TIEING ONE ON

The war against drugs got an additional boost in the Crossroads Country last week. Kids tied red ribbons on trees, on cars and on stop signs to remind their peers to "Just Say No" to drugs and alcohol. It all began as an effort to stop the illegal use of drugs when a federal agent was killed. For more pictures see Page 7-A. For an editorial see Page 4-A.

Parolees benefit from new program

By PATRICK DRISCOLL
Staff Writer

LUBBOCK — Nearly half of the 392,000 people on parole in Texas may be candidates for innovative regional community correction programs designed to help relieve overcrowded prisons.

That's the word from an official with the Texas Adult Probation Commission.

Mitchell and Tom Green counties are two area counties considering the possibility of operating regional probation programs and are conducting feasibility studies in two service areas, both of which include Howard County.

The programs, called Community Supervision and Corrections Departments, are the result of criminal justice reform legislation passed during the spring session of the Legislature.

• Related story, Page 6-A

Dick Lewis, community information and assistance director of the state's probation office, gave an overview of the legislation, known as House Bill 2335, during an address Thursday at the 1989 Fall Regional Workshops for County Officials in Lubbock. Members of the Mitchell County Commissioners Court attended the workshop.

The bill allows for the implementation of 17 types of regional programs to reinforce and expand the concept of a continuum of services. They are designed to address a variety of offenders handled through the corrections process.

They range from pre-trial services, boot camps, residential treatment centers, restitution centers and electronic monitoring.

Mitchell County is involved in a study to decide the need for a regional drug and alcohol substance abuse center. County Judge S.L. "Mac" Morris anticipates the study will be completed sometime next month.

Tom Green County's study is also for a residential center but it has not been determined what kind will be needed, said Debbie Bartles of 10,000 attend airshow Saturday

By RUTH COCHRAN

BIG SPRING — Threatening weather didn't discourage fans as almost 10,000 attended Saturday's performance of the 1989 Vietnam Memorial Airshow.

Airshow officials said from 8,000 to 9,000 spectators braved cloudy skies and breezy winds to see a broad range of military and civilian aerial demonstrations and acts. The count at the Big Spring McMahon/Wrinkle Airpark topped last year's show, the first ever, which drew about 5,000 people.

Janine McKenzie, a show organizer, said the show ran smoothly except for a cancellation of the opening event. A lone parachutist, a member of the U.S. Army Golden Knights parachute team, could not jump for safety reasons, McKenzie said. Because the cloud ceiling was too low, about 1,000 feet, at 1 p.m., the jump was scrubbed, she said. The Golden Knight was to have leaped from his plane trailing the American flag.

All other performances ran as scheduled, she said, including a Reaction mixed to 2nd Gomez grand jurors

By BRADLEY WORRELL
Staff Writer

COLORADO CITY — A grand jury was seated Friday to hear cases including a May 1988 police fatal shooting case, and reaction to the second grand jury panel appears mixed.

Billy Ray Williamson, the then part-time officer who fatally shot sexual assault suspect Sammy Gomez, said Saturday he is not nervous about the second investigation in the shooting case.

"A grand jury is a grand jury," he said.

Williamson said the makeup of the new grand jury — an apparent five-Hispanic, seven-anglo panel — is not a matter of concern. "It makes no difference to me," he said. "I'm sure it will be fair and impartial regardless of what the racial makeup is."

Williamson said peace officers in general are "scrutinized more closely" and expected to be "squeaky clean" than average citizens. It's not necessarily good or bad, he said. "It's just the way it is and there's nothing you can do about it."

The family of Sammy Gomez — who died in a May 1988 police shooting and whose case will be reviewed by the newly-seated grand jury in November — expressed guarded optimism about the selection process.

"I don't know. I can't make up my mind. It's a guessing game," said Marcario Gomez, father of Sammy Gomez. Marcario made the remarks as he and wife Minnie waited in the lobby of the district court building, as jurors were selected in the third floor district court building.

And other haunted tales

By STEVE REAGAN
Staff Writer

BIG SPRING — Haunted houses, spirits and gravestones... symbols of Halloween to be sure, but also things recalled by area residents as we celebrate the time of things that go bump! in the night.

Almost every community has its share of spooks and hob-goblins, and Big Spring and surrounding towns are no exception. The following are three mysteries that have amused some, baffled others and scared many.

Happy Halloween.

By all accounts, it was a dark, forbidding structure; a perfect setting, one might say, for a haunted house.

It was known as the Bauer House, and on nights when the moon was full — and always on Halloween — its two-story, Victorian structure looked especially spooky.

Before it burned to the ground in the mid-1940s, the structure was a northside Big Spring landmark, close to where St. Thomas Catholic Church is today. Lots of people would drive by — but none ever had the courage to enter.

"I always got scared (driving by the house)," local resident Lea Whitehead recalled. "We never

Student files lawsuit over hair

By PATRICK DRISCOLL
Staff Writer

COLORADO CITY — A sexual-discrimination suit has been filed against the Colorado Independent School District by a student who is on in-school suspension because his hair is too long.

The suit, filed Oct. 24 by 17-year-old Colorado City High School senior Mike Lara and his father Tanis, contends that the school dress code is biased against male students regarding hair length and therefore violates the Texas Equal Rights Amendment.

It seeks to force school officials to allow him to return to classrooms. He has been on in-school suspension indefinitely since Oct. 13.

"A student's hair should not be below his collar," said Superintendent Jim Ramsey of what he described as a standard school policy violated by Lara.

A 2 p.m. hearing is scheduled for Tuesday in 32nd Judicial District Court in Mitchell County.

The suit states, "The hair length rule is written for and applied only to male students. Michael Lara has a constitutional right to be free from sexual discrimination in the

The centers will provide resources to communities, give them more options to work with people and reduce probation officer-prisoner ratios, Lewis said.

The current average of cases handled by a probation officer in the state is 130, he said. The new legislation will reduce that to 100. It will be less for most officers, thanks to a four-tier stratification of the people on probation.

For the most serious offenders the probation officer-prisoner ratio will be 1-25. It will be 1-100 for the

"He should (be indicted). If they present everything they have against him he will be indicted. Still," Gomez said, "it's a hard decision, a hard question."

Ruben Sandoval, the San Antonio civil right attorney representing the Gomez family, was in Washington, D.C. Friday and unavailable for comment.

Local LULAC organizer Sara Ortiz said LULAC doesn't have any official comment on the new grand jurors selected Friday.

later performance by the Golden Knights. By that time, the cloud ceiling had risen to 2,000 feet, allowing a comfortable margin of safety for the parachutists, she said.

"The Golden Knights were unable to do their first jump, the flag jump," McKenzie said. "Everything else has gone along."

"As far as the weather goes, we're very pleased with the crowd we got."

McKenzie said clear, warm weather is expected for Sunday when the crowd should be larger anyway.

"If we have warm weather, we could have as many as 20,000 to 30,000 (people) in one day," she said.

The spectators who turned out for Saturday's show experienced thrills and chills aplenty. McKenzie said the crowd was enthusiastic about every performer.

"They're just elated with what's going on out there," she said. "When (wingwalker) Johnny Kazian was doing his performance, all you could hear were oohs and aahs."

Kazian astonished the crowd with his wing-walking show, which is performed entirely without the benefit of any safety restraint. Kazian's stunts included standing on his head, as well as hanging on while the plane's pilot, Jim Franklin, executed several barrel rolls.

The crowd also enjoyed a demonstration of an F-16 fighter jet, watched a performance by the Golden Knights, and were introduced to the black-garbed Zar.

The famous Zar, who hails from the planet Zufrini, descended to the airpark in a pitch-black jet. A waiting crowd of young fans mobbed the mystery man for autographs and snapped up about 100 posters of him.

For young fan Todd Lancaster, Zar was by far the highlight of the airshow.

"I liked the Zar," the Big Spring boy said. Todd's father, Steve Lancaster, said he and the rest of his family enjoyed the show too.

"I think Todd wanted to see the air show," he said. "We liked it." For China Long, a justice of the peace in Big Spring, the scream of jet engines and the sight of military men at the airshow brought back old memories.

"I enjoyed the airshow very much. It brings back memories of when we had Webb Air Force Base," she said. "I wish there were more people."

"I think this is great. This was the best airshow I've seen in a long time. They've worked awfully hard on this."

For the pilots, it was a heck of a show too. Lt. Col. Dennis Reagan, U.S.A.F., said he passed up a mission to Hawaii and Alaska to attend the Vietnam Memorial Airshow.

"Civilian airshows treat us better than military," he said. "This is the best on we've been to."

Of course, Reagan had added incentive to attend the Big Spring airshow; he was stationed at Webb in 1971 during his pilot training.

"It was great. We were very busy," Reagan said of his days in Big Spring. "That was why I picked the trip, to come back to town."

Reagan spent Friday afternoon driving through Big Spring with the crew of his C-130 looking over old haunts. He also managed a partial round of golf at Comanche Trail Golf Course before rains stopped his play. And, since it just isn't the same in Little Rock, Ark., where he's based, Reagan also slipped in one meal of good old Texas-style Mexican food.

"West Texas is still nice," he said. "People are friendly as always."

McKenzie said all of the pilots have been as happy with the airshow as Reagan.

"I cannot tell you the number of pilots who've come up and said they've never been treated as well anywhere as in Big Spring, Texas," she said.

Most of them are asking if they can come back next year, she said.

Meanwhile, anyone who wants to see them this year can do so Sunday at the Airpark. The gates open at 9 a.m. for viewing of the aircraft, as well as displays by the U.S. Border Patrol, the Army National Guard, and two car clubs.

The aerial portion of the show will begin at 1 p.m. with a flag jump by the Golden Knights and will continue through about 4:30 p.m. with other acts and demonstrations.

Tickets to the show can be purchased at the gate. Adults are $5, students 7 to 12 are $4 and children 6 and under are free.

Proceeds from the show will go to build a memorial to West Texas area Vietnam veterans. Before Sunday's performance, an 8 a.m. memorial service has been planned at the site of the memorial, on the west end of the airpark.

Lovesick whale flips for Norwegian ferry

LARSNES, Norway (AP) — A killer whale appears to have flipped for a Norwegian ferry, enchanting passengers and most of Norway as it tries to court the lumbering vessel.

For 10 days, the 13-foot-long killer whale has hugged the side of the Voksa, a 150-foot car and passenger ferry, on its glamorous route to island villages that freckle the west coast of Norway.

Norwegian newspapers widely reported the black-and-white sea mammal's infatuation with the black-and-white ferry.

Although the whale has been making all the advances, a Voksa crewman said, "It's hard to say who fell in love with whom."

The crew claims the whale enjoys showing off for people. They named it Hanna, despite questions of its gender.

Kjell Nystoeyl, the Voksa's 35-year-old captain, said Hanna probably lost her flock, seen in the area about a month ago.

"There must be some vibration from the ship's hull that she finds comforting," he said.

Sea mammal expert Karl Inne Ugland of the University of Oslo said the whale is lonely and wants company because it has a strong flock instinct. He said it is probably a young female, about 7 years old.

Killer whales, actually large dolphins, are intelligent and Hanna knows she is being watched by people aboard the ferry, Ugland said.

Collecting comic books isn't just kid stuff anymore

By STEVE REAGAN
Staff Writer

BIG SPRING — Holy Collector's Item! Comic books aren't just kid stuff anymore.

Comic books, for decades the domain of adolescents, are becoming more and more popular with older readers, as well. In fact, if one has a few old comics stashed in the attic, that person might be surprised at the value his old superheroes have attained.

Books published as recently as three months ago are returning almost seven times their original price, and older titles — such as the original Superman or Batman comics — are commanding what some people would call unheard-of prices.

Why would anyone pay such a price for a comic book?

"You haven't met a comic book collector," said Larry Armstrong, owner of the Daily News, a Midland newspaper that does half of its business in comic books. "They want to get the cream of the crop.

"I've got about 1,500 right now . . . but that's a small collection compared to some others. I've seen people come into a store and buy eight or nine (of a particular comic) at a time . . . I saw one guy come in and literally grab a handful." — Big Spring resident Chris Wilson.

They want the best. . . . Comic books have been written up as a good investment."

Armstrong said his store's customers come in all shapes, sizes and ages.

"We get young kids — the Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtle crowd," he said. "Teenagers like the super-heroes, and adults like that as well as other, more adult themes.

"Comics deal with a variety of subject matter, including drugs, sex and violence, as well as being a form of entertainment," Armstrong added.

Thanks in large part to its comics trade, the Daily News has grown in six years from its original Midland location to four stores in the Midland-Odessa area, and Armstrong is considering expansion into the Big Spring area.

"I've talked to several people about operating a store (in Big Spring)," he said. "We're looking for space over there, but nothing is definite yet."

If the Daily News opens a store here, Armstrong will find an eager market for his services, if a local collector is a reliable indication.

Big Spring resident Chris Wilson, 22, has been reading comic books for several years, and although he doesn't call himself a "serious" collector, he has amassed about 1,500 books in that time.

"Off and on, I've been collecting my whole life," Wilson said. "I pick one up whenever the mood hits me."

Wilson said that the major drawing card of comic books is that "if the art's any good, you can find some really good material." A self-confessed voracious reader, he also admits he enjoys the light diversion comics present.

"Whenever I'm not in the mood for anything deep, I pick up a comic book," he said.

Because he reads comics mainly for pleasure, Wilson maintains that he shouldn't be considered a serious collector.

"I've got about 1,500 right now . . . but that's a small collection compared to some others," he said. "I've seen people come into a store and buy eight or nine (of a particular comic) at a time . . . I saw one guy come in and literally grab a handful."

Wilson also stresses that he doesn't consider his collection an investment.

"I think it's dangerous to be that way," he said, "because you don't know what the issue's going to be worth later. Some books . . . are only available through a comics distributor. Those are the only ones I'd invest in.

"A serious investor is someone who buys 10-15 titles a month," Wilson said. "I buy them when the mood strikes me."

If someone asks Armstrong advice on beginning a collection, he said the first thing he'd say is to buy comics that are enjoyable to the collector.

"I wouldn't recommend titles to individuals who don't like to read comic books," he said. "Buy some titles you enjoy reading. Don't just buy a title and hope it increases in value."

Also, Armstrong recommends buying the initial issue of a title if possible, because those always become more valuable if the series becomes popular.

If a popular hero acquires new powers, changes his costumes, appears in another magazine or if a new character is introduced in the book, the value of those particular issues generally increase, he added.

Both Armstrong and Wilson said that Batman comics are among the most popular now, in large part to the recent motion picture. But Armstrong added that making a movie about a comic book character is not a guarantee of higher value for the title.

"Howard the Duck was a popular comic a few years ago," he said. "But the movie (by the same title) was so bad that I couldn't sell anything with Howard the Duck on it. The movie definitely hurt the comic book."

went over there unless we had a boy with us to protect us against the spooks."

"It was a beautiful old two-story house," local historian Polly Mays said. "But it did look sort of spooky."

The house stood deserted for many years, but Whitehead and others recall that a light would shine from one of the second-story gables — at irregular intervals.

Whitehead also said that she had heard that a caretaker was employed to look after the house, but no one ever really saw the man.

After years of abandonment, tall weeds and bushes gave the building an even more sinister-looking appearance. Naturally, it became an attraction to youths of that time.

"It was kind of an innocent time," Whitehead said. "There wasn't just a whole lot to do, so we'd drive out to the house. We didn't go there to park, though; we kept our eyes open."

Sometime during the late '40s, the house burned to the ground. The cause of the blaze was unknown, but, if anything, the burned-out hulk of the house was even more sinister-looking than before, Whitehead said.

As to what exactly was haunting the house, no one knew for sure, although Agnes Currie, a retired schoolteacher, said that the legend was that a woman had died in the house.

Perhaps it was that dead woman's spirit that kept the light on at night.

The lady is crying. She is crying, they say, because she drowned her children — whether intentionally or by accident is unknown.

Big Spring is not exactly home to this lady, but she reportedly has been spotted here on occasion. She also has been seen as far away as Austin.

Oh, and one more thing about the lady: She's a spirit.

In her article, "The Crying Lady," Fran Vasquez states that the lady, after realizing what she had done to her children, began crying. Eventually, she died from a broken heart.

Unfortunately, she was not allowed into heaven, the legend says, because of what she had done. "God told her that if she could find her children . . . he would forgive her and let her into heaven," Vasquez stated.

The spirit is believed to visit different places where there are bodies of water, searching, the legend says, for her dead children.

When visiting Big Spring, she has been spotted, Vasquez states, at the Lakeview Lake, wearing a long, white robe and walking on the water, crying for her children.

States Vasquez: "So wherever there is water, the crying lady is known to come through . . . in search of her children, (who) can't be found.

"She longs to rest in peace."

Tombstones and cemeteries are a regrettable fact of life. What makes a particular gravesite near Garden City remarkable is that it tends to glow in the dark.

What makes the grave glow isn't entirely sure, although experts say that some fluorescent material must be in the stone's composition.

Whether the explanation is natural or not, one thing is clear: The gravesite is a popular hang-out with area youths.

"That used to be the thing to do in high school — go out and look at the glowing grave," Big Spring resident Cindy Cole recalled.

Another woman, who asked not to be identified, said she visited the site several times. "I don't know if it was actually the tombstone that glowed, because I was always too scared to get close, but something out there was glowing."

Grandma drowns trying to save only grandchild

HOUSTON (AP) — A grandmother who was inseparable from her only grandchild lost her life trying to save the boy from the bottom of the family's swimming pool, the boy's mother said.

When Ms. Flowers and police arrived at the Clear Lake-area house minutes later, they found Mrs. Dinkins floating face down in the pool and the baby on the pool bottom.

Paramedics had to dive for several minutes to find the boy.

He and his grandmother were found in the family pool Wednesday after Mrs. Dinkins, 44, who was baby-sitting the boy, called Ms. Flowers at her hairstyling job.

Prison push in its final stages

The final push has begun. Approximately 10 days from now, Howard County residents are likely to learn if either a 300-job or 800-job state prison will be located on a site about four miles northeast of Big Spring.

That timing coincides with the Nov. 7 vote on a series of state constitutional amendments. One of the most pertinent to this area is Proposition 8; approval will provide $400 million in funding for both state prison construction and mental health and mental retardation. Big Spring stands to benefit from the latter, with plans for a $3 million rehabilitative therapy building.

This area also stands to benefit in a number of economic ways if prison construction is financed and the Howard County prison bid wins Texas Department of Criminal Justice acceptance.

Howard County support of Proposition 8 is imperative if this plan is to become reality and local voters should respond accordingly.

Is there anything else the average citizen do to help this process? Besides voting and encouraging others to do the same, yes, there are several things that can be done.

- Supporters of the prison are circulating petitions that ask for names, addresses and phone numbers of everyone who supports a prison being built here. Those petitions can be found in numerous businesses throughout Howard County. They will be delivered to the Criminal Justice board if the local proposal makes the next cut, to be announced about Nov. 8.

- Likewise, supporters are organizing an effort to deliver Howard County residents to Austin Nov. 13 for an impressive show of support in the Senate chambers that day. If you can make such a trip for a 9 a.m. meeting, it could mean much for this effort.

When Snyder's proposal was selected two years ago more than 250 residents from Scurry County boisterously stood to acknowledge their support. It is impossible to say exactly how much that meant for the decision. But it is almost a sure thing that if nothing more than a muffled cry is heard from Howard County, decision makers will have to wonder if support truly exists for a prison in Howard County.

