BSISD driver gets fourth in 'roadeo'

A Big Spring Independent School District bus driver finished fourth at a bus "roadeo" in Monahans last weekend.

Beverly Norman placed fourth among 66 drivers in competition Saturday. Norman won the regional roadeo in 1987

Big Spring also had two other drivers compete. They were Barbara Johnke and Linda

Queen Elizabeth to include Texas cities in U.S. tour

WASHINGTON (AP) - Queen Elizabeth II was given a red carpet welcome at the White House today, complete with a 21-gun salute, a fife and drum band and praise from President Bush, who called her "freedom's friend."

The 65-year-old queen, making her third state visit to the United States, reciprocated with praise for the former British colony. "At your kind invitation, we are here to celebrate and reaffirm that friendship," she told Bush.

Huge crowds gathered on the White House lawn to watch the queen, who wore a purple suit and matching boater. She carried a leather handbag and wore her glasses.

Before their brief remarks, the queen shook hands with Vice President Dan Quayle and Gen. Colin Powell, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

The weather was warm and muggy, but a Buckingham Palace spokesman said the queen "is used to traveling in hot countries," such as former colonies in Africa and Asia

Drug dealer sentenced to death

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) -A man described as the ringleader of a marijuana operation today became the first person in the nation sentenced to death under a federal capital punishment law aimed at drug trafficking violence

U.S. District Judge James H. Hancock ordered 37-year-old David Ronald Chander of Piedmont, Ala., to be executed, but the judge did not specify a method or time for the death sentence to be carried out.

Hancock said he will rule after May 21 on defense motions for a new trial and a new sentencing phase. Defense attorney Drew Redden, who said today that the convictions and sentences will be appealed, contends among other things that the 1988 federal death penalty law under which Chandler was convicted does not provide any mechanism to put people to death.

State officials fight to keep bases open

FORT WORTH (AP) -Texas congressmen and Gov. Ann Richards today argued against the Pentagon's plan to close three state military bases by emphasizing the economic impact and strategic importance of the installations.

Three members of the Defense Base Closure and Realignment Commission held an all-day hearing here on the Pentagon's proposed "hit list" of 43 military installations across the United States.

U.S. Reps. Pete Geren, D-Fort Worth; Joe Barton, R-Ennis; Martin Frost D-Dallas; along with Richards and outgoing Fort Worth Mayor Bob Bolen told the panel that Texas has always been a friend and ally of the military.

The governor got a standing ovation after testifying before the panel and the crowd of at least 1,000.

wave in London," the spokesman said.

Bush and the queen spoke on the South Lawn, facing the White House with their backs to the Washington Monument. Crowds of tourists strained to get a glimpse of the queen as she stood on a redcarpet podium with the president. The only snafu was a balky public address system that made Bush's remarks difficult to hear at times Bush said the royal visit came at a time when the two countries were celebrating their victory in the Persian Gulf. "Like Monty and Ike and Churchill and FDR, we linked hands and hearts in the gulf to do what was right and good," he said.

Addressing the queen, Bush said, "You have been freedom's friend for as long as we remember, back to World War 11 when at 18 you joined the war against fascism. It was then that America began to know you as one of us, came to love you.'

On Thursday, she was to become the first British monarch to address a joint session of Congress. Her speech was expected to highlight Anglo-American friendship in the wake of the Persian Gulf War.

The royal couple also will visit Dallas, San Antonio and Houston before taking a few days of private vacation in Kentucky. The queen, an avid horsewoman, has made frequent private trips to Kentucky to attend sales and view horses.

A bolt of lightning strikes behind the Fina refinary Monday evening as a storm passed through Howard County, producing a reported tornado and heavy rains. A pickup truck, below,

Rain helps but more needed

Monday night's rainfall will help the local greenery, but falls short for some farmers' May cotton planting needs

"Even a half an inch of rain will only wet the ground for three to four inches and chances are we'll have dry soil below that (near Big Spring)," said Research Leader Bill Fryrear of the Agricultural Research Center.

Most areas in Big Spring reported 22 to 25 hundredths of an inch, the first rainfall since March 30, according to extension office records.

Many areas south of Big Spring, however, were excluded from last night's precipitation, with Lomax reporting no rainfall since March.

Stanton received a trace of rain on Sunday, but failed to receive any last night, said Chalmer Wren of Stanton. "All that thunder and lightning all around us and we didn't get a drop," she

"Overall it's still real spotted but getting better," said past County Extension Agent Ron Wood.

