Recall petition seeks to oust mayor

By RUTH COCHRAN Staff Writer

BIG SPRING - Mounting frustrations and dissatisfaction with the city council have led one council member's daughter to attempt to remove Mayor Max Green from office.

Michelle DeAnda Rodriquez, the daughter of Councilwoman Pat DeAnda, filed an application Monday with the city secretary for a recall election petition. If Rodriquez gathers 894 valid signatures on the petition within 30 days, then the city will hold a recall election on Green, said City Secretary Tom Ferguson.

According to the application filed with Ferguson, Rodriquez feels Green should be recalled from office because he "has refused to listen to the people of the

By PATRICK DRISCOLL

COLORADO CITY - With at least one skunk testing positive for rabies every year in Mitchell County plus a confirmed case of bubonic plague being carried by rodents last year, Colorado City police officers shoot skunks on sight.

But that policy may be altered because of a stink made over the smell left behind.

Skunks, the most common carrier of rabies, are a problem for the city because the town's creeks and rivers make convenient breeding grounds for them, city officials and decaying carcasses of animals that are shot in populated areas. It has prompted one of the city's leading merchants to threaten to move out of the city.

Also causing a problem is the smell left behind from the spray

In September of last year, the decaying fumes of a skunk were sucked into an air vent behind Anthony's, 203 E. 2nd, for a whole weekend. It took $250,000 to renovate the store, said Store Manager David Weaver. The 9.600-square-foot store was recarpted, painted and restocked.

He said he was told then by the city that the incident was a once-ina-million occurance and that it would probably never happen

When it happened again this past

Friday, the clothing store was forced to close at noon and it cost $130 to fumigate the building.

'We're going to pull out of here if it happens again," Weaver told the city council as he addressed them at their meeting Tuesday night. "We are here to make a buck, plain and simple. We cannot make abuck if we are shut down.

"There's lots of ways it could be taken -care of." he insisted. "It should have been taken care of a vear ago.

He said he was glad that the skunk, which was 12 inches from the air vent, was not as close as it was last year and that it was found before the weekend. But it was still too close, he told the council.

"A year ago it cost Anthony's one-quarter of a million dollars to clean it up. It's not worth it to do it again," he said. "We got that close again.

Mayor Jim Baum said that shooting skunks should continue in city limits but asked City Attorney Tom Rees, "Why can't our policy simply be you don't shoot them at Anthony's?"

Rees said that an exception could be made for Anthony's. Then, expressing concern for other businesses in town, he said a policy, which may already exist verbally, should be put into writing to state that the animal control of ficer should be contacted the next morning after a skunk is shot.

Rees said the policy should say that if the control officer cannot be contacted then police should pick up the animal

Dr. James Henderson, a regional veterinarian with the State Department of Health, who oversees Mitchell County, said skunks are the most common carriers of rabies. From 1984-87 they accounted for 37.5 percent of known rabies carriers in Texas, he said. Foxs made up 12.9 percent of the carriers.

No heat relief yet for Runnels school

By JAMES FLEEHR Staff Writer

BIG SPRING — In a letter to the editor, published in today's Herald, a Big Spring woman said having no air-conditioning in some schools is "ridiculous.

Citing a lack of air-conditioning as a major concern, Big Spring resident B.T. Statham said, "I believe we need to take care of our students, teachers and staff of our schools here " But school officials say the problem that exists at Runnels Junior High is caused not by the absence of airconditioning units as stated in the letter, but is because of outdated equipment.

In a response to the letter, B.S.I.S.D. Superintendent Bill Mc-Queary said, "Runnels has inadequate air-conditioning because they have 'swamp' coolers." That type of air-conditioning unit cools by blowing air over cooled water, McQueary said.

'To do an air-conditioning upgrade at Runnels Junior High would probably cost $100,000," said McQueary.

From the school district's standpoint, it is all a case of tax dollars. McQueary explained that even with the recent tax increase, a bigger problem would be created if money is spent unwisely to purchase new equipment.

'Yes, we are aware of (the problem) at Runnels. It gets hot over there at times," he said.

The school board is not planning any renovation at the present time. Studies of the cooling system have been conducted and the total cost, after asbestos removal and including installation, was listed at $500,000 to $750,000.

The key to the problem, said Mc-Queary, is not the fact there is no air conditioning; it is the absence of effective equipment

The type of coolers in Runnels are not designed to be 100 percent efficient in extreme weather

"It's very hard when it gets 100, 102 degrees," said McQueary, "I've had a number of people call me. There are a few classrooms on the west side that do get hot."

The units are on the south side and there the conditions sometime become too hot for the equipment to control. But the budget situation prove's to be the overriding consideration. McQueary said, "Money is tight." To alleviate the problem, the students are being allowed to wear shorts and dress in cooler clothing. The only plan proposed by the school board is an early proposal for the construction of a new junior high school facililty. This proposal is not final and is still a long way from becoming a reality, Mc-Queary said.

Some of the rooms do have air conditioning. McQueary used the Computer Lab as an example.

At present, McQueary said, there is no major health concern and, with the exception of isolated incidents, the students seem to be getting by.

Maybe a better description would be "sweating it out." The Statham letter insists "fainting" is a recurring problem at the school.

McQueary denied the statement. In addition to the junior high, three elementary schools are functioning under similar conditions: Marcy, College Heights and Bauer

4-Hers offer tasty supper at fair

BIG SPRING - Egg omelets are not the only thing 4-Hers do, but they are one of the most popular featires of the Howard County Fair.

