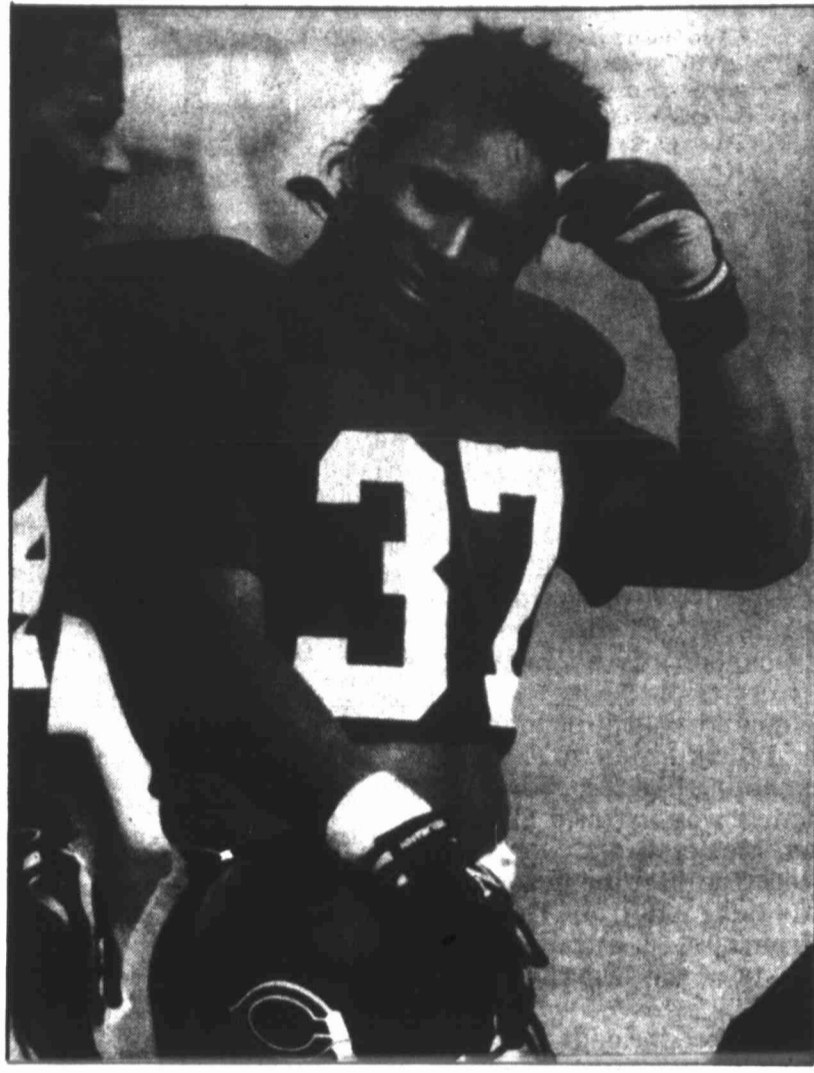

Irvin and Mobley fell under the policy for illegal substances that took effect last season.

Unlike the steroid policy, under which first-time offenders are suspended, first-time substance violators are treated for their problem and their names remain confidential. Second-time offenders are suspended for four games and third-time offenders for a year.

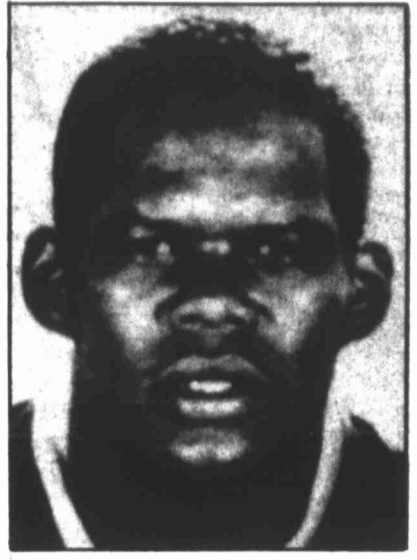

This year, the NFL tested more than 2,200 players at the start of training camp for both illegal drugs and steroids.

The steroids-related suspensions were supposed to have been announced Monday, but were put off for a day because the union had sought a temporary restraining

Star DB returns to camp

MANKATO, Minn. (AP) — The Minnesota Vikings need Joey Browner desperately. And, apparently, the All-Pro strong safety needs football just as much.

So he's in training camp. For how long? That's anybody's guess.

"Right now, I don't know what's going to happen," Browner said Tuesday upon ending a 29-day holdout. "They could even trade me in the negotiations."

On Monday, Browner said that when he reported, he might only stay for 24 hours — long enough for his agent, Los Angeles-based T.J. Pantello, and Vikings general manager Mike Lynn to renegotiate his contract. But on Tuesday, Browner said there was no deadline.

"My job is to play football. This is what my life is. I love doing it. I love playing here," Browner said. "Everyone knows why I stayed out. It was just time for me to get ready for what I actually do — play football."

He said that, assuming he comes to terms, he'll be ready for the Sept. 10 NFL season opener against Houston.

No less an authority than Chicago Bears coach Mike Ditka has called Browner the most feared defensive player in the league.

All Browner says he wants is to be paid commensurate to his ability. Other safeties, most notably San Francisco's Ronnie Lott and Kansas City's Deron Cherry, are paid about three times as much.

"I just have to get out there and run around a little bit and get banged around a little bit and see people run 1,000 miles an hour," Browner said. "It won't take very long. I have enough time."

Defensive coordinator Floyd Peters sure hopes so.

"We need him desperately," he said. "He's the best safety in the league."

With Browner in camp, Lynn has succeeded in outwaiting all three players who held out seeking renegotiations.

New OU coach adjusting

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — His squad has gone through two weeks of two-a-day practices, and now Oklahoma coach Gary Gibbs says it's time to really see what kind of team the Sooners are.

"I think we're a good football team," Gibbs said Tuesday at his first weekly media luncheon of the season. "Obviously we're thin. I don't think you can overlook that, but there's nothing I or anyone else can do about that."

"I think we've got some quality players who will be very, very competitive."

The catch, he said, is that his assessment is based only on what the 15th-ranked Sooners have done in practice. What counts is what happens each Saturday.

"You can be real good Monday through Friday, but it's what you do those three hours on Saturday," said Gibbs, who is preparing for his first game as head coach. "If you don't play well those three hours, then it doesn't make any difference how good you were Monday through Friday."

"I anticipate we'll play well. I know our guys are anxious to play," he said. "But regardless of the talent level or anything else, it's a three-hour final exam on Saturday that determines who wins or who loses."

The Sooners figure to pass the exam this week when they open the season at home against New Mexico State. The Aggies of the Big West Conference were 1-10 last season and have won only four games in the past three years.

Some parts of the test will be of great interest to the Oklahoma coaching staff, particularly how well redshirt-freshman Steve Collins plays at quarterback. Collins was named the starter on Sunday and will become the first freshman in school history to open the season at quarterback.

Collins was impressive enough during the spring to warrant playing with the first-team offense throughout two-a-days this fall. Then he made the most of that chance, holding off Chris Melson and Tink Collins.

"As we progressed through two-a-days, as we had scrimmages, as we put them in different situations — be it play-action passing, be it the option game, be it just basic field leadership qualities — he did not lose any ground," Gibbs said.

American hoopsters beat Soviets for the gold

DUISBURG, West Germany (AP) — Redemption may come slowly to the United States basketball team, but it took an assertive step in that direction by beating the Soviet Union 88-80 to win the World University Games gold medal.

Tuesday's meeting was the first between the two countries since the Soviets dethroned the Americans as Olympic champions at Seoul last year, and it followed the pattern the U.S. team had followed throughout this tournament.

Led by Steven Thompson's 16 points and Larry Johnson's 11 rebounds, the U.S. broke open a close game in the second half after falling behind early.