We believe there is, for several good reasons. The danger, however, is a complacency that lulls Howard Counties into believing — thanks to an admittedly strong proposal and optimism by various supporters — nothing more needs to be done. That is wrong.

It is right to be optimistic, but it could be fatal to be inactive.

A day's trip to Austin; Is it worth the prospect of a non-polluting industry in this county that would provide hundreds of new jobs? Are we a community that has proven itself capable as a provider of services to other humans? Is a prison an extension of the human services provided to clients of both the VA Medical Center and the Big Spring State Hospital? Are you willing to "let the other guy take care of it" and just hope that Big Spring is selected?

Two buses have been chartered and a hundred rooms have been set aside for those interested in making the trip. One bus leaves Sunday and the other will depart very early Monday for those who don't want to make an overnight venture.

Either way, a phone call to the Chamber of Commerce will help planners of this event. They'd like to hear from you even if you are planning to drive your own vehicle, or if you know of people in the Austin area who will show support for our plan.

Your support in the form of a vote for Proposition 8, your support in the form of a petition signature and your support in the form of your presence in Austin Nov. 13 cannot be overstated. They are all needed, if you agree that Big Spring "does prisons right" and this area will benefit from a state prison here.

Red Ribbons show anti-drug support

Literally hundreds of kids, teachers and parents pitched in to show their support for anti-drug efforts across the Crossroads Country during the past week.

Area youngsters tied red ribbons to trees, stop signs, car antennas — almost anything that stood still to show that they were against using illegal drugs.

Speakers from law enforcement agencies and drug and alcohol rehabilitation programs told youngsters about the dangers involved in drug use — and the students took it to heart.

Even prisoners from the Federal Prison Camp got in on the act. One convicted drug offender made a video urging students to not get involved with drugs.

Red Ribbon Week across the Crossroads Country was a huge success. It is an effort that should continue every day of the year.

Consolidation means less control

By JESSE TREVINO

The ideas have started to come forward on how to correct Texas inequitable public school finance system that must now be fixed after the Texas Supreme Court's unanimous ruling.

Some are on the right track, such as State Sen. Carl Parker's plan that begins to add money to the guaranteed yield idea first brought forth by Comptroller Bob Bullock. Some are bad, such as the idea that the tax bases of the school districts be consolidated to form 254 taxing districts in Texas' 254 counties.

Gov. Bill Clements has not come forward with a plan, but it is said by some people in state education circles that he favors the consolidation plan.

Consolidation is a nasty word to the public and to school officials across Texas. However true it may be that some school districts should be consolidated, they most likely will not be.

But let us be clear about something, the consolidation idea being tossed around is about consolidating tax bases on a county wide basis, not consolidating school districts. But before people start throwing around consolidation of tax bases they ought to make sure they understand two basic problems with it.

One is the fact that school districts would lose their taxing authority and the other is that the move to create one unitary taxing entity will make more poor districts equal but not raise some to where they should be and increase taxes to boot.

Let's take the second one first. The crying need for many school districts is more total money.

Jesse Trevino

Creating one county-wide tax base does not bring school districts more money. It simply means one thing: an attempt to make the taxation system more equal than it is now.

In so doing, proponents of tax base consolidation are actually putting school districts on the road to increasing local property taxes, precisely the part of the tax system that caused the inequity in the first place.

All it does is create one tax base and it could very well be that some of the wealthier school districts could lose money to some of the less wealthy school districts.

But the disparity among some school districts in the same county is such that lopping off half of a wealthy school district's budget and passing it on to a poor school district will not be enough money to make a difference for the poor district.

The result will be greater and higher hikes for all of a county's residents, so that the root of the problem will not be cured and will remain the same.

And what of those 60 counties in the state in which all of the school districts are classified as poor?

The second consequence of tax base consolidation would mean greater loss of local control by school boards. A county-wide tax base would necessarily mean that local school boards could not set local tax rates.

This approach is wrong, too, because even the most vocal proponents of the Edgewood decision did not ever intend to limit what a school district can offer to its students. For some people to now infer that is what Edgewood means is incorrect and overreaching.

So, the bottom line of tax base consolidation is more property taxes with less local control.

People should stop talking about consolidation, of either school districts or their tax bases. Or, if they are serious, they ought to be brave enough to give the entire state a thorough going over and recommend massive restructuring of the system. But no one is going to do it.

Gov. Clements' task force on education finance might could do it. But it won't. Consolidation of a tax base without the consolidation of the school districts is a half-step that does not solve the problem encapsulated in the Edgewood decision.

Proponents of consolidation should remember that the district court in Austin will have to approve any remedy set forth. Some folks forget that all of the parties in the Edgewood decision, most notably the wealthier school districts, will have a say in the final plan that the court approves.

As soon as they start figuring out what consolidation of their tax bases means, the wealthier school districts will do a little phone calling, and the idea will be dead.

So, instead of wasting everyone's time, proponents of consolidation need to get off that horse right now.

Congress fires bills at drug war

By PETER ROPER

Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — All that white stuff that congressional lawmakers are generating in their war on drugs isn't cocaine; it's the growing mountain of legislation they're cranking out to address the problem.

A reporter could go bleary-eyed trying to read it all, and it's not really a laughing matter because lawmakers are limited in that they can do. Sure, they visit drug rehab centers and go on fact-finding tours of the worst neighborhoods in their communities. But let's face it. Police officers get to make the arrests and show off mountains of captured contraband to reporters.

The only thing Congress can do is write legislation, and the word processors have been smoking all year with new bills and resolutions. As of Oct. 20 there were 394 proposals on file. Some are sound, others are... well, interesting, to say the least.

You've probably heard all about President Bush's legislation to boost anti-drug spending by $2 billion for more prison space and to provide more money to state and local police. But did you know that last week was Red Ribbon Week?

Well it was, and if you'd been paying attention to the legislation by Sen. Rudy Boschwitz, R-Minn., you'd have known to wear a red ribbon to let people know you're against drugs. You can probably wear one this week too if you want to.

Citizen involvement seems to be a common theme. Rep. Jerry Lewis, R-Calif., wants to sell $4 billion in federal "drug war bonds." Lewis remembers being a schoolboy during World War II and chipping in dimes to help buy Jeeps for the boys overseas.

"If we can get school teachers to encourage kids to contribute to an anti-drug campaign, you can see what a good educational tool that would be to reach kids early," Lewis explained.

Rep. Richard Schultze, R-Pa., agrees that money is a key ingredient in the drug war, but wants to give it to the public, not get it. He's sponsoring a "Bounty Hunter" bill that would encourage people to turn in their neighborhood drug dealer for rewards up to $100,000. Although some lawmakers have scoffed at the idea, more than two dozen House members have cosponsored the bill in the past.

"In other words, turn in a pusher with an expensive home, yacht, car or plane bought with drug profits and you get half the value of those tainted luxuries," said Schultze.

Bounty-hunting citizens aren't the only forces being mobilized, either. Congress gave the Texas National Guard $2.9 million this year for cactus-like camouflage and other gear so it can patrol the U.S.-Mexico border in search of smugglers.

And if the Texas troopers skulking in the cactus forced smugglers into the air, Sen. Mitch McConnell, R-Ky., was ready this year with his legislation allowing the U.S. military to shoot down suspicious civilian aircraft.

"It can get a little crazy around here when Congress focuses on a particular issue," said a staffer for Rep. Fortney "Pete" Stark, R-Calif. "All of these ideas are well-meaning, but the Senate rejected the McConnell amendment because they knew there would be a furor the first time some vacationing doctor got shot down because his airplane's radio wasn't on the right frequency."

Stark has poked fun at some of the drug legislation by issuing a drug test to his House colleagues that outlines some of the past legislative efforts that haven't worked too well. For example, his most recent test noted the Customs Service recently spent $100,000 to give random drug tests to 3,500 of its employees and only found one worker with a drug problem.

Congress, however, is like a horse that has gotten a glimpse of the barn in these situations and refuses to be headed in any other direction.

For example, there are some drug bills to reward South American countries for anti-drug efforts and others to punish them for past failures. There are bills to make certain drug addicts aren't getting federal disability payments and bills to keep abusers from getting welfare benefits.

There is even a bill that would deny countries World Bank loans if they failed to cut their production of illegal drugs.

"That's an odd piece of legislation right there," said Stark's spokesman. "The United States is a major supporter of the World Bank, but it would be hard for us to justify punishing another country when you consider all the illegal drugs, including acid and speed, that are made in this country."

Odd to some perhaps, but apparently wise to others.

Appealing to humans is strange

By ROBERT WERNSMAN

Publisher

Ahhh, the genius of marketing in America these days.

It's so much fun to watch what sells and what moves people to buy.

I always thought the best way to market a product was to create a demand by showing customers and potential consumers the advantage of your product, then give it to them at a competitive price.

Boy, have I got a lot to learn — and learn I will. All I have to do is keep my eyes and ears open, waiting for these lessons to come rolling in.

One concept that's caught my eye has been a high profile convenience store project to move loads and loads of liquid refreshment. From the looks of it, it's doing the trick.

It is an effort by Sun Sportswear, licensed by Applause Licensing. Called Rude Dog, the concept urges people to "Get in a Rude Mood" and buy all of the series of cups that have been produced for this marketing project.

One such cup proclaims: Class of '90 Rude Dog Disobedience School. No doubt this appeals to the crowd of buyers who pride themselves on being contrary toward society and showing their independence by proudly displaying that contrariness.

Does this get more carbonated beverage moved in this country?

Granted, like so many people, I've been worn down by the constant "Have a nice day" slogan adopted by everybody and their dog — but I can't say that "Get in a Rude Mood" is much of an alternative.

Perhaps it reminds me too much of a fellow publisher in Iowa who's name is Ed Rödd and pronounced rude. It seemed like he was on a constant push to convince you that he was quite willing to live up to his name — however it was spelled, he was ready to be rude.

I guess I understand a Rude Dog attitude about as well as I understand three litres of your favorite soft drink costing 50 cents or so less than two litres. I understand the rules of economy and all that, but this one escapes me entirely.

If it can be cheaper to sell me three litres of Coca-Cola than two litres of Coca-Cola — well, why isn't it cheaper to sell me three gallons of gas than two gallons of gas? Why isn't it cheaper to sell me a gallon of ice cream than a half-gallon of the same product?

I'm willing to be educated — really.

One of my favorite marketing genius strategies, however, took hold several months ago and continues to flaunt its popularity. It belongs to Camel cigarettes and it harks back to the days of yesteryear when the push was on to convince people that smoking was the suave thing to do.

You likely realize by now that you're reading the column of a non-smoker with little patience for smokers and the health hazards this habit brings to human beings. Having watched my mother die of cancer after a lifetime of cigarette smoking no doubt contributed to my attitude.

So, if I was going to initiate a campaign to discourage smoking — short of reprinting X-rays of cancer-saturated lungs on cigarette packs — I think it would have to do with insulting the intelligence of those who buy cigarettes.

Perhaps I'd tie it to a relatively ugly animal, and pass it off as a "cute" association, alluding to the allure and attraction of this habit to the animal.

Imagine, sticking a lighted cigarette in an animal's mouth, dressing him in a tuxedo and convincing the buying public that this guy is a smooth character.

Only, they're doing it to sell cigarettes, not discourage their sale.

It will take me quite some time to comprehend some marketing campaigns. But when it comes to telling the buying public that a camel with a cigarette in his mouth and a tie around his neck is a smooth character, I may never understand it.

Yum-yum — makes you want to buy and light up, huh?

Radical veterans burn flag

SEATTLE (AP) — A crowd of hundreds watched as radical Vietnam veterans torched 1,000 American flags in a "festival of defiance" Friday minutes after a federal law prohibiting desecration of the flag went into effect.

Alternately chanting "Burn, baby, burn" and singing the national anthem, the crowd cheered as members of Vietnam Veterans Against the War-Anti-Imperialist torched a pile of American flags shortly after midnight.

On Friday, four cloth flags were burned in a protest at Berkeley, Calif., and a flag burning at Colorado State University was halted when a passerby snuffed the flames with his bare hands.

Kathleen Taylor, American Civil Liberties Union director in Seattle, said the law encourages the very action it's intended to discourage.

"There were no incidents of public flag burning in Seattle until Congress enacted the prohibition," she said. "Liberty needs special protection, not its symbol, the flag."

The law took effect at 12:01 a.m.

Arkansas bridge falls, 1 dead

HEBER SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — One person was killed and several people were injured when a suspension bridge with as many as 50 people on it collapsed Saturday afternoon, authorities said.

People were reportedly swinging back and forth on the 50-foot-high, 200- to 300-foot-long pedestrian bridge over the Little Red River before it collapsed, said a Cleburne County Sheriff's Office spokesman.

About 30 to 50 people were on the span, said dispatcher Gary Hooten.

The county coroner pronounced one person dead, said reporter

Paul Headen of radio station KAWW in Heber Springs.

The bridge is about five miles east southeast of Heber Springs, which is about 60 miles north-northeast of Little Rock.

Several people were taken to Cleburne County Memorial Hospital, said Carolyn Vinson, a telephone operator there. She said she could not release further information.

Cranes were being sent to the scene, said Bill White, another spokesman for the sheriff's department. The National Guard was also asked for assistance.

"We don't know what all we've got," White said.

ALBERT SHANKER

NEW YORK (AP) — Teachers union leader Albert Shanker on Saturday called for an immediate end to multiple-choice standardized achievement testing. He said the results are misleading and may even be hindering school reform.

Shanker, president of the American Federation of Teachers, made the radical suggestion after a speech at the Educational Testing Service's 50th Invitational Conference in which he said many school districts are apparently shying away from reform ideas for fear they might drag down standardized test scores.

"I would call for an immediate end to standardized tests as they are now," Shanker told reporters.

Atwater: GOP needs minorities

FORT WORTH (AP) — Lee Atwater, chairman of the Republican National Committee, urged more minority involvement Friday in the GOP.

Atwater said the party has got to do a better job of reaching out to show minorities the GOP is sincere.

"What we have not done in the past, and we've got to do a better job of, is reach out to show that we're sincere, to show that we're willing to bring people into our strategy sessions ... and into our homes and into our hearts and into our confidences," said Atwater.

He urged about 300 people at a luncheon honoring U.S. Rep. Joe Barton of Ennis to work to draw blacks and Hispanics into the GOP ranks.

ST. JOSEPH, Minn. — Members of the Minnesota National Guard walked through a field near St. Joseph, Minn. Saturday in search of 11-year-old Jacob Wetterling who was kidnapped Sunday night.

Abducted boy's parents living one day at a time

ST. JOSEPH, Minn. (AP) — Jacob Wetterling's parents are not yet ready to look beyond Sunday, which marks a week since their 11-year-old son was snatched at gunpoint by a masked man less than a mile from their home.

"I've been living basically moment by moment since Sunday night," said Jacob's father, Jerry.

"I thought by Monday morning this is awful, this is sick," said Jacob's mother, Patty, a substitute teacher and PTA president at her son's school. "This — day after day — I can't possibly imagine going through the weekend. I can't possibly think beyond one minute at a time. I really don't think."

Jacob, his 10-year-old brother, Trevor, and an 11-year-old friend were accosted Sunday night by a man dressed in black on a lonely stretch of road outside this central Minnesota town of 2,200, which now display posters of the missing boy along with its Halloween decorations.

The abduction occurred about 9:30 p.m. as the three were returning on bicycles and a scooter from a convenience store where they had gone for the first time after dark without an adult. The man, who was on foot and had no vehicle in sight, asked the boys how old they were, then held onto Jacob and threatened to shoot the other two unless they ran into the woods.

The FBI released a personality profile of the type of person likely to have kidnapped Jacob, a handsome boy who plays goalie on an ice hockey team.

According to the profile, the kidnapper is probably a previous sex offender, a white male 25 to 35 years old with some type of physical deformity, and is likely to work at an unskilled job.

State and local police as well as the FBI have been frustrated by the lack of evidence despite repeated aerial and ground surveys, national publicity, more than $100,000 in reward money.

U.S. medical team captured

MAPUTO, Mozambique (AP) — U.S. and Mozambican officials are investigating a report that Mozambican soldiers captured six members of an American medical team and a South African colleague, a U.S. Embassy spokeswoman said Saturday.

Cynthia Efrid, the spokeswoman, said neither the embassy nor government officials in Maputo had enough information to confirm the claim, made by the California missionary organization that deployed the health workers.

The organization is the Christian Emergency Relief Team, based in Carlsbad, north of San Diego. It has served refugees in Lebanon, Afghanistan, Nicaragua, the Philippines, Mozambique and other war-torn countries since 1974.

Guerrillas of the Mozambican National Resistance have waged an insurgency against Mozambique's leftist government since 1977. Hundreds of thousands of people have died and millions have been displaced because of the fighting and resultant food shortages.

Reagan calls for free trade zone

OSAKA, Japan (AP) — Former President Ronald Reagan, winding up a nine-day visit to Japan, said today that Americans do not feel their products have fair access to Japanese markets and called for a Pacific free trade zone.

Addressing 400 prominent businessmen in the western port of Osaka, Reagan said Japan and the United States should "put this step-by-step bickering behind us and embrace a trade vision that is encompassing."

"We are the two greatest economic powers in the world,"

Reagan said. "Let us leap beyond our no-win squabbling by undertaking a breathtaking plan ... a free trade zone between the U.S. and Japan."

In earlier appearances during his current visit, Reagan glossed over trade disputes to emphasize positive aspects of bilateral ties. Today, he took direct aim at Japanese policy.

Americans admire Japan, he said, but "Sixty-eight percent of Americans find the economic threat from Japan to be a more serious threat... than the military threat from the Soviet Union."

Bush attacks Noriega decision

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP) — President Bush said today that Nicaraguan President Daniel Ortega's decision to end a ceasefire with the Contras was a "shameful blow to democracy," and he called on the Sandinista government to permit free elections as scheduled next February.

At a news conference mid-way through two days of talks with leaders from throughout the hemisphere, Bush encouraged the Contras not to "take aggressive military action" until Ortega's intentions become clearer.

He also sidestepped a question about whether he would seek a resumption of military aid to the rebels.

Bush spoke at a news conference shortly after Ortega declined to specify precisely when his own troops would resume offensive actions.

Fina refinery sets new record for United Way donations

By JAMES FLEEHR
Staff Writer

BIG SPRING — American Petrofina has hit an all time record in donations to the United Way of Big Spring — $20,171.

All employees of the refinery were treated to a fish dinner at the plant this week to celebrate the victory of exceeding the goal of $12,000 by a margin of 56 percent.

The largest contribution prior to the new record-setting mark from the employees was in 1984 with 600 employees contributing for a total of $17,200.

The contribution this year was made by 350 employees of the refinery and the pipeline. The money donated represents an 88 percent increase compared to Fina's contribution last year of $10,600.

The refinery coordinators and loaned executives were Bill Swafford and Bo Vizcaino.

Swafford credits the film with the added help needed to break the record.

Swafford is one of the employees at the 'Cat Craker,' or catalytic processing area of the plant. He said, "I think everybody was very responsive this year. I think that the film helped everybody see a real need. In the past, we've had

"I think it's (the United Way) doing a real good job. . . — Fina employee Jimmy Earnest people tell us about the need, but this year the film helped."

Vizcaino was very happy about the new record. He said, "I think everyone worked hard to get to the new goal."

