Gomez death

By PATRICK DRISCOLL
Staff Writer
COLORADO CITY — A grand jury investigation into the May 1988 police shooting death of sexual assault suspect Sammy Gomez is scheduled to be impaneled Oct. 13. It is the second grand jury to investigate the death, and law enforcement officials say precautions have been taken to insure impartiality. But LULAC supporters involved in the case still disagree on whether a Mitchell County grand jury can be objective. "I will select a grand jury for the county over there probably next Friday," 32nd District Judge Weldon Kirk confirmed. The Gomez case is expected to be heard Nov. 8. In an effort to remove biases from the selection process, a jury wheel will be used, probably for the first time ever in Mitchell County, to select 12 jurors at random from a list of at-large voters. Typically, grand juries have been chosen from a pool of names submitted by a three-member grand jury commissioner panel named by the district judge. A jury wheel is only used to select trial

WASHINGTON — The Senate gave final congressional approval Saturday to putting strings on government aid to the arts by giving officials the power to deny grant money for works they believe may be obscene. In a weekend session called to tackle pressing budgetary matters, the Senate sent President Bush a spending bill containing the art limitations on a 91-6 vote. Bush is expected to sign the measure. The House four days ago voted 381-41 to adopt the same spending measure, a compromise fashioned evaluates schools

By STEVE REAGAN
Staff Writer
BIG SPRING — Local school officials recently completed a survey which they hope will aid in implementing needed changes in the school district. The survey, which included opinions from students, teachers and members of the community, is part of a 10-year self-study Big Spring ISD is conducting, according to Assistant Superintendent for Personnel and Instruction Murray Murphy. "In order to evaluate the programs of Big Spring ISD — and particularly the secondary schools — we felt like we needed to get the pulse of the community," Murphy said. "We feel the need to give the community the type of school they want."

SUMMER IN THE SPRING OF LIFE

BIG SPRING — Donning a CareLink T-shirt and surrounded by stuffed animals given to her by the helicopter pilots, 12-year-old Summer Smith sits on her bed and reads a letter from the CareLink crew. Summer was flown by the helicopter shuttle service three times this year during medical emergencies.

Brush with death becomes a way of living

By JAMES FLEHR
Staff Writer
BIG SPRING — Tiny Summer Smith lay on a stretcher writhing in pain with only seconds remaining between life and death. "I am a Christian. I wonder why we have pain sometime," the girl said, remembering the agony of a time not too long ago. At 12 years of age, Summer is in the spring of her life. It is a life filled with the cold pain of winter. Her brown eyes wandered around a room filled with stuffed toys and her favorite dog Missy. Shoulder length, dark brown hair kept falling over her face as she brushed it away, managing to laugh — and for just a minute, she forgot the pain. "In the summer, when I was in the hospital it really worried me that I would never feel good again," Summer said. "My mom fixed me up. I love my mom." Summer is one of the most familiar success stories to crews serving aboard the chopper called Dolphin, a Coast Guard issue used in the area chase against death.

All she remembers of her early days is a set of baby keys . . . suffering from a tumor larger than her own body when she was born or surgery at 7-days-old are not part of her memories.

The sole purpose — the mission of the crew aboard — is to save time and save lives. The Dolphin is a part of CareLink, a helicopter shuttle service that moves patients between Big Spring and hospitals in larger cities. It is based in Lubbock. To them there is no greater gift than life itself and CareLink's job is valuable — as valuable as human life. Summer has suffered a number of medical problems including a benign tumor from birth and an ear infection causing severe dizziness. The two crews that have ferried the girl from Big Spring to other hospitals have become true friends. Their acquaintance has become a sharing experience — as Summer's mother described it — a relationship based on caring. "The first time they put her up she was in so much pain she was almost unconscious," Glenda Smith, Summer's mother, said. "The other two times she wasn't that bad." Caring what happens to Summer is no accident; it is a result of professionalism combined with a second of redemption. Summer remembers the first life-saving ride in the helicopter, but she can only remember getting in. "She flew that thing two or three times this year," said her father, Steve Smith. "I'm sure they saved her life. There is no question about that," said Glenda, referring to the May lift.

All the tests during the May ride to Lubbock General Hospital indicated Summer was suffering from appendicitis. The crew's blood tests proved her white blood count was enormous. At the time of the lift, the full extent of her condition was not known. It turned out she was suffering from an acute case of peritonitis, or a hole in her stomach. The small frame of the child led the medical technicians on board to believe she had only the appendicitis. Time was in their favor, but Summer's doctors were miles away in Houston. The decision was made to take her to Lubbock General. Glenda said the crew promised they would pick up Summer in 35 minutes. 35 minutes later they were there. Within the hour, Summer, who was in severe pain, was enroute to Lubbock. Much to everyone's surprise she was suffering from a stomach condition that could have poisoned her system and killed her. Only because of the

fizzles after test change

By BRADLEY WORRELL
Staff Writer
BIG SPRING — The Big Spring Fire Department has yet to have a woman firefighter, but that could change after a new firefighter candidate program is implemented this year, a fire department official said. "Anybody that can meet the criteria can become a fireman," said Frank Anderson, Big Spring fire chief. "It will be fair and impartial to anyone that wants to be a fireman." he said of the new firefighter candidate testing process. Anderson said he does not believe a complaint filed a few months ago by a woman who was rejected as a firefighter is the motivating factor behind changes in the firefighter's training program. Lynn Fowler filed a complaint against the local fire department with the Equal Employment Opportunities Commission in El Paso, a hiring practice monitoring agency of the federal government. Fowler charged sexual discrimination on the part of the fire department after she failed the physical agility test part of the exam as then administered by fire officials. Anderson described the agility test as a timed test used to test the participants ability to perform certain functions that would apply to firefighting skills. Even though Fowler now lives in South Carolina and is no longer in consideration for the job, the fire department has changed some of its hiring practices to conform with EEOC policy. "I can't really say that's a direct result from that," Anderson said juries in the county.

 Two members of the League of United Latin American Citizens will be present at the selection process, as requested by Kirk, to quell complaints from LULAC.
 "The judge required LULAC to send a representative so they wouldn't have any gripe," District Attorney Frank Conard said. "LULAC's the one that raised the objections to the system that's been in effect 40 to 50 years."
 Conard said he believes a jury wheel has not been used to select a grand jury in the county for the past three judges. He said Kirk has been judge for 18 years.
 "It'll be physically drawn from the jury wheel from the registered voters of Mitchell County," Conard said of the process. "The first 12 (legally qualified) people to show up will serve as grand jurors."
 San Antonio civil rights attorney

Ruben Sandoval, who is representing the Gomez family, says he has faith in the jury wheel system done by computer in Bexar County, but does not believe residents in Mitchell County can be objective.
 "It's my feeling that under normal circumstances the grand jury is much more equitable," he said of the idea to use the jury wheel. "You're more likely to get jurors at random from the community."
 However, he said, "I don't believe that you'll find a grand jury that will return an indictment. There's been too many people predisposed either way."
 "I'm basing my sentiment on many comments of people throughout the area," he said.
 Oscar and Sarah Ortiz, designated by the national LULAC office to represent the organization at the selection, feel the same way.

Oscar is director of the area chapter.
 "We have gone on record before that our membership here in Mitchell County, as well as many of the people we know in this area, are convinced that neither the grand jury commissioners' system nor the grand jury wheel system is going to be effective in this case," stated a letter they addressed to Kirk to let him know that they will be at the impanelment Friday as he requested.
 "We do not say this because we are pessimistic but because too many people have already made up their minds about this case either for or against Sammy Gomez and/or the police," it said.
 The Ortiz's letter to Kirk indicated that they wanted the judge to ask for federal intervention.
 "We honestly don't believe a Mitchell County grand jury will indict anyone in this case and that our only hope for justice is with a federal grand jury," it states. "A federal grand jury that you can set up by asking the U.S. Justice Department to intervene in this case."

 "I disagree with them," Conard said. "I think once those citizens are chosen and take the oath as grand jurors, that they try to be objective and base their decisions on the testimony and not on opinions or biases."
 "If someone has close ties to someone who is being investigated, they should remove themselves," he said.
 Sandoval also wants the Gomez case pursued through the federal courts. "I feel much more comfortable in dealing with a federal investigation than a state investigation," he said.
 The findings of Dr. Juan Contin with the El Paso County Medical Examiner's Office, the second pathologist to prepare a report concerning Gomez, could strongly influence whether the case is given to a federal grand jury for consideration, Sandoval said.

 The report should be complete sometime this week.
 "The forensic report will weigh heavy in this case," Sandoval said.
 Sandoval — who doubts officers accounts that Gomez was lunging at them when he was shot three times — said the second report will give more information about the physical movements of the people present during the shooting.
 The first report, completed Nov. 22 by former Dallas County medical examiner Dr. Patrick B. Besant-Matthews, only reported the nature of the wounds, Sandoval said. It stated that Gomez died from a single gunshot fired at a downward angle to the back of the head.

 A grand jury, conducted a week after the fatal shooting, without a complete autopsy report, found no wrongdoing on the part of Billy Ray Williamson, a part-time police officer who was arresting Gomez for an alleged sexual assault at the time of the shooting.
 Williamson has since resigned from the police department this past August and is currently the city fire marshal.
 Sandoval said he has met and talked with representatives of the U.S. Justice Department and that they are currently considering charges against Williamson.
 Debra Burston of the U.S. Justice Department's public relations office in Washington D.C., said an FBI investigation into the case has been continuing since July, 1988. So far there have been no indictments, she said.

NAACP march

AUSTIN (AP) — Singing "We Shall Overcome," dozens of NAACP members marched on the Texas Capitol Saturday to urge the release of death row inmate Clarence Brandley, whose case has sparked charges of racial discrimination.

Brandley, who was convicted in the 1980 rape-slaying of Bellville teenager Cheryl Ferguson, is in an "unprecedented" situation, said Gary Bledsoe, president of the Austin branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

In comparison with Brandley's continued incarceration, despite a judge's recommendation that he get a new trial, Bledsoe cited the March release of Randall Dale Adams, who was imprisoned for 12 years after being convicted in the murder of a Dallas police officer.

 the changes. "It's something we were moving towards anyway."
 "We wanted a smoother, better way of looking for top employees, and I'm convinced we will find top employees," he said.
 Anderson said that the fire department's new hiring procedure meets EEOC approval.
 "We sent a report to the EEOC in El Paso — they wanted to review it to satisfy themselves that there is no discrimination in this program, and we don't feel like there is," he said.
 Anderson said when people attempt to join the fire department this year, they will find a different candidate program than the one firefighters before them have taken.

 The re-structured test places less upfront emphasis on the physical part of the exam and more on the written, intelligence test, he said.
 The previous test to make the list as a firefighter candidate basically combined the written test and physical agility test. Anyone who failed to pass either of the tests was immediately dropped from the list of potential firefighters.
 The new structuring of the program puts the immediate emphasis on the written skills test. Firefighter candidates who pass the written test will then be placed on a waiting list for a job opening and given an interview.
 Those candidates that display the top written scores will be chosen first to enter the firefighters-in-training, he said.

 "The agility (test) comes at the end of the class now," Anderson said.
 The agility test is now scheduled for about three months after candidates have made the list as firefighters. During the time leading up to the test the candidates are assigned daily exercise period in an attempt to help them better prepare for the test, he said.
 "We tried to be as fair and helpful in preparing the candidate as we can," Anderson said. "A number of departments, not just ours, are going to this."
 While in training, firefighter candidates learn about fire prevention, fire suppression and driving skills.

 "If, after a year's time here they can't do that they're terminated," he said. Candidates must pass all levels of training. If they successfully complete their training, they are enter a one year probationary period, after which time they officially become firefighters.
 Anderson said it may be just a matter of time before women become firefighters in Big Spring, and when they do, the fire department will have to prepare for life in the once male-oriented profession.
 "If Big Spring ever gets a female fireman it's my feeling she would have to share the same facilities along with the firemen, other than the private necessities," he said.

Anderson said he's not aware if other communities this size have female firefighters, but said most of the communities in the immediate area do not. "I really don't know what the percentages are," he said.
 This year's class is only expected to have one candidate for the local fire department, rather the usual class of about three, because only one position will be open, Anderson said.
 There could be some other students in the next program, however, because area fire departments such as Colorado City have expressed an interest in receiving training here. Veteran firefighters can also go through the program as a refresher course, he said.

 district's major strength, according to the results, followed closely by student activities and district administrators.
 Murphy said he was "a bit surprised" at what the respondents said was the district's biggest weakness: student and parent apathy.
 "I was a little bit surprised that most of the blame for the kids not doing well was placed in the parents' and students' lap," Murphy said. "Drug and alcohol abuse was also listed as a major problem."
 "What you're talking about here are societal problems," he added, "and schools are a reflection of society."
 But in other areas, Murphy said he wasn't surprised by the survey responses.
 Participants were almost unanimous in declaring disrespect for authority as the major disciplinary problem in the district. That was the number-one response from all three groups.
 As for the reason behind the disciplinary problems, two major reasons were listed: disrespect for school personnel and lack of parental support of school rules.

 Respondents were also asked their opinions on how best to improve education.
 Community members stated that the district should spend more time teaching basic skills, teachers were split between a need for better discipline, teaching basic skills and raising teachers' salaries, while students overwhelmingly stated a need to meet the individual needs of the students.
 "If I were a student, that would be my number-one answer," Murphy said. "By the time they reach high school, students probably feel like they're more of a number than a person."
 "I feel like we meet students' needs as a whole," Murphy said. "Now, do we meet every individual's needs? That's a hard question to answer."
 "We need to work harder in developing a curriculum designed to keep students in school and interested," he added.
 Respondents also were asked to rate programs and services on a scale from poor to excellent.

In only one area — elementary counseling — was the district's programs rated below average. Murphy conceded that as a weakness, saying that the district has only two counselors to serve its 2,200 elementary students.
 The survey results will be used by teachers and administrators who are conducting an evaluation of the district's facilities and programs. "They will make recommendations based on the survey and self-study," Murphy said.
 After that is completed, officials with the Southern Association, an agency that accredits schools in a 14-state area, will analyze the self-study and make recommendations based on the data.
 Murphy said he expects concrete changes to come about, at least in part, because of the survey.
 "If we need better facilities... through budget considerations, we will implement those changes," he said.
 "The bottom line of all this is excellent," he added. "I'm proud that the community feels the way it does about the schools."

Inside Texas

Accident unavoidable?

FORT WORTH (AP) — A federal official said he doubts that last month's tragic school bus accident in Alton would have been averted if national trucking safety laws been in effect in Texas.

A soft-drink truck hit the school bus, knocking it into a water-filled gravel pit. Twenty-one students were killed and 60 others aboard the bus and truck were injured in the Sept. 21 tragedy — the worst school bus accident in Texas history.

A National Transportation and Safety Board member said this week if the truck had been inspected under the federal regulations, which Texas did not begin enforcing until 10 days after the accident, it would not have been permitted on the road.

Job cutback

DALLAS (AP) — A slowdown in construction at Comanche Peak nuclear power plant means 4,000 jobs will be cut at the TU Electric facility by the end of the year, company officials said.

The decrease has been anticipated for most of 1989, as construction is nearly complete on the first of two reactors, said the Dallas Times Herald.

Construction on Comanche Peak, located 80 miles southwest of Dallas in Somervell County, began in 1975 and more than 11,000 people were employed at the height of building activity in 1987.

TU Electric might expand its work force at the twin-reactor nuclear facility once the project's first unit becomes operational, company spokesman Dick Ramsey said.

More than 90 attend women's seminar

By RUTH COCHRAN
City Editor

BIG SPRING — West Texas women gained some tips on succeeding in a "man's world" during Saturday's 6th annual Women's Conference, with the advice coming from notable women such as Brig. Gen. Wilma L. Vaught, USAF retired.

About 100 women from Big Spring and other area cities discussed the problems of being a woman in today's world during the day-long program, called "Today's Woman: Motivated to Achieve." The workshops, featuring nine speakers, were sponsored by the Blue Blazers, the women's division of the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce.

Iris Correa, who co-chaired the event with Gail Earls, said attendance exceeded any conference in her memory.

"We had 82 RSVPs," she said, with another 20 registering Saturday morning. "The turnout was great. We had people here from Snyder, Midland and San Angelo."

Correa said that as keynote speaker, Vaught was "truly inspiring." Vaught discussed her lengthy career in the military and the sexual harassment she has faced, Correa said. She also encouraged the women to help other women in their careers, Correa said.

KTPX newswoman Janet Storie of Midland, gave a workshop on image and communication skills, something she said is vital to a woman's success.

"They're at a disadvantage," Storie said of women. "Most women are not comfortable in an open setting... in the board room, the PTA."

"Your communications skills are directly related to your salary. If you aren't a good communicator, you won't succeed."

Storie, who spoke at the conference last year, said she enjoyed the other speakers as much as making her own presentation. Lily Tercero of the Small Business Development Center in Odessa, was particularly interesting, she said. "She was wonderful," Storie said. "She gave some very practical concrete information," about starting a small business. "This conference is a great opportunity for women."

The conference also featured: Big Spring's Johnnie Lou Avery, who spoke about how and why women have more guilt; Suzanne Haney, Pam Wiley, Maureen Haddad and Keren Wingert, who discussed domestic engineering at its best; and Patricia Netherland, the owner of a counseling service in Midland, who talked about nurturing the self for achievement.

Robert Shive, a fashion consultant, presented wardrobe for different occasions during the lunch break.

Correa said the conference is an excellent opportunity for women to build their own network of contacts, as it is the only one of its kind in Big Spring.

Judi McKinley, a Big Spring resident attending her third conference, said she has benefitted from the programs. "I think it's great," she said. "I talk it up for months trying to get everyone to come."

Midland Junior College student Julie Thompson said she came with three classmates. The four are interested in owning their own businesses, she said, and hoped to learn more about it at the conference.

"I really enjoyed it. It's been very helpful," she said. "We're looking forward to next year."

Gobblers delayed

CUERO (AP) — Some people swear the old wives' tale about turkeys drowning from watching heavy rain is true, but it won't be verified at the risk of two galloping gobblers here.

Saturday's turkey race between the best birds in two states was postponed because of a morning downpour.

The race will be run Sunday at 2:30 p.m. as the 17th annual Turkeyfest continues in this town of about 8,000 where Ben Franklin's spurned choice as the national bird gets attention on more than just Thanksgiving Day.

"They can't run in the rain," said Mary Dudek, vice president and co-owner of KEWS-AM, the official voice of the annual turkey festival. "They say it's because of the wet pavement."

That was the official line, of course. But some wondered what may have transpired if Ruby Begonia, the local entry, and Johnny Paycheck, the intruder from Worthington, Minn., had been sent to the starting line.

National fire prevention week

HERALD STAFF REPORT
BIG SPRING — This week is Fire Prevention Week 1989, and the Big Spring Fire Department is stressing improved fire safety education, a fire department official said.