Once again, the Americans wore down their opponent, using depth and aggressive play to counter a 27-point, seven-rebound performance by Soviet guard Goundars Vetra.

"I feel that the U.S.'s image has slipped a bit," U.S. coach Gene Keady of Purdue said. "But at the same time, though we wanted to be number one again, we felt we had a team that could stand on its own against anyone regardless of the past."

"Give the Soviets credit. They played slowdown, and they played a little herky-jerky during a couple of streaks," Keady said. "We didn't expect to beat anyone badly in the final game. We'd have been glad with a one-point win."

For the third time in the tournament, the Americans worked a set play to perfection to start the game. Johnson won the opening tip and sent a sprinting Stacey Augmon home with a slam dunk three seconds into the contest.

The Soviets slowed the pace considerably thereafter. They frustrated the Americans in the opening minutes, getting back well to counter the U.S. running game and forcing the Americans to rely heavily on outside shots, many of them forced.

In the first 10 minutes, reserve point guard Travis Mays took five shots from 3-point range, missing four.

Offensively, the Soviets showed considerable patience, setting double screens if necessary to free the open man and often using every tick of the 30-second shot clock.

By the midway point of the first half, the Soviets had built a 26-18 lead, nine of the points coming on 3-point shots by Vetra, who would finish the half with 17 points.

The Americans corrected their early sluggishness with a dominant inside attack.

Augmon's penetration, lefty slam and ensuing free throw gave the U.S. a 30-29 edge, its first since the two minute mark. Then Dale Davis tipped in consecutive misses by Thompson and Mays to key a 10-2 run.

For the balance of the half, the U.S. was again stingy on the defensive boards, Johnson hauling in eight rebounds and adding 10 points.

Up 47-40 at the half, the U.S. began to run effectively in the second half, employing backcourt traps and double-teaming tactics to create turnovers.

The first sign that matters were under control came seven minutes into the half when Thompson stole the ball from Eugeny Moursin at mid-court, hopped around Moursin who had sprawled to recover the ball, and sprinted for a solo layup that gave the Americans a 61-44 lead.

West Germany defeated Canada 86-83 to win the bronze.

In track and field on Tuesday, Kamy Keshmiry gave the United States its fourth gold medal of the games by winning the discus with a throw of 214 feet, 7 inches.

In other events, Viorica Ghican of Romania won the women's 10,000 meters in 31 minutes, 46.43 seconds.

IOC getting tough

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) — Athletes caught using drugs in future Olympics could be barred from the Games for life.

The International Olympic Committee's ruling executive board agreed on Tuesday to study a proposal for lifetime bans, offered by a former Olympic athlete who is no fan of medical science in sports.

"When you are an Olympian you are an Olympian for life. No one can change that," said Anita De Frantz, a silver medalist in rowing in 1976 and now an IOC member from the United States. "But you agree you will compete with honor and integrity and I think you forfeit that right when you take steroids."

The proposal is a long way from adoption and, if it does go on the books, would not be retroactive. That means Canadian sprinter Ben Johnson, the biggest drug cheat in Olympic history, still could be back in the Games in 1992, after his present suspension from all international competition is over.

The board acted as the IOC opened its 95th Session, or annual meeting, with a two-hour ceremony featuring speeches and a festival of Puerto Rican music.

Juan Antonio Samaranch, due to be re-elected to a second term as IOC president this week, told the 86 members gathered in this Caribbean resort that the Olympics had gained unparalleled prestige after being close to death at the start of the decade.

"This rise of the Olympic movement is one of the major historical events of this century, and will have a considerable impact on the collective memory and awareness of humanity," he said. "The success of the Olympic Games has made them into mankind's greatest celebration."

The latest edition of that celebration came last summer at Seoul and was marred by the biggest drug bust in the history of the Games.

De Frantz said future drug users should get no such second chance in the Games.

PLAYER LEAVES
LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Former University of Kentucky point guard Sean Sutton apparently has departed Purdue University, where he had announced he would attend this year.

Jim Vrugink, athletics public relations director at Purdue, said Sutton had told the school's coaches he might not be ready to resume his basketball career with the Boilermakers.

Sutton announced his intention to transfer to Purdue after Rick Pitino was hired as Kentucky's coach June 1, replacing Sutton's father, Eddie Sutton, who resigned in the wake of an NCAA investigation into the school's basketball program.

PLAYER PLEADS GUILTY
CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland Browns running back Kevin Mack pleaded guilty today to an amended charge of using cocaine on June 28.

Mack, 26, was indicted July 10 on charges of cocaine possession, cocaine sale, aggravated drug trafficking and possession of criminal tools — the car in which he was arrested.

Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court Judge Richard J. McMonagle said he would sentence Mack after receiving a pre-sentence parole and drug dependency test.

The judge said Mack could face a sentence of up to 18 months and a fine of up to $2,500.

Prosecutors appearing before McMonagle said the original charge, of possession and use, was amended to cocaine use. He said the amended charge was based on a police investigation.

Prosecutors said the three other charges would be dismissed.

Mack was arrested while he was inside a car parked on a Cleveland street. Police said they found 11 packets of cocaine valued at $50 each inside the car.

Mack could have been sentenced for up to 20 years if convicted on all four charges.

Mack's attorney, Gerald Gold, has said he is unsure whether the running back would face sanctions from the NFL or the Browns because of his arrest.

BASEBALL

NEW YORK (AP) — Syd Thrift resigned as senior vice president of baseball operations for the New York Yankees after just five months on the job and less than two weeks after Dallas Green was fired as manager.

George Steinbrenner, owner of the team, who hired Thrift on March 21, announced the resignation, saying that Thrift left for personal reasons and was not forced out.

Steinbrenner, however, reportedly was angered that Thrift did not publicly support his dismissal of Green on Aug. 18. There were reports that the owner voiced his displeasure with Thrift at a recent meeting and rumors circulated around Yankee Stadium that a change would be made.

GENERAL

HOUSTON (AP) — Former University of Oklahoma cornerback Jerry Parks, who shot former teammate Zarak Peters in a dorm incident last January, has been denied admission to the University of Houston, the school confirmed.

Parks, who played at Sugar Land Willowridge with Peters, was arrested Jan. 13 in Norman, Okla., and charged with shooting with intent to injure following an argument in the Sooners' athletic dorm.

Peters was shot once in the left side of the chest with a .22 caliber pistol and was hospitalized with a bullet lodged in the ribcage.

TRACK AND FIELD

BERN, Switzerland (AP) — Sebastian Coe ran his fastest 800-meter race since 1985 at an international track meet and Renaldo Nehemiah ran his best 110-meter race in eight years.

Coe finished in 1 minute, 43.38 seconds, the third-best performance of the year behind Kenyans Paul Ereng and Nixon Kiprotich. Coe, the 1980 and 1984 Olympic champion at 1,500 meters and silver medalist at 800, has held the 800-meter world record of 1:41.73 since 1981.

Nehemiah, who lost his world record at 110-meters 10 days ago, was clocked in 13.20 seconds.

HORSE RACING

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS, Ill. (AP) — Owners of the Arlington International Racecourse have filed a $20 million lawsuit against one of Chicago's largest architectural firms in a dispute over the new track's design.

The owners contend that the firm, Skidmore, Owings & Merrill, breached its contract with untimely and faulty plans that caused substantial cost overruns.

BoSox double-dips Angels

By The Associated Press
Even in the midst of what could be their worst season in 77 years, the New York Yankees haven't lost the ability to go the Boston Red Sox one better.

While the red-hot Red Sox were scoring nine runs in an inning en route to a doubleheader sweep of the California Angels, the ice-cold Yankees were giving up 10 in one inning in a 19-5 bashing by the Oakland Athletics.

And, in case you hadn't noticed, the American League East, as well as the AL West, is now a three-team race.

