Accidents send three to hospital

cidents within an hour of each other sent three people to the hospital early Wednesday afternoon.

10th, and Barbra Burnell, 16, Box 81 Big Spring, were both listed in stable condition today by a Scenic Mountain Medical Center spokeswoman. The two were taken by ambulance to the hospital Wednesday after being injured in separate accidents. A third person was treated and released.

According to police reports, the first accident occurred at about 11:30 a.m. at the intersection of Goliad and 11th. A car driven by Jesus Valles Mier, 72, Garden City, ran through a red light on Goliad, the report said, and struck a car traveling east on 11th Place then struck a second car, driven by Paul, traveling west. Mier was cited for disregarding a red light.

The second accident occurred at 12:25 p.m. on the East FM 700 south service road, the report said. A car driven by Ken Forest McMeans, 32, 700 Birdwell, was attempting to pass two cars parked in the westbound outside lane of FM 700 near the entrance to Duncan Drilling, the report said. McMeans stopped his car for oncoming traffic, the report said, and was struck in the rear by a car driven by Gina Lee Henderson, 18, 1611

Jennings. McMeans and Henderson, who was cited for failure to control speed to avoid an accident, were both slightly injured, the report said. Burnell was a passenger in Henderson's car. A second passenger, Katrice Mince, 18, 800 Main, was taken to the hospital by private vehicle were a spokeswoman said she was treated and released.

Goliad student struck by car

BIG SPRING - A 12-yearold Goliad student was treated for slight injuries after being struck by a car Tuesday morning.

According to a Police Department accident report, Patrick Heckler, 1416 Mt. Vernon, was taken to a doctor by private vehicle after he was struck while crossing a school crosswalk.

Heckler was hit by a Toyota Celica after he stepped from behind a pickup truck with a camper shell, the report said. The driver of the car, Cherry Ann McGuire, 18, 2513 Langley, was traveling 15 mph, the report said, and was unable to see the boy behind the camper No citations were issued in the accident. Contributing factors listed on the report were impaired visibility and failure to yield right of way to a pedestrian.

TU Electric plans customer refunds

DALLAS - TU Electric will refund to its customers about $64.65 million that was overcollected from October 1989 through February.

The company announced Wednesday that the refund, which includes interest, was approved by the Texas Public Utility Commission on May 15. The refunds will be reflected as credit on customers' June bills, company officials said. A residential customer who uses 1,000 kilowatt hours of electricity will receive about $11.

The amount being refunded was over-collected, officials said, because with the exception of one week in December weather in TU's service area was unusually mild. When weather is mild, customers use less electricty, officials explained, and TU Electric is able to use less of its higherpriced fuel supplies to meet customer needs.

Bush promises honest summit

By DAVID ESPO Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Bush welcomed Mikhail S. Gorbachev to the White House today for summit talks, pledging an open and honest search for common ground" on tough issues ranging from arms control to the shape of a united Germany.

American and Soviet flags flew side by side as Gorbachev arrived for the four-day summit sessions. Vexed by turmoil at home, Gorbachev said he'd come to the United States to do "serious work" on reducing nuclear weapons and tackling other issues that divide the two nations.

He foresaw an "irreversible period of peace;" and said "The trenches of cold war are disappearing; the fog of prejudice, mistrust and animosity is vanishing.'

Bush blended praise for Gorbachev with mention of Lithuania and other issues that divide them: -"Over the next four days we're not going to solve all of the world's problems...We can and will take significant steps toward a new relationship.

In veiled terms, both men referred to what was shaping up as the thorniest issue of the four-day summit — the unification of Germany.

To begin the meetings, Bush ordered up an elaborate welcoming ceremony, complete with a cannon salute, a review of an honor guard and a marching fife and drum corp dressed in Revolutionary-era attire. First Lady Barbara Bush and Raisa Gorbachev stood side by side while their husbands spoke.

The welcoming ceremonies complete, Bush showed Gorbachev the way into the Oval Office for their

Appraisal values drop $10 million

By PATRICK DRISCOLL Staff Writer

 ${\bf BIG\ SPRING-Property\ values}$ in Big Spring may drop about \$10 million, according to the appraisal district, but county values should remain the same.

In a meeting Wednesday the Howard County Consolidated Tax Appraisal District review board learned that county values should remain firm, according to preliminary estimates, because of increased mineral values.

Also, despite a state study showing that Big Spring ISD mineral values set by the appraisal district last year are 168 percent of the market value, the appraisal district is continuing to use the same formula for determining those rates this year for all eight taxing districts, Chief Appraiser Keith Toomire said.

"We don't feel our appraisal value is 168 percent, Toomire, who unsuccessfully challenged the state property tax board earlier this month.

Using the same formula, which involves an analysis of sales, profits, rates of return and petroleum reserves, Big Spring ISD is predicted to lose about $20 million in mineral values, he said. That is due to a decline in mineral production. Overall the district may lose

Murder trial postponed

HERALD STAFF REPORT

BIG SPRING - Gery Vern Isaacks, who is charged with a 1987 hanging death of a Howard County woman, may be bumped from a June 18 trial week in 118th District Court

Motions for continuance were made Wednesday by the defense and the state, said Assistant District Attorney William Dupree. "I think a continuance is going to be granted on that," he said. "It'll be back up on the next docket call, no doubt. The next jury week begins July 9.