Two of the pipeline employees, Jimmy Munn and Bob Reed developed the video of local agencies which were funded by Fina. The video is available to anyone who wishes to use it for programs.

The largest unit contributor at the refinery was the Cat Cracker. The personnel at the Cat Cracker were 100 percent supportive in contribution goals.

In addition, the Cat Cracker had the largest average contribution per person. Many other units of the refinery had a 100 percent participation report.

"The plant responded very well," said Dickie Bartlow, of the Cat Cracker.

"I thought it went real good. I thought it was excellent," said

Clayton McKinnon, also at the Cat Cracker.

Another Cat Cracker employee Jimmy Earnest said, "I think it's (the United Way) doing a real good job by the way the plant came out and supported it this year."

Fina supports the United Way with 10 percent of its budget without the company contribution which is to be announced at a later date.

Plant Manager Jeff Morris and Employee Relations Coordinator Peggy Conard were two others who work with the campaign at the refinery.

Morris said, "I'm very pleased. I think it's indicative of the employees of Fina. I'm very proud of the employees."

"It shows the commitment of the employees to Big Spring and the pride in the commitment to the employees of Fina."

"The record shows the interest and support the employees of Fina have for the United Way," said Sherrie Bordofsky, executive director of the United Way.

"It's one of the greatest feelings to see their change in attitude," she said.

Conard credits a more organized effort on the part of the United Way for the success.

Swafford, Sherrie Bordofsky, executive director of United Way, Jimmy Earnest, Michel Gamble, Ed McMurray, Dickie Bartlow, Bill Brooks and Joe Clark were a big reason for the $20,171 mark.

Troopers find marijuana hidden in car's spare tire

HERALD STAFF REPORT

BIG SPRING — Two men were arrested on drug charges and more than seven pounds of marijuana was seized Saturday after a Department of Public Safety trooper stopped a car along Interstate 20 for a vehicle violation.

Arrested on second-degree felony charges of possession of marijuana over five pounds/under 50 pounds were: Charles David Thomas, 34, Balch Springs and Ishmael Edison Fletcher, 32, Denton. Bond for both men was set at $25,000 by Justice of the Peace China Long.

The nearly seven-and-a-half pounds of marijuana discovered by DPS Trooper Weldon Jones and Howard County sheriff's deputies George Quintero and Bennie Green has an estimated street value of $750 a pound, or $5,625.

Jones said he pulled over a 1971 BMW at 11:10 a.m. after noticing the vehicle's window coating was darker than allowed by the law. "The window coating on the car was not approved," he said. "It's darker than it should be."

Jones said when he stopped the vehicle about a mile west of Big Spring the driver and passenger aroused his suspicion after giving him "conflicting stories" about where they were traveling. The men said they were traveling from San Antonio when the indication was they were traveling from El Paso, he said.

Jones said it appears the men were taking the drugs from El Paso to Dallas.

The men gave him permission to search the car, at which time Jones said he asked for the assistance of the Howard County Sheriff's Department and DPS Narcotics Division in Midland. Jones charges authorities found the drugs inside the spare tire.

The car and $500 in cash on Thomas was seized by the Howard County Sheriff's Department.

The arrest Saturday is the third largest arrest in Howard County in recent months, Jones said. Two previous arrests netted a 95-pound and 37-pound seizure.

Jones, noting this is Drug Awareness Week, said, "We're aware."

Study on community supervision of convicts near completion

By PATRICK DRISCOLL
Staff Writer

CROSSROADS COUNTRY — studies being conducted by Mitchell and Tom Green counties to determine area needs for new innovative community supervision and corrections departments should be complete before the end of the year, officials say.

Howard County is included in both of the studies, each of which cover 23 counties and at least nine judicial districts. State disbursement of funds for approved plans will begin next year.

"We think it's going to take a minimum of 2-3 weeks and we're looking at 30 days at the most," said Mitchell County Judge S.L. "Mac" Morris of a study concerning a substance abuse treatment facility.

He said the adult probation officer in Mitchell County must tabulate probation cases for the past 12 months for nine judicial districts. A total of 13 items must be answered such as conviction dates, length of sentences, whether a case was probated, whether crimes were drug- or alcohol-related and what circumstances were direct or indirect.

He is going to be reams of information," Morris said.

The amount of information is not the only thing consuming time, he said.

"Part of the problem is, we've got some outsiders that are helping us on the Community Justice Council. A lot of this is not public information, so they can't even look at a lot of it," he said. "They have to send someone with authorization to look through the files."

Benita White, assistant chief probation officer in San Angelo, said that county's study for a court residential center should be complete in December.

"We're going to have a tentative date of having it done by the end of the year," she said. "That'll be the latest, hopefully."

"It's just starting really. We're getting a contract drawn up with the Center for Public Study out of Texas Tech University. They're going to conduct some interviews and surveys and write it up for us," she said. "We're going to collect some of the data."

The study will cover 11 judicial districts, she said, including Glascock, Martin and Howard counties of the 118th Judicial District.

It will target prisoners sent to the Texas Department of Corrections for the past 12 months, White said. Information sought will be similar to the study being done by the probation office in Mitchell County.

She named identical items as Morris, plus others dealing with employability, use of a weapon during the commission of a crime or whether there was bodily injury.

"What we're thinking about is a court residential center," she said of the study's purpose. "It's not real specialized like some of the other treatment centers."

"We're not sure what the study's going to come up with but that's our primary interest," she said.

People poll

Area folks speak out on the time change

By JAMES FLEEHR
Staff Writer

BIG SPRING — At 2 a.m. today clocks should have been set back one hour on the return to standard time from daylight-saving time.

According to the World Book Encyclopedia, the earliest use of the sundial to forecast time by the sun's shadow was credited by historians to the Babylonian civilization as its invention, about 2000 B.C.

The ancient Greeks, or Athenians, used a water clock also and the sundial was used by the Roman civilization when the modern clock was developed in about 1000 A.D., says World Book.

There are many methods of timekeeping, and the results of a recent poll here shows many Big Spring residents are far more outspoken on the time issue than the ancients. The poll conducted last Thursday by the Big Spring Herald shows 65 percent were opposed to the time change.

The poll question was the issue of setting the clocks back to standard time and the daylight-saving method versus another way, with 31 area residents responding.

The majority of those polled favored one set time without changing the clocks back and then ahead to conserve daylight hours in the summer.

Many of those 65 percent favoring no change believed switching was "silly."

19 percent of the majority group favoring one set time proposed standard time as the overall solution.

Out of the 31 questioned the other 35 percent voting were as follows: 26 percent favored the hour change and 9 percent were split on the issue.

BOYD HUTSON ALDEN SETTLES

"Well, it's good for the golfers if you like to play golf. I remember the time changing only one time in the Bible. I'm not exactly sure where," — Billy Kennedy of Odessa.

"Time is time, I guess," said Ed Jones of Big Spring.

"I don't like it myself. I'd like to leave the sun alone," said Mary Hutson, of Big Spring about the question.

"Well, it's good for the golfers if you like to play golf. I remember the time changing only one time in the Bible. I'm not exactly sure where," said Billy Kennedy of Odessa.

"Change it to old standard time and leave it there," said W.R. Boyd of Big Spring.

Teresa Birdwell, of Big Spring, said she would rather have the change because it allows for more hours of daylight so her children can play outside longer without her having to worry about them.

"I just think keep it to one time.

You gotta change your clock twice a year," said Thomas Alden of Big Spring.

"No I like it better when it gets lighter," she said.

Another supporter of the change, Shawn Settles, of Big Spring, liked the change back one hour because she gets an extra hour of sleep before school.

The Webster's dictionary defines daylight-saving time as time one or more hours later than the standard time for a country and community. It is usually used during summer months to give more hours of daylight to the working day.

Standard time is the civil time officially adopted for a country or region, usually the civil time of some specific meridian lying within the region.

Study ranks Utah as healthiest state

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Utah has the healthiest population of the 50 states and Delaware the sickest, according to a nationwide study that seems to show higher elevations and northern latitudes are better for the body.

The compilation of statistics from public and private health groups showed people who live in most Rocky Mountain and Upper Midwest states are healthier than residents of the Southeast and the East Coast.

Utah residents live an average of 2 1/2 years longer than residents of Delaware, according to the study by the Northwestern National Life Insurance Co.

"Many of the states that show up at the bottom of the list aren't the ones most people would expect. Florida, for example, has one of the highest life expectancies, but poor health habits bring it down to 44th place," said Frederic Sattler, head of the insurer's health care division.

"Michigan, in spite of its high median income, ranked 48th, due to the highest level of disease in America," he said.

The study released this week compiled data from the 1986 National Health Survey, along with information from the American Cancer Society, the American Heart Association, the National Center for Health Statistics and the American Medical Association.

The states were compared in terms of life expectancy, incidence of major illnesses, lifestyle habits such as tobacco and alcohol consumption, access to medical care, absence from work due to illness, and mortality rates.

After Utah, the healthiest states were North Dakota, Idaho, Minnesota and Hawaii. The bottom five were South Carolina, Nevada, Michigan, Mississippi and Delaware.

"You'll probably find a pretty good correlation between health and genetics, education, a clean environment and even the cultural background," Sattler said.

"There's less of a relation between health and income," he said, adding that Montana, with a median income below the national average, ranked as one of the 10 healthiest states.

Among the study's findings: —Hawaii has the highest life expectancy, followed by Minnesota, Iowa, Utah and North Dakota.

—Utah has the lowest incidence of major illness, followed by Idaho, Wyoming, North Dakota and Minnesota.

—Utah, where the dominant Mormon religion forbids use of many stimulants, had the best ranking in terms of lifestyle habits such as exercise and low smoking and drinking. Next in line were Idaho, Iowa and Nebraska, and Kansas.

—Hawaii and Utah tied for the lowest mortality rate, followed by Alaska, North Dakota and Colorado.

COLORADO CITY — Colorado City quarterback George Ramsey (4) pitches the ball under heavy pressure from Wylie Bulldogs' defenders during second-half action here Friday night.

Wylie 14, C-City 13
COLORADO CITY — The Wylie Bulldogs spoiled Colorado City's homecoming by escaping with a 14-13 win in 7-3A action Friday night.

Both teams were plagued by turnovers, committing five each. With the loss, Colorado City, the defending district champion, falls out of the playoff picture. The Wolves are 1-2 in league play and 3-5 overall. Wylie goes to 3-0 and 4-4.

Wylie's margin of victory was decided in the fourth quarter. Colorado City had just scored with 11:14 left in the game, cutting the margin to 14-13. On the extra point attempt, C-City kicker Dane Hoover never got a chance to kick because a low snap got away from the holder, giving Wylie the win.

"I thought we played well enough, but we just couldn't pull it off," said Colorado City coach Tom Ramsey. "It just came down to an extra point. We thought about going for two, but there was 11 minutes left, we had the whole quarter to go and I felt like we had the momentum."

Wylie scored first in the first quarter on a 58-yard scoring pass from Vic Partin to Randy Ervin. Craig Marak kicked the first of his two extra points.

Colorado City scored in the second quarter, on a 1-yard run by George Ramsey. Wylie scored in the third on a 1-yard run by Partin. C-City came back with its TD in the fourth, a 3-yard run by Ramsey.

Wylie's Eddie Parker led all rushers with 92 yards in 13 carries. Darren Emerson, just called up from the junior varsity, paced Colorado City with 84 yards in 17 carries. C-City's Kevin Green caught three passes for 32 yards.

The Wolves will be in Ballinger Friday.

It all came down to the final play. Snyder had the ball on its own one-yard line, leading 13-12. Snyder quarterback Toby Goodwin went back in his end zone to pass, trying to run the clock out. Goodwin's pass was intercepted by Sweetwater's Robbie Smith, who returned it 13 yards for the winning touchdown.

Snyder scored on a 5-yard pass from Goodwin to Jason Pressley, and a 14-yard run by Dewayne Cato. Sweetwater scored on TD runs of 1 and 2-yards by Robert Williams.

Sweetwater's Patrick Villa led all rushers with 136 yards on 21 carries. Snyder was paced by Cato's 53 yards on 14 carries.

HERALD STAFF REPORT

LUBBOCK — As they had all year, the boys' half of the Big Spring High School Tennis team was the deciding factor as the Steers earned their first-ever trip to the state tournament by downing San Angelo Lakeview, 10-6, in the finals of the Region 1-A tennis tournament here Saturday.

It was the third time the two teams had met this year, and it was a case of third verse, same as the first for the Steers, who defeated their arch-rivals for the third time this season.

But it was not an easy victory for Big Spring, as assistant tennis coach Deehona Minton said.

"It was just a real close, hard-fought match," she said. "Both teams went back-and-forth until Luis (Hinojos) won his match."

As has been the case most of this year, the BSHS boys swept their half of the draw, but it was not until Hinojos won a thrilling 2-6, 6-1, 6-3 come-from-behind victory of the tenth match of the series that the Steers were finally able to celebrate their victory.

The BSHS girls found the going rough, being swept in singles' competition. A bright spot for the Steers' however, was the play of the number-one girls double squad consisting of Tami Mason and E.D. Barnett.

After winning the first set of their match, Mason and Barnett lost the second set in a tiebreaker. With the pressure mounting, the two Big Spring netters came through in fine fashion, Minton said.

"Tami and E.D. were just in control of the match," she said. "You could tell just from looking at them that they were going to win."

The Steers travelled a winding path to get to the finals. After breezing past Cleburne, 10-0, in the quarterfinals, BSHS had to fight off a determined effort by Hereford to win, 10-7.

"It was a real close match," Minton said. "Our number-three girls double team (Christy Ragsdale and Jana Haney) and our number-six girls singles player (Ragsdale) helped pull it out. All the kids pulled together, and it just clicked... You could tell that they were just mentally tough."

"All of this is great," Minton said of the regional victory. "The kids have done well. Every single one of them did well... They did a good

Hawks destroy St. Ed's

By STEVE BELVIN Sports Editor

BIG SPRING — The Howard Hawks officially started the season with a bang Saturday night in front of the home crowd. No, it was more like a major explosion, as the Hawks whipped the St. Edwards Rams JV 136-38.

The game was never in doubt from the start, as HC's aggressive man-to-man defense and fastbreak offense ruled. Coach Steve Green played all 15 players regularly. Led by Harvey Petty, Dexter Abrahams, Johnnie McDowell and Tyrone Lewis, Howard led 71-16 at the half.

The second half started off like the first, with several steals by Lewis and Greg Christian, which led to several crowd-pleasing slam dunks by McDowell and Jeffery.

Christian sunk two free throws, and McDowell politely laid one in off the break, and Howard led 79-20 with 18:10 left in the game. McDowell scored of an offensive rebound, and the score was 101-26 at the 11:55 mark.

One thing that kept the crowd there was to see is Howard could outdistance its opponent by 100 points. Natan Vieira's halfcourt shot at the buzzer just missed banking in.

"I thought we played extremely hard, that's what we're striving for," said HC coach Steve Green. "We played good man-to-man defense and everybody was pulling for everybody."

Howard will host Alvin Junior College Wednesday night at 7:30.

Harriers win fourth district title

By STEVE BELVIN Sports Editor

BIG SPRING — It was expected to be harder, but the Big Spring Lady Steers cross country team did what it had done for the past three seasons — win district.

On a cool, windy Saturday morning at the old air base golf course, coach Randy Britton's Lady Steers raced to their fourth consecutive cross country title, easily outdistancing San Angelo Lake View 19:37.

Lake View was expected to give the Lady Steers a run for their money, but Big Spring would have none of that, finishing first, third, fifth, sixth and seventh.

The injured-plagued Lady Steers were led by junior Mimi Regalado, who ran the two-mile course in 13:37. Regalado was running on a slightly-pulled hamstring. But she didn't let that bother her. She led the race from start to finish, and wound up winning by some 100 meters over Lake View's Marcy McMullock.

"All I wanted was that trophy," said an elated Mimi, speaking of the team championship trophy. "We had to keep that tradition going. I was pushing hard. I felt good, my leg didn't bother me."

Finishing second was junior Erica Franks, who was nursing a strained quadriceps muscle. Unlike Mimi Regalado, Franks said her leg started giving her problems. But she was locked in a heated battle with Snyder's Michelle Payne for third, and Franks gutted it out, running a time of 14:38 to 14:42 for Payne.

"My leg started hurting going over the last hill, but I wasn't going to let that Snyder girl beat me," said Franks. "When we came off the last stretch, I knew I had her. I was running hard even though my leg was hurting."

Finishing fifth behind Payne was another one of Big Spring's running wounded, senior Yvette Regalado, Mimi's sister. Yvette responded well to her first competition since knee surgery, running a 14:59.

"I wasn't even breathing hard when I finished," said Yvette. "Mentally I kind of doubted what I could do, but I wanted to finish in the top five. I'm happy."

Following Yvette were senior Geneva Barraza, who was coming off a bout with tonsillitis, and senior Rocky Alivar, the only runner who has been on every district championship team.

Britton was the beaming coach after the meet. "I really didn't know how we would do with all those injuries," said Britton. "It goes back to when wanting that tradition. It's a rare time when you can win four championships in a row."

"The girls did a super job. You can't single out anybody because they all did well. We were just four points away from a perfect 15."

As expected, the Lake View boys won the meet, and they did score a perfect 15. Brain Gayoso unseated Big Spring's Chris Polyniak as the district champ. Gayoso ran the three-mile course in 16:47. Teammate Kevin Dumas, a football player-turned-cross country runner, was next in 16:43.

Andrews was second with 41 points and Sweetwater was third

Oakland downs Giants, 9-6; take World Series crown

SAN FRANCISCO — Oakland Athletics Rickey Henderson gestures to the stands after hitting a first-inning home run against the San Francisco Giants in game four of the World Series Saturday in Candlestick Park.

By BEN WALKER AP Baseball Writer

SAN FRANCISCO — The Oakland Athletics brought the quickest of ends to the longest of World Series Saturday night.

Their coronation as rulers of the baseball world was merely delayed by the earthquake that devastated northern California, and was never really challenged even as their Bay area rivals, the San Francisco Giants, mounted their first serious threat.

The awesome A's, derailed by destiny and the Los Angeles Dodgers a year ago, completed the 14th and possibly most convincing World Series sweep with an 9-6 victory behind the pitching — and hitting, too — of Mike Moore and the bat of Rickey Henderson.

Not so coincidentally, Moore, who gave up two runs and five hits in six innings and joined series MVP Dave Stewart as a two-game winner, and Henderson, who homered, tripled and singled, were the two key players added by the A's this season.

With one of the most dominating performances ever in a World Series, the A's answered the best way they could any suggestions that this championship was tainted by disaster.

How dominating? The Athletics never trailed in the series and were tied only once, that at 1-1 in the third inning of Game 2. Oakland outscored the Giants 32-14 — tying the largest margin ever in a four-game series — and outthundered them 9-4.

When Henderson led off Saturday's game with a home run, it was a sure sign Oakland would soon win its first championship since 1974.

That became even more clear when Moore, who had batted only once in the majors, helped himself with a two-run double, the first World Series hit by an American League pitcher in the 1980s, ending an 0-for-70 slump.

This World Series took 15 days, 10 of them after the earthquake shook Candlestick Park a half-hour before Game 3 and threatened to extend the baseball season into November for the first time.

