Post office to have open house

The Big Spring Post Office will have a public Open House Sunday, Nov. 11, from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m.

Wendel Payte, letter carrier in Big Spring, said, "We want to explain our job to the people. Not many people have seen the back side of the post office, the working part. We'll be showing the whole works; the clerk's jobs, the carrier's, every phase we operate. We're inviting the public to see what we do."

The open house will include guided tours of the facility. A film will be shown about the new optical character readers and refreshments will be served, he said.

"The film shows a guy being mailed through the system, which is comical. It shows the newest equipment being used in the bigger post offices," Payte said.

He said the postal carriers are often too busy delivering mail to spend time with the people on their routes.

"People coming in can see their carrier and have time to visit. There will be plenty of employees to guide people around," he said.

Two hospitalized following accident

Three Big Spring residents were hospitalized after a Thursday morning accident.

Floyd Smart, 60 and Mary Jo Smart, 56, both of 1011 E. 21st, remain in stable condition at Scenic Mountain Medical Center, a nursing supervisor said today. Anita Rodriguez, 29, 538 Westover, was treated and released.

The accident occurred about 10:30 a.m. at the corner of West 16th Street and FM 700. Rodriguez's vehicle, attempting to stop, reportedly slid on wet pavement and struck the vehicle driven by Floyd Smart. Smart was cited for making an unsafe turn.

New troops will double American forces in Gulf

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense Secretary Dick Cheney said today new U.S. troop deployments to the Persian Gulf will include half of all American land forces in Europe. That means as many as 200,000 more Americans are being sent to the area.

DICK CHENEY

Cheney's remark to the Conservative Leadership Conference indicated that President Bush intends to have about 430,000 U.S. forces in the gulf area within weeks — matching the current level of Iraqi troops in and around Kuwait.

"The additional increment will give us the capacity to undertake offensive action should that become necessary," Cheney said.

He suggested in comments to reporters later that Bush's new order means the approximately 230,000 U.S. forces already there will not be rotating back to the United States early next year as Cheney had tentatively planned.

Asked whether the full contingent of American forces in the gulf would be there for the duration of the crisis, Cheney said, "That's correct."

There are now about 230,000 U.S. troops overall in the Persian Gulf. About 200,000 Army troops are stationed in Europe, most in Germany.

The administration is "transferring approximately half the forces now deployed in Europe to the Persian Gulf," Cheney said.

Bush said Thursday in announcing new deployments for Operation Desert Shield that he still hoped to get Iraq out of Kuwait without starting a war. But he said he wanted an "adequate offensive military option" in case United Nations economic sanctions and diplomatic pressures against Iraq prove futile.

Analysts said the move brought the United States closer to war with Iraq.

"The Iraqis, in effect, are being put on notice that they will be attacked" unless they withdraw from Kuwait under Bush's terms, said Frank Gaffney Jr., director of the Center for Security Policy and a former Pentagon official.

The scale of the additional U.S. troop deployments is enormous. Once the added forces are in place, America will have more troops in the gulf region than it had in Europe during the Cold War when the perceived enemy was a nuclear superpower. About one-third of the Army's worldwide force will be in the Saudi desert.

About 230,000 U.S. air, ground and sea forces now are in and around Saudi Arabia, and a coalition of other Western and Arab nations has put at least 100,000 troops in the gulf area. The Iraqi force in Kuwait and southern Iraq is Cold weather has hurt cotton yields

By PATRICK DRISCOLL
Staff Writer

Near freezing temperatures this week came a few weeks sooner than wanted and may decrease projected cotton yields by as much as 20 percent, said Howard County Extension Agent Ricky Spencer.

The cold temperatures will kill off the rest of the county's cotton crop, preparing it for stripping as soon as the cotton dries and the leaves fall off, Spencer said. But a later freeze would have enabled cotton bolls to develop more.

"It would have been a whole lot better if it would have been two or three weeks later," he said. "It will probably decrease yields anywhere from 15 to 20 percent."

An average of a bale-and-a-half per acre is expected but with some fields abandoned following a drought in June, this year's average countywide harvest will probably match the annual average of just under a bale per acre of those planted, Spencer said. "It'll be anywhere from under a bale to 2/3 bales an acre," he said of cotton fields still being tended.

There were approximately 90,000 acres of cotton planted in the county this year, said Rick Liles of the Agricultural Stabilization Conservation Service office in Big Spring. With bales weighing at least 500 pounds and the current average price per pound at .63-cents, according to Cindy Hopper of the Farmers Co-Op in Knott, the county could be looking at a total of about $28 million for raw cotton this year.

Conditions for above average yields in some fields were set by heavy rains this summer. No rain fell in June, but from July through September there was 9.94 inches of rain compared to the county annual average of 6.47 inches, according to a spokesperson with the Agricultural Research Station. So far this year the area has received 20.01 inches of rain. The average is 18.5 inches per year.

Farmers are now hoping the rains will stop because the cotton must be dry before it can be harvested, Spencer said. After the cotton is dead, farmers will wait until it defoliates before they strip it.

Farmers were poised to begin a majority of this year's harvest un-

Dam project should boost water quality

By BILL AYRES
City Editor

Officials with the Colorado River Municipal Water District have announced that construction on the district's largest water quality enhancement project will begin by the end of the month.

The announcement came at the pre-construction conference at the district headquarters Wednesday in Big Spring. Project Engineer, Chris Wingert, said work on the project is scheduled to begin Nov. 20.

Construction will be under the direction of T.L. James Company of Ruston, La. The CRMWD awarded the company the construction bid last month.

The first phase, to begin after Thanksgiving, will consist of clearing the site. This will involve moving about 1.4 million cubic yards of earth. The project will call for the use of 10 to 14 earth movers, working double shifts.

The project also includes the excavation of a core trench, up to 30 feet deep, at the dam site. The CRMWD hopes to have the entire project completed by November 1991.

"This will be a large holding pond to be used to capture non-potable water," said Joe Pickle, with the CRWMD. "It will help relieve the problem we have with the other two storage areas." The other two areas are full, allowing bad quality water to enter Lake Spence, Pickle added.

Joe Pickle, CMRWD

Once the project is completed, surplus water from the existing side storage reservoirs from streams above Lake E.V. Spence will be diverted through an existing pipeline system to the new 28,000-acre-foot reservoir.

"The water will be held in the storage areas to allow evaporation to take place," Pickle said.

A 1,890-acre site was acquired by the CRMWD in Mitchell County for the dam and reservoir. The site is five miles south of I-20 and five miles east of the Howard County line. An access road is being built to the site.

The 4,800-foot dam, being built across a draw, will contain 1.4 million cubic yards of dirt over the core trench.

"The cost of the project includes the purchase of the land and moving the power lines and pipelines in addition to the actual construction," Pickle said.

The cost is estimated to be in excess of $7 million.

Board postpones ladder change

By DEBBIE LINCECUM
Staff Writer

Big Spring school board members voted to postpone changes to the career ladder policy and to implement a long-range plan for smoke-free schools at their meeting Thursday.

About 30 teachers attended the first part of the meeting to express their dissatisfaction with the proposed change to the district career ladder policy. The proposal, the product of a special committee, would have made staying on the state-mandated ladder more difficult.

Assistant Superintendent Murray Murphy, in discussing the proposal, recommended that trustees continue their policy not to use local funds for the program. Teachers said the district needed to readjust its priorities.

"The career ladder is a way to reward teachers," said high school teacher John Hamilton.

"If you can purchase new band uniforms, build school board rooms like this... and spend money... to keep football fields green, you should not change (the ladder policy)... Give it a proportional amount of the school budget."

Texas State Teachers Association representative Kay Walling, who said she was speaking on behalf of the teachers, asked trustees not to "change the hoops these teachers have to jump through one more time."

"Look at your priorities," she said. "The teachers of this district, through me, are asking you not to consider what's legal but what's right, morally right."

Other teachers complained about the state-dictated evaluation process and a more difficult criteria for evaluations. Suggestions included cutting the athletic budget and raising taxes to fund the ladder.

Trustees voted 6-1 to postpone a decision on the ladder policy until the committee can meet again to develop an alternative solution. Member Viola Barraza, who voted against the postponement, said later that she had hoped to see the matter resolved at the meeting.

Trustees were unable to reach an accord on the non-smoking issue, voting 4-3 in favor of implementing the policy. Though almost every campus has a non-smoking area for teachers now, the measure would prohibit smoking on any school property, exempting Memorial Stadium and Blankenship Field.

Member John Arrick, speaking against the policy, said it would violate "individual rights."

"As long as there is a place where they can smoke so that it does not annoy others, I believe that is their right," he said.

Barraza and Don Baker voted against the policy as well.

Member Bobby Baker, speaking in support of the policy, said "smoke goes everywhere" and smoking areas would not be sufficient for preventing health hazards to others.

Enforcement was not discussed.

The plan will be implemented gradually, and smoking-cessation sessions will be offered to district employees this spring.

Smoke-free BSISD will begin August 15, 1991.

Charges force mascot change

FORT WORTH (AP) — After 23 years as the Southwest High School Rebels, students at the school have changed their mascot to the Raiders in an attempt to ease racial tensions.

Nearly all of the school's 1,900 students voted in Thursday's election to choose from among several suggested mascots.

The old Rebel mascot, thought to be a racist symbol, caused several scuffles between black and white students this fall.

Raiders became the new mascot by receiving 58 percent of the vote and beating out four other choices: Texans, Mustangs, Patriots and Stallions.

"I think this will unite us," principal Quince Fulton told a student committee that took nominations for the new mascot.

TSTA wants more money for teachers

AUSTIN (AP) — The state's largest teacher group says the elections were good news for public schools and wants to make sure that teachers get their share of any increased education spending.

"For the past few legislative sessions, TSTA has initiated and supported legislation that would require local school districts to 'pass through' to teachers specific amounts of percentages of all new state funds appropriated for education," said Olivia Besteiro, TSTA president.

"Teachers did not get the money. In far too many districts, banks got the money. Therefore ... TSTA and its members will be asking the next Legislature to make sure that the money it intends to be used to attract and retain top quality teachers is actually spent for that purpose," she said Thursday.

Employers to receive credit

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas employers will receive $300 million in unemployment compensation tax credits next year due to stable economic conditions in 1990, officials said.

The Texas Employment Commission announced Thursday that this is the first time employers will receive a tax credit under legislation that was passed in 1983.

The 1983 law requires the state to refund tax credits when the employer-financed unemployment compensation trust fund surpasses $1 billion. The TEC said the fund is projected to have $1.3 billion at the end of November.

Gov. Bill Clements said the refund shows the economy is stable. "This is a significant development," he said.

Texas priest faces indictment

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — A Roman Catholic Priest once accused of lying in the attempted murder trial of socialite Claus von Bulow who is now pastor of a North Texas church has been indicted on charges of stealing about $200,000 from his former church.

The Rev. A. Philip Magaldi, 54, "regularly skimmed money from the weekly church collections and embezzled funds from several parish accounts" using the money to buy lottery tickets, take vacations to the Virgin Islands and Montreal and give gifts to his friends, Attorney General James O'Neil said.

Magaldi is now pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church in Henrietta, Texas, near Wichita Falls.

State election losses a jolt to Republicans

AUSTIN (AP) — Besides losing the Governor's Mansion in the election, the Texas Republican Party lost the chance of playing a key role in 1991's biggest political game, redistricting.

"Redistricting is going to be very a difficult process for Republicans," said GOP boss Fred Meyer of Dallas.

Voters on Tuesday placed a Democrat, Ann Richards, back in the Governor's Mansion. They left Democrats in control of both houses of the Legislature, where congressional and legislative district lines will be drawn next year that will last 10 years.

Besides losing the governor's mansion, the GOP failed to make up any ground in the Texas Senate, where Republicans are outnumbered 23-8. In the House, GOP losses on Tuesday put the new Democratic majority at a slightly larger 94-56.

"We had hoped to take a giant step forward. Instead, we only took a small step," Meyer said. The GOP picked up two statewide offices for the first time, agriculture commissioner and treasurer. But neither had a role in redistricting.

Bob Slagle, Texas Democratic Party chairman, agreed that the election's outcome was good news for his party. "We needed the governorship," Slagle said, adding that it means Democrats "won't have to quarrel with an unfriendly Republican governor over redistricting."

The new boundaries will be drawn based upon the 1990 census. Texas gains three congressmen, for a new total of 30. State House and Senate lines also will be drawn.

Besides losing the governor's mansion, the GOP failed to make up any ground in the Texas Senate, where Republicans are outnumbered 23-8. In the House, GOP losses on Tuesday put the new Democratic majority at a slightly larger 94-56. The margin had been 90-60. The GOP also was hurt by Democrat Bob Bullock's defeat of Republican Rob Mosbacher in the race for lieutenant governor.

Had Mosbacher won, he would have presided over the Senate as it considered redistricting. The lieutenant governor also is a member of the redistricting board, which arbitrates disputes on legislative redistricting.

The board is made up of five state officials: the lieutenant governor, House speaker, attorney general, comptroller and land commissioner. All five posts will belong to Democrats.

Eye drops cause severe infection

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Tainted eye drops specially prepared by a pharmacist caused a severe infection that cost one woman an eye and similar infections in at least a dozen other people, doctors say.

After the woman whose eye had to be removed came in for treatment this week, surgeons at Allegheny General Hospital discovered the drops were contaminated by a bacteria, Dr. John Kennerdell, chairman of the hospital's ophthalmology department, said Thursday.

"Once this type of bacteria gains access to the inside of the eye it causes a very devastating infection," Kennerdell said. "That's why it's so dangerous."

The prescription eye drops prepared at Hieber's Drug Store by pharmacist and owner Joseph Kilkeary were designed to ease inflammation after cataract surgery.

"I've been selling these drops for years without a problem," Kilkeary said.

He said 20 to 25 customers bought the drops in October. They have been told to quit using them and return them to the pharmacy or their doctors.

Thirteen people were hospitalized for treatment in Pittsburgh, doctors said. One man who used the drops but shows no sign of infection was under observation.

Doctors removed the woman's right eye last week after antibiotics failed.

City bans cigarette dispensers

NEW YORK (AP) — New York City has taken another step to curb cigarette smoking. The City Council voted overwhelmingly to ban the sale of cigarette vending machines in most public places to keep minors from buying smokes.

Mayor David Dinkins, a former two-pack-a-day smoker, is expected to sign the bill into law. The council passed it 33-1 on Thursday.

The move makes New York the largest city in the country to restrict cigarette vending machines. Councilman Sal Albanese said. Salt Lake City and Minneapolis have enacted similar bans.

The city already prohibits the distribution of free cigarettes on the street and plans to phase out cigarette advertising on city-owned billboards, on taxis, at baseball stadiums and in the subways, said Councilman Joseph Lisa.

Multiple personality case ends

OSHKOSH, Wis. (AP) — A man convicted of sexually assaulting a woman who testified against him with six of her 46 personalities maintains she wasn't mentally ill and that she consented to have sex with him.

Mark A. Peterson, whom a jury Thursday found guilty of second-degree sexual assault, denied he knew the 27-year-old woman had a multiple-personality disorder and said he will appeal.

"I have been the victim for just having a fling with a girl," Peterson said. He faces up to 10 years in prison and a $10,000 fine during sentencing scheduled for Dec. 10.

"I still don't think she is mentally ill," Peterson said after the verdict.

CNN barred from airing Noriega's conversations

MIAMI (AP) — A federal judge barred the Cable News Network from broadcasting Manuel Noriega's taped conversations with his lawyers, saying the ousted Panama dictator's right to a fair trial on drug charges is in jeopardy.

Defense attorney Frank Rubino said he would demand that the case against Noriega be dismissed.

"We are absolutely shocked and horrified that the United States government would wiretap General Noriega and his lawyers engaging in the most sensitive of communications," Rubino said.

But Justice Department officials said the taping was routine, and that Noriega had known his calls would be monitored. A federal prison spokesman said it was up to Noriega to inform officials that he was talking with his attorneys so they would stop the recording.

U.S. District Judge William Hoeweler on Thursday told CNN it couldn't broadcast the tapes, made by prison officials, and demanded an investigation into how the network got them. He also ordered the taping stopped.

Attorney General Richard Thornburgh, in Tampa on Thursday, said U.S. officials want to find out how the tapes were leaked to CNN.

"It concerns us greatly that an apparent unauthorized use was made of these tapes," he said.

CNN accused the judge of exercising unconstitutional prior restraint and demanded an immediate hearing on the issue from the 11th Circuit Court of Appeals in Atlanta. No hearing was immediately scheduled by the appeals court, but Hoeweler scheduled another hearing in his court for late this afternoon.

Meantime, he told the news station not to broadcast, at least through today, any tapes that would interfere with attorney-client privilege rights.

"Because of our belief the order is unconstitutional, we will continue our coverage as we challenge this restraining order in the courts," said CNN President Tom Johnson.

Federal prosecutors told Hoeweler they haven't heard the tapes. Rubino was skeptical.

Gorbachev will sign treaty in Bonn

BONN, Germany (AP) — Soviet President Mikhail S. Gorbachev, arriving to sign a major treaty, received a warm welcome today from a nation grateful to him for letting the Berlin Wall and Iron Curtain collapse.

Gorbachev's visit coincides with the first anniversary of the opening of the Berlin Wall, an appropriate touch of symbolism because his reforms helped make it happen.

The Soviet president arrived at Cologne-Bonn airport at midday in an Ilyushin-62, and was met by a 27-man German military honor guard.

He gave a hearty wave as he stepped out of the plane and was greeted by German Foreign Minister Hans-Dietrich Genscher. Gorbachev immediately left for Bonn to meet with German President Richard von Weizsaecker.

The 20-year non-aggression treaty that Chancellor Helmut Kohl and Gorbachev were to sign in the evening aims to assist Gorbachev's financially strapped nation. Details on the magnitude of future German aid were expected to dominate their behind-the-scenes talks.

Kohl is grateful to Gorbachev for that and for his blessing of German unity, and has said many times Gorbachev should get help in mastering problems at home.

Church confesses role in apartheid

RUSTENBURG, South Africa (AP) — The Dutch Reformed Church joined other Christian denominations today in rejecting apartheid as a sin and confessed the church's role in implementing the system of legalized segregation.

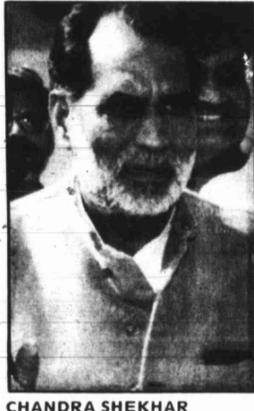

The Dutch Reformed Church, the main church of the Dutch-descended Afrikaners who control the government, had argued for decades that the Bible supported apartheid. That position isolated it from other denominations.

But at the end of a weeklong conference of 90 Christian churches, leaders of the Dutch Reformed Church joined in supporting a statement condemning church participation.

"We confess our own sin and acknowledge our heretical part in the policy of apartheid which has led to such extreme suffering," the joint statement said. "We denounce apartheid in its intention, its implementation, and its consequences as an evil policy."

CHANDRA SHEKHAR

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Socialist Chandra Shekhar, facing a nation bloodied by religious and ethnic strife, was named India's new prime minister today.

Chandra Shekhar, a dissident leader who helped topple Prime Minister V.P. Singh and his government on Wednesday, will be sworn in Saturday and will seek Parliament's endorsement by Nov. 20. President Ramaswamy Venkataraman announced.

The president said he chose Chandra Shekhar because he "has the strength to form a viable government" with the support of the Congress Party of former Prime Minister Rajiv Gandhi.

Venkataraman said he offered three other parties the chance to form a government.

Clinics are under gag rule

There is no conclusive abortion rights case on the Supreme Court's docket this year — the country can be grateful for that — but the dispute over the government's attempts to block even the discussion of abortion in federally funded family planning clinics is crucial enough.

The case arises from an attempt by the Reagan administration, since renewed by the Bush administration, to prohibit federally funded clinics from referring women to abortion services, from counseling them about abortion or even telling women about it. Two federal appellate courts have blocked implementation of the rule, but because another court upheld it, the state of New York and Planned Parenthood, which operates a number of the affected clinics, have taken it to the high court.

The stakes go far beyond the $135 million that the government allocates to fund family planning services. They involve free speech and good medical practice. The government argues, in the words of the solicitor general, that it is not "obligated to fund abortion-related services." But if it is going to fund family planning, as it emphatically should, then its prohibition on discussion of the full range of options is a demand that medical practitioners violate their ethical responsibility to provide full information and that the clinics practice consumer fraud. It's like funding public schools with the proviso that they don't teach evolution.

A lot of people are watching what the court will do — there's not likely to be a decision until June — because it may provide an indication of what Justice David Souter, its newest member, may later hold on abortion. But it ought to be watched even more closely for the way Souter and the court go on free speech. If the court upholds this gag rule, there's no telling in how many other sectors of American life federal money will talk louder than the First Amendment.

Paying tribute to a legendary horse

LEXINGTON, KY. — I hooked up with this ol' boy named Jim, who's from around these parts. I had four hours to kill before my plane so I ask Jim to show me some horse country.

I don't know a lot about horses. As a matter of fact all I know is how to slow one down. Bet on him. I'd been killed Saturday at Keenland. They had six races there and then we all went to Belmont in New York via television for the Breeders' Cup. Keenland had also offered wagering on that program.

I can't pick 'em live, and I can't pick 'em on TV. It was a tough afternoon financially.

Jim said, "I'll take you to Paris. I was born and raised there."

It was one of those brilliant fall Sunday afternoons. The trees were yellows and reds. The drive to Paris, Ky. — seat of Bourbon County — from Lexington, was maybe 20 minutes.

On each side of the two-lane road was farm after farm and fence after fence. There were stone fences and white fences. It looked a little like places I've seen in Scotland and Ireland.

We drove by where Jim grew up in Paris, and we saw the courthouse. Then we drove past the Paris train station, which is now a country eating place.

Jim had earlier recommended a lunch spot in Lexington, one of those fancy joints where they cook the tomatoes and serve the green beans nearly raw.

"You should have brought me here," I said to him. "That looks like a place that would have great fried chicken for Sunday dinner."

"You want some chicken?" Jim answered. "I'll call Mama and get her to fix you one."

"I filled up on raw green beans," I said.

We drove out of Paris and suddenly everything we saw on both sides of the road was Claiborne Farms.

Jim said his uncle had been working there for years so we drove through the stone gate and parked near the stallion barn.

"First thing you need to see is the graveyard," he said.

I didn't know they had graveyards for horses.

I walk a few yards from the car and I'm in a peaceful grassy spot with tombstones inscribed with such names as Gallant Fox.

And all of a sudden I'm standing at the grave of Secretariat. I know enough about horses to know I'm on hallowed ground.

What a horse. There was never a horse like this one. And there may never be another one.

"He got a hoof disease," Jim said, "and they had to put him down."

"How do they do that to a horse?" I asked.

"Lethal injection. It only takes seconds," he answered.

"The thing about Secretariat," he went on, "was they buried all of him. Usually, they just bury the head, the heart and the testicles."

"But they had a big oak casket for Secretariat, and they buried him in his colors."

Jim's uncle took us down to the stallion barn and brought down a few other stars, one of whom gets a $250,000 stud fee. I guess they would bury the testicles of a horse like that.

Before we left I went back to Secretariat's grave one last time. Another visitor had put a spray of fresh flowers on the brilliant grass that grows atop him.

"I guess a lot of people still love this horse," I said to Jim.

"We'd better get to the airport," he said.

My eyes were misting. Over a horse. A dead one. How silly, considering I had remained dry-eyed when Saturday's live nags had left my wallet in ruin.

The writer's art

Neither, nor and all that stuff

By JAMES J. KILPATRICK

Back to basics! And if there is anything basic about English composition, it is the rule that subject and predicate should agree in number. A plural subject takes a plural verb; a singular subject takes a singular verb. OK? Carry on.

This is from The Wall Street Journal: "Neither Rep. Dixon nor his press secretary were available . . ."

This is from The New York Times: "Neither Senator Dole nor Senator Domenici have given any public indication . . ."

This is from columnist Michael Novak: "Neither Oliver North nor Lawrence of Arabia are what anyone would call 'ordinary men.'"

Heavens to Betsy! A neither/nor construction demands a singular verb. Rep. Dixon was not available. His press secretary was not available either. Neither one was available. Dixon is singular; the secretary is singular. Let us keep them that way.

It sometimes is difficult to track down an elusive subject, especially when the subject and predicate wander off in different directions. This is from an Associated Press story on the execution of murderer Ted Bundy: "The 42-year-old law school dropout, whose bizarre mixture of intelligence, charm and homicidal blood lust were the subject of five books and a TV movie, also warned before his execution that there were others like himself."

The subject of the subordinate clause is "mixture," and "mixture" is a singular noun. Let us unite it with a singular verb: The bizarre mixture "was" the subject of five books.

This is from a letter of the American Bar Association to a new member: "A listing of some of the many benefits and services of the ABA are on the reverse side." It is irrelevant and immaterial that "benefits" and "services" are plural nouns. The subject of the sentence is a singular "listing."

Collective nouns cause problems. For one example, "number" can take either a singular or a plural verb. "The number of talented quarterbacks is small." But, "A number of talented quarterbacks are available."

