Bush consults party leaders about options

By RITA BEAMISH
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — President Bush says he still hopes the Persian Gulf crisis will end peacefully but is consulting on options with congressional leaders and foreign policy aides as the standoff with Iraq nears the three-month mark.

Bush met with Democratic and Republican leaders at the White House today, a day after he declared that he "would have no hesitancy" to using force if provoked by Iraq's President Saddam Hussein.

At a picture-taking session at the beginning of the meeting, Bush brushed off a reporter's question on reports that administration officials plan to discuss a timetable with U.S. allies for a possible military offensive.

"I could, but I'm not going to comment" on the story in today's editions of the Los Angeles Times, Bush said.

The president also planned to meet with foreign policy advisers today.

The Constitution gives Congress the power to declare war, although the president is commander-in-chief of the armed forces.

Bush has held regular consultations with Congress on the gulf crisis since Iraq's Aug. 2 invasion of Kuwait prompted him to send more than 200,000 troops to the region.

But beyond that, Secretary of State James A. Baker III said recently the administration would not promise to get congressional

College to begin training classes

Training courses for life underwriters will start this week at Howard College.

The classes will allow professional underwriters to improve their professional skills to better serve clients, said Kathryn A. Blagrove, chairman of the program. The course is sponsored by the Midland Area Life Underwriters Association.

Students who successfully complete a prescribed curriculum of such courses are eligible for the Life Underwriter Training Council fellowship designation.

The classes will begin tonight in the Practical Arts Building at 7 p.m. Enrollment will be accepted at the door.

Absentee voting higher than 1988

Today is the last day that ballots were being mailed out to those eligible to vote absentee. As of this morning 241 ballots have been mailed out and 137 were received, reported Howard County Clerk Margaret Ray.

Meanwhile, absentee voting remains higher than the 1988 presidential election year, the first year that no-excuse absentee voting was allowed.

As of Monday, 1,485 voted absentee, which is about 9.8 percent of the county's 15,190 registered voters. At the same time two years ago, 1,372 people had voted, which is about 8.3 percent of the 16,549 registered voters at that time.

Ray said she expects heavier voting the rest of the week. Friday at 5 p.m. is the deadline to vote. "Usually we have a larger turnout the last three days," she said.

The courthouse is open 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Rally for Gramm on Thursday

Sen. Phil Gramm will hold an "Old Fashioned Patriotic Rally" at the Basin Aviation hangar at McMahon/Wrinkle Airpark Thursday at 4:15 p.m.

An aide to Sen. Gramm said the event should last about one hour. There will be some speeches and music will be provided by the Stanton High School band.

The band will play pre-ceremonial music, including the "Star-Spangled Banner."

All area citizens are invited to attend the rally.

CrimeStoppers

As much as $1,000 in reward money will be given for confidential information leading to the arrest, conviction or grand jury indictment of those involved in stealing a 1986 tan Ford Mustang from Comanche Trail Park.

The vehicle was stolen Sept. 27 between 9-11 p.m. and was reported being driven recklessly on the north side of town after 11 p.m. The vehicle was found the next day in a north-side neighborhood with evidence that someone had tried to set the vehicle on fire.

Those with information about this offense or any others are urged to call 263-TIPS. Callers will remain anonymous.

Saddam expects attack

By ANDREA HAMILTON
Associated Press Writer

Saddam Hussein told his senior military advisers today to prepare for an attack by the United States and its allies in the next few days, an official Iraqi report said.

The Iraqi president said "preparations for urban warfare and necessary measures to be taken in the event of combat in (Kuwait)," the Iraqi News Agency reported.

Saddam's talk came one day after the U.N. Security Council's five permanent members held a high-level military meeting to discuss how to further pressure him to remove his troops from Kuwait.

It also followed a Security Council vote to hold Iraq liable for damages from the Iraqi occupation.

The Iraqi News Agency said Saddam told military leaders to finish preparations for a fight with members of the U.S.-led multinational force.

"We must be prepared with all that God has given us of potential to thwart perfidious intentions by the United States and its allies to launch an attack in the coming few days," the report quoted Saddam as saying.

The agency did not explain why

Officials stress need for Halloween safety

By DEBBIE LINCEUM
Staff Writer

Observance of Halloween presents parents and their children with a number of "tricky" situations. Here, a Big Spring Police Crime Prevention Officer and other officials give tips for extra safety during the holiday.

Sgt. Bobby Armstrong said officers' main concern during the holiday will be the safety of children. Vandalism, though it does occur during the holiday, is common throughout the year and not just during Halloween, he said.

"There are several tips for safety during the holiday, but parental involvement is the key to all of them," Armstrong said. "Parents should definitely not let their children go out alone."

He said he would "strongly suggest" taking children to organized activities instead of trick-or-treating on city streets.

A variety of events are planned tomorrow night at various locations around the city. The Jaycees, Canterbury residents and the Howard College student government association all plan holiday parties or haunted houses. The Big Spring Mall and the police department office, 400 East Fourth, will give candy to kids throughout the evening.

Pet safety tips

Halloween can pose dangers to pets, but problems can be avoided if owners heed a few simple tips, according to a release from the Humane Society of the United States.

The Humane Society recommends keeping pets indoors during the holiday. Cats, especially black cats, are vulnerable to abuse by pranksters at this time of year.

Candy can be harmful to pets. Chocolate has chemicals that can cause serious illness or death in dogs.

Finally, the society advises, your pet may behave strangely when the barrage of trick-or-treaters strike. Constant ringing of the doorbell, unfamiliar sights and smells can confuse your pet. They recommended keeping pets in a secluded room of the house on Halloween.

has announced that it will sponsor a "safe house" for kids tomorrow from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. at its administration building, 600 F.M. 700. There will be games, contests and

Landfill rules may be eased for small towns

By PATRICK DRISCOLL
Staff Writer

STANTON — New stricter federal landfill regulations may be passed by January, county and city officials here learned at a joint-meeting Monday to discuss closing their landfill and opening another one.

There are indications that the regulations may provide cost-cutting exemptions for landfills serving less than 5,000 people, handling less than 10 tons daily and in areas with less than 25-inches of rainfall annually, said officials with Sparsely Populated Entities Coalition.