The local fire department's theme this year is: "big fires start small; keep matches in the right hands," said Burr Lea Settles, Big Spring Fire Marshal. Safety with matches and lighters will be stressed as part of the week's theme, he said.

"Fire play is the leading cause of fire deaths among preschoolers," Settles said. "It kills three out of every ten who die in residential structure fires in the United States."

About 75 percent of all residential fires in the United States are started with a match or lighter, and matches and lighters are what children most frequently use when playing with fire.

The fire marshal's office and fire department have special activities planned for this week, including presentation of the movie: "Plan to Get Out Alive" — which Settles said realistically dramatizes what it is like to be in a house or other structure on fire and the steps a person should take to escape unharmed. The movie is especially good because it clears up several mistaken ideas about what people should do during a fire, he said.

The movie airs on Channel 8 at 7 p.m. Monday and Tuesday.

Fire Prevention Week is sponsored by the National Fire Protection Association and supported by the fire service, schools, and civic organizations nationwide, Settles said.

Those who want more information on Fire Prevention Week can call Settles at 263-8311 ext. 112.

Thoughts on the short list

The short list. It's a phrase that was on the lips of many in recent weeks, as the odds of Howard County attracting a state prison were considered.

The state's "short list" is the reduction from 46 original prison bidders to 26; not unlike the second cut in a professional football camp. The first cut came from those who qualified initially by submitting a responsible application within the state deadline.

That Howard County remains on the list must be reassuring for everyone interested in this project, and speaks well for what has been done thus far.

Second cut means further consideration will be given, including a visit by three or four members of the state board that will be making the final decision. Second cut means it's time to get down to the real serious business — of making the next cut.

Apparently there will be one more cut, to perhaps 10 or so, before the final six are announced. That next to last cut will come after the Nov. 7 election, which includes proposition eight. It contains funding to the tune of $400 million to construct prisons and finance improvements within the state mental health and mental retardation system.

To put too great a political tag on the matter of passage of the proposition might be unfair; to put too little political consideration would be foolish. It seems highly unlikely a prison will be awarded to a county that shows less than broad support for paying for those prisons.

Besides the prison expenditure, Howard County voters should also keep in mind the ramifications of additional financing for the MHRM system. Anyone who hasn't gotten wind recently of the impact of the Big Spring State Hospital has been hiding under the covers too long.

The proposition's passage carries a $3 million tag for Big Spring State Hospital, for construction of a $2.6 million activity therapy building and to fund roof and other repairs. It's almost impossible to argue against such advances at the state hospital, which just 10 days ago announced increased state funding and a staff increase of 55 people.

For the people who have been working to develop the most attractive, practical and efficient prison proposal for the state, more work remains. The job of continuing to shape that proposal and develop assets for the state to consider is crucial if this project is to become reality.

For others in the county, the job is to see that they educate themselves on this and other propositions — and then get out and vote on Nov. 7.

Answering Grizzard

To the editor:
In answer to Lewis Grizzard's Oct. 2, 1989 column: Enclosed find a similar examination for Mr. Grizzard to take:
Mr. Grizzard, I'm Dr. Viewpoint. "I'll be examining you today to see if you are qualified to judge your fellowman."
"I understand you write one-sided opinionated columns. Do you do this kind of thing often?"
"Only when I feel I'm better than everyone else and don't recognize I have faults, too."
"How does this ego trip affect you?"
"It blinds my perspective causing me to report only one side of an issue with a holier than thou attitude."
Mr. Grizzard I left my ink blot cards at home, so we'll let you look in this mirror to see what you see. Honesty works best. Here goes:
"God."
"Someone I need to learn more about."
"Television."
"A one-sided version like my Jim Bakker column only with pictures."

"Public."
"Trusting, gullible, believers of what I write."
"Beg."
"Never, I'm too prideful and haven't ever walked a mile in their shoes."
"Heaven."
"A place I can't enter until God judges me."
"Hell."
"Comments about my column by more open minded viewers."
Mr. Grizzard you looked only in the regular side of the mirror. I advise you to look into the magnified side to see a more balanced view, showing good in every situation trying to achieve an even balance to overcome the bad that is there.
Prescription for you from Dr. Viewpoint, practice love of fellowman, patience, tolerance, forgiveness and understanding of the weakness in all human beings.
Nurse Love, please show Mr. Grizzard to the Bible where he can study how to become a writer who tempers truth with mercy. Amen.

Hooked: Press, papers

By ROBERT WERNSMAN
Publisher

I'm a junkie. I've known it for some time, although I admit it very infrequently. The biggest problem with my habit, I guess, is availability. I can get my fix in big cities, and I've satisfied my urge within minutes of driving through a town hardly big enough to justify a high school and three churches.

The second biggest problem would be the dirty fingers. This is not a clean habit, for sure; many detest it for this reason alone. Of course, if you're extra careful and avoid the wrong color of clothing — well, almost anything can be overlooked if that's what you decide to do.

Newspaper junkie. I've been in this business since carrying a morning daily paper route when I was a kid. It could be drastically cold on some of those Midwestern winter mornings, but this was business and it got taken care of.

Ever since, it's been a part of me. Delivering daily newspapers did not hook me. While my customers could count on me, my poor attention to the business side of it made me scramble when pay day for papers arrived. That and collecting are not a lot of fun.

No, the hook came my junior year in college. By then I had written for the college paper for three semesters and figured that this might be a good place for a performer who wanted a college degree, while avoiding heavy indulgences of science and mathematics.

College newspapering left me cool, for lack of staff and a very young department. Then, I had an article printed in a country-town weekly 45 miles from my college. The change from the printed word in a free college product to an honest-to-goodness, pay-to-come-to-my-home newspaper was phenomenal.

I wouldn't be surprised if a copy of that story — on page eight of that December 1973 Syracuse Democrat — isn't filed somewhere in one of my dusty envelopes. I can picture precisely holding that newspaper, re-reading a story under my byline and taken in by the wonder of it being in 3,000 other people's hands.

I'm probably the only one who read it more than once and undoubtedly the only one who remembers it — like yesterday, instead of 16 years ago.

Many people never find in their lifetime work that is not really work. If you've never felt it, it may be hard to imagine. But when they pay you to do what you would be doing anyway — well, perhaps you get the idea.

Writing this column is a big part of it. When you can still get a thrill out of seeing an idea delivered to paper and then delivered to thousands of homes, you realize your addiction may likely be permanent.

Drive through any community of any size and you can tell a whale of a lot about it by its newspaper. If that wasn't part of Journalism 101, it should have been. I've found it to be the truth far more often than not.

When friends travel to a distant city to interview for a job, I always urge them to bring back a few copies of the newspaper. While I'm unsure I'd recommend against a job based on the quality of newspaper, you never can tell.

That's why this job is so rewarding. While I love acting on the stage, in many ways a newspaper is a much bigger, certainly more lasting, stage than you find in a theatre. All that, and the opportunity to do so practically every day of the year.

One successful newspaper publisher operates on the theory of one improvement a day makes for a very good newspaper by the end of the year. He's gone a long way on that basis. The relative ease of making a change in the next day's paper offers a virtually unequalled opportunity to do our job and do it well — all the while reflecting on the entire community.

Around the Herald, we consider that a huge responsibility. I wouldn't have it any other way. I'm hooked.

A need for statesmanship

By JESSE TREVINO

School finance reform is a highly volatile issue that could produce a political upheaval in the state. Remaining unresolved until close to the general election next year, the stage is set for Texas lawmakers and the state's top officials to act as statesmen or as hack politicians.

Given the critical nature of next year's elections that will determine Texas' political direction for the next decade and perhaps beyond 2000, demagoguing on finance reform will be difficult to resist.

Thus, Monday's Texas Supreme Court decision allows politicians, especially those in the Texas House of Representatives, to feel the most pressure in the matter.

The decision will give impetus to the continuing conversion of conservative and moderate Democrats to the Republican party. Even though many rural school districts represented in the Legislature by these types of Democrats will benefit from the court's decision, others will not.

Tired of tax loads that have more than doubled since 1984, lawmakers, even some of those who represent poor school districts with significant concentrations of elderly Texans, will feel the heat to hold the line on taxes.

Without having to demagogue on the issue, as Gov. Bill Clements did when State District Judge Harley Clark announced his original decision in 1987, the Republican party will benefit.

It seems, however, that politics has already entered the equation.

Clements' decision to call a special session in the spring, most likely after the March primary elections, could allow the GOP to identify Democratic officials and Democrats in the House and Senate with the inevitable tax increase needed to fund the changes needed in the school finance system.

In particular, the call for a spring special session will put pressure on Comptroller Bob Bullock, seemingly the strongest Democrat in the probable 1990 Democratic lineup. Bullock, after all, is the state's chief fiscal officer and it has been Bullock who over the years has delivered the answers to the state's recurring financial crises.

But the Democratic leadership most likely will be ready to respond. They will have a powerful 9-0 Supreme Court vote that carries with it a moral authority to do the right thing for Texas.

With three Republican members of the court voting in the unanimous ruling, Democrats should be able to deflect the expected GOP attempt to paint them as anti-local control and pro-taxes.

Also, if the GOP proves to be antagonistic and obstructionist, it could find itself branded as a party of the status quo that does not have the best interests of the state at heart.

Clements may have given everyone an out, however, with the task force of citizens he wants to review the matter before the special session convenes.

The task force, unless it is rigged, can only conclude what is obvious to even the most unreconstructed of Texans: Texas must change the way it funds its schools and provide enough money so that the state can provide the education necessary to its citizens so that the state can remain economically viable.

Clements, too, will have to sign into law the revenue measure that the Legislature passes.

The volatility of the issue, then, can cut both ways, although the GOP can be seen to be in a position to gain the most advantage of the tinder-box political environment.

Nevertheless, that advantage can fade and fade quickly. That is why the best and safest route to take is to follow a route of statesmanship, the same kind of statesmanship represented by the Supreme Court's persuasively unanimous decision.

By following such a course, the issue can be defused politically, and lawmakers can provide the leadership they were elected to furnish the state in the first place.

But given the early signals from Clements' office, that is not yet the road the governor has decided to follow. The governor who, after all, said he would keep the Legislature in session through Christmas to get workers' compensation reformed has left the most critical issue facing Texas till the spring, close to the May 1 deadline set by the court.

Because Hispanics, in particular, view this as a crucial issue for them, any attempt to not follow the court's instructions will trigger a reaction that will start the ball rolling towards the kind of divisiveness the state must avoid.

If State Rep. John Culberson, a Republican representing the affluent southwestern area of Houston, introduces a constitutional amendment to vacate and repudiate the court's decision, the battle will be on, and the ultimate losers will be Texas' children — and Texas' future.

Big Spring native Jesse Trevino is chief editorial writer and columnist for the Austin American-Statesman.

Mayor addresses city budgets, cuts and funding

By MAXWELL D. GREEN

Mayor

When you try to explain something as broad as the city budget you wonder where you should begin. There is no real good place.

Let's start with an explanation of the funds; there are 17. Of these, the general fund and the utilities fund are free for use in all phases of operations, including the repayment of bonded indebtedness. The remaining funds are "designated" or special purpose funds; the airport fund is one such special purpose fund. Money in special funds can be used for a specific purpose only.

Income sources

There are four major sources of income available in the general fund: ad valorem taxes; non-property taxes; franchise taxes; and, general sales and services. The ad valorem tax rate must be set before you adopt a budget, according to state law.

Non-property taxes include the city sales tax, which is variable. The sales that are made within our city limits determine the amount of revenue that we collect. If we can increase business activity, and I believe we can, cash available for operations will increase. The sales tax rate is limited by state law to one percent. Likewise, the dollars generated by franchise taxes (gas, electric, taxi, cable TV) depend upon the amount of business activity.

General sales and services include trash collection and miscellaneous fees. They are established by the council and can be changed. General sales and services money come from residents and businesses both inside as well as outside city limits.

Utility fund

The utility fund is the other fund that can be used for general operations. The major source of revenues for this fund is from the sale of water and the treatment of sewage. These rates also are set by the council and can be changed.

As of Sept. 30, the city had a total bond debt of $8,525,000. The current repayment schedule provides for $448,511 to be paid from ad valorem tax revenues and $856,398 to be paid from the water and sewer funds. Exactly $1379 of the 71 ad valorem tax rate goes to meet the requirements of the general fund bond debt. It takes 15.67 percent of the total utility fund revenues to meet its bond debt requirements.

Public forum

The current budget also provided for $270,666 for work on the water lines and streets from the railroad north to Interstate 20 and from Main Street to Owens Street; $235,341 will come from funds provided by the Texas Department of Commerce and the balance — $35,325 — will come from the utility fund. Additionally, $147,178 will be spent for street work on the West End. This money will come from funds available in the 1984 Street Improvement Bond Fund, in the amount of $230,359.

Personnel services

Another consideration is our cost for personnel services. This amounts to $4,419,775 in the general fund and $966,615 in the utility fund. This is a total of $5,386,390. Salaries are $3,875,100; taxes $33,035; and fringe benefits $1,478,255. If we can restructure the city and eliminate people/jobs that are not essential, it is possible we could reduce this cost and also improve services.

It will take six to 12 months for management to compile the information necessary for the council to evaluate this area. No one will be laid off. If there is a reduction in force it will be by attrition. That is, when someone quits a new person will not be hired automatically.

Our ad valorem tax rate is too high. We are not competitive with our neighboring cities — Midland, $ .58; Odessa, $ .4865; San Angelo, $ .786; our rate is $ .71. One way to get this rate down is to increase our sales tax by one half of one percent. This will reduce our ad valorem tax rate and make us more attractive to industry. If we can get more industry, we will have more jobs and this will increase our revenue base. An increased revenue base means more money for our city to fulfill all of the needed services.

We also need to set up a regular amortization schedule that will replace all of our equipment on a regular basis. Here again the council needs information. How much equipment do we own? In which departments? What is its current replacement value? Management needs time to compile this information and the council needs time and direction to develop a formal plan and decide the revenue source from which to raise the required funds.

Street work

Let us now take a look at our streets. How many miles of paved streets do we have to maintain? How many miles of all-weather streets and alleys do we have to maintain? How much time is being spent for maintenance? How long will the streets last? All we know is that management recommended that we spend $250,000 for seal coating. This expenditure is not in the present budget. We need all of the above questions to be answered and for management to develop a plan to repair all of the streets and replace those streets that have exhausted their life.

We need a long term-plan of amortization in this area also that will enable us to set aside so much money each year to meet these obligations. If there are certain streets that must be replaced next year we could raise the money for this in a bond issue being considered for proposal in January. If this is approved by the voters, the ad valorem tax rate will be raised to meet the debt requirements of this issue. A special assessment could be considered in some cases.

Our water and sewer system is literally the talk of the town. What is a logical long term solution? More questions. How many miles of cast iron pipe do we have? How much will it cost to replace these lines? Can we develop a better solution other than replacement? Will it be better to raise the money from a bond issue and replace all of the lines at once? Should we increase water rates and replace a portion of these lines each year?

What would the city have to do and what would it cost to provide citizens with decent, more acceptable tap water?

In regard to the Jaws of Life needed by the Fire Department, members of the council are now working to raise the money to purchase this particular piece of equipment; perhaps in conjunction with the county. It is one item that Chief Frank Anderson considers an absolute necessity. This item may be partially funded by re-arranging some items in our current budget.

Fire equipment

You should know that all of our fire trucks have been certified for another five years by the state agency responsible for Texas standards. We have two fire trucks that will need to be replaced within this five year period. The plan being considered by the Council is to make this replacement a part of the proposed bond issue, which may be voted on in January.

How many cars do we actually need in the Police Department? Should we continue the fleet operation now in use? Does the fleet operation actually reduce crime? Can we show the financial advantage? According to present information we can save about $100,000 per year by returning to the pooled operation.

This savings is generated by a reduction in capital outlay required to replace 52 cars every 5 years versus 26 cars every 4 years. Can we reduce burglary and theft losses by more than $100,000 annually? Are the taxpayers willing to increase ad valorem taxes enough to replace the fleet police cars every five years? This will cost at least one hundred sixty thousand dollars per year, since inflation could increase this cost over the next five years; here again it will be necessary to increase taxes each year to meet the increase in replacement cost.

It is a good idea to keep in mind that all of these problems did not come up overnight. It will take time to consider all of these questions and develop a long range plan.

Budget change

You must also remember that the current budget is not cast in concrete. The council has the authority to change this budget at any time that such action proves to be in the best interest of the city. The majority of the council understands this and has agreed to continue working on the budget for at least another six months. If necessary, the council can also raise the trash collection rates, and the water and sewage treatment rates to meet operational requirements. These rates can be changed at any time during the year by action of the council.

Let's all be very objective. Yes, I want improved streets, new police cars, new fire trucks and better services. In order to do this we must first develop a logical overall financial plan that meets all of the community needs. Then, we must decide which sources of revenues should be increased, if necessary, to fulfill this plan. We need to develop a long range plan. I believe that it is unfair to require property owners to bear the total cost of these capital requirements. The cost should be shared by everyone.

I am convinced that all of us working together can meet the needs of our community. I can't do it — but we can!

Smoking causes nursing home fire

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — A nursing home fire that killed nine patients and injured nearly 100 was caused by one of its victims — a 78-year-old smoker who accidentally tossed a match on his bed when he missed a trash can.

Authorities said Friday that despite the high death toll, they considered it lucky more people weren't killed in the fire that broke out late Thursday in the four-story Hillhaven Rehabilitation and Convalescent Center.

Thick black smoke from burning foam rubber mattresses filled the hallways, hampering evacuation already made difficult by the frail condition of many of the patients, said Fire Chief Thomas E. Gardner.

"The real problem was the smoke and the fragileness of the elderly residents' lungs," Gardner said.

Seven of the injured remained in critical condition Thursday night, said Maggie Owens, nursing supervisor at Sentara Norfolk General Hospital. Ninety-eight residents were treated after the fire for smoke inhalation, said Don Haupt, administrator of the city's Paramedical Rescue Service.

Without the right to examine controversial and sometimes disturbing works of art, "we would be Fascists."

Many if not most of the works would presumably not be eligible to receive public funds from the National Endowment for the Arts and the National Endowment for the Humanities under a bill approved by the Senate on Saturday after passing the House of Representatives earlier in the week. The bill gives officials the power to deny grant money to artworks they deem obscene.

Gallery opens 'taboo' exhibit

SEATTLE (AP) — A gallery owner has put together an art exhibit that offers something to offend just about everyone, including works by two artists who outraged Sen. Jesse Helms and led to the bill just passed in Congress.

Greg Kucera assembled the 20-artist show, called "Taboo," with his own money, saying "people have a right to see these works of art."

"We live in a world where diversity of opinion gives this culture its richness," Kucera said.

Journalist not guilty of libel

CHICAGO (AP) — Pulitzer Prize-winner Seymour M. Hersh said a federal jury's ruling that he didn't libel a former Indian prime minister was "a terribly important victory for a news journalist."

Jurors deliberated six hours Friday before rejecting Morarji Desai's claim that he was libeled when Hersh described him as a CIA informant in the 1983 book, "The Price of Power: Kissinger in the Nixon White House."