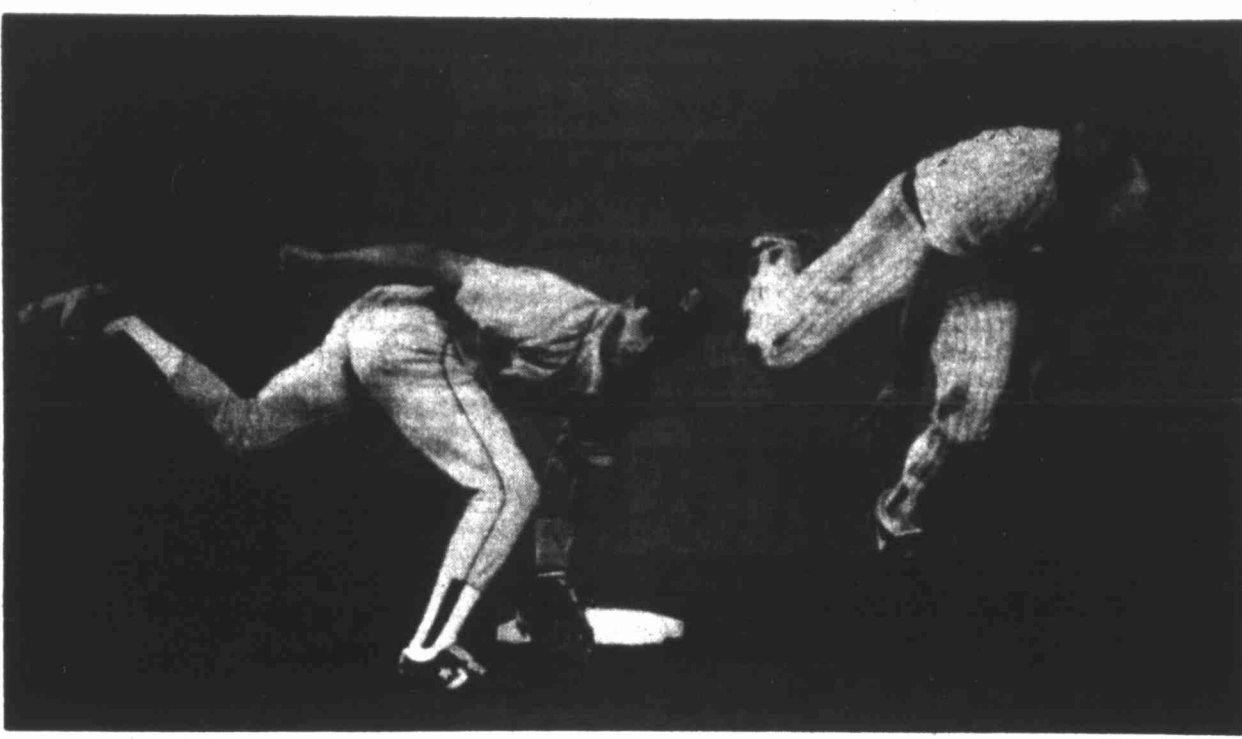

"Four games back with 30 to go, that says we're alive," Boston reliever Rob Murphy said after the Red Sox collected 14 hits in the opener and 16 in the 7½-inning, rain-shortened nightcap in pounding the Angels 8-4 and 13-5.

Jose Canseco powered Oakland's 10-hit attack with a pair of tape-measure homers. His first, a two-run shot off Chuck Cary, tied the game 3-3 in the third inning — the Yankees actually led 3-0 — and cleared the second fence in front of the visitors' bullpen in left-center field. His second, a three-run blast off Greg Cadaret, capped a club record-tying 10-run fifth inning.

The Yankees have lost 11 of 13 games since Bucky Dent replaced Dallas Green as manager and chants of "George Must Go!" directed against owner George Steinbrenner were loud and clear.

Oakland's 10-run inning included six hits — Terry Steinbach and Carney Lansford had two-run singles — two errors, two walks, a wild pitch and a hit batsman. Red Sox 8, Angels 4. Red Sox 13, Angels 5.

Wade Boggs had a pair of singles in a nine-run fourth inning as Boston stretched its winning streak to nine games by sweeping California. In the opener, Boston shelled Bert Blyleven, 14-3, for seven runs in three innings and ended his 10-game winning streak.

The Red Sox led 3-2 in the nightcap when they broke it open with nine runs on seven hits, four walks, a hit batsman and a couple of wild pitches. Jody Reed drove in drove in two runs with a double in the first inning and a groundout in the third while Boggs had a single and two doubles.

Rangers 4, Twins 2
Geno Petralli's RBI single broke a 2-2 tie in the eighth inning as Texas snapped Minnesota's season-high six-game winning streak.

Drew Hall pitched three hitless innings of relief for his first AL victory and Jeff Russell, the Rangers' fifth pitcher, went two innings for his club-record 30th save. Loser Rick Aguilera allowed the four Texas runs and nine hits in 7

2-3 innings.

Indians 3, Orioles 1
Brad Komminsk hit a two-run homer with one out in the bottom of the ninth as Cleveland ended Baltimore's four-game winning streak. Komminsk hit a 2-0 pitch over the center-field fence for his seventh home run as Cleveland snapped a three-game losing streak. The homer was the Indians' ninth hit off rookie Pete Harnisch, who is 0-10 in 11 career starts on the road.

Blue Jays 3, White Sox 2
Fred McGriff, the AL home run leader, snapped a 2-2 tie with his second of the game and 35th of the season in the seventh inning. McGriff lined reliever Donn Pall's 3-2 offering just over the fence in right with two out. The Blue Jays had tied the game 2-2 on consecutive homers by George Bell and McGriff off Melido Perez in the fifth.

Royals 12, Tigers 8
Kurt Stillwell drove in three runs and he and Jim Eisenreich each had three of Kansas City's 17 hits as the Royals handed Detroit its 10th straight loss. The Tigers are 0-9 on their worst road trip since 1960.

The Royals won for the 12th time in their last 14 starts and remained in third place in the AL West, four games behind first-place Oakland.

Mariners 5, Brewers 3
Rookie Erik Hanson, just back from the minors, snapped Seattle's club record-tying 12-game losing streak by blanking Milwaukee until the ninth inning. Hanson allowed four hits, the last one being Robin Yount's 16th homer, a three-run shot with two out in the ninth inning.

Von Hayes murderous on Giants

By The Associated Press
All by himself, Von Hayes is making the National League West race more interesting. A cool trick, considering he plays in the East.

Hayes hit three home runs and drove in six runs Tuesday night as last seven at home. They are still four games ahead of Houston, but San Diego has won six straight and has pulled to within six games of the top.

Hayes became the first NL player to hit three home runs in a game this season and the first to do it for Philadelphia since Mike Schmidt on June 14, 1967. The last player to homer three times against San Francisco was Atlanta's Dale Murphy on May 18, 1979.

It has been a long year for Hayes and the Phillies, who are in last place, 20½ games back. Still, some things can be salvaged.

Hayes hit a solo home run in the first inning, a three-run shot in the fourth and a two-run drive in the ninth. His first career three-homer game gave him 21 home runs this season. Hayes' first two home runs came against Robinson, 11-9. He connected in the ninth against Craig Lefferts.

"Lefferts was the one I've really had problems with," Hayes said. "I think he's got me out the last 15 times or something. That's when you have to take the approach that if you're feeling good, you're going to get your hits. That homer was as surprising to me as I'm sure it was to him."

Bruce Ruffin, 4-8, ended a five-game losing streak and is 2-6 lifetime against San Francisco. He gave up four hits and left after a leadoff walk in the eighth. Roger McDowell finished with two-hit relief for his 16th save.

Cubs 10, Astros 9
At Wrigley Field, Chicago rallied from a 9-0 deficit after five innings, winning it in the 10th on Dwight Smith's single with the bases loaded.

Smith replaced Andre Dawson in right field in the seventh. Smith threw out Ramirez at the plate in the eighth.

