Motorcyclists to collect food

The Big Spring Harley Davidson Shop and the Big Spring Hog Owners Group are sponsoring a poker run on Saturday, Nov. 10 begining at 10.a.m. Card players may ride motorcycles or drive cars to collect the winning hand.

The entry fee is a can of food, and there are six check points at area grocery stores, including Coahoma, where the participants must donate another can of food to draw the next card. The best of seven cards wins the game, with trophies going to the first, second and third place winners.

Cash donations will also be accepted, and all food and money will be donated to the Salvation Army. Refreshments will be served after the run at the Harley Shop, 908 W.Third.

BSISD board to meet Thursday

The Big Spring Independent School District board of trustees will consider changes to the controversial Career Ladder policy at their meeting Thursday, 5:15 p.m. in the high school board room.

The proposed changes include invoking "stricter performance criteria" to make maintaining positions more difficult. The proposal is the result of deficient state funds for the program

Also on the agenda is expected action on:

 The smoke-free policy. The district is considering the possibility of forbidding smoking in all school buildings. Superintendent Bill McQueary has said he would like to implement the policy change by next year.

 A comprised settlement with Coldcraft and Futura. This matter, to be considered in executive session, concerns a lawsuit filed earlier on a roofing project at the high school.

Included in the Superintendent's Report section are information on extra-curricular activities, the attendance report and the appoinment of a committee to advise the district on its new building proposal. The committee will be the first step toward involving the community in the project, McQueary

Lockhart, Stanley, Crenshaw and Brasel contested winners

By PATRICK DRISCOLL

Republican County Judge John Coffee was unseated by Democratic challenger Ben Lockhart, who pulled in 54.71 percent of the vote in Tuesday elections. Three of five members of the Commissioners Court will be new

In the two contested commissioner races, Democrat John Stanley got 52.37 of the vote to defeat Republican John Kilgore for Precinct 2 commissioner and Republican Robert Crenshaw got 51.64 percent of the vote to beat Democrat Bobby Cathey. The new Court will have two Republicans and three Democrats

In the only other locally contested race, District Clerk Glenda Brasel retained her position by getting 57.07 percent of the vote over Republican Judi Atkins.

There were 55.23 percent, or 8,388 of the county's 15,188 registered voters casting ballots, County Clerk Margaret Ray said. Republican governor candidate Clayton Williams carried the county with 4,512 votes to 3,270 for Democrat Ann Richards, who won the race statewide with 51 percent of the vote. Libertarian candidate Jeff Daiell got 224 votes. There were 50.09 percent of statewide registered voters casting ballots.

Locally, there were not as many people voting as Ray had predicted. "Not as much as I was hoping for," she said. "But at the slow pace it started out this afternoon. I was proud that it picked up. I was hoping for 10,000 (voters).

AUSTIN — Democrat Ann Richards holds up a shirt proclaiming "A Woman's Place Is In The Dome!" as she celebrates her victory Tuesday night in Austin. Richards defeated millionaire Republican

Richards elected by narrow margin

AUSTIN (AP) — State Treasurer Ann Richards, 15 percentage points behind in polls only six weeks ago, says Republican Clayton Williams' millions and help from President Bush weren't enough to keep her from the Governor's Mansion.

"I've always believed in people politics more than money politics," the Democrat said after becoming the first woman to win a Texas governor's race since Miriam grassroots campaign." 'Ma'' Ferguson in 1932.

With 99 percent of the vote counted. Richards received 1,907,131 to 1,811,226 for Williams, a narrow 49.6 percent to 47.1 percent margin.

The victory for Richards, 57, was a major embarassment to Bush, who calls Texas home and campaigned with Williams all day

Children hurt in bus wreck

EDINBURG (AP) - Seventeen students were injured. none seriously, in a school bus accident Tuesday near this South Texas city, the Department of Public Safety said.

The bus was carrying students home from the private Valley Christian School in Mission, said a McAllen DPS dispatcher, who asked not to be identified.

Ambulances were dispatched to the site about three miles west of Edinburg in Hidalgo County, the DPS said.

Most of the students were treated and released at local hospitals for bruises. But one student, Christy Caceres, 14, was in stable condition with a broken rib at Edinburgh Hospital, said hospital spokeswoman Dora Zamora.

Sarah Randall, 14, also remained at the hospital in stable condition with a laceration to her head, Ms. Zamora said.

Ms. Manuel was accused of rubbing her 1-year-old son's face in a carpet to punish him for defecating on it. The boy suffered rug burns.

Ms. Manuel voluntarily surrendered Monday to the Gatesville prison unit, where she will undergo about two weeks of testing and evaluation.

First black wins statewide office

DALLAS (AP) — The first black to win statewide office in Texas since Reconstruction said he was confident his election to the Court of Criminal Appeals would inspire future generations of Texans.

'When little kids open up the history books and see my picture, they're going to make the connection and say, 'If Morris Overstreet could do it, I can do it, too," he said.

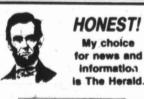

Overstreet, 40, a Democratic county court judge from Amarillo, defeated Republican incumbent Louis Sturns to win the 5th Place on the court Tuesday.

Sturns, 41, who also is black, was appointed March 16 to fill the seat by Gov. Bill Clements. The vacancy was created by the death of incumbent Judge M.P. "Rusty" Duncan in a Feb. 28 automobile accident.

Records from Reconstruction are unclear as to whether any blacks were elected to statewide office during that period. Overstreet is the first in the modern era. "I see it as a real opportunity for other black, African-Americans who are qualified members of the judiciary to strive for bigger and better office," he said.

DALLAS (AP) - A lawyer said he plans to appeal a jury's decision that effectively removed him as executor of Jack Ruby's estate.

The major asset of the estate is the .38-caliber Colt Cobra revolver the Dallas nightclub owner used to kill presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald.

A six-person jury on Tuesday ruled that Ruby's former attorney, Jules Mayer, grossly mismanaged the estate after Ruby died in 1967. Mayer continues to practice law at age 82.

Dallas County Probate Judge Robert E. Price must now decide how to distribute Ruby's assets. State law mandates that if he upholds the jury's decision. he must appoint a new executor. No hearing date was set.

Ruby's brother, Earl, filed the lawsuit, asking to be named executor of the estate. Ruby's heirs and Mayer have wrangled over the estate for 23 years. And the fight may continue.

"He's got a long way to go, because I'm going to appeal it," Mayer told The Dallas Morning News as he left court.

The gun Ruby used to kill Oswald in the Dallas County Jail two days after President Kennedy's assassination on Nov. 22, 1963, is stowed in a bank safe deposit box. Mayer has said it could bring $125,000 on the collectors' market. Ruby bought the revolver for $62.50 in a Dallas gun shop.

Mayer wanted proceeds from the gun's sale to pay off Ruby's debts. He said they include the $65,000 it has cost him to handle the estate, including the expense of fighting Earl Ruby's lawsuits

Earl Ruby, of Boca Raton, Fla., who is also acting on behalf of his sister and a nephew, charges that Mayer is trying to profit from the estate. He wants the estate liquidated to pay off his brother's debts and wipe the slate clean."

"I've got to talk to the heirs . to see what they want to do," Earl Ruby said after the ruling. "It looks like we've got ourselves a gun 'cause we've got so many bills.

Ruby was convicted of murder in 1964 and sentenced to die in the electric chair.

Long, loud campaign finally ends

Analysis

DALLAS (AP) - Mercifully, it's

If Hollywood's big cigars had gotten hold of this mess, they'd have called it "Mud and Money. It was a Texas political cam-opponent. And you can say farewell also to Warren G. Harding, Gene Kelly and Bart Simpson. All lost, despite name recognition. If you can believe the polls, Williams squandered a $20-million campaign, a double-digit lead, the influence of President Bush and the support of U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm.

"Only Clayton Williams could have beaten Clayton Williams," a disgruntled, unidentified GOP supporter told reporters before leaving a victory party that wasn't.

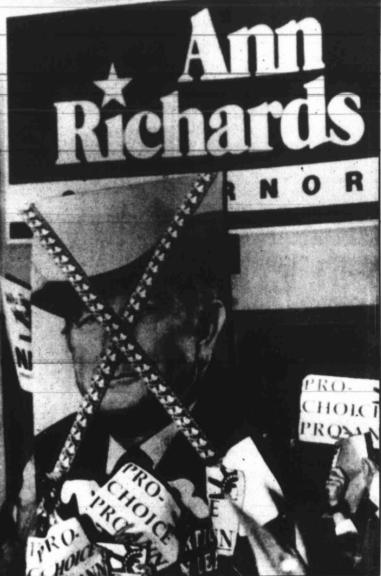

It was an unusual election. While Democrats were clearly the big winners, it was Republican Rick Perry, a Haskell farmer and rancher, who pulled off a major surprise in the Texas agriculture commissioner's race by beating incumbent Jim Hightower

"I would call it probably the biggest upset in the last 10 years of Texas politics," gushed Perry.

