Dunwoody quits city

race; lauds Harris

BIG SPRING — Ken Dunwoody withdrew his candidacy for City Council this morning, citing similar political views with Corky Harris, whose campaign he is now supporting.

the town is a main priority for both of us. Corky has some imaginative ideas for funding and assistance for making improvements. We also have a positive attitude for going into the 90s with a positive goal," Dunwoody said.

"What kind of town do we want three years from now? If the people are pleased with it the way it is now, they should stop bickering. If they're not, we need to set up some intermediate steps and goals and make a budget to address them," he said.

Dunwoody said he withdrew from the election because he believes he and Harris would be campaigning for the same votes, limiting the ability of either candidate to win. Harris is challenging incumbent D.D. Johnston for the District 3 seat.

"Corky has better name recognition than I do. He has deeper roots in the community," said Dunwoody. He added that his business ventures did not assure that he would be in Big Spring for the position's three year term.

"This is a political step to assure that someone I have faith and confidence in will take that position," said Dunwoody.

Assistant City Secretary Lana East said Dunwoody's name would not appear on the ballot. The remaining candidates, Harris and Johnston, drew for positions on the ballot this morning, she said.

Report: Cop hits rail to avoid hitting car

BIG SPRING — The actions of a Big Spring Police officer may have turned a potential serious accident into a fender bender.

According to the accident report, Officer Mike Chestnut drove his car into a guardrail on the Benton Street viaduct Sunday morning to avoid a head-on collision with another vehicle. Chestnut, who was on duty at the time, was not injured, and the driver of the other vehicle refused treatment.

The accident was one of five on the rain-slickened viaduct Sunday morning that prompted the city to close the bridge for about four hours.

Police Lt. Jerry Edwards said Chestnut was on his way to an accident on the viaduct at about 8:45 a.m. when his accident occurred.

The officer was driving north in his squad car, the report said, when a southbound car driven by Carlos Rodriguez, 64, 503 N. Johnson, entered Chestnut's lane to pass the car involved in the original accident. Chestnut steered into the guardrail, hit it, then spun around. His car struck Rodriguez's on the left front side.

Edwards said when Rodriguez pulled around the wrecked car, "the police officer had no where else to go."

He said accidents often occurred on the old bridge during winter storm conditions.

"That's a brick bridge and those bricks are real slick when it rains," Edwards said. "It's always been a problem whenever its cold and wet."

Mayor tries to put recall behind him

By RUTH COCHRAN
City Editor

BIG SPRING — Mayor Max Green is focusing on putting the recall election behind the city and concentrating instead on efficiency in city government.

In a press conference this morning, Green distanced himself from Saturday's recall election, which residents voted down by a 3-1 margin. He focused instead on ways to improve the city.

"The majority of voters want a change in our city government," the mayor told a group of newspaper, radio and television reporters. "That is, we need to become smarter and more efficient. This means new lines of thought."

Green said in a written statement that the results of the recall election show that the city is not divided.

"We, that is all of the members of the City Council, need to listen more closely to what our constituents are saying," he said. "Yes, we have problems, but the answers may come from the voters."

to mend bridges, the mayor said the city could make significant gains if "everyone works together."

"I feel that the leadership should come from the City Council, the Chamber of Commerce, the Howard County Commissioners Court, as well as the Big Spring Independent School District and Howard College," he said. "We should also include the leaders of all ethnic groups in the community. We need the input of all of the citizens of the county."

County ponders flood district

By BRADLEY WORRELL
Staff Writer

BIG SPRING — Howard County Commissioners today considered forming a county flood district in an effort to prevent future flood damage in the northwest section of the county.

"We're being destroyed out there. And we're not the only ones. There's not just six of us, there's several of us... and there's several hundred acres of land being destroyed," farmer Elbert Long told commissioners in his appeal to have the county sponsor a flood district. Several hundred farms and millions of dollars in agriculture are affected by floods, he said.

Long said he and other farmers in the northwest section of the county have banded together in an effort to draw attention to their plight and seek assistance with flood control. The group has met with State Rep. Troy Fraser and Texas Water Commission officials and has hired the engineering firm of Parkhill, Smith and Cooper of Lubbock to see what can be done about the problem, he said.

Long and six other farmers today appealed for commissioners aid in forming the flood district, saying the county government's assistance is needed to get officials with the water commission and other regulatory agencies to provide the technical help to prevent future flooding.

"Ya'll have to start it or it will never get off the ground," Long said. He added, "The water commission isn't going to listen to me, they'll listen to ya'll."

Long said TWC officials had encouraged the group to form a flood control district with the county's

Old West comes alive near Luther

LUTHER — The Old West came alive in Lockhart Canyon north of Luther this weekend as 17 hardy "pioneers" of the Texas Society of Buckskinners pitched their tents and tepees.

The Buckskinners are dedicated to preserving the heritage of the mountain men who trapped throughout the west in the years between 1825 and 1840. Their campsite and equipment is as authentic as possible, including guns, cooking equipment, clothing, gear and trade goods.

During those years, explained Bill Alexander of Odessa, traders supplied with goods from the Mississippi would rendezvous

While fielding questions from reporters, the mayor said instances of harrassment that may have occurred during the recall election should not have happened.