Between 200 and 300 volunteers worked together at the 4-H omelet supper Tuesday to produce the tasty omelets sold at the booth.

"We're finding out the 4-H'ers and their families eat more omelets now," said Naomi Hunt, Howard County Extension Agent in charge of 4-H, at the supper. The idea was not to go into business as a food chain, but to teach the young members of 4-H valuable leadership skills, Hunt

The omelet dinners were started 13 years ago. The supper was originally conceived to support the fair, serve as a learning experience and provide a program of community service.

'This is a chance for the public to see 4-H in a new light," said Hunt. She explained the public commonly associates the organization with animals, cooking and sewing. The supper is a chance to show off skills and learn about nutrition, she said.

"The main purpose is to teach 4-H'ers about working together. When they are working over a camp stove they learn how to work together," said Hunt.

Hunt conducted research into the omelet supper and found that, as a result of the event, the public learns more about 4-H from year to year as a result of the exposure.

concern, but each year it raises about $1,000.

The lines Tuesday night were just long enough to really make the customer hungry. For a cost of only $3, the 1989 egg omelet supper provided a meal and a chance to rest from the fair.

While Ernest Grubaugh, of Big Spring, was enjoying his Texas toast (included in the supper) he said the meal was "pretty good."

"Well, it's as good as any I've ever tasted," said John W. McGregor, of Knott.

4-Her Zachery Simmons said he was learning the concept of team work, how to pick up salad and how to make egg omelets. "I love it," he added.

The omelet supper was followed by an exhibit by the Big Spring Prospectors Club.

and recommended a 3-cent tax increase. The small increase came despite a parade of residents at a public hearing asking for whatever increase is needed to pay for police and fire protection and street

DeAnda voted against the 3-cent increase, saying it wasn't enough to meet the city's needs

Two weeks after approving that budget and tax increase, the council came back and added $490,000 in new programs and projects, such as 10 new police cars and a fire truck, to the proposed budget. The council in turn, slashed those items with the promise of reconsidering them in six months if the money is available. DeAnda, however, voted against cutting those items from the budget.

DeAnda said the council's problems with the budget, which they

Clements launches beach cleanup

AUSTIN (AP) - Gov. Bill Clements has proclaimed Saturday as Texas Coastal Cleanup Day, and state officials are urging Texans to help spruce up Gulf beaches.

"I want to encourage all Texans, not only those who live on the coast, but everyone who enjoys our beautiful beaches, to join us in this great effort," Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby said Tuesday.

The Texas effort is part of the 'Take Pride Gulf Wide' volunteer cleanup project that also includes Mississippi, Louisiana, Alabama and Florida. The Texas Adopt-A-Beach Program and Center for Marine Conservation are sponsoring Texas' cleanup.

"We are gearing up for our biggest beach cleanup," said Land Commissioner Garry Mauro. He said all 172 miles of accessible beach will be cleaned.

Geren told the House he looked forward to joining the Texas delegation, which "has served our state and our country so proudly over these years.'

Later, Geren said he was nervous but excited as he walked to the front of the House to take his oath. "It was an emotional experience. . .I couldn't help but be moved by that. . . I was excited, but I also feel a very heavy burden of responsibility — to realize the gravity of the responsibility - it's overwhelming.

"I know you're going to have a great career here." Foley told Geren as more than two dozen family members crowded around.

But at a news conference, Geren said he has staked out a position contrary to the Democratic leadership on the capital gains tax - hefavors a cut but House leaders want to preserve the tax — and also favors repeal of the surtax to fund catastrophic insurance coverage a position at odds with his former boss, Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas. Geren said he believes a cut in capital gains is "good economic policy" and that it would be an incentive to encourage investment, Geren said the first bill he introduced would give the president broad authority to deal with countries that "aid and abet" drug trafficking.

Geren said he hoped to land assisgnments on the House Public Works and Transportation Committee and the Veterans Affairs Committee. He is particulary interested in a seat on the aviation subcommittee, where he would work on behalf of the Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport and Fort Worth's new Alliance Airport.

City seeks ways to curb abortion protests

El PASO (AP) — A city committee is considering seeking a court injunction to restrict abortion protests, just days after 51 demonstrators were arrested at the second protest in three weeks. Police Capt. Greg Drollinger said the demonstration Saturday had the potential for violence.

"It can go from a peaceful demonstration to a riot situation in a matter of minutes," he said. But abortion demonstrators, told Tuesday of the committee's idea, pledged to take their fight to the U.S. Supreme Court if necessary.

The demonstrators have blocked doorways and surrounded patients in an effort to keep them from entering the clinic

Drollinger met with the city committee, the city representative whose district includes the protest site and Police Chief John Scagno Tuesday. Another meeting is planned for Monday.

If a temporary injunction were issued, protesters arrested for violating the order would face a fine of several hundred dollars — a similar order in Austin calls for a $500 fine. The fine for the Class B misdemeanor of obstructing a passageway — the crime with which most of the protesters have been charged — is $200.

Police Chief Scagno said the protests are stretching police resources: "Our real fear is that the target being hit is one of several possible targets in the city. If in one day, (the protesters) decided to hit three at one time, we would be in real trouble.

