CPR classes scheduled

Pediatric cardiopulmonary resuscitation classes leading to CPR certifictaion will be offered at Howard College Saturday, from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. in the Horace Garrett building, room 110. An adult CPR class will be offered Tuesday from 6 p.m. to 10 p.m. The courses, co-sponsored by American Medical Transport and the Continuing Education Department at Howard College, cost $10 each.

Brenda Whatley, manager of American Medical Transport, said these courses are offered two to three times per month. although five classes were held in November.

"It depends on the calling. If there's enough need, we'll offer another one besides the one scheduled.' She said the American Heart Association condensed the class to four hours each for Baker: Delay in fighting will hurt U.S.

Secretary of State James A. Baker III told Congress today that holding off a military clash with Iraq would hurt the United States and help Saddam Hussein destroy Kuwait as

The economic squeeze imposed by the U.N. Security Council after the Aug. 2 invasion "has had little, if any, effect on his inclination to withdraw," Baker told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee

He stopped short of saying the Bush administration would launch an attack to liberate Kuwait after the Jan. 15 deadline established last week for an Iraqi pullout by the U.N. Security Council.

But like Defense Secretary Dick Cheney, Baker left no doubt U.S. policy will not depend on economic invasion.

'He must be stopped, peacefully if possible, but by force if Baker said about necessary," Saddam

On the other side of the Capitol, CIA Director William Webster told the House Armed Services Committee that economic sanctions are exacting a toll on the Iraqi economy that will only get worse.

However, Webster said there was no indication the sanctions are sanctions alone to reverse the forcing Saddam to rethink his policy on Kuwait.

"Our judgment has been, and continues to be, that there is no assurance or guarantee that economic hardships will compel Saddam to change his policies or lead to internal unrest that would threaten his regime," Webster

Baker, whom Bush has offered to send to Baghdad as an emissary, sought to rebut arguments made by members of Congress, some former U.S. military commanders and former Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara that sanctions should be given more time to disrupt the Iraqi economy and compel Saddam to pull out of Kuwait

"Waiting not only gives Saddam time to break the sanctions, but it imposes costs on us," Baker said. 'As we wait, Saddam will continue torturing Kuwait, killing it as a nation. . . He will continue to fortify Kuwait, to build chemical and biological weapons, and to acquire nuclear weapons capability," Baker said.

"As we wait, he expects other issues to deflect our attention, weaken our resolve and dissolve the international coalition. And as we wait, the burden of Saddam's crime weighs heavier on the world That is why we must make credible our preparations to use force.'

Sen. Jesse Helms of North Carolina, the senior member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee who often is a burr to the administration, today vigorously endorsed President Bush's leader ship in the Middle East crisis.

JOHN CONNALLY Coastal Corp. and a former U.S. Treasury Secretary, traveled to Baghdad with officials of the Houston-based oil and gas company for talks with Iraqi officials.

Connally is accompanied by Houston oilman Oscar Wyatt, the chairman and chief executive officer of Coastal Corp.

"They left early last weekend. I'm really not at liberty to talk much about it," Coastal Corp. spokesman Jim Bailey told The Dallas Morning News.

Before President Bush declared a trade embargo with Iraq, Coastal Corp. had been importing about 100,000 barrels of oil a day from the country. Bailey said the company has no employees there.

Iraq media reported Tuesday that Wyatt and his accompanying delegation met Monday night with Hussein Kamel Hassan, the minister of industry and military industrialization. Iraqi news reports noted Connally was a member of the delegation but did employees John White, a former Texas agriculture commissioner who is Coastal's lobbyist in Washington, also declined to divulge the trip's purpose. 'I think Oscar has strongly felt that whatever he could do to get the hostages out, he ought to do,"

White said. State Department officials said they disapproved of the trip.

"Our attitude has been to try to discourage" such trips, said State Department spokesman David Good. "This is a country that has taken American citizens — in particular. American men - hostage, and we have an official travel advisory discouraging people from traveling to Iraq.

There are some 1,000 Americans trapped in the country since Iraq's Aug. 2 invasion of Kuwait. Some Americans also are among 600 foreigners held as human shields at strategic sites to fend off a possible attack to liberate Kuwait.

Iraqi news reports said without elaborating that the talks centered on "issues of mutual concern."

The former Buddy's Body Shop, at one time scheduled for demolition, has new life as the headquarters of R & A Construction.

Building gets second chance

By DEBBIE LINCECUM Staff Writer

At least one city building, doomed to demolition because of delinquent taxes and failure to meet code requirements, has received a second chance.

The former Buddy's Body Shop, located at 700 West Third St., was scheduled for demolition by the board of adjustments and appeals in May. When the building was acquired by a new owner, its delinquent taxes were paid, repairs were completed, and it has now reopened.

Assistant City Manager Tom Decell said the building is an example of the city's abatement program working as it should.

"This is . . . the real object of the abatement program," Decell said. "To bring these buildings that are unused and deteriorated back to code so people can occupy them and we can retain (the building) on the tax roll.'

In this case, the property was owned by a local company known as Incom Incorporated. John Paul Anderson, a relative of company officials, bought the property for what he calls "a great price. "It was like, 'If you want it, he will use the building as a central location for his company, R & A Construction. "We just cleaned it (the

be a place for his workers to 'come by, drop their tools off and kick their feet up." Most of his company's work takes place out of town, he said.

Decell said the structure had "a lot of problems."

Not only did it violate city building codes, the doors and windows had been broken. He speculated that transients may have been using the building as a place to sleep.

When we find a structure that can be repaired and the owner is willing to work with us, we'll certainly work with him," Decell said. "In a lot of these cases the owner cannot tell the board (his plans to repair the building). We have some property owners say they'll do something, but 'just

Judge appointed to hear election suit

By PATRICK DRISCOLL Staff Writer

A visiting judge has been appointed to hear a suit in 118th District Court contesting the Precinct 4 commissioner race. The Republican commissioner-elect, Robert Crenshaw, said this morning he plans to file a response to the suit on Friday.

Democratic challenger Bobby Cathey filed the suit Nov. 27 following an unofficial recount Nov. 16 in which Cathey received 851 votes to Crenshaw's 850. The recount was conducted by Secretary of State auditors after a computer counting error was discovered in the Pct. 402 absentee ballots. From the 148 uncounted ballots, Cathey received 100 votes.

"We're going to file Friday. We just about got it ready," said Crenshaw, who remains the winner pending the outcome of the suit, since the Nov. 6 election was already certified by Commissioner's Court. The 2,556 absentee votes were looked at and approved as one precinct, as required by law, said County Clerk Margaret Ray. The uncounted votes were not noticed. "Robert just wants what the voters want," said Crenshaw's at torney Ben Bancroft, of Big Spring. 'It's unfortunate to both candidates that that's unclear right now.

Hearing the case will be retired judge Barbara Culvert Clack, said 7th Administrative Judicial District Judge Weldon Kirk, who made the appointment. District judges are disqualified from hearing election contests suits filed in their own courts, according to the Texas Election Code

Clack can either make a judgment based on the evidence presented, call for a recount or call for a new election, said attorney Gisela Triana, of the election division in the Secretary of State's office in Austin. A recount in a local race is conducted according to normal county procedures unless the judge specifically orders something else, she said. Concerning a new election, Clack said that is a last priority in such cases. Clack, who served an unexpired term on the Supreme Court in 1988, said she was a district judge in Midland for 10 years and the Midland County judge for 15 years. • ELECTION page 10-A

WTSU head calls it quits

CANYON (AP) - Feelings were mixed among West Texas State University faculty members after learning school president Ed. D. Roach will leave the university at the end of the year.

Roach, whose stormy tenure as president included allegations of financial mismanagement and a faculty vote of no confidence, has accepted a post with the Texas A&M System.

"Dr. Roach is leaving in a cloud of dust," said Gary Byrd, the school's faculty senate president. "The A&M System has been nice enough to give him a graceful exit.

"But he is not leaving a hero by any means. He is leaving a university in shambles and will now require someone to come in and clean up the mess,' Byrd added.

Freeze speeds cotton harvest

COLLEGE STATION (AP) A swift, windy cold front Sunday and Monday brought freezes to the top two-thirds of the state and speeded harvesting of cotton, pecans, peanuts and soybeans, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service reports.

The front also brought rain to North Central and Northeast Texas, and to some areas of West Central Texas but left deepening drought in South Texas and the Coastal Bend.

Dr. Zerle L. Carpenter, Extension Service director, said the dry, crisp conditions in the rainless northern areas are ideal for wrap-up harvesting of major crops.

District Extension Director Paul E. Gross of Amarillo said soil moisture is short but "sorghum and cotton harvesting are near completion, and cotton yields may be the best in years. Carrot and cabbage harvesting also are active.

Eight former 'shields' return from captivity

HOUSTON (AP) - Royce Smart, one of eight hostages who returned to Texas from Iraq this week, says he is grateful even though he lost almost everything during four months of confinement.

"I lost my bank account, all my work clothes, my televisions, my radios, my calculators," said Smart, 58, of Liberty. "But I didn't lose my life.

"We really weren't taken captive" per se, said Dean Shannon. 55, of Cuero, whose plans to leave Kuwait in mid-August were interrupted by the Iraqi invasion Aug. 2.

'We sent a driver over to get our exit visas and found out Iraq was invading Kuwait. At that time (Aug. 18), they said we'd have to come back and get our visas at another date," he said.

"Well, it was another date. Last Thursday, we got it."

The two, who arrived in Houston Tuesday, were among eight Texans released from captivity this week when former heavyweight boxing champion Muhammad Ali met with Iraqi leader Saddam Hussein. Five others arrived in Houston on Monday night and declined to face a horde of reporters and cameras and were whisked away from Houston Intercontinental Airport. Another Texan went to his home in France.

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — NASA tried to get its troublesome $150 million observatory working right today as more and more star-gazing time evaporated on Columbia's scientific mission, already set back by four years of delays.

Nation

Ten percent of the Astro observatory's 230 planned celestial targets could have to be scrapped because of the trouble with its automatic aiming systems, NASA scientist Ted Gull said Tuesday. It could be several days before the observatory aboard the shuttle is working at peak efficiency, Gull said.

After a day of problems Monday, Columbia's astronauts reported early Tuesday that the observatory's instrument pointing system appeared to be working properly.

The system, which automatically aims Astro's three ultraviolet telescopes, developed glitches later in the day before it was coaxed back into operation early today.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy is sacking a senior commander and reassigning two other top officials for failing to inform top Pentagon leaders of serious setbacks in the development of the A-12 attack aircraft program.

Navy Secretary H. Lawrence Garrett III announced the actions Tuesday as the Pentagon released an internal Navy report that outlined a breakdown in supervision of the 6-year-old aircraft program.

The A-12 Avenger "stealth" bomber is the Navy's top aircraft priority. The carrier-based plane is scheduled to begin replacing the aging fleet of A-6 Intruder attack planes in 1995 and to serve as a mainstay well into the 21st craft could not be met.

Garrett wrote in a memo to Defense Secretary Dick Cheney that the Navy's A-12 program supervisors failed to make clear to top Navy and Pentagon leaders last spring that the project was faring much worse than the con tractor claimed.

The plane's development is more than a year behind schedule and at least 20 percent over the planned $4.7 billion cost.

The controversy heated up last June when the contractors, General Dynamics and McDonnell Douglas, told the Navy they could not produce the first plane on time, that costs were escalating and that certain performance standards for the air

Twenty-four people were injured, two critically, in the fiery collision between the DC-9 and a Boeing 727, both operated by Northwest. The 727 was rolling down a foggy runway toward takeoff when the DC-9 pulled in front of it.

NBC reported Tuesday that it had obtained a partial transcript of a conversation between DC-9 pilot William Lovelace and a controller. According to the transcript, the controller asked Lovelace to verify

Quiet diplomacy may reopen doors

ISLAMABAD, Pakistan (AP) The United States and Pakistan are trying quiet diplomacy this week to restart a half-billion-dollar aid package and redefine a 40-year-old relationship erected on Cold War foundations.

As the vitriolic anti-America slogans of past weeks begin to fade, Washington and Islamabad are searching for ways to break the impasse over Pakistan's nuclear program, the biggest source of friction between the two long-time allies.

On Oct. 1, President Bush said he could not guarantee Congress that Pakistan does not possess nor wants to possess nuclear weapons, automatically freezing assistance. Pakistan, one of Washington's few friends in the Islamic world, reacted strongly to the suspension, partly blamed on the "pro-American" policies of Prime Minister Benazir Bhutto before her Aug. 6 ouster. Teresita Schaffer, a deputy assistant secretary of state, arrives Thursday for talks with Prime Minister Nawaz Sharif's month-old government on a wide range of issues, including the impasse on the nuclear program. Henry Rowen, an assistant secretary of defense, is expected next week.

