Surprise

BIG SPRING — There were several "surprise" contestants in the Miss Howard College pageant Tuesday. Above Vance Self alias Mrs. Grace Self was declared the winner by a round of applause. More pictures in Thursday's Herald.

Contest winners

Thelma Ditto of 1601 Donley in Big Spring is the winner in this week's Big Spring Herald Football Contest.

She selected 20 of 23 winners and will be awarded $35 in "Herald Bucks", money that can be spent at any of the businesses sponsoring this year's contest.

Dick Helms of 2205 E. 25th St. in Big Spring was the second place winner and Eloise Wynn of 3233 Duke was the third place winner.

Helms also selected 20 of 23 winners but Ditto's tie-breaker was closer to the actual score than Helms' score.

Helms will receive $25 in Herald Bucks and Wynn will pick up $10 for her third place showing for the contest that appears each Tuesday in the Herald and in the weekly Howard County Advertiser, sister publication to the Herald.

The Wagon Wheel, 2010 Scurry, with 19 winning choices on the games, was the winning advertiser in the contest and will receive a one-quarter page advertisement for the effort.

City OKs nominee

BIG SPRING — A quorum of council members agreed during a special meeting Tuesday to nominate Corky Harris to the tax appraisal board of directors.

In an emergency reading of a resolution, the council voted 4-0 to nominate Harris to the Howard County Joint Tax Appraisal District board. The council called a special meeting so it could nominate someone to the appraisal board election before the Oct. 20 deadline. Four council members were present for the meeting: Tim Blackshear, Gail Earls, Sidney Clark and Mayor Max Green.

In other action, the council:

- Approved specifications for and agreed to advertise for bids for employee health insurance.
- Tom Decell, public works director, said the city is anticipating a 25 percent increase in Blue Cross/Blue Shield premiums, the city's current health insurance company.
- Approved the first reading of a resolution supporting Proposition 8 on the November state-wide ballot. Prop. 8 provides funding for four planned Texas Department of Criminal Justice prisons, as well as funding for the state's mental health system.

Soviets offer aid

ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT
The pope sent prayers and Soviet leader Mikhail S. Gorbachev offered relief aid today as the world expressed grief for the victims of the devastating earthquake in northern California.

President Mikhail S. Gorbachev sent condolences in a telegram to President Bush today, the Soviet news agency Tass said.

A Soviet Foreign Ministry official said his countrymen understand the grief of the Americans because of the quake in Armenia that killed 25,000 people less than a year ago.

Yuri Dubinin, the Soviet envoy to Washington, was assigned to contact the Bush administration to learn "what sort of aid could be given by the Soviet side."

If the Soviets do help the victims of an American quake, it would be a first. Millions of dollars of U.S. assistance, along with aid from numerous other countries, poured into Armenia following the Dec. 7 quake in the Soviet republic.

Prison officials impressed with county

By BRADLEY WORRELL
Staff Writer

BIG SPRING — West Texas is receiving new consideration for attracting state prisons to the area, a visiting state prison official said Tuesday.

"It opens up some avenues for us," said Andy Collins, a board member with the Texas Department of Criminal Justice. Collins was one of six state prison officials who briefly visited Howard County as part of a TDJC team assigned to assess 13 potential West Texas prison sites.

Howard County is one of 26 Texas counties or cities being considered for a state prison. The state is proposing to build as many as six new prisons: three 1,000-bed and three 2,250-bed facilities.

Collins said the TDJC is moving away from its centralized approach to incarceration and that locating facilities in West Texas will help "serve an area not served before." The recent location of prisons in Snyder and Amarillo have helped pave the way for the establishment of prisons in West Texas, he said.

Members of the Texas Department of Corrections prison site team watch as Howard County Commissioner Bill Crooker, center, points out the compound boundaries on a map as the team was visiting the proposed prison site Tuesday afternoon.

Collins said the TDJC team is looking for what any larger business looks for when they come to a town. "We're looking for a community accepting of us," he said, adding he felt a sense of "genuineness" from local officials and people.

Specific features the prison system wants is an ability to expand, a close proximity to hospitals and schools, and a high quality of life for its personnel, Collins said. "We're like any industry, like any big company," he said.

Collins rated Howard County's proposal as "very good" and said, "Obviously they took some time and effort for the proposal."

Howard County will not necessarily face a more difficult challenge in attempting to attract a prison simply because of its smaller size in comparisons with other proposed prison sites, he said.

"I don't think that's correct," Collins said. In fact, smaller communities are receiving new attention from the TDJC, partly because it's been the smaller communities that have expressed the most interest in attracting a state prison, he said.