"I did not have anything to do with any of the harrassment that took place," he said. "I do not approve of those tactics. None of my supporters have any animosity that I know of at all."

Councilwoman Gail Earls, who carried pages of the petition that forced the recall election, said she attended the press conference to show her support.

"I've always said through this whole campaign that when the voters spoke that's who I'd support," she said. Earls pledged her support for the mayor in any council projects.

In his statement, Green said the city would improve its chances by becoming more competitive in the West Texas market.

"In some areas we need to engage consultants, either free, as if sponsored by the state or federal government, or in some instances we need to hire our own consultants."

Man, 78, killed in one-car accident

HERALD STAFF REPORT

BIG SPRING — The owner of Poncho's News Stand died early Sunday morning in a one-car accident.

Leon Frederick Hoag, 4203 Oak St., died after his car hit a light pole in the 600 block of West Fourth Street. Although the accident report listed a heart attack as a possible cause, an autopsy report issued Monday morning showed that Hoag died because of the accident.

"My ruling is that Mr. Hoag died as a result of internal injuries he received in an automobile accident," said Justice of the Peace China Long, who ordered the autopsy.

According to the accident report, the 1988 Buick Opal Hoag was driving hit the light pole three feet from the curb at about 2:40 a.m. The 78-year-old man was taken by ambulance to Scenic Mountain Medical Center where he was pronounced dead.

There were no skid marks on the wet, sleet-covered road, the report said. Long said she ordered an autopsy because of those unusual circumstances.

"There were no skid marks and there could have been a medical problem," she said. "I was trying to determine cause of death."

Long said Dr. Robert Rember, who performed the autopsy, did not find any evidence of a heart attack or other medical problems such as a seizure. Rember found that Hoag died from massive internal injuries caused when he hit the steering wheel, she said.

Hoag and his wife, Maria Hoag, moved to Big Spring in 1966 when he was stationed at Webb Air Force Base. After retiring from the military in 1968, Hoag settled in Big Spring and operated Poncho's News Stand.

New drama coach leads UIL play competition for BSHS students

By ERIN BLAIR
Staff Writer

BIG SPRING — Today the Big Spring High School theater department's one act play, based on Lanford Wilson's "The Rimers of Eldritch," begins UIL competition under the direction of the high school's new drama coach Tim Haynes.

It's a weird play about small town gossip that centers on a shooting. It's told in disjointed time sequences interspersed with trial scenes and a sermon. The 13 actors never leave the stark stage during the 33 minutes of the play.

Personality profile

When "Rimers" was shown to the general public Thursday night, reactions were mixed. Everyone said the actors did a great job, but there was confusion about the play itself.

Haynes said he chose "Rimers" because it suited his students. "After the auditions, when I found the kids I could work with, I felt this would be the best choice because of the different characters. It gives them a chance to sink their teeth into the role, bridge the gap between themselves and the character," said Haynes.

Haynes participated in one-act plays in high school. He said the play is not that unusual. "It's different but not unknown. I have judged this play before. Seagraves, I think, went to state with it," Haynes said.

Water rationing ordered in L.A.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mayor Tom Bradley has ordered development of a stringent water rationing plan that could be carried out this summer during a fourth year of drought. Continued dry conditions could result in a 12 percent decline in Southern California's water supplies, affecting 13 million customers. Most of the agencies that distribute water for the giant Metropolitan Water District say they don't have the power to enforce water conservation programs. They add that they must be backed by residents in the 300 communities across the six-county region the district serves.

Bradley last week, without public announcement, requested the city's Department of Water and Power to develop a plan that includes large fines for violators.

Lawsuit filed in death of striker

REDDING, Calif. (AP) — The widow and children of a Greyhound bus driver who was killed on a picket line have filed a $50 million lawsuit against the company and the replacement driver of the bus that crushed him.

The complaint alleges that Greyhound was negligent in hiring Graham "in that Graham was not qualified in training and disposition to drive a passenger bus."

Robert Waterhouse, 59, was killed March 3 on the second day of a nationwide strike against Greyhound Lines Inc. He was crushed against a wall by the bus. There have been numerous violent incidents since, including several cases in which gunshots were fired at buses. Federal mediators have tried unsuccessfully to restart talks in the pay dispute between Waterhouse was only months away from retirement after 32 years with Greyhound.

Spurned lover allegedly starts fire

DEADLY FIRE

NEW YORK (AP) — A man bounced from a Bronx social club for quarreling with an ex-girlfriend returned with a jug of gasoline and set a fire that killed 87 people at the nightspot, which had been ordered closed, police said.

Julio Gonzalez, 36, was charged with one count of arson and 87 counts of murder in the pre-dawn blaze Sunday at the Happy Land social club, police Sgt. Edward Burns said. Most of the dead suffocated in their sleep in the pre-dawn blaze. Police said the man and his ex-girlfriend were trampled to death; others broke a hole through a wall to an adjoining hall in a desperate attempt to live.

Only three people managed to reach safety by way of the two tiny exit doors on the front of the two-story Happy Land social club.