U.S. officials say the problems are not insurmountable, but they acknowledge that neither side has economic and military much room to maneuver.

Social Security is still an issue

Thanks to the new budget law, the Social Security trust fund can no longer be used to conceal the size of the federal deficit. That's all to the good. Politicians and the public alike need to understand the true dimensions of the deficit so they can deal with it appropriately.

However, we think lobbyists for the elderly are shortsighted when they boast that the trust fund will now be immune to budgetary pressures. No matter how it's sliced, Social Security looms very large in the government's finances, and thus cannot be treated as entirely off-limits.

It is a huge spending program, second only to Pentagon outlays. And the Social Security tax is the largest one that

Thus, it's still proper to ask whether the retirement program fairly balances retirees' needs and workers' ability to pay. We can imagine circumstances under which the growth of Social Security benefits would need to be restrained in order to lighten the payroll tax of the average worker

Furthermore, the case for applying the Social Security payroll tax to a larger wage base — so that higher-income workers would contribute more — is as sound as ever. It's a good way to make that tax less regressive. Congress recently increased the base for the Medicare tax; the same principle could be applied to Social Security.

And then there is the issue of taxing the Social Security benefits of affluent retirees. Income taxes are already paid by the well-off on up to 50 percent of benefits. However, given the fact that most people's benefits far exceed what they have paid into the system, there is a strong argument for taxing a larger portion of the pensions paid to upper-income Americans.

Such issues are not eliminated by the mere adoption of a new budgeting procedure. The new law may make these questions harder to raise, but it cannot suppress them. Why? Because they are basic issues of fairness to the non-elderly as well as the elderly.

Suspense, imagination have gone with the wind

By BILL AYRES City Editor

Recently one of the more popular cable networks rebroadcast a classic movie, "Gone with

Prior to the show, a program on how the movie was made was aired to pique interest

Of course since the the network owns the movie, they can show it anytime they want, how they want and as often as they want.

At present the movie is shown at least once a year. Sometimes in two-parts and occasionally all at

I don't know about the rest of the fans of the movie, but the magic seems to have been lost. Maybe it's the commercials.

I remember when I was growing up the movie was only released every few years. That way it was special. Something to look forward to. Kind of like the way the Disney studios only release some of their classic featurelength cartoons. At least the ones they haven't released on video cassette.

When "Gone with the Wind" was restored, to bring back the colors and add stereo sound, it was a national event.

Since the movie was first released, over 50 years ago, one question has burned in the minds of viewers. Does Rhett come back or does he just walk away in the fog, never to be heard from

A lot of people like to believe that because of the depth of his love, he returns. But on the other hand, because of the pain she had caused him, there are those who believe he goes on to make a new

Considering the type of man he was, maybe he came to West Texas. After all, they say West Texans are known for their selfreliance and the ability to survive adversity. Who better typifies those traits than Rhett Butler?

I like to think maybe he came West and made his mark as a cattle barron. Think about it. When the movie ends, it's probably around the mid 1870s. That fits.

All the big cattle ranch operations became famous around that time. Who knows, maybe Rhett changed his name to Goodnight.

I understand that a sequel to the movie is in the works. This time with a happy ending. The heirs of the author have protested, but we all know that in the long run, money talks.

I, for one, hope they never make a sequel. It's the mystery of the ending that make the movie such a hit. Viewers create their own endings every time they see

Knowing television, if the sequel is made, it will proablly be a mini-series

The ending of "Gone with the Wind" is like that story many of us had to read in school, "The Lady and the Tiger". In that story, the hero has to make a decision between two doors. Behind one is his lady and behind the other is a hungry tiger. The story ends as the hero begins to open one of the doors. The reader's imagination supplies the ending.

Perhaps that is what is missing in the entertaiment world today. People don't seem to want to think about what they are viewing or reading. "Just put it in front of me. If I like it, great, if not I'll wait for something else.'

I don't know, I still like a good mystery where you think you have it solved only to discover you were totally wrong. That is unless you peeked at the last page.

Maybe the night-time dramas and mini-series have had a hand in stifling imagination. All problems in those are either resolved in a hour or at least by the end of the season or series. The only "cliff-hangers" are the ones used to get viewers to tune in the next

GONE WITH

WASHINGTON - Lynne Cheney said a mouthful last month. To be sure, it was a mouthful many others have voic ed before, but as chairman of the National Endowment for the Humanities, she speaks from a prestigious rostrum. Listen in:

'Many of the textbooks used in American schools are so dull that no one would read them voluntarily. We continue to teach reading with basal readers that make the very idea of books seem boring. We continue to teach history with textbooks that drain all drama out of the past.

Listen to Mrs. Cheney on teacher preparation. She quotes a history teacher in Los Angeles: 'My preparation was worthless, almost worthless." Across the country, countless teachers have been making similar complaints. They repeatedly speak of time wasted when they describe their professional preparation. Prospec tive teachers are compelled to take many courses "more likely to confuse and mislead than to enlighten.

Mrs. Cheney sounded off in a 52-page report to Congress on educational practices that have gone wrong. She uses as her text a quotation from philosopher William James. When need and motive are hugely combined, they tend to develop a "tyrannical machine," with unforeseen powers of exclusion and corruption. In Mrs. Cheney's view, this is exactly what has happened to public education in the United States.

As she acknowledges, she is saying nothing new. When he was secretary of education, Bill Bennett harped repeatedly on these themes. Over the past 40 years such critics as Mortimer Smith, Arthur Bestor, Rudolf Flesch and Hyman Rickover said the same

I was in a restaurant recently and chicken noodle soup was on the menu. I like chicken noodle So I ordered it.

When the chicken noodle soup arrived it didn't look anything like any chicken noodle soup I'd had before. The noodles were too big.

'What sort of noodles are these?" I asked the waitress. "Fettuccine," she answered. "What did you do?" I asked "Run out of regular chicken noo-

Whenever I am at a restaurant with which I am not familiar, I usually order a cheeseburger. It's hard to foul up anything as simple or inherently good as a cheeseburger

Then I'm in this place and I order a cheeseburger and it comes to me with mushrooms on "My God!" I scream when I see what has happened. "They've put mushrooms on my cheeseburger!"

"We always put mushrooms on our cheeseburgers," says my waiter, who has a ponytail and is wearing an earring. Never order a cheeseburger in a place where your waiter thinks he's Gidget.

Recently I saw a commercial for fried chicken with a lot of hot spices in it. God never intended fried chicken to taste like some Mexican got loose in the batter with a pocketful of chili peppers. I'm also baffled by cereal that comes from Europe and is named after a mule. Don't forget to eat your Wheaties. You'll grow up to be like Michael Jordan, not a soccer player named Hans or Ivo. Some order must return to this land of dancing, singing raisins, fast-food barbecue rib sand-

The search is on to find Mrs. Texas 1991, the woman who will represent the Lone Star state in the National Telecast of the Mrs. America Pageant where she will compete for prizes and awards valued in excess of $50,000 and the opportunity to represent the USA in the Mrs. World Pageant.

The pageant will be hosted June 1 at the Houston Regency West Hotel.

The reigning Mrs. Texas is Trish Thompson Topel, a 29-year-old professional model from Arlington.

To qualify, prospective entrants must be residents of Texas, married and living with their husbands, and U.S. citizens in good health. They must be at least 21 years of age as of Nov. 1, 1991. Judging is based on beauty of face and figure, poise, personality, street intelligence and overall appeal. No talent competition.

The Mrs. Texas Pageant has no preliminary competition. It is an open, at-large event. Any qualified applicant may be accepted by the selection committee to take part in the state finals in Houston where some 60 women are expected to compete.

For free entry information, prospects can phone toll free: 1-800-BEAUTYS anytime or send their name, address, age and phone to: Dixie Penner, Entries Director, Mrs. Texas Pageant, 11259-D Lockwood Drive, Silver Spring, Md. 20901.

PUBLIC NOTICE

On July 19, 1990, GTE Southwest Incorporated ("GTE-SW") filed revisions to the company's tariff pertaining to the features and associated equipment for providing emergency number services (9-1-1).

In this filing, GTE-SW proposes to modify its existing 9-1-1 tariff and to add more than 200 new service offerings. The new items of service and equipment in this application have been added to meet the company's increasing 9-1-1 customer demands and to allow GTE-SW to compete more effectively in the 9-1-1 equipment

The product line in the new offerings consists of a mini-computer and specialized console package for larger communities, as well as a personal computer with Automatic Number Identification (ANI) display for smaller communities. (ANI displays a caller's telephone number on the emergency dispatcher's computer screen.) In addition, the product line will include ANI and Automatic Location Information (ALI) display units compatible with, and similar to, those offered by South western Bell Telephone Company and other local exchange carriers in Texas. (The ALI feature displays a caller's address on the computer screen.) The rate charged existing 9-1-1 customers may be revised at the expiration of their contracts with GTE-SW if the proposed tariff is approved.

This filing has been assigned Docket No 9667. The hearing on the merits is scheduled for February 25, 1991, at the offices of the Public Utility Commission of Texas. The deadline to intervene in this docket is December 31.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene, participate, or for further information, should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas, 78757. Further information also may be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission Consumer Affairs Division at (512) 458-0223 or (512) 458-0227, or (512) 458-0221, teletypewriter for the deaf.

How safe is the food supply?

By PAMELA PORTER

Herald Washington Bureau WASHINGTON — As consumers become more concerned and confused about the safety of their food supply, federal regulators and industry experts admit they've done

Agriculture.

Smith and Guardia were part of a panel of industry and government experts discussing food safety issues at the USDA's annual Agriculture Outlook Conference here this week.

Another panelist, Good Housekeeping magazine writer Delia Hammock, told the officials that a recent survey by the magazine showed Americans are very concerned about chemicals and microbiological contaminants and have made the safety of food their No. 1 consideration when choosing groceries

Contamination by salmonella and other microbiological gremlins is another big concern of grocery shoppers, Hammock said. "Consumers worry about food

Hammock said government agencies have added to consumers' confusion by doing an inadequate job of answering claims about food

One example, cited by many of the panelists, is the recent scare about pesticides used on imported fruits and vegetable crops.

"When we look at this problem closely, just how big is it?" asked Linda Fisher of the Environmental Protection Agency.

"The data we have from the Food and Drug Administration's pesticide monitoring program indicates that the quality of imported foods is not much different from domestic foods. And both are overwhelmingly in compliance with U.S. tolerances.

Fisher said the EPA has learned from past experiences and agency officials are determined to improve their public relations before the next food safety crisis erupts.

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Rocky the lion roars with hunger and Josefa the polar bear sweats in front of a fan. Porota, the only hippo, stands in a concrete water tank not much larger than she, looking doleful.

The Buenos Aires zoo is in bad

About 1,800 animals are crowded onto 47 acres of land. The budget of $2 million a year is hardly enough to feed them, let alone provide mates or enough living space and caretakers

The worst is that, a year ago, we had to kill the goats and cows to feed other animals," said Juan Romero, a veterinarian who is the zoo's director.

Five years ago, a hippo died after eating a can and its head was sold for $5,000 to buy food for other animals. Now, the head is displayed in a trendy disco called Hippopotamus.

Porota is not the only solitary animal. The zoo also has only one rhinoceros, giraffe and elephant.

Replacing animals was too expensive for municipal administrations that suffered inflation, recession and near bankruptcy in recent years. An elephant can cost $70,000 and a rhino $150,000

When it opened 102 years ago, the Buenos Aires zoo was an oasis of shady paths and exotic animals in the noise and pollution of a city that would grow to a population of 10 ed to the deal.

Now, the grass is gone from many enclosures, leaving only dust and concrete. Some buildings are boarded up and there are few attendants to remind visitors not to feed the animals, try to catch them or poke them with sticks.

Last month, the city leased the zoo to Gerardo Sofovich, a television host and animal lover, who said he would invest $5 million to buy new animals and spruce the

Some critics say Sofovich's motives are more mercenary than philanthropic. They claim his proposed admission fee of about $2 would recoup his investment in a single year and effectively close the zoo to the poor.

Balderdash. Skin is in, so take pride in your pate, says Richard Sandomir, the anti-hairpiece activist who wrote the book on baldness.

