WASHINGTON, D.C. - U.S. Rep. Charles W. Stenholm, D-Texas, was in the majority Wednesday afternoon when he joined his colleagues and repealed the catastrophic health insurance program with a 360 to 66 vote in the House of Representatives.

"I did not vote for the Catastrophic Coverage Act in the beginning because I foresaw many problems with it," Stenholm said. "I am hopeful the Ways and Means Committee can now go back to the drawing board and come up with a measure that will help those under 65 as well as those over

The Medicare Catastrophic Coverage Act of 1988 was the largest expansion of Medicare since the inception of that program. The new provisions were intended to provide protection against catastrophic expenses by limiting beneficiaries' out-ofpocket expenditures for Medicare-covered services. One of the highly controversial elements of the new law was the creation of an income-related supplemental premium and an increase in the Medicare flatrate premium to cover the costs of new benefits.

The Congressman explained that the year-old program con-

BIG SPRING — Howard County has made the short list — a reduced list of about 24 possible sites for a state prison.

"I just received a call from (a state prison official) ... We're on the short list," announced Troy Fraser, state representative for the 69th District.

Fraser said he first learned that Big Spring was on the short list . said. after receiving a call from Allen Sapp, chief of planning development and procedures with the Texas Department of Corrections. "I'm absolutely elated, I think ble TDC facilities.

this is a tremendous opportunity for Big Spring," said Bill Crooker, Howard County Commissioner and a major supporter of the effort to draw a state prison to the area.

'We're ready to get into the fight," Crooker said in reference to the competition that awaits the remaining cities and counties who will vie for the six prisons.

'We're preparing for this and we've been preparing for this," he

"We feel we'll be one of those six sites," he added.

Fraser credits existing Howard County agencies such as the state hospital and Fina Oil Refinery for providing services that would make it attractive for prison officials to build a prison here. The hospital might consider using shared laundry service with the prison, and the oil refinery could provide asphalt used for roofing projects inmates might do as part of a prison industry.

Fraser said the next step will be for board members with the state prison selection committee to tour the remaining sites. Steve Stevens,

Mayor, DeAnda meeting stopped

By RUTH COCHRAN City Editor

BIG SPRING - A proposed meeting to heal a rift between the mayor and a councilwoman was scrapped Wednesday, according to the mayor, after a disagreement over the meeting's ground rules. Mayor Max Green said today that Big Spring businessman Clyde McMahon, Jr., had attempted to organize a meeting between Green and Councilwoman Pat DeAnda to resolve differences between the two. In late September, DeAnda filed an application for a recall election petition to remove Green from office. In the following weeks, she was joined by four others seeking to remove Green.

Green said he agreed to meet with DeAnda Wednesday evening at the Howard County Courthouse but pulled out of the meeting because certain so-called ground rules were not followed.

"The ground rules as I understood would be that I would the bit later in the night, she states DeAnda would have one representative and Clyde (McMahon) Jr. would be the moderator and these would be the only people present at the meeting," Green said. "It was discovered very late in the afternoon that Mrs. Deanda had invited other parites and also the press had been invited."

Green said he does not know how members of the press found out as he "did not notify the press and I did not invite anybody to the meeting. In fact no one knew anything about the meeting except my wife.

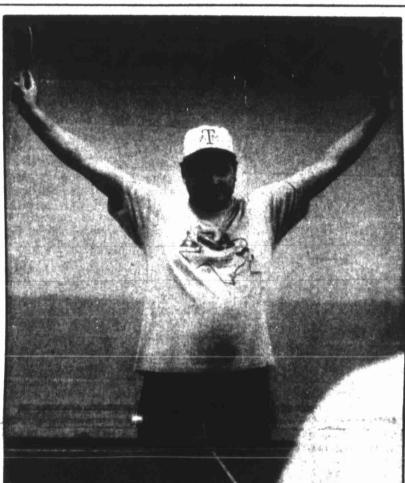

Green said he received a call from Midland television station KMID Channel 2 Wednesday afternoon.

'They were already aware of the time and location and parties that were involved in the meeting," Green said of the station. "This was not the ground rules as I had understood them.

The Congressman said he hopes the Congress will continue to seek a common sense approach to the health care needs of all citizens that will result in a plan that includes long-term health care as well as catastrophic coverage.

Women's Vet Day

BIG SPRING - The Third Annual Women Veteran's Day will be conducted from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Oct. 6 at the Big Spring Veterans Administration Medical Center, said Conrad Alexander, Medical Center director.

The contribution of women in armed forces will be the focus of the day.

Because of their traditional roles as non-combatants, the heroism of military women in war has been overlooked, while they must also pay the price for freedom.

The Women's Veterans Day is designed to inform the woman veteran of her rights as a veteran, to provide health education and to provide an array of health screening examinations from which the veterans may choose.

Included screening tests are blood sugar and cholesterol levels, spirometry testing for the lungs, pelvic exam and pap smear, general physical examination, mammography and other examinations.

Registration and coffee will begin at 10 a.m. and Mrs. Barbara Brandau, coordinator of the V.A. Advisory Committee on Women Veterans, Department of Veterans Affairs, Washington D.C., will explain the functioning of the Women Veterans Advisory Committee.

Dr. Debora I. Siscoe, a practicing gynecologist in Midland, will present "Gynecological Problems of the Aging Women Veteran.

S&L may scuttle retirement home

By BRADLEY WORRELL Staff Writer

BIG SPRING — Plans to locate a St. Francis Retirement Community may no longer be considered by the savings and loan which owns the property that might have housed the retired citizens.

"I really don't think that's going to happen now for reasons I really can't go into," said Bruce Frederick, manager of Hillside Properties.

Hillside officially replaced the previous management for the housing complex where the Chicagobased St. Francis Retirement Community was considering opening a center Oct. 1, Frederick said. The property was previously known as Greenbelt Manor

State Rep. Junell opens C-City office

By PATRICK DRISCOLL Staff Writer

COLORADO CITY - State Rep. Rob Junell has opened a new office here so he can be closer to the people of Mitchell County, he said.

At the ribbon-cutting ceremony Tuesday, he praised the State Supreme Court's recent decision to restructure school financing and said he hopes a legislative solution is soon found to aid the state's indebted worker's compensation insurance system.

The high court's landmark ruling Monday in the Edgewood vs. Kirby case says that the present public school financing system is unconstitutional. According to the court order, the system must now be restructured so that school districts will receive equal funding according to their respective populations.

"I think it's going to be a benefit to schools in this county," Junell assured the several dozen people who had filled the reception area of his new office, located behind the Medicine Place.

He said he was also glad the legislature will have a chance to create the new financing system rather than the courts attempting it, and he said that Gov. Bill Clements will probably call a special session for it in the spring.

"I think it will probably be after the March primaries," Junell said. Commenting on a pending worker's compensation bill, House Bill 1, that the legislature will tackle in a special November session, Junell said that he hopes a compromise will be quickly reached and does not want to adjourn until one is.

It will be the second special session devoted to overhauling the state's workman's compensation insurance system. The bill was last . JUNELL page 2-A

State Hospital holds annual awards program

By JAMES FLEEHR Staff Writer

BIG SPRING — Big Spring State Hospital held its 20th annual awards luncheon and program on the hospital campus Wednesday, continuing the week's activities celebrating the 50th Anniversary of the facility.

"Our staff has grown. My only hope is that we do not get so large that we lose that 'family spirit' that has made the hospital the envy of the state," said Superintendent Robert von Rosenberg about the facility.

Rosenberg prefaced his remarks by noting the "special time" the hospital is having in association with 50 years of service to the community and state.

"It's a time in which we can celebrate, a time in which we can rejoice," said retired chaplain Dr. Lee Butler, as he gave his address and memorials presentation.

Butler recalled the early years of the hospital, when the awards banquet was started. In 1969, he was just beginning his career with Big Spring State Hospital, he said.

Each year the awards program is dedicated to someone who is 'extra special' to the hospital, he said. This year's program was dedicated to retired and current employees for their 50 years of service.

In order to provide a psychiatric facility to serve the West Texas area, the 45th Texas Legislature authorized the construction of Big Spring State Hospital in 1937, said a facility description. Construction began in January 1938.

The hospital presently serves a 56-county area from West Texas to Big Spring north to Lubbock and from Abilene west to El Paso.

According to the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation, "the staff of this facility is dedicated to meeting the needs of the patients who come to Big Spring State Hospital and to upgrading all the services presently available through keeping up with current advances in the field of mental heath science.'

The dedication of the program cited the staff's "... devotion, their diligence and their compassion that daily serve our patients, providing assistance to those who need it the most."

Awards given at the luncheon included service awards for five, 15, 20 and 25 years of continuous and uninterrupted employment with the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation.

Family members who were present were offered employee memorials as a token of appreciation for their departed relatives' lives of dedication while employed at Big Spring State Hospital, Butler said. The memorials were for the three employees who died during the past year.

"When he (McMahon) called me initially . . . he never said anything about being a moderator, so they set that up themselves," DeAnda said. "When he (McMahon) called me he told me he was just trying to get us together.'

McMahon said today he doesn't know why the meeting was cancelled. He declined to discuss ground rules set for the meeting, saying those had nothing to do with the current differences between Green and DeAnda.

"The only reason for having the meeting was hopefully two people

McMahon said. "I'm very disappointed we didn't have the meeting

Green said he doesn't know if DeAnda and himself could still reach an agreement.

