County eyes budget

BIG SPRING — Howard County Commissioners will consider budget amendments to the 1988-89 county fiscal budget as they convene in a special Tuesday meeting.

The commissioner's meeting, usually held the second and fourth Monday of every month, was moved to Tuesday because county offices were closed today in observance of Columbus Day.

On Tuesday, commissioners will:

- Consider insurance bids.
- Consider a resolution on a wastewater contract.
- Consider sending county health department officials James Luck and Dr. H.F. Schwarzenbach to a course on local health concerns.
- Consider the appointment of two individuals for a tax collection contract.
- Hear a presentation from County Clerk Margeret Ray on machine maintenance.

Lean on me

WASHINGTON — Two unidentified visitors console each other as they visit the AIDS quilt on the ellipse near the White House Sunday afternoon. The quilt, sponsored by the NAMES Project, was being displayed for the last time in the nation's capital.

Appraisal board meets

BIG SPRING — An update on a lawsuit filed by Dallas-based E&P Operating against the Howard County Appraisal District is expected to be heard in Wednesday's meeting of appraisal board members.

Board members will hear from Capital Appraisal Group, the Austin-based appraising agency which did the mineral valuation for the E&P Operating property. E&P filed suit recently in 118th District Court after expressing dissatisfaction with the appraisal value set by the appraisal district.

The appraisal review board is also expected to:

- Receive an update on the search for appraisal review board members. Chief Appraiser Keith Toomire said previously that changes in state law now limit the amount of times someone can serve as an ARB member.
- Because some of the members will end their terms having served the maximum term allowed under the new law, a search for new members is needed, Toomire has said.
- Consider appointing an agriculture advisory committee. The idea of an ag committee is the result of another new state law, he said.
- Review the election process of appraisal board members.

Teleconference set

Howard College and Big Spring Cable TV, Inc., will join 300 community, technical, and junior colleges across the country as community hosts for the 6th national interactive video teleconference in the American Seminar series, presented by the American Association of Community, and Junior Colleges (AACJC).

The event is planned for 2 p.m. Thursday in the Fireplace room of the Dora Roberts Student Union Building.

Ambulance asks for subsidy hike

By RUTH COCHRAN
City Editor

BIG SPRING — Rural/Metro ambulance service will go to the well once more, this time asking the city council for a 7 percent subsidy increase annually for three years.

The ambulance service will make its request during a regular city council meeting at 5 p.m. Tuesday in terminal building 1106, Big Spring McMahon/Wrinkle Airpark. Previously, Rural/Metro Corporation had asked for a 25 percent increase in the $62,000 subsidy already paid by the city.

Howard County officials have already granted an increase from $51,000 to $62,500, a subsidy it will pay annually through 1991-92.

The city council, however, rejected increasing the annual subsidy to $77,784 in 1989-90 during an August meeting, saying the local service is making a profit. The council said it felt an increase would help subsidize the entire corporation.

Also, according to the contract between the city and Rural/Metro, the ambulance service is allowed only a 7 percent subsidy increase each year.

Because Rural/Metro's current contract expires in July 1990, the service is asking for a two-year extension with a 7 percent increase each year, as well as in 1989-90.

If the council approves a 7 percent hike for this year, the city's subsidy will increase to $66,588.

If it approves 7 percent increases for the two-year contract extension, the subsidy will be $71,249 in 1990-91 and $76,236 in 1991-92.

Other agenda items the council will consider include:

- A discussion concerning a city sales tax election and a bond issue election.

Mayor Max Green said he will ask the council to consider holding elections to increase the city sales tax 1/2 percent and to issue bonds to pay for various items.

"I want to see what all we need to

Murderer's brother faces same charge

By BRADLEY WORRELL
Staff Writer

BIG SPRING — The brother of a woman convicted of the murder of a long-time local radio personality could face trial Oct. 16 on a charge of capital murder in connection with the same death.

Patrick Newton, 18, Big Spring, is charged with capital murder in the April 1988 robbery and shooting death of C. Vance Kimble, 61, confirmed William Dupree, Howard County assistant district attorney.

Newton's sister, Pamela Marie Newton, was convicted in May of Kimble's murder. Also possibly set for trial Oct. 16 is dismissed Big Spring Police Department officer Dennis Dunn, charged with voluntary manslaughter in connection with the shooting April 1988 death of his wife, and brothers Ricardo and Robert Flores on a charge of murder in connection with the April 1988 bludgeoning death of an Odessa man.

Kimble, a personality with KBST AM radio station, was found dead at his residence April 1, 1988, the victim of a single gunshot wound to the chest. Several items, including two vehicles, were missing from Kimble's home.

Patrick Newton, free on $50,000 bond, was one of four people originally arrested in connection with Kimble's death. In May, his sister, Pamela, was sentenced to 48 years in the Texas Department of Corrections for Kimble's murder.

The Newtons and Michael Hodnett, 24, were arrested in New Orleans, La., after Pamela Newton allegedly tried to use one of Kimble's credit cards.

The Newtons and Hodnett were later extradited to Howard County. A fourth person later was arrested in Florida in connection with Kimble's slaying, but was cleared of any wrongdoing.

Melinda Anderson explains an art technique to her students at Howard College. Anderson says a person must apply himself to become a successful artist.

Sharing art world important to Howard College instructor

By LYNN HAYES
Staff Writer

Sharing the world of art and teaching aspiring artists to develop his or her creative powers is important to Melinda Anderson.

An art instructor at Howard College, Anderson says she likes to excite and motivate her students — but she also relays a "sense of purpose and seriousness of the class."

Because art occurs in some form in every-day lives, Anderson said it's important to recognize the value of her profession.

"I believe in what I do," she said. "We're flooded everyday with art through TV... We live in a world filled with art and advertising... clothes, cars..."

Taking an art class, Anderson said, won't make an artist if the person doesn't apply himself.

"The student has to have the desire... I can't make you an artist, you must desire to be an artist," she said.

Anderson, who received a bachelor's of fine arts and master's of fine arts degrees from the University of Tulsa, said her class is easy but requires some precision.

"It's not all fun — you have to work at it," she said.

Creative powers are strongly related to emotions, she said, with an artist's success hinging on that balance.

"To be an artist you must be in touch with your emotions. That's where your creative powers come from," Anderson said.

Anderson said a beginning artist can develop his or her skills through their personality.

"Everyone has a personality... Their creative input depends on how their art will develop," she said.

What about the person who can't even draw stick people?

"I can't draw stick people either," Anderson said with a laugh.

Anderson, who teaches drawing, watercolor, color and design, and art history, said several careers are open to art students, including teaching, advertising, free-lance work, and working as an in-house artist at a newspaper.

"There are many facets of artists," she said, noting that Walt Disney employees are mostly artists.

Anderson especially enjoys creating watercolor artworks. A self-proclaimed "watercolor purist," Anderson said she uses no white or black paint.

"In my opinion white looks false," she said.

She uses a combination of colors to create deep blacks, she noted.

Although none of her former students have become famous for their artistic abilities, she says she has come in contact with students that show great talent.

Because a successful artist usually becomes famous only

Sign of the times

BIG SPRING — The signs in this depot, above, on the corner of Scurry and 11th streets are ready for placement; the Vexfax Company is working along the curbs of Highway 87, and the pile is part of the last minute rubble used to finish off the job. Johnny Rivera and Armando Castro, left, of Strickland & Knight, Inc., prepare to place a stop sign at the corner of Gregg and Fifth streets.

Majority welcome retirement village

By JAMES FLEEHR
Staff Writer

BIG SPRING — A St. Francis Retirement Village community would find a warm welcome among current residents of the area being proposed for retirement housing, a random poll shows.

A majority of residents in the proposed area of the St. Francis Retirement Village support the plan and most were willing to relocate if necessary, a poll conducted by the Big Spring Herald shows.

Representatives of the Catholic-affiliated retirement community visited Big Spring in August to consider locating a community in the Greenbelt addition, now known as Hillside Properties.

The St. Francis Retirement Village could fill as many as an estimated 285 homes at Hillside, which previously served as military housing for Air Force personnel at Webb A.F.B.

The names for the survey were chosen out of the phone book from the area of residential concentration suggested for the retirement plan. Some 30 residents out of 65 potential contacts responded to the questions.

The final results show 67 percent of those polled were in favor of the move to bring in the 500 new residents to Big Spring, 15 percent "did not know" or "were not familiar" with the proposal. About 9 percent already owned their pro-

Celebrity Paint-In begins month-long ArtsFest

HERALD STAFF REPORT

BIG SPRING — Painting and politics will mix — at least for a day — when several area dignitaries participate in the Celebrity Paint-In Saturday at the Tubb Pocket Park.

Area residents will get the opportunity to sample the artistic endeavors of State Rep. Troy Fraser, Mayor Max Green, Johnnie Lou Avery, Police Chief Joe Cook and others at the paint-in. The event is part of the month-long ArtsFest, sponsored by the Cultural Affairs Council of the Chamber of Commerce.

The paint-in will begin at 10:30 a.m. at the park. In case of bad weather, the event will be held in the Sparenberg Building next door. But politicians won't be the only ones trying their hands at painting during the event. Also scheduled to appear are J.B. Elmore, Tim Haynes, Wade Choate, Margerit Lloyd, Robert Wernsman and Sherril Bordofski, along with other local notables.

The 4th annual ArtsFest, which began Oct. 5 with the Howard College production of Woody Allen's Don't Drink the Water, is a six-week celebration of the visual and performing arts in Big Spring. Other events scheduled for this year's ArtsFest include:

- Oct. 14-15 — Classic Car Show, Dunlap's parking lot.
- Oct. 21-22 — Big Spring Arts and Crafts Festival, Dorothy Garrett Coliseum.

Nov. 1-18 — Art Focus Gallery exclusive showing featuring the works of Doris Vierrege, Janie Linney and Betty Conley.

Nov. 4 — The Big Spring Symphony Association presents the Second Annual Big Spring Native Concert, featuring Keith Graumann conducting the Big Spring Symphony Orchestra, with Suzanne Craig on piano.

Nov. 6 — Big Spring High School Choir Concert, 8 p.m., BSHS cafeteria.

Nov. 13 — Music students recital, 7 p.m., Tumbleweed Room, Howard College Student Union Building.

Nov. 16-18 — The Howard College Drama Department presents One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest at 8 p.m. in the college auditorium.

Nov. 18 — The Heritage Museum presents A Night in New Orleans, an art, jazz and creole buffet from 6:30-8:30 p.m. in the First National Bank lobby.

erty in the area and were against moving (one was a senior citizen and another against relocation because of ownership), with 9 percent being flatly against moving from their dwellings even if the retirement plan is finalized.

Of the 67 percent that favored the location of the retirement community locally, 66 percent said they would be willing to relocate; 18 percent had already moved from the area and 16 percent are senior citizens.