"Bald men are the equal of haired men. I'm tired of people talking to the top of my head, or asking why I don't use minoxidil. Keeping your head natural is the way of the '90s," says Sandomir, author of "Bald Like Me: The Hair-

Raising Adventures of Baldman. Sandomir, 33, has watched his follicles falling for the past 13 years. But the self-proclaimed 'Baldman' isn't turning to toupees or rubbing Rogaine on his head. Instead, he's asking his chromedomed associates to rise up against the haired.

Answering the call: some of America's best-known baldies, including weatherman Willard Scott and sports announcer Dick Vitale.

'It's almost like a brotherhood, like people who pass each other on Harleys. It's simpatico," Scott says of baldness. "You're just one of the group. . . . Bald people know each other that way.

Willard, by the way, started balding at the tender age of 20. Vitale started losing his hair at about the same age, and the

'By 30, I was bald big time, baby. But I was sexy. . . . Bald is beautiful, baby, bald is sexy. No rugs get on my scalp. It's what I am. I'm a bald, one-eyed wacko,' says Vitale, who wears a glass eye. This is what Sandomir lives for: the few, the proud, the hairless. Sandomir, born Sept. 4, 1957, started going bald in 1978.

Sandomir's idols - his princes of pate, his rajahs of recession — are those guys who are bald and boastful. Indeed, he provides an 10-man list of the patron saints of baldness

Gone but definitely not forgotten: Yul Brynner, "his Royal Baldness" and a personal idol. "The most fully evolved bald man to ever walk the planet, God rest his pate," Sandomir says reverently

He goes on to dish the dirt about who's under a rug: Burt Reynolds and Frank Sinatra own about 20 pieces each. Howard Cosell doesn't take care of his. Charlton Heston owns one of the world's most frightening toupees. William Shatner's piece is indiscernible to all but the most practiced eyes.

He also met Sy Sperling (who declares in TV ads shown around the country: 'I'm not only the president of the Hair Club for Men. I'm a client.") Sy is a nice guy, Sandomir concedes, but "he remains an enemy of my people.'

The author did have one unpleasant experience: Telly Savalas, the "baldo di tutti baldi," declined to sit for an interview. The "Kojak" star maintained that he's not bald, he just chooses to shave his head.

"Incomprehensible!" complained Baldman. "For 25 years now. Telly's been the bald man's bald man. He won't talk about being the shining example of bald

The station will give the finalists what it calls "love enhancers:" a water bed, a night in a hotel, a seafood buffet, a gift certificate from a lingerie shop, champagne, candles and green M&Ms.

Female contestants must submit to a pregnancy test at the onset of the competition to make sure they are not already pregnant.

The contest is aimed at boosting the station's popularity among listeners in the 25-44 age group.

The race in question is a relatively low-profile spot on the Franklin County Charter Commission, a new group that will start work on revamping the structure of county government. The 14 other seats were filled quietly enough, but no one ran for the District 3 seat on the Nov. 6 ballot

On Tuesday, county election officials met to try to break the four-way tie by looking at escrow votes, ballots that were cast Nov. 6 but were set aside after being challenged because voters' names could not be found on current lists.

Of 23 escrow ballots, five were determined to be valid because the voters had registered in the past But the only thing the new ballots yielded was one write-in vote for yet another candidate.

But Wendell appeared to be falling victim to its own popularity, with the population more than doubling to 830 in 20 years. The proadding any, Wendell has always at- blem facing children of the '60s in the 1990s was how they could all stay in Wendell and still retain the town spirit that attracted them there in the first place.

"For a long time, our poverty and isolation protected us, but no longer," Smith said. "The cost of living, even here, has increased to the point where it is becoming difficult for a lot of people.'

So townsfolk held a seven-hour 'visioning workshop'' in which they wrote down, illustrated and debated things the town could use, such as a tool collective to share such homeowner necessities as mowers, chainsaws, grass clippers and ladders. They drew up lists of "Places of the Heart," or landmarks, they wanted to protect, ranging from the Town Common to a heron rookery

Some changes came quickly. A volunteer committee, cafled the "Star Riders," was formed to offer others rides into town, the result of a discussion about the lack of public transit.

With a $20,000 state grant, residents hired a small, local consulting firm to help draw up a master plan, the centerpiece of which is the proposed "Wendell Works" - a town-sponsored commercial organic farm and spinoff cottage industries. In a typically casual way, there is no estimated time of completion.

'People don't have much opportunity to spend money in Wendell,' said Smith, noting that the town's commercial development is limited to two general stores, an egg farm and an auto salvage yard.

The fruit and vegetables produced by the farm could be sold by subscription to residents, who would pay in advance for a share of the crop when it ripened, she said. Wendellites want to expand the operation beyond produce into baked goods, milk deliveries, firewood sales and other farm-related

"It wouldn't add a lot of property to the tax rolls," Smith said. "But if we had a soy dairy that would just satisfy the town's own needs, it would be a way to recycle Wendell money in Wendell and make it easier for individuals to come up with the cash flow they need to make it here.

And it would fit Wendell's tradition of doing its own thing.

All this doesn't necessarily make an impression on folks who grew up in Wendell.

"There's nothing new with the younger people," said Raymond Avery, a 72-year-old native. "Actually, they have less sense of individuality than the older folks.

Artisans are re-creating Tut's tomb

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — Artisans are re-creating one of the great moments of archaeology on an island south of Cairo.

On Nov. 26, 1922, English archaeologist Howard Carter opened the tomb of the boy Pharaoh Tutankhamun and found a glittering world of delicate statues, inlaid chests, feather-light fans and decorated coffins of solid gold

The riches he discovered amazed the world.

Now, 68 years after Carter peered into the small tomb in southern Egypt, the artisans are fashioning Tut's netherworld once again, working from photographs and other records. The replicas of Tut's treasures are to be entombed as the archaeologist saw them.

Twenty-two artists, sculptors, engineers and university students are rekindling craftsmanship unseen since the days of the

They are halfway through their assignment: to duplicate his fourchambered tomb and 1,000 of the 1,703 Tut objects in the Egyptian Museum, as they were left by priests 3,313 years ago and the robbers who came later.

Ever-watchful jackals, goddesses in sleek gowns, openmouthed lions and even the boy Pharaoh himself, out for a walk in thonged sandals, cram the bustling workshop on Jacob's Island.

A year from now, every day on Jacob's Island will be Nov. 26, 1922. Until then, people wanting to marvel at King Tut's storied world must travel to the two places they have visited for decades: the treasure hoard in Cairo's Egyptian

"It's the wonder that we must produce in our tomb the shock, which you don't feel when you see the objects away from the tomb." said Mahmoud Mabrouk, a sculptor and art professor who directs the Jacob's Island project.

Museum and his tomb, with the mummy, 450 miles to the south, in the Valley of the Kings

"It's the wonder that we must produce in our tomb — the shock, which you don't feel when you see the objects away from the tomb," said Mahmoud Mabrouk, a sculptor and art professor who directs the Jacob's Island project. Novices think Tut's treasures were all of solid gold. There was plenty of that, but there also were objects of wood, silver and other metals, alabaster, ivory, leopard skins, leather, pottery and gemstones. Decisions on whether to replicate individual items, big or small, were based on whether they were important to history or to art knowledge. The project is costing 1 million Egyptian pounds (almost $360,000) and is the brainchild of former diplomat Hassan Ragab, an entrepreneur who revived Egypt's extinct papyrus industry.

In 1985 he opened his Pharaonic Village on Jacob's Island, where tourists come to view life from the days of King Tut, but without the boy Pharaoh himself.

"Dr. Ragab asked me to create a full-scale tomb with exact copies of objects so that tourists would feel the wonder as Carter felt it,' Mabrouk said. "The tomb was no problem, but nobody knew how to make the objects. Everybody I talked with told me to refuse the Mabrouk, who advises an international committee working to save the Sphinx, said he accepted the challenge for two reasons

"First, I wanted to enter the mind of the ancient artist," he said. What kind of people were these, to create things so beautiful, but things that would never be seen by the living?

"Today, we artists have exhibitions and everybody congratulates us. Not these artists. Their creations were locked up with Tut.'

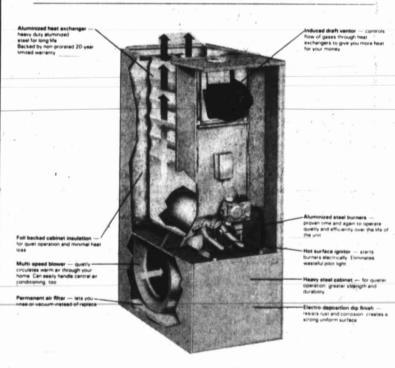

The second reason harks back to Mabrouk's childhood

"I was 12 when my brother and I saw the Tut collection in the museum," he said. "We were so happy, but we were sad. The objects were beautiful, but nobody knew anything about them.

"I want Egyptian youth to look back on their history with a sense of pride, a sense of identity.

Q. What is the significance of the "pyramid and eye" symbol on the back of our one dollar

A. According to Donna Jackson, Howard County Library, the eye represents the "eternal eye of God", the "eye of providence", or the "all seeing eye", depending on which source you read. The unfinished pyramid symbolizes the continual building of our nation.

Ballinger offers special Christmas

The second annual 'Christmas In Olde Ballinger' promises to feature something of interest for people of all ages, according to Jeanette Findlay, committee member in charge of publicity

Findlay said Saturday's event will feature 18 area artists, 35 craftspeople, strolling carolers and Santa Claus, all in booths and exhibits set up in the downtown courthouse square. Brownie Troops will sing carols, and K.G.'s Dancing Kids will perform in the Carnegie Library at 11 a.m.

Local merchants, dressed in turn-of-the-century costumes, will offer merchandise specials and giveaways. There will be a live nativity scene and the downtown Christmas lights will be turned on simultaneously at

The Ballinger Chamber of Commerce will present the Miss Ballinger Pageant and the Christmas Parade begins at 3

"We've set it up so that everything is within walking distance of the courthouse square," Findlay said. In the event of bad weather, the event will be moved to the Community Center in Ballinger.

Christmas in Olde Ballinger begins at 10 a.m. on Saturday and will continue until dark.

Mayor disapproves of retirement plan update

"As I understand it, it is going to increase cost on the city. I oppose it

By DEBBIE LINCECUM Staff Writer

Mayor Max Green has expressed disagreement with a proposal to 'update" service credits for city employees' retirement plan.

Green said the proposal will cost the city money "over the long haul." City Council member Corky Harris said he supports the proposal because city employees are underpaid and need benefits to make their jobs competitive.

The proposal was approved on first reading at the last regular meeting of the Big Spring City Council. It would base 1990 retirement benefits on an employee's average wage during 1987-89.

"As I understand it, it is going to increase cost on the city," Green said. "I oppose it for that reason." At the council meeting, Green

That way, Green said, an employee's benefits would be based on the "investment made for him over time, not just the last three years." Green said the proposed change will place "an undue burden on the taxpayers 20 years

"Even if we just increase salaries at an inflationary rate each year, there'll be a shortfall (in the retirement accounts)," he said. Harris said he sees the update as positions.

Personnel Director Emma Bogard said the idea behind the update is "to keep the employee's benefits based on highest salary level, so his retirement is at a livable wage when he retires."

She said the mayor's predictions of higher cost might become reality if city employees got a raise every year. She added that, over the last three years, city employees only got one raise.

Bogard explained that the city matches employee contributions to the retirement plan by "two to one." Although employees pay 5 percent of their salaries, the city does not pay 10 percent because the account is supplemented with money already paid and left uncollected by former employees. "Lots of people leave city employment and never get their retirement back," she said.

In a memo to council members, Bogard said the update would decrease the city's contribution rate by about .03 percent.

The benefit program can be updated every year by council action, Bogard said. It was updated last

State, local leaders face tough decisions

New York state is laying off 10,000 workers. Los Angeles has stopped hiring new police officers even though street crime is getting worse. Maryland halted a program that buys medicine for the poor.

Across the nation, state and local officials are making tough choices. Squeezed by falling revenue, they are balancing the books the hard way, by cutting back on what government can do.

"I guarantee you we won't be able to care for as many foster children, mentally ill and so forth as we did last year of the year before," said Roger Wilson, a state senator from Missouri, which faces a projected $70 million shortfall.

At least 26 states face deficits or budget shortfalls this fiscal year. Nearly all have made spending cuts and face more as the economy worsens

"It becomes a political decision." Do you want to let people out of jail early or do you want to pay a higher sales tax? Do you cut education or cut health care to the old and indigent?" said Marsha Howard, research director for the National Association of State Budget Directors.

