Lions Club offers Hamburger Supper

The Downtown Lions Club will serve their traditional Hamburger Supper before the Big Spring Steers play the Lubbock Westerners Friday, Sept. 21.

The supper will be in the East Room of the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum from 5 to 7 p.m. The hamburger patties will be grilled just outside the dining room, and trimmings will be available.

The cost is $4 for adults and $2 for children. The proceeds from the supper are used to fund youth and community sponsored projects by the Downtown Lions Club. One of the most recent projects is the Steer banners being flown from flagpoles along Gregg Street before each football game.

Inmate will not face discipline

Federal prison inmate Charles Thompson, former football player at the University of Oklahoma, will not face disciplinary action for his "900" telephone number, the Big Spring Federal Correctional Institute reported today.

A local prison administrator had said there was a possibility that Thompson violated rules prohibiting "unauthorized contact with the public" when taping the recorded message.

Joe Aguirre, executive assistant to the warden, said the Dallas regional office has determined that Thompson's message may have been recorded during an authorized interview.

"It was determined that there was not enough evidence there for us to do anything," Aguirre said. "We can't prove he used the telephone here to record (the message)."

The pay-per-call phone number advertises "Down and Dirty: The Life and Crimes of Oklahoma Football," written by Thompson with Penthouse magazine writer Allan Sonnenschein.

Saddam seizes foreign assets

By CHRISTOPHER BURNS
Associated Press Writer

Iraqi President Saddam Hussein today seized all foreign assets from countries honoring the embargo on trade with his nation, just days before the U.N. Security Council was expected to toughen its sanctions.

In Baghdad, the Iraqi government said today that it has seized all cash deposits and property of governments, companies and banks — private and government-owned — from countries that are honoring the U.N.-ordered embargo.

The state-run Iraqi News Agency said the ruling Revolutionary Command Council ordered the confiscation under a new seven-article law dealing with the protection of "Iraqi interests, money and rights in Iraq and abroad."

INA did not mention how much money was involved.

The United States and other countries already have frozen Iraq's foreign holdings. Kuwait's foreign assets, estimated at about $100 billion, have been turned over to the country's exiled leaders.

The Revolutionary Command Council is Iraq's highest policymaking body, headed by Saddam.

In Washington, Federal Reserve Chairman Alan Greenspan warned that the 6-week-old crisis in the Persian Gulf had introduced "new and substantial risks" for the prospects of continued growth of the U.S. economy.

"Just the enormous uncertainty about how and when the tensions in the Persian Gulf will be resolved undoubtedly is affecting the economy in a negative way," Greenspan told the congressional Joint Economic Committee.

And in more troubling economic news, a leading oil industry group said today that U.S. petroleum imports rose 4.1 percent in August compared with a year ago, while U.S. crude oil production dropped 4.8 percent.

In an effort to cripple the Iraqi economy, nine West European countries on Tuesday endorsed a proposed United Nations air blockade, and Argentina said it was joining the multinational flotilla enforcing the naval blockade of Iraq.

U.N. Secretary-General Javier Perez de Cuellar said he feared the gulf military standoff brought on by Iraq's Aug. 2 invasion of Kuwait could turn into World War III.

Appeals for an air blockade to make the U.N.-ordered trade embargo as airtight as possible grew stronger after Iraqi troops raided several Western diplomatic com-

Council adopts $16 million budget

By DEBBIE LINCECUM
Staff Writer

The City Council passed an ordinance adopting a $16 million budget and set the municipal ad valorem taxes at 57 cents per $100 of value for the coming year in their regular meeting Tuesday.

The rate allows for increased revenues of 12.89 percent.

A 5-1 vote was recorded in favor of the ordinance. Chuck Condray was absent. Mayor Maxwell Green, who continued to vote against both the budget and its resulting tax rate, said after the meeting that he did not approve of the method the council had chosen to increase the tax rate.

He referred to the planned issuance of $430,000 in contractual obligations for the purchase of 15 new police cars and a new fire truck. Effective Oct. 1, there will be a property tax increase to pay the bond debt.

"Contractual obligations are a legal way for the council to increase the tax rate without challenge from the taxpayers," Green said. "The public has no opportunity to say if they approve. I am against the (budget and tax rate) for that reason."

In other budget considerations, City Attorney Mike Thomas explained that a donation from the city to Big Spring Main Street Inc. would be illegal. The money, $5,000 intended as funding for the agency's projects, will have to be designated as a contract payment to comply with the law.

In other business, Linda Roger, of the Chamber of Commerce Convention/Visitors Bureau, spoke to the council concerning a proposed tourist information center. Rip Griffin Truck Stop has agreed to complete $3,000 in renovations and provide space for the center for $50 per month rent, she said.

"Where we're sitting right now is without funding," Roger said, adding that the Chamber was considering using a volunteer to staff the center.

At a recent meeting, councilwoman Gail Earls suggested that part of the $50,000 allotment for roof construction on the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center be used to fund the tourist center. The suggestion did not receive the support of other councilmembers at that time.

Roger referred to that suggestion in her presentation Tuesday.

"If the re-roofing does not take the entire $50,000, I hope you'll let me have some of that (funding)," Roger said. "I'm asking that you give me consideration."

The council accepted annual bids at the meeting, including:

- Inmate pants for the correctional center, to be ordered from Martin's Uniform of San Antonio.
- Super hi-tensil wire, from U.S. Wire of Chicago.

- Trash bags, from Bemis of Terre Haute, Ind.
- Gasoline and diesel fuel orders, contracted with Parks Fuels of Big Spring.

- City employee uniforms, from Uniforms of Texas in Dallas.

Wastewater and water treatment chemicals will be ordered from DPC Industries of Sweetwater, Natick of Massachusetts, Austin White Lime of Austin, Russ Chemical of Odessa, Wester Water Management of North Kansas City, Mo. and Carroll Welding of Abilene.

The council gave city officials permission to advertise for bids for fire alarms, perimeter electronic security and a closed circuit television system for the new prison.

Beverly Franklin of Big Spring Main Street Inc. received approval from the council to hold a street dance in the parking lot at Main and Second streets. Franklin said the dance will be part of the first "Trash and Treasures" event.

An annual permit to keep bees inside the city limits was approved for Roger L. Foster of 2107 Warren. City Manager Hal Boyd said Foster lives at the edge of the city limits.

Boyd announced a called meeting Monday, Oct. 8, after which there will be a reception for members of Moore Development for Big Spring Inc.

City Attorney Mike Thomas noted the progress on a situation involving two condemned buildings, Moffett 1 and 2, located at 212 and 200 Main Street. The buildings have been ordered demolished. Thomas said the owners of the properties have 30 days to respond to written

Cheerleaders compete at fair

Screams filled the air as squad after squad of girls in coordinated uniforms marched, jumped, kicked, flipped and yelled in rhythm at the Battle of the Cheerleaders last night at the Howard County Fair.

Participating in front of a packed crowd at the county barn were girls from third grade to high school. Even the Howard College Hawks squad was on hand to demonstrate some intricate routines they had worked up — like the teeter-totter and the helicopter.

Coming up at the fair

Tonight the Howard County Fair will present the Cindy Nix Show at 6 p.m., followed by the Jody Nix Show at 7 p.m. Both shows will be held in the Entertainment Tent.

Thursday will be Cookie Day; judging will be at 1:30 p.m. Continuing all week will be "Jocko," the Clown, and an educational activity program at 7:30 & 9:30 p.m.

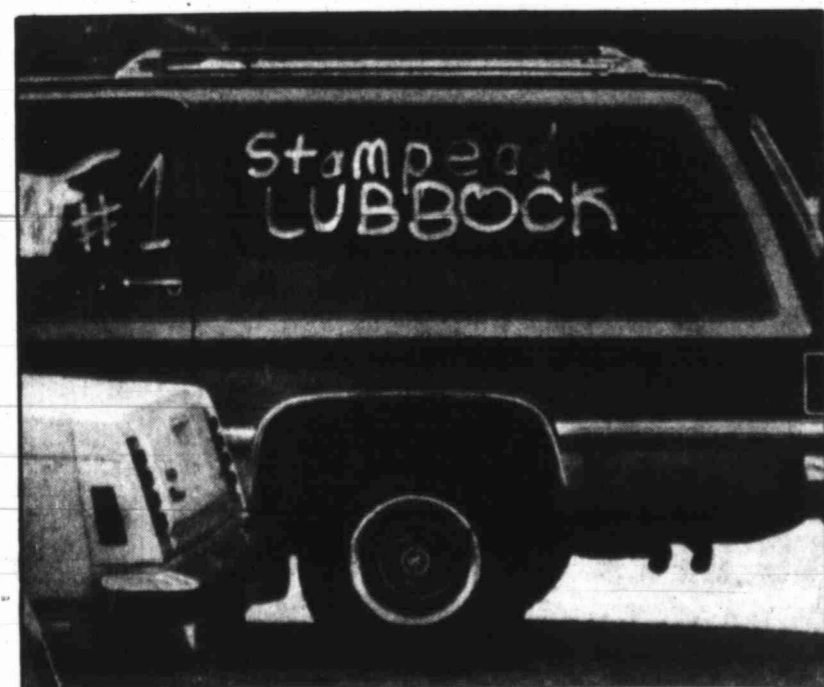

"T! O! U! C! H! Down! Down!" yelled the Forsan Pee Wee Cheerleaders as they swung their hips to the word down. One squad leader called it "every little girl's dream."

When the smoke cleared, Forsan High School won first place in varsity cheerleading and Big Spring High School won first in the varsity dance routine.

"They come out in droves every year," one person in the crowd said of people supporting the Forsan girls.

They were judged on originality, spirit, technique and voice.

Hightower opposes incinerators

By PATRICK DRISCOLL
Staff Writer

LUBBOCK — Texas Commissioner of Agriculture Jim Hightower said Tuesday afternoon that his office is opposed to incinerator operations in West Texas that would bring in waste from out of the state.

"I oppose it. As a state agency we are making our staff available to fight it," he said during a South Plains Environmental Conference on recycling.

"Largely we have to deal with our own waste," Hightower said. He said his office will assist any local citizens that want help in fighting out-of-state incinerator proposals. "It depends really on the local folks," he said.

He acknowledged that creating local jobs, a selling point of the incinerator operations, is important, but added, "They (companies) think they can kind of overwhelm local folks." He did not mention any specific companies.

A recent survey done by his office shows that Lubbock, Levelland, Roby, Fort Stockton, Sanderson, Alpine, Loving County and Mitchell County have been approached by officials of three out-of-state companies. The companies are: National Waste and Energy Development Corp., Pittsburgh; All-American Corp., New York; and Chemical Waste Management.

Hightower also said his office is working with Texans Against Pollution in Mitchell County, a group opposed to a proposal by NWED. County Commissioners signed a host agreement with the company in March to assist them in return for incentives which could total $1 million yearly.

"We are working with that group of farmers and ranchers out there to get them on an even footing with the corporate interests and the bureaucrats who are in favor of putting that incinerator out there," Hightower said.

Local opposition has also sprung up against proposals in Lubbock, Levelland and Ft. Stockton. The Lubbock City Council signed a host agreement with All-American last month. South Plains Earth Awareness Connection spokesperson

Workers disciplined for private parties

DALLAS (AP) — Private parties with prostitutes resulted in disciplinary action against seven employees of a federal minerals office who called themselves "Royalty Rangers," a newspaper reported today.

The group of auditors from the U.S. Minerals Management Service's Dallas office socialized with prostitutes and topless dancers during a six-year period and documented their exploits with nude photos. The Dallas Morning News said.

An investigative report obtained by the newspaper said the group's members admitted paying for dancers to attend parties and acknowledged financing an abortion for a prostitute who became pregnant.

Investigators discovered an identification card titled "Whore Handlers' Benefit Plan," along with photos, topless nightclub business cards and other materials inside what employees called "The Ranger Book."

In it, one photo shows two men wearing T-shirts that state, "Royalty Ranger Is My Name, Auditing Leases Is My Game."

Another picture had the caption: "Ayatollah Ranger. Has Been Given Credit For First Using the Phrase 'Rape, pillage and plunder.'"

Sheriff testifies to grand jury

DECATUR (AP) — A sheriff who testified for five hours before a county grand jury says he is confident the panel will clear him of corruption allegations.

After Wise County Sheriff Leroy Burch's testimony Tuesday, the panel recessed for the day and planned to meet again today. A decision could come Friday, prosecutors said.

"I think the majority of people here in Wise County know what is going on and they are getting very tired, and I have been very tired for the last two years, of it — more than the people since I'm wearing the shoes — of all the bickering," Burch said.

"That's what this grand jury's for," he said.

Prosecutors said they are not likely to call any more witnesses before the panel, which is reportedly investigating actions of a bail bond operation.

"Whatever the grand jury decides to do, I'm all for," the sheriff said. "But, now, indicting don't mean that they won the court battle."

Three accused of vote fraud

BEEVILLE (AP) — Three people have been charged with coercing elderly Hispanics into voting for particular candidates through mail-in absentee ballots following a four-month investigation into voter fraud in Bee County.

Those charged Tuesday with unlawful assistance were Adan V. Gonzalez, the winner of a Democratic runoff for justice of the peace, Elena Salazar, wife of incumbent Justice of the Peace Ben Salazar, and Lucy Guerrero, a campaign worker for

The charges were the first filed in an investigation that began in May by County Attorney Jose Aliseda. Aliseda confirmed the charges were filed Tuesday but declined comment.

The investigation into other voter-fraud allegations is continuing, Aliseda said.

The unlawful assistance charge is a Class B misdemeanor. If convicted the defendants face up to six months in the county jail and fines of up to $1,000.

"He (Aliseda) had to do something to save face," Gonzalez said after he learned about the charges. "I don't think he has a leg to stand on. He ain't got nothing."

Williams: Bank will cooperate with probe

HOUSTON (AP) — Republican gubernatorial nominee Clayton Williams said he will cooperate with state investigators probing allegations regarding car loans made through his Midland bank.

"We will cooperate with any examination from anybody in any way," Williams said Tuesday after a speech in Houston. But he said he has had no official word of an investigation.

"We don't know anything about that yet," Williams said. "As far as I know, there's no examination going on, other than regular financial examination. And they happen periodically."

Williams denied published reports that ClayDesta National Bank had required high-risk borrowers, in Houston and Dallas to buy unnecessary life and disability insurance as a condition for their auto loans.

"We've not done anything out of line in any way," he said. "I think it's politically motivated. They told me when I started out, 'It won't be fair, you just have to take it and go on.'"

"They weren't wrong," he said, laughing.

Williams, who has been shown in recent polls to have a double-digit percentage point lead over Democratic nominee Ann Richards, said the reports about his bank would not damage his campaign.

Several Texas newspapers reported Tuesday that the attorney general's office and the state Consumer Credit Commission are investigating the loan allegations.

Rich Tomlinson, an assistant attorney general in charge of the consumer protection division in Houston, said his office will look into insurance transactions to see if the bank violated any laws by requiring loan buyers to purchase insurance.

HOUSTON — Republican gubernatorial candidate Clayton Williams meets supporters here Tuesday after a noon speech. Williams said he was unaware of an investigation concerning his bank but would cooperate with the inquiry.

"I have not reached any conclusions, but that could well be a violation of the state's Deceptive Trade Practices Act," he said.

"It's possible that all these consumers who have complained are mistaken. (But) I tend to believe what consumers tell me," Steven Gardner, an assistant attorney general in Dallas, added.

Tomlinson said the investigation involving the attorney general's offices in Dallas, Lubbock and Houston, could lead to negotiations with the bank and eventually a civil lawsuit.

Williams said bank officials "told me they fulfilled all requirements, that we never have required insurance sold by our bank to any customer. I'm proud of my bank. Nine out of 10 major Texas banks went broke, changed hands. We made it. It's been tough in banking. So I don't apologize, but if there's any examination we'll cooperate fully."

In other political developments:

- The Texas State Teachers Association announced Tuesday its support of Richards, and denounced Williams for his proposal to channel state tax dollars into private schools under a so-called voucher system.
- "The Williams plan could take up to $500 million from the public schools and channel those funds into a voucher system for private and or religious schools," TSTA president Ollie Besteiro said.
- Williams announced President Bush has accepted an invitation to campaign for him in Texas on Oct. 15. Details of the trip are being finalized, according to the Republican's campaign.
- Two public watchdog groups released answers by general election candidates to a survey on ethics reform.

In the survey by Common Cause of Texas and Public Citizen, Richards said she supported making lobbyists publicly disclose more records on their activities; a commission to enforce ethics laws and campaign finance reform.

She said she would favor a pay increase for legislators only if there were comprehensive changes in ethics laws.

Polluters agree to reduce emissions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nine major chemical polluters plan sizable reductions in cancer-causing emissions from 30 plants states over the next three years as a result of arm-twisting by the Environmental Protection Agency.

EPA Administrator William K. Reilly said Tuesday the planned pollution cuts, although only a small portion of the 2.4 billion pounds of toxic industrial chemicals released annually, are significant because they come from plants where the cancer risks are considered highest.

The voluntary reductions were agreed upon after lengthy negotiations with the agency. Reilly said that under current laws it would be exceedingly difficult and time-consuming to force similar emission cuts.

The nine corporations are among the major petrochemical companies in the nation. They are BASF, Dow Chemical Co., Exxon Corp., General Electric, Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., Occidental, Reichhold, Texaco and Texas Petrochemical.

Most of the reductions, totaling nearly 9.5 million pounds annually, were scheduled to be made from within a few months to two years, General Electric said it would meet the cuts by the end of 1993.