"I have no plans at all at this time," he said "Mr. McMahon may have something on that order. If a meeting could be set up to where everybody would conform to the ground rules, I would have no objection to it.

Bus had bad brakes

AUSTIN (AP) - The softdrink truck involved in a school bus accident that killed 21 students near Mission had brake problems so severe it would have been ordered off the road in any state except Texas, a federal safety official has told the Austin American-Statesman.

Lee V. Dickinson, a member of the National Transportation Safety Board, said three of six brakes on the Dr Pepper delivery truck involved in the crash were not properly adjusted.

"If it had been pulled over on the road (for a traffic violation) or at a truck weigh station and inspected, it would have been taken off the road," in any state but Texas, Dickinson told the American-Statesman in a copyright story.

On Sept. 21, the soft-drink truck collided with a Mission school bus carrying 81 students, and sent the bus into a waterfilled pit. Twenty-one students died and the other 60 were injured in the incident.

The day after the accident, Dickinson said visual inspection of the brakes failed to support the driver's claim that the brakes had failed prior to the accident.

Miami Vice baby

AUSTIN (AP) - Actress Melanie Griffith gave birth to a daughter at an Austin hospital Wednesday afternoon with father Don Johnson by her side, the actor's publicist said. "Mother and baby are doing fine," said Johnson's publicist, Elliott Mintz, in a statement released by his Los Angeles office.

Mintz, who was en route to Austin, said the baby girl who was born at 2:49 p.m. CDT at Brackenridge Hospital in Austin has been named Dakota. A receptionist in Mintz's office, who refused to give her name, said she had no information about the baby's height and weight.

"That's all I'm authorized to give out," she said. Johnson and Ms. Griffith have been living in Austin while Johnson has been filming a movie called "Hot Spot" in Taylor.

Johnson, star of the popular long-running series "Miami Vice" married Miss Griffith for the second time last June, was present for the birth.

Narcotics bust nabs nine tons

By JOEL WILLIAMS Associated Press Writer

agents today were searching for the owner of a house "literally stuffed" with nine tons of cocaine in what is being called the second largest seizure of the drug in U.S. history.

Shocked Texas Department of Public Safety investigators came across the cocaine at a rural house five miles north of the Mexican border, where they had expected to find less than a ton, said Lt. Waylon Bullard, chief narcotics agent with the DPS' Harlingen office.

"This according to our headquarters in Austin is the largest cocaine seizure in Texas, and probably the second largest in the U.S.," Bullard said.

Cartons full of cocaine were stacked so high in the house that DPS investigators could only make their way through it by two narrow aisles, a DPS officer said.

Three men were arrested Wednesday afternoon at the house just west of Harlingen, and were to be arraigned today, officials said.

"These are basically just the people that are hired to repackage HARLINGEN (AP) - Narcotics and transport," Bullard said. "The other people will probably be filed on for the other (federal) charges.

The house's owner and two others were being sought this morning, Bullard said. The owner purchased the house nearly surrounded by citrus groves on Farm Road 800 about three weeks ago for $55,000, he said, but probably was renting it previously.

He would not disclose the owner's name.

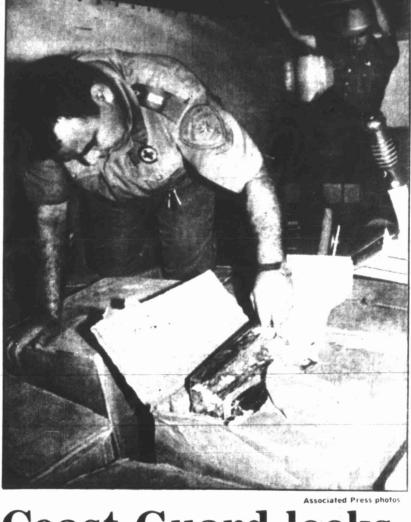

Wednesday's arrests and seizure follow closely on the heels of the world's largest seizure - the discovery of 20 tons of cocaine in suburban Los Angeles last week.

Bullard said the Harlingen operation doesn't appear to be connected to the California cocaine trucks used to haul nine tons of operation.

Seven men were arrested last week in Los Angeles and Las Vegas after the record seizure led authorities to the Mexican leg of a major smuggling operation.

Coast Guard looks for missing crew

By MICHAEL GRACZYK Associated Press Writer

SABINE PASS - U.S. Coast Guard officials said they will search a grounded fishing boat today for eight people missing since the vessel struck a gas pipeline and exploded in the Gulf of Mexico earlier this week.

Members of the U.S. Coast Guard's Atlantic Area Strike Team boarded the "North Umberland" Wednesday evening to determine if hazardous anhydrous ammonia was in the air. The anhydrous ammonia was used on the fishing vessel as a refrigerator.

"Nothing was discovered," Petty Officer Ed Burchard said.

'They're going to look one more time tomorrow morning," he said Wednesday. "When they look at the boat they'll look for bodies.

Coast Guard officials suspended their search in the area for the missing people Wednesday afternoon expected to arrive in nearby Port Arthur late Wednesday.

Some charts of the area list all submerged pipelines while others are not as detailed, officials said. The boat, however, was not in a restricted area, Lt. Scott LaRochelle said.

Officials believe nets being trawled by the boat snagged the submerged pipeline and ruptured it, triggering the explosion.

The break in the line is only about 15 feet from where the burned hulk of the vessel is aground.

A spokeswoman with Natural Gas Pipeline of America Inc. said company representatives plan to meet with investigating agencies to determine the exact cause of the explosion.

'We've got our team of investigators working with the Coast Guard, the National Transportation Safety Board and local of ficials, We're very concerned about this," said Patricia Wees, director of corporate communica-

AUSTIN (AP) - Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby's appointments to a school finance task force include a state senator and a law school dean.

The Wednesday appointments followed the recent decision by the Texas Supreme Court that the current public school funding system is unconstitutional. Gov. Bill Clements and House Speaker Gib Lewis also will name members to the task force, which the governor said would conduct public hearings before a special spring session on school finance.

Named by Hobby were Sen. Carl Parker, D-Port Arthur, chairman of the Senate Education Committee, and Mark Yudof, law school dean of the University of Texas at Austin and former member of the Select Committee on Education. Hobby also appointed Austin lawyer Camilla Bordie, former consultant to the Select Committee on Education, and Billy Walker of Austin, director of the Texas Center for Educational Research and former deputy superintendent for business at the Odessa Independent School District.

Act quickly on drug-war plan

Now that the U.S. Senate has overwhelmingly approved a $9.4 billion compromise plan for financing the drug war declared earlier this month by President Bush, we urge the House of Representatives to act quickly in giving its blessing to the proposal.

. . There reportedly is concern among some congressional aides that some representatives are not satisfied with the financing plan, which calls for spending more than $1 billion over what Mr. Bush recommended.

Clearly, the need to pass and enact the anti-drug program is no less than urgent. . . .

The Senate plan . . . would increase federal spending for local law enforcement as well as for prevention and treatment programs. It also would give higher priority to rehabilitation and education programs .

The financing plan would force cuts of about four-tenths of 1 percent in federal programs that involve disbursement of discretionary funds. Reductions in the military budget would be based on flexible guidelines. Programs that provide benefits, such as Social Security, would not be affected under the Senate plan.

The senators also agreed on another thing last week: that the drug war is just beginning and it's not likely to be won with this initial salvo. Similarly, nearly everyone agrees the strategy has flaws. . . . But it is a first step. The consequences of doing nothing are too horrible to contemplate . . .

Nasty attack likely to backfire

With Attorney General Jim Mattox not even a declared candidate in the governor's race, it seems just a tad early for him to be yielding to the counsels of desperation - but how else can you explain his utterly contemptible attempt to exploit the fact that State Treasurer Ann Richards who is officially in the race — is a recovering alcoholic?

... The attorney general said, "I think you've got to have very strong-willed people, with vision, to lead this state forward. I'm just saying that if drug or alcohol abuse keeps us from having that kind of vision . . . it could be very harmful for the state of Texas.

What egregious rubbish. Numerous other Texas politicos, Democratic and Republican, rushed to Richards' defense, but it was the treasurer herself who of fered the most telling rejoinder, stressing the importance to any recovery program of humility, "the acceptance that I am human. I am not perfect. Never will be. I think we need more of that in public office, rather than big talk and big egos." Taken aback by the hostile reaction, the Mattox camp has been backpedalling away from the issue.

Art controversy could lead to election-year reprisals

By WALTER R. MEARS

AP Special Correspondent WASHINGTON - After months of controversy and hours of debate, an angry congressional argument over federal art subsidies could boil down to 30 seconds - the standard length of a campaign ad on television.

'We live in fear of how someone could portray our vote in a 30-second political ad," said Sen. Herbert H. Kohl, D-Wis., who nonetheless voted against sweeping restrictions proposed by Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., on the use of funds by the National Endowment for the Arts. But for the threat of election-year reprisals, Kohl said, Helms' proposal wouldn't have been treated as serious business. Helms said the issue was whether taxpayers should be forced to help pay for dirty pictures advertised as art. His opponents

Schlueter goes, Texans rejoice

Not many people will be crying in their beer over State Rep. Stan Schlueter's decision to resign.

The Killeen Democrat has been one of the most powerful and divisive lawmakers in Texas, thanks to his friendship with House Speaker Gib Lewis. As head of the calendars committee, which controls what bills will be put on the floor for a vote, Schlueter often allowed good legislation to die.