In the end, even as the A's celebrated without the traditional champagne out of respect for the earthquake victims, there was no doubt about the best team in baseball this season.

The A's beat San Francisco eight of nine times in spring training, were the winningest team in the majors during the regular season, breezed by Toronto in a five-game playoff and blew away the Giants.

The Athletics' franchise won its ninth championship, including five

Running up the score and other feats of classlessness

By STEVE REAGAN Staff Writer

Pity poor SMU.

The Mustangs, who are playing their first football season in two years after the program was suspended by the NCAA, are finding out just how tough it is to play big-time football with a bunch of freshmen and sophomores.

The lowlight of the season occurred last Saturday when the Houston Cougars blasted the Ponies, 95-21, at the Astrodome.

That's right — 95-21. To put the Cougars' offensive overkill in perspective, they scored one point less in that game than the Dallas Cowboys have in seven.

Needless to say, SMU head coach Forrest Gregg was a mite upset after the game. He wasn't mad because the Ponies lost — that is to be expected this year, considering the young personnel he has at his disposal — but he was livid because he believed that Houston ran up the score on his squad.

Third and long

Houston coach Jack Pardee differed from Gregg's assessment, saying that the Cougars continued throwing in the second half because they needed the practice with so many big games coming in the near future.

Why, shucks, folks. To hear Pardee's explanation, those 95 points were a mere accident. Run up the score? Us? Why, we wouldn't do anything like that.

Rubbish.

Of course Houston ran up the score. The Cougars did their best to bust the scoreboard clock, and probably would have, if they'd had the opportunity.

Now, what exactly did the Cougars prove by their 74-point victory? Not much, really.

They proved, for starters, that they could totally dominate a team that has no business playing Division I-A football this year.

That's no big deal. SMU plays Notre Dame later this season, and the Fighting Irish can probably score 120 on the Ponies if they want to — but they won't, because Notre Dame has a class outfit.

Which brings us to the second thing Houston proved: that the Cougars showed an amazing lack of class in their victory.

Houston led by more than 40 points at halftime and, instead of calling off the dogs, kept pouring it on in the second half. In other words, they not only defeated SMU, they rubbed the Ponies' noses in the dirt in the process.

If Gregg has anything to say about it, the Ponies will definitely remember this thrashing. I wouldn't be surprised if, in a year or two, if SMU does their almighty best to return the favor.

If this does ever happen — if SMU ever runs up the score on Houston — the Cougars will definitely deserve the thrashing.

Football — at least at the college and high school level — is still supposed to be a game, as in fun. There's really no justification in any team, anywhere, piling up points against out-classed competition.

All you are proving to the world (if you're on top of a lopsided score) is what a bunch of jerks you are. You might have a great team, but if you make a practice of running up the score, the only thing people will talk about in the future is not the greatness of the team, but the classlessness of the coach.

You also make a lot of people mad at you.

Last year, Andrews defeated Big Spring by a 49-0 score. After the game, Steers' coach David Thompson didn't directly accuse Andrews of running up the score, but said that his team "would remember this."

Translated: If the Steers have anything to say about this year's rematch, the payback is going to be a monster.

B-County 55, Dawson 35
GAIL — The Borden County Coyotes stayed undefeated in District 6A six-man play by downing the feisty Dawson Dragons, 53-35, here Friday night.

The Coyotes overcame a 19-point first quarter deficit to gain their third league win, moving their overall mark to 6-1-1. Dawson falls to 2-6, 0-3.

Paced by Delores DeLaRosa's two TD's, Dawson led 27-8 after the first quarter. Borden County's score was a 40-yard run by Patrick Herridge.

Borden County narrowed the lead to 35-32 at halftime, as Herridge and Cody Cooley scored on short runs.

Borden County trimmed the lead to 35-32 going in into the final quarter when Jimmy Rios, coming off knee surgery, scored on runs of 10 and 38 yards.

Then the Coyotes iced the game in the final quarter, scoring 19 unanswered points. Herridge scored on runs of 33 and 12 yards and Rios added a 51-yarder.

Borden County will play Grady in Lenorah Friday at 7:30 p.m. and eighth overall win. Loop managed only one first down and six yards rushing — that was the entirety of the Longhorns' offense. Loop falls to 1-7 and 0-3.

When Loop tried to pass, Sands safety Jay Johnston was there to foil things. Of the six Loop passes tried, Johnston picked off three.

The balanced Sands offensive attack was led by Charles Rhodes, who had three rushes for 67 yards, including a 42 and 9-yard scoring runs. Eric Herm followed with 54 yards on eight carries, including a one yard plunge.

Brandon Riddle caught three passes for 63 yards, including scoring passes of 11 and 41 yards. Quarterback Albert Franco completed six of 9 for 7 yards and including the TD passes to Riddle, and a 9-yarder to Johnston. Pank Grigg also scored on a 1-yard plunge for the Mustangs.

PATRICIA — The Grady Wildcats kept their hopes alive for a return trip to the state playoffs as they outlasted the Klondike Cougars in District 6A six-man play Friday night.

The win improves Grady's record to 2-1 in league play and 4-4 overall. The Cougars fall to 1-2 and 4-4.

The game had lots of fireworks. Grady took a 33-8 halftime lead only to have Klondike score 28 unanswered points in the second half to take a 36-33 win.

But the Wildcats rallied on scoring runs of 77 and 7 yards by Scott Terrell, to win the game. Terrell finished as Grady's leading rusher with 137 yards in 11 carries. He also scored on runs of 58 and 8 yards.

Grady's other 100-yard rusher was Scott Glaze, who carries 16 times for 100 yards. Glaze scored TD's on runs of 3 and 8 yards, and threw scoring passes of 12 and 45 yards to Terrell and Danny Valle respectively.

Steers' line dominates; BSHS blasts Pecos

By STEVE BELVIN

PECOS — This one goes to the men in the trenches.

The Big Spring Steers lines controlled both sides of the ball as the Steers whipped the Pecos Eagles 28-0 here Friday night.

The Big Spring defense put together a masterpiece, limiting Pecos to 93 yards total offense. The Steers' offense was methodical, mixing a straight-ahead rushing attack with an occasional pass.

It was very productive — 367 yards on the ground shared by seven runners, and 85 more in the air. Two dropped first half passes in the end zone could have made it more lopsided.

Pecos, the second leading pass team in the district, had its best weapon shut down. The dangerous passing duo of Monty Medanich to Dani Talamantez was silent.

The two were factors on defense, breaking up several passes in the secondary. But offensively it was a different story. Medanich lasted a quarter, running for his life from the likes of Charles LeGrand, Pat Wilbert, Frank Garza, Calvin Marion, Joe Downey and company. His replacement, Eric Grand, didn't fare much better.

The Steers' secondary did its part also, allowing only four completions. Pecos got almost half of its total yards on one play — a 44-yard screen pass from Granado to Rodney Abila midway through the fourth quarter.

Talamantez never got into the game. With outside linebacker Jermaine Miller staring him in the face at the line of scrimmage, and the watchful eyes of Jim Rangel, Freddie Rodriguez, Patrick Chavarria and Michael Hilario keeping watch in the secondary, Talamantez didn't even catch a pass. Safety Freddie Rodriguez intercepted a pass in the second quarter.

Pecos never threatened in the first half, and twice Big Spring turned back three fourth-quarter scoring chances.

Pecos had the ball on the Big Spring 22-yard line after Abila's catch. But the drive ended the next play, when Marion crashed through and sacked Granado, causing a fumble. Marion also caused another fumble with a jarring tackle in the first quarter.

Later on in the quarter, Roger Salinas blocked Jason Davis' punt and returned the ball 20 yards to the Big Spring five. Four plays later, it was Big Spring's ball at the two.

This series of plays best showed the Steers dominance. On first down Tyrone Smith gained three yards to the two. On second down, Saiz and Co. stopped Danny Solis for no gain. On third down Kevin Rodgers made Grandado throw before he wanted to, and Saiz made him do the same thing on fourth down.

The third Pecos threat came after Patrick Chavarria fumbled at the Pecos 12. Four plays later, the Eagles ended four yards short.

fourth and seven. From there the Bulldogs never looked back as they took their first district win, collaring the Badgers, 12-3.

The Bulldogs moved the football well, amassing 253 yards total offense, while the defense limited the Badgers to 152 yards.

The Bulldogs forced Merkel to punt on the Badgers' first possession. Coahoma received the ball on their own 35-yard line and began to drive the football.

Quarterback Shane Walker picked up a first down on a 14-yard run inside Badger territory, but a Bulldog fumble halted the drive. Coahoma again put the clamps on the visiting Badgers and forced them to punt. Merkel returned the favor and the Badgers had the ball on their own 48-yard line.

Walsh found fullback Tommy White for a 32-yard reception, then connected with Andy Gilbreath for a 15-yard aerial gain and Merkel had a first down on Coahoma's ten-yard line.

Walsh went back to pass and Coahoma's Phillip Anderson trapped Walsh deep behind the line of scrimmage. Later, on a fourth-and ten, Coahoma was whistled for interference, giving Merkel three more chances to score.

Mike Knowles, John Becker and Sam Justice had other ideas, however, as they bottled up the Badgers' running backs and forced a field goal. With 10:56 left in the second quarter, the visitors went up 3-0 on Eric Ascencio's kick.

On the Bulldogs next possession, Rusty Ginnett scampers 45 yards, driving the ball all the way to the Merkel 25-yard line. Again, however, a Bulldog fumble stopped the drive and the Badgers dodged another bullet.

Neither team could move the ball, and the half ended with Merkel taking a 3-0 lead at halftime.

Coahoma received the opening kickoff, but after two incomplete passes the Bulldogs kicked back to the Badgers. Merkel began to drive the football aided by a face mask penalty against the Bulldogs.

The Badgers went for a first down on fourth and short, but the Bulldogs were ready as Justice and Tobias stopped Walsh short of a first, giving the ball back to the Bulldog offense with good field position.

"Cam has been playing good defense for the past two weeks and this week he did it again. This is Sam's first game and he responded well," said Coahoma coach Steve Park.

The Bulldogs began a drive with 7:36 left in the third stanza as Walker found John Overton for a ten-yard gain; Hoggard and Walker moved the ball on the ground. The drive was capped by a 12-yard touchdown run by Carlos Cervantes with 2:44 left in the third. The PAT went wide, but Coahoma led for the first time in the contest, 6-3.

Both teams traded points in the final quarter. With 6:26 left in the tilt, the Bulldogs began another scoring drive, moving 76 yards in 11 plays and eating five minutes off the clock. With running by Cervantes, Hoggard and Walker and a perfectly executed waggie pass that covered 37 yards to Jeff Rawson, the Bulldogs added to their lead.

Cervantes again went in on a four-yard run. The PAT went wide again and the score remained 12-3.

The Buffs received the opening kickoff and marched 73 yards, with quarterback Randy Nevarez finding Chris Carder in the end zone for an eight-yard strike with 6:31 left in the first stanza. The PAT was blocked and the Buffs were on top, 6-0.

Van Horn was held to only three yards on its first possession and had its punt attempt blocked by the Stanton defense, setting up Stanton at the 19. However, the Eagles held their ground and returned the favor when they blocked Tony Moses' field goal attempt.

Two exchanges later, the Buffs were threatening again, only to be turned away as Nevarez' pass was picked off by Van Horn's Manuel Carrillo. But the Eagles were held again to only four tries and turned the ball over to the Buffs.

Stanton set up shop at the 49 and appeared to be moving in the wrong direction when Nevarez found his target, Kenny McCalister between two defenders for a 53-yard touchdown. The two-point conversion between Nevarez and Gary Don Thompson was good and the Buffs had upped their lead to 14-0.

The Buffaloes added another score with 1:14 remaining in the half when Nevarez again scampered around the right side and dodged several would-be tacklers enroute to a 65-yard jaunt. Moses booted the extra point and the hometown crowd were now enjoying a 21-0 lead.

Van Horn opened the second half with a change in the signal calling slot, as Lucky Mendez replaced Rey Carrasco. It appeared the change was a good one as Mendez found Eleno Mendez for a 55-yard pass that began to produce Van Horn's biggest drive of the night.

The Buffalo defense took charge, however, as Stanton's Mike Graham picked off the next pass and returned it 53 yards to set the Buff up on the 29. But the Eagles stopped the Buffs in their tracks and took over where they had left off, making it pay off this time. Van Horn marched 60 yards before Mendez found Carrillo — who had snuck out of the huddle early — all by himself for a five-yard touchdown. The PAT by Juan Reyes was good and the Buffs' lead was cut to 21-7.

Thompson, the workhorse during Stanton's next possession, rumbled 49 yards and then busted through the middle for a 20-yard score with less than two minutes gone from the clock. The PAT by Moses was good and the Buffs were now sitting on a 28-7 margin.

McCalister, who appeared to be everywhere, picked off two Eagle passes as Van Horn was forced to go to the air in the next two attempts before the end of the third stanza. He also found himself hauling down a one-handed, 30-yard scoring catch from Nevarez to start the final period. The Moses kick was good.

With a little over eight minutes remaining, Coach Dale Ruth began to rest his starting Buffs and the second stringers stepped into the spotlight. Backup fullback Brian Cain set himself up for a one-yard plunge after gaining 58 yards on four carries for the Buffaloes' final score of the night.

backs Francisco Gonzales and Terry and Brian McCravery, who added 102, 97 and 69 yards, respectively.

In contrast, Garden City was led by James Soles' 113 yards rushing. The Bearkats, however, were unable to provide much support for Soles, as evidenced by the fact that the running back accounted for more than half of G-City's yardage.

After the game, Bearkat coach Sam Scott admitted that Rankin's overall talent was the difference in the game.

"At halftime, I thought we still had a good chance to win the game," Scott said. "But (Rankin) has got so much talent, if you're off-station just a hair on defense, they'll kill you."

The Red Devils displayed their firepower on their initial series of the game. After forcing a G-City punt, Rankin began on its own 47 and marched 53 yards in seven plays to score.

The capper came on second and seven from the Bearkat 18, Kennedy scooted around left end for the touchdown. The PAT try failed, but Rankin led, 6-0, with 7:20 left in the first quarter.

The Bearkats responded immediately to the Red Devil score, marching 65 yards in 10 plays for the touchdown. Soles provided runs of 17 and 10 yards to the drive, in addition to scoring from one yard out with four minutes left in the first to give the 'Kats their only lead of the game, 7-6.

The lead was a short one, however, as the Red Devils struck back. On third and three from their own 34, Kennedy and Terry McCravery combined for a nifty 66-yard run-and-pitch to regain the lead for the Red Devils. Brian McCravery added the two-point PAT, and Rankin led, 14-7, with two minutes left in the first quarter.

But, just when it appeared that both teams would play "bust the clock," the respective defenses took control of the game for the rest of the half.

The Bearkat D, in particular, was impressive in the second quarter. Three times during the stanza, Rankin had the ball in Garden City territory, and three times the Red Devils came away empty.

The defensive heroics were wasted, however, by an ineffective Bearkat offense. After its initial scoring drive, Garden City's offense was unable to generate a first down for the remainder of the first half.

Turnovers particularly hurt Garden City Friday night. The Bearkats lost three fumbles and an interception, putting a fur-

Spikers win

FORT STOCKTON — The Big Spring High School volleyball team ended the season on a positive note, downing the Fort Stockton Prowlers, 13-15, 16-4, 15-10, here Saturday.

"We managed to end the season on a good note," coach Lois Ann McKensie said. "We should've won the first game, and the second game was a mite close, but we were able to put it together pretty good in the final game."

With the win, the Lady Steers ended their season with a 6-8 record in District 4-4A, 14-17 overall. McKensie said she was pleased with the progress that has been made during her two years in Big Spring.

"We had a lot better team than last year," she said. "We're real young — I'm only losing one starter — and I hope some of that experience carries over into the next season."

"When you take a team that had very few wins two years ago, and almost break even this year, you can't complain," McKensie added. "The next year and the year after, we ought to have a good team."

The JV Lady Steers lost to Fort Stockton, 12-15, 12-15, to finish the season with an 11-15 mark, while the BSHS freshman team won, 15-12, 15-11, to end the year with a 13-3 record.

Forsan edges Eldorado for second win

By ROBERT WERNSMAN Staff Writer

FORSAN — Any game decided by two points has its singular plays that one remembers as "having made the difference." For the Forsan Buffaloes in their 16-14 win over Eldorado Friday, there were several.

For instance: Had Richard Griffin not proven faster than Fita Gonzales, the Eagles' running back who went 53 yards before Griffin hauled him down at the 20, the game would have been far different;

Had Paul Bailey not timed his defensive effort in the Eagles' end zone perfectly, they likely would have had a two-point conversion and a 16-16 tie;

A blocked field goal by Joey Henkle saved three points and instigated a 16-play scoring drive by the Buffs that proved to be the game-winning difference.

Forsan's offense had its moments as well. Such as:

A touchdown by swift Charley Newton on a 59-yard foot race as he capped a three-play drive on the second possession by the Buffaloes to open scoring;

On the ensuing kickoff, Dave Rundell showed his value — and alertness — by latching on to a fumbled reception at the 42 to put the Buffs back into possession.

For Forsan, now 2-6 and 1-2 in District 6-2A action, those were plays to remember in a season with less than its share of precious moments. Doubly sweet was the fact that the Forsan junior varsity suited out for the game and got a feel for how satisfying a varsity win can be.

The Buff attack, again led by the punishing running of Griffin and Newton, covered 265 yards on the ground and 57 yards through the air. Although Stephen East hit four of 11 attempts, those four were all key to keeping the Buff attack alive and well.

Griffin delivered 125 yards on 25 carries, while Newton had 110 on 21 carries.

Coach Jan East was pleased with the win in an obvious rebuilding year. The squad took the day off Saturday to participate in and support band competition in Odessa. He said: "It feels a lot better; it helps to win and it's been a while." Exactly four weeks, when the Buffs toppled Sterling City for a homecoming victory.

The Buffs opened with a drive that forced their only punt of the game; they watched as Eldorado drove to the Forsan 24 before yielding on downs and the Buffs turned it around — thanks largely to the Newton scoring blast from the Buff 41 as he broke loose down the west sideline.

The blocked PAT kick spelled a 6-0 margin and the promise of potential trouble.

Rundell's recovery set the stage for another scoring effort and the Buffs did their best to test fate. Two plays after Rundell's recovery, they fumbled but Forsan recovered; two plays later, the same strategy worked once more.

Finally, they drove to the 17, from where East's field goal sailed through with a tail wind as a silent partner.

Eldorado failed to move the ball on its next possession and punted after three plays, before Forsan moved to the 20 thanks to a fair catch interference call and a face mask violation later. Sacked on the fourth and five, Eldorado took over on their 20 for their first TD drive.

Converting on a fourth and one at their 34, the Eagles moved to the 44 before quarterback Juan Ramirez got loose and swept 55 yards on a keeper to the left for a 9-6 score; a pass to his blocking back narrowed that to 9-8 with 3:33 left in the half.

The third period passed without any scoring, although the failed Eldorado field goal attempt initiated the next Buff scoring drive. It featured Griffin plowing the final 16 yards on two plays up the middle for the winning difference.

A high, difficult snap by Newton was handled for a successful PAT kick by East, for the last Forsan point at 16-8 with 6:41 remaining.

Eight plays later the Eagles retaliated with a 62-yard drive, culminated by a Ramirez to Richard Adame pass covering 27 yards. Ramirez would have tied the score, had Bailey not batted away the point-after pass.