Most who responded to the poll where familiar with the St. Francis proposal.

"I really don't understand it too thoroughly, but if it comes in, it would help Big Spring," said Dorothy Webster of Ent Drive, part of the former-Greenbelt area.

"I don't think it would be right," said Nellie Turner, when asked if she would relocate. But Turner decided being a senior citizen herself, she would not be asked to move.

Mrs. Donald Andrews of Dow Drive, said, "We're ready to move this week."

Richard Haro, also of Dow Drive, said, "We're living in a house that may be vacated by the project. If it betters Big Spring, yes, I would be willing to find another house."

He explained there has been no manager's notice, but he would require two or three months.

R. E. Howard, of Fairchild Drive, said, "I really don't have a side on it one way or another."

Many agreed the retirement center "would be a good thing for the community."

The residents were chosen from the following drives: Albrook, Chanute, Dow, Ent, Fairchild, Kelly, and Langly.

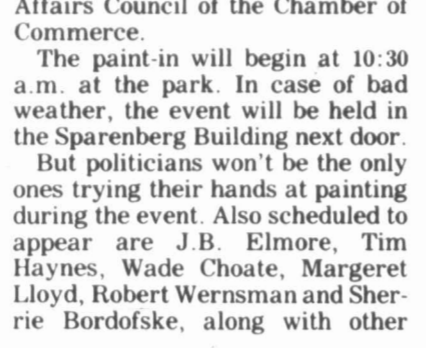

Final considerations are still pending on the project, and no definite decision has been made regarding the status of the proposal. Discussions are continuing between officials with the retirement community, the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce, and the property's owner, Dallas-based Southwest Savings.

If convicted of capital murder, Newton could face death by lethal injection, Dupree said.

Dennis Dunn, 39, was arrested in April 1988 on a charge of involuntary manslaughter in the shooting death of his 25-year-old wife Carlye. He currently is free on a $90,000 bond.

A grand jury convened in December chose to indict Dunn on a greater charge of voluntary manslaughter. If convicted, Dunn could be sentenced from two to 20 years in the TDC, Dupree said.

Brothers Richard "Ricardo" Flores and Robert Romero Flores were arrested on a charge of murder in connection with the April 2 slaying of Manuel Garcia.

Garcia's body was found under a mattress, boards and a washing machine shell in a west Big Spring sand pit. An autopsy revealed he died of trauma caused by a blow to the head from a blunt instrument and that he had suffered a gunshot wound to the head.

Robert Flores is currently out on $50,000 bond; Ricardo Flores is being held without bond in the Howard County jail after being arrested on other charges related to parole violations.

Docket call to determine the order of the cases tried is set for Tuesday.

The boss drops in SINTON (AP) — Employees at the Wal-Mart store in Sinton, 25 miles north of Corpus Christi, "looked a little surprised" when Sam M. Walton, chairman of Wal-Mart Stores, Inc., and reportedly the richest man in America, dropped in for an early morning visit.

LAREDO — Texas-Mexican Railway workers cleared a four-car derailment Sunday afternoon. The derailment occurred Saturday when the cars jumped the tracks and struck a gas station building. No injuries were reported.

Texan Miss Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A University of Texas senior won the title of Miss Columbus USA, a pageant for women from cities named Columbus across the country.

Tracy Walla, 21, Miss Columbus, Texas, was named Saturday night by Barrie Brandt, president of the Columbus USA Association. She was crowned by last year's winner, Traci Green of Columbus, Ga.

Miss Columbus, Ohio, Crystal Bozeman, 23, was not eligible to compete because she is from the host city.

Arnold Schwarzenegger, who was scheduled to crown the winner, was delayed on a flight out of Austria. He arrived late for the evening's festivities.

Ms. Walla is majoring in advertising and hopes to become an ad agency copywriter.

The pageant is part of the Columbus USA Weekend 1989 celebration. It is open to women aged 18 to 25. The women are judged on poise, personality, attitude, intelligence and beauty.

Eleven other women from Columbus in Wisconsin, North Carolina, Montana, Indiana, Georgia, Kansas, New Jersey, North Dakota and Missouri and Columbus City and Columbus Junction in Iowa competed in the pageant.

Food drive cools

FORT WORTH (AP) — A Texas Christian University fraternity says its food drive is a legitimate effort and apologized for any confusion caused by mislabeled collection sacks.

The men of Lambda Chi Alpha had passed out grocery sacks last week that they hoped would be filled with leftover canned goods. The charity drive was billed as a "Pantry Raid."

There was one major problem. The sacks read: "Panty Raid."

But Lambda Chi member Bill Swope, a TCU junior, told the Fort Worth Star-Telegram that the fraternity wanted to encourage others to raid cupboards not dressers.

"We fixed those sacks but not all," he said. "We want people to know we are serious."

The fraternity was collecting the food on Sunday.

Schools still scrambling for space, teachers

HOUSTON (AP) — Six weeks into the school year, several area school districts are still searching for permanent teachers.

Some students are having to squeeze into crowded classrooms, and others are studying under librarians or substitute teachers as the search for teachers continues.

Officials from some school districts said unexpected enrollment increases have left them short-handed. Other districts, including the Houston Independent School District, continue to grapple with the pitfalls of a typical urban district: low pay and poor conditions.

HISD is repeating a familiar scenario in its search to fill 140 teaching openings. But the problem is new for other districts such as Pasadena, where a surprise enrollment surge created the need for 30 extra teachers.

Pasadena's 1,000-pupil increase, including about 800 elementary students, has forced some classes to meet on cafeteria stages while schools await portable buildings that are on order.

"Eight hundred students is the equivalent of a large elementary school," district spokesman Kirk Lewis said. "You're talking about hiring a whole campus."

Recruiters from many suburban school districts also are scouring the state for teachers. They too blame the need on an influx of pupils.

In Aldine, where enrollment grew by 800 pupils, officials are struggling to fill 24 vacancies. Of those, 18 are special education or bilingual teaching slots — areas school officials said are the most difficult to fill because of a lack of properly trained teachers for them.

Conroe school district recruiters are fanning out across the state to fill nine teaching vacancies because of a growth spurt, particularly in The Woodlands, officials said.

Meanwhile, classes in need of permanent teachers there are being staffed by substitutes.

Elsewhere in the area, Alief has been advertising in and out of the state to fill six elementary teaching slots. Galveston and Tomball have been looking for two teachers.

Many other districts, however, have been fully staffed.

The Cypress-Fairbanks school district typically has about 20 applicants for every position, said Dr. William R. Pence, administrative assistant for research and planning.

The Galena Park, Deer Park, La Porte, Katy, Montgomery, Spring Branch and Clear Creek school districts also reported no teaching vacancies.

Even at HISD, the shortages aren't as bad as usual. The 50 openings for regular teachers and 90 openings for special education and bilingual vacancies at this point in the school year is a marked improvement over previous years, said district spokeswoman Sarah Smith.

Dallasite shares station wagon with homeless man

DALLAS (AP) — Jose Luis Prado is more than happy to share his 1973 Ford station wagon with a 72-year-old man, but the two rarely go anywhere together.

When Prado gets up and gets ready to go to work, Charlie gets out of the vehicle and gets ready to go no place in particular. Thanks to Prado's kindness, the station wagon is the older man's bedroom.

About four months ago, Prado had noticed the man he knows only as Charlie sitting in a parking lot next to his house, surrounded by plastic bags filled with clothing. The disconsolate man told Prado the car he had been sleeping in had been towed away.

"I had to do something," Prado told The Dallas Morning News.

So he let Charlie move into his station wagon.

The men rarely have time for more than a quick greeting on most mornings. Charlie gets up about 5:45 a.m., smokes his first cigar of the day and dresses. A few minutes later, Prado comes out of the home he rents in East Dallas and gets his car keys from Charlie, who keeps them in case he has to raise or lower the electric windows during the night.

Charlie thanks Prado again for his generosity and tells him to have a good day at work as the younger man heads off to his job as a city trash collector.

While Prado and Charlie's bedroom are gone to work, Charlie makes his rounds through the neighborhood, usually spending most of the day at a fast-food restaurant. He talks for hours with regulars, sometimes being bought a meal or sometimes buying food with money he has saved on his own. Sometimes, he doesn't eat at all.

"It cleans out my system," he says.

Prado, 46, confides that his hopes of getting a larger home so Charlie could live with his family had recently fallen through.

"I wanted to offer Charlie a room because I don't like to see this man sleeping in my car," Prado told the Dallas newspaper. "But I think it's better to sleep in the car than in the street or on the floor. I want to help him better. If I had a bigger house I could let him come sleep with us."

But Prado, who has four children, already has a son sleeping on his couch.

Once, he offered Charlie air fare to see his family, but the elder man refused.

Prado said he has no choice but to offer what help he can because of his upbringing. He recalls times his mother was penniless and his family went three and four days without eating anything but stale tortillas. Still, his mother would offer to share what little they had with others.

State's betting take fine with governor

BRADY (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements, losing at the betting window as pari-mutuel wagering on horse racing returned to Texas, said he remains opposed to lowering the state's 5 percent take on racetrack wagers.

With his wife, Rita, a Brady native, the governor watched the races Sunday from a front-row seat at the finish line of G. Rollie White Downs.

Pari-mutuel betting in the state was resurrected here Friday after a 52-year hiatus.

"I've been betting for the governor each race and haven't won him a penny yet," said Brady Mayor H.L. "Bud" Gober Jr., who placed several $2 bets for Clements — each of which put a dime in state coffers.

Clements told the Fort Worth Star-Telegram he sees no reason to lower the state's take, although some of his appointees to the Texas Racing Commission said the current arrangement may be impeding the arrival of top-flight Class 1 racing in Texas.

Horsemen have voiced similar complaints, saying an investment into a Class 1 track would be a losing proposition with the state taking such a high percentage of the total amount bet, or handle.

"I'm not in favor of reducing the take until we've tried it this way and until we find out if it works or doesn't work," Clements said.

"When we were doing all this in the Legislature and it was put to the people as a constitutional amendment as to whether we have it or don't have it, they (voters) stated what the conditions were going to be. And now to suddenly want to change the rules — I'm just not for that," he said.

Voters approved pari-mutuel betting in a 1987 statewide referendum, and the Class 2 track in Brady is the first to offer legal betting in Texas since 1937.

In the first three days of racing, the track's handle was $591,083. Attendance was 14,557, and gamblers put down an average of about $50 apiece.

Crude oil stocks rise

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An unusual autumn rise in retail gasoline prices has slowed nearly to a halt because of abundant oil supplies and volume discounts to sellers, an industry analyst said.

The biweekly Lundberg Survey of 12,000 gasoline stations nationwide shows the average price, including taxes, for all grades of gasoline was $109.56 a gallon — up 0.13 cent a gallon from two weeks earlier.