Japan suggest ways to improve U.S. economy

TOKYO (AP) — Japan has given the United States a list of 80 suggestions on improving the U.S. economy, including a proposal to limit the number of credit cards American consumers could hold, a newspaper reported today.

The aggressive measures also include imposing a value-added tax, abolishing income tax deductions on housing loans and building high-speed railroads to reduce reliance on energy-wasting cars, Yomiuri Shimbun reported. The measures were aimed at cutting the $49 billion U.S. trade deficit, curbing excessive consumer spending and helping balance the federal budget, the nationally circulated newspaper said.

The proposals were made during unofficial talks between U.S. and Japanese trade negotiators in Washington. The Japanese economic reforms aimed at shrinking the trade imbalance, the newspaper said.

In the latest round of meetings, dubbed the "Structural Impediments Initiative," U.S. officials urged Japan to revise land use policies, streamline its retail distribution system and boost consumption of imports through public investment.

Japanese officials have, in turn, urged the United States to cut its federal budget deficit, increase savings and investment and improve worker training and education to boost the competitiveness of American exports.

A Foreign Ministry official refused to comment on the newspaper report. Last week, another Japanese newspaper, the Asahi Shimbun, said Washington gave Japan a list of more than 200 suggestions aimed at eliminating structural barriers it said prevent foreign firms from entering Japanese markets.

The U.S. list included a proposal to increase public works spending from 6.8 percent to 10 percent of Japan's gross national product.

Toshiki Kaifu told an upper house Budget Committee session today he believed the United States was "making an effort to reduce excessive consumption, promote exports of manufactured products to Japan, change short-term management styles to a long-term outlook, and improve U.S. education."

Soviet army occupies buildings

VILNIUS, U.S.S.R. (AP) —

Soviet military officers today said tensions had eased after their talks about the army's occupation of three Communist Party buildings.

The move Sunday, which the army said was at the request of local Communist officials, was Moscow's latest action in a war of nerves with the Baltic republic that declared independence two weeks ago.

In Moscow, Soviet President Mikhail S. Gorbachev reiterated that he has no plans to use force to bring Lithuania back into the Soviet fold, said Edward M. Kennedy, who met with Gorbachev for 1 1/2 hours.

"President Gorbachev indicated to me that the position of the Soviet Union was that there would be no use of force unless the lives of others were threatened, and that he was committed to a peaceful resolution," Kennedy told reporters.

Kennedy said Gorbachev did not specify whose lives might be threatened in Lithuania, or whether he thought such threats imminent.

Opposition candidates win elections

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) — In Hungary's first free parliamentary elections in more than 40 years, voters overwhelmingly chose opposition candidates over the Communist reformers who ended one-party rule, partial results indicated today.

It appeared likely that a coalition of opposition parties, who say they will not permit members of the long-ruling party in the new government, would be running the former Soviet client state.

Rezso Nyers, the Socialist chairman, said he had no illusions about his party's future: "We will be an opposition party."

"This, to use a religious term, will be penance for the party," he said. "We will come through it and we will be strong."

Fifteen killed in factional fighting

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Insurgents attacked a government building and a power station with grenades and mines, and up to 15 people were killed in black factional fighting, according to police and press reports today.

Police used shotguns and tear gas today to disperse about 2,000 protesters who stoned the police station in Sharpeville outside Johannesburg after police blocked a trade union march, witnesses said. No injuries were reported.

Police said suspected African National Congress guerrillas fired two rocket propelled grenades Sunday night at town council offices in the black township of Soweto outside Johannesburg. The two Soviet-made RPG-7 grenades caused some damage, but police said there were no injuries.

Lethal Weapon III deadly blow for Golden Gophers

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Three against five worked for Georgia Tech.

Regarded as a three-man team in a five-man game, Tech got all but four of its points Sunday from the trio billed as "Lethal Weapon III," earning Tech's first berth in the Final Four.

Dennis Scott scored 40 points in the 93-91 victory over Minnesota, while Kenny Anderson had 30 and Brian Oliver 19.

Karl Brown shot three times and made one, and Johnny McNeil hit his only shot. Nobody else even attempted a field goal for Tech.

"Believe it or not, it's not that unusual to see this stat. I'll bet you that in the 34 games we've played, we've had this seven times," Coach Bobby Cremins said.

"I didn't distribute the ball around very well," said Anderson, the freshman point guard who directs the Tech attack.

"Kenny usually finds Malcolm Mackey and Johnny McNeil, but he said that for some reason, this time he couldn't find them," Cremins said.

It wasn't important, Scott hit 12 of 22 attempts, including seven of 12 from 3-point range. Anderson hit 10 of 15, and Oliver five of 15.

Georgia Tech (28-6) meets Nevada-Las Vegas (33-5) Saturday in Denver. Duke (28-8), also of the Atlantic Coast Conference, meets Arkansas (30-4) in the opening semifinal game on Saturday.

Minnesota finished its season 23-9 after the defeat in the championship game of the NCAA Southeast Regional.

NEW ORLEANS — Georgia Tech's Kenny Anderson (12) goes high in the air to shoot as Minnesota's Richard Coffey (33) attempts to block the shot Sunday in the Southeastern final.

