Planning, teamwork top election issues

By RUTH COCHRAN

City Editor

BIG SPRING — Challenger Corky Harris emphasized planning as the key to city government, while incumbent City Councilman D.D. Johnston maintained that teamwork is important.

The two discussed their views during a candidate forum sponsored by Leadership Big Spring Alumni. The forum, held Thursday night, was part of the group's series of town meetings to discuss local issues.

City Councilwoman Pat DeAnda, who is running unopposed for the District 1 seat, did not attend the forum. DeAnda, a teacher at College Heights Elementary, was already committed to attend a PTA meeting.

Harris, who is challenging Johnston for the District 3 seat, told the crowd of about 50 that the city needs to plan two years beyond its annual budget.

"The things that are pertinent to the city of Big Spring are in the areas of planning," the Fina engineer said. "By cutting expenditures this year, we'll affect things that happen down the road.'

Harris, who is a Big Spring High School graduate, said those effects will have to be calculated then planned for during budgeting. He said city government can be challenged for greater efficiency.

"When people are challenged they respond," he said. "When set

Both candidates said they support propositions 1 and 2, each of which will increase the city sales tax 1/2 percent. The Proposition 1 increase would fund a reduction in property taxes, while the Proposition 2 increase would fund an industrial development corporation.

Harris said both propositions are "necessary for Big Spring," with the industrial development corporation being especially vital.

Texans struggle against floods

By DAVE PEGO Associated Press Writer

DALLAS — Forecasters are predicting sunny skies for much of Texas for the next few days, bringing some measure of relief to victims of the worst flooding in North Texas in more than half a century.

But forecasters warned people not to become complacent by the sunshine as floodwaters that damaged hundreds of homes and killed at least three people this week peak and begin to recede slowly.

There is still water moving out there, and moving water is dangerous," said Alton Bostick, emergency management coordinator for Fort Worth and Tarrant County. "People should not drive into it. They don't know the depth and if there are no barricades around, they should be very cautious.

The Trinity River, which flows through Fort Worth and Dallas, crested Thursday night at Dallas at 47 feet, 17 feet above flood level. It was the deepest level since 1949.

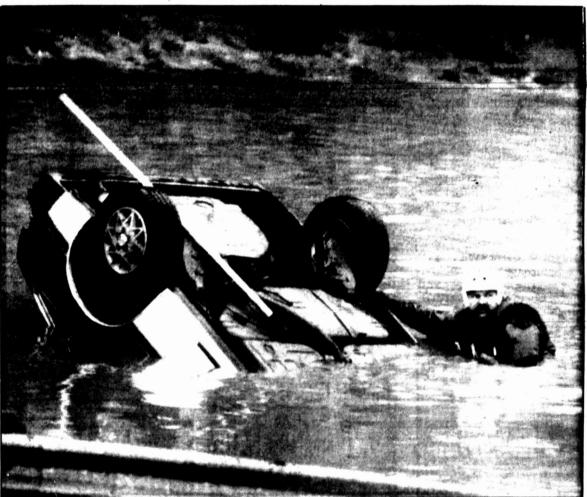

North Texas has had 22.06 inches of rainfall in the first four months of 1990. Some areas received as much as 7 inches of rain Wednesday night and early Thursday.

About 200 homes were damaged in a south Dallas neighborhood and emergency officials said it could be several days before waters recede enough to tet people return home.

Vice President Dan Quayle, who toured the flooded area south of Dallas Thursday, said that if Gov. Bill Clements applies for federal aid for other areas he will find "a very cooperative president." Officials in Dallas and Tarrant counties planned to begin the application process as early as President Bush signed a disaster declaration Thursday for four counties hard-hit in flooding last week.

They are now offering a reward of $5,000 for information leading to the arrest and grand jury indictment of the person or people responsible for the fatal stabbings, discovered 15 days ago.

Weather ideal for tick bites

By DEBBIE LINCECUM Staff Writer

CROSSROADS COUNTRY -Weather conditions have made this year ideal for the tick population, whose bite can be dangerous to people and pets, according to a local bug expert.

Victor Lucero, entomologist for Martin, Howard and Midland counties, said area residents can start preparing for a major battle with the blood-sucking pests this year. An abundance of rain has created the perfect breeding ground. When ticks bite humans and animals for the blood they need to live, arfemia, virus and disease are often the result, Lucero said. Anemia, a deficiency of oxygen in the blood, can occur when a large number of ticks bite at the same time, he said. A dermatosis, or skin disease, often begins as swelling near the bite.

Soviets tour Texas businesses

AUSTIN (AP) - A group of Soviet business leaders is making a two-day tour of Austin in search of local companies interested in cashing in on the Cold War's thaw

The delegation, which has spent the past two weeks in San Antonio and the Hill Country. met Wednesday with several Austin firms and planned to tour Motorola Inc., CompuAdd Corp. and Natural Gas Resources Inc.