Martin County and Stanton are among 112 government entities in the West Texas-based coalition pushing for exemptions. SPEC has the backing of both state senators, six area congressmen, including Charles Stenholm, D-Stamford, three area council of governments associations and the Texas Association of Counties.

SPEC organizer Peggy Garner, Upton County Judge, said she received confirmation from an official with the Office of Management and Budget in Washington that the exemptions will be included in the new rules. Affected could be groundwater monitoring and water-resistant underground liners.

"She also stated that that figure was just arbitrarily put in there by EPA (Environmental Protection Agency) and that they would try to increase the population cutoff," Garner said. "EPA would have to agree to it."

OMB is now reviewing the proposed regulations and how they will affect rural communities, said an engineer retained by Martin County and Stanton at their meeting Monday night.

Gary Harris, Parkhill, Smith & Cooper Inc., of Midland, said it was his understanding that OMB had 60 days from the beginning of this month the look over the rules and have asked for a 30-day extension.

"I don't think there'll be anything before the first of the year," he told city councilmen and commissioners.

He also said he has not heard of any changes in a proposed

Chrysler workers stay on the job

HIGHLAND PARK, Mich. (AP) — The United Auto Workers told its 63,000 Chrysler Corp. employees in eight states to stay on the job today while contract talks continued.

Officials at some union locals said workers at the No. 3 automaker were impatient and might strike if negotiations last too long.

The union announced that a contract extension its members had been working under since mid-September would expire at midnight Monday. After that, the union said, members should report to work until notified otherwise.

Union members appeared to be heeding the request and reporting to work.

Talks were continuing this morning.

The UAW is negotiating a contract similar to those it has signed with the other Big Three automakers, General Motors Corp. and Ford Motor Co.

Chrysler has indicated it may not be able to afford the so-called GM-Ford pattern agreement; the union has said it will settle for nothing less. Major issues remained unresolved Monday, including job security, health care and pensions.

Light at the end

ENGLISH CHANNEL — Work goes forward on the tunnel under the English Channel, as seen in this recent photo from the British side. The breakthrough is expected Tuesday or Wednesday in the service tunnel, one of three being dug, when a small pilot hole will connect the British and French workmen who have been drilling toward each other since 1987.

Detroit tries to keep firebugs home

DETROIT (AP) — The city imposed a curfew and organized patrols by residents toting fire extinguishers, while free cable TV was offered to keep firebugs home tonight during Devil's Night, Detroit's pre-Halloween arson spree.

The measures are part of an effort by Detroit to remake its lawless image and end the annual outbreak of fires that has become a national embarrassment.

Devil's Night is actually three nights of vandalism, beginning two nights before Halloween and peaking one night before.

Mayor Coleman A. Young last week unveiled a "My Heart is with Detroit" campaign, urging residents to take pride in their city and step up anti-arson patrols.

More than 35,000 residents and city workers have volunteered to keep an eye out for arsonists, Young said. Rewards of up to $1,500 have been offered for information leading to the conviction of arsonists.

Volunteers wearing red-and-white "My Heart is with Detroit" T-shirts and caps began walking the streets Monday night, some carrying fire extinguishers to put out small blazes.

Until the 1970s, Devil's Night featured typical Halloween tricks such as egg tossing, covering homes and yards with toilet paper and burning piles of leaves.

Report says prisoners may still be in Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressional staff report conducted for Sen. Jesse Helms questions the government's long-held contention that no Americans who fought in the Vietnam war are still being held captive in Southeast Asia.

The interim report, released Monday, contends that the Pentagon adopted its position about missing Americans and then discredited evidence to the contrary.

Information "uncovered during this inquiry provides enough corroboration to cast doubt upon the veracity of the U.S. government's conclusion," said the report by the Republican staff of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

The government has contended there is no evidence that American prisoners are still alive in Southeast Asia — or that any were left behind alive after U.S. prisoners returned in 1973.

But the staff said, "Classified, declassified and unclassified information all confirm one startling fact: That the Defense Department in April 1974 concluded beyond a doubt that several hundred living American POWs remained in captivity in Southeast Asia."

The information also does not rule out the likelihood that Americans are still being held, the report said.

A Pentagon spokesman, Lt. Cmdr. Ken Satterfield, said the department had not received the new report and had no comment.

The report said defense intelligence discredited — often in error — live-sighting reports about thousands of refugees fleeing Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos during the 1970s and 1980s.

It also contended that some witnesses may have been intimidated and that information was dismissed on technicalities.

Since the fall of Saigon in 1975, the Defense Intelligence Agency has received nearly 12,000 reports on missing Americans, most of them from Indochinese refugees. None has panned out thus far, the Pentagon has said.

The report disagrees with the findings of a House select committee, which concluded a year after the war ended that there were no POWs being held. However, that panel said a small number of deserters or civilians might have voluntarily stayed behind.

Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., ranking GOP member on the Foreign Relations Committee and a critic of the improving relations between the United States and Vietnam, asked the panel's minority staff to conduct the study.

Europeans agree to curb warming

LUXEMBOURG (AP) — In a commitment to curb global warming, the 12-nation European Community has pledged to limit its output of carbon dioxide emissions in the year 2000 to the 1990 level.

The move Monday by EC ministers was seen as an attempt to pressure the United States into adopting a similar pledge at a major international conference on the issue.

with potentially catastrophic environmental implications.

Plans call for the drafting of a convention that would be ready for signing in 1992.

The United States has yet to issue a proposal on how it plans to curb its carbon dioxide emissions — produced largely through the burning of fossil fuels.

"A divided European Community would have been an excuse for the Americans not to proceed any further," said a European Community source, who spoke on condition of anonymity.

About 500 scientists convened in Geneva on Monday for a 10-day U.N. conference.

Next week, negotiations open in Geneva on a convention aimed at curbing the release of carbon dioxide and other man-made gases that are causing a gradual increase in global temperature —

Mandela seeks funds from Japan

TOKYO (AP) — South African black leader Nelson Mandela today called Japan's financial contribution to the anti-apartheid movement "absolutely insignificant" compared to money given by other nations.

He said that of four countries he has visited on an Asia-Pacific tour, only Japan has failed to pledge money to his African National Congress.