One of the leading recipients of lobbyist largess despite not having had an opponent in years, Schlueter plans to become – surprise – a lobbyist.

Because of his use of lobbyist and campaign donations, Schlueter's transition may not be so easy; it was recently disclosed that he was spending more than $9,000 a month from those sources to support himself in Austin.

Lewis has already appointed an interim chairman of the calendars committee, but special care should be taken to select a chairman who will not use his gavel like a sledgehammer.

Schlueter will not be missed. To paraphrase the country-western song: "Thank God and Greyhound He's Gone.

Port Arthur News

Mattox's remarks inappropriate

Texas Attorney General Jim Mattox received an unpleasant surprise recently when a newspaper poll disclosed he was running a distant third in the Democratic Party primary campaign for governor.

A recent news report likely shows why the attorney general fares so poorly among Texas voters.

Mattox has made "wellness" an issue in his campaign. In a recent interview with a Dallas newspaper, Mattox pointed out that his Democratic primary opponent, Texas Treasurer Ann Richards, is a recovering alcoholic.

"Over the years," he was quoted as saying, "I've seen many, many friends that have drug-and-alcohol-related problems who have been on the wagon then drop off. Statistics show that relapses occur in a very high percentage of the cases.'

Mattox's campaign staff doesn't deny saying those things. A campaign staff member said the reporter took them out of context and that he did not mean to imply anything negative about Richards.

Uh, huh.

Dredging up Ann Richards' past in the hopes of pointing out an alleged weakness very well may backfire.

As for Attorney General Mattox, he ought to look for wavs to curb his own excesses — such as his penchant for shooting thoughtless barbs at political targets.

said it was censorship versus artistic freedom. As is customary, both sides overstated the case, at great length.

'The definition of art is an issue for the academy, not the legislature," Sen. Dan Coats, R-Ind., had said when the issue arose last summer. The legislature proved that point. Coats supported the Helms restrictions, saying the question was one of controlling the use of tax dollars, not deciding what is or isn't art.

But Congress did take a role in that determination 25 years ago, when the art subsidy system was created, although it delegated the job of defining art to panels of experts in the hope it would be insulated against politics. The arts endowment has made about 85,000 grants, and only about 20 had been called into question before.

The insulation broke down four months ago over a $30,000 NEA subsidy to help finance a showing of 150 photographs by Robert Mapplethorpe, among them pictures of homosexual acts and of naked children. The exhibit was assembled by a Philadelphia arts group

That's exactly what the system does. Advocates say that is why it is needed. But this argument is not about support for starving artists, it is over government aid to exhibits, in this case photographs, most voters would consider at least vulgar, possibly obscene, in any case offensive.

Nobody in Congress defended the photographs that stirred the dispute. Defenders of the NEA system called support for those works mistakes in an operation that generally works well.

Bakker convicted on 24 counts

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) - TVevangelist Jim Bakker was convicted today of fleecing his followers of $3.7 million so that he could surround himself with everything from Rolls-Royces to gold-plated swan-shaped bathroom fixtures.

A federal jury deliberated a day and a half before convicting him on all 24 counts of fraud and conspiracy for overselling time shares, or "partnerships," at his ministry's resort hotels to loyal followers of his PTL empire.

The 49-year-old preacher could receive up to 120 years in prison and $5 million in fines. A sentencing date was not immediately set.

Prosecutors said Bakker diverted the money to live in high style, buying fancy cars, lavish homes, Rolex watches, diamonds, an air-conditioned doghouse and furnishings ranging from gigantic walk-in closets and motorized bedroom drapes.

Bakker and his wife, Tammy, showed little emotion as the verdict was read. Mrs. Bakker was not charged int he case. "The prosecution did an excellent job. We kept looking for something from the defense and we never saw it," said jury foreman Ricky Hill.

"His testimony did not weigh on me one bit," the foreman said "I believe he began in earnest. He was called by God. But eventually the money became too much for him.

"He was a man of God," Hill added. "He got corrupt and I feel sorry for the man."

Prosecutors contended that Bakker raised $158 million by selling "lifetime partnerships" at his Heritage USA retreat near Fort Mill, S.C., but used the money for projects other than the lodging he promised. Partners typically paid $1,000 for the promise of three nights' lodging.

Associated Press photo PANAMA CITY — Gen. Manujal Noriega leaves defense force headquarters Tuesday in Panama City after an attempted coup failed to oust him from power.

Top Panama officers arrested by Noriega

PANAMA CITY, Panama (AP) - Loyalist troops killed 10 rebel In Washington, Presisoldiers and arrested dozens during the attempt to topple Gen. Manuel Antonio Noriega, who was held prisoner for several hours in the uprising, the military said.

An overnight curfew kept the streets of Panama City quiet for the second day in a row today.

A "war communique" said all but one of those killed were officers and that 25 people were wounded. The casualty list released Wednesday night was the first issued by the government since Tuesday's attempted coup.

The communique said security forces arrested three members of the High Command and about 35 other officers and soldiers. The arrests of men supposedly among Noriega's most trusted aides suggested the revolt may have had wider support than originally thought.

There were indications the coup attempt also came closer to toppling the Defense Forces chief and Panama's de facto leader than first believed.

A Defense Forces officer said the plotters succeeded in capturing Noriega and holding him for four or five hours at Defense Forces headquarters. A lawyer for Noriega initially had denied that the general was taken captive.

dent Bush came under mounting criticism about the passive role played by U.S. troops, who stood fully armed a few hundred yards away and watched the rebellion fail.

"The surrender came when loyal officers took command of the combat units and gave the rebels a last chance to release the commander and members of his staff or face the consequences," said Lt. Col. Arnulfo Castrejon, director of the Defense Forces Security and Defense Committee.

One Defense Forces source, who spoke on condition of anonymity, said the rebels had wanted to take Noriega alive, which gave him time to take shelter in a bunker inside the compound and call for help by radio

Castrejon said Noriega was held for four or five hours. It was unclear if Noriega gained freedom before or after troops loyal to him counterattacked the headquarters and forced the rebel surrender

Israelis issue civilian gas masks

RAMAT HASHARON, Israel (AP) — The Israeli government is issuing gas masks to civilians in an experiment that grew out of concern that chemical weapons could be used by the enemy in a future war.

The government maintains that a precedent for the use of chemical weapons in the Middle East was set by Iraq in its war against Iran in the Persian Gulf. The distribution of gas masks is part of a year-long civil-defense experiment involving about 7,000 Israelis in Ramat Hasharon near Tel Aviv and in the settlement of Shelomi on the border with Lebanon

Israeli analysts say that in the Middle East it may be difficult to eliminate chemical weapons as proposed by President Bush and Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze.

One reason is that Arab states view such weapons as their only counter to what they believe is an extensive Israeli nuclear capability.

German refugees locked on trains

HOF, West Germany (AP) -Trainloads of East German refugees arrived in this border town in locked rail cars today after rolling through their homeland, where police reportedly battled thousands who sought to join the exodus.

In the East German city of Dresden, people fought running battles with police, overturned cars and smashed windows of the main ralroad station Wednesday night, witnesses said.

"We want out, we want out," the would-be refugees screamed as police swinging truncheons charged to drive them back from the main railroad station.

Witnesses said police also used water cannon to try to disperse the crowd as the refugee trains passed through on their way from Prague, Czechoslovakia, to West Germany, which grants East Germans automatic citizenship. They said the police broke up LONDON (AP) - Moscow willbe incapable of a surprise attack on the West by 1991 if it makes the cuts in conventional forces promised by President Mikhail S. Gorbachev, the International Institute for Strategic Studies said today.

"The situation is already in the process of significant change," the respected institute said in its annual survey of global forces, The Military Balance 1989-90.

"The unilateral reductions will, once complete, virtually eliminate the surprise-attack threat which has so long concerned NATO planners," it added.

After the cutbacks, it would take the Soviets one to two weeks to marshal their forces for an attack, institute director Francois Heisbourg said.

"In shorthand, that translates as no surprise attack," Heisbourg told a news conference Wednesday. Soviet withdrawals under way include units needed in lightning attacks, he added.

"The unilateral reductions will, once complete, virtually liminate the surprise-attack threat which has so long concerned NATO planners." - Strategic Studies report

In a speech to the United Nations The institute's new survey show ed NATO with 34,400 tanks comon Dec. 7, Gorbachev promised to reduce the Soviet armed forces by pared with a Warsaw Pact total of 500,000 troops and to eliminate 78.200 10.000 tanks, 8,500 artillery pieces

Of these, NATO has 21,900 tanks deployed in the Atlantic to the Urals area, facing 58,500 Warsaw Pact tanks, the survey said.

Troop levels, excluding reserves, for the first time - that the Soviet were shown as about equal in the same area, with NATO having 2.24 million active service personnel and the Warsaw Pact, 2.3 million. The survey said the long-range strategic nuclear arsenals of the United States and the Soviet Union remained "in rough parity

Institute officials said their estimates of conventional forces did not include Soviet cutbacks since Gorbachev announced the planned one-sided reductions. Heisbourg gave no figures for withdrawals so far. But he said the Soviets have begun pulling out crack units and have announced that front-line divisions deployed in East Germany will be withdrawn.

He said the Warsaw Pact has been weakened by the political upheaval among its allies Poland and Hungary implementing sweeping reforms and East Germany sticking to communism.

Both reformers and the hardliners have maintained their military ties with Moscow, but relations are strained, said Heisbourg.