The usual pattern of rising spring and summer prices, with fall reductions based on slower consumption, was turned on its head this year, analyst Tribby Lundberg said Sunday.

"They rose in spring, fell in summer and rose in the fall. At any rate, the situation seems to be returning to normal," she said.

Rising insurance and other costs to retailers have made it important for them to sell in high volume, something oil companies are pushing by offering volume discounts, Ms. Lundberg said.

At self-service stations, the latest Lundberg Survey shows regular unleaded at 96.87 cents a gallon, regular unleaded at 98.49 cents and premium unleaded at $1.16.

At full-service pumps, regular unleaded was $1.26 a gallon, regular unleaded was $1.27 and premium unleaded was $1.40.

Cracking down on mail from government 'look-alikes'

WASHINGTON (AP) — An elderly couple in Texas is invited to join a $50,000 "Social Security" sweepstakes.

An 81-year-old retiree in New Jersey receives an envelope from the "IRS" asking her to donate money to a group opposing a new Medicare law.

A California couple gets a "warrant of appearance" to claim a prize from the "Department of FBI."

Official-looking letters from official-sounding organizations that have no connection to the government are coming under increasing scrutiny this year from members of Congress hoping to crack down on legal but potentially misleading mailings.

Direct-mail schemes involving "look-alike" letters and "sound-alike" groups range from real estate investment deals to sale of services that already are available for free from the government.

The "FBI" letter, for example, was from the Fountains Bureau of Invitations and invited families to visit a California resort.

The "IRS" designation signified only that the letter came from a non-profit group with a particular Internal Revenue Service classification.

Many look-alike mailings fall into a "gray area" — they confuse the recipient about their origin but are still legal, said Thomas W. McClure of the Postal Inspection Service. "Something needs to be done to make sure the public gets a clearer interpretation of what they're receiving."

The Direct Marketing Association, a trade group, tries to police itself and deter unethical solicitations, but look-alike mailings "have been a consistent problem over the past couple of years," said spokeswoman Lorna Christie.

Direct-mail schemes involving "look-alike" letters and "sound-alike" groups range from real estate investment deals to sale of services that already are available for free from the government.

The House in July approved legislation that would require private mailings bearing official-looking emblems, titles and insignia to include prominent disclaimers of any government affiliation. Similar legislation is pending in the Senate, with committee action likely this fall.

The legislation's supporters include the American Association of Retired Persons, which says "look-alike" mailings often target the elderly and prey on their concerns about the well-being of Social Security and Medicare. Some come in envelopes similar to those containing Social Security checks and bear typical government messages like "Buy and Hold U.S. Savings Bonds."

"There seems to be no end to people's creativity in finding some way to make money at other people's expense," said the AARP's Robin Talbert. "People get confused about exactly what it is they're getting."

Private mailings tied to Social Security "are on the increase, unfortunately, because it's a very lucrative business," said Social Security Administration spokesman Phil Gambino.

Groups charge fees ranging up to $40 to help married women change the name on their Social Security records, get Social Security numbers for children or obtain personal earnings records. In many cases, recipients are unaware the services are available at no cost through SSA.

Among the outfits that have come under criticism is the Social Security Protection Bureau, which staged the $50,000 Social Security sweepstakes. It charges $7 for a "membership kit" that includes a form people can mail in to check their retirement contributions — a form available free from SSA.

"A person has a right to either do it themselves or have someone else obtain the information for them," said Michael Kushnick, an attorney for the company. He defended its right to sell a service and said the mailings already include a disclaimer of government affiliation.

The new Social Security Commissioner, Gwendolyn King, said she is looking for ways to cut down on misleading mailings that invoke the name of her agency, and plans to work with Congress on the problem. She recalled a frantic phone call years ago from her 82-year-old grandmother, who said she had gotten notice her retirement benefits were being cut off. The letter turned out to be from a group seeking donations to safeguard Social Security.

"It was almost worded just that crassly — 'If you don't send something you may lose your benefits,'" Mrs. King said. "We've got to figure out how we can shut these things down."

The pending legislation is designed to take a first step in that direction.

Home offers alternative living

By LYNN BULMAHN
Waco Tribune-Herald

McGREGOR — Senior citizens who don't want to live alone and do not require nursing home care have a new alternative.

Called a board and care home, the home-style facility allows elderly people to rent a private room yet enjoy the advantages of a family setting, such as eating meals with other residents.

Cooking is done for them, unless they'd like to help.

The senior citizens may provide their own furniture for their room.

Board and care is a fairly new concept here but has been popular in Europe for some time.

Floyd and Bonnie Norton have converted their large home in McGregor to accommodate four boarders.

"This is my way of beating the 'empty nest syndrome,'" said Mrs.

Norton, the mother of five grown children. "It would be nice to have a house full again."

The Nortons cannot provide nursing care but say their home is for elderly people in reasonably good health who do not want to live alone or in a large facility.

"A lot of older people don't want to live with their children," Mrs. Norton said. "This would be perfect for them."

The home can also be used for respite care for families caring for older relatives. For instance, if the family went on vacation, the elderly relative could move in for a few weeks.

Mrs. Norton, the self-described "house mouse" and perpetual hostess, said the board and care homes she's visited are nice, family-style homes.

The board and care concept offers both companionship and privacy.

"I want them to retain as much of their independence as they can," Mrs. Norton said. "That's important for their mental health."

The stimulation of living around other people may help prevent an older person's health from declining, she said.

"Often they don't like to eat alone," she said. "They don't have much of an appetite when they're by themselves."

Hazel Limback, director of aging services for the Heart of Texas Council of Governments, said board and care is a new idea in this area.

"I think there is a need for alternative lifestyles for the elderly," she said. "This is just one more option."

As yet, few regulations exist governing such facilities. "Homes are being requested to register with the State Department of Aging," Ms. Limback said. "No law requires this. It's at the option of the facility to do so."

The Nortons say they have voluntarily registered their home.

Ms. Limback said senior citizens considering a board and care arrangement should ask the following questions of the board and care provider.

- What is the cost, and what does that cost include? Ms. Limback said middle income people often cannot afford such facilities on their retirement income.

- What kind of supervision is provided? "Are they going to remind older people to take their medicine? Will they administer the medications? A lot of board and cares will not," Ms. Limback said.

Heavy lunch

EINDHOVEN, Netherlands — Elephants of Germany's Krone circus give new meaning to the phrase, "all you can eat" at a buffet lunch offered by a hotel during the circus' visit here recently. Each of the elephants enjoyed a lunch of fruit, vegetables, bread and four-pound cake.

'Tort king' has no plans of retirement

NEW YORK (AP) — At an age when most men are into their third decade of retirement, Harry H. Lipsig decided to start his second law firm.

With characteristic nerve and verve, the 87-year-old Lipsig — one of the nation's best-known personal-injury lawyers — marched into his longtime office several months ago, accompanied by a half-dozen guards. With his men standing sentry — the decision stemmed from a feud with his partners — Lipsig emptied his desk and pulled his name from the door.

Lipsig still appears in the courtroom occasionally but most of the day-to-day trial work goes to his new partner and protege, Bonita E. Zelman, a tough, no-nonsense lawyer and former assistant Queens district attorney.

But driven by a passion for perfection, enormous ambition, endless energy and a gift for showbiz glitz, Lipsig has made millions for himself, winning unheard-of settlements in apparently unwinnable cases.

It was Lipsig — known at the courthouse as "The Equalizer" — who got $740,000 for the family of a heart-attack victim by convincing a jury the man had been frightened to death by a car that rolled up on his lawn.

It was Lipsig who once showed how an Acapulco hotel was actually to blame when a shark attacked a guest. He argued that the hotel had dumped garbage in the ocean and failed to warn guests that the refuse might attract sharks.

It was Lipsig — in the dual roles of lawyer and Exhibit A — who argued last year that Dr. Hyman Chornow, a 71-year-old psychologist run over by a squad car driven by a drunken officer, had years of potential income-earning left.

"He could well have outlived me," Lipsig argued.

City lawyers threw in the towel and settled the case for $1.25 million.

Lipsig boasts that he's one of the reasons New York City employs 120 full-time personal-injury lawyers — overworked lawyers at that — and expects to shell out some $175 million this year in awards and settlements.

Like most lawyers in tort or personal-injury law, he works on a contingency-fee basis, typically taking a third of the final award. He sneers at those who say aggressive personal-injury lawyers have caused insurance rates to skyrocket and are costing taxpayers millions in suits against city governments.

Then he tells of the feelings that "well up within me very often on behalf of some poor devil torn to shreds or living in that vilest of prisons one can conceive — not a prison cell that he has been unjustly confined in, but the vilest prison of all — helpless on a hospital bed, paralyzed."

At his finest, Lipsig handles the emotions of a jury with the finesse of a symphony conductor. "Bore a jury and you've lost the case," he says.

But his victories are supported by long hours of meticulous research — Lipsig is obsessed about not being proved wrong or made to appear the fool for overlooking something in the law.

In a career that has lifted ambulance-chasing to a new level, Lipsig has seen himself adoringly profiled in Time magazine and The Wall Street Journal; he points proudly to the framed clippings on the walls of his office.

Modesty has no place in his vocabulary when he speaks of himself or his practice. "No lawyer who tries cases is any good unless he has vanity. What is vanity but the blood brother of self-respect and confidence?"

The details of his personal and professional life are overseen by Mary Lou Castillo, a 33-year-old woman adopted in January by Lipsig and his wife.

Some of his old partners say Ms. Castillo, the owner of a Mexican restaurant and Lipsig's ever-present assistant, drove the wedge that split him from his former firm. He says she merely helped open his eyes.

Lipsig, whose Ukrainian family immigrated to New York when he was 6, graduated from Brooklyn Law School in 1929 when most of the good legal work went to large and politically connected Irish firms. Aspiring Jewish attorneys like Lipsig were left with minor criminal cases, personal injury and the like.

It has made him rich; Lipsig was getting a reported $5 million a year when he quit his old firm. Still, he insists on working and is driven to his office in lower Manhattan daily from his luxury apartment near

He still finds time to be host of a weekly cable TV talk show and "Ask Harry," a radio show in which he offers legal advice.

Make AIDS drug available to kids

Hundreds of kids are suffering and dying because they are unable to obtain azidothymidine, the most effective treatment against AIDS.

Burroughs Wellcome Co., the manufacturer, says it's moving as fast as it can to make AZT available to kids. But the assurance rings hollow since the company has yet to apply for government approval to market the drug to children under 12.

Critics say the company is dragging its feet because the potential market among children is small.

Until the drug receives FDA approval for the children, the insurance companies and the federal government will not pick up its cost ... about $6,000 a year — which many parents cannot afford.