For their part, local officials expressed confidence in Howard County's proposal and said they believe they made a good impression on the TDJC board members.

"We feel it went extremely well," said Bill Crooker, Howard County commissioner and one of the leaders in the effort to bring a prison to the area. Crooker credited the assistance of the county road and bridge crews and TU Electric with helping make the presentation a success.

Officials question Settles safety

By RUTH COCHRAN
City Editor

BIG SPRING — City officials have asked the owner of the Settles Hotel to make safety improvements on the crumbling, vandalized old building.

Gil Cuadra, who bought the hotel in 1984, met with the city public works director and the city attorney Tuesday morning to discuss safety problems with the building. Cuadra said securing the building from vandals has been a problem since he bought it. Vandals have apparently pushed several blocks of concrete from the top of the hotel.

● Related story, Page 2-A

In late September, the city sent Cuadra and Cuadra Manufactured Housing, Inc., of San Antonio a letter asking them to have the building evaluated for structural safety after a foot-long block of concrete either fell or was pushed from the top of the building.

Tom Decell, public works director, said he outlined several safety measures during the Tuesday meeting with Cuadra, including chain link fencing over doors and windows and a 10-foot fence around the perimeter of the hotel.

Decell said the city is asking

Rescuers search for quake survivors

By MARY McGRATH
Associated Press Writer

OAKLAND, Calif. — Aftershocks to Tuesday's killer quake rumbled through the battered San Francisco Bay area today, as rescue teams searched frantically for victims of a highway collapse and stunned Californians struggled to put order back in their lives.

At least 272 people were reported killed and 650 injured in the catastrophic tremor, which wrecked buildings across nearly 100 miles, brought down a section of the great Bay Bridge, and cut electric power to as many as 1 million residents.

Severed gas lines touched off fires, including one in San Francisco that burned a block of buildings, but all were out or under control today.

The quake, measuring 6.9 on the Richter scale, was the second deadliest in U.S. history, surpassed only by the great San Francisco earthquake of 1906, when 2,500 or more people were killed.

The magnitude of Tuesday's disaster emerged slowly today as officials made contact with hard-hit areas — outlying suburbs and towns where many telephones were cut off.

"The devastation is just horrible," said Gov. George Deukmejian, who cut short a trade mission to West Germany. Lt. Gov. Leo McCarthy said damage would total "the better part of $1 billion."

San Francisco Mayor Art Agnos urged commuters to stay home today rather than tax the transportation system, crippled by the closing of the Bay Bridge.

But as dawn spread over the glass-strewn streets of San Francisco, Oakland and other Bay communities, people tried to revive a sense of normalcy, some making their way to work by ferry, by foot or over highways not blocked by damage. The Bay Area Rapid Transit system reopened this morning, as did Oakland Airport and San Francisco International Airport.

Many people stayed home, however, their workplaces shut down in the quake's aftermath. Most schools and many other institutions were closed as well.

In a grimly futile operation near Oakland's bayfront, crews worked to clear concrete debris and searched for possible survivors along a mile-long portion of Interstate 880, the Nimitz Freeway, whose upper level collapsed on a lower roadway, crushing hundreds of motorists.

At least 253 people were killed in the highway disaster, said Dave Wilson of the state Office of Emergency Services.