The U.S. District Court jury found Desai had failed to prove Hersh was guilty of libel — that is, that he had knowingly printed false material with malice, or with reckless disregard for whether it was true.

Further, the panel said Desai had failed to disprove the claims about Desai's work for the CIA, which Hersh testified came from a half-dozen high-level government officials whom he refused to name.

Desai's lawyer, Cyriac D. Kappil, had asked jurors to award $3.5 million to his client, prime minister of India from 1977 to 1979. Desai, 94, lives in Bombay and didn't attend the trial because of failing health.

The lawyer said he would confer with Desai and fellow attorneys before deciding whether to appeal.

Hersh said the verdict in the six-year-old case vindicated him, and he described the case as "a terribly important victory for any journalist."

"I think it's going to make it easier for all the people in my profession," he said of the ruling. "Nonetheless, it's also very chilling. It's also very frightening to realize that you can write things that can put you through a process like this."

Abortion showdown in Florida's capitol

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Placards have been painted, stirring speeches rehearsed, riot police drilled and graphic photos mailed to state lawmakers for a legislative showdown on abortion. But a state Supreme Court ruling last week may have pre-empted the purpose of the session.

Legislators in other states, such as Pennsylvania, are considering abortion bills as part of their regular sessions, but Florida's four-day special session beginning Tuesday was supposed to offer a focused battleground on the emotion-charged issue.

It's the first legislative special session on abortion scheduled to open since the U.S. Supreme Court's July 3 ruling upholding Missouri laws restricting abortion.

Estimates of the number of activists coming for the session range up to 200,000, or double the population of this picturesque city where the biggest excitement usually comes at Florida State University and Florida A&M football games.

The activists are expected to pump as much as $4 million into the local economy, but as far as lawmaking, the session may be a wash.

Legislative leaders already reluctant to tackle abortion said the special session became a guaranteed waste of time and money with a Thursday decision by the Florida Supreme Court. The court — citing the state constitution's guarantee of privacy — knocked down a 1988 parental-consent law for minors seeking abortions.

"It's total chaos," said state Rep. Ben Graber, an obstetrician who performs abortions. "We're heading into a session that was already vague, and now it's blurred. Obviously, we are going to have constitutional problems with any bill."

Legislative leaders say Republican Gov. Bob Martinez, who ordered the session, should postpone it. He rejects the idea, and some say it's possible that the Legislature will come to order as required by law, then adjourn without action.

Congress scraps Communist party

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) — Delegates at a historic Communist Party congress on Saturday overwhelmingly approved a reform motion to scrap the 70-year-old party and replace it with socialist party similar to those in Western Europe.

Of the 1,202 delegates present, 1,005 voted for the motion. There were 159 votes against and 38 abstentions.

The resolution presented to the congress stated that the party's "history... has ended" and named its successor to be the Hungarian Socialist Party.

Acceptance of the document, entitled "Position on the Character of The Party," marked the first time a Soviet-bloc Communist Party dissolved itself and asked members to participate in a democratic party.

Reform Communists have for months urged the party to support their plan to start anew as Hungary prepares for its first free national elections in 41 years.

The reformers have pointed to shrinking membership — more than 70,000 party members have quit this year alone — and a series of by-election losses to newly permitted opposition parties in arguing that only a new, democratic-leftist party can compete successfully at the polls.

Marchers defend Yeltsin, others

MOSCOW (AP) — Thousands of Soviets marched in an icy drizzle to the walls of the Kremlin on Saturday in a show of support for Boris N. Yeltsin and two other parliamentarians they say are threatened by Communist Party bosses.

"Yeltsin, Gdlyan, Ivanov — they are our conscience!" read one sign supporting the parliamentarians that was carried by a protester down Gorky Street, Moscow's most fashionable shopping thoroughfare, as thick crowds looked on.

Demonstrators also opposed the monopoly on political power by the Communist Party, and sought establishment of a Western-style democracy. The protest on Constitution Day, a Soviet holiday, also demanded that civil and human rights outlined in the 1977 Soviet Constitution be scrupulously observed.

Israeli leaders consider proposal

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israeli leaders said Saturday they are considering an offer by Secretary of State James A. Baker III for three-way talks involving Israel, Egypt and the United States to try to break the deadlock in the Middle East peace process.

Leaders of Israel's two major parties said they were encouraged by the offer, but it was likely to face strong opposition from hardliners in Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir's right-wing Likud bloc.

On Friday, Israel's policy-making inner Cabinet voted to reject an Egyptian proposal for talks in Cairo on elections in the occupied West Bank and Gaza Strip.

The center-left Labor Party, the junior partner in the coalition government, supported Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak's plan. But the Likud opposed it and the Cabinet deadlocked 6-6. That meant the proposal was rejected.

In Washington, U.S. officials said Baker was trying to keep the Egyptian proposal alive. They said that after the Israeli Cabinet vote, Baker spoke by telephone with Israeli Foreign Minister Moshe Arens and Egyptian Foreign Minister Esmat Abdel-Meguid.

Arens said Baker proposed that Israel, Egypt and the United States meet for consultations on the formation of a Palestinian delegation for peace talks.

"This offer does not contain the dangers in the proposal," rejected Friday, Arens told Israel radio.

Arens, a senior Likud official, said the difference between the Baker and the Mubarak proposals was whether Israel is to "meet with a PLO delegation or a delegation of Palestinians set up with our agreement."

Fonda's daughter freed from jail

NEW YORK (AP) — Actress Jane Fonda's daughter was released Saturday from jail a day after she and her alleged heroin-carrying boyfriend were arrested outside a reputed drug den, officials said.

Vanessa Vadim, 21, was released on her own recognizance Saturday morning after a brief appearance in Manhattan Criminal Court, where she pleaded innocent to misdemeanor charges.

Her mother did not attend the hearing, but the two were reunited at a Manhattan hotel after Ms. Vadim's release, a publicist said.

"Vanessa has not been charged with possession of any illegal substance. The charges against her, basically, are for interfering with someone else's arrest," said a statement from Ms. Fonda read to The Associated Press by publicist Stephen Rivers.

"Vanessa is a good daughter, a serious student of whom I am very proud, and I stand behind her through this," Ms. Fonda said.

The daughter's attorney, Robert I. Kalina, predicted "a favorable resolution of this matter."

Ms. Vadim had attended the premiere of her mother's new film, "Old Gringo," just hours before her arrest Friday morning on charges of obstructing governmental administration, loitering for the purpose of purchasing drugs and disorderly conduct.

Police said the arrests occurred at a decrepit building officers were monitoring in a buy-and-bust operation that netted 11 other suspects Friday.

Her boyfriend, 22-year-old Thomas Feegal, was charged with criminal possession of a controlled substance — two plastic bags believed to contain heroin.

Biracial group promotes Mitchell County

By PATRICK DRISCOLL
 Herald Editor

COLORADO CITY — Citizens who want to include people from all races and areas of Mitchell County in influencing governmental decisions and attracting more industry have formed Concerned People Rebuilding Mitchell County.

After three weekly Monday meetings in a row, the group has appointed officers and five of six governing board members. The board members include two white men, two Hispanic men and one black woman.

One more member remains to be chosen. "I would like to see a black person," Vice Chairman Rick Thompson, of Colorado City, said in an interview last week.

He also said that the appointed person will probably be from Westbrook so that the board will have at least one representative from that area. There is currently one from Loraine. The other seven are from Colorado City.

"We want every concerned citizen in Mitchell County," he said. "We need everybody's help." He said an average of 35 people have attended each meeting. The next one is scheduled for 7 p.m. on Oct. 16 in the C.C. Thompson Room.

The group has tackled issues such as inquiring why McDonald's Hamburgers did not decide to locate a franchise in Colorado City, a consideration the company was making this winter.

"McDonald's tried to locate a franchise here and didn't," he said. "We're trying to find out why and correct these problems."

They have also worked on

The group has tackled issues such as inquiring why McDonald's did not decide to locate a franchise in Colorado City, a consideration the company was making this winter.

locating a building that National Foam can use as a storage facility, Thompson said. Two or three suitable-sized buildings have been found so far, he said.

In the past the company has had problems finding a building that adheres to the city fire code and city council has declined to approve variances of the fire code at meetings on Sept. 12 and Sept. 19.

In addition, the group plans to stay updated on local efforts to locate a regional state correctional facility and a regional landfill in Colorado City, Thompson said.

"We want to help any elected board in Mitchell County," he said of their intentions. "What's been so great about this is that it's been so positive," he said. "It's not a gripe group. I'm planning on not letting it (get that way)."

The group may eventually endorse political candidates and issues. "In time," Thompson said. "Once the organization is established soundly and we feel like we can go in and support a candidate or not," he said.

"If there is a candidate we want to support then the organization will decide if we want to get into that aspect," he said. Last year, Thompson was an unsuccessful candidate for city council.

One board member who expressed his opinion on the groups possible political activities, sees elections as a significant tool to motivate leadership to make changes.

"We want things to grow," Jimmy Redwine, of Colorado City, said. "I guess by miles around, we're the only town suffering like this with an interstate running through it."

"We're just not going anywhere," he said of local government leadership. "The only way any of this is going to change is at election time."

Meanwhile, he said, the group has representatives go to meetings of the city council, county commissioners, school boards and the hospital board.

They may begin attending meetings of the Chamber of Commerce and the industrial board also. "We're looking into that," said Redwine, a candidate for sheriff last year.

"This is what we'll do — send people out to these things to find out what is going on," chairperson Molly Bruce said.

"We want to specifically emphasize community awareness," she said. "We encourage our members to go to all the meetings."

Bruce, who has never held or ran for office, said the main purpose of the group was to promote Mitchell County.

"We have some excellent assets as a community," she said.

Area cotton gins win distinguished service awards

HERALD STAFF REPORT

MEMPHIS, TN — A report on cotton research and promotion from the Cotton Board shows more than a dozen gins from surrounding county operations were awarded the Distinguished Service Award 1989.

Out of a total of 1,598 gins across the Cotton Belt, 680 recently were chosen to receive the award from the Cotton Board for achieving above 80 percent grower participation in the Cotton Research and Promotion Program.

The 13 gins in the local area include three from Dawson County (Cotton King Gin, Inc.; Adcock Gin Company; United Gin Company), six from Martin County (Four Way Gin Company; Long Gin Company; Forman-Spraberry Gin, Inc.; Patricia Gin, Inc.; Three League Gin Co.; Lenorah Gin Company), and four from Mitchell County (Colorado City Gin, Co.; Independent Gin Company; Producers Coop Gin Company; and Westbrook Gin).

The Cotton Research and Promotion Program is a commodity self-help program, administered by the Cotton Board, conducted by Cotton Incorporated and funded by U.S. Upland cotton producers through per-bale assessments, reads a press release from the Cotton Board. "With their outstanding support, these gins, and the growers they serve, have done a tremendous service for the cotton industry," said Jim Hansen, a Corcoran, CA, cotton producer currently serving as Chairman of the Cotton Board.

"Today we have an innovative and aggressive cotton industry," says Hansen. "Net domestic consumption is up from 6.7 million bales in 1975 to 11 million bales in 1988, an increase of 64 percent. Cotton's market share at the retail counter rose to 49 percent in 1988, up from 34 percent in 1975," Hansen said.

2 more nabbed in Stanton drug bust

By PATRICK DRISCOLL

STANTON — Two more suspects were arrested Friday on charges of selling illegal drugs, bringing the total to eleven people arrested since Thursday in the county's biggest drug bust in history, reported Sheriff Dan Saunders.

So far a total of 13 indictments have been served out of 14 handed down by a specially called county grand jury Sept. 13.

The arrests were made following a six-month investigation conducted jointly by the Permian Drug Task Force and the Stanton Police Department.

Only one more suspect remains at large. "We've been unable to locate him," Chief of Police Michael Adams said of the man who is charged with selling marijuana.

"I figure he got word and he's laying low for a while." However, Adams did express confidence that he would show up. "I think he will," he said.

Arrested yesterday were Jeffrey Young, 24-years-old, and Cruz Aguirre, 20, Saunders said. Both are charged with selling marijuana to undercover officers with the task force.

Adams said Young was arrested when he unwittingly walked into the county courthouse on other business, not knowing he was wanted. Aguirre turned himself in at about 10 p.m., he said.

They were both still in jail yesterday with bonds set at $25,000 apiece, Saunders said.

Still in jail with $50,000 bonds each on charges of the sale of heroin, are Sammy Hernandez, 37, and Tony Hinojas, 29. Hernandez also faces an indictment in Midland for the sale of cocaine.

Also still in jail under $25,000 bonds on charges of sale of marijuana are Randall Williams, 19, and Pedro Vasquez, 19. Vasquez is charged with two counts.

Released on $25,000 bonds on charges of the sale of marijuana were Dennis Sawyer, 22, and Kerry Holcombe, 27.

Released on $2,500 bonds each on charges of being an accomplice to the sale of marijuana were Glee Holcombe, 28, and Joe Cantu, 21.

A juvenile was one of those arrested. He is charged with the sale of cocaine.

Adams, who had contacted the task force six months ago, said that more indictments are expected to follow based on the information gathered during the investigation.

"There has never been an operation of this type completed with such success in the history of Stanton," he said.

Keeping the exes happy

By STEVE REAGAN
Staff Writer

Homecoming week can be an exciting and fun-filled time for about everyone — with the possible exception of football coaches.

Garden City mentor Sam Scott is no exception. Although he is not one to rant and rave — at least in public — Scott is direct and to the point when it comes to his opinion of homecoming games.

Beyond the realm

After the Bearkats downed Roscoe, 28-7, in G-City's homecoming Friday, Scott was not entirely pleased with his team's performance. The culprit? At least in part, Scott blamed homecoming activities.

"I think they did the same thing they've done for the last three years on homecoming: They didn't play very well. . . There were too many distractions."

I'm sure if a poll were taken that most coaches would agree with Scott's assessment. Homecoming, and all its attendant activities, is not conducive to single-minded preparation on the part of the football team.

But, then again, homecoming — like death and taxes — is an inevitability that even the most successful coach is forced to endure.

There's not too many solutions to the problem of how to deal with homecoming distractions, but one of the most tried and true is to find a weak opponent for the game.

The Roscoe Plowboys were not patsies Friday, not by any stretch of the imagination. But, neither were they the strongest opponent Garden City will face this year.

The Bearkats are not the only culprits of this tactic. Maybe it was a coincidence (the author says with tongue planted firmly in cheek), but the Big Spring Steers' opponent on homecoming night last year was none other than the lower division Pecos Eagles.

Don't get me wrong. I'm not saying there is anything wrong with scheduling weaker teams for homecoming. All one has to do is look at the college ranks to find the same practice.

Do you think Oklahoma, for example, is going to pick Nebraska or Colorado as its homecoming opponents? No way, Felix. More than likely, the Sooner exes will get to enjoy their team playing the likes of Kansas State or other such lesser squads.

In short, a fact of football life is that teams try to schedule weaker opponents for homecoming, so as to increase the odds for victory.

But what do you do when your team is one of those patsies? Who do they play on homecoming?

As a Big Spring High School student during the early 1970s, I remember clearly the dark days of the Steers' program — when they were fortunate to win two or more games in a season.

Believe me, Big Spring played in a lot of homecoming games during that time.

It seemed like every district opponent scheduled the Steers for homecoming. Oh, well, if nothing else, at least Big Spring players during that time can say they always played before large crowds.

But, when it came time for BSHS' homecoming, do you think the Steers were able to find any patsies to play? Are you kidding? During that era, there were no patsies in the Steers' district.

If memory serves, it seems Big Spring played Midland Lee one year for homecoming. Midland Lee — now there's a pushover if I ever saw one.

Thankfully, however, those days are gone.

Steers deck Loboes, 28-16

By STEVE BELVIN
Sports Editor

BIG SPRING — The Big Spring Steers erupted for 21 second-half points and defeated the Monahans Loboes 28-16 in the district opener for both teams Friday night at Memorial Stadium.

It was an especially sweet win for the Steers, who beat the Loboes for the first time in three years. The last time Big Spring beat Monahans — 28-27 in 1986 — Big Spring went to the playoffs.

Clearly, the tale of this game was Big Spring's domination in the second half, especially the third quarter. The Steers trailed 10-7 at the half as the Monahans defense yielded only 84 first half yards.

But Big Spring's defense, and the quick feet of wingback Neal Mayfield, turned the tide of the game in the second half.

The Big Spring defense, led by tackle Pat Wilbert, middle linebacker Phillip Saiz, outside linebacker Kevin Rodgers and safety Pat Chavarria, allowed Monahans only 62 yards rushing, 150 below its average.

Monahans had the ball only six plays the whole third quarter, while Big Spring put together a scoring drive that ate up five minutes of the clock.

The Steers marched 81 yards in 11 plays. Mayfield was the workhorse, gaining 42 of the yards with his rushing and receptions. Mayfield broke a run for 28 yards, and tailback Otis Riffey added a few five and six yard runs.

Jermaine Miller capped the drive with a 2-yard dive. Jason Davis added one of his four extra points, and the Steers were in the lead for good, 14-10.

Big Spring coach David Thompson had nothing but praise for his defense. "Our defense shut them down," he said. "They had to throw the ball. After they scored right before the half, I went into the dressing room and I felt like there was no way they were going to beat us." If the Steers' defense was already heated up, the offense was just starting to cook, as it marched for 14 more unanswered points.

Defensive tackle Charles LeGrand and Rodgers sacked Monahans quarterback Steve Ward, forcing the Loboes to punt. Big Spring could not move the ball and had to punt.

Next Wilbert forced the only lost fumble of the game when he stripped the ball away from Monahans fullback Shad Hanna. Saiz recovered at the Monahans 25.

From there, it took Big Spring three plays to reach paydirt. Quarterback Rance Thompson lost three yards on the option play, then hit wingback Chavarria for 18 yards to the Monahans 10. Mayfield waltzed in on the next play. Davis' kick gave Big Spring a 21-10 lead with 10:25 left in the contest.

Monahans could not move the ball and Nile Martinez got off a 65-yard punt to the Big Spring 30. A holding penalty moved the ball back to the Steers 20.

Martinez, who also booted a 45-yard field goal in the first quarter, was a big weapon for the Loboes. He averaged 49 yards on four punts.

With its offensive line dominating things, the Steers launched their final scoring drive of the night, marching 80 yards in seven plays.

Mayfield carried for runs of 12 and 43 yards, putting Big Spring on the Monahans 25. Then it was Rifey's turn to kick. Steers page 3-B

Big Spring netters clinch playoff berth

For the first time in anyone's memory, the Big Spring High School tennis team is headed to postseason play in team tennis.

Big Spring made sure of that by blasting Fort Stockton in team tennis play here Saturday 12-6. The win gives Big Spring a 5-0 record in team tennis play with two matches left.

Big Spring has a playoff berth. San Angelo Lake View is the other team assured of a regional playoff berth. Lake View is also 5-0 in team tennis play this season.