In addition, the adult formulation of AZT is too strong for children. The capsules must be broken and smaller amounts of the foul-tasting medicine mixed with juice or another liquid.

The situation is absurd. The company should file an application as soon as possible and develop a dosage that is appropriate for children. AIDS doesn't discriminate against children. Neither should Burroughs.

An eminently reasonable request

The cocaine-beseiged president of Colombia, Virgilio Barco, made some eminently reasonable requests of the United States on his visit to Washington last week.

Barco, who is trying to get tough with the drug lords who all but run his country, did not come seeking more financial aid. Instead, he asked for help of a different sort than merely throwing money at the problem.

Barco rightly enough wants the U.S. to restore a coffee-export quota system that favors Colombia. When the U.S. blocked renewal of the quota agreement last July, world coffee prices plummeted. The effect of this in Colombia is to turn more coffee farmers into cocaine farmers, a development that is not in this nation's self-interest.

Barco also asked President Bush to curtail the export from the U.S. to Colombia of chemicals used to manufacture cocaine and to limit production of the automatic weapons used by the drug lords.

And Barco asked members of Congress for greater efforts to educate Americans against the use of drugs to help shut off the market.

In taking on the drug lords, Barco is risking his life. The least this government can do is support policies that make Barco's unenviable task less daunting.

Tax cut: Something for nothing?

In retrospect, it is hardly surprising that President Bush's capital gains tax cut should win so handily in the House of Representatives last week.

Politicians can scarcely resist voting for a plan to get something for nothing, and despite all the rhetoric to the contrary, that is just what this tax cut offered.

The "rich" that (Majority Leader Richard) Gephardt insists will be the only beneficiaries of a capital gains tax cut include low- and middle-income earners who would benefit only after cashing in their investments.

Many of these same people voted for George Bush last November, and (the) unexpectedly lopsided vote on capital gains may indicate that their interests are being recognized by a growing number of legislators.

We believe the economic policies that would emerge from Capitol Hill under those circumstances would be good for the country.

Beware: The scam is in the mail

Careless about who spends your money? You are if you give out your credit card numbers to strangers who solicit your business over the telephone, and you are if you send out checks to "official looking" contest companies who inform you that you can collect a fat prize if you will only send them money to pay for processing your award.

These scams and hundreds more just like them are literally flooding the U.S. mails today, going out to countless millions of unsuspecting Americans, and there is little difficulty in these rip-off artists reaching almost everyone with a post office address.

It's a crying shame that billions of dollars are being bilked out of millions of Americans by reason of an all-out assault on them through the mails and via telephones; and two things make it possible: Federal regulations are not sufficiently strict to prevent massive mail and telephone fraud, and too many people (the victims) still believe there is a free lunch.

We urge Congress to devise effective anti-fraud laws for the nation's communications systems to prevent the robbery of innocent people.

Making peace on the budget

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Once a final deal is cut on taxes, the Republican administration and the Democrats who run Congress will have to find a way to make peace if they're going to deal with the budget crisis.

That will be at least as difficult as the House-Senate negotiations this week on the misnamed reconciliation bill that is supposed to bring the current budget into line with congressional goals. The tax measure is part of the budget reconciliation bill, a catchall of contentious issues on which final terms are to be worked out this week, in conferences working under the pressure of an Oct. 15 deadline.

Mutual promises of bipartisan harmony have frayed in the struggle over Bush's campaign-promised drive for a cut in capital gains taxes. A two-year cut from the current maximum of 33 percent to 19.6 percent is on the conference table by House vote, a roll call on which 64 Democrats deserted their new floor leaders.

It got there after a dispute that bruised both sides. Richard G. Darman, the budget director, accused the Democrats of kamikaze politics aimed at forcing a tax increase on Bush. Rep. Richard A. Gephardt of Missouri, the majority leader, said Bush apparently agreed with Leona Helmsley that only little people should pay taxes. After the House victory, Bush said he was displeased with Gephardt for making the issue "really kind of personal."

The Democratic leadership first had considered tackling the Bush capital gains measure head-on, in an up-or-down test, but their own vote counts showed them taking a lopsided beating. So they countered with a retirement account tax break for the upper-middle class, plus a tax increase on the wealthiest taxpayers, and lost anyhow.

The $2,000 tax deduction for individual retirement accounts was revived in the Senate Finance Committee and the final package could include versions of both that tax break and the capital gains reduction. The Senate panel also tossed in an assortment of special interest tax breaks, and that is likely to complicate the congressional negotiations.

The reconciliation bill is an annual exercise that is supposed to reduce the budget deficit, which keeps going up anyhow, even as deficit estimates and targets keep going down because of the law that is supposed to compel real reductions even if that takes automatic spending cuts. "We have to stop this deficit ...," said Sen. Herbert H. Kohl, D-Wis., "we have to stop fooling ourselves with Gramm-Rudman claims of progress which just hide deficits that have never declined."

That problem is going to remain after the bill is passed, whatever the settlement on taxes. House Speaker Thomas S. Foley thinks it may get worse because of the tax

Hockey's on thin ice with author

By LEWIS GRIZZARD

ATLANTA — A friend called Tuesday and invited me to go to a hockey game.

"Where is the game?" I asked him.

There is no hockey team in Atlanta anymore. There used to be a team, the Flames, but it moved to Nova Scotia or Cleveland or Saskatchewan, I can't remember which.

"The game's not in Nova Scotia or Cleveland or Saskatchewan?" I asked my friend. "I don't want to go to any of those places."

"No," he said. "There's a hockey game right here in Atlanta tonight."

He went on and explained that the Boston Bruins and the Philadelphia Flyers were playing an exhibition hockey game at the Omni, and his boss had given him two tickets and told him to go.

I'm not certain what my friend did wrong to deserve such treatment from his boss, but it must have been pretty bad.

I figured the least I could do was go with him and help him get through the ordeal.

I had attended a few hockey games back when Atlanta had its own team. I had heard of hockey, of course, and knew it was popular in places where it got so cold people suffered brain damage and paid to go to hockey games, but that was the extent of my knowledge.

I can report now, nothing much has changed about hockey since I was introduced to it. It's the same old dull stuff that it was years ago.

The players still wear skates and play the game on ice and the ball they use is flat and they call it a "puck," which is a stupid name for a ball, even if it is flat.

The idea is to skate back and forth on the ice for hours attempting to put the puck in an opponent's goal.

That doesn't occur often, however, and most of the game involves the players simply skating back and forth, which is interesting for about 11 seconds.

And when somebody does put a puck into a goal, the puck is so small you never actually see the entry.

That's why somebody turns on a red light when a goal is scored, so everybody will know it's time to either stand up and cheer or feel depressed, depending on which side you're on.

Then, there's fighting. What happens is that when one of the hockey players gets bored skating back and forth, he starts a fight.

But the fighting isn't all that interesting either, because the players involved put down their sticks and grab one another and do more dancing and hugging than fighting.

If the players would attempt to beat each other over the heads with their sticks, it would improve hockey fighting a great deal — that, or allow them to carry knives.

There were 14,000 people at the game. I'm not certain how many of them came on their own accord, and how many were being punished by their bosses, as in the case of my friend, but the attendance was high enough that the sports pages speculated next day on whether or not Atlanta might get its own hockey team again.

I hope not. If we had a hockey team again, my boss could get mad at me and assign me the hockey beat, and I'd have to watch hockey games until I became brain-damaged, too.

There's another reason I hope nobody brings hockey back to Atlanta. We've already got Braves baseball and Falcons football. Isn't that enough agony for one city?

Activists threaten to block launch

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The countdown for this week's planned launch of space shuttle Atlantis started today despite the promise of anti-nuclear activists to sit on the launch pad if necessary to block a payload that carries radioactive plutonium.

If a federal judge approves, Atlantis is to lift off at 1:29 p.m. Thursday with five astronauts who are to dispatch the nuclear-powered Galileo spacecraft to explore the planet Jupiter.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration decided to begin the count on schedule this morning even though a decision is pending on a lawsuit by three citizens' groups seeking a temporary restraining order to halt the launch. The groups contend that an explosion on liftoff could spread cancer-causing plutonium particles over a large area of east-central Florida.

NASA officials say the two nuclear-powered generators aboard Galileo have been thoroughly tested and that flying them poses minimal health and environmental risks.

U.S. District Judge Oliver Gasch scheduled oral arguments on the suit for Tuesday in Washington. This is the first time anyone has gone to court to stop a space launch.

Environmentalists seek a protected Antarctica

PARIS (AP) — Environmentalists from more than 200 groups today endorsed a plan to declare Antarctica a permanent wilderness reserve, an idea the United States opposes.

The endorsement came as representatives from 39 nations party to the 1959 Antarctic Treaty gathered in Paris for the biennial treaty review.

Atop the 10-day meeting's agenda is the question of whether to leave the vast, frozen continent in pristine splendor or mine it for mineral wealth.

Representatives from the World Wide Fund for Nature and the Antarctic and Southern Oceans Coalition, an umbrella group for 200 international environmental groups, today released a statement calling for negotiations to begin to establish the first World Park, or international wilderness reserve, in Antarctica.

Australia and France, whose policies have changed to reflect growing public concern for the environment, are pitted in the dispute over Antarctica against countries such as the United States and Japan, which generally favor regulated exploitation.

In the past 15 months, Australia and France have reversed their positions on an international convention reached in Wellington, New Zealand, that would open Antarctica to regulated mining.

The Wellington Convention required unanimous agreement, and their decision torpedoed the accord for the foreseeable future. Thirty-three of the 39 nations adhering to the Antarctica Treaty initialed the convention in June 1988.

A voluntary moratorium on mineral exploitation remains in place, and few diplomats said they were worried about a rush to dig and drill in the absence of the convention.

To fill the legal void, Australia and France have proposed that Antarctica be declared a "wilderness park" where mining would be prohibited and other human activity carefully controlled.

Cassandra Phillips, a spokeswoman for the Worldwide Fund for Nature, noted the importance of Antarctica in monitoring climatic change.

For a decade, scientists have measured the earth's thinning ozone layer, which lets through radiation that could change the world climate and ocean levels in catastrophic ways.

"Antarctica gives us a permanent baseline against which to measure what else is going on in the world," Ms. Phillips said. "And it plays a crucial role, not yet completely understood, in regulating world climate."

The U.S. position is shared by New Zealand, Chile and Japan, which is heavily dependent on foreign oil imports. These countries say the stringent controls in the mining convention assure the protection of wildlife, habitat and marine resources.

FBI places ads to recruit spies

NEW YORK (AP) — The FBI hopes to recruit spies and lure defectors with advertisements it has placed in a Russian-language newspaper in the United States.

The FBI has begun running daily ads in Novoye Russkoye Slovo, or New Russian Word, asking readers to tell the bureau what they know about Soviet spies operating here and abroad. The New York Times reported today.