Dozens of cities have resorted to layoffs or freezes. Washington, D.C., will cut at least 2,000 workers. Philadelphia, facing bankruptcy by Christmas, has im-

Ben Garza, 36, and Billy Lee Green, 45, suspected of being involved in a Crossroads Country burglary ring, had three additional counts of burglary added to 32 indictments they each have in three other counties

The recent indictments, for burglary of a habitation, were handed down Nov. 20 by a Coke County grand jury. The indictments were the result of a Howard County Sheriff's Department investigation following the arrest of the two men Aug. 7, said Coke County Sheriff Deputy Jeff Barnes.

"We didn't have any idea what was going on as far as suspects until they were arrested in Big Spring," he said of three burlgaries in that county. "We suspect them on two more (burglaries)

Three bonds of $40,000 on each Coke County indictment were set for Garza, who has been in the Howard County jail since his arrest here by sheriff's deputies. Bonds totalling $75,000 were set on the Coke County indictments for Green, who is being held in jail in Mitchell County. Bonds for both in Howard County, where they were indicted on 18 counts of burglary, totalled $222,500.

Howard County Sheriff A.N. Standard said they suspect a burglary ring was broken when the two were arrested since burglaries have dropped off since then. "You can see the dramatic decrease as soon as they were taken into custody. So could the other counties too," he said.

They also face felony theft charges in Borden and Scurry counties.

Green has already pleaded guilty to three of the Howard County charges, reduced to burglary of a building, and was given maximum sentences of 20 years in prison, which will run concurrently. By STEVE BELVIN Sports Editor

The Big Spring Steers' playoff ride came to an abrupt halt Friday night when they lost to the Burkburnett Bulldogs in regional action

But it was still a good ride and a good season - a disappointing ending, but a good season. Disappointing in the fact I honestly think the Steers could have made it another round.

But on this Friday, it just wasn't Big Spring's night. I had a bad feeling about the game when I awoke Friday morning. First of all I got up at 5, without the alarm. Another weird sign was I got to the game a full 45 minutes before kickoff, not my usual five minutes where I just have enough time to climb 50 rows of stands and pencil in the starting lineups.

Honestly, I know that didn't have anything to do with Big Spring's loss. It was just a bad game at the wrong time.

Early Saturday morning, after I had made it back from the game, I sat at my terminal trying to recap the game and the season in general.

I thought back to the start of the season, during the Steers' team scrimmage. We ran a photo of a player fumbling the football and opened up a can of worms. How dare we run a negative photo like that? Think of all the shame we caused that player's parents.

The irony of it all. The tide that started Big Spring's troubles in the loss to Burkburnett was created by fumbles. As I sat looking at my blank screen I wondered why write a story at all? After all, I would have to include those negative fumbles.

Then I thought about the Steers. What if they had the kind of attitude I had. What if they said to hell with it, let's not play the rest of this game because we committed three turnovers. If they had that kind of attitude, they would not have been in the regional playoffs in the first

No the Steers didn't quit. They never let up in the uphill battle on a cold, windy night in Abilene. One sportswriter in the pressbox made a remark about last year's state semifinal game against Tyler Chapel Hill. "I wonder if Thompson and his boys are feeling like it's Chapel Hill all over again?" he asked.

The Chapel Hill game did loom in the back of my mind. and I'm sure it crossed several of the Steers' minds when they were trailing 26-3 in the first quarter. But this was a new year and different teams. The Steers know about battling back, and thankfully Burkburnett was no Chapel Hill.

Burkburett is a team playing with no pressure. They were picked last in their district. Their coach Jerry Watson summed it up best. "There is no pressure on us. We were picked at the bottom of our district so everything else is extra cake. There's pressure when everybody expects you to be there," said Watson.

The Steers felt that pressure. It's that way with every winning program, as Big Spring is finding out. But let's not overlook the basic facts. This year's Steers team was never blessed with an over-abundance of talent. What they had was something you don't measure with a scale or tape measure heart. It's a credit to the coaches and the players; Big Spring had gone just about as far as you could go on heart. Not many state championships are won with 180-pound offensive linemen, and 145-pound defensive ends.

I was struggling with my story when two of my co-workers returned from covering the Garden City-Axtell game. They told of the fatal traffic death of a Garden City parent journeying to see his son play. All of sudden I found the words to finish finish my story Then football just faded from my thoughts. I remembered the words a coach told his team. "If losing this game is the worst thing you ever have to worry about in life; then you're

Steers get revenge on Tigers

SNYDER — The Big Spring Steers got a touch of revenge as they defeated the Snyder Tigers 50-49 in non-district basketball action here Tuesday night.

The win made up for a 61-51 defeat Snyder handed Big Spring at Steer Gym last week.

It was a big turnaround from Big Spring's last game, a 58-52 loss to Frenship Saturday. In that game Big Spring shot a miserable 26 percent from the foul line. Tuesday against the Tigers, Big Spring missed just one foul shot in 15 attempts.

Grady plucks Eagles

By STEVE BELVIN Sports Editor

LENORAH - The Grady Wildcats limited the Sterling City Eagles to two points in the fourth quarter, and went on to take a 48-40 win in Lenorah Tuesday night.

The win completed a Grady varsity sweep; the Lady Wildcats downed Sterling City 47-41 earlier. The first win in three tries was a big confidence builder for Coach Tommy Tubb's Wildcats. Grady lost four players two weeks ago because of grades; two were

"We're missing two seniors because of grades. Because of that we're forcing the young kids to grow up real quick. Hopefully it will be a valuable learning experience for them," said Tubb.

Evidently the young Wildcats learned in a hurry, especially in the fourth quarter. The Grady defense went to work and stopped Sterling City's offense, which had especially hurt Grady in the third quarter with its outside shooting. Earl Raynor and Scotty Johnson made two three-pointers each in the period; Sterling City led 38-36 going nto the fourth quarter.

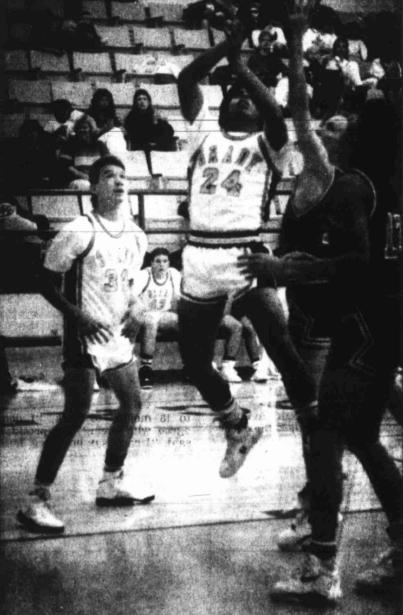

But that all stopped in a hurry. Grady quickly tied the score when sophomore forward J.C. Odom registered his third blocked shot of the night, and Baldomar Cortez scored on the other end, tying the ontest at 38-38. Both teams' offensives struggled after that, with neither scoring for almost the next four minutes. Then the Wildcats struck quickly; Gilbert Cortez got a steal, which resulted in an Odom basket. Next Danny Valle got a steal and turned it into an easy layup. Grady had a chance to take a bigger lead when Odom got a steal, but missed on his layup attempt. Still Grady led 42-38 with three minutes left in the

Then Grady started to work on the clock, running off time while passing the ball around the perimeter. A little later Sterling City turned the ball over, and Valle beat his man on a drive to the basket. Grady led 44-38 with 1:30

Sterling City scored its only basket of the quarter when Raynor scored off a deflected pass. Grady iced the game with another Valle drive to the hoop, and two foul shots by Gilbert Cortez.

Hawkeyes' bubble bursts

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP) — The season's first major snowstorm destroyed Iowa's $2.1 million football bubble and scrambled the Hawkeyes' practice plans for their Jan. 1 Rose Bowl game against Washington. "It would be a little hard to kick a ball in there now," Del Gehrke said after a combination of high winds, heavy snow and cold weather brought the huge, white plastic-like covering down early Monday. Gehrke is director of Iowa's athletic facilities. The indoor practice facility opened in October 1985 after heavy lobbying by football coach Hayden Fry. Fry said the Hawkeyes needed an indoor facility to prepare for bowl games. "He just couldn't believe it," Bill Dervrich said in describing Fry's reaction to Monday's storm. Dervrich is an administrative assistant for the football program who informed Fry his pet project had been destroyed.

'We haven't made any decisions yet about what to do," Dervrich said. "We'll have to sit down with Coach Fry and talk about the things we want to do."

The bubble is used by the Mustarigs took an early lead, but "It blew up is what it did. Just like a balloon. It started to rip and all that air just came whooshing out. It's down, and it's going to stay that way for quite a while. The whole thing is just destroyed," — Del Gehrke, director of lowa's athletic facilities.

There were reports that a heater used to pump warm air between the inner and outer layers of the bubble, which is supposed to melt any snow, malfunctioned. Gehrke said officials were investigating.

Gehrke speculated that it was so cold and windy that the bubble's surface might have crimped in several areas. That would have stopped warm air from circulating to some areas, giving the heavy, wet snow a chance to accumulate until its weight tore the fabric.

Repairing the bubble would be difficult, he said. Crews would have to wait until temperatures warmed to at least 50 degrees before the fabric became pliable again. Replacing it would cost about $2 million, Gehrke said.

"It's like a plastic. It's so cold it won't bend easily. It's brittle," he said. "We're seriously thinking about a different type of structure, a hard brick building.

Gehrke estimated it would cost about $13 million for such a facility. "We think it would be worthwhile," he said.

Gehrke and other Iowa officials were scheduled to meet today with representatives of Air Structures Air Tech International of Tappan, N.Y., the designers and installers of the bubble.

Lakers make a statement by burning Pistons

Whenever the Detroit Pistons face the Los Angeles Lakers, you can usually count on a lot of rugged, intense play

They certainly had that Tuesday night. But they had also something else that was uncharacteristic of one of the NBA's best rivalries — a

"The Lakers made a profound statement tonight," Detroit coach Chuck Daly said after the Lakers rolled past the defending champions 114-90 at the Forum. "I expected this; I knew they were far superior to what they were getting credit for. I've watched a lot of tape of their last six games.

It was the seventh straight victory for the Lakers, who under new coach Mike Dunleavy got off to the club's worst start (1-4) in 12 years. They have now beaten three of the NBA's best teams — San Antonio, Phoenix and Detroit — in their last three games and have a 9-5 record.

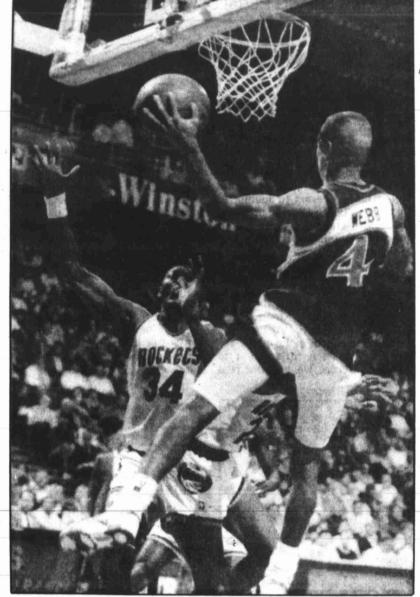

The Pistons' loss was their second in a row. They had a 10-game winning streak snapped in a 94-83 loss at Washington on Saturday and now are 13-4.

"Our defense is playing much better," Dunleavy said. "I don't want to say the Lakers are back; you're not back until you bring home a (championship) ring. But we are improving as a team.

Tide gets shocked

By The Associated Press The Shockers is an appropriate nickname for Wichita State. Their first win of the season came Tuesday night in a 74-71 overtime victory over No. 12 Alabama, and it was far from your normal college basketball upset. In chronological order, the highlights for the night included: Wichita State coach Mike Cohen tearing a patella tendon in his left knee as he ran from the court celebrating Wichita State's 33-31 halftime lead and then returning in sweats and on crutches; a thunder dunk by Alabama's 268-pound center Marcus Webb which broke the rim and caused a 30-minute delay to change equipment; Melvin Cheatum's 3-pointer at the buzzer for the Crimson Tide which forced overtime: and reserve center Phil Mendelson's two blocked shots in overtime for the Shockers. Otherwise, it was your run-ofthe-mill, mid-week game.

'One game doesn't make a season, just like last week's tournament doesn't make a season, Cohen said, referring to his team's 31-and 11-point losses last week.

"I never did get in the locker room (at halftime)," Cohen said from the hospital where he was to undergo surgery early this morning. "I told my assistants pretty much what to tell the kids to do. It was just a reminder to keep very focused. These are the best kids I've coached at any level."

Cohen returned to the bench with 17:40 to play, wearing a sweatsuit and a brace on his knee and on crutches.