Ravil Burkaev, a member of the delegation and president of the Soviet cooperative INCONT, said the team was touring Texas in an effort to drum up interest in joint Soviet-American business deals.

Texas leads in hospital closings

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fifty of the 88 hospitals that closed in 1988 were in rural communities, and 29 of them were in Texas, the government said Thursday.

Texas had the most closings, the Department of Health and Human Services said. Alabama was second, with seven. California, Illinois, Louisiana, Missouri and West Virginia had five each. The report, by the department's inspector general, said that the reasons hospitals gave for closing were the same as in 1987, when 69 facilities closed.

Those reasons included loss of revenue due to declining admissions; reduced insurance and government reimbursement rates; more uncompensated care for the indigent and the uninsured; and rising costs due to demands for new technology, more skilled personnel, repairs and renovation.

Across the board, hospitals that shut their doors were significantly smaller and had lower occupancy rates than the national average, said Inspector General Richard P. Kusserow.

Quayle tours flooded areas

DALLAS (AP) — Vice President Dan Quayle offered his assistance to flood victims during an impromptuinspection of a flooded neighborhood during a whistle-stop tour of Texas on behalf of GOP candidates.

"It's scary any time that the floods hit." Quayle said Thurs-day, noting that last year his parents' home was flooded in Roanoke, Ind.

'It took them months to clean up," he said, calling the incident "a very sad predicament:"

"That's why I wanted to stop by to at least offer my assistance.'

Quayle announced earlier in Dallas that President Bush has signed a federal disaster relief measure for four Texas counties battered by violent storms last week: Brown, Comanche, Erath and Parker

Quayle told reporters as the toured the flooded area that if Gov. Bill Clements applies for federal aid for other areas he will find "a very cooperative president.

Quayle stumped earlier for Texas GOP gubernatorial nominee Clayton Williams and other Republican office-seekers at a downtown hotel.

The Midland oilmanrancher's election "a key priority for President Bush," he said.

"The White House will be involved energetically," Quayle said, promising return campaign appearances. "Texas is very important to the president.'

Pevote returned to church members

FALFURRIAS, Texas (AP) Border Patrol agents stopped several men with 300 pounds of peyote Thursday, but a federal official determined the hallucinogenic mushrooms were for Native American rituals and released them.

"It happens a couple of times a year, or maybe once every other year. We find this peyote in the possession of someone who says they are a member of the Native American Church," said Robert Berg, an assistant U.S. attorney in Corpus Christi.

TYLER (AP) - Smith County had not violated Garner's civil rights. While the civil rights case was pending, the men were indicted in Smith County, where Garner died, on murder charges.

Defense attorneys tried to stop the murder trial, contending that trying the men on the murder charge would constitute double jeopardy, that is, being tried twice for the same crime. A federal judge last month ordered the murder trial to proceed in state court. Defense attorneys promised an appeal. 'The first...appeal is that it's double jeopardy. They tried them exactly twice for exactly the same

BILLY RAY HORTON crime," John Seale, Ladner's attorney, said after the verdict. "You don't have to be a judge or anything else to know that, you learn that in junior high school social studies.

Former U.S. Attorney John Hannah, who was special prosecutor in the civil rights trial in Hemphill, said Thursday night he was not surprised by the verdict.

"I thought with a fair judge and an impartial jury and a competent prosecutor that it was a foregone conclusion," he said. "I think that finally justice was done. It was obvious to me that something terrible happened in that cell that night which amounted to a crime.

The officers said they struck Garner in self-defense when he became unruly at the jail. Prosecutors contended that Garner was viciously beaten after he banged on the bars of the detoxification cell and demanded to make a phone call.

Feminists protest speaker choice

WELLESLEY, Mass. (AP) — Barbara Bush's selection as Wellesley College's commencement speaker has divided the campus and alumnae, some of whom question why the college picked a woman known for her husband's achievements.

The feminist controversy at the private, all-women's college drew comment Thursday from President Bush, who told reporters his wife's work as a mother and as an advocate of literacy could teach students a lot.

Several graduates of Wellesley agreed, but others said she was not the best choice for speaker at the June 1 commencement on the tranquil campus nestled in a corner of this posh Boston suburb.

During a 31/2-hour meeting Thursday in Montreal about 30 U.S. and Canadian officials discussed creating one Mohawk government to replace three fractious councils now governing the reserve stradling the U.S.-Canadian border.

"This meeting today was designed to work out all the options to stop the fighting," said Harry Swain, Canada's deputy minister of Indian affairs. "Everything that was said occurred with the knowledge and blessing of the Mohawk people on the reserve, and we will take our findings back to them immediately."

'That's the problem, the people are not consulted about decisions made for their benefit," said Francis Boots, a spokesman for the Warrior Society.