"In Vincent they've had some pretty decent rain, $1\frac{1}{2}$ to 2 inches. Around Knott, Luther and Ackerly, they've had enough of these six-tenths, eight-tenths rains to have enough to plant with," he said.

Coahoma had about .6 inches of rain. "Maybe 50 percent of the county has had enough rain to plant," said Wood.

There is still time for area farmers to plant. The planting deadline for Howard County farmers to qualify for crop insurance is June 10, said Sherry Wegner Insurance agents.

Last night's thunderstorms produced some high winds in parts of the county. Tree branches were blown onto Midway road impeding traffic, and two sightings of funnel clouds were called in near the south and east parts of the town. Sheriff deputies were unable to confirm those sightings. Reservoirs are essentially unchanged, said Joe Pickle of the Colorado River Municipal Water District

'Lake Ivey is up about one inch and water is flowing into Spence at about 300 acre-feet per day,' he said.

No water is currently flowing into Lake Thomas and lake levels remain unchanged, he said.

In 1981 Morgan started Missouri's first electronic newspaper, the Daily Standard Cable News, in Excelsior Springs. The program consisted of local and national news, sports, weather, music and advertising, and complemented The Daily Standard newspaper with immediate update capability. The Daily Standard Cable News was a pioneer in the electronic newspaper field.

In 1985 Morgan formed Electronic Publisher Inc. to sell professional desk-top publishing systems software. Some of the company's original publishing software is now in use at more than 1,000 publishing companies across the country, as well as in colleges and universities.

Morgan was active in the Excelsior Springs Chamber of Commerce, where he served as president and board director. He is a member of the Knights of Columbus and the Dr. Warren C. Lovinger Class of Eagle Scouts. He served three years on the Board of Directors of the National Association of Advertising Publishers and was active in the Missouri Associated Dailies Press Association, as well as numerous other industry organizations.

Morgan's wife Verna will join him in Big Spring soon, along with son Ryan, 16. A daughter Shanna, 18, is remaining in Kansas City, where she will be attending college.

Morgan's hobbies include boating, computers and photography.

Commissioners OK abatement request

By PATRICK DRISCOLL Staff Writer

Howard County commissioners unanimously approved the county's second tax abatement agreement Monday but not without a disagreement on how the law is interpreted.

A tax consultant for Power Resources Inc., which is building $3.34 million in additions to a power cogeneration plant near Big Spring, said it is unfair that the amount abateable will only be the increased property value on the whole plant, which is expected to begin depreciating.

The additions to the plant are separate from the existing plant, said Howard B. Heard Jr., a Houston tax consultant. "We felt that this is not entirely fair," he said. "That is not the way we originally read it and we were suprised when we were told that." However, commissioners and officials with the Howard County Appraisal District, the Big Spring Independent School District and the Howard Junior College District said they interpreted the Texas Property Tax Code to mean that they can only abate taxes on the value increases of a property as a whole.

"That's the way our attorney read it," said Appraisal District Chief Appraiser Keith Toomire.

Heard said the four-year-old plant, with a preliminary 1991 property valuation of $83.4 million, up $716,100 from last year, will probably soon begin depreciating. Right now they are the second largest taxpayer in the county.

The plant is approaching the time when it should start depreciating," he said. "They start depreciating rapidly.'

A storm late Monday generated at least three oil tank battery fires in Howard, Midland and Martin counties, all believed ignited by a flash of lightning and aggravated by high winds.

Sand Springs volunteer firefighters noticed smoke rising from a tank battery on the A.K. Guthrie Stockton Lease 10 miles southeast of Coahoma about 8:30 p.m., said Howard County Fire Chief C. Roy Wright

"They went on out there to check it out, and sounded the alarm about 9 (p.m.)," he said. Silver Heels, Coahoma, Forsan and the Sand Springs units extinguished the fire in 45 minutes, he said.

"The tank battery was a total Wright said. "(Flames) loss," blew the top off and destroyed it completely.

Colorado City Firefighters fought a similar blaze on a farm known as the Shoemaker place, two miles north of I-20 on Highway 1229, said Fire Marshall

Billy Ray Williamson. An alarm sounded shortly after 10 p.m., and firefighters worked more than an hour to extinguish two burning oil tanks.

"We generally don't try to put one out until the lightning stops,' Williamson said. "Contrary to what many people think, lightning can strike in the same place twice. We've gone out to some of the same batteries two or three times.