"The Japanese government has disclosed that they have already spent $1.8 million toward assisting in improving the conditions of our people in South Africa," he said.

Compared to aid from other nations, "the contribution of the Japanese government is absolutely insignificant," Mandela said.

On Monday, Prime Minister Toshiki Kaifu told Mandela that Japan could not provide aid to the ANC because of its policy of not giving assistance to political parties in other nations.

Kaifu said his government would provide aid to grass-roots South African groups, however.

Mandela, 72, told a news conference that he had asked the Japanese government to contribute $25 million to the ANC to help it achieve stability and negotiate with the South African government for an end to apartheid.

Indian holy site is center of unrest

AYODHYA, India (AP) — Troops opened fire today on Hindu fundamentalists who broke through police lines and surged toward a holy site claimed by both Hindus and Moslems. Four people were killed and at least 20 wounded.

Eleven more people died in Hindu-Moslem clashes in several cities hundreds of miles away, police said. At least 122 people have been killed in riots across India this past week, most in clashes between Hindus and Moslems.

About 200 Hindus eventually reached the site, where a 16th-century Moslem mosque stands.

Student takes, releases hostages

CHARLESTOWN, Ind. (AP) — A straight-A student under suspension took seven hostages at gunpoint in a high school classroom, then let them go and surrendered, leaving behind chalkboard graffiti about death and suicide.

Eli Dean, 17, was taken to a mental health center for evaluation after the eight-hour standoff Monday at Charlestown High School. No one was injured.

No charges were immediately filed.

The boy made no demands during the siege but threatened several times to kill himself, police said.

History is alive at pioneer village

GONZALES, Texas — Jay Wilson gives a tour at the Gonzales Pioneer Village in Gonzales, Texas. Wilson and his family live as pioneers and re-enact Texas history for visitors to the village.

GONZALES, Texas (AP) — A man donning 19th century garb strolls from a log cabin to a blacksmith shop. Animal skins hang drying from a tree. The aroma of cooked meat seeps from an old-time smokehouse.

It's straight out of a Texas history book. Except it's alive.

At the Gonzales Pioneer Village, history walks and talks. And it's personified by Jay Wilson — sometime pioneer, German immigrant, sometime Indian and sometime mountain man.

"You can't read books and be a historian. To be a historian you have to experience it," said Wilson, curator of the Pioneer Village on the outskirts of this historic town.

The village attempts to preserve the 1800s for tourists, school children or anyone wanting a glimpse of Texas past.

Wilson, his wife Molly and their children live as pioneers, wearing 19th century clothing and cooking, eating and cleaning like settlers. Wilson dresses in a variety of outfits, depending on the character he's portraying.

Other members of the Texas Brigade of Skinners — a living history group Wilson belongs to — join the family at the village to re-enact historic events.

The popular "Come and Take It Celebration" held the last weekend of September commemorates a famous 1835 skirmish in Gonzales between Texans and Mexican soldiers.

Wilson also tours Texas speaking to students and civic groups about the Texas history he has gleaned from reading his collection of huge books.

The Pioneer Village historians also travel to stock shows and festivals giving the public a taste of pioneer life. And Wilson — nicknamed "3 Bites" because he has been bitten three times while handling rattlesnakes — writes a popular column for the Gonzales newspaper, The Daily Inquirer.

When the Wilson family settled here about two years ago they lived in canvas tents and cooked outdoors. Then they moved into a house built in 1856 from whole elm and oak logs by gunsmith Samuel Hardin Gates.

It was in the Gates house that the Wilsons rode out treacherous Hurricane Gilbert that pounded South Texas in 1988. Friends urged the family to seek safer shelter, but Wilson — showing his true love of history — wasn't worried.

"I said, 'I'm in the Samuel Hardin Gates house, and it's been here a lot of years, and I think it can withstand one more hurricane,'" he recalled.

Now Wilson, his wife and their youngest daughter, who still lives at home, are restoring a larger house built in 1892. Part of the home will serve as museum and gift shop for Pioneer Village.

It might seem as though the family is sheltered from 20th century life, but that's not entirely true.

Wilson admits sometimes the family indulges in modern conveniences.

Technology allows pregnancy after menopause

BOSTON (AP) — Women can now turn back their biological clocks and get pregnant after menopause by way of test-tube fertilization, doctors reported today.

The procedure, reported in the New England Journal of Medicine, can extend women's baby-making years well into their 40s, 50s and perhaps even 60s, providing a second chance for those who waited too long to start families.

However, some doctors said they had doubts about the wisdom of childbearing for those who are well past nature's cutoff.

"Because we can do something technically does not mean we should do it indiscriminately," said Dr. Zev Rosenwaks. "The ability to become pregnant is a physical sign of what nature itself expects of a woman. You cannot push nature past the point where you interfere with safety."

Rosenwaks is head of the fertility clinic at New York Hospital-Cornell Medical Center, one of several U.S. hospitals using the new technology.

Instead, doctors remove eggs from a healthy young donor, fertilize them with sperm from the older woman's husband and, after giving the older woman hormone treatments to prepare her womb for pregnancy, implant the embryos.

Because the mother does not provide the egg, she is not the genetic parent of her baby, but she still undergoes a normal pregnancy and delivery.

Until recently, menopause was the end of the reproductive line for women. While test-tube fertilization had become common among younger women, doctors were reluctant to use the procedure on older women for fear the uterus was not as capable of sustaining pregnancy.

In the journal, Dr. Mark V. Sauer of the University of Southern California reported the use of the technique on seven women over 40 whose "ovaries didn't last as long as their desire to have babies."

Six pregnancies were established. One ended in miscarriage and another child was stillborn. Five normal babies were born, including a set of twins.

Menopause usually occurs around age 50, but in about 10 percent of women the ovaries stop working by age 40. Sometimes these women have delayed having children.

Test tube hair growth may lead to cure for baldness

LONDON (AP) — A hair-raising experiment at Cambridge University has raised hopes for bald men, but experts said Friday it could be years before scientists can apply their test tube hair growth to shiny heads.

"This is the real thing," said Dr. Terence Kealey, leader of the research team which grew hair in a synthetic blood product at the Department of Clinical Biochemistry.

"We have for the first time succeeded in getting hair to grow in vitro," he said.