The Buffs travel to Winter Friday to face the 4-4, 1-2 district competitors, before concluding their season with a home game against Reagan County Nov. 10.

Series

in Philadelphia, tying the St. Louis Cardinals for the second most behind the New York Yankees' 22.

The Giants, making their first series appearance since 1962, haven't won one since 1954.

Kevin Mitchell and Will Clark, who combined for 70 homers and 236 RBIs this season, did not drive in any runs until the sixth inning Saturday. By then, they had been compared to Jose Canseco and Mark McGwire, the Oakland slugers whose slumps were partly to blame for the five-game loss to the Dodgers in 1988.

Mitchell broke the skid with a two-run homer off Moore in the sixth to make it 8-2. Greg Litton's two-run homer keyed a four-run rally and then Clark and Mitchell each came to the plate representing the tying run, but both made outs, Mitchell on a crowd-gasping fly to the warning track in left.

The A's got one of them back in the eighth on a bases-loaded walk by Giants relief ace Steve Bedrosian to Terry Steinbach.

All 16 teams that previously took a 3-0 lead in the World Series went on to win. The other three champions did it in five games.

Power and pitching usually dominate the postseason, and the A's had both. Oakland tied a four-game series mark with nine home runs and the teams combined for a record 13.

Every Oakland non-pitcher who started in the series hit a home run. Eight different players homered, all but McGwire, who led the team with 33 during the season.

Often it's said that in a short series, a team needs just two hot starters to win. So it was again as Oakland, even with the best staff in baseball, used only two starters.

Moore and Stewart each won twice as manager Tony La Russa, using the earthquake layoff to his advantage, went with his best and, despite some controversy, did not use Storm Davis or Bob Welch.

The Giants' starters, meanwhile, gave up 17 earned runs on 22 hits and six walks in 13 innings in the four games.

Moore gave up five hits, including Mitchell's home run, in six innings. Dennis Eckersley, the fourth Oakland pitcher, pitched a perfect ninth for the save.

Chaney uncertain if Olajuwon will open season

HOUSTON (AP) — Akeem Olajuwon would be the center of attention in the Houston Rockets training camp even without speculation about his health.

But with Olajuwon sidelined for the preseason while recovering from a blood clot in his leg, the Rockets are riveted to the 7-foot center's progress.

Olajuwon was hospitalized in July for the blood clot in his left calf. He has been on blood-thinning medication since then and has been held out of all contact work.

Coach Don Chaney isn't sure the conditioning work Olajuwon has done will be enough to prepare him for the Nov. 3 regular season opener against Philadelphia.

"If they take him off medication the night before we play, I might not start him," Chaney said. "It wouldn't be fair to put him out there 30 or 40 minutes."

Doctors say Olajuwon is on a four-month schedule of medication and due to be taken off sometime next week.

Olajuwon said he spent much of the summer lifting weights because he couldn't play in pickup games.

"We had several guys staying in town lifting weights and working out," Chaney said. "I've always liked an up-tempo, aggressive game. We've got some players this year that like to go out and bang."

Olajuwon, a five-time NBA All-Star, led the league with 13.5 rebounds last season, fourth with 3.44 blocked shots per game, sixth with 2.6 steals and 10th in scoring with a 25.7 average.

The Rockets welcomed back three former players, John Lucas, Lewis Lloyd and Mitchell Wiggins, after they went through rehabilitation under the NBA's substance abuse policy.

All three players were members of the 1986 Rockets team that reached the NBA finals before losing to the Boston Celtics.

"I've been paying the price the last 1 1/2 years to get back," Wiggins said. "Playing with Lew and John again will be a great support for me."

"I also missed getting to play with Akeem and the rest of the guys."

"I want to prove that I can still play the game."

Lucas, the playmaker on the 1986 Rockets, said he also was glad to be back.

"This is like deja vu," he said. "It's fun to be back here with Akeem, Lew, Wig and the rest. They say you can't go home, but this is pretty close."

Lucas thinks he'll enjoy playing in Houston more the second time around.

With the win Big Spring goes to 4-0 in league play and 5-2 overall. Pecos falls to 1-3 and 3-4.

Big Spring will host Andrews Friday at 8 p.m.

"We just had too many turnovers," Scott said. "The offense didn't move as well as I would've liked it to. The defense in the second quarter played about as well as a defense can play... but the turnovers killed us."

A Garden City fumble on its initial drive of the second half led to Rankin's next score. After recovering an Eric Seidenberger fumble on the Bearkat 46, the Red Devils took seven plays to score, Kennedy doing the honors from six yards away.

Banks is back in NFL; now he wants to stay

By HANK LOWENKRON
AP Sports Writer

INDIANAPOLIS — Chip Banks has won his battle to get back in the NFL. Now the Indianapolis Colts linebacker is trying to win his private war to stay in the league.

Five days after he joined the Colts, Banks played in his first NFL game in nearly 22 months. The former All-Pro started and was on the field for 49 of 64 defensive plays and made a significant contribution to the 23-12 upset of defending AFC champion Cincinnati last Sunday.

Banks, 30, is a two-time loser under the NFL's drug program and faces a lifetime suspension if he tests positive again.

But, opposing linemen, runners and quarterbacks concern him more than anyone's nagging doubts over his drug rehabilitation.

"I don't expect to be treated any differently than anyone who makes a mistake. For me, I feel that I just have to concentrate on my priorities ... stick with the program and I'll be fine ... My actions will speak a lot harder than my words will."

Banks was obtained by the Colts from San Diego on Oct. 17 for a future undisclosed draft pick. The next day he practiced with Indianapolis for the first time and five days after the trade he was playing a football game for the first time since Dec. 27, 1987 — following a suspension and a season-long contract dispute that was not resolved until the day of the trade.

"I never doubted I could play. I kept myself in condition and studied the play book intently after I arrived," said Banks.

"I spent about 20 hours studying the Indianapolis defense," said Banks, adding that teammate Duane Bickett, who was also his teammate for one year at Southern Cal tutored him intently during that time.

"I don't think I could have done it, understood the system, so quickly without Duane," said Banks, who made three solo tackles and was credited with four quarterback pressures — making him the team leader for the season.

"There's no question Chip was a significant reason we performed so well defensively," Coach Ron Meyer said. "We knew he would play some, but quite frankly, we surprised he played as much as he did."

The Colts, who took a chance on Tony Collins last year only to see him fail an NFL drug test and eventually become hospitalized, know they're throwing the dice again on Banks.

"I believe you have to acknowledge statistical facts that relapse is prevalent," said General Manager Jim Irsay when he announced the acquisition.

"I don't worry about that," said Banks. "There are always going to be critics and skeptics about my situation or anybody who made mistakes."

Banks' mistakes include being arrested four times in his native Atlanta on cocaine and marijuana possession charges between February 1988 and June of this year. On Oct. 11, an Atlanta judge sentenced him to five years probation on a cocaine possession conviction.

The NFC

Phoenix at Dallas

The Cardinals have lost 12 starters to injuries this year, but they play just about everybody tough each week. The Cowboys are toughest on themselves and only Pittsburgh has scored fewer than Dallas' 96 points.

Phoenix has the league's leading receiver in J.T. Smith, who will be 34 Sunday. But Smith, who has 54 catches, six more than anyone else, and is on pace for a record 123 receptions, has a broken bone in his left hand.

"I'd say he's 50-50 (to play)," Coach Gene Stallings said. "I would say he won't be able to practice or catch a ball all week."

Dallas has been inept everywhere, most dismal on the ground, where it ranks last on offense and defense. If Smith isn't available, the Cardinals would rely on Earl Ferrell, who scored three TDs last week.

San Francisco at NY Jets

The 49ers have won all five games on the road and, although they're banged up, should be able to handle the Jets, losers of their last four, 0-3 at home and in disarray.

Steve Young might get another start for Joe Montana (knee), particularly after going 11-for-12 for 188 yards and three touchdowns in relief against New England last week. Young played against Dallas when Montana needed time to heal, and the Jets are just as bad as the Cowboys right now.

More difficult to adjust to might be the loss of safety Jeff Fuller, whose neck vertebrae injury brought fears he might lose use of his right arm. But Fuller has shown improvement recently and paralysis is considered unlikely.

Vikings at NY Giants

The nation will find out which of these teams is for real and which is off to a fast start due greatly to a weak early schedule.

The Vikings already have felt the benefits of the trade for Herschel Walker, who has rushed for 235 yards in two games. Last year, Darrin Nelson led the Vikes with 380 yards.

The Giants are using strong ball control tactics behind the running of Otis Anderson (fourth in the conference with 543 yards) and a conservative passing game. Their defense, particularly against the run, has been strong.

But they could be without tight end Mark Bavaro, who is nursing a knee injury.

This will be the Vikings' first appearance at Giants Stadium.

LA Rams at Chicago

How disappointed is Mike Ditka? How distressed is John Robinson? Through four weeks, these were two of the NFL's elite teams. Now, the Rams have dropped their last two games. The Bears have lost three in a row, a first under Coach Ditka.

The Bears' 27-7 loss at Cleveland knocked them out of first place in the NFC Central for the first time since the end of the 1983 season.

"We are in an adverse situation that has been foreign to this organization the last six years. I think we'll react favorably, but only ... if we win," Ditka said.

His defense has been a sieve since losing star end Dan Hampton to knee surgery. Chicago has yielded 102 points in the slump.

"We'll find out if we have the courage to fight our way out," Robinson said. "We have to begin to make progress defensively or we'll find ourselves in difficult straits. It's probably the key issue for us right now."

Labor, TV contracts top Tagliabue's list

NEW YORK (AP) — Paul Tagliabue still has a week or so before he officially replaces Pete Rozelle as NFL commissioner. When he does, his top priority will be a new labor agreement and a new television contract to replace the one that expires after this season.

During a nationwide conference call with football writers from his Washington, D.C., law office on Friday, Tagliabue said he will officially take office at midnight Nov. 4.

At that time, he said, "Pete will be a free man, heading for (his retirement home in San Diego) California" after 228 days waiting for his successor to be named.

Much of the conference call covered the same ground Tagliabue dealt with on Thursday in Cleveland after he was elected commissioner.

Tagliabue approaches the labor negotiations with considerable knowledge on the subject. He has worked closely with the NFL Management Council and was the NFL's lead attorney in the antitrust suit filed by the players union after its unsuccessful 24-day strike in 1987.

He is also one of the architects of "Plan B," the modified plan for free agency that took effect this season.

Tagliabue said his first priority would be to discuss the issues with Management Council members in hopes they can come up with a plan that would allow the dispute to be settled out of court.

Both sides are still waiting for a ruling by a Minnesota appeals court that could pave the way either for settlement or trial in late winter or early spring.

He also said he intends to study the manner in which the NBA, whose commissioner, David Stern, also is an attorney, averted a labor dispute.

"David Stern made it his first priority," Tagliabue said. "I think a trial can be avoided, as it was in basketball. Maybe there can be intensive talks that can produce an agreement for next year."

"I want to sit down with our people, then with their people," he added, referring to the Management Council and the union.

The AFC

Houston at Cleveland

These teams, along with Cincinnati, are tied for the AFC Central lead. The last time they met came on consecutive weekends last December. The Browns downed the Oilers 28-23 in the final game of the season, then were at home again in the wild-card game against Houston, which won 24-23.

The Oilers lead the AFC with 194 points, while Cleveland has been the stingiest with 95 points allowed.

The key will be how much time Warren Moon, the No. 2 passer in the AFC, gets to find Drew Hill and Earnest Givins, the most dangerous receiving tandem in the conference.

Browns coach Bud Carson always has done well against the Oilers with a package of blitzes and stunts that confused one of the league's best offensive lines. Cleveland's linebackers and defensive backs will be coming all day.

Tampa Bay at Cincinnati

Can the Bengals, unbeaten at home last season, get stomped in "The Jungle" a third straight week? After losing to Miami and Indianapolis at home, they face the inconsistent Bucs, who have lost 13 straight road games to AFC teams.

Cincinnati fell apart in the final minutes against the Colts and the offense hasn't scored a touchdown in seven quarters. Still, the Bengals rank first in rushing, even if they have trouble punching it in from inside the 20 — they've scored touchdowns on only three of their last 12 drives that went that deep.

Philadelphia at Denver

People who like to look for "Super Bowl previews" could focus on this one. The Eagles aren't even leading the NFC East, but their schedule has been somewhat tougher than the Giants' — Eagles opponents are a combined 29-20, Giants foes 19-30.

Denver's revamped defense has been superb and will get the ultimate test from Randall Cunningham, coming off three relatively poor outings and getting annoyed about criticism that he isn't acting like Superman every week.

Cunningham has only 362 passing yards and two touchdowns in his last three games, but Philadelphia has won them all.

"You want to say I'm in a slump, go ahead and say it," Cunningham said. "But the result is that when I throw for 400 yards, we lose (to Chicago), and when I throw for 60 yards, we win. So that's how the ball bounces."

San Diego at Seattle

Suddenly, the Seahawks can't win at home, blowing late leads in their last two games at the Kingdome to drop to 0-3 at Seattle. They did beat the Chargers at San Diego two weeks ago and are after the franchise's 100th regular-season victory.

Steve Largent is expected back from a fractured elbow, which should boost Seattle's No. 15 passing attack. Largent has 98 TD catches, one short of Don Hutson's all-time record. If he gets two, he would be the first receiver since Hutson in 1945 to hold three league receiving records simultaneously: receptions, yards and touchdowns.

"Watching the game go out there and play and not be able to participate. It was like you're not part of the team. That was the hardest part," Largent, 35, said.

The Chargers have lost three straight with an anemic passing attack that is producing a mere 178 yards a game. They'll attempt to get Darrin Nelson, picked up from Dallas as an offshoot of the Herschel Walker trade, more involved in the offense this week.

Colorado, Nebraska on course; Alabama edges Penn St.

Third-ranked Colorado and No. 4 Nebraska took the last steps toward their Big Eight showdown and Alabama also stayed unbeaten with a last-gasp block of a chip-shot Penn State field goal attempt Saturday.

The Buffaloes and Cornhuskers, both 8-0 overall and 4-0 in the Big Eight, meet next Saturday in the game that probably will determine the Orange Bowl's host team.

Colorado snapped a 12-game losing streak against Oklahoma and won in Norman for the first time in a dozen tries since 1965, beating the Sooners 20-3. Meanwhile, Nebraska routed Iowa State 49-17 but sixth-ranked Alabama (7-0) had to hang on to edge No. 14 Penn State 17-16 at State College, Pa.

That made Alabama's Bill Curry the first coach ever to beat a Joe Paterno team three years in a row.

Siran Stacy ran 12 yards for a fourth-period touchdown, giving Alabama a 17-13 lead, but Ray Tarasi's third field goal made it 17-16. Penn State took over on its 31 with 5:37 remaining and, with Blair Thomas carrying 11 straight times, drove to the Alabama 1 with less than 15 seconds remaining. However, 6-foot-7 Thomas Rayam broke through to block Tarasi's 17-yard field goal attempt.

Rayam said he didn't see the ball.

"I just threw my hands up," he said. "It hit my right hand. It stung. I knew it was blocked. I knew it couldn't get over (the crossbar)."

The snap was a little high but the holder got it down and Tarasi kicked.

"I didn't know it was a bad snap until I got off the field," a dejected Tarasi said. "When I got to the spot where the ball was, it was a little slow. But it was a short distance kick, the sort I should have made."

In other games involving Top Ten teams, it was No. 5 Michigan 38, Indiana 10 and No. 8 Illinois 32, Wisconsin 9.

Elsewhere in the Top 25, it was No. 11 Tennessee 45, LSU 39; No. 15 West Virginia 44, Boston College 30; No. 16 Auburn 14, Mississippi State 0; No. 20 North Carolina State 20, No. 25 South Carolina 10; No. 21 Texas A&M 45, Rice 7; No. 22 Clemson 44, Wake Forest 10.

NORMAN, Okla. — Colorado quarterback Darian Hagan (3) pitches on the option as Oklahoma defensive end Wayne Dickson moves in during second quarter action Saturday. The third-ranked Buffaloes downed Oklahoma in the contest.

was at No. 1 Notre Dame, No. 2 Miami at No. 9 Florida State, Stanford at No. 10 Southern California, No. 12 Houston at No. 13 Arkansas, Pacific at No. 17 Arizona, No. 18 Brigham Young at Hawaii and No. 23 Washington State at Arizona State.

Stacy's game-winning touchdown for Alabama was set up by the passing of Gary Hollingsworth, who completed 26 of 43 for 244 yards and one touchdown. Stacy carried 19 times for 106 yards while Penn State's Thomas rushed 35 times for 160 yards.

No. 3 Colorado 20, Oklahoma 3
Tailback J.J. Flannigan and quarterback Darian Hagan each rushed for more than 100 yards and Colorado's defense held Oklahoma to 169 yards rushing, 174 below its average.

"This put us in a position to play the biggest game we've ever played in Boulder," Coach Bill McCartney said of next week's visit by Nebraska. "To come in here and win, it's special."

Hagan carried 21 times for 107 yards and a touchdown. Flannigan, replacing injured Eric Bieniemy for the second week in a row, had 103 yards and a touchdown on 25 carries as the Buffaloes rolled up 284 yards on the ground against a team that had allowed an average of 105 a game.

"We dominated them," Colorado defensive tackle Arthur Walker said. "We stopped them and whatever they threw at us."

No. 4 Nebraska 49, Iowa State 17

Gerry Gdowski ran for four touchdowns, passed for two more and set a Nebraska record for quarterbacks with 176 yards rushing, erasing the mark of 157 set by Steve Taylor against Utah last year.

Gdowski, who had 112 yards in the first quarter, went 74 yards to score on the third play of the game. He added a 26-yard touchdown run later in the quarter and had 156 yards by halftime. Gdowski also passed for two first-half touchdowns, both to wingback Tyrone Hughes, for 16 and 25 yards.

No. 5 Michigan 38, Indiana 10
Tony Boles scored three touchdowns, including a 91-yard dash, overshadowing a record-setting 59th regular-season career touchdown by Indiana's Anthony Thompson.

Thompson's 1-yard dive with 12:40 left in the game equaled the mark of 59 touchdowns set by Army's Glenn Davis in 1946 and matched 30 years later by Pitt's Tony Dorsett.

Boles, who carried 14 times for 156 yards, also scored on runs of 6 and 23 yards as the Wolverines remained unbeaten (4-0) in the Big Ten and 6-1 overall.

No. 8 Illinois 32, Wisconsin 9
Jeff George threw three touchdown passes and Howard Griffith scored three times as Illinois stayed unbeaten in the Big Ten (4-0, 6-1 overall).

George hit Griffith with a 45-yard touchdown pass in the first quarter and a 1-yard TD pass in the fourth period and connected with Dan Donovan on a 1-yard scoring play in the second quarter. Griffith also scored on a 1-yard run in the fourth quarter. Michigan visits Illinois on Nov. 11.

No. 11 Tennessee 45, LSU 39
Chuck Webb scored three touchdowns and Greg Amsler two while Carl Pickens ran a kickoff back 93 yards for another score. LSU (1-6 overall, 0-3 in the Southeastern Conference) is off to its worst start since 1956.

The Tigers led 14-0 after one quarter before Tennessee (6-1, 3-1) rallied. Tommy Hodson threw four touchdown passes for LSU.