"Replies will be kept in the strictest confidence," the ads states.

James Fox, director of the New York FBI office, told the Times the ad is designed to capitalize on the influx of about 150,000 Soviet emigrants since 1975. About 50,000 emigrants settled in the New York area.

The ads, which are costing the FBI $300 a day, are scheduled to run daily for two weeks and then appear intermittently, the FBI told the paper.

The Russian-language newspaper, published in New York, has a circulation of more than 50,000 nationwide, largely in emigre communities.

Americans share Nobel Prize

HAROLD E. VARMUS

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Americans J. Michael Bishop and Harold E. Varmus won the Nobel Prize for medicine today for their discovery of a family of genes that controls the growth and division of cells and may be linked to cancer.

Bishop, 53, and Varmus, 49, work together at the University of California School of Medicine in San Francisco, in the Department of Microbiology and Immunology.

The 50-member Nobel Assembly of the Karolinska Institute, Sweden's largest and oldest medical university, cited the researchers "for their discovery of the cellular origin of retroviral oncogenes."

Their 1976 work on oncogenes helped understand how cancer tumors develop, the citation said.

Riot police disperse protesters

BERLIN (AP) — Riot police used clubs and dogs to attack thousands of demonstrators rallying for democratic reform outside an East Berlin church in a second day of protests against their Communist government's intransigence.

The peaceful protesters shouted "We want freedom" and "No violence," as security forces broke up a sit-in after a vigil at the Protestant Gethsemane Church late Sunday, beating demonstrators and chasing them into side streets.

Witnesses reported many injuries and arrests.

On Saturday night, police violently dispersed huge demonstrations in at least six major East German cities including East Berlin, where they arrested hundreds of protesters early Sunday.

As it marks its 40th anniversary as a state, East Germany is in the throes of the most serious street demonstrations since Soviet tanks and troops put down a workers' revolt in 1953.

This time, however, the demonstrators are looking to the Soviet Union as a model of liberal reform.

Red Cross closes Lebanese center

SIDON, Lebanon (AP) — Police said today that two Red Cross officials kidnapped last week are being held by radical Palestinian guerrillas led by terrorist mastermind Abu Nidal.

Friday's double kidnapping prompted the Red Cross to close its orthopedic center in Sidon, which provided artificial limbs for civil war and car bomb victims.

"We have established that Abu Nidal's men carried out the abduction. We believe the hostages are held in a base east of Sidon," said a police spokesman, who cannot be identified under standing regulations.

Masked gunmen grabbed the two Swiss men, Emmanuel Christen, 32, and Elio Erriquez, 23, in Sidon on Friday, bundled them into the trunk of a car and drove off toward the Ein el-Hilweh Palestinian refugee camp on Sidon's southeastern outskirts.

Abu Nidal's Fatah-Revolutionary Council issued a statement in Beirut Saturday condemning the abductions and offering to help free the men, but police and the PLO have said they do not take the denial seriously.

Air show crash 15th for Indians

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — An air force jet plunged to earth and exploded during an air show after the pilot apparently misjudged his altitude and tried an extra maneuver. The flier was killed and dozens of spectators were injured fleeing the fiery wreckage.

The crash Sunday was the 15th this year for the Indian air force, which has the world's highest accident rate, defense statistics show.

The Mirage 2000 fighter jet crashed at Indian Air Force Day celebrations. The pilot, Ramesh Bakshi, the 39-year-old commander of the Mirage squadron, was killed instantly.

Dozens of panicked spectators suffered sprained ankles, bruises or broken bones while running toward or away from the giant fireball.

Philosopher says police want — and need — grounding in ethics

WASHINGTON — Before Edwin Delattre took to riding in squad cars, the nation's police forces probably had few philosophers pounding the beat.

Even if the local police have no Ph.D.s toting radios, guns and nightsticks, Delattre believes they need — and want — a grounding in ethics to navigate the dangerous, often corrupt environment they inhabit on behalf of society.

"It is good for the soul to have a tough act to follow," Delattre said at a recent luncheon. "And police in a constitutional republic like the United States have to follow, in their duties, the very tough act of the Founding Fathers of the country."

"...I have never been more aware of this than when one dear friend in law enforcement said to me, 'You know, Ed, we are sworn to defend the Constitution, and therefore we are in a position to do it more harm than anyone else.'"

Delattre distilled his thoughts on police ethics in a new book, "Character and Cops," published by the American Enterprise Institute, where he is the Lynde and Harry Bradley fellow in applied ethics.

The career academic said a chance conversation 15 years ago led him to spend more than a decade with all kinds of lawmen — beat cops, big-city chiefs, drug agents, FBI agents and state troopers.

While at the University of Toledo, Delattre said a colleague asked him to teach police ethics after hearing participants at a conference complain that criminal justice programs lacked courses in the humanities.

"I did not know that the resulting course would be the beginning of the most important single dimension of my intellectual and civic life for the next 15 years," Delattre recalled.

Though he'd never ridden in a squad car, seen a crack house or observed an arrest, the philosopher did all of that over the next several years and then wrote a book about it.

Delattre said he went into the streets understanding, "that ethics is ethics. ... I knew that there could not be one ethics for businesswomen and men and another for parents, one for teachers and another for students."

"Second," Delattre said, "I believed that institutions — schools, colleges, businesses and so street, and they tell you, 'hey, man, only (homosexuals) get AIDS,' you see the intractable ignorance that police must deal with every day.

"... Sometimes," he said, "you see a cop thump on a suspect when there was no excuse for it. You catch a momentary, furtive glance from him that tells you he's not afraid that you might have seen him do it, but afraid that you might have seen how much he liked it. You are reminded how many flaws of character human beings can have that dishonor the badge and betray the experiment in ordered liberty."

Police work often presents more subtle ethical problems, Delattre said, making it hard for officers to draw the line against improper behavior.

"The difficulty is increased by the fact that in policing, deception is sometimes right, sometimes obligatory," he said. "So distinctions must be drawn, and they can get fairly subtle. Thus, an undercover narcotics officer must learn that his job is to deceive the suspect, but not to use drugs himself in order to do so."

In writing his book, Delattre said he felt "deep gratitude to live in a country that is an experiment in ordered liberty, one where the foundations of government are built on the idea of public trust."

What he saw in the streets where the nation's cops fight crime demonstrated that they do the job sometimes with honor, sometimes without. What Delattre observed reminded him of a quote from one founding father, James Madison:

"As there is a degree of depravity in mankind which requires a certain degree of circumspection and distrust," Delattre quoted, "so there are other qualities in human nature which justify a certain portion of esteem and confidence."

Delattre said he went into the streets understanding, "that ethics is ethics. ... I knew that there could not be one ethics for businesswomen and men and another for parents, one for teachers and another for students."

"Second," Delattre said, "I believed that institutions — schools, colleges, businesses and so on — never rise above the quality of the people who make them up."

While those principles apply to just about any line of work, Delattre said they are particularly important for police.

"When you sit in a crack house with a pregnant teenager whose pipe is still hot from her last rock, and you and the police know what her baby will look like, even if she doesn't," he said, "you realize how enormous the task before us."

"When you talk with teenage prostitutes, eager to take the few dollars from their last trick to buy a rock before they go back to the

Study Club meets

The 1941 Study Club, Cochonia, met Oct. 2 at the home of Mrs. Ovis James.

Mrs. Glen Darrel introduced guest speaker Gemma Campabadal, an exchange student from Catalonia, Spain. She will be staying with Stanley Phillips family for one year.

Gemma discussed her native country, displaying books, money and pictures. She commented on the open space in Texas and the vehicles. Gemma noted she had never seen a pickup truck.

She spoke about the freedom in this country and noted she was learning to like American food.

Gemma and her family encouraged her to see J.R. Ewing and the Dallas Cowboys.

Mrs. Queen Dumas reported on the planting of wild flowers in the city park.

Mrs. Mike Conley read resignation letters from Mrs. Doc Rowell and Mrs. Connie Williams. Mrs. Junior Alexander was welcomed as a new member.

Refreshments were served to 16 members and four guests.

The next meeting will be Nov. 6 at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Rob Ethridge, with Cheryl Green as co-hostess.

Campout

The first Vietnam veteran campout was conducted Sept. 30 through Oct. 1 at Moss Lake.

Veterans and their families from Big Spring, Midland and Permian participated.

A prayer service and a group discussion were conducted Sunday morning.

A bonfire was burned to commemorate the prisoners of war and the missing in action.

Plans are underway for next year's event. For additional information, please call 697-8222.

Members hear report

Howard County Extension Homemakers met recently for a luncheon and meeting.

They also heard the report from the delegates that attended September's State Convention in Corpus Christi.

The delegates are: Muriel Prokschl, Frances Mason and Jovita Etchison, TEHA chairman.

The report showed there were six workshops, a business meeting, keynote speakers and great entertainment.

Members and several visitors enjoyed a covered dish luncheon.

Ireba Griffith gave the Council devotion titled "The Prayer for Peace." Council accepted all six state recommendations.

The second leader training will be Oct. 23 at 2 p.m. in the Howard County Library's conference room.

Sharing grief with others soothes our loss

DEAR ABBY: I was mortified by your insensitive response to "Depressed," who had lost all her family treasures in a flood. Instead of offering her sympathy, you minimized her loss of "mere possessions" by comparing it to the loss of a child.

Comparing grief never helps an individual to grow. It's as though a quadriplegic were to say to a paraplegic, "What do you have to complain about?"

Loss and grief are natural parts of life. We mourn the loss of anything that is precious to us — a home that was destroyed by fire, a separation or divorce, a burglary. All are extremely painful.

We experience "death" constantly throughout our lives. Some losses are monumental, such as losing a parent, a child or a best friend. Other losses are known as "little" deaths, like moving to a new town, being passed over for a promotion, losing a favorite piece of jewelry, etc.

Dear Abby

We can comfort people by listening to them, acknowledging their grief and letting them know we feel their pain.

Your words reach millions of people and are a source of strength to many. That's why I feel it is important to bring this to your attention. — ALEXIS JAY STEIN, CHARLOTTE, N.C.

DEAR ALEXIS JAY STEIN: Thanks, I needed that. Many others wrote to point out my insensitivity.

It was not my intention to belittle the pain of losing material things — I simply put the loss of "things" in perspective. I subscribe to the philosophy: "I pitied the man who had no shoes, until I met a man who had no feet."

DEAR ABBY: In regard to the lady who was depressed because she lost her precious picture albums, letters and family treasures in a flood, I know just how she feels, and I sympathize with her.

Our home was burned to the ground in December. We lost everything we had. We thought the bottom had fallen out of our world. Then a few days later, my husband's sister's three children were drowned!

After Christmas, we sent our children back to school without books. They sent their books back to school without children. We could no longer feel sorry for ourselves. — RUTH CALCUTT, SANFORD, N.C.