"It would be a very hardy analyst who would consider Hungary and East Germany still to be allies in any meaningful sense," he said

Red Cross: AIDS risk small from transfusions

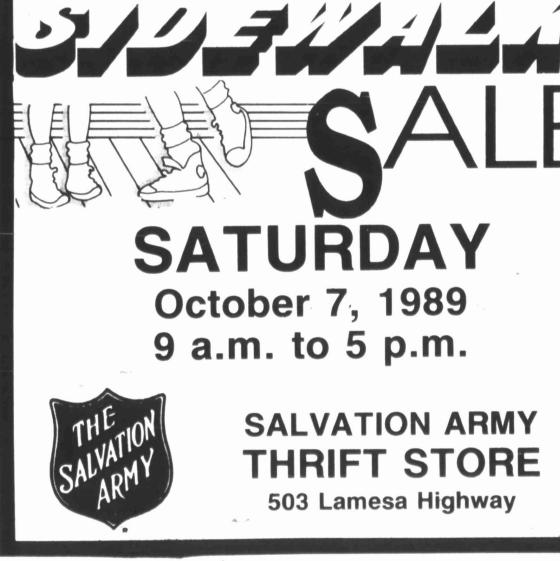

BOSTON (AP) - The risk of AIDS infection from transfusions is minuscule, but blood banks should work harder to recruit and retain women donors because they're less likely to have the AIDS virus, a Red Cross report concludes today. The research shows that blood from repeat female donors is nine times safer than from first-time male donors

Currently, 42 percent of donors are women. The report said this proportion should be increased, in part by encouraging members of women's organizations to give blood and by telephone recruiting campaigns aimed at women.

"Every effort should be made to recruit and retain female donors,' wrote Dr. Paul D. Cumming and colleagues from the American Red Cross in Washington.

Dr. Jay E. Menitove of the Blood Bank of Southeastern Wisconsin said trying to establish an exclusively female donor base is impractical. "Moreover," he wrote, 'in a society that advocates colorand sex-blind principles, this approach is arguably unacceptable.

ATLANTA (AP) - White cedar trees always have accumulated knots, but not just the kind that grow on trunks.

Wood from white cedars once was used to plank ships because of the wood's light weight and resistance to water decay, says Georgia-Pacific Corp, a forest products firm.

Today, the wood is used to build posts for boat docks, fences and piling. Native to the Atlantic seaboard, white cedars usually grow along small streams and near freshwater swamps.

ESSEX, Conn. (AP) - It may be news to today's sun worshippers that the sun causes premature skin wrinkling, but older civilizations came to this realization thousands of years

When the ancient Egyptians settled into an agriculutural life, they developed special cosmetics to guard against the harmful effects of the sun, says E.E. Dickinson Witch Hazel Co. These included ointments for the skin and special pastes to protect the eyes.

So while it may appear strange to us that their paintings depict young children with heavy makeup on their eyes, the truth is that careful parents of the time applied the cosmetics to protect their children's eyes from the glare of the sun.

Big Spring native District opener for Steers

By STEVE BELVIN Sports Editor

Fresh from an open date, the Big Spring Steers and Monahans Loboes began District 4-4A play Friday night at Memorial Stadium. Both teams have benefitted from the intermission, polishing the fine points, and healing nagging injuries

Although both coaches are playing it down, this is a very big game. Both teams are considered to have good odds of reaching the state playoffs. In a preseason poll of 4-4A coaches, Big Spring was picked to win district, and Monahans was a close third behind Sweetwater.

"It's just a game," said Monahans coach Bren Holland. 'To us, all of them are important. I don't know what it is to the truck drivers in the truck stops," but it's just a game for us."

Steers coach David Thompson says there's one glaring fact that Monahans has on Big Spring tradition.

The Lobos have went to the state playoffs five of the last six seasons. Last year they were defeated in the quarterfinals by Cleburne, 22-14.

'Monahans has a good team,' said Thompson. "This is a typical Monahans' team; quick, well-coached and aggressive. "Tradition is a deal they have, they play awful hard because they have it."

The Loboes roll into the 8 p.m. contest with a 2-1 record. Their only loss was a 35-7 decision to Odessa High. They defeated El Paso Riverside 49-22 and El Paso Hanks 21-0.

The Loboes defense has been generous, while its offense ranks high. The Lobo defense is allowing 324 yards per game and the offense is averaging 286 yards.

In comparison the Big Spring defense is allowing 221 yards per game, and the offense is averaging 243 yards per game.

Both teams go about different ways of gaining their yards. Monahans goes on the ground, averaging 211 yards per game. The Steers' attack is evenly divided -121 rushing, 122 passing.

Surprisingly, Holland says the outcome of the game may hinge on the kicking game.

'I really couldn't tell you if it will be high-scoring or low-scoring, but it will probably ride on the kicking game," said Holland. "The kicking game is the most important part of the game. That's why they call it football - because you kick with your foot.

Mark McGwire, Dave Parker, Dave Henderson - the Oakland Athletics' big boys - are bashing their forearms aplenty. Only Jose Canseco is missing, and his problem, a dizzying migraine headache, could vanish as suddenly as it appeared.

"Now we've got the whole ballclub going," said McGwire, who doubled in one run and had three hits Wednesday as Oakland beat Toronto 6-3 to take a 2-0 lead in the American League playoffs. "We're doing a lot of things right now - hitting with power, running, pitching."

McGwire, 4-for-8 in Oakland's two victories, appears back on the beam after hitting .231 this season and finishing last year with a dreadful 1-for-17 in the World Series.

He can't figure out why he's suddenly hitting and doesn't really want to try, lest he fall victim to "paralysis by analysis."

"I don't like analyzing it," said McGwire, who had a decent year despite his poor average, hitting 33 homers and driving in 95 runs. He ended the season strong with seven homers and 12 RBI's over a 14-game stretch during the final

A record setting day for Will Clark

CHICAGO (AP) - Will Clark wouldn't rate his shower of destruction as his best game, although it stands out as "the most timely game I've ever had."

Clark put on a record-shattering performance Wednesday night, driving in six runs with two home runs, including a grand slam, a double and a single, in the San Francisco Giants' 11-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs in the opening game of the National league playoffs.

The Cubs finally figured a way to halt Clark by walking him in the eighth inning, only to have Kevin Mitchell, the other half of San Francisco's power tandem, follow with a three-run homer to complete the rout.

"We didn't play badly but they played real good and if they play like that again, this could be a short series," Chicago's Mark Grace said.

Grace and Ryne Sandberg each homered in the early innings to cut

San Francisco's lead to 4-3. Clark CHICAGO - San Francisco Giants Will Clark delivered his first-pitch grand slam waves after hitting a grand slam homer against in the fourth inning, a shot that arched over the right-field bleachers and landed on Sheffield Ave.

"I got locked in tonight," Clark said, "but that doesn't mean I have this park or this pitching staff in my pocket. Anything can happen in a seven-game set.'

Clark said he doesn't secondguess managers, but did wonder why Chicago's Don Zimmer didn't lift right-hander Greg Maddux with the bases loaded and the Giants slugger coming up.

Clark already had doubled in the first inning and homered in the third off Maddux. With runners on second and third and one out, Brett Butler was walked intentionally. Robby Thompson popped out and Zimmer went to the mound to talk to Maddux.

"I knew they were trying to set up a double play by walking Butler," Clark said. "When he went to the mound for a conference, I thought he was going to take him out. When he didn't, I had to gather my thoughts about Made Clark page 2-B after the rocky season I've had, I feel good about what I'm doing now. I'd like to keep it going all the way through the (World) Series, knock on wood."

Just to be safe, he turned and knocked on his chair.

McGwire's double to left put the A's ahead 2-1 in the fourth after a "Rickey rally" had tied the game at the start of the inning. Henderson walked, stole second and third, and scored on Carney Lansford's single.

Henderson's playoff-record four stolen bases were fun to watch, and they certainly shook up Toronto, but they were mere appetizers to the main meal delivered by Oakland's big men.

Parker drove a 400-foot homer over the center-field wall, straight over a fan's target, leading off the sixth inning.

McGwire followed with a single and Dave Henderson with a ground-rule double over the centerfield fence. Ron Hassey lofted a sacrifice fly to center, scoring McGwire, and Tony Phillips singled to score Henderson.

Parker, whose homer was his first in 25 postseason games covering five playoffs and two World Series, feels the club is reaching its peak at the right time

Big Red succumbs

PARIS, Ky. (AP) — The brass nameplate will remain on the stall door at Claiborne Farm, reminding visitors that one of the greats in the history of horse racing once lived there.

Secretariat, the chestnut champion known as "Big Red," was buried at sundown Wednesday in a 6-by-6-foot dressed oak casket lined with orange cloth, the color used by Claiborne's racing stables. He was buried near his sire, Bold Ruler, in a small graveyard behind the office at the farm.

Secretariat, suffering from a hoof ailment, was humanely destroyed Wednesday morning. He was 19.

"Of course, I'm terribly sorry to lose an old friend," his owner, Helen Chenery, said. "As long as he was alive, his memories had more immediacy.'

"people's horse" as he swept to the Triple Crown in 1973.

His breathtaking 31-length victory in the Belmont Stakes gave the sport its first Triple Crown winner in 25 years. In a year of turmoil - Watergate and Vietnam dominated the headlines - it also gave the country a hero, and Americans latched on as though he were human 'Secretariat was like the Arnold Palmer or Sugar Ray Leonard of horse racing," John Sosby, manager at Claiborne Farm, once said. "He's a people's horse.