The demonstrations are expensive for the city: Saturday's cost $5,000 in overtime pay for the police tactical squad. The squad operates on a budget that includes only $52,000 a year for overtime pay, Deputy Chief Gus Massey

Sammy Oppenheim, a spokesman for the protesters, told the El Paso Times the protesters are taxpayers, too.

"Reproductive Services along with Planned Parenthood and the abortion industry cost the whole nation millions in taxes and federal support and funding," he said.

Oppenheim said the court would have to prove an organization exists to issue an injunction.

favor of life," he said.

"If there is an injunction filed, we are prepared to fight it all the way to the U.S. Supreme Court. We will consider that to be in violation of the civil rights that Martin Luther King Jr. accomplished for the black people and will violate what we are doing insofar as civil disobedience. And again I want to emphasize we are peaceful, nonviolent.'

Some of the protesters call themselves Rescue El Paso, but they say they are not affiliated with Operation Rescue, a national group with similar strategies.

MISSION — Citrus grower Nora Palmer looks over her ripe pineapple oranges. The harvest season is underway in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, but lower that normal yields are expected. Preliminary industry projections call for the Texas citrus harvest to be down in volume as much as 10 percent from last year, said Ray Prewett, executive vice president of Texas Citrus Mutual, a McAllen-based growers' organization. The grapefruit crop probably suffered most from the late cold snaps of last January and February and a drought that persists in some parts of the citrusproducing region at the southern tip of the state.

Flag wavering by politicians

Patriotic fervor drowned out reason as the House of Representatives approved by a lopsided margin a bill making desecration of the American flag a federal

Many, if not most, House members accept President Bush's view that, in light of the Supreme Court's recent ruling, the proposed law is an unconstitutional breach of the First Amendment. Yet just 38 lawmakers voted against the summer's hottest cause. Rep. Doug Applegate, D-Ohio, aptly termed the save-the-flag stampede 'the only game in town.'

The game began in June when the high court ruled that a Texas flag-burning statute violated the Constitution's free-speech guarantees. During the last three months, senators and represenatives have been scrambling to get on the politically popular side of this emotioncharged issue. After much breast beating and promises to amend the Constitution, the House has meekly hoisted the Flag Protection Act of 1989, hoping this nettlesome issue will disappear. The Senate will almost certainly pass similar legislation.

But the problem will not go away so easily. For example, the proposed law contains an exemption for the ceremonial burning of soiled flags. What is to prevent a protester from torching Old Glory and then claiming he did so because it was dirty? Would not the dirty-flag defense effectively negate the spirit and intent of the law?

If the Flag Protection Act becomes law, it will be challenged in the courts. If the Supreme Court strikes down the statute, Congress will be faced with the choice of amending the Constitution or doing nothing.

House Speaker Thomas Foley, D-Wash., has promised a vote later this year on a constitutional amendment to protect the flag. And the Senate will begin debate on a similar measure next month. But our guess is that a flag amendment will not be forthcoming in this session.

To begin with, the lawmakers are understandably reluctant to tamper with the Bill of Rights. This reluctance will prompt protracted debates about the precise wording of an amendment that would curtail freedom of expression. More importantly, Congress is not being pressured to act.

The initial wave of public indignation over the inflammatory Supreme Court ruling has subsided; there is no longer any outcry for a constitutional amendment. Congress, with its notoriously short attention span, is now engaged in the drug war, catastrophic health insurance, child care and other urgent issues. And President Bush has been conspicuously silent of late about the need for a flag amendment.

All of which suggests that the Flag Protection Act is nothing but political show.

ON THE VOLGA RIVER, U.S.S.R. - The Soviet Union has long harbored plans to divert the flow of some of its rivers in a way that could have catastrophic environmental consequences for the whole world. But the massive river diversion itself would make just a dent in the ecosystem when compared to the explosive devices the Soviets might use to pull it off nuclear bombs

We have already reported that the Central Intelligence Agency has for years been tracking Soviet schemes to divert its northerly flowing rivers into the agricultural and industrial regions of the south. Secret CIA reports say the impact on the Arctic Ocean, which is fed by those northbound rivers, would be devastating.

The Soviets, who have not distinguished themselves as environmentalists, might sacrifice long-term damage to the world in return for short-term gains for farmers and industry. They have proved their disregard for Mother Nature already by using nuclear blasts for quick excavation of water projects.

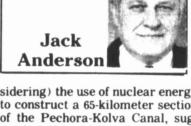

The CIA reckons that a nuclear explosion detected in the Soviet Union in 1971 was a test to see if nuclear devices could be used to build a canal to link the northflowing Pechora River with the south-flowing Volga. One secret CIA report says, "For some time U.S.S.R. scientists have been (considering) the use of nuclear energy to construct a 65-kilometer section of the Pechora-Kolva Canal, suggesting that about 250 charges, totaling 36 metagons, would be used to open an area in which construction is hampered by complex masses of rock

The CIA says the 1971 explosion measured from 4.7 to 5.0 on the Richter scale and "may therefore have constituted a test that is essential to the eventual construction of part of the canal by this method. A National Security Council arms control report notes that in 1965 the Soviets used a nuclear explosion to dam a river in the Semipalatinsk region. This sledgehammer approach to demolition makes the Soviet river diversion dream a potential nightmare.