In the same way, "couple" eludes a simple rule. The verb depends upon how the writer views the couple in question, as two independent beings or as one marital unit. Thus, "The couple were married in Hackensack and went to Trenton on their honeymoon." Surely it would sound odd to say that the couple was married and went on its honeymoon. Would "it" have signed a prenuptial agreement? But there is nothing wrong with, "The couple is now living in Newark." Let your ear guide you.

The British practice, with occasional exceptions, is to treat such collectives as "company," "committee" and "government" as plural nouns. In England the committee are divided and her majesty's government are not pleased. Here a committee often is divided and the Bush administration is rarely pleased.

In the absence of any pat rules on collectives, the best rule is a commonsense rule: If you're thinking of a group as a unit, use the singular. "As a class, the clergy is highly regarded." If you're thinking of a collection of individuals, use the plural. "At the church picnic, the clergy were visiting old friends."

Such nouns as "flock" and "variety" take the same treatment. On the eve of St. Agnes, wrote Keats, "silent was the flock in woolly fold." The image is of one unitary flock. But there's nothing wrong with, "Overhead a flock of geese were honking." The image is of individual geese, each honking its head off. In the Green-ville (S.C.) News, "A wide variety of imported beers are offered at Addy's." But variety is the spice of life.

Not long ago, Amanda Smith of Scripps-Howard wrote that she was tired of the "his or her" problem. She uses "they" as a generic referent: "Every child who turns in their homework gets a prize." She would approve a recent headline in the Rocky Mountain News: "Everyone has an opinion about their hysterectomy." A book catalog is promoting a how-to-write book "for anyone seeking to improve their skills."

It is quite true that respected writers once used "they" in this fashion, but I am not yet prepared to yield. Some extreme of sensitivity is reached when the use of masculine pronouns "damages the people's image of women." I don't believe it. In my book, every child still turns in his homework. Or, clumsily, his or her homework. How could one child turn in their homework? But unwitting offense may be easily avoided: "All pupils who turn in their homework . . ." Plurals have their uses. In this context they may be singularly effective.

Collect souvenir soil and your name is mud

DEAR ABBY: I collect dirt! Allow me to explain. We vacation mostly in the USA, and in our travels we've stopped to admire the view and have taken home a piece of that view, such as a handful of seashells, a flower or some dirt.

Dear Abby

Our son is in the U.S. Army, and we recently took him to the airport so he could catch his flight to South Korea, where he will be stationed for a year. Before he left, I asked him to send us a handful of soil (yes, dirt) sealed in a zip-locked bag. We have these tiny little jelly jars that I would like to fill with samples of dirt from all over the world.

Hubby says it's against the law to bring in dirt from another country. I could understand it if it were a ton or two, but a handful?

Please let me know if it's really illegal. — BETTY IN HESPERIA, CALIF.

DEAR BETTY: Margaret Webb, public information officer for the U.S. Department of Agriculture, Animal and Plant Health Inspection Services, says: "Your husband is correct. Even a handful of dirt can contain microorganisms and/or insects very harmful to our plant and animal life. Ecosystems vary around the world, and nature tries to keep a balance between plant and animal life. When dirt is transported to a new environment, it can create havoc beyond your wildest dreams."

Bottom line: There are very strict laws regarding bringing dirt into this country without a special permit. Respect them!

DEAR ABBY: My ladyfriend and I are supposed to be in love. We have been intimate and have considered a life together. There is, however, one obstacle.

She currently insists upon continuing a "just friends" relationship with four or five of her ex-lovers, including an ex-husband to whom she was married 10 years ago — for only one year. (No children.)

These relationships consist of Christmas correspondence, occasional phone calls and visits that include overnight stays. She says that in her previous social circles, this is considered normal behavior. In my circle, it is not condoned.

I am of a jealous nature, and insist that all such contacts with her ex-lovers stop as a requisite for a serious, long-term life together. What is the "norm" for the age-50 range of American society regarding this dilemma? And have you any advice? — CONFUSED

DEAR CONFUSED: The norm for Americans of any age who are supposed to be "in love and considering a life together" is to forsake all others.

And if your ladyfriend insists on continuing overnight stays with past lovers, I advise you to bid her farewell — unless you are prepared to demand that she be tested for AIDS (and other sexually transmitted diseases) before each of your own romantic encounters.

DEAR ABBY: I have long been a student of the Bible, but I cannot find a list of the seven deadly sins anywhere, and I am too embarrassed to ask my pastor. Please tell me where I can find them. — MIDWEST CHRISTIAN

DEAR CHRISTIAN: The seven deadly sins are not listed as such in any Bible. They can be found in the writing of St. Thomas Aquinas. They are: Envy, lust, greed, gluttony, sloth, pride and anger.

What teen-agers need to know about sex, drugs, AIDS, and getting along with their peers and parents is now in Abby's updated, expanded booklet, "What Every Teen Should Know." To order, send a long, business-size, self-addressed envelope, plus check or money order for $3.95 ($4.50 in Canada) to: Dear Abby, Teen Booklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, Ill. 61054.

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK — Several days before his recent death, noted religion statistician Constant H. Jacquet Jr. said of the long time decline in mainline Protestant membership: "It's turning."

He was ill at home at the time and didn't have at hand comparative figures to document his point. He suggested waiting until he got back to his office. But he didn't make it.

He succumbed to cancer that he thought he had overcome.

H. JACQUET JR.

Consequently, his annual compilation of religious data, the 1990 Yearbook of American and Canadian Churches, can be reported this time only without his further clarifying, analytical comments.

It shows that the latest U.S. membership figures for churches and synagogues has increased to 145.4 million from 143.8 million a year earlier, a gain of about 1.1 percent, or slightly outstripping the population growth of 1 percent.

That means active religious affiliation amounted to 58.7 percent of the American population, a proportion that had inched downward in recent years, but which this time was up fractionally.

While the total grew, including the two largest denominations — the 14.9 million Southern Baptists and 57 million Roman Catholics — membership in most mainline Protestant bodies continued to slip, but to a lessening degree.

That lessening was the basis of the "turning" comment by Jacquet, researcher at the National Council of Churches for 37 years and editor of its annual yearbook, the only comprehensive summary of American religious data.

Most mainline Protestant bodies have been losing members since the late 1960s, amounting to millions of inactives dropped from the rolls, but the steep losses of the '70s have moderated since the mid-'80s.

That leveling trend, furthered in the latest figures, was seen by Jacquet as presaging a turnabout in the long decline, although he didn't get a chance to detail the statistical pattern of the shift.

Jacquet, 64, had undergone surgery for lung cancer last summer and had returned to work, seeming to have overcome the problem. But recently cancer was found to have invaded his spine.

His death on Oct. 16 stilled a key voice in measuring the status of American religion for news media, other researchers, reference books and U.S. government departments.

Among the denominations still suffering slight losses in his latest compilation, the decreases this time were around 1 percent, often less.

It was only a fraction of that for larger denominations such as the 9 million United Methodists, 2.4 million Episcopalians, the 5.3 million-member Evangelical Lutheran Church in America and 2.6 million-member Lutheran Church in Missouri Synod.

However, the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.) dropped 1.25 percent to 2.9 million, the American Baptists fell 1.22 percent to 1.5 million and the United Church of Christ decreased 1.07 percent to 1.6 million.

The latest totals are for 1988, reflecting the regular two-year time lag in accumulating the combined figures. Several later reports from individual denominations show further fading of the prolonged shrinkage.

Whiled losses persisted for some denominations, others such as Southern Baptists and Roman Catholics stayed on the upgrade, as did most smaller evangelical denominations. That resulted in the overall increase outpacing population growth.

The overall increase in U.S. religious membership was in contrast to the total for Canada, whose inclusive membership dropped about 153,000 to 16.8 million.

The yearbook also cited other indications of greater religious activity.

These included Gallup Poll findings that weekly worship attendance rose to 43 percent of the population in 1989, up three percentage points from two years before. It means that about 107.5 million Americans attend worship services each week.

Teen-age attendance also reached a high mark of 57 percent, compared to 54 percent three years before.

Later 1990 Gallup surveys indicate 74 percent of Americans have made a commitment to Christ, up from 66 percent in 1986.

However, giving to American churches increased an average of only 3.5 percent, lagging behind the 4.4 percent inflation rate for 1988, resulting in decreased real income.

Jacquet, known as "Connie" to friends, had been working before his death at compiling figures for next year's yearbook, but associates without his long perspective or experience will have to finish the job.

"Over the years, reporters across the continent knew that Constant Jacquet was their best source for statistical information about American religion," said the Rev. J. Martin Bailey, the council's communication director.

"He carried an enormous amount of historical data in his head."

Church briefs

Women host monthly meeting

Women of First Church of God met Monday evening for their monthly meeting in the home of Anna Smith.

As a delegate to the 1990 WCG National Convention in Glorieta, N.M. Oct. 25-28, Anna gave the highlights enjoyed by the 2,000 women who were in attendance for the convention.

Betty Reagan, Mission/Resource coordinator, presented the third study on the Philippines, titled "Faith in the Struggle" written by Karen Helsel who is a former missionary to Thailand, and is now employed by the Board of Church Extension and Home Missions in Anderson, Ind.

The objectives of the study were to introduce the major religious backgrounds of the Filipino people and to learn more about the ministry of the women of the church in the Philippines.

The Philippines boast of being the only Christian nation in Asia. In the 20th century, religious tolerance and freedom have been more evident.

Women participate in every area of leadership such as preaching, teaching, visiting, and organizing social events as well as day care ministries and Bible schools.

Linda Lindell, Spiritual Life coordinator, used the scripture Ephesians 2:17, 18-20 for her worship. The worship center held a Bible and a lighted candle from which each lady lighted her candle and voiced a specific prayer for her Filipina sisters.

The next meeting will be Dec. 3 for a Christmas program at the parsonage.

Special Mass

A special Mass will take place at Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church, 1009 Hearn Street at 9:30 a.m. Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 22.

Donations of food will be taken to the altar during the offertory by those present. The food will be distributed to the needy by the St. Vincent de Paul Society.

Special music will be part of the observance with a prelude beginning at 9:15 a.m.

'Old-Time Religion Day'

The First Baptist Church of Westbrook will have an "Old Time Religion Day" Sunday at 10 a.m. This will be another of the church's Centennial celebrations.

The service will open with a hymn and prayer. Pledges will be given to the United States flag, Christian flag, and the Bible. Sue Pierce will sing "God Bless America." Also a special by Steve Manning will be presented. Several old-time hymns will be sung by the congregation, and there will be a time of testimonies.

After a 10-minute break, the worship service will begin at 11 a.m. Prayer will be given by Doug Barber, longtime deacon of the church. The Rev. Bob Manning will share a brief history of the church and tell of events the church has sponsored throughout its Centennial year. There will be a time of recognition of earlier members who are resident members and teachers and workers. Wayne and Sue Pierce will render special music, with the congregation joining together in singing other oldtime songs. The Rev. C.D. McEntire, retired pastor, of First Baptist Church of Abilene, will give a chalk talk message during the worship service.

Members are asked to dress "old-fashioned," women, "however," and men in overalls or blue jeans.

There will be lunch at the church following the morning service. The church will furnish the meat and drinks and the ladies are asked to bring the vegetables, salads and desserts.

CleaR-TV calls off boycott

TUPELO, Miss. (AP) — The executive committee of Christian Leaders for Responsible Television has called off a boycott of Burger King, only a month after it was invoked, saying the chain has decided to be more selective about shows it sponsors.

In previous monitoring, CleaR-TV had found the company helped sponsor two-thirds more sex, violence and profanity than the average advertiser. The Rev. Billy Melvin, chairman of CleaR-TV, said the company has promised to support traditional American values with its advertising dollars.

IMF building new home for neighboring church

By W. DALE NELSON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — The International Monetary Fund, which pumps billions of dollars into debt-plagued economies around the world, is taking on a project closer to home — building a new church for a small congregation that's been its neighbor since 1973.

Some time in the next few weeks, the IMF expects to close a deal to acquire the quarter-acre property of the Western Presbyterian Church, bringing to a close negotiations that began in the 1960s.

In return, the fund is buying a new site, a few blocks away, where it will build Western Presbyterian a new, slightly larger home with a kitchen for feeding the homeless.

It will move the church's English Gothic sanctuary, fieldstone by fieldstone and stained glass window by stained glass window, and rebuild it as part of the new structure.

Not only that, it will provide Western Presbyterian with an endowment, reported to be $4 million, to do such things as construct housing for the homeless and help two congregations in Ghana build churches.

All in all, counting acquisition costs and an $8.5 million construction budget, the deal totals around $22.5 million.

So how did a church with about 135 worshippers on a good Sunday come into such a bonanza?

One might say by being in the right place at the right time.

In the 1960s, the IMF, a specialized agency of the United Nations with the mission of stabilizing currency exchange, found itself short of space and in need of a new home.

It found the location it wanted, three blocks from the White House and next door to the World Bank.

"Since the block was residentially zoned at the time, the only way the IMF could get the bulk and density it wanted for an office building was to offer forth a plan that contemplated developing the entire block," said James B. Kaiser, IMF projects manager.

There was just one problem. The Western Presbyterian congregation didn't want to move from the block.

WASHINGTON — The Rev. John W. Wimberly Jr. stands in the sanctuary of the Western Presbyterian Church in Washington. The pastor and his sanctuary are to be moved at the expense of the International Monetary Fund, which needs the church's current location for office space.

The church, started in 1855, was already in its third home. Its first was a warehouse not far from the new site. After a few years there, the congregation built a new church across the street from its present structure. It moved to its current location in 1935.

"The sanctuary is gorgeous, and they didn't want to lose that," said the Rev. John W. Wimberly Jr., pastor of Western Presbyterian.

Also, they might have had to move out into the suburbs, where land prices are somewhat cheaper.

"There was considerable sentiment about the symbolic value of having the building located here, in the middle of what people call the Wall Street of the World," Wimberly said.

So the IMF proceeded to develop the rest of the block, finishing one phase in 1973 and the second 10 years later, with the church nestled into a U-shaped green space.

Meanwhile the fund's staff continued to grow. It now numbers about 2,000 from 100 countries. Since only 1,700 could be squeezed into the building, the agency paid an estimated $3 million a year to lease office space for the other 300.

"It came to our attention a couple of years ago that there had been some changes that would make it more favorable for us to

Man bolsters large exodus of Soviet Jews

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer
NEW YORK — When conditions looked threatening, Marvin Lender's parents left Poland in 1927 for America, escaping subsequent persecution and likely death under the Nazis. To him, something similar could happen again.

MARVIN LENDER

He's doing his utmost to avert the possibility. A wealthy, highly successful businessman, he has dropped it all to help fund history's biggest Jewish exodus — this time from the Soviet Union to Israel. "They're at risk," he said. "There seems so much that tells us we could be reliving history again. Enough Jews have died, 6 million in the Holocaust. We can't allow Jews to be killed again." Swift and still swelling in size, the immense immigration to Israel is being heavily supported by American Jews.

"We believe it's saving lives," said Lender, national chairman of United Jewish Appeal, which this year has raised an extra $450 million to help finance the huge resettlement.

"Never in history has there been anything as massive as this," he said, noting that 101,736 have moved to Israel so far this year. The number is expected to exceed 160,000 by year's end and to total a million through 1992.

That would increase Israel's 3.5 million population by almost a third. Another 40,000 Soviet Jews are being admitted annually to the United States.

"The political situation is so tenuous that we have to act quickly to get people out," Lender said in an interview. "As long as the doors don't close, we have that sense of urgency. No one knows what may happen tomorrow."

Lender of New Haven, Conn., has been in Israel five times this year and the Soviet Union three times.

He believes a majority of the Soviet's approximately 2 million Jews will want to leave.

"I don't see many wanting to stay there," he said, adding that the spread of wider Soviet freedoms has unleashed anti-Semitic groups and incidents, reflecting anti-Jewish attitudes embedded in Russian history.

"The good news is that the gates are open, and the bad news is that it has allowed hate groups to come out of the shadows," he said.

Asked if Jews had any obligation to stay there under their ancient biblical mandate to be a "light to the nations," rather than withdrawing into tiny Israel, he said:

"We have to look at realities. I don't think Jews should stay in a place where they're not wanted or it's dangerous. If they're not allowed to live as Jews, then that light is not just dimmed, but shut off."

The biblical responsibility is accepted as a permanent duty, he said, but to pursue it "we have to be able to express ourselves in an open environment."

He said that possibility remains clouded in the Soviet Union, gripped by economic distress and political turmoil in which hate groups such as Pamyat vilify Jews as scapegoats for problems.

"There is no question that a real struggle is going on in the minds of many Soviet Jews about whether to leave their country," Lender said. "It's been their home for hundreds and hundreds of years."

"You don't pick up and leave home unless there is a real reason."

In some cases, he said, it divides families, younger generations from the older. And strain is keen in leaving a familiar environment and going to a different land of different language and ways.

"They would stay where their roots are if they were not in danger, if they were allowed to live in peace as Jews," he said.

He added that the UJA-Federation Campaign also is providing funds for renewing and building Jewish community in the Soviet Union, where Judaism has been suppressed for 70 years.

NC-17 a facade for smut

NEW YORK (AP) — Some American church leaders say the movie industry is pulling a deceptive ruse on the public, making the bad look good by labeling the ugly with a pretty name.

Such is the general assessment by a broad range of churches, Protestant, Eastern Orthodox and Roman Catholic, of the new system under which previously X-rated movies now are rated NC-17.

Termining the change by the Motion Picture Association of America a surrender to "sexually exploitative material," officials of the U.S. Catholic Conference and the National Council of Churches said:

"It is an arrogant and ill-advised decision which deeply affects the public good. It was made in isolation, without public consultation. The change is neither in the public interest nor in the best interest of the industry...."

"Changing the name of the 'X' category does not change the nature of the material."

Southern Baptists, the largest denomination not in the council, also endorsed the joint protest. The Rev. Richard D. Land, head of that denomination's social-concerns agency, said:

"The change has all the appearances of watering down an effective wall that helped people stay away from pornographic materials."

Religious publications contended the change camouflages the nature of the formerly "X" category so movie theaters would be more apt to show such films.

It gives movie-makers a "respectable" category for their excesses," says the Rev. James M. Wall, editor of the ecumenical weekly, The Christian Century. "The restraint is removed."

Wall, a movie buff and chairman of the National Council of Churches' Media Ethics and Advocacy Committee, said the change basically is "about what kind of world our children will live in."

The Catholic Messenger, diocesan weekly in Davenport, Iowa, says the "marketplace now has more freedom than it had two weeks ago to disturb your children's growth."

The editorial adds that films of "sickening violence and the debased or irresponsible or glamorized fantasy use of sex" will now be "much more widely distributed and shown."

The church critics aren't advocating censorship or government curbs on films, warning that the change itself will provide ammunition for "those who already are calling for regulation of the media."

Man is happy with 'fountain of youth' experiment

WAUKEGAN, Ill. (AP) — Robert Bensing doesn't feel cheated by his brief flirtation with an age-reversing hormone that some fancy may be the doorway to a futuristic Fountain of Youth.

In fact, the 72-year-old retired chemist has found his joints no longer ache constantly with arthritis and his skin is firmer, giving him the appearance and vitality of a man much his junior.

"I feel a little more energetic," said Bensing, who relishes being called "son" by a friend about his age and now can spend more time gardening.

He stopped taking the hormone more than 1½ years ago, and doctors predicted the age-reversing symptoms of his therapy would fade within a few months.

"Theoretically, I lost all that, but I don't feel that I did," Bensing said recently at his rural Waukegan home. "Since the benefits didn't go away, I don't feel cheated. It was worth it. If it contributes to the advancement of medical knowledge, we don't feel cheated."

For a year, Bensing injected himself three times weekly with the human growth hormone. Within six months of the first treatment, he could unscrew bottle caps with ease, mow the lawn without tiring easily and sit through lengthy car trips — all of which would have been difficult months earlier.

Tests revealed the hormone treatments helped shrink body fat, restore lean body mass lost through aging and increase the thickness of Bensing's skin.

"I noticed right off he was doing things much faster," said Bensing's wife, Alice, 57. "He was more willing to go places and do things than before."

The growth hormone taken by Bensing and 19 other older male volunteers is a synthetic version of one produced naturally in humans. As one ages, the natural production of the hormone fades and eventually stops, researchers have learned.

Daniel Rudman, an endocrinologist at the Medical College of Wisconsin in suburban Milwaukee and director of the experiment, said researchers have determined the hormone injections reversed aging in the body composition of elderly men by as much as 20 years.

Rudman and his fellow researchers reported this summer in the New England Journal of Medicine that the hormone increased lean body mass in patients by 9 percent and thickened skin by 7 percent. It does not, however, affect faltering eyesight, hearing loss or degeneration of brain cells. The improvements strictly involved the patient's body mass.

The hormone, once only available by extraction from human corpses, now is produced through genetic engineering. But regular treatment costs $14,000 a year for adults.

Experts warn it is too soon to determine the severity of side-effects or whether the hormone could be produced cheaper and more readily.

Bensing, one of the first volunteers for the study, said the hormone lessened the crippling effects of arthritis, prompted a quicker recovery from a cataract operation and appeared to make a crushed spinal disk a bit sturdier.

China's oldest model is in prime of life

BEIJING (AP) — Xu Xuejing looks much like other plump Chinese grandmothers in gray cotton slacks and button-up sleeveless blouse, her steel-gray hair pulled severely back in a knot at the nape of her neck.

And that's just the idea for China's oldest fashion model.

Due to convention and lack of choice, older Chinese women tend to favor almost identical outfits — white tunics or blouses, black or gray baggy pants, earrings and severe haircuts or buns.

They are often elegant in their simplicity but rarely fashionable.

Beijing's debut into world fashion as a major textile exporter, however, has brought with it a growing sense of style for Chinese women.

Designer Lu Shiyang established the Beijing Fashion Model Team for Middle-aged and Elderly People in 1987 after noticing during a visit to Japan that older Japanese women continued to care about fashion long past 40.

"Older people here tend to wear black, white, gray and blue. We look like old feudal grandmothers," said Mrs. Xu, 73. "It's not that we don't love beauty, but we just don't dare to make ourselves beautiful."

Mrs. Xu, the daughter of a wealthy Shanghai industrialist, has survived world war, civil war and revolution. During the 1966-76 Cultural Revolution, she and her husband, who comes from a similar family background, were branded enemies of society.

Through it all, she retained the refinement of her upbringing — an asset that helped make her a fashion model at 70, which she decided to try after a daughter saw an ad in a newspaper, she said.

After she retired from teaching music at 55, Mrs. Xu said, "I would just lay on the bed day after day."

Getting out and making new friends has given her a new lease on life, she said.

"My legs and eyes are bad," she said. "I'm old and ugly. But my heart is young."

Hucksters fill mail boxes of elderly

WASHINGTON (AP) — Older people are being warned against companies that offer worthless "protection" for their Social Security benefits and promote other schemes that essentially provide "nothing for something."

A senior consumer alert issued by the American Association of Retired Persons in cooperation with the National Association of Attorneys General says the results promised in mailings that often resemble government communications are anything but guaranteed.

"Instead, they are schemes that provide the consumer with nothing for something," the consumer advisory said. It says the misleading advertising in the mailings generally falls into one of the following categories:

- Misrepresenting the company as a U.S. government agency.
- Charging for services the Social Security Administration provides for free.

- Selling so-called "required" items such as laminated Social Security cards.
- Using scare tactics to spur fund-raising efforts, suggesting, for example, that failure to donate will prevent the group from lobbying to "save" Social Security benefits.
- Conducting "highly suspicious" sweepstakes contests to lure older consumers into buying other services.

The advisory noted that there are companies operating nationwide that offer "protection" for federal benefits.

"Without commenting further on the quality or honesty of their services, it is important to note that none of these companies is affiliated with a government agency, and that most are private, profit-making companies," the alert said.

The Social Security system provides free to anyone on request a personalized statement of earnings and provides a method for correcting errors.

Some of these companies employ outrageous scare tactics in soliciting business — such as warning that an illegal alien may be using your (Social Security) number to work illegally in this country or that someone may be fraudulently collecting benefits meant for you.

Another approach offers to help a senior citizen apply for Social Security benefits for an unnecessary $15 fee.

Still another offers a gold-embossed, plastic laminated "lifetime" Social Security card, claiming it can be used for check cashing.

The air bag in your car won't inflate unless necessary — where the impact is comparable to hitting a brick wall at 10 to 12 miles an hour. Your collision coverage usually covers replacement cost.

Do you own a boat or a plane? Some insurers set rates according to your skills in handling it. All recommend recurrent training for pilots, and the Coast Guard Power Squadron course for boat owners.

Some auto makers and insurance companies are willing to bet your seat belt will protect you in case of accident. They offer to pay extra benefits if you are injured or killed while wearing a seat belt.

The easiest way to prepare a home inventory is with the help of video-tape. Describe each item as you shoot, zooming in for model names and numbers. Store the tape with other records in a safe-deposit box.

Your auto policy covers your car, plus the spare tire in the trunk. But other belongings kept in the car are not. Your homeowner's policy will usually extend to any personal property stolen from the car.

The Menace lives in Wichita

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — He may have terrorized Mr. Wilson for four decades, but officials of Wichita are glad to have Dennis Mitchell, a.k.a. the Menace, as a neighbor.