Martin County Firefighters responded about 8 p.m. to a tank battery fire northwest of Stanton on the Adobe Lease, said Fire Chief Lonnie Long

"Lenorah (firefighters) got there first, and they put some (fire) out where the oil had run into the bar ditch," he said. Two tank batteries were destroyed by the blaze, Long said

Wright said firefighters in areas around Big Spring expect a rash of tank battery fires at this time of year. Colorado City and Howard County firefighters had worked almost five hours late Sunday to extinguish a major tank battery fire also believed caused by lightning.

"Anytime there's lightning, we know we're going to have this type of fire. We just have to be prepared for it," Wright said.

Williamson said there is no way oil companies can protect their investment from the danger of fires caused by lightning.

"That's just the cost of doing business," he said.

Monday's storm also generated at least one report of a funnel cloud sighting in the area, National Weather Service officials said. A Howard County citizen reported seeing the cloud about 14 miles west of Big Spring, near Knott, shortly before 7 p.m. Fifteen minutes later, however, officials said the cloud had dissipated.

House tentatively OKs spending bill

AUSTIN (AP) - A $177 million emergency spending bill was tentatively approved by the Texas House.

The measure endorsed Monday includes money for welfare, criminal justice and a pay raise for the state education commissioner. Approval is needed in another House vote before the bill goes to the Senate for consideration.

The bulk of the money is from $139.5 million in spending reductions earlier approved by lawmakers, said Rep. Jim Rudd, a Brownfield Democrat who sponsored the bill.

It also includes some unspent funds from this fiscal year, he said, along with bond proceeds and earned federal funds

Texan enters innocent pleas

BANGOR, Maine (AP) - A26-year-old Texan used the insanity plea while being arraigned on charges related to his alleged break-in at the home of horror writer Stephen King.

Erik Keene of San Antonio pleaded innocent in Penobscot County Superior Court on Monday to burglary. He also pleaded "not guilty by reason of insanity" to a charge that he terrorized King's wife, Tabitha, during the break-in April 20.

Keene was arrested after he broke a window and entered King's Bangor home carrying a phony bomb. He's scheduled to undergo a court-ordered psychiatric evaluation.

Mark Perry, Keene's courtappointed attorney, said Keene maintains that King's bestselling novel "Misery" was based on the life of Keene's aunt, Genene Jones, a convicted baby-killer serving a 99-year sentence in Texas.

Keene told Perry that he had written a sequel to the book and had been trying unsuccessfully to persuade King to help get it published.

Perry said he plans to ask the court for a change of venue in the next three weeks ecause of the pre-trial publici-

AUSTIN (AP) - With Congress considering a law to make it more difficult to buy a handgun, the state Senate went the other direction, passing a bill that would allow Texans to carry concealed handguns.

"Maybe the rest of the nation is out of step with Texas," the bill's sponsor, Sen. Gene Green, said Monday.

But Green, D-Houston, said there is no relation between his bill and the federally debated Brady bill, which would require a week-long waiting period for handgun purchases.

Green says the concealed handgun bill would give law-abiding citizens a chance to fight back at

But Sen. Ted Lyon, D-Rockwall, a former policeman, said the measure would lead to more violence.

"A handgun is generally an instrument of death. To let just anybody have a pistol is a serious problem. It subjects a lot of people to needless dangers," he said.

Lyon, a policeman for five years in Mesquite, said law enforcement groups opposed the bill, and noted the Senate was debating the measure the same day a memorial was held at the Capitol for law of-ficers killed in the line of duty.

The bill goes to the House, where Green said it stood a good chance of passage. Gov. Ann Richards said she was undecided about the measure. "I don't know what the rationale is.

I'll be happy to look at it." "Any bill has to say to me 'It's going to make Texans better off, in their health, their safety, their education or their workplace.' I don't know whether this bill meets that standard," she said.

Lyon attempted to amend the bill to make applicants for a concealed handgun take a psychological test, but that effort failed 13-16.

He said assassins Lee Harvey Oswald and Sirhan Sirhan, and attempted assassin John Hinckley would probably have been able to get a handgun under the measure. But Green said the legislation has safeguards. License applicants would have to undergo gun train-ing, and their past would be checked by the Texas Department of Public Safety. The review, he said, would take about four months.

Lyon managed to add an amendment that would require a handgun license applicant to prove to the DPS that they needed to carry a concealed gun because they are in more danger then the general public.