No. 16 Auburn 14, Mississippi State 0

James Joseph rushed for 172 yards on 35 carries as Auburn overcame boos from its own homecoming crowd after being held to a 0-0 halftime standoff. But strong running by Joseph sparked two second-half drives that ended with short touchdowns by Reggie Slack and Joseph.

No. 15 West Virginia 44, Boston College 30

Quarterback Major Harris led a 320-yard ground attack with 98 yards as West Virginia survived Boston College's comeback from a 21-0 first-quarter deficit.

Willie Hicks threw three touchdown passes for Boston College, including 61- and 83-yarders to Kenrick Skerritt. The second one made it 34-30, but on the next series Harris led the Mountaineers on an 80-yard drive capped by Carl Hayes' 2-yard touchdown run.

No. 20 N. Carolina St. 20, No. 25 S. Carolina 10

Shane Montgomery hit Al Byrd with a 31-yard touchdown pass in the fourth quarter. Earlier, South Carolina lost quarterback Todd Ellis with a knee injury.

With the score tied 10-10 early in the fourth quarter, Montgomery moved the Wolfpack 73 yards in seven plays for the go-ahead touchdown.

No. 21 Texas A&M 45, Rice 7
Darren Lewis rushed for 201 yards to become the No. 2 rusher in Texas A&M history and Lance Pavlas threw three touchdown passes.

SWC briefs

Arkansas 45, Houston 39
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Quarterback Quinn Grovesy produced 335 yards in total offense and accounted for five touchdowns as 13th ranked Arkansas remained in the Southwest Conference race with a 45-39 victory over 12th-ranked Houston Saturday night.

The Razorbacks also got 100-yard-plus rushing performances from James Rouse and Barry Foster and scored on six of their last seven possessions.

With Grovesy at the controls, Arkansas had touchdown drives of 77, 69, 78, 81, 76 and 62 yards. Grovesy's 2-yard scoring run with 3:08 remaining put Arkansas up by 14, the first time either team led by more than seven points. Houston's last lead was 28-24 at the end of the third quarter but Grovesy hit Derek Russell on a 51-yard scoring pass on the first play of the final period to make it 31-28.

Roman Anderson tied it with a 46-yard field goal and then Rouse ended a 76-yard scoring drive with a 3-yard run that made it 38-31.

Baylor 27, Texas Christian 9
WACO (AP) — Linebacker James Francis and cornerback Malcolm Frank returned interceptions for touchdowns Saturday to lift Baylor to a 27-9 Southwest Conference victory over Texas Christian.

Baylor evened its overall record at 4-4 and is 3-2 in SWC play. TCU dropped to 4-4 and 2-3.

Francis returned an interception 50 yards for a score off Ron Jiles in the third period and Frank went 32 yards for a touchdown on a second period interception off Leon Clay.

The Bears played the second half without starting quarterback Brad Goebel who suffered a bruised right shoulder.

Texas A&M 45, Rice 7
HOUSTON (AP) — Texas A&M's Lance Pavlas and Darren Lewis were too much of a one-two punch for the Rice Owls Saturday.

Lewis rushed for 201 yards and became the school's No. 2 rusher, and Pavlas threw three touchdowns passes, leading the 21st-ranked Aggies to a 45-7 Southwest Conference victory.

"All week long we worked on the running game and its blocking schemes," said Lewis. "We were really focused out there today."

The Aggies rushed 64 times for 348 yards and had 525 total yards compared to 274 for the Owls.

Crossroads counties get new unemployment figures

By JAMES FLEEHR
Staff Writer

CROSSROADS COUNTRY — The unemployment rate dropped in all local areas, some more than others, said the latest report from the Texas Employment Commission.

Most of the decrease was due to the fall school semester beginning and students and other summer jobseekers leaving the labor force. Initial claims were down in September which also contributed to the rate dropping.

In Big Spring the unemployment rate for the current month is 7.0, compared to 8.4 in the previous month and 8.3 a year ago.

The total number of unemployed in Big Spring is 783 for the current month and 956 for the previous month. Last year's September unemployed total for Big Spring was 939.

The total employed in the Big Spring community is 10,350 out of a civilian labor force of 11,133 for the current month. For the previous month the total was 10,484 for the employed number out of a civilian labor force of 11,440. One year ago, Big Spring totaled 10,426 employed and 11,365 in the civilian labor force.

Howard County's total unemployment rate is 6.1 for the month of September and 7.2 for the previous month with a 7.1 unemployment rate showing for a year ago.

The number of unemployed for the current month in Howard County is 895 with 1,092 showing in the previous month. Year-ago total unemployed in Howard County was 1,073.

The total employed for the current month in the local county was 13,862 out of a civilian labor force of a possible 14,757. For the previous month the total employed was 14,042 out of 15,134 in the marketable civilian labor force. Year-ago totals were 13,964 for the total employed from an available civilian labor force of 15,037.

In other county listings, Borden County shows a current month's unemployment rate of 7.5 with the previous month's listing at 7.6. The previous year's rate was 3.2 making Borden County the only local county to show a marked increase in unemployment.

Accounting for the change for the current month in Borden County, unemployed figure was 34 compared to 39 last month — showing a decrease — but only 14 a year ago.

The total employed is 420 for the current month and 471 for the previous month, with 422 employed in Borden County a year ago.

As for the civilian labor force, Borden County shows a current month total of 454 and 510 for the previous month. The year ago listing for Borden County is 436.

Glauco County dropped from 1.8 a year ago to 1.4 for the current month. The unemployment rate in Glauco County for a previous month was 1.7.

The unemployed number in Glauco was 16 for the current month, 18 for the previous month and 19 a year ago.

The total employed for the current month in Glauco is 1,138 out of a civilian labor force of 1,154. In the previous month, Glauco shows a listing of 1,055 employed and 1,073 in the civilian labor force.

James Fleeher's Business beat

A year ago, 1,053 were employed there and the total civilian labor force numbered 1,072.

Martin County's unemployment rate for the current month is 1.5, 1.6 for the previous month and 1.6 also a year ago.

The current month's total of unemployed in Martin County is 36, compared to 39 for the previous month and 38 a year ago.

The total employed in Martin County for the current month is 2,396 and the total current month civilian labor force in Martin County is 2,432. For the previous month, the total employed there was 2,461 out of a civilian labor force of 2,500. For one year ago Martin County showed 2,335 total employed and 2,373 in the civilian labor force.

Store named changed

BIG SPRING — Auto Parts of Big Spring has officially changed hands and is under new ownership and carries a new name — AUTOTREND.

"We want to tell everybody just because we got a new name, we are still the same people that have been here," said co-owner Terry Wegman.

Wegman and his partner, Jimmie R. Jennings, bought the Auto Parts of Big Spring operation in June 1989 from Homer Tomerlin and moved to the present location.

Prior to the buyout, the two co-owners were involved with Meads Auto Supply, Inc. since 1961 through family ties. Meads was incorporated in 1953 and later in 1963 the present AUTOTREND owners took over the Meads operation.

"When we purchased this we were Meads Auto Supply, Inc. and really we still are Meads. We are going to operate as AUTOTREND," said Jennings.

The grand opening of the new business was held Saturday at 507 E. 4th St.

The auto parts company carries "just about anything in the auto market for automobiles, light pickups and trucks. And we do have some merchandise for heavy trucks," said Jennings.

"I guess we have a pretty wide market. We have the typical things you find in auto parts supply, but we also have two extensive paint lines."

"All the lines we carry are major manufacturers — all household names. In a small town (comparing Big Spring to Dallas) you have to be a one-stop shopper for everyone," added Wegman.

Wegman referred to a line of accessory items. This is the trend, he said, to carry accessory products.

"We carry quality items. When we purchased this business and basically changed locations, when we did that we changed the name," said Wegman.

The co-owners are very optimistic about the economic climate here and Big Spring is on the verge of growth.

"Part of the reason for the name change was to show the business was willing to change and grow with the community and reflect the positive attitude that we feel like exists in Big Spring," added Wegman.

Petrofina dividend

DALLAS — The Board of Directors of American Petrofina, Incorporated, (ASE-APIA) meeting here on Oct. 19, declared a quarterly dividend of 80 cents per share on the Class "A" and Class "B" Common Stock of the Company.

Drilling report

Howard County
Flowing 225 barrels of oil per day plus 186,000 CF gas per day with no water, the No. 25 Kelly-Roberts has been completed in the Howard-Glauco Field, Howard County, 14 miles southeast of Big Spring.

Mobil Producing of Midland is the operator.
The well will produce from a set of Wolfcamp Formation perforations ranging from 7,510 to 7,520 feet into the wellbore. Location is in the W&NRR Survey Section 112 Block 29.

A pumping oiler has been completed in the East Howard-latan Field, Howard County, five miles east of Coahoma, with Arco Oil and Gas of Midland as the operator.

Marginally successful, the well made two barrels of oil with a minor volume of gas and 22 barrels of waste water per day on an open choke.

Mitchell County
Showing ability to pump 14 barrels of oil plus 409 barrels of salt water per day on an open choke, the No. 5006 North Westbrook Unit has been brought on line in the Westbrook Field, Mitchell County.

Chevron U.S.A. of Midland is the operator.
The well was perforated to produce from perforations ranging from 2,933 to 3,145 feet into the wellbore.

Drill site was about five miles north of the Westbrook townsite.

Henson — Holsenbeck

BIG SPRING — Karie Henson and Donald Holsenbeck, both of Big Spring, exchanged wedding vows Sept. 23, 1989 at 6 p.m. in a double ring ceremony at the Anderson Street Church of Christ.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Henson, Big Spring. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Current, Big Spring; and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Henson, Estancia, N.M.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Holsenbeck, Lamesa.

The couple stood in front of an altar accented with an archway with candelabras adorning each side. The archway and the candelabras were embellished with intertwining red and white carnations. A unity candle was placed on the altar.

The pews were decorated with lace hearts and bows.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father. She was attired in a chantilly satin and lace gown with venice lace appliques on the neckline. Pearls adorned the stand-up collar, fitted bodice and basque waist. The gown was designed with large puffed sleeves and a flowing train. The veil was designed and made by the bride's mother. The bride carried a cascading bouquet of white roses, chantilly lace, red net and red and white ribbons streaming down.

The bride honored wedding traditions by carrying a borrowed blue bible and biblemarker (made by her grandmother) for her something old, borrowed and blue. Her dress served as something new.

Maid of honor was the bride's sister, Tarie Henson.

Serving as bridesmaids were the bride's sister-in-law, Donna Henson, Stanton; and the bride's cousin, Julie Current, Austin.

The maid of honor and the bridesmaids wore red satin brocade, tea-length gowns. A red and white wreath of red net adorned their hair. They carried cascading bouquets of red roses and chantilly lace and streaming white ribbons.

Cassie Henson, Stanton, niece of the bride, served as flowergirl. She wore an ankle length satin dress carrying a small red bouquet, her hair was adorned with a red and white wreath.

MR. AND MRS. DON HOLENBECK

with tails, a red bow tie, and a red cummerbund, with a red and white garter on his left arm.

Serving as best man was the bridegroom's brother, C.L. Holsenbeck. The groomsmen were David Holsenbeck, brother of the bridegroom, and Kirk Henson, Stanton, brother of the bride.

The bestman and groomsmen wore white tuxedos with red cummerbunds and bow ties. They each wore a red and white garter on their left arm.

Ushers were Mica Weatherman, nephew of the bridegroom, and Johnny Acuff, Andrew, cousin of the bride. Mica Weatherman served as candlelighter.

A reception honoring the new couple was held in the Fellowship Hall. The bride's table was draped with a lace tablecloth over a red tablecloth. Her three-tiered cake, which was made by her sister-in-law, Donna Henson, was decorated with red flowers and white angels. A miniature bride and groom topped the cake.

The crystal and silver appointments used on the bride's table belong to the bride's grandparent. The groom's table was adorned with a bouquet of red and white flowers beside the groom's coconut cake.

The bride and bridegroom are both graduates of the Personal Achievement Center, Big Spring. After a short wedding trip to Midland, the bridegroom left to attend basic training in Ft. Jackson, S.C. The bride will join him in December.

Williams — Trippy

LAS VEGAS — Christa Lynn Williams and Lt. Matthew Allen Trippy, both of Huntington Beach, Calif., were united in marriage Oct. 28, 1989 at 7 p.m. ceremony at Nellis Air Force Base Chapel, Nellis Air Force Base, Las Vegas, Nev. The Rev. David L. Bristow, Ft. Worth, officiated the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Buerk Williams, 707 Scott Dr., and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Trippy, Las Vegas, Nev.

The couple stood before an altar, which was adorned on each side with bouquets consisting of China mums, pink and white carnations, baby's breath and assorted greenery. Large pink bows accented the bouquets.

A string quartet consisting of first and second violinist, a violist and cellist provided the music.

The bride was presented in marriage by her father carrying a full cascade of fresh flowers consisting of white stephanotis, white roses, Lady Di roses, white button poms, baby's breath, springerle and ivy.

She was attired in a white satin ballgown designed with puff sleeves, a Princess neckline and a chapel length train. The gown was embellished on the shoulders with satin flowers with seed pearls and sequins trailing down the sleeves. The bride's headpiece was a white tea cap hat with a white satin bow attaching a fingertip veil and a detachable blushing veil to the hat. Seed pearls scattered throughout the veil enhanced its beauty.

Ellen Marie Hall, Midland, served the bride as maid of honor; bridesmaids were Lynn Mary Trippy, sister of the groom, Las Vegas, Nev.; and Darrian Lea Hoskins, sister of the bride, Odessa.

The groom was attended by Guillermo Hugo Urbine, El Paso, who served as best man. The bride's brothers, Kevan Alexander Williams, College Station; and Aron Buerk Williams, Canyon, served as groomsmen.

Ushers were Lt. Timothy David Golden, Hermosa Beach, Calif. and Raul Martin Fernando, Torrance, Calif.

A reception honoring the newly married couple was held at Nellis Air Force Base Officers' Club.

The bride is a 1979 graduate of Big Spring High School. She received a B.S. in Biology from Angelo State University and is a graduate of Midland Memorial Hospital School of Medical Technology. She is presently employed at Kendall McGraw Laboratories, Inc., Irvine, Calif., as a microbiologist.

The groom graduated from Rancho High School, Las Vegas, Nev. He received a B.S. in Physics from Angelo State University and a B.S. in Electrical Engineering from University of Texas at El Paso. He is a Lieutenant in the U.S. Air Force Space System Division.

Salazar—Bright

BIG SPRING — Mary Jane Salazar and Robert E. Bright, both of Big Spring, were united in marriage Oct. 7, 1989 in a 2 p.m. ceremony at St. Thomas Catholic Church. The Rev. Robert Vreateau officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Morphis, 108 Canyon and the late Robert M. Salazar.

The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Bright, Elkins, W.Va.

Music was provided by vocalists Steve Chavez, Tommy Chavez and Cindy Chavez who were accompanied by Eva Garcia, organist and Steve Chavez, guitarist.

The bride was given in marriage by her parents and wore a satin gown. Venice lace appliques and simulated pearls adorned the sheer illusion net and sweetheart neckline bodice with a basque waistline and sleeves, which narrowed to points at the wrist. The rich flowing full satin skirt is detailed with venice lace appliques and edged in lace. The chapel length train with bow trimmed closures allowed the train to be gathered.

Cindy Chavez, Big Spring, served the bride as Maid of Honor while the groom's sister, Mary Wilson, Huntington; the bride's sister-in-law, Martha Salazar, Big Spring; and the bride's cousin, Diane Garcia, Stockton, Calif. served as bridesmaids.

Flower girl was Myra Vasquez, Big Spring, and ringbearer was Frank Morphis, brother of the bride.

Serving as best man was Ron Hayes, Fairmont, W.Va. and groomsmen were Mike Wilson, brother-in-law of the groom, Huntington, W.Va.; Louis Salazar, brother of the bride, Big Spring; Ricky Smith, Big Spring; and Ron Secrease, Bastrop. The groomsmen served as ushers.

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT BRIGHT

After the wedding a reception was held at the Howard County Civic Center. The brides table was adorned with toasted wedding glasses. The three tier wedding cake was embellished with bride and groom figurines on the top layer and bridesmaids and groomsmen were on a stairway from the top to the third tier. The bridegroom's table featured a three tier chocolate cake decorated with chocolate roses.

The bride graduated from Coahoma High School in 1985 and has attended Howard College. She is employed by the Department of Justice, Bureau of Prisons as an Inmate Systems Technician.

The groom is a graduate of Elkins High School, Elkins, W.Va., and received a B.S. in Criminal Justice from Huntington, W.Va. He is employed by the Big Spring Federal Prison Camp as a Lieutenant.

The couple will be working at the U.S. penitentiary in Leavenworth, Ks. and will be making their home in the Leavenworth area.

Kay - Dale

AUSTIN — Gina Michelle Kay, Arlington, formerly of Big Spring and L. Scott Dale, Arlington, were united in marriage Aug. 26, 1989 at 6:30 p.m. ceremony in the Rock Room of the Westwood Country Club, Austin. The Rev. Harold O'Chester, pastor of Great Hills Baptist Church, officiated.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sovoy Kay, El Paso, formerly of Big Spring. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Yates, 1909 Mittle, Big Spring.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Berg, Corpus Christi.

The altar was featured with two seven-tiered candelabras offsetting the prie-dieu, adorned with flowers and white satin bows.

Music was provided by organist Deanie Smith.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attired in a white and pink organza gown. The scalloped sweetheart neckline was embellished with beads and pearls.

The gown was designed with a deep plunged back yoke, the bouffant skirt gathered at a dropped waist. Scalloped imported lace lined the hem.

The bride carried a round colonial cascade of sweetheart roses and baby's breath.

Shannon Coyle, Austin, served the bride as maid of honor. Liese Turner, Austin, attended as bridesmaid. Flowergirls were Leah Berg and Shannon Crow.

Keith Hoelscher, Corpus Christi, acted as best man and Carlos Crenshaw, Arlington, attended as best man.

Jerry Thomas, brother of the bride, and Matthew Moss served as candlelighters.

After the wedding the couple was honored with a reception at Westwood Country Club. The bride's table was decorated with a center bouquet consisting of pastel colored flower. Fingersandwiches and coffee were served on silver and crystal appointments. The bride's three-tiered cake was decorated with tiny pink roses and top with bells.

The bride is a 1986 graduate from Reagan High School, Austin, and a 1989 graduate of Bauder Fashion College.

The groom is presently employed as manager of Bike Peddlers, Arlington. He is a graduate of Corpus Christi Ray High School and attended the University of Texas at Arlington.

The couple will be making their home in Arlington.

Whitehead-Crawford

ABILENE — Heather Whitehead and George Crawford, both of Lubbock, exchanged wedding vows Oct. 27, 1989 during a 7:30 p.m. ceremony at First United Methodist Church, Abilene. The Rev. Charles Whittle officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Robert and Nona Whitehead, Abilene.

The bridegroom's parents are Frank and Sophia Crawford, Big Spring.

Vocalists were Hunt Whitehead, Dora Martin, Heath and Hance Whitehead.

The bride wore a gown of peau de soie and imported grange lace with a bateau neckline and a fitted princess bodice. The flat front semisheath skirt was highlighted with a detachable train.

She carried a bouquet of white roses and ivy when presented in marriage by her father.