There is no doubt that the Soviets millions of deaths in the Soviet Union this century alone, and those famines often were caused by the the geographic imbalance of Soviet terrain. More than four-fifths of the Soviet Union's water flows north to the Arctic Ocean — away from the

The possibility of diverting the north-flowing rivers into those that flow south has tempted Soviet leaders since the 19th century Leonid Brezhnev actually approved and budgeted one diversion project. He died before it was carried

With the pressure to make perestroika succeed, Mikhail Gorbachev could be equally tempted. In money terms, Soviet proponents of river diversion are telling Gorbachev that each cubic kilometer of water he is able to divert will generate more than $800 million in new revenue and 50,000 new jobs annually.

But the daunting cost of construction and excavation - $8 billion per cubic kilometer - has to give Gorbachev pause.

Not even a combination of a dozen river diversion schemes now being studied by Gorbachev would make up for the "water deficit" spilling into the Arctic Ocean now. The greatest concern is that, with the rising populations in the Central Asian republics, a shortage of water could cause a natural pogrom - the driving of those mostly Moslem people out of their need the water. Famines caused homes. There is simply not enough water to sustain them where they

Lewis Grizzard

And now for the good news

By LEWIS GRIZZARD Some months ago, I asked readers to tell me what they liked and disliked about their newspapers.

The response has been so overwhelming, my crack research team is still in the midst of sorting all the cards, letters and phone calls that came pouring in.

A full report will be forthcoming.

But even a brief examination of the responses unearthed what readers have been saying for ages about their newspapers:

There's not enough good

Wrote a man from Charlotte, N C .: "Isn't there anything good that ever happens in the news? Certainly there must be, but where is it in my newspaper?"

Wrote a woman from Plainview, Texas: "I get up in the morning and read my newspaper. After I'm finished, there are many times I'm so depressed I want to go back to bed. Where's some news that makes me feel better about the world in which I live?

I'm in complete agreement with such thoughts.

They are killing one another in the Middle East in droves, drugs are chipping away at the fabric of our society, Pete Rose has been banned from baseball, and if we didn't have enough to worry about, there's radon gas that can seep into your house and kill you no matter how much oat bran you eat.

There may be some hope, however. I finally saw a headline in a newspaper that, instead of dwelling completely on the negative, included an accent on the positive

The headline appeared recently in the Atlanta Constitution.

The article was about three inmates who escaped the Spaulding Co. jail in Griffin, Ga. The three inmates tore a commode out of a wall and crawled out of the hole that resulted.

One of the escapees was caught soon after the break but at this writing the other two were still at large.

That's the bad news. The good news was that there were 23 other inmates in the jail who could have followed the three who escaped but chose not to. Said the headline in the Constitution:

"Three Flee Spaulding Jail, but 23 Don't.'

It's certainly news that three inmates broke out of jail, but it may be even bigger news that 23 others had a chance to hit the air but didn't. The headline writer realized this and came up with . . but 23 Don't," thus pointing out the positive side of a negative story. I'd like to see more headlines written in this manner. For example:

"Chicago Alderman Found Guilty of Bribery, but Cubs

Win. "Students Riot in Virginia

Beach, but Stricken Airliner Lands Safely in Denver." "Bush War on Drugs Called

Weak, but at Least Somebody Is Doing Something.' "Jim Bakker Sobs at Trial. but It Probably Won't Do Him

Any Good.' "Pro Footballer Suspended for Drug Use, but Tommy Lasorda Doing Something

About His Weight Problem." "Fighting Continues in Beirut, but Thousands Flee to Freedom in West Germany.' "Loud Rock Music Threatens Teenage Hearing, but Orange Hair on Decline in U.S High

Citizens will ultimately pay the price for budget cuts

By PAT DeANDA City Councilwoman

This is an open letter to the citizens of Big Spring who have not been attending City Council meetings yet who will nevertheless pay the price for what we have done, or, should I say, have failed to do. I am writing to the public because I cannot be heard during the Council meetings. On many occasions I (and other council members) have been ignored by what has become a one man ruling party on the Council. "I" has now become the controlling word on the Council as the Mayor attempts to dictate his will over the City of Big Spring. Throughout my tenure on the council, I have always attempted to be honest with those who elected me, that open attitude now dictates that I speak out.

The council members are supposed to be representatives of the citizens — to do the will of the people. Yet, the mayor and others flatly refused to listen to the citizens who attended the public hearing on the tax increase. Even though the citizens of this city pleaded with the council to provide basic services and assure the future of Big Spring by approving an 8% tax increase, the mayor and three council members voted for only a 3-cent tax increase. Then they misled the Citizens of this city by stating that the 3-cent tax "increase" would be from the 68 cent level at a time when the ci- we try to get rid of him based ty was already collecting taxes at upon unsubstantiated rumors by

69.2 cents. So what we actually received was a 1.8 cent tax increase which will provide only approximately $19,000 additional dollars

In the future I see more washboard-surfaced streets, pot holes, water line breaks, problems with fire equipment and law enforcement. The 3 cent-tax increase was a sham; it gave the citizens of this city nothing but a false feeling you were getting something.

We have been working on this budget longer than necessary. The mayor and his men say it's because they're smarter and more thorough. According to some, prior councils were incapable of tying their own shoelaces. I take offense at that statement. In my time I have had the pleasure of working with some of the best. Maybe the difference was in the approach.