Green said he accepted that amendment to avoid a filibuster of the bill by Lyon. Green said that any person who uses an automated teller machine at night would be eligible for a handgun under the amendment.

The Senate voted 23-7 to bring the bill up out of order, and then passed the measure on a non-record, voice vote.

To be eligible for a license, a person would have to be 21 years of age and would have to be a lawful resident of the United States and a resident of Texas.

U.S. troops to parade in El Paso

EL PASO (AP) - Hundreds of thousands of residents are expected to crowd a two-mile parade route when troops who fought in the Persian Gulf and their equipment rumbles along the street to celebrate Armed Forces Day.

An estimated 250,000 to 300,000 people are expected to attend the parade Saturday.

"It's time to have a grand event and this is it," said Gen. Donald M. Lionetti, Fort Bliss' commander. Usually, the post has an open house on Armed Forces Day, but the parade and a worship service will replace that event this year. "We haven't had a military parade in El Paso in many, many years," Lionetti said.

In fact, it's been so many years that post historians couldn't recall when the last one was.

About 95 percent of the more than 10,000 Fort Bliss troops sent to the Persian Gulf have returned. Those still overseas will be represented at the parade by members of their units who remained behind. Equipment used in the war also will follow the twomile parade route.

"It will be an enormously uplifting experience to see probably close to 10,000 soldiers and their equipment ... to see the gold of the nation, the youth of America represented in that people,' Lionetti said.

go on hunger strike

EL PASO (AP) - Garment workers have gone on a hunger strike to protest industry conditions, recycling a tactic they used a year ago to launch their campaign.

"It has been almost a full year since we initiated this movement seeking humane treatment and working conditions for garment workers in this community. To mark the anniversary we are now forced to declare a second hunger strike," said Cecilia Rodriguez, director of La Mujer Obrera, a garment workers' rights group.

The group, whose name means "the working woman" in Spanish, has held numerous protests to collect unpaid wages and convince city officials to invest in the apparel industry.

Bill should not be held hostage

By approving the Brady bill requiring a seven-day waiting period for handgun purchases, the House of Representatives has taken a major stride toward curbing violence in this country. Now it is up to the Senate and President Bush to ensure the measure becomes law

Senate Majority Leader George Mitchell, D-Maine, wants to strengthen the Brady bill by providing states with money to centralize their criminal records. This would make it easier for law enforcement authorities to conduct background checks on gun buyers and encourage a sharing of information among states.

One of the biggest obstacles to passage of the bill is President Bush's threat to veto any handgun measure that is not accompanied by a comprehensive anti-crime package to his liking. Sen. Joseph Biden, D-Del., chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, has proposed folding the Brady bill into a modified version of the administration's crime package. He believes the legislation could be approved by the full Senate and House within the next several days and sent to the President.

Biden's scenario presumes, of course, that the Democratic-controlled Senate and House are inclined to sign off on most of the administration's crime package. And that is by no means assured. The administration's measure would extend the death penalty to additional crimes, limit petitions in federal courts by state prisoners and allow courts to consider evidence that is currently excluded.

The president's package deserves to be approved on its own merits. So does the Brady bill. But the White House should not hold the handgun measure hostage to the comprehensive crime measure.

The 20 states, including California, that already have waiting periods or an instantaneous verification procedure have prevented thousands of felons and unstable individuals from buying guns.

The Brady bill by itself is not a perfect solution, but it ould help check the escalating violence caused by handguns. That is why it is endorsed by most major law enforcement organizations and by many one-time opponents of gun-control, including Ronald Reagan. It deserves to be approved by the Senate and signed into law by President Bush big Hollywood movie producer who came to town in 1946 to give every kid in town our chance at fame and fortune? I do

The word came down through an announcement at the elementary schools: "On Saturday, in the ballroom of the Settles Hotel, auditions will be held to cast parts in a movie that is to be shot in Big Spring. Children must be accompanied by a parent at the audition." None of us slept a wink between that announcement and the following Saturday morning.

Let me explain here that in those days, career options for girls were still limited. We could be teachers, and wear brown cotton dresses; nurses, and wear big white shoes; or movie stars. Given those choices, we all wanted to be movie stars. Suddenly, so did all those lying little boys who, up until then, had claimed they were going to be cowboys or President. Come Saturday, everybody who was breathing showed up at the Settles. It was one those days when we all got lucky. It turned out that the only kids with No Talent were the ones whose parents refused to pay the $25 it cost to buy a part in the movie. Hundreds of us bought our way in. The movie was shot at the city park. We gathered there the next Saturday — scrubbed, starched and curled into a fine state of unnaturalness. The plot was explained: Some robbers were hiding in the park. A child was being held hostage, and the grownups were too dumb to find them. We got to do it and be the heroes

They split us up into groups of about twenty kids each. Two or three people in each group were given lines to speak as they marched us in front of the camera. I had a line. I was given directions by a man who caught me by the shoulder and said, "Act like you're looking for something."