Isaacks, 41, is accused of intentionally causing the death of Nickie Louise Billingsley, 40. She was found Oct. 9, 1987, at her residence about 3.5 miles northeast of Big Spring. She died of asphyxiation due to hanging, according to the death certificate. Reports indicated she was hanged by a cloth belt from a clothesline pole.

Isaacks, who was arrested two months after Billingsley's body was found, was free on a $25,000 bond until Feb. 5 of this year when he was arrested again on a charge of failure to make a court appearance. He is being held in the Howard County Jail on another bond.

Legislature expects action on bail out bill

By MICHAEL HOLMES Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) — Legislative leaders and Gov. Bill Clements say they foresee quick action in the next special session on a bill to bail out troubled state human service programs.

"We're certainly going to put the DHS (Department of Human Services payments on the fast track, and that'll be one of the first issues we'll take up," said House Speaker Gib Lewis The abrupt end Wednesday to the most recent special session scuttled a pending bill to provide emergency funds for DHS, the Department of Health and the Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation. "There are a number of lifethreatening cases there and that's why I'll make it my first priority to get that funding taken care of just as early as possible," said Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby. Hobby said the Legislature could move quickly to boost health and human services funding by cutting and transferring some $100 million from other programs.

"One way to handle it is to pass a cuts bill on the order of $100 million and that would get those departments through the fiscal year. Fund the agencies for as long as we can. That avoids any of the agencies going over the cliff," Hobby

Gov. Clements said he will call lawmakers back for another special session next week, adding that welfare programs will be included on the agenda.

Human Services officials say their budget shortfall could force a possible suspension of Medicaid payments for more than 50,000 nursing home patients.

Budget cuts to cause layoffs

DALLAS (AP) — An estimated 1,000 employees of LTV Corp.'s Aircraft Products Group will lose their jobs by the end of 1991 because of budget cuts in major defense programs, a company official

"I think we're going to lose in the neighborhood of 1,000 employees over the next year and a half," company president Gordon Williams told The Dallas Morning News Wednesday

"It could be a lot worse. That's roughly 10 percent of the work force," Williams said. 'It's always a disaster for the ones (employees) who go out the door.

The comments came during a briefing on the B-2 Stealth bomber program also attended by Brig. Gen. William B. Davitte, special assistant to U.S. Air Force Chief of Staff Larry Welch. The B-2 is the LTV group's single-largest program.

Chemical leak forces evacuation

FREEPORT (AP) — Several hundred people still couldn't return home today as Dow Chemical Co. employees worked to determine how to remove a dangerous chemical mixture from a company ship.

The accidental mixture of two chemicals inside the Marine Chemist's tank caused temperatures to rise dramatically Wednesday and prompted the evacuation.

Dow officials, fearing there was a potential for an explosion, had water poured on the ship for several hours to cool the tank. The strategy worked, and firefighters halted their efforts Wednesday night.

"The temperature is still slightly decreasing, which is good," said Margaret Gaspard, manager of Dow public relations.

Willie's picnic to return

AUSTIN (AP) - After a twowear hiatus. Willie Nelson is reviving his Fourth of July picnic and outdoor concert, with the help of the city of Austin. Nelson's last Fourth of July bash was in 1987 in Carl's Cormer in north Texas, between Hillsboro and Waxahachie, where it drew only about 8,000 speople.

Nelson's daughter Lana Nelson and city of Austin Mayor Lee Cooke announced Wednesday that the bash will be revived this year in Austin's Zilker Park.

Over the years, the singer's Fourth of July picnic has been held in a variety of locations and generally marred by problems.

Without mentioning earlier problems with the picnic, Cooke said his city would be happy to sponsor the annual event with the promise that $1 of every ticket sold would benefit a children's playground in the park. "I say welcome back Willie,"

the mayor said.

Overnight storm tdamages homes

VALLEY VIEW (AP) — A county official says he was shocked at widespread damage from a tornado that ripped through a mobile home park, destroying homes and injuring several people.

Cooke County Justice of the Peace Royce Martin said he and other emergency workers at the scene overnight originally underestimated damage because they were working without lights.

"(Wednesday) at daylight, I was very surprised and very thankful that there were not a lot more injuries," Martin said. 'It's just a lot of twisted metal and two-by-fours.

Martin said 80 to 90 percent of the homes in FRF Estates, a development located about 4 miles outside of Valley View, had sustained damage.

Tight spigot

The bad news is that U.S. banks really have been cutting back available credit. The good news is that they are cutting back only to real estate developers and small to medium sized businesses.

Good news? Banks are shelling out money to large, established companies that . . . create few jobs and have too often ... contented themselves with cannibalizing each other. In the meantime, the banks are cutting off money to the small and medium-sized businesses that create jobs and drive innovation. Can this possibly make sense?

In a perverse way - yes. Federal regulators have been hounding banks to loan only on "cash flow," that is, the amount of free money available for repaying debts, and not on asset values, or even on growth potential. Asset values have had a nasty way of evaporating of late, and contracts vanish in recessions. So stick with the boys that you know have the cash to make good the loans, say regulators. Otherwise, Uncle Sam will be calling on taxpayers to bail out banks just like savings and loans.

Retrenched lending to real estate developers does make some sense. On the whole, the country is overbuilt. There are surely markets and niches in markets in need of development, but on the whole, real estate is iffy. Tighter scrutiny of development loans, and especially speculative raw land loans, is long overdue.