The two 4-4A heavyweights will meet Tuesday at Figure Seven Tennis Center at 4 p.m. Big Spring concludes regular season play Saturday when it travels to Pecos. Regional play is scheduled Oct. 27-28 in Lubbock.

"The kids played great," said first-year Big Spring coach Don Lawrence. "Fort Stockton is a real solid team and everyone of our kids responded to a tough challenge."

As usual, the Big Spring boys swept their opponent 9-0. Fort Stockton outpointed the girls 6-3.

GARDEN CITY — Although they sputtered and backfired on occasion Friday night, in the end, the Garden City Bearkats had more than enough horsepower for the job.

Unlike their defeat to Stanton last week — in which the 'Kats suffered a second-half collapse — Garden City relied on fourth-quarter firepower to down the Roscoe Plowboys, 28-7, on Tailback James Soles again provided yeoman duty for the Bearkats, gaining 181 yards on 20 carries and scoring two touchdowns. The last TD, a 38-yard scamper with 4:19 left in the game, finally nailed the lid shut on the pesky Plowboys.

Garden City, now 4-1 this season, clearly dominated all aspects of the game, but proved to be its own worst enemy on occasion. The contest would have been even more lopsided had it not been for a G-City page 2-B

Turnovers kill Coahoma Bulldogs

OZONA — The Ozona Lions took advantage of six Coahoma Bulldog turnovers and came away with a 21-6 win Friday night in non-district play.

The loss drops Coahoma to 2-3 for the season. The Bulldogs begin District 7-3A play Friday by hosting the Clyde Bulldogs. Ozona goes to 4-1 for the season.

Coahoma dominated the game in the stats, outgaining Ozona 224-134 in total yards. But the telling element was four Coahoma fumbles and two pass interceptions. Ozona didn't have to go over 30 yards in either of its scoring drives.

The other Ozona TD came on a fluke play. An Ozona player took the third quarter kickoff and was hit going down the side line. He fumbled, and in the mad scramble for the ball, teammate Ruben Borrego picked up the loose ball and finished off a 80-yard return for a touchdown. That gave Ozona a 14-0 lead.

Coahoma coach Steve Park said the touchdown should have never been. "It was one of those funny plays. He fumbled and we were trying to get on it; but couldn't. The other kid (Borrego) was out-of-bounds. He came back in, picked it up and ran it in. The referees never saw him go out of bounds."

Coahoma scored its only TD of the game late in the quarter. Halfback Carlos Cervantes scored on a three-yard dive. The try for two failed.

Ozona's last TD in the fourth quarter came on a 30-yard pass from Matt Denman to Lonnie Martinez. It came following a Coahoma turnover.

The Lions only had to drive 20 yards. Denman scored from the three.

"We just didn't hang on to the ball," said Park. "We dropped too many passes; we dropped one that would have been a touchdown. We moved the ball well, we just mis-fired."

Coahoma also suffered some injury woes against the Lions. Fullback Thomas Hoggard, who led all rushers with 95 yards in 11 carries, didn't play the fourth quarter because of injured tendons in his ankle.

Quarterback Shane Walker has a sprained ankle, and cornerback Mike Mendez has a pulled groin.

Stanton overpowers Forsan

FORSAN — The Stanton Buffalos stamped into Forsan Buffalos territory to face the other Buffalos in a non-district action here Friday night. The visiting Buffalos proved size and depth is everything in Crossroads Country football as they routed the feisty Forsan bunch 29-6.

Senior quarterback Randy Nevarez zig-zagged his way for 158 yards on 16 carries to lead all rushing, scoring two touchdowns and frustrating the Forsan defense.

"He (Nevarez) is a good running quarterback, when we thought we had him trapped he would somehow escape. Our containment broke down and he busted loose," said Forsan defensive back Stephen East.

The visiting team received the opening kickoff at their own 33-yard line and marched down the field for 33 yards. On fourth-and-four, Stanton went for the first down. Paul Bailey and East were there to cover the Buffalo receivers well as the ball went incomplete, and the home team took over from their 34-yard line.

The Buff defense was ready for the Forsan offensive machine as they stopped Richard Griffen and Charley Newton and forced the Buffalos to punt.

Stanton started another scoring assault from their own 30-yard line, with John Paul Barry and Jesse Montez as the work horses. Forsan's Bailey had another idea however. He picked a Nevarez pass off at the 26-yard line of Stanton, but unable to move the ball, the visiting Buffalos took over at their own 27-yard line.

Both teams settled down and began to play good defense ending the first quarter. With 9:41 left in the second quarter, Stanton started to mount a drive as Gary Don Thompson popped open for 24 yards and the Buffs compiled five first downs covering 80 yards and chewing up six minutes.

Barry crossed the goal line from the 6 giving Stanton the opening lead with 3:46 left before intermission at 6-0 with the PAT going wide.

The home team received the second half kickoff but their offense sputtered again due to defensive plays by Stanton's Richard Villa and Brian Cain. Stanton took over near midfield with 8:49 left in the third.

From there Nevarez and Co. took the ball to the 6-yard line and Barry carried from there with 6:33 left. Nevarez passed to Thompson for the two-point conversion and the Buffalos led Forsan 14-0.

Stanton stopped the Forsan bunch again on fourth down and took over at Forsan 37-yard line. From there Nevarez scrambled for 31 yards on first down. On second and six from the 6, Nevarez scored with 3:13 left in the third quarter with the extra point going wide, giving Stanton a 20-0 lead.

With three minutes left in the third quarter, Forsan began at their own 21-yard line. Two fine passes from East to Charley Newton covered 45 yards and the Buffs appeared to be going for its first score of the night. Stanton's David Mendez intercepted an East pass stopping any Forsan threat. Two plays later, Nevarez moved left, and then right, and then back to the left losing the last Forsan defender, and scoring his second touchdown of the night. The PAT was good by Tony Moses and the Stanton squad led 27-0 with 1:16 left.

With the third quarter coming to a close, the Stanton defense tackled East in the end zone after the ball was snapped above his head. The safety moved the score 29-0.

Forsan's only bright spot came late in the fourth quarter when they began a drive from their own 20-yard line after a missed field goal attempt. Griffin broke for 17-yards and two plays later, Newton broke free for another 17 yards.

East found Joey Henkel in traffic as Henkel fought off the Stanton defenders moving the ball all the way to the visitors 10-yard line. East quickly found Newton in the end zone putting points on the scoreboard. The point after was no good as Forsan cut the Stanton lead at 29-6.

Klondike wins catfight

WELLMAN — The Klondike Cougars overcame a 20-12 deficit to beat the Wellman Wildcats 30-20 here Friday night in non-district six-man football action.

Trailing 20-12 late in the third quarter, and 20-18 midway through the fourth quarter, the Cougars rallied for two fourth quarter TDs to preserve the victory.

After a scoreless first quarter, Wellman scored first in the second quarter on a 57-yard run by Manuel Franco. The extra point failed. Wellman scored again on a 43-yard pass from Mike Moya to Al Competio.

Klondike rallied in the period. Quarterback Corbett Foster scored from seven yards out, and Foster passed 12-yards to Ramiro Serrato for the other score. Both PAT's failed, leaving Klondike trailing 13-12 at the half.

Wellman took a 20-12 lead in the

The Cougs put the icing on the cake with 20 seconds left in the game. Brandi O'Brien scored from the one.

Cranes get past Wolves

CRANE — The Colorado City Wolves continued to struggle offensively as they dropped a 15-6 decision to the Crane Golden Cranes 15-6 here Friday night.

Colorado City managed to score just before the game ended. Fullback Tracy Edwards scored from the four. The TD snapped a string of 10 scoreless quarters by the C-City offense.

Really C-City was in position to win the game. Trailing 8-0 midway through the fourth quarter, C-City drove to the Crane nine. But C-City quarterback George Ramsey's pass was intercepted by Michael Lake View receiver Joe Barquera had a big night, catching five passes for 170 yards, including TD's of 39 and 79 yards.

Sweetwater 26

Fort Stockton 0

FORT STOCKTON — Robert Williams scored on runs of 6, 12 and 4 yards to boost the Sweetwater Mustangs to a dominating 26-0 win over the Fort Stockton Panthers in the district opener for both teams.

Fort Stockton managed only five first downs and 110 yards total offense against the stingy Sweetwater defense.

Sweetwater's other score was a 12 yard pass from Gregg Ruffin to David Hall.

Sweetwater is 3-1 overall and Fort Stockton falls to 0-4.

But C-City quarterback George Ramsey's pass was intercepted by Michael Fincher, and returned it 93 yards for a touchdown.

C-City promptly came back and launched a 80-yard scoring drive, with Edwards gaining most of the yardage. A 12-yard pass from Ramsey to Wendell Iglehart was another big play in the drive.

Crane's first score of the game following a interception. Ricky Flores scored on a five-yard run.

Both teams are 2-3 for the season. Colorado City begins district play on the road Friday against Merkel.

ACKERLY — Sands Mustangs running back Eric Herm (34) runs for yardage as Wilson Mustang players Danny Mendez (33) and Cody Means (20) try to make the tackle during first half action Friday night.

Sands stomps Wilson

ACKERLY — The Sands Mustangs had a happy homecoming as they soundly trounced the Wilson Mustangs 47-0 in non-district six-man play Friday night.

Sands barely kept the game going so that Paige Gullatt could be crowned queen at homecoming. The game was called with 5:18 left in the third quarter because of the 45-point rule.

The Sands defense totally dominated the game, limiting Wilson to only 75 total yards.

The defense was led by Eric Herm, Bill Grigg, Jay Johnston, Albert Franco, Charles Rhodes and John

G-City

not been for three 'Kat turnovers inside the Roscoe 10-yard line.

For their part, the Plowboys also made their share of mistakes, committing three turnovers of their own on the way to falling to 1-4 for the season.

After the game, G-City coach Sam Scott said homecoming week activities may have turned his players' attention away from the task at hand.

"I think they did the same thing they've done the last three years at homecoming. They didn't play very well," Scott said of his team's performance. "There were just too many distractions."

"The effort was there; the kids played hard. They just made too many mistakes," he said. "They can't make those kind of mistakes against good ball clubs down the road."

Mistakes aside, however, Scott said he was pleased with the progress his young team has made so far this season.

"I'm very happy with the young men we have," Scott said. "We only have two starters back on offense. They're coming along. We're a long way from peaking, and that's good."

The Bearkats misfired on their opening possession. Starting from its own 34, G-City put together an impressive 10-play drive behind the running of Soles and fullback Eric Seidenberger.

But, on first-and-goal from the Roscoe eight, Soles lost control of the ball, which was recovered by Roscoe's Kyle Hunter.

The Plowboys' reprieve, however was a short one, as Seidenberger stepped in front of a Chas McGlothlin pass, giving Garden City possession at the Roscoe 9.

From there, it took the 'Kats a mere three plays to score, with Soles doing the honors from a yard out. Jody Bradford's PAT kick gave the hosts an early 7-0 lead.

Garden City again struck quickly the next time it had the ball. Quarterback Allen Hoelscher hit Chad Soles twice on passes, first for 17 yards and a first down, then for a 56-yard touchdown on the next play.

The Bearkat defense again held the Plowboys, and again G-City's offense mounted an impressive drive. Beginning at their own 8-yard line, the Bearkats marched 90 yards in seven plays, only to have the drive halted when Hoelscher's pass to Jim Pearce was picked off at the Roscoe 7.

In the second half, the Bearkats picked up where they left off, marching to the Roscoe 11 in ten plays. However, disaster again struck when Chad Soles fumbled the ball away and Roscoe's Francisco Chavira recovered.

The Bearkats were thwarted for the remainder of the quarter until the turnover bug hit Roscoe in the form of a Juan Abrigo fumble on the Plowboys' 27. Three plays later, Hoelscher connected with Pearce on a 4-yard scoring toss at the start of the final quarter.

After the Plowboys registered their only score on the ensuing drive, the Bearkats again went to work. They marched 68 yards in five plays, the capper coming with James Soles' 38-yard scamper through the left side of the Roscoe defense.

The Bearkats will get a much-needed week off before beginning District 8-A action against the Irion County Hornets. Scott said he is satisfied with his team's performance heading into league play.

"I feel good about the team," he said. "We've got to improve in a lot of areas, but we're lot better in some areas than I thought we would be."

Gorillas chew on Grady Wildcats

LENORAH — The Trent Gorillas got a strong rushing performance from Mike Payne, and bottled up an explosive Grady offense as they whipped the Wildcats 71-26 in non-district six-man football action here Friday night.

The game was called with 6:22 left in the contest, because of the 45-point rule. The loss drops Grady to 2-3, while Trent advances with a 4-1 mark.

The Gorilla defense limited Grady to just 49 yards on the ground. Meanwhile Payne spearheaded Trent's 302 yard rushing attack. Payne carried 16 times for 174 yards and scored three touchdowns.

"They've (Trent) got one of the best blocking teams I've seen since I've been here," said second-year Grady coach Lenardo Gonzales. "They were excellent; and their defense speaks for itself."

Grady scored its first points in the second quarter. Lynn Garza passed seven yards to Danny Valle for the score. Grady scored just Grady will begin District 6-A, six-man play Friday when it travels to Ackerly to battle the Sands Mustangs.

Soccer time

BIG SPRING — Steven Lattimore 4, (front left) chases the ball during soccer action in the under-six division at the soccer field located at old Webb Air Force Base Saturday. Saturday was the opening day of youth soccer action in the city.

A's one win from World Series

TORONTO (AP) — This time, Rickey didn't need to run.

Rickey Henderson trotted around the bases, instead of stealing them, with a pair of two-run homers as the Oakland Athletics ended Toronto's home hex and held off the Blue Jays 6-5 Saturday for a 3-1 lead in the American League playoffs.

"It's great to show I can do something else besides run," Henderson said. "But as one man, I don't think I can go out there and win a game by myself."

Instead, it seems like he's won all three for the Athletics and put them one victory away from the World Series for the second straight season.

"I guess Rickey beat us today with his bat instead of his legs," Toronto manager Cito Gaston said.

Henderson made the most noise with his soft steps and Jose Canseco helped, too. He hit the longest home run in the short history of the SkyDome and added a run-scoring single. Canseco's homer was estimated at 480 feet, although many thought that guess was low.

"I think about 600, really," Henderson said. "Everybody on the bench got up to see how far it would go."

"You could cut it up and get a lot of line drives," Gaston said.

The Blue Jays lost for the first time in 12 games with the retractable roof shut. The defeat ended a seven-game winning streak for dome teams at home.

"We have a lot of ways to win a game and we're showing that," Oakland manager Tony La Russa said.

The Athletics led 6-2 in the seventh before Toronto rallied. The Blue Jays got a runner on base in every inning and didn't give up until Dennis Eckersley retired pinch-hitter Lee Mazzilli on a pop up with a man on first to end the game.

TORONTO — Oakland A's reliever Dennis Eckersley lets out a yell in the bottom of the ninth inning as the A's beat the Toronto Blue Jays 6-5 Saturday.

Eckersley and everyone else remembered the last time he was in a similar situation in a big game. That time, Kirk Gibson homered into history.

"I didn't think about that. You don't dwell on negative things. That's why you just want to get back out there and do it," said Eckersley, who got his second save of the series and sixth in league championship play, breaking the mark of five held by Tug McGraw.

Canseco also is making a strong comeback. He finished the World Series in an 0-for-18 rut and went hitless in the first six at-bats of this series. But he got two hits in Game 3 and came back with two more Saturday, including his behemoth blast.

"When I got back to the dugout, Rickey looked at me like I was some kind of robot," Canseco said.

The roof will be closed Sunday when Oakland tries to close out the playoffs. Dave Stewart, a 20-game winner for three consecutive years, will face Toronto's Dave Stieb in a rematch of Game 1, which the Athletics won 7-3.

Of the 37 teams that took a 3-1 lead in the World Series and playoffs, 30 went on to win.

Henderson, booed in pregame introductions and jeered after he fled out to open the game, quieted the 50,076 fans with a loud two-run shot in the third off loser Mike Flanagan. Henderson watched his 430-foot drive sail into the center field stands and clutched his fists, covered by neon-green batting gloves.

Two batters later, Canseco hit his monstrous drive.

After Toronto nicked winner Bob Welch for a run in the fourth, Henderson took another easy trip around the bases. He homered into the netting off the left field foul pole for his first two-homer game since April 24, 1987, to another chorus of catcalls.

That homer gave Oakland a 5-1 lead in the game and a 7-1 home-run advantage in the series. Toronto out-homered the Athletics 142-127 during the regular season.

Henderson, who has averaged 12 homers and 80 steals in his 11-year career, is 5-for-12 in the series and has reached base in 12 of 19 plate appearances, including six walks and a hit-by-pitch. He did not steal a base for the first time, leaving his total at a postseason record-tying seven, yet lived up to his billing as Canada's most unpopular sprinter since Ben Johnson.

Henderson's style of play has rubbed opposition players and fans wrong, and they got some satisfaction when Henderson dropped a fly ball in the fifth for an error and was picked off by reliever John Cerutti after walking in the ninth. Those mistakes, however, did not help the Blue Jays.

"I thought the fans were OK," Henderson said. "They were a little obnoxious at first, but it got better. They were laughing at me once when I was trying to throw a paper airplane over the fence and it kept coming back and I also laughed."

Walt Weiss stole a base, giving the Athletics a playoff record 12. Toronto stole three times, and the teams have combined for a playoff record 20, with Canseco being the only runner caught.

Welch, one of the decade's biggest winners but one of the worst in postseason play, got the victory by allowing two runs in 5 2-3 innings.

Thompson leads Giants

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Chicago and San Francisco did just about everything wrong Saturday night until Robby Thompson made it all right for the Giants.

Thompson hit a two-run homer off Les Lancaster with one out in the seventh inning to give the Giants a 5-4 victory Saturday night and a 2-1 lead in the best-of-7 National League playoffs.

There were wild pitches, balks, errors, and missed opportunities all over the place for most of the game. Even the umpires missed a few.

Paul Assenmacher started the seventh for the Cubs, leading 4-3, and Brett Butler singled with with out. Les Lancaster relieved and Thompson, who homered in Game 2, followed with a drive over the left-field fence. Thompson was 34-for-96 during the season with a runner on first.

Butler and Thompson combined for four hits and four runs. During the regular season, the Giants hit five home runs in 12 games against Chicago. They have seven in the first three playoff games.

Don Robinson, who could not start Game 3 because of a bad knee, pitched 1 2-3 innings for the victory and Steve Bedrosian got the save.

Game 4 of the series is scheduled for Sunday (8:20 p.m. EDT) with Chicago's Greg Maddux pitching against Scott Garrelts. Maddux lost Game 1 to Garrelts in Chicago, allowing eight runs in four innings.

Before Thompson's heroics, Ryne Sandberg gave the Cubs a 4-3 lead with a sacrifice fly in the top of the seventh.