"I had no idea he lived here, but he sure is welcome," Mayor Bob Knight said.

Cartoonist Hank Ketcham reveals in his illustrated autobiography "The Merchant of Dennis the Menace," that the strip's characters — including pal Joey, dog Ruff and nasty ol' Margaret — have been hiding in Wichita since the strip began in the 1950s.

"I've no idea why Wichita," said Deborah Sloan, publicity director for Abbeville Press in New York, which published the 250-page book. "Maybe he's been to Wichita."

Ketcham writes in the book that the Mitchells live in a "two-story, three-bedroom fixer-upper on the outskirts of Wichita."

Before the book was released in September, readers of the comic strip, which is published in more than 1,000 newspapers, had been left to assume Dennis terrorized Anytown, USA.

Gene Dickinson, spokesman for the Wichita Area Chamber of Commerce, said Dennis and his gang won't boost the city's Census numbers, but they'll be a boon to the city's image.

"Dennis' celebrity status is pretty rarefied air," Dickinson said Monday. "He's an institution. And I mean, he's here living, breathing and sleeping — so to speak — in Wichita."

Monster lobster compared to Liz

DETROIT (AP) — Mimi, the 17½-pound lobster described as the Elizabeth Taylor of crustaceans, died of natural causes days after being shipped to her new home — at a restaurant. She was 20 to 100 years old, officials said.

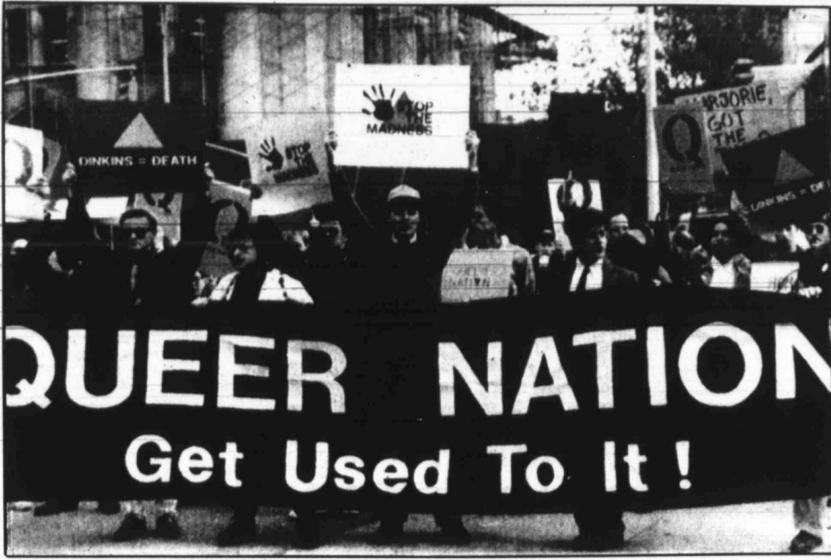

Mimi, captured last week off the Maine coast and flown to Detroit, died Sunday in the tank at Carl's Chop House, which paid $320 for the huge lobster.

"She had quit moving. I picked her up. She still didn't move," said Barry Hornecker, executive chef at Carl's.

So he chilled and poached Mimi and began making plans for a feast.

"Mimi was like Elizabeth Taylor. She was always beautiful," said Jim Richards, owner of the Long Wharf Lobster Co., which flew the lobster to Detroit.

Although Mimi was a lot bigger than the 1½-pound average lobster, she wasn't the biggest. Earlier this year, Florida's Sea World adopted a 19-pound lobster, whose age was estimated at 100 years, from a grocery store in Oklahoma.

NEW YORK CITY — Members of the gay activist group, Queer Nation, rally outside New York's City Hall last month to protest what they say is Mayor Dinkins' and the police department's inaction on violence against gays.

Militant gays begin to organize

NEW YORK (AP) — It was a quiet night at King Tut's Wah-Wah Hut bar — if quiet is the word for an East Village saloon where tattooed toughs gather to booze, play pool and listen to heavy metal.

Gradually, a very different crowd filtered in. They wore T-shirts with the legend "Queer Nation" emblazoned over a map of the United States, and settled in under the ultraviolet-lit painting of a skull on fire.

A beefy pool player was about to take a shot when he noticed a pair of the newcomers standing beside him. His jaw dropped.

The two men were kissing, mouth to mouth.

"Oh no! Oh no!" the man with the cue cried, retreating in revulsion to the other side of the table. "Stop that."

They ignored him. This was why they had come — to agitate, to confront people they blame for an increase in attacks on homosexuals. They are Queer Nation — one of several militant gay organizations which have discarded polite persuasion in favor of grab-them-by-the-lapels defiance.

There are Queer Nation chapters in San Francisco, Los Angeles, Boston, Detroit, Philadelphia, Providence, Toronto, Boulder, Colo., and Ithaca, N.Y. Four-hundred people attend bi-weekly meetings in New York.

Where groups like the Gay Men's Health Crisis responded to AIDS by lobbying for help and by providing services to sufferers, the new generation — ACT-UP, the AIDS Coalition to Unleash Power — takes to the streets.

ACT-UP has thrown bagels and noodles at a hotel where President Bush was appearing, blocked Wall Street, disrupted services in St. Patrick's Cathedral — all protests against what it claims is political, business and religious indifference to the epidemic.

It is "a whole new attitude," said Randy Shilts, a national correspondent for the San Francisco Chronicle and author of the critically acclaimed account of the AIDS crisis, "And the Band Played On."

The new militants are "rebellious against straight society but also against older gay people," said Shilts, 39.

"The newcomers become disappointed in how ossified the old groups are" and take their own action, said Jim Jasper, an assistant professor of sociology at New York University.

"We are breaking down the barriers of unspoken segregation," said Queer Nation spokesman Jay Blotcher.

Queer Nation's founders were active in ACT-UP, and remain members. "We felt that there were other issues, such as the increase in violence against gays and lesbians, that had to be addressed," said co-founder Alan Klein.

Two of the four men who helped found Queer Nation had themselves been victims of gay bashing, and Klein said the group was formed because the men felt there was no organized response to attacks on homosexuals.

"Our message is gays and lesbians will no longer be silent victims," Blotcher said. "We are here and we're a force to be reckoned with."

Social mavericks protect their image

NEW YORK (AP) — You know those people who seem to say and do whatever they want and ignore what others think? A new study says most of them actually pay more attention to the rest of us than they let on.

Researchers caught some of these social mavericks in the act of altering their stated beliefs when they thought other people considered them too conformist.

In short, they chose to appear independent rather than really be independent.

That process may be unconscious and it is certainly not devious, said psychologist Barry Schlenker of the University of Florida in Gainesville.

"Whenever we're in the presence of others, we wittingly or unwittingly find it in our interest to describe ourselves in particular ways to create a good impression, an impression that we desire to create," Schlenker said.

Other psychologists disagree, he said. They say that while some people tailor their words and deeds to make an impression, others are more autonomous, acting on their inner beliefs and tuning out the opinions of others.

Schlenker and colleague Michael Weigold put this apparent independence to the test. They report the results in October's issue of the Journal of Personality and Social Psychology.

They studied 94 University of Florida students who had scored high or low on a test that measures, in part, independent-mindedness.

First, the students completed an opinion questionnaire that ranked how strongly they agreed or disagreed with particular statements about such topics as religion and affirmative action. They also completed a questionnaire about personal interests.

In a later session, they were randomly split into two groups and told they were about to meet another student. One group was told that this person considered them conformist because of their answers on the personal interest questionnaire. The other students were told they had been judged independent.

Then the students were handed another opinion questionnaire, which duplicated some items of the first one. They were told that its asterisk markings indicated which responses were given by most other students.

In fact, this was bogus. For half the students, chosen randomly, the markings made it seem that their own opinions largely followed campus norms. For the others, their opinions were made to look quite different.

The students were then asked to fill in this questionnaire, and told that the person they were about to meet would scrutinize it.

As a result, some students faced this situation:

You consider yourself independent, but you're about to meet somebody who thinks you're a conformist. Now you find out he's right. If you fill out this new questionnaire honestly you'll affirm that offensive judgment, but you can look autonomous again if you shade the truth a little.

As a group, people with that dilemma changed their expressed opinions away from those they thought were conformist.

Colorado City may hold special elections

 Staff Writer

COLORADO CITY — The first City Council elections from single districts may be held in a special election Jan. 19. Two positions, one a minority district, would be up for election as the result of two resignations within five weeks.

The City Council, faced with one councilman moving and another bogged down with other commitments, on Thursday discussed voting on an ordinance, to set up the special election to fill these vacancies, at their next regular meeting Nov. 13, said Mayor Jim Baum.

"According to the city charter, we shall call an election when two or more vacancies occur on the City Council," he said.

The two new councilmembers will come from single-member districts, which were formed as the result of a minority voting rights lawsuit filed in December by the League of United Latin American Citizens. The result of which called for single-district elections on the first Saturday in May.

Regular elections were cancelled this May as a result of the suit and all six City Council positions and the mayor, which will remain at-large, will be up for election, according to the agreement. Baum said lawyers on both sides recently agreed that the special election would be from single districts as well. The two positions will again be up for election in May.

The City Council, at Thursday's special meeting, assigned each councilmember to a district. The two districts where no councilmembers live were assigned to resigning councilmembers Eric White, 32, and Dee Hearn. Neither lived in those districts, Baum said.

Hearn, who resigned Oct. 9 to take care of the three-year-old child of her son who was deployed to Saudia Arabia, was given District 1 on the west side of the city, which has a majority of Hispanics.

White, who has accepted a job with an oil company in Quitman, was given District 6 on the east side. That district, as well as the other four, have white majorities. The resignation of White, the only minority on the Council, was accepted at the meeting Thursday.

The other councilmembers were assigned to the districts in which they live, Baum said. Mayor Pro-Tem Bob Riley was given District 5 on the northeast side; Rex Thackerson has District 2 on the southeast side; Gary Redwine has District 3 in the west-central area of the city; and Brian Bassham has District 4 in the center of town.

The City Council decided Thursday to make districts 1, 2 and 5 one-year terms and districts 2, 3 and 4 and the mayor two-year terms starting in May, after which all positions will be two-year terms, with an election held every year.

Local LULAC Director Oscar Ortiz said Thursday there has already been some interest expressed by Hispanics who may run for a City Council position.

"We're going to have plenty of candidates for it," he said Thursday after the Council meeting.

some of the county's best yields, Spencer said. Shaw said some isolated spots there have produced more than three bales an acre, including 72 bales in one 20-acre field.

Meanwhile, the lows through Tuesday are expected to be slightly higher than the near-freezing temperatures this week, with temperatures in the upper 30s, the NWS meteorologist said. The highs should be in the 60s and 70s.

Temperatures this week hit 33 degrees, just one degree above freezing, during the nights of Wednesday, Monday and Sunday, Research Station records show. Last night's low was 35 degrees, while Tuesday's was 34. The only freeze this year was the night of Oct. 21.

Spencer said the freeze killed some cotton and this week's temperatures will kill the rest.

Blame for career ladder hassle rests in Austin

State Rep. Troy Fraser said that blame for Big Spring ISD's Career Ladder woes lies with Austin lawmakers. The program, though mandated, is not fully funded, he said.

Fraser said he would support abolishing the program altogether. Sen. John Montford said he is undecided on the issue.

Both agreed the issue will come up in the next legislative session, set to start in January.

"I feel confident we will address the problem as we go into this session," Montford said. "But at this point, I am reluctant to take a position." He said he is in the process of discussing the ladder with local estimated at 430,000.

Bush and Pentagon officials refused to disclose specific numbers of weapons and soldiers in the gulf region. But additional Army forces being brought in from Germany will more than double the number of U.S. tanks in Saudi Arabia, to about 2,000, judging from organization charts and estimates by Army sources.

The Pentagon estimates that Iraq has about 3,500 tanks in and around Kuwait.

Bush said he hoped Iraqi President Saddam Hussein viewed the stepped-up U.S. deployments to the gulf as evidence that the Western and Arab coalition arrayed against him was serious about using military force if diplomatic and economic pressures fail.

"If this movement of force is what convinces him, so much the better," Bush said. He added later, "When he surveys the force that's there... he will recognize that he is up against just a foe that he can't possibly manage militarily."

"I am concerned that the administration is moving to establish an offensive capacity in advance of a U.N. resolution authorizing offensive action," said Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. He said the international trade embargo against Iraq has not had "a decent chance to produce results."

The Marines are sending the 2nd Marine Expeditionary Force from Camp LeJeune, N.C., which includes roughly 45,000 men and is about equal to the Marine unit now in the gulf. In addition, the Marines are deploying the 5th Marine Expeditionary Brigade from Camp Pendleton, Calif., with at least 5,000 men, and the four-ship 1st Maritime Prepositioning Ship Squadron from Norfolk, Va.

That doubles the size of the Marine commitment to Desert Shield and taps virtually all the Marine combat power available in the United States, according to senior Marine Corps officials.

The Marines also will have a few thousand men aboard a group of Navy ships that form a specially tailored amphibious assault unit to be deployed from San Diego, Calif. One such amphibious unit already is afloat in the gulf. Together they could be used to launch an assault on Kuwait City, where Western hostages are being held.

Bush ordered the Navy to send three aircraft carrier battle groups to the gulf area to join the three — the USS Saratoga, the USS Midway and the USS John F. Kennedy — that already are there. He did not say which carriers would be added.

The Navy also is sending the USS Missouri, a World War II-era battleship equipped with 16-inch guns, Tomahawk cruise missiles and nearly 2,000 crew members. One battleship, the USS Wisconsin, has been in the gulf since late summer.

The Army is transferring the equivalent of about 2 1/2 armored divisions from Germany, plus command units, and the famous "Big Red One" 1st Infantry Division (Mechanized) from Fort Riley, Kan.

For the first time in the crisis, the Pentagon also ordered combat units of the Army National Guard to active duty.

 City of Big Spring worker Jackie Johnson wheels a piece of asphalt away from a repaired water line break before new asphalt is laid down. A cast iron bell joint was the culprit for the 12-inch water line break that occurred near the FM 700-Goliad Street intersection Thursday morning, closing Goliad until mid-afternoon.

Officials give tentative OK to evolution in texts

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas education officials gave preliminary approval to science textbooks that teach evolution, but a longtime clash with creationists continued.

The State Board of Education Thursday asked its staff to look into whether a reference in some of the books, which says human embryos have gill slits, was accurate.

The board, meeting as a committee, tentatively approved the biology books, striking a blow to religious fundamentalists who say the texts don't treat creationism as an equally valid idea.

A final vote was set for Saturday.

Friday Football Forecast

Compiled by Herald Sports Staff

Big Spring (4-0, 6-1-1) at Andrews (3-1, 5-3)

The biggest game of the season for both teams. If the Big Spring Steers win, they clinch their second consecutive district title. If Andrews wins, it would be tied for the district lead.

Now matter how badly Andrews coach W.T. Stapler whines, the Mustangs always have a good team. This year is no different. It hasn't been pretty, but the Mustangs have found ways to win.

On the other hand, the Steers have rolled through district in relative ease. Whenever troubles arise, the Steers defense answers the call.

Andrews is a run-oriented team; the Steers play their best against the run, but how the small Steer defense holds up against Andrews' big line, is a question.

Coach Stapler knows this is for all the marbles, and he's going to pull out all the stops. He'll have his team high as a kite.

Likewise, Steers coach David Thompson will have his troops just as intense. It will be another toe-to-toe confrontation.

The Steers will have to scrap to earn it, but they'll get down and dirty just like the Mustangs.

A. Jermaine Miller TD is the difference.

BIG SPRING 21, ANDREWS 14

Borden County (4-0, 6-3) at Highland (1-3, 3-6)

The end of a marvelous regular-season journey by new coach Bobby Avery and his Borden County Coyotes.

Not many gave the Coyotes much of a chance of finishing out of the lower division of the district. For the Highland Hornets, it's been a year full of struggle.

Borden County has its confidence up, and Avery isn't going to let them lose their intensity.

Plus three Jimmy Rios touchdowns will help.

BORDEN COUNTY 55, HIGHLAND 20

Coahoma (4-2, 6-3) at Ozona (4-2, 4-5)

This will be one of the hardest-fought pride games around. Both the Coahoma Bulldogs and Ozona Lions would be going to the state playoffs in any other district — not District 6-2A.

The game is to see who gets bragging rights for third place.

The Coahoma Bulldogs have been playing very well the past month. The biggest improvement comes from the offensive line, and it helps to have a hard-running running back like Shane Walker.

The Lions have speed, and sooner or later they'll burn you. They'll burn the Bulldogs a couple of times, but it won't be enough.

A last minute, two-point conversion does the trick for the Dogs.

COAHOMA 22, OZONA 21

Wellman (2-2, 6-3) at Grady (3-1, 6-3)

A battle between a couple of bad Wildcats.

Grady must win this game to have a chance at the state playoffs. Wellman has to win and hope for somebody else to help them have a shot at the playoffs.

All year long Grady has been scrappy. The Wildcats aren't the most methodical six-man team around, but they're effective. Wellman places all of its stock in Wade Rowden. Grady has a few more weapons and the home field advantage.

Another trip to the playoffs for Grady.

Forsan (0-4, 1-8) at McCamey (2-4, 3-6)

A legitimate chance for either the Forsan Buffaloes or McCamey Badgers to end a long season on a high note.

Forsan is scrappy, but the Buffs just don't have the numbers or the maturity right now. The Badgers have some talent, but they're beset by injuries.

The home field advantage tells the difference in this one.

MCCAMEY 28, FORSAN 24

Sands (4-0, 9-0) at Klondike (3-1, 6-3)

If the Sands Mustangs win this one, they'll have accomplished the goal they set out to do — go through regular season play with a perfect record.

If the Klondike Cougars can pull off the upset, they could throw the district race into a three-way tie.

The Cougars are loose and determined, but Sands just has too much firepower. Another district championship for the Mustangs.

SANDS 40, KLONDIKE 20

Eldorado (1-5, 4-5) at Stanton (1-5, 1-9)

A pride match between two lower division ballclubs. The Eldorado Eagles are big and slow afoot, and the Stanton Buffalos are small and quick.

This time quickness will win out over strength. The Buffs end on a winning note.

STANTON 20, ELDORADO 14

Greenwood (2-2, 7-2) at Colorado City (2-2, 4-4-1)

Another pride encounter to see which team will finish third in the district. On paper, the Greenwood Rangers have the upper hand, but the Colorado City Wolves have played their best when the odds were the strongest against them.

Besides, the Wolves haven't been beaten at home this year. Again, it's Robbie Smith to the rescue.

Mimi Regalado is getting to be an old hand at state cross country meets.

Saturday the Big Spring senior will be competing in her third state meet Saturday at Georgetown. There is one main difference between this trip the the previous two — she's not satisfied with just being there.

Mimi qualified for state her freshman and junior years. Her freshman year she ran a 13:27 over the two mile course and finished 27th. Last year she ran 17 seconds faster and finished 30th.

Big Spring cross-country coach Randy Britton says Mimi has a different attitude approaching the meet. "The previous two times, just making it to state was her goal itself," said Britton.

Regalado agreed. "My freshman and junior year I was just glad to be there," she said. "I was just excited to go there and run. Now I'm not satisfied with just being there. I wanted to compete; I want to finish higher and break my school record."

Regalado's school record is 12:38. Britton thinks she has a legitimate chance to run that on the hardest course she'll run this season.

"She ran 21 seconds faster at district this year than she did last year, that indicates she's a lot stronger," said Britton. "I'd like to see her break 12:38, which is realistic goal on such a tough course. That would probably put her in the top 20."

Britton feels she has a good chance of reaching that goal if she attacks the mammoth first hill at the Georgetown course. "You start off going up a steep incline the first 500 meters. She was hurting after that big hill; she didn't realize that everyone else was hurting too," Britton said.

Regalado is confident the steep incline won't get her down this time. "Coach Britton had told me to take the hill good and I did," she said. "After that I thought I was the only one tired, and I gave up. This year I'm going to take the hill good, and get a pace going. After that, my goal is to pass whoever I can in front of me."

Regalado has made remarkable strides for someone who was a sprinter in junior high. She is one of the few runners who has endured the rigorous training of cross country for four years. The only other female runner to do that was Rocky Alivar, who graduated last year.

It was words of wisdom from older sister Yvette, who also ran cross country, and taking a logical look at the situation, that prompted her to choose cross country.

"I wanted to be in some sport; I ran the relays in junior high and I played volleyball, but I guess I wasn't too good. My sister (Yvette) told me I wasn't any good in volleyball, so I decided to try cross country; she was in it. I never had run distance before," she explained.

Through hard work and Britton's tutoring, Regalado became a force in the cross country ranks. Through all the meets she's competed in, she says she still gets nervous before each race, especially at state. "I usually go and sit by myself. Coach Britton is always telling me to loosen up."

Britton knows his Regalado will conclude her prep cross country career with an intense performance. "I told her when she walks away Saturday, know you did the best you could do, that's all you can hope for," said Britton.

Big Spring Lady Steers senior Mimi Regalado will be competing at the state cross country meet in Georgetown Saturday. Regalado will be making her third trip to the state competition.

Regalado said that's the logic that has kept her in the sport for four years. "I think anyone can try cross country," she said. "I'm not saying it's easy, because it's a lot of hard work. But if someone will get into the sport, they'll improve. Coach Britton has never asked us to win at all costs, just go out and do our best."

Regalado will run at 12:30 p.m. Coahoma's Sarah Hanks will run in the girls AA division starting at 10:50 a.m. Stanton's Jeremy Stallings will compete in the boys AA division starting at 11:10 a.m.

Mets wonder how to replace Strawberry

NEW YORK (AP) — For the New York Mets, Darryl Strawberry is a memory. He plans to make sure they never forget, though.

A day after Strawberry signed a five-year, $20.25 million with the Los Angeles Dodgers on Thursday, the Mets were mapping an uncertain future.

Vince Coleman? Brett Butler? Tim Lincecum?

All three outfielders are under consideration as GM Frank Cashen plans to turn the Mets from a team with power to a team with speed and defense.

"We've been talking about trades and we'll also re-evaluate what free agents are out there," Cashen said. "We'll maybe look to restructure our outfield, to look for more speed and not wait for the home run so much."

Cashen and Strawberry didn't part the best of pals.

"At the time that we signed him (in 1980), and after watching him for a year, he had more potential than any ballplayer I ever saw. I don't think that he's ever reached his potential," Cashen said.

Said Strawberry: "If 37 home runs and 108 RBIs isn't playing up to your potential, I don't know what is."

"They really don't have to worry about that anymore," he said. "They're going to have to live with that and go out and sign themselves a Supermen."

The Mets are left with the problem of how to replace baseball's premier left-handed power hitter. They also have to do some public relations work — and quick.

Strawberry's defection brought immediate reaction in New York. At the Mets' main souvenir store in Manhattan, Strawberry shirts were selling even faster than usual. Local radio talk shows were jammed with calls, most fans saying the Mets made a mistake to let their star get away.

"I don't say that you can replace that kind of talent overnight, but I think that we have enough resources to win without Darryl," Cashen said, "and I think we have a chance to even be a better team and organization within a couple of years than if we were with him."

The immediate puzzle for Cashen and senior vice president Al Harazin is how to replace Strawberry's power and popularity.

"I don't think the New York Mets appreciated Darryl Strawberry for the last seven years," the outfielder said during a news conference at Dodger Stadium on Thursday. "They kind of left the door open for me to leave. Frank Cashen and Al Harazin didn't really show too much interest, and that speaks for itself."

The Dodgers were free to talk dollars with Strawberry on Monday, and it didn't take him long to add it up.

Strawberry will receive a $1.5 million signing bonus from the Dodgers and be paid $3.5 million in 1991, $3.75 million in 1992, $3.5 million in 1993, $3 million in 1994 and $5 million in 1995. The Mets' final offer was $15 million for four years.

Hawks hold off fast closing Roadrunners

MIDLAND — The Howard College Hawks withstood a furious Angelina Roadrunners second half rally and held on to a 120-117 victory in the opening round of the Chap Classic Thursday afternoon at Chapparral Center.

Behind the hot outside shooting of Harvey Petty, the Hawks' high-powered offense raced to an 64-52 halftime lead, and stretched it to 14 early in the second half. But the Roadrunners battled back and made a game of it. In fact, the Roadrunners tied the game at 112-112 late in the contest.

Howard coach Steve Green said the reason Angelina got back into the game is because of Howard turnovers. "We turned the ball over 34 times. Anytime you turn the ball over 30 times, you're not going to get many shots," said Green. "They pressured our guards; we made some freshmen mistakes at the point. But our sophomores came through, and Ted Barry hit a key basket."

Lady Hawks topple LCC Lady Chaps

LEVELLAND — The Howard College Lady Hawks turned loose their fullcourt press on the Lubbock Christian University Lady Chaps varsity and came away with a 72-67 victory Thursday in the South Plains Classic at the Texas Dome.

Howard overcame a 37-33 halftime deficit to rally to its second win of the season in as many tries. Howard assistant coach Lisa Chadwick said the Lady Hawks got off to a slow start.

"We didn't play real good in the first half, I guess they were still sleep. We got them up pretty early, we had to leave at 7," said Chadwick.