But cutting credit to medium sized and small companies that carry an economy is economic suicide, or homicide, depending on your perspective.

Regulators themselves were sufficiently disturbed to call a meeting to openly urge bankers to lend a little more. Good advice. Now if the regulators will apply common sense on the side of easing credit, and bankers will scrutinize takeover and real estate schemes closely, maybe some money can be found for those real American heroes, entrepreneurial companies.

State moving to face crisis

Gov. Bill Clements last week took a moment from his naysaying over education reform and added the funding crisis over health and human services to the call of the ongoing special session.

That such an action is needed was emphasized last week when Texas Department of Human Services Commissioner Ron Lindsey released a list of budget cuts he would have to enact if his agency's $211 million budget shortfall is not addressed.

The DHS budget woes are not the only social service problems facing Texas. Two other agencies — the Department of Health and the Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation — also face sizable budget deficits that threaten crucial services such as state care for chronically ill children. . .

Clements has made the right call on social services. Now the state awaits to see whether the governor will provide any meaningful ideas on how to deal with the latest crisis, or if he shows a new willingness to work with leaders in the Legislature.

'Good' news still bad

We hail the good news but shudder at the bad news on the S&L front.

The good news is the Bush administration's saying the cost of bailing out the scandal-ridden savings and loan industry may be only $6 billion more than originally estimated.

The bad news is that the cost could run as high as $59 billion above previous estimates.

Further good news is that the government's ability to calculate what we are expected to dig into our pockets and fork over is seldom very accurate. The bad news is that if worse comes to worst, and it usually does, the total cost of halting the hemorrhaging will hit $132 billion.

That is by the Treasury Department's figures. But the Treasury is playing this thing awfully close to the vest, as

The General Accounting Office . . . sees the cost in a bleaker light: It estimates that the bailout could eventually cost between $300 and $500 billion.

The new estimates . . . were received last week by a rather glum group of senators on the Senate Banking Committee. "Everybody," said Sen. John Hentz, R-Pa., 'is sitting here in a state of shock.'

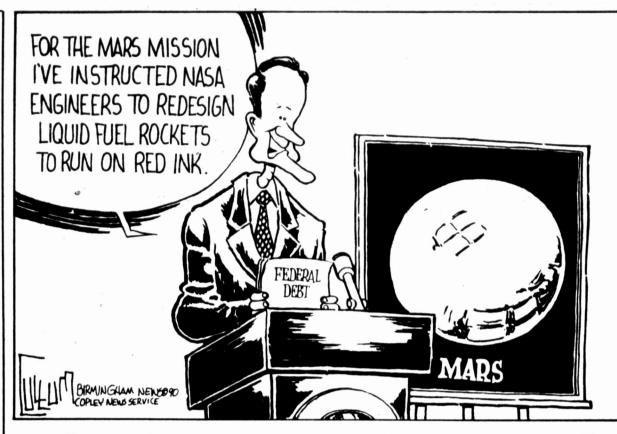

We are in a state of shock, too. Lubbock Avalanche-Journal

Alternative sentencing

Capital punishment, which was once outlawed in most of the United States, is becoming more acceptable to mainstream American life once again, unfortunately.

Despite an increase in support for the death penalty, it is not, and perhaps cannot be, administered fairly. Those without funds or of minority status receive the punishment disproportionately. And there is always the chance that new evidence will show that the state has executed an innocent person. An alternative to death is life imprisonment without parole for especially heinous crimes, such as murders of peace officers. As a society, America should not become any more inhumane.

What's not on the agenda

By MIKE FEINSILBER Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — George Bush and Mikhail Gorbachev will try to beat swords into plowshares, but this superpower sitdown doesn't promise to address the quarrels of a contentious world.

It is arms control as usual at the summit table and aggravations as usual everywhere else.

The summit partners won't be able to bottle up an Indian-Pakistani dispute that has the potential of going nuclear.

They don't have the formula to keep Canada from flying apart in ethnic disarray, as also seems possible.

They can't placate Arab fears aroused by the arrival of tens of thousands of Jews freed by glasnost

Even the problems that confront Gorbachev and Bush frontally aren't on the agenda, except abstractly

Nothing that happens at the White House this week will solve the budget or trade deficits for Bush, or provide the untallied billions to end a savings and loan crisis whose dimensions are just dawning on Washington.

bachev brings home is likely to satisfy Muscovites worried about the price and availability of bread in the crisis-of-the-week for the besieged Soviet leader.

"He needs to talk groceries with Bush, even if he can't bring them home," says Bob Squier, a political consultant to Democrats, commenting on Gorbachev's dilemma.

Bush and Gorbachev probably won't talk about these matters. They are not direct superpower business. Canada was on Gorbachev's trip ticket, but not on the Quebec by recognizing it as a 'distinct society" caught in the throats of some citizens of the English-speaking Canada. Now, once again, the 6.7 million Quebecers raise the prospect of withdrawing from citizenship with 18 million non-Quebecers.

And there's not much for Bush-Gorbachev to do about India-Pakistan, a quarrel capable of bursting into war, even if it is not on America's front pages.

By ART BUCHWALD The best news of the year was released last week, when scientists announced that body fat could be produced by genes. This was counter to all the conventional wisdom which has insisted that overweight people were no

I received the news while eating a dandelion salad sandwich and a diet cola at the lunch counter.