Starter Rick Sutcliffe, a .191 lifetime hitter, led off with a double to right-center. Jerome Walton, attempting to bunt, lined out to a diving Will Clark at first. While lying on the grass, Clark threw to second but shortstop Jose Uribe failed to make the play and Sutcliffe moved to third.

Sutcliffe hurt his leg running to third and Maddux pinch ran before Sandberg lifted a sacrifice to center.

The Cubs took a 2-0 lead in the first on Andre Dawson's two-run single, but the Giants came right back with three runs in the bottom of the inning against Sutcliffe despite getting only one ball out of the infield.

Chicago tied it 3-3 in the fourth, but missed a chance to blow the game open.

Lady Steers down Monahans

MONAHANS — The Big Spring Lady Steers got back on the winning track as they defeated the Monahans Lobos 9-15, 16-14, 15-7 in District 14A volleyball action Saturday afternoon.

The Big Spring's record to date in league play and 11-14 overall. "We were slow in getting started; we just couldn't get our hits down," said Lady Steers coach Lois Ann McKenzie. "And just like they did last time, Monahans was playing good defense. But in the second game we got it going."

Cassie Underwood served seven points for Big Spring in the first game and Marta Mathews served five points in the third game.

In JV play, Monahans won 14-16, 15-12, 12-15. The JV Lady Steers fall to 9-12 overall and 2-5 in league play. In freshmen action Big Spring won 15-8, 15-10, upping its record to 8-3.

Big Spring will host San Angelo Lake View Tuesday at Steer Gym.

Steers

fey's turn. The senior tailback went seven yards, and got the final 18 on the next carry. The Steers led 28-10 with 7:52 left.

Mayfield and Riffey both had banner nights. Mayfield finished with 132 yards in 11 carries, not to mention four receptions for 67 yards. Riffey had his best game of the season, finishing with 91 yards in 20 carries.

"The offensive line did a great job," said coach Thompson. "The whole offense really got with it in the second half. Mayfield had a heck of a game. We ran some Straight-T tonight to get him more involved."

Monahans scored with 5:51 left in the game. On a fourth down play, Ward passed 10 yards to Sal Sanchez. Chavarria ended another Monahans threat late in the game when he picked off a pass at the Big Spring three.

Monahans scored on its first possession of the game when Martinez booted his 45-yard field against a strong cross wind.

Early in the second quarter Big Spring took the lead by going 56 yards in seven plays. It was Mayfield's drive — he accounted for all but one of the yards. He caught passes for 16 and 39 yards and finished it up by taking a pitch from Thompson on the option and scoring from four yards out.

Big Spring made a gallant goal line stand late in the second quarter, holding Monahans four times from the eight. With Monahans at the three, Rodgers broke up a pass in the end zone on fourth down.

But Big Spring couldn't move. Mayfield shanked a 14-yard punt and Monahans only had 15 yards to drive.

The Lobos scored in two plays. Hanna passed 10 yards to Jody Carrasco on a fullback pass and the Lobos went in leading 10-7 at the half.

Thompson said the key to the win was Big Spring's physical play. "It was one of those deals when we physically whipped them," he said. "I'm tickled to death about it. If we can play like we did tonight the rest of the season, we'll be all right."

Big Spring, now 2-2 for the season, will travel to Sweetwater Friday to play the Mustangs. Monahans, also 2-2, will host San Angelo Lake View.

Crimson Tide rolls

By The Associated Press
Alabama scored 62 straight points after trailing 21-0, and Gary Hollingsworth threw a school-record five touchdown passes in a 62-27 victory over Mississippi on Saturday.

Mississippi led by three touchdowns during the first seven minutes, taking advantage of a blocked punt and an interception, but Alabama stormed back with the help of five Mississippi turnovers.

The Crimson Tide scored 34 points in the second quarter alone. Hollingsworth hit 25 of 43 passes for 363 yards, third-best total ever for Alabama (4-0).

Hollingsworth had scoring passes of 25 yards to Kevin Turner and 16 to Marco Battle in the first quarter, and 35 yards to Craig Sanderson and 15 to Battle in the each as Nebraska romped over Kansas State, which ended a record 30-game winless streak one week ago against North Texas State.

Nebraska (5-0) had touchdown passes from three quarterbacks and 723 yards total offense, fifth best in school history.

No. 5 Michigan 24, Wisconsin 24
Wisconsin held Michigan's offense scoreless in the first half, but the Wolverines got touchdowns on their first two second-half possessions in the Big Ten opener for both teams. Michigan (3-1) got its only first-half points on Lance Dottin's 22-yard pass interception return.

In the second half, Elvis Grbac threw 5 yards to Derrick Walker for a third-quarter score, and Tony Boles ran 46 yards for another.

No. 8 Pittsburgh 27, Temple 3
Alex Van Pelt threw for 181 yards and three touchdowns, and Pittsburgh took advantage of six turnovers to make Temple 0-6. Van Pelt threw touchdown passes to Henry Tuten and Reggie Williams in the first half, and a fourth-down scoring pass to Tom Huebner with 5:27 left.

Pitt (4-0-1) had three interceptions, two by Robert Bradley, and three fumble recoveries.

Virginia Tech 12, No. 9 W. Virginia 10
Mickey Thomas kicked four field goals for Virginia Tech, which held Major Harris to 101 yards passing as West Virginia lost its first regular-season game since 1987.

A 14-yard pass from Harris to Charlie Fedorco gave West Virginia (4-1-1) a 10-9 lead in the third quarter, but Thomas kicked his fourth field goal, a 24-yarder, three minutes later for the winning score.

No. 9 Southern Cal 24, Washington 16
Todd Marinovich threw for one touchdown and ran for another to rally Southern Cal (4-1). Leading 17-16, the Trojans got the Huskies away with a 69-yard drive in the final minutes. Ricky Ervins scored on a 1-yard run with six seconds remaining.

No. 11 Auburn 24, Kentucky 12
Reggie Slack passed for two first-quarter touchdowns, giving Auburn (3-1) a lead it never relinquished in the Southeastern Conference. Kentucky blew three opportunities inside the Tigers' 30 and now has lost 11 in a row to Auburn.

No. 14 N. Carolina State 35, Middle Tenn. 14
Greg Manior rushed for two touchdowns, and Shane Montgomery passed for 177 yards and another score as North Carolina State shook off a cold start.

The Wolfpack (6-0) led only 7-0 until Tyrone Jackson scored from 1 yard out with 9:27 left in the first half. Montgomery had been intercepted twice before that 48-yard drive, helped by a pass interference call at the Middle Tennessee 2.

No. 15 Clemson 34, Virginia 20
Chris Morocco threw for two touchdowns and ran for a third as Clemson extended the longest active winning streak by one Division I-A team over another to 29 games.

Clemson (5-1) led 17-10 at the half of the Atlantic Coast Conference game, but Virginia tied it on its first play of the third period when Matt Blundin threw a 75-yard pass play to Herman Moore. The Tigers answered with an 80-yard drive in which they converted six third downs. Morocco capped it with a 9-yard run.

No. 16 Oklahoma 37, Oklahoma St. 15
Mike Gaddis ran for 274 yards and three touchdowns, leading Oklahoma (4-1) over Oklahoma State in a meeting of Big Eight teams on NCAA probation.

Gaddis carried 29 times and scored on runs of 24, 80 and 4 yards. It was the third-best rushing day in school history, 20 yards behind the record of Greg Pruitt.

No. 18 Illinois 34, Ohio State 14
Howard Griffith ran for two touchdowns, and wide receiver Steve Williams fired a surprise scoring pass to Mike Bellamy as Illinois beat Ohio State.

Williams' 34-yard TD bomb to Bellamy in the third quarter stunned the Buckeyes, who trailed by just three points at the time. Williams took a handoff from Griffith on a reverse and, running to his left, threw the ball into the end zone.

No. 22 Florida St. 41, No. 17 Syracuse 10
Terrell Buckley returned a punt 69 yards for a touchdown, and LeRoy Butler scored on an 87-yard interception return three minutes later as Florida State ended Syracuse's 16-game home winning streak.

The Seminoles (3-2) also handed Syracuse (2-2) its worse Carrier Dome loss since the Orangemen were beaten 26-3 by Maryland in 1982.

No. 20 Air Force 35, Navy 7
Three key passes from Dee Dowis to Steve Senn, two of them for touchdowns, ignited Air Force (6-0). Navy trailed by a touchdown when Senn got behind two defenders and caught a 27-yard TD pass from Dowis with 51 seconds left in the half.

Dowis came into the game the nation's leading rusher, averaging 145.8 yards, but was held to 74 yards on nine carries.

Texas Tech gigs Aggies

LUBBOCK (AP) — Mrs. Price might have named her son Travis, but his teammates call him Mr. Sure Hands.

With 50 seconds remaining in the game, Jamie Gill threw a 35-yard touchdown pass to Price, who was two steps ahead of his defender in the end zone. The touchdown and point-after gave Texas Tech a 27-24 upset over the 19th-ranked Aggies, who led 24-14 with six minutes left.

SWC

It was Tech's first lead in the game and Price's second touchdown catch in the quarter.

"What a great catch," Gill marveled. "I just had to throw the ball. Travis is Mr. Sure Hands."

The touchdown set off a frenzy among the 50,743 football fans in the stands, the largest Jones Stadium crowd since the A&M game in 1983.

"I just barely caught it," Price said. "They weren't set. They weren't lined up and didn't know our formation. I was just able to catch it."

A&M coach R.C. Slocum implied his defense wasn't lined up because it didn't have enough time.

"Last play, they had a time out, and usually you have a chance to get your guys back out on the field before the official will let the other team snap the ball," he said. "Our guys didn't get back out there. But the loss can't be attributed to that last play. It was a good throw and catch by that young man."

The Aggies dropped to 3-2 overall and 1-1 in the Southwest Conference. Tech improved to 4-1 overall and 1-1 in the conference.

The Red Raiders trailed 24-14 when Price caught a 22-yard touchdown pass from Gill with 5:44 to play. A 2-point conversion pass failed, and Tech trailed 24-20.

Tech held A&M on its next possession, and when Sean Wilson's high punt traveled only 7 yards, the Red Raiders took over on their own 28 — instead of deep in their own territory — with 3:32 left.

Gill, who had been sacked twice in a row by linebacker William Thomas, ended the drive when he tossed Price, who was about two steps ahead of defensive back Derrick Richey, in the left end zone. It marked the first time Tech led in the game.

Darren Lewis rushed for 81 yards and three touchdowns for A&M (3-2 and 1-1 in the Southwest Conference).

Gill finished with 19 completions on 30 attempts for 237 yards and three touchdowns without an interception. A&M's Lance Pavlas completed 18 of 28 with two interceptions and no touchdowns.

The game was marred by a third-quarter brawl in which a nonexistent Aggies player was ejected. The fight began after Aggies linebacker Anthony Williams tackled James Gray near the Tech bench area. There were no serious punches thrown, but referees ejected Aggies player No. 36.

The Aggies, however, have no 36, and no real players wound up being thrown out.

Punting mistakes accounted for two other touchdowns, one for each team. One was a blocked punt inside Tech territory that set up A&M's second touchdown, and the other was a fumbled punt return that set up Tech's second touchdown.

The Aggies started out with a steady, impressive drive, using eight minutes, 36 seconds to reach the end zone in 20 plays. Lewis ran in untouched from the 1-yard line to cap the scoring drive.

Texas Tech, on the other hand, managed only two first downs in the first quarter, both on runs by Gray. But the Red Raider defense seemed to solidify after that, and the first quarter ended when Tech's Tracy Saul intercepted Lance Pavlas' pass at the Raiders' 18-yard line.

Texas Tech managed its first sustained drive of the game midway through the second quarter. Gill dove across the goal line on first-and-goal from the 1 to tie the game at 7-7.

A&M's Lance Talbot kicked a 44-yard field goal that hit the left upright and barely dribbled over the horizontal bar with 52 seconds remaining in the first half.

Houston 66, Baylor 10
HOUSTON (AP) — Andre Ware threw six touchdown passes, four to Manny Hazard, and set the Southwest Conference record for career touchdown passes to lead 12th-ranked Houston to a 66-10 victory over Baylor Saturday.

Ware's touchdown passes of 8, 15, 46 and 41 yards to Hazard, 15 yards to Brian Williams and 20 yards to Chuck Weatherspoon, gave him 49 career touchdown passes.

Hazard caught his fifth touchdown pass of the day with 1:42 left in the game from backup quarterback David Klingler to set an SWC record for most touchdown catches in a game.

Hazard broke the record of four held by three other receivers.

Ware's touchdown passes broke the record of 48 held by Texas A&M's Kevin Murray. Ware left the game with 4:05 to play in the third quarter with 33 completions on 53 attempts for 514 yards and one interception.

It was Ware's second 500-yard game of the season, coming against Baylor's No. 1 nationally ranked pass defense. Baylor opponents had averaged 65.1 passing yards in four previous games.

Ware ignited the Cougars with a 33-point second quarter that included 23 points in the final 3:51 of the period and a 36-0 halftime lead.

Houston scored on its final six possessions of the second quarter and the defense set up the last four scores on an interception by Cornelius Price, two fumble recoveries by Craig Veasey and one by Darren Warren.

Price had a total of three interceptions for the day.

Roman Anderson kicked field goals of 47, 46 and 51 yards and Chuck Weatherspoon's 2-yard dive gave the Cougars a 16-0 lead.

Anderson's 51-yarder was the longest field goal of his career and came with 3:51 to go in the half. Anderson also kicked a 36-yarder in the third quarter.

Three consecutive fumbles by Baylor quarterback Brad Goebel led to touchdown passes by Ware of 8 and 15 yards to Manny Hazard and 51 yards to Brian Williams.

Ware's 51-yarder to Williams gave him 20 completions on 28 attempts for 291 yards in the second quarter alone.

Arkansas 41, Texas Christian 19
FORT WORTH (AP) — Fullbacks Barry Foster and JuJu Harshaw each scored two touchdowns and rushed for career highs as 7th-ranked Arkansas pounded Texas Christian 41-19 in a Southwest Conference game Saturday night.

Defending SWC champion Arkansas increased its record to 4-0 and 1-0 in SWC play. TCU is 2-3 and 1-2.

Foster rushed 17 times for 176 yards and scored on runs of 1 and 10 yards. His previous high rushing was 103 yards against Miami last year.

Harshaw rushed 16 times for 110 yards and scored on runs of 1 and 22 yards. His previous high rushing was 105 yards last year against Baylor.

Texas 31, Rice 30
AUSTIN (AP) — Quarterback Peter Gardere, a red-shirt freshman starting his first game, lunged 4 yards for the winning score with 4:05 left Saturday night as Texas rallied for a 31-30 Southwest Conference victory over Rice.

It appeared that Rice was en route to its first victory over Texas since 1965 before Gardere stretched the ball across the goal line for the winning score on a fourth-and-goal play. Texas kicker Wayne Clements tacked on the extra point, and the Longhorns had their 24th consecutive victory over the Owls.

Texas improved to 2-0 in the conference, 2-2 overall. Rice is 1-1, 1-3-1.

The victory offset a brilliant performance by Rice quarterback Donald Hollas, who threw for 366 yards and one touchdown and ran for two others.

Rice took a 30-17 lead on Hollas' 1-yard sneak with 1:41 left in the third quarter, but Sammy Hartman's extra point attempt was wide left after a high snap.

Trailing by 13, Texas mounted its comeback, sparked by the play of another red-shirt freshman, Tailback Adrian Walker, who finished with 151 yards on 28 carries, scored his second of two touchdowns on a 7-yard run to pull the Longhorns to 30-24 with 13:39 left.

No. 1 Notre Dame 27, Stanford 17
Rocket Ismail ran a kickoff back 66 yards in the third period, setting up a tie-breaking touchdown that carried the Irish past surprisingly tough Stanford.

Notre Dame (5-0) stretched its winning streak to 17 games, longest in college football, but trailed for the first time in five games this season. The Irish were behind 6-0 against a 1-4 team which allowed 40 points to San Jose State a week earlier.

No. 2 Miami 56, Cincinnati 0
First-time starter Gino Torretta threw for 239 yards and three touchdowns, including an 88-yarder to Wesley Carroll that tied Vinny Testaverde's school record.

Power plant plans personnel reduction

DALLAS — A status report on the planned reduction in personnel at the Comanche Peak Nuclear Power Plant, issued Friday by TU Electric, signaled another step toward the completion of the plant's first unit, which is scheduled for commercial operation next year. The reduction is now underway and will continue for several weeks.

By the end of the year the Comanche Peak workforce is expected to level out below 4,000 down from the present total of about 8,000. Most of the reduction will be among construction personnel. This level is expected to increase as construction activities reach their peak on Unit 2. At the peak in Dec., 1987, Comanche Peak employment was more than 11,000.

Fuel load for Unit 1 is scheduled for this fall in preparation for commercial operation next year. As construction work is completed on the first unit, there is a diminishing need for many of the contract employees on site. This reduction in the number of personnel has always been a part of the construction schedule.

The two generating units at Comanche Peak, located 85 miles southwest of Dallas, will provide 2.3 million kilowatts of electricity to TU Electric customers. TU Electric serves more than 2.1 million customers in the northern third of Texas.

BIG SPRING — Municipal users showed robust gains to push deliveries by the Colorado River Municipal Water District past the billion and a half gallon mark in September.

September was the largest since 1985 when 1,758 billion gallons were delivered.

Big Spring used 247,579,000 gallons in September, up 23.26 percent; Midland 404,508,000 gallons, up .04 on one percent (Midland takes at a rather constant rate); Odessa 640,847,000 gallons, up 20.94 percent; Snyder 106,743,000 gallons, up 37.47 percent; Stanton 9,021,000, up 7.35 percent. A year ago Robert Lee used 8,837,000 gallons, this September none.

The figure was 1,538,426,222 gallons, up 11.63 percent, although deliveries to oil and industrial customers amounted to 129,726,822, down 12.04 percent. Municipal users received 1,408,699,400 gallons, up 14.66 percent.

Teleview columnist becoming celebrity

By JAMES FLEEHR
Staff Writer

BIG SPRING — "Papa" Joe Reed, 64, is more than just a radio handle that got started down in the Big Bend Country. He's fast becoming one of Big Spring's big personalities.

REED

"I called it 'Papa Joe's Smile Time Hour,' a gospel music broadcast from KERB in Kermit and KVLF in Alpine, during the late 60's into the 70's," he said.

Since then he has graduated to a combination of travel columns, recipe columns, Texas Trivia, word searches and crossword puzzles.

Many of those columns are printed in the Big Spring Herald. Each Wednesday he produces a recipe column called "How to Open an Egg."

"It is a man's struggle for equal rights in the kitchen. That is how it started, as a satire on women's lib, about three or four years ago," he said.

"It's simple recipes, mostly one meal dishes, that can be fixed in an hour or less, and occasionally a dessert. It's not written like most of your recipe deals: It's written to a personality. When I talk about a chunk of butter, I call it a 'chunk' of butter. Men can relate to that," he said.