"We started fullcourt pressing, running the ball up and down the floor; they tried to run with us, and they couldn't do it," she said. Chadwick also added that freshman forward Desiree Wallace played a splendid game.

"Desiree played a great game. She was scoring, getting assists and rebounds. She played really well," Chadwick said. Wallace and Mulu Tosi kept Howard in the game in the first half, combining for 17 points. Tosi went on to lead all Howard scorers with 19 points. Lisa Moore followed with 16 points, and Wallace and Cindy Williams added 10 points each. Howard played again this morning.

HOWARD (72) — Kim Robinson 2, 2 6; Kathy Mangram 1 0 2; Desiree Wallace 5 0 10; Lisa Moore 6 4 16; Yolanda Wells 4 1 9; Cindy Williams 5 0 10; Mulu Tosi 8 3 19; totals 31 10-23 72. Suit filed to stop coin flip ATHENS (AP) — The school district in this East Texas city filed suit today against the University Interscholastic League to try to stop a scheduled coin flip tonight involving Athens, Corsicana and Chapel Hill football teams.

A state district court judge in Austin planned to hold a 2 p.m. hearing today in the week-long dispute over tie-breaking procedures, the Athens Daily Review reported.

The three teams are tied for first place in District 17-4A with 3-1 records.

Klatt throws two TD passes; Steers JV beats Odessa, 28-6

Clay Klatt threw two touchdown passes, leading the Big Spring Steers junior varsity to a 28-6 win over the Odessa High sophomores Thursday night at Memorial Stadium.

Big Spring blew open a close game by scoring two fourth quarter touchdowns. Klatt threw TD strikes of eight yards to split end Pat Martinez and 12 yards to Big Spring, 8-1 for the season, will conclude play Thursday by traveling to Monahans to play the Lobos. Game time is 7 p.m.

ANDREWS 16, STEERS FRESHMEN 11

ANDREWS — All the scoring was done in the first half. Big Spring struck first, Andrews struck next, and the Steers came out on the short end.

On their first play from scrimmage, the Steers scored on a wingback pass from Mike Oliva to Ricky Gonzales. Richie Thompson passed to Oliva for the two-point conversion.

On Big Spring's next possession, Thompson connected with Ed Guerrero for a 60-yard scoring pass. It was Thompson's 14th TD pass of the season.

But the second quarter belonged to Andrews, as the Mustangs scored 16 points. In the second half Andrews never crossed midfield. Big Spring got inside the Andrews' 10-yard line twice; one fumbling and once losing the ball on downs.

Playing well for Big Spring were Jimmy Johnson, Guerrero, Steve Gallagher, Todd Parish, Gonzales and Jeremy Smith.

Big Spring, 7-2 for the season, will finish play Thursday at Memorial Stadium versus Monahans at 6 p.m.

RUNNELS B 20, ANDREWS 12
ANDREWS — It was the "Joe Franklin Show" here Thursday night as Runnels B ran its record to 5-2.

Franklin scored on runs of three, five and 35 yards to pace the Yearlings. He also ran in the two-point conversion on the final TD.

His final score came after Andrews had tied the game 12-12 with 26 seconds left. Andrews tried an onside kick, but Runnels recovered at its own 44. A few plays later Franklin dashed 35 yards for the score.

RUNNELS A 34, ANDREWS 20

The Runnels Yearlings A team improved its record to 5-3 as Michael Sizenbach scored two touchdowns and Tim Rigdon and Charley Leos returned kickoff 75 yards for touchdowns.

Sizenbach scored on runs of 15 and 25 yards. Rigdon and Leos both returned their kicks in the third quarter. The other Runnels TD was a one-yard quarterback sneak by Dustin Waters.

Playing well for Runnels A were Frankie Martinez, Chris O'Neal, Mario Cavazos, Norman Timmerman, James Stiehl, Jay Valdez, Tony Rodriguez, Andy Mott and Chris Ochoa.

tailback Oscar Valencia. Martinez booted four extra points.

Big Spring led 7-0 at the half thanks to Klatt's pass to Martinez. Odessa pulled to within 7-6 in the third quarter on a 60-yard touchdown run.

Big Spring responded with Klatt hitting Valencia for a score in the third quarter, and fourth quarter scoring runs of 20 yards by fullback Tony Sarmiento and a one-yard run by Valencia.

Defensive end Nathan McGuire recovered two fumbles for the Steers. Big Spring coaches credited the entire defense with playing a good game.

Rockets keep Magic winless

(AP) — Akeem Olajuwon is a good listener who realizes the Houston Rockets won't win many games with him benched by fouls.

So he got the message when coach Don Chaney expressed concern over Olajuwon fouling out twice — and being in trouble another time — in Houston's first three games.

"It wasn't something to worry about," Olajuwon said Thursday night after getting 25 points and 19 rebounds — and just three fouls — as the Rockets kept the Orlando Magic winless with a 103-99 victory.

Olajuwon said Chaney's words at practice Wednesday were well-timed.

"I've been in this league six years and I know how to play in it," Olajuwon said. "I can understand why people talk about it (the fouls) when it happens back-to-back-to-back like that."

Knicks 114, Bullets 103
Patrick Ewing, averaging 30.8 points in his first four games, doesn't believe he is playing as well as last season, when he averaged 28.6.

"I'm scoring, but I'm not that comfortable out there yet," said Ewing, who had 32 points while pulling down 15 rebounds and blocking seven shots. "I don't feel I'm in the same groove as last year when all my shots were falling." Ewing said after a 13-for-19 shooting performance.

New York held Washington to 33 percent shooting in the fourth quarter.

The Knicks, who lost two of their first three games after leading by at least 16 points in all of them, had no margin larger than four until the fourth quarter, when Ewing started an 8-2 run with six points for a 96-88 lead with 8:22 left.

The Bullets got as close as three points later in the quarter, but a 3-point goal and two free throws by Kiki Vandeweghe, who scored 21 points, rebuilt the margin to 105-97 with 2:27 remaining.

Bernard King scored 30 points and A.J. English 15 for Washington. Charles Oakley had 17 points and 13 rebounds for New York.

LOS ANGELES — Los Angeles Clippers' Gary Grant (1) maintains control of the ball while being aggressively defended by the Detroit Pistons' Isiah Thomas (11) during first period action.

Nets 114, Heat 103

First-round draft picks Derrick Coleman and Tate George sparked a 9-3 run at the start of the fourth quarter, carrying New Jersey over Miami for its first victory.

The Nets (1-3), who led from the middle of the opening period, managed to take control in the final 12 minutes of their home opener. Coleman, the top pick in the draft, hit one of two free throws to put New Jersey ahead 79-73 and Derrick Gervin followed with a baseline jumper.

George, the 22nd pick overall, then sandwiched two layups — for all his points — around a basket by Coleman and New Jersey led 87-76 with 9:28 remaining.

Reggie Theus led New Jersey with 22 points and Mookie Blaylock added 22. Coleman finished with 13 points and 10 rebounds. Sherman Douglas led Miami with 24 points. Rony Seikaly added 17 points and 11 rebounds and Glen Rice had 15 points.

Bucks 141, 76ers 111
Ricky Pierce scored 28 points and Jay Humphries and Frank Brickowski sparked a third-quarter spurt as Milwaukee routed Philadelphia.

Peoples Kapalua leader

KAPALUA, Hawaii (AP) — David Peoples is halfway to his first victory as a professional golfer.

Peoples shot a 2-under-par 69 Thursday for a two-day total of 10-under-par 132 and the second-round lead in the Kapalua International on the Hawaiian Island of Maui.

Peoples couldn't match his opening round of 63, but neither could anyone else in the 48-man field at the Kapalua Bay Course. Trailing by three shots was Tom Purtzer after a 68 Thursday. Another shot back at 136 was Nick Price after a 67.

Ben Crenshaw started the day one shot behind Peoples, but he drove out of bounds and doubled bogeyed the final hole for a 73. He trails Peoples by five shots.

The trade winds kicked up after a relatively calm first round, and the scores showed it. While seven golfers shot 66 or better Wednesday, no one could do better than 67 on Thursday.

Peoples, 30, first joined the PGA Tour in 1983 and has been through the qualifying school nine times in his efforts to stay there. He finally hit pay dirt this year with $259,367 in earnings, 57th on the money list. His best finish was a tie for third. A victory in this $700,000 tournament would earn him $150,000.

The Winter Park, Fla., resident played like a man on a seasaw Thursday: up with birdies on the first two holes, down with consecutive bogeys, up with three straight birdies, down with another bogey, up with another birdie, and finally finishing with a thud, 3-putting for a bogey. He parred only eight holes.

For the two rounds, Peoples has played just 18 holes at par, collecting 13 birdies and five bogeys.

"I hit the ball really good, but I'm not satisfied with the score I got," he said. "I feel I left at least three shots out there today. I kept picking the wrong club a lot."

One of his birdies came on a 20-foot putt, but he missed three times from less than 7 feet for bogeys.

"I kind of fell asleep out there," he said.

Texas high school has lost 53 straight football games

HOUSTON (AP) — On Nov. 11, 1985, Davis High School defeated Austin 7-0 to break a four-game losing streak. Five years and a state-record-tying 53 losses later, the Panthers are still waiting for their next win.

Troy Stratton knows the feeling. As a senior in 1982, Stratton was the nervous holder as kicker Wally Whisenant split the uprights with a third-down, 28-yard field goal that gave the Kountze Lions a 3-0 victory over Kirbyville — a victory that snapped a state-record 53-game losing streak.

After the kick, the Lions almost had to forfeit the biggest win in school history when jubilant fans poured onto the field with seven seconds remaining in the game.

After the Davis streak reached 47 games, Stratton read a newspaper account of the Panthers' plight and decided to speak to the team. He drove to the practice field and met the coaching staff, who invited him to give a pep talk to the team before its game against Washington.

"I don't know why, but I was inspired to go out there and talk to them," Stratton said. "This wasn't just someone off the street. This was someone who had been there."

"Just like them, I had friends graduate who played their whole career and never participated in a varsity football victory. They listened. I guess they were relieved to find somebody who understood."

Even though Stratton's pep talk didn't keep the Panthers from losing to Washington, there is hope on the Davis campus these days. This Friday, Davis takes on Furr in the District 19-5A closer for two teams that have suffered through 0-9 seasons.

"I say this every week, but I feel like we have a chance to win," said Donald Hennigan, the Panthers' head coach. "I'm the eternal optimist, but getting the kids to believe that is — well, it's hard."

Two years ago, Hennigan was defensive coordinator at Milby. The lure of turning around the Davis program proved irresistible for him.

"I think that's every coach's dream," Hennigan said. "I think we all would like to take somebody who's down and turn them around."

Hennigan admits there are many mental roadblocks to overcome.

"We'll play well, but then we'll make a mistake and — boom — it's like somebody stuck a pin in a balloon," Hennigan said. "The kids get down, and we lose. That comes from not knowing how to win. My job is to teach them that they can."

"It's like that proverbial little snowball on top of a mountain," Hennigan said. "Once it gets rolling, it gets huge. It becomes an avalanche, and trying to stop that is difficult."

The scenario Hennigan describes is all too familiar to Donald Elliss, formerly the head coach at Kountze.

"It was real, real hard trying to convince the kids that they could win," Elliss said. "It seemed like they were always looking for something bad to happen.

"We finally pulled one out, though. As corny as it sounds, I still get emotional when we talk about that win. We had a victory bell that we carried around with us. Well, we finally got to ring that bell, and I never heard a more beautiful sound in my life," Elliss added.

"Once you get that first win, the rest is easy," Hennigan said. "If we could win this last game of the season, it would carry over into next year, because everybody would remember that win."

Despite the fact a Davis loss would erase Kountze's record from the books, Stratton is pulling for the Panthers this weekend.

"I know what they're going through, and I wouldn't wish that on anybody," Stratton said. "It's demoralizing. A lot of people take winning a high school football game for granted, so it's tough to explain how it feels to pull together and overcome such a huge barrier."

Champs continue to struggle

By The ASSOCIATED PRESS

Most everyone figured the Quebec Nordiques to have the inside track in the Eric Lindros Sweepstakes this season. But the Edmonton Oilers?

NHL

The defending Stanley Cup champions find themselves in that unlikely position at this point as they continue to struggle through the worst stretch in the team's history.

"I wish we could find a way to win. We've been in every game," Edmonton coach John Muckler said after his club lost for the eighth straight time, 5-3 to the Chicago Blackhawks on Thursday night.

In extending their club-record losing streak, the Oilers' record dropped to 2-10-2 for six points, second-worst record in the league. The Toronto Maple Leafs were beaten 5-3 Thursday night by Vancouver to keep the NHL's worst record intact — 2-15-1 for five points.

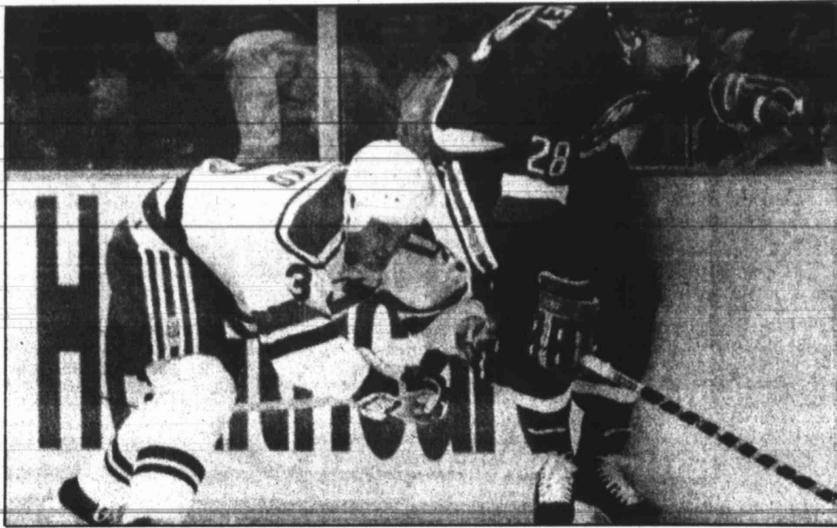

The Maple Leafs, however, will not be able to pick the heralded Lindros from the Canadian juniors in next spring's draft because they have traded away their No. 1 choice to the New Jersey Devils.

The Nordiques, though, still have a chance. In losing 3-2 to Minnesota, their eighth straight loss, they fell to 3-11-3 for nine points. The Nordiques have finished with the league's worst record two years running.

Elsewhere, it was St. Louis 3, Pittsburgh 2; Calgary 8, Philadelphia 2, and Los Angeles 5, Detroit 1.

Blackhawks 5, Oilers 3

seven years, are 1-10-0 in their last 11 games, 0-5-1 on the road.

Belfour, 10-4-0, made 21 saves, and Mike Hudson's goal at 9:38 of the final period proved to be the game-winner, giving Chicago a 4-2 lead.

The victory, the Blackhawks' sixth in their last nine contests, left Chicago tied with St. Louis for the Norris Division lead.

Canucks 5, Maple Leafs 3
Power-play goals by Trevor Linden and Brian Bradley keyed a four-goal Vancouver splurge in the second period as the Canucks skated past the Maple Leafs, who went down to their fifth consecutive defeat.

Adrien Plavsic, Steve Bozek and Gary Valk also scored for the Canucks. Dave Reid had two short-handed goals and Vince Damphousse also scored for the Maple Leafs.

North Stars 3, Nordiques 2
Gaetan Duchesne and Shane Churla scored second-period goals, lifting Minnesota over Quebec.

After allowing the Everett Sanipass' goal on the Nordiques' first shot, Jon Casey made 24 saves before yielding Aaron Broten's goal with one second left in the game. He has given up only four goals in helping Minnesota go 2-0-1 in its last three games, including a 2-0 victory at Quebec.

Blues 3, Penguins 2
Michel Mongeau and Gino Cavallini scored power-play goals in the first five minutes of the third period to lead St. Louis over Pittsburgh.

The Blues are 9-1-1 in their last 11 games and ended the Penguins' season-best winning streak at four games. St. Louis leads the NHL in road wins with a 7-3-0 road record.

Flames 8, Flyers 2
Sergei Makarov and Joe Nieuwendyk each had a goal and three assists and Calgary scored five goals in the third period to beat Philadelphia.

Both Stephane Matteau and Gary Roberts had one goal and one assist for the Flames.

Kings 5, Red Wings 1
Wayne Gretzky and Tomas Sandstrom each had a goal and an assist to lead Los Angeles over Detroit.

Gretzky netted his 11th goal of the year 2:54 into the second period to give the Kings a 3-0 lead as Sandstrom got the assist.

Names in the news

'A coming out'

NEW YORK (AP) — Guitarist Pete Townshend of The Who says his 1980 song "Rough Boys" was a "coming out, an acknowledgment of the fact that I'd had a gay life."

PETER TOWNSHEND

Townshend, who has been married to Karen Astley since 1966 and has three children, divulged his bisexuality in the book "Rock Lives: Profiles and Interviews."

"I know how it feels to be a woman because I am a woman," Townshend said in the book, a collection of interviews by music writer and radio host Timothy White. It was released Friday.

Townshend said in September 1989 on White's radio show that "Rough Boys" showed his aversion to the macho rock star ethos.

He said the song meant "I understood what gay sex was about."

Hall's star on Hollywood Boulevard is in front of a McDonald's.

"Boy, my two favorite things — Marilyn Monroe and McDonald's. Food and women," the talk show host said.

Hall, 32, begins his third season of the syndicated "The Arsenio Hall Show" in January.

Made the grade

NEW YORK (AP) — The hunk made the grade. John F. Kennedy Jr. passed the state bar exam on his third try.

Dubbed the "Hunk Who Flunked" by New York's tabloids, Kennedy said Wednesday he learned of the news in a letter from the Board of Bar Examiners.

'He's a star'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Arsenio Hall got a star in the Hollywood Walk of Fame next to Marilyn Monroe's.

More than 200 fans Wednesday watched the unveiling of the star, the 1,923rd imbedded in the famous sidewalk.

person could turn out to be quite superficial. Take a wait-and-see approach.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Although the gossip you hear about a friend will upset you, there is not much you can do about it. Be faithful to your high ideals, however. Do not underestimate your abilities!

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Your relatives could be particularly pushy today. You will have to be firm if you want to avoid getting involved in something you do not enjoy. Focus on fashion; buy some new clothes!

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): The emphasis now is on change. You may want to switch jobs, lovers or even move to a new town. Keep track of your spending to avoid being overdrawn at the bank.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Decide early how you are going to spend the day, and follow through. You will have to keep a promise, whether you want to or not. Tell your partner what is bothering you.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Try to keep your temper in check if you run into irritating delays this morning. Avoid tangling with your mate over a financial matter. Revise both your budget and spending habits.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Refuse to spend the day parked in front of the TV set — there is a beautiful world out there, full of exciting opportunities. Accept a last-minute invitation this evening.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Your confusion about the future will be reduced once your mate makes an important decision. Entertain at home this evening to save money. A night on the town could prove too expensive.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Pay closer attention to your finances today. Ask yourself if you can really afford that big purchase you have been contemplating. Singles should avoid going out with strangers.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Someone you have been wanting to meet is finally introduced to you — but chances are you will be disappointed if you talk together. Play a waiting game in romance. Avoid revealing too much.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): You can unearth some real buys for your home today. Sign contracts this morning and get business out of the way. Do a favor for a friend who will repay you.

Parolee given death sentence

ANGLETON (AP) — A Brazoria County jury deliberated two hours before imposing the death penalty for a prison parolee convicted of robbing, raping and killing a teen-ager during a quest for drug money.

State District Judge J. Ray Gayle III told defendant Gary Wayne Etheridge on Thursday that he thought the sentence "will clean up a piece of garbage. You're nothing but a blight on society. That's all you are."

"You are going to die, young man, sooner or later, by lethal injection," Gayle said.

Etheridge, who was convicted Tuesday of capital murder, smirked and seemed to shrug off the judge's harsh words.

Etheridge, 26, of Freeport, was convicted of killing Christi Chauviere, 15, in her south Brazoria County home Feb. 2. Christi's mother, Gail Chauviere, 50, was stabbed at least 15 times during the attack, but survived to testify against Etheridge.

Ms. Chauviere testified she noticed a strange car in the driveway when she returned home on the day of the attack.

Juniors split season finale

By DONALD AVERY
For the Herald

The Stanton Junior High seventh- and eighth-grade football teams ended their season here Thursday, with the eighth-graders defeating Crane and the seventh-graders falling to the visitors.

Seventh grade game
Stanton's seventh-grade hosted the Crane Golden Cranes and Crane went home with a 16-0 win.

The Buffs tried to surprise the visitors with an onside kick on the game's first play, but the Cranes recovered the kick on the Buffs' 45-yard line. On the first play from scrimmage, Freddy Garza went the distance and scored the first points of the contest. The PAT was stopped short of the goal line and the visiting team led 6-0 in the opening quarter.

In the second stanza, the Buffs forced the Cranes to punt set up shop at their own five-yard line. On the next play, Stanton tried to an end around, but the visitors were waiting for the play and caught the Buff runner in the endzone for a safety.

Stanton got a break on the ensuing series when the Buffs recovered a fumble at their own 27-yard line. On the next play, George Cox found Brent McAnally for a 61-yard toss all the way to the Crane 12. Stanton moved the ball to the five, but could not punch the football through the endzone.

Crane took over and began another drive and, after a couple of good runs, the ball rested on the 33-yard line. From there, Garza broke free and scored on a 67-yard run. The Golden Cranes added the extra points and led 16-0 as the first half came to an end.

The second half of play was marred by turnovers and infractions that stymied both teams. The contest ended with the Cranes taking home a 16-0 win.

Eighth grade game
Propelled by a 26-point second quarter, the Stanton eighth grade smashed the Crane Golden Cranes 28-12 to end its season at 5-2.

In the first quarter, Stanton won the toss and were unable to move the ball and punted to the visitors near midfield. Crane couldn't move the ball and kicked back to the home team.

Operating from his own 30-yard line, J.J. Ortiz picked up a first down to the Buff 40. Quincy Brown then took a handoff and scampered 43 yards down to the Crane 17-yard line. Jerele Lee picked up another 12 yards down to the Crane five-

Troop count grows

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense Secretary Dick Cheney said today new U.S. troop deployments to the Persian Gulf will include half of all American land forces in Europe. That means as many as 200,000 more Americans are being sent to the area.

Cheney's remark to the Conservative Leadership Conference indicated that President Bush intends to have about 430,000 U.S. forces in the gulf area within weeks — matching the current level of Iraqi troops in and around Kuwait.

"The additional increment will give us the capacity to undertake offensive action should that become necessary," Cheney said.

He suggested in comments to reporters later that Bush's new order means the approximately 230,000 U.S. forces already there will not be rotating back to the United States early next year as Cheney had tentatively planned.

Asked whether the full contingent of American forces in the gulf would be there for the duration of the crisis, Cheney said, "That's correct."

There are now about 230,000 U.S. troops overall in the Persian Gulf. About 200,000 Army troops are stationed in Europe, most in Germany.

The administration is "transferring approximately half the forces now deployed in Europe to the Persian Gulf," Cheney said.

Bush said Thursday in announcing new deployments for Operation Desert Shield that he still hoped to get Iraq out of Kuwait without starting a war. But he said he wanted an "adequate offensive military option" in case United Nations economic sanctions and diplomatic pressures against Iraq prove futile.

Analysts said the move brought the United States closer to war with Iraq.

"The Iraqis, in effect, are being put on notice that they will be attacked" unless they withdraw from Kuwait under Bush's terms, said Frank Gaffney Jr., director of the Center for Security Policy and a former Pentagon official.

The scale of the additional U.S. troop deployments is enormous. Once the added forces are in place, America will have more troops in the gulf region than it had in Europe during the Cold War when the perceived enemy was a nuclear superpower.

Officials escalate evolution battle

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas education officials gave preliminary approval to science textbooks that teach evolution, but a longtime clash with creationists continued.

The State Board of Education Thursday asked its staff to look into whether a reference in some of the books, which says human embryos have gill slits, was accurate.

The board, meeting as a committee, tentatively approved the biology books, striking a blow to religious fundamentalists who say the texts don't treat creationism as an equally valid idea.

A final vote was set for Saturday. Texas is one of the nation's largest textbook buying states and influences what publishers put in textbooks. The textbooks under consideration are for grades 1 through 12.

"This is a major victory," said Mike Hudson, general counsel for the People for the American Way, a civil rights group that has lobbied for expanded coverage of evolution in science textbooks.

"This is probably the most important thing that has happened in science education in the past five years," Hudson said of the board's preliminary vote.

Mel Gabler, who with his wife, Norma, has fought against evolution for about 30 years, said the proposed texts were a form of censorship. Gabler argued they treat evolution as a fact without in-nullifies critical thinking of students. This is indoctrination, not education," he said. The theory of evolution holds that all species of plants and animals developed from earlier forms, through hereditary transmission of slight variations in successive generations. Creationism ascribes

LISD: Discrimination not intent of dress code

LUBBOCK (AP) — The Lubbock Independent School District superintendent said discrimination was not the intent of the school system's new dress code, which bans boys from having long hair.

"The policy's purpose is to allow consistent enforcement of the policy concerning a student's hairstyle," LISD superintendent Mike Moses said Thursday during a hearing challenging the dress code.