J. David Emge was the one who gave me the news

'The latest research says that if you get fat you have no one but your grandparents to blame," he said. "It's all in your body makeup. One person can eat an apple pie and not put on weight. Others can put four pieces of popcorn in their mouths and balloon. It's not food but your chromosomes that make all the decisions.

"I knew that science would finally find a cure for large suit Emge was pleased that he could bring me such glad tidings. Some time back in antiquity, possibly even before man walked on his two legs, it was decreed that people like yourselves would have a slightly pudgy, though not unattractive girth. Our mistake was to believe that being heavy was up to us, when in fact it was Darwin's choice all along. "How did this happen?

"Stunkard at the University of Pennsylvania worked with twins. He found that environment and diet had little impact compared with that of their genes. He concluded that since genes were so important, those lacking in willpower were blaming themselves needlessly for not being able to touch their toes when they bent over.

"How does Stunkard feel about French fried potatoes?

"I'm sure he's not against them. It's quite possible a person's genes tell him when he should or should not eat a French fry. Bouchard of Laval University in Quebec worked with twins as well and came to the same conclusion.

"Which is?"

"When you're fat you're fat." "Overeaters owe a lot to Stunkard and Bouchard," I said. 'I wonder what it would mean to them if I ate this piece of chocolate layer cake instead of these string beans with lemon juice on them.

"They'd probably have a hard time telling you what it meant unless you had a twin brother in a diner across town

"I think it would be wonderful if everyone in the world had genes that could burn up all their calories instead of turning them into fat." "It will be done," Emge said.

"That's why we have genetic engineering. In the meantime I'd say that since it isn't your fault when you gain weight, you might as well eat what you want." "That seems to be the best solution," I agreed.

"If my genes crave bread pudding, it makes no sense to feed them raw carrots.

Emge nodded, "The importance of this study is that it changes the way people look at each other. Maybe they'll stop being critical of others now that they know it's not their hips but their heredity which is out of whack with the new bathing suits on sale. Copyright 1990, Los Angeles Times

Is it what's up front that counts?

DEAR ABBY: I have three questions for you:

1. Do men feel deceived if a woman wears a padded bra, giving the impression that she's a 34B when she is only a 32A?

2. Do men get more sexual excitement and fulfillment from fullbreasted women?

3. How do men feel about 'augmented'' breasts? — FLAT IN FLATBUSH

DEAR FLAT: One cannot generalize about what "all men" find sexually appealing, but most sexologists concur that the size of a man's breasts has little to do with male sexual fulfillment.

I doubt if most men care whether breasts have been surgically augmented or not. (Some may not even know the difference.)

A woman who has always felt that she had less to offer because she was flat-chested is likely to feel a surge of self-confidence if she has breast-augmentation surgery. However, if she finds that due to her new look, she's getting attention from men who previously ignored her, she will not soon forget the depth of their shallowness.

DEAR ABBY: Why are so many men against marriage? I hear these negative attitudes from all kinds of people, including comedians, television personalities and even family members. They all say, "Don't get married; you'll regret it." Doesn't anyone believe in marriage anymore?

I'm 23 years old and have a lot going for myself. I have dated a number of men, none of whom

Local 4H'ers to attend roundup

By KIM LABBE Staff Writer

 ${\bf HOWARD\ COUNTY-Five\ area}$ 4-H'ers will attend the annual 1990 Texas 4-H Roundup, where more than half a million dollars in scholarships will be awarded.

The roundup, which features outstanding 4-H'ers, is scheduled for June 4-6 at Texas A&M University.

Cory Anderson, Coahoma; Carrie Bruton, Big Spring; Dane Driver, Forsan, Kenda McCormick, Big Spring, and Tasha Rock, Forsan, are the area students who will be attending the 4-H Roundup, said Naomi Hunt, Howard County extension agent, home economics.

Anderson, Bruton, and McCormick are entered in a livestock judging team contest, Hunt said. Driver will be competing in a farming ranch contest, Hunt said, and Rock will present a demonstration on safety and accident prevention. In order to qualify for the roundup, students first had to participate and win first place in the county contest, Hunt explained. Students then had to win first or second place in district competion held here on April 28 to qualify for the state roundup. Roundup, the biggest 4-H event of the year, will attract 2,200 young people to compete in a food show and 40 other contests that call on 4-H knowledge, skills and leadership.

In one of Roundup's main events, scholarships totaling $586,000 from the Texas 4-H Foundation.

The young people are judged on their 4-H experiences, leadership skills, projects, community service, personal needs, high school academics and college entrance exam scores. Hunt feels the 4-H Roundup helps young people with self- confidence and poise, and allows them to express ideas.

Museum to hold big first birthday party

Although there'll be only one candle on the cake, the Museum of the Southwest will celebrate in a big way the first anniversary of the opening of the Fredda Turner Durham Children's Museum on Saturday. From 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Texaco and the Museum will host a birthday party, and everyone's invited!

There'll be cake, clowns, magicians, and prizes. And there'll be the "great Museum glue-in" with children (and adults, too) creating their own versions of a children's museum with wood scraps and glue

The current Children's Museum exhibition is To Catch The Wind, a display about kites and wind and other wind driven objects. It is a changing exhibition with participatory components

The Museum of the Southwest is at 1705 West Missouri Avenue in Midland. Regular hours are Tuesday through Saturday from 10 a.m., to 5 p.m. and on Sunday from 2 to 5 p.m.