Kent students dedicate memorial

KENT. Ohio (AP) — Kent State University students, many of whom weren't born when the National Guard opened fire during an anti-war protest, marched by the hundreds before the dedication of a memorial to four students killed 20 years ago

Former U.S. Sen. George McGovern, the peace candidate who ran unsuccessfully for president two years after the shootings, was the scheduled keynote speaker at today's dedication ceremony.

The $100,000 granite memorial is the most ambitious attempt by the university to commemorate the dead and wounded. Until now, the shootings were marked only by a gravestone-size slab erected in 1971 in a corner of a parking lot where the tragedy occurred.

Some viewed the shootings as an unprovoked act of state violence; others said unpatriotic protesters had finally gotten what was coming to them, although many of the victims were bystanders rather than activists.

Relatives commit most kidnappings of children

WASHINGTON (AP) About 359,000 children werg kidnapped in 1988, and the overwhelming majority were abducted by family members, not by strangers, a new

'The size of the family abduction problem really did surprise us," said David Finkelhor of the University of New Hampshire, one of the researchers who produced the study for the Justice Department. "We had expected 25,000 to 100,000. That was the going estimate.

The researchers estimated that in 1988, 354,100 children were abducted by relatives. As many as 4,600 children were kidnapped by strangers -1.4 percent of the total number of abductions — according to the study released Thursday.

However, only 200 to 300 of those cases conformed with a common public perception of how kidnappings occur — a forcible abduction by a stranger who keeps the child for a long period of time and possibly kills the victim.

Such cases include the highly publicized disappearance of 5-year-old Melissa Brannen from a Christmas party in Virginia and the kidnapping by a masked gunman of 11-year-old Jacob Wetterl-

EAST BERLIN (AP) — West July 2. Germany should not give its currency to relatively rich East Germans without investigating whether their wealth came from crooked dealings by the old Communist regime, a West German politician said today.

Otto Graf Lambsdorff said higher bank accounts should be investigated before the East German marks are "automatically exchanged" for West German marks as part of an economic merger that is to go into effect on currency.

Lambsdorff, leader of the Free Democrat Party that is the junior governing partner in the government of West German Chancellor Helmut Kohl, made his comments to reporters in West Berlin.

Members of the feared secret police and officials of the former regime of ousted hard-line Communist leader Erich Honecker are believed to have large holdings in East German

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The church doesn't like it but never mind, street vendors are everywhere in the capital hawking T-shirts and medallions, comic books and posters for the upcoming visit of Pope John Paul II. He arrives Sunday for an eight-day visit. The Roman Catholic Church had asked that Mexicans not commercialize the pope's second visit to this country, but the papal image is showing up on key rings and beachwear anyway.

On Mexico City's Reforma, one of two main streets bisecting the capital, a T-shirt vendor displays an item welcoming the pope between two others proclaiming in large type, "I Got Drunk in Mexico.

"Nearly a million street vendors and a similar number of establishments and commercial centers have transformed in recent weeks faith into fanaticism,' said the government newspaper El Nacional.

The pope trade also is brisk in the provinces he will visit.

Frankly unacceptable

In another shameless display of incumbent abuse of franking privileges, members of the House of Repesentatives are bombarding their constituents with hundreds of millions of pieces of political propaganda — all at taxpayer expense.

Lawmakers are writing home on such a scale that the House Administration Committee has just authorized purchase of a large diesel truck. The $48,000 vehicle is needed to shuttle the huge volume of franked mail between the House mail room and a rented warehouse.

Last fall, Sen. Pete Wilson, R-Calif., attempted to prohibit unsolicited mass mailings, which typically are sent to every postal patron in a state or congressional district. In an amendment to a $1.9 billion appropriations bill, Wilson called for $58.2 million of the amount earmarked for free mailings to be shifted to a program to help drugaddicted babies, leaving only $10.2 million for mail

But when Congress and the Bush administration put together an anti-drug plan, the Wilson amendment was rejected and members managed to preserve their costly perquisite of incumbency. As a cynical nod in the direction of reform-minded voters, however, lawmakers voted to limit the number of mass mailings from six to three a year for each member of Congress. A limit of two pages also was placed on newsletters.

The Postal Service now estimates that the House will spend at least $79 million on constituent mailings this year, overspending its allowance by about $35 million. This extra cost must be absorbed by the post office until Congress provides reimbursement.

By contrast, senators have shown some restraint. Postal officials estimate the Senate's franking bill for the year will be about $18 million, or $6 million less than the amount allocated. In view of the pressing need to contain wasteful spending, the Senate has pleaded with the House to demonstrate similar restraint.

Hapless voters who receive this political junk mail can, of course, toss it in the trash can. But there's no consolation in knowing that, whether they want it or not, they will have to pay for it as long as Congress continues its abuse of the franking privilege.

It adds up to a serious public relations problem for a city where tourism is a major pillar of the local economy, second only to the federal government. The only Washington danger mentioned by one tourist bible, the American Automobile Association (AAA) Tour Book, is the city's army of parking ticket writers. Fred Carr, the appropriately named spokesman for the local AAA affiliate, said his organization sees no reason to recommend that families pick other destinations.