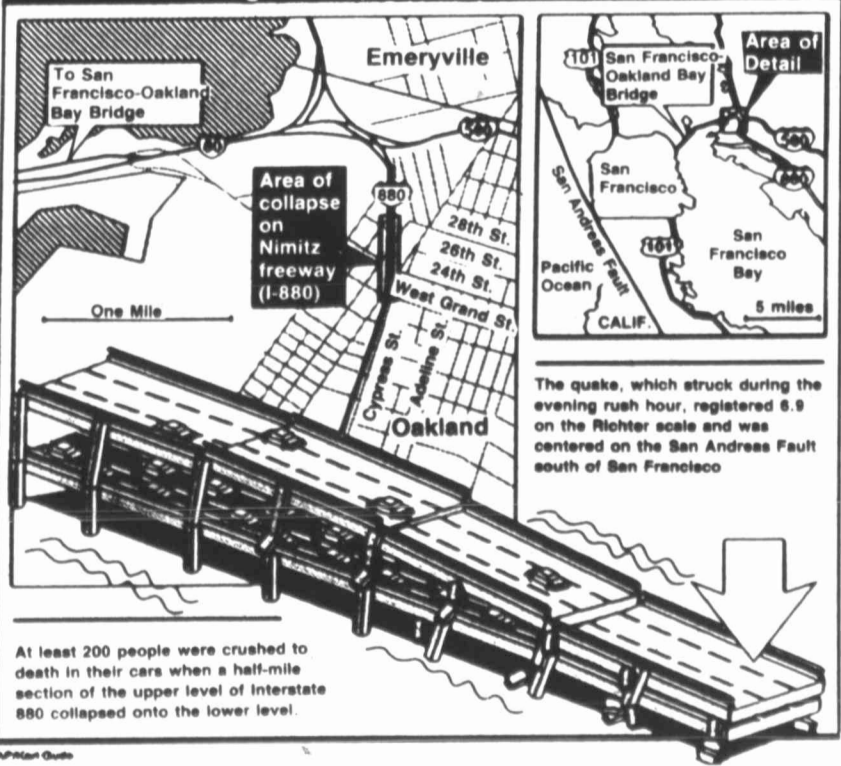

This morning, tractors, bulldozers and dump trucks were called out, and trucks and vans took bodies from the site.

"You could hear it crunching down — but you couldn't see anything. It was just a big white cloud," witness Leroy Fitzgerald said of the tragic collapse. "You could hear people screaming for help."

State emergency services spokesman John Peterson said at least 272 people had died overall in the quake, and 650 were injured.

In Washington, President Bush signed a disaster-relief declaration and said "we will take every step and make every effort" to help. Bush on Tuesday sent Transporta-

The quake hit at 5:04 p.m. Tuesday along a segment of the huge San Andreas Fault eight miles northeast of Santa Cruz and 75 miles

The quake was felt in Reno, Nev., 225 miles to the northeast.

'Soft money,' hard abuse

In the 1988 presidential race, both the Bush and Dukakis campaigns each accepted $46.1 million in public money.

Both candidates had their fingers crossed. Despite the pledges, despite the law, the Bush and Dukakis campaigns received more than $20 million each in private funds from banned sources.

According to the public interest lobby Common Cause, the Republicans' "Team 100," led by chief campaign fund-raiser and now Secretary of Commerce Robert Mossbacher, amassed contributions of $100,000 or more each from 249 corporate and individual donors.

Common Cause charges that these soft-money contributions get results. In February, The New York Times reported that a "must be placed list" was circulating at the White House.

Many have been placed, often in ambassadorships for which they have precious little qualifications.

The same abuse of the system would have occurred had Dukakis won, but that's no justification.

Congress seems to be moving toward reform.

Without an effective reform measure, 1992 will see the same abuses — in even larger amounts.

Edvard Munch THE ANXIETY OF OUR OWN TIMES

IT LOOKS LIKE YOU'VE BEEN TRYING TO RUN YOUR FINANCES THE SAME WAY THE FEDS RUN THEIRS.

Slowly but surely

The Big Spring Humane Society has been under a lot of pressure to move. Thanks to Stan Partee, we now have 10 acres of land, including a building that will someday be a lovely shelter office.

But it's not easy to pick up and move facilities for a hundred or so dogs and 30 to 50 cats, as we have been discovering the past six months.

For one thing, no job gets done as quickly as we expect it to. We anticipated one 8-hour day to set fence posts for 30 pens.

Also, no matter how well we try to plan, we never have the right equipment out at the job site.

Nevertheless, we are making progress slowly but surely. And the credit for that progress should go to all the people who have been generous enough to donate their time and labor.

When we first started construction, we anticipated it would take us three months to be in the new shelter.

In the meantime some of us middle-aged women are certainly learning some new skills.

We've learned more than we ever wanted to know about concrete, both the mixing and the pouring.

We discovered that no matter how carefully we measure, our 90-degree angles are always going to be 85 or 95 degrees.

And it's a funny thing that when there are five women at the job site supervising various projects.

But thanks to volunteers like the Big Spring firemen, who filled the last of our ditches with concrete Saturday, we are beginning to have what will someday be the best animal shelter in West Texas.

If our current neighbors will just be patient, we're getting there.

Tass shows effects of glasnost

The fact that Tass, the Soviet news outlet, is now reporting UFO sightings says to me glasnost is for real and that Soviet journalism may never be the same.

In case you missed it, witnesses claim a UFO landed in the Soviet Union and giants with small heads appeared from inside it.

Personally I never believed in UFO sightings, because UFOs are always sighted in places where UFOs likely wouldn't go.

I simply can't imagine Rutok and Carno, two giants with small heads from the planet Zingbla, having the following conversation:

"Great, Carno, where on Earth do you want to go?"

"How 'bout the Soviet Union?"

"Real outer space persons wouldn't go to the Soviet Union. The Soviet Union is about as fun a place to go as the dentist for a root canal."

Rutok would say, "Are you crazy? Why should we go to the Soviet Union? Let's hit Vegas."

Before the Soviets began to loosen up a little, Tass never would have published an article about a UFO sighting.