Scott said he felt vindicated by the victory. "At the beginning of the year, people didn't expect us to do this

OAKLAND (AP) — It was supposed to be Bo Kimble's show, but somebody forgot to tell Stacey Augmon he should stick to defense and leave the shooting pyrotechnics to the nation's leading scorer.

Augmon, UNLV's defensive specialist, had 33 points on 13-for-20 shooting, 11 rebounds, six assists, two steals and a blocked shot, leading the No. 2 Rebels into the Final Four for the third time since 1977. UNLV will face No. 9 Georgia Tech in Denver on Saturday.

UNLV, beating Loyola Marymount at its own game, raced to a fast-paced 131-101 victory in Sunday's NCAA West Regional final, ending Loyola's remarkable run through the tournament despite the death from heart failure of center Hank Gathers three weeks ago.

"I think tonight was one of those nights where you can really see that we missed our power center," Loyola forward-Per Stumer said. "Tonight was Hank's night. If he had been here ... This is one of those nights where Hank was at his best. He would have taken over, being the great athlete that he was."

Kimble scored 42 points for Loyola, upping his nation-leading scoring average to 35.7. But he was held to 16 in the first half, mostly by Augmon.

Meanwhile, Augmon, who came into the game sporting a modest 13.5 scoring average, had 25 points and sparked the Rebels to a 67-47 lead at intermission.

Noise-maker bids farewell

AUSTIN (AP) — Senior guard Lance Blanks, who has played his last basketball game for Texas, is a fist-pumping, self-professed member of the "All-Noise Team" who was ridiculed in other Southwest Conference cities.

But all this Blanks acknowledged Sunday when a couple of thousand Texas fans bid farewell to the regional finalists following their loss to Arkansas.

"I want every one of you to stay behind and be my friend," Blanks said, smiling. "I get five miles outside of Austin, and I ain't got one."

Stanford women make believer of Hogs coach

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — Stanford University coach Tara VanDerveer figures all the teams will be equal going into the NCAA Final Four. Arkansas coach John Sutherland knows better.

"If they play like that, I don't see how anybody can beat them," Sutherland said after the Cardinal demolished his squad 114-87 Saturday night in the West Regional final.

"They've got the right chemistry, the inside game, the outside game, the intangibles and the desire. Put it all together and you've got one pretty tough team."

Stanford did indeed put it all together against Arkansas (25-5), completing what VanDerveer called "the biggest week of my basketball life." There was even a little extra thrown in. The opponent in next Friday night's semifinal in Knoxville, Tenn., will be East Regional champion Virginia and not the host school, Tennessee. Virginia upset the Volunteers 79-75 in overtime Saturday.

"It means the Final Four will be played on a neutral court," said VanDerveer. "Now everyone's equal coming in."

The second-ranked Cardinal (30-1) advanced to the Final Four for the first time, joining Virginia, Louisiana Tech and Auburn.

Stanford's only moment of doubt was perhaps when Arkansas, ranked 22, held a 2-0 lead two minutes into the game. The remaining 38 minutes was total domination by

NIT Final Four action tonight

NEW YORK (AP) — As a young man, Eddie Fogler drove a cab for two summers in New York, and that makes him just about the toughest coach left in the postseason National Invitation Tournament.

"Tough? I'm lucky to be alive after driving a cab in New York," Fogler said.

Fogler returned to New York to lead Vanderbilt (19-14) against Penn State

"If you have a two-game winning streak, you get to take home a trophy. That's what it comes down to here," — UNM coach Dave Bliss.

(24-8) in the semifinals of the postseason NIT tonight. St. Louis (20-11) plays New Mexico (20-12) in the other semifinal, with the championship game scheduled for Wednesday night at Madison Square Garden.

Actually, Fogler has been back many times, once as a player with North Carolina in 1970.

"I used to live at the old Garden," Fogler said. "I've seen many NIT's and watched St. John's, NYU and a lot of other great teams. When Manhattan beat North Carolina in the NIT, I was a senior co-captain. And, as an assistant coach at North Carolina, I've been in two or three NIT's."

Fogler is in his first season as coach at Vanderbilt, which has won six of its last seven games. Featuring a motion offense and multiple defenses, the Commodores are led by senior point guard Derrick Wilson, the school's all-time assists leader, and freshman center Eric Reid.

"Penn State is a very tough-nosed, intelligent, aggressive team," Fogler said Sunday at a news conference with all four coaches. "It should be a close ballgame."

The Nittany Lions, with Bruce Parkhill in his seventh season as coach, are led by senior center Ed Fogell. Penn State, which is destined for the Big Ten, rebounded from a 7-4 record by winning nine of its next 10 games.

"Someone asked me who would be the favorite here," Parkhill said, "and I honestly think that when you've been through the wars like these four teams, any team here is capable of winning two in a row."

These fans really love their basketball

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — What's Hoosier Hysteria?

Look no farther than the Hoosier Dome, where Indiana's love affair with basketball was never more evident, thanks to Damon Bailey and a national high school record crowd of 41,046 Saturday night.