The populist, wisecracking Hightower will be remembered always for his comment when told that his longtime adversary, GOP Gov. Bill Clements, was studying Spanish.

"Oh, good," replied Hightower. 'Now he'll be bi-ignorant.

Democrat Bob Bullock won the lieutenant governor's race after a hard-hitting, big bucks campaign against Republican rival Rob Mosbacher, son and namesake of the U.S. Commerce Secretary.

In an orchestrated snub. Williams refused to shake hands with Richards when the two crossed paths in Dallas. He then dismissed her as a "liar.

Later, off guard but on TV, he admitted he didn't understand the only proposed constitutional amendment on the ballot. And he said he paid no income taxes in 1986 because of the slumping oil

If in fact George Bush was born with a silver foot in his mouth, as Richards once suggested, then poor Claytie was born with silver boots, a silver saddle and maybe a silver steer stuck in there somewhere.

Bush waged the most extensive mid-term campaign of any president — a year-long effort that included 115 stops for Republicans and helped them raise more than $80 million. But he didn't have much to show for it.

Republican Sen. Pete Wilson was leading for the biggest of the offyear prizes, governor of California. That job is vital to Republicans, who a decade ago watched helplessly as Democrats carved up congressional districts to their advantage. With a Democratic legislature, only a GOP governor could block a replay, this time for a House delegation growing to 52

But Democrats will succeed Republican governors in Florida, which is gaining four seats in the reapportioned House, and Texas, which picks up three. Bush made three campaign stops for Gov. Bob Martinez in Florida. And he spent the last three days in his Texas home base, stumping for Clayton Williams, the Republican gubernatorial nominee who lost to Democrat Ann Richards

Offsetting these Sun Belt setbacks. Republicans gained governors in Ohio and in Massachusetts and held a close race in Illinois. Those states, too, will draw new House districts next year, because of population shifts that cost them

For all the poll findings of voter frustration and disenchantment, incumbent members of the Congress proved, again, to be almost impervious to challenge. More than 95 percent of them were returned to Congress.

Charles Black, spokesman for the Republican National Committee, said he saw "more of an antiincumbent trend than a partisan trend ... an anti-Congress trend rather than anti-presidential."

It all added up to a likely Democratic gain of eight seats in the House, no more than one in the Herald opinion

Congress cared for our kids

The most significant achievement of the noisy debate on Capitol Hill may not have been the budget deficit plan but a breakthrough for children.

As part of the budget reconciliation plan, Congress approved a landmark measure that provides federal assistance for child care. The last time the House and Senate agreed to do that in 1972, President Nixon vetoed the measure. But times have changed, mothers have returned to the work force en masse and President Bush was willing to negotiate with Congress on this child-care package.

The product of all the compromising isn't perfect. To get the president's approval, the measure increases basic tax credits for poor families by about $12.4 billion over five years, adds $700 million in tax breaks for families with babies under the age of 1 and another $5.2 billion as a health-insurance supplement. Any tax relief for lowincome families could help improve conditions for their children. They will have more money to spend, and they may or may not spend it for child care.

Strictly for child care are a series of actions earmarking $2.5 billion during the next three years for subsidized child care and efforts to improve the day-care system. Another $1.5 billion in Social Security funds will be spent to pay child-care costs for poor families who otherwise might have to go on welfare.

A separate bill authorizes enough funding so that every poor child between the ages of 3 and 5 who is eligible for Head Start can enroll in this highly respected enrichment program by 1994. The bill also contains money so that Head Start can begin the long overdue process of converting from a half-day program to a full-day, year-round program.

As one child-advocate put it, "This is the best year children have ever had in Congress.

But it is not just children who benefit. It is their families and the businesses who employ working parents. In California alone, 54 percent of school-age children have mothers in the work force, and that figure is expected to go as high as 75 percent in five years. Every program offering subsidized child care has a long waiting list. Thousands of mothers want to get off welfare, but can't afford child care on the low wages they would receive. Our institutions have been slow to react to the reality of single moms and two-parent working families. This year, Congress recognized that our children deserve to be a national priority. It is a wise investment in the future.

Psyching up for a West Texas winter

City ditor

The first taste of winter has arrived in the area, sending people to their closets to find those heavy coats that hang in the back, forgotten most of the year.

Like most West Texans, I try to plan for those few blustery, cold days that invade the area during the winter

But, how can anyone plan for something that has a tendency to arrive unannounced

We are fortunate to live in the area we do. Our summers are not that hot and the winters not that

Oh sure, there are those occassions when Mother Nature throws a monkey wrench into the works, but not too often.

The average high during the winter months in West Texas is 58, while the average low is 30.

Now, when you compare those temperatures to northern states where the high might not break zero the entire winter, then we're not doing so bad.

Of course, there are nights when our temperatures fall to zero or below, but usually only for a couple of days at a time, not weeks or months:

A few years ago, however, we did have that period when the temperature remained below freezing during the day and dropped to below zero for nearly two

Boy, did the gas companies love that. Several families I know had gas bills that month in excess of

What makes this area so different is the wind.

Even a beautiful fall day, temperature hovering around 70 and lots of sunshine, can turn miserable when the wind blows

I don't care how well you prepare, that West Texas wind cuts through coats and garments like a knife, chilling the body to

The worst part of all is believing the weather report. You get out your warm clothes and put on layer after layer because the forecast is grim. You go outside, feeling warm and comfy, but as the day goes on the temperture continues to rise and suddenly that warm and comfy feeling becomes uncomfortable

The next day, when the forecast says moderate to warm, you again dress appropriately, only to have the wind greet you, forcing you back inside to reinforce your protection.

We all gripe about the weather during the winter we wish it were warmer and during the summer we wish it were cooler. When we get our wish, we gripe more.

Oh well, at least we don't have to worry much about snow. Can you imagine what that's like? The cold would be bad enough without having to shovel snow every day.

I'll put up with an occassional snow storm, with the periodic winds and even the brief moments of sub-zero weather, because I know that tomorrow it will be different. That's West Texas.

Getting back to those heavy coats hiding in the closet, I guess I had better get them to the dry cleaners. Besides, I need the nothing to do with a woman's constitutional right to "liberty." The question had to do with a physician's right of free speech. Under a federally financed program, may a doctor speak the A-word? The government says no; when a physician takes the federal money, he waives his First Amendment right.

By way of background: In 1970 Congress passed the Family Planning Services Act. The law nov provides $140 million a year in grants to 4,000 clinics serving 4.3 million women. In 1988 certain amendments were added to the act's Title X, directing the secretary of health and human services to make new regulations. The secretary obediently complied.

Section 59.2 fixes federal policy: "Abortion may not be included as a method of family planning. Section 59.8 gets to the heart of the matter: "A Title X project may not provide counseling concerning the use of abortion as a method of family planning or provide referral for abortion as a method of family planning.

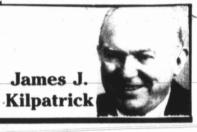

The regulations say that a doc tor must not find means of "encouraging or promoting abortion' even indirectly. A doctor may provide information that is "medically necessary to assess the risks and benefits of different methods of contraception," provided the doctor does not include "counseling with respect to abortion."

But suppose a pregnant woman asks about abortion. The regulations dictate what the physician must say in response: "The project does not consider abortion as an appropriate method of family

Section 59.1 extends the restrictions to a point beyond the doctor's office: A participating physician may not lobby for abortion, pay dues to Planned Parenthood of America, or "disseminate in any way material that advocates abortion." In my own view, for whatever it may be worth, it is this section that causes the most troubling concern.

The issue goes to the rights of an individual as opposed to the power of government. Since the landmark decision of Roe v. Wade in 1973, American women have had a constitutional right to an abortion. The court held 6-3 that this right is embodied in the 14th Amendment: No state may deprive a person of "liberty" without due process of law.

In the ensuing 17 years, the Supreme Court has hedged a woman's right to an abortion with all kinds of peripheral restrictions, but the right itself remains intact. The challenged regulations produce a situation that seems ludicrous on its face. A woman has the right, but a participating doctor may not discuss its exercise.

During oral argument last week, the court's newest member, Justice David Souter, was incredulous. Solicitor General Kenneth Starr was attempting to defend the regulations. "You are telling us," said the skeptical Souter, "that the secretary in effect may prohibit professional speech?" Well, no, said Starr, the regulations are intended merely to carry out the manifest authority of Congress over the way in which appropriated funds may be

As it happens, the regulations have yet to be enforced. They have been tied up in lawsuits from the moment of their promulgation. The 1st U.S. Circuit in Boston and the 10th Circuit in Denver have found the rules unconstitutional. In the case now before the court, Rust v. Planned Parenthood, the 2nd Circuit, in New York, upheld the rules.