Before glasnost, Tass was quite rigid and only published what the government wanted published, and

Secret Service takes jokes very seriously

WASHINGTON Tim Austin, 17, felt like he had stumbled onto the set of "Saturday Night Live."

Two Secret Service agents flashed their badges at the door of his Oakton, Va., home and asked his mother if they could come in.

Tim was as baffled as his mother. Had he fired on the president with his slingshot? Had a sniper matching his description been seen on a rooftop near the White House?

The question was, if you had 24 hours to live, what would you do? Tim's pal began drafting a weird response. Not to be outdone, Tim wrote that he would kill some important people, among them, Vice President Dan Quayle.

Officials at the high school didn't laugh, and the Secret Service was alerted. The agents were pretty humorless, too, when they showed up at the Austin home on Sept. 8.

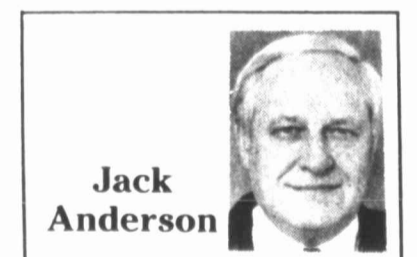

Tim's answer to the English class question was unacceptable, said the man at the table.

A former Secret Service agent told our associate Jim Lynch that the interrogation was an "overkill."

"What would happen if Dan Quayle came to your door?" one agent asked Tim.

After 90 minutes of interrogation, the agents left. They said Tim's case would be referred to the Justice Department and would likely be dropped.

With the Austins' permission, they called on the family psychologist and asked more questions about Tim. The psychologist assured the agents that Tim is harmless, that he has

Reagan: Iran-Contra a setup?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Reagan says he wonders now whether the Iran-Contra affair that rocked his second term in the White House wasn't "a setup, a sting operation, by the Iranians."

Reagan's latest comment on the most controversial foreign policy initiative of his eight years in office comes in a new book, "Speaking My Mind," published by Simon and Schuster.

The book is a collection of speeches, each preceded by a short essay containing Reagan's reflection on the subject or the occasion.

One of the speeches is his March 4, 1987, address after the release of the Tower Commission report on his administration's decision to sell arms to Iran while seeking Iranian help for the release of American hostages.

Reagan, in his speech, took responsibility for things that had "happened on my watch," but also said he "didn't ask enough about the specifics of the total Iran plan."

He has since said there are many aspects of the affair he still does not understand.

"I have to say that in looking back I wonder if this whole thing wasn't a setup, a sting operation, by the Iranians," said the former president. "Maybe we were conned into believing these were moderate Iranians seeking to reach out to the West, while in reality they were working directly for the Ayatollah."

Amendment sponsors bail out

WASHINGTON (AP) — A constitutional amendment to ban flag-burning is moving toward a vote in the Senate minus two original sponsors, who bailed out saying they do not want to tamper with the Bill of Rights.

"It was a mistake of the heart but nonetheless it was a mistake," Sen. John C. Danforth, R-Mo., told the Senate on Tuesday as he withdrew as one of 53 cosponsors of the proposed constitutional amendment.

Sen. Warren Rudman, R-N.H., another cosponsor, also took to the Senate floor to abandon his support.

And Democratic critics said for the first time the measure was likely to be defeated in a floor vote set for Thursday morning.

The measure would authorize the federal and state governments to ban burning the American flag.

Bush picks new surgeon general

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hispanic pediatrician Antonia Novello, described as "a ball of energy," is in line to become the next surgeon general and the first woman to hold the post, according to administration sources.