A number of other companies, such as Du Pont and Monsanto, have previously announced plans to significantly reduce toxic emissions, but were not part of the discussions with the EPA.

Under the agreement, releases of cancer-causing chemicals will be cut by about 80 percent at the 30 plants in 14 states, the EPA said. The planned reduction covers six cancer-causing chemicals.

The action comes as Congress nears approval of tougher pollution control legislation that will require industry to sharply reduce toxic emissions from factories over the next seven years.

David Doniger, a specialist on toxic industrial pollution for the Natural Resources Defense Council, said that while the voluntary reductions are welcomed, they are not believed to go beyond what the legislation in Congress will require anyway.

Although the planned cuts are only a small share of the total annual emissions, Reilly called the companies' actions "quite significant" because the reductions will come from plants where the EPA considers the cancer risks among the highest.

Twelve of the plants under the agreement have cancer risk levels of at least 1 in 100 over a lifetime if a person were to live at the plant boundary, the EPA said.

But the voluntary reductions by the nine companies don't cover dozens of other refineries and petrochemical plants where the EPA estimates comparable health concerns.

The 30 plants are among 182 cited by the EPA last year as posing a worrisome level of cancer risk because of toxic releases into the air. These 182 plants in 1988 released more than 34 million pounds of the six chemicals covered by the agreement, the EPA said.

Ten of the plants are in Texas and four are in Louisiana. Others are in Tennessee, Pennsylvania, Georgia, California, Connecticut, Michigan, West Virginia, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, North Carolina and Delaware.

Here is a list of the plants involved, by manufacturer:

BASF: Geismar, La.; Monaca, Pa.; Chattanooga, Tenn. (2 plants).

Dow Chemical: Freeport, Texas; Dalton, Ga.; Gales Ferry, Conn.; Midland Mich.; Pittsburg, Calif.; Plaquemine, La.

Exxon: Baytown, Texas; Baton Rouge, La.

General Electric: Washington, W.Va.; Ottawa, Ill.; Mount Vernon, Ind.

Goodyear: Houston, Texas; Beaumont, Texas; Akron, Ohio; Calhoun, Ga.

Occidental: Bayport, Texas; Beaumont, Texas; Castle Hayne, N.C.; Convent, La.; Deer Park, Texas; Corpus Christi, Texas; Belle, W.Va.

Reichhold: Cheswold, Del.; Kensington, Ga.

Texaco: Port Neches, Texas.

Collapsing wall causes three deaths

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A brick facade that collapsed on a busy sidewalk, killing three people and injuring eight, apparently was improperly anchored and was pulled down by signs and iron shutters attached to it, officials say.

Don Kligerman, commissioner of the Department of Licenses and Inspections, said the accident Tuesday could lead to criminal charges.

The two-story facade of two storefronts gave way shortly before 2:30 p.m. between 9th and 10th streets on Market Street, one of the city's main arteries.

Among the 11 passersby caught in the collapse were four police officers walking a beat. Two of the injured were seriously hurt.

"It happened so fast you couldn't see anything," said Alom Kadosh, manager of a stereo store. "But as soon as it happened people went outside and everybody pitched in to help pull off the bricks and the metal that covered the people."

The cause of the accident was under investigation, but authorities said they believed the wall was not properly anchored.

Union council approves contract

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors Corp. is ready to spend more than $4 billion over the next three years to shut unprofitable plants without argument from the United Auto Workers.

Under the three-year tentative contract the union's bargaining council approved Tuesday, the world's largest automaker will make the money available to assure workers will be paid in full if they are laid off by plant closings.

Analysts say GM will have to close at least four assembly plants and lay off tens of thousands of people in an industry threatened by a sluggish economy and foreign competition.

The union made job security its top priority and said its objective was reached in the agreement reached early Monday after 41 hours of non-stop talks. The contract covers 300,000 workers in 29 states.

GM has closed four assembly plants in the last three years, putting about 9,000 employees out of work.

Under the latest pact, GM will pay dearly to close a plant. It guarantees workers laid off for up to 36 weeks 95 percent of their wages by supplementing their unemployment benefits. Anyone laid off for more than 36 weeks will be guaranteed full pay for the duration of the contract.

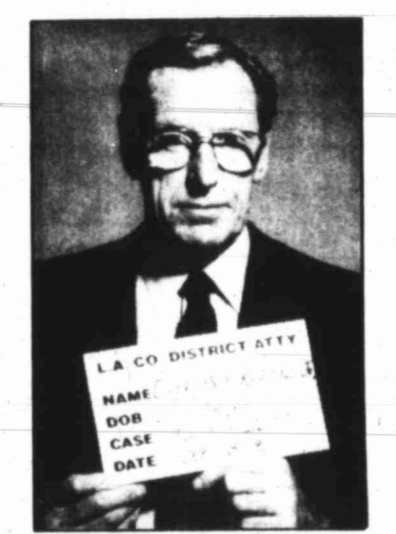

The next step for the union is to get the contract ratified, a process expected to take until the end of the month.

Keating jailed, unable to make bail

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Charles H. Keating Jr., whose lavish lifestyle, risky investments and political access made him a symbol of the savings and loan scandal, was led away in shackles after being charged with swindling junk-bond investors.

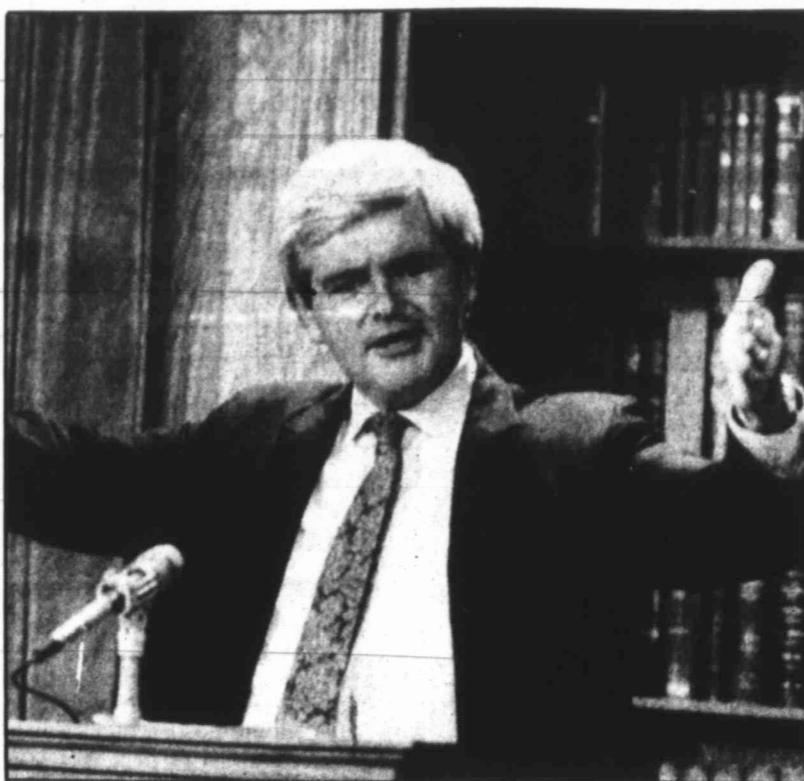

Keating, whose Lincoln Savings and Loan collapsed in the nation's biggest S&L failure, was jailed on $5 million bail Tuesday. Though accused of looting the thrift before it went under, the 66-year-old Keating claims to be broke.

Superior Court Judge Gary Klausner, in setting bail, said the indictment contained serious allegations: selling securities by false statements or omissions, selling securities without qualifications and lying to the California Department of Corporations.

Three former executives in Keating's empire were indicted as well.

WASHINGTON, D.C. — House Minority Leader Newt Gingrich, R-Ga., during a Capitol Hill news conference Tuesday, shows how far apart the Republican and Democratic budget members were at the start of the Andrews Air Force Base meetings ten days ago. Gingrich says they are still the same distance apart Tuesday.

A Budget compromise continues to be elusive

WASHINGTON (AP) — The hunt by the Bush administration and congressional leaders for a budget compromise is lurching into an uncertain direction as the two sides, their eyes on the calendar, search for a compromise.

The top five congressional leaders planned to meet again today with White House Chief of Staff John Sununu and two other high-ranking administration officials. They are seeking a package to cut the federal deficit by $50 billion next year and $450 billion more by 1995.

The group met in the Capitol on Tuesday, a day after the 10-day-old negotiations at Andrews Air Force Base in nearby Maryland ended in stalemate.

"It was reaffirmed on all sides that it continues to be our strong desire to reach agreement as soon as possible," said House Majority Leader Richard Gephardt, D-Mo.

Gephardt and White House budget director Richard Darman also planned to meet separately in the hope of making a breakthrough.

The effort continued as Oct. 1, the first day of fiscal 1991, rapidly approached. If no deal is in place by that day, the Gramm-Rudman law will chop about $100 billion out of the $1.2 trillion federal budget, a cut that all agree would stagger government operations.

Senate Minority Leader Bob Dole, R-Kan., began gathering signatures among his colleagues on a letter promising support for President Bush if he vetoes a bill rolling back the Gramm-Rudman cuts, should one arise.

But some officials who asked to not be identified — including Republicans — said that because the effect of the Gramm-Rudman cuts would be so severe, it was not clear that Dole would get 34 signatures, the minimum amount of votes needed to sustain a veto.

Democrats said the Andrews talks failed because of Bush's demand to cut the capital gains tax rate. Republicans say the reduction would stimulate the economy, while Democrats contend only the rich would benefit because they own most of the property affected by the tax.

Republicans also blamed the impasse on Democratic efforts to raise taxes too high and to protect domestic programs from spending cuts.

Secret police face investigation

WEST BERLIN (AP) — Investigators digging through files of East Germany's old Communist government say East Germany's ex-secret police chief set up meetings between Palestinian guerrillas and a leftist West German terror gang.

The legacy of the hated secret police, or Stasi, has become the No. 1 political theme in East Germany and is increasingly spilling over into West Germany.

In Bonn, there was a political stalemate over amnesty for the Stasi's spy corps. That raised the specter of a wave of arrests on German unification day, Oct. 3.

Since the fall of East German leader Erich Honecker, there have been nearly continuous disclosures about his Communist government's alleged support of terrorism.

East German police, working with their West German colleagues, rounded up nine Red Army Faction terrorist suspects in June. They had been living in East Germany under assumed names.

The Red Army Faction has waged a deadly campaign against West German businesses.

Ryzhkov's resignation requested

MOSCOW (AP) — The parliament of the Russian republic today demanded the resignation of the national Cabinet, or Council of Ministers, led by Prime Minister Nikolai I. Ryzhkov, blaming them for the country's economic crisis.

Russia is only one of 15 Soviet republics, but the formal expression of no confidence was a major blow to Ryzhkov, whose resignation has been demanded by demonstrators for months.

Members of the Supreme Soviet of Russia, led by Russian President Boris N. Yeltsin, blamed Ryzhkov for the nation's economic troubles and said they did not believe he would carry out a proposed plan to create a market-based economy in 500 days.

The Russian parliament voted overwhelmingly last week to adopt the 500-day plan, and the national Supreme Soviet legislature is now considering whether to approve it or one of two other major proposals.

Ryzhkov presented his proposal, the most conservative, to the national body last week.

As prime minister and head of the Council of Ministers, Ryzhkov oversees the government bureaucracy and could play a key role in putting any reform plan into effect — or obstructing it.

Gorbachev tapped the 60-year-old Ryzhkov to be prime minister in 1985 and he has often been in public next to the Soviet leader.

Ryzhkov is one of the architects of perestroika, the restructuring program Gorbachev introduced, but Mikhail Malei, a Moscow lawmaker, complained that he has done a poor job.

Mohawks fight for their weapons

MOHAWK ATTACKS SOLDIER

KAHNAWAKE, Quebec (AP) — Indians brawled with Canadian troops who were seizing weapons at a Mohawk reservation, and soldiers fired tear gas to disperse the crowd. At least 82 people were hurt, officials said.

Dozens of men, women and children jumped into the cold St. Lawrence River on Tuesday to escape the stinging gas.

Mohawks punched and kicked soldiers, who used rifle butts and fists in the brawl after the Indians intervened during the search-and-seizure operation at the Kahnawake reservation by the military and Quebec provincial police.

It was one of the most violent clashes since the Mohawk standoff began more than two months ago.

Kids cloaked in paranoia

Outfitting kids with a back-to-school wardrobe is as seasonal as the gaudy turning of New England leaves. But this year, a few children will make a fall fashion statement that is anything but traditional. They will arrive in their classrooms clad in bulletproof vests, parkas or blazers.

Cashing in on the fear of random gunfire in the city, Stephen D'Andrilli, an ex-cop from New York, is offering this unusual line of security-conscious outerwear — at a cost. Priced at up to $600, these coats are not tailored to the budgets of poor families in the inner-city neighborhoods, where stray bullets occasionally fly. Nevertheless, D'Andrilli says he is deluged with orders and queries.

Maybe. But will kids really feel safer in their Kevlar 129 pads? Or will they feel as though they are going to school wrapped in Mom's and Dad's paranoia?

Like autumn itself, fads pass. The bulletproof student blazer may well go the way of bell-bottom pants. Unfortunately, the thing that never seems to go out of style is the urban violence that inspired this silly fashion idea.

Marlboro man to the rescue

Riots in the streets of Moscow over the shortage. Angry mobs demand government action. Workers strike in protest. Nervous politicians and bureaucrats can only wring their hands.

The crisis worsens, the public becomes desperate. Then, two American companies step in and announce emergency shipments to Soviet citizens starved for their daily sustenance.

Bread? No; cigarettes.

Philip Morris and RJR Nabisco, the two largest U.S. tobacco companies, have announced plans to ship 34 billion cigarettes to the Soviet Union. The cigarette shortage worries Soviet officials. Ethnic violence, a failing economy, political dissension, a surging crime rate, labor unrest, shortages of everything from meat to drugs — all they need now is a national nicotine fix.

The Soviet government has agreed to pay for the one-month supply of cigarettes with scarce hard currency and "counter trade items," which likely means oil. The Soviets have plenty of oil, but they can't smoke or eat it. The two tobacco giants, however, would have no problem selling it.

The emergency shipment of cigarettes might ease the tobacco shortage, but other cracks in the Soviet social fabric continue to widen. At least now as they cope with the national angst, the Soviets will be able to do more than bite their fingernails.

Why not walk away from the oil crisis?

By LEWIS GRIZZARD

We could walk a lot more in this country. That's what I said. We could actually walk more.

If we walk more and drive our cars less, then maybe we could become less dependent on foreign oil so when some sheik of the burning sands decided to take over Lower Oilrichabia, we could ignore him.

There wouldn't be any need to send over our troops and planes, no reason to worry about chemical warfare, no reason to bug Henry Kissinger for interviews, no reason to bring up that nasty word "Armageddon," no reason to have to pay $87.50 a gallon at the neighborhood Texaco, and no reason for Dan Quayle to say, "Please, George, don't die on me now."

I used to walk all the time. Before I got a bicycle, I had to walk practically everywhere I couldn't convince an adult to drive me.

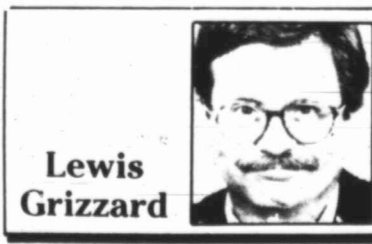

If I got thirsty and my mother said, "Walk, it'll be good for you," when I asked her to drive me to a store for a big orange, I'd have to hoof it a half-mile to the store and back.

I even walked all the way to Bobby Entekin's house one day. It was two miles both ways. He had invited me over to play cowboys and punk rockers.

But it was a pleasant, enlightening experience.

On the way, I saw a dead opossum in the road, I found a pointed rock that could have been an arrowhead, I kicked an empty can at least a mile, and I had a lot of time to think about what I wanted to do when I grew up.

I decided the next time an adult asked me about it, I would say, "I want to star in porno films" and see the look that would bring.

But after I got my bike and then got old enough to drive, I gave up walking, as have many of us.

Two of the three times I got married, I drove down the aisle. The other time, I took a cab.

I probably would drive between rooms in my house, but my car won't fit through the front door.

We are slaves to our automobiles and the juice that makes them run and that gets us into harm's way and allows oil companies to make us all feel like a bunch of dipsticks for what we have to pay for gasoline.

Let's all start walking more and driving less. We could start with me.

The convenience store where I buy pork and beans and copies of the Enquirer is less than a half-mile away. I could walk there.

I could walk to the Waffle House for my weekly cholesterol I.V.

I could walk to the video store to rent "Naughty Female Attorneys" and "Debbie Does Fargo, North Dakota," neither of which I had a part in, incidentally.

I could walk to a friend's house to play cowboys and rap groups, and I could walk to my ex-girlfriend's house when I forget I am an insensitive, arrogant, selfish jerk and need to be reminded.

Join me, America. Let's go for a walk and give Ahab the Arab and John D. Rockerperson a bad case of gas.

Who's in favor of dirty lyrics?

By JAMES J. KILPATRICK
CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. — The American people, God bless them, are a mixed-up bunch. When it comes to this business of "censorship," they are as giddy as barnyard geese. In one breath they reject censorship; in the next they embrace it. What in the name of Thomas Jefferson is going on?

The question is prompted by a poll released last week by the newly organized Thomas Jefferson Center for the Protection of Free Expression. Because I am one of the center's eight trustees, I can speak with real enthusiasm about its prospects. More of that in a moment.