Judge Amalya Lyle Kearse, dissenting, found the secretary's regulations "arbitrary and capricious." On their face, the rules plainly discriminate on the basis of viewpoint. They seek to control "the content of the grantee's permitted speech.

There may be an analogy here. In a conservative's view, every artist has a constitutional right to freedom of expression, but no artist has a constitutional right to a grant from the National Endowment for the Arts. In the case at hand, every doctor has a right to advocate abortion, but does a doctor have a right to advocate abortion on the taxpayers' time with the taxpayers' money?

A close point. I would uphold the purse-string regulations, but not the prohibitions on a doctor's private activities. By the end of the term in June, we will know what the court says.

At least 40 cities across the nation have launched programs to put leftovers to use, according to Share Our Strength, a Washington group that is waging a campaign to fight food waste

Prepared food left at the end of the day at deli counters, banquets, restaurants and executive dining rooms is picked up and distributed to shelters and soup kitchens.

"What's the point of throwing away all this wonderful food when you could feed it to hunger relief agencies in your city?" asked Jennifer Hadley, coordinator of the campaign. "These people are hungry. And it's better to get food served from a catering company than to pick it out of a trash can. The programs must adhere to strict health guidelines. No table scraps are allowed, nor foods that are good candidates for contamination, such as mayonnaise- or seafood-based salads.

"If I couldn't take it out of my refrigerator at home and feed it to my granddaughter, I'm not going to give it to somebody else," said Jo Anna L. DeBolt, who runs the Richmond program.

"And if I'm not sure the agency is going to serve it in a timely manner or have it refrigerated correctly or frozen correctly, then I'm not going to be able to give it to them."

Caterers and some of the larger hotels with convention center business had so much in leftovers that they were embarrassed, said Rob Johnson, project director of the Atlanta Community Food Bank

"We have about 150 donors of food that include restaurants, caterers, hotels, corporate cafeterias, schools and hospitals," said Johnson, whose Atlanta's Table was launched in 1987. "We are now averaging about 30,000 pounds of food each month.

For restaurateurs and caterers afraid of being sued if someone gets sick, Ms. Hadley said all 50 states have adopted good Samaritan laws that offer varying degrees of protection to those who donate food in good faith.

Changing America's diet

AMES, Iowa (AP) - Nutri- sumer Science. ionists say many Americans don' buy enough of the food that's good for them, so Iowa State hopes to change what consumers want.

'We demand fuel efficient cars that protect us in a crash; there's no reason you shouldn't demand the same for food," said university researcher Murry Kaplan.

When Americans get hungry, they reach for fat and sugar, Kaplan said. "We know what's good for people, but they won't listen. Dietary advice has been a

"Researchers will start with what consumers want or need, whether it be low-fat meats or better-tasting soy products, and alter food production techniques to develop the new foods," she said.

Kaplan, acting coordinator of the center, said the country seems to be ignoring all the health advice of the last decade. Inundated by advertising with misleading or confusing advice, Americans seek foods that make them flabby, he

"We're fatter than we were 20 years ago," he said. "Forty percent of our calorie intake is fat, whereas it was 37 percent a few years ago. People have apparently gotten the idea that if they eat all the polyunsaturated fats they want, it's OK.'

Kaplan said there is enormous misinformation about nutrition. For example, consumers are switching from beef to cheese, even though most cheese has far more fat than most beef cuts, he said.

Develop a good relationship

DEAR ABBY: My son is engaged to a girl I'll call Lucy. Lucy has eaten dinner at our house every Sunday for the last seven months. I fix good meals and she eats heartily and acts like she enjoys the meal, but she has never once offered to help me with the dishes, or even take her plate into the

DEAR DIFFERENCE: Who's right and who's wrong is not nearly as important as developing a good relationship with your future daughter-in-law.

Try treating Lucy more like a member of the family than a guest. For openers, after dinner, say, "Let's clear the table — many hands make light work." Or, "How about giving me a hand with these dishes, Lucy? It's been a long day; besides I'd appreciate the company.

Large voter turnout pleases Republicans

By MARCELLINO CHAVEZ Staff Writer

STANTON - The Texas Republican party did what it set out to do in Martin County, Tuesday, as it dominated the Democrats in six of the 10 major public offices up for election

"It's over, and we feel that we did all we could. With a arge voter turnout, we felt it would help our party this time around. The large tournout helped us, although it usually doesn't," County Republican Chairman John Campbell said.

However, local democrats dominated the ballot, with seven of eight uncontested races going to that party. No local race was contested formally and there was no significant write-in effort.

Horse-car collision results in injuries

By MARSHA STURDIVANT Staff Writer

The victim of a one-vehicle accident is listed in stable condition at Scenic Mountain Hospital's intensive care unit after his car struck a horse running north bound on Wasson Road at 6 p.m. ruesday night.

Jose Gomez, HC 76 Box 141-A, was traveling south bound on Wasson Road just outside of the city limits when his car struck the horse that had escaped from its fence, according to Trooper Troy Hogue of the Department of Public Safety.

"The horse came over the hood and almost completely through the windshield (of Gomez's car). He sustained serious injuries. We had to use the Jaws of Life to get him out of the car, to cut the car open," said Hogue, adding that the horse was killed.

Hogue said witnesses saw the horse, belonging to H.G. Adams, running down the road just at "No street lights are there. It was very dark and partly cloudy. The investigation is still pending We're not through with it yet," Hogue said. No citations have been given at this time.

Gomez, 31, remained conscious after the accident, Hogue said. The 1980 Chevrolet Caprice, owned by Gomez, sustained serious front-end damage, he said.

Several passing motorists stopped and rendered aid at the scene of the accident. And seven ambulance attendants worked with the highway patrols to rescue Gomez from the car.

Last week USA Today released its sixth annual team-byteam salary survey of major league baseball players.

The figures include base salary, pro-rated signing bonuses and deferred payments.

Steve's stuff

itinteresting. Who would you think is the highest n d

paid team in the majors? A team on the West Coast where there's life in the fast lane? Or how about the Big Apple where salaries sometimes run as high as the skyscrappers?

If you guessed a West Coast team you're right. Those invincible (or so we thought) Oakland A's team payroll comes out to $19,339,816. Divided by 29 players, that averages $778,037.10 per player. With salaries like that, they're supposed to win the world championship.

The highest paid Oakland player this season was Rickey Henderson, who earned $2,225,000 for one year's work. Jose Canseco's big salary won't go into effect until next season. The lowest on the Oakland totem pole are pitchers Reggie Harris and Joe Klink — ever heard of them? That's why they make a mere $100,000 a year. Outfielder Darren Lewis also makes $100,000.

The highest paid team in the National League is the New York Mets, whose average player makes $751,270.20. Although that could very well go down if slugger Darryl Strawberry takes his $1.85 million salary elsewhere. Incidentially, Strawberry isn't the highest paid member of the team. Pitcher Frank Viola makes $1.96 million a year. On thing I can say for the A's and Mets, at least they win, which doesn't hold true for the New York Yankees. The once powerful Yanks are the third highest paid team in the majors.

The Yankees organization shells out $716,289.50 per player with first baseman Don Mattingly's $2.25 million per year the tops. What a waste, for a team that finished the season 67-95, 21 games out of first.

Now let's see who is the lowest paid team. Could it be the Houston Astros, who have let many a good ballplayer go because they didn't want to dish out the bucks? Or how about the Atlanta Braves, who simply just play like they shouldn't be paid

The lowest paid team in the majors is the Baltimore Orioles, who pay $275,365 per man. Their team salary is $12 millon less than Oakland. Baltimore's millon dollar baby is Cal Ripken, who makes $1.4 millon a year.

How is this for getting the most out of your players? The Chicago White Sox, who finished second in the AL West behind Oakland, have an average salary of $378,597.20 per man. After this season, I've got a feeling there will be several White Sox asking for raises.

The National League's lowest paid team is — if you guessed Atlanta, give yourself a pat on the back. The average Brave makes $389,819.50 a year, which is probably more than they should make. OK, maybe I'm being too hard, but winning 65 games and finishing 26 games out of first is nothing to brag

The second lowest paid NL team is Philadelphia. The average Phillies makes $452,048.40 per year. Not bad for a team that finished seven games under .500.

Now a quick look at the underpaid - San Francisco Giants third baseman Matt Williams, $215,000 for batting .277, 33 HRs and 122 RBIs; Los Angeles Dodgers Ramon Martinez, $150,000 for winning 19 games; Texas Rangers first baseman Rafael Palmerio, almost won a batting title and made just

The overpaid — Kansas City second baseman Frank White, $1.15 million for a .216 batting average; Los Angeles Dodgers

A good way to Lakers still looking for first win

By The ASSOCIATED PRESS

Terry Porter tied the game with a free throw with 29 seconds left in overtime, then hit a jumper from the top of the key with 11 seconds remaining, giving the Portland Trail Blazers a 125-123 win over the Los Angeles Lakers.