Reed was born in Corsicana on Feb. 17, 1925 but he was raised around Possum Kingdom in Palo Pinto County.

"I was in the cactus business in Alpine, beside the radio advertising I did. I had the Big Bend Novelty and Curio Company and the Papa Joe's Trading Post. I shipped between one and two million cactus a year out of Alpine," he said.

"I am an ordained minister. I was ordained by the Parkview Church of Christ," he said. Reed was minister for the church in Kermit from 1961 to 1965. He then pastored in churches in Alpine from 1965 to 1975.

"I wrote and sold advertising commercials, taped them, and then I started the gospel show about the same time," he said.

"I'm married and have a son who teaches school here, Joe Reed Jr. He's taught biology here for 16 years.

"There was a lot of things that I did. In 1984, my wife and I toured the southern part and eastern part of the United States, and British Columbia, and back to all of the western states. We made 17 western states on that trip. The last motorcycle trip lasted 2 1/2 months," he said.

"I operated a trucking business from 1976 to 1980," he said that included three heavy haulers. He drove one and trucked all over the U.S., Canada and Alaska.

"It is a man's struggle for equal rights in the kitchen. That is how it started, as a satire on women's lib, about three or four years ago." — Joe Reed

Reed will have a recipe book published in the near future.

"My cookbook will be out after the first of this month. It will be called How to Open an Egg, the same as the newspaper column," Joe added.

The Texas Crossroad Puzzles (they are according to subject, instead of being general... i.e., rivers, ranchers, outlaws, mountains, etc.) appear each week only in the Big Spring Herald TeleView.

"I get quite a few comments about it. In fact, I get phone calls about it," he said. "This takes a lot of research. I set them up in sets and sell them in sets," Joe said.

It is the same with the "Texas Word Search," also organized by subject. This is also featured in the TeleView weekly.

"Texas Portraits" is a combination travel guide of interesting places here in Texas that Reed has visited. They include places like old ghost towns, the Permian Basin Petroleum Museum, or Miss Hattie's in San Angelo (once a bawdy house now a museum). Each topic runs about 300 to 500 words. It gives directions on how to get there and key points.

Joe produces a game of general recall and he calls it "Texas Trivia," also arranged into subjects like Governors.

Reed can tell stories just from the research he does. For example, about Gov. Richard B. Hubbard, 400 pounds, the governor who weighed the most; Beauford Jester, the only Texas governor who died in office; and Pendleton Murrah, who turned his governorship over to his lieutenant governor, put on his grey Confederate uniform and headed for Mexico.

Reed has been featured on "The Sound of Texas," on the Tumbleweed Smith show, another local Big Spring. "I was on three different times, for three different reasons," Joe said.

His guest appearances on the radio show were for a variety of reasons. One was the cactus business, the design and manufacture of a cactus paper weight and about four or five years ago for one of the many motorcycle trips "Papa" Joe has made.

BUSINESS & INDUSTRY REVIEW

Edited by Lea Whitehead

Third Coast Water Company, Building 239, Industrial Park, offers free delivery of reverse osmosis water. State licensed as a water vending operator, Third Coast maintains rigid water quality and purity standards. Pictured are owner, Maury Smith; bookkeeper Teresa Thompson, with daughter, Sherrie Thompson. For delivery, phone 263-0400.

Water

Third Coast Water Co. has free delivery

"Our delivery service is free — our customers pay only for the water," says Maury Smith, owner of Third Coast Water Company.

Third Coast offers regular home and business water delivery (in five-gallon plastic bottles) from its reverse osmosis plant in the Industrial Park. The firm's delivery trucks are equipped with two-way communications so that incoming orders can be handled as expeditiously as possible.

"Water delivery is our primary business," the Big Spring native continues, adding that the staff is dedicated to providing quality water and dependable delivery.

"It's really exciting to be in this business; the demand for good water is increasing every day," Maury notes that during dry weather the mineral content becomes more concentrated in area water sources (Lake Spence and Lake J. B. Thomas) due to usage and surface evaporation. Taste is only one consideration, the owner continues; the mineral content may be harmful to one's health.

"We do everything required for a first-quality water product," Maury says. "We took a course from the Texas Department of Health and were certified; we are licensed by the state to operate a bottled water vending service. And we pull water samples regularly for continued quality testing by the health department."

The firm is especially proud of its delivery service to senior citizens (62 and over). "We deliver five gallons to their homes for $2.50."

Maury was formerly branch manager for Ozarka Water, handling their product in Howard County. "I saw a need to be filled, and I opened my own business with just a handful of customers. Now we operate our own plant with over 200 delivery customers."

Third Coast also owns and operates reverse osmosis systems at Don's Fiesta, Dominquez #1, WTG Kwik Stop (Greenwood) and a system at Canterbury — with others in the works. Water samples are regularly taken at these locations.

Bulk hauling is available for spa systems — "better for your skin and better for the system!"

In addition to Maury, the staff includes Teresa Thompson, bookkeeper; James Balios, plant manager; and Alan White, bottler.

For delivery, phone 263-0400; or if it's more convenient, you can pick up bottled water at Building 239, Industrial Park. The company's logo is Signal Peak — with palm trees and a lake in the foreground!

Bette Davis, winner of two Oscars, dies of cancer

NEW YORK (AP) — Bette Davis, whose soulful eyes inspired song decades after her tough demeanor helped create the film image of the independent woman, has died of cancer, her longtime attorney said today. The two-time Academy Award winner was 81.

Miss Davis died Friday night in a Paris hospital, said attorney Harold Schiff.

The actress, who lived in West Hollywood, Calif., was traveling through Paris on her way home from the San Sebastian Film Festival in Spain, where she was honored for a lifetime of achievement.

Miss Davis — who appeared in more than 80 films, including "Jezebel," "All About Eve," and "Of Human Bondage" — died after a battle with breast cancer that began after a 1983 mastectomy, Schiff said.

"The doctors had told us the cancer had spread, that it was terminal," he said. "The doctors had said let her go on going about her business."

French radio reported that Miss Davis died in the American Hospital in Paris. A spokesman at the hospital declined to confirm the report but said a statement would be issued later.

"What a loss," said actress Olivia de Havilland, who worked with Miss Davis in four films including the 1964 "Hush, Hush Sweet Charlotte."

"She was a remarkable person to work with, highly professional, innovative, brilliant and quick," said Miss de Havilland, 73, who resides in Paris. "She was very well disciplined. I thought she had some marvelous personal qualities and I was very fond of her."

Vincent Price, who worked with Miss Davis on "The Private Lives of Elizabeth and Essex" in 1939 and "Whales of August" in 1987, mourned her as a film genius.

"There are very few people left who really sum up the motion picture industry, who had that star quality. It was really rare," Price said in Los Angeles. "She had extraordinary energy; she was a genius."

At a Sept. 21 news conference in San Sebastian, she joked about costars James Stewart — "I never should have let him get away" — and Ronald Reagan — "He never had much talent but as President he restored patriotism for Americans."

Of her expressive eyes, she said, "It's my basic facial feature and what communicated to the camera."

Miss Davis was nominated for Academy Awards 10 times and won two best actress Oscars, for "Dangerous" in 1935 and "Jezebel" in 1938. She won an Emmy in 1979 for the television production "Strangers — The Story of a Mother and Daughter."

Her screen heroines were often strong women — uncompromising as the actress was off-screen and on the set, according to those who worked with her.

"The person who wants to make it has to sweat," she said once. "There are no short cuts. And you've got to have the guts to be hated. That's the hardest part."

success except Bette Davis.

"The most rewarding thing in the world when you've made it," she said, "is that you don't owe anybody nothing... The reward is an honest day's work."

She once suggested the lines for her own epitaph: "Bette Davis — She Did It the Hard Way." That included her 1985 comeback from the mastectomy, a stroke and a broken hip in quick succession.

Her success story was one of Hollywood's most unlikely tales. Lacking the looks of a traditional Hollywood glamour girl, the skinny youngster with the huge eyes relied on her acting skill and took roles nobody else wanted, playing nasty women more often than nice ones.

"My entire career was never based on looks or glamour or sex," she once said. "It was an absolute miracle that people came to watch me act."

Sunshine and the old folks

By STEVE RAY
Herald Editor

I don't know her real name but they called her "Sunshine". She rolled the halls of the Amarillo nursing home like a skater in a wheelchair roller derby — first slow, then fast — deftly moving in and out between food trays and stretchers that littered the hallway.

"Hey mister," she called from one end of the hall. "What's the weather like?"

"Hot," I said, anxious to get back into my father's room so I wouldn't have to confront the realities of becoming old and lonely.

"How hot," she insisted. "Oh, over 90," I replied with a voice that was somewhere between irritated and condescending.

She ignored the tone in my voice. "It's just like 1937," she began. "I remember . . ."

It had been several years since I had been forced to go to a nursing home.

As a child it never bothered me to walk the hallways and talk to old people who never saw enough children anymore and were anxious to hug a little tow-headed boy that reminded them of the grandson they rarely saw.

And I always looked forward to going to my great-grandmother's room where she could perform my favorite trick — spitting a gooey wad of snuff out of her mouth into the empty Folger's coffee can halfway across the room.

It was a trick she reserved for my eyes only. I was her favorite grandson she would say.

I wasn't quite so thrilled when it was time to go. There was always snuff smeared on my cheek from the mandatory good-bye kiss.

Sunday, with my father lying in a nursing home in a coma, all those memories came back . . . the smell of stale smoke, the pleading cries of bedridden patients who want attention from already too busy nurses.

Down the hallway the old strains of "Power in the blood . . ." was lifted from old strained voices that may have at one time filled church choirs.

A preacher gave a devotional to a small crowd in the reception area. I listened in.

"Amen, that was wonderful," an older black lady told the preacher. A man in the back continued to sing . . . "wonder working power, in the blood, of the lamb . . ."

There was a conviction in their voices as they sang — maybe from years of serving the Lord, maybe because they were old and ready to meet their Maker.

People have a fear of nursing homes.

I don't know if it's because they think their families have deserted them or if they feel like they have lost their independence.

For some reason, younger people also fear nursing homes.

I don't know if it's because they don't want to grow old, or they don't want to face the harsh realities others have to deal with.

But there is a fear and it grips you like a clammy hand around your throat, and it sends shivers down your spine and puts a lump into your stomach that makes it hard to swallow.

I am not so afraid of growing old myself.

But it scares me to think of my mom growing old, of my Aunt Ella hitting the 90 mark, and of losing my dad.

It scared me when my grandmother stopped dying her hair and I found out it was really white underneath.

And it scared me when Grandma Hall died in that nursing home. I still miss her.

Lost youth doesn't mean losing something you love nearly so much as someone you love.

Ten minutes later, "Sunshine" had already gone through stories about her native Oklahoma and how she knew Geronimo, Al Jennings and countless other outlaws.

I don't know if she really knew them. I'm don't know if she even knew for sure.

But her words were sure — as sure as the Oklahoma wind that had weathered her bronzed face into a roadmap of lines and gave her the look of a woman who was filled with years of knowledge.

Maybe it was her Indian blood, maybe it was her obvious love of life that reminded me of my great-grandmother.

Whatever it was, it made me kind of hate to walk away.

"Come back sometime," she called. "It gets kind of lonely in here."

I will.

Diet Pills Sweeping U.S.

Doctors Invent 'Lazy Way' to Lose Weight

U.S. Gov't. Approves Patent Claims for New Diet Pill

BEVERLY HILLS, CA (Special)—An amazing new weight loss pill called "fat-magnet" has recently been developed and perfected by two prominent doctors at a world famous hospital in Los Angeles that reportedly "guarantees" you steady fat loss and calorie reduction by simply taking their tested and proven new pill.

The U.S. government has just approved the doctors claim for a hard-to-get patent that confirms "there has never been anything like their fat-bonding pill process before." It is a totally new major scientific breakthrough and is revolutionizing the weight loss industry.

You Can "Eat Normally"

Best of all, "you can continue to eat your favorite foods and you don't have to change your normal eating habits. You can start losing fat and reduce calories from the very first day, until you achieve the ideal weight you desire without exercising!"

Flushes Fat Out of Body

The new pill is appropriately called the "fat-magnet" pill because it breaks into thousands of particles, each acting like a tiny magnet, "attracting" and trapping many times its size in undigested fat particles. Then, all the trapped fat and calories are naturally "flushed" right out of your body because they cannot be absorbed.

Within 2 days you should notice a change in the color of your stool, caused by the fat particles being eliminated.

"Automatically" Lose Fat

According to one of the inventors, Dr. William Shell, heart specialist and associate professor of medicine at UCLA medical school, "the new fat-bonding process is a 'lazy way' to lose weight because the pills alone 'automatically' reduce calories by eliminating dietary fat. It is 100% safe and not a drug."

The fat-magnet pills are already sweeping the country with glowing reports of weight loss from formerly overweight people in all walks of life who are now slimmer, trimmer and more attractive again.

Now Available to the Public

If you are trying to lose 20, 50, 100 pounds or more, you can order your supply of these "no-risk" highly successful fat-magnet pills directly from the doctors' exclusive manufacturer only (includes optional calorie-reduction plan for even better results). Send $20 for a 90 pill supply (+$3 handling), or $35 for a 180 pill supply (+$3 handling), to: Fat-Magnet, 9016 Wilshire Blvd., Dept. W842, Beverly Hills, CA 90211. (Unconditional money-back guarantee if not 100% satisfied.) Visa, MasterCard and American Express OK. (Send card number, expire date, and signature.) For fastest service for credit card orders ONLY call anytime 24 hours, toll free (1-800) 527-9700, ext. W842.

Valor of war-time chaplains may have a living legacy

DEAR ABBY: I cut this article out of the American Legion magazine several years ago:

The Four Chaplains
"Early on the morning of Feb. 3, 1943, the U.S. troop transport Dorchester was wallowing through icy seas off Greenland. Most of the 900 troops on board were asleep in their bunks. Suddenly a torpedo smashed into the Dorchester's starboard flank. Frantically pounding up the ladders, the troops milled in confusion on the decks.

"In those dark moments of

panic, the coolest men aboard were four U.S. Army chaplains — 1st Lts. Clark V. Poling (Reformed Church of America), Alexander D. Goode (Jewish), John P. Washington (Catholic) and George

L. Fox (Methodist). The four chaplains led the men to boxes of life jackets and passed them out to the soldiers with boat-drill precision. When the boxes were empty, the four chaplains quietly slipped off their own precious life preservers, put them on four young GIs and told them to jump.

"The Dorchester went down 25 minutes later in a rumble of steam. Some 600 men were lost, but the heroic chaplains had helped save more than 200 lives. The last anyone saw of them, they were standing on the slanting deck, their arms linked, in prayer to the one God they all served."

Abby, I have often wondered if anyone knows what happened to the four young GIs who received the life preservers. Who were they?

The article states that although some 600 men perished when the Dorchester went down, about 200 were saved. Perhaps a survivor — or a relative or friend of a survivor — will read this and write to you. I realize this happened 46 years ago, but maybe a reader will have some information pertaining to this historic event. — HERMAN POWELL, CALHOUN FALLS, S.C.

DEAR HERMAN: It's a long shot, but it's worth a try. Readers?

The funniest man in the oil patch

By TUMBLEWEED SMITH
 "I've been in the oil patch practically all my life," O.C. Proffitt of San Angelo told me one time. "I started when I was 17 and I'm 73 now."

Once he and another man were drilling a well in a remote area of Pecos County. Some oil scouts visited them and one inquired how the two were able to get anything to eat down there. Proffitt replied, "We've got a trot line on that Pecos River. We eat jackrabbits and keep a little for bait. We bait our hooks and catch catfish. Sometimes we bait 'em with corn and catch ducks. There's no way to keep us from makin' it."

O.C. told me that he thought life in the oil patch was the best life in the world. "If I was to do it all over again, I wouldn't straighten a crook."

He had nothing against working nights. "You could tell me right now that I was gonna go to work tonight at midnight and I could go in the bedroom and be asleep in five minutes."

He worked at Desdemona when that community had an oil strike.

Tumbleweed Smith

"Everybody called it hogtown. You'd always be in mud up to your knees and it was like a hog pen and it was pretty good. Sometimes we'd work 48 hours or more at a stretch. Made good money."

It seems that mud was a characteristic of most boom towns during the 30s.

"We had a pair of little white mules at Ranger and at night we'd pour water in those holes in the road so cars would get stuck the next morning. We'd pull 'em out with those little mules. Those holes never would dry up whether it rained or not. Some of 'em would come bustin' along there in a model T and bog down. We'd charge $5 to pull him out. We knew those drivers were at our mercy. That was a whole lot back then, you know." O.C. made money and lost money in the oil patch. "We'd work hard and save money and get enough to drill a well of our own and it would be empty. Then we'd have to start all over. We'd start out in our old car with just enough gas to get where we were goin'. I didn't worry about gettin' back. I knew I could always earn enough to get back home."

Oil men used to spend money fast. "If I had a dollar in one pocket and a stinkin' lizard in another pocket, I'd get rid of that dollar 'fore I'd get rid of that stinkin' lizard."

The oil patch is a good place to develop friendships. "Oilmen are a different tribe. They just don't forget you like some people do."

He said the oil business isn't much of a gamble compared to other lines of work. His brother was a farmer and O.C. told him once, "You bet your whole nest egg on one deal a year. If you don't make a crop you lose the entire 12 months. I can drill 12 to 15 wells in a year's time. I got a lot more chances than you do. And I have a lot more fun." O.C. liked to raise money. "Sometimes I'd raise enough to do the job and sometimes I wouldn't get along so good. But I could always go to somebody for help. If they didn't give me nothing but moral support I'd operate for a few days on moral support."

The first time he saw an oil derrick he climbed to the top of it. He liked what he saw. He asked the man in charge who made the most money. The man replied, "The driller." O.C. told him, "I want to be a driller." He made driller on his second well.

He got to be very good at going up and down drilling rigs. "I can just fall out of a rig. Just fall from one cross bar to another. Wooden derrick, you know. I wouldn't come down the ladder, just drop two feet every time. I was always little. When I was 17 I weighed 138 pounds. That's what I weigh now."

He always liked what he did. "Doin' what you like to do is the best medicine in the world. I've never had a headache."

O.C. has passed away. I'm glad to have known him.

Sheep are boost to agricultural economy

By DON RICHARDSON
 County Extension Agent
 In 1986, more than over 80 community leaders met and assisted in helping the Howard County Extension staff develop a Long-Range Extension Plan.

The LREP was developed in each county in Texas to help guide and direct the emphasis in Extension educational programs through the year 1990. The group that worked with identifying the critical issues facing agriculture in Howard County determined the number one need was diversification.

At that time livestock was felt to be the most logical method of diversifying in the county. In studying agricultural increment reports, at the time, there was a reported figure of less than $10,000 income from sheep to Howard County. The committee felt sheep production offered producers opportunities of increasing farm net income, particularly through cash

Ask the agent

In preparing my 1990 plan of work to be reviewed by my district director last week I was checking the latest agricultural increment reports and the estimated income from sheep and wool to Howard County was now computed to be more than one million dollars. This should be no surprise to anyone that has driven out in the county lately.