Laugh and feel better

From BETTER HOMES AND GARDENS A Meredith Magazine For AP Newsfeatures

Most people readily agree that a good laugh makes them feel better. Now, evidence shows that humor's benefits may be more powerful and long-lasting than once believed.

Better Homes and Gardens magazine offers the following light-hearted ideas on laughing to better one's health:

- Look for humor. Try to see the amusing side of every situation.
- Keep a humor first-aid kit. Stock it with things that are always funny — cartoons, jokes, greeting cards, comedy tapes. Apply it for emotional scrapes and bruises.
- Brighten up a room. Paper a wall with cheerful posters, wacky bumper stickers and zany signs.
- Make time for fun. Schedule a 10-minute "humor break" every day.
- Be playful. Spend time with a child to help rediscover a sense of delight. Don't be afraid to be silly.
- Laugh when low. Psychologist William James said, "We don't laugh because we're happy — we're happy because we laugh."
- Encourage laughter in others. Humor is contagious. Tell a funny story and request one in return.

Academia

Finalists for Fina

DALLAS — Fina Oil and Chemical Company, the main operating subsidiary of American Petrofina, Incorporated, has announced the final list of the Fina Academic Award recipients. The team will consist of all men and women participating in interscholastic sports and will replace the Fina Academic Award State Football team.

The team will consist of twelve Texas high school scholar-athletes. Each member will receive a three-thousand-dollar college scholarship. Fina will honor the twelve members of the team, along with their parents and coaches, at a June awards banquet in Dallas.

A candidate must be a high school senior who has participated in varsity athletics at the interscholastic level, be in the top ten percent of their class, and have a grade average of 90 or above. Although they must have received a varsity letter, athletic ability in itself is not the major determinant in the selection process. In addition to athletics and academic achievement, the candidate will be judged on leadership and participation in worthwhile school and community activities.

Application forms are being sent by Fina to all high schools in Texas. The deadline for entries is Dec. 8. Sixty-four finalists will be named in late January and the twelve team members will be announced in March.

American Petrofina, Incorporated is an AMEX listed company engaged in crude oil and natural gas exploration and production; natural gas marketing; petroleum products refining, marketing, and transportation; and chemical manufacturing and marketing. Organized in 1956, it is a part of an international group of companies affiliated with Petrofina S.A., headquartered in Brussels, Belgium.

ASU graduates

SAN ANGELO — Five Big Spring Students at Angelo State University were among 209 students to receive degrees during summer commencement at the university.

Diane Lin Dalton received a bachelor of science degree with a major in elementary education. Theresa Jean DeFitch received a B.S. degree with a major in medical technology, and Kimberly Kay Madry, bachelor of business administration with a major in marketing.

Also: Kathleen Dianne Tedesco, master of music education with a major in music education and Thomas N. Thompson, bachelor of business administration with a major in business.

BPOA chapter meets

BIG SPRING — The Big Spring High School Office Administration Chapter of Business Professionals of America held its first meeting of the 1989-90 school year recently.

The first order of business was electing officers. Those selected were: Becky Dominguez White, president; Kristine Del Bosque, vice president; Carmelita Vasquez, secretary; Brenda Arellano, reporter; Tabitha Griffin, historian; and Doug Abbott, parliamentarian.

After discussing plans for the group's homecoming float, Tina Atkins was chosen as their candidate for homecoming queen.

The next meeting will be for officers only and will be held today at 7 p.m.

Heath leads HC cowgirls

ALPINE — Howard College's Jody Heath ran away with the all-around cowgirl title Sunday during college-rodeo action.

HC rodeo coach Bobby Scott said the Lorena freshman led the women's team to a second-place finish in the 22-team field at Sul Ross State University.

"She walked away with the barrel racing," Scott said of Heath. "She won first in the long-go, first in the short-go and first in the average. She smoked 'em."

Heath also split second in the average in breakaway roping, splitting fourth in the long-go and grabbing third in the short-go.

"All-in-all, she gathered 170 points and she won a beautiful trophy saddle," Scott said.

The Howard women had a shot at the team title, when Robin Wardlaw and Jana Pierce qualified for the finals, but missed out when neither was able to place. Wardlaw, a Del Rio sophomore, made the finals of the barrel racing, while Pierce, a Crane sophomore, qualified in goat tying.

Scott said the women's team is improving with each performance.

"They're coming right up," he said. "I think they're going to do well all year."

The Howard men improved too, winning fourth in the 22-team competition. HC's bull riders led the way.

Randall Thornton of Madisonville won the bull riding, placed fourth in the bareback average, and was runner-up in the all-around cowboy competition. Western Texas' Troy Catoor won the title.

Kevin Reed, a New Braunfels cowboy, won second in the long-go of the bull riding, and Cleveland cowboy Gregg Vance qualified for the finals.

Scott said the HC women currently are sitting fourth in the Southwestern Region standing, while the men are about eighth. With eight rodeos left, both teams still have plenty of time to make up ground on the leaders, he said. The top two teams in the region qualify for the College National Finals Rodeo in 1990.

The teams travel to Vernon next for the Oct. 12-15 Vernon Regional Junior College Rodeo.

"They're improving daily," Scott said of his teams. "I'm expecting great things of both the men's and women's teams, and I feel like they're well on their way to accomplishing that."

PECOS — The Runnels Red volleyball team won the Pecos tournament this past weekend.

Runnels defeated Pecos Black 15-13, 6-15, 15-13. High point was Liz Anzaldua with 12 service points.

Runnels then defeated Wink, 15-9, 7-15, 15-7. Anzaldua again was leading scorer with 8 points. Kristie Schraer also served 8 points.

In the championship game, Runnels Red downed Monahans 15-7, 15-8. High point was Shana Foster with 12 points. Azure Miller served 7 points.

Americans wins Federation Cup

TOKYO (AP) — Chris Evert used her classic groundstrokes to beat a Spaniard half her age as the United States swept to a 3-0 victory in the Federation Cup. Evert trounced 17-year-old Conchita Martinez on Monday, 6-3, 6-2, in the American's last major competition before retiring from tennis.

Teammate Martina Navratilova, blitzed by French Open champion Arantxa Sanchez-Vicario's blistering first-set service returns, bounced back for a 0-6, 6-3, 6-4 victory.

That clinched the Americans' 13th Federation Cup since 1963, the year the women's version of the Davis Cup began. But Pam Shriver and Zina Garrison beat Sanchez-Vicario and Martinez 7-5, 6-1 in the doubles for the shutout.

The United States team won $80,000 and Spain $40,000.

At the awards ceremony, the 34-year-old Evert praised the second-ranked Spaniards as a "very, very tough and young team. You will win this tournament in a few years, but this time it was won by over-30 players."

A's headed to World Series

TORONTO (AP) — Rickey ran over the Blue Jays and now Oakland is ready to make up for last year.

Henderson hit, Henderson ran and Henderson was named Most Valuable Player as Oakland beat Toronto 4-3 Sunday to win the American League playoffs in five games. The Athletics became the first league champion to repeat since the New York Yankees and Los Angeles Dodgers did it in 1978.

"We did not want to be complacent because of last year's success," A's manager Tony La Russa said. "Sometimes you don't repeat because you back off. I hope people realize how special this team is to have repeated."

Oakland added Mike Moore to the pitching staff, signing the right-hander last December for $3.95 million over three years. And on June 20, the A's reacquired Henderson in a trade with the New York Yankees.

"They're a real good team," Blue Jays manager Cito Gaston said. "I guess they stack up pretty close to that great Cincinnati team in 1976."

Oakland was favored to beat the Dodgers last year and was one out away from winning Game 1. But Dennis Eckersley walked Mike Davis and injured slugger Kirk Gibson hobbled out to hit a dramatic pinch-hit home run and the Dodgers were on their way.

It was the 14th AL title for the Athletics and fifth since the club moved to Oakland. Last year's pennant winner is remembered for the Bash Brothers, Jose Canseco and McGwire. This pennant-winning team will be remembered for Henderson.

TORONTO — The American League Championship Series MVP Rickey Henderson hugs relief pitcher Dennis Eckersley in the locker room during a champagne celebration for winning the American League pennant Sunday afternoon.

"One player, Rickey Henderson. That was the difference," Toronto's Mookie Wilson said.

Henderson stole eight bases, a postseason record, and wasn't caught. He hit .400, going 6-for-15.

Add seven walks and he reached base 14 times in 23 plate appearances. He scored eight of Oakland's 26 runs and drove in five. He homered twice and also had a double and a triple.

He did it from the first inning Sunday. Dave Steib walked Henderson leading off the game, and Henderson stole second. It was his eighth steal of the series, breaking the postseason record set by Lou Brock in the 1967 World Series and tied by the St. Louis Cardinals' outfielder in the 1968 Series.

Henderson then scored the game's first run on Canseco's single.

In the third, Henderson struck again. Walt Weiss led off with a walk, Mike Gallego sacrificed and Henderson tripled up the gap in right-center.

Oakland added two runs in the seventh. Steib walked Dave Henderson (of the four A's who scored runs, three reached via walks) and McGwire and Terry Steinbach hit consecutive singles that made it 3-0. Weiss' fly to center allowed McGwire to tag and go to third and Gallego squeezed in a run off Jim Acker, the A's second successful squeeze of the year.

Stewart, who hasn't pitched a shutout since Aug. 30, 1988, took a 4-0 lead into the eighth before giving up a one-out home run to Lloyd Moseby. Then he allowed a home run to George Bell to start the ninth.

Eckersley relieved and Gaston had the umpires check his glove.

"Some of the guys seemed to think his ball was moving funny," Gaston said. "Eckersley took something from his glove and dropped it down his shirt. Then it fell to the ground and he picked it up and put it down his pants. You can't check down his pants."

Giants win again

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Matt Williams and Kelly Downs were supposed to blossom into Mike Schmidt and Cy Young last spring. Instead they turned into Phoenix Firebirds.

But on a memorable Sunday night in October, the two lived up to all expectations and then some.

Williams had "the best at-bat of my life" — resulting in a game-winning, two-run homer — and set a National League playoff record for RBIs in a series with nine. Downs pitched four shutout innings in the best clutch performance of his career, getting credit for San Francisco's 6-4 victory over Chicago.

In a series long on heroics and short on pitching, it was the two late bloomers, along with Will Clark, who gave the Giants a 3-1 lead in the best-of-seven series going into Game 5 this afternoon. That left the Cubs to practice their best visualization techniques in a bid to escape back to their own friendly confines.

Candlestick Park, site of many past frustrations for Williams and Downs, was finally their field of dreams.

The first time the Cubs flew into San Francisco this season, on May 1, Williams flew out with an embarrassing .130 batting average and a demotion to Class AAA Phoenix. Now he's a main reason the Cubs may be going home early and without a World Series berth for the 44th consecutive year.