Out of sheer curiosity, the center's director, Robert O'Neil, figured his first task would be to find out how the American people feel about freedom of expression. He thus commissioned a survey. Professional pollsters put together a sample of 1,500 persons across the country.

The first question brought no surprise at all: "Do you believe the government should be able to tell you what views you may or may not express?" This was a piece of cake. Only 6.1 percent said, yes, government should have such a power. A thundering 90.4 percent cried "No!" The other 3.5 percent had to think about it.

Then the pollster went to question No. 2. It was divided into four parts: "Do you believe the government has the right (1) to ban the sale of records with sexually explicit lyrics, (2) to ban the sale of records with lyrics that favor drug use, (3) to ban the broadcasting of songs with sexually explicit lyrics, and (4) to require record companies to place warning labels on records with sexually explicit lyrics?"

On these specific questions the people made a U-turn. The respondents who were all in favor of individual freedom a moment ago were now ready to restrict it. More than half were ready to ban records favoring drug use. More than 80 percent would like to see record companies compelled by law to place warning labels on certain records.

The most plausible interpretation is that the people are simply being their potty little hypocritical elves. They want freedom for themselves, but not for the other fellow. Don't tell me what I may say, or read, or listen to! But then again, you know, it's perfectly OK to tell somebody else that he may not express himself in ways that offend me. The people would have their dirt and forbid it too.

Under the Constitution, as the Supreme Court has expanded it, neither the federal government nor the state governments may lawfully abridge freedom of speech or of the press. In a series of questions, the pollsters found that the people have First Amendment views that are simultaneously generous and chintzy.

In their generous humor, roughly 60 percent of the people believe First Amendment freedoms should be extended to artists, filmmakers, musicians, actors and photographers. Turned around, the survey suggests that 40 percent do not favor such an expansion of protected liberty. How did the land of the free get to be the land of the 60 percent free?

All this is profoundly disturbing. Even more disturbing to those of us in the newspaper business was the response to question No. 5. The question asked, "Do you believe that freedom of expression under the U.S. Constitution should cover newspapers?" Merciful heavens! Only 65.1 percent said yes. Have the people never heard of "freedom of the press"? Or have they heard of freedom of the press and regard it as a bad idea? We have a job to do.

The new Thomas Jefferson Center also will have a job to do. As a non-profit association, loosely affiliated with the University of Virginia, the center's mission is at once comprehensive and narrow. It is narrow in the sense that it will deal solely with freedom of expression, leaving other parts of the Bill of Rights to others. Broadly, it will defend the right of an individual "to think, to see, to read, to say, to sing, to print, to sculpt, to film, to paint, or to embody beliefs or ideas graphically or symbolically."

Director O'Neil, who most recently was president of the University of Virginia, is saddled and mounted and ready to ride to the defense of freedom of expression anywhere. The center draws a line at child pornography. As occasions arise, doubtless other lines will be drawn as well. But we embark with an uncomfortable conviction that a great chunk of the American people don't know what freedom is; or if they do know, they don't like it.

Living in the age of the computer

By BILL AYRES
City Editor

Remember when you were little and someone asked you what you wanted to be when you grew up?

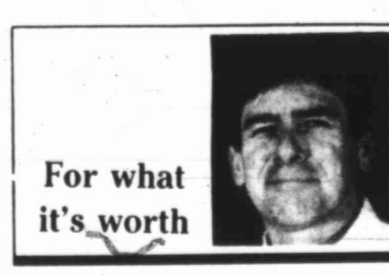

Most little boys wanted to be policemen, firemen or cowboys, while little girls wanted to be mummies. Of course, there were always some little girls who wanted to be cowboys, too, but everyone knew girls couldn't do that.

Now children seem to have a better handle on the world. While most still have fantasies, the heroes have changed.

The superheroes we knew have been replaced by one-man destructionists, capable of fulfilling a mission while facing entire armies and never suffering a serious injury.

With the advent of the computer age, youngsters today don't even have to have an imagination.

Pop in a game cartridge or diskette and in seconds you can become a ninja warrior or mutant commando that never dies. If the character runs out of lives, just turn the game off and start over again.

This is not to say that video games and home computers are bad. Of course not; our whole society is rapidly becoming dependent on computers.

Children in elementary school are being taught how to operate computers. There is a special class called "Writing to Read" that is designed to teach kindergarten students how read by using computers.

It's amazing to watch a child who can barely tie his own shoes sit down at a computer terminal and begin to compose his own stories.

The computer is still a strange device to most people in their 40's. How long did it take most of us to get accustomed to using pocket calculators?

But the day is rapidly approaching when every home will have a personal computer, complete with phone links to keep up with weather reports, market reports and to balance the family checkbook. Plus help with homework, plan meals and get dad's reports ready for the big meeting in the morning.

In fact, this column was prepared on a computer — whoops!

Have you ever wondered where everything goes when you hit the wrong key? Is there a computer void out there where all the lost information goes and if so what will happen when too much information is sent there?

There are days when I really miss my old portable typewriter!

And that's for what it's worth!

McCormicks enjoy two-week fishing trip

By MICKIE HARRINGTON
Luther Correspondent

Marge and Weldon McCormick returned Sept. 8 from a two-week fishing trip on Amistad Lake at Del Rio, plus an exciting boat-fishing trip up the Rio Grande and Pecos River with her sister and husband, Nadine and Pat Wilmut, Colleville.

The two couples traveled to the spot where the Pecos River meets the Rio Grande on Labor Day and launched the McCormick's boat in the Pecos and went up the Rio Grande for some fishing. Returning to the Pecos, they went down it, "Lookin' and fishing," said Marge McCormick. "We saw lots of scenery and went to Seminole Canyon to see the Indian paintings in the big cave there."

"We had real good luck fishing on Amistad Lake," McCormick said, "and brought back about 30 pounds of catfish filets."

Husband's fidelity claim fills his wife with doubt

DEAR ABBY: I have been happily married for eight years and was intimate with my husband for the year and a half that we were engaged. We have three children, all born by C-section, the youngest being 8 weeks old.

On my last visit to my OB doctor, he diagnosed me as having chlamydia! I have been faithful to my husband for 9 1/2 years, and he also claims to be with me. But for this entire period of time, could it be true that neither one of us has shown any signs of this disease?

I would hate to live the rest of my life wondering if my husband is lying to me. But it seems strange that I get this disease now, if I had it all along. Is he lying to me? — SUSPICIOUS IN ARIZONA

DEAR SUSPICIOUS: My gynecology consultant, Dr. Joseph Milstein, says, "Eighty percent of the cases of chlamydia are asymptomatic (without symptoms) and you could, indeed, have been carrying the disease for 10 years or more without knowing it."

If you went to your doctor with symptoms — abdominal pain or fever (symptoms of pelvic inflammatory disease) — that would imply a recent infection. But, if you were without symptoms and your chlamydia was discovered from a routine culture, it is possible that the organism has been there since you and your husband were both single.

DEAR ABBY: We moved recently, and when meeting people for the first time, we are often asked about our children. We have three sons. The two older ones have jobs with some prestige, but our youngest son was sentenced to prison a short time ago. He's had a history of mental problems from early childhood, which were always getting him in trouble with the police.

What should we say when we're asked, "How many children do you have, and what do they do?" —

Dear Abby

UNCERTAIN
DEAR UNCERTAIN: Say, "We have three sons. The two older ones are doing quite well, but unfortunately, our youngest son has had a history of mental problems, and he's trying to find himself."

There's no need to confide family secrets to strangers. If you're pressed for details, don't lie; simply say it's a rather painful subject and you'd rather not talk about it. End of story. No need to elaborate.

DEAR ABBY: I was recently married and wrote my thank-you notes for wedding gifts very promptly. I was very proud of myself, considering that most brides don't get their thank-you notes written until a couple of months after their wedding. As soon as I received a gift, I wrote the "thank-you" so they wouldn't pile up on me.

Well, I really was hurt when an aunt of mine returned my thank-you note with a correction in spelling on it. (Instead of "received," I wrote "recieved.")

What is your opinion of someone who would correct the spelling in a thank-you note? — JUST WONDERING

DEAR JUST: Rude, insensitive and lacking in taste.

Hand lotion will clean black patent leather shoes

By TONY WEDIG

Last Sunday my wife reminded me that I was the Kitchen Kemist by saying: "How can I clean these black patent leather shoes?"

I asked, "What did you get on them?"

"I don't know what it was," she said.

After examining the white spot, I believed it to be paint, thus I went for the hand lotion. I applied a small portion of hand lotion directly over the white mark and used my fingernail to gently scrape away the mark. A tissue was used to remove the excess lotion and wipe away any other dirt or marks. Proudly I presented my wife with the black shiny new looking patent leather shoe.

Iraqis warned about U.S. decadence, diseases

WASHINGTON (AP) — The pro-Iraqi media contends that American soldiers sent to Saudi Arabia are afflicted with all the manifestations of U.S. decadence, including AIDS, alcohol, drugs and a yearning for prostitutes.

The Iraqi people also are being told that Israel, far from being a peripheral player in the Persian Gulf crisis, has sent planes, tanks and soldiers to Saudi Arabia, all elaborately disguised as being part of the American arsenal.

A U.S. Information Agency analysis of the pro-Saddam Hussein media in Iraq and elsewhere says there has been an "extremely active" disinformation campaign waged against the United States and U.S. forces in Saudi Arabia since Iraq's Aug. 2 invasion of Kuwait.

"Although many Iraqi disinformation claims are crude and patently false, past experience with disinformation campaigns indicates that even the most outrageous claims can be widely believed," the analysis said.

Some examples of claims found in the Iraqi media or sympathetic news outlets elsewhere:

"The American foreigner is on our land. The U.S. soldier... has his customs and traditions, which include drinking alcohol, eating pork and practicing prostitution... The American soldier has come with all the manifestations of decadence dominating U.S. society — drugs, prostitution and AIDS." — a recent broadcast.

• The Pentagon has arranged to send two groups of 5,000 Egyptian women each to provide for the "sexual satisfaction" of American servicemen in Saudi Arabia.

• U.S. troops, 40 percent of whom are suffering from AIDS, are occupying and defiling Moslem holy places in Saudi Arabia.

• Some military planes in Saudi Arabia are actually Israeli planes disguised as U.S. aircraft. The Israeli pilots have been provided with U.S. identity cards and American-sounding names.

• Saudis resent the U.S. military presence in their country and have sabotaged U.S. military equipment. In response, U.S. forces have killed some Saudis.

• U.S. forces are dumping nuclear waste in the Saudi desert.

• Even if Iraq had not invaded Kuwait, the United States and other countries would have sent forces into Kuwait.

• The United States and other countries are covertly trading with Iraq in violation of the United Nations embargo.

A station identifying itself as "Holy Mecca Radio" has been broadcasting tendentious messages about the American presence to listeners in Saudi Arabia, purportedly from Saudi territory, the analysis said.

"The American foreigner is on our land," a recent broadcast said. "The U.S. soldier... has his customs and traditions, which include drinking alcohol, eating pork and practicing prostitution... The American soldier has come with all the manifestations of decadence dominating U.S. society — drugs, prostitution and AIDS."

Iraq, meanwhile, has claimed for weeks that the Bush administration has been operating its own disinformation campaign by contending that U.S. forces in Saudi Arabia are on a defensive mission.

Iraqi spokesmen have noted that the U.S. military arsenal in Saudi Arabia, in addition to defensive arms, includes offensive weaponry such as the stealth fighter-bomber for use in a possible attack on Iraq.

All of the disinformation claims that have turned up over the past six weeks have appeared in the Iraqi media except the one involving Egyptian prostitutes, the USIA study said.

That story may have been an Iraqi disinformation plant, the USIA study said. The story appeared in the "Times of India" on Aug. 13, a few days after Bush committed U.S. forces to Saudi Arabia.

After the initial 10,000 Egyptian women were sent, the account predicted that the number eventually would rise to 100,000. Its alleged source was an unnamed "sort of opposition" Arabic newspaper published in London," the USIA report said. It added that the Times of India immediately terminated its relationship with the author.

The article was reprinted in Bangladesh and similar story appeared in an Islamic newspaper in Malaysia.

The claim about Israelis masquerading as Americans was made as the first American forces were being sent to Saudi Arabia. The Iraqi Armed Forces General Command spokesman contended that the Israelis were planning to attack Iraq.

The Iraqi News Agency distributed embellished versions of the story later in the month, inspiring similar accounts in a number of other Arab countries.

Appreciation dinner

Approximately 475 people attended the 19th annual Ag Appreciation Bar-B-Que, hosted by the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, at the Howard County Fair Tuesday. "The farmers and ranchers are a big part of our community," said Linda Roger, manager of the Chamber's Convention and Visitors Bureau. "The Chamber started with ag groups. Its one way to say thank-you." Henry Sanchez of Ackery won the drawing for an irrigation pump switch panel, donated by Bradley Supply Co., Big Spring. Roger expressed her appreciation to this year's 41 sponsors. "They're the ones who make it all possible," she said.

son Rhonda Varsane said her group is against it. In May, Martin County Commissioners, in a 3-2 vote, decided not to sign a host agreement with All-American, which killed a proposal there.

According to a release from Hightower's office, key issues include:

• The cleanup liability in the event of a spill or accident. Landowners, waste generators and even official county and city hosts may incur astronomical clean-up liability if the operator files

Chapter 7 bankruptcy. Mitchell County TAP is concerned that the county could be liable because of the host agreement there.

• Possible signing of host agreements by local governments with companies in unannounced meetings without public discussion, open bidding, etc. Mitchell County TAP is preparing a lawsuit against the county for an alleged violation of the open meetings act in connection with the March 23 emergency meeting in which the host agreement was signed.

• Any claims of impossible performance of the operations, such as no hazardous materials being emitted from smokestacks or left in ash residue. A drafted host agreement by All-American for Martin County read, "No dangerous, hazardous, or toxic air pollutants are discharged into the air." NWED said the discharges will be at least 99.9 percent pure.

Hightower's opponent in the Nov. 6 general election, Rep. Rick Perry, R-Haskell, could not be reached for comment.

said contest coordinator Amy Burchett, of Howard College.

"I think it's great," said Jill Wilbanks, the sponsor of the Big Spring High School girls. Wilbanks, a home economics teacher at the high school, said the squad spent about 30 hours working on a dance routine choreographed by Laurie Churchill of Dance Gallery. "They deserve this," Wilbanks said.

Becky Cenicer, sponsor of the Forsan High School squad, could not be located either last night as the huge crowd dispersed or this morning.

Winning second in varsity cheerleading was Snyder High School. Grady High School placed third.

In the dance routine Sands High School placed second while Coahoma and Forsan high schools tied for third.

In junior high cheerleading, the Big Spring High School freshman placed first, Runnels Junior High School placed second and Forsan Junior High School placed third. In dance, Forsan Junior High School placed first, the Big Spring High School freshman placed second and Runnels Junior High School placed third.

Elementary school girls performed routines, but did not compete for trophies. But there are other rewards, said Brenda Hamill, a sponsor of the Big Spring Pee Wee Steers, consisting of girls in grades 3 and 4. They learn confidence, coordination and cooperation, she said.

"Each one wanted to do their own thing," she said of the girls when they began the first of more than a half-dozen practices. "Now they look to each other."

Also notable last night was that the Howard College squad of 12 cheerleaders had the only males. Half the squad were males.

"It just seemed like it'd be a lot of fun," said sophomore and first year cheerleader Jim Koerber on why he wants to be a cheerleader. Another first year male cheerleader and also a sophomore, Terry McMahon, said it was "just actually something to do."

Freshman Cheerleader Laurie Roberson, who has been a cheerleader for more than six years, said last year the squad had only two males. "(For) most of the guys this is their first year," she said.

In between other squad routines, the Hawks demonstrated their routines such as the teeter-totter, in which a woman, hoisted up by her feet, fell into the arms of squad members and then was swung back in the other direction to fall into other waiting arms. In another routine, a woman, tossed into the air in a lying-down position, turned around like a helicopter blade before she came back down and was caught.

Hawk freshman Cheerleader Amy Stockwell, who has been a cheerleader for the past five years, said they worked on the routines for about two hours that afternoon.

Forsan ISD authorizes repair to school homes

By MARSHA STURDIVANT Staff Writer

The Forsan Independent School District met Tuesday night to discuss school housing, new vehicle purchasing, the Gifted and Talented Student Program and new requirements for school bus drivers.

Superintendent J.F. Poynor said that the 20-year-old houses, where school employees live, need plumbing, carpentry and electrical repairs.

"We asked the occupants to furnish us a list of needed repairs. And we found what we expected," Poynor explained.

These repairs will be completed by contractors engaged by the board.

The school district will advertise for bids on three new vehicles, and one vehicle will be sold, Poynor said.

The district will accept bids to buy a new 71-passenger school bus, a suburban or 15-passenger van and a new full size car. The district will sell a 1985 Ford LTD, Poynor said.

"I'm not sure how the assignment (of the car) will be made. It may be that the car I have will be put to general use, like for football scouting or other school business," Poynor said.

He said that the Board members discussed at length the new licensing requirements for school bus drivers.

"This presents a difficulty for us. The problem is that, first the job doesn't pay a lot. And we need a number of people to be certified for substitutes and extra drivers, in case someone's out sick or for band or football games when we don't want to send our regular drivers. Now all bus drivers and substitutes must retake the licensing exam, and they may not be getting paid at all," Poynor said.

Poynor said that minor adjustments were made in the Gifted and Talented Program and amended by the board.

"These were just minor changes. We said we'd do one thing and found it not quite practical," he said.

A report about Elbow Elementary was presented to the board by the school principal, Poynor said.