There are flocks of sheep scattered all over now, usually guarded over by a faithful guard donkey. This interest in sheep became evident when we had almost 90 persons attend last summer's Sheep/Goat/Range Field Day and Tour at the Middleton Farm north of Big Spring.

The Middleton family, Johnny, Cindy, Harry and Jeanette have been active in the sheep business for several years and have applied several different innovative approaches to sheep production. They have utilized stocker lambs, replacement ewes and even breeding ewes in this program, depending upon what kind of grazing and feeding conditions were available and which market on each class appeared most favorable.

Speaking of lambs and the Middletons, Johnny and Cindy's daughters Kim and Lauren are becoming well-known figures in lamb shows. The girls have been showing lambs at various summer prospect shows this year and just recently attended the South Plains Fair in Lubbock where Kim's light-weight fine wool cross lamb captured first place in a very competitive show, which had more than 500 lambs in competition this year.

The girls also had a 10th place fine wool cross and a ninth place Southdown at this show. While on the subject of show lambs, I might remind all 4-H and FFA lamb feeders in the county that they must have their lambs on feed and validated by Nov. 4th.

The Howard County Junior Livestock Show Association requires that all lambs that will be exhibited at the county show in January 1990, have a validation tag placed in its ear. The county validation date is Nov. 4 at the fairgrounds in Big Spring. All lambs that are destined to be shown are required to be there on that date for validation purposes.

If for some reason the exhibitor can not be present, it is his or her responsibility to see that someone represents them with their lambs on that date. We are trying to make arrangements for lambs to be shown that day so those of you with lambs should make plans to have that done if its needed.

Older persons face kitchen problems

By NAOMI HUNT
 County Extension Agent

As the years roll on, many elderly people will need help running the kitchen. After all, it's a demanding job — shopping, cleaning out the refrigerator, preparing meals and storing leftovers.

Plus, it can actually be dangerous for an older person who can no longer manage well to try to run a kitchen alone. Why? Because the health of the elderly is often fragile. They're highly susceptible to food poisoning and prone to develop nutritional deficiencies.

The sensory losses of aging — sight and smell in particular — can cause food handling problems. And tight budgets plus ingrained feelings against "waste" cause many elderly people to hang onto risky food too long. Here are some special concerns for older persons:

- Susceptibility to food poisoning: The elderly are much more vulnerable to food poisoning than the general public. For one thing, less stomach acid — which helps to digest food and kill microbes in food — is produced as the body ages. Also, aging seems to weaken the immune system. So a food poisoning illness that might simply make someone else sick for a few days could be devastating for an elderly person. And many elderly people suffer chronic conditions, such as heart disease or diabetes, which lower their resistance. Undergoing chemotherapy for cancer weakens the immune system.

Focus on family

- Nutritional problems: The elderly are likely to develop nutritional difficulties. For ease of preparation, they may be relying too heavily on canned and frozen foods which can be over sugared or salted. Their diets may be lacking in fresh meats, fruits and vegetables, and they may suffer calcium deficiencies. Eating and drinking improperly or infrequently also can bring on serious medical problems.

- Food handling problems caused by aging itself: Sensory loss can lead to problems in recognizing food spoilage or contamination, in hearing a teapot whistle when the water's hot, or in hearing when something boils over. Taste and smell also are dimmed, causing people to lose interest in food and become malnourished. Others over-season food, taking in too much sugar or salt. But, critical from the food safety standpoint, all those with significant smell loss will have trouble knowing when stored food is spoiled. Most spoilage agents, in addition to making food look bad, give off an unpleasant odor.

- Money problems and attitudes on waste: Financial constraint add to the food handling problems of the elderly. Living on a tight budget makes it hard to throw food away — even things in questionable condition.

Magazine offers 'nannies by mail'

RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) — A nanny magazine on the newsstands just six months has helped make the task of finding quality child care a lot easier for American families.

Gillian Gordon, working mother of two, launched the magazine in May on the advice of her husband after she found herself short of household help.

She says that when she lived in Great Britain she was accustomed to consulting magazines such as Nursery World or The Lady to find qualified child care professionals. No comparable publications, she says, were available in the United States.

"I was wondering where one would go to find a nanny," said Gordon, mother of Alexandra, 3½, and Liam, 15 months. The Gordons live in this New Jersey community about 10 miles from New York City.

So began "Nanny Times." The first issue hit the stands May 1989 in the New York metropolitan area, where demand for child care is high, and in the Midwest, where many American nannies come from. It also was distributed to some hospital maternity wards and colleges with nanny training and early childhood programs.

Gordon says there was such demand that the magazine went national with the third issue.

Readers find stories on interviewing and hiring nannies and related topics, plus photos and personal ads from nursemaids and parents who are looking for each other. It also supplies information on child care as a career.

"I think more people need to be encouraged to go into it as a profession," she says. "More women are going back to work, and a lot of people are concerned with the child care centers and need someone to care for their children."

Gordon points out that centers can't answer the needs of parents who either have to work late or travel frequently.

Cathie Robertson, president of the International Nanny Association in San Diego, says child care is a profession. "We liken it to the nursing profession of about 100 years ago, when it was just getting started. People really did not acknowledge the importance until about World War I.

"With the nannies, it's probably going to be a lot faster. One of the major issues we're having in this age is child care and the importance and need for quality child care."

While nannies are professionals and employed by families on either a live-in or live-out basis to care for children, baby sitters require no special training and generally work on an irregular basis.

"What we've had to do is to educate the public to what a nanny is," says Robertson.

Up close and personal

Of course everyone is a Wolf fan, whether it be football, volleyball, or basketball, but most of us don't get the chance to know the players as individuals, so for the next few months there will be a personal profile of a couple of our Wolf football players and a volleyball player each week throughout the season of their sport.

Football

George Ramsey #4 — This Wolf is the son of Tom and Gretchen Ramsey. He has played football for five years, this year being the fifth. He is one of the Wolves quarterbacks and also plays free safety. George is a junior this year, but plans to attend college after graduating in 1991. He enjoys water and snow skiing when not on the football field.

Wendell Iglehart #80 — He is the son of Roy Wayne and Viola Iglehart. Tight end is the position he plays come Friday night. He has been playing for the Wolves for five years and enjoys the game because "It's fun and I like to hit people!" Wendell will be a graduate of 1991 and plans to attend college. After football season, he is involved in basketball and track. His hobbies include hunting, fishing, water skiing and softball.

Volleyball

Amy Chitsey #14 — She is the daughter of Doug and Judy Chitsey. Amy is a senior this year and has played volleyball for six years. This year she is a spiker and a back row player. She likes to play because "It's a game of constant improvement, both team and individual." She is kept busy with many school activities such as Band, FTA, twirler, National Honor Society, basketball and track. After graduation in May, Amy plans to attend Texas Tech University and major in education. When not busy with her other activities, she enjoys twirling and decorating cookies and cakes.

Speaking of volleyball

The Wolves volleyball girls have a game Tuesday in Water Valley against the home team, beginning at 5 p.m. for ninth grade; 6 p.m. for junior varsity; and 7 p.m. for varsity.

Rally around

The Matlock team, made up of Gary Matlock, Kate Matlock, Tonya Hubbard, Teresa Matlock, Bobby Moody, Mickey Taylor and Heather Taylor remain the champions of the Christian Temple "Road Rally" teams. There were 26 people in attendance at the Sept. 30 rally, which was the third rally these folks have had since May. This one was different being called "Top 40 Video Road Rally."

These clever people had to guess where to go around town from songs that were pre-recorded by yours truly and my husband, Tim. Points were earned by the stops you made. Most of the music was '50s and '60s with one or two rock and country tunes. There was also a category called "things to do" which included "Shake," "Dancing in the Street," "Hitching a Ride," and others.

One group, while "Hitching a Ride," actually had a car to stop and ask if they needed help. Another team managed to stop a visiting car from Arizona and asked the whole family to stand in their video for extra points. A surprise came when the man from Arizona handed the team member videoing the group, his camera and asked to have their family picture made with the crazy Texans.

Everyone returned to the Lelek's home to eat sandwiches and watch the videos each team had made. Members of the other teams were Chipper Hubbard, Dane Hoover, Tammy Wagner, Homer Matlock, Chad Morris, Kristen Moody, Dana Moody, Ernie Lelek, Bobby Matlock, Jeremy Lelek, Mike Gibson, Kent Shane and Sarah Wike.

Prison fellowship

Nathan Timmerman of Dallas, director for Northwest Texas of Prison Fellowship, spoke at First United Methodist Church Wednesday. Participants learned firsthand about the Christian ministry established by Charles Colson, and now reaching into hundreds of prisons around the world. Timmerman is seeking to speak to churches and interested groups within a radius of the new prison at Snyder, in the hopes that a ministry can be established there, based on the principle of one-on-one sharing of faith with prisoners.

Covenant players

The following article is a news release from the First United Methodist Church:

One of the church's most important — and toughest — jobs is to challenge its members... to keep them alive, thinking, growing, ill at ease with complacency... to make Christian commitment an exciting, total way of life, not just an hour a week in Sunday worship. The unfortunate truth is, of course, that most of us don't like being challenged very much... having our toes stepped on... so we find lots of ways to avoid paying attention.

Having something to say, and getting people to hear and respond to it are two different things. Covenant players were created with just this in mind... the need for media that can communicate the vibrant challenges of Christian commitment... in a way too engrossing to ignore, too much fun to get up-tight about, too potent and personal to be rationalized away.

Covenant Players, an International Repertory Drama Group, utilize a kind of drama. With a repertoire of over 900 plays, it allows a flexibility to communicate a variety of themes, issues, and subject matter. Using everything from light comedy to heavy drama, science, fiction, and biblical characterizations, they present their message. One of 85 touring groups will perform Oct. 8 at the First United Methodist Church at 6 p.m. All are invited to come and participate.

A fair affair

The Mitchell County Fair was held this past weekend. There were many prizes and ribbons given to various entrants. There were crafts by young and old, Grandma's brags, paintings and sketches, and several different booths. There was also the annual apple crumb pie; 2nd Lucy Magil, cranberry mince meat pie; 3rd Tommy Meeks, coconut pie.

Youth Division — 1st Liz Esquivel, crescent yeast rolls; 2nd Whitney Bassham, cream filled cookies; 3rd Robbie Culpepper, Texas frosted brownies; honorable mention were Benito Barton, peanut butter sandwich cookies and Jeff Hill, pumpkin cake.

The grand prize winner was Liz Esquivel for her crescent yeast rolls.

A freeze off was also held, hosted by the Chamber of Commerce. The winners received Rosette, 1st, 2nd and 3rd place ribbons. The Rosette winner also received $20. The winners of the freeze off were:

Rosette Peggy Ratliff, fresh peach slush; 1st Billie Hulme, pink passion, 2nd Sheila Plagens, Hawaiian luau; and 3rd Jane Webb, big red.

Let me know

Remember, if you have any information about activities occurring in Mitchell County, and want the people to know about it, please contact me at Rt. 2 Box 170, Colorado City, Texas 79512. Or if you wish, you may call me at 728-8051. Any church, school, civic, or organizational activities, just to name a few, would be greatly appreciated. Thank you for your super support Mitchell County.

How embarrassing

The how embarrassing column must again go to me! In last week's paper (Oct. 1), I listed the winners of the Kid's Day Parade. Well, they were all correct except in the wheels division. I said Justin McGaha won 3rd, it was his brother, Heath, who won! What is so embarrassing about this error is that they are my cousins! I always get their names mixed up.

First place in each category received a $55 gift certificate, second place a $37 gift certificate and third place a $25 gift certificate. The Grand Prize winner, won a new rocker (a $159.95 value) donated by Ramage Appliance. The winners in each division were as follows:

Hot spots

Howard County volunteer firefighters took to the road Sept. 29 and 30 to participate in a fire training school held in Andrews. The school was hosted by Texas A&M University in conjunction with the Andrews Fire Department.

Firefighters who attended the school include Clarence Williams, Robert Williams, Chad Williams, Russell Kalak and John Carr from Forsan; Don McIntire and Terry Sullivan from Silver Heels and Kevin Calley, Perry Hall Sr. and Perry Hall, Jr. from Tubbs. Robert and Wanda Turner, Scott and Kathy Hayes, and George and Diane Herrera represented Coahoma and C. Roy Wright, Jon Tod Wright, Jim Johnson, and Ronnie and Karen Hays represented, Sand Springs.

Firefighters attended morning classes on oilfield fire training, inclusive of prevention and strategies on handling oil field fires. Following the class, lunch was served. The Chuck-wagon gang provided tasty barbecue for the participants and then it was off to the training field for some practical applications of what was learned in the classroom. Training went well and only one minor injury was reported; a female firefighter from Lovington, N.M., pulled her shoulder, but all in all, safety prevailed and all came out of training with much needed experience on how to handle these very dangerous types of fires.

Travelers return

Jack and Wanda Pipes of Coahoma recently returned from a trip to Wichita Falls to visit some of their family members; Gregg and Francis Posey and their three children, Christopher, B.J. and Daniel.

One amusing thing that happened during their visit, was when Jack, on his birthday got up at 4 a.m. to drink coffee and sing "Happy Birthday" to himself. Wanda said everyone else was still snoozing while Jack celebrated!

When the couple returned home, Wanda found out that her mother had a slight accident while they were gone. She was in her bathroom sitting on the edge of the bathtub putting a coverlet on the toilet seat and fell backwards into the tub. Wanda's mother stated that it must have taken her thirty minutes to get herself out of the tub. Luckily, nothing was broken, but she was very sore and slightly bruised.

Project attend

Attendance of the first week of Project attend at Coahoma Schools went fantastically. The school reported over 98 percent in attendance. The importance of the project is apparent as the attendance for October is a basis for the amount of state funding the school system receives. Keep it up students!

Visiting Okie

James Savell and his daughter Teresa were hosts to a long-time friend from Oklahoma this past week. Jewell Nichols from Sand Springs, Oklahoma, came to Texas to see the Savells. Jewell and Teresa were roommates for several months when Teresa lived in Sand Springs, Oklahoma and have known each other for eight years. This was Jewell's first trip to Texas and she was amazed at the wide-open spaces. Sand Springs is a suburb of Tulsa and is very urban. One might think of Oklahoma as not much different from Texas, but where Jewell lives, there are lots of large trees and lots of city.

The Savells treated Jewell to some West Texas sites. The trio visited Scenic Mountain and Jewell again commented on how far you could see across the vast, flat openness of the area.

Jewell quite enjoyed seeing all the fancy pickups in town and also enjoyed scoping out the cowboys.

The Savells took Jewell to the Brass Nail for a glimpse of the night life in this area. Jewell commented on how friendly the people were in Big Spring and Coahoma.

One thing Jewell forgot when shopping for souvenirs was a copy of the Big Spring Herald newspaper. She wants Teresa to send her a copy. So, here's to you Jewell; come back and visit anytime, you are welcome!

Band boosters meet

The Coahoma Band Boosters will meet Monday night at 7 p.m. at the band hall to discuss upcoming events. The following is just a sample of things the boosters have going.

Booster sponsor, Jackie Mauch, stated that parts of the new uniforms are in and she expects the rest to arrive this next week.

The boosters participated in the Howard County Fair by having a baked goods booth. Approximately $160 was raised for the club. Mauch stated that the booth did not yield quite what they expected, but that everyone had fun anyway.

Congratulations to the 1989 band beau, Wewndell Best. Wendell is a senior this year at Coahoma and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Best of Coahoma. The 1989 band sweetheart was crowned at homecoming with Tessa Henry receiving the top honor. Tessa is also a senior and is the daughter of Neal and Paula Henry of Coahoma.

Booster members would like to remind Bulldog fans of the bumper stickers they are selling at the concession stand during the games. The stickers are red and white with the slogan, "BIG RED, NUFF SAID."

Band members have tentative plans for a balloon booth at the Halloween carnival Oct. 28 at the elementary building. The balloons can be customized for buyers and are sure to be a best seller.

The Coahoma school band will travel to Abilene Oct. 28 to participate in their first marching contest. The band is real excited and is going for a first place win at the contest.

Carnival booths

Booths are still available for the upcoming Halloween carnival, but hurry, Oct. 15 is the last day to sign your club or organization up for a booth.

Exhibitors

Martin County 4-H steer and lamb exhibitors remain competitive as evident in the Howard County Fair, after their strong showing at the Permian Basin and West Texas Fairs one week ago. The Big Spring outing will be the last "summer type" show most of the youth will make. The next show they will compete in will be the State Fair of Texas held in Dallas Oct. 16-21.

For the second week in a row, the Tubb family made their mark in an impressive showing. The results of the lamb show for the Tubb family is as follows:

Angela Tubb — Hvy wt. Finewool Cross, 3rd; Brian Tubb — Lt. Wt. Medium Wool, 3rd; Brian Tubbs, Md. Wt. Medium Wool, 3rd; Angela Tubb, Hvy. wt. Medium Wool, 1st; Brian Tubb, Hvy. wt. Medium Wool, 2nd; Champion Medium Wool, Angela Tubb; Reserve Champion Medium Wool, Brian Tubb; Grand Champion Lamb, Angela Tubb, and Reserve Grand Champion Lamb — Brian Tubb (Glendening bred).

Steer exhibitors had a good day as Chris Stone got a piece of the action showing two breed champions with his limousin winning Reserve Grand Champion Prospect. In the Progress Steer Show (those over 1,000 lbs.) the placings were as follows:

British Progress Steers — Marti Kay Mims, Middle Wt., 4th; Kenny Stewart, Heavy Wt., 3rd.

European Progress Steers — Jeremy Smith, Lt. Wt., 2nd; Chris Stone, Hvy. Wt., 2nd; and Katie Jo

Yates, Hvy. Wt., 3rd. The results of the prospect steers (1,000 lbs. & under) were as follows:

Senior center

We've been busy busy here at the center this past week. Caren Rawlings brought two of her homemaking classes to the center Sept. 25 to observe our quilting bees at work. The quilters were starting a new quilt so they got to see how the quilt is put in the frame. There were several quilts on display and as an added attraction, Lorena Flowers brought a quilt that belonged to her grand-mother, Belle Graves. The quilt is 103 years old and still in good condition. The quilters also had some pieces that are sewn together to make a quilt so the students got a very good idea of what all goes into making a quilt. Both classes seemed to enjoy the demonstration and I know the quilters enjoyed telling them all about quilting. After the students left, Ann Prough was nice enough to serve us refreshments. She made some delicious ranch biscuits and brought some butter and honey to go along with them. We would like to thank Ann not only for the refreshments but most of all for getting the senior citizens involved with the VIPS program. We would also like to thank Caren Rawlings for bringing her classes to the center. We hope we'll be able to have more with all the schools during the school year.