"I wasn't going to stay in that training room," he said. "I didn't want the injury to be bigger than the game. I didn't say anything at all about it until I got to the locker room after (the game) and told them how bad it was. Cohen said he felt his team got a break when Webb broke the rim as he tied the game 50-50.

Wichita State fell behind 58-53 with 6:00 to play, then went on an 11-1 run to set the stage for Cheatum's 3-pointer that tied the game and forced the overtime. The Shockers had a 72-71 lead when Mendelson blocked Cheatum in the lane with 12 seconds to play. He made two free throws with 6.6 seconds to play to sew up the victory. John Cooper led Wichita State with 22 points and Claudius Johnson added career highs of 21 points and 12 rebounds. Cheatum led the Crimson Tide with 20 points, two in the first half.

No. 4 Syracuse 86, North Carolina State 79

Dave Johnson had 24 points and a career-high 17 rebounds as the Orangemen (5-0) gave the Big East a Tuesday night sweep - Seton Hall beat Clemson 78-62 — for a 3-1 lead halfway through the ACC-Big East Challenge.

"Every team tries to double and triple cover Billy," Johnson, a junior, said of his classmate, forward Billy Owens, who had 21 points. "When they block him out, the parking lot of the Prince it leaves me open to go to the

Johnson's rebound figure was more than double his previous high

'Dave Johnson didn't hit us with his finesse game. He just killed us on the boards, pounding and get-ting loose balls," said Wolfpack guard Chris Corchiani, who finished with 19 points while his backcourtmate, Rodney Monroe,

The visiting Wolfpack (3-1) finished 12-for-27 from 3-point range, but were outrebounded 53-45. Syracuse used a 9-0 run for a 77-70 lead and held on despite missing five of six free throws over the

No. 7 Indiana 84, Vanderbilt 73 Calbert Cheaney and Damon Bailey scored 27 of Indiana's final 32 points for the road win. Cheaney, who missed eight minutes in the second half while he received treatment for a cut over his eye he sustained chasing a loose ball, finished with 30 points and Bailey scored all of his 13 points in the final 11:17.

The Hoosiers (5-1) were never really threatened despite the injury to Cheaney and foul trouble for guard Greg Graham.

Other Games

Massachusetts beat New Hampshire 76-64, the Wildcats' 28th consecutive loss at home, a streak dating to the 1988-89 season.

Mark Randall, who was supposed to miss four weeks with a leg injury, returned to the Kansas lineup and scored 30 points in an 80-60 victory over Southern Methodist.

Tony Bennett scored 21 points to lead Wisconsin-Milwaukee to an 83-80 road victory over Colorado and improve the Phoenix to 4-0. Josh Grant had 25 points and nine rebounds to lead Utah to an 84-76 intrastate win over Utah State. Tracey Ware's 21 points helped New Mexico State stay unbeaten in five games with a 77-70 victory over Texas-El Paso. Alphonso Ford, the secondleading returning scorer in Division I, scored 36 points as Mississippi Valley State beat Delta

State 95-77. Five-foot-5 Arnold Bernard made all eight of his free throw attempts in the final 1:43 as Southwest Missouri State beat Tennessee

State 87-77. Doug Overton had a career-high 36 points to lead La Salle to a 93-81 victory over visiting Brigham which extended its record to 5-1 with the 96-88 victory, said the crowd of 15,031 saw two teams that are going to be much better as the season goes on. In other games involving Southwest Conference teams Tuesday night, Rice defeated Duquesne, 95-83, and Kansas whipped

Southern Methodist, 80-60. Jeff Webster, a 6-foot-8-inch sophomore averaging only 10.6 points a game, scored a game-high 35 Tuesday night as Oklahoma broke an 88-88 tie and held Texas scoreless for the final 3:56.

SWC

Texas had won nine straight home openers.

The Longhorns checked Oklahoma leading scorers Kermit Holmes and Brent Price, both averaging over 21 points, with a combined total of 21 but Webster repeatedly quieted the crowd, connecting on 14 of 18 field goal attempts and 7 of 10 free throws. Tubbs said a key to the game was free throws as the Sooners made 22 of 27 and Texas 22 of 32. "We hit the critical ones tonight, and they missed some and that was a key to the game. Oklahoma made four in a row after Texas' Panama Myers missed two with the score 92-88.

Penders said. "I feel a lot better tonight about our team than I did after the LSU (Louisiana State) game," which Texas lost 101-87. "I have a better handle on our team and where it can go.

Tubbs said, "I think you saw two teams tonight that will be a lot better in February than they are now. We have a lot of similarities, and we're still trying to figure out what we're trying to do and who to do it

Oklahom'a has now won seven straight over Texas dating to 1977, and Tubbs is now undefeated in five games against Texas, while Penders is winless in three starts against the Sooners.

Joey Wright, who was averaging 29.5 points a game, Locksley Collie and Benford Williams each had 17 for Texas. Maryland transfer Teyon McCoy scored all his points

Sooners top Longhorns, 96-88

Williams suffered a mild concussion at the end of the game and was hospitalized for observation, according to a team spokesman.

Terrence Mullins had 15 for

Brent Scott scored 24 points and grabbed 10 rebounds and Kenneth Rourke added 19 points, leading Rice to a 95-83 victory over Duquesne

At 3-1, Rice, a member of the Southwest Conference, is off to its best start in four years under coach Scott Thompson

James Hargrove led Duquesne (1-1) with 23 points off the bench. Tony Petrarca fired in 15 points and Effrem Whitehead had 12 for the Dukes of the Atlantic Ten.

Mark Randall scored 30 points and Terry Brown added 16 as Kansas beat Southern Methodist 80-60.

Another Bias dies senselessly

HYATTSVILLE, Md. (AP) -Another tragedy for the Bias

III, 20, also known as Jay, was shot about 1:10 p.m. in Prince George's County police

He was pronounced dead of two gunshot wounds to the back at 2:52 p.m. at Leland Memorial Hospital in Riverdale, the same hospital where Len Bias was pronounced dead in June 1986

Jerry Samuel Tyler, 24, was charged with first-degree murder in connection with the death, Lt. Alphonso Hawkins said. Tyler turned himself in about 8:30 p.m. at the department's station in Oxon Hill. Md. A second suspect remained at large late Tuesday.

Len Bias' 1986 death from cocaine shocked the sports world. He died just two days after his firstround selection by the Boston Celtics in the NBA draft.

The shooting apparently resulted from an argument that began in a jewelry store, Cpl. Mark Polk said. "It looks like utter senseless violence," he said. Bias and two friends were shopping at a jewelry store when they were confronted by a man who accused Bias of flirting with his girlfriend, the store's clerk. "He was confronted by a black male suspect. They got into an argument. There was an exchange of words," Polk said. "The suspect asked Mr. Bias to come out to the parking lot and they would take care of business there. Mr. Bias declined.

The store manager, hearing the commotion, ordered the men to take their argument outside, police said. Manager Mike McCutcheon, 28, said police and the company had asked him not to talk about the incident

The man left, but Bias remained inside for a short time. He left after making a purchase, police said. He was shot as he and his friends were leaving the area in a Toyota. The suspects opened fire from a light green Mercedes Benz. Bias was sitting on the vehicle's front passenger seat. Polk said Bias, a high school all-star as a senior fell short of meeting the requirements for a Division I scholarship. Instead he signed with Alleghany Community College in Cumberland, Md. He attended the school for a year before dropping Recently, friends said, Bias had been working for a local bank and considering returning to college.

Heisman Trophy winner Ty Detmer of Brigham Young and runner-up Raghib "Rocket" Ismail of Notre Dame were named to The Associated Press 1990 All-America college football team today.

Detmer set or tied 34 NCAA records this year, including most passing yards in a season (5,188) and touchdown passes in a career (86). The junior quarterback already is second on the career passing yardage list with 11,000, just 425 behind San Diego State's Todd Santos.

While Detmer drew raves for his passing, Ismail amazed fans and foes with his speed and versatility. The Rocket gained 157 all-purpose yards per game and scored six touchdowns as a runner, receiver and kick returner.

Ismail and Detmer are joined by three other juniors — Virginia wide receiver Herman Moore, Auburn offensive guard Ed King and Georgia Tech defensive back Ken Swilling. Everyone else is a senior.

Only four players are repeaters from last year's first unit -Ismail, Colorado offensive guard Joe Garten, Notre Dame defensive linemen Chris Zorich and Michigan defensive back Tripp Welborne. Notre Dame linebacker Michael Stonebreaker, who made the first team in 1988, is back after missing last season because of disciplinary problems.

Rounding out the offense are running backs Eric Bieniemy of Colorado and Darren Lewis of Texas A&M, wide receiver Lawrence Dawsey of Florida State, tight end Chris Smith of BYU, center John Flannery of Syracuse, offensive tackles Antone Davis of Tennessee and Stacy Long of Clemson, and placekicker Philip Doyle of Alabama.

The defense includes Colorado linebacker Alfred Williams, winner of the Butkus Award as the nation's top linebacker, and Miami's Russell Maryland, a finalist for the Outland Trophy and Lombardi Award as the best lineman in the country.

Joining Maryland on the defensive line are Florida's Huey Richardson and Nebraska's Kenny Walker, the first deaf player to make the AP team. The defense also features Miami linebacker Maurice Crum and backs Darryl Lewis of Arizona and Stanley Richard of Texas.

Cris Shale of Bowling Green is the punter.

Top-ranked Colorado and No. 5 otre Dame each have three players on the team. Fourthranked Miami and No. 13 BYU are next with two players apiece.

Bieniemy and Lewis finished 2-3 in the nation in rushing. Bieniemy gained 148 yards per game, scored 17 touchdowns and became Colorado's all-time leader in rushing, scoring and allpurpose yards. Lewis averaged 141 yards per game and became only the fifth player in NCAA history to rush for more than 5,000 career yards.

Herman Moore teamed with Virginia quarterback Shawn Moore to form a deadly duo. Herman caught 54 passes for 1,190 yards and 13 touchdowns, and set an NCAA record with at least one TD reception in nine straight games.

Dawsey had 65 receptions for 999 yards and seven scores, including a 13-catch performance against Miami, while Smith set a single-season record for receiving yards by a tight end with Syracuse coach Dick MacPherson calls Flannery "the most complete lineman we have ever had. He has every tool for greatness — strength, speed, size and intelligence.'

Garten anchored the offensive line for the country's sixth-best rushing team. A starter in 30 straight games, he allowed only one quarterback sack and was called for only one penalty this King, an All-Southeastern Conference pick as a sophomore and junior, was a dominant force on Auburn's offensive line. Davis was a major factor in Tennessee's explosive offense and Long was one of the keys to Clemson's powerful rushing game.

Doyle was the nation's top placekicker, making 24 of 29 fieldgoal attempts and converting all 25 of his extra-point tries. His three field goals provided the winning margin in Alabama's 16-7 victory over Auburn last Saturday and made him the SEC's alltime leader in field goals with 78.

Maryland and Crum formed the heart of a stingy Miami defense that held opponents to 80 rushing yards per game. Crum led the team in tackles for the third straight year, while Maryland had 101/2 sacks.

Although Notre Dame had defensive problems this season. they weren't caused by Zorich or Stonebreaker. Despite constant double-teaming, Zorich had 58 tackles, three sacks and one fumble recovery. Stonebreaker led the Irish with 95 tackles, made key fourth-quarter interceptions in close wins over Michigan and Michigan State and had a fumble recovery that helped preserve a victory over Miami.

Richardson was the leader of a Florida unit that was fifth in total defense, while Walker overcame his handicap to become the best lineman in the Big Eight.

Williams is Colorado's all-time sack leader with 35, including 1212 this season. "Alfred causes more problems for opposing teams than any other linebacker in the country," Colorado coach Bill McCartney says. Swilling was the top defender for the only major unbeaten team. He led Georgia Tech with five interceptions despite missing two games with a severe ankle

Lewis intercepted sevenpasses, including one he returned 70 yards for the game-winning touchdown against UCLA. He also made a game-saving tackle against Oregon, stopping quarterback Bill Musgrave on the Arizona 1 with nine seconds left.

Richard spearheaded one of the nation's best pass defenses at Texas. He had four interceptions and broke up 14 other passes. Welborne missed Michigan's regular-season finale against Ohio State with a knee injury, but still finished as the team's second-leading tackler. He also was one of the best punt returners in the country.

Shale led the nation in punting with a 46.7 average. Eleven of his 66 punts traveled 60 yards or longer, including a 76-yarder and an 81-yarder.