Mets 2, Dodgers 1
David Cone threw a four-hitter and New York won a pitching duel at Dodger Stadium for the second straight night.

Cone, 12-6, won for the ninth time in 10 decisions. He retired 19 of the last 20 batters.

Cardinals 4, Reds 2
In St. Louis, Joe Magrane got his league-leading 18th victory, winning his seventh straight decision as the Cardinals won for the 12th time in 16 games.

Cubs 10, Astros 9
Magrane, 18-7, has won 13 of his last 14 starts. He gave up eight hits in his league-leading ninth complete game and is tied Oakland's Dave Stewart for most victories in the majors.

Padres 2, Expos 1
Luis Salazar's infield hit scored Marvell Wynne from third base with one out in the bottom of the ninth inning as San Diego got closer to first place than it has been since June 9. Montreal fell four games behind Chicago in the NL East.

Pirates 5, Braves 4
Andy Van Slyke drove in two runs as Pittsburgh beat visiting Atlanta despite two homers by Odbabe McDowell.

Doug Drabek, 11-10, pitched 7 1-3 innings and Bill Landrum finished for his 19th save. Tom Glavine, 12-8, got the loss.

the Philadelphia Phillies won at San Francisco 6-1. In two days at Candlestick Park, Hayes is 5-for-8 with three homers, two doubles, seven RBIs and six runs scored.

order in court to block release of the names. The union lost but the league said it would put off the announcement for a day.

At that time, the NFL said "about two dozen" active players had tested positive and said others who had also failed the test had been cut from team rosters. League spokesman Jim Heffernan said Tuesday's figure was reduced to 13 by additional cuts made since the list of positive results were compiled.

The suspensions may mean the end of professional careers for some players. Coach Joe Walton of the Jets, for instance, said he would release Amoia and Riley.

General Manager Harry Gamble of the Eagles said that, while disappointed, he would welcome back Solt, obtained last year from Indianapolis for a first-round draft pick.

And Buffalo general manager Bill Polian said all three suspended players will make his team, although Jaworski will go on injured reserve because of a serious knee injury.

"They are not druggies," Polian said. "I don't believe that they ought to be branded with a scarlet letter. They're not felons, they're not bad kids. They're good kids who made a mistake and are paying the penalty for it."

Upshaw said he had received calls from several suspended players claiming their innocence, although he didn't specify whom. Ironically, Solt is the president of a union seeking recognition as a rival to the NFLPA.

Matt Cavanaugh, the Eagles' backup quarterback, said he thought Solt would challenge the suspension and suggested he might have used steroids to speed his recovery from surgery.

"Whether or not he's done it in the past, I don't know, but I think he became aware that it was time to stop using them, if indeed he started using them," Cavanaugh said.

Riley said he hadn't taken steroids, and Bruce Allen, Amoia's agent, said his client had had steroids prescribed by a doctor "a long time ago."

Defending champs ready to begin season

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) — Overrated, outmanned and, in one case, underfed. That's the way Notre Dame coach Lou Holtz views his defending national champions.

"We're not a Top 20 team right now," he said Tuesday. "We're not as good as you think, but we're probably not as bad as I think."

Holtz is a world-class worrier, but he has legitimate reason for concern as the second-ranked Fighting Irish prepare for their season opener against Virginia in Thursday night's Kickoff Classic.

In the last month, Notre Dame has lost seven players expected to play a significant role on this year's team. One quit, another transferred, two were banished for disciplinary reasons, two couldn't recover from lingering injuries and one was declared academically ineligible.

The most damaging departures were All-American linebacker Michael Stonebreaker and running back Tony Brooks, the team's No. 2 rusher last season. Also gone for the season are defensive tackle George Williams, fullback Braxton Banks, defensive end Arnold Ale, linebacker John Foley and offensive tackle Pete Rausch.

"We've got a completely different team than the one we started spring practice with," Holtz said. "We're awfully thin at a lot of positions and we've got an awful lot of questions marks."

To show just how lean his team is, Holtz cited the case of Eric Jones.

"Our second-string defensive tackle is a true freshman who weighs 216 pounds," he said. "He's going to be a good one — as soon as he finds the cafeteria."

A steady diet of Rice is what Notre Dame's opponents will be fed this season. Versatile quarterback Tony Rice not only threw for 1,176 yards and eight touchdowns last season, but also led the team in rushing with 700 yards.

"We've spent a lot of time working on his best plays," Virginia coach George Welsh said. "But maybe his best plays won't be the same this year." Unlike Notre Dame, Virginia is not a traditional football power. But Welsh has led the Cavaliers to five winning seasons in the past six years, including a 7-4 mark in 1988.

All but four starters returned from that team, which finished with five consecutive victories. The offense will be directed by junior quarterback Shawn Moore, 19th in the nation last year in total offense.

"We think our program has reached the level where we can be competitive with anyone," Welsh said.

"When I first came to Virginia in 1982, it was hard to recruit. Now we have a much more positive image and players want to come here."

Although Virginia and Notre Dame have been playing football for 100 years, this will be the first meeting between the schools.

"Our kids are very excited about playing Notre Dame," Welsh said. "They've worked very hard in practice because they know if they don't play well, starts. He tied for the major-league lead in victories with 18 as St. Louis defeated Cincinnati 4-2 Tuesday night.

SMOOTH Gold Glove second baseman Ryne Sandberg of the Chicago Cubs has gone 59 games without an error. He had a 61-game streak in 1984.

SLUGGERS Von Hayes hit three homers and drove in six runs as Philadelphia beat San Francisco 6-1.

SIDELINED Al Leiter missed his final start for Toronto's Class A Dunedin team because of stiffness in his left shoulder.

SEATING The Cubs reached the 2 million mark at Wrigley Field on Tuesday. They did it in their 67th home game, the fastest they've drawn that many fans.

SCOUTING The Class A Augusta, Ga., Pirates have scored 10 runs in two straight games and lost them both. Sumter (Braves) beat Pittsburgh's South-Atlantic League club 18-0 Monday and 13-0 Tuesday.

SPEAKING "I can honestly say I've never felt this physically and mentally beat since I first put on a baseball uniform. And I was cut from my freshman team."

SEASONS August 31 1906 — The Detroit Tigers, crippled by injuries, called 46-year-old Sam Thompson out of retirement for help in the outfield.

1950 — Brooklyn's Gil Hodges tied a major-league record with four home runs as the Dodgers beat the Boston Braves 19-3. Hodges also added a single for 17 total bases.

1959 — Sandy Koufax struck out 18 Giants in a National League record as the Los Angeles Dodgers beat San Francisco 5-2.

1983 — Toronto's Jim Gott gave up seven runs before retiring a batter in his first inning as the Baltimore Orioles beat the Blue Jays 10-2.

Mobley of the Denver Broncos were suspended for 30 days after testing positive for illegal substances.

Washington Redskins Quarterback Doug Williams and running back Kelvin Bryant were placed on the non-football injury list by the Redskins, who also cut 13 players, including rookie quarterback Jeff Graham, and put three players on injured reserve.

Williams damaged a nerve in his back while running on a treadmill during the off-season. He underwent back surgery last week and now must miss at least six weeks of the season as a result of being placed on the non-football injury list.

Bryant, who has been injured in each of his previous three seasons with Washington, suffered a sprained cervical spine in an auto accident in July. He has yet to practice with the team this summer.

Graham, from Long Beach State, was the second player chosen by the Redskins in the 1989 NFL draft.

Buffalo waived a number of players, including wide receiver Walter Broughton. He was the only Bill released Tuesday who had ever played in a regular-season game for Buffalo.

Broughton, a former USFL player, signed with the Bills as a free agent in 1986. He played in 19 games, catching eight passes for 161 yards and one touchdown.

Also cut were running back Bo Wright, a seventh-round draft choice; linebacker Norwood Vann, who had stints with the Los Angeles Rams and Raiders; offensive lineman Rich Strenger, a former starter with the Detroit Lions; and Tim Tyrrell, a former running back with the Rams and Atlanta Falcons.