The Lakers are 0-2 for the first time since 1984-85.

Porter, who had 23 points, scored the final five of overtime after Portland trailed 123-117 with 2:25 remaining. Clyde Drexler had 27 points for the Trail Blazers, Kevin Duckworth 22 and Buck Williams 20. The Lakers' loss in their home opener overshadowed a 24-point, 2-assist performance by Magic

Cavaliers 102, Magic 95 The season is young but the losing streaks of the Orlando Magic and New Jersey Nets are old. The 2-year-old Magic suffered an NBA-record 16th consecutive home setback Tuesday night, losing to Cleveland 102-95 as Larry Nance led the Cavaliers with 23 points and 12 rebounds. 'Nothing comes easy," said Nick Anderson, who scored 20 for Orlando. "The losing streak is for (the media). We don't pay attention to it. We just have to go out and try and get a win.'

The Nets have been trying for a win on the road since Dec. 17 in Miami. Their latest setback their 31st straight on the road, one shy of the record — was a 113-105loss in Charlotte as Muggsy Bogues paced a 12-4 fourth-quarter surge with eight of his 11 points.

Coach Bill Fitch said the Nets 'were thinking about winning,' but Bogues was the difference.

The Magic shot a franchise-low 34.4 percent (33 of 96) and haven't won at home since Feb. 27 when they beat Charlotte. They lost their last 14 home games last season as well as this year's opener.

Hornets 113, Nets 105 Charlotte led 93-92 when Bogues began a 12-4 spurt with two free throws. He followed that with two layups, including a 3-point play that made it 105-96 with 3:30 to play. Armon Gilliam scored 27 points for Charlotte and Reggie Theus led the Nets with 26.

The NBA record of 32 consecutive road losses was set by the Baltimore Bullets in 1954. The Nets' next road game is Nov. 17 at

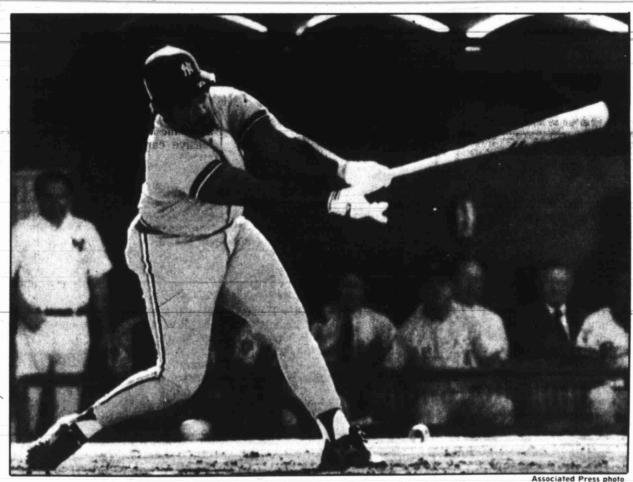

SuperSonics 100, Pistons 92 Xavier McDaniel scored 12 of his 24 points in the fourth quarter as Seattle handed Detroit its first loss

The two-time NBA champions led 80-77 with 6:41 to play. But the Sonics' defense and poor Detroit shooting limited the Pistons to only a basket by Bill Laimbeer with 3:39 remaining before William Bedford hit three 3-pointers in the final minute.

McDaniel scored 10 points as the Sonics outscored the Pistons 18-2 and opened a 95-82 lead. Joe Dumars led Detroit with 23. Celtics 110, Bulls 108

Brian Shaw's layup at the buzzer capped Boston's comeback from an 11-point fourth-quarter deficit. Trailing 90-79 after three quarters, Shaw, who had 20 points, and Kevin McHale with 19, led the rally that gave Boston a 3-0 record and left the Bulls 0-3 for the first time since the 1982-1983 season. Ex-boxing champ found innocent

LONDON (AP) — A jury found former world juniorwelterweight boxing champion Terry Marsh innocent Wednesday of trying to murder his exmanager, Frank Warren.

Warren, one of Britain's leading fight promoters, was shot by a hooded gunman outside a boxing arena last Nov. 30. He recovered fully although a bullet narrowly missed his heart.

The prosecutor at London's Old Bailey court alleged his at tacker was Marsh, the fighter Warren had guided to the International Boxing Federation title two years before. Prosecutor Ann Curnow alleged Marsh had the motive because he was short of money and was being sued by Warren over comments he made in a television interview

Marsh, who retired undefeated in 1988 after 27 professional fights, did not give evidence at the trial.

It's been a long time coming, but the Stanton Buffalos finally broke into the win column.

Coach Dale Ruth's Buffalos ended a eight game losing streak as they defeated the Forsan Buffaloes 27-13. Keying the win for Stanton was a tough fullback named Gary Don Thompson.

Thompson, a 5-foot-10, 175-pound senior, has been a mainstay for Stanton this year, at both fullback and linebacker. It's been a rough year for him because he broke his hand and had to play four games with a cast on his hand.

Last week the cast came off, but Thompson couldn't play because he severely cut his fingers the game before and had 10 stitches. Evidently the week's rest did him good, because he punished the Forsan defense Thompson finished the contest

Tracksters await their day in court

By The ASSOCIATED PRESS

Randy Barnes and Butch Reynolds, world record-holders from the Untied States, still await their day in court after the announcement that positive steroid tests could keep them out of the 1992 Summer Olympics.

The two athletes face twoyear suspensions for flunking tests after meets last August in track and field's biggest drug bust since Ben Johnson was stripped of his 100-meter gold medal at the 1988 Olympics for taking steroids.

Both Barnes, a shot putter, and Reynolds, a 400-meter man, say they will appeal their suspensions to The Athletics Congress, the United States' track and field governing body. No date has been set for the appeals.

Results of the tests were announced Monday in London by the International Amateur Athletic Federation, the sport's world governing body. Twoyear suspensions from international competition are automatic for such infractions.

"In six years of competition, I have never taken any prohibited substance," Barnes said in an affidavit submitted Tuesday to TAC. Barnes said he had been tested about 30 times since 1985, "and have always tested negatively."

A statement signed by Richard A. Hollander, chairman of the grants committee for TAC, indicates Barnes' urine samples weren't sealed in his presence in violation of IAAF rules and that control numbers used on the seal were added later, another violation.

In Hollander's report, which The Associated Press obtained through Barnes' attorney John Dowd, the TAC official also said that a breach in the confidentiality of the tests was in violation of IAAF rules, casting "doubt on the procedures as a whole.

The IAAF said both athletes flunked not only the initial test but also a second test of the same urine sample done as a failsafe.

IAAF spokesman Mark Butler said today in London that if TAC holds its hearings and decides that it disagrees with the IAAF ruling, the case would go to binding aribitration. It would be heard by a six-member panel, made up of Peter Alkalay of the United States, Jorge Franco of Colombia, Assanb Bassirou Diouf of Senegal, Evelin Herburg of Germany, R.J. Ellicott of Australia and Lauri Tarasti of Finland.

Butler also said that Reynolds and Barnes were suspended, both by the IAAF and TAC, and therefore ineligible for any meet staged under international rules that is, all but outlaw meets.

Asked if they could compete in national championships in the United States, Butler said: "Presumably those meets would be held under IAAF rules and, since TAC is a member of the it is obliged to abide by

Kingston, Cypert win Glasscock races

By DEBBIE LINCECUM Staff Writer

GARDEN CITY - Glasscock County voters turned out for the election in record numbers Tuesday, with one write-in candidate winning and another losing.

With 703 voters registered, 547 citizens exercised their right to choose local and state officials. The 78 percent turnout was "pretty high" for the county, said District and County Clerk Betty Pate.

"It's higher than last year," Pate said, adding that the governor's race may have brought in some

"It just depends on what the races are," she said of typical voter percentages. "This one was a real good turnout.

Two races were contested -County Treasurer and Precinct 4

County Commissioner. Judy Kingston was re-elected to the treasurer post, winning over write-in candidate Alan Dierschke. In the commissioner race, write-in candidate Donald Cypert took the seat from incumbent Michael

The race for County Treasurer had been marked by controversy. Dierschke had charged that Kingston had mismanaged her office and had not "focused on the job." She challenged the accusations, saying she handled the office "in the same competent, businesslike manner that (she handles her) own personal business.

Of the race, Kingston said, "I'm just glad it's over. I want to get back to business as usual."

Of her plans for continuing her work with the county, Kingston reaffirmed her position that a need to monitor spending will be an important issue. Spending continues to grow while surplus funds shrink, she said.

Kingston, 50, added that she wanted to express her appreciation to "all the voters that took the time to vote," adding that numbers were higher than those of the primary Dierschke, who lost his write-in bid by 55 votes, said he thinks there were "two strikes" against him in the contest.