"I don't think the AAA would ever be in the position of discouraging people from visiting our nation's capital. It would be unAmerican," says Carr. "It's like going to any other city. It's just common sense that you stay out of parts of any city, whether it's a town of 10,000 or a city of 2 million.'

But later the AAA spokesman concedes that he lives in suburban Virginia and "doesn't go near" the city because of the crime threat. He recently refused to allow his daughter to participate in a school field trip into Washington. "I'm probably over-protective," he says.

Census misses those who need to be counted

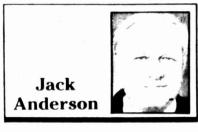

By JACK ANDERSON and DALE VAN ATTA

WASHINGTON - Entire towns were missed in the first sweep of the 1990 Census. Huge housing complexes received only one questionnaire. But long after those gaffes are forgotten, the political dogfight over the numbers will rage, because the Census is more than just a count to satisfy a statistician's curiosity. It is the tool used by Democrats and Republicans to dole out political favors and apportion power Nobody claims that the Census counts every last American. The debate behind the scenes is whether the Census Bureau should make educated guesses statistical adjustments — to get closer to the truth.

The debate is as old as the Census itself. When George Washington heard the tally from the 1790 Census, he was concerned that America didn't look as populous as he wanted England to think it was

The issue has now become so divisive that more than 50. lawsuits were filed after the 1980 Census by cities and groups claiming they had been undercounted. One group of cities, assuming the worst, sued in advance of the 1990 Census-demanding a statistical adjustment for the uncounted masses. Here are the two cold facts that make that adjustment so controversial. More than $50 billion in federal aid that goes to states and cities annually is based on population. More importantly, the undercounted are usually low-income and minority groups in the inner cities traditionally Democrats.

Not surprisingly, the Republican administration would rather not go out of its way to make sure those people get their names on the Census

Rep. Charles Schumer D-N.Y., told us that if the Bush administration doesn't make an adjustment it will be hurting the people least able to help themselves. "Urban areas and poor people will lose both representation in Congress and billions of federal dollars," he

The conscientious statisticians

at the Census Bureau ran a test in 1986 to find out how well their counting procedures worked. They found that they had missed 9 percent of the people in East Los Angeles, a poor area. The statisticians reached the logical conclusion that the 1990 numbers should be adjusted to count the uncountables

But the politicos at the Census

Bureau's parent agency, the Commerce Department, would have none of it and declared there would be no adjustment. "The whole atmosphere at the Census Bureau changed," one former top bureau official told our associate Jim Lynch. The Census workers were discouragto their professionalism It was clear that the decision was made with a strong nudge from the Republican Party. Census sources told us there were long faces at the Republican National Committee whenever a Census official was summoned to brief the party on the impact

That suits the Republicans just fine. An internal memo from the Republican Research Committee, written by Reps. William Thomas, R-Calif., and Vin Weber, R-Minn., expressed the party's paranoia: "Statistical adjustment could entail cooking the books for political purposes. If the 1990 Census is adjusted, we can expect the majority party in Congress (Democrats) to dictate conditions for adjusting future censuses.

The Republicans feel so strongly about the adjustment that they are advocating paying for more Census doorbell ringers to show the Census bureau did its best and prove there is no need for an adjustment. WHAT'S IN A NAME — The joke making the rounds in Eastern Europe is this: "What's the difference between Hungary and the United States?" The answer: "Hungary has no communists." Across the Eastern Bloc, most of the communist parties have changed their names. Now the first hint has surfaced in the Soviet Union that some top communists don't like the tag. Former Politburo member Boris Yeltsin is talking about dropping his membership and running as a candidate of the masses

Scientists discover way to cope with the night shift blues

BOSTON (AP) — Bleary-eyed workers of the night, take heart: Scientists have found a way to help you get a decent day's sleep.

A simple combination of bright light at night and total darkness during the day can help night-shift workers quickly adapt to their upside-down hours, researchers

The approach appears to be the first quick, practical cure for the night-shift blues, the on-the-job sleepiness and daytime insomnia that plague many of the nation's 7 million night workers.

The principal developer, Dr.

Charles A. Czeisler of Boston's trials in the field to determine the Brigham and Women's Hospital, said more testing needs to be done before employers start installing new lights.

But if the approach matches its early promise, it should readjust people's biological rhythms in just two nights so they stay awake when their bodies ordinarily want to

"They certainly have made a breakthrough in understanding the effect of light in humans," said Dr. Mary Carskadon of Brown Univer-"Their evidence is very powerful. There needs to be more efficacy in a broader sense, but I think that what they've done really gives us a guidepost to pursuing this research."

The technique works this way: People moving to the night shift reported to work - in this case, a hospital lab — at midnight and spent the next eight hours sitting at a desk. While they worked, a bank of lights 4 feet away shined with 16 cool-white 40-watt bulbs.