Ron Turcotte, who rode Secretariat in 1973, said no other horse could compare with him.

"Secretariat was head and shoulders above any one of them," he said. "I didn't ride Buckpasser or Dr. Fager, but I rode against them, and on their best days ... I never saw no Secretariat. He was the best."

Koch said Secretariat's condition "rapidly worsened" on Tuesday, putting the aging stallion in "extreme pain for the first time

"Nobody wanted the horse to suffer and that's commendable," Koch said. "Secretariat had a lot of class and he knew it. It's a thrill to work around a horse like that. He knew who he was and what he was all about.' There was a somber mood at Claiborne throughout the day. Farm officials blocked the entrance and wouldn't allow anyone to see the burial site.

New NHL season has Soviet look

By The Associated Press With the opening of its 73rd season tonight, the National Hockey League will roll out the red carpet in a manner of speaking.

With right wing Helmut "Electric Train" Balderis, the Soviet Union's answer to Guy Lafleur, making his comeback at age 37 with the Minnesota North Stars, no fewer than nine Soviet players will be in uniform as the NHL opens with nine games tonight.

They are not the first players from the Soviet Union to play in the NHL, but certainly the most celebrated.

Victor Nechaev took his place in NHL history when he played for the New York Islanders on Oct. 16, 1982, becoming the first Soviet-trained player ever in the league.

Nechaev lasted but three games, preceding by nearly seven years the Calgary Flames' Sergei Priakin, who signed with the Stanley Cup champions just before last year's playoffs.

Nechaev has more confidence in his countrymen than he did in himself

"I think they can dominate as soon as they adapt,'' — Victor Nechaev, first Soviet to play in the NHL.

He is now 34 and part-owner of Russian-American Television in Los Angeles.

Mogilny is the only one here without the blessing of his country. He defected in Sweden during the World Ice Hockey Championships last April.

The Sabres announced earlier this week that Mogilny has been Quebec, Doug Carpenter at granted political asylum in the Toronto, Bob Murdoch at Win-United States. The approval of nipeg and Roger Neilson with the Mogilny's asylum petition by the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service now

"I am pleased with the outcome of the petition," General Manager Gerry Meehan said in a statement released by the club. 'Alexander has shown the potential in training camp and preseason games to become one of the club's top players."

Mogilny, 20, was Buffalo's leading scorer in exhibition play with five goals and three assists in six games.

Dave King, coach of Canada's national team, feels that Makarov, part of the KLM Line of the Soviet Red Army team, will be the best of the lot.

"Makarov is a great one-onone player, one of the best in the world," King said. "He will have to learn to be more direct with his plays. He tries to get too cute sometimes, but he's likely to adjust.'

King, who coached against Makarov on at least a dozen occasions, describes the 5-foot-8, 170-pounder as a composite of smaller, scrappy players such as Ken Linseman or Theoren Fleury, with one notable exception – he'll score more goals.

"He has the personality and more mental toughness than the others," King said. "He's the most persevering of all the Russians.

Makarov will get to show his stuff in front of the home fans as Calgary plays host to Detroit in one of the opening-night games.

In other opening-night action, it is Toronto at Los Angeles, Quebec at Buffalo, Pittsburgh at Boston, Montreal at Hartford, the New York Islanders at Minnesota, New Jersey at Philadelphia, St. Louis at Chicago and Edmonton at Vancouver.

The Soviet imports won't be the only big change in the NHL. Nine teams have changed head coaches since the end of the 1988-89 season: Mike Milbury at Boston, Rick Dudley at Buffalo, John Muckler at Edmonton, Rick Ley at Hartford, Tom Webster at Los Angeles, Michel Bergeron at PITTSBURGH (AP) - Chris Evert, who said good-bye to Grand Slam tennis after last month's U.S. Open, became the first woman and first tennis player to be nominated for the Farewell to Sport Award.

Pittsburgh's Dapper Dan Club also announced Monday that basketball's Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, baseball's Mike Schmidt and football's Tom Landry were finalists for the award, which honors retirees for a career of "competitive excellene and com-munity service." The awards will be presented Feb. 10.

Evert, 34, won 18 events on the Grand Slam tour - six U.S. Opens, seven French Opens, three Wimbledons and two Australian Opens — and a record 157 singles titles. She still plans to play minor DENNIS THE MENACE tournaments and exhibitions in coming months.

Abdul-Jabbar, 42, played a record 20 seasons for the Milwaukee Bucks and Los Angeles Lakers and set records for points, Most Valuable Player Awards, games and minutes played and blocked shots.

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Glenda Jackson, rehearsing the role of Mar-tha in a revival of "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" says she was in-spired by seeing a theater legend play the role in the early 1960s. Miss Jackson, 53, winner of Oscars for "Women in Love" in 1970 and "A Touch of Class" in 1973, was a young actress looking for a break when she saw Edward Albee's play open in London with Uta Hagen as Martha and Arthur Hill as George.

"I literally don't remember breathing throughout the entire even-ing," she said. "There was an extraordinary power to the play and the performances were nothing short of astonishing.

"When you see performances like that, it truly is inspirational."

YOU THINK IF MY LICENSE, I CARE IF YOU

In those years before Homecoming

By STACY PAYNE Herald Editor

Last week local florists were busier than ever creating Homecoming mums. Some Moms had fun making outfits for their preschoolers, and I thought it was really neat to see a lot of school age boys wearing what I'll term "bicep mums." They came complete with red and white ribbons, silver foot-balls and what have you. My nephews, Lance, 11, and Rory, eight, made sure to have me take notice of their bicep mums. I had expected Melanie, my niece, to be wearing one, but not the boys.

What floored me about the whole Homecoming thing was how far reaching it was. Four and five year olds had dates for the event - real dates, where the boy picks up the girl in Dad's car, and the whole bit. Clay Crow, along with his parents as chaperones, dropped by Kenzie Williams' house to get her for the pregame supper at the SHS cafeteria. Later, Kenzie's big brother, Kory, along with his parents, escorted Clay's big sister, Kari, to the same event.

I finally caught up with them later at the game. They were all so, well, adorable as all get out. I managed to get the four of them to sit still long enough for a group picture before they ran off in four different directions-

Committee Chairman Red Ribbon Week volunteers continued with planning activities for the anti-drug program scheduled for late October.

By BOB DEAVENPORT

Mayor Danny Fryar issued a proclamation proclaiming October 22 through October 29 as Red Ribbon Week. The Commissioners Court adopted a resolution commending the efforts of local citizens in the observance of Red Ribbon Week.

Commissioner Don Tollison commented following the adoption of the resolution, "This is a problem that all of us are facing, every citizen needs to be involved.

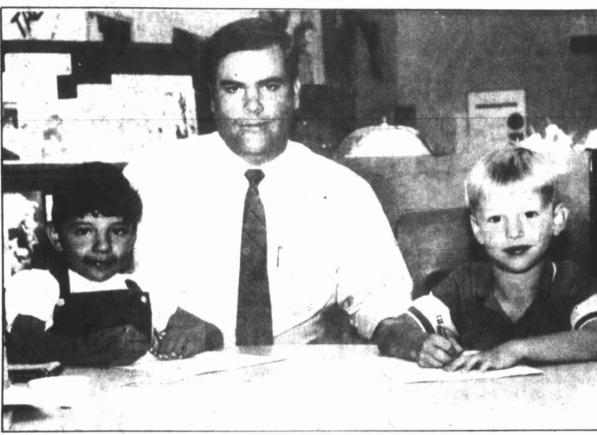

Mayor Fryar and Sheriff Dan Saunders are serving as Honorary Co-chairmen for the efforts in Martin County.

An essay contest is being sponsored for all sixth, seventh and eighth grade students in Martin County. "Drug Free -My Choice" is the theme for the essays. The essay must be at least fifty words and not more than one hundred words, the student's original composition, and hand-written on notebook paper. The deadline date for turning the essays in is October 13, 1989. The student should turn in the essay to the Principal's office no later than that date. The Stanton Herald will publish the winning essays during Red Ribbon

Murray's Eastside and Murray's C&C are sponsoring the essay contest and urge all of Martin County's sixth, seventh and eighth grade students to participate. First place award will be 20 packs of baseball cards or a sweatshirt of the winner's choice; Honorable Mention Awards (one for each grade) will be a T-Shirt or five packs of baseball cards. Murray's wants every youth in Martin County to realize that when they are drug-free they are already winners. Two additional sororities, Rho Xi and Preceptor Laureate Alpha, made contributions to the ribbon fund. Earlier, Xi Theta Nu and Preceptor Eta Epsilon had helped the fund. The Flower Grove Coop Gin is pur-chasing the "Drug Free – My Choice" ribbons for Klondike Elementary students. TU Electric and the Ackerly Cooperative Gin are purchasing the ribbons for all of the students in the Sands school.

Mr. and Mrs. E.D. Holcomb are providing the "Drug Free -My Choice" T-shirts for the Sands High School cheerleaders to wear for Red Ribbon Week. A coloring contest is being held for the grades K, first and second; and a poster contest for grades third, fourth and fifth under the sponsoirhsip of the Stanton Evening Lions

I, in particular, didn't want to avoid boys. I wanted to fight them. And fight them I did.