Tumbleweed Smith to speak in Oregon

Tumbleweed Smith will be the featured speaker for the Texas Breakfast held during the annual Rotary International Convention June 24-27 in Portland Oregon.

Smith's radio program 'The Sound of Texas" is aired on 70 stations statewide. His syndicated newspaper column is seen here in the Herald and across the state.

The convention will attract between 10,000 and 20,000 Rotarians.

The Midland Community Theatre production of "Cabaret" closes this weekend. The play is a look at Berlin just before Germany turned to Nazism in 1930.

The musical goes on tonight, Friday and Saturday. For reservations, call 682-4111.

The group's next production, 'Wally's Cafe'' will open June 8. It's the story of the owner of a small hamburger-shaped diner so far off the beaten track even the coyotes can't find it.

Season finale

New network planned

LOS ANGELES (AP) - MTV's most popular executive caused a bit of a stir when he abruptly quit last fall

Lee Masters, adored by the music industry and credited with making the cable network solvent, walked out because, he said, "The new structure didn't give me much room for growth or authority."

Translation: MTV's new owners wouldn't let Masters run the show. Now he does, for a different, brand-new cable network that he predicts will become MTV for

On Friday, the E! entertainment network will become the first 24-hour all-entertainment cable channel on television. Bankrolled for the most part by Home Box Office, E! will transmit celebrity news, interviews, movie picks, television features, fashion tips and just about anything and everything related to Hollywood.

"People watch this kind of stuff," Masters said. "They're certainly not going to watch it every day, but the idea is to have something for adults to watch the way youngsters and kids watch

E! already has interviews with

Mel Gibson, Michelle Pfeiffer and Darryl Hannah in the can. The round-the-clock programming will be divided into two-hour segments hosted by a male and female 'anchor.

HBO is one of 10 equity partners in E!, as well as the managing partner and chief financial backer. Other equity partners include Comcast Corp., one of the country's biggest cable operators, Warner Cable, Cox Cable and Continental Cablevision. Many of these same backers were behind Movetime before it was replaced with E!.

MTV, is quick to point out that managing partner or no, HBO doesn't run E!. Masters does. "They don't really run the show," he said. "There are a lot of players and a lot of conflicting in-

'Basically, I run the whole business," he said, "which is why I

Thus far, E!, which will be part of basic cable service, has spent $10 million to get the network up and running, Masters said, and has signed on cable operators representing 14.5 million viewers.

By the end of the year, Masters estimated, that number will be 20 million. But to do battle with the big cable networks such as ESPN and the USA Network, he'll need more like 50 million viewers.

Elsewhere in television SAM KINISON SCREAMING MAD: Foul-mouthed comedian Sam Kinison is demanding that MTV stop showing the sanitized version of his "Under My Thumb" video. The music network originally had rejected Kinison's first version, which featured seductively clad women. The revised video, sans women, is just too purebred for Kinison. "... I definitely feel there's a double standard going on. I can turn on MTV and see Cher or Madonna (in seductive situations) and you have me revise my

New shows, re-runs will air this summer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — It's summertime. You're too hot to go out. Park in front of the tube and consider the choices:

A third repeat of "I Married Dora" or the second showing of that fabulous "Manimal" episode in which the lead character turns into a tiger. This summer there's a cure for the summertime blues. ABC, CBS and NBC are pumping more money into summer programming than ever before.

ABC will show unseen episodes of the recently canceled "Brewster Place," starring Oprah Winfrey, and "Capital News," starring Lloyd Bridges.

NBC Entertainment President Brandon Tartikoff announced this week that repeats of "Quantum Leap," would be shown at 10 p.m. beginning June 25. New programs include "Singer and Sons" starring Esther Rolle and "The Seinfeld Chronicles' starring comedian Jerry Seinfeld.

So far, CBS has announced three new programs for the hot months to come. One is "War Room," about White House speech writers. Another is "Northern Exposure," about a New York doctor forced to work in Alaska. In "Manhattan Nights," still in production, chronicles the lives of residents in a fictional New York apartment building.

Computer thieves strike high school

BIG SPRING — A thief got away with more than $3,500 in computer equipment from Big Spring High School sometime Tuesday afternoon.

"It looks like a professional did this," Principal Kent Bowermon said today. "I do not believe it was student. It was a very thorough job.'

According to the Big Spring Police Department, the item taken were: one Apple II computer enhanced, valued at $1,600; a monitor, $500; two computer disks, $600; Apple Imagewriter printer, $600; computer paper, $25; program paper, $70, P.L.L. graphics library, $99; and a computer "mouse" hand control, $100.

The equipment was removed from the English reading lab between 4 p.m. and 9 p.m., Bowermon said. Apparently no electrical cords were cut, and the unit was unplugged and unhooked as if the thief knew something about computer equipment, he said.

At that time, only janitors would have been in the building, he said. "There are only a few of them, and they were spread out over the entire building. They couldn't have been watching every room,' Bowermon said

Bowermon said no plans are set to increase security on the building during the afternoons. The locks on some room doors will most likely be changed in order to decrease the number of persons with access, he said The theft will not result in a loss of student time with the computer, Bowermon said. "It is my understanding that it will be replaced during the summer." he said.

Values

A large part of the disagreement with the state probably centers around the sale of a $62 million lease in Vealmoor, the largest oil producing lease in the school district, Toomire said. Exxon bought it from Texaco in 1988. The purchase price was not disclosed to the appraisal district, but Exxon did not contest their 1989 appraised

Because of declining oil production, this year's estimated value of the oil lease is about 51 million, an 18 percent drop, said Boyd Lathum, executive vice president of Capitol Appraisal Group Inc. in Austin, the firm which has been appraising mineral values for the appraisal district since 1982.