"First of all running against an incumbent is one of the hardest things to do, and then as a write-in candidate, that made it twice as

Cypert, whose write-in campaign unseated incumbent Hoch for the commissioner's court, said he was "a little surprised."

The 33-year-old mechanic has said he thinks a possible tax increase is the biggest issue facing the county. Although he said he has "several ideas" he'll present on the court, he said he is not ready to comment on them

"I'd like to thank all the voters for their support and for their large turnout," Cypert added. "Without all their support it wouldn't have been possible.

His campaign tactic was to "get out and talk and visit with everybody," he said. "I guess people decided it was time for a change.

Hoch read a prepared statement concerning the race. "I want to thank all the people in Precinct 4 who supported me. I will continue to serve Glasscock County . . . until my term expires.

When his term ends, Hoch, 43, said he'll concentrate on his work on the farm.

Lemons resists write-in challenge

By BILL AYRES City Editor

BORDEN COUNTY - Incumbent Hurston Lemons Jr. held off a challenge from write-in opponent Don Massingill to be re-elected to another term as County Commissioner, Pct. 4, in Borden County.

A strong voter turnout was recorded with 412 of 530 registered voters, 78 percent, going to the polls Tuesday.

Lemons, of Fluvana, who has served one term as county commissioner, received 81 votes to Massingill's 56.

Challenger Massingill stated he "knew it would be close. The voters in Fluvanna didn't turn out as I thought they might have.

The only other contested race in Borden County was for the unexpired term of Constable. The former constable, Kenny Bennett, resigned in April to accept a position as deputy sheriff.

Neither candidate for the position appeared on the ballot, both running as write-ins. Royce Nance, who was appointed constable in May, decided to seek the job as a write-in. He defeated Edward Zepeda, 161 to 72.

'I'm real proud of the way things turned out," said Nance. "I thought it would be closer, since it is hard to get people to write-in."

Nance said he was pleased with the totals, noting 233 of 412 voters took the time to write-in either candidate. "I was really uncertain about the outcome, but it shows I had some good support. I'm looking forward to serving the people of Borden County," he added.

There were six uncontested races on the ballot. Bud Arnot, Justice, 11th Court of Appeals, received 237 votes. Van York, County Judge, was supported by 327 votes. Dorothy Browne, District and County Clerk, received 268 votes. Melissa Ludecke, County Treasurer, got 290 votes. Larry Smith, County Commissioner, Pct. 2, received 75 votes and Carolyn Stone, Justice of the Peace, got 298 votes.

The write-in candidates for state office picked up four votes in Borden County. Bubbles Cash and Dennis Yancy each received one vote for Governor; Steve Warren received one vote for Attorney General; and Ira Calkins received one vote for State Treasurer. In state-wide ballotting, Borden County voters supported Phil Gramm over Hugh Parmer, 258-109; Clayton Williams over Ann Richards, 250-140: Bob Bullock over Rob Mosbacher, 200-169; Dan Morales over J.E. "Buster' Brown, 172-169; Garry Mauro over Wes Gilbreath, 217-103. Complete voting in state-wide offices appears in an accompanying chart.

Editor unseats incumbent judge

By PATRICK DRISCOLL Staff Writer

COLORADO CITY — Newspaper Editor Ray Mayo unseated incumbent County Judge S.L. "Mac" Morris for the second time and Democratic Precinct 3 Commissioner Buddy Hertenberger retained his seat against a Republican in Tuesday's election.

Mayo got 68.96 percent of the vote and Hertenberger got 58.60 percent against challenger Wyndell Inman. In the only other locally contested race, County Clerk Joan Beach garnered 79.39 percent of the votes in her bid for re-election against write-in candidate Barbara Green. There were 55.1 percent, or 2,631 of the county's 4,773 registered voters casting ballots, Beach reported. In the governor's race, Democrat Ann Richards picked up 1,490 votes to Republican Clayton Williams' 896. Liberatarian candidate Jeff Daiell got 19 votes. Richards won the statewide race with 51 percent of the vote. There were 50.01 percent of statewide registered voters voting.

Beach said this year's turnout was a little lower than expected but it was good. "I had guessed around 60 percent because of the local races," she said. "I wasn't too far off. I think it's a good turnout."

Mayo, 42, who won 1,720 to 774, said the election may signal a change in local politics.

"I think this election tells everyone that the citizens of Mitchell County are ready for a change and that Mitchell County is facing critical times," he said. "I believe that the majority of citizens should determine its destiny and not just a small group," he said shortly after the final count came Morris, 54, who was appointed to office in January 1989, had run as a write-in candidate after losing the April Democratic runoff to Mayo, who had got 59.9 percent of that vote. Morris could not be reached for comment.

Addressing a major issue in the election, Mayo said that he would pursue a privately-funded referendum to determine public opinions on a Pittsburgh's company's proposal to locate a hazardous waste incinerator about eight miles west of Westbrook. He said he would abide by the wishes of the majority of the people.

Opponents of the proposal want commissioners to rescind a host agreement they signed in March supporting the company's efforts to seek federal and state permits in return for free dumping of county municipal trash and up to $1 million in annual collections on trash hauled into the county. Three of the five Commissioner Court members who signed the agreement will remain in office next

Although tax money cannot be used to fund a legally non-binding referendum, Mayo said, "I think there are people willing to donate the money to hold a referendum. I would certainly be willing to pursue the matter.'

Democrat Carl Guelker, 36, a farmer and rancher and the next Pct. 2 commissioner following an unopposed race after defeating the incumbent in the runoff, said he will also uphold what the majority of people want.

Inman, 47, a ranch manager, opooses the incinerator and Hertenberger, who signed the host agreement, has said he will remain open-minded on the issue.

"If it was determined by a reputable scientific or medical analysis board, if it was bad to people, land or water, I would definitely be against it. But at this time I have seen no proof to that matter," said Hertenberger shortly after learning of his 443 to 313 defeat of

Asked if the outcome of a referendum would affect his opinion, he said, "If it was held at the proper time, sure it would. With the emotions the way they are now, I think you would have to have time to study it."

Incinerator opponents have mixed feelings on next year's Commissioners Court. "We're delighted over the election of Ray Mayo as county judge,' said Peggy Maddox, chairperson of Mitchell County Texans Against Pollution.

Concerning statements made by Herternberger that he will be openminded, she said, "We took that to mean that he's going to listen and we're going to hold him to it."

Meanwhile, she said, in efforts to get the host agreement rescinded, the group plans to file a lawsuit claiming the agreement is not valid because it was signed during a called emergency meeting but there was no emergency situation. TAP members will meet with a lawyer in Austin Friday.

Inman, who said he will continue to be concerned over the incinerator proposal, congratulated Hertenberger on a clean campaign. "It was a good, clean race," he said. "When you can do that and come out friends you're in good shape." Green made similar comments.

"I appreciate that all around," she said. "It just came out the way the county wanted."

Beach, 58, said, "I appreciate all the people and the good turnout. I always tried to make this an office of service."

In uncontested local races: Guelker received 351 votes; Pct. 4 Commissioner Billy Preston got 288 votes; District Clerk Sharon Hammond received 2,123 votes; Treasurer Ann Hallmark got 2,112 votes; newcomer Glenda Haltom received 1,037 votes for Pct. 1 and 4 justice of the peace; Pct. 2 and 3 Justice of the Peace Keith Ruddick got 1,000 votes; and Constable 1 Jerry Hammond received 649 votes. All ran as Democrats.

In state district races, District 66 Rep. Rob Junell, D-San Angelo, got 2,009 votes and 11th Court of Appeals Justice Bud Arnot, D Abilene, received 1,801 votes.

Richards grabs governor's mansion

AUSTIN (AP) — State Treasurer Ann Richards, 15 percentage points behind in polls only six weeks ago, says Republican Clayton Williams' millions and help from President Bush weren't enough to keep her rom the Governor's Mansion

"I've always believed in people politics more than money politics, the Democrat said after becoming the first woman to win a Texas governor's race since Miriam 'Ma" Ferguson in 1932.

With 99 percent of the vote counted, Richards received 1,907,131 to 1,811,226 for Williams, a narrow 49.6 percent to 47.1 percent margin.

The victory for Richards, 57, was a major embarassment to Bush, who calls Texas home and campaigned with Williams all day

A jubilant Richards held aloft a T-shirt that said, "A woman's place is in the dome" as her supporters cheered Tuesday night.

She said vote showed that average Texans didn't want another millionaire as governor. Millionaire incumbent Bill Clements, a Republican, is

"They want a governor that gets up and goes to work every morning. They want a governor that isn't going to be distracted by other business. They want their children educated ... They want something done about their insurance rates, and they want a governor that's going to do that," she said.

Richards also said her pro-choice stand on abortion was wellreceived by voters.