The players were selected by AP sports editor Darrell Christian, college football writer Rick Warner and regional AP sports writers. The All-America team will be featured on Bob Hope's annual Christmas show, Dec. 15 from 10-11 p.m. EST on NBC.

SAN FRANCISCO — New York Giants running back Rodney Hampton (27) dances out of the arms of San Francisco 49ers cornerback Darryl Pollard (26) for a gain in the first quarter Monday. San Francisco linebacker Keith DeLong (59) pursues from behind.

49ers-Giants battle was a classic slugfest

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - For Park, which in the industrial East all the time, I don't know." the San Francisco 49ers, Super Bowl XIV1/2 turned out to be an important stepping stone on the road to a "Threepeat" in Super Bowl

They slugged it out punch for punch with one of the NFL's sluggers and survived.

To put it another way, had anyone told the New York Giants before Monday night's 7-3 San Francisco victory that they could hold the 49ers to seven points, limit Joe Montana to 152 yards and Jerry Rice to one catch for 13 yards, don't you think they would have been satisfied they would win?

Oh, it wasn't the stuff of which dream games are made - last year's 34-24 San Francisco victory fit that bill. It was more like a Super Bowl without Denver in it boring and low-scoring.

But when has anyone before heard chants of "Defense! Defense! Defense!" coming from 66,000-plus fans at Candlestick you tuned in to see Jerry run deep has a reputation as a place for wine and brie eaters. It also contained an omen - excluding a dreary strike game getween dreary replacement teams in 1987. The last three winners of a regular-season Giants-49ers game has gone on to win the Super Bowl. The Giants won the regular-season game in 1986, the 49ers in 1988 and 1989 — and now 1990.

This one showed they have the stuff — defense — to do it again. Not only Charles Haley and Ronnie Lott, but Kevin Fagan and Michael Carter and Darryl Pollard and Matt Millen.

"The best defensive game since I've been here," said coach George Seifert, who has been here in one capacity or another for a decade, or four Super Bowls. *

"If you loved football, you loved this game," said Millen, the ex-Los Angeles Raiders linebacker who was Al Davis' gift to the 49ers. "If But it was Dave Waymer, the 34-year-old safety signed as a Plan B free agent last winter who may have expressed the new 49ers persona best, who actually used the word the San Francisco defense hates most — "finesse." "They felt we were a finesse team," Waymer said of the Giants. "They think that we can't pound. The NFC East does a lot of pounding, but I always thought the NFC West is the most physical conference in the league. Hey, three points. You can't get no better than that unless it's none or two."

"Who came up with this finesse thing anyway?" asked defensive tackle Pierce Holt. "Ronnie Lott is not a finesse player. Michael Carter is not a finesse player. Matt

If Haley made the big plays twice taking New York out of field seemed to take it well. In fact, he goal range — it was Lott, so often came into the locker room after the overshadowed by the glamor of game and we talked some more. Montana and Rice, who made the hits - three times on Mark Bavaro, one that broke up what might have been the winning touchdown pass with four minutes

And it was left to Lott to finish things, bumping Phil Simms, the equally competitive New York quarterback, and exchanging epithets.

But the 49ers aren't the Philadelphia Eagles, who mouth off so much they often forget to play the next game (see the first quarter of Sunday's game in Buffalo).

In the end, there was mutual

"We'll probably laugh about it a. day from now," Simms said.

And Lott, one of the game's more thoughtful players off the field, said of Simms:

"I went over to apologize and he

"He's a class act."

Long brake scores saddle bronc win

LAS VEGAS (AP) - Bud Longbrake, who entered the National Finals Rodeo in 13th place. scored 81 points Tuesday night for an upset victory in the fifth round of the saddle bronc competition as the rodeo reached the halfway mark at Thomas & Mack Center. Tom Reeves shared second with Ty Murray and Jeff Switzer was fourth. Reeves' second-place tie and leader Robert Etbauer's failure to cash drew Reeves to within $667 of Etbauer. Murray is a close third after five rounds.

In the bull Riding, leader Jim Sharp was shut out as Tuff Hedeman took the competition with a score of 81. David Fournier and Norman Curry tied for second at 80 and Clint Branger was fourth with a 79. Sharp still clings to a slim lead in the overall standings, ahead of Branger and Hedeman.

Five time world champion Lewis Feild and defending gold belt buckle holder Marvin Garrett tied for first in the bareback riding competition, notching scores of 81. The victory allowed Garrett ($71,031), to narrow the gap on leader Chuck Logue ($83,012), who was shut out of a paycheck. Feild ($65,385), also drew closer, but Colin Murnion ($72,119) failed to cash for the third straight night.

In steer wrestling, the first four earners — Ote Berry, Mike Smith, Mark Roy and John W. Jones — failed to cash, opening the door for Brad Gleason, who took the fifth-round competition with a time of 4.0 seconds. The victory propelled Gleason from eighth to fifth place, still $20,128 behind Berry. Lee Laskowsky (4.2), Blaine Pederson (4.4), and Ivan Teigen (4.6) earned the other paychecks.

Dee Pickett continued the theme of upsets when he won round five of the calf roping competition with a time of 9.1 seconds. Pickett was in 10th place entering the 15-man competition. Troy Pruitt, Fred Whitfield and Herbert Theriot finished in a three-way tie for second at 9.3 seconds. Mike Johnson, who had been the leader, and Joe Lucas, who was second, both failed to cash and slipped to second and third, respectively, narrowly behind Pruitt.

Doyle Gellerman and Allen Bach grabbed the team roping competition with a time of 5.0, half a second better than the duo of Charles Pogue and Steve Northcott. Another tenth of a second back in third were Tee Woolman and Bob Harris. Despite failing to earn any money for the fourth time in five nights, the team of David Motes and Dennis Watkins remained on top of the team roping standings with $56,654 earned, a lead of over $10,000.

It was left to the women to bring some form to the evening as six-time world champion and current leader Charmayne Rodman won the barrel racing with a time of 14.33 seconds. The victory, her first of the finals, boosted Rodman's earnings over the $100,000 mark.

The National Finals Rodeo continues through December 9.

Giants pay more big bucks to get pitcher

ROSEMONT, Ill. (AP) — Al fielder Lindsay Foster to the Rosen is putting up $33 million to Chicago White Sox for pitchers make the San Francisco Giants a champion. He has plenty of company in the frenzied free agent market, too. In less 24 hours, the Giants' general manager added free agents Willie McGee for $13 million and Dave Righetti for $10 million. Last month, he gave lefthander Bud Black, one game under .500 lifetime, $10 million. "This might be the end of the forever," Rosen said. Not likely Rosen's lastest money move came Tuesday night when he signed Righetti to a four-year contract. Righetti, 32, had 36 saves for the New York Yankees last season and is the club's all-time leader with 224. "He was always in our plans," Rosen said. "He's not the hardthrowing Dave Righetti I knew 10 years ago, but he's a better pitcher.

Rosen's next move may be to trade reliever Steve Bedrosian to the Minnesota Twins. The Twins were also in the running for Righetti. The day started with another loser Matt Young and the Boston Red Sox agreed to a three-year deal for $6.35 million. Young, like Righetti, has been a starter and reliever in his career. Unlike Righetti, Young does not have a lifetime winning record — 51-78, including 8-18 with a 3.51 ERA last season for Seattle. But these days, even if the pitching numbers are not good, the dollar numbers are — particularly for a left-hander. "We are thrilled to have Matt Young and we see him as an important member of our starting rotation next season," Boston general manager Lou Gorman said. "He has a great arm and we believe that he can be a winner on a contending ballclub.

The Red Sox came to the winter meetings looking for pitcher after they lost free agent Mike Boddicker (17-6). Boddicker signed with the Kansas City Royals for $9.25 million over three years. In other noteable moves on

- The Giants traded infielder Ernest Riles to the A's for outfielder Darren Lewis and a player to be named later.

- The Cleveland Indians traded outfielder Cory Snyder and in-

Eric King and Shawn Hillega. The Baltimore Orioles traded outfielder Dave Gallagher to the California Angels for pitchers

 The Royals signed pitcher Dan Schatzeder to a one-year contract for $700,000. The Milwaukee Brewers signed pitcher Edwin Nunez to a two-year contract for $1.5 million. The Yankees extended the Giants in the free agent market — contract of second baseman Steve Sax through the 1995 season for $12.5 million.

> Raines and the Cubs were closing in on free agents Zane Smith and George Bell. Meanwhile, the New York Mets' attempts to sign Vince Coleman may have hit a snag when back with a new offer. Raines, among baseball's best players for a decade, wants out of Montreal, and the Expos, who have entertained offers in the past, might be serious this time. They spent much of the day talking to the White Sox about a trade for a package that would include Ivan Calderon. That talk cooled free-agent signing when 18-game off late in the night.

> league owners discussed expansion and collusion. By the time some of the minor league players traded at the meetings reach the majors, there might be two new teams in the NL. Pittsburgh owner Douglas

Danforth, head of the NL's expan-

Christmas a list of six cities under consideration. No city has definitely been chosen, he said. Asked whether AL owners might block a move to put two teams in Florida, he said, 'I don't think so." AL owners, however, want a part of the $190 million entry fee the two new clubs will pay.

"Our position is that they are not entitled to any of that money," Danforth said. "But we can disagree, and I think we will resolve that issue shortly.' The AL owners, in a separate meeting, did not discuss elimination of the designated hitter. Commissioner Fay Vincent said during the World Series that he thought there was enough support to get rid of the DH, but the topic did not come up Tuesday.

Give it a chance

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Pierce Brosnan, the suave detective in the TV series "Remington Steele," turned the quill on Hollywood critics and panned an article that jokingly dismissed his new film. Brosnan defended the movie,

"Mr. Johnson," in a Los Angeles Times column Monday, saying his yet-to-be released film directed by Bruce Beresford should be given a chance.

"If any art form ever required an open mind and a closed mouth until the work had a chance to prove or disprove itself, it is the motion picture," Brosnan wrote.

Brosnan said that remark virtually wrote the film's obituary.

C.C. DeVille arrested

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) - C.C. DeVille of the rock group Poison was arrested and jailed for seven hours before giving a concert, appropriately, at Freedom Hall.

DeVille, 28, was arrested Saturday at a lounge after jumping on the hood of a car, police said. The musician was jailed on charges of setting of road building in West alcohol intoxication and criminal Africa in the 1920s, one producer mischief.

Noon Lions meet Tuesday

Stanton's Noon Lions met Tuesday at the Martin County Community Center. Boss Lion Kirke McKenzie read a certificate of appreciation from the Eve Bank for the group's support of the project.

Program Chairman George Costlow introduced Buddy Shanks, who gave a speech and slide presentation on his work in Africa with the Peace Corps.

Playoff game at Tunnell Field

LENORAH - Two weeks Mustangs defeated Grady in a six-man playoff game, the defending state champions will visit Tunnell Field for their semifinal game against McLean, according to GHS principal, Richard Gibson. The Mustangs and McLean, which defeated Sands in the quarterfinal round last week, will play at 6 p.m. Saturday. Tickets will be $3 for adults and $1 for students.

"We are making this a community and school project,' Gibson said. "The Grady booster club will man the concession stands and the chain crew on the field, while the Grady school employees will be helping make everybody's stay as comfortable as possible.

TI-IN program offered at SHS

A program on caring for physically ill and medically needy children will be offered from 6-9:15 p.m. Dec. 12 in the high school library, according to Elizabeth Williamson.

Thes program is being offered free to all TI-IN subscribers. However, an approximate number of participants is required.

This program should be attended by health professionals. school nurses, parents and grandparents, according to Morris W. Williamson, director of cirrculum for the Stanton school district. For more information contact Williamson at the district office, 756-2583.

Connally is accompanied by Houston oilman Oscar Wyatt, the purpose. chairman and chief executive of-

"They left early last weekend. I'm really not at liberty to talk much about it," Coastal Corp. spokesman Jim Bailey told The Dallas Morning News.

Before President Bush declared a trade embargo with Iraq, Coastal Corp. had been importing about 100,000 barrels of oil a day from the country.

Bailey said the company has no employees there.

Iraq media reported Tuesday that Wyatt and his accompanying delegation met Monday night with Hussein Kamel Hassan, the trapped in the country since Iraq's minister of industry and military Aug. 2 invasion of Kuwait.

member of the delegation but did not say when it arrived or how long it would remain in Baghdad.

Hassan also is acting oil minister and a son-in-law of President Saddam Hussein.