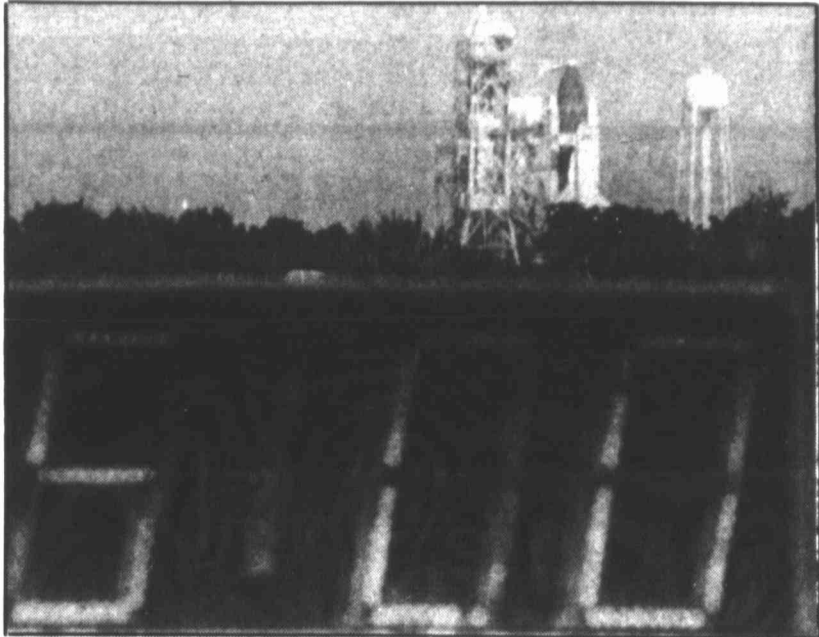

Novello, deputy director of the National Institute of Child Health and Human Development, is undergoing routine background checks before her formal nomination by President Bush, said the sources, who spoke Tuesday on condition of anonymity.

If nominated by Bush and confirmed by the Senate, she would succeed C. Everett Koop, the outspoken pediatric surgeon who stepped down last month after serving as surgeon general for seven years.

Novello, 45, is a native of Puerto Rico. She graduated from the University of Puerto Rico and in 1970 from the university's medical school in the top 5 percent of her class. She is a pediatric kidney specialist.

Scrubbed launch

Storms threaten third try at shuttle launch

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — NASA eyed two rain systems today, hoping to launch between them and avoid a third postponement of the liftoff of space shuttle Atlantis and its nuclear-powered Galileo probe bound for Jupiter.

The winged spaceship, grounded by rain at the last minute Tuesday and by a faulty engine computer last week, was scheduled for liftoff with a crew of five at 12:50 p.m. The launch "window," dictated by the alignment of Earth and Jupiter, closes at 1:21 p.m.

Forecasters said early today there was a 60 percent chance of favorable weather at launch time, but they were watching two weather systems — a high-pressure cold front moving in from the north and offshore rain clouds.

Crews fueled up the shuttle with a half million gallons of liquid oxygen and liquid hydrogen just after dawn, and launch director Bob Sieck gave the go-ahead for the astronauts to leave for the launch pad at mid-morning. As they left the crew quarters, they looked up at the sky, half blue, half cloudy.

Under launch-team rules, a second straight postponement today would trigger an automatic 48-hour delay, meaning Atlantis would be grounded until at least Friday. The rule is designed to prevent launch team fatigue.

NASA has been concerned whether an Air Force control center in Sunnyvale, Calif., inside Tuesday's earthquake zone, would be operating to command the rocket that sends Galileo into deep space once it leaves the shuttle.

But the space agency received assurances at an early morning meeting that the Consolidated Space Test Center at Onizuka Air Force Base would be ready.

NASA's last opportunity to launch the space probe is Nov. 21, when Earth and Jupiter lose their favorable alignment.

"July 1991 would be the next Jupiter window," said Lennard Fisk, NASA's chief scientist. "So this present window is in a sense a do or die. It's expensive to keep a spacecraft on the ground, and the RTG (nuclear power pack) is running down."

The odds for launch Tuesday had been 80 percent favorable, but showers 20 miles out over the Atlantic failed to move away as expected and the shot was scrubbed.

The showers were in an area that Atlantis would have to pass through if the shuttle had to make an emergency landing on a runway near the launch pad. Rain could severely damage the vehicle's fragile fiberglass heat protection tiles.

Association readmits Soviets

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — The World Psychiatric Association today conditionally readmitted the Soviet Union after a Soviet official acknowledged that psychiatry had been abused in his homeland for political reasons.

But the body said the official Soviet organization could be ousted if an investigation finds that the Soviets still use psychiatry as a political weapon against dissidents.

Delegates at the eighth World Psychiatric Congress in Athens voted 291-45 with 19 abstentions early today to conditionally readmit the Soviet All-Union Society of Psychiatrists and Narcologists.

The All-Union Society withdrew from the World Psychiatric Congress in 1983 to avoid expulsion because of allegations dissidents were being certified as insane.

Wednesday's decision empowers a world congress delegation to visit the Soviet Union within the next year to investigate.

Thatcher opposes sanctions

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher told a summit meeting of the 49-nation Commonwealth today that imposing sanctions on South Africa would be "utterly irresponsible," her aides said.

Mrs. Thatcher said South African President F.W. de Klerk had made a "major step forward" by releasing eight black nationalist leaders, allowing peaceful demonstrations and being willing to "consult all shades of opinion."

"We are most likely to achieve our aim by giving encouragement, not by trying to behave as if nothing significant had happened," an aide, who asked not to be identified, quoted her as saying.