The first guy I ever beat up was named Lanny Fryar. He was the meanest kid in school. He hated girls and loved giving them trouble. He pushed me down one too many times, so I beat him up in the hall. The only thing worse than getting pushed down by him all the time is that he laughed the whole time I was beating him up.

I didn't exactly beat up Johnny Gonzales, but I punched him good a few times on the playground in first grade. I can't remember what he did, but I do remember that he ran faster than any human I'd ever known, and the only reason I got my punches in was because he fell down.

There was a guy named Jasper Something-or-other who was the tallest kid in school. He would hold my head away from him at arms length while I swung away at the air in front of me. His arms were longer than Texas, too, and by the time I was mad enough to scream bad words at him half the kids at school would have gathered around to make fun of me.

Danny Pinkston was the one boy I never got even with. He would perpetrate all sorts of evil on us, and we would get so mad we'd want to tear all of his hair out and knock his eyeballs out and rip his arms off. Problem was, after Danny got you to that point, he would do something so hilarious that you couldn't help but laugh until you just about died.

THEN, just as you let go of your anger toward him, he would pull your hair and run off, or push you down and run off or steal your candy and run off. I can hear his laughter just like it was yesterday. I'm rather psychotic because of Danny. because he could repeat the whole process five or six times before recess was over. I had a fight with a boy named

Mike. I can't remember his last name, but he spoke with a funny accent, like he was from Odessa or some place like that. I STACY page 2

STANTON — Stanton Buffalos guarterback Randy Nevarez (11) is brought down by Garden City

defenders during action Friday night. The Buffalos won the homecoming game 27-14

By STEVE BELVIN Sports Editor

STANTON -The Stanton Buffalos came into Friday's game a 12-point underdog to the Garden City Bearkats, the No. 10 ranked Class A football team in the state. Much to the delight of the homecoming crowd, the Buffalos came away with a well-deserved 27-14 victory.

The 'Battlin Buffs got their victory via a balanced offensive attack and a stingy defense. They took control of things in the second half, limiting a high-powered Garden City offense to 80 second half yards. Last week Garden City had more than 500 yards total offense in a waa over Roby last week. Cain and David Mendez, tackle stayed on top of things. Richard Villa, and cornerbacks • BUFFALOS page 2

Jesse Montez and Mike Graham forced four Garden City turnovers. Graham intercepted a pass in the second guarter

Punter Villa and place kicker Tony Moses were vital weapons in the win. Villa boomed five punts for a 44-yard average. His most impressive came late in the four quarter. After retrieving a high snap from center, he kicked a 40-yarder, putting Garden City at its own 23-yard line. Moses, a sidewinder, booted two kickoffs into the end zone, not allowing a G-City return.

Meanwhile the new Stanton Wing-T offense mixed its plays well. Quarterback Randy Nevarez directed the attack, as running backs Gary Don Thompson, John Paul Barry and Montez gained 163 tough yards on the ground. In the air, Nevarez and wide receiver Kenny McCalister clicked well.

Nevarez passed for 154 yards, with McCalister, only a sophomore, catching four passes for 107 yards.

We tried to control the ball, keep it away from them," said a happy Stanton coach Dale Ruth The hard-hitting Stanton after the win. "In the second half defense, led by linebackers Brian our kids kept their heads up and Garden City coach Sam Scott handled the loss gracefully. "It wasn't one of our better games, but Stanton had a lot to do with that," said Scott. "I don't like losing, and my kids don't like losing, but we lost to a good ballclub," said Ruth of the Class AA Buffalos.

Stanton took the opening kickoff and pieced together an eight play, 68-yard scoring drive. Montez was the workhorse, carrying four times for 54 yards. Stanton scored when Barry passed 5 yards to Montez on a halfback pass. Moses' extra point put the Buffs ahead 7-0 with 8:42 left in the first quarter.

Three possessions later, Garden City tied the contest, thanks to a Stanton fumble recovered by Chad Soles at the Stanton 26. It took the Bearkats six plays to score. Sophomore tailback James Soles scored from four yards out. Jody Bradford's extra point tied the con-test with 4:29 left in the first quarter.

Soles, who rushed for 365 yards last week against Roby, had another good game. He was the game's leading ball carrier, rushing for 142 yards in 20 carries.

Stanton struck again in the second quarter, marching 56 yards in five plays. The big plays were a 36-yard pass from Nevarez to Mc-Calister, and a 15-yard jaunt by Barry

But perhaps the biggest play in the drive came at the goal line. From the two, Barry was hit and appeared to fumble. The ball was recovered by Garden City's Mario Aguilar in the end zone. After a long conference, the officials decided Barry was down at the one. The next play Nevarez sneaked in from the one. Moses' kick gave Stanton a 14-7 lead.

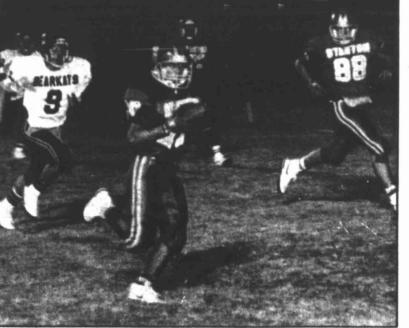

"I thought it was a fumble," Scott said. "It was an inadvertent challenged him to a match at what is now called Howard Jenkins Memorial Park. He beat the absolute fire out of me.

While he was beating my face in, a man rushed into the park, grabbed this kid named Mike and started spanking the living daylights out of him for beating up a girl. Turned out the man was Mike's father. He helped me up and begged me not to tell my parents what his son has done to me.

I promised. Did he think I was stupid or something? I would have gotten in trouble for fighting again, and there was no way I'd have wanted my brothers to know I lost a fight. Then I wouldn't have been one of the Payne Boys anymore.

I beat up a boy pretty bad a couple of years later. He was picking on my little brother. He was twice as big as him and the look of fear across my little brother's freckles pains me even now. I beat that kid up so bad that I got three licks in the principals' office. My mother spanked me again when I got home for being so unladylike and my little brother didn't speak to me for several days, up when my father explained to me that I probably didn't really hurt most of them (except the one just mentioned, and he didn't know about Mike from Odessa). I had to admit that most of the guys never hit me back. I had to admit that almost all of them laughed, instead of cried, when I was beating them 'within an inch of their lives."

After much self-analysis and introspection I realized that I was a failure. I was never a contender. West Texas boys, for the most part, didn't hit girls, no matter what the girls did. I was washed up, a joke, a weakling. And most importantly, my father told me, I was making my mother a nervous wreck. So, no more fighting.

My mother was happy and relaxed.

My father wary and not convinced.

My little brother began to speak to me again. My big brother stopped apologizing for me (at least for that particular neurosis).

As for me, my life became a complete bore. I turned 12, pierced my ears, asked my parents for a princess telephone and bought fishnet hose like I began to worry about whether or not I'd receive a mum for Homecoming. * * *

I want to thank Scott Robinson, a Grady High School teacher, for volunteering to write the story for last week's game against Grady. Scott called me about a week and a half ago at home, and offered to go to Blackwell.

His main concern was for Wildcat morale. He wanted sports coverage that included the efforts of all athletes on the team, as well as reporting that included defensive coverage, which is overlooked many times when scoring is high

I was touched by Scott's concern "for the guys." He is a caring and wise individual, and he has lots of faith in the kids he teaches

He apologized for the lack of writing skills. As readers can see when they peruse his article about the Grady game against Blackwell, they will note that he not only has nothing to apologize for, but is in fact an excellent reporter.

I want to thank him for the coverage. I'm sure the Grady community is proud to have him in the area. I'm sure parents are happy to know he is educating their children not only in the classroom, but by example.

Grady Wildcats swat Hornets

By SCOTT ROBINSON Grady Sports Correspondent

BLACKWELL - The Grady Wildcats returned to winning from Friday after two weeks of setback at the hands of New Home and Loraine. Grady displayed a solid team effort while totally line. Terrell took the ball to the one dominating the Blackwell Hornets and winning by a score of 51-6.

The Wildcats were led by four 21-0. Scott Terrell touchdowns and a determined Grady defense that caused three Hornet turnovers and held the opposing offense to 129 total yards.

Grady took the ball quickly downfield after the opening kickoff behind the rushing of Baldomar Cortez. Cortez was injured early in the game, but still managed 61 yards on two carries. The Hornet defense rose to the occasion and held the Wildcats scoreless on their first possession.

The Wildcat defense returned the favor and forced the Hornets to punt on their first possession. Terrell wasted no time, returning forty yards for a touchdown. The conversion attempt from Terrell to Chad Wells was good putting the Wildcats ahead 7-0 with 6:30 showing in the first quarter.

On Grady's next possession Terrell scored again from one yard out and kicked the extra point to up the lead to 15-0 with 3:10 remaining in the first quarter.

Blackwell's next possession looked promising until a 41 yard touchdown run was stopped by penalty flags. Grady's Scott Glaze recovered a Hornet fumble only a few plays later to give the Wildcats a first down at the Hornet 29 yard yard line where Gilbert Cortez checked it in to extend the lead to

The Hornet's returned the kick to their 35 yard line and begantheir first solid drive of the night. The drive was ended when Grady's Danny Valle intercepted a Jimmy Waddington pass in the end zone.

After neither team was able to move the ball, Grady took advantage of a blown fake punt attempt to take control of the ball at the Hornet 45 yard line. On first down, Terrell took the ball into the end zone. David White kicked the extra point to make the score 29-0 with 4:10 remaining in the second quarter.