"The attendance is truly remarkable," said Sen. Richard G. Lugar, who was in the crowd as Bailey and Bedford North Lawrence won their first state championship, 63-60 over top-ranked and previously unbeaten Concord.

"The theory was that if we had more seats, we could fill up any arena. This was a good test of that. It indicates that rumor was always true," said Lugar, who is from Indianapolis and has attended 24 of the past 27 state tourney finals.

The move to the Hoosier Dome from the smaller Market Square Arena prompted fears, at first, that a string of 61 consecutive years before capacity crowds might come to a halt. But with the attraction of Bailey, Indiana's career scoring leader, the Naismith national player of the year and a look next month for Indiana Mr. Basketball, there was no cause for alarm. The attendance record included 431 sportswriters and broadcasters from state and national media.

The former record for a high school boys basketball championship was 24,764, set at the University of Kentucky's Rupp Arena in 1987.

"When we decided to move it here, we were thinking mid-30s. We're extremely pleased," said Gene Cato, commissioner of the Indiana High School Athletic Association.

Indiana's Final Four was played at Market Square Arena (17,490 capacity) from 1975-89, Indiana University's Assembly Hall (17,500) from 1972-74 and Butler University's Hinkle Fieldhouse (15,000) from 1928-71.

Cato said the move to the Hoosier Dome was prompted by the ever-growing demand for tickets. Also, last week's NCAA Midwest Regional was held at the Dome, using the same configuration as the boys' tournament, which allowed the NCAA and IHSAA to share the cost.

"Our attendance has certainly outdrawn the NCAA last week," Cato said.

The largest crowd announced for the NCAA first round was 39,940. The larger arena allowed a first-ever public sale of 15,000 tickets. Previously, tickets were available only to IHSAA schools.

The fans got two helpings of hoops as they watched the afternoon semifinals and returned for the evening championship pitting top-ranked Concord against fifth-ranked Bedford. Bailey had 30 points in the final game, including all 11 of Bedford's points in the final 2½ minutes as the Stars rallied to the victory.

The Hoosier Dome site is experimental, Cato said. A ballot in the tournament program asked fans to vote for either the Hoosier Dome or Market Square Arena as the site of next year's finals.

It was appropriate a record crowd watched as Bailey played out the final chapter of his fabulous prep career. He broke the state scoring record two weeks ago and finished his career with 3,134 points.

Names in the news

NEW YORK (AP) — Billionaire Donald Trump has dumped Maria Maples, the alleged other woman in his breakup with Ivana Trump, newspapers reported Thursday. Trump told Ms. Maples in a brief phone call Monday that it was over, according to the New York Post. The paper said it got the information from "a reliable source."

MARIA MAPLES DONALD TRUMP saying to friends. Trump also changed his private number so Ms. Maples, an actress and model, can no longer call him at home, the Post said. Trump's spokesman would not comment on the matter. A spokesman for Ms. Maples said there has been no change in the relationship, which he said was never more than a friendship.

"He has not cut off communication," said spokesman Chuck Jones. "Some people are going to have egg on their face if they say that."

LOS ANGELES (AP) — NBC entertainment chief Brandon Tartikoff says money is the main dispute in final negotiations for renewing "The Cosby Show," with producers reportedly asking for a $100 million signing bonus. Marcy Carsey and Tom Werner have spent the past eight weeks in negotiations with Tartikoff.

Prom time is just around the corner

By ERIN BLAIR
Staff Writer

Are you thinking about the prom yet? It's only weeks away and the stores are already showing gowns running the gamut from sweet little girl to vamp of the century. And, buyer beware, the media's jumped on the bandwagon too.

Enter "Your Prom," brought to you by those enterprising souls at "Modern Bride." I guess they want to catch that lucrative young woman's market as soon as they can. The slick publication tells you everything you never wanted to know about The Prom, an event second only to (surprise, surprise) The Wedding in importance.

The mag tells you how to create pouty lips, hire a limo, slim down sensibly, pick a dress and decide how far to go, sex-wise. Guys are pretty much ignored in the glossy pages, serving mainly as Ken dolls to the Barbies in the ads. Advice for them is limited to "plan a budget: start saving."

I guess "Your Prom" is no more harmful than "Modern Bride" and as a media person, I would be the last to scream for censorship, nevertheless, flipping through the magazine really depressed me.

As one who lived through her senior prom, stylish in a blue Southern belle gown so wide I couldn't enter a bathroom stall unassisted, I must testify that the earth didn't stop on its axis when the band played "Freebird." In fact, the prom proper was sort of a letdown after all the plotting and preparation and getting the satin pumps dyed the exact same color as the dress. I suspect weddings are much the same way. Life has a bad habit of going on the day after the parade.

Space camp

Big Springer Gary Miears and two other 13-year olds attending the Texas School for the Deaf in Austin want to go to the Huntsville, Ala. Space Camp April 29 through May 4. It's a once-in-a-lifetime chance for the boys, but they need someone to sponsor their travel expenses and the Space Camp's $500-a-person fees. They need to have $250 each by the end of March to reserve their places. If you'd like to help them out or get more information on their plans, call Bonnie Miears at 267-1983.