The senior citizens van recently took a group shopping in Big Spring. We had seven people that went to buy various things. Some go just for the ride or just to look around. We made several stops. We went to

The Medicine Shoppe, Wal-Mart, Dunlups and J.C. Penney. Everyone found what they were looking for and they all enjoyed the trip. We will try to plan a shopping trip at least once a month to Big Spring or Midland. It's a good way to go if you don't want to drive in the traffic. You just sit back and enjoy the ride.

Ola Mae Maxwell took the bus to Ft. Worth to visit some of her kin-folks. She was gone two weeks. We are glad to have her back.

The Outreach Supper will be Oct. 17 with turkey and dressing and everyone will bring a side dish or dessert. We will be entertained by Buster Haggard and Band. We will also have tables set up for "42" and other games. So please make plans now to join us for a night of good food, good entertainment, and a lot of fun.

Convention

Miss T.D. Leavelle was Martin County delegate to the 1989 State Convention of Texas Extension Homemakers Association. The State T.E.H.A. Convention convened in Corpus Christi Community Center, Corpus Christ, Sept. 12-14. Delegates and visitors were welcomed by District XIV, and the City of C.C. Mayor, Betty Turner, and Nueces County Judge Robert Barnes.

Introductions by T.E.H.A. president, Threasa Letherman, included Jennie C. Kitching, Ph. D., Assistant Director of Home Economics, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, and the Keynote Speaker, Becky Barker.

Mrs. Barker, who has been a guest on National T.V. Talk shows several times, spoke of her book. She advises to be prepared for a probable catastrophe.

Other speakers and workshops gave aspects of training. Music and entertainment concluded sessions for 965 people.

"Crime and Prevention" was the topic of the speech by Detective Floyd Price of the Lubbock Police Department.

State awards were presented following the "Blackcombers' Paradise Dinner," on Thursday night.

Noon Lions meet

Noon Lions Club met Sept. 26 with Lion McGilray presiding in the absence of the Boss Lion.

Rev. Tommie Beck introduced Rev. Lynn Moore of Clyde, who is conducting a revival at the Methodist Church as the guest speaker. He gave some very provoking thoughts on the kind of life each of us is living and the impressions we leave on others. Often we are gone, how will we be remembered?

Military

John L. McMaster, son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. McMaster, Garden City, has enrolled as a high school sophomore at New Mexico Military Institute.

About 500 new cadets are expected to enroll for the 1989-90 school year at the state-supported four-year high school and two-year junior college, according to NMMI officials.

About 375 previously enrolled cadets are expected to return.

Enrollment in the 98-year-old institution is usually about evenly divided between the high school and junior college. About 10 percent of the cadets are female, which is about the same percentage of women in the Army, officials say.

Nearly 100 of the junior college graduates will receive Army ROTC commissions as second lieutenants at graduation in May.

Navy Seaman Recruit John P. Douglas, son of James K. and Dody Norman, Colorado City, has completed recruit training at Recruit Training Command, Orlando, Fla.

During his eight-week training cycle, Douglas studied general military subjects designed to prepare him for further academic and on-the-job training in one of the Navy's 85 basic fields.

A 1989 graduate of Colorado City High School, he joined the Navy in June.

Invitations were delivered this week to some of our town's most celebrated citizens inviting them "to lend a hand" to ArtsFest, the annual event sponsored by the Cultural Affairs Council of the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce.

They are being asked to participate in a "Celebrity Paint-In" at Tubb Pocket Park, Oct. 14, to create what will most certainly Lloyd, Robert Wernsman, Dr. Charles Rainwater, Dr. David and Judy Rickey, Sherrie Bordof-ske, Ron and Laurel Brasel, David Wrinkle, Clyde McMahon Jr., Hooper Sanders, Dr. Charles Burlison, John and Cindy Marshall, Phil Spears and more.

P.S. to celebrities: Members of the Big Spring Art Association will be there to offer tips.

Billie Anderson recently blew out the candles on her 80th birth-

Linda planned the entire party at Kentwood Center — and whipped up a table of delicacies including the oversized birthday cake topped with candles and silk flowers.

Guests included Billie's long-time friends and members of her First Baptist Church Sunday School class. "Marie Daniels and I have been in the same Sunday School class 43 years," she said.

Seen in the crowd were Salina Sewell, Mary Bell, Ann Moore, Lilla Drewery, Bill and Betty Bain, Theresa Jackson, Jean Culpepper, Lucy Knox, Sally Beam and her father, Lee Baber, and Opal Wooten.

The honoree's nephew O.T. Teague and wife, Nollie, Midway, were there, along with Ina Richardson, Bobby and Margie Hill, J.J. and Mattie Richardson, Linus and Frances Tucker, Nettie Creighton, Velma Lloyd, Lillie Brown, Becky Harrill, Ethel McCannless and Mattie Glenn — and so many more.

David videotaped the gathering from start to finish and Billie got to enjoy her party all over again on instant replay!

"For 30 minutes I caught a fish every cast I made," says Quin Martin.

He and Evelyn have just returned from a visit to Columbia, Miss., to see Quin's sister, Dorothy Robbins, and his mother, Merky Martin. Dorothy has a private pond, where Quin reeled in 5-pound bass and channel cat, among others, for a family fish fry.

Quin and Evelyn celebrated their birthdays (both on the same day!) on the road — so they stopped in Eastland to dine at the Red Lobster.

Shauna Richardson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Richardson, was among the 47 fall pledges presented by Kappa Alpha Theta Sorority at Texas Tech last weekend.

The Richardsons attended the formal affair at Lubbock Civic Center, along with Chris Crownover, who was Shauna's escort.

It's a public event, so plan to come on down at 10:30 a.m. to applaud such celebrity painters as Troy and Linda Fraser, Police Chief Joe Cook, Johnnie Lou Avery, Mayor Max Green, Wade Choate, Tim and Alice Haynes, J.B. and Pat Elmore, Margaret

The party was given by her son Tippy, and her grandchildren — David and Linda Anderson, and Terry Anderson, all of Austin. Billie's great-grandchildren are Leif and Evan Anderson, and 4-year-old twins, Casey and Layne Anderson, children of David and Linda.

Helen Rainwater and Mary Kay McLaughlin stop to visit a moment beside one of the lavish buffet tables at the Thursday evening reception.

A.K. Smith, former BSSH superintendent, and his wife, Eddy, and Marjorie Rainwater recall memories of his tenure here. The Smiths were here from Illinois.

Hight School, Shauna is a liberal arts major at Tech.

Kent and Andra Newsom have quietly returned to their hometown.

Kent, son of Don and Marilyn Newsom, will join his father in the operation of his grocery stores. Andra, daughter of former residents, the Daryle Hohertzes, has opened Interior Concepts, a commercial and residential design firm in Midland.

Kent was formerly associated with the Trammel Crow Co., most recently as head of their Albuquerque, N.M. office.

Marty Geanopolos has just returned from San Francisco where she "crashed" the wedding of a former classmate from Hampton High School, Pittsburg, Pa.

The idea to surprise the wedding party was hatched up by Marty and another former classmate, Gloria Shea, COUNAUGHT LAKE, Pa. Gloria, cousin of the bridegroom, was invited, but the high school friends had lost touch with Marty.

Marty's visit would also come as a surprise to Judie Cressa, San Francisco, another wedding guest, whom Marty had not seen in 25 years.

Bob and Mary Beggs were married in a Victorian mansion turned bed-and-breakfast, followed by a full-course dinner. The bridegroom, Marty, Gloria and Judie were all high school classmates in Pittsburg.

Here's your chance to take part in the Vietnam Memorial Air Show Oct. 28-29.

Lynda Elrod reports that many volunteers are needed for show day — to set up, sell programs, take tickets, run ice to the concession stands, secure roped areas, park cars, take refreshments to the air show pilots and other tasks.

If you want to have fun and help a good cause, call Lynda at 267-8491, Janine McKenzie at 263-2031, or Charlie Lewis at 263-0276.

A.K. and Eddie Smith were in town this week from Alton, Ill., to attend the Big Spring State Hospital 50th Anniversary festivities, which were sponsored by the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce and Big Spring State Hospital Volunteer Services.

A.K. was hospital superintendent from 1981-87.

The visitors were houseguests of Bob and Sue Von Rosenberg and Dean and Joanne Forrest.

Jean Cook and Wanda Rose Fox were among the hundreds of guests turning out to show their appreciation for BSSH's 50 years of service to the community. Don and Marilyn Newsom provided the party's buffet and cake.

Garage sales

Texas City woman can sell the shirt right off your back

By GLENN COOK
Texas City Sun

TEXAS CITY (AP) — Mary Matthews says she has never been to a garage sale. But she has sold everything except a garage over the past 25 years.

"I don't recall ever going to a garage sale in my life," she said.

"She's been too busy having them," her husband, Jimmy, quickly added.

Clothes are her biggest item, but Matthews has sold a dirt bike, electronic foot massager, videocassette recorder and numerous knick-knacks and bric-a-brac. Last week, she sold a garage door.

"I had a friend who was expanding his garage and wanted to rid of a garage door. So I ran an ad and sold it at 7 a.m. the next day," Matthews said.

"I do pretty good selling," she said. "People call and ask me, 'Do you have so and so?' All the things I have are real nice."

Matthews, who has three daughters and a son, started holding garage sales when her children brought clothes home from college.

"What my girls didn't want, they would bring home when the seasons changed," she said. "They would exchange things among themselves and then I'd sell what's left over."

"Now, anything they want to sell they bring it to me and I sell it for them."

"Them" also includes 14 grandchildren, three great-grandchildren and other relatives. The dirt bike was from one of her grandchildren.

Matthews gives the profits to the owner of the items, noting the more reasonable the price, the more likely the sale.

"The people who would rather have a tax write-off sell better, while those who need the money don't sell as good because their prices are too high," she said.

"People who have been to the garage sales before call me and ask if any of the girls have brought clothes home. Sometimes I sell $60, $70 or $80 worth of stuff at one time," Matthews said.

After her retirement, Matthews began holding sales almost monthly. Now the sales are less frequent.

Still, she sometimes has trouble figuring out garage sale shoppers.

"I've had garage sales and had a shirt that someone paid $40 for, and we want to get $5 or $6 for it, but people won't pay it," Matthews said. "They just don't seem to understand that they are getting a $40 shirt for $5."

"But you put something out there for 98 cents that it seems like no one would want and people would buy it right away," she said. "I don't understand it."

Hilda Rodefelf does. The Texas City resident, who lists garage sales as one of her hobbies, doesn't even look at clothes.

"I very seldom even touch the clothes. I'm not interested in that," Rodefelf said. "Sometimes I can just walk up to a driveway, see what they've got, turn around and go back. There's no need for me to go in there."

Rodefelf said she shops for small items, such as glassware and "little collectibles, things like that." But she bought a bedroom set for her granddaughter that was "in really good condition and a fairly good price."

"Some of them are just junk, you know," said Rodefelf, who has cut back on garage sales because she started taking her grandchildren to school. "It's mostly just junk, but sometimes you get lucky and it's pretty good."

"I like pretty bowls, dishes, glasses, and I picked up a real nice set of Corningware once that was real cheap and real nice," she said, sounding proud. "Some people sell cheap, others that for a few dollars more you could go buy it new in a store."

Like many garage sale aficionados, Rodefelf is interested in items that are clean, unbroken and in good condition. And when she has garage sales, she tries to offer the same quality.

"I bring home so much stuff sometimes that I don't need it. I used to have big garage sales twice a year, but now I help my daughter when she has them at her house," she said.

"I just love to see what people are going to come in and buy. Some people get really excited over what you have to sell," Rodefelf said. "I think that's great."

TEXAS CITY — Mary Matthews poses with a stuffed animal and skirt she will sell in an upcoming garage sale at her home.

Hunting for hurricanes

By POPULAR MECHANICS (AP) Hunting for hurricanes — by high-tech satellites and by high-risk pilots who fly into the eye of the storms — saves untold millions in property and human life.

Orbiting satellites have assumed some duties in protecting man from killer storms, according to an article in the current issue of Popular Mechanics, but it takes men and women aboard rugged aircraft to pinpoint hurricanes and monitor strength.

The first man to fly deliberately into a hurricane was Army Air Corps Maj. Joseph P. Duckworth, who flew a single-engine AT-6 into a storm off Galveston, Texas, on July 27, 1943. There have been hurricane hunters ever since.

Today satellites are assuming a greater role in detecting and tracking these potential killers. Their photos show the severity, size and exact location of approaching hurricanes. The newest polar-orbiting satellites "see" inside the hurricane itself — surface winds, wave heights, the structure of the eye, tops of clouds and even rainfall.

Satellites have taken over hurricane hunting in the western Pacific, where surveillance planes no longer fly.

For weather reporting in the Atlantic, the National Hurricane Center still uses reconnaissance planes such as its NOAA-3 and the Air Forces' WC-130H. Not to be outdone, Russian planes flying out of Cuba flew into several hurricanes, including last year's hurricane Gilbert, the most powerful in history.

The planes are part of an elaborate system of airplanes, satellites, meteorology buoys, ground stations and high-speed computers operated by the National Oceanic and Atmospheric

Residents still respect the U.S. flag in Old Glory

OLD GLORY (AP) — Fate didn't hand this town much in the way of fame or fortune.

No puffed-up la-de-da sorts ever called Old Glory home. No millionaires, either. Just generations of hard-working folk who, under a blistering sun, yank up mesquite from acres of copper earth to make way for wheat, maize and cotton.

Old Glory, townsfolk will tell you, might be known for one thing only: Its name, and what it represents. And they'll tell you something else, and you better listen up: If somebody has designs on burning the flag, that somebody better not try it here, in Old Glory, Texas, U.S.A.

"I don't think they'd get a match lit before somebody'd whup 'em," says Roy Winter.

Winter, 35, drives a gas truck and works part time for the sheriff's department, and like most people who live in Stonewall County northwest of Abilene, he speaks with boot-stomping sincerity in an accent as thick as peanut butter.

"These people down here are proud of the flag, I'll tell you that," he says. "There's been a lot of people give up their lives for it. Burning the flag, it's not natural. It's not right."

Old Glory is home to 50, maybe 60 people. There used to be more, but like other small farming communities across America, most of the younger folks have forsaken the family farm for big-city opportunities. The two cotton gins long ago went out of business. The school shut its doors a few years back after the student population dwindled to 28, a tenth of what it once was.

Those who remain are as attached to the land, as stubborn about making it here as the pesky mesquite that is forever trying to stake claim in newly plowed pastures.

Along the ribbons of roads that crisscross the Lone Star State, Old Glory is rarely a destination; rather, it's a speck on the lonely highway between Abilene and Lubbock. Now and then, a traveler will brake impulsively, pull up to the little white clapboard post office with its red, white and blue flag, and shoot some pictures.

That's about it for souvenir shots. There is the two-pump gas station-grocery, and one tiny frame church in need of paint. Wash hangs on lines behind modest homes, and bales of hay rolled up like carpet lay in sun-faded pastures. Here and there are patches of wild sunflowers turning their faces to the fire. People, on the other hand, prefer to hide. There is not a shade tree in sight, and that covers quite a distance, this view across the flat Northwest Texas plains.

The residents of Old Glory do not talk about their community in terms of maybe or I don't know. They do not shrug and say this town is just an OK place to live. They say they love it. They say it is the best darn town in America, maybe the world.

And neither are they wishy-washy about their views on patriotism: Old Glory, the flag, is something you honor, treat with respect. You do not spit upon or torch the red, white and blue.

"That flag-burning deal," says Dickey Parker, "that just don't make sense, doggone."

"I think it's plumb terrible." Parker is bulldozing terraces to protect the soil from wind erosion. "I think the ones burning the flag ought to go over and live in China awhile. They might change their tune."

Old Glory was not this town's original name. Around 1907, the German immigrants who settled here called it Brandenburg. With the advent of World War I, residents thought their town shouldn't have a foreign-sounding name, and settled on the unabashedly patriotic Old Glory.

They believe theirs is the only town in America with that name, and that is a source of pride, something to wrap up in as the town's population slowly dwindles.

"If we're famous for anything, it's the name, I guess," says Boots Hunt. "That, and our twice-monthly dances out at the Herman Hall."

Hunt, who says she got her nickname because of her footwear, works at the town's only business, "JOHNSON'S FINA — GRO — GAS — MILK — ICE — BEER."

"This is the entire shopping mall, right here," she says. Her dancing blue eyes peak out from under a gimme cap that says: Take My Advice, I'm Not Using It.

She is selling a lot of beer, mostly by the case, on an afternoon when the front porch thermometer registers 103 degrees — in the shade.

"I love this town," Hunt says.

New software

"From sea to shining sea" covers a lot of territory, and if you need detail on United States geography, consider a program called PC USA.

It costs $69.95 and requires an IBM PC with at least 512,000 characters of memory, but you get a very thorough illustrated database of the United States that not only shows outline maps, but coughs up data.

If, for example, you want to find the average annual pay, or employment or crime rates in Virginia, the appropriate information can be on your screen in seconds and on a printer not much later. If you need to know the distance between Houston and El Paso, just ask.

The program will also handle ZIP codes, telling you that 44111 is in Cleveland or 60601 is in Chicago. It does something similar for area codes.

You also get maps of elevations, major cities and points of interest, plus screens filled with state trivia, state history, climate — more than you'll probably want to know.

The program is easy to install and easy to use. A point-and-shoot utility lets you select a state from a United States map, and the entire program is menu driven. Graphics can be saved in a generic bit-mapped file and exported to word-processing programs, including WordPerfect 5.0.

The company also publishes PC Globe +, which covers the world with a similar treatment. The only niggle about either program is the price, edging towards the high side for a home user. For more information: PC Globe Inc. 4435 South Rural Road, Building 5, Suite 333, Tempe, AZ, 85282. Phone 602-894-6866. Fax 602-894-6867.

Computing is getting to be a sober-sided business, with the pinstripe gang crowding out the slightly zany types who used to frolic among the electrons. Enter the OPENDOOR operating system, by Computer Resources of Livingston, Calif., which can add a little levity to offices equipped with IBM PC and compatibles.

OPENDOOR is a spoof of the do-it-all programs now so popular in business. When you need to look busy in a hurry, call up a dummy spreadsheet or graph. If you want to do more than make faces at the yo-yo on the other end of the phone, call up the Jerk-O-Meter to assess how irritating he is. Want to cut the conversation short? Try the program that sounds like another phone ringing. There's also a What To Eat Decision Maker and a Crystal Ball.

All is in good humor, even the manual. If you (or your father) own the company where you work, the manual has instructions on how to modify an AUTOEXEC.BAT file so the program pops unbidden to the screen. It also explains the error messages. Fatal error 3567-8, for example, means "The mouse or cursor arrow keys are lonely and feel left out. Either talk to them more often or pet them every once in a while."

The program is available for $19.95 plus $2.50 shipping and handling from Computer Resources, PO Box 426, Livingston, CA 95334-0426.

For CompuBug's 170-page book, "ABCs of Computing, a Plain-English Guide," send $10 to CompuBug, PO BOX 626, Summit, NJ 07901. Questions and comments of general interest are welcome at the same address.