Seattle Seahawks Seattle released 17 players, including quarterback Bruce Mathison, placed one on the physically unable-to-perform list and put one on injured reserve.

Veterans waived included offensive lineman Dave Des Rochers and nose tackle Roland Barby.

In addition, the Seahawks announced that tackle Daryle Smith, acquired from the Dallas Cowboys on July 24 in exchange for a conditional draft choice, has left camp.

Cleveland Browns Of 11 players waived by Cleveland, only one was a veteran. Safety Will Hill played in all 16 games last season, starting one.

Also cut were John Buddenberg, an offensive tackle from the University of Akron; kicker Dan Plocki of Maryland; and linebacker Marlon Brown of Memphis State.

Minnesota Vikings Strong safety Joey Browner ended his holdout and reported to the Vikings training camp. "My job is to play football. This is what my job is. I love doing it. I love playing here," he said.

Dallas Cowboys The Cowboys obtained defensive tackle Dean Hamel in a trade with the Washington Redskins for an undisclosed draft choice. Hamel is a fifth-year veteran who played in 60 games for Washington, starting 17.

The Cowboys also cut third-round draft pick Rhondy Weston, a defensive end from Florida, and free agents Eric Brown, a defensive back from Savannah State, and Charles Buchanan, a linebacker who played for Cleveland last year and was picked up last week.

Kansas City Chiefs The Chiefs signed free agent safety Kenny Hill and waived 10 players.

Hill, who played eight seasons with the Raiders and the New York Giants, was released earlier by the Giants. He has six interceptions and seven fumble recoveries since being drafted by the Raiders in 1980 from Yale.

Waived were two rookies — safety Jack Phillips, a ninth-round draft pick from Alcorn State, and wide receiver Robert Oliver, a free agent from Western Michigan — along with quarterback Steve Slayden, fullback Tom Kelleher, wide receiver Albert Bell, defensive tackle Bob Standifer, cornerbacks Greg Hill and Calvin Lovell, safety Ellis Dillahunt and center Gerry Feehery.

Philadelphia Eagles The Eagles waived three-year linebacker Paul Butcher and 10 rookies who had signed as free agents. Tight ends Eric Bailey and Bob Williams were placed on injured reserve.

San Francisco 49ers The 49ers waived eight players, including six-year fullback Larry Moriarty, and placed two on injured reserve. Among those waived was wide receiver Gene Taylor, who played with Tampa Bay for two years.

Also released were center Andy Sinclair of Stanford, tackle Larry Clark of Montana, cornerback Lonnie Finch of Oklahoma, safety Eric Hickerson of Indiana, tight end Gordon Hudson of Brigham Young and linebacker Robert Harper of Houston.

Chicago Bears Rookie punter Kent Sullivan was among 17 players waived by the Bears.

Also cut were George Streeter, a defensive back from Notre Dame; former Northwestern running back Byron Sanders and Oklahoma State fullback Garrett Limbrick.

Sanders, who passed up his final year of eligibility at Northwestern, is the brother of Barry Sanders, the Heisman Trophy winner who has yet to sign with the Detroit Lions.

Miami Dolphins The Dolphins released fourth-round draft choice David Holmes, a defensive back from Syracuse, and fourth-string quarterback Brent Pease, who had asked to be released. Second-year offensive tackle Greg Johnson was placed on the injured reserve list after undergoing major reconstructive knee surgery on Monday.

Houston Oilers Rookie Alvoid Mays and veterans Mike Ruth and Carl Byrum were among 16 players waived.

The Oilers are also still missing two starters from last year's team, running back Mike Rozier and wide receiver Drew Hill.

Rozier, the team's leading rusher in 1988, made a brief appearance at Tuesday's practice and then left. He is seeking a new five-year contract.

New England Patriots The suspense over how many quarterbacks the Patriots will keep is going to last at least one more week.

As Coach Raymond Berry promised a day earlier, the Patriots reached the NFL's 60-player limit without cutting one of their four quarterbacks.

"It's our jobs and our careers on the line, so we want to know in the worst way," said Doug Flutie, who remains locked in a battle with Steve Grogan and Marc Wilson for the role as backup to Tony Eason.

San Diego Chargers Napoleon McCallum, in the Navy since playing for the Los Angeles Raiders in 1986, was placed on the "reserve military" list, which allows the Chargers to activate him at any time but prevents him from practicing with the team.

The Chargers, in trimming their roster to 60 players, dealt one-time Pro Bowl punter Ralf Mojsiejko to the Washington Redskins in exchange for an undisclosed draft choice in 1990.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor Martin Sheen took his crusade to help the homeless to Hollywood's Walk of Fame while accepting a star in his honor there.

"The sidewalks of Hollywood are known all over the world as the Walk of Fame, but many sidewalks in America could be known as the 'Walk of Shame' because of the 4 million homeless people residing on them full time," Sheen said Friday.

In his role as honorary mayor of Malibu, the 49-year-old Sheen recently declared the wealthy beach community a sanctuary for the homeless.

The actor, flanked by his wife,

SHEEN LeBon Janet, and sons Emilio Estevez and Charlie Sheen, asked the crowd to pray with him for 400,000 homeless children.

Sheen made his New York stage debut in 1959 in "The Connection" and his movies include "Apocalypse Now," and "Wall Street." He was the 1,897th recipient of the Hollywood star.

LONDON (AP) — Singer Simon Le Bon of the pop group Duran Duran said his new baby daughter has his eyes, but an awful voice.

The 6-pound, 5-ounce girl born Friday to Le Bon's wife, Yasmin, has the mother's legs, nose and mouth, Le Bon said.

"Thank God everything went well at the birth of our little girl. We never knew nine months could take so long," he said. Yasmin Le Bon, a 24-year-old fashion model, has suffered two miscarriages.

The singer was with his wife when she gave birth at a private clinic in London.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 31, 1989

CELEBRITIES BORN ON THIS DATE: actor Richard Basehart, activist Eldridge Cleaver, musical playwright Alan Jay Lerner, Orioles manager Frank Robinson, violinist Itzhak Perlman, funny man Buddy Hackett, actor James Coburn, playwright William Saroyan.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Your work could be subject to interruptions. Get better organized to handle routine tasks. Taking a conservative approach to a personal matter will be less stressful than flying off the handle.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): A golden career opportunity comes your way. You must make a quick decision. Loved one has strong feelings about sudden changes. Know your priorities. Consult mate before making up your mind.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Taking a new approach to an old problem will work wonders today. Comparison shopping yields sensational bargains. A parent-child relationship improves following a spontaneous show of affection. Speak from your heart.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Once you conquer your emotions, your career will take off like a rocket. Conservative tactics work well at the bargaining table. Music will have an especially soothing effect on frazzled nerves this evening.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Be aware of new financial trends so you can act quickly. Good timing is the secret to success. Patience works best in your personal relationships.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Experiment a little. Be confident enough to break with the past. Encourage a teen-ager who wants to be on his own. Do not succumb to the "penny-wise but pound-foolish" syndrome.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Trust your finer instincts and you will win — in tangible and intangible ways. Once you get a handle on your emotions, you can sort out an amazing number of problems. Romance soars to new heights.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21):

Forget foolish pride and do what must be done. Your work takes a new direction. Welcome constructive changes. An older person offers unsolicited advice. Follow it if it sounds good.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): What originally looked like a good buy could turn out to be a mistake. Inspect sales items very carefully. Your anxiety is based on a false premise. Quit worrying! Time favors your efforts.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Mate or partner helps you save money. Focus on building up your resources. You have what it takes to do battle and win. Your energy level will rise when you get more sleep.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Stick to businesslike methods and you will fare better. A conservative person is attracted by your modesty. Protect your reputation. Make certain of your partners before signing your name on the dotted line.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): The pieces of a puzzle fall into place. Do not ignore your instincts. See a relationship as it really is, ending it if that will be best for you. Encourage a sensitive child.