The balding scientist stressed in a BBC radio interview that growing hair in a test tube "is not in itself a cure for baldness." But, he added, it provides the perfect medium for experiments and could lead to effective treatment within 10 years.

The results of the research are to be published in the Journal of Cell Science next month.

Experts welcomed the achievement, saying it could lead to preventing hair loss in men genetically disposed to baldness.

"Any knowledge of how hair grows and metabolizes could have various offshoots in preventing baldness from happening," said Dr. Ken Maxted, a dermatologist with the Glasgow Health Board who went bald at 18.

"Whether it is a cure for people who are bald, I'm not quite sure. I think it's rather nice having a waterproof head," he said in an interview.

Squirrels keep humans out of park

WHEATON, Md. (AP) — Aggressive squirrels have driven humans from a playground.

In the past two weeks, two squirrels have bitten children at Montgomery County's Wheaton Regional Park. On Thursday, a man bludgeoned a squirrel with a stick because it was annoying him, said park maintenance worker Kathy Lowe.

Park police have closed the playground until further notice. Visitors to the playground were greeted Saturday with the yellow tape used at crime scenes, and a sign that read: "Playground closed due to over aggressive squirrels."

"The squirrels are just acting squirrely now," said Lowe. "They are so busy burying acorns they are aggravated at the people."

The children were not seriously hurt, but park recommended they see a doctor to determine whether they should undergo treatment for rabies.

Boosters encourage and support

By JULIE MCKINNON
The purpose of the Bearkat Booster Club is to encourage and support all students at Garden City in all U.I.L. events — from band to athletics to literary and academic competitions. In order to do this we need your support. Please join the Booster Club and pay your dues. The money goes for various activities, but especially to host the spring U.I.L. banquet to celebrate the accomplishments of G.C. students.

Family memberships are $10; individuals are $5.
On Nov. 2, at the home game against Robert Lee, the Booster Club volunteers will be in the stands to collect dues. Decals will be given to you when you join.

reward from a community service project they did this past weekend. The Girl Scouts went to the Mountain View Nursing Home in Big Spring where they played bingo with the residents and then served refreshments. Residents enjoyed the game, but they especially enjoyed being with the girls.

the students recalled all the atrocities committed against mankind during Hitler's regime.

"The Wall" was brought into this country by a friend of Ms. Williams during the Labor Day weekend. It was wrapped in a German newspaper dated Aug. 29, 1990. The newspaper presented the students with the opportunity to see some current German advertisements and news articles. It was "strange" for students to see "American" words such as Coca Cola, Sprite, and vanilla butternut ice cream in a German newspaper. This made them realize "what a small world" it is after all!

Trick-or-treat at school tonight

Halloween "trick-or-treat" night will be tonight at the school.

Students view Berlin Wall

A piece of the Berlin Wall was viewed recently in Ms. Carolyn Williams' room by students from all grade levels. The students were able to actually touch a piece of this real history that has been a symbol of distrust, hatred and dishonor for Germans since the end of the second world war. There was a sense of deep respect and awe as

New voting facility

Another election is just around the corner. Voters in Precinct 3 (North Eastern part of the country), will get to use their new voting facility. It is located next to the former Drumright Community Center.

Girl Scouts visit elderly

Service to others is very important in Girl Scouting. In fact it's part of the Girl Scout Promise, which means that a Girl Scout agrees to help others whenever they can, without asking for or expecting a reward. However, the St. Lawrence and Garden City Girl Scouts received a "special"

Dear Abby

Ask before acting

DEAR ABBY: One of my doctors charges $95 for a 15-minute office call. When you leave the office, the lady at the desk says, "We'll take care of your Medicare form."

When I received the Medicare information, there was an indication of two surgeries during that office call, one for $50 and one for $45. I had no surgery.

I suppose he does this to get me a better reimbursement for my costs. However, it is hard for me not to consider it fraud.

On my second visit, the same thing happened, with the same amounts. Should I report this to Medicare? — PUZZLED IN PASADENA

DEAR PUZZLED: No. First, call your physician's office manager and ask for an explanation. It may be a matter of coding for Medicare. If you are not satisfied with the explanation, then report your physician, but first give him the chance to explain why Medicare was billed for two surgeries that were not performed.

DEAR ABBY: There's a woman in our office who is going to be married for the fourth time. She's only 33; husband No. 4 is 30, and this is his first marriage.

She has three children by two different husbands. She's having a church wedding and got mad at the minister because he told her she shouldn't wear white. Can you imagine? In between marriages, she's had a lot of lovers. She is kind of the office tramp.

The entire office has received invitations to her wedding. She has picked out china and crystal patterns, but I just don't feel right about getting her a gift. I'm not the only one here who feels this way. What do you think we should do? — NOT A FAN OF THE BRIDE

DEAR NOT A FAN: I think you should very politely decline the invitation and send the bride a lovely card with your best wishes for a happy marriage.

Golden Agers celebrate

Luther

By MICKIE HARRINGTON
Call 399-4564

By MICKIE HARRINGTON
The Golden Agers of First Church of God met Oct. 20. Twenty-eight members and guests signed in on pumpkin face notes. Chairman Juanita Harrington sported a black spider in her hair.

Ghoulish decor featured black cats, spider webs, Jack-O-Lanterns, etc., all in black, gold and gossamer white.

Guests introduced by the chairman were Grace Miller, Anderson, Ind.; and her sister, Gertrude Lowe, Luther; Joanna Hansrote, Dallas, daughter of Ethel Hickson; and Carolyn Fields, San Marcos, daughter of C.S. Harrington, and sister of the Rev. Charles Harrington; and Barbara Smallwood, granddaughter of Frances Miller.

Truett Thomas led the Halloween celebrants in singing the oldy, "Dwelling in Beulah Land" out of the humnal, "Power and Praise", then accepted requests to lead. Selections from the old song book were: "I Am Resolved", "A New Name is Written Down in Glory" and "The Half Has Never Been Told".

Betty Reagan joined Truett singing Alice Hawthorne's "Whispering Hope" after which Juanita announced that Truett and Catherine Thomas had donated the piano used to accompany the musicians.

Charles called on his sister, Carolyn, and they sang, "No One Wants to Work in My Fields", followed by Charles singing "So Close to Home".