GOP dominates in county voting

By MARCELLINO CHAVEZ

STANTON - The Texas Republican party did what it set out to do in Martin County, Tuesday, as it dominated the Democrats in six of the 10 major public offices up for election.

"It's over, and we feel that we did all we could. With a large voter turnout, we felt it would help our party this time around. The large tournout helped us, although it usually doesn't,' County Republican Chairman John Campbell said.

However, local democrats dominated the ballot, with seven of eight uncontested races going to that party. No local race was contested formally and there was no significant write-in effort.

Precinct 2 county commissioner Donald Tollison received 138 votes, while Charles McKaskle drew 215 votes in precinct 4.

For justice of the peace Precinct 1, Nolan Parker gained 564 votes and Shirley Scoggins received 364 votes for Precinct 2.

Also, 118th District Judge Robert H. Moore III had 634 votes, county judge Bob Deavenport gathered 946, district and county clerk Virginia James received 955 votes and county treasurer H.D. (Butch) Howard collected 919 county votes

Iraq to free more hostages (AP) Iraq said today it would free 120 more hostages, most of them Germans but including a few Americans, and 74 Japanese nationals flew to freedom after three months of captivity in Iraq. The official Iraqi News Agency said 100 Germans would be freed at the intervention of former West German Chancellor Willy Brandt, who met with President Saddam Hussein today. The report said the move reflected the Baghdad government's "appreciation for the German policy which does not support trends towards war." It said 20 hostages of other nationalities would be freed as well, including an unspecified number of Americans, Britons, Italians and others.

The announcement did not say when they would be freed.

But the release of the Japanese hostages who left Baghdad today had been announced only a day earlier.

Secretary of State James A. Baker III, meanwhile, said the use of military force against Iraq cannot be ruled out. Baker is on a weeklong mission sounding out allies on their willingness to go to war. He was in Turkey today and will stop in Moscow, Paris and London

He told reporters in Ankara that the United States seeks a peaceful solution to the gulf crisis. But he added that "we cannot rule out the possible use of force before we see that the matter is resolved peacefully."

Baker also denied reports he gave Iraq an ultimatum to get out of Kuwait in the next two weeks. The reports by Israel army radio and stations in Luxembourg and Monte Carlo said Baker had asked his Chinese counterpart, Qian Quichen, to tell Saddam Hussein that U.S. forces would attack if he didn't comply. Baker met with Qian in Cairo, Egypt, on Tuesday.

Qian indicated to Baker on Tuesday that Beijing would not stand in the way of any U.N. vote authorizing a military strike to force Iraq out of Kuwait, U.S. officials said. But Qian, who met for two hours with Baker in Cairo, did not explicitly approve sending troops into action.

Perry blindsides Hightower in ag race

DALLAS (AP) — The end was near, But Texas Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower didn't

As the polls opened Tuesday, Hightower spoke in anticipation of his third term as Texas agriculture commissioner. He talked about returning to Austin to continue promoting his populist views and bashing Republican leadership.

Seemingly overlooked in Hightower's future was Republican state representative Rick Perry, who brought the Democratic incumbent's reign to a crashing end Tuesday in a razorthin upset victory.

With 99 percent of the precincts reporting, Perry led Hightower 49.1 to 47.9 percent, or 1,839,653 votes to 1,795,685. Libertarian Karen Tegtmeyer had 3 percent.

Hightower already had laid out plans to continue fighting pesticides and diversify crops. And, he reflected with spite on two years of attacks by the Texas Farm Bureau, which recruited six candidates to try and unseat him in the Democratic primary. The farm bureau even sought Texas Rangers pitcher-cattleman

Nolan Ryan to challenge the Democratic incumbent. 'This indeed will be the sweetest electoral victory I have ever had,'

Hightower said Tuesday afternoon Hightower, shocked and discouraged after the upset, would not talk to reporters. He promised a statement today. "I would call it probably the biggest upset in the last 10 years of Texas politics," said Perry, the first farmer to be elected agriculture commissioner in 40 years. Perry, who trailed Hightower by as many as 14 points during the campaign, attributed his success to well-placed television ads attacking Hightower and a relentless effort by rural supporters.

Perry accused Hightower of bringing scandal to the agriculture commissioner's office after reports of an FBI investigation into Hightower's 1988 campaign finances surfaced.

Perry, who trailed Hightower by as many as 14 points during the campaign, attributed his success to wellplaced television ads attacking Hightower and a relentless effort by rural supporters.

"Hightower is like the Wizard of Oz," a jubilant Perry said. "He got exposed as the little man with a big voice, and Rick Perry pulled the screen back and saw him for what he was.

"Our TV probably had as much to do with our victory as anything. Our ads were vivid, showed real people and showed that Hightower is not suited for this job. The people were receptive."

S.M. True, president of the Texas. Farm Bureau, said Perry's victory was grounds for celebration.

"Texas agriculture has won a major victory," said True, one of Hightower's greatest adversaries. 'Two years ago, I said it is my number one priority to change the leadership of the TDA and we have attained that goal. I am very pleased."

"Rick Perry is qualified to serve us in Austin and Washington. I'm not going to run Hightower down. He did the best job he could do. He just didn't understand how to run the Texas Department of Agriculture. He didn't understand mainstream agriculture."

Hightower had been favored to win a third consecutive term largely because his name recognition in cities like Houston, Dallas and San Antonio is around 75 percent. But he registered significantly less support with the rural farmers and ranchers his office regulates and Perry swooped in for the kill.

Howard County elects 3 new commissioners

By PATRICK DRISCOLL

BIG SPRING - Republican County Judge John Coffee was unseated by Democratic challenger Ben Lockhart, who pulled in 54.71 percent of the vote in Tuesday elections. Three of five members of the Commissioners Court will be new in 1991.

In the two contested commissioner races, Democrat John Stanley got 52.37 of the vote to defeat Republican John Kilgore for Precinct 2 commissioner and Republican Robert Crenshaw got 51.64 percent of the vote to beat the race statewide with 51 percent Democrat Bobby Cathey. The new Court will have two Republicans and three Democrats.

In the only other locally contested race, District Clerk Glenda Brasel retained her position by getting 57.07 percent of the vote over Republican Judi Atkins.

There were 55.23 percent, or 8,388 of the county's 15,188 registered voters casting ballots. County Clerk Margaret Ray said. Republican governor candidate Clayton Williams carried the county with 4,512 votes to 3,270 for Democrat Ann Richards, who won of the vote. Libertarian candidate Jeff Daiell got 224 votes. There were 50.09 percent of statewide registered voters casting ballots.

Locally, there were not as many people voting as Ray had predicted. "No as much as I was hoping for," she said. "But at the slow pace it started out this afternoon. I was proud that it picked up. I was hoping for 10,000 (voters).

Coffee, 58, who was appointed to office in March 1989, said he was suprised at his 3,647 to 4,405 defeat. 'I'm very disapointed," he said.

'I expected to win.' He said he has no immediate

Japan to be a top customer for years to come

WASHINGTON (AP) - Japan will continue as the No. 1 customer of American farmers at least through the turn of the century. maintaining its lead over the European Community, Agriculture Department trade analysts say.

In the fiscal year that ended Sept. 30, Japan once again topped foreign buyers of U.S. agricultural products at an estimated $8.3 billion, compared with the EC's imports of $7 billion.

Emiko Miyasaka of the department's Foreign Agricultural Service said she expects Japan to maintain its lead over the 12-nation EC "at least in the 1990s.

Miyasaka said Tuesday in a telephone interview that Japan's top ranking as a foreign buyer of agricultural products appears solid through the turn of the century despite the EC's plan to unify economically by the end of 1992. Beyond the 1990s, however, the situation is too uncertain for predictions now, she said. Miyasaka was asked to elaborate on a report by her agency last week that said Japan "is likely to be among the strongest export growth markets" for U.S. farmers. "This optimism is based on the expectation that Japan's economic growth, while slowing, is expected to be the strongest of all industrialized countries, fueling conFarm scene sumer demand," the report said. Further, it said, there has been some liberalization of Japan's agricultural imports through the current Uruguay Round of negotiations under the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade, or GATT. 'Since 1964, when it emerged as Asia's first billion-dollar market for U.S. farm products, Japan has steadily expanded its agricultural imports," the report said. Japan moved in front of the EC as the top U.S. farm market in 1988. Bulk commodities such as corn, soybeans, wheat, cotton, tobacco and logs are the big-ticket items, but Miyasaka and other analysts believe there are greater market opportunities for high-value products like beef, vegetables, citrus fruit, fruit juices and processed wood products.

In 1988, the U.S.-Japan Beef Agreement opened the door to growing sales of beef - from a value of $556 million in 1987 to $1 billion last year.