Spelling bee

Ramnath Subbaraman will represent Howard County in the 1990 Regional Spelling Bee. He will compete against 12 county champions for the right to represent the region at the national bee in Washington, D.C. in May. The regional bee will be held April 7 at 1:30 p.m. in the Monterey High School Auditorium, 3211 47th St., Lubbock.

Award winners

Kendall Davis, a Goliad Middle School student, has been named a United States National Award winner in history and government by the United States Achievement Academy. His biography will appear in the academy's yearbook. Davis is the son of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Davis of Big Spring. Lance Hall, a junior at Stanton High School, has been named a

College roundup

Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene will hold its annual HSU Roundup for high school students this weekend. The event begins at 6 p.m. on Friday with registration and entertainment by the HSU Cowboy Band. On Saturday students can attend mock classes, tour the HSU campus and talk with financial aid and admissions administrators. Students will stay with college students in the dorms during the weekend.

Summer research

High school students with an aptitude for science can apply to the 1990 summer research program at the University of Texas Medical Branch in Galveston. The program will provide hands-on experience in scientific research for gifted students to increase their motivation to pursue careers in research or scientific teaching.

Selected students will work with a research team for eight weeks (June 11 through Aug. 3), learning skills including starting and maintaining cell cultures, extracting and purifying biochemicals, electrophoresis, chromatography, light and electron microscopy, radioimmunoassay, electrophysiology, computer data analysis and biochemical assays.

They will take part in weekly research seminars with faculty scientists and get advice on scientific projects and careers. They will also have weekly sessions on the philosophy and ethics of science and will present conclusions from their study projects in a poster session.

Applications are available at high schools or by calling (409) 761-2683. The application deadline is April 6.

Camp counselors

The Muscular Dystrophy Association is looking for a few good folk ages 16 or older to help out with the MDA summer camp program. Volunteers willing to spend June 2 through 7 at the camp at Ceta Canyon, by Happy, are needed as companions to children and teenagers with muscular dystrophy. In exchange for the community service, they can enjoy the camp for free. For information or an application, call the MDA at 336-7588.

Hosts needed

The American Intercultural Student Exchange program is looking for host families for Australian, Scandinavian, European, South American and Japanese high school exchange students who want to spend a year in America. For more information, call 1-800-SIBLING.

Houston stock show winners

Students demonstrate the magic of chemistry

LAKE JACKSON (AP) — Amanda Young, 14, held the thin magnesium strip and struck a match, igniting the fire of learning and sparking an interest in chemistry in Carolyn Beaman's eighth-grade physical science class at Lake Jackson Intermediate School.

The stunt was part of "Chemical Shenanigans," a chemical magic show Ms. Beaman's SEARCH science students staged at the close of their semester of chemistry studies.

The show last week was a practical application of what students had learned so far, but also was created to impress the school's seventh-grade students, who will take physical science next year.

The magicians, sporting goggles and black lab aprons that tickled the tongues of their high-top Nikes, designed their own experiments with little help from the teacher, said Ms. Beaman.

"They got their own ideas, and I directed them toward the chemistry," she explained before the show.

The 20 students involved in Ms. Beaman's second-period show worked in pairs and announced their chemistry acts with title cards such as "Black Snake," "Magic Star" and "White Smoke." Amid giggles and hasty instructions, the students turned ordinary substances colorful or murky, depending on the chemicals used.

A measure of sulfuric acid, for example, poured into a beaker of refined sugar became the black snake. And a match used to light the tip of a magnesium strip became a magic star. The audience of interested seventh-graders voiced their approval with exclamations of "gross," "neat" or "uh-oh" when an experiment went astray.

The students performed on top of a make-shift stage of lab tables against the backdrop of the Periodic Table of the Atoms. "Well, I want to be a doctor, so I guess I'll have to take some more chemistry," said David Kent, 13. His experiment, "The Purple Monster," was a crowd-pleaser, as was the green slime that Ms. Beaman's first class made and thoughtfully left behind for other students to fondle.

Ms. Beaman's physical science students who performed, mostly 13- and 14-year-olds, are participants in the Brazosport Independent School District's SEARCH program Seeking Excellence through Ability Responsibility Creativity and Honor which provides a challenging curriculum for gifted and talented youngsters. Ms. Beaman's students take one semester of chemistry and progress to biology, she said. Students who complete the course receive one high school science credit.

The show wasn't all fun and games. Ms. Beaman reminded her class that each student who participated must write the chemical equation for the reactions he or she performed. And there's the quiz.

The eyes have it

equipment to test the eyesight of secondary school students. The devices are for diagnostic purposes, aiding doctors in identifying young patients with eye-related problems.

Coahoma BPA students advance to nationals

COAHOMA — Eight students from Coahoma High School participated in the State Business Professionals of America contests held recently in San Antonio. They received four first place awards, one second place, a fourth place and a seventh place, said office administration instructor Marie Ethridge.

Tessa Henry placed first in information processing. Tracy Dorton placed first in financial specialist. Stacy Rash placed first in legal applications. Tara Robertson placed first in banking applications. Shawnte Bryant placed second in prepared verbal communication.