Then they drove home, pulled down blackout shades in their bedrooms and stayed in total darkness from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

After just two days, the time on their internal clocks shifted dramatically so they felt fresh and awake when they ordinarily would have been asleep.

"It's very important in critical jobs to make sure that people are alert on the night shift," said Czeisler. "We collected data on 4,000 shift workers and found that 56 percent reported nodding off at least once a week. These include people driving front-end loaders, running nuclear power plants, policemen and chemical workers." Czeisler described the results of his group's experimental use of the Scientists read the time on people's internal clocks by checking their temperatures. Ordinarily, people's temperatures hit their lowest ebb in the wee hours, and they happen to be awake.

During the studies, a comparison tinued to reach their low point dur- and produced urine.

In contrast, those who got the light-dark treatment noticed an immediate improvement in their alertness and performance.

Foundation works to save minor breeds

FREESTONE, Calif. (AP) Frazier, the four-horned Navajo-Churro ram and a flock of skinny turkeys look freaky, but Hans Peter Jorgensen is serious when he says they can help save a world being consumed by sameness

Risks of factory farming that produces cheap, easy-to-raise "clone-like animals" ultimately outweigh the benefits, said the manager of the C.S. Foundation farm. "It's a short-term gain for a long-term, serious, serious loss.'

There has been increasing interest in rare breeds. But Heidi Johnson, a University of California-Davis agricultural extension spokeswoman, chalked it up to a fad.

Others disagree.

'When plants and animals are identical genetically, they have the same strengths and weaknesses,' said a paper produced by the private, New York City-based C.S. Fund. "When one variety suffers destruction entire plant and animal populations can be irretrievably lost; uniformity engenders vulnerability.

"Between 1600 and 1900, experts estimate that one plant or animal became extinct every four years," the report said. "Today it is estimated that at least one species is disappearing each day.

'Extinction is forever; you don't get them back," Jorgensen said. 'Our position is: Don't throw the genes away, your grandchildren might need them.

The foundation quoted recent studies that show less than 5 percent of the vegetable seed varieties available in this country in 1903 are still around Jorgensen compared the situation to the Irish Potato Famine. About 750,000 people died from disease or starvation from 1845 to 1847, when the potato crop failed because of a plant blight Jorgensen said might have been avoided if the Irish had relied on more varieties.

Teacher salaries pass $30,000

WASHINGTON (AP) -Classroom teachers will earn an average of $31,304 this school year, but the National Education Association says pay equity among the states is still a big problem.

NEA President Keith Geiger said Monday the estimated salary average for the 1989-90 school year is 5.9 percent higher in current dollars than the previous year's revised figure of $29,547. While teacher salaries climbed past the $30,000 mark for the first time, this is still not an adequate wage for the professional services teachers perform," said Geiger. He said more than half of all teachers hold a master's degree or a six-year diploma.

The NEA figures, taken from "Estimates of School Statistics, 1989-90" and slated to be published later this month, showed Alaska had the highest state salary average with $43,153, while South Dakota showed the lowest at $21,300 — more than a 100 percent

The dollar gap among the highest and lowest average salaries grew from $15,360 in 1979-80 to $21,853 in Geiger said he is disturbed, not only by the average wage level, but also by the "unevenness of the school finance picture across the country.

According to the study, the current dollar increases in salary over the years since 1969-70 appear substantial — from $8,626 in 1969-70 to the current $31,304 estimate an increase of 263 percent in unadjusted terms. When the effects of price inflation are taken into account, the NEA said the average teacher salary grew by only 8.3 percent over the period.

Besides Alaska, other states with the highest average salaries are Connecticut at $40,496, California at $38,996 and New York at $38,800. States with the lowest salaries included Arkansas at $22,009, West Virginia at $22,842 and Louisiana at $22,993

Geiger stressed "the need for equity" and said that goal "requires that additional financial resources be distributed so as to even out access to educational opportunity among school districts and states.

The average teacher salary for Texas is $27,502.

The First Baptist Church was alive with the sound of small feet running around Saturday. Tracey McPhaul fulfilled her obligation as area Mission Friends director by arranging the annual Mission Friends Play Day. The theme was "All God's Animals"

Mission Friends groups from Baptist churches in Snyder, Sweetwater and Colorado City were invited to enjoy this day of play planned especially for them. Forty-four children from First Baptist Church, Snyder; Calvary Baptist, Oak Street and First Baptist Churches, Colorado City.

Stephanie Spear taught the music class, where children made tamborines and sang. Noah's Ark was the video everyone enjoyed for the Storytime class, which Gayla Ziegler led. Joni Hartman made craft time fun as the children created kites and pencil toppers. All kids love to be outside, and this day was no exception. Mona Crockett did an excellent job supervising the outdoor play. Fingerprint animal placemats were another craft the children enjoyed, because they were allowed to paint with their fingers! Barbie Lelek was the instructor in this class.