Bailey refused to confirm that Connally and Wyatt are seeking the release of Americans being held hostage. "Maybe they are and maybe they aren't negotiating for a hostage release," Bailey said, "but they wouldn't be Coastal employees. John White, a former Texas agriculture commissioner who is Coastal's lobbyist in Washington, also declined to divulge the trip's

"I think Oscar has strongly felt that whatever he could do to get the hostages out, he ought to do," White said.

State Department officials said they disapproved of the trip.

"Our attitude has been to try to discourage" such trips, said State Department spokesman David Good. "This is a country that has taken American citizens — in particular, American men - hostage, and we have an official travel advisory discouraging people from traveling to Iraq.

Q. What is the significance of the "pyramid and eye" symbol on the back of our one dollar

A. According to Donna Jackson, Howard County Library, the eye represents the "eternal eye of God," the "eye of providence" or the "all seeing eye," depending on which source you read. The unfinished pyramid symbolizes the continual building of our nation.

In October, the United States proposed cuts in farm subsidies ranging from 75 percent to 90 percent over the next decade. Export subsidies designed to promote sales overseas were targeted for the deepest slashes.

The European Community so far has offered to snip only 30 percent from subsidies for major crops over 10 years, beginning in 1986. Some reductions already have been made, prompting U.S. critics to contend that much less than 30 percent would occur in the next five years.

France and Germany have been the most resistant to deep cuts in farm supports. The German government had been worried about the farmers' vote in last Sunday's elections.

Australian Prime Minister Bob Hawke said today he was "imploring" German Chancellor Helmut Kohl and French President Francois Mitterrand "to inject the political will and the courage which is obviously necessary to prevent a debacle in these negotiations."

There have been hints of cracks in the community's position opposing any but the most modest reductions. Britain, the Netherlands and, surprisingly, Germany have urged more flexibility.

The Uruguay Round is the eighth in a series of negotiating sessions since World War II designed to reduce barriers to world trade.

European farmers usually prevail in subsidy fights

WASHINGTON (AP) - An Agriculture Department report says there's a good reason why farmers in the European Community take to the streets when their subsidies are threatened: the protests have usually worked.

In late August, for example, French farmers protested low prices they had been getting for beef and lamb, blaming cheaper imports from Britain, Ireland and Eastern Europe.

Groups of angry French farmers hijacked imported shipments, destroyed beef and lamb carcasses, and set live animals loose in town squares. Other acts included killing sheep or lambs in public, and British trucks carrying live sheep twice were set on fire.

"Farmers in the EC stage such protests largely because the demonstrations are successful," the report said. "The French agriculture minister, while condemning the demonstrators' violence, announced measures designed to relieve some of the profit squeeze.'

The tradition of protests continued this week as negotiators met in Brussels in a last-ditch attempt to revamp the world's trading Farm scene

Police used tear gas and water cannons on Monday to disperse 30,000 farmers protesting the talks being held under the auspices of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade.

The so-called Uruguay Round of talks for the liberalization of world trade has been clouded by persistent snarls over agricultural issues, primarily the refusal of the 12-nation EC to go along with substantive reductions in farm subsidies favored by the United States and most other GATT members.

European farmers, typically small and heavily dependent on EC subsidies and protection from outside imports, fear they would be swamped by the market-oriented policies sought by the others. The report, by economist Mary Lisa Madell of USDA's Economic Research Service, was published in the December issue of Agricultural Outlook magazine.

"Farmers may have a lot to protest, but they face some economic realities that politicians in further. Brussels and the national capitals cannot change," the report said.

For instance, the average size of the EC's 9 million farmers is only 33 acres, it added. Those averages range from 161 acres in the United Kingdom to less than 10 acres in Greece.

The larger, more efficient farms 'can flourish under the high level of support" provided by the bloc's Common Agricultural Policy, or CAP, but many smaller operations still struggle to survive. Until the mid-1980s, the community adjusted prices under the CAP to ensure that farmers could earn a good living from the land. But costs grew burdensome and chronic surpluses developed. Thus, price supports, or

"intervention" prices, have remained stable or have been shaved somewhat since then. Even so, the CAP price levels are still high compared with world prices, and overproduction remains a problem, the report said.

Current attempts in the Uruguay Round to reduce trade-distorting price supports and phase out longstanding EC export subsidies have helped stir the conflict

Health scares such as the mysterious new cattle disease bovine spongiform encephalopathy or "mad cow disease" - in the United Kingdom and Ireland have taken a toll.

So have concerns over food poisoning outbreaks and local scandals over hormones in meat supplies. Animal rights issues are also worrying livestock producers, the report said.

Peanut loophole plugged

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Agriculture Department has plugged a loophole that allowed about 5 percent of the peanuts sold for human consumption to be marketed without federal inspection.

Officials said the new regulation, which took effect Tuesday, was required by Congress in legislation a Daniel D. Haley, administrator of the department's Agricultural Marketing Service, said approximately 95 percent of the peanuts marketed for human consumption are sold under marketing orders and are inspected and certified for size, quality and condition.

The new rule covers those peanuts not covered by the marketing orders.

Haley said the agency conducts the program on a fee basis for peanut handlers. Most handlers operate under a peanut marketing agreement authorized by federal

An 18-member committee of peanut producers and handlers administers the program, which is financed by assessments on handlers.

Haley said that under the agreement, peanut handlers are indemnified for peanuts tested and found unsuitable for human consumption because of aflatoxin contamination. Aflatoxin, a naturally occurring chemical that can cause cancer, can result from a certain kind of crop mold or fungus.

Handlers whose peanuts until now have not been tested — but will be now, under the new law — may wish to sign the agreement to take advantage of the indemnification, Haley said.

He will continue to fortify Kuwait, to build chemical and biological weapons, and to acquire a nuclear weapons capability,' Baker said.

'As we wait, he expects other issues to deflect our attention. weaken our resolve and dissolve the international coalition. And as we wait, the burden of Saddam's crime weighs heavier on the world. That is why we must make credible our preparations to use force."

Sen. Jesse Helms of North Carolina, the senior member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee who often is a burr to the administration, today vigorously endorsed President Bush's leadership in the Middle East crisis.

Helms said rising dissent in Congress and among the American public "debilitates the nation to undermine the president."

Baker sounded a similar theme: "Congress and the American people must tell Saddam Hussein in unmistakable actions and words: 'Get out of Kuwait now or risk

On Tuesday, in a sign of growing unease, House Democrats overwhelmingly adopted a non-binding resolution that said Bush should not order an attack without prior approval from Congress. Democrats voted 177-37 in a closeddoor caucus for the statement, which also expressed support for the president's diplomatic initiatives in the gulf crisis. Also Tuesday, McNamara, the defense secretary at the height of the Vietnam war, told the Senate committee Tuesday the administration should continue to rely on economic sanctions as the main weapon against Iraq for a

"Who can doubt that a year of blockade will be cheaper than a week of war?" McNamara said.

The testimony reinforced expressions of caution over the last several days from congressional Democrats and former U.S. military commanders.

But Bush, while visiting Uruguay, remarked: "I've not been one who's been convinced that sanctions alone will bring him (Saddam Hussein) to his senses.'

He said he disagreed with two former chairmen of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Gen. David Jones and Adm. William Crowe, who suggested Bush give the sanctions up to 18 months to work. "I don't agree with them," the president said. "I can't say how long, but I don't agree with them.

Meanwhile, Republican Sen. Larry Pressler of South Dakota said Americans want peace. "If we start having body bags come back, we will have a very serious revolt in terms of public opinion," he prescriptions. Maryland health advocates say the cuts will affect 300 people with AIDS, although state officials say help is available through other programs.

After several years of belttightening, services once considered untouchable now face cuts, including schools, Medicaid and prisons. On average, 25 percent of state budgets go to education, 14 percent to Medicaid and 5 percent Options are even more limited for local officials, who rely heavily on federal and state aid. Federal funds have dried up and some states, such as Massachusetts, New York and Minnesota, have cut local aid.

'We're the last government on the end of the rung," said Paul Rouis, administrator for Sullivan County, N.Y., which raised property taxes and froze salaries. "We've been successful at cutting our spending, but the sponge is dry. The Northeast has been hardest hit. New York Gov. Mario Cuomo has proposed a $1 billion spending cut that would affect jobs, school aid, Medicaid, help for the homeless and those with AIDS, and other services. An ambitious hospital support plan has been scrapped. There will be less snowplowing and fewer lights on the state's highways this winter.

Massachusetts has already laid off 1,711 workers, leaving fewer people to minister to abused children and clean hazardous waste sites. In Maine, despite rosy forecasts by Gov. John McKernan during his re-election campaign, $63 million in contributions to a teacher retirement fund have been put off and McKernan says layoffs are inevitable.

2 cups sugar 1-1/3 teaspoons baking soda 3/4 teaspoon Clabber Girl Baking Powder

1-1/3 teaspoons salt 3/4 cup plus 2 tablespoons vegetable shortening cup buttermilk 1-1/3 teaspoons vanilla

3 medium eggs 1/2 cup buttermilk

Melt chocolate in saucepan over very low heat, stirring constantly; cool. Sift flour with sugar, baking soda, baking powder and salt. Stir shortening to soften. Add flour mixture, 1 cup buttermilk and the vanilla. Mix until all flour is moistened; then beat 2 minutes at medium speed of electric mixer or 300 vigorous strokes by hand, scraping bowl occasionally

Add melted chocolate, eggs and 1/2-cup buttermilk. Beat 1 minute longer with electric mixer or 150 strokes by hand.

Pour into two 9-inch pans that have been greased and lightly floured. Bake at 350° F. about 35 minutes or until cake tester inserted into center comes out clean. Cool in pans 15 minutes; then remove from pans and finish cooling on rack

White Frosting

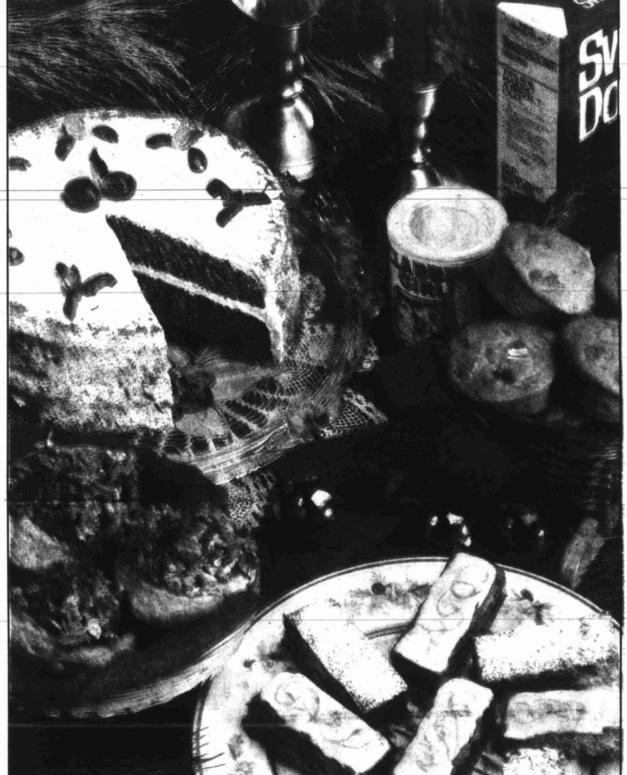

3/4 cup sugar

1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar teaspoon vanilla

1/4 cup boiling water

Combine egg white, sugar, cream of tartar, and vanilla in small deep bowl; mix well. Add boiling water and beat at high speed of electric mixer or with rotary beater until mixture will stand in stiff peaks, about 4 or 5 minutes. Makes enough frosting to cover tops and sides of two 9-inch layers.

NOTE: Frosted cake should be stored uncovered at room temperature or uncovered in the refrigerator to prevent frosting from becoming too soft. After cake is cut, seal cut edges with wax paper, to prevent drying.

3-1/4 cups plus 2 tablespoons Swans Down Cake Flour 1/3 cup granulated sugar

4 teaspoons Clabber Girl Baking Powder 3/4 teaspoon salt 1/2 cup butter or margarine

1/2 cup vegetable shortening 1/2 cup milk 2 medium eggs, beaten

1/2 cup packed brown sugar 3 tablespoons melted butter or margarine

1-1/2 teaspoons ground cinnamon 1/2 cup chopped pecans

Topping:

3/4 cup packed brown sugar 1/2 cup light corn syrup 1/3 cup butter or margarine

1/2 cup chopped pecans PREPARE DOUGH: Sift flour, sugar, baking powder and salt together in a mixing bowl. Cut in butter or margarine and shortening until mixture has texture of coarse crumbs. Add milk and eggs; blend just until ingredients are moistened and dough forms. Cover dough and chill at least 1 hour.