 Late Registration Sept. 7-18

McCoy-Freeman

Karen Elaine McCoy, Abilene, and Kevin Jay Freeman, Big Spring, exchanged wedding vows Aug. 26, 1988 at a 3:30 p.m. ceremony at First United Methodist Church, with Keith Wiseman, pastor of St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Amarillo, officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall McCoy, Rt. 1 Box 694-D; and the late Rose Ann McCoy.

Bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. John E. Freeman Jr., 706 W. 14th St.

The couple stood before an altar decorated with a fan-shaped arrangement of lavender gladioli and white spidermums. Two spiral candelabras were decorated with English ivy and accented with a lavender bow. Two complimenting arrangements and a white unity candle completed the setting.

Vocalists were Brenda Shirey and Julie Shirey. Selections included Evergreen; Sunrise, Sunset; Time in a Bottle; and One Hand, One Heart.

Guest registrar was Tina Frazier.

The bride wore a San Martin original gown of white satin with a sweetheart neckline. The fitted bodice, overlaid with Venice lace, featured an antebellum waistline and leg-o-mutton sleeves accented by satin roses. The bouffant skirt fell to a cathedral-length train with bow details and lace appliques on the skirt and train. The shoulder-length veil of bridal illusion fell from a headband of iridescent sequins and pearls.

She carried a cascading bouquet of purple, lavender and white roses accented with lace a ribbon streamers and strands of pearls.

Maid of honor was Angel Reid, Big Spring.

Bridesmaids were Lisa Deubler, bride's sister, Big Spring; Cheryl Graves, bride's sister, Bryan; Vikki Moore, Big Spring; and Breann Seely, Abilene.

Best man was Chad Freeman, bridegroom's brother, Big Spring.

Groomsmen were Randy Hayworth, Big Spring; Brian Reid, Lubbock; Gary Morrison, Odessa; and R. Zane Rutledge, Austin.

Ushers were Marshall Blythe, bride's brother, Big Spring; Jeff Rhodes, Big Spring; Mark Kasik, Lubbock; and Troy Deubler, Big Spring.

MRS. KAREN FREEMAN

Candlelighters were Troy Deubler and Mark Kasik.

After the wedding, a reception was hosted in Garrett Hall. The bride's table, draped with white lace, featured a silver baroque candelabra with five lavender tapers and ribbon. The candelabra was topped with a mixed lavender and white arrangement. The seven-tier wedding cake featured a fountain surrounded with lavender roses and stairs connecting the tiers. Two glass swans adorned the top of the cake. Silver and crystal appointments also decorated the table. A red sweetheart rose lay atop a white Bible that belonged to the bride's mother.

The bridegroom's table, draped with an ecru linen cloth, was decorated with three lavender column candles on a brass server. The chocolate cake was decorated as a tuxedo topped with a lavender boutonier. Brass appointments completed the decorations.

The bride, a 1987 graduate of Coahoma High School, attends Stenograph Institute of Texas, Abilene. She is employed by Ritch Keeble, Southwestern Life Insurance Co.

The bridegroom, a 1986 graduate of Big Spring High School, attended Howard College and Texas Tech University. He plans to attend the University of Texas Health Science Center, Dallas, where he will major in physical therapy.

After a wedding trip to the Bahamas, the couple will make their home in Abilene.

DELORES & JERRY CURRIE

QUICK PROFILE:
Delores and Jerry opened Added Touch Florists four years ago and moved to their present location, 602 Main Street, two years ago. Delores has a gift and retailing background. Jerry runs their ranch at Garden City when not busy in the shop.

WHAT ARE YOUR HOBBIES?
Both enjoy the outdoors — they play golf and go fishing. And they both like to cook.

WHO IS A PERSON YOU ADMIRE?
"I admire those who can make the best of any situation and keep a positive outlook, no matter what," says Delores.

WHAT IS YOUR FAVORITE TELEVISION SHOW?
The couple likes watching game shows to relax after work. Jerry mentions "Wheel of Fortune" as a favorite. They watch sports shows and mini-series, such as "Lonesome Dove." Delores says they have "Dove" and "The Thornbirds" taped for future showings.

DO YOU HAVE ANY PETS?
Jerry tends several horses on the ranch.

WHAT MAGAZINES DO YOU SUBSCRIBE TO?
Both enjoy reading Texas Highways and Texas Monthly as well as Bon Appetit and Southern Living for creative cooking ideas.

WHAT IS YOUR FAVORITE LEISURE THING TO DO IN BIG SPRING?
Delores and Jerry like to play golf and to share time with friends.

WHAT DID YOU DO ON YOUR LAST VACATION?
The Curries spent their last vacation in Santa Fe and Colorado Springs. Both are high on Santa Fe. There's a great race track and an "artsy" atmosphere, says Delores.

WHAT ARE YOUR FUTURE GOALS?
Delores hopes to find more time to do the leisure things she enjoys — traveling and hobbies.

Spencer-Wilkins

Mary Lindsey Spencer, New Orleans, La., and Keat Wilkins, St. Louis, Mo., exchanged wedding vows Aug. 26, 1989 at a 7 p.m. ceremony at First Baptist Church, with Kenneth Patrick officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Neil D. Spencer, Big Spring, and the late Neil D. Spencer.

Bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Dan Wilkins, Big Spring; and Dr. and Mrs. Owen Weddle, Raleigh, N.C.

The couple stood beneath a gazebo decorated with ferns and ivy. Two arched candelabras, ficus trees, red roses, white gladiolus, spider mums and snapdragons completed the setting.

Organist was Beth Spence. Pianist was Betty Dowiey.

Vocalists were George Bancroft, Scott Underwood, Jackie Henry and Kenneth Patrick.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother Joe R. Spencer, Garland, wore a Salina original white satin gown featuring a sweetheart neckline and keyhole back. The fitted, smocked bodice and sleeves were embellished with embroidered lace, sequins and bridal pearls. The ornate skirt with a 12-foot cathedral-length train was fashioned with cascading ruffles and beaded satin bows.

She carried a crescent-shaped bouquet of gardenias, white roses, stephanotis and English ivy.

Maid of honor was Jennifer Spencer, bride's niece, Dallas.

Bridesmaids were Kirsten Wilkins, bridegroom's sister, Austin; and Susan Eckerley, Arlington.

Flower girl was Maykin Cathey, San Antonio.

Best man was George Bancroft, San Antonio.

Groomsmen were Scott Underwood, Lubbock; and Wendell Whitman, Boulder City, Nev.

MRS. MARY WILKINS

Ushers were Scott Griffin, Big Spring; and Leo Krogmann, Odessa.

Ringbearer was Jason Spencer, bride's nephew, Garland.

After the wedding, a reception was hosted at the Big Spring Country Club. The bride's table, draped with a white linen cloth with a lace overlay, featured a four-tier wedding cake with cascading red roses and gardenias. Six crystal candlesticks surrounding a crystal bowl with floating gardenias, the bridal bouquet, and crystal appointments also decorated the table. The bridegroom's table was draped with a white linen cloth. His cake featured a chocolate four posted bed with a miniature top hat, cane and bridal veil surrounded by English ivy and silver appointments.

The bride, a graduate of Big Spring High School, received her bachelor of business administration degree from the University of Texas at Austin. She is employed by General Mills Inc.

The bridegroom, a graduate of Big Spring High School, received his bachelor's and master's degree in business administration from the University of Texas. He is employed by Citicorp, St. Louis.

Herald gets awards

KANSAS CITY — The Big Spring Herald has been awarded first place honors in advertising campaigns out of 16 newspapers in the Kansas City division of Thomson newspapers.

The Herald won the first place for the best house ad for a campaign called "We'll Knock Your Socks Off."