"It was not the intent of the school district to discriminate against any race or ethnic background. The purpose of the code is to teach discipline and respect for authority."

The LISD is being sued by Michael Kelley, father of Yacatico Kelley, a sophomore at Lubbock High School, and Kathy Buckberry, the mother of fifth-grader Michael Buckberry.

The parents are suing the LISD to modify its dress code, which prohibits boys from wearing longer-than-shoulder-length hair, pony tails, rat tails, braids or designs in their hair.

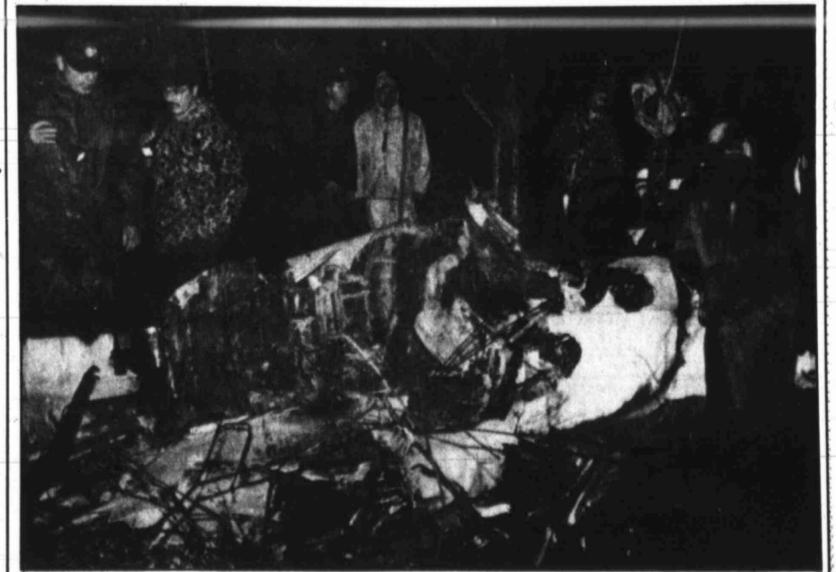

The elder Kelley says the dress code discriminates against his son's native American heritage. "For hundreds of years Indians have worn long hair. It has been a way of life for many," said Kelley. "Many Indians choose to wear their hair short. But it should be (Yacatico's) choice to have his hair long."

After Yacatico and Michael were removed from class for violating the code earlier this fall, Kelley and Mrs. Buckberry appealed to the school board to allow their sons back in class.

Their pleas were denied by unanimous votes at separate meetings in front of about a hundred upset parents and students protesting the policy with signs and chants.

The parents won a temporary restraining order against the LISD's hair policy for boys three weeks ago and are now seeking a permanent injunction in District Judge Bradley Underwood's court.

Underwood said after the hearing concluded Thursday that he would announce his decision early next week.

yard line.

From the two, fullback Robert Moreno scored as Lee added the PAT and the Buffs led 8-0. The Buffs' defense stopped the visitors again and forced them to punt. On the first play after the kick, Ortiz found Brown for a 40-yard toss down to the Crane 15. Brown went the distance on the next play and scored. The try for two failed.

Leading 14-0, the Buffs' defense again held and forced another punt. On the very next play, Brown went 54 yards for another touchdown and the score read 20-0 in favor of the home team. The PAT try was stopped short.

Crane received the ensuing kickoff and set up shop at its own 27-yard line. From there, the Crane runner found some running room down the sideline and galloped 73 yards for a Crane touchdown to cut the Stanton lead to 20-6.

Stanton received the kickoff from Crane and returned it to its own 25-yard line. From there, Ortiz handed off to Brown who galloped 75 yards for the score. The first half ended with Stanton holding a 26-6 lead.

In the second half both teams settled down to a defensive struggle that wasn't broken until a Crane player picked up a Stanton fumble and ran 72 yards for a score, cutting the lead to 26-12.

The Golden Cranes tried to go for a two-point conversion, but Buff Michael Martinez intercepted the pass three yards deep in the end zone and went the distance of the field for a two-point score for Stanton.

In the fourth quarter both teams again settled down and played good defense as the contest ended in favor of the home team, 28-12.

PeeWee action
 Tuesday, the Red team, consisting of players from the first place Rams and last place Chiefs, went up against the Grey team, comprised of players from the second place Chargers and the third place Oilers.

In the first period of play, both teams moved the ball but failed to score, and the stanza ended with a 0-0 tie.

In the second quarter, the Red team began to move the ball, but a fumble stopped the drive deep in Red territory. From the eight, Jarrod Bedingfield kept the ball and went in for the first score of the night. The Pat failed and the Gray led 6-0 at the end of the first half.

In the second half of play, neither team could muster any type of offense and the game ended with a 6-0 Gray win.

The Gray team coaches gave the entire team credit for the win. The Red team coaches singled out the offensive efforts of Brad Cox and the defensive efforts of Ernest Olivas.

At halftime, the Superbowl queen was named out of four contestants. The nominees were Krissy Villa (Chiefs), Jan Holland (Oilers), Casey Ireton (Chargers) and Lorie Dillard (Rams).

The 1990 Superbowl queen was Jan Holland, daughter of Bobby and Doris Holland.

Crop production projected to hit 5-year high

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bumper corn harvest this fall is leading the way for the largest total crop output by American farmers in five years, the Agriculture Department says.

The 1990 corn harvest was estimated Thursday at a four-year high of 7.93 billion bushels, up 5 percent from last year, although down slightly from prospects in October.

An all-crops production index was reported at 112 percent of its 1977 average used for comparison. That was up one percentage point from October and the highest reading since the index averaged 116 percent in 1985.

The latest corn production outlook, based on Nov. 1 indications, was down 1 percent from USDA's October forecast. The harvest was about 64 percent completed by Oct. 28, slightly behind normal.

"Many growers continue to report yields lower than previously anticipated," the department's Agricultural Statistics Board said. "Ears in late-planted fields in Indiana did not fill out. Corn borers also did considerable damage in Illinois."

Farmers harvested 7.53 billion bushels in 1989, and the department in its initial 1990 forecast on Aug. 9 put this fall's harvest at 7.85 billion bushels.

The forecast was raised on Sept. 12 to 8.12 billion bushels and then lowered to 8.02 billion on Oct. 11.

At 7.93 billion bushels, this year's harvest still would be the largest since farmers produced 8.23 billion bushels in 1986, according to USDA records.

Based on the latest surveys, the average corn yield nationally was estimated at 119 bushels per acre harvested, compared with 116.2 last year and 120.3 indicated last month. The record was 119.4 bushels in 1987.

As livestock feed, corn is the largest and most important U.S. farm crop and is essential for the production of meat, poultry and dairy products. Consumer food prices, which rose an average of 5.8 percent in 1989, the sharpest year-to-year increase since 1981, are expected to climb an additional 5 percent to 7 percent in 1990.

Soybean production, a source of high-protein meal and vegetable oil, was estimated at 1.9 billion bushels, down 1 percent from last year's harvest of 1.93 billion bushels but 4 percent more than the October forecast of 1.82 billion bushels.

Cotton production was indicated at 14.9 million bales, up 22 percent from last year's output of 12.2 million bales and 2 percent more than the October forecast.

No new estimates of 1990 production of wheat and other crops harvested earlier were included in the report.

The fall crop of potatoes was estimated for the first time this season at 342 million hundredweight, up 5 percent from last year due to an increase in acreage.

Average yields were forecast at 298 hundredweight per acre, down one hundredweight from 1989.

"Drought in North Dakota and Minnesota cut into production potential for the third straight year," the report said. "Maine farmers were hit by heavy October rains, followed by hard freezes late in the month that virtually shut down harvest operations."

The potato outlook also was said to be hurt by "extremely variable temperatures" in Idaho, Oregon and Washington during the growing season.

In a related supply-and-demand report, analysts said total corn use in the 1990-91 marketing year that began Sept. 1 is expected to be about 8.045 billion bushels.

With use exceeding estimated production, the U.S. corn stockpile may decline to a projected 1.236 billion bushels by Sept. 1, 1991, compared with 1.344 billion this Sept. 1.

The report said corn prices at the farm may average $2.20 to $2.60 per bushel in the 1990-91 marketing year, down from $2.36 in 1989-90 and unchanged from the October projection.

Soybean prices were indicated to average $5.35 to $6.35 per bushel, down from the October range of $5.70 to $7 per bushel.

Other 1990 crop estimates based on Nov. 1 indications, compared with 1989 output, included:

● Sorghum, 559.8 million bushels and an average yield of 60.5 bushels per acre, compared with 617.9 million and 55.4 in 1989.

● Rice, 154.4 million hundredweight and a yield of 5,499 pounds per acre, compared with 154.5 million and 5,749.

● Peanuts, 3.45 billion pounds and a yield of 1,949 pounds per acre, compared with 3.99 billion and 2,426.

● Tobacco, 1.6 billion pounds and a yield of 2,198 pounds per acre, compared with 1.37 billion and 2,016.

● Sugar beets, 27 million tons and a yield of 19.7 tons per acre.

Show presents variety of products

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Ken Gillig quietly watched ranchers roam through the annual Oklahoma Cattlemen's and Cattlewomen's convention and trade show.

With everything from computers to dewormers on display, ranchers searching for ways to present their products in a different light as well as increase their profit margins didn't have to look far Thursday.

Gillig, a trade representative for a St. Joseph, Mo., agriculture business, displayed large blocks of cow vitamins, which "help cattle produce more efficiently either in pounds of gain or milk production," he said.

Next to his booth, a computer terminal from Data Transmission Network Corp. had a more high-tech approach — a computer terminal and brochures on how to rent one. The cattlemen-meets-computer aspect seen throughout the various trade show exhibits seemed contrary to the image of herders atop horses out on the range.

But the exhibitors know that ranchers, like any business people, are trying to make a living.

"We're here to tell cattlemen ways to protect their investment and make money off their investment with new ideas or old ideas they're not using," Ken Mullendore, head of Allied Industries for the Oklahoma Cattlemen's Association, said.

Mullendore said ranchers are burdened with the health of their animals, taxes, profitability and government restrictions.

"Basically, this is 'we're all in the same boat together' type situation," Mullendore said. "Local areas might have problems like drought, but basically everybody has the same problems."

Those common problems also include beef's image in an increasingly health-conscious society.

John Kane, incoming president of the cattlemen's association, said beef's fat content and its connection to high cholesterol and heart disease has had a negative effect on the industry.

"Per capita, beef consumption has declined," said Kane, a Bartlesville rancher. "The beef that the housewife buys in the store now is not as encumbered with fat."

"A pound of beef that's taken home today is not the same as it was years ago," he said. "Beef is a nutrient-dense product that has a place in somebody's diet."

Beside beef's perception in the marketplace, Kane said, the government's role in the rancher's operation is a problem.

"The government is becoming more prevalent in the way one can operate on his own private lands," Kane said. "You can use this product, but you can't use that product."

Education Board member Will Davis of Austin said the books "separate religious theory from scientific theory."

"In public school textbooks, we are not to engage in religious theory. That's for churches, that's for your own soul-searching. In public schools we deal with science, not religion," he said.

Davis said the current science textbooks give a cursory review of evolution, while the new books are much more in depth.

Each side presented its own scientists to testify.

Claud Bramblett, a University of Texas scientist, said the textbooks were well-written and would probably interest more students in science.

"We need to grow future scientists, not import them," he said.

Walter Bradley, a Texas A&M University scientist, said the books contained errors and were written in a way that students would just accept the teachings as fact.

Education Board Chairman Monte Hasie of Lubbock said the books weren't perfect, but better than the current ones.

"I think we're making progress and that's what education is all about," he said.

Mustangs clinch district crown, 40-0

By STEVE REAGAN
Staff Writer

PATRICIA — Sands coach Randy Roemisch will have to be excused for any feelings of deja vu he might have.

For the second consecutive year, Roemisch and the Mustangs went into their final game of the season needing a win to capture the outright district championship and avoid a coin flip to determine the league's playoff representatives.

And for the second year in a row, the 'Stangs responded, using a smothering defense to whitewash the Klondike Cougars, 40-0, and clinch their second consecutive District 5-A, six-man crown.

Sands ends the season with a perfect 10-0 record and advances to play either Ira or Trent in the first round of the six-man playoffs at a place and date to be announced later. The Cougars ended their season with a 6-4 mark.

Klondike hung close to the Mustangs for most of the first half, but Sands' methodical ground game, led by Pank Grigg's 80 yards on 11 rushes and John Young's 60 yards in five tries, eventually wore down the Cougars.

"The defense did a good job," Roemisch said of the crew that limited the Cougars to 128 total yards. "The offense kind of sputtered at first . . . They were trying to do too much thinking. I think we tried too much with them. We just need to go back to what we do best, which is run the I (formation).

"You've got to give Klondike credit," Roemisch added. "They've got a good solid defensive unit. Offensively, I thought they were going to do some things to us a couple of times there."

The Cougars mounted the first serious drive of the game, marching to the Mustangs' 33 early in the first quarter. On the fifth play of the drive, however, David Rawlings bobbled Brandon Oaks' pass, and Sands' Eric Herm picked the ball out of midair and returned it to the Klondike 33.

Three runs netted 10 yards before quarterback Aaron Cowley hooked up with Brandon Riddle on a swing pass to the Klondike one. Herm plowed over on the next play, and Grigg's PAT kick gave the 'Stangs an 8-0 lead with 2:19 left in the first quarter.

After the teams traded possession, the Cougars again began marching the ball downfield. The big play of the drive was a 14-yard pass from Ramiro Serrato to Cody Vogler down to the Sands' 31. The drive stalled, however, and the Mustangs took over on their own 23.

It took the Mustangs little time to cash in. On the second play from scrimmage, Young burst through the middle of the line, angled left and scored on a 49-yard run to give Sands a 16-0 lead early in the second quarter.

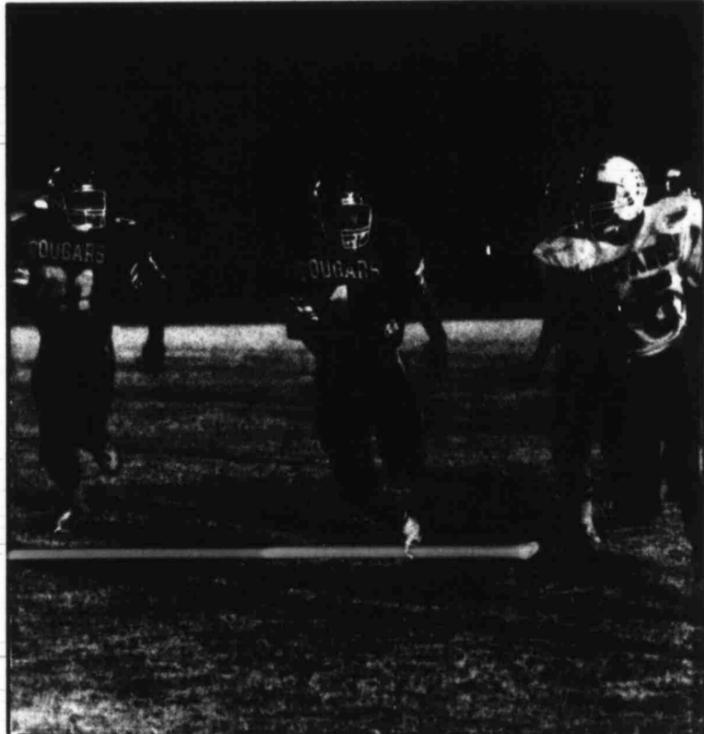

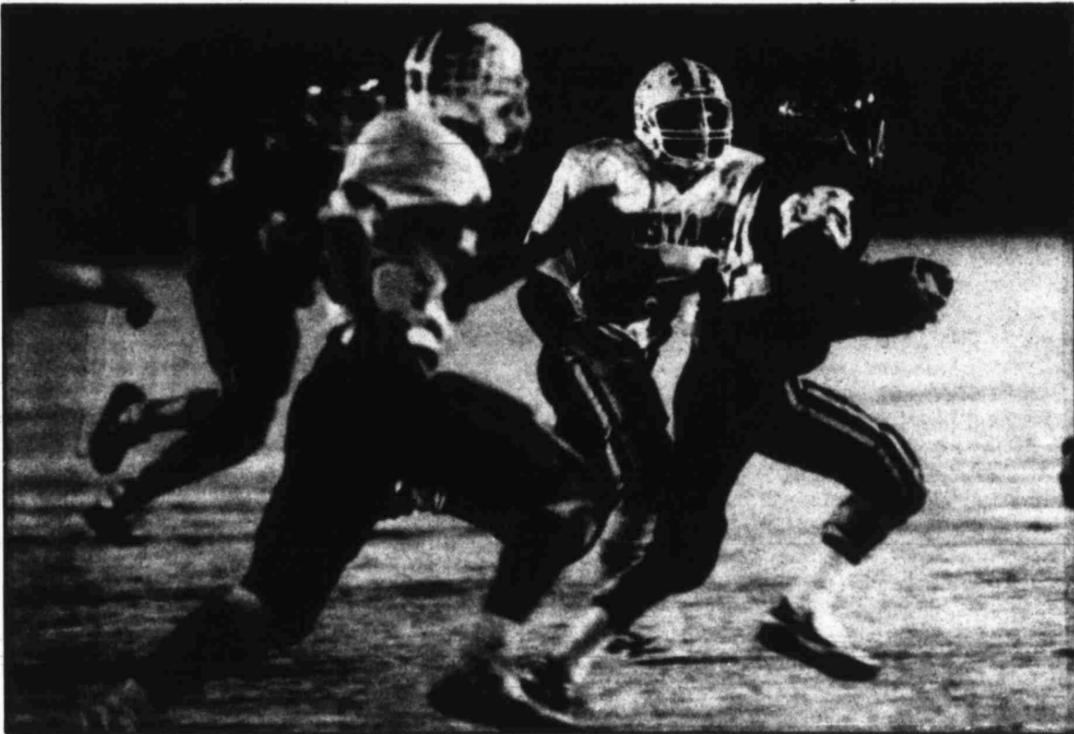

Herm's defensive heroics again set the table for a Sands score just before halftime. After the junior linebacker recovered a Kiko Juan-tos fumble at the 'Stangs's 34, it took Sands four plays to score again.

The highlight of the drive was a nifty halfback pass from Grigg to Riddle that covered 32 yards to the Klondike 10. On the next play, Rhodes swept around right end for the score, giving the Mustangs a 24-point advantage at halftime.

The Mustangs' defense clamped down hard on the Cougars in the second half — and even provided a pair of scores. The first came after a Klondike goal-line stand held Sands at the Cougars' one.

Three plays later, however, Oaks was sacked in the end zone by Young and Riddle for a safety. The second defensive score came later

PATRICIA — Clockwise from top left: Klondike quarterback Ramiro Serrato, right, is chased by Eric Herm (34) and another Sands defender during the first quarter here Friday; Sands tailback Pank Grigg (15) turns the corner and heads upfield while Klondike defenders Serrato (31) and Andy Guerra (1) give chase; Sands receiver

Brandon Riddle hauls in a pass during second quarter action; and Grigg is brought down by Guerra after a short gain. Also in on the action are Klondike's Kiko Juan-tos (99) and Brandi O'Brien (7) and Sands' Herm and Marcus Carr (88).

Sands shows: Lots of 'D' will go a long way

PATRICIA — For the second straight year, the Sands Mustangs proved that a lot of "D" goes a long way.

The Mustangs, ranked seventh in the state six-man poll, used a salty bunch of defenders to successfully complete their second consecutive undefeated season.

Anyone at least partially knowledgeable with six-man football can appreciate the scope of the Mustangs' defensive prowess. Not too many smaller schools can boast of four shutouts during a season or limiting their opponents to less than 150 yards a game.

The Mustangs' defense was in top form in their regular-season finale here Friday night against the Klondike Cougars, limiting the Cougars to 128 yards and no score.

The Sands defensive corps also got into the scoring act twice: once when John Young and Brandon Riddle tackled the Klondike QB in the end zone for a safety; and the other when Aaron Cowley recovered a fumble for a touchdown.

To top it all off, the defense recovered all three of Klondike's fumbles and Eric Herm and David Ybarra picked off a pair of passes for interceptions.

Sands Head Coach Randy Roemisch gives credit for the defensive heroics to the players and Defensive Coach Jerry Gooch. Gooch, in turn, credits a defensive philosophy built on patience and containment for the Mustangs' success.

"The whole idea is to contain people and not give up the big play," Gooch said. "We want to make people drive the ball on us."

The defense's motto, Gooch said, is "Four, not 44," meaning that Sands will give up the short gain on the ground, but will deny the offense any big, potentially game-breaking plays.

And, as the Mustangs prepare for the second straight trip to the state playoffs, there can be little doubt the philosophy is working so far.

Wise guys: colorful sports figures who soil the sports scene

By ED SCHUYLER Jr.
AP Sports Writer

Wise guys are as much a part of the sports scene as the jocks who play the games, and the bats, balls and gloves they use.

They often are colorful characters, who are interesting subjects for books and films, but, as Phil Berger's novel "Big Time" reminds us, they also often are stains on the sporting fabric of a nation.

Berger's fast-paced novel, published by Jefferson Street Press, is about Jake Cardoza, whose great talent as a player doesn't satisfy his need for seeing how close to the edge he can live without falling over. Cardoza's tightrope is point-shaving.

Good fiction has its basis in fact, and the character of Cardoza, said Berger, "is based loosely on Jack Molinas."

Molinas was a wiseguy who could play the game well, but who couldn't play life straight and was shot dead at the age of 43 in August 1975.

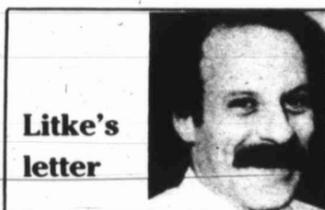

Berger's knowledge of the game and workings of basketball, and his reportorial skills honed by searching for the truth in boxing for The New York Times certainly had to make the case of Molinas attractive to him as the basis for a novel.

Then, again, Berger's previous book, "Blood Season," might have put him in the mood to write a novel. The main theme in Blood Season is the soap-opera life of Mike Tyson, who, when the book was published last year, was the undefeated, undisputed and often unrepentant heavyweight champion.

"Some of the things that happened to Tyson were like a novel — so wild and wooly," Berger said. "I had a feeling something was going to explode."

One night, Berger recalled, he was at a comedy club — in his spare time he is an expert on stand-up comics — when he got a call from the Times.

"The first thing that went through my mind was that he (Tyson) bought the farm," Berger said.

Litke's letter

Molinas was a wiseguy who could play the game well, but who couldn't play life straight and was shot dead at the age of 43 in August 1975.

Molinas' murder was never solved and there are questions about his involvement in shaving points in NBA games although there is no question he later bribed college players to fix games, for which he served time in prison.

Molinas was suspended by the NBA in 1954 after admitting he bet only on Fort Wayne, for which he played, to win. He never was reinstated.

"In my opinion, the novel is closer to the fact that what was presented to the public," Berger said. "My contention is Molinas was probably a scapegoat, that others in the league were doing business."

Berger said that he was told by Phil Olofson, publicity director for Fort Wayne, who later became the club's general manager, "I can't believe, and I know you don't, that Molinas was the only player gambling."

The NBA was not a powerful league back then and it couldn't afford a scandal.

Jack Molinas might have been forgotten. People who govern sports and those who report on them know full well that the species is not extinct.

Some of Tyson's doings are made to order for fiction, but Berger said, "the intense documentation of his life makes it difficult to novelize."

SMU legend immortalized

DALLAS — Heroes. We've all had them.

Mine was a guy who looked too slow and too small to be much of a danger to his opponents.

In practice, he didn't look like much; on Saturday, he was the best.

Doak Walker made football a cerebral sport. What he lacked in brawn he made up for by outthinking the other man.

The way he set up a tackler was pure football poetry. Linebackers frequently tackled thin air trying to hit Walker.

Walker scattered would-be tacklers as if they had slipped on a giant banana peel. Memories of Walker include watching him take Southern Methodist University from tiny Ownby Stadium into bigtime football. Recall, the Cotton Bowl is still known as "The House That Walker Built."

Walker won the Heisman Trophy in 1948, but he gained only 532 yards rushing that season. What he did was score touchdowns and win football games. He did it by playing halfback, flanker, end, fullback, quarterback on a few occasions, and also safety on defense.

Where did someone 5-11, 165 pounds get that much energy?

Nobody knows, but Walker scored 288 points at SMU. He also returned punts and kickoffs. Oh yes, he punted and kicked extra points and field goals.

Grantland Rice called Walker "the most authentic all-around player in football history."

"Doak Walker always made the big play when the team needed it," said the late Bobby Layne, who played against Walker at Texas and later teamed with him to win the NFL title with the Detroit Lions.

Walker's No. 37 is the only jersey ever retired at SMU.

Now, they've got an award named after him, and deservedly so. It's the Doak Walker "National Running Back Award."

Steers defeat Andrews to win district title

Sports Editor

ANDREWS — The Big Spring Steers are learning clinching league titles aren't easy in this district.

Last year the Steers had to outfight Snyder. Friday night they had to outfight the Andrews Mustangs. When all was said and done, Big Spring walked away with a 10-8 victory, killing Andrews' playoff hopes.