Prior councils attempted to work together for the benefit of the City. They weren't interested in "shows" to embarrass the employees or to make themsives look heroic. The Council attempted to pool abilities instead of each council member playing 'gotcha'' with the other

This Council has wasted a great deal of time playing the Big Spring version of the Spanish inquisition. Rumors fly and are instantly accepted as fact. We are told that so and so is not doing his job, so people who are afraid to give their names. We have been told that the city has another set of books and lots of money, but we have never found it. Why? Its not there. When I first joined the council I was told to look for these things. Did I look? You bet. But it is not there. The accusers who know about all the wrongdoing are not tough enough to stand behind their convictions. Instead they simply stand back and see if someone is fool enough to publicly look for the truth in the rumors. Rumors without proof are just that: rumors.

Our mayor keeps telling us the City must be run like a business. I havae tried to find out what the mayor means by running the City like a business. So far the only meaning he has given me is "cuts," mainly cuts in personnel. However, in attempting to get the mayor to define his intention we have raised the use of doubletalk to a fine art. First we started out with "attrition." When pressed, the mayor defined that word as Now we are saying "restructuring" to better utilize 'dead weight'' as the mayor likes ing." First, you create a situation where an employee is required to do the work of two or three. Then after the employee is stressed out, he is informed by his supervisor that if he can't handle the job then maybe the solution is quitting. Employee gets disgusted and quits. The job is not refilled and the work is shuffled to someone else to add to his responsibility and recreate the same situation. It's a great way to make the city employees pay for the city services without any cost to the mayor or his slum lord backers.

The mayor has now begun talking in terms of a job freeze with positions only being filled with the council's permission. Was this a council decision? If it was I never was asked about it. The Charter says the manager, not the council fires and hires. Or have we done away with the City Manager's position without my knowledge?

The mayor now says that we will look at the budget in six months to see if we can find the money for the needed programs. Baloney. This is just a way of keeping the citizens at bay until they cool down. Read my lips: when we were adding items to the budget, there was never any real intention of actually adding the items (not even the items the mayor voted for). It was just a political show to obscure what is really happening. Services are being cut. The City as a whole will fering is not yet over. Next the council will begin to search ways to cut your benefits. It's already started.

To our staff: I am personally sorry and embarrassed about the way you have been publicly humiliated. I can see no reason for it. You have been very patient. If it had been me in your position, I would have been fired long agò because my immediate reaction would have been to fight. I personally appreciate your efforts. When I hand you a problem you always come through.

We are fortunate to have new industry locating in Big Spring and others looking to move here. But we should be embarrassed by the picture this city presents to prospects. Would you want to locate your business in a town that looks neglected and dirty? In order to progress we must invest in our city. The citizens who attended the public hearing understood this concept. The Council doesn't. When the public said "we want to make an investment in our city" the Mayor in essence said "O.K. but we're going to do it my way." So much for democracy. We have now taken several giant steps backwards. I have no doubt that we will soon pay for our short sightedness. There has always been a lot of talk about making Big Spring grow. Well, we had an opportunity to do just that we thumbed our noses at it!

Hoffa said to be buried in stadium

CHICAGO (AP) - Former Teamsters leader Jimmy Hoffa was killed because of union and underworld rivalries, and his mutilated body was buried in concrete near the end zone at Giants Stadium in New Jersey, an exconvict says.

Donald "Tony the Greek" Frankos, a self-described freelance hitman, told Playboy magazine he was supposed to kill Hoffa but was in prison when the labor leader disappeared on July 30, 1975. So others killed him and described it to him later, Frankos

His account, one of many over the years purporting to reveal what happened to Hoffa, appears in November's Playboy.

Frankos said Hoffa was shot in the forehead at a home near Detroit, his body dismembered in the basement, then stored in a freezer until his burial in the football stadium near New York.

Jim Minish, stadium assistant general manager, said workers dug nearly 4 feet into the concrete while replacing the artificial surface during the past year and found nothing.

FBI spokesman in Chicago, Washington, Detroit and New Jersey said they could not comment on the article.

Frankos said Hoffa was slain in a dispute over his desire to regain control of the Teamsters upon his release from a federal penitentiary where he was serving time for mail fraud and jury tampering. A second motive, Frankos said, was Hoffa's prison fight with Tony "Tony Pro" Provenzano, a New Jersey Teamster of ficial and reputed mobster.

Bernard Goetz released from jail

NEW YORK (AP) — Subway gunman Bernard Goetz, freed from jail early today after serving 81/2 months for shooting four teen-agers in 1984, turned down the city's standard offer of a ride to the nearest subway stop.

Goetz was led out a side door of the Brooklyn Center of Detention, avoiding eight camera crews and about 30 photographers and reporters.

Goetz, 41, was arrested on Dec. 22, 1984, for the shooting of four teen-agers who he said were trying to rob him when they asked shoot the youths.

Dubbed the subway vigilante, Goetz became something of a folk hero among those who saw him as an individual taking a stand against crime. He had been a selfemployed electronics calibrator before his arrest.

In June 1987, following a twomonth trial, Goetz was cleared of attempted murder and assault charges but convicted of illegal possession of the gun he used to

Classical music can't compete

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The switch by one of the nation's most successful classical music stations to rock 'n' roll today underscores fears that high finance is silencing high class on the nation's radio waves.

Four months after being sold for $55 million, 58-year-old KFAC is casting off Beethoven, Brahms and Bizet for the beat of contemporary pop music, leaving the nation's No. 2 radio market with no full-time commercial classical

From its debut in 1931, KFAC-AM. and later FM, was distinguished as a citadel for the symphonic arts.