The Herald also won second place honors for the best newsletter — The AdGram.

Top employee

BIG SPRING — Billie Sue Barnes, Personnel Assistant at the Federal Prison Camp, has been selected as Employee of the Month for September. She has been employed at the facility since January, 1986 and was chosen by her supervisors for the honor.

Free lunch guidelines released by schools

BIG SPRING — Area schools recently released guidelines for those seeking free or reduced-price meals for their children.

Children of families that income is within accepted guidelines are qualified to receive either free or reduced priced breakfasts and lunches (For those guidelines, please see box on Page 2-A).

The income guidelines are established by the U.S. Department of Agriculture and are the same for all school districts. The only variance to these guidelines might be how much the district can charge for reduced lunches, Forsan Superintendent J.F. Poyner said.

For example, Forsan ISD charges 50 cents for its reduced-priced lunch and 25 cents for reduced-price breakfast. Coahoma ISD, meanwhile, charges 40 cents for lunch and 30 cents for breakfast under the reduced-priced program.

If families qualify under these guidelines, they need to apply for the program at the school their children are attending, Big Spring ISD Director of Food Services Ray Lawliss said.

Locally, Lawliss and his staff screen all applications to determine qualification. If it is determined that the applicant does not qualify, they are notified by letter, Lawliss said.

But, he said that eligibility guidelines are fairly iron-clad. "They're pretty well set," he said.

Lawliss said that about 1,500 BSISD students qualified for the program in 1988-89. In Forsan, that figure was at 80-90 students, Poyner said.

"Of the total we feed, approximately 50 percent of these are free or reduced-priced meals," Lawliss said. In Forsan, the percentage was at 16 percent, Poyner said.

Both men said predicting this year's number would be difficult — Poyner described it as "difficult as predicting enrollment" — but they said the numbers should be about the same as last year.

Poyner said that families can apply for the program at any time during the year, depending on how their economic status changes.

Conversely, if the families' economic situation improves so that they no longer qualify for the program, they are also obligated to report that to the district, or face possible fraud charges, he added.

Other aspects of the program include:

- Verification — All school districts have the right to verify information on the applications.
- Foster children may be eligible for the program.
- Nondiscrimination — Children who participate in the program will be treated the same as children who pay for the meals. No child will be discriminated against because of race, sex, national origin, age or handicap.
- Hearings — If families are rejected for the program, they may request to discuss the situation with school officials.
- Confidentiality — All information provided is confidential and may be used only for eligibility determination and verification.

Teen-ager performs at ceremonies

Traci Willie, 15, daughter of Terry and Cheryl Willie, and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. C.F. Whittington, Big Spring, was chosen by audition as a member of the U.S. Olympic Festival Drill Team to perform at the opening and closing ceremonies in Oklahoma City, Okla.

Also appearing were former President Ronald Reagan, Bob Hope, Oakridge Boys, Reba McEntyre, Ray Charles, Roy Clark, and many other celebrities.

Active children are normal

By NAOMI HUNT
County Extension Agent

Parents and caregivers of school-age children often ask themselves, "Do all school-agers act this way? Is this child developing normally? Is this just another stage?"

Adults can be assured that it is considered normal for the 6-year-old to be eager to learn, restless, overactive, self-assertive and often aggressive. These youngsters are inept at activities using small muscles. They are keenly competitive and boastful and in need of encouragement, ample praise, warmth and great patience from adults.

The typical 7-year-old will have better use of this small muscles, be sensitive to the feelings and attitudes of others, and be talkative and prone to exaggeration. Youngsters at this age enjoy songs, rhythms, fairy tales, myths, television and movies. They need the right combination of independence and encouragement from adults.

Attention spans of 8-year-olds increase, as does their concern and interest in other people. At this point the child is more enthusiastic than cautious, which leads to a higher accident rate.

The child's understanding of basic concepts, like time and money, increase dramatically.

Focus on family

Eight-year-olds need a best friend in addition to many experiences with peers, gentle reminders of their responsibilities, and lots of praise and encouragement.

Individual differences and abilities become obvious by the age of nine or 10. The child is capable of prolonged involvement in an activity and can plan and carry out activities and events on his own. Interest in his own community, country and people from other countries and cultures replaces interest in fantasy and fairy tales.

The nine or 10 year-old still needs active rough and tumble play, friends and membership in a group — a good age to be in 4-H, definite responsibility, frank answers to questions concerning physiological changes, and reasonable explanations from loving adults.

Pre-adolescents, or children aged 10, 11 and 12, experience rapid, uneven growth of all parts of their bodies which may result, uneven in awkwardness, restlessness and laziness. Wide differences in maturity are common, with girls often maturing about two years earlier than boys.

Although there are marked differences in interests between boys and girls, all typically enjoy team games, pets, television, radio and movies. Having a sense of belonging, or being accepted by one's peers, is of great importance in the child's life.

Preadolescents need opportunities for greater independence, responsibility without pressure, warm affection and a sense of humor from adults who avoid nagging, condemnation and talking down.

Understanding the many changes which school-age children experience physically, socially, emotionally and mentally can help parents and caregivers provide the experiences and opportunities needed for optimum growth and development. Understanding the normal developmental processes can also ensure wise guidance and appropriate limit-setting for growing children.

4-H is the youth education program of the Extension Service open to boys and girls from third grade to age 19.

Wedding Salazar-Valverde

Debbie Salazar, 702 N. Scurry St., and Larry Valverde, 2522 Dow Dr., were united in marriage Aug. 26, 1989 at 11 a.m. ceremony at Immaculate Heart of Mary Church, with Father Patrick Walsh officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Tim and Gina Salazar.

Bridegroom's parents are Luis and Susana Valverde.

The couple stood before an altar decorated with two ficus trees, greenery with white day lilies, a unity candle surrounded by greenery, and two eight-branch candelabras. Pews were marked with bows.

Guitarist was Steve Chavez. Vocalists were Cindy Chavez and Norma Martinez.

The bride, given in marriage by her parents, wore a gown of sheer ivory lace with a scalloped bateau neckline. The long, sheer sleeves tapered at the wrists. The gown fell straight to calf-length joining a fully-gathered tier covered by a satin poufed band circling the tier. A bow decorated the back. The scalloped tier fell to ankle-length in front and dipped in back to form a short train. Her fingertip veil of ivory illusion was held by a pearl-covered headband accented with ivory roses, and accented with drops of pearls.

She carried a bouquet of English ivy fashioned in the shape of a bow and was accented with ivory and peach lilies in the center of the bow.

Maid of honor was Flora Salazar, bride's aunt, Big Spring.

Bridesmaids were Cruz Salazar, bride's aunt, Big Spring; Sue Holguin, Forsan; Liz Baquera, bride's cousin, El Paso; Lisa Salazar, bride's cousin, San Antonio; Elizabeth Flores, Big Spring; Patsy Rodriguez, Big Spring; Sandra Martinez, Big Spring; Cathy Chavez, Austin; Sandra Puente, Big Spring; and Christy Hartman, Big Spring.

Cushion maid was Roxanne Ybarra, bridegroom's niece, Big Spring.

Flower girl was Stacy Rodriguez, Big Spring.

Best man was Tony Martinez, Big Spring.

Groomsmen were Joe Salazar, bride's uncle, Big Spring; Raymond Holguin, Forsan; Nick Baquera, El Paso; Mark Williams, San Angelo; Johnny Flores, Big Spring; Pano Rodriguez, Big Spring; Andres Martinez, Big Spring; John Rodriguez, Big Spring; Andy Ybarra, bridegroom's cousin, Big Spring; and Doug Hartman, Big Spring. Ushers were Tony Salazar, bride's cousin, Big Spring; and Jaime Baquera, El Paso.

Lector was Ruth Salazar, bride's aunt, Big Spring.

Ringbearer was Jesse Fierro, bride's cousin, El Paso.