In other business, the board contracted for the collection of taxes with the Howard County Tax Appraisal District and joined the Permian Basin School Board Association.

pounds in Kuwait last week.

In New York, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Yuli Vorontsov said he expected the U.N. Security Council to approve the embargo this week.

The United States, Soviet Union, Britain, France and China — the council's permanent members — are refining the language of the air embargo resolution so it conforms to international air traffic laws, Vorontsov said.

"We don't want anyone to be hurt," he said. "We just want to hurt Iraq, just a little." Under the resolution, all countries would have to close their airspace to planes approaching or leaving Iraq or occupied Kuwait.

On Sunday, the 15-member Security Council passed its seventh resolution condemning Iraq, denouncing the violation of diplomatic privileges displayed in Friday's embassy raids.

Under the next resolution, sources said, only flights carrying refugees out of Iraq or Kuwait, or bringing in medical supplies and food specifically authorized by the Security Council would be allowed to travel to those nations.

Planes could not be shot down under the proposed resolution, that is banned by the 1944 international civil aviation convention. But they could be challenged.

Since the Iraqi invasion Washington has sent about 165,000 troops to the Persian Gulf region, most of them dug into the Saudi desert, to head a growing multinational force. More American GIs and heavy tanks are on the way.

The Pentagon says the buildup is also continuing on the other side of the Saudi-Kuwait border. Over the past two weeks Iraqi troop strength in and near Kuwait has risen to 360,000, it said Tuesday.

The Pentagon's last estimate two weeks ago was 265,000.

In Jerusalem on Tuesday, Israel Television reported that the United States has agreed to supply Israel with advanced F-15 jet fighters and Patriot missile batteries. It also is also considering new Israeli requests for a special grant of $1 billion in military aid, TV and state radio said. Defense Minister Moshe Arens declined to comment on the reports.

Winning the battle but losing the war

By STEVE BELVIN
Sports Editor

With their 17-6 loss to Lubbock Estacado, the Big Spring Steers dropped four places to number nine in the Associated Press poll.

Despite the loss, I think the Steers got a shot-in-the-arm from their way they played the No. 2 Matadors.

After all, this is an Estacado team that has virtually everyone coming back.

Steve's stuff

Estacado is so deep that last year's stars weren't even playing their positions. Last year quarterback Calvin Thomas hit Tajae Allen with a 70-yarder to beat the Steers in the last quarter.

This season Thomas is sidelined with a broken finger, and Allen is playing strong safety. Talk on the Estacado side was that even if Thomas wasn't hurt, he still couldn't beat out sophomore starter Zebbie Lethridge. I could see why. Lethridge certainly has a strong arm. Estacado football is good defense, a lot of sweeps and quick-openers up the middle. But with Lethridge's throwing ability, I think it would do Mats good to throw the ball more.

Going into the game, I thought one of two things could happen: The Steers would buckle down and play Estacado hard, or... give up a couple of big plays early and everything would continually get worse.

Well the Steers broke down and Estacado quickly took control of the game. When the first quarter was ending I had flashbacks of the Chapel Hill game last year. But Big Spring buckled down and played hard.

The young defensive front did a superb job, stopping the one-two rushing attack of fullback Patrick Williams and tailback Robert J. Johnson. These two guys each got over 100 in the opening win over Plainview. Against Big Spring, Williams got 76 yards in 17 carries, and Johnson gained 57 yards in 16 carries.

A lot of those yards came in the final drive when the Mats drove from their own seven-yard line to the Big Spring 30 in 15 plays. The drive ended when the Steers stopped them on fourth-and-one.

Big Spring played dominating football in the second half. The Steers just didn't cash in on their hard work. Six times the Steers were inside the Matador 20. Credit goes to the Estacado defense however, it would not break.

Estacado gained only 64 yards in the second half. When the final buzzer sounded, one got the feeling from observing both teams, the Mats were glad to get away from this physical contest. It appeared the Steers wanted some more.

I don't think the No. 2 team figured on Big Spring bringing such a strong war to them.

The Garden City Bearkats dropped a spot in the AP poll, going to fifth.

Maybe it's because they had to squeak out a narrow win over the Grandfalls Cowboys.

The Cowboys had the Bearkats on the ropes, leading them 20-2 late in the third quarter. But the mark of a good team is being able to play under pressure. The Bearkats roared back with 19 unanswered points, prohibiting one of the biggest upsets in the state.

It's only a matter of time until the Sands Mustangs make the Top 10 in the Six-Man ranks. The Mustangs looked very good in a 50-0 romp over Loraine last week.

This week will come the moment of truth. The Mustangs play the Christoval Cougars, the number one team in the state.

The Mustangs know they can play with the Cougars. Last year in the second round of the state playoffs, Christoval beat Sands 52-34, but the game was much closer. Sands only trailed 28-26 late in the game.

If Sands can outlast the Cougars this time, I see a definite jump in the polls for the Mustangs.

Spikers set showdown with Pecos

SAN ANGELO — The Big Spring Lady Steers set up a showdown with the Pecos Eagles as Big Spring swept San Angelo Lake View in two matches, 15-11, 15-4 here Tuesday night.

With the win Big Spring moves into second place in 3-4A volleyball action. Pecos is the frontrunner with 3-0 record. Big Spring is 2-1. In an earlier meeting in a tournament, Big Spring beat Pecos, the first time in a long time Big Spring has done this feat.

Big Spring Coach Lois Ann McKenzie said her Lady Steers played much better in the second game. "I don't know if Lake View didn't have a good night hitting, or if my kids are just handling it better," said McKenzie.

"The first game we missed seven serves; they missed nine. It wasn't a slugfest; it was to see whoever could get the ball over the net. When we did get it over the net we did all right. We just couldn't get much going before we'd have those missed serves.

"We had a good second game. They never could get anything going. When they hit the ball back over, we downed it. Kerry Burdette probably had one of her best games ever at the net. Marta (Mathews) and Teveyan (Russell) had good nights hitting. That's the second straight game they've both been on. When they're on, you know Cassie (Underwood) and Jennifer (Cranford) have to be doing a good job setting.

"Cassie played a super defensive game. I hope we're on a roll." In the first game Mathews served five points and Underwood had four points. In the second game Mathews served nine points, and Russell served four points.

McKenzie said her team can beat Pecos a second time. "If the kids play like they can, we can beat them," said McKenzie. "We'll know tomorrow if Kayla (Roberts, who's missed two games) will be back. She was a key defensive player for us in the win over Pecos."

Big Spring improves its record to 5-5 for the season. Lake View falls to 3-5.

In junior varsity action, Lake View beat Big Spring 6-15, 15-10, 15-10. The loss drops the junior varsity Lady Steers to 6-7 overall, and 1-2 in league play.

Saturday at Steer Gym, freshmen action versus Pecos starts at 12:30 p.m. Junior varsity play follows at 2 and varsity action starts at 3.

Barry, Silva head area Honor Roll

By STEVE BELVIN

Big-time performances were down a little in the second week of football action in the Crossroads area, but there were still some sterling offensive and defensive performances. In fact, the Offensive and Defensive Player of the Week came from the same game.

In Colorado City's 18-14 win over Stanton, defensive tackle Bobby Silva was all over the field against the Buffalo defense, not to mention scoring the winning touchdown with 11 seconds left in the game from his fullback position on offense.

Defensively, the 5-9, 190-pound junior, made 18 tackles. He also found time to block a Stanton punt. For his effort, he's the Defensive Player of the Week.

Stanton running back John Paul Barry had a good game against the Colorado City defense. The 5-foot-10, 160-pound senior finished the contest with 20 carries for 130 yards, including a 55-yard touchdown run in which he carried C-City defenders. For his effort, Barry is the Offensive Player of the Week.

There were other good offensive performances such as:

- In Coahoma's 20-0 win over Winters, quarterback Brent Elmore completed 6 of 10 passes for 113 yards; halfback Mike Mendez gained 87 yards in 20 carries, and also had a 20-yard pass reception. Shane Walker gained 74 yards in 15 carries, and also caught four passes for 54 yards.

- In Sands' 60-0 whipping of Loraine, halfback Charles Rhodes gained 86 yards in five carries and scored a touchdown. Fullback John Young gained 70 in six carries, and scored twice.

- In Garden City's 21-20 win over Grandfalls, quarterback Shae Scott completed 7 of 8 passes for 119 yards and a score. Receiver Allen Hoelscher had 85 yards total offense, including 51 yards on three receptions. Tailback James Soles caught two passes for 84 yards and one TD, and also carried 14 times for 62 yards and another TD.

Defending JUCO champs routed by Bakersfield

By The Associated Press

Defending national champion Navarro Junior College received a 44-8 thrashing at the hands of Bakersfield (Calif.) Community College, registering the upset of the week in games involving Texas junior colleges.

The Renegades led 23-0 at halftime and cruised the rest of the way. The game was televised locally in Bakersfield, despite a crowd of 15,163 at Bakersfield Memorial Stadium.

In other action last week, freshman Mitch Berger kicked three field goals, including a 47-yarder with 1:19 to go, as Tyler Junior College nipped Trinity Valley Junior College 31-29.

Berger, a native of Vancouver, British Columbia, also made field goals of 47 and 38 yards.

Third-string quarterback Dwight Gross brought Trinity Valley back midway through the fourth quarter, hitting John Davis with a 25-yard scoring pass. With the Cardinals trailing by a point, 28-27, Gross then found Larry Love open for a two-point conversion with 5:37 remaining.

Robert Bland and Chris Bias combined to throw for 267 yards as Cisco Junior College held on to defeat Blinn Junior College 32-21. The Wranglers led 32-0 at the half.

On Thursday, Ranger Junior College downed the Tarleton State Junior Varsity 47-3.

Elway breaks coach's heart again

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Next time the Florida Lottery reaches $100 million, Marty Schottenheimer may ship a truckload of tickets to John Elway.

"Maybe he'll hit the jackpot and retire from the league," said Schottenheimer, bleary-eyed but clinging to his sense of humor following yet another spirit-whithering loss to the Denver quarterback.

The best way to guarantee that Elway holds the winning ticket would probably be for Schottenheimer to underwrite the lottery. No matter what he does or where he goes, no matter whether the game is played in Colorado, Missouri or Ohio, there seems to be no way Schottenheimer can beat Elway.

It's about to become a part of modern NFL lore.

First came three losses to Elway's Denver Broncos while Schottenheimer was in charge of the Cleveland Browns, including twice in the AFC championship game.

Now, in less than one and a half seasons as head coach of the Kansas City Chiefs, Schottenheimer has increased his Elway record to 0-6. Counting his days as an assistant coach, Schottenheimer vs. Denver is 0-10.

"He's quite a player. Quite a player," Schottenheimer said Tuesday, hours after Elway's fourth-down pass led to a last-second field goal and a 24-23 Denver victory in Kansas City's first Monday night appearance in seven years.

It would be one thing if Elway simply beat Schottenheimer's teams. But he dramatically breaks their hearts.

Most celebrated is The Drive, the 98-yard march Elway engineered in the AFC title game in 1986 that led to Denver's victory over Cleveland in overtime. Then, in Kansas City last year, there was a less dramatic but equally effective fourth-quarter march that Elway authored to set up a 26-yard field goal for a 16-13 conquest.

Finally, it looked like the jinx would come to an end in Denver Monday night. The Broncos faced fourth-and-10 at their own 17 with 1:14 left. Elway had missed his last 10 passes.

But he found Vance Johnson for a 49-yard gain, eventually setting up David Treadwell's 22-yard field goal and ruining what should have been a good night's sleep for the seemingly hexed Kansas City coach.

"We were in man-to-man coverage with the free safety in the middle," Schottenheimer said.

"We didn't get a technique played right by a guy and we also didn't get enough pressure in the middle of the pocket and he stepped up in the pocket."

Understandably, Schottenheimer wearies of talking about Elway.

"The thing about him — and then I'll get off the topic — is the guy can throw 15 completions in a row, then five incompletions in a row, then five completions in a row," he said. Reminded that Elway had misfired on 10 straight passes before hitting Johnson on fourth down, Schottenheimer said, "I know he did. I know he did."

"You've got to admire somebody like that," Schottenheimer added. "But he's got a very good supporting cast around him. That's not a one-man football team."

If nothing else, Schottenheimer has proven himself capable of rallying a team past a demoralizing loss to Elway. A year ago after outplaying the Broncos but still losing to Elway's last-minute heroics, the Chiefs won four of their last six games.

"You can't stay in this business long if you don't have the ability to put yesterday's events behind you," he said. "They play 16 of them, and they essentially all have the same value."

"We were pretty sporadic, we started out great, we played super at the beginning. We've got to learn to concentrate better," said Lawrence.

LUBBOCK (AP) — Christoval, Fort Hancock and Guthrie continued to hang on to the top three spots in the latest six-man high school football poll, compiled by the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal.

The top-ranked Cougars, who have been No. 1 in each of the first three voting periods, opened the season Friday by smashing Harper 50-2. For the second week in a row, Christoval received six of seven first-place votes and 69 of a possible 70 points.

Fort Hancock, which received 64 points and the other first-place vote, ripped Buena Vista 47-0, and Guthrie shut out Aspermont 46-0.

Perennial state contender Jayton fell from fourth to ninth after losing 38-26 to Trent. McLean and Bosqueville advanced one spot apiece to fourth and fifth, respectively. May jumped from eighth to sixth, and Strawn moved from ninth to seventh.

The only newcomer to this week's top 10 is Rule, 2-0. The Bobcats, who hammered Trent 44-6 the first week of the season, pounded Highland 56-6 last Friday.

Silverton slipped from the seventh position to 10th after being tied, 14-14, by Miami.

Contract talks put on hold

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — San Antonio Spurs guard David Wingate is close to a contract agreement with the NBA team, but club owner Red McCombs says a rape charge against Wingate has put that on hold.

"We're very concerned where there is any impropriety even suggested against any one of our players or any member of our organization," McCombs said Tuesday. "Obviously it becomes very important where there is more than a suggestion — there is in fact a legal charge."

Wingate, 26, was jailed for three hours Monday in Columbia, Md., after he was charged with second-degree rape, battery and a fourth-degree sexual offense. He was freed on $10,000 bond.

Expos creeping into playoff picture

By The Associated Press
 The Pittsburgh Pirates and New York Mets have been keeping company atop the National League East for the last few months. The Montreal Expos would like to make it a crowd.

"We've been reborn a couple of times," Manager Buck Rodgers said after the Expos edged the Mets 4-3 Tuesday night while first-place Pittsburgh was losing its sixth straight, 8-5 to Chicago.

Fresh off a three-game weekend sweep of Pittsburgh, Montreal climbed within 4½ games of the first-place Pirates, who continue to lead the Mets by one-half game in the NL East, the division that nobody seems to want. If the leaders continue to slide, the Expos will gladly take it.

Montreal built a 3-0 lead against Dwight Gooden on RBI hits by Tim Raines, Dave Martinez and Mike Fitzgerald. Oil Can Boyd blanked the Mets for six innings, but with one out in the eighth, Ruskin walked Tom Herr, Dave Magadan singled and Strawberry hit his 35th home run.

Raines singled with one out in the ninth off Mets relief ace John Franco (5-2), stole second, took third on a wild pitch and scored when pinch-hitter Junior Noboa singled.

 Jerome Walton homered on John Smiley's first pitch and Damon Berryhill hit a three-run homer on his last one to cap a six-run first inning as Chicago handed Pittsburgh a season-high sixth straight defeat.

Walton hit his second home run of the season to tie the score 1-1 and the Cubs wasted little time in kayoing Smiley (8-10). After Ryne Sandberg struck out, Mark Grace singled and scored on a triple by Andre Greg Maddux (14-13) held Pittsburgh to six hits — two in the first inning and three in the fifth — and withstood a four-run rally in the fifth, three of which were unearned.

"If we play like we're capable, we'll be fine. If not, we're troutempted off Braves rookie Paul Marak (0-2).

Daniels took third on a single by Eddie Murray, who had three hits for the second straight game, and scored on a sacrifice fly by Hubie Brooks. Daniels walked to start the Dodgers' three-run fifth, which included Jose Offerman's RBI single.

Giants 5, Reds 3
 Los Angeles got help from San Francisco. Will Clark hit a pair of homers and Kevin Mitchell also homered, keeping Cincinnati's magic number for clinching its first division title since 1979 at 11.

John Burkett (13-7) took a four-hitter and a 5-1 lead into the ninth but needed help from Steve Bedrosian, who got his 13th save. The Giants' three homers — solo shots by Clark and Mitchell and a two-run homer by Clark — came off

Blue Jays move into first place

By The Associated Press
 Boston is still in first place and Roger Clemens might pitch this weekend. For long-suffering Red Sox fans, there's still hope.

The Red Sox moved into first in the American League East on Aug. 2 and stayed there all alone until Tuesday night. Toronto, 6½ games out on Sept. 4, beat New York 3-2 at the SkyDome to grab a share of the lead. Baltimore beat the Red Sox 4-1.

Boston last won a World Series in 1918, and there have been plenty of disappointments since.

"The worst thing we could do right now is hang our heads," Boston's Dwight Evans said. "I believe that if we're going to go down, we're going to go down fighting, kicking and scratching. If you take that approach, you won't go down."

Mariners 7, Rangers 3
 Alvin Davis' eighth career grand slam highlighted a seven-run seventh inning two-out rally and rookie Rich DeLucia won for the first time in the major leagues, leading Seattle past Texas at the Kingdome.

DeLucia (1-0), making his third career start, gave up three runs and eight hits in eight-plus innings.