The First Baptist GA's, Acteens and Pioneer Boys were wonderful, and great appreciated for their help in corralling the kids and doing any "odd job" that may have needed to be done. Every Mission Friend went home with a sack full of goodies and a heart full of joy!

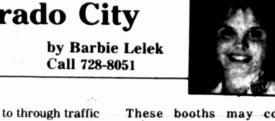

Singles awarded

The annual Singles "Awards" Banquet was hosted April 27 at the Shack, Snyder. Everyone enjoyed eating a delicious supper before presenting the awards. Ray Mayo, a former First Baptist Single, was master of ceremonies. Members received certificate for something they had said or done in the past year, usually funny! Afterwards several games were played before traveling home. In all, nine singles attended the banquet. Janet Mayo was also a guest.

What a bright idea

"You light up my life" was a popular song Debbie Boone sang years ago. The Lions Club is hoping you will be saying the same to club members as they will begin their annual light bulb sale Monday. Members will be loing door to door selling a "6-pack" of bulbs, which contain two of each 60-75-100 watt. If you would prefer a 6-pack of one wattage they are available also. The cost of each 6-pack is $4. The bulbs are said to last twice as long as regular bulbs. All proceeds will be used by the Lions Club to support their donations in such areas as local charities, buying eye glasses for local underprivileged school age children and the handicapped children's camp at Kerrville.

Jesus cares for you

The First Baptist Church will host the "Here's Hope, Jesus Cares for You" simulataneous revival Sunday through Wednesday. Lakers, Bulls conclude series

By The Associated Press

The Los Angeles Lakers and Chicago Bulls have punched out first-round opponents in the NBA playoffs. In the case of the Bulls, it was nearly in the literal sense.

"We went out with a physical attitude and did what we had to do,' Michael Jordan said after scoring 25 points in the Bulls' hard-nosed 110-86 victory over the Milwaukee Bucks on Thursday night.

The Bulls used an aggressive body-checking defense and a decisive second-quarter run to wrap up the best-of-5 series in four games.

"It was a trench game and a warfare game," Bulls coach Phil Jackson said. "We hadn't played great defense this series. We talked about not letting them get to the basket for easy ones.

The Bulls, promising to be more physical to reciprocate for what they felt was rough play and hard fouls from the Bucks in the first three games, got tough on defense in the final seven minutes of the second quarter. Chicago, getting 11 points from Jordan, outscored the Bucks 22-5 in those seven minutes, taking a 56-39 halftime lead.

Milwaukee managed only one field goal in the final 7:37 of the first half, that a 3-pointer by Brad Lohaus with 56 seconds to go. Chicago then held the Bucks to only two third-quarter field goals, pulling ahead 84-60 going into the fourth quarter.

Magic Johnson scored 19 points for the Lakers, who outscored the Rockets 12-2 over the final 4:17.

Akeem Olajuwon led the Rockets with 28 points and 14 rebounds and Otis Thorpe scored 18 points.

"They did a great job of doubleteaming the lane early in the game," Worthy said of the Rockets. "But they got in foul trouble and maybe got a little tired and the opportunities came to me later.

Three Houston starters — Olajuwon, Otis Thorpe and Vernon Maxwell - had three fouls by halftime.

Cavaliers 108, 76ers 96 Brad Daugherty hit 10 of his first 11 shots and scored a team playoffrecord 34 points as Cleveland beat Philadelphia.

The teams split their four regular-season games, with each winning once at home and once on the road. Each has won its two home games in the playoffs? Mark Price set a Cleveland playoff record with 18 assists, and Daugherty, who also grabbed nine rebounds, had his best offensive game of the season. His regularseason best was 30 points.

Cleveland's previous playoff scoring record was 32 points, set by Campy Russell against New York in 1978 and tied by World B. Free against Boston in 1985.

The Cavaliers virtually shut down the 76ers in the fourth quarter, outscoring them 22-14. The Sixers went scoreless from the field for seven minutes as Cleveland widened an 89-84 lead to 97-85 with five minutes left.

"We shot the ball poorly, and Brad Daugherty had a career night," Philadelphia's Charles Barkley said. "We've got to do something to shut him down. We didn't double him tonight and he's Worthy scored his first basket of too good not to double. We've got to

Tucker scored after stealing a bad clearing attempt by goalie Andy Moog, and Miller connected after stealing Ray Bourque's pass across the slot in front of Moog. That gave Washington a 3-2 lead. Garry Galley had given Boston a 1-0 lead on the game's first shot at 1:18 of the first period. Miller nearly tied it with a penalty shot after being tripped from behind by Bourque at 2:55 of the period. His shot beat Moog, but it bounced off the crossbar.

John Druce, who had only eight regular-season goals, tied it with his 13th of the playoffs, his seventh on a power play, at 10:08. Cam Neely's eighth goal, also on a power play, put Boston ahead 2-1 with 1:23 left in the first period.