Mrs. Thatcher, the sole opponent in the Commonwealth of sanctions against South Africa, spoke during a closed session soon shortly after the weeklong biennial summit opened.

Her aide said the prime minister "thought sanctions at this stage would be utterly irresponsible."

The opening speeches reflected differences on whether to press for tougher sanctions against South Africa now, or give de Klerk six months to implement promised reforms.

Party leaders replace Honecker

ERICH HONECKER

BERLIN (AP) — East German leader Erich Honecker was stripped of power today, ending 18 years of iron-fisted rule, as the government grappled with growing public demands for a freer society.

State news media said the Communist Party leadership replaced the 77-year-old Honecker with Egon Krenz, a younger, though orthodox party member who was believed likely to continue resistance to growing pro-democracy demands.

Honecker, who directed the building of the Berlin Wall in 1961, also will be relieved of his largely ceremonial post as head of state and as chief of the nation's military, the government-run news agency ADN said.

ADN said that Krenz, 52, a Politburo member in charge of security issues and government-run youth groups, already had taken over as the party chief and would be recommended for the posts as military chief and head of state.

Reminisce with a 'Taste of America' brunch

Our earliest recollections of breakfast are likely to be cozy thoughts reminiscent of a country morning, a lazy weekend, a homey feeling of warmth under a snug quilt in the dead of winter or perhaps a childhood remembrance of bouncing out of bed at the first whiff of intriguing aromas.

To rekindle such fond memories of days gone by, all you have to do is think of the foods that are classic all-American staples — sunny eggs, crisp bacon and freshly brewed coffee.

Can you smell the familiar scents, hear the bacon sizzling and taste the delicious flavors?

Breakfast sensations can be both comforting and exciting, gently rousing you to meet the day.

An invigorating breakfast needn't be bland, boring or time-consuming. It can be anything you like. Many nutritionists tout breakfast as the most important meal of the day. After the long fast during a night's rest, your body needs a sufficient supply of nutrients for the morning's activities.

Studies have shown that performance of both mental and physical tasks improves with proper nourishment. How you prepare that nourishment, though, is up to you.

On a weekday, choose from fried, scrambled or poached eggs, omelets or other favorites — cooked just the way you like them. For the weekend, suit the varied tastes of brunch guests by setting out assorted sprinkle-ons, sauces or bases. Use whatever tempts your tastebuds, from steamed vegetables to pesto sauce, yogurt to Brie.

For versatile bacon, anything goes for anyday breakfasts — regular or thick-sliced, lower salt, center-cut or ready-to-microwave. When maintaining, you might prefer to select hickory-smoked or maple-flavored bacon or to prepare your own bacon topping to complement the entree.

As for coffee, beyond your own daily usual, consider the enticing range of light to dark roasts or flavored coffees. Offer brunch guests the options of almond or vanilla extract, cinnamon stick stirrers, whipped cream, chocolate shavings, sprigs or mint or a dash of liqueur. Or, perhaps serving cappuccino, espresso or decaffeinated coffee is more to your liking.

Whenever your favorites, finding time to prepare breakfast needn't be a problem. It takes only minutes to brew a pot of coffee properly. Pancakes, waffles or French toast can be made ahead and frozen for quick reheating in the oven, toaster oven or toaster while scrambled eggs and omelets can be made in a flash, especially in a microwave oven.

The Taste of America recipes that are featured in this week's Recipe Exchange are bound to revitalize you and reacquaint you with wonderful morning memories.

QUICK 'N EASY EGGS AMERICANA
 2 to 3 packages (9 oz. each) frozen creamed spinach
 3 to 4 lbs. dehydrated vegetable mixture (soup greens)
 6 to 8 eggs
 3 to 4 lbs. croutons
 Paprika, optional

Remove spinach from cooking bags and place in large saucepan. Cover and cook over medium heat about 2 to 4 minutes. Break apart with fork and continue cooking, covered, until heated through, about 5 to 7 minutes. Stir in vegetable mixture. Keep warm while poaching eggs.

In 3-quart saucepan or deep 10-to-12-inch omelet pan or skillet, bring 1 to 3 inches of water to boiling. Reduce heat to keep water gently simmering. Break cold eggs, one at a time, into medium-large bowl. Holding bowl close to water's surface, slip eggs, one by one, into water. Cook about 3 to 5 minutes, depending on desired doneness. With slotted spoon, lift out eggs. Drain in spoon or on paper towels and trim any rough edges, if desired.

*If preferred, fry or steam-baste eggs.

Preparation time: 5 minutes; cooking time: 10 to 15 minutes.