Matron of honor was childhood friend, Marisa Leigh, Cleveland, Ohio. Karen Chalcraft, Abilene, a close friend of the bride served as bridesmaid.

The groom was attended by his brother, Ernest Crawford, Lubbock, as best man and the bride's brother, Heath Whitehead, Lubbock, served as groomsmen.

Ushers were Hance Whitehead and Hunt Whitehead. Hance Whitehead also acted as candlelighter.

The couple was honored at a reception in the Fellowship Hall following the ceremony. The bride's table was adorned with a tiered cake decorated in blue and white silk flowers, and accented with a candelabra and silver coffee service.

The groom's table was accented with silk flowers and a silver coffee service.

The bride is an Abilene High School graduate and attended McMurray College and Hardin Simmons University. She is currently employed by Texas Commerce Bank, Lubbock.

The groom is a Big Spring High School graduate and attended Howard College. He is currently enrolled at Texas Tech in Lubbock.

Unmarried woman red-faced over blue material in mail

DEAR ABBY: About six months ago, I ordered some sexually explicit materials. I am a 23-year-old unmarried woman and I am making no excuses. I was just curious. Unfortunately, the company I ordered this material from must have given — or sold — my name to some similar companies, because every week I receive catalogs and advertisements from other sexually oriented businesses, and some of them are not very discreetly packaged. Also, I have spent about $20 in postage to return the stuff.

Dear Abby

These businesses use computerized mailing systems, and either by mistake or design they misspell my name, so instead of getting just one mailing, I get two, and sometimes three and four! I have written to request that my name be removed from their mailing lists, and guess what? They create yet another way to spell my name.

Have you any suggestions on how to get my name off these mailing lists? I would prefer to keep a low profile, but the mailings are multiplying. What do I do now? — RED-FACED IN JERSEY

DEAR RED-FACED: Fill out Form 2201 at your local post office. The form will be given to your carrier, who will stop delivering the pornographic literature.

Also, contact the Direct Marketing Association, Mail Preference Service, 6 E. 43rd St., New York, N.Y. 10017, and ask that your name be removed from junk mail lists.

P.S. You are not legally responsible for the return of any unsolicited material. If you don't want it, simply throw it away.

DEAR ABBY: Am I a casualty of the sexual revolution? Lately, I'm finding myself less and less physically turned-on by my live-in girlfriend/fiancee. She hasn't gotten fat or anything like that. I think it's because she goes around the house stark naked most of the time. This occurred to me the other day when we were at a football game, and I found myself turned-on because from where I was sitting I could see partway down another girl's shirt! This girl was not nearly as attractive as my fiancee. It must be true that what you don't see is sexier than what you do see.

I am writing to you because I hope my fiancee will see this. I don't have the guts to say this outright to her because it might hurt her feelings. (Ladies, if this applies to you, don't ask your man if he feels this way — most of us would like to spare your feelings.) — FAITHFUL FROM FLORIDA

DEAR FAITHFUL: You are not a casualty of the sexual revolution. You have only concluded what mothers have been trying to teach their daughters for generations — that a little mystery can be a big turn-on. Somehow, in the '60s, this message was shelved in favor of "let it all hang out." I'm in favor of putting it all back in.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "THE

KVETCHER" IN NEWARK: In the immortal words of Ella Wheeler Wilcox: "Talk health. The dreary, never-ending tale of mortal maladies is worn and stale. You cannot charm or interest or please by harping on that minor chord... disease. So, say that you are well, and all is well with you. And God will hear your words and make them true."

DEAR ABBY: I'm writing in response to the letter concerning insensitive pharmacists who loudly instruct customers in the use of the medications they have purchased. Unfortunately, we pharmacists do not have private consultation rooms like physicians have, but you would be surprised to learn how many patients have actually used rectal suppositories still in their aluminum foil wrappers. (One customer actually ATE the suppositories!)

Granted, there are those in our profession who could use a lesson in tact, but please bear in mind that the pharmacists' goals are to:

- (1) Make sure that you receive the correct medication for your condition.
- (2) Make sure that you experience a minimum of side effects.
- (3) Make sure that you know the correct way to take your medication.
- (4) Make sure that your new medication will not interact with any pre-existing conditions, or other medications you may be taking.
- (5) Finally, to make sure that you get well in the most cost-effective way possible. — OREGON PHARMACIST

Marie Tompkins stands beside one of her banana plants that recently bore fruit.

Bananas and Big Spring

The two go together like bikinis and Baptists

By JAMES FLEEHR

Staff Writer
BIG SPRING — Bananas and Big Spring.

If the two words sound like they go together about as much as bikinis and Baptists don't despair. That could all change if Todd Road resident Marie Tompkins has her way.

Tompkins is the proud owner of what may be Big Spring's only banana plants — plants that reached 14 feet in height this year and bore fruit for the first time in the four to five years Tompkins has raised them.

For Tompkins it is probably a crop she'll never get to taste.

"It's the first time they ever had bananas," Tompkins said. "But you couldn't eat them. It's not warm enough climate here for them to grow large enough to eat."

Tompkins explains that she has to take the plants out of the ground in the winter to keep them from freezing. She keeps them in a warehouse during the colder months and puts them back in her yard in the spring.

"I started with two little bitty ones, possibly four or five years ago," she said.

Banana plants are usually found in much warmer climates such as Acapulco, Mexico or California. Tompkins got her banana trees from a woman in Kingsland and she says there is really no trick to growing them here in the Lone Star State.

"I just put them in the ground, love 'em and water 'em," she said. "They are like anything else. They have to be a certain age to bear fruit. They are also sensitive to frost," she said. Before the frost Tompkins says it is time for the wrapping procedure to let the plants go 'dormant.'

According to Tompkins, all that must be done in the dormant stage is to water them and wait for the return of spring to replant. That way the trees survive the winter months with no problems, she said.

Tompkins also has a large orchard and garden. Included among the other fruits she grows are plums, peaches, grapes, apricots and pecans.

"The bananas are just something different," she said. "They're pretty and have large leaves and get real tall. I put them in the yard, all over the place this year, and they just keep multiplying."

Lean beef is in — fat is out

By DON RICHARDSON
County Extension Agent

The national emphasis on beef, either on the rail, on the hoof or on the plate appears to be a fact of life today.

This fact was emphasized in the show ring at the State Fair of Texas in Dallas last week which had three Howard County 4-H members exhibiting their beef cattle projects in their junior market steer show.

Dallas has always been a rather controversial show among the stock show crowd in that the judges they have selected have always picked cattle that have not necessarily fit the traditional "Show Steer" pattern. Dallas is perhaps the most upbeat metropolitan city in Texas and stock show officials there are very sensitive to the trendy ways of these urbanites.

With the health-conscious awareness of the general public, and particularly with those in such urban situations as Dallas a vast majority of the consuming public may have never seen a beef cattle operation. Actually, in some cases they may have not associated a steak or pot roast they buy at a restaurant or in a super market with a live steer! The one thing they do know and demand is less fat on that piece of meat!

Super markets are aware of this and today they are trimming more and more fat off their display beef products. The consuming public, with their ideas on cholesterol, has forced them to do it. This, of course, makes that cut of meat more expensive per pound as someone must pay for that waste fat. Most markets now trim their beef to about a 1/4 inch, with some to a mere 1/8 inch. A few years ago 1/2 inch of fat was the standard.

To complicate things a little more, packer buyers still demand the choice grade for top prices and feedlot operators and cattle producers still prefer to sell live cattle.

Identifying choice cattle with high yields while they are alive is still a difficult thing to do. We have advanced enough in animal breeding to realize that some sires have the capabilities of producing these desirable characteristics in their offspring and have been identified.

But to date there have not been rewards for this service on a commercial basis, but education in all production phases of beef cattle is continuing and no doubt will play an important role in the breeding and marketing of cattle in the future.

Now with these facts in mind, we can return to the Dallas steer show ring. Dallas is unique among stock shows in another way. Many of the steers sold through their premium auction are bought for actual consumption by the buyers and are not resold on the market. Dallas, being the type city it is, is aware of the market demands and most are not foolish flamboyant types that buy these cattle. They know that today's market demands a steer that will dress about 725-750 pounds, about a 62% dress weight. To obtain these figures, if you are mathematically inclined, this means that this must come from a 1150-1200 pound live animal. Its carcass is also demanded to yield about 50% in trimmed high quality cuts.

Ask the agent

These are the type cattle Dallas asks its judges to try to find for its top placings. With other shows in Texas that traditionally use a little larger type cattle, around 1250 pounds, in about a 55 inch hip height range.

This proves a little confusing to a lot of exhibitors, but successful ones are savvy enough to realize that to achieve success in the show ring, take the type steer (or lamb, pig, chicken, etc.) that is the type that show or judge wants... which in many cases may not be the type we, ourselves, particularly like... then hope for a lot of just plain old fashioned luck!

Congratulations to Dane Driver for his first place steer at the State Fair, John Paul Nichols and Leslie Fryar for their 8th place winners. All three steers were awarded blue ribbon market grades and sold in the premium auction well at the fair following the show. Thanks to their dads, Larry Fryar, Bob Nichols and Skipper Driver, for all the help and cooperation they extended our county group at the fair this year. It was a real enjoyable experience and, in spite of the unseasonably cold weather, was a lot of fun. We hope for continued success at the future shows for all our county 4-H exhibitors.

Ex residents ride out the California quake

"It was the most frightening experience of my entire life," writes Travis Brackeen from his home in Livermore, Ca. "I would take the tornadoes anytime rather than a 'quake.'"

Travis, a former longtime resident, says he was just sitting down to watch the World Series at Candlestick Park when the earthquake hit.

"I jumped up to run outside — it threw me to the left and then to the right." As he struggled to get out the door he saw his Chevy van swaying from side to side — "I thought it was going to turn over!"

To get an idea of how it felt, he says, picture "Howard County picked up and moved three feet back and forth for about 15 times in 60 seconds!"

Tidbits

Mullins' nephew, Nick Stanfel, who lives in San Francisco, was in Candlestick Park when the earthquake hit! He was unharmed, as were his sisters Angela and Rose, also residents of San Francisco.

The Mullins family had many other relatives in the disaster area, including Tom's sister, Ann, and her husband Frank Piscione, who live in Concord. Frank works in San Francisco and couldn't get home until the next day; he found no damage to their home, but the water had splashed out of their swimming pool!

Tom and Dottie's daughter, former resident Mary Longmire (BSHS Class of '74), felt the quake at her home in Los Angeles, according to her sister, Annie Mullins.

Annie says the family was unable to get immediate information about another cousin, Kevin Walsh, who lives in San Francisco, so Tom phoned Kevin's parents in Hawaii to see if they had heard any news. Kevin was OK.

An Excellence in Leadership award was conferred at a national convocation of Veterans Administration social work chiefs at Beckley, W. Va.

Julian held a similar position at Big Spring's Veterans Administration Hospital in the 1960's. He and Ann were very active in civic work while here, and Julian had a hand in developing the out-patient clinic at Big Spring State Hospital.

Former resident Calvin Boykin writes from Lesotho in Southern Africa that he's not yet having all the success he'd like with his range management recommendations in that locale. Calvin, assigned by the USAID as a specialist in agricultural economics in Lesotho, reports that "So far, the Principal Chiefs are arguing about a grazing fee and a proposal to impound water and import it to South Africa."

Calvin's wife Rosemary recently hosted a reception at the Resource Center in Maseru, attended by none other than Her Majesty the Queen of Lesotho, her lady in waiting and the minister of state for women's and children's affairs and other dignitaries — as well as another former resident, Adrian DeGraffenreid, and his wife, Kyle, who live in Lesotho.

Jack and Ruth McNew looked back at their wedding day — 57 years ago — at a dinner party at LaPosada recently.

Jack had talked Ruth McGuire, N. M., into eloping to Hollywood, because both sets of parents were opposed to the young people's marriage. Jack's aunt, the late Beatrice McNew Nall, helped arrange the tryst.

Attending the dinner were the couple's sons and daughters with their spouses, including Billy Bob and Christi Scoggins, with Cody Dewain; Coy and Emily McCann with Cody Dwight; Robert and Joy Howland; Jimmy and Carolyn Rogers, with Brandon, Kevin and Jimmy Wayne.

Other guests were Jack's sisters, Bonnie Bennett Skein, Gertrude McCann and Callie Bennett; Tammy Davis, Misty Murray and Melinda O'Brien.

Bike-A-Thon

BIG SPRING — The teen ministry of the First Church of the Nazarene will be having a Bike-A-Thon Nov. 4 at 2 p.m.

To help sponsor a teen call John or Wilma Doll at 267-1363.

Hospice Month

STANTON — November is National Hospice month and Mayor Danny Fryar has proclaimed November as Hospice Month for Martin County.

Hospice of West Texas is located in Stanton and serves Howard and Martin Counties. It has planned several activities to coincide with Hospice month. The group had a booth at the Martin County Health Fair at Martin County Community Center Staff and volunteers were on hand to answer questions and publicize the services Hospice of West Texas offers to the community.

Nov. 3 starts the target assault game for everyone over 16 years. The finale will be the 2nd annual pick-up give away. This year Hospice is giving a 1989 Ford Ranger 4X2 courtesy of White Motor Company of Stanton. The pick-up drawing will be held Dec. 9 at 8 p.m. at Dorothy Garrett Coliseum in Big Spring with Neal McGoy and the White Buffalo Band.

'Special' area kids help church feed the hungry

By JAMES FLEEHR
Staff Writer

BIG SPRING — Some very special kids combined efforts to help start what some church officials say is a very badly needed food pantry in Big Spring.

Ken Austin, special education instructor at Goliad Middle School, recognized the need for the food, and got his special education students excited about helping others.

"We just wanted to do something for the town," said Austin about the collection effort from his 11-student class at Goliad.

Austin used the banner of World Food Day, celebrated worldwide Oct. 16, as a reason for collecting food with the intent to donate it to St. Mary's Episcopal Church and their newly formed food pantry. It was a gesture the church appreciated.

"I think that's great that they're thinking of somebody other than themselves and that they are a great asset to the community. It's a great way for them to spend their time," said George von Hassell, a deacon at the church.

The distribution effort is needed, von Hassell said, because of an increasing demand for food. The current pantry cannot meet demand and an expansion is necessary to create a distribution point to supply food to the hungry.

Austin said an additional shelter is needed as he is aware of only three or four smaller versions of the planned Episcopal venture.

"I called around. They didn't have a local food bank," Austin said. He found from further research that the Salvation Army obtains its foodstuffs in Midland, while the Red Cross goes to the Lubbock market for its supplies.

For the project, Austin's class collected food, made posters and sent out fliers.

"All the students donated it. They're special kids," he added. "They're really good kids. They really put a lot of work into this," said Austin.

"The shelter is trying to start up on a weekly basis — expanding its present pantry," von Hassell said. "We've been hoping to have things pretty well in order by the end of November. We hope to get an empty building down on Main Street."

The food pantry provides food to about 10 people per week, he said.

"Some weeks it may average a little more, some may average a little less," he said.

The idea was a result of the efforts of von Hassell and his volunteers who deal with the issue of the needy from the church's present charity offering.

He cited the weekends and the closing times of the food stores as the times "especially in need of added coverage."

At present, the pantry provides food to anyone in need.

BIG SPRING — St. Mary's deacon George von Hassell stands behind some of the food donated by special education students to help expand the church's food pantry. The food pantry is part of the church's ministry to help feed the hungry.

"The person need not be Episcopal," he said. "We have a pantry and we give food out to the indigent and the transient people that come by." The service is extended to anyone presenting a voucher from one of the community organiza-

"People have been real generous," he said. Walker recalled an instance where a group of people gave him three tickets to see Christian songwriter/performer Amy Grant in concert. The tickets were selling for $20 each and would have been too expensive for the group to have tried to purchase on their own, he said.

But there is also a down side to the Christian performing business, Walker said.

"We're constantly on the road, constantly together," he said. "We do shows all the time. Sometimes you just want to rest."

The group also misses the satisfaction of living a more stationary life, such as having a home, but Walker said the group is compensated with the knowledge they are "building bridges in heaven."

Things of heaven remain while the things of this world fade away, Walker said.

"We've been called to do this," Hume said. "If I wasn't called to do it I probably be out of it by now."

Walker said, "I wouldn't want to do anything else."

Wink remembers it's favorite son — singer Roy Orbison

"He was a good ole boy. Just a good ole Wink boy." That's how Bill Beckham remembers Roy Orbison. Bill and Roy were in the Wink Wildcat band together.

"Roy was always practicing on his guitar and tryin' to learn how to sing and make a name for himself," says Bill, who publishes the Wink Bulletin. "On Saturdays he'd go down to the drugstore on Main Street in Wink to play and sing. People would pitch coins to him. That was when he was a little kid."

An oilfield worker taught Roy guitar chords.

When Roy started making it big, people in Wink were thrilled. He became known as Wink's most famous citizen. "As far as I could natured just like he always was." Bill is one of the people working to build a bigger than life-size bronze statue of Roy in Wink. Last August 26, Wink was the site of Roy Orbison day and raised over $10,000, about a third of the amount needed for the monument.

Some 3,000 people attended. Another Roy Orbison day is planned for next summer in Wink. If things go as planned, next summer's event should provide enough money to build the statue.

The money was raised by selling tickets to a concert featuring some of Roy's fellow musicians and a Roy Orbison imitator. And of course people are donating. Checks may be made out to the Roy Orbison Memorial and mailed to the Chamber of Commerce in Wink, Texas 79789.

Roy had a three octave voice and could use it well. One reviewer said his voice could cut diamonds. During his heyday in the 60's Roy had 27 straight hits. He toured with the Beatles in England in 1963.

His trademark was his sunglasses. He started wearing them in 1963 when he accidentally left his regular glasses at home and had to wear shades while in London.

On Jan. 21, 1987, Roy Orbison was inducted into the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame in New York.

Roy's first band was called the Wink Westerners. When he switched from country to rock the band became the Teen Kings. Most of the original band members were in Wink for Roy Orbison day.

Roy died on Dec. 7, 1988. "All kinds of radio stations called me that day," recalls Bill. "I even had a call from a station in Australia."

Roy Orbison day in Wink a couple of months ago made the Los Angeles and New York Times newspapers.

Saturday, Aug. 26 was quite a day. The concert and other events took place at the Wink Wildcat Football Stadium. Things got underway at 2 p.m. and lasted well into Sunday morning. The event was heralded as one of the most memorable and festive days in the colorful history of the West Texas oil town.

The Prime Time Band, The Sparkles, Billy Dee and the Debonaires, The Marbles, Showdown, The Stuart James Project, North Star Band, The Wink Westerners and The Teen Kings all played. Then Kenny Morrill, who looks and sounds like Roy Orbison, and who has been a headliner at the Legends in Concert Show in Las Vegas, entertained the crowd with Roy Orbison songs like "Ooby-Dooby," "Oh, Pretty Woman," "Cryin'," "It's Over," "Only the Lonely" and "Blue Bayou."

Roy Orbison was 52 years old when he died of a heart attack in Hendersonville, Tenn. He once said he always felt secure and peaceful in Wink. He moved there with his family when he was ten years old. His father worked in the oil patch.

tell, Roy never changed," says Bill. "He was always glad to run into people from Wink."