Eula Phillip then requested "Victory in Jesus" to be sung.

The Rev. George Harrington related, "Gertrude, Grace and I went down to Atoka and saw Uncle Burt Birdwell's tombstone, and I thought then that all that's done that lasts is what we do for the Lord. We all need to remember that Herschel Walker, the greatest football player once, was booed. Keep in mind that Jesus is our best friend."

George continued, "This gathering is to be a blessing — to get acquainted with others and with each other. There's always been an abundance of food, so if anyone knows anyone who is needy or has a neighbor who has anyone in need, take the food left from the table to them."

Upon closing the get together, Truett and Charles led "Bind Us Together, Lord."

Also anyone interested in coaching can call Sherry Brooks at 394-4778, after 5 p.m.

NFL ordered to increase benefits

BALTIMORE (AP) — The NFL was ordered by a federal judge to increase player benefits by $29.4 million because the league failed to make contributions that were required in 1985 and 1986.

U.S. District Judge Joseph C. Howard ordered management trustees to increase benefits by $17,848,160 for missed payments, $163,713 for back interest from 1984, plus interest on both at 12 percent per year. The total as of Oct. 31 would be $29,408,706.19, the judge said.

The dispute centers on the management council's claim that it doesn't have to pay the money because it would not have been tax deductible in the year it was paid. The lawyer for the NFL Management Council said the decision would be appealed.

Howard ordered that the damages be used to increase player pensions, disability payments and survivor benefits. He said he would appoint a special master to determine the increases.

Tyson fighting assault charge

NEW YORK (AP) — Mike Tyson's latest bout began in a courtroom where jurors considered claims that the former heavyweight champion assaulted a woman at a dance club.

Tyson disputes all allegations in the $4.5 million civil lawsuit, which his attorney called a "stickup." The boxer is expected to testify in his defense.

The lawsuit, which went to trial in U.S. District Court, was filed by Sandra Miller, a 26-year-old Brooklyn woman, who claims Tyson "forcibly fondled" and cursed at her after she refused his advances at Bentley's Disco early Dec. 10, 1988.

PITTSBURGH — Pittsburgh Steelers' running back Merrill Hoge celebrates the first of his three touchdowns against the LA Rams here Monday night. It was the first score for the Steelers, who went on to defeat the Rams, 41-10.

Steel Curtain lives; Pittsburgh rocks LA

By ALAN ROBINSON
AP Sports Writer

PITTSBURGH — The Pittsburgh Steelers shook the rust off the Steel Curtain and put on such a hit show you'd had sworn that Jack Lambert and Mean Joe Greene had choreographed it.

Was that Greg Lloyd putting a hit on the Los Angeles Rams, or Jack Ham? That couldn't have been Rod Woodson and Thomas Everett leveling those receivers; it had to be Mel Blount, right?

And Tyrone Stowe. Tyrone Stowe? Surely, that was Lambert himself, missing teeth and all.

Actually, the only thing missing in action was the Rams' offense, the victim of a physical pounding by a Steelers' defense the likes of which Pittsburgh hasn't seen... well, since its last Super Bowl team of 11 years ago.

Gary Anderson kicked two field goals, but that wasn't all the Steelers kicked.

"I think it was pretty obvious we got... kicked pretty good," Rams quarterback Jim Everett said after the Steelers pounded the Rams, physically and on the scoreboard, by 41-10 Monday night.

"We came out with the attitude we were going to hit anything that moved, that we were going to hit... every chance we get," Lloyd said. "I think we showed some people we can hit. I know they knew they were getting hit.

"You could see it in their running

Raiders gearing for Longhorn showdown

By CHIP BROWN
Associated Press Writer

LUBBOCK — One look around town tells you the Longhorns are comin'.

T-shirts reading "We Mess With Texas" can already be spotted around the Texas Tech campus poking fun at the 14th-ranked Longhorns.

A banner draped across a busy intersection says, "Corral the Longhorns."

Locals have "Beat Texas" parties and pep rallies scheduled throughout the week.

There isn't a game that means more to the Texas Tech faithful than the yearly showdown with Texas. A victory can salvage a losing season. Like this season.

"This is a traditional rivalry for us," said Texas Tech coach Spike Dykes. "It's a big game and has been for a long time. A win over Texas would go a long way in soothing some of this season's pain."

Tech (2-6 overall, 1-4 in the Southwest Conference) has beaten Texas (5-1, 3-0) three of the last four times they met, including the last two.

Last year, Texas Tech turned a third-and-26 late in the fourth quarter into a 65-yard touchdown pass from Jamie Gill to Anthony Manyweather to give Tech a 24-17 victory in Austin.

The Longhorns, who were 4-2 heading into last year's game, snapped after the defeat, losing four of their last five games.

This year, the Longhorns have an inside track to the Cotton Bowl.

"The road to the Cotton bowl goes through Lubbock and they have to win here if they want to get there," Dykes said. "It's a very important game for them."

Texas will be the fifth Top 25 team to tangle with the Red Raiders this year.

"Our team believes they can win this game," Dykes said. "They are not going around beating their chest, but there is a sense of opportunity there. I don't think we are in the tank, just destitute and calling it quits."

Dykes said Tech will have to play a perfect game to beat the Longhorns, who have beaten Arkansas, Rice and Southern Methodist in conference play.

"When you lose a couple of games in a row, if you're not careful you lose a little sparkle in your eyes and that's the thing we can't afford," Dykes said. "If we don't play well, we won't have a chance. It will be just like last week because Texas has great players."

Dykes said Tech's defense will have to slow down an array of running backs, including Phil Brown and freshman Butch Hadnot, who verbally committed to play for Tech last year, but then enrolled at Texas.

The Longhorns' defense, which ranks first in the SWC, giving up an average of 290 yards, is a grave concern, Dykes said.

"They have got mobility, agility and they have got hostility," Dykes said. "They have got all the 'ilities' you can come up with and they do a darn good job of using them."

BUFFALO ARMFUL
BOULDER, Colo. — Oklahoma linebacker Joe Bowden wraps up Colorado running back Eric Bieniemy (1) during first-half action here last Saturday. Colorado beat the Sooners, 32-23, and improved to ninth in this week's Associated Press poll. The loss dropped the Sooners out of the Top 25.