On Blackwell's next possession, Waddington passed to end Billy Hindman on a play that would cover 46 yards leaving the ball at the Wildcat one yard line. The Hornets moved the ball into the end zone for six points but the extra point attempt was blocked.

The Wildcats were not ready to quit for the first half. With 2:06 remaining in the half, Scott Glaze passed 25 yards to Gilbert Cortez for a touchdown. With the David White kick the score moved to 37-6 in favor of the Wildcats.

Scott Glaze recovered another Blackwell fumble on the Hornets next possession at the Hornet two yard line. From there, Gilbert Cortez carried the ball over on first down. White kicked for the conversion to extend the Wildcat lead to 45-6 with 1:20 remaining in the half.

Blackwell moved the ball to the Grady two yard line shortly before the half ended, only to be stopped by a stubborn Wildcat defense led by Chad Wells and Len Garza.

At the beginning of the second half, Terrell took a Hornet punt 42 yards for another Grady touchdown to increase the Grady lead to 51-6. At this point the game was called due to the 45 point six man rule.

After the game Coach Gonzales was extremely proud of the entire team effort. He noted blocking and tackling as Keys to the win.

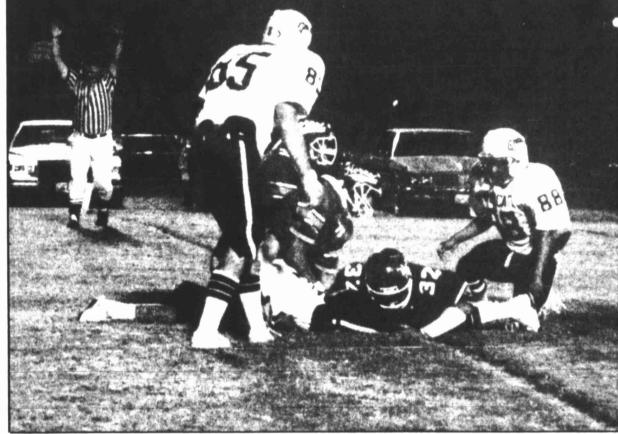

Coach Gonzales also mentioned the efforts of several team members. Mike McKaskle and Bryan Payne played good defense and had some Key tackles in the game. Victor Garza had an outstanding night blocking and Joel Garza was commended for his efforts on special teams.

Grady is now 2-2 on the year and will face Trent at home next week

By WILMA STIRL SHS Cross Country Coach

A bus load of Stanton runners competed in the cross country meet at Big Spring last Saturday. There was lots of dust and pollen in the air due to the recent dry weather and breathing problems were apparent as the morning stretched on.

Sonja Hopper placed 10th and received a medal with a time of 15:15. Jennifer Riddle ran a 15:43 for 18th place. Laura Herm and Lupita Chapa finished only 4 second apart with 16:37 and 16:41.

Other junior high finishers were Brittany Brown, Joy Adams, Misty Carden, Maria Reyna, Veronica Marquez, Sylvia Alvizo, Shawna Butler, Rachel Hoelscher, Cindy McKenzie, Traci Moore, Monica Moreno, Amanda Riley, Heather Roe, Stephanie Wilson and Kindra Woodfin.

Ricky Lucas ran his first cross country course Saturday and finished 44th among the high school competitors.

Jeremy Stallings ran a 18:29 for an 18th place finish in the 4A and 5A varsity division.

Principally speaking

By BILL YOUNG SHS Principal Getting Ready For School.

"How many times do I have to call you? You get yourself moving!

You're going to be late for school?!" These are the desperate sounds of a frustrated parent trying to hurry a youngster through the morning ritual called getting ready for school. Unfortunately, this child is moving at a snail's pace. This drama is played out in many homes every morning and days start off with a war.

Kids have some creative ways of telling parents how they feel. They seldom use words, but most often use actions to let us know that they don't like the way things are being handled. Nothing is more confusing or frustrating to parents.

It would be much easier to be a parent if children would talk to us and say things such as, "I want to be able to think for myself. I'm dragging my feet so you can see that reminders won't work with me." But, they don't do this. Their way of getting us to understand is to use actions such as slowing down when we push.

Parent's aren't mind readers, so it's natural to misread the actions and assume that the child is lazy or doesn't care. The natural reaction is to then push, punish, or remind to change the behavior. The child increases the actions to show that the parent is wrong, and the war is on

The first hour of the day is the very best time for teaching kids to be responsible through allowing them to do most of their own thinking. it's also a time when parents can let the kids do most of the work since most of the jobs at that time of the day really belong to the children.

GUIDELINE 1: DECIDE WHICH JOBS BELONG TO THE

Mrs. T.R. Louder was Martin County delegate to the 1989 State Convention of Texas Extension Homemaker Association. The State T.E.H.A. Convention convened in Corpus Christi Community Center, Corpus Christ, Texas, September 12-14.

Delegates and visitors were elcomed by District XIV, and PARENT AND WHICH BELONG TO THE YOUNGSTER. A little talk with the kids will help us see that jobs such as setting the alarm, waking up to the alarm, choosing clothes, dressing, washing up, watching the clock, remembering lunch money and school supplies, and even deciding how much to eat are really the responsibilities of the child. That doesn't leave much for the parent.

The only person who should suffer consequences if these are neglected is the youngster. Let the school provide the consequences for lateness, etc.

GUIDELINE 2: STAY OUT OF THE REMIDNER BUSINESS. Reminders rob the child of the opportunity of making the mistakes needed to learn the lessons.

GUIDELINE 3: DON'T RESCUE! Rescuing children robs them of the opportunity to learn lessons at emotional times when the lessons will be best remembered. In other words, we don't put the kids in the car and take them to school and we don't write an excuse to the teacher.

GUIDELINE 4: REPLACE ANGER WITH SADNESS WHEN CHILDREN MAKE MISTAKES. A wise parent, upon seeing that the child is going to be late, says, "Oh, honey, I'm sorry you're going to have a problem with your teacher. I sure hope you work it out."

Loving parents have difficulty watching children learn from life's natural consequences. It's far easier to yell, threaten and punish than it is to keep the mouth shut and let kids learn from experience. It is a strong parent who can allow kids to learn from their mistakes. Eddie Cook brings in first MC cotton bale

Martin Countian Eddie Cook did it once again. He was the first farmer to bring in a bale of cotton for 1989. He gathered up his cotton on Saturday, Sept. 16, and had it ginned on Sept. 20, at Farmer's Co-op Gin in Stanton. The cotton came from the Tom Ranch Company, a farm Cook leases three miles southeast of Stanton. He planted the Acala 90 seed on April 24 of this year.

Local business houses that participated in the program that rewarded Cook were Stanton National Bank, Cap Rock Elec-tric, Stallings & Herm, Bill's Grocery and Hardware, Herb Henderson Auctioneer, Wheeler Motor Company, Franklin & Son, Texas Utilities, Lenorah Gin Company, First Bankers Savings and Loan, Hughes Fertilizer Company, Farm Bureau Insurance, Farmers Co-op Gin, J.D. Crawford Insurance, Eiland and Associates, Farmers' Co-op Gin of Ackerly and Cave-Bowlin Inc.

As of press time more businesses were calling Joe Hodges, president, Stanton National Bank, to add money to the

"Since we are primarily an agricultural area, we ought to show our support," he said. "Years ago there was prize money for the first bale, but last year was the first time it has been done in quite awhile.

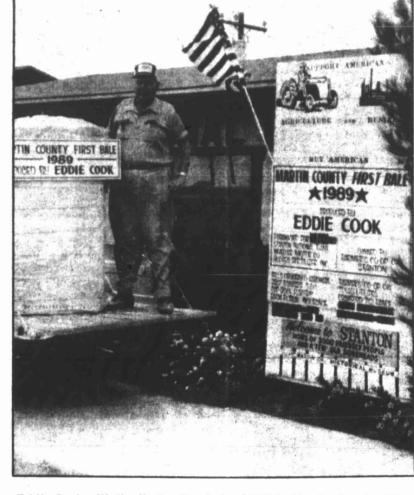

"More than anything, we want to recognize the farmers of Martin County. Without cotton, there is no Stanton. We want to recognize the efforts of the farmers and in view of this year's short crops, the prize money is going to be more important.

The first bale of cotton for 1988 did not come in until October 14. Earliest "first bales" produced by Cook were August 9, 1956 and August 18, 1957.

The prize-winning bale has been displayed at Stanton National Bank and is currently on a rotating basis at the business locations of the participants. The GMC pickup used to transport and display the premium bale was furnished by Wheeler Motor Company.

In addition to making a cash contribution to the premium fund, Farmers Co-op Gin manager Doug Church provided the ginning services free of cost.

In addition to the number one bale, two other bales were processed from Cook's initial delivery to the gin. Church has delivered Bales #2 and #3 to the Co-op Compress at Sweetwater, anticipating that the Martin County entries might be the first of the year at that facility, also. Church's anticipation proved right, the bale was first, and the compress manager added more funds to the reward money

By NESTOR HERNANDEZ ASCS Officer

USDA's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service invites cotton growers and other interested persons to submit recommendations and suggestions for the 1990 Upland Cotton Program.

Program decisions will be based on the most current data on domestic and world crop conditions, the outlook for cotton supply and demand, and public comments received by October 16, 1989.