Toomire expects another ratio study by the state property tax board to be high again next year. If it is as high as this year's, the board may audit the appraisal district, he said.

"We'll appeal it again," he said. "We'll see.

The Howard County and Howard County College mineral values represent 42 percent of the $1.265 billion property value, or $538 million. The state's claim that values are inflated 68 percent would mean the county is drawing an additional $366 million.

With a tax rate of 33 cents for Howard County alone, that would translate to a a loss of $121,000 in revenue. However, the county estimated value for this year is about the same as last year.

Toomire also reported that city estimated values for this year are $339.470 million, a drop of about $10 million. The Big Spring ISD estimated value is $661.265 million. He did not release estimated mineral values.

Trials

Next, in order, are: Joe Trevino, possession of a controlled substance; James Chancellor, indecency with a child; Bobby Cunningham, possession of a controlled substance; and Abel Hernandez Hinojos for two charges of aggravated robbery.

One or two cases will probably actually go to trial, Dupree said. "If the court doesn't have civil (cases go to trial) we can expect two," he said.

Other cases will go on the next docket or guilty pleas may be taken. "Anyone on the docket that plans on entering a plea should do so before the 18th of June," he said.

So far, pleas have been taken on six cases from Wednesday's docket, Dupree said. Four are for possession of marijuana, one for possession of a controlled substance and another for driving while intoxicated first negotiating session. Secretary of State James A. Baker III and Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze were meeting separately down the hall. A few blocks away, experts on both sides worked on the nitty gritty of arms control negotiations.

Gorbachev was using the lunch bréak to meet with a cross-section of American thinkers and performers — a group ranging from Kissinger to Sinatra.

Treaties and lesser agreements covering arms control, chemical weapons, air travel and other subjects were in various stages of readiness as the summit began. But the list of differences ran to conventional weapons cutbacks, trade, Gorbachev's handling of the secessionist republic of Lithuania and Germany

A few hours before the opening of the four-day summit, Secretary of State James A. Baker III held out the prospect of "significant and concrete progress" on strategic nuclear arms reductions, a subject that snagged at the first Bush-Gorbachev summit last December.

"We've seen a world of change," in the past year, Bush said. He said the summit should lay "the groundwork for overcoming decades" of East-West discord. Baker, interviewed on ABC, saw encouraging signs of a "dialogue" on Lithuanian independence, an issue that has left plans for a "Soviet-American trade agreement But Baker cautioned that neither Lithuania nor the German issue is likely to be resolved at the summit.

AUBURN HILLS, Mich. (AP) -Depth and defense have the Detroit Pistons one victory away from their third consecutive trip to the NBA Finals.

The Pistons, bidding to become only the third franchise in league history to repeat as champions, can advance to the championship series again by defeating the Chicago Bulls on Friday night.

The problem is that neithr their depth nor their defense has made any impact so far at rowdy Chicago Stadium, where the Bulls are 6-0 in the playoffs and 2-0 against the Pistons.

With Mark Aguirre scoring 13 of his 19 points in the fourth quarter Wednesday night, the Pistons won 97-83 for a 3-2 lead in the Eastern Conference finals. If a seventh game is needed, it will be Sunday afternoon back at the Palace.

"Cotton Fitzsimmons has a theory that the bench plays better at home," Detroit coach Chuck Daly said of the Phoenix Suns' coach. "He's one of my idols, a guy I watched coach growing up.

Detroit now is 10-3 during the playoffs. All three defeats have come on the road and were the only games in which the Pistons allowed more than 100 points.

"I can't predict what will happen in Chicago," said Aguirre, whose effort helped the Pistons' bench outscore Chicago's reserves 35-13. "But if we could win, it would be great. I think whoever wins this series might win the NBA championship."

Detroit's bench has outscored Chicago's bench 183-115 for the

. "We needed those guys to come off and play well," Detroit's James Edwards said. "We know what we have to do, and when we go into their place we have to set up our offense and not rush things. That's what we did tonight and it

AUBURN HILLS, Mich. — Detroit Pistons' Mark Aguirre (23) gives the ball a fingertip lift to the hoop as Chicago Bulls' Horace Grant (left) and Bill Cartwright squeeze in an attempt to defend in Wednesday night action.

The Pistons shot 55.9 percent while holding the Bulls to just 28-of-84 (33.3 percent) shooting.

"We're going to have to play hard in Game 6," said Joe Dumars, who led Detroit with 20 points. "We can't play in spurts to beat them. We have to play consistently.

The defensive key, as usual, was handling Michael Jordan.

"The key to controlling Michael is to go at him on offense," said John Salley, who led Detroit with 10 rebounds off the bench. "When you let his defense become his offense, that's when he scores 45.

Jordan scored 89 points in the Bulls' two victories in Chicago. But in the three games in Detroit, he is averaging only 28 points.

He scored only 22 points on 7-of-19 shooting in Game 5. Scottie Pippen had 19 and Horace Grant 15

"Home court and home fans and home cooking can inspire you to pick up your defense," Jordan said. "The keys for us to win in this building is we have to shoot the ball better, control the boards and get the score up around 95 points. Tonight, nobody could generate

Because Daly likes to run his reserves in and out of the game frequently, nobody in the Detroit lineup played more than 38 minutes

By comparison, Pippen played 45 minutes while Jordan and Grant each played 39 minutes of the fastpaced game. The wear and tear began to tell in the fourth quarter when Jackson rested Jordan for four minutes.