Blue Jays 3, Yankees 2
 Toronto grabbed a share of the AL East lead when Rance Mulliniks delivered an RBI pinch single with two outs in the ninth inning to beat New York at the SkyDome. The Blue Jays have won five straight games and 11 of their last 13 to equal Boston at 81-68.

Kelly Gruber started the ninth with a single and Fred McGriff advanced him to second with only his second career sacrifice. George Bell was intentionally walked before Kenny Williams sent Gruber to third with a fly ball to center field.

Jeff Robinson relieved Lee Gueterman (10-7).

Europeans should like new course

KIAWAH ISLAND, S.C. (AP) — The new 7,000-yard seaside course being constructed for next year's Ryder Cup golf tournament should make the European players feel at home.

And that may give them an edge as they try for their third straight championship when the tournament is held at this resort island next fall.

Both American captain Dave Stockton and his British counterpart, Bernard Gallacher, agreed Tuesday the course has more in common with European courses than those in this country.

"I think the boys from across the pond are going to like it because it happens to be a links-style golf course," said Stockton, a two-time Ryder Cup veteran. "I don't know of any place in America that looks like this piece of land."

The course has been carved from ocean-front dunes on the north end of the island. The work, which began last year, is expected to be completed next month.

Gallacher has played in the Ryder Cup eight times. He said the new course designed by Pete Dye "will without a doubt be ranked among the best in the world when this match is over."

The Ryder Cup teams will have to compete with the ocean winds as well as with each other. All the holes have a view of the ocean and are exposed to the ocean winds.

Stockton said the course blends so well with its surroundings, "this is going to look like God built it."

The Ryder Cup pits the best professional golfers from Europe against their American counterparts in an event held every two years.

The teams, selected on the basis of players' performances in PGA events, won't be finalized until next year.

NEW YORK (AP) — Whitney Houston and her husband, Bobby Brown, are preying on Whitney Houston's mind these days.

The 25-year-old singer said she has spent the last two consecutive No. 1 albums making new friends, learning about business and trying to deal with her recurring dreams.

Cuomo appeared to poke fun at Florida baseball fans Tuesday after Buffalo made its pitch for a National League expansion franchise. Miami, St. Petersburg, Fla., and Orlando, Fla., are among the other bidders.

Saddam seizes foreign assets, boosts forces

By CHRISTOPHER BURNS
Associated Press Writer

Iraqi President Saddam Hussein today seized all foreign assets from countries honoring the embargo on trade with his nation, just days before the U.N. Security Council was expected to toughen its sanctions.

Six weeks into the Persian Gulf crisis, Saddam appeared even more determined to hold on to Kuwait, having boosted his occupation forces to an estimated 360,000. Nine West European countries on Tuesday endorsed a proposed United Nations air blockade, and Argentina said it was joining the multinational flotilla enforcing the naval blockade of Iraq.

U.N. Secretary-General Javier Perez de Cuellar said he feared the gulf military standoff brought on by Iraq's Aug. 2 invasion of Kuwait could turn into World War III.

In other developments today: ● An Army paratrooper suffered a superficial leg wound when struck by shrapnel from a misguided artillery shell in live-fire exercises by U.S. forces in the Saudi desert. He was treated at the scene and remained with his unit.

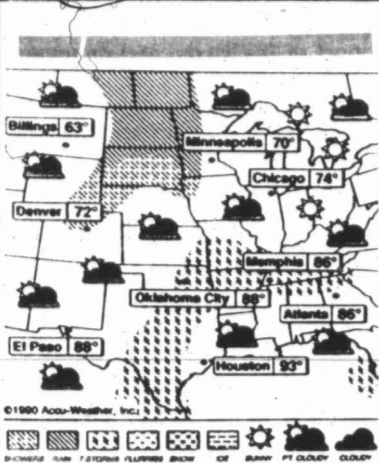

● A French Foreign Ministry spokesman said Iraqi soldiers arrested two Frenchmen this week in Kuwait. They join about 60 other French citizens — and thousands of other foreigners — held hostage in Iraq and Kuwait.

● Iraq offered to pump free oil to Turkey through two pipelines Ankara closed last month. ● SADDAM page 8-A

Poll: GOP, Demos equal

HOUSTON — The Democratic and Republican parties can claim equal numbers of Texans for the first time this century, according to a newspaper poll published today.

The poll results show growth of the Republican Party and a decline for the Democratic Party in Texas, said University of Houston political scientist Richard Murray, who conducted the poll for the Houston Chronicle.

In the most recent study, 34 percent of those questioned said they think of themselves as Democrats, 33 percent as Republicans and 33 percent said they were independent. The total is more than 100 percent due to rounding.

"The Republican Party clearly has reached parity with the Democrats," Murray said.

A year ago, a poll by Murray showed Democrats with 33 percent and Republicans with 28 percent of voters questioned. Another survey by Texas A&M University showed the parties virtually even, with Democrats at 32 percent and Republicans at 31 percent.

Kidnapped Kong safe in Texas

FORT WORTH (AP) — A 2-story King Kong kidnapped nearly three months ago from a Kansas City area auto dealership turned up Tuesday here, accompanied by a note asking that he be returned to Kansas City so he can root for the Chiefs.

Employees of KTVT-TV in Fort Worth found the inflatable Kong when they arrived for work early Tuesday. The fully inflated primate was tied to the base of a microwave tower with its air blower plugged into an outside electrical outlet, said John DeRoche, director of sales for the television station.

Just how the gorilla got there and who could have done it has left the station's employees puzzled.

The only clue was a note attached to Kong, saying he had come to the Dallas-Fort Worth area to watch a recent series between the Kansas City Royals and the Texas Rangers.

The note said Kong was disappointed that the Royals lost the series and asked that he be returned to Kansas City so he "can root the Chiefs to a Super Bowl Victory '91."

Souter's testimony arouses doubts

By STEVEN KOMAROW
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Supreme Court nominee David Souter's effort to calm liberals during his testimony before the Senate Judiciary Committee is arousing doubts among conservatives.

"The concern is that Judge Souter is a man of empty philosophy... all things to all people," Bruce Fein, a conservative court analyst, said Tuesday.

Howard Phillips, chairman of the Conservative Caucus, said in prepared testimony that Souter "lacked moral courage" because he didn't declare himself against abortion at the hearing or years earlier when he sat on a hospital board that voted to permit abortions at its facility.

Souter testified for three days before the committee, finishing Monday night. The committee was expected to conclude its hearings today and vote on the nomination before the end of the month.

Committee chairman Joseph Biden, D-Dele., said the committee vote on the nomination could be as early as next week. The panel's next regularly scheduled business meeting is Sept. 27.

The panel spent Tuesday hearing from other witnesses with opinions on whether the 51-year-old New Hampshire jurist should join the nation's highest court.

Many longtime acquaintances of Souter urged his approval. But civil rights, women's groups and those supporting the right to abortion said they oppose him despite his expressions of open-mindedness on the 1973 decision in Roe v. Wade that legalized abortion.

President Bush has called for overturning that decision, but his nominee declined to take a position before the committee despite repeated attempts to get him to do so by senators on both sides of the issue.

Souter also avoided taking stances on other issues and declined to criticize other controversial court decisions of the last few decades.

But he raised conservatives' eyebrows when he voiced support for affirmative action, praised retired liberal Justice William J. Brennan, and talked of filing a legal "vacuum" when other branches of government don't act — the judicial activism that conservatives oppose.

Sen. Orrin Hatch, R-Utah, a committee member actively supporting the nomination, said some fellow conservatives inside and outside the Senate are worried. But, he said, "only the real far-right wing people are getting physically unnerved."

Hatch said Souter was a shrewd

Regulators say government could save money on 1988 S&L bailouts

By DAVE SKIDMORE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government could save $3 billion to $4 billion in aid payments to savings institutions bailed out in 1988 if Congress and the administration were willing to spend $22 billion next year, regulators say.

The Resolution Trust Corp. said Tuesday that the $69 billion cost of 96 bailouts in 1988 could be reduced over the next decade, but only if Congress and the Bush administration spend the cash up front.

L. William Seidman, chairman of the trust corporation, refrained from offering his recommendation until his agency meets Thursday with its oversight board, headed by Treasury Secretary Nicholas F. Brady.

But several members of Congress spoke favorably about the idea.

"I regard the RTC's report on potential savings as only the first cut in a long process to protect taxpayers on the deals," said Rep. Henry B. Gonzalez, D-Texas, chairman of the House Banking Committee. "We owe the money one way or another. It just seems to me the practical thing is to do this and get it over with," said Rep. Bruce Vento, D-Minn., who chairs a House task force overseeing bailouts conducted since 1988.

However, in budget summit talks, administration and congressional negotiators are having a hard time coming up with the cash to provide for the rescue of a continuing flow of failed thrifts, let alone money for past deals.

The trust corporation, created last year by the S&L bailout law, is spending billions of dollars to wipe out the losses of institutions that have failed since 1988.

In the old rescues, the bank board was out of money and had to keep the institutions afloat with various guarantees and promises of future assistance.

The 1988 transactions have come under increasing attack from members of Congress who complain they amounted to a giveaway. The House Banking Committee said last week that acquirers, on average, invested only $1 to receive $78 in assets.

"Many of the 1988 deals were overly generous and costly to the taxpayers," agreed Peter H. Monroe, president of the oversight board.

Much of the bank board's assistance took the form of promissory notes with a guaranteed return. Often, the bank board promised to guarantee profits on the sour loans and other bad assets of the rescued thrifts.

Hightower rips GATT

By CHIP BROWN
Associated Press Writer

LUBBOCK (AP) — Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower says "you can hang the earrings on the hog, but you can't hide the ugliness" of the farm policies advocated by the Bush administration in the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade.

Hightower told West Texas farmers Tuesday that changes in farm policy advocated in GATT by Bush would cost Texas producers $1.1 billion in annual payments.

The changes also would flood the United States with food that does not meet this country's safety standards, Hightower said.

"GATT is devastating," Hightower told a gathering at the South Plains Environmental Conference here Tuesday. "It will eliminate the family farm system in this country and result in our agriculture production moving out of the United States and into Third World nations."

GATT, a colossal piece of legislation which will align farm policy worldwide, is currently being negotiated by the Bush administration in Geneva.

The U.S. proposal seeks to convert import quotas and other controls to fixed tariffs and gradually eliminate them.

The proposal calls for the elimination of all export subsidies and it would create an international standard to override national negotiations in trade disputes.

The legislation will ultimately go before Congress, which will have 60 days to approve or reject it.

"The Bush administration) is working feverishly to undermine family farmers and food safety standards," Hightower said.

"If they succeed in their forum, commonly called GATT... millions of family farmers throughout the world will go bankrupt."

Hightower said Texas cotton farmers can expect losses as high as $323 million annually, while feed grain producers would lose an estimated $296 million a year if GATT is passed with the Bush proposals.

GATT provisions allow for lower food-safety standards, increased production by corporate-type factory farms and further threats to the environment, Hightower said.

"Rather than concentrating agriculture in the hands of a few corporations whose interests extend only to the year-end bottom line, we need to look at the long-term — at institutions like the family farm," Hightower said.

Hightower said government has an opportunity to provide positive direction if the 1990 Farm Bill presently being considered in Congress is passed.

He said the farm bill in its present form will eliminate a policy that allows foods produced in other countries, under less stringent guidelines, to be sold in the United States.

spokesman for Turkey's Foreign Ministry said. The government has made no decision on the offer, which was similar to one Iraq made to Third World countries last week.

Jordan's King Hussein flew to the Moroccan capital, Rabat, for a summit with Moroccan and Syrian leaders that Hussein hopes will work out a joint blueprint on solving the Persian Gulf crisis. Before leaving, Hussein conferred with Palestine Liberation Organization leader Yasser Arafat for the second time in less than 18 hours.
The flow of Kuwaitis into Saudi Arabia slowed, four days after Iraq allowed citizens to flee. Only about 30 cars passed through the Khafji border crossing.
Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir said that if Saddam survived the gulf crisis, Israel might have to "come up with a way to overcome this monstrous evil man."

In Baghdad, the Iraqi government said today that it has seized all cash deposits and property of governments, companies and banks — private and government-owned — from countries that are honoring the U.N.-ordered embargo.

The state-run Iraqi News Agency said the ruling Revolutionary Command Council ordered the confiscation under a new seven-article law dealing with the protection of "Iraqi interests, money and rights in Iraq and abroad."

INA did not mention how much money was involved.
The United States and other countries already have frozen Iraq's foreign holdings, Kuwait's foreign assets, estimated at about $100 billion, have been turned over to the country's exiled leaders.

The Revolutionary Command Council is Iraq's highest policy-making body, headed by Saddam. An official Iraqi newspaper reported Tuesday that a member of the council, 51-year-old Saadoun Shaker, had quit for health reasons, leaving seven members on the panel. It gave no details on his illness.

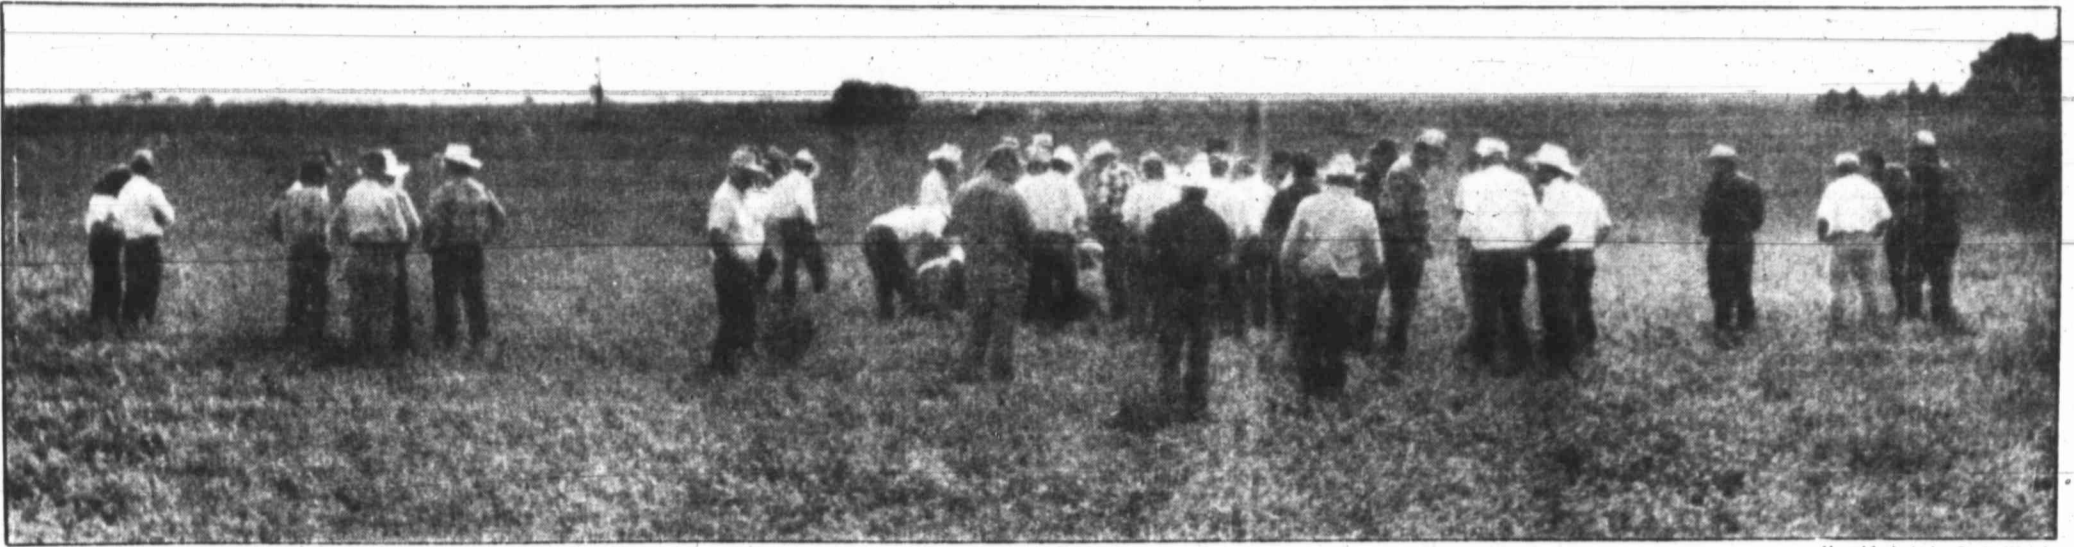

Appeals for an air blockade to make the U.N.-ordered trade embargo as airtight as possible grew stronger after Iraqi troops raided several Western diplomatic compounds in Kuwait last week.

In New York, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Yuli Vorontsov said he expected the U.N. Security Council to approve the embargo this week.

The United States, Soviet Union, Britain, France and China — the council's permanent members — are refining the language of the air embargo resolution so it conforms to international air traffic laws, Vorontsov said.

Area farmers and ranchers examine the different types of cotton grown at a test plot on the Mike Payne farm near Stanton. The tour of area farms, conducted on Ag Appreciation Day, focused different experimental methods of boosting production and cutting losses due to insects and erosion.

Ag Appreciation day features tours, awards

By CARLA WELCH
Staff Writer

Martin County Ag appreciation day went off on scheduled with a tour of various agricultural stops.

Some of the stops featured cotton plants that were tested to see if they could combat disease and show resistance to insects. Plant treatments were also discussed to see what type of chemicals would be needed. The results, officials hope, would be more beneficial to the farmer as the new plants would produce more cotton.