But that legacy was to end at 1 p.m. today, and classical radio outlets elsewhere are hearing the same tune.

"Can any fringe format — not just classical - survive these kinds of selling prices?" asked Bob Caulfield, president and general manager of Milwaukee classical station WFMR.

No matter how well-managed, a typical classical station will rarely attract more than 2 or 3 percent of listeners. hot rock station can grab more than three times that:

Several of the refugees interviewed by West German television said Czechoslovakia's Communist authorities were trying to prevent East Germans from reaching Hungary, even though the refugees had valid travel documents and visas for Hungary Some refugees told West German television in the border city of Passau that they swam across the Danube River to reach Hungary. One man said he was prevented from crossing to Hungary, went back to Poland and then flew to Budapest. None of the interviewed refugees was identified. A West German border police Hungary last week opened its borders to East German refugees and more than 17,000 have since used the opportunity to emigrate to West Germany.

In Bonn, Foreign Ministry spokesman Juergen Chrobog said 16 of 120 East Germans who had taken refuge in the West German Embassy in Warsaw had been moved to a nearby Roman Catholic seminary. The influx of refugees to the cramped embassy forced the West German government to close the mission to the public on Tuesday. The refugees are demanding free passage to West Germany. Chrobog told reporters in Bonn the seminary was made available by the Warsaw diocese at the request of West Germany's ambassador to Poland, Franz-Joachim Schoeller. Schoeller told West German television late Tuesday that Poland has promised a "pragmatic" solution for the refugees. The dispute over the refugees is straining relations within the Warsaw Pact.

St. Croix law officials join looters

CHRISTIANSTED, U.S. Virgin Islands (AP) — Law enforcement collapsed on St. Croix after Hurricane Hugo devastated the island, and hundreds of looters were ransacking stores and loading garbage bags full of food and jewelry, witnesses said today.

Tourists pleaded with reporters landing on this U.S. Virgin Island to take them off, and the U.S. Coast Guard today said gunshots and looting occurred during the night.

"It's very bad, extremely bad," said San Juan reporter Gary Williams.

Ham radio operators reported Hugo's winds on Sunday night and Monday destroyed or damaged 97 percent of the buildings on St. Croix, which has a population of 53,000. Civil defense officials reported no deaths on the island.

In San Juan, Coast Guard Petty Officer John Ware said Coast Guard cutters were steaming offshore St. Croix today, "showing the flag and awaiting instructions (on possible military assistance)."

Williams sald his helicopter flew over Sunny Isle she center in Christiansted. He said there appeared to be 1,000 people in the parking lot, many walking in and out of shattered shops with garbage bags.

'We did not see one cop in Christensted, and that's the main town," he said. "We saw a National Guard truck filled to capacity."

Wreckage of missing DC-10 found

PARIS (AP) - The widelyscattered wreckage of a French DC-10 jetliner that disappeared shortly after takeoff from Chad with 171 people on board was found today in a remote, rocky and sandy region of south-central Niger.

The airline said Tuesday's crash was probably caused by a bomb. There was no immediate report of survivors. The wife of the U.S. ambassador to Chad and a Chadian Cabinet minister were among those reported on board.

"It exploded at high altitude, leaving every reason to believe it was a bomb," UTA airline spokesman Michel Friess said on French television. He said it was possible, but less likely, that a technical failure was to blame.

"It appears to have exploded in flight at high altitude," said a Foreign Ministry spokesman, who spoke on condition of anonymity. "The pieces are widely scattered, so it didn't crash on Cleta Tucker, Veronica Garcia, Susette Walp and Yvette Gaytan recently learned about "hearthealthy foods" as part of a health consciousness project.

Heart-healthy

The students, who will food service certificate when they graduate, are learning to prepare foods that are low in calories, salt and cholesterol.

For the project, the students made Raisin-Oatmeal Cookies, Banana Bread, Whole Wheat Muffins and Margarite's Carrot Cake from the Fourth Edition of the American Heart Association Cookbook. They divided into two teams and mixed the dough earlier in the week, then stored it in the refrigerator. It was baked and served to SWCID students and faculty by the cooks and their instructor, Laural Brasel, Friday.

"The students really like these," said Brasel. "They're asking for the recipes. I think students are real interested in low-sugar foods.

"They taste good even without the sugar," said Walp, "and they're good for your health." This week's Recipe Exchange 4 egg whites

September is a great month for sandwiches. The weather is still hot, the kids are in school and you want to have some time to just relax from all the summer activities. The perfect solution to it all is sandwiches. And today we have what I think is the king of sandwiches. Yes, I'm talking

BIG SPRING — The Sweetwater Lady Mustangs came into Steer Gym leading the district volleyball race. The are still leading, but not before scrapping to a 15-8, 15-10 win over the Big Spring Lady Steers

BIG SPRING HERALD, WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 20, 1989

The win gives Sweetwater à 4-0 district mark and 13-1 overall record. Its only loss was to El Paso Burgess in the Monahans tournament. Coach Lois Ann McKenzie's Lady Steers fall to 2-2 in district play and 10-11 overall. The hotly contested game left McKenzie feeling optimistic. "We played a good game, what can I say?", said McKenzie. "I'm disappointed that we didn't win, but if we had gotten a couple of breaks, it might have been different. We only missed one serve, and that's got to be a record," she said with a smile.