Big Spring is now 5-0 with one district game left against Monahans at home. Andrews falls to 3-2. Sweetwater 5-1 finished its season and qualifies for state playoffs.

It wasn't the fanciest-looking Big Spring win, but it was effective. The Steers won this one by controlling most of the second half. As usual they did it with a stingy defense, and just enough offense to get by.

Steers Coach David Thompson, who had the ceremonial bucket of ice dumped on him by his team after the victory, was smiling from ear-to-ear. "It looked good to me. The kids played hard," said Thompson. "The kids kept their composure well. They recovered the onsides kick like they were supposed to. Really I think the score should have been 17-0."

The onsides kick attempt came after Andrews scored its only touchdown with 1:07 left. The first onsides attempt Freddy Rodriguez recovered, but Big Spring was whistled for a penalty. On the next attempt Abel Hilario recovered. Quarterback Gerald Cobos took three snaps, and the game was over.

reasons the Steers took control of the game in the second half. Getting away from their run-oriented style, the Steers went to the air in the second half. The junior was perfect seven-of-seven in the second half, spreading the wealth among Rigo Moran, Nick Roberson, Neal Mayfield and Romon Ortega.

Thompson said the change in offensive tactic was caused by the Andrews' defense. "They went to a 5-3, so they just had three people in the secondary. We just took what they gave us and it worked out good."

On the other hand, the Mustangs used a variety of trick plays against the state's second-best defense. There were reverses, double reverses and halfback passes.

It seldom worked. What was most effective for Andrews turned out to be the option running of reserve quarterback Al Gonzales, and a quick-hitter up the middle by fullback Corey Wilson.

The Mustangs did what no other district team has been unable to do — gain more than 100 yards against the Steer defense. The Mustang Wishbone garnered 165 yards on the ground, with Wilson gaining 71 in 11 carries.

The Steers sacked the Andrews quarterback twice, and Nick Roberson picked off his second pass of the season.

"We figured they would try to do a lot of stuff like that, because they weren't moving the ball the other way," said Thompson of Andrews' ● STEERS page 7 trickery.

The Steers stayed with basically their run game in the opening half, with Jermiane Miller getting most of the duty. The senior cracked both the 100-yard and 1,000-yard barrier. His 25 carries for 118 yards gave him 1,045 yards for the season.

But Miller had his hard times too. He lost all three of the Steer fumbles. He fumbled twice at the Andrews' 28-yard line, and once at the Steers' 14-yard line, which led to Andrews' TD.

The first half was very evenly played; the main difference was Neal Mayfield's 28-yard field goal in the second quarter. The Steers got there by driving from their own 24.

Andrews' kicker Eric Perucca missed long range field goals tries of 41 and 50 yards in the first half.

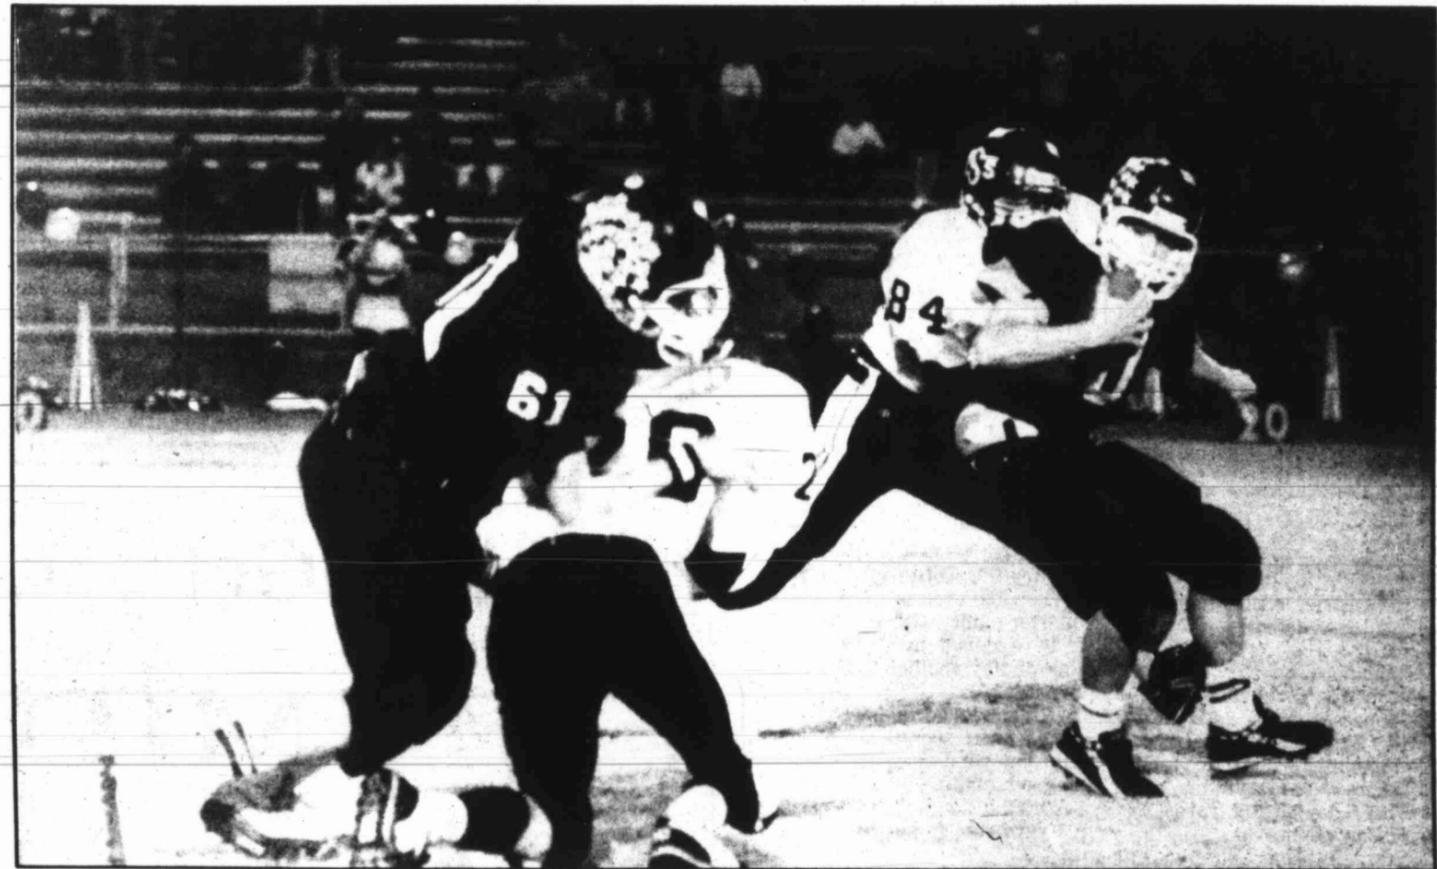

The Big Spring defense really dominated the second half. Andrews didn't get a first down until there was 6:49 left in the game.

While the Steer defense was doing its thing, Cobos and Co. began to dissect the Andrews' secondary.

Big Spring took the opening second half drive and stamped 66 yards in seven plays. Cobos started it off by hitting Moran for a 13-yard gain over the middle. Then he set up a screen by faking right to Miller and throwing to the left to Mayfield. Behind a wall of blockers, the play worked for 28 yards.

Cobos finished the drive off by rolling right and targeting fullback Roman Ortega. Ortega made it to the sideline and rambled 23 yards for the score. Mayfield's extra point gave Big Spring a 10-0 lead.

Andrews got a chance to avoid a shutout when Miller fumbled at the Steers 13. It took Andrews four plays to get in; with Zach Miller scoring from the one. The two point conversion was good — a reverse option to wide receiver Oscar Bueno. Big Spring led 10-8 with 1:07 left in the game and the Mustangs were down to their last timeout.

After the onsides kicked failed, it was just a matter of time before the Steers claimed their second consecutive district championship. I'm so happy for the kids," said Thompson. "They've worked hard — they deserved this."

Stanton Buffalos end season with 39-0 loss

By MARCELLINO CHAVEZ
Staff Writer

Stanton's 1990 football season — one to learn and grow from — ended with a 39-0 loss delivered by the Eldorado Eagles Friday night.

With 10:51 left in the second quarter, the visiting Eagles scored their first touchdown of the night and caused two costly turnovers before halftime to lead 19-0 in Buffalo Stadium over Stanton.

The visitors went home with a 39-0 win as they recorded their second victory in district play, while the Buffs ended their season with one win in 6-2A action. Overall, Eldorado finished their season at 5-5 and Stanton completed the campaign at 1-9.

The contest started with the visitors receiving the opening kickoff, but they failed to move the ball for a first down and punted to the Buffs. Stanton could not move the ball and kicked back to the visiting team.

The Eagles began a drive as quarterback Hector Chapa picked up the first first down of the contest. The drive stalled and the Eagles punted back to the Buffalos.

The Buffs took over at its own 31-yard line and on second down, the stadium lights went out causing a delay as both teams headed for the lockerroom with 8:29 left in the first stanza. Both local electric companies went to work and completed the task with a 29-minute delay.

The game continued and the home team could not pick up enough for a first down and attempted a punt to Eldorado as the first quarter ended. The snap went over the punter's head, however, and the Eagles had the ball on the Buff 25-yard line.

From there, the visitors mounted a drive and Justin Paxton capped it with a touchdown from the four-yard line early in the second quarter as the Eagles put the first points on the scoreboard. Paxton added the extra point, giving the visitors a 7-0 edge with 10:51 left in the half.

On the ensuing kickoff, the Buffs fumbled the kick and the opportunistic Eagles recovered on the Buff 33-yard line. Eldorado QB Chapa found RB Ramiro Barajas for another score with 9:18 left in the second quarter as the PAT went wide, leaving the score 13-0 in favor of the visiting Eagles.

Stanton received the kickoff and set up shop at its own 19-yard line. Unable to move the ball, they were forced to punt the ball back to the visitors with 7:12 left in the quarter.

Another bobbled snap caused the ball to rest at the Buffalo 16-yard line with another good opportunity for the Eagles to score before halftime. Running back Fito Gonzalez found the endzone, adding to the Eagle score.

With 6:03 left in the quarter, Gonzalez scored from six-yards out increasing the visitor lead to 19-0 as the visiting team tried to add a two-point PAT that was stopped short of the goalline.

Stanton began to move the ball as running back Garry Don Thompson found a crack in the Eagle defense and scampered for a 41-yard run, but he was called for stepping out of bounds at the visitor's 23. The Buffs were in good field position for the first time in the contest, but could go no farther as Eldorado stopped the host team from picking up the first down.

The Eagles took over on downs at the Buffalo 39-yard line. On the next play, Allan Carby recovered a loose football at the Buff's 31-yard line. Stanton began to move the ball again, but a fumble on a pass reception returned the ball to the Eagles as the half came to an end with the visiting team leading the Buffs.

Stanton received the second half kickoff and returned it to its own 25-yard line. A costly penalty took the Buffs even farther back as the ball rested on the Buff ten-yard line after the infraction was assessed.

The Buffalos went back to kick on fourth down and again the ball went over the punter's head. The Eagles recovered the ball in the endzone, giving the visitors an easy score with 9:53 left in the third quarter. Paxton added the PAT to give the Eagles a 26-0 lead.

The Eagles again got the ball back after a Buffalo fumble deep in Stanton territory. Chapa found Barajas for a four-yard touchdown toss with 7:30 left in the third stanza as Paxton added the PAT, giving the Eagles a 33-0 lead. Stanton received the ensuing kickoff and on the next play, safety Jesse Vasquez intercepted a Buffalo pass and Eldorado was back in business again with 7:16 left in the quarter.

The Eldorado drive was stalled as the Eagles fumbled on a handoff with 3:19 left. A furious Eagle defense forced the Buffs to give up the ball after failing to pick up the first down on four plays.

With 2:52 left in the contest Justin Edmiston capped the final drive of the game as the Eldorado offense moved the ball at will and scored from the 16-yard line. The PAT was blocked as the final score of the 1990 Buffalo season read 39-0 in favor of the visitors.

Grady Wildcats overwhelm Wellman, 44-19

By CHARLES POISALL
For the Herald

LENORAH—Playing well on defense and mixing passes with running plays effectively on offense, the Grady Wildcats overwhelmed the Wellman Wildcats here Friday night, 44-19.

The win in the final district 5-A six-man game of the regular season for both teams clenched the runner-up spot for the Grady Wildcats, coached by Leandro Gonzales and Rodney Johnson. Their record now stands at 8-2 overall, 4-1 in the district.

Coach John Cornelius' Wellman Wildcats ended at 5-5 for the season and 2-3 in district play.

Finishing as runner-up to the undefeated Sands Mustangs, the Grady Wildcats now expect to meet the Borden County Coyotes, runner-up in district 6-A, in the play-offs next week. Officials of the two schools will meet Saturday to determine the time and place for the game.

After Grady forced Wellman to punt early in the first quarter, running back Gilbert Cortez of Grady scored on a 31-yard run that was nullified by a holding penalty.

Later in the opening period, the Grady Wildcats put 6 points on the board to stay when quarterback Len Garza teamed up with end Danny Valle on a 46-yard touchdown pass. Garza's kick for the extra points was good, and the Grady team led 8-0 after 7 minutes of play.

Wellman scored on the next possession when end Jason Lusk grabbed a pass from quarterback James Harlan and completed a 33-yard scoring play. Fullback Martin Franco carried over for the 1-point conversion. Grady held an 8-7 lead as the first quarter ended.

With less than a minute gone in the second quarter, Grady increased its margin. Garza electrified the home crowd when he spotted Valle all alone in the end zone and rifled a perfect 23-yard pass to him for the second Grady touchdown. Again, Garza's kick was good, and Grady led 16-7.

The kick-off by Grady back Gilbert Cortez was fumbled on the Wellman 29-yard line. Grady back Florencio Hewtty recovered the fumble, and the home team had another scoring opportunity.

With Hewtty and running back Joel Morales taking turns carrying the ball, Grady drove to the Wellman 11-yard line. Morales then took a hand-off from Garza and carried the ball through the left side of Wellman's defensive line, slipping away from would-be tacklers and reaching the end zone for an 11-yard touchdown. Garza split the uprights again, upping the score to 24-7 with 7:26 left in the half.

Determined to narrow the gap, the Wellman Wildcats scored on their next possession. After a pass from Harlan to end Lynn Hudson and a run by back Wade Rowden, the visiting team had a first down on the Grady 23-yard line.

Quarterback Cody Harred took the ball on a keeper play, dropped it, and then picked it up again without losing stride, and out-ran the Grady defenders around the left end for a 23-yard touchdown. An attempt to run for the extra point was stopped by the Grady defense, but Wellman had closed the gap to 24-13. That score held at the half.

The Wildcats held Wellman scoreless in the third quarter. Midway through the period, running back Baldomar Cortez of Grady brought the crowd to its feet again with a 50-yard run to the Wellman 7-yard line. Gilbert Cortez took the ball from Garza and scored from seven yards out. Grady led 30-13. This time Garza's kick was wide to the left.

A 45-yard touchdown run by Florencio Hewtty for Grady, at the 4:20 mark in the 4th quarter, upped the score to 36-13. Garza's kick again was wide of the goal post.

Wellman narrowed the margin again with 3 minutes left in the game. Aided by a 15-yard penalty against Grady, the visitors drove to the Grady 2-yard line with carries by Rowden and Harred. Fullback

Martin Franco carried for the 2-yard touchdown. Kurtis Labadie's kick was blocked and the score was 36-19, with less than 3 minutes remaining in the game.

On their final possession, the Grady Wildcats scored again after driving to the Wellman 21-yard line. Taking the ball from Garza, Gilbert Cortez went untouched through the middle of the Wellman line for a 21-yard touchdown. Garza's kick for the final 2 points of the game was good.

"Coach Rodney Johnson did a good job in preparing our defense for this game," said Coach Gonzales. "He changed our defensive keying system for this game and it worked out real well."

Gonzales cited Danny Valle, L.V. Welch, and Johnny Britton for their blocking on offense and Mike McKaskle for his play on both defense and offense.

"We won't be taking Borden County lightly," Gonzales said concerning next week's play-off game. "They're greatly improved since we played them in September. They have their great running back Jimmy Rios back now and we'll have to figure out some way to stop him if we're going to be able to win."

C-City ends season with loss to Midland, 29-20

COLORADO CITY - The Colorado City Wolves lost the final game of the season here Friday night to the Midland Greenwood Rangers, 29-20.

The Wolves took control of the air, passing for 164 yards, while holding Greenwood to 52 yards. C-City completed seven of 22 pass attempts; the Rangers five of 13.

There were several turnovers in the game, but neither team were able to capitalize.

Midland had eight penalties for a loss of 65 yards, plus three fumbles were lost.

Colorado City was penalized once for 15 yards, and lost one fumble.

The Wolves scored first, five minutes into the quarter. Robbie Smith, Colorado City's quarterback, completed a three yard pass to Jason Lawson. Smith's extra point gave the Wolves a 7-0 lead over the Rangers.

Shan Cumba scored for the Rangers with 1:54 left in the quarter. Cumba ran four yards for the touchdown, and Eric Clutter's two-point conversion put the Rangers up by one, 8-7.

The only score in the second quarter was the result of a 28 yard run by Mark Smith for the Wolves. The PAT was no good, the Wolves pulled ahead 13-8, with 1:09 left in the half.

Neither team scored in the third quarter.

The Rangers scored first in the final quarter when Joe Kilgore took the ball in from two yards out early in the quarter. Greenwood's quarterback Cody Mebane ran for the two point conversion to put Greenwood out front, 16-13.

The Rangers kept the momentum going, scoring again. Kilgore ran four yards for the score. The PAT was no good no good, increasing the Rangers lead 22-13.

The Wolves followed with a score of their own on a flea flicker play that was almost called back. Kevin

Green made a 73-yard touchdown run, but a dispute arose concerning quarterback Smith's ground contact. After a discussion among the officials, the score was allowed to stand. Smith's PAT brought the Wolves within two points of the Rangers with 2:34 left to go, 22-20.

A little over 30 seconds later, the Rangers increased their lead, scoring with 1:55 left in the game. Cumba ran 10 yards for the touchdown and Jerry Gay's PAT added the final point of the game, 29-20.

The Wolves finish the season with 2-3 in district and 4-5-1 for the year.

The Rangers are 3-2 for district and 8-2 for the year.

Drought ends Borden County on

GAIL — For the first time in 18 years, the Borden County Coyotes are going to be able to do more than merely wonder what it would be like to be in a playoff game.

By virtue of a 40-18 victory over Loraine last Friday, the Coyotes laid claim to their first district championship since 1972.

One would think that finally breaking such a long string of futility would be cause for wild celebration in this community 45 miles northeast of Big Spring.

Not so. There are no banners proclaiming the Coyotes' feats to be seen around town, no large crowds gathered at football practice. It's as if the team's accomplishment was more a matter of relief than anything else.

This almost nonchalant attitude is reflected by the team itself. Make no mistake: The Coyotes are more than happy to finally shed their long-standing playoff jinx, but they're not giggling themselves silly over the fact, either.

Asked if he was surprised the Coyotes did so well this year, first-year Head Coach Bobby Avery said: "Not really. I had a feeling they had it in them when I got here.

"I was impressed when I had over 21 kids come out for two-a-days back in August," he added. "I knew there was some talent in that group, and I knew that if we played ball, we could win district."

Borden had a chance to reach the playoffs last season, but lost its last two games to Grady and Sands, finishing third in the district race. The difference between then and now, several players say, is an improved team attitude.

"There's more team spirit," senior end Paul Sturdivant said. "We play more as a team now than just as individuals . . . plus we had a big change in the coaching.

"When we first came out here, Coach Avery started us running — and we're still running. Plus, he's brought out a fun side to the game," Sturdivant added.

"Coach Avery came out and put some spirit into us," senior running back Jimmy Rios said. "We're having fun this year. It's a team, not just an individual.

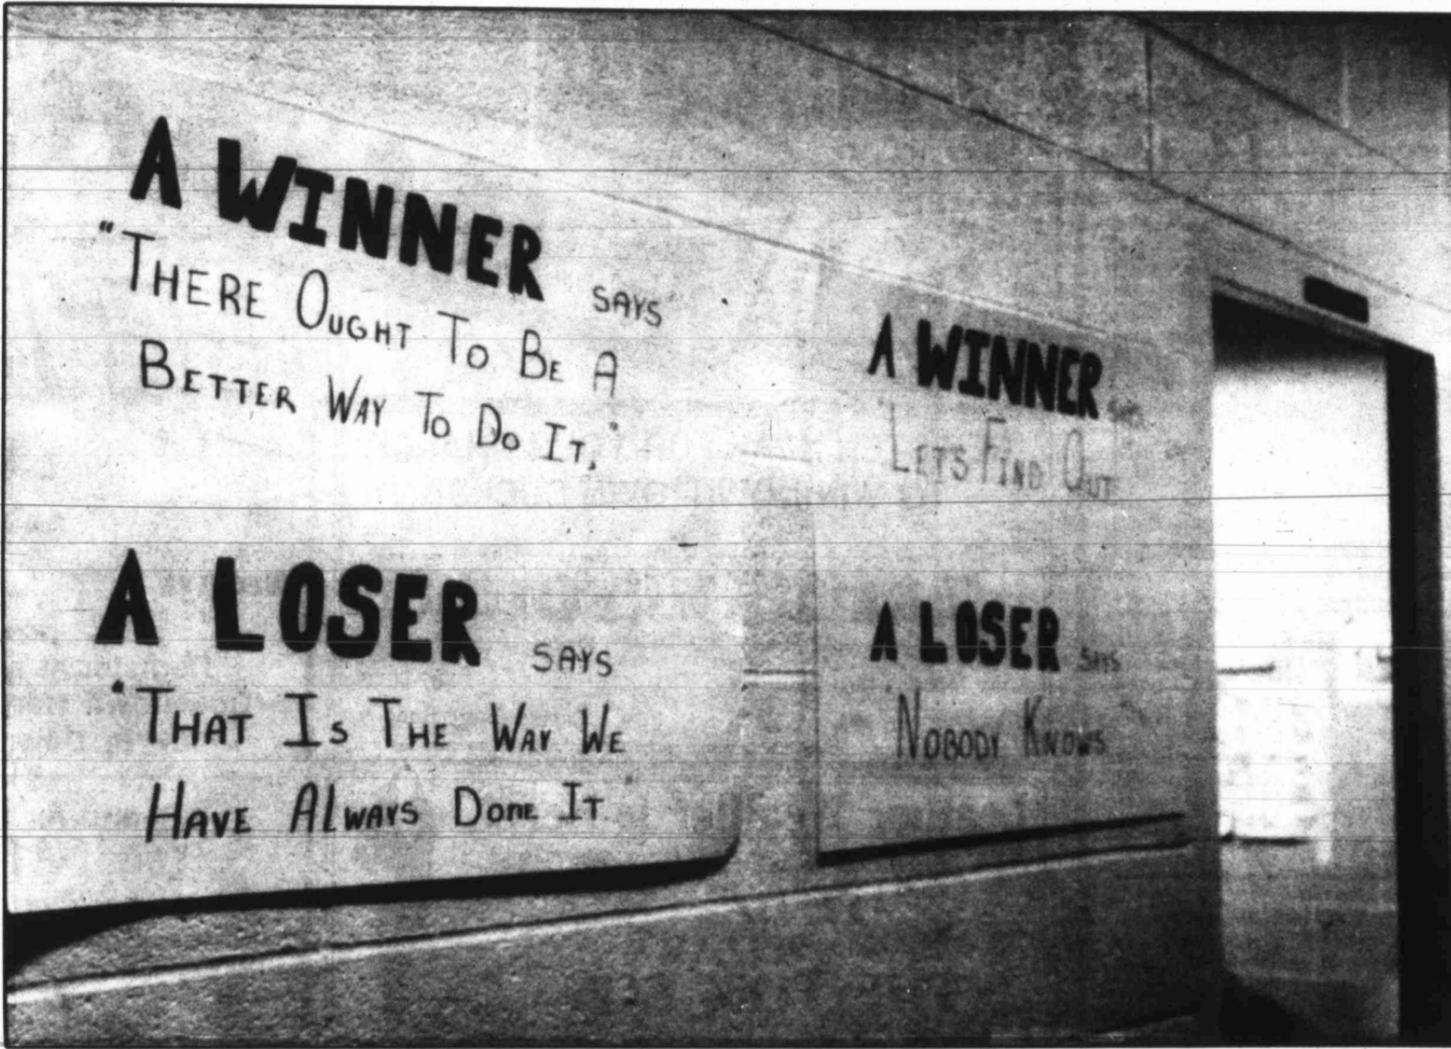

"Last year, it was like just individuals playing. This year, we're playing as a team," Rios added. "It's fun. We enjoy it."

Another player having fun this season is senior cornerback Rod Jeter, playing his first year of six-man ball after transferring from Haskell.

"This is my first year playing six-man ball, and it's fun," he said. "I'm having more fun this year than any other. There are a great bunch of guys out here. Also, it's like a family."

"We didn't do anything different," senior Cole Vestal said. "We just decided we wanted to win some football games . . . We got into an easier district (District 6-A) — that's about the best thing. And we got a new coach. That helped.