U.S. exports of fresh, frozen and prepared vegetables rose to $253 million by 1989, the report said. Sales of french fries, for example,

A thorn in this trade development has been Japan's rice policy, which effectively bars imports, part of a national policy to protect domestic growers. The United States has called on Japan during the GATT negotiations to ease the Miyasaka noted that the U.S. position on Japanese rice is part of an overall bid under GATT to reduce trade restrictions all over the world.

In any case, she said, whatever Japan does about its rice policy will not keep that country from continuing as the leading foreign market for American farmers.

Payments plan OKed

WASHINGTON (AP) - A plan calling for modest cuts in farm payments has been approved by e European Community, but U.S. farm organizations are watching closely to see what happens when it goes before international negotiators.

"It's a step," said Dave Lane of the American Farm Bureau Federation's Washington office. "But it'll still probably go right down to the wire.

Late Tuesday, in Brussels, Belgium, the 12-nation EC endorsed a carefully worded proposal that sought to soothe fears of governments that their farmers would be hurt by reductions.

At issue was a proposal to pare farm subsidies by 30 percent over 10 years, starting in 1986. Some reductions have already been

The EC proposal, which had been due Oct. 15, will be submitted to the trade talks as the community's opening position in the final round of bargaining.

Meanwhile, a coalition of 29 U.S. farm organizations and commodity groups on Tuesday released a letter to Trade Representative Carla Hills and Agriculture Secretary Clayton Yeutter declaring that no GATT agreement on agricultural trade would be preferable to one that "papers over" fundamental differences with the EC.

The American farm groups have bitterly attacked the EC's system of export subsidies and certain other practices that bear on world agricultural trade.

'As the deadline approaches without any encouraging sign from the EC that problems dealing with market access, export subsidies and health and sanitary issues are truly negotiable, we are becoming increasingly concerned that a final agricultural package may be fabricated to once again paper over our differences," the groups said.

Milk output rising

WASHINGTON (AP) - Milk production has been rising this year and so has the output of some major dairy products, according to a monthly report by the Agriculture Department.

In September, butter production was estimated at 84.8, million pounds, up 4 percent from a year earlier. Total cheese output, excluding cottage cheese, was reported Tuesday at 477 million pounds, up 6 percent.

Non-fat dry milk for human food was reported at 50.6 million pounds in September, up 13 percent from a year earlier.

But ice cream production, at 62.9 million gallons, was down 1 percent from September 1989.

Ms. Richards, a recovering alcoholic, found herself dogged by questions about drug use after refusing in the primary to answer 'yes" or "no" to a debate question on whether she had ever used illegal drugs.

That issue resurfaced less than three weeks before the election when the Republican sheriff of San Antonio said his investigator had obtained a statement from a New Mexico man who claimed to have seen Ms. Richards use cocaine at a party in the 1970s. Ms. Richards denied the charge and accused Republicans of planting it. Williams had his own problems.

with Afternoon T

Americans are discovering something that the British have long understood: the tradition of afternoon tea is a refined and relaxing way to take a break from daily pressures. Both men and women are crowding the tea salons of the country's most elegant hotels to discuss business or catch up with friends.

While most of us don't have the opportunity to indulge in afternoon tea at The Plaza or The Beverly Hills Hotel, it's relatively easy to recreate in your own home the classic teas served at famous hotels.

Traditionally, afternoon tea consists of savory finger sandwiches—usually triangular and made with thin, crustless bread—followed by scones served with whipped or Devonshire cream and fruit preserves. An assortment of miniature tarts, pastries and cakes provides a sweet ending. And, of course, tea. Be creative and sample one of the quality varieties often served with afternoon tea. Earl Grey flavored with bergamot and Darjeeling with its delicate bouquet are just two of the many fine teas available.

The intense flavor of an all-fruit spread like Smucker's Simply Fruit adds a special touch to recipes from the tea salons of some of the country's finest hotels. Served as an accompaniment to the Westin St. Francis's "Very Traditional English Scones" or as the filling in The Drake Hotel's "Victorian Sponge Cake," Simply Fruit enhances the flavor of foods with its blend of fruit and fruit juices.

So the next time your day needs a little brightening, plan an afternoon tea of your own using these recipes created by some of the country's best chefs. Whether it's a weekend get-together with friends or a quiet tea for two, you'll appreciate why this distinctly British tradition is growing in popularity on this side

For Perfect Tea Every Time

- 1. Bring freshly drawn cold tap water to a full rolling boil
- 2. Preheat the teapot by rinsing it out with hot water
- 3. Immediately add 1 teabag or 1 teaspoon of loose tea per serving
 - 4. Pour boiling water over the tea (5 to 6 ounces per cup)
 - 5. Brew by the clock 3 to 5 minutes, then remove teabags or strain loose tea before serving

ountry are the source for this true noon tea of finger sandwiches, scones with ipped cream and Simply Fruit, apricot pastries

THE WESTIN ST. FRANCIS

- 2 cups all-purpose flour
- 1 tablespoon baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt 1/2 cup granulated sugar
- 1/2 cup (1 stick) butter, cut into pieces
- 1/3 cup dried currants or raisins
- 2 egg yolks 2 eggs
- 4 tablespoons milk
- 1 cup heavy cream
- 1 tablespoon confectioners sugar 1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract
- Smucker's Apricot (or other flavor) Simply Fruit

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and granulated sugar in large bowl. Add butter and mix with electric mixer on low speed (or by hand, with pastry blender) until mixture resembles coarse commeal. Stir in currants. In small bowl, beat egg yolks, I egg and milk until blended; pour over flour mixture. Mix lightly until mixture holds together; form into ball. Preheat oven to Roll out dough until 1/4 inch thick. Use 21/2-inch round metal cutter to make at least 9 scones (reroll scraps until all dough is used). Place scones on greased baking sheet. Beat remaining egg; brush over scones. Bake until golden brown, 14-18 minutes. Cool on rack for at least 15 minutes before serving.

Whip cream with confectioners sugar and vanilla extract. Serve scones with whipped cream and Apricot Simply Fruit.

Apricot Buchteln

- 1 package (1/4 ounce) active dry yeast 1/3 cup granulated sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 4 egg yolks
- 3 cup (103 tablespoons) butter, cut into pieces, softened
- 21/4 cups all-purpose flour
- 1 can (17 ounces) apricot halves in heavy syrup, drained (or 20 apricot halves)
- 1/2 cup Smucker's Apricot Simply Fruit 1/4 cup butter, melted
- Confectioners sugar

Heat milk to 105°-115°F (use thermometer to checks temperature). Pour milk into large, warm bowl of heav duty mixer; add yeast and stir until dissolved. Add granulated sugar, salt, egg yolks and softened butter; beat until thoroughly blended. Gradually add flour, beating until a soft dough is formed. Cover and refrigerate

Roll out dough on floured board to slightly more than 1/4 inch thickness; cut into circles with 3-inch round metal cutter. Place an apricot half and 1 teaspoon Apricot Simply Fruit in center of each dough circle; fold over and pinch edges to seal. Place pastries on greased baking sheets; cover and let rise 1 hour. Preheat oven to 350°F. Brush top of pastries with half of melted butter. Bake 10 minutes; brush with remaining butter. Bake 5-10 minutes more or until golden brown. Cool on racks for 15 minutes; sprinkle with confectioners sugar Makes about 20 pastries.

Victorian Sponge Cake

- 6 eggs, room temperature
- ¼ cup granulated sugar 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 21/2 teaspoons vanilla extract
- 1/4 cup (2 ounces) butter, melted
- 1¼ cups cake flour
- 11/2 cups heavy cream 3 tablespoons confectioners sugar
- 1 jar (10 ounces) Smucker's Strawberry Simply Fruit Small fresh strawberries, halved (optional)

Preheat oven to 375°F. Grease bottoms only of two 9-inch round cake pans. Place eggs and granulated sugar in large bowl of electric mixer; place bowl in pan of warm water for 5 minutes (increases volume of eggs). Beat eggs and sugar until light in color and fluffy; stir in salt, butter and 1 teaspoon vanilla. Gently fold in flour with rubber spatula. Pour batter in pans; bake 20-25 minutes or until golden brown. Loosen layers from edge

Whip cream with confectioners sugar and remaining 11/2 teaspoons vanilla until peaks form. Spread one cake layer with half of Simply Fruit and half of whipped cream; top with second layer. Spread remaining Simply Fruit on top layer; spoon remaining whipped cream in center and garnish with strawberry halves, if desired. Serve or chill until serving time. Makes one 9-inch cake.

puff pastry

1/2 cup Smucker's Raspberry Simply Fruit

- cup heavy cream
- teaspoon vanilla extract
- 2 tablespoons confectioners sugar 11/2 cups thinly sliced fresh strawberries
- Frosting and Chocolate Garnish:
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine 1 cup confectioners sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon vanilla extract tablespoon hot water
- 1 to 2 drops red food coloring
- 2 ounces semi-sweet or bittersweet chocolate Thaw pastry at room temperature for 20 minutes. Roll out pastry to a 12-inch square between 2 sheets of waxed paper. Cut pastry into three 4-inch wide strips. Brush 2 baking sheets with cold water; place 2 pastry strips on one sheet and 1 strip on the other. Prick pastry all over with a fork. Chill 30 minutes before baking. Preheat oven to 350°F. Bake pastry strips for 15-20 minutes or until golden brown. Cool thoroughly on racks.