Indeed her Lady Steers did play a good game in front of a very vocal crowd. But the Sweetwater trio of Nikki Heath, Michelle Mc-Cain and Pam McNary did Big Spring in.

The three hitters led a very aggressive Sweetwater attack, combining for 27 of 38 kills; the Lady Steers only converted 14 of 39 spike attempts for a modest 36 percent. As a team, the Lady Mustangs were 30 of 44 for 67 percent.

Heath, a 5-7 junior, was the most dominating. She helped score numerous Sweetwater points by downing 12 of 16 spike attempts. She served five straight points in the first game, rallying Sweetwater to a 7-5 lead.

Sweetwater coach Sylvia Wallace said Heath has come a long way. "She's a lot smarter this year," said Wallace. "Last year she played on ability. Sometimes she'll jump to soon, just hang in the air and still nail one. She's got great jumping ability.

While Heath was the offensive leader, the defensive leader was McCain. The 5-10 senior downed 7 of 11 kills, and recorded six blocks. After recording one spike in the first game, McNary, a 5-9 senior, came alive and pounded 7 spikes in the second game.

Big Spring was in control early in the first game. Teveyan Russell served four points and the Lady Steers led 4-1. Russell's diving save and Dorothy Vissana's smashing kill got the crowd into the game.

But the Lady Mustangs slowly began to take control, starting with Heath's service. They soon took over behind Heath's spiking and McCain's blocking.

Sweetwater led 12-6 after McCain served three points and it was soon

Big Spring played heads-up with Sweetwater throughout most of the second game. With the score tied 4-4, Big Spring surged ahead 6-4 when Russell served an ace and Jennifer Cranford stuffed a Sweetwater attempt. A few minutes later, Cranford blocked another Lady Mustang attempt, and the Lady Steers led 8-6.

Sweetwater made up ground as McNary attacked the Big Spring defense, rattling off three consecutive kills. With the score tied 10 all, NcNary, Stefanie Soto and LaTonya Gaston served the last five Sweetwater points.

'I always worry about us playing too conservative. But we didn't back off, we went all out," said coach McKenzie. "Sweetwater knew they were in a game.'

Honor Roll Big Spring WB, Coahoma LB garner top honors

By STEVE BELVIN Sports Editor

The second week of Crossroads Country action brought many good performances from area football players. Heading the list of "stars" this week are a junior wingback from Big Spring and a Coahoma senior linebacker.

Neal Mayfield and Cam Tovias came through with spectacular performances to earn the Offensive and Defensive Player of the Week awards.

Mayfield, a 6-2, 212-pounder for the Steers, had his second good offensive showing. In a losing cause to Lubbock Estacado, Mayfield carried the ball three times for 96 yards, including a 45-yard TD run. He also caught two passes for 50 more yards, giving him 146 yards total

Mayfield's heroics barley edged out that of Sands' Eric Herm. In Sands' 54-20 win over Buena Vista, Herm returned kickoffs 72 and 76 vards for touchdowns

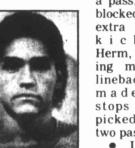

In Coahoma's 19-8 victory over Stanton, Tovias, a 5-9, 170-pound senior inside linebacker, was unstoppable. He wrecked the Buff offense by making 19 tackles, including one quarterback sack, and three tackles behnd the line of

Dodgers get hits for Orel; but still don't score runs

By The Associated Press Orel Hershiser usually has a right to complain about the lack of hitting by the Los Angeles Dodgers.

This time, the Dodgers fooled the 1988 Cy Young Award winner by banging out 15 hits.

Now all Hershiser can complain is the lack of runs. The Dodgers scored only two for him Tuesday night in a 3-2 loss to the San Francisco Giants, who moved closer to Hershiser, 14-14, lost a careerhigh sixth straight decision and his first in five starts against the Giants, against whom he is 15-5 lifetime. The Dodgers have scored a total of 17 runs in his losses. The two runs were the most scored in his last seven starts

A bases-loaded double by pinchhitter Mike Laga in his first career at-bat against Hershiser accounted for the San Francisco runs with two out in the fifth inning.

The runs pushed his earned-run average to 2.41, third-best in the league. In going 23-8 last season with a major league-record 59 con-

Previously, the teams had been called the Stinnett Rattlers, the Phillips Blackhawks and the Plemons Indians A committee of students, parents and school board members was formed to search for a name. From a list of possibilities, students voted to call the team Comanches.

There are still some die hard Rattlers, Indians and Blackhawks, but generally the new name has been accepted.

Stinnett and Phillips used to be fierce rivals. When teams from Stinnett went to Phillips, the Stinnett vehicles would end up with sand in their gas tanks. When cars from Phillips went to Stinnett, somehow the Phillips car windows would get smashed. You just didn't mix Blackhawks and Rattlers. Now all that has been changed. The students of the new consolidated West Texas High School in Stinnett are united under the Comanche

These youngsters were not content to just start calling the team Comanches. They wanted to do it with pomp and circumstance. students of West Texas High School In March of this year a delegation from the Comanche nation, which is headquartered in Lawton, Okla:, went to Stinnett and presented gifts to the school board and students. In a serious ceremony, the Indians handed over a shield, a war club and a spear. The items are now in the school's trophy case

Nearly 40 Indians went to Stinnett for the adoption ceremony, which took place at the football stadium. Teepees were set up around the field. Some horses were brought in. The Indians performed ceremonial dances in which local residents took part. Storm clouds hovered over the stadium and the sky was black, but no rain fell. This added to the mystical atmosphere. The Comanches taught the crowd some war cries to be used during the football season. One of them is a special word which will cast a spell over your opponent if you yell it four times.