Candlelighters and servers were John Salazar, bride's cousin, Big Spring; and Jim Lewis, Big Spring.

After the wedding, a reception was hosted at the church. The bride's table, draped with a peach cloth with a white lace overlay, featured a wedding cake of seven individual tiers that were placed in a semi-circle design. Each tier was placed on a lucite stand with the base encircled with ivory. Flowers decorated each tier in the bride's chosen colors of peach, seafoam green, and blue. The largest cake was accented with a porcelain hobo bride and bridegroom figurine. The table also featured a champagne fountain.

The bridegroom's table, draped with a white cloth, featured a Coca-Cola theme. The chocolate cake with white icing featured the Coca-Cola logo. An old-fashioned Coca-Cola tray accented the table and featured a Coca-Cola candle and a miniature crate and bottles.

The bride, a graduate of Big Spring High School, is a part-time student at Howard College. She is employed by the Big Spring Herald.

The bridegroom, a graduate of Big Spring High School, is employed by Western Container.

After a wedding trip to South Padre Island and San Antonio, the couple will make their home in Big Spring.

Pat Gray Body Works guarantees repairs

An example of state-of-the-art equipment at Pat Gray Body Works, 700 N. Owens, is the Hunter computerized four-wheel alignment system. This impressive machine features a rack equipped with

BIG SPRING—"When you start shopping around for collision repair, alignment or refinishing service you have the right to demand the best," says Pat Gray, owner of Pat Gray Body Works, 700 N. Owens. "With our equipment and trained technicians — combined with our commitment to quality — we believe we offer the best."

An example of state-of-the-art equipment at Pat Gray Body Works is the Hunter computerized four-wheel alignment system. This impressive machine features a rack equipped with four sensors — one for each wheel so they can be adjusted individually. The machine operator is given precise analysis through computer screen read-out. The ultimate in precision, the Hunter relates all four wheels to a common centerline to insure precise alignment and perfectly centered steering wheel.

Gray explains that such alignment is vital to cars with independent suspension systems — which includes about 95% of today's front wheel drive cars, imports as well as American. Wheel alignment on modern unibody cars require the services of a body shop, Gray points out.

Car owners don't have to wait till they've had a collision to utilize the alignment machine, said Gray. For example, if your car has a non-adjustable suspension, and you notice excessive or uneven tire wear or "pulling", bring it in for a check-up. Proper wheel alignment extends tire life, ensures safe driving, stretches fuel mileage and improves handling, Gray notes.

A new technician has been hired at Pat Gray Body Works specifically to provide customer maintenance on suspension systems, brakes, struts and shocks.

Collision repairs at Pat Gray's start with the Kansas Jack Magna Rack III, a revolutionary system for unibody cars that literally reverses the collision action by pulling it out the way it went in, then squares and aligns each section of your car. With its advanced gauging and analysis system, the machine can achieve repair results that are correct within one or two millimeters.

Pat Gray Body Works is the only body shop in the immediate area to feature Blowtherm Ultra spraybooth oven for factory-perfect paint jobs on vehicles following body work.

The firm recently introduced written warranties on all repairs — lifetime on workmanship, five years on paint jobs — and back new parts warranty from the manufacturer.

Pat Gray offers free wrecker service on collision repair jobs in the area, including service to Snyder, Colorado City and Lamesa. Phone 263-0852 or 263-2374.

It was SRO at the Big Spring Country Club Wednesday night — a happy crowd turned out for the Mexican buffet and a chance to meet our town's Chicago visitors from St. Francis Retirement

Ellis Britton gave guests at his table a play-by-play account of the history-making Texas Rangers-Oakland Athletics game Tuesday night in Arlington. Ellis and John Wilson were on hand to see Ranger pitcher Nolan Ryan get his 5,000th strikeout. They were Touching down at New Braunfels in a vintage World War II plane are (standing) Karen Olsen, Debby Byrnes, Cindy Hillman, Glynn Mouton, Kay McDaniel, June Massey, Barbara Bowlin, Gwen Sawyer, Kay Bancroft, Mary Ellen Walls, Carol Nickola and Kathy Tatum; (front row) Cinda Stanley, Karen Edwards, Laurie Churchill, Barbara Hall, Paula Talbot and Alice Haynes.

Village.

For Bob Riley, it was the third social event he had been to that day. He hosted the St. Francis board at breakfast that morning at Howard College — then he hopped a plane to Dallas for a meeting — and made it back in time for the buffet. Bob admitted he was beginning to fade.

joined in the stands by Ellis' son, Jimmy Britton, and to inner Big Spring resident, Ron Launder, both of Dallas. Janelle Britton make the trip to Dallas, too, but she and Linda Launder skipped the game.

Wayne Moore's wife, Bobbie, was meeting many residents for the first time. She had stayed behind in Hunt to prepare for daughter Margaret's wedding to David Doctor Saturday night. (The young couple will live in San Diego.) Bobbie, who will teach this year at Goliad Middle School, came in Monday in time for the barbecue on Scenic Mountain. The Moores' daughter Jenny, a student at UT-Austin, dashed in for the barbecue, too.

Cliff Attaway managed to get to the dinner on time in spite of a busy day changing the marquee at Highland Mall. The Gregg-FM 700 intersection was passed frequently by the visitors (six times Wednesday!) and Cliff climbed up a ladder to put up new messages every time they were to pass.

Others in the crowd were Myra Robinson, Steve and Sandra Waggoner, Agnes Currie, Cruz Cruz, Jean and Cloetta Shotts, Harold and Janell Davis, Beverly and John Taylor, Joe Pickle, Ralph and Billie McLaughlin, Don and Cheryl Stevens, Judy Smith, Jack Watkins, James and Pam Welch, Clyde and Jane Thomas, Francis and Walter Wheat.

Also Mary Louise Traczyk, Polly Mays, Bob Johnston, Conrad Alexander, Al Valdez, Gail Earls, Jerry and Louise Ann Worthy, Hal and Joy Boyd, Hooper and Pete Sanders, Terry and Kay McDaniel, Ben and Kay Bancroft, John Richard and Cheri Sparks, Bill and Fay Reed, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Wollenzien and many more.

Former resident Emily Boyd, Dallas, reports in February for a position with Westminster Bank in London, England. Emily, who handles arrangement for most of Fina's meetings, is being given a year's leave to accept the assignment.

Emily is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest M. Boyd. Her sister, Carol, a teacher here, says she's already saving money for a trip to England!

Big Spring is being represented at the National Harley Owners Group rally underway in Breckenridge, Colo., by Howard Walker, W.T. "Bill" Morris and Mayor Max Green.

The threesome left Thursday on their Harleys; according to Max they will have traveled 1,800 miles before they get back tomorrow.

A rally, the mayor says, consists of trade shows, motorcycle contests, safe-riding seminars, social events, and planned tours.

Actor David Trim, former resident now living in Los Angeles, has a part in the season-opener of the nighttime TV soap, "Falcon Crest," and has been tapped for three more episodes.

David's parents are former residents Walter and Mary Trim. Mary is teaching in Dallas while Walter is on a railroad assignment in St. Louis.

Ted Groebl received his 60-year

Masonic pin and certificate at his 83rd birthday party last Saturday. Charlie Lewis, worshipful master of Big Spring Lodge No. 1340, made the presentation.

According to lodge members, earning a 60-year pin is quite an achievement since you have to be 21 years old to join. Jimmy Felts is the only other local resident to reach this milestone.

Flying in a vintage World War II amphibious plane should be enough excitement, but 18 residents followed that up with a river rafting trip!

Karen Edwards coordinated the trip (she says it was so much fun she hopes to make it an annual event!) Husband Connie Edwards didn't need any coaxing to warm up one of his vintage planes. The group's destination was New Braunfels for the rafting party.

Early arrivals gather on Scenic Mountain for a barbecue and a chance to welcome St. Francis Retirement Village executives. The sunset and lightning were spectacular that evening.