To assemble, stir Simply Fruit and spread half over each of 2 pastry strips. Whip cream with vanilla and sugar. Spread each jam-covered pastry strip with half of whipped cream and half of the strawberries. Stack the two covered pastry strips; top with third strip.

To prepare frosting, melt butter in saucepan. Remove from heat. Blend in confectioners sugar, vanilla, water and food coloring. Spoon frosting over top layer of pastry. Melt chocolate over barely simmering water or in microwave oven; spoon chocolate in crosswise lines at 1-inch intervals over top of frosting. Chill at least 15 minutes before serving. Slice with a serrated or electric knife. Makes 6 to 8 servings

How did names begin?

Humans have used first names throughout recorded history. Even in the most primitive societies each member had a name.

First names began when early humans used different cries and sounds to identify themselves. Each individual had a sound that named him.

Names were later given by the tribe or chosen by the individual. These names were changed with ceremonial rites at different ages. Last names, also called surnames, were first used in China around 2850 BC by decree of the emperor. The Chinese usually have three names, with their family name coming first. The middle name is called the "generation name," which is taken from a poem selected by each family. At the end comes their first name. The ancient Romans started by using only one name, later switching to three, then returning to one. In Italy, during the Middle Ages, family names again came into use. They were especially popular with the rate themselves from the common people their children.

The nobles then passed these family names down to

The custom then spread to other European countries. Last names were taken from a person's home town, from his occupation, from the land on which he lived, from the kind of animals he kept, or from his ancestry. For example, "Johnson" derived from "John's son."

Jewish people were among the last groups of people to adopt family names. Since they often lived apart from other people, they didn't feel they needed them.

However, in the 1800s, laws required everyone to have family names and Jewish people chose combinations that sounded very pleasant, like Goldberg, which means gold mountain, and Rosenthal, which means rose valley. Many also adopted Biblical names such as Benjamin and Levy.

self decorating and remodeling. Saving money is the most obvious. When calculating potential cost savings, however, don't consider just the reduced price of labor. Sometimes the time spent-and often wasted-for contractors to show up is enormous.

With two-income households these days, having professional installers come to the house usually requires either the man or woman to take time off from work. Often, installers cannot pin down a time they'll arrive, leaving the homeowner spending much of the day just

It's no wonder that frustrated consumers are taking matters into their own hands-literally.

Wallcovering and paneling have long been popular do-it-yourself projects. But for those who desire a more unusual and elegant solution for beautifying their walls, there are new alternatives.

A mail-order catalog, "Through the Looking Glass," features several innovative concepts for using glass and mirrors to add sparkle and practicality to walls.

New glass marble tiles, for example, look and feel like genuine marble, but cost only about $2-$3 per square foot.

The self-stick tiles come in eight marble shades to enhance dramatically entryways, bathrooms and accent walls anywhere in the home or office. They won't stain like marble

Another terrific wall treatment idea shown in the catalog is floor-to-ceiling mirrors. A patented beveled mirror wall panel system—the first do-it-yourself mirrored wall system - consists of lightweight, shatterproof panels that are a cinch to install. Most typical installations take about one hour.

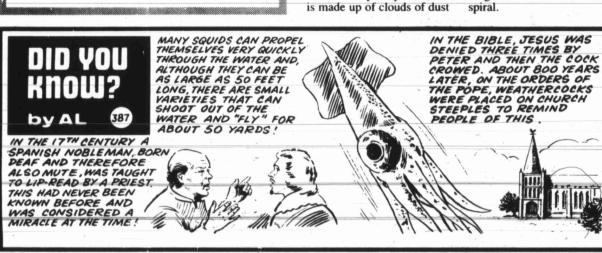

The panels can be removed and remounted if the consumer relocates—a big plus especially for apartment renters who seek an economical method for adding a sense of space and light to their ning out from the center in a rooms, but who don't plan to stay too

It won't be long before plane-loads of downhill "schussers" and alpine skiers from every section of the country fly westward to the nation's ski capitals in California, Colorado, Montana, Wyoming, Idaho, Utah. Nevada, and New Mexico. The east has its share of celebrated ski areas but few can match the majestic mountains and breath-taking beauty of western skiing. If you're a fellow ski-bird heading west this winter; don't wait until you're airborne to think about transportation for the last leg of your trip. Some of the most popular ski areas are several hours away by car from airports in ski if you're traveling with friends, family country gateway cities like Denver, Reno, Boise, Albuquerque, and Salt Lake City.

The time to plan ahead and save time and money is now. Ask your travel agent about the economy fly/drive packages offered by many of the airlines and major car rental companies that serve these locales. After all, you want to spend less time getting there and more time on the slopes.

Alamo Rent A Car is offering a Chevy Blazer for $299.00 per week in its ski cities-Aspen, Denver, Reno, Salt Lake City, Boise and Albuquerque. To reserve the Blazer or similar car from Alamo, contact your travel agent or Alamo directly at 1(800) 327-9633 and request Rate Code "SO."

You wouldn't ski in sneakers

But be particular when you reserve your rental car. When you sign up for a fly/drive deal or rent directly, Alamo Rent A Car, one of the busiest ski country rental companies, strongly advises that you specify a car winterized to withstand temperatures of 30 degrees below zero, with snow tires, ski rack and, where available, four-wheel drive. "Our fleet features the Chevy Blazer and other four-wheel drives like the Mitsubishi Montero," explains Bob Coffey, Vice President, Market Planning for Alamo, "and that's typical ⊗ Autumn leaves are falling, days are growing shorter, and ski-birds across locations serving major ski areas in the west. To deal with the unpredictable weather conditions common to mountain areas dry roads one day and treacherous, icy roads the next-you need, a car equipped to handle rugged weather and road conditions as you drive that final leg of your journey from airport to ski lodge or condominium

Rent your own ski lift!

If you're coming off a plane loaded down with baggage and ski equipment, renting a car is often the fastest, most comfortable, practical and economical way to get to your destination-especially and children in tow.

Once you reach one of the nation's ski capitals, the sky's the limit, so to speak. If you stay in a centrally located lodge, you'll probably want to conquer several snow-dusted mountains. What about taking in the region's many sights and attractions? Consider the rental car your personal ski lift (it's a lot warmer than the real thing!).

So many mountains...so little time

With so many miles to explore, you'll want to rent from a company that offers unlimited, free mileage. During ski season, some rental car companies may advertise "free mileage," but be sure to get a full explanation of what restrictions may apply before you sign on the dotted line. Some companies may limit you to particular destinations or insist your rent a particular size car.

According to Bob Coffey, "Alamo is the only major rental car company that guarantees unconditional, unrestricted, free mileage at every location across the nation 365 days a year-no 'ifs,' 'ands' or 'buts.'

With long range weather forecasters predicting a cold and snowy winter ahead, both the airlines and auto renters are hoping for a record 1990 to '91 season out west. So ski-birds, make your reservations early and flock to the slopes.

Home computers should be insured

Personal home computers are popping up everywhere. Parents use them to balance the family budget, and young people use them for schoolwork. Because a home computer represents a sizable investment for many families, insurance coverage should not be overlooked.

Standard homeowner's insurance policies cover home computers which are used for personal reasons such as schoolwork. Generally speaking, coverage would end if the computer is used, even sparingly, for business purposes.

When a home computer is used to further the owner's business pursuits, a special endorsement or additional "floater" protection can be purchased at a minimal

The criteria for choosing window designs are numerous and subtle. For example, you must consider the design of the entire house so the windows do not appear out of place. You must consider styles in your neighborhood, as well, or your whole house may look out of place. The special-shaped Marvin windows in this design enhance aesthetic qualities. BUSINESS REVIEW

"Our customers ARE our business at HOME REALTORS."

As the economy rises and falls so does the real estate market. In this "roller coaster" of a business buying or selling a home is one of the biggest investment decisions you will ever make. The energetic professionals at Home Realtors can help you survive the hilly

Kay Moore is one of the energetic people who thrives in the real estate business. She has been the owner and broker of Iome Realtors at 3 Geronado laza in Big Spring since purchasing the business in January, 1985: Founders Jeff and Sue Brown started the firm in 1962, and it has been serving the people of Big Spring for the past 28 properties, but they handle comacquired properties as well. Ms. Moore goes on to say, "We at ral network. Home Realtors are dedicated to servicing our customers to the many changes in the real estate very best of our ability. Our first market since the early 1980's and and foremost priority is to give according to Kay, "Now is the