SAVORY GREEN ONION BACON

1 pound sliced bacon*
 1/4 cup finely chopped green onions with tops
 1/2 to 1 tsp. hot pepper sauce

Preheat oven to 375 degrees F. Arrange 10 to 11 bacon slices on each of two 15 1/2 x 10 1/2 x 1-inch jelly roll pans or on rack on broiler pan. Stir together green onions and hot pepper sauce. Sprinkle onion mixture evenly over bacon slices. Bake in preheated oven until desired crispness, about 17 to 20 minutes. Drain on double-thickness paper towels.

*For thick-sliced bacon, increase cooking time by 5 to 6 minutes.

Preparation time: 5 minutes; cooking time: 17 to 20 minutes; microwave time: about 6 minutes for each 6 slices.

Other savory bacon toppings:

• Pepper: In place of green onions and hot pepper sauce, sprinkle 1 tbs. medium grind pepper over bacon slices.

• Green chili salsa: In place of green onions and hot pepper sauce, lightly brush 1/4 cup drained salsa over bacon slices.

AUTUMN COFFEE

1/2 cup sugar
 1 1/2 tsp. ground cinnamon
 1 tsp. ground allspice
 Dash ground cloves
 1 1/2 quarts hot brewed coffee
 1/2 cup evaporated milk, heated

In small bowl, stir together sugar and spices. Stir into coffee. Into each of 6 mugs, pour 1 cup coffee and a generous tablespoon of milk. Stir. Sprinkle with an additional dash of ground cinnamon, if desired.

Preparation time: 4 to 5 minutes.

TIPS FOR GREAT COFFEE

For the freshest, most flavorful coffee, grind your own beans using the proper grind for your brewing equipment. Store beans and fresh ground coffee in a cool, dry place in an airtight container. Carefully measure ground coffee, using 2 level tbs. for each 6 ounces of fresh, cold water. Use a clean coffee maker, which heats the water to about 200 degrees F. After brewing, transfer to a thermal pot to preserve flavor and aroma if coffee is to be served more than 30 minutes after brewing. Do not reheat coffee.

Papa Joe's Mexican eggs great for cool mornings

By PAPA JOE REED
 A cool morning brings on the need for a warm breakfast. Today, I want to share with you a warm, filling, energy packed breakfast that the entire family will rave about for weeks. First, let's get our ingredients together for:

How to open an egg

MEXICAN EGGS
 2 tbs. butter
 2 tbs. green pepper, chopped
 2 tbs. cornstarch
 1 can tomatoes
 Salt and pepper
 1/2 tsp. sugar
 1/2 tsp. chili powder
 1/4 tsp. onion seasoning
 Red pepper (just a dash)
 6 poached eggs
 6 slices toast, buttered

remaining tomatoes with the seasonings to the green pepper. Heat to the bubbling point and then add cornstarch and tomatoes mixture and cook and stir until the resulting sauce is thick and clear. Arrange the eggs on the slices of buttered toast and pour the sauce over the top. Garnish with strips of bacon or parsley. A great breakfast to start the day.

We've enjoyed a great breakfast, now let's enjoy a light lunch. For our lunch today, we will have a delicious said. We will need the following ingredients for:

CHICKEN &

PINEAPPLE SALAD
 2 cups chicken, diced, cooked
 2 tbs. lemon juice
 1 cup celery, chopped
 1 can pineapple chunks
 1/4 tsp. onion seasoning
 Salt and pepper
 Salad dressing
 4 cups lettuce, shredded

First, you sprinkle the lemon juice, salt and pepper over the chicken and chill thoroughly. Next, mix the celery, onion seasoning and enough salad dressing to bind the ingredients together. Add the pineapple (well drained) to the mixture. Chill until ready to serve. Serve on a bed of shredded lettuce and garnish with slices of hard-boiled eggs or olives. This makes about four servings. A perfect lunch to top off a perfect breakfast. Enjoy.

Papa Joe's Kitchen Tip: Have you ever bought cupcake in a cellophane package and find that the cellophane is stuck to the frosting? If you will hold the package under the cold water tap for a moment or two before you unwrap it, the cellophane will come off clean.

Savage returns to festival

By MEL PRATHER
Special to the Herald
Barbara Savage, Raymondville, will be making a return appearance at the Big Spring Arts and Crafts Festival. This well-known artist will be among the large contingent of top-named artists participating in the festival Oct. 21-22 at the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum.

Barbara Savage, who created the above portrait, will exhibit her recent works at the Big Spring Arts and Crafts Festival Saturday and Sunday. The Rio Grande Valley native spends time in Mexico each year to capture the mood and feelings of her subjects.

Savage, who works in oil, acrylic and watercolors, has many impressive honors to her credit. Among these was being invited by the Mexican government and featured as a one-woman Ambassador from Texas during the Mexican Independence Celebration at the Instituto Mexicano Norte Americana de Relaciones Culturales.