Written remarks may include opinions on the level of any acreage reduction or paid land diversion programs, and inventory reduction provisions. Also welcome are opinions on whether loan deficiency payments should be made available to producers who agree to forego obtaining loans, and if so, whether a portion of the loan deficiency payments should be made in the form of negotiable marketing certificates.

Farmers should state which of the two plans should be implemented for the marketing loan program, and the loan payment level under the selected plan.

Other Upland Cotton program decisions to be made include whether first handler certificates should be issued, and if so, what restrictions should be placed on their use and whether to make recourse loans available to producers of seed cotton, and the level of the loans.

Program remarks should be mailed to the Director, Commodity Analysis Division, USDA-ACSC, Room 3741-S, P.O. Box 2415, Washington, D.C. 20013.

The Secretary of Agriculture, Clayton Yeutter, has announced his intention to offer producers the option to modify 1990 wheat program contracts.

Mr. Yeutter has stated the action is necessary to maintain our humanitarian food aid commitments while adding slightly to U.S. carryover supplies following two consecutive years of drought. The USDA has requested and received Presidential authority to use 1.5 million metric tons of wheat for fiscal year 1989 and 2 million metric tons for fiscal year 1990 from the Food Security Wheat Reserve to meet U.S. international food aid commitments.

This action does not suggest that producers plant above 95 percent of the wheat base, the acreage used in determining the producer's deficiency payment will decrease by one acre.

To remain eligible for these reduced deficiency payments, producers may not plant more than 105 percent of their wheat base. Overall income of wheat farmers is expected to increase slightly as a result fo these modifications.

The original program announcements provided the following:

--A 5 percent acreage reduction program (APR).

-- A target price of $4.00 a bushel. -- A price support loan and purchase rate of $1.95 a bushel. --Limited cross compliance provisions. -Advance deficiency payments at 40 percent of the estimated deficiency payment rate.

These provisions will remain applicable to all producers who enroll in the 1990 wheat program. For those producers who elect to modify their contracts, the following provisions will also be in effect: -Modified ARP

--Producers may plant wheat in excess of 95 percent of the farm's wheat base, but in no event more than 105 percent of the base.

-- There will be no acreage conservation reserve requirement for wheat for that farm.

--For each acre of wheat planted in excess of 95 percent of the wheat base, the acreage used in determining deficiency payments will be reduced by one acre. The minimum acreage for payment will be 85 percent of the farm's wheat base if the producer plants maxium acreage of 105 percent of the base.

--Producers may not build future wheat base acreage on the farm. The planted and considered planted wheat acreage for 1990 may not exceed the 1990 wheat base

-- If wheat plantings in excess of the wheat base cause plantings of other program crops to fall below the permitted acreages established for the other crops, the excess wheat acreage will be considered as planted to the other program crop.

-The 092 percent of the 1990 wheat program, the soybean and sunflower replacement option and the transfer of wheat base to oats base are not applicable and producers may not credit other nonprogram crop acreage as acreage considered planted to wheat. Based on current USDA estimates due to this change, harvested wheat acres are extimated to rise to 69.9 million acres from 67.5 resulting in an expected 2.596 million bushels of wheat compared to 2.530 bushels of wheat. Producers may obtain further details from the local Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office.

Entomology Notes

By VICTOR LUCERO

MC Extension Agent/Entomolgy As cotton harvest approaches, producers should consider stalk/boll destruction for reducing next tears pest populations.

The insect pests that can be managed via cultural and mechanical practices include the boll weevil, pink boolworm and to some degree the cotton fleahopper. These three insects are capable of building up if left undisturbed during the fall and winter months and may cause problems for growers next year.

Boll weevils overwinter or hibernate as adults along fencerows, under leaf litter in pastures, and other protected areas near cotton fields, without feeding, and emerge in the spring of the year. This phenomenon is known as "diapau

Before an adult weevil enters diapause, it needs to feed on squares and small bolls to build up enough food reserves so it can survive the cold winter months.

Shredding down cotton stalks that have small squares, and destroying green bolls as soon as possible after harvest will reduce the weevils food source. Reduced food sources means that the weevils enter diapause with reduced fat storage and increases winter mortality. Over the past month, field inspections have indicated that weevils are present in our area. Any efforts made to reduce numbers now will definitely pay off for next year. There are acres of

news

By SALLY CARROLL

late cotton that is "weevil bait" because the bolls are still soft and squares are present; the perfect situation for weevils to survive. If adult weevils can be found on cotton, growers should consider the benefits of using an insecticide to reduce weevil numbers before they enter diapause.

The pink bollworm can be a serious problem if left to overwinter in crop residues. This pest overwinters inside cotton seeds and bolls as a pupa or cocoon. Shedding down stalks will destroy any "pinkies" that use stalks as an overwintering site, however destroying green bolls should reduce greater numbers. Green bolls should not be left on the turnrow, they should be either burned or disked and plowed under.

Cotton fleahoppers overwinter as eggs inside plant tissues. The preferred wintering sites include fencerows, pastures, and other weed infested areas. By shredding down "weedy" turnrows and field margins, the number of fleahoppers that will emerge next to cotton fields are reduced. Pay particular attention to those areas that are infested with silverleaf nightshade (whiteweeds) as this is a preferred host of the fleahoppers.

Computers are here to stay. They are encroaching into the hall of education, or so my daughter tells me.

Last year she gave a speech on whether or not the computer could become a viable substitute for the classroom teacher. She felt that maybe they should, at least computers can't paddle students.

Last week the students weren't the only ones in class. We teachers (the middle school faculty and some administators) attended a class on how to operate the computers in the new computer lab.

I found the lesson not only enjoyable but throughly educational. I had worked with computers to some extent, but I never realized the educational value of them until last week.

I have a small table top computer in my classroom. The students love to get on it. However, this is only one computer accessible to only one student. Now, my students have access to a computer lab equipped with some of the best

I was amazed at the number of programs available to us. But, what I really liked was the different levels at which a student could work. Another thing that impressed me was that a student could work on his level-not someone else's

What may seem like "games" to a student is actually a powerful learning tool. A student will learn more by an enjoyable experience at his own pace rather than by a miserable experience at someone else's pace.

Also, computers tend to fascinate children. They arouse children's curiosity. Children love the bright, colorful images that appear before them on the monitor. They also like seeing their work on the monitor; thus, immediate feedback is provided. At this point, what is entertainment to a child can become an educational experience.

Someone once said, "If a child." can't learn the way we teach, then we must teach the way he can: learn.'

Water district to hold sale

The Mustang Soil and Water Conservation District is now taking orders for windbreak tree seedlings. Newell Tate, Chairman of Board of Directors, stated, "The trees available will be the same as last year with confiers, barefoot hardwoods and and wildlife packets being offered.

Confiers available this year are: Afghanistan Pine, Afghanistan Pine (bullets), Arizonia Cypress, Arizonia Cypress (bullets), Austrian Pine, Ponderosa Pine, and Red Cedar. Hardwood seedlings being offered are Bur Oak Cottonwood, Desert Willow, Green Ash, Honey Locust, Little Walnut, Catapla, Sandcherry, Osage Orange, Red Oak, and Russian Olive.

Trees may be purchased for $1.25 per tree or $37.50 for 30 trees on the conifers. The Barefoot hardwoods are $12.00 for 50 trees and Wildlife packets are $24.00 for each packet. The trees may be ordered through the district office located at 109 East Broadway in Stanton or calling 756-3421. Trees will need to be paid for at the time of ordering. Delivery of trees will be on February 23, 1990 by the Texas Forest Service of Lubbock.

'We have been very pleased with the Windbreak tree program, because it is a program that everyone can take advantage of and enjoy for many years," Tate concludes.

The Volunteers in Public Schools program has a special place for everyone, even clubs such as the Quilting Bee Club at the Martin County Senior Citizens building. This is a group of ladies that quilt to earn money for the center.

VIPS clips

On Sept. 25, they gave a program for Caren Rawlings' Homemaking classes. The ladies explained the steps and procedures to make a quilt. The students were even given the opportunity to try their hand at quilting.

the next time the students see a quilt they will appreciate the time, expense, and steps taken to make it. Most of all they will remember a special group of ladies that took the time to give of themselves to others.

If there is a business, special group, or person that really wants to make a difference in our world, please share your talents and time with a child. You will receive more than words can ever express.

For more information about VIPS, contact Brenda Kendall at Everyone had a good time, and 756-2797 or Ann Prough at 756-3853.

MC Underground Water Conservation District

As winter approaches, perhaps it is time to start thinking about what things are good to insulate your wellhead with. Cotton seed is not good. In fact any item which rodents can live or use as a food source is a poor choice of insulation material. They will choose it as a place to live and their droppings can contaminate your well.

Fiberglass insulation is one of the better choices as it is irritaing enough to animals that they will go elsewhere to burrow. Another practice to be very cautious about is the placing of rat poison in well houses. We do not recommend this, as the potential for it being washed down your well is too great. In fact the storage of any chemicals in your wellhouse is a poor practice.

Remember that many of these chemicals can harm you in concentrations well below that which we can taste. All that is necessary is for a leak to develop in the pumphouse piping and contamination would almost surely occur. Please take the time now before winter starts to inspect, clean, seal and properly insulate your wellhead to avoid the problems.

We also offer a free coliform (bacteria) test once a year to all Martin County residents. If you would like one done on your well, please call the office at 915-756-2136 or come by our office at 207 1/2 North St. Peter (behind First Bankers)