"I can't really tell you (what the difference is)," he added. "We just decided it was time to win some playoff trail

football games. We started district by beating Hermleigh, and we took it one game at a time after that."

"I really don't know what the difference is," coach Avery said. "When I asked the seniors that, their answer was that they were finally having fun, and that they were playing as a team."

Avery said the turning point this season, ironically enough, came in the Coyotes' game against Loop, the school Avery left to come to Borden.

"We were 21 points down in the first quarter, and had to spend the rest of the game playing catch-up," he said. "(Quarterback) Shane Kemper was in the hospital with pneumonia and Jimmy Rios had hurt his ankle and wasn't yet at 100 percent."

"Climbing back into that ballgame — even though we lost (24-21) — that was the turning point of the season," Avery said.

Some of his players disagree on this point.

"After we beat Klondike at homecoming, we didn't want to lose after that," Kemper said. "(Coach Avery) took control over us. He made us run a lot more and made us work harder."

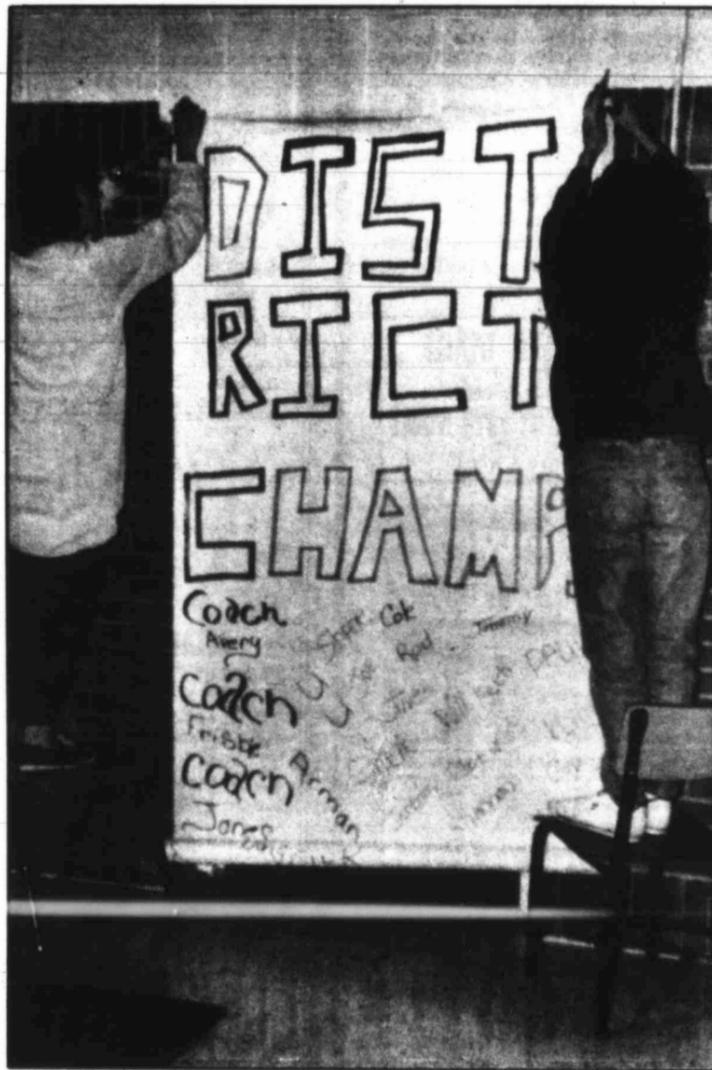

"Homecoming was our spark," Vestal agreed. "We hadn't won homecoming since I was a freshman, and we had just lost three in a row."

Avery also said the team has celebrated its district title in a level-headed fashion.

"Everyone's having fun, but they're still a disciplined team," he said. "As far as the playoffs go, they've never been there... but I really think they'll be up to play..."

"We're as ready as we'll ever be," Vestal said. "If we don't win a game in the playoffs, I'll be satisfied — but I would like to win them all."

"I really don't know how to react, since this is our first year in the playoffs," Rios said. "But we're getting better and better every day."

Coahoma loses close game to Ozona, 14-12

OZONA- Coahoma's Bulldogs traveled to Ozona Friday night to face the Lions. The Lions' claws proved to be too sharp, with the Bulldogs coming up short, 14-12. Ozona played its game in the air, with five of 12 passes covering 117 yards. Coahoma's ground offense managed 223 yards rushing, with six of 14 pass attempts making 66 yards.

Buffaloes end season with win

GILBERT RODRIQUES

GENARO AGUIRRE

McCAMEY — The last game of district play was a triumph for the Forsan Buffaloes Friday night, as they won their final game against the McCamey Badgers 33-19.

Scoring got underway early in the game with Gilbert Rodriques' 66-yard run for the first TD of the game. Stephen East kicked the point after, taking the Buffaloes to an early 7-0 lead over the Badgers.

Still early in the first quarter, with 8:52 remaining, McCamey's Jimmy Salinas received a 41-yard pass from quarterback Andy Stinson. Matt Jones' kick was good, and the score was knotted at 7-7.

With 4:31 to go in the first period, Forsan's Gilbert Rodriques made a 4-yard run, with Stephen East following with another good kick. The score after the first quarter was 14-7.

There was only one scoring play in the second quarter, when the Buffaloes' East passed to Genaro Aguirre with 10:18 remaining in the half. The point-after attempt was unsuccessful, and the score going into the half was 21-7.

With 11:45 to go in the third quarter, the Badgers' Daniel Ramirez made a 66-yard run for the next TD. Matt Jones' kick for the extra point was blocked, leaving the score at 21-13.

McCamey's next try for victory came with only 3:17 remaining in the third quarter on a 45-yard run by Jimmy Salinas. The extra-point attempt again was no good, and the score moved to 21-19.

In the fourth quarter, Forsan moved ahead by a respectable margin on two short scoring drives. The first came with 3:38 to go in the game on a 2-yard scramble by quarterback East. The extra-point attempt failed. The second effort was made with only one second remaining in the game when QB East again lunged in from one yard out. The extra-point was not attempted, and the final score was 33-19.

Forsan ended the season with a record of 2-8 for the year and 1-5 in district play. McCamey ends the season with an overall record of 3-7.

'Horns ready for big game with Cougars

By The ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Texas Longhorns play their most important game since the 1984 Cotton Bowl on Saturday.

Texas lost the national title when the Longhorns fell to Georgia 10-9. While a national championship isn't at stake, Texas is heading toward the Cotton Bowl again with third-ranked Houston as a big roadblock.

The Cougars have won the last three games by a composite score of 173-64.

Houston, which isn't eligible for the Cotton Bowl because of NCAA infractions during the Bill Yeoman era, is a field goal favorite over the Longhorns in the 6:37 p.m. game in Memorial Stadium.

The game will be televised by ESPN.

Texas is the only Southwest Conference team eligible for the title without a league loss.

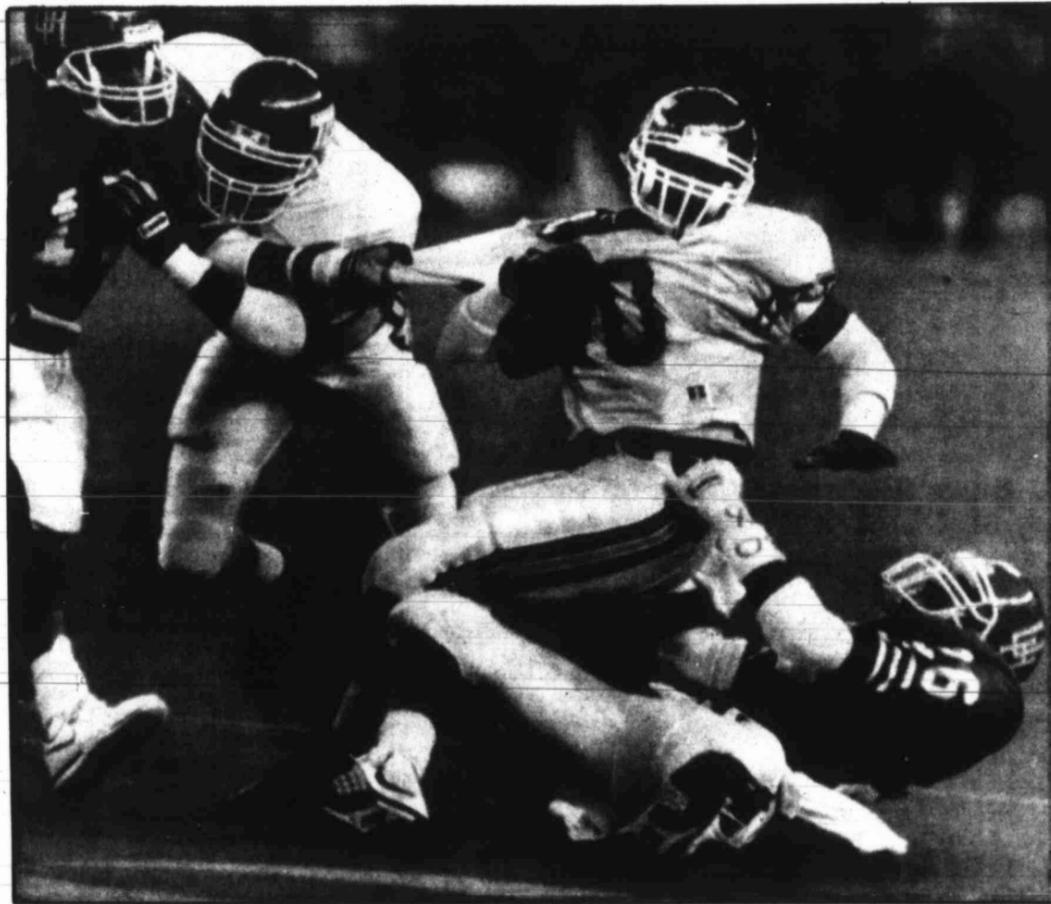

In other games, Baylor tries to stay in the title chase when it hosts hapless Arkansas on homecoming in a 12:07 p.m. (Raycom TV) matchup, Texas Christian entertains Texas Tech at home, and Rice stays in Houston to host Southern Methodist.

Odds makers installed Baylor as a 12-point pick, TCU a 7-point choice, and Rice a 21-point favorite.

Texas A&M, the only other conference team with less than two league losses, is idle.

Texas has lost only to Colorado and has perhaps its most complete team in the David McWilliams era.

"The past three scores against Houston aren't the motivation," McWilliams said. "Our prime concerns are that Houston is the No. 3

HOUSTON — Texas Christian University's Richard Woodley (20) struggles for more yardage as Houston Cougars' Daniel Johnson (26) hangs on as teammate Jerry Parks (17) comes up to help. The Cougars will play Texas today.

in the country and we're in the running for the Cotton Bowl. When you lose, it doesn't matter what the margins are or were. We've lost some close games to Texas Tech, and the Houston losses weren't any worse because of the scores." Although Houston can't go to a bowl, a lot is at stake for the Cougars, including a possible national title and coach John Jenkins' chance to make history. Should Houston win, it would make him the first rookie coach to go through an SWC schedule unscathed.

"This game will be a great opportunity with the national television audience for us to show everyone that we might be capable of being number one," Jenkins said. "Every week we tell our players we are eligible for a whipping as well as being able to administer a whipping. Our team has no self pity about the NCAA probation. There has been no probation attitude. Every week is a bowl game for us."

Texas' last win over Houston was 30-10 in 1986 in Memorial Stadium.

"We can't get into a throwing contest with Houston," McWilliams said. "You can never have too many points against Houston."

Texas will have to stop the nation's total offense leader, quarterback David Klingler, who has thrown seven touchdown passes in each of the last two games.

"Klingler seems to throw the deep ball better than Andre Ware," McWilliams said. "I've been impressed how many times Houston has come back to win games behind Klingler."

Arkansas has lost five consecutive SWC games for the first time since 1945. Rookie head coach Jack Crowe has yet to record his first league win for the Razorbacks, who said they decided to leave the SWC for the stiffer competition of the Southeastern Conference.

Holtz worried about Irish's defense

By The ASSOCIATED PRESS

It's as easy as 1-2-3.

No. 1 Notre Dame needs a victory to retain its loftiest of perches.

No. 2 Washington needs a loss by the Irish and a victory of its own to move up.

No. 3 Houston, on bowl-forbidden probation, would love another weekend of upsets that could give it — as the nation's only unblemished major college football team — the status of being on top despite all.

"I'm worried," Notre Dame coach Lou Holtz said of his team's clash Saturday with ninth-ranked Tennessee.

He should be, considering his Irish are one of four teams to have fallen from the top this season.

"I'm concerned with how we'll match up," Holtz said. "We haven't been able to hold many people to under 20 points, and yet it'll be difficult for us to score many points on Tennessee."

Should the Irish fail in their quest at Knoxville, Tenn., Washington would be the heir apparent with a victory when it hosts UCLA. Houston, which plays at No. 14 Texas, is next in line.

Elsewhere in games involving the Top 10, it will be No. 4 Colorado vs. Oklahoma State, No. 6 Iowa vs. Ohio State, No. 7 Georgia Tech vs. Virginia Tech, No. 8 Brigham Young at No. 25 Wyoming, and No. 10 Florida vs. Georgia at Jacksonville.

Also, it will be No. 11 Virginia at North Carolina, No. 12 Florida State vs. Cincinnati, No. 13 Nebraska at Kansas, No. 15 Auburn vs. Southern Mississippi, No. 17 Illinois at No. 19 Michigan, No. 20 Oregon at California, No. 21 Penn State vs. Maryland, No. 22 Louisville vs. Boston College, No. 23 Southern Cal at Oregon State, and No. 24 Michigan State at Minnesota.

Holtz does have reason for concern. Notre Dame (7-1) allows 23.7 points per game and has held just two teams — Michigan State got 19 and Purdue 11 — below 20.

"We're giving up 25 points and nearly 400 yards a game," Holtz said. "I've never heard of a good team doing that."

"If there were answers to our defensive problems we would have found them before our ninth game."

The Irish offense, led by Rick Mirer and Rocket Ismail, is averaging 35.6 points and 434 yards per game. The offense has scored at least 30 points five times. "This team is richly talented," Tennessee coach Johnny Majors said of Notre Dame. "This is the kind of team that can blow you out, I don't care who you are."

"Lou will try to tell you they don't have the talent that a lot of other folks have, but they have a lot and it's well coached."

Tennessee (5-1-2) has an outside shot at the Southeastern Conference championship and its accompanying Sugar Bowl berth.

"The national championship will come if it's there," Washington cornerback Dana Hall said when asked where he thought the Huskies (8-1) might be in next week's poll. "It's on your mind, but you don't want to focus on one thing so much that you lose sight of what you really want to do. We just want to win our next game."

Washington has clinched the Pac-10 Conference title and a Rose Bowl berth last week. But Hall, who intercepted a pass and blocked a punt last week in a 54-10 victory over Arizona, doesn't think the Huskies will have a letdown against UCLA (4-5).

The Mustangs' Randall Lepard carried the ball 23 times for a total of 151 yards and one TD, and Gregg Ruffin added 106 yards and one TD to his season total on seven carries.

At 6:13 to go in the game, David Hall received a 14-yard pass from David Ritchey and took it in for the next score. A fumble on the snap prevented the extra point, and the score went to 13-0.

With Friday night's game, which was the final game of the season, the Sweetwater Mustangs' record is 8-2 for the year and 5-1 in district play. Ft. Stockton is 3-6 for the year and 1-4 in district.

NFL commissioner blasts Arizona

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — NFL Commissioner Paul Tagliabue says it would be hypocritical of the league to expect the players to be role models but ignore a snub to a man who is a hero to many of them.

Tagliabue has recommended that the 1993 Super Bowl be played somewhere besides Arizona because voters there on Tuesday rejected a statewide holiday in memory of slain civil rights leader Martin Luther King Jr.

In the NFL, 60 percent of the players are black.

"Many of our players regard Martin Luther king as a role model," Tagliabue said Friday during a visit to the University of Tennessee. "We're encouraging them to be role models, and I think it would be unfair to ask them to go play their championship game in that state in these circumstances. It's a charged environment and a charged issue."

Tagliabue said the Super Bowl is too big an event for King holidays in both Phoenix, the capital, and Tempe, where the game would be played, to override the negative image from this week's vote.

"The mayor of Phoenix raised that with our office," Tagliabue said. "But I think as a practical matter it's an Arizona game, and we have to deal with the issue on a statewide and national level and not on a municipal level."

He said his stance has not changed.

"We just concluded it would not be in the best interests of the NFL to play that Super Bowl in Arizona, and we're looking at alternatives now," he said.

Tagliabue said he would probably recommend an alternative to the owners at the annual league meeting in March.

Federal jury indicts Vikings kicker

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Minnesota Vikings placekicker Donald Igwebuike was indicted today by a federal grand jury on charges he schemed to smuggle heroin from his native Nigeria.

Igwebuike was charged on three counts of a four-count indictment that also named Maduwuba Ibekwe and Ibezim Ofedu, who already had been arrested and charged in the case.

Ibekwe, a taxi driver and substitute teacher in Hillsborough County, was arrested Oct. 12 at Orlando International Airport where a personal search by a U.S. Customs Service inspector allegedly resulted in the discovery of three pellets containing heroin. The charges against Igwebuike were contained in a superseding indictment that added the football player to the allegations. A previous indictment named only Ibekwe and Ofedu.

According to an arrest affidavit, the pellets were about the size of a man's thumb and wrapped in black electrical tape. They were found covered with feces and wrapped in a paper towel in Ibekwe's pants.

Ibekwe, who allegedly swallowed 31 packets of heroin before boarding his flight to Orlando, was released from a hospital three days later after he passed more packets.

Ibekwe, earlier charged with importation of heroin, pleaded innocent and is being held without bond at the Hillsborough County Jail.

Ofedu also was denied bond after court records said he accepted about 400 grams of heroin from an undercover customs agent. Ofedu, earlier charged with conspiracy to import heroin and possession with intent to distribute, told agents after his arrest he intended to distribute the drug in New York City, according to records.

Igwebuike's lawyer has said the football player is a victim of circumstantial evidence, which reportedly includes a plane ticket Igwebuike bought for Ibekwe and taped telephone conversations between the men.

Lawyer Larry Reed said Igwebuike simply wanted Ibekwe to rush $12,000 to his parents in Anambra, Nigeria. Reed said the kicker's parents received the money.

Custom agents searched Igwebuike's Bloomington, Minn., apartment the day after the ABC report and reportedly seized telephone records and other personal papers.

Igwebuike has been one of the most accurate and consistent placekickers in the NFL during his career. He spent five years with the Buccaneers and is the club's all-time leading scorer with 416 points.

Bucs coach Ray Perkins released him just before the start of this season, saying rookie Steve Christie has a stronger leg and had the potential to become a better kicker. Minnesota claimed Igwebuike off waivers, and he has made 14 of 16 field goals since joining the Vikings.

Ironically, one of the missed attempts was a 48-yarder that would have beaten Tampa Bay in overtime Sept. 30. Christie later won the game for the Bucs with a field goal.

Igwebuike was charged with conspiracy to import, conspiracy to possess with intent to distribute and the importation of heroin.

Ricky Williams, Igwebuike's Tampa lawyer, said the player planned to turn himself in to Tampa authorities today.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco 49ers are finding it hard to be satisfied with perfection. Winning two straight Super Bowls does that to a team.

"I can't say we're firing on all cylinders all the time," coach George Seifert said. "I can't say we make the right decisions all the time. We've made enough good plays and enough right decisions to get us to this point."

This from the coach of a team that has not lost since last November. The 49ers are 8-0 this season. They have won 16 games in a row, two short of the NFL record, and they have won 15 consecutive road games, an NFL record.

So what's not to like? The 49ers' running game and defensive backfield are good places to start. Only outstanding complementary parts have hidden San Francisco's shortcomings to this point.

San Francisco rushed for 34 yards against Green Bay last Sunday. The 49ers are averaging 81.3 yards rushing per game, worst in the NFC and 24th in the league. Roger Craig has been hurt, but he was not on track for great rushing achievements — he averaged a career-low 2.7 yards per carry — before tearing a ligament in his right knee last month.

Rookie Dexter Carter is San Francisco's leading rusher with 192 yards on 56 carries.

"We're concerned about it," Seifert said of the 49ers' ground game. "... It's something we've got to get better at."

The reason the 49ers' poor running game has not cost them a loss is because of Joe Montana's passing. With Montana on pace to pass for 5,000 yards this season, the 49ers lead the league in total offense. Montana has thrown for 2,545 yards and 19 touchdowns, dwarfing his eight-game production of last season (1,623 yards and 11 touchdowns).

The 49ers have yielded 233.3 passing yards per game, 24th in the league and more than any of their four Super Bowl teams (1981-84-88-89) allowed.

"I think we're capable of playing better (against the pass)," Seifert said. "We're still searching for the right combination. I don't know that we've totally found ourselves as far as what style is best."

Jordan scores 41; Bulls hand Boston first loss

BOSTON (AP) — Michael Jordan scored 41 points, including 14 in a decisive third period, and the Chicago Bulls handed the Boston Celtics their first defeat, 120-100 on Friday night.

The Bulls, beaten at home by the Celtics on Tuesday night, built a commanding lead in the third quarter and went on to just their third victory in their last 15 regular-season appearances at Boston Garden.

The Celtics, who won their first three games under new coach Chris Ford, last led 63-62 at the start of the second half. But Jordan drove in for a dunk and added 10 more points in a 19-7 run.

B.J. Armstrong had 16 points and Stacey King added 14 for Chicago. Boston was led by Kevin McHale with 24 points and Larry Bird with 23.

Timberwolves 106, Hornets 77
MINNEAPOLIS — Tony Campbell scored 26 points, and Minnesota held Charlotte to 27 points in the first half as the Timberwolves won by the greatest margin in their short history.

Tyrone Corbin added 20 points and 13 rebounds for Minnesota, which beat Seattle 110-82 last season. Pooh Richardson had 18 points and 13 assists for the Timberwolves, who snapped a three-game losing streak and surpassed the 100-point mark for the first time this season.

Johnny Newman led Charlotte with 16 points and J.R. Reid added 14. Minnesota held Charlotte to 13 points in the second quarter, a record-low defensively for the second-year franchise.

Bucks 108, Bullets 100
LANDOVER, Md. — Rickey Pierce scored 14 of his 25 points in the fourth quarter as Milwaukee stretched its winning streak to four games by beating Washington.

Bernard King, who had 34 points, pulled Washington within one on a layup with 3:20 remaining. But Pierce scored seven straight points, putting the Bucks in front 101-93 with 2:19 to play.

Jay Humphries scored 24 points for the Bucks and Alvin Robertson added 19.

Darrell Walker scored 21 points for the Bullets.

Tarpley, the Mavericks' leading scorer and rebounder, injured his right kneecap with 18 seconds left in the first quarter. He is questionable for Tuesday night's game at Orlando. Lever was not in uniform because of swelling on his right knee, and the club announced he will undergo arthroscopic surgery next week.

Nick Anderson led Orlando (0-5) with 29 points. Derek Harper had 22 points for Dallas, including three 3-pointers.

Pacers 122, Cavaliers 107
INDIANAPOLIS — Four 3-pointers by Chuck Person and three by Reggie Miller lifted Indiana over Cleveland.

Miller scored 13 of his 28 points in the final quarter when Indiana pulled away after taking an 87-77 lead into the period. A 3-pointer by Miller gave the Pacers their largest lead, 122-102 with 41 seconds remaining.

Person scored 22 points for Indiana, which got 11 rebounds from Detlef Schrempf. Craig Ehlo led the Cavaliers with 21 points.

SuperSonics 135, Nuggets 129
DENVER — Xavier McDaniel scored 27 points and Dana Barros 21 as unbeaten Seattle defeated winless Denver.

The Nuggets (0-5), averaging 139 points and giving up 152, toned down their record-breaking offensive style, but it made little difference to the SuperSonics (3-0), who hit 51.4 percent to Denver's 43.3.

A layup by Barros and Gary Payton's free throw put Seattle ahead by nine points before Walter Davis, who scored 41 for Denver, hit consecutive 3-pointers to make it 129-126 with 1:15 to go. But Payton's jumper and three free throws by Barros made 134-126 with 21 seconds left.

Orlando Woolridge scored 30 points and Todd Lichti 23 for the Nuggets.

Trail Blazers 113, Pistons 101
PORTLAND, Ore. — Terry Porter had 29 points and 10 assists and Kevin Duckworth scored 27 points to lead unbeaten Portland over Detroit in a rematch of last season's NBA finalists.

Portland (4-0) handed Detroit its 21st straight regular season loss at Memorial Coliseum. The Trail Blazers shot 57 percent to just 44 by the Pistons, who got 30 points from Mark Aguirre.

Lakers 100, Kings 86
INGLEWOOD, Calif. — Magic Johnson scored 25 points as Los Angeles won its first game while extending its homecourt winning streak against Sacramento to 42 games.

James Worthy added 18 points for the Lakers, who avoided their first season-opening three-game losing streak since 1978.

Bobby Hansen scored 18 points for the Kings, who have lost 10 in a row to the Lakers and 25 of 27 since moving from Kansas City to Sacramento.