Roy played his last gig in the Permian Basin in the Spring of 1987. The occasion was an Oil Aid concert. "A bunch of us from Wink and Kermit stayed backstage with him. He hadn't changed," says Bill. "He was quiet and good-

All that spirit and support and hard work paid off Thursday night when both the seventh and eighth grade teams scored their way to victory. Coach Williams stated that the boys did an outstanding job and everyone played well.

Jason Milliken received the honor of being selected football hero. Tiffany Key was crowned homecoming queen. Both received a nice plaque to remember the event by. Other nominees for football hero included Juan Ruiz and Chad Wright. Other nominees for homecoming queen were Brandi Gressett and Eva Hernandez.

Mary Atkinson deserves a big note of appreciation for her involvement in the organization and planning of activities for the junior high's homecoming. Thank you Mary!

There was a total of eleven primitive campsites and three modern camps with a total of approximately forty people participating in various events.

Top shooters in various fields are as follows: In a field of twenty five shooters who participated in the Aggregate Shoot Kirk Roach from Midland took first place, with David Beehee from Midland and Rodney Hale from Stanton placing second and third respectively.

In the women's division, Peggy Hale from Stanton was the top shooter. "honest" John Ellige from Odessa placed first. Our own "Four tracks" Bobby Sullivan placed second with "Duck Killer" C.W. Key placing third.

In the Trail Walk, out of twenty seven shooters that participated "Loose packer" Ronnie Latimer from Leonard placed first. "Crazy" Ray Hamilton placed second and David Beehee placed third.

Coahoma recently returned from a trip to California to visit Gus' sister. Gus did state that he sure was glad when their airplane took off to bring them back to West Texas.

Fall Rendezvous
The Howard County Muzzleloaders took a trip back in time to a much simpler existence this past weekend when the group hosted their annual Fall Rendezvous.

The retreat was held at the ranch of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Porter in Vealmore. Several members pitched camp on Tuesday, with others coming out during the week as soon as job and other responsibilities would allow. The frosty morning Tuesday was replaced slowing with warmer weather that was Best camp award was given to the camp of Sullivan, Sullivan and Meeks. (Bobby, Billy and Gregg). Gregg and Billy just couldn't imagine the threesome winning because according to the two, it was the messiest they had ever seen their camp.

Best dressed man was "Crazy" Ray Hamilton and the best dressed woman award was given to Debbie Adams of Big Spring.

The weekend will be remembered as a time when the phone didn't interrupt, and there wasn't the normal pressure and problems of the "civilized world". The smell of coffee mixed with the aromatic smell of smoldering mesquite set the feelings of relaxation and carefree weekend on the right track.

The muzzleloaders would like to thank Terry Flannigan from Lamesa who was the judge for the events. Terry did a fine job. They would also like to express their appreciation to Mr. and Mrs. Pat Porter for the use of their land for the weekend retreat.

The public is invited to these outings and the muzzleloaders would like to see more public participation in the rendezvous. The muzzleloaders' next shoot will be Sunday, Nov. 5, at the muzzleloading range east of Big Spring on 11th Place Extension.

Junior High
This past week Coahoma's Junior High School celebrated Homecoming. The seventh and eighth grade classes worked on boosting spirit all week long. Not the kind of spirit associated with the creepy eve that approaches, but the kind of spirit that unifies a student body.

The homecoming was kicked off Saturday night with a dance at the elementary cafeteria. Parents chipped in and raised the necessary funds to sponsor the dance. The music was provided by Chuck Martin who is with one of the local radio stations. All the students really had a good time and there was plenty of good things to eat and drink.

The students enjoyed themselves in a clean, wholesome environment and that, parents agree, was worth any amount of money they spent. This is the first homecoming dance for the kids currently in seventh and eighth grade. The kids are already thinking of their next dance.

Each day this past week the students had a lot of fun choosing different things ways to express themselves. Monday was College T-shirt Day. Tuesday was deemed

Up close and personal

Of course everyone is a Wolf Fan, whether it be Football, Volleyball, or Basketball, but most of us don't get the chance to know the players as individuals, so for the next few weeks there will be a personal profile of a couple of our Wolf Football players and a Volleyball player each week throughout the season of their sport.

Football

DANNY LUERA #50 — He is the son of Pete Jr. and Janie Luera. He has played football for 6 years. This year his position is Offensive Tackle and Defensive Tackle. He likes to play "For the competition and the sense of accomplishment you feel after a win." Danny is also involved in the CHS Band, Number Sense, UIL Science, National Honor Society and SADD. After graduation he plans to attend the University of Texas. He enjoys sports and baseball card collecting in his spare time.

SAMMY CONTRERAS JR. #60 — The proud parents of this Wolf are Sammy and Lupe Contreras. He enjoys the game because it is a contact sport. This is his 6th year to play football and he plays Defensive End. Sammy plans to go to college after he graduates this May. His hobbies include working on cars and singing.

Volleyball

ANGELA RENÉE WILLIAMS #1 — She lives with her grandmother, Addie B. Williams. She moved here from Sweetwater nine years ago and has played volleyball for five of those years. She plays Setter for the Wolves. Angela enjoys the game because "Volleyball requires skill, thinking, competition and the ability to work with others as a team." Her other school activities include Wolverines, Track and Yearbook. Angela is a Junior and wants to go to college and work with computers after graduation. She enjoys running track, dancing and being with friends.

BEA RIVERA #8 — She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe

Rivera. She is a Back Row Player and has played volleyball for five years. She likes to play volleyball because "It's fun." When Bea graduates in 1991, she plans to become a coach. She is also involved in FTA, Wolverines and the Spanish Club. She enjoys playing all sports.

Cub Scouts

The Colorado City Cub Scouts held a Round-up Oct. 17 for any boy interested in becoming a Cub Scout. The meeting was held at 7 p.m. at Kelly Elementary with the parents attending. The rules and program were explained. The total number of kids who enrolled is 63! Way to go Cub Scouts.

Boy Scouts

Thirteen boys from the Boy Scouts enjoyed a camp-out held Oct. 13 and 14.

The boys sharpened their archery skills, with several kids working toward merit badges. They also had fun riding horses, swimming, and fishing.

were Frank Costable, Scout Master Jon Farris, Tim Atkins and Clayton Finch.

The boys have also been working on their Fish and Wildlife Management Badge. They traveled to Colorado City State Park for a couple of weekends to observe the fish and other wild animals in their different habitats. Those helping the kids by showing them different Managing Techniques were Paul Drosche—the Middle School Science teacher with a degree in Biology with an Ecology emphasis, Keith Ruddick — with a Bachelors Degree in Ranch and Wildlife and Jon Farris — who has a degree in Ecology.

5th Quarter

After the Wolves ballgame against Clyde Friday, The First Baptist Church held a get together, called the 5th Quarter, for any Middle School or High School age youth interested in attending.

Everyone enjoyed playing games and munching chili dogs made by Tex Blankenship. A 5-10 minute devotional was brought by Lane King on 1 Corinthians Chapter 9, "Running the Race to Win", where he encouraged the youth to run for "incorruptible" prizes instead of ones that would be gathering dust in this life.

The 5th Quarter began at 10:30 p.m. and lasted until 12:00 a.m. and it was said that about 70 were in attendance.

There was also a Lock-In held after the ballgame Friday night hosted by Christian Temple. There were 34 youth in attendance. The sponsors, David and Oma Lelek and Gary and Kathy Matlock, had a full night of entertainment planned, starting at 11:30 with a prayer.

Everyone had fun playing Bible Trivia and making fools of themselves playing charades. Next the youth rocked to the videos of Contemporary Christian Singers Sheila Walsh, Randy Stonehill and Carman. Laughter was rampant as a surprise video of Jeremy Lelek doing foreign voice impressions was shown.

Games and giggles can make a kid hungry as was evident when they gorged themselves in chips and dips and drank about 4 cases of cokes! Overall, the night was a roaring success.

Friendly competition

Seventeen Christian Temple Youth went to Snyder to fellowship with the youth of Victory Baptist Church. Everyone left after church Sunday morning and traveled to Snyder where they were fed by the youth there. They played volleyball, football, did Bible drills and played Bible Trivia. Getting to know the young people in the Snyder church proved to be very fun and exciting.

The Youth of Christian Temple are also selling M&M's candy as a fund raising campaign. Anyone wanting to purchase some can contact one of the youth. They are selling for 50 cents apiece.

Homecoming

The week before Homecoming is always an exciting time for all those in high school. This past week was no exception.

In school there were different days planned for the kids to participate in. On Monday everyone was to wear "sweats". On Tuesday it was "Hat & Shades Day." Wednesday was "Dress Up Day", where everyone was to dress up nice. Thursday was "Country & Western Day" with everyone dressing Country & Western style, and Friday was "Red & Black Day" with everyone wearing red and black, the Wolves colors.

A bonfire was held at the Ag Barn/Rodeo Grounds Thursday. The Cheerleaders led yells and the night a dance was held at the Civic Center. Everyone enjoyed seeing each other again, some for the first time in 10 years.

Hallelujah party

The Christian Temple Church will host an alternative to Halloween starting at 6 p.m. Tuesday. Any child who is interested can meet at the church in costume to go Trick-or-Treating at prearranged "safe-houses". Everyone will return to the church at 7 p.m. where there will be a carnival waiting for the excited kids.

There will be game booths for all ages and the kids will receive different point cards for completing various booths, then the kids can "buy" what they want from the "store" by turning in their points. Everyone is welcome but they do request "No Scary Costumes". The admission is free.

Congrats cheerleaders

Our CHS Cheerleaders traveled to Fort Worth on Oct. 21 to compete in the Regional competition. Before the game on Oct. 20 they performed their routine for the fans, who showed their approval with much applause. In Fort Worth the Cheerleaders performed wonderfully and qualified for the national competition to be held in Dallas. More detailed information on the competition will be included in the next article.

Let me know

Remember, if you have any information about activities occurring in Mitchell County, and want the people to know about it, please contact me at Rt. 2 Box 170, Colorado City, Texas 79512. Or if you wish, you may call me at 728-8051. Any church, school, civic, or organizational activities, just to name a few, would be greatly appreciated. Thank you for your super support Mitchell County.

SAMMY CONTRERAS JR.

CHS Band played as the huge fire burned with hopes of a win for Friday night. No Homecoming would be complete without the Homecoming Queen Candidates. This year they were Mendy Conner, JoAnn Ornelas, Brittany Bridgford, Debbie Gardner and Melissa Rivera.

The Class of 1980 also held their 10 Year Reunion over the weekend. First the exes attended the Wolf football game and then gathered at the Country Club for a get together reception. On Saturday there was a family picnic for all 1980 grads at Ruddick Park. Then on Saturday

Elbow and ribbons

Tuesday was "Red Ribbon Day" at Elbow Elementary, each student was given a red ribbon to wear to remind them to "Just Say No" to illegal drugs.

Sergeant Drew Bavin of the Big Spring Police Department, Cruz Olague of the Federal Prison Camp and Fredda Arnez, counselor at the Big Spring State Hospital showed Elbow students a video on drug abuse and explained to the children exactly why they should steer clear of illegal drugs. A big "Thank You" goes to these volunteers for the Texas War on Drugs from our community.

Tuesday night from 6 to 8 p.m. parents of the Girls Basketball team, both Varsity and Jr. Varsity, are invited to come and watch the girls practice.

Wednesday is College Day at Howard College. Representatives from over 50 Texas colleges and universities will be on hand to answer questions about their local schools. Forsan Junior and Senior classes plan to attend.

Cheers

Patty Howard, thank you for all your hard work as Student Council's Chairman of the "Red Ribbon Week" on drug awareness at Forsan High School. Thank you, all the volunteers from the Big Spring area for investing your time and talents in our community children. Parents, it's up to you to follow through with this idea to "Just Say No" to illegal drugs with your children at home.

Congratulations, Mrs. Linda Light, Elbow fifth grade teacher, on receiving the Teacher of the Day award from KBYG and Jane's Flowers.

Singing

Forsan Baptist Church will have their Fifth Sunday Singing Service tonight at 6 p.m. An all church fellowship will follow.

Hang glider

The mystery hang glider pilot really did step forward to be identified! David Fent is a resident of Big Spring. He keeps his powered hang glider at the Big Spring Airport, which is his launching and landing point.

Mr. Fent's hang glider is equipped with permanently affixed wheels for landing and taking off, and has a five gallon fuel tank which allows him to fly ten to fifteen miles in any direction from his departure place.

He is not required to have a pilot's license because the hang glider conforms to certain weight and fuel capacity regulations.

Originally from Ohio, Mr. Fent thinks this part of West Texas is the most beautiful in the area because of our many small lakes and mountains.

So, rural Big Spring, if you hear a sound like a giant mosquito some clear, still day, look up! You just might see Mr. David Fent flying by on his motorized hang glider!

Congratulations

Congratulations to Amy Lee Shoultz who is a Junior at Ira High School. She has been nominated by Outstanding High School Students of America as a member. She has also been named in the Who's Who of American High School Students. Amy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Shoultz of Snyder and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. L.T. Shoultz of Forsan and Mrs. John Nobles of Big Spring.

You folks with news call me or send a card to P.O. Box 541, Forsan, Texas, 79733.

NHS members

The National Honor Society at Garden City has its new charter members. They are as follows: Seniors Becky Pinkard and John Seidenberger, Juniors Michael Jones, Allen Hoelscher, and Angelica Zuniga, Sophomores Wesley Glass, Eric Seidenberger and Cody Pinkard.

You can only be a member if you are a sophomore, junior or senior. A cumulative grade average of 90 or above is required. They are

Honor roll

This is the end of the first 6-weeks and the students have struggled through. Those doing exceptionally well this first 6-weeks on making the "A" Honor Roll are as follows: Senior, Della Schafer; Junior, Michael Jones; Sophomore, Wesley Glass; Freshmen, Jennifer Jones, Jenny Phillips and Rosario Gomez, 8th Grade, Chris Braden; 7th Grade, Tiffany Zachary, Kallie Kohls and Matt Seidenberger.

Sidenberger wins

Senior Jhn Seidenberger won the school competition for the Century

III Scholarship. He will compete at the state level and if he wins, will go to the national competition at Williamsburg, Virginia. They will be competing for a $1500 scholarship. The competition is sponsored by Shell Oil.

Crime prevention

Thursday, Nov. 9, at 7:30 p.m. after the Jr. High ball game at the Glasscock County School auditorium a Crime Prevention class will be given. The Midland County Sheriff's office will teach you how to get a neighborhood watch program. I encourage all Glasscock County residents to take advantage of this opportunity.

Computers

The Garden City High School supports Skaggs in their help in providing schools with Apple Computers. If you would like to help Garden City in winning these computers, then please send your cash register receipts from Skaggs Alpha-Beta to the school.

Couch visit

Dr. Martha Couch, daughter of John and Lennis Couch, spent last weekend with her parents checking up on them since they had not been feeling well.

Martha is a graduate of Texas Tech with a degree in Home Economics, and is the Area 4-H Specialist for the Lubbock and Amarillo District.

Sewell Couch, John's nephew and his wife, Betty, of Kansas City, Mo. visited the Couch's Tuesday a.m. on the way home from a relative's funeral in Odessa.

Two visitors

Ralph and Anna Proctor entertained two visitors recently, their daughter, Gwen Newton of Arlington and Anna's sister, Faye Sledge of Lubbock.

Mrs. Sledge was inducted into the Big Spring High School Hall of Fame at Homecoming for winning the all-star state volleyball players position in 1961. She was unable to be here to accept her plaque, having arrived Tuesday.

The three had dinner in Midland Tuesday evening in the home of their son, Lanney and his wife, Adele and daughter, Tanya.

The Proctors and Mrs. Sledge visited a cousin, Edna Mae Greer, in Winters and checked on the family graves during her visit from Oct. 19 through 22. The two were raised in Winters.

Two daughters of Maggie and Harroll Harrington visited them last Saturday, Oct. 21, Lydia Beth Sutphen and Rita Hull.

Lydia Beth and her husband, Ronald of Clyde gathered wood to haul back for their fireplace, aided by Willie and Rite Hull of Garden City.

The family enjoyed a good meal of barbecue and pinto beans. Lydia Beth taught school at the Boys Ranch in Amarillo for 12 years before resigning to accept a position in Clyde High School where she teaches Spanish.

Halloween

On Tuesday, Oct. 31, Halloween night, Grady will be holding their annual Halloween carnival. The carnival will be held from 6 - 9 p.m. in the old gymnasium. There will be booths for grades K-8 and also the seniors will have a concession stand. Profits made go to the class funds. Everyone is invited and encouraged to attend.

Homecoming

During the school week of Oct. 16-20 students at Grady High School prepared for Friday night's homecoming football game against Loop.

The Student Council prepared many different activities for the students to participate in.

Monday was Freshman Day. The "fish" tried their hardest to dodge upper classmen as they were told to carry books, carry lunch trays, feed them, and sing a solo of the school song.

Role Reversal Day was held Tuesday. Everyone caught a glimpse of what Grady guys would look like in miniskirts, make-up, and pantyhose. While Grady girls sported the best of dad's and boyfriends clothes.

Wednesday was Nerds Day and '50's Day. Students wore poodle skirts, bobby socks, letterman jackets, slicked back hair, plaid pants, and pocket protectors.

Career Day was held Thursday as the students acted out future jobs or just a pretend job. There was everything from lawyers to nurses, to a referee.

Friday was Senior Slave Day. During the week the students and teachers other than seniors bided on the seniors. Friday the seniors council and high school cheerleaders presented the 1989 homecoming pep rally. Beginning at 8:15 p.m. the pep rally was held in the gymnasium.

VIPS

Grady School would like to ask anyone who is interested in helping in the V.I.P.S. (Volunteers in Public Service) program to be formed at Grady School, please contact the principal's office by calling 459-2445 or 459-2449.

Cregar nominated for top principal

By KATHRYN HOLLINGSHEAD
 Forsan Correspondent

BIG SPRING — Elbow Elementary Principal W.R. "Bill" Cregar has been nominated for the TEP-SAN (Texas Elementary Principal) of the Year Award.

"I'm honored just to be nominated," Mr. Cregar said. Texas is divided into 20 districts, and there are over 3,000 elementary principals in the state of Texas. Cregar was nominated by the other principals in this district.

This is Cregar's 25th year as principal at Elbow Elementary. During his tenure, Elbow school has implemented the Hawaiian: English Program (HEP) which emphasizes reading, writing and oral language skills by "peer tutoring", children who have mastered a skill teaching other children to learn the same exercise. The program has been successfully used since 1976 at Elbow Elementary.

Elbow was one of the first elementary schools in the district to begin a computer lab program, including supplemental teaching programs, math and language arts and keyboard technology. Each class room is equipped with a computer presently.

"Parents are the reason this school has been successful," Cregar noted. "We had over 50 parents volunteering over 1,000 hours last year." He also noted that there has been an active parent/teacher organization every year. For the past two years, there has been an Academic Advisory Committee consisting of parents and teachers that reviews programs at the school every six weeks.

Cregar says working with children keeps him young. "It sure keeps him busy — dispensing minor first aid to injured students, sampling new recipes in the kitchen, settling disputes in the teacher's lounge and rolling up his sleeves to unclog a drain."

Cregar is committed to making sure his school runs smoothly toward one goal: teaching children. Asked what is most rewarding about his job, he said: "Seeing the children of former students enroll in this school. The greatest reward for an educator is having parents feel that you have contributed toward their child's success, and those children growing up and coming back just to say 'Thanks.'"