Detroit used that opportunity to increase its lead from nine to 15 points. The Pistons eventually stretched the lead to 89-71 on a basket by Aguirre with 5:28 remaining "He had to come out," Jackson

Injured shoulder or not, UT's Boden breaks mark

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) - Patrik Boden has thrown out any notion that his injured shoulder isn't ready to take him to an NCAA championship in the javelin. Boden, the world record-holder from Texas with a throw of 292 feet, 4 inches almost two months ago. came back with a meet-record throw of 265-6 in a qualifying heat of the track and field championships at Duke's Wallace Wade Stadium. Now, he gets 36 hours to

"Maybe this will give me some belief in myself again," said Boden, rubbing his right shoulder as he talked to reporters about his throw. He broke the mark of 258-9 set by Dag Wennlund, also of Texas, in 1986.

"I'm satisfied with my throw." Boden was lifting weights to strengthen his throwing shoulder when the bar shifted. The injury didn't affect his ability to throw the javelin, but the soreness did affect his mind.

"When this happened, I didn't have the confidence any more. I've only had two practices since it happened, so I haven't had any time to work on my technique.

standards, but to win Boden said he wants to stay relaxed. To do that, Boden will take treatments for the shoulder and he won't practice.

Boden's throw was 24 feet better than the next nearest competitor, Siggy Matthiason of Alabama.

The first day's competition produced little suspense as well as a little crowd in a stadium hoping to serve as host to the 1992 Olympic track and field trials.

Steve Lewis, the 1988 Olympic champion in the 400 meters and a member of the 1,600-meter relay champions at Seoul, won his heat in the 400 in 45.60 seconds. Lewis is coming back to the outdoor championships after missing the 1989 meet with hamstring problems.

"The time wasn't really that important. Just make sure I felt OK getting through it," Lewis said.

There's still the semifinals on Friday and the finals on Saturday afternoon. Lewis says strength of the legs is fine, but it's what's in the heart that will carry runners to the doubles partner.

Mercedes Paz, who has spent most of her career in the shadow of Argentine compatriot Gabriela Sabatini, ran down the 18-year-old Spaniard's varied shots to win 7-5, 3-6, 6-1, then broke into tears of joy over her biggest victory.

"I feel very, very happy," said Paz, who lives in Key Biscayne, Fla. "It was a dream to play on center court and to beat the champion of last year.'

It was the earliest a defending women's champion had gone out of the Grand Slam tournament, according to the Women's Interna-

Girls went dancing after killing woman

FORT WORTH (AP) -Hours after shooting a 23-yearold woman who had befriended them, three teen-age girls drove off in her car, divided up the woman's jewelry and cash, then went dancing, two girls have testified.

Lisa Pete, 23, was shot in the back April 28, 1989. The girls said Ms. Pete gave them a ride after she met them at a neighborhood post office. Denise Cherry, 16, who is accused of firing the shots that felled Ms. Pete, is being tried on charges of murder and aggravated robbery. She has been certified to stand trial as an adult

Because she is a minor, the maximum sentence she could get if convicted is life in prison.

Her two alleged accomplices, Demeltrous LaShonn Dancer, 16, and Christine Desiree Bush. 17, pleaded guilty to robbery charges only and are free on

In exchange for their testimony against Ms. Cherry — whom all three girls say pulled the trigger — Ms. Bush is to receive a 5-year prison term, and Ms. Dancer is to receive 10 years' probation.

Gorbachev welcomed to White House

By DAVID ESPO

Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON - President

Bush welcomed Mikhail S. Gorbachev to the White House today for summit talks, pledging an "open and honest search for common ground" on tough issues ranging from arms control to the shape of a united Germany. 'Over the next four days we're not going to solve all of the world's problems," Bush said in opening remarks that praised Gorbachev for the changes he has brought to the Communist world. "We can and will take significant steps toward a new relationship.

Gorbachev, in reply, said he had come to do "serious work" towards an arms control agreement and other issues. He foresaw an era of "irreversible peace," and said "The trenches of cold war are disappearing; the fog of prejudice, mistrust and animosity is vanishing.

The leaders spoke after elaborate welcoming ceremonies on the sun-splashed White House South Lawn. Together, they reviewed an honor guard of troops and watched while a fife and drum corps in Revolutionary attire paraded past.

Soviet and American flags waved side-by-side along Pennsylvania Avenue as Gorbachev's motorcade made its way to the White House. An Oval Office meeting began the first-day schedule. Gorbachev was using the lunch brea to meet with a cross-section of American thinkers and performers — a group ranging from Kissinger to Sinatra.

A few hours before the opening of the four-day summit, Secretary of State James A. Baker III held out the prospect of "significant and concrete progress" on strategic nuclear arms reductions, a subject that snagged at the first Bush-Gorbachev summit last December.

"We've seen a world of change," in the past year, Bush said. He said the summit should lay "the groundwork for overcoming decades" of East-West discord.

Baker, interviewed on ABC, saw encouraging signs of a "dialogue" on Lithuanian independence, an issue that has left plans for a Soviet-American trade agreement in limbo.