Warriors 143, Hawks 128
OAKLAND, Calif. — Chris Mullin scored 40 points as Golden State handed Atlanta its first loss.

Mitch Richmond added 29 points and Tim Hardaway 28 for the Warriors.

Tarpley, Mavs breathe sigh of relief over extent of injury

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Mavericks were a relieved bunch of basketball players Friday night, and it wasn't because they avoided becoming the first team to lose to the Orlando Magic this season.

The Mavericks had learned that Roy Tarpley's knee injury, a partial dislocation of the right kneecap, was much less serious than it looked when he went down in extreme pain with 18 seconds left in the first quarter of Dallas' 111-99 victory.

"When I was with the Knickerbockers, Bernard King went down, and he had a look on his face just like Roy's," Dallas coach Richie Adubato said. "All I could see was anterior cruciate ligament and a year and a half of rehab. Thank God that didn't happen."

After popping the kneecap back into place, team doctors predicted Tarpley will be out two weeks. Fat Lever, who didn't dress because of fluid buildup on his right knee, will undergo arthroscopic surgery next week and be out from three to six weeks.

Rolando Blackman, who scored 25 of his 34 points in the second half, had a similar reaction to Adubato's.

"I thought 'Ron Harper,' and 'out for the year,'" said Blackman, who saw then-Clipper guard Harper injured last year. "I'm glad it wasn't that bad, and he'll be back soon."

The Mavericks' more immediate problem was the winless Magic, who shot 58 percent in the first half and led by as many as six points.

"They were shooting well and playing hard and aggressive," Blackman said. "We had to step it up and get some defense and our offensive intensity going."

"Our press helped us get three or four turnovers at crucial times," Adubato said, "and Ro was on fire."

Magic coach Matt Goukas said he had "a sick feeling" when he saw Tarpley go down.

"But I'm just trying to figure out my team," Goukas said. "We've been shooting so poorly and shooting was the reason we were in it tonight, because we weren't doing anything else."

When Blackman took over, Goukas said, "We didn't have anybody (to cool him off). That's why we're where we are."

Orlando, which had a six-point lead in the second quarter, led 73-72 with 2:46 left in the third when Blackman fed James Donaldson for a short jumper that put Dallas ahead to stay and started a 7-0 run. Orlando scored only five points in the next six minutes, committing two 24-second violations.

Nick Anderson led Orlando with 29 points. Derek Harper had 22 for Dallas, including three 3-pointers.

The Magic shot 58 percent in the first half and trailed 52-51 at halftime.

Historic Soviet-German treaty a reality

BONN, Germany (AP) — Soviet President Mikhail S. Gorbachev signed an historic non-aggression treaty with united Germany on Friday and won praise from German leaders for his role in the peaceful fall of the Berlin Wall.

Gorbachev's first visit to united Germany coincided with the one-year anniversary of the opening of the wall and came just five weeks after East Germany, Moscow's longtime Warsaw Pact ally, merged into the new Germany.

German Chancellor Helmut Kohl and Gorbachev stressed the importance of the changes that have allowed closer ties between Bonn and Moscow as they signed the broad agreement that is to serve as the basis of future relations.

But the Soviet Union's huge internal troubles were also part of talks between the two leaders.

After a state dinner for Gorbachev late Friday, the head of Daimler-Benz, Germany's largest company, said emergency deliveries of food and clothing to the Soviet Union may be needed this winter.

"I have you to thank Mr. President, for the decisive contribution so that Germany, our fatherland, could unify on Oct. 3 in peace and freedom and in agreement with all its neighbors."

"Everyone is awaiting a very difficult, terrible and hard winter," Daimler-Benz chief Edzard Reuter said of the situation in the Soviet Union. "There must be immediate help."

In the treaty, initialed in Moscow on Sept. 13, both nations pledged not to attack the other and to honor the borders of all European nations.

"We are closing the book on the painful past and clearing the way for a new beginning," Kohl said in a speech at the signing ceremony.

After a short-lived alliance, Germany attacked the Soviet Union at the start of World War II. About 26 million Soviets were killed.

The new non-aggression treaty, one of three signed Friday, replaces agreements that once linked the Soviet Union to West Germany and East Germany. Moscow's ties to East Germany long hindered better relations with Bonn.

"I have you to thank Mr. President, for the decisive contribution so that Germany, our fatherland, could unify on Oct. 3 in peace and freedom and in agreement with all its neighbors," Kohl said at a joint news conference with Gorbachev.

President Richard von Weizsaecker said the fall of the Berlin Wall, which paved the way for unity, "would not have been possible" without Gorbachev's political reforms.

Earlier in the day, Gorbachev and his wife, Raisa, stopped to chat with a crowd waiting for him outside the government's Villa Hammerschmidt palace next to the Rhine River.

Rare disease drug bill stirs Bush veto

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Bush on Friday vetoed a bill intended to block drug companies from reaping windfall profits through monopolistic marketing of drugs that treat rare diseases.

The bill applies to "orphan drugs" used against diseases that affect fewer than 200,000 people. It was designed to foster more competition by eliminating the 7-year exclusive marketing rights granted under current law to companies that develop such drugs.

Bush withheld his signature from the bill, and in taking no action at a time when Congress is not in session killed it through what is known as a pocket veto.

"I have serious concerns about the effect that (the bill) would have upon the incentive of drug companies to develop orphan drugs," Bush said in a statement.

Rep. Henry Waxman, D-Calif., chief sponsor of the bill in the House, said he was "really shocked" that Bush did not sign the bill because the White House had "never made a fuss" previously about the legislation.

The White House contends that taking away the exclusivity benefit actually would decrease the willingness of firms to come up with orphan drugs because of the expense involved in the research and development.

The legislation Bush vetoed would have amended the 1983 Orphan Drug Act that established the 7-year marketing monopoly as an incentive for companies to develop drugs that don't promise as large a profit as drugs that are used against more widely prevalent diseases.

"I have serious concerns about the effect that (the bill) would have upon the incentive of drug companies to develop orphan drugs."

"I believe we must not endanger the success of this program, which is due in large measure to the existence of the 'market exclusivity' provision in the Orphan Drug Act," Bush said. "Weakening the current 7-year period is the basis of the economic incentive to attract drug firms to invest in orphan drugs."

Critics, however, complain the current law has resulted in excessively high prices for some drugs, including those used to treat AIDS, and millions of dollars in profits by the drug firms.

Bush also objected to changing the current law's provision that allows orphan drug status to diseases that affect more than 200,000 people when there is no reasonable expectation that the cost of developing the drug will be recovered from sales.

The new legislation would have cut off a drug's orphan drug status as soon as the number of people who need the drug exceeded 200,000.

FRUIT HEIGHTS, Utah — A 6-year-old gelding named Radar is airlifted to safety after being stranded in a box canyon for the past 17 days.

Family is thrilled; injured man's freed

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP) — The family of Miles Hoffman, who was shot in the arm by Iraqi troops in Kuwait and held at a chemical plant near Baghdad, said Friday they were elated that the 33-year-old financial analyst has been freed.

"The first order of business will be to take care of that arm," said Hoffman's brother, Chancellor. "He needs to get to the hospital."

Hoffman was one of three Americans and 174 other Westerners who flew to freedom in Germany on Friday after talks between Iraqi President Saddam Hussein and former West German Chancellor Willy Brandt. They had been detained since Iraqi forces overran Kuwait Aug. 2.

Hoffman's family said he was shot when Iraqi soldiers tried to force their way into his Kuwait City apartment on Sept. 5. The bullet shattered a bone in his left forearm and he was hospitalized for about a week.

He was later held at a strategic chemical plant 45 miles south of Baghdad, they said. Westerners in Iraq have been used as "human shields" to deter attack by the U.S.-led multinational forces stationed in the Persian Gulf.

Hoffman, 33, a financial analyst with the Kuwaiti government, wore a cast on his arm and appeared to be in pain. Some reports said gangrene had developed from the wound.

"It's just marvelous. It's just wonderful," Hoffman's mother, Ann, said of his release.

planning a welcome home party just yet.

"If he wants one, we'll have one," she said.

Mrs. Hoffman said her son probably will have other things on his mind, such as getting a job.

"He'll do exactly what he wants to do," she said. "But I don't think he'll stay here."

Hoffman's British fiancée, 27-year-old Nicola Murgatroyd, was scheduled to arrive in Baghdad on Friday.

Ms. Murgatroyd, who had planned to marry Hoffman Aug. 17, was among 11 British women who traveled to Baghdad Friday.

Budget battle an SSC setback

DALLAS (AP) — Funding trouble will push back completion of the superconducting super collider by a year to 1999, the government official in charge of the project said Friday.

Deputy Energy Secretary Henson Moore said the government budget crunch and uncertainty over the final price of the collider caused the revision.

"For us to be able to finish it in 1998, we'd have to get $1.2 billion next year," Moore said.

An earlier construction schedule required $600 million for the collider in 1992. A "ramp-up" doubling the request would be difficult to achieve, he said.

Moore could not be specific about what the department would now seek for 1992, he said. It depends partly on a final price tag still being hammered out between the DOE and budget planners, Moore said. He suggested it would be about $8.2 billion.

PUC asked for Bell reductions

AUSTIN (AP) — Consumer representatives Friday asked the Public Utility Commission to lower Southwestern Bell Telephone Co.'s rates by $392 million to $717 million a year until its current case is decided.

Southwestern Bell said such low rates would be unwarranted and that the PUC could not take such action.

Two PUC administrative law judges on Thursday rejected a proposed settlement in the rate case reached by Southwestern Bell and 25 other parties.

In a recommendation to the three-member regulatory commission, the judges said the proposed settlement, which would not reduce rates for basic service, would give customers a much smaller benefit than touted by Southwestern Bell.

Plane's wreckage scoured for details

NACOGDOCHES (AP) — Federal investigators were sifting Friday through wreckage of a twin-engine plane that crashed while attempting to land at an East Texas airport, killing all five people aboard.

The National Transportation Safety Board was trying to determine what caused the plane to dive into a wooded area on approach to A.L. Magnum Airport on Thursday.

The Piper Aerostar crashed about 6 p.m. eight miles west of Nacogdoches, near Lake Nacogdoches.

Workers' comp battle begins anew

AUSTIN (AP) — The insurance industry that successfully fought for workers' compensation reform in a bruising legislative battle last year, called for a nearly 19 percent increase in workers' comp rates Friday.

The workers' comp law was the product of two hotly contested special legislative sessions in which insurers fought lawyers representing injured workers over who was to blame for skyrocketing workers' comp costs.

Robert Hilton, vice president of the National Council on Compensation Insurance, said the law was needed, but that the insurance industry still needs an 18.8 percent increase.

"Although the Texas compensation system will be greatly improv-

"Although the Texas compensation system will be greatly improved by this legislation, the current rate level is inadequate given anticipated future costs."

Robert Hilton

ed by this legislation, the current rate level is inadequate given anticipated future costs," he said.

The state's insurance consumer office disagreed, saying employer-paid workers' comp premiums should be slightly reduced.

Kay Doughty, public counsel for the Office of Consumer Protection, recommended a decrease of $20.5 million, which would be an 0.6 percent reduction.

"Employers in the state should be very pleased that we are able to recommend a decrease of any sort. It's a huge step," Ms. Doughty said.

Ms. Doughty said the rates should drop because the workers' comp overhaul will help contain medical costs paid to workers who file claims for injuries sustained while on the job.

Workers' comp premiums have increased about 200 percent over the past five years, including a 22 percent hike in 1989 and 18.6 percent increase in 1988. Total premiums in 1989, were $3.4 billion.

The State Board of Insurance will consider new workers' comp rates Nov. 19. The rates will take effect Jan. 1, 1991.

The board's staff said a 19.9 percent increase, or $975 million, is needed, but the staff did not take into account the effects of the workers' comp reform legislation.

Lee Jones, a spokesman for the board, said the board will consider the impact of the legislation when it begins its public hearing.

A consultant's report to the board said the legislation could have the effect of requiring an increase in the range of 7.9 percent to 21.9 percent.

Williams may fund own loans

HOUSTON (AP) — Former GOP gubernatorial candidate Clayton Williams may have to absorb the $8 million-plus loans he made to his campaign.

Political observers say it will be tough for Williams to raise any money to pay off the debt because he isn't viewed as a viable future candidate.

"Under the circumstances, Clayton Williams can view that as an investment in his political education," said Jack Rains, a Houston lawyer who opposed Williams in the Republican primary.

Attempts by The Associated Press to reach Williams for comment Friday were unsuccessful. A spokesman at his Houston office did not immediately return telephone calls.

Williams, who lost the gubernatorial bid to Democrat Ann Richards on Tuesday, loaned nearly $8 million to his campaign war chest of about $20 million through Oct. 27, according to campaign finance reports. Reports due in January will show if he made another infusion before Election Day.

After an election, a candidate can keep his or her campaign organization active as a business concern to pay outstanding bills, including borrowing from the candidate.

GOP consultant Karl Rove of Austin said Williams might have convinced supporters to pay back the loans if he emerged from the governor's race victorious.

"But I don't think he does (have a political future)," Rove said.

Crackdown stops hundreds

AMARILLO (AP) — Texas authorities joined police from California to North Carolina in a 24-hour traffic safety crackdown along Interstate 40 that ended early Friday.

The effort was the first involving every state crossed by the more than 2,500 miles of Interstate 40, authorities said.

In Texas, Operation 24-40 involved the entire 178 miles of the highway across the Panhandle. Throughout the period, a trooper was posted every 10 miles, said Amarillo Highway Patrol spokesman Jerry Burgtorf.

During the crackdown, 785 vehicles were stopped and 307 citations were issued for speeding.

Texas troopers also reported four drunken driving violations and assisted eleven motorists.

Burgtorf said 216 miscellaneous traffic citations were issued, and one accident was investigated.

Four criminal charges were filed, including two involving drugs and the seizure of $800, he said. In addition, one person was arrested as a fugitive, and 5 pounds of cocaine were seized, Burgtorf said.

Icy roads were reported in several of the eight states involved in the crackdown.

The effort was dubbed "Operation 24-40," for the number of hours and the interstate number.

Nationwide, nearly 5,700 tickets were issued.

Wal-Mart will buy state firm

BENTONVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Wal-Mart Stores Inc. could pay $271.6 million for a Texas grocery retail and distribution company, according to documents filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission.

The purchase of McLane Co. Inc. of Temple, Texas, would entail a stock swap for the 96-year-old firm, according to the documents.

The purchase was announced a month ago, but a price was not revealed until SEC documents were filed Wednesday.

McLane is a privately held company that supplies 12,500 types of grocery and non-grocery items to some 26,000 retail customers. McLane has been a major supplier of Wal-Mart, the discount-store chain based in Bentonville.

Wal-Mart will pay 917.66 shares of Wal-Mart stock for each of the 10,812 shares of McLane stock, the paperwork showed. Wal-Mart's closing price Thursday was $27.37½ a share, making the deal worth $271,606,630.31.

McLane shareholders could opt to sell the stock back to Wal-Mart at $26.50 a share.

Certain McLane executives would receive cash bonuses, ranging from $115,316 to $461,262.

A McLane official who asked not to be identified said Friday that the purchase price would be about $275 million.

Wal-Mart spokesman Don Shinkle said Wal-Mart would not release the purchase price.

A meeting of McLane shareholders is set Dec. 8 at the firm's corporate offices in Temple. There were 10,812 share of McLane stock Oct. 17, held by 40 people.

The purchase of the Texas firm would be Wal-Mart's third major acquisition in recent months.

Wal-Mart has 1,503 Wal-Mart discount stores, 141 Sam's wholesale clubs and four Hypermart USA stores in 34 states.

Some Keating charges may fall

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A judge on Friday ordered the dismissal of more than half the securities fraud charges against Lincoln Savings and Loan mogul Charles H. Keating Jr. unless prosecutors can amend them to his satisfaction.

Defense attorneys had urged Superior Court Judge Lance Ito to dismiss all 42 counts, contending in a dismissal motion that they were flawed by vagueness and technical problems.

Ito agreed that 22 of the 42

Tape ban extended, CNN ignores order

MIAMI (AP) — A federal judge extended a ban against broadcast of taped conversations between Manuel Noriega and his attorneys, but Cable News Network apparently defied the order Friday by playing another recording.

In the tape, Noriega discussed two potential government witnesses with his defense team, and speculated on the prosecutors' strategy.

CNN President Tom Johnson defended the broadcast, calling the judge's order "unconstitutional prior restraint."

PHILLY MAYOR EXPLAINS PLAN

Philly's financial pact planned

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Spending cuts, the sale of city assets and $125 million in new taxes are needed to avoid a virtual shutdown of city government and to raise its rock-bottom bond rating, state and local Democratic leaders said Friday.

The plan — announced by Mayor W. Wilson Goode, state House Speaker Robert W. O'Donnell and other officials — also would set up an independent control board whose authority would be triggered if the city failed to balance future budgets. "The plan represents the critical first step for the city's fiscal recovery," Goode said. "As a result of this coming together of leadership, we now have the elements necessary to solve our problems."

No City Council members or Republicans joined in the announcement, which left many details sketchy.

Other political leaders and bond-rating agencies gave the plan mixed reviews.

counts were flawed. But he gave prosecutors until Nov. 19 to submit a revised indictment. "The court will sustain the demurrer, with leave to amend," Ito said.

The next hearing in the case was set for Dec. 3.

Keating, the former head of American Continental Corp., was jailed for 33 days on a 42-count indictment. He posted a reduced bond of $300,000 last month.

American Continental controlled the Irvine-based Lincoln Savings and Loan Association. Experts have estimated Lincoln's failure may cost taxpayers $2 billion, making it the costliest thrift failure yet.

If convicted, the defendants each could receive a maximum prison term of 10 years.

Ike art, gowns before more tapes

YORBA LINDA, Calif. (AP) — The new Nixon presidential library said Friday it is delaying two Watergate tape exhibits so it can display Dwight Eisenhower paintings and first lady gowns.

The decision was strictly a financial one, said library director John Taylor, who denied that the move represents a reluctance to feature the scandal that forced Richard M. Nixon's 1974 resignation as president.

"We have a concise and compelling Watergate story. I feel confident it is all right to transfer my attentions elsewhere," Taylor said.

Ring for Jane

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Cable TV mogul Ted Turner has bought a large opal and diamond ring for actress Jane Fonda, and they apparently will be getting engaged, a Fonda spokeswoman said.

The ring, which Turner bought Tuesday at Tiffany's in Los Angeles, will be presented to Fonda on her Dec. 21 birthday, said Pat Newcomb, a publicist for the Academy Award-winning actress.

Asked if the ring was an engagement ring, Newcomb told The Associated Press: "I guess you could call it that." She described the ring as having an opal between a pair of diamonds.

The celebrity couple has no immediate plans to set a wedding date, Newcomb said.

Fonda, 52, and Turner, 51, traveled recently to the Soviet Union for the premiere of "Gone With the Wind," the crown jewel of Turner's MGM movie archives.

Harry's slowing

NEW YORK (AP) — Harry Reasoner, the folksy "60 Minutes" correspondent who helped start the top-rated CBS News program in 1968, is cutting back on his workload next season.

"It's been a nice ride, but you can't go on forever," Reasoner said Thursday.

He decided to scale back from full-time reporter status to become the show's "editor emeritus" and a "contributing correspondent." That means he'll do perhaps six reports a year instead of 20.

"I suddenly realized I'd been working 53 years, about half of it on '60 Minutes,' and I thought I'd like to take it a little easier," he said.

Reasoner, 67, began his journalism career as a Minneapolis newspaperman and has won several Emmy awards and a Peabody award for his broadcast work.

Cheers, 'Cheers'

BOSTON (AP) — Ted Danson, Kirstie Alley and other regulars of TV's most famous neighborhood bar celebrated the 200th episode of "Cheers" in the city where a real-life basement tavern inspired the show's Hollywood set.

The cast was honored Thursday at a ceremony outside City Hall as thousands of fans braved chilly weather to greet the TV stars.

"This is overwhelming," said George Wendt, who plays Norm Peterson, "Cheers" heavyweight, beer-swilling barfly, after a noisy welcome by people chanting "Norm, Norm."

"Sorry we screwed up your lunch hour," he joked.

"I don't know whether to dance or to sing. I have done both and I hope to do more," she said after being declared the winner of a tradition-shattering presidential campaign.

Mrs. Robinson finished with 52.8 percent of the vote, overtaking former deputy prime minister Brian Lenihan, the nominee of the dominant Fianna Fail party, in the second round of counting.

The 46-year-old attorney and professor of law was the first woman elected president.

Mystery disease kills 100 turtles

GEORGE TOWN, Cayman Islands (AP) — More than 100 turtles at the world's only known sea turtle farm have died in the past two months from a mysterious disease that has the farm's director baffled.

Since late September, more than a dozen breeding turtles and more than 100 infant turtles on this Caribbean island have died from the illness, said Dr. James Wood, director of the government-owned Cayman Turtle Farm.

He said he suspects a virus because the turtles have not responded to antibiotics.

Samples of turtle tissue were sent to the University of Florida School of Veterinary Medicine in Gainesville for study, Wood said.

Grenade attack as base talk ends

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — Unidentified assailants fired two grenades early Saturday at the U.S. Embassy one day after American and Philippine panels ended talks on the future of six military bases.

There were no injuries in the attack, which took place at 6:50 a.m. when the embassy was closed. One grenade landed in Manila Bay behind the compound and exploded, embassy spokesman Stanley Schragger said. The other landed in front of the chancery building but did not explode, he said.

There was no claim of responsibility, though the attack was similar to one staged last December at an American residential area. That attack, which caused no injuries and minor damage, was blamed on Communist rebels.

At the end of talks Friday, there were reports the bases' future would be linked to U.S. aid to the Philippines.

Man dies when cocaine bursts

HARARE, Zimbabwe (AP) — A young man who had just arrived on a flight from Kenya collapsed and died when a cocaine-filled condom burst in his stomach, hospital officials said Friday.

The unidentified man died last week after arriving from Nairobi, Kenya, the officials said.

They said several other condoms containing cocaine were found in the man's stomach during an autopsy.

He was traveling on a Nigerian passport, but airport officials found he was carrying four other passports in his jacket.

Traffickers sometimes hide illegal drugs in condoms in their bodies to conceal it.

Chinese official arrives for talks

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — Chinese Foreign Minister Qian Qichen arrived in this capital Friday on a two-day official visit for talks with officials on possible solutions to the gulf crisis.

"I'm not carrying special peace proposals, and I will not act as a mediator," Qian said on arrival. "I am here to exchange views with my Jordanian counterpart on issues of joint interests, and to seek peaceful means to end the gulf crisis."

Qian arrived from Saudi Arabia at Marka Airport in Amman, where he was met by Jordan's Foreign Minister Marwan Qassem. He is scheduled to hold talks with King Hussein on Saturday and leave for Baghdad, Iraq, the next day.

China, a permanent member of the U.N. Security Council, has expressed some reluctance about the military option to force Iraq out of Kuwait.

Lady Hawks win big

LEVELLAND — The Howard College Lady Hawks got a slow start but a strong finish as they whipped Western Oklahoma 73-43 in the second round of the South Plains Classic here Friday morning.

With the win, Coach Royce Chadwick's Lady Hawks improve their record to 3-0. For the second straight game, Howard was off to a slow start. Thursday, the Lady Hawks struggled before beating Lubbock Christian University in the tourney opener.

Howard led 28-22 before blowing out Western Oklahoma in the second half. Coach Chadwick said Marcia Olivera, of San Paulo, Brazil, keyed the second half attack. "Marcia Olivera scored about 10 points in eight minutes. She played really well in the second half," said Chadwick.

"We didn't play very well the first half. I think we started at 10 and we don't get going until 10:30 or 11. By the time 11 o'clock rolls around, we're ready to play.

Thank heaven that's our last 10 o'clock game.

"We pressed a little in the first half, just to try to get our players going. In the second half we played more of a zone. They started shooting from the perimeter and they weren't hitting. That enabled us to get our fast break easier." Chadwick added that his entire squad got to play.

Sophomore guard Cindy Williams led Howard with 14 points. Desiree Wallace scored 12, Lisa Moore added 11 and Olivera scored 10.

Howard will play Northern Oklahoma today at 2. Monday Howard will play Hardin-Simmons in Abilene.

HOWARD (73) — Julie Lempen 0 0 0; Peggy Smith 0 3 3; Kim Robinson 3 0 6; Rebecca Brown 1 3 3; Lidia Oliviera 1 0 2; Marcia Olivera 3 4 10; Desiree Wallace 6 0 12; LeAnn Heinrich 2 0 4; Lisa Moore 3 5 11; Yolanda Wells 3 0 6; Cindy Williams 7 0 14; Mulu Tosi 1 0 2; totals 30 13-25 73.

Soviets edge Longhorns

AUSTIN (AP) — Sergei Bazarevich scored 26 points and grabbed five rebounds Friday, powering the Soviet National Team to a 102-99 victory over Texas in an exhibition game.

The Soviet National Team, now

2-1 on its tour, took advantage of poor shooting by the Longhorns in the first half and early in the second half to build a 92-68 lead with seven minutes remaining.

Texas pulled to within three points late in the game on a 31-10 run, but the Soviets were able to hold them off for the victory.