Announcers recall Breeders' Cup tragedies

By RONALD BLUM
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK — As soon as Tom Durkin got off the air following the Breeders' Cup Distaff, the tears began flowing.

"It was going to be one of the great races of all time," Durkin said Monday. "One moment it's exhilarating, and in a fraction of a second it's a tragedy. It's very, very difficult to make the transition that quickly."

Dick Enberg, NBC's host, had to concentrate in order to control his emotions.

"I cry at a red hat," Enberg said. "I go to a movie and my wife brings Kleenex for me. I had to pull myself back."

Mr. Nickerson dropped dead, apparently of a coronary, on the backstretch of the Sprint, the day's first race. In the third race, Go for Wand shattered her right ankle in front of the grandstand in the midst of a thrilling stretch duel with eventual winner Bayakoa.

NBC had an isolation camera on Jane du Pont Lunger, Go for Wand's 76-year-old owner, and Rose Badgett, who married trainer Billy Badgett just three weeks ago. In an instant, the color drained from the women's faces. Lunger seemed to shrink back against a wall while Badgett ran off with a look of horror.

"It was just as tragic a moment as there ever was in the sport for a couple of reasons," Durkin said. "This was a beloved horse. She ran her heart out every time she ran. She was running against a fierce competitor and the whole world was watching, and it happened right in front."

Durkin's call conveyed all the emotion of the dramatic run from the stretch turn.

Crossroads Chalk Talk

By STEVE BELVIN

It was another good week for Crossroads Country football teams, as the area won six and lost two.

There were two area contests which pitted Crossroads schools playing against each other — Coahoma defeated Stanton 31-12 and Grady downed Klondike in a key six-man contest, 43-30.

In the game of the week, the Big Spring Steers protected their number nine ranking by handling the Sweetwater Mustangs 16-7. In a key game in District 9-A, Garden City, ranked seventh in the state, took care of Rotan 35-18.

Other winners were: Sands, a 46-14 winner over Loop and Borden County, a 45-20 win over Trent.

Two area teams that were saddled with losses were Colorado City, which was whitewashed by Sonora 32-0, and Forsan, which fell to Eldorado 23-15.

Here is what area coaches had to say about last Friday's games, and this Friday's encounters:

BOBBY AVERY

Bobby Avery, Borden County, on the win over Trent, and this week's game with Loraine — "It's really hard to say if it was our best game. The last three weeks we've had good games. We've been coming on strong. It was one of our best defensive efforts. We held them three times in the second quarter on the goal line. If we win this game, we're assured of playoff spot.

"Loraine is fast. Anthony Williams is their ground gainer. He's 6-foot, 155-pound senior running back. I don't think they have a great passing game. They like to run tight, but I think they will spread it out when you stop their tight game. If you can stop Williams, you pretty much can stop them."

Sam Scott, Garden City, on the win over Rotan, and this week's game with Robert Lee — "We played good the second half, (but) the officials didn't think so. We had about 20 yards of penalties the first half, and about 100 the second half. I don't think we had a letdown. I think we played hard the whole ballgame.

"Defense was probably the key to our win. I think we had a real good defensive effort by everyone on the field. We were pretty sharp offensively.

"Robert Lee lost their best football player, probably the best in the district, Ron McCowan; lost him at the first of the season; tore his

Permian coach to appeal

By MICHAEL HOLMES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN — The coach of Odessa Permian High School's football team says an appeal is planned after a judge rejected a bid by four coaches to keep the team eligible for the Class 5A playoffs.

State District Judge Peter Lowry on Monday denied the coaches' bid for a temporary injunction that would have overruled a University Interscholastic League decision to declare the Panthers ineligible.

"They are not going to get into the playoffs," said Matthew Trevena, UIL lawyer.

The dispute was over a decision last month by the UIL that Permian, the defending Class 5A champion, was ineligible for the playoffs because coaches held illegal practices before Aug. 20.

Permian coach Tam Hollingshead said he and the other coaches would appeal Lowry's ruling to the 3rd Court of Appeals in Austin.

"We're not ever going to give up on these players or this team, and we're not going to give up on this fight," Hollingshead said in a telephone interview.

"We think our due process was violated. We do believe that we have some rights as citizens, and those rights need to be protected," the coach said.

Houston lawyer T. Gerald Treece, who represented Hollingshead and the three assistant coaches, said he would try to file the appeal today and seek quick consideration.

In a court hearing last week, the coaches argued that the UIL's rules were vague and that the sanctioning body did not allow the coaches to defend themselves in an earlier hearing.

UIL director Bailey Marshall said the court ruling was what the league had hoped for.

"Everybody, including the administration and the (school) board from Odessa agreed that what they were doing was a violation. And from the testimony of the coaches, there had been other violations previously that had not been reported. Therefore, we felt like we would win the case," Marshall said.

"We knew that the coaches had every opportunity at the (UIL) State Executive Committee to say whatever they wanted to. We asked on at least two occasions if they had anything else they wanted to add," he said.

The NFL's top-ranked defensive secondary, which has allowed just one quarterback to throw for more than 200 yards, intercepted Everett twice and held him to 15 completions in 34 attempts for 176 yards.

disbelief "As Go for Wand has broken down down at the sixteenth pole." Durkin, battling bronchitis, took Monday off.

"Thinking back on it, the kind of thing it reminded me of, when I was real young, sitting in my living room, when I was 12, was on that Sunday morning when Jack Ruby just came out and shot Lee Harvey Oswald. Same kind of deal. You just drop."

Durkin had to compose himself and call the rest of the day's races. "I cried a little bit. You just try to collect yourself and get involved in the issues of the next race," he said.

knee up. "They've played well without him. They run a multiple I offense, some one back, some power football, some option football. They don't have a lot of size, but beaucoups of quickness. They've got a scrappy defense."

Dale Ruth, on the loss to Coahoma, and this week's game with Forsan — "We didn't play very well the first half, (but) came back and played better in the second half. We had our top two players out (Gary Don Thompson and John Paul Barry), but our young kids played well. We made the same mistakes we've been making all year long, gave them the ball in good field position. They scored twice off that."