Handed the starting third base job in spring training, he hit his second career grand slam opening week in Cincinnati but otherwise muffled his way through an exasperating April.

Three months in Phoenix, his off-season home, did wonders for the former All-American shortstop out of Nevada-Las Vegas. Twenty homers and a .320 average later, he was back with San Francisco and a much-improved member of the league's most feared 3-4-5 combo along with Clark and Kevin Mitchell.

He fouled off five pitches in a row in his dramatic 12-pitch duel with Wilson in the fifth inning Sunday night. Then he devoured his favorite dish: a fastball on the plate. The line shot over the fence in left was his 46th homer of the season, including Phoenix and two in the playoffs.

"Matt Williams is going to be something to watch during the next few years," Giants manager Roger Craig said. "I can't say enough about what he has done for the ballclub since he came back from Phoenix, both defensively and offensively."

Downs, picked by one national publication to win the NL Cy Young Award, was having his own fantasies as he relieved Scott Garrelts with the game tied 4-4. He was relegated to relief down the stretch in 1987 and pitched only once in the playoff series with St. Louis, so this is his chance for redemption.

Downs, 28, was a combined 25-18 in 1987-88, but suffered an inflamed shoulder on May 1 against the Cubs and did two stints on the disabled list while also pitching for Phoenix. He lost a career-high five straight games before recovering to finish 4-8 with a 4.79 earned-run average as both a starter and reliever.

He needed only last-out relief help from closer Steve Bedrosian to put the Giants on the brink of their first World Series appearance since 1962. Only seven teams out of 38 who have trailed 3-1 in a postseason series have come back to win.

When Downs made a joking reference to the Cubs' Shawn Dunston after the Chicago shortstop blooped a hit in the fifth, it was Dunston who was frustrated. "You can't take that," Downs said with a smile, figuring his long-time acquaintance would realize he was joking. But Dunston reacted angrily and both benches emptied briefly.

Mark Grace is a glaring exception. Grace, whose two RBIs briefly gave him a share of the NL playoff record of eight, took a .643 batting average and a 1.214 slugging average into Game 5.

Pats upset Oilers, 23-13

FOXBORO, Mass. (AP) — John Stephens couldn't wait to play again. New England couldn't wait much longer to win again.

A fired-up Stephens charged back into action on his healed left ankle in time to revitalize a Patriots' season that was quickly dying amid an epidemic of injuries and poor performances.

His running, New England's best defensive game of the season and Greg Davis' three field goals gave the Patriots a 23-13 upset over Houston's high-powered Oilers and stopped a three-game losing streak Sunday.

The Patriots began the game with a 1-3 record and fading playoff hopes.

"This was a burning building and we had to put some water on it or we'd be living outside," New England defensive end Ken Sims said.

"This was a game they had to have," Houston quarterback Warren Moon said.

And the Patriots had to have Stephens.

"Other guys can do the job," tackle Bruce Armstrong said, "but he's our Pro Bowl back."

An ankle injury had sidelined Stephens the previous two games. Without last season's second leading AFC rusher, the Patriots were beaten easily by Seattle and Buffalo. His return meant Houston had to focus on the run as well as the pass and had to cope with the Patriots' renewed enthusiasm. Stephens celebrated successful runs with fists thrust into the air and tried to fire up the crowd. "I did have more intensity out there because I felt the frustration of not being out there for some time," he said. "John Stephens gives us speed, power, finesse." Patriots' wide receiver

It wasn't the Ice Bowl; but results are same

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — This time there was no staggering halftime deficit to overcome, no miraculous rally needed.

The Green Bay Packers, for a month the king of NFL comebacks, went ahead just before the half Sunday on a 79-yard touchdown pass from Don Majkowski to Sterling Sharpe.

And given than uncommon feeling of being in front — they had trailed at the half in each of their first four games — the Packers went on to a 31-13 victory over the winless Dallas Cowboys.

"We had to see if we could hang onto a lead because we hadn't been in that position before," said coach Lindy Infante. "We didn't know how to act."

So how will his team act with a 3-2 record, the Packers' best through five games since 1983? A year ago they were 0-5, just as the struggling Cowboys are now.

Majkowski, who had his third 300-yard passing game in the last month to go with four touchdown passes, says it's something that has been building since last season. "We knew we would be more competitive this year and we're improving. We've taken another step forward and we're on a nice roll," he said after completing 21 of 32 passes for 313 yards with no interceptions. He'd thrown nine in the first four games.

"The biggest difference is the mental aspect. Everyone knows much more about what we're doing. We're eliminating mistakes, making bigger plays," he said.

That's added up to an offense that is leading the NFL in yardage per game, a standing that was not hurt Sunday when the Packers rolled up 501 yards, their most since 1985. Brent Fullwood led the Packer rushers with 119 yards on 28 carries.

"We know what we're doing a lot better this year. We're getting some breaks now," said Sharpe, who had six catches for 132 yards.

The Cowboys, off to their worst start since going 0-10 in 1960, got two big plays in the first half and twice had the lead.

Eugene Lockhart scooped up a Majkowski fumble and ran it in 40 yards to give the Cowboys a 13-10 second-half lead.

Rams remain unbeaten

By The Associated Press
The Los Angeles Rams, at the top of the NFL after five weeks, hope they aren't peaking too soon. Recent history would support that fear, lest anyone figure on making early Super Bowl plans.

"We're not some juggernaut," Coach John Robinson said Sunday after the Rams beat the Atlanta Falcons 26-14 to remain the only unbeaten team in the league.

While they may not have Super Bowl fever, the Rams have a holiday spirit.

"We want to peak at Christmas," said Jim Everett, who threw for 290 yards and two touchdowns to enhance his league-leading passing numbers.

The Rams, who hold a one-game lead over the San Francisco 49ers in the NFC West, are no strangers to fast starts.

They were 4-0 last season, but played only .500 the rest of the way. In the pre-strike 1986 season, they won their first three games before going 7-6 in the final 13.

The New York Jets play host to the Los Angeles Raiders tonight at Hall of Famer Art Shell, who replaced the fired Mike Shanahan, makes his debut as Raiders coach. He is the first black coach in modern NFL history.

Perhaps most important to the Rams than the unbeaten record is maintaining perspective in the face of perfection.

Henry Ellard had eight receptions for 165 yards and Mike Lansford kicked four field goals for the Rams.

The victory overshadowed a career-best passing day by Atlanta's Chris Miller, who missed last week's game with bruised ribs. He completed 28 of 39 passes for 340 yards and a touchdown.

Everett completed 16 of 28, including touchdown passes of 13 and nine yards as the Rams took a 20-7 halftime lead.

Bucs 42, Bears 35
Tampa Bay's first victory over Chicago since 1982 was food for considerable thought.

"I'm not surprised with this," said Vinny Testaverde, who recovered from last week's season-worst performance to complete 22 of 36 passes for 269 yards before an injury sidelined him in the fourth period.

Testaverde, who threw for just 82 yards in a 17-3 loss to Minnesota last Sunday, was diagnosed as having a bruised knee.

Tampa Bay (3-2) forced three turnovers in building a 28-14 halftime lead.

Eagles 21, Giants 19
New York's loss didn't upset Coach Bill Parcells, who, like

TAMPA, Fla. — Tampa Bay Bucs' running back Lars Tate dives past Chicago's Shaum Gayle (23) into the rest of the defense Sunday at Tampa Stadium.

Robinson, has taken a wait-and-see approach to his team's early-season success.

"The only way we can get hurt by this defeat is to let it matter in the next few weeks," Parcells said. "It's a long season."

Randall Cunningham, held in check virtually all day, drove the Eagles (3-2) 81 yards for the decisive touchdown, a 2-yard-run by Anthony Toney with 2:18 remaining.

The Giants led 19-14 as Raul Allegre kicked four field goals and backup quarterback Jeff Hostetler threw a 22-yard scoring pass to linebacker Carl Banks on a fake field goal.

Cunningham hit Cris Carter for 23 yards, Mike Quick for 21 and Gregg Garrity for 15 as the Eagles moved to a first down at the Giants' 15 in the final drive.

Phil Simms, quoted in Philadelphia earlier in the week as saying a good high school quarterback could throw for 300 yards against the Eagles' defense, was 21 of 39 for 241 yards.

Simms denied the quote, saying, "I'm not going to talk to you — write that down, then get away from me."

Colts 37, Bills 14
Buffalo quarterback Jim Kelly separated his left shoulder in the third quarter and had to leave the game. How long he will be out is undetermined, although Coach Marv Levy thinks the AFC's leading passer won't be back in time for next Monday's game against the Rams.

Eric Dickerson, still sore from a hamstring injury, ran for two touchdowns, and Buffalo (3-2) committed six turnovers that Indianapolis converted into 23 points.

The Colts (3-2) had four quarterback sacks, intercepted four passes and forced two fumbles. Dickerson, who didn't start, rushed 22 times for 92 yards.

49ers 24, Saints 20
Joe Montana brought San Francisco from behind for the fourth time in five weeks. Montana had rallied the 49ers in victories against Indianapolis, Tampa Bay

Bengals 26, Steelers 16
Boomer Esiason directed a pair of 80-yard scoring drives on a gimpy ankle, and James Brooks ran for two fourth-quarter touchdowns for Cincinnati (4-1).

Pittsburgh (2-3) led 7-0 and 10-6 before Cincinnati rallied on Brooks' touchdowns. Brooks ran in from 13 yards early in the fourth quarter, then scored on a 65-yard run with 1:49 left.

Steelers quarterback Bobby Brister was carried off on a stretcher with 35 seconds left after spraining his left knee. The severity of the injury was not immediately determined, but the Steelers were already talking about rallying behind backup Todd Blackledge next Sunday at Cleveland.

Broncos 16, Chargers 10
With its running game depleted through injury, Denver turned to rookie Bobby Humphrey. He answered by rushing for 102 yards in his first pro start and scoring on a tackle-breaking, 17-yard run with 1:03 left.

Dolphins 13, Browns 10
Rookie Pete Stoyanovich, who missed a 45-yard field goal with three seconds left in regulation, kicked a 35-yarder in overtime for Miami (2-3).

Cleveland (3-2) took the kickoff to start overtime and drove 46 yards, but Matt Bahr was wide left on a 44-yard field goal attempt.

Vikings 24, Lions 17
Mike Merriweather and Ike Holt scored on pass interceptions for Minnesota, and the NFL's leading defense had eight sacks against winless Detroit.

Keith Millard had three sacks and a 41-yard interception return as the Vikings (3-2) limited the Lions to 84 yards through the air.

Redskins 30, Cardinals 28
Mark Rypien threw fourth-quarter touchdown passes to Art Monk and Gary Clark as Washington (3-2) rallied past Phoenix, extending the Cardinals' losing streak in the nation's capital to 11 years.