PREPARE FILLING: Cream brown sugar, butter or margarine and cinnamon until mooth. Set aside. Roll out dough on light floured surface into 1/4-inch thick rectangle. Spread filling evenly on dough. Sprinkle 1/2-cup chopped pecans. Roll up dough, starting with long side, jelly-roll style. Cut into generous l-inch thick slices.

PREPARE TOPPING: Combine brown sugar, corn syrup and butter or margarine in saucepan. Bring to a boil, reduce heat to simmer. Cook 2 minutes, stirring, until sugar is dissolved. Pour evenly into the bottom of a 9 x 13-inch pan. Sprinkle with 1/2-cup pecans. Arrange rolls, cut-side down, in pan. Bake in preheated 375° F. oven, 25 to 30 minutes, until golden brown. With cookie sheet or platter against baking pan, turn upside down. Cool until warm and serve. Yields: 12 rolls.

Windows

Windows and doors represent the biggest source of heat loss in your house if they are not properly sealed; weatherstripping controls this loss. Weatherstripping is available in a wide variety of forms, but usually, the least expensive is the felt type with burlap backing. Place the stripping with its edge firmly against the frame of the window sash and staple it about every four inches with an Arrow T-50 Heavy Duty Staple Gun Tacker. Doors should be weatherstripped on the outside. Install the stripping on the door stops, the wood strips on the sides and top against which the door closes. Stapling is the same as for windows.

Baking soda can help you get a jump on housework

Fall is here—the leaves are changing and cool weather is approaching. After a busy summer, it will take a while to get your house back in order. Get a head start on fall cleanup by planning a cleaning schedule ds'

Busy schedules may leave you with lit-tle time to clean your house. Your onceorganized schedule, which used to consist of a weekly cleaning routine, now may be limited to taking care of odds and ends between errands and appointments. The makers of Arm & Hammer Baking Soda® offer a variety of helpful hints on how to get a jump on housework and make the most of an hour's cleaning time.

• Take a few minutes to organize the cleaning supplies you have underneath your cabinets and in the closet. Next time you need something, you will be familiar with where everything is located.

 If you only have an hour to do some cleaning before carpooling the kids to an after-school activity, try to concentrate on one specific room. The kitchen is a great place to start. Be sure to put an open box of Arm & Hammer Baking Soda in your refrigerator to neutralize odors and prevent taste-transfer between foods. A second box in the freezer will keep ice cubes and ice cream freshertasting, longer.

• Be sure to check the calendar on the back of your box of baking soda. Replace the old box with a new one every three months for maximum results, and recvcle the old box by pouring the contents down the drain. This will help keep your drains fresh smelling.

• It's a good idea to keep a box of baking soda handy in the kitchen in case a small grease or electrical fire breaks out. To extinguish a fire of this sort, toss handfuls of Arm & Hammer Baking Soda at the base of the fire.

The best part about this is that baking soda won't hurt your food-just rinse it off and continue cooking your meal. Remember-baking soda should be used to extinguish only small fires and is not a substitute for a commercial fire extin-

• Appliances will sparkle after you have cleaned them with baking soda. Sprinkle on a damp sponge, and rub gently. Sponge clean and wipe dry.

Somehow, it always seems that you are the one who ends up taking care of the pets. Don't let this get you down.

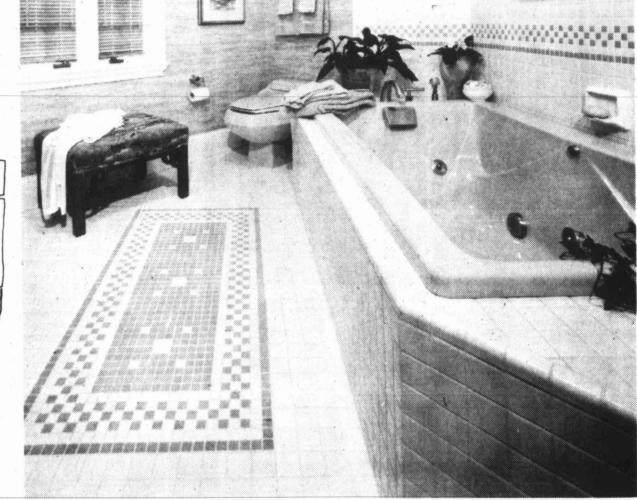

free by covering the bottom of it with Arm & Hammer Baking Soda.

· Sometimes, no matter what you do, the laundry piles up. If you don't have time to do the wash, spend a few minutes sprinkling baking soda between the layers in laundry bags and hampers. This will eliminate odors between washes. Also add 1/2 cup baking soda to the rinse cycle of your wash and keep clothes smelling clean.

• Whether you're running in after a hard day at work, chauffeuring the kids

Keep your cat's litter box fresh and odor- around or shopping, the one room you want always to have clean for guests is the bathroom. Give your sink fixtures and countertops a quick once-over with a baking soda solution. Rinse and buff dry to keep your bathroom looking great.

For additional tips from Arm & Hammer Baking Soda on how to take care of cleaning chores when you only have a short time, send a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to: "Great Ideas, Arm & Hammer Division, Church & Dwight Co., Inc., P.O. Box 7648, Princeton, NJ 08543-7648

Aspen, Colorado home of continuing aggressive environmental program to lead the ski industry with strong environmental programs. The company was the first to initiate an on-mountain recycling program of glass, aluminum and cardboard in all eleven of its mountain restaurants. It pioneered revegetation procedures now followed by the highway department, mining industry and skiing industry. And, it developed free mass transportation options for its employees and guests more than 15 years ago.

Today, the Aspen Skiing Company continues its commitment to the environment by adhering to an even stronger and more comprehensive program. The specifics of the program include recycling motor oil, computer and typewriter organizations.

The Aspen Skiing Company continues ribbons, plastic toner containers, paper, glass and aluminum.

Recycled products of all kinds are purchased, including paper for brochures, trail maps, letterhead, business cards, toilet paper, paper towels and copy machine paper. The company has also eliminated the purchase of plastic foam, avoids the purchase of plastics, and has installed energy-efficient lighting and water-efficient bathroom fixtures in its base area and hotels.

The Aspen Skiing Company supports environmental programs inside its own operations and in the Aspen community with approximately $100,000 donated annually, to Aspen area environmental heading to your favorite local mountain or traveling to a slope across the country, you only need to remember one number for accurate ski reports anywhere in the U.S: 1-900-WEATHER; the telephone weather service from American Express.

From the day the slopes open, all the way through the spring skiing season, a call to 1-900-WEATHER provides slope and weather conditions for more than 150 ski resorts, large and small, all across America.

1-900-WEATHER offers a wide range of ski information including slope conditions, depth of the base, amount of new snow, number of trails open and lifts operating. You will hear whether snow is powder, machine made, icy, windblown or anything in between. The ski reports also incorporate data on closed resorts that plan to open on the following weekend, whether gondolas and trams are operating, and if night skiing is

"Skiers want a quick way to find the best skiing. I-900-WEATHER offers a simple way to get the information you need to decide where to go, whether to go, what to wear, and what equipment to bring," said Jeff Bander, vice president at American Express.

1-900-WEATHER is easy to use. Just press 1-900-WEATHER from your touch tone phone, and then punch in the area code for the city nearest your favorite ski area. For example, you press 303 for Denver, Colorado or 802 for Rutland, Vermont. After hearing the

What's the weather on the slopes? ⊗Get ski smart. Whether you're weather forecast for that location, you can get local area ski reports for nearby slopes in alphabetical order. For example, Denver includes reports for Arapahoe Basin, Breckenridge, Keystone, Winter Park, and others; Rutland includes Killington, Mt. Snow, Okemo, Stratton, and others.

Before heading to any ski area, you can check road conditions by calling 1-900-WEATHER to hear statewide weather-related highway reports for the 48 contiguous states.

"1-900-WEATHER's ski and highway reports are valuable for all types of skiers, including weekend vacationers from out of state, area residents and business travelers who want to take advantage of time hear the mountains,' Bander said. "1-900-WEATHER operates 24 hours a day, seven days a week, so skiers can call at their convenience."

1-900-WEATHER provides up-tothe-minute weather information for more than 600 cities in the U.S. and worldwide. Accu-Weather*, the world's leading private weather service, supplies 1-900-WEATHER with new weather information every hour. Ski information is updated daily. Calls cost just 75 cents a minute. (Some hotels, businesses and all pay phones currently block access to 900

The makers of RESOLVE™ carpet cleaner with Du Pont TEFLON® soil and stain repellent have a few helpful carpet cleaning tips to help you enjoy your home in the fall, as well as any time of the year: · Try pre-cleaning your carpet by sweeping it first. This loosens the groundin dirt and makes the fibers stand up to give your carpet renewed life. Vacuuming is an important cleaning process for your carpet. Damage to your carpet can be caused by ground-in dirt that can mat and discolor the carpet direct sunlight to prevent color fading. · When accidents do happen, it is important to act immediately. The longer the spill sits, the tougher it is to clean up without leaving a stain.

Protect your carpets and rugs from

· Before the kids begin to track in mud and dirt from the outdoors, use RE-SOLVE carpet cleaner with TEFLON soil and stain repellent in the high-traffic areas of your home, as a preventive mea-

The unique formula of RESOLVE penetrates the carpet to lift out dirt and stains in the hallway, bathroom or den. In addition, the TEFLON penetrates the carpet to help protect it from resoiling, so next time your carpets will be easier to

• The storm windows are in, the windows have been washed for the last time until spring, and the doors and windows have been insulated in preparation for the winter months ahead.

When doing your seasonal cleaning, don't neglect your carpets. RESOLVE carpet cleaner has a multi-solvent system that can clean both oil and water-based stains. It does not require vacuuming and dries within minutes, leaving your carpets soft, not sticky, with a clean scent.

 Now, cleaning up after your pet is a snap. With the winter months approaching, your pet also wil! spend more time indoors and accidents are bound to happen. You can remove those stains simply and easily.

Blot up the excess spill using paper towels. Next, spray RESOLVE carpet cleaner on the soiled area and wait a few minutes for the formula to penetrate the carpet. With a damp sponge, rub the area and rinse the sponge clean. Continue this for a few minutes until the area is clean.

BUSINESS REVIEW

Com Shop can handle all your phone needs

Com Shop began in 1985, and is founded on the old-fashioned principle of one company to handle all your phone needs. Two former employees of Southwestern Bell and AT&T saw a need for more personalized, and less expensive, telephone repair service and decided to fill the gap. With offices in Odessa and Big Spring, Jim Haas, president, and Travis Crow, vice president, incorporated Com Shop in 1986. Their technicians, Kenneth Crow and Clifford Crow, have years of combined experience. Their secretary is Johnanna Crow.

Prevention is the key to avoiding problems with septic systems

Once an inexpensive means of waste disposal, wastewater treatment has become increasingly more costly. Many treatment plants nationwide have found their internal costs increasing, as testing and treatment of wastewater become more complex.

For homeowners who have their own septic systems, this means that the costs of having a septic system pumped has increased considerably over the past few

The best bet for the homeowner is to keep the septic system running efficiently. While every system needs some maintenance, including a yearly inspection, it should not require more than an occasional pumping.

Your septic system requires constant bacterial action to function properly. The bacteria feed on solid and liquid waste matter, turning solids into liquids through digestive action. These liquids then are dispersed into the surrounding soil.

If the bacteria in a septic system are weakened due to improper maintenance, accumulation of oils or grease, or excessive use of harsh household chemicals. the system will not function effectively. Solids will remain solid, leading to a sluggish system or a major septic system back-up. The only solution to this emergency is to pump out the entire septic

Many homeowners are not aware that there is a product they can add to their septic tank or cesspool which can help prevent the need for frequent pumping One cup of RID-X*, a septic system bacteria additive manufactured by The d-CON Company, should be flushed down the toilet once a month.

RID-X adds hundreds of millions of the beneficial bacteria needed by the sysble from starting and to help keep the septic tank or cesspool operating at full efficiency. Pipes, drains and sidewalls are kept free and flowing; frequent pumping cleaning and emergency care become un necessary or minimal In addition to a regular septic mainte nance program, it is important that homeowners be aware of things that are harmful to septic systems - disposable diapers, coffee grounds, grease, straight bleach and any items made of plastic should never go down the drain. Rememtem to digest waste, to help prevent trouber, prevention is the key here. For more information, a consumer booklet, "The Worry-Free Way to Care for Septic Tanks and Cesspools," is available free by writing RID-X Brochure Offer, The d-CON Company, Dept. LS, 225 Summit Avenue, Montvale, NJ 07645.