"Forsan will be the battle of the Buffaloes. Jan (East, Forsan coach) will have them going, it will be a big match for both of us. Forsan has some good kids in the right places."

Randy Roemisch, Sands, on the win over Loop and this week's game against Grady — "I really didn't up-play this game much, because I know we've got two games coming we've got to be up for (Grady and Klondike). I didn't try to put a spark in them that much, and we didn't play very intense."

"The effort was there, just not much intensity. We were up 38-0 in the third quarter. I give a lot of credit to Loop, they played one of their better games. But I've seen us play better."

"Grady has a good football team. They've got the skill people they need to win in six-man ball. We've got our work cut out for us this week. They can wrap it all up if they beat us; they get the first playoff spot. We're sitting in the hot seat because we've got to beat Klondike, and Grady's already beaten Klondike."

Steve Park, Coahoma, on the win over Stanton, and this week's game with McCamey. — "The first half we played pretty good. The second half we came out kind of flat. The defense didn't play very well. The offense played well. We were just trying to control the football, not let them have the ball."

"They got a little momentum going, (so) we started giving it to Shane (halfback Shane Walker) trying to get some first downs. They moved the ball on us the first half, they didn't do much differently than they did the first half. We were standing and catching instead of attacking."

"McCamey is a real basic team. Defensively they're quick and try to get to the football. We're just going to have to stay with our blocks. Offensively, they run lots of sets and motions, and try to get you in a bind on defense."

Jan East, Forsan, on the loss to Eldorado and this week's game against Stanton — "They were big, and they had big running backs. When it was all said and done, we couldn't stop their power game. The kids played hard. The thing that was encouraging is we kind of got some offense going. We ran the ball right at them, and were able to move the ball."

"I think we can play with Stanton. They've got a couple of their kids hurt, and they don't have the talent they had in the past. If we get a couple of breaks we could win."

David Thompson, Big Spring, on the win over Sweetwater, and this week's game with Pecos. — "When you play hard, you've got a chance and that's what happened. We felt like they would use both quarterbacks, and that's what they tried to do. What they did didn't make any difference."

"Pecos is a good team; they should've won against Andrews and Monahans. It should be a good test against us. They've been a running football team, (but) they can also throw it."

Leandro Gonzales, Grady on the win over Klondike, and this week's showdown with Sands — "We had a big win. Our first half performance was not very pleasing. In the second half, we were a different team."

"We started playing some good old genuine football. On our first drive, in the third quarter, it was fourth and two, do or die. We ran a sweep and got in. The momentum swung to our side. We scored 27 points in the fourth quarter."

"Sands is a well-prepared team. They've got a good coach. They'll be ready. This game will be a game of hitting, they'll be hitting going on four quarters. If we play like we're capable, it will go down to the fourth quarter and that'll decide who'll win."

Tom Ham, Klondike on the loss to Sands and this week's game with Dawson — "It looked like to me they had a better ballclub. We got a defensive end hurt early (Claude Christian), and in six-man you don't have many spares. They were more impressive than I thought they would be. Their running backs did a super job in the fourth quarter; we couldn't knock them off their feet. We're not out of it, we just have to win the rest of our games, but our backs are against the wall."

"Dawson has the best speed in the district. Their record is not impressive; they have some injuries. They just haven't gotten it together yet."

President warns: force an option

By RITA BEAMISH
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — President Bush says he still hopes the Persian Gulf crisis will end peacefully, but is consulting on options with congressional leaders and foreign policy aides as the standoff with Iraq nears the three-month mark.

Bush met with Democratic and Republican leaders at the White House today, a day after he declared that he "would have no hesitancy" to using force if provoked by Iraq's President Saddam Hussein.

At a picture-taking session at the beginning of the meeting, Bush

"I know the authorities that a president has. I'm working to try to get this matter resolved peacefully. We have a lot of force there and they're well-trained, they're highly motivated, and that alone is sending an enormously strong signal to Saddam Hussein." — President Bush brushed off a reporter's question on reports that administration officials plan to discuss a timetable with U.S. allies for a possible military offensive.

"I could, but I'm not going to comment" on the story in today's editions of the Los Angeles Times, Bush said.

The president also planned to meet with foreign policy advisers today.

The Constitution gives Congress the power to declare war, although the president is commander-in-chief of the armed forces.

Bush has held regular consultations with Congress on the gulf crisis since Iraq's Aug. 2 invasion of Kuwait prompted him to send more than 200,000 troops to the region.

But beyond that, Secretary of State James A. Baker III said recently the administration would not promise to get congressional approval if a decision was made to engage in armed conflict with Iraq. Baker was responding to calls by some lawmakers that Congress be called back into session to approve such an escalation.

Bush told reporters Monday, "I know the authorities that a president has. I'm working to try to get this matter resolved peacefully. We have a lot of force there and they're well-trained, they're highly motivated, and that alone is sending an enormously strong signal to Saddam Hussein."

He noted he was consulting with congressional leaders today, ad-

Saddam expects attack

By ANDREA HAMILTON
Associated Press Writer

Saddam Hussein told his senior military advisers today to prepare for an attack by the United States and its allies in the next few days, an official Iraqi report said.

The Iraqi president said "preparations for urban warfare and necessary measures to be taken in the event of combat in (Kuwait)," the Iraqi News Agency reported.

Saddam's talk came one day after the U.N. Security Council's five permanent members held a high-level military meeting to discuss how to further pressure him to remove his troops from Kuwait.

It also followed a Security Council vote to hold Iraq liable for damages from the Iraqi occupation.

The Iraqi News Agency said Saddam told military leaders to finish preparations for a fight with members of the U.S.-led multinational force.

● MIDEAST page 8-A

Family prepares stockings for troops

By MARCELLINO CHAVEZ
Staff Writer

After completing eight grueling weeks of basic training, former Martin County resident Mike Trinaystich spent his furlough making stockings for "Operation Merry Texas Christmas."

"Operation Merry Texas Christmas" was the brainstorm of Stantonite R. H. "Tex" Houston, to send U.S. troops camouflage stockings for Christmas. Grandmother Anna of Tarzan, his mom Jean Stanfield, formerly of Stanton, and Mike spent countless hours preparing, cutting and filling stockings for the troops in the Mideast.