A wind erosion test was conducted at the Cook farms. Small grains, planted to stop erosion, hopefully would produce a residue that would make crops more resistant to wind erosion. This residue would help produce more yield and keep the erosion down, according to the Extension Service.

Types of bugs that are affecting this year's cotton were also discussed by Entomologist Victor Lucero.

Alfalfa production was next on the agenda with a discussion by Bill Stone on the best time to plant and harvest and different types of bugs that affect alfalfa.

The Cook Farms were awarded the conservation farmer award, while John Adcock won the conservation rancher honor. Brenda Mims won the distinction of the conservation homemaker and conservation teacher honors went to Elaine Riddle.

Texas Agricultural Extension Service Ag Economist Richard Patterson, Jr. presented the audience with forecasts of the cotton market for the 1991 year. The price of cotton has been fluctuating, he said. Right now, the price stands at approximately 71 cents per pound, according to Patterson.

Carl G. Anderson, extension service economist of cotton marketing, said that cotton stocks are tight, demand is good and with the market holding, it will be a good year for cotton producers.

witness before "a very difficult group to play to." Some may be mistaking Souter's genial personality as being soft on issues, he said.

"He may be more influential than anybody thinks" once he joins the court because of his ability to work with both sides, Hatch said. "He just may be the glue that binds on that court."

Despite the concerns, Hatch said he doubted any Senate conservatives would vote against the nominee.

Thomas Jipping, court watcher at the conservative Coalitions for America, said some conservatives were disappointed because Souter apparently has no political agenda.

"Conservatives as well as liberals want others to do their work for them," he said. Souter is "the kind of conservative judge that means conservatives are going to have to do more work," he said.

Fein said his concern was that "Judge Souter is a man who is complacent with the legal status quo. He could not think of a single Supreme Court decision which was wrongly decided."

Fein predicted Souter would join the court as the moderate he portrayed himself to be. "The saving grace," he said, is that "the intellectual brainpower on the court is on the conservative side" and eventually may win him over.

Bentsen, Gramm join budget battle

WASHINGTON (AP) — Texas senators have joined the partisan rancor over troubled budget talks.

Democrat Lloyd Bentsen broke a two-week silence on the budget Tuesday, saying the GOP tax plan puts too much of a load on average Americans and not enough on the wealthy ones.

Republican Phil Gramm said more than just taxes separate budget negotiators, who have struggled since May to hammer out a plan to reduce the deficit by $50 billion.

"We are apart in virtually every area," Gramm said. In five-year targets, Gramm said the sides are $30 billion apart on defense spending, $25 billion apart on entitlements and $60 billion apart on taxes.

The comments of both senators reflected the party views being expressed all over the Capitol Tuesday, the second day in 12 that no negotiating was done.

Bentsen, Gramm and Rep. Bill Archer, R-Houston, are the only Texans participating in the talks.

Gramm has spoken to reporters frequently since the latest round of negotiating began Sept. 7 at Andrews Air Force Base outside Washington. But Bentsen, chairman of the tax-writing Senate Finance Committee, kept quiet until a meeting Tuesday with Texas reporters.

Democrats want to spread the burden of new taxes more equitably than Republicans do, he said.

"The question that's really dividing us is 'Who's going to carry the burden?'" Bentsen said, joining other Democrats in declaring that President Bush's proposed capital gains tax cut helps the rich at the expense of average Americans.

Tax rates fell for the richest 1 percent of Americans in the 1980s while they increased for most of the rest, Bentsen noted.

"I can't sign off on a deficit reduction program that adds to that kind of a difference," Bentsen said. "That's exactly what the Republican negotiators have been pushing for."

Some Democrats support a reduction in the capital gains tax, Bentsen said. He added he would support one that is accompanied by increases in other taxes on the wealthy.

"The only way you can have a capital gains tax cut is that those people that reap most of the benefits, the top income, have to make up for that in some way," Bentsen said.

One way they could, he said, would be through elimination of the so-called "tax bubble." That's a quirk in the law that allows some of nation's wealthiest people to pay a lower tax rate on part of their income than is paid by people who earn slightly less.

Gramm downplayed the capital gains dispute as one of several still to be resolved in the summit.

One of the severai is how to extend the Gramm-Rudman budget-balancing law, due to expire in 1993, he said. Gramm's namesake legislation will trigger across-the-board cuts in most federal programs if a budget agreement is not reached by Oct. 1, the start of the 1991 fiscal year.

Bentsen also said he has pushed in the talks for oil drilling incentives and a $20 floor price on imported oil.

"I don't know if I'm going to be able to get that because we have strong opposition from the Northeastern states," he said.

Gramm has previously expressed opposition to an oil import fee.

Apple importers vying with producers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON — The nation's apple producers have boosted production in recent years, but Agriculture Department researchers say imports will compete for the shopper's dollar this winter.

In 1989, the farm value of the apple harvest was more than $1 billion, making it third among fruit crops behind grapes and oranges.

Apples are grown practically everywhere, but the top three states — Washington, New York and Michigan — account for 69 percent of the total, says a report by the department's Economic Research Service.

Large plantings in the late 1970s and early 1980s have increased U.S. production and probably will continue to do so over the next few years.

"These ample supplies have come on the market at a time when other major producing nations, such as Chile, New Zealand and South Africa, have dramatically expanded their output," the report said.

Located in the Southern Hemisphere, these countries can ship fresh apples when the United States is drawing on cold storage supplies.

"Since consumers generally prefer fresh apples, such exports enjoy an advantage in markets where they compete with U.S. storage apples," the report said. "The combination of higher overall world production and stable domestic demand is forcing U.S. prices down."

Moreover, U.S. apple exports have declined the last few years.

Farm scene

from 305,328 metric tons in the 1980-81 marketing year to 249,238 tons in 1988-89.

Canada, the United Kingdom, Hong Kong and Singapore, although representing only 25 percent of the global market, accounted for 82 percent of the U.S. apple exports in 1987, the report said.

U.S. apple producers are trying to increase demand in a number of ways, including advertising and promotion campaigns to boost domestic consumption. The report said there is some evidence that is working.

In the 1988-89 marketing year, domestic apple consumption rose to 2.64 million tons, from 1.99 million tons the previous year and 1.9 million tons the year before that.

"Expanding domestic production, rising imports and stable demand at home are pushing down prices for U.S. apples," the report said. "These lower prices are making it hard for U.S. apple farmers to meet their costs of production and increasing the desirability of extending markets abroad."

The report was in the October issue of Farmline magazine and was based on material supplied by USDA economists Amy Sparks and Boyd Buxton, and James Seale of the University of Florida.

WASHINGTON — Cigarette consumption may decline 3 percent this year, following an even sharper downturn in 1989, according to Agriculture Department analysts.

Total U.S. cigarette production, however, is expected to increase in 1990, reflecting growth in the export market, the department's Economic Research Service said Tuesday in a report.

"However, increased cigarette prices, health concerns, smoking restrictions and declining social acceptability of smoking might cause U.S. cigarette consumption to fall about 3 percent," the report said.

In 1989, total domestic use plummeted 5 percent, the sharpest decline in six years.

Officials said this year's drop would lower the per capita cigarette use further from the 1989 average of 2,926 per year.

Refrigerate dough until firm enough to handle. Shape dough into 1 1/2 inch balls; place on ungreased cookie sheet. Gently press thumb down to form an indentation in center of each ball. Mix fruit bits with jelly; place 1 teaspoon of mixture into indentation of each ball. Bake 10 to 12 minutes or until set. Cool slightly; remove from cookie sheet to wire rack. Cool completely. Makes about 3 dozen cookies.

chocolate oatmeal cookies

- 1 cup butter or margarine, softened
- 1 1/2 cups granulated sugar
- 1 cup packed light brown sugar
- 2 eggs
- 2 teaspoons vanilla extract
- 1 1/2 cups all-purpose flour
- 3/4 cup unsweetened cocoa
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 3 cups quick-cooking rolled oats
- 1/2 cup chopped nuts

Heat oven to 350°. In large mixer bowl beat butter and sugars until light and fluffy. Blend in eggs and vanilla. Combine flour, cocoa, baking soda and salt; add to butter mixture, mixing well. With spoon, stir in oats and nuts. (Batter will be stiff.) Drop by rounded tablespoonfuls onto ungreased cookie sheet. Bake 11 to 12 minutes or until set; cookies will be slightly moist in center. Do not overbake. Cool 1 minute; remove from cookie sheet to wire rack. Cool completely. Makes about 4 dozen cookies.

fruited honey nut log

- 1/2 cup honey
- 1/2 cup peanut butter
- 1 cup nonfat dry milk powder
- 1 1/2 cups (6 oz. package) fruit bits

In large bowl blend honey and peanut butter. Gradually add dry milk, mixing well. Mix in fruit bits. Shape into one large log or 18 small logs. Wrap tightly; store in refrigerator. To serve large log, cut into slices. Makes 18 servings.

Parents and kids usually like different snacks for different reasons. Parents appreciate easy-to-prepare snacks packed with wholesome ingredients. Children like after-school or lunchbox snacks that taste great. Now both can enjoy the same snacks when they're made with deep, dark Hershey's Cocoa, tangy Sun-Maid® Fruit Bits, and all-natural Welch's Jams/Jellies and Juices.

Absolutely irresistible Treasure-Filled Brownie Drops feature all three ingredients. Each rich, chocolaty thumbprint cookie glistens with a center of moist and chewy fruit bits and tasty grape jelly. These delightful gems can be prepared in about 30 minutes, and are perfect for after-school snacks or late-night cravings for any age.

Another sure-fire lunchbox treat or after-school favorite is Jam-Striped Cocoa Bars. These bars feature a luscious brownie base frosted with a creamy peanut butter chip frosting. The frosting is drizzled with grape jelly for a satisfying mixture of sweet and salty flavors and a colorful crowning touch.

Naturally Sweet Snack Bars are made with all-natural Welch's White Grape Juice, a healthful, tasty way to sweeten a recipe without using sugar. These bars are perfectly portable and can be kept within easy reach for a delicious after-school snack. Convenient, ready-to-use fruit bits are a delicious and nutritious addition to these bars. They are a good source of fiber, Vitamin A and important minerals. Spread strawberry jam on top, if desired.

Hershey's Cocoa is another wholesome baking ingredient, being low in fat (12 percent by weight), very low in sodium and naturally cholesterol-free. It is also simple to use, because it requires no melting. Chocolate Oatmeal Cookies are a chewy, flavorful treat. They highlight unsweetened cocoa's convenience and superior flavor, and are ideal for packing in lunch bags or for at-home snacking.

Fruited Honey Nut Log, a rich, sweet treat, is a snap to prepare and calls for only four ingredients. A creamy honey and peanut butter base is enhanced by a confetti-like blend of the natural, dark raisins, golden raisins, chopped apples and apricots in Sun-Maid Fruit Bits. The log can be stored in the refrigerator and sliced as needed for eager after-school snackers.

Snack-lovers of all ages will enjoy these wholesome, great-tasting homemade snacks. Busy parents will appreciate the ease of preparation, and kids who look forward to a tempting late afternoon snack or lunchbox treat will ask for them often.

naturally sweet snack bars

- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1/2 cup white grape juice
- 2 cups rolled oats, toasted*
- 3/4 cup fruit bits
- 1/2 cup chopped toasted pecans*
- 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1 egg, beaten
- 1/2 cup mashed banana (1 small, ripe banana)
- 1/2 cup strawberry jam (optional)

Heat oven to 350°. Grease 9-inch square baking pan. In small saucepan over low heat melt butter in grape juice. In large bowl stir together oats, fruit bits, pecans and cinnamon. Pour juice mixture over oat mixture. Add egg and banana; stir until well blended. Press mixture into prepared pan. Bake 25 to 30 minutes or until edges are golden brown. Immediately spread jam over top, if desired. Cool slightly; cut into squares. Makes 16 bars.

*To toast oats and pecans: Heat oven to 350°. Spread oats in large baking pan; toast 15 to 20 minutes, stirring occasionally, until lightly browned. Cool. Heat oven to 375°. Spread 1/2 cup pecan halves or pieces in single layer in shallow baking pan; toast 5 to 7 minutes, stirring occasionally, until lightly browned. (Do not overtoast.) Cool thoroughly before chopping.

jam-striped cocoa bars

Add sugar, vanilla, and eggs; beat with spoon until well blended. Add flour, baking powder and salt; mix well. Spread batter into prepared pan. Bake 25 to 30 minutes or until top is dry and wooden pick inserted in center comes out clean. Cool. Spread Peanut Butter Frosting over top. With end of spoon handle score diagonal ridges in frosting about 1 1/2 inches apart. Heat jelly until melted; spoon into ridges. Allow to set until jelly is set. Cut into bars. UNDERSTANDING PAINT TERMINOLOGY

Do you understand the difference between oil paint and latex paint? Do you know what "acrylic" means? If not, here's a quick primer on paint terms from the Rohm and Haas Paint Quality Institute.

Oil Paint, Sometimes called "alkyd" paint, oil paint is made with pigment, mineral spirits and oil (typically a vegetable oil such as linseed, soya, or a modified oil). The product does emit fumes and makes for difficult cleanup, usually requiring paint thinner or some other solvent.

Latex Paint, All latex paints are made with pigment, water and some type of latex polymer. Some of the more popular varieties of latex polymers are:

—100 percent acrylic, which usually costs more, but is also the most durable exterior paint, offering exceptional color retention and adhesion (used in premium interior paints also)

—vinyl acrylic, which is sometimes used where minimized cost is a requirement (but used primarily in interior paints)

—vinyl terpolymer, which can be more prone to cracking than 100 percent acrylic latex.

Being water-based, all varieties of latex paint offer easy soap and water cleanup, and are low odor.

For more information on paint, ask for advice at your local paint retailer, hardware store or decorating center.

Putting in a skylight? Getting a firm grasp on the Some install in a 'flash' new wallboard fasteners

Are you planning to install a new skylight or roof window? If your roof has wood shingles, heavy wood shakes, tiles or other thick roofing material, you'll probably need a "step-flashed" model.

In roofing jargon, flashing is the covering used to waterproof the joints where vertical structures intersect the roof.

With a step-flashed skylight, the installer places overlapping layers, or "steps," of roofing material and metal flashing shingles over the seams between the skylight and roof.

Skylights made for step flashing have been tricky to install. Some widely used roof-window types have to be partially disassembled and reassembled during installation—a major nuisance. They're mounted inside the roof opening, creating an air space around the frame—a skylight credibility gap. Unless special steps are taken to insulate this gap, condensation damage can result.

Easier installation

A new alternative is the "Excel-10 Skywindow" series of step-flashed skylights and roof windows from Wasco Products of Sanford, Maine. Its two-piece design simplifies installation. The wood curb sits squarely on the roof, not inside the hole. Durable vinyl components shield natural wood from moisture damage. A vinyl gutter safety traps condensation from the glass, in place of energy-leaking "weep" holes, which often drain poorly.

"Excel-10" works well with regular asphalt or fiberglass shingles, as well as thick materials. With a special kit, it also adapts to high-profile materials like Spanish barrel tiles.

If you're hiring a contractor for your skylight project, you'd be wise to investigate new skylights and compare them to what the contractor proposes to use. Wasco advises. Some builders and remodelers pride themselves on adopting innovative new products. Others stubbornly cling to habits of the past.

How good is good enough?

"You're paying the bill, so you're entitled to any skylight you want, provided it's suitable for the house," says Bart Mosser, general manager of Wasco's Residential Division.

"A superior skylight might not add much to your budget," Mosser says. "Typically, the skylight itself accounts for about one-third of the project's total cost. The balance represents labor for exterior installation and interior finishing work. You might save money with a well-designed skylight that's simpler to install."

For free skylighting literature, write to Wasco Products Inc., Dept. X10, P.O. Box 351, Sanford, Maine 04073. FH901479

"Making the job easier" is a common goal of all do-it-yourselfers. Any tool or device that can do the work in less time and without complicated procedures is sure to grab their attention. This even applies to the age-old technique of fastening to wallboard.

The three most common products that have been used require predrilling followed by insertion and tightening of the fastener. The toggle bolt needs a very large drilled hole and the toggle wing is lost when the fastener is removed. Molly' fasteners set too slowly and are not removable. Plastic plugs lack adequate holding strength for anything heavier than a small picture hook.

If the hole is oversized, these fasteners do not fit properly and need to be "angled" or shimmed for tightening. They often remain loose in the hole. Drilling the hole frequently presents a hazard. If hidden electrical cables are cut, the drill operator runs the risk of electrocution. Sometimes when the screw is removed, the fastener spins out of the hole. Reinsertion is not always practical.

The difficulties inherent in these fasteners made many do-it-yourselfers dissatisfied. In response to their needs, a number of fastener manufacturers embarked on extensive research and development programs to find a wallboard anchor that would be faster and easier to install than what was currently available on the market.

One that shows great promise of meeting D-I-Y needs is a new one-step, "drill 'n drive" anchor from The Rawplug Company, New Rochelle, New York. Marketed under the trade name Zip-It, it drills its own hole and threads into the wall in one step and the only tool needed is a #2 or #3 screwdriver—either manual or electric. Made of nylon, the anchor is electrically nonconductive, ensuring a safe installation. It will not cut into electrical cable while drilling its own hole. The unique thread design offers a consistently strong holding power.

Once the anchor collar is flush with the wallboard surface, a #6, #8 or #10 sheet metal or drywall screw is driven with the same screwdriver through the fixture into the anchor, completing the installation. The collar will not rust and can take paint or spackle easily. Anti-rotation ratchet teeth under the collar secure the anchor to allow easy removal of the screw.