The Comanches felt welcome in Stinnett. There were signs up and down the city's main street reading "Comanche Pride" and similar slogans used during football season There was a ceremony in which to boost spirits. Some tolks wore real Comanche Indians adopted the red stain "Comanche Pride" jackets that the Indians loved "We tried to base our signs and things on research we had done on the Comanches, who were known as the Lords of the Plains," says Leslie Monden, school board member.

> The Comanches went to Stinnett not knowing that just 15 miles away, in a place called Adobe Walls, their ancestors had fought their last fight for freedom and lost. That occurred in 1874. "We took them out there," says Leslie, "and told them about the battle and how a buffalo hunter named Billy Dixon had fired a shot from a mile away and knocked an Indian off his

An archeologist explained how several Comanche warriors were decapitated after they were killed. The fudians said the spirits of those dead Comanches were still upset and they needed to come back and perform a ceremony to put those spirits to rest.

They went to a Comanche burial ground at a nearby ranch. One of the Indians found an eagle feather there. The feather to an indian has great significance. "It's all been a very moving experience," says

The Howard County Fair will be begin officially on Monday, but it has been in the planning stages since the gates closed in 1988.

A volunteer group of directors meet each month to plan and coordinate all the events that will be held at the fair to help make it bigger and better each year.

This association is assisted by the Big Spring Cowboy Reunion by the use of the grounds and the Rodeo Bowl, and Howard County for use of the exhibit buildings and livestock facilities on the east side of the complex.

The Fair Association owns and operates the Dora Roberts Building. Without the complete cooperation and support and sharing of expenses for these buildings, the fair would be impossible to conduct and enjoy

The association operates on a break-even at best, situation and some years it becomes pretty scary, even for a non-profit organization

The Friends of the Fair Association, through their contribution of membership fees and the rental fees generated by use of the Dora Roberts Building, the fair association generates enough income to begin the next fair with (in most years!)

The fair annually attracts more than 30,000 visitors to the fair, many from out-of-town. The local economy generally always feels a little boost each year at fair time as many of these visitors drop by gas stations, motels, restaurants, and auto parts stores. From experience livestock exhibitors are renown for vehicle breakdowns.

The biggest plus going for the community, however, is the bargain it is for the entertainment it offers. As bad as the economy may be with depressed oil prices and a bleak agricultural picture, people can come out to the fair and see exciting and educational exhibits, visit old friends, meet new ones and all at their own pace.

And each day and night offers something different - nothing remains the same throughout the week. Each day and night highlights or features one or more different attractions

For those of you interested in agriculture, examples of such a variety of features include the cotton show and agricultural products show on Monday; the 4-H omelet event, and Santa Gertrudis cattle show on Tuesday; ag-related school enrichment programs throughout the week; junior lamb and steer shows Friday and Saturday and a horse show and mule show Saturday.

Entertainment is nightly and educational exhibits will be going on throughout the week - so make plans now to attend this major county activity in Big Spring.

DEKALB, Ill. — B.J. Havlak, of Glasscock County Co-op in Garden City has been named one of DeKalb-Pfizer Genetics top salesmen and a member of its "Winners Circle"

Business

B.J. and his wife, Lillie were among more than 2,400 dealers who were honored this August at the company's international headquarters in DeKalb.

The reward for B.J.'s success as a Winners Circle member, a recent trip to Chicago and DeKalb, has made him even more informed about the products he sells. During their trips, these top dealers saw demonstrations in the laboratories of the corn research center and quality assurance. They also toured a company research farm and a corn production plant.

"This fun, yet intensive learning experience can only improve our dealers' ability to serve their customers knowledgeably and positively influence their farm businesses," states Gary Ezra, Sales Operations Manager for DeKalb-Pfizer. The theme of this unique event, 'Bringing the Best Together', characterizes the company's pride in their successful dealers

DeKalb-Pfizer Genetics is a researcher, producer and marketer of hybrid corn, sorghum and sunflower seed and varietal soybean and alfalfa seed. The company conducts research at 33 stations and 213 locations across the United States and in 9 countries around the world.

FmHA loan seminar

ODESSA - Howard and Glasscock Counties farmers with loans from the Farmers Home Administration are invited to a meeting on Sept. 27 on how FmHA's computer program is used in considering loan servicing options such as rescheduling and write-downs, FmHA County Supervisor, Ronnal E. Bruton, said recently.

The meeting will be at 2 p.m. at Parkway Holiday Inn in Odessa. Bruton said the meeting is particularly important for FmHA borrowers behind in their payments and those having difficulty with their loans.

'We will go over all the options available to those borrowers and explain how to go about finding one that will keep them in operation," Bruton said. "We will be putting emphasis on the Debt and Loan Restructuring (DALR$) computer program that was developed just for this purpose."

Bruton said DALR$ does many mathematical calculations quickly helping in the analysis of farm financial plans. 'If a restructuring plan exists that will keep the borrower on the farm, DALR$ will find that plan, and that plan will minimize the cost of debt restructuring," said. DALR$ was developed as a tool to help debt restructuring authorized by the Agricultural Credit Act of 1987. FmHA farm borrowers who are behind in their payments should, by all means, try to attend this meeting, Mr. Bruton said.