But Baker cautioned that neither Lithuania nor the German issue is likely to be resolved at the summit.

"All of the Western allies, all of the countries of Western Europe, and, indeed, three countries of the Warsaw Pact think that the unified Germany should be a full member of NATO, and that this would promote stability in Europe," Baker

Gorbachev has been opposed to full German membership in the NATO military alliance.

Bush praised Gorbachev for his strides toward democracy and freedom in the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe, but the two men seemed to spar politely over the German question in their opening

"I believe we can work together at this historic moment to further the process of building a new Europe one in which every nation GORBACHEV page 10-A

Cadet talks West Point to students

Matt Burrow paid a visit to Stanton High School and told the students about the benefits of attending the U.S. Military Academy Burrow, a 1988 Big Spring High School graduate, is finishing his sophomore year at the Academy and is majoring in electrical engineering.

'Coming from West Texas, I feel that I was better prepared, because our school system gets you ready for college," Burrow said. The degree of difficulty is very hard, especially at West Point, but it seemed harder to students from other states.

"They would come to me for help. I have started on some of my EE courses this year and will be concentrating more on my degreerelated courses." he added.

Three students expressed interest in attending West Point, Blaine Hall, John Paul Barry and James Miller marriage, are doing well. "I have one of the neatest wives that you've ever seen," he said. "I've got probably the best deal anywhere: I've got some good, quality people managing my business, and I've got a good wife that understands everything." But for others, he said, "It's been a hardship. "Everybody's under a financial strain right now, not only because of the economy, but because of the time they spend here," he said. Legislators who make their living in small law firms run the risk of antagonizing their partners with long absences, Lewis said. "Partners get tired of carrying them after a short period of time." "You've got some who are insurance salesmen," he said, by way of another example. "They can't sell insurance if they're not home."

Money woes can have an unhappy effect on marriages, Lewis added.

"Once you get a financial strain, that brings on marital strain," he said. "It hasn't been easy, I'll assure you."

Clements, leaders say human services bill planned

By MICHAEL HOLMES

Associated Press Writer AUSTIN — Legislative leaders and Gov. Bill Clements say they foresee quick action in the next special session on a bill to bail out troubled state human service programs.

'We're certainly going to put the DHS (Department of Human Services) payments on the fast track, and that'll be one of the first issues we'll take up,'' said House Speaker Gib Lewis.

"There are a number of lifethreatening cases there and that's why I'll make it my first priority to get that funding taken care of just as early as possible," said Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby.

Hobby said the Legislature could move quickly to boost health and

"One way to handle it is to pass a cuts bill on the order of $100 million and that would get those departments through the fiscal year. Fund the agencies for as long as we can. That avoids any of the agencies going over the cliff," Hobby

Gov. Clements said he will call lawmakers back for another special session next week, adding that welfare programs will be inhuman services funding by cutting cluded on the agenda

Three agencies report financial trouble:

• The Department of Health says it will be forced to suspend some services in the Chronically Ill and Disabled Children's program, a medical provider of last resort for thousands of children suffering major illnesses.

 Human Services officials say their budget shortfall could force a possible suspension of Medicaid payments for more than 50,000 nursing home patients.

• The Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation says it needs some additional funds to meet orders of the federal judge who oversees that agency.

Clements said he wasn't worried that services might have to be cut but declined to say just where the extra welfare money would be

"I think we'll take care of them in due course," he said. "Everything is moving in exactly the right way, and we'll take care of that in due course.

Here we have the most trooms throughout the state, often dignified structure, the European cathedral of Texas development the symbol of democracy and elective government was the county courthouse," Williams said. These monstrous buildings rose out of county squares when there were shacks and lean-to buildings around town squares.

But, he finds himself often telling economically conservative commissioners: "You guys treat your road tractors and cutter tractors with better maintenance than these

Two entrances of the building have been shut off and the former hallways converted to office space. The second-floor courtroom, once with a spectator balcony and a tinplate high ceiling, now is covered with an acoustic-tiled suspended ceiling without a balcony. The third-floor is full of offices Paneling and coats of paint cover historic finishes.

County records are strewn haphazardly in an unkept attic, and their weight is possibly causing structural damage.

"The conditions at this courthouse are typical of rural counties Like many historic courthouses munities, but ironically one of the The Caldwell County Courthouse, throughout Texas," said John Volz, what must be done as well as what > should be done Volz is weighing how to meet the building's safety needs while restoring some of the building's lost luster.

They've had to meet the needs of the county," Volz said of changes made with little regard for the building's history

The interest in fixing up the Caldwell County courthouse comes both from the safety concerns and the building's upcoming centennial in 1993, said Phyllis Metcalfe, chairwoman of the courthouse restoration committee.

problems, the Bastrop commissioners decided to undertake a $1.3 million renovation of their 1888 courthouse and adjacent 1893 jail.

"We felt like it was crumbling," County Commissioner Johnny Sanders said of the courthouse project, scheduled to be completed later this year. "To rehabilitate the building will save money in the Sanders said commissioners decided it would have been more cpensive to build a new building to gain the same amount of office space.

That decision bucks a Texas tradition, architect Williams said A new building is often easier to sell to voters and is considered a mark of progress. Historical commission architect Rick Lewis finds many commissioners thinking a new building will be how future generations will remember them. That building plaque inscribed with their names is an ego boost.

"It's a human nature issue," Lewis said. "They want to be recognized as being the court that built the courthouse in 1991.