Like most hollow wall anchors, this one can be used for practically any fastening to wallboard application, but it offers greater convenience and faster, easier installation. The Zip-It wallboard anchor is available at your local Ace Hardware and True-Value Hardware stores, Hardware Wholesalers, Inc. (HWI), Sutherland Lumber Company and other hardware and home center outlets. FH901853

Sentimental Journeys...

With hardhats on their heads—and soft spots in their hearts—some 200 Clevelanders are looking forward to March's gala grand opening of their city's spectacular new Tower City Center shopping, entertainment and office complex.

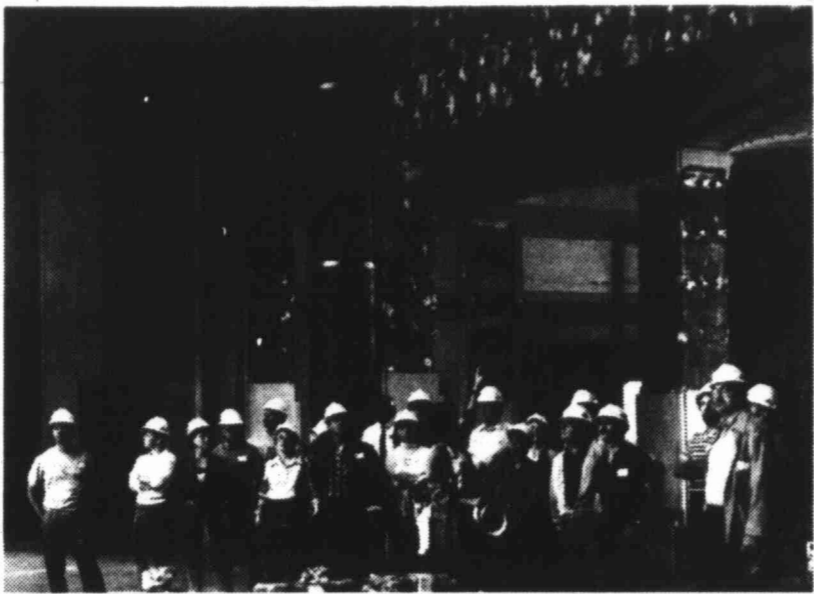

They're members of the Tower City Center Construction Club, Clevelanders who weren't content to stay home and watch the $400-million redevelopment project go on in the distance.

Old, young, and in-between, they made a sentimental journey on numerous Saturday mornings last spring, summer and fall, coming downtown from all corners of the city and suburbs to clap on hardhats and get a new perspective on a building they've known all their lives, the historic 52-story Terminal Tower.

The Tower is centerpiece for the vast new mixed-use center, one of the largest in the country, with 6.5 million square feet of interconnected office, retail, and entertainment facilities above a $55-million commuter rail station.

Also included in the Tower City Center complex will be some 120 specialty retail stores, restaurants, a multiplex cinema, new Ritz-Carlton Hotel, and the world's only Rock and Roll Hall of Fame and Museum, all dazzling additions to the venerable city's downtown renaissance.

For most members of the Construction Club, however, their trips behind the construction barriers have been a sentimental journey. Clevelanders have taken pride and a personal interest in "their" Tower since it was built in 1929 as the second-tallest building in the U.S. Recognizing its special appeal, the developers decided to sponsor the

SEEING THE FUTURE—Members of the Tower City Center Construction Club get the inside story on renovation work at the $400-million mixed-use center, set to open to everyone else in March.

Construction Club and give the city's "sidewalk superintendents" a look behind the scenes.

"Tower City Center is no ordinary project," explains Dr. Ruth Miller, president. "There's an emotional element you don't find in most construction sites."

Ask A.S. (Al) Kalish, a septuagenarian member of the Construction Club. He'd boarded the train there as a young soldier going off to fight World War II. "Thousands of us went to war from Terminal Tower...Oh, the hugging and the kissing and the tears those platforms witnessed."

Adds 74-year-old Nick Poth: "I tell the young people who got used to seeing downtown empty after the post-War flight to the suburbs, 'You can't believe the fun we had here. Every hotel had an orchestra...We'd bring our dates downtown...We danced to all the big bands here.'"

Terminal Tower was a "coming-together place for all of Cleveland," agrees Paula Krulak, an art historian and the leader of the Construction Club. She's now planning a special preview party to give Club members an advance look at Tower City Center before it opens to the public.

"They loved this area when," Ms. Krulak smiles. "Wait till they see it now!"

In an ever-changing world, today's trends are tomorrow's traditions

Even those who are not swayed by the winds of fashion get curious about what's hot and what's not. Both fads and rituals say something about our national personality. Trends that seem ridiculous in retrospect might have made perfect sense to those who first followed them, and vice versa. Remember that smoking was once the thing to do, white bread was sought after by both rich and poor, and that women wore bustles to make their backsides ampler. On the other hand, Impressionist paintings were dismissed as a silly fad, and parents of the fifties hoped that that rotten rock 'n' roll music would just fade out of style. So check in with what's in and see if you can spot the trends that will become traditions.

FOOT PROTECTION ALWAYS IMPORTANT

Summer is a time for sports, swimming, hiking, and just plain relaxing in the sun.

But while many fun-seekers are enjoying themselves, they obliviously ignore potential dangers to their bodies.

Americans annually pay millions of visits to emergency rooms, mostly during the summer. Many emergencies result from too much exposure to the sun. Many others are beach- or swimming-related, and can do harm to the feet.

Overexposure to the sun can be avoided if you limit your time outdoors, particularly between mid-morning and mid-afternoon when the sun's rays are the strongest—and most harmful.

Working, walking, and playing in the hot and humid summer weather can cause foot problems.

Different sports activities call for specific footwear to protect your feet and ankles. Use the correct shoe for each sport; don't wear any sports shoe beyond its useful life.

The same advice applies to walking or hiking. Wear proper, protective shoes or boots, particularly in rough terrain.

And when you mow the lawn, wear shoes that will protect your toes in the event of an accident. Mowing should be done in the cool of the morning, or when the sun is going down.

If you're at the beach, watch out for glass, shells, and sharp stones if you walk barefooted. Also, be careful not to walk barefooted on dirty pavement or littered ground, both good places to pick up the plantar wart virus.

If you prefer swimming pools, use sandals or other protective footwear in shower and locker room areas. The fungi that cause athlete's foot breed in the warmth and dampness of these areas, and usually attack between the toes. The warm and humid area of shoes also fosters fungus growth.

If an apparent fungus condition does not respond to proper foot hygiene and self care, consult your podiatrist. For more information on athlete's foot and foot health, call toll free 1-800-FOOTCARE. FP900776

Do you know where dogs' names come from?

If you don't own a dog yourself, you probably know people who do. Their pets may be terriers, spaniels, retrievers or any of the many other types of dogs, but have you ever wondered why and how the breeds got their special names?

Whether the breed is large or small, there is a good reason for its name.

The tiny Chihuahua, for example, comes from a place in Mexico called Chihuahua.

Thousands of miles away from Mexico—in Siberia there was a tribe known as the Samoyeds. This tribe kept dogs to pull their sledges and in time these dogs became known as Samoyeds.

In the British Isles, many breeds were named after the area where they were usually raised. Airedales were bred in the dales (valleys) around the river Aire; Bedlington terriers came from the Bedlington district of England; Kerry Blues from the county of Kerry in Ireland; and West Highland White terriers came from the Scottish Highlands.

Some breeds have well-defined characteristics that gave them their names. The small and unusual-looking Pug owes its name to an old word, 'puck,' which meant anything small or 'goblin-like.'

Another small breed, the Papillon, has ears that stand out like butterfly wings, or so the first breeders thought. These dogs were named after the French word for butterfly.

Some say that Greyhounds took their name from the Greek word for hound, but they may also have gotten their name from their color.

If you know Latin you can explain why terriers are called terriers. The Latin word for earth is 'terra.' These dogs were specially bred for going down burrows; after foxes and other small animals—the French called them 'chiens terriers' and the name terrier stuck to the breed.

Other dogs have been named after the things they originally did. Collies herded the colley sheep of Scotland. Bloodhounds followed people's trails, especially if they were wounded. Setters and Pointers set or pointed at game while the Retrievers collected the birds after a shoot.

Fortunately, there is a breed of dog to suit every kind of owner. It's up to you to pick the one that suits you best.

REPLACEMENT WINDOWS CAN END THERMOSTAT WARS

It's a familiar scene. You turn the thermostat down to save on fuel and your spouse turns it up because he or she is cold. Making your home warmer with energy-efficient windows can make you both happy.

Many older homes have wooden windows that have rotted over the years, causing leaks and gaps that allow cold air in and precious heating fuel out. Even tiny cracks can have a big effect. In fact, according to Judy Graham, director of marketing for Season-all—a leading manufacturer of custom vinyl and aluminum replacement windows, storm windows and storm doors—drafty windows can be responsible for up to a third of a home's energy loss.

Custom windows always fit

To fill the gaps, Graham recommends that replacement windows be custom made. "After a house settles, the window openings may no longer be 'standard' sizes," she says. "Custom windows are measured to fit the opening exactly, no matter what the dimensions. They prevent the gaps that cause air and moisture to seep inside."

Today's replacement windows are also made with energy-efficient glass and extra-weatherstripping that older windows lack.

For free information on choosing replacement windows, write to: "American Living Brochure," Judy Graham, SEASON-ALL, Dept. RSPR, 1480 Wayne Avenue, Indiana, PA 15701. F11901553

BOOKLET EXPLAINS CLIMATE CONTROL

Unlike the weather outdoors, homeowners can accurately control the "weather" conditions in their homes, explains Honeywell's new 36-page full-color Perfect Climate booklet.

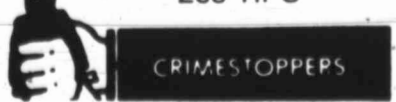

This educational booklet describes the five components of a Perfect Climate system and how they work together to provide such benefits as improved comfort, higher energy savings, added convenience and possible relief from some allergy problems.

The booklet offers tips on:
• how to keep your heating and cooling equipment operating at peak efficiency and at the lowest possible cost;
• how to help your thermostat do its job;
• how to keep the home properly ventilated;
• how to maintain proper humidity levels within the home.

The booklet also suggests important questions you should ask your contractor if you're planning to remodel, build or buy a new home.

Popcorn craze popping up just about everywhere

Unless you purposely avoid the snack food aisle at the supermarket, you must have stopped—at least for a split second—to wonder whether America had turned into a white cheddar cheese popcorn factory.

How did it happen that people of all ages have become addicted to the taste of a totally natural white cheddar cheese snack called Smartfood® Brand Popcorn?

The craze was born six years ago, when three friends got together in a Boston kitchen and created the world's first white cheddar cheese popcorn—and a whole new snack food category. They named it Smartfood (as opposed to junk food) and put it in a shiny black bag, just to keep people guessing about what was inside.

Of course, the entrepreneurs had no money for promotion. Desperate to get the word out, they created a whole new marketing medium, which 32-year-old company president Ken Meyers calls "guerilla marketing." Dressed up in human-size Smartfood bags, they hit the streets handing out samples, skied down slopes, and stood on the ledges of other people's billboards.

In only four years, New Englanders—many of whom were as devoted to the crazy antics of the company's founders as to their product—had been charmed into consuming large quantities of Smartfood. By 1988, the organization had grown from a $35,000 start-up operation to a business with an annual income of $10 million.

As was sure to happen, success has spawned a slew of imitators, but none has been able to capture the mystique of the original white cheddar cheese popcorn, a phenomenon explained by Meyers this way: "This is not just popcorn, it's Smartfood Popcorn, a snack with an irreverent personality and a sense of humor. Our goal has been to wake people up and really get their attention, and laughter is a pretty good alarm clock!"

PERSONIFYING THE COMPANY'S irreverent marketing approach, Smartfoods, Inc. president, Ken Meyers, leads the Smartfoods® Wacky Attack Team down a ski slope.

You can't help but smile when the Smartfood Wacky Attack Team (S.W.A.T.) is around. Willing to do anything, anywhere, anyhow to get attention, the team has invaded accounting firms during tax season, run road races in their Smartfood bags, staged its own Mr. America pageant at the Atlantic City Boardwalk, and stood on highway overpasses waving at commuters during rush hour.

Meyers points to more than 12,000 fan letters from consumers all over the country as evidence that Americans are embracing the offbeat Smartfood attitude with open arms. TA902880

Say goodbye to a rash of trouble

①Poison ivy is a master of disguise. One of the most common weed problems homeowners face, poison ivy can resemble a vine, low plant or bush. Some people try to identify the plant by its red stem, but stems often turn green late in the growing season. Other homeowners mistake Virginia creeper for poison ivy.

The real McCoy has waxy white berries, no tendrils or thorns, and three leaves which are shiny or oily looking. It reproduces through seeds that are spread by birds that eat its berries, and by its growing runners which increase the plant's spread across the ground.

Poison ivy is a distant cousin to mangoes and cashews. Anyone who has suffered from a poison ivy encounter knows just how much suffering its irritating oils can cause. Because skin inflammation can be particularly severe with pets and small children, homeowners should try to eradicate the noxious plant if it develops in their yard.

Late summer through early fall is a good time to treat poison ivy with a non-selective grass and weed killer like Roundup. It contains one of the most effective poison ivy killers available and works particularly well as the plant is winding down its growing cycle.

Using chemical weed control reduces your risk of exposure to the plant. Roundup is easily spray applied to the leafy green part of the plant where it's absorbed and "translocated" throughout the plant, killing roots and all. This also ensures total plant kill with no regeneration next spring. After it's treated, the plant will yellow, wilt and brown out completely in about one to two weeks. If left throughout the winter, any remaining plant stems are more easily removed in early spring.

Care should be taken when handling the plant. Poison ivy remains noxious even after killed, so gloves and long sleeves should be worn. Protective goggles are also a good idea to avoid accidentally brushing near your eyes with a tainted glove or hand. FP900711

Yard ponds add extra dimension to your garden

If you really enjoy being in your yard and would like to give your yard that extra dimension to make it even more enjoyable, as well as the envy of your neighborhood, here's a great suggestion—put in your own yard pond! Too much worry? Don't know how to do it? Through new technology, all these worries are needless.

Installing your own garden pond is simple, maintaining your own yard pond is easy and, best of all, your yard pond can provide year after year of trouble-free enjoyment.

European gardens, particularly in Great Britain, southern France, northern Italy, Holland and West Germany, are almost always pictured with a yard pond.

Seven years ago, a German company, the Tetra Werke, known best in the United States for its products for home aquariums, developed a bonded two-piece, heavy-duty (32 Mil thick), flexible rubber pond liner. This liner allows home owners to free-form a yard pond efficiently and immediately.

The liner can withstand the warmest summers and the coldest winters, and is available in sizes big enough to create ponds almost 10 feet in diameter.

Through Tetra Werke's U.S. distributor, Tetra Sales, U.S.A., all the products and complete information on constructing a yard pond are now available.

In summary, you should select a location on your property where the ground is fairly even although, because of the flexibility of the liner, some leveling can be achieved when digging your pond. The pond should be placed where it will get approximately six hours of sunlight per day.

While you can place your pond anywhere, it is not recommended to place it directly under trees since falling leaves can foul the water and tree roots will make digging difficult.

Using a heavy garden hose or a rope, free-form your pond design to conform to your landscaping scheme.

When constructing your pond, you should dig both a shallow area and a deep area. Fish benefit from the shallow area to feed on insects and the shallow area can also be used to place potted plants such as lilies.

The deep area will provide security for your fish and protect them from birds and small animals. Depending on your climate, the deep area of your pond should be anywhere from 24 to 40 inches and the shallow area from 4 to 12 inches.

When constructing your pond, you should line the ground with sand, carpet padding or even old newspapers before laying the liner. This will protect your pond liner against sharp, protruding objects such as roots or rocks.

To create that professional look, build a rock border around your pond, allowing the rocks to overlap the edge of the pond by 1 or 2 inches.

You can landscape back around the pond and even build a patio if you so desire.

Maintaining your pond is very easy. Tetra has an economical, permanent pond filter and a complete line of water chemicals and foods to ensure that your fish will prosper.

What kind of fish should you put in your pond? The hardiest are large Common or Comet goldfish. Depending on the size of your pond, these hardy fish will grow rapidly and can withstand the worst weather. As long as the water in your pond does not freeze to its lowest depth, these fish can survive the cruelest winters.

If you live in a warmer climate, you can select from the most prized pond fish: the beautiful and exotic Koi from Japan. These are increasingly available throughout the U.S. and, although they are not quite as hardy as the common goldfish, they are a treasured pond fish.

What should you do in the winter? Nothing! After the first frost, remove your filter and leave your pond alone until the onset of spring (as soon as the water temperature reaches 50°F).

Never feed your fish during the winter as their metabolism directly relates to the water temperature, and when the water temperature drops below 50°F they will not eat. In the spring, simply reinstall your filter and begin feeding your fish.

Your yard pond can provide years of enjoyment and truly make you the envy of your neighborhood.

For further information, write Tetra Sales, 201 Tabor Rd., Morris Plains, NJ 07950; or contact your local pet store or your lawn and garden center.

Winning the war on weeds this fall

Many homeowners are surprised to learn that fall can be the best time to get rid of troublesome weeds, brush and grasses that detract from a yard's appearance. The reason is that plants are slowing down their growth at this time and storing energy in their root structures. That's the best time to get them with a spray applied weed killer.