The distinction was especially meaningful to this Rio Grande Valley native since she spends time each year in Mexico painting.

Talking about her work, Savage says she uses her "artistic talents to lead an excursion down a challenging road paved with desire, discipline and dedication. The pleasure involved could be compared to a walk through the woods on a spring day. A joyful investigation of nature like music, is food for the soul and material for the sketchbook." While outdoor life is the accepted routine, Savage guards against a regular view of her rural surroundings by capturing the native trees, cacti and flowers of the entire Southwest and Mexico. She calls forth a storehouse of memories, weaving them into her words of art. Explaining, she said "the widespread experiences of my life, coupled with an extensive formal art education and the encouragement of my instructors, has proven most rewarding."

Her earlier works in pencils and watercolors took a serious turn 15 years ago when Savage decided that she wanted to be a professional artist. Studies in multi-media have led to her own style that is noted for sensitive and compelling portrayals of her subjects. Using the techniques of the old masters — certainty of line, color and composition — the artist brings nostalgia and the timeless beauty of her Southwest heritage to the foreground of contemporary thought. This popular artist is a member of numerous art associations and the recipient of numerous impressive awards. Her works are included in public, private and corporate collections covering a wide area of the United States and foreign countries. Her work will be included among the more than 200 exhibitors at the Big Spring Arts and Crafts Festival. Hours for the show are Saturday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Sunday from 1 to 6 p.m. There is no admission charge.

Girl wants to cool relationship

DEAR ABBY: I am an 18-year-old guy. I've been out with many girls, but the girl I now date is very special to me. She's 17. We've gone together for six months.

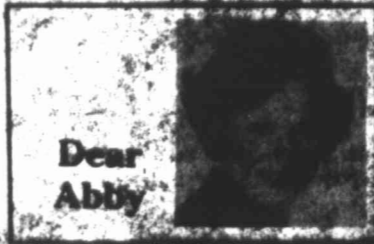

My problem lies in her current behavior. She says it would be better if we didn't see each other "for a while," as she has had some minor personal problems. She lost her cat — the cat just wandered off and was either stolen or just plain lost. Also, she needs more time to do her homework, help her mother, and try to comfort her girlfriend who just broke up with her boyfriend. Also, she needs her rest. I realize that this shows that she is a very caring person, but are these reasons enough for her not to see me for a while? (I suspect there is another guy, but when I asked her, she said no.)

It's been a week since I've seen her, and I miss her. Should I call her? Should I wait for her to call me? What should I do? — CARING AND CONCERNED

DEAR C AND C: Face it. The girl wants to cool it, so don't call her. When someone gives you five reasons for something, chances are not one of those reasons is the real one.

Assume a "manly" posture and pretend she doesn't exist. Trust me. You've nothing to lose. Ask some other girl out. Write again in 90 days and let me know what's happening.

DEAR ABBY: When my children were younger, we ate our meals together at the kitchen table. Because of changing lifestyles and schedules (divorce, the teen-acting, different hours, microwaveovens, etc.) our nighttime gradually evolved into eating our plates in the living room to the television in front of the TV.

Last week I commented about how it was a shame we didn't eat at the table like "normal" people anymore. Everyone laughed and said our eating habits were normal — that most families eat in front of the television. I argued the point, and they said, "Ask Dear Abby — she'll find out."

So what do you say — are we the majority or the minority? SINGLE MOM IN TOWNSEND, WASH.

DEAR MOM: Every Reader Do you eat your meals together as a family at one table? Or do you eat in front of the television with plates in your laps? Readers: Tell your classes! Reply by mail to: Dear Abby, P.O. Box 696, Los Angeles, Calif. 90006.

DEAR ABBY: I am a mother who needs your opinion should I charge my daughter for baby-sitting my grandchild?

I am a nurse most of the time and am living on a fixed income. I charge my daughter (she lives outside my home) $1 an hour for sitting while she works. On top of that, I sit for her when she is not at work, and I do not charge her for that. I provide meals for the child and give her lots of love and affection. (Grandmothers are good at that!)

My daughter tells me that I am the only grandmother she has ever heard of who charges for baby-sitting her own grandchild. Abby, do you think I'm wrong to charge?

If you print this, maybe other grandmothers (if there are any in the same boat) will read it and respond. — CHARGING SITTER IN MONTABULA

DEAR CHARGING: A dollar an hour for a sitter who provides a grandchild's loving care? What else? I think your daughter is lucky to have you. Readers?

It also includes how to properly address clergymen, government officials, dignitaries, widows and others.