The first and second place winners will advance to the national competition in Minneapolis, Minn. in April.

Other students participating at state level were Brandy Taylor in prepared verbal communications II. She made the finals and placed fourth. Leah Mathison made the finals in verbal extemporaneous communications and placed seventh. Stephanie Mauch participated in employment skills A.

Ethridge, Henry, Dorton, Rash, Robertson and Bryant will attend the 1990 National Leadership Conference of Business Professionals of America in Minneapolis April 27-May 1.

IT'S MAPLE SYRUP TIME

After seemingly endless months of bone-chilling weather, the Sugar Maple Tree, indigenous to Northeastern United States and Southeastern Canada, at last buds and is ready to release its watery sweet sap. It is this promise of spring which celebrates the Pure Maple Syrup season. It is at this time and at no other time of year, between late February and early April, that the sap can be harvested from the "sugarbush" (the maple grove) and transformed into pure maple syrup. The sap thaws and begins to flow when the weather is just right, when warm sunny days begin to follow cool frosty nights. Maple syrup workers trudge through the snow or slushy ice to carry out the age-old tradition.

Pure Maple Syrup can be purchased all year round; Cary's®, MacDonald's and Vermont Maple Orchards are popular brands to look for in the supermarket. Enjoy the rich taste of Pure Maple Syrup over pancakes, waffles, French toast, biscuits and cornbread. Or, stir into hot oat bran, oatmeal or unsweetened dry cereal; delicious as a topping for ice cream, pound cake, bread pudding or custard. Drizzle over baked beans, cooked carrots or acorn squash. And, of course, try these tempting recipes.

DID YOU KNOW THAT...

- Maple Syrup is the 100% pure sweet syrup derived predominantly from the Sugar Maple Tree.
- The distinctive amber color and maple flavor develop only when the sap is evaporated and boiled down.
- An unopened bottle of Pure Maple Syrup will keep indefinitely when stored in a cool dry place. Refrigerate after opening.
- There is only one ingredient on the label-100% Pure All Natural Maple Syrup. No preservatives. No colorings.
- It takes approximately 40 gallons of barely sweet sap to produce 1 gallon of golden rich maple syrup.
- Most pancake or table syrups are flavored syrup products with no pure maple syrup at all. They are blends of sugars, corn syrups, flavorings, caramel coloring and preservatives.

CHICKEN VERMONT

(Makes 4 servings)

- 2 medium all-purpose apples, unpeeled, cored and sliced into rings
- 3 tablespoons bottled lemon juice
- 1/4 cup unsifted flour
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 4 skinned boneless chicken breast halves
- 3 tablespoons margarine or butter
- 1/4 cup pure maple syrup
- 2 teaspoons chicken-flavor instant bouillon
- 1 cup (1/2 pint) whipping cream, at room temperature

In medium bowl, combine apples and bottled lemon juice. In plastic bag, combine flour and pepper. Add chicken, a piece at a time; shake to coat. In large skillet, brown chicken on both sides in margarine; remove from skillet. Stir in apple mixture, pure maple syrup and bouillon, scraping bottom of skillet. Return chicken to skillet; simmer covered 10 minutes. Slowly stir in cream; simmer uncovered 10 minutes longer or until chicken is tender. Serve with hot cooked rice if desired. Refrigerate leftovers.

TWICE-BAKED SWEET POTATOES

(Makes 4 servings)

- 4 medium sweet potatoes or yams (about 2 pounds)
- 1/4 cup pure maple syrup
- 1 tablespoon margarine or butter
- 1/4 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- Dash nutmeg
- 1/4 cup chopped pecans or dates, optional

Preheat oven to 375°. Bake potatoes 1 hour or until tender. Remove from oven; let stand 10 to 15 minutes. Cut a lengthwise slice from the top of each potato; discard skin from slice. Scoop out inside of potatoes; reserve shells. In mixer bowl, combine cooked potato, pure maple syrup, margarine, cinnamon, salt and nutmeg; beat until fluffy. Stir in nuts if desired. Spoon mixture into potato shells. Bake in preheated 375° oven 15 to 20 minutes or until hot.

Tip: Potato shells can be filled; covered and refrigerated. Bake in preheated 375° oven 25 minutes or until hot.

STUFFED PORK TENDERLOIN

(Makes 6 to 8 servings)

- 1/4 cup finely chopped celery
- 1/4 cup chopped pecans
- 1/4 teaspoon thyme leaves
- 1/4 cup margarine or butter
- 1-1/2 cups fresh bread crumbs (3 slices)
- 1/4 cup chopped dried apricots
- 1/4 cup pure maple syrup
- 2 pork tenderloins (about 3/4 pound each)

Preheat oven to 375°. In medium skillet, cook celery, pecans and thyme in margarine until celery is tender. Remove from heat. Add crumbs, apricots and 2 tablespoons pure maple syrup; mix well. Place tenderloins on 15x10-inch jellyroll pan. Partially slit tenderloins lengthwise, being careful not to cut all the way through. Open and spread slits; fill with stuffing mixture. Bake 30 minutes, brushing meat frequently with remaining 2 tablespoons pure maple syrup. Loosely cover meat with aluminum foil; bake 10 minutes longer or until meat thermometer reaches 160°. Refrigerate leftovers.