Kudzu, quackgrass, johnsongrass, thistle, poison ivy, and honeysuckle are just some of the problem weeds that can be eliminated this way. By late in the growing cycle, the flow of carbohydrates in a plant is down towards the roots. A weed killer designed to absorb through the plant's green, leafy outer structure and translocate through its system down to the roots can work very efficiently during this time.

Roundup grass and weed killer is a product that's both environmentally compatible and effective at killing weeds—roots and all—through this translocation process. Successfully treated, the plant leaves no underground roots to regenerate next spring.

You don't need to be a weed identification expert. Roundup is a non-selective weed killer that works on more than 50 weeds, grasses, brush, vines. It works so well, in fact, that care should be taken to avoid spraying it on wanted plants.

A good weed killer will do the work for you and minimize the amount of contact you must have with noxious plants. For example, Roundup is easily spray applied and can get unwanted vegetation wherever it's growing. In between patio bricks, along fences, driveways and walkways, around light posts and mail boxes, even in mulched landscape areas—these are just some of the places it can be used.

A spray applied weed killer offers other advantages. You can avoid touching plants that are thorny or poisonous until after total kill is achieved. You can also save yourself hours of tedious string trimming or back breaking hand labor.

After spraying, the plant will begin to yellow, wither and eventually die out in one to two weeks. By then you know it's dead clear down to the roots. Often, winter weather is enough to cause it to disintegrate. By spring, any remaining plant parts are dried up and easily removed.

For your fall yard and garden cleanup, look for a weed killer product that is biodegradable and won't leach or move in the soil. As with all chemicals in the home, read and follow label directions on weed killers carefully.

Gold credit cards rewrite the travel horror story

The travel horror story: Almost everyone has one. Some are simple tales of annoyance of lost luggage or an over-heated car. Others are more complicated, involving broken bones or unexpected legal difficulties.

Whatever the reason, these nightmares can ruin a vacation that has been planned, saved and waited for all year. Fortunately, more and more of these old tales of woe are turning out to have happy endings as travelers find themselves rescued by a knight in golden armor—their own gold bank cards.

"Too many people just don't know that their gold credit card is a great source of travelers' aid," says Ted Jablonski, vice president, Gold Card Marketing, MasterCard International. "If they run into an emergency while traveling, their gold card offers one of the most complete medical, legal and insurance programs that they will ever need, as well as pre-trip assistance. Yet it still delivers the prestige, buying power and payment flexibility they need for the way they really live."

Under the MasterAssist[®] program, Gold MasterCard[®] provides immediate help for common travel problems almost everywhere in the world. This includes: MasterAssist Medical Protection (emergency medical assistance, referrals, monitoring and expense coverage); MasterLegal[™] (emergency legal assistance, referrals and cash transfers); MasterRental[™] (car rental insurance that covers not only collision/loss damage, but also personal effects and personal accidents); MasterRoadAssist[™] (a brand new service, offering emergency roadside assistance, including everything from towing and jump-starts to gas refills); and finally, MasterTrip[™] (offering all kinds of information for planning your vacation and emergency cash transfers once you've arrived).

All of these services are accessible to harried travelers through an easy-to-remember telephone hotline number, 1-800-MC ASSIST. In fact, with this kind of travelers aid and attention to detail, all your travel holidays should have happy endings.

Here are a few basic travel tips that can help:

- Always pack a complete change of clothes, pajamas, and your basic toiletries in a carry-on bag in case your luggage doesn't arrive with you.
- Whether you are in a foreign country or just another state, if you run into difficulties with the legal authorities, don't try to handle it by yourself; contact Gold Master Card for referral to a local lawyer.
- Before car trips, check the gas, oil, water and tire pressure. And if you are carrying heavy luggage with you, put a few extra pounds of air pressure in your tires.
- Finally, check with your bank when you are planning your trip to get information on all the services attached to your gold card.

Estate peonies: a three generation effort

Some of the finest new peony varieties available today are the result of one family's three generation effort. The Klehm family of Illinois has traditionally been one of the world's top growers of peonies. Starting in the 1890s, Charles Klehm imported peony roots from France and England and began the hybridizing and selection process of improving the lovely peony for home gardens. His son Carl carried on this work for many years and now the third generation, represented by Roy Klehm, carries on the peony programs.

and landscape."

"Estate Peonies" is the group name the family uses to designate their own peony introductions. Presently, 48 Estate Peony varieties are being offered. Roy describes this particular class of peonies as "vigorous, reliable performers with good, clean foliage and strong stems. They offer a wide range of pleasing blossom colors. These peonies (some pleasingly fragrant) are all unique and distinct in their beauty and value for the garden

Some of Roy's recent introductions are 'Marshmallow Puff' (pictured above), a billowy pure white; 'Paree Fru Fru,' an exotic feathery pink; and 'Ala Mode,' a pure white single with a gold center.

ORNAMENTAL GRASSES ARE AN ALTERNATIVE

Ornamental grasses are neither flowers that bloom or grasses that need to be mowed every few weeks. They are attractive throughout the entire year, and the only upkeep required is to cut them down every spring before the growth starts.

Planted in late fall, they thrive anywhere and are virtually indestructible, increasing moderately year after year. To subdivide, the Garden Council recommends late fall or early spring for best results. FP900816

LANDSCAPING MADE EASY

A good landscaping plan is one of the most important gardening tools a homeowner should have before designing—or re-designing—his or her yard.

The plan will assist the homeowner in managing expenditures and will help ensure that the time and money invested in the home landscape is well spent. And, according to the Garden Council, a well-landscaped home increases "curb appeal" and can increase the selling price of the home by seven to 14 percent.

One way to start developing your plan is the Garden Council's "Yard & Garden Remodeling Kit." Developed by leading landscape architects, this kit is comprehensive in its approach and instructs the homeowner in completing many of the preliminary tasks necessary to creating a good landscape plan.

To receive your copy of the kit, please send $1.00 and a self-addressed stamped envelope to: Garden Council, 500 N. Michigan Avenue, Suite 1400, Chicago, Illinois 60611. FP900817

Camcorders capture the times of your life

Camcorders capture the times of your life, from family get-togethers and anniversaries to sports activities and birthday parties. The popularity of camcorders continues to increase, with nearly 2,300,000 sold in 1989, and 1990 projections even higher.

The Electronic Industries Association's Consumer Electronics Group (EIA/CEG) says that camcorders provide a lifelike, colorful record of the important events that make your life special.

There are basically two formats to choose from when purchasing a camcorder: VHS and 8mm. Consumers who choose the VHS format have the choice of a full-size VHS and VHS-C unit. VHS-C, a small version of full-size VHS, and 8mm are the two compact camcorder formats. Beta units may be available in some areas. S-VHS and Hi-Band 8 are further refinements of these formats.

Yuki Nozoe, vice president for marketing in the video division of Sony, says, "The universe of camcorder buyers has expanded significantly. Everyone from new parents to travelers and aspiring movie directors are discovering how they can use camcorders to express themselves creatively while preserving special occasions and everyday events."

Fred Aclander, marketing manager for consumer video at Sharp, advises consumers looking to purchase a camcorder to "Ask themselves if the camcorder they are interested in is compatible with their home VCR."

"For example, 8mm camcorders are not compatible with VHS VCRs. In order to play back an 8mm video tape, consumers would have to connect their 8mm camcorder to their television or purchase an 8mm VCR."

Wayne Park, group product manager for electronics at Goldstar, advises consumers to "consider the weight and size of the camcorder they are interested in," and adds the three most important considerations when purchasing a camcorder should be light sensitivity, zoom power and the weight of the unit. He notes that "many camcorders are becoming more lightweight and smaller."

Terry Stein, vice president for sales at Hitachi, says that, when purchasing a camcorder, consumers should talk to people they know. "Borrow a friend's camcorder and get a feel for it," he says. "Have a good idea of what you're going to use the camcorder for when you go to a store. Ask yourself what you're going to be videotaping. Will you be taking the camcorder on extended vacations? Will you be using it indoors, outdoors, or both?"

What are some of the hot products being purchased for use with camcorders? Stein points to built-in color enhancement lights as a hot item. "Manufacturers have found that, for the amateur user, a significant percentage of shooting is done indoors," he says. "Built-in color enhancement lights provide consumers with extra light to capture true, bright colors for better quality tapes."

Aclander says that flying eraser heads, zoom capability and high speed shutters, for capturing fast moving action without blurry images, are popular features on today's camcorders.

Everett "Sparky" Wren, vice president and general manager for the video division of Canon U.S.A., predicts that "the wireless remote control will be popular" because "consumers like to be able to operate their units from a distance, such as when playing a tape with the camcorder hooked up to a television, or when the camcorder is set on a tripod."

Your local video retailer can show you the latest camcorders and accessories designed to enhance the camcorder's value. Open up a whole new world of memories with a camcorder today!

Consumers who want to learn more about camcorders and camcorder accessories can order any or all of five EIA/CEG pamphlets. The pamphlets include:

1. "How to Buy, Use and Care for VCRs, Camcorders, and Tape";
2. "About the Care and Service of Audio and Video Products";
3. "How to Choose and Use Accessories";
4. "How to Choose, Use and Care for Audio and Video Tape";
5. "How to Install, Connect and Expand TVs, VCRs, etc."

Consumers can request a copy of any or all of these pamphlets by sending a No. 10 self-addressed stamped envelope with 45 cents postage for pamphlet 1; 25 cents postage for pamphlet 2; 45 cents postage for pamphlet 3; 25 cents postage for pamphlet 4; and 65 cents postage for pamphlet 5. The address for all requests is the Electronic Industries Association, P.O. Box 19100, Washington, D.C. 20036. CE903051

Plan now for next year's garden

As winter approaches and gardening activity slows down, the time is ideal to plan the garden you'll have next spring. You can spend all winter moving plants around on paper. Books published by Ortho make planning even more fun. There's an Ortho Book on virtually every topic, from how to plan a beautiful low-maintenance flower garden to successfully growing roses, vegetables, herbs, shrubs—even greenhouse plants.

The newest books, available in October, are: The Garden That Cares for Itself: Greenhouse Plants; Successful Flower Gardening; The Easiest Flowers to Grow; All About Vegetables; All About Roses; All About Herbs; and Shrubs & Hedges.

The Garden That Cares for Itself (112 pages; $7.95) is intended for people who don't have a lot of time to spend maintaining their landscape, and for those who want to spend more time on gardening activities that are fun and less time on routine tasks and unpleasant chores. Here are time-saving and labor-saving tips and techniques for creating and maintaining a low-care home landscape. The book shows how, with a little extra investment in time and expense in the beginning, readers can create a low-care garden that will require minimal time and effort later on.

Today, greenhouses can be built wherever there is space, from a window or balcony to a small or large backyard. An encyclopedic new volume from Ortho Books, Greenhouse Plants (112 pages; $7.95) describes more than 500 plant species that will flourish in a home greenhouse. Greenhouse Plants covers everything from choosing appropriate plants, to where to buy them and how to care for them.

A new hardcover book, Successful Flower Gardening (352 pages; $29.95), takes you on a tour through nine widely diverse, yet equally beautiful gardens. Photos of these idea-filled flower gardens show by example how successful gardens are attained.

The extensive encyclopedia of flowers in Successful Flower Gardening includes over 450 color photographs to spark the imagination, and complete descriptions of over 500 species of flowering plants to help aid in selection of the right plants.

For the lazy gardener who loves flowers, The Easiest Flowers to Grow (112 pages; $7.95) tells how to grow colorful flowers that virtually thrive on neglect. It offers step-by-step instructions for buying, starting and caring for plants; solving common problems; and easy garden design. A plant selection guide gives detailed descriptions of more than 100 easy-care flowering annuals, perennials, shrubs, trees and woody vines.

All About Vegetables is the basic handbook for vegetable growers that started the series of Ortho garden publications more than 15 years ago. This updated and expanded edition (144 pages; $12.95), has detailed instructions for preparing the soil, starting seed, caring for and harvesting the plants, and cooking tips. Also included is information on the newer varieties of vegetables.

All About Roses (112 pages; $7.95), endorsed by the American Rose Society, is full of the most reliable information on growing roses. The most popular of all garden plants, roses have been grown and cherished for centuries. All About Roses will help you enjoy them in the landscape and indoors.

Herbs, considered by some to be the heart of the garden, add zest to food, and provide a fragrant scent. All About Herbs (112 pages; $7.95) shows how to grow, harvest and preserve herbs, as well as how to use them in cooking, potpourris and cosmetics. A unique photographic guide to 165 herbs and spices provides many interesting details about specific plants.

Shrubs and hedges are among the most versatile of all garden plants; they are a garden mainstay, the "foundation" in landscaping. A popular Ortho book, Shrubs & Hedges (112 pages; $7.95) has been fully revised to include up-to-date information on designing with shrubs, selecting the right shrubs for the right place, and pruning techniques.

Ortho Books are sold at hardware stores, home improvement centers and bookstores nationwide. For more information on the availability of Ortho Books, contact: Ortho Books, P.O. Box 5047, San Ramon, CA 94583; (415) 842-5537.

BUSINESS REVIEW

List your home with a proven leader: ERA

An ERA realtor is a good choice for anyone buying or selling a home, said Lila Estes, owner of ERA Reeder Real Estate, 506 E. Fourth Street.

Estes joined ERA, which is the second largest real estate company in the nation, in 1970. ERA has 2,400 offices in the U.S. and internationally.

ERA offers many major advantages for both buyers and sellers, said Estes, including very strong national TV coverage. ERA also offers a guaranteed sales plan. If ERA does not sell your home, they will buy it, with certain limitations and stipulations.

ERA has a concentrated training program. Each agent goes through intensive training before they begin work with the agency, and short training sessions are scheduled weekly to help agents stay on top in their field. The company also holds national conventions each year. The 1990 convention will be held in San Diego, California.

ERA goes out of their way to gain financing for potential buyers. They even have their own mortgage company, although local lenders are preferred.

"We try as many lending institutions as needed to help our customers buy a home. And we keep them informed of the rates and buying points to save them as much money as possible," Estes said.

Another advantage ERA has is their Buyer - Seller protection Plan, with automatic enrollment when you buy or sell through ERA.

The buyer protection plan insures "all working parts" for a 12-month period after purchase of home. Working parts include plumbing, electrical, appliances, and fixtures.

"The only thing the buyer or seller pays for is the $100 deductible," Estes explained. "If your heater goes out during the first 12 months of ownership, or 144 days after it's been listed with us, all you'll be responsible for is $100. It can be quite a savings."

Estes said this plan is for accidents, or natural wear or tear of any working part. The seller protection plan insures free coverage on working parts while listed, or up to 145 days.

"There are definite advantages to dealing with a real estate agent," Estes said.

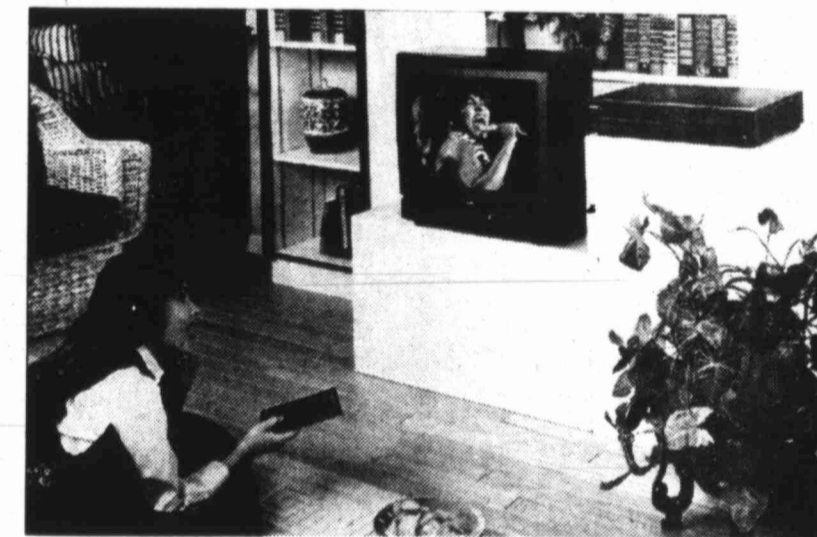

Advantages for the buyer include such things as: showing property listed through multiple listing services, help in knowing what the buyer can afford, finding the right home and neighborhood, financing aid and

MAKING POINSETTIAS BLOOM AGAIN

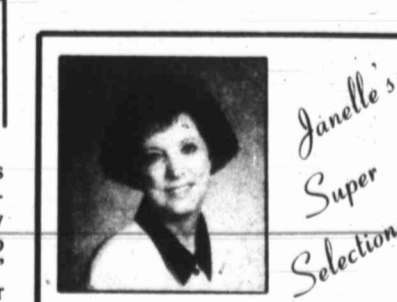

By JOEL RAPP "Mr. Mother Earth"

Hi there, philodendron phans! One of the questions I'm asked most frequently is "How do I get my holiday poinsettia to bloom again indoors?" Well, if you've kept your poinsettia from last year, now is the time to get started on the process, and if you don't have a poinsettia but will be buying one this Christmas, pay heed:

If you want your plant to rebloom each winter, put the poinsettia into total darkness (such as a closet) for ten to twelve hours every night for at least eight weeks in a row—starting in early October. Don't forget to bring it out into a sunny window each day before repeating the "blackout" process each night.

Make sure you water the plant regularly so the soil doesn't dry out, and feed it once a week with a top-notch liquid houseplant food (my personal choice is Miracle-Gro). After it finishes flowering in late January or early February, prune it back, enjoy it as a foliage plant during the spring and summer, and next year repeat the process again.

Happy Growing! FP900768