The Capitals, who had won their previous four games, made it tough with solid forechecking in the second period. But they failed to protect the lead in the third and concentrated too much on offense.

Man jailed after making threat

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) - ALouisville man who allegedly said he planned to open fire as crowds gathered for the Kentucky Derby then kill himself was jailed.

A federal judge ordered William Richard Keller, 32, jailed Thursday, finding he had violated a prohibition against possessing a weapon while out on bond. Keller pleaded guilty in March to a racially motivated cross-burning

U.S. District Judge Edward H. Johnstone also found Keller posed a probable risk to the community.

Two people — one of them not named in court and the other identified only as Keller's sister said Keller told them he did not intend to go to prison for the cross-burning and was going to go to Churchill Downs today or Saturday and "take out a number of people and then take out himself," FBI Agent Allen M. Bond III testified.

Deputy U.S. Marshal Tim Moseley said at the hearing that no gun was found in a search of Keller's home and pickup truck, which was parked outside the courthouse when Keller was arrested. But, Moseley said, the FBI and county police seized a bolt from his truck that they said is used to fire an AK-47 assault rifle. The bolt had been altered so that the semiautomatic weapon could be used as a fully automatic weapon.

Giving Mets drubbed

By The Associated Press With the New York Mets in a giv ing mood and the Cincinnati Reds out to take anything they can get, the result was predictable.

"This is just about as bad as it can get," Mets infielder Dave Magadan said in summing up New York's 5-0 loss Thursday night, its fifth in six games. "There's nowhere to go but up.

Mets shortstop Howard Johnson committed three errors and the Reds stole five bases in as many attempts.

"There's nothing to say," Johnson told reporters after matching a club record for errors in a game by a shortstop. "Go write what you want.'

What they wrote was that New York has made 27 errors in 22 games, allowing 14 unearned runs. But few should feel sorry for a pitching staff that has demonstrated for several seasons an inability to keep runners close. The opposition has stolen 46 bases in 53 attempts, a success rate of 87 percent.

When Cincinnati is the opposition, that can hurt. The Reds have swiped 34 bases in 12 games.

"That's part of our game plan," Reds manager Lou Piniella said. "With our speed, when we have the opportunity we will take it."

And Alejandro Pena, once described while with the Dodgers as a man who stands slowly, gave them plenty of chances. The Reds stole four bases with him on the mound in the eighth inning.

Church seeks to teach public on ministry to AIDS victims

By LYNN HAYES

Staff Writer

BIG SPRING - A lack of education and understanding of AIDS has prompted a local minister to show a series of films, titled "AIDS: You Just Think You're Safe," by Evangelist Moody Adams.

The film lists 19 ways a person can allegedly become afflicted with the deadly virus. However, one of those was proven untrue because it was learned that Methodist bishop Finis A. Crutchfield who died of AIDS in 1987 was homosexual.

After viewing the films and reading Moody's book, which is the product of five years of research, and studying more than 300 references on Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome, the Rev. Gary Smith, pastor of First Church of the Nazarene, decided to show the films to educate the public and teach his congregation how to better minister to AIDS victims.

"We're not trying to eliminate ministry to AIDS victims. But, we are preparing ourselves to better minister to those with the virus. We believe that education and preparation are the best tools to to be reminded of the price they help better understand the problem," Smith said.

Since 1981, when the the first known cases of AIDS were reported in the United States, there has been controversy on how the disease is spread.

Of the more than 1.5 million Americans that have been infected with the deadly virus, according to the book "AIDS: You Just Think You're Safe" by early 1986 there were 1,000 AIDS victims who were not homosexuals, drug users, or recipients of blood transfusions. "They don't know how they got it. Medical scientists do not not know how they got it. As a result, every American has to wonder if he will get it the same way this thousand did — through some yet unknown source of contagion," the book

The book cites contradictions to published reports from the government, including an alleged coverup on AIDS. "The researchers (on AIDS) involved have spun for the public a web of contradictions, misconceptions, and, occasionally, misleading statements that have by the disease by the middle of the been discernibly self-serving," according to a 1985 article in the science magazine Discover.

"There definitely is a coverup," said Dr. Paul Cameron, head of the Institute for Scientific Investigation of Sexuality in Lincoln, Neb. 'It ought to be a concern to all of us. This isn't Watergate — no one died from Watergate. But this is a case where the same kind of thinking is going to kill us. They're sitting on data and they don't let it out except as they choose.

Smith said he believes the coverup was prompted to alleviate panic.

"I think there is suppression of information by various agencies that know how AIDS is transmit-Whoever says we need not be afraid of this (catching AIDS) better think twice," he said.

According to Moody's book, pleasure, profit and pride are behind the coverup. "More than 20 million Americans are addicted to die in his iniquity; but thou hast the pleasures of intravenous drugs delivered thy soul. - Ezekiel and inter-anal sex that are responsible for nearly all AIDS cases. They have no intention of abandoning these pleasures and do not want will pay," the book stated.