"We have some church organizations that have taken an interest in doing this as a church project. We have at least 100 or more stocking that will be filled or going to be filled by sometime this week. Mike and I and mom spent most of our time cutting out material to have these stockings ready to be filled with things our troops need out there," Jean said. She added, "mom still has the material back at the farm and we will continue preparing this small thing that we can do for our fighting men and women over there."

Mike returned to Great Lakes, Illinois for advanced training. "His grades made him eligible to receive more schooling in advanced Electrical Fire Control with guns and missiles in ships," proud mom said. "Only the top five percent of the class are able to receive additional training. We are sent to 'C' school as they call it. It has more independent training, in trying to stop fires. For instance, there was a fire involving jets that crashed coming in for a landing. We get the necessary training to control fires of that magnitude, as quickly and as efficient as possible."

"The naval station that I was stationed in during my basic training is north of Chicago. It is one of the largest and the oldest naval training facilities in the United States. They average at least 1000 men graduating every week," Mike said. "But, still the hardest thing that one faces when your out there is missing home. It gets lonely just in basic training. I cannot imagine what it would be like in the mideast. That's why I'm spending my time doing this."

Rally for Gramm on Thursday

Sen. Phil Gramm will hold an "Old Fashioned Patriotic Rally" at the Basin Aviation hangar at McMahon/Wrinkle Airpark Thursday at 4:15 p.m.

An aide to Sen. Gramm said the event should last about one hour. There will be some speeches and music will be provided by the Stanton High School band.

The band will play pre-ceremonial music, including the "Star-Spangled Banner." All area citizens are invited to attend the rally.

FFA to sell turkeys and fruit

Stanton High School Future Farmers of America will be selling turkeys door-to-door until Nov. 2, according to FFA member Wesley Hardin.

FFA fruit sales began last Friday and will continue until Nov. 14. Oranges, apples and grapefruits will be available, according to FFA sponsor Randal Redder.

Stanton students receive course credit via satellite

The Stanton Independent School District offers advanced education programs through the Ti-In Network, which broadcasts via satellite from San Antonio, Texas.

Morris Williamson, director of curriculum for the Stanton ISD, said there are currently three high school students taking Latin through the Ti-In Network, a private educational firm. Last year several students took French, and one student was able to receive second year credit in the course.

"This program works well for small schools. It would be impossible for us to hire teachers to teach one course in Latin as cheaply as we can do it here," said Williamson, indicating the video terminal and modem located in the high school library.

The class listings offered by Ti-In are presented to the students, including times when the courses are available for viewing. Once enrolled, the student sits at the terminal in the library and watches teachers on television presenting course material for the subject. The students are directly linked to the television station, where the broadcast originates, by telephone. The teacher is available to answer questions, direct lessons or administer tests through the modem.

Students receive regular high school credit for the course work, and may receive advanced college credit for some classes, Williamson said.

He said the cost of the course is $600 per class per student, which he favorably compared to the cost of an additional full-time teacher's salary and benefits.

Additional courses offered through Ti-In include chemistry, biology, computer literacy, as well as the standard language arts and algebra classes. Special courses include Coach's Corner, educational material to prevent athletic injuries, and a section on drug abuse prevention.

Williamson said the system has been used in Stanton for a variety of programs since it's installation three years ago.

"We offer several community type programs. Anyone in the community is welcome to come up and view those programs," he said. Williamson said a local government course was offered, but received little attendance.

A computer literacy course, offered in conjunction with Caprock Electric, was offered to the public, and he said there were 20 people attending each six week program.

Other adult programs include a literacy program, a GED program and English courses.

Stanton ISD has used the Ti-In Network to provide in-service training for teachers, eliminating the need to travel out of town.

Landfill rules may be eased for small towns

STANTON — New stricter federal landfill regulations may be passed by January, county and city officials here learned at a joint-meeting Monday to discuss closing their landfill and opening another one.

There are indications that the regulations may provide cost-cutting exemptions for landfills serving less than 5,000 people, handling less than 10 tons daily and in areas with less than 25-inches of rainfall annually, said officials with Sparsely Populated Entities Coalition.

Martin County and Stanton are among 112 government entities in the West Texas-based coalition pushing for exemptions. SPEC has the backing of both state senators, six area congressmen, including Charles Stenholm, D-Stamford, three area council of governments associations and the Texas Association of Counties.

SPEC organizer Peggy Garner, Upton County Judge, said she received confirmation from an official with the Office of Management and Budget in Washington that the exemptions will be included in the new rules. Affected could be groundwater monitoring and water-resistant underground liners.

"She also stated that that figure was just arbitrarily put in there by EPA (Environmental Protection Agency) and that they would try to increase the population cutoff," Garner said. "EPA would have to agree to it."

OMB is now reviewing the proposed regulations and how they will affect rural communities, said an engineer retained by Martin County and Stanton at their meeting Monday night.

Gary Harris, Parkhill, Smith & Cooper Inc., of Midland, said it was his understanding that OMB had 60 days from the beginning of this month the look over the rules and have asked for a 30-day extension. "I don't think there'll be anything before the first of the year," he told city councilmen and commissioners.

He also said he has not heard of any changes in a proposed 18-month grace period which goes into effect when the rules are approved by Congress. "We haven't heard anything to confirm or deny it," he said.

Meanwhile, city and county officials are proceeding to close their landfill and are waiting for a permit for a new one.

City Manager Paul Lively has estimated that the landfill has a couple more months of use left, 4-5 months if the Texas Department of Health allows use of a buffer zone. It could take up to seven months to get a permit for a new landfill issued, TDH officials have said.

Roger Burch of M&M Meter Service, Stanton, the company picking up trash for city residents, estimates that it would cost more than $7,000 a month to haul trash to either Big Spring or Midland. That cost does not include residents outside of the city.

County Judge Bob Deavenport estimated that it would probably cost more than $12,500 monthly or $150,000 annually to operate a new landfill under the new regulations, even with exemptions granted. "I don't see how you could operate one for under $150,000," he said Monday night.

Closing and opening the landfill will cost a total of $750,000, according to an estimated by Parkhill, Smith & Cooper. The city and county has so far paid $223,000 for dirt-work and fencing at the old landfill and $117,000 for preliminary on-site work and engineering fees for the new landfill.