BANANA MAPLE MUFFINS

(Makes about 1 dozen)

- 1-1/4 cups unsifted flour
- 1 cup oat bran
- 1/2 cup firmly packed light brown sugar
- 1-1/4 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon baking soda
- 1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup chopped nuts, optional
- 1 cup mashed ripe bananas (2 large)
- 1/2 cup plus 1 tablespoon pure maple syrup
- 3 tablespoons vegetable oil
- 1 egg, beaten

Preheat oven to 400°. In medium bowl, combine flour, oat bran, sugar, baking powder, soda, cinnamon and salt; stir in nuts if desired. In medium bowl, combine bananas, 1/2 cup pure maple syrup, oil and egg; add to flour mixture. Stir only until moistened. Fill paper cup-lined or greased muffin cups 3/4 full. Bake 20 minutes or until golden brown. Remove from pan. Brush warm muffins with remaining 1 tablespoon pure maple syrup.

MAPLE PEAR CRISP

(Makes 8 servings)

- 6 cups cored, pared and sliced pears (about 2-1/2 pounds)
- 1/2 cup pure maple syrup
- 1/4 cup margarine or butter, melted
- 1 cup quick-cooking oats
- 1/2 cup unsifted flour
- 1/4 cup firmly packed light brown sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 6 tablespoons cold margarine or butter

Preheat oven to 375°. In medium bowl, combine pears, pure maple syrup and 1/4 cup melted margarine. Turn into 8- or 9-inch square baking pan. In medium bowl, combine oats, flour, sugar and cinnamon; cut in 6 tablespoons cold margarine until crumbly. Sprinkle evenly over pear mixture. Bake 35 to 40 minutes or until bubbly. Serve warm with ice cream and pure maple syrup if desired.

PECAN STICKY BUNS

(Makes 16 rolls)

- 1/2 cup pure maple syrup
- 1/4 cup margarine or butter
- 1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1/3 cup chopped pecans
- 2 (8-ounce) packages refrigerated crescent rolls

Preheat oven to 350°. In small saucepan, combine pure maple syrup, margarine and cinnamon. Bring to a boil; boil 2 minutes. Pour into 9-inch round or square pan. Sprinkle with nuts. Open crescent roll packages; do not unroll dough. Cut each section crosswise into 4 pieces; place cut-side down in prepared pan. Bake 25 minutes or until golden brown. Let stand 5 minutes; invert onto serving plate. Serve warm.

MAPLE NUT SUNDAE SAUCE

(Makes about 3 cups)

- 1/4 cup firmly packed light brown sugar
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- 1 cup pure maple syrup
- 2 cups (1 pint) whipping cream
- 3/4 cup chopped pecans, toasted
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract

In large saucepan, combine sugar and cornstarch; stir in pure maple syrup. Bring to a boil; whisk constantly and stir until slightly thickened and clear. Add whipping cream; bring to a boil. Reduce heat; simmer until thick, about 10 minutes. Remove from heat; stir in pecans and vanilla. Serve with ice cream or pound cake. Refrigerate sauce.

Bread making can be easy with proper equipment

As America enters the '90s, the return to home cooking has become much more than a trend. Healthful diets and family "reconnection" have brought back the custom of eating at home. It is down-home cooking with a twist...homemade foods must be quick and easy to make.

Home cooking returns

The return to home cooking highlights more homemade desserts and homemade breads. Bread making has become more simplified than in the past, because of new products on the market developed just for that purpose.

Yeast manufacturers have developed quick-rising yeast that cuts dough rising time in half. Appliance manufacturers have introduced machines with dough hooks to make kneading dough a breeze.

One appliance manufacturer, Oster, has combined a heavy duty dough-maker with a mixer, a blender and a slicer/shredder/saladmaker to make a handy, all-in-one appliance. The "Kitchen Center" appliance is a great space saver...one powerful motor base running many appliances.

For a booklet featuring many easy-to-make homemade bread recipes tested by Oster's professional home economists, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to: Oster Bread Making Recipes, 5055 N. Lydell Ave., Milwaukee, WI 53217.

The booklet highlights proper bread making hints and tips, and features basic bread recipes as well as specialty breads like Pecan Caramel Rolls and Spaghetti French Bread. Whether you're a novice bread baker or an experienced one, write for this free booklet today.

The Best of Big Spring

Pat Nichols, center, receives a plaque to recognize her as a Best of Big Spring recipient from Cliff Attaway, left, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Business Committee. Nan Howard, manager of Days Inn, displays the traveling plaque.

The Business Committee is proud to announce that Pat Nichols of the Days Inn is the second recipient of the "Best of Big Spring Award."

Pat was recommended for her excellent service in the restaurant division. She always has a pleasant smile, a positive attitude and a great memory for names.

Pat will receive a plaque and an award package contributed by local merchants, along with the traveling plaque for one month. She is married to Wayne Nichols and has five children.

The Business Committee will continue to accept nominations at the Chamber of Commerce office from anyone that feels they have found that "special" employee.

Congratulations, Pat!