Chiefs 20, Seahawks 16
Christian Okoye scored on a 13-yard run and Deron Cherry intercepted a Dave Krieg pass that Kansas City turned into a second-half touchdown as the Chiefs (2-3) overtook Seattle (2-3).

Kansas City trailed 16-3 at halftime before winning at the Kingdome for the first time since 1981.

Okoye, a 260-pounder from Nigeria, was too big and too strong for Seattle's undersized defensive line. He rushed 30 times for a career-best 156 yards.

Oilers

receiver Cedric Jones said. "The defense has to be aware of him at all times. He sets up all types of plays for us."

Although Stephens gained only 59 yards in 21 carries, he made key plays to keep New England's first three scoring drives alive and scored on an 11-yard run on its fourth. That made the score 20-3 with 5:58 left in the third quarter and enabled the Patriots to survive a 10-point Houston fourth quarter in which Tony Zendejas kicked his second field goal, a 22-yarder, and Moon threw a 20-yard scoring pass to Drew Hill with 5:11 left.

In their last two games, the Patriots converted only 6 of 28 third-down opportunities. On Sunday, they succeeded on 8 of 16, with Stephens getting four of those first downs.

"Running hard when you need to is what counts" more than his total rushing yardage, Stephens said. "To me, getting first downs is getting (the job) done."

"I didn't feel there was anything their defense could do that we weren't prepared for," he added. "I like their aggressiveness because when they hustle to the ball, I can cut back." Houston ended the game with the same record as the Patriots but with a much different mood.

"We just took a real step backwards," linebacker John Grimsley said.

"Our intensity just wasn't there," said Moon, who completed just 14 of 29 passes after connecting on a career-high 82.6 percent a week earlier in a 39-7 rout of Miami. "I never got into a rhythm."

"They were trying to double cover our inside receivers and had to hold the ball a lot longer than I wanted to and that enabled their run to get to me."

Rookie cornerbacks Maurice Hurst and Eric Coleman, playing because of injuries to Ronnie Lippett and Rod McSwain, each intercepted one of Moon's passes.

Houston's other two turnovers led to New England's two touchdowns.

Six plays after Marvin Allen recovered Leonard Harris' fumble on a kickoff Allen scored on a 1-yard run that made the score 10-0 late in the first quarter. And one play after Vincent Brown recovered Kenny Johnson's fumbled punt return, Stephens got his touchdown.

quarter lead that was erased when Majkowski hooked up with Sharpe with only 59 seconds left in the half.

Earlier, Dallas' James Dixon shocked soldout Lambeau Field — in the Cowboys first appearance there since the 1967 Ice Bowl for the NFL Championship — by taking the opening kickoff 90 yards to the Green Bay 6.

Rookie Steve Walsh, starting his first NFL game in place of injured Troy Aikman, then hit Michael Irvin for a 5-yard touchdown. Green Bay blocked the extra point but the Cowboys had a 6-0 lead.

Later in the first quarter, Chris Jacke kicked a 26-yard field goal for the Packers after an instant replay overruled an apparent touchdown by the Jeff Query. He caught a Majkowski pass at the goal line and was ruled down at the 1 by the video review.

Query recovered a fumble by Darryl Clack on the ensuing kickoff and Majkowski threw the first of two touchdown passes to Herman Fontenot, a 7-yarder that gave the Packers a 10-6 lead.

"They ran the ball at will, they passed it at will and we weren't able to stop them defensively," said Lockhart.

"They have an explosive offense and their quarterback is just hot right now."

In the second half Majkowski hit Fontenot again from 38 yards to make it 24-13 with 40 seconds left in the third quarter. Perry Kemp grabbed a 4-yard touchdown pass with only 2:33 to play in the game.

Walsh completed 18 of 29 for 193 yards and was sacked three times. Four of those passes went to Herschel Walker, who also carried 12 times for 44 yards.

"It was steady, but not spectacular enough to win a ball game," Walsh said, evaluating his performance.

Walker, rumored to be on his way to Minnesota in a trade, was more concerned with his team's play than reports that he might be leaving.

"I'd rather answer reality and that is, Green Bay beat us," he said. "We've got to improve. This is the fifth game of the season. We've got to be consistent. We're not moving the ball and keeping the defense off the field."

Hammond holds on to win Texas Open

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Somewhere out there, Donnie Hammond and his buddies are toasting his smashing victory in the Texas Open, his second PGA Tour triumph in three years.

Bet on it.
"It takes awhile to sink in," said Hammond, 32, smiling and sipping the first of what he promised would be a substantial number of exotic beverages. "We're going to celebrate real good."

In fact, he told assembled scribes not to be alarmed by strange sounds in the night, that it would be him and his friends doing a little yelling and rejoicing.

"We'll have a good time," he grinned.

He earned it.
With a dozen challengers ready to gun him down, Hammond took a two-shot lead into the final round at the cozy little Oak Hills Country Club course and turned his cushion into a mattress with a flawless 5-under-par 65.

The course record, 22-under-par total of 258 buried runner-up Paul Azinger by seven shots, earned Hammond $108,000 from the $600,000 purse, hiked his 1989 earnings to a quarter million dollars and touched off a party that he indicated would be heard back in his hometown of Longwood, Fla.

"It feels so good to finally do it again," he said, referring to his first triumph, the 1986 Bob Hope Classic. "I played as good as I can this week."

Plagued all year by untimely "eights and nines" that wrecked previous title chances, he said he awoke Sunday and told himself:

"Let's do it this time. You've got a chance. Just don't mess around."

He didn't mess around.

After a steady 34 on the par-35 front side, he eagled the par-5 10th hole with a 30-foot putt and then lashed a 2-iron to within three feet of the flag for an easy birdie at the 15th.

SAN ANTONIO — Donnie Hammond celebrates after putting in his winning put on the 18th green during the final round of the Texas Open. Hammond finished the tournament 22 strokes under par.

"Well," he said, turning to his caddy and old high school buddy, David Gray, "that ought to do it."

It did.
Azinger, who earned $64,800 as the runner-up, said the tournament was Hammond's with the eagle at No. 10.

"It was over. After that we were only playing for second."

Azinger, Bob Lohr and Duffy Waldorf started the final round at 14 under par and two strokes behind Hammond. A half-dozen others were within easy striking distance and Azinger's Ryder Cup teammate, Lanny Wadkins, was among them.

Azinger and Wadkins both made a move, pulling within a shot of the lead, but a string of three bogies killed Azinger's bid and Wadkins toppled out of contention with a double bogey at the seventh hole.

Waldorf and Lohr never came close to matching Hammond's torrid pace after the front nine and they wound up with 71s, tying for third with Mark Wiebe, a 67 shooter, at 13-under-par 267.

Wadkins, with a 70, was a stroke back and tied at 268 with Centel champion Bill Britton, who shot 69, and Jay Don Blake, who had a 68.

The victory increased Hammond's career winnings to $1,133,747, earned him a 2-year exemption from qualifying and assured him of invitations to the Masters, the World Series of Golf and the Tournament of Champions.

After a moonlight finish Saturday night following the rain-delayed third round, Hammond said:

"It's been a bad year, but it's not over yet. I have one more chance to make a good year out of it."

And Sunday he did. So let the good times roll.

Schrader wins NASCAR event

CONCORD, N.C. (AP) — Rusty Wallace gained the points lead and Ken Schrader gained some credibility in the All Pro Auto Parts 500.

While Schrader drove to victory Sunday at Charlotte Motor Speedway, Wallace got a big break from Dale Earnhardt's engine, moving into the lead in the Winston Cup driver standings with four races remaining.

Earnhardt, a three-time champion who had led the season points chase for 14 races, went out Sunday after just 13 laps on the 1.5-mile oval with a broken camshaft — finishing last in the 42-car field.

Earnhardt came into the race leading Wallace by 75 points and left the track trailing by 35, 3,612-3,577.

Wallace, who lost the title last year to Bill Elliott by just 24 points and had not led the points in 35 races, dating to August 1988, said: "It's not like I fell into something."

"If everybody remembers, at the beginning of the season I had three 31st-place finishes. I blew up at Martinsville, at Atlanta and blew up here at Charlotte. Dale doesn't have three finishes like that."

"I'm sorry Dale had a problem, but just about the time Dale has some bad fortune, I have some good fortune. I just hope that I can race him to the end and that we don't trip."

"I just want to run consistent, run up front and stay up front."

Earnhardt took the terrible day philosophically — at least outwardly.

"You can't drive the car if it ain't running, and it wasn't running," Earnhardt said. "Anybody can have trouble and we had it today."

"Rusty didn't beat us, we beat ourselves. But we won't give up on winning the championship. It's definitely not over. This was the wrong time for this to happen, but there's still four races left and anything can happen."

The victory by Schrader, the ninth different winner in 25 races this season, was only slightly overshadowed by the championship battle.

He set a track record of 149.863 mph, breaking the mark of 146.861 set by Elliott in 1984.

Schrader drove at or near the front of the pack all day, finally driving past Mark Martin into the lead for the final time 25 laps from the end of the 334-lap, 500-mile race.

Names in the news

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Marlon Brando says MGM-UA studios excised crucial scenes from his new movie "A Dry White Season," weakening the film's anti-apartheid message.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Pittsburgh Pirates baseball announcer Jim Rooker put his foot in his mouth, so now he's putting both feet through a 315-mile trek for charity.

he'd walk back to Pittsburgh if the Pirates lost to the Philadelphia Phillies after taking a 10-0 lead in the first inning of a June 8 game here. Philadelphia won 15-11.

Jeanne Dixon's Horoscope

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 10, 1989

CELEBRITIES BORN ON THIS DATE: actress Helen Hayes, jazz legend Thelonius Monk, politician Adlai Stevenson III, author James Clavell.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Keep informed about employer-employee relationships. Scrutinize fine print before signing contracts or agreements.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Keep your nose to the grindstone no matter how you feel. Changes are in the works that will benefit you. Real estate transactions are not favored today.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Rise above petty jealousies, minor worries. Someone is working behind the scenes on your behalf.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Dealings with foreigners or attorneys are likely today. Unusual circumstances make you eager to get out of town.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): You could feel under the gun, expected to produce too many miracles. Do your best and stay calm.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): The financial advice of a well-intentioned friend may be based on faulty perception. Study nutrition and look for ways to improve your diet.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Parents need to show understanding and patience when dealing with tiny tots. Make friendly overtures to someone who is down.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): A school friend could play a major role in your happiness. Remember to repay favors. A romantic relationship could confuse you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Authority figure will offer valuable backing, support. Professional advice turns out to be more to the point than you expected.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Discretion pays off in both business affairs and domestic matters. Increased communication helps mend a long-time rift.