Moody cites three states that would suffer economically if there was any hint that casual contact or food might spread the disease. Florida, New York, and California would lose millions in profits, he

"All these states are tourism areas. If it was publicized, their economies would be effected," Smith agreed.

Although IV drug use, sex, and blood transfusions are known ways of catching AIDS, Moody said any exchange of body fluids could transmit the virus, including kissing, biting, sperm bank, breast feeding, dental work, skin contact, organ transplants, handling a baby, homosexual sex, oral sex, skin graft, living with an AIDS carrier, needle accidents, and health care work. Smith said although statistics show there is only a 1 in 10,000 chance to contract AIDS without having sexual contact or using IV drugs, he believes every American family will be affected in some way

He said education and preparation are important now.

'If we don't know how to handle problems that could exist then fear and hate will result," Smith said.

Quoting scripture, Smith said he is obligated to share whatever information he has with the public, or their deaths will be on his hands.

Son of man, I have made thee a watchman unto the house of Israel; therefore hear the word at my mouth, and given them warning

When I say unto the wicked. Thou shalt surely die; and thou givest him not warning, nor speakest to warn the wicked from his wicked way, to save his life; the same wicked man shall die in his iniquity; but his blood will I require at thine hand. Yet if thou warn the wicked, and he turn not from his wickedness, nor from his wicked way, he shall 3:17-19.

George von Hassell, a deacon at St. Mary's Episcopal Church, will speak on his experience of ministering to AIDS victims Sunday at First Church of the Nazarene during the 6 p.m. wor-

Von Hassell, who spent three months counseling and ministering to AIDS victims at San Francisco General Hospital, said he was scared because he didn't know much about AIDS. "I was petrified. knew nothing about AIDS," he

Although he believes the virus can be transmitted through body fluids, including saliva, he had no fears of giving Communion to dying AIDS patients. "I drank wine from the same cup after a young boy did. At the time I didn't think about getting the virus. My only concern was for him," von Hassell said.

He agrees AIDS patients should be ministered to, and continues to do so since returning to Big Spring. "They know I don't judge how they got it. Mos of them want reassurance that it's (AIDS) not a plague set on them by God. And, I don't think it is.... My God is a loving God. I don't see why he

By RICKY D. PARKER Special to the Herald

I will shake heaven and earth, the sea and dry land." (Haggai 2:6). The Prophet Haggai spoke about the great shaking that will take place during the end of time and just prior to the second coming of Christ. The writer of Hebrews also foresaw a time when everything that could be shaken would be shaken, (Heb. 12:24-29). Jesus also said: "...and the powers of the heavens will be shaken," (Mt. 24:29)

We have now come to that time. The Lord is moving relentlessly toward the fulfillment of His purposes at the close of this age. His shaking is catching many unaware of what is happening. Jeanne Dixon's Horoscope

SATURDAY, MAY 5, 1990

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Although family pride means more than money to you, you must consider your loved ones' financial security. The romantic fires are burning brighter than ever. Be careful not to douse the flames.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Slow down. You may be moving too fast on a project that your co-workers are not sure of. You do not have to do a whole week's work in a day. Review your finances.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Someone carrying on a secret romance may be in for a shock. Make the right decision about a job and you will increase your financial wealth. Nurture a friendship.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Domestic affairs will be sensitive this morning. Ask someone who invites you to lunch for a raincheck. Now is the CALVIN AND HOBBES right time to repay an old debt. Offer to babysit a friend's children.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): If you have strayed from your goals, mate will help you get back on track. Exceptional luck accompanies those who travel today. A last-minute loan restores your peace of mind. Show appreciation.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): You could receive a job offer from someone who has been on the sidelines for several years. Hide your doubts from loved one. Avoid a difficult relative for a while. A missing object surfaces.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Working with someone you respect makes you more productive. Salespeople can hinder their chances by coming on too strong. Ease up a bit. Romance could put you on a collision course with a close friend.

SCORPIO (Qct. 23-Nov. 21): A leadership role would fit you fine, but people who have observed your leisure-time antics have difficulty envisioning you as the boss. Convince them with deeds, not words. Romance looks rosy.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Someone you thought was a friend has been trying to steal your ideas. Protect your job. You have a right to expect greater loyalty. People who brag a lot make you nervous.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Avoid someone who is pushy by tackling chores alone. Romance is exciting and brings you true satisfaction. Answer phone calls and correspondece promptly. A far away friend awaits your advice.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Avert arguments by suggesting logical compromises. Taking the initiative will impress those who count. Selfanalysis is helpful, too. Do not underestimate your financial needs; face reality.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Your mate or partner offers sound advice. Pay attention. This is a day for consolidating recent gains, not starting new projects. You need to correct a billing mistake soon.