We passed slowly — like little Nazis in a May Day Parade - in front of the camera. I walled my eyes to the left; I walled my eyes to the right; I looked into the treetops and said, "Yeah, we've been looking three days and we haven't found them yet."

When the group scenes were finished, we were all called together to stand as a mob and cheer and jump up and down. Then they sent us home.

Kennedy could have been president

The thought hit me like a Nolan Ryan fastball upside the head: Ted Kennedy could have been president. Yes, beloved - as that great Southern philosopher, the late Brother Dave Gardner, used to say when he had something profound to say

Ted Kennedy could have been president.

Allow that to sink in. Sick to your stomach? I had the same reaction

In the '70s, whenever there was mention of a presidential election, Ted Kennedy's name usually was included.

After all, he was a Kennedy. Came 1980 when Jimmy Carter was running for a second term in the White House

Ted was set to challenge a sitting president from his own party. I went to an assemblage of Kennedy supporters as I braved the cold of a New Hampshire evening on the occasion of the state's presidential primary.

I normally don't tread the ground where super-liberals gather, but this was in the line of duty. I was looking for a column idea. I didn't find one, but now I recall it was a pretty big crowd and those people really wanted Ted Kennedy to be president.

That probably meant there were other people with the same notion. Had Teddy decided, "Hang the party, I want to be president," it is conceivable he could have been

If he could have been nominated, would he have had a chance to beat Ronald Reagan? Probably not, but election balls can take some funny bounces.

I rather enjoyed Jimmy Carter's response to the notion Teddy might challenge him. Very unwimpishlike, the president said, "I'll whip his ass.

Teddy eventually backed down, of course; jelly beans usually do.

Has anybody taken a good look at Ready Teddy lately? Hasn't he put on a lot of weight? Doesn't he look a little peaked around the gills? I caught him on C-Span the other day. He seemed terribly red in the face to me.

Obviously, he is embarrassed about the recent incident where his nephew allegedly committed rape

Here's our boy Teddy out in the wee hours at a Palm Beach bar with his nephew who is approximately half his age.

A woman winds up leaving the bar to go to the Kennedy estate in spiffy P.B. Later she claimed to have been raped by nephew Willy, who looks to have a few jelly bean characteristics himself.

Hasn't Ted Kennedy caught on that partying in a coastal environment can get him into serious trouble? This isn't the first time that something of this nature has come up.

I read in Evans and Novak's column that Teddy had talked to friends about what he should do at this point, and one friend told him he must stop drinking — in public. "But this friend," wrote

Rowland and Robert, "is not optimistic that the senator will alter his lifestyle. 'He just doesn't get it,"' the columnists quoted the Kennedy counsel.

And this man could have been our president. The good news, now, of course, is that he couldn't get elected to a national office if he ran for federal beekeeper.

The bad news is that Ted Kennedy probably won't listen to his friend and will go on drinking and get into even more trouble. I speak here from experience. Copyright 1991 by Cowles Syndicate ting up camps inside Saddam's domain, so be it.

The other side of the Stalin's analogy is the relatively muted reaction to the situation in the Sudan, where famine once again lurks. Traditional donor countries the United States and Western Europeans - are helping, but the old zeal is not there.

For every Kurd whose life is at risk there are scores of Sudanese in the same situation. But Sudan's military regime, unwilling to submit to outside scrutiny, has refused permission for Western television networks to "ecord the unfolding nightmare. If the cameras were allowed in, the suffering in the Sudan probably would quickly eclipse the Iraqi refugees on the chart of newsworthy stories.

The Sudan faces massive manmade famine this summer

According to Andrew Natsios, director of the U.S. Office of Foreign Disaster Assistance, between 9 million and 11 million Sudanese lives are at risk. With a shortfall of more than 500,000 tons of food, a famine of "epic proportions" is in prospect for this summer, Natsios says.

The Sudan was a country once viewed as the potential breadbasket of Africa. But events have conspired to make the Sudanese perhaps the world's most unfortunate people.

Nowadays, natural disasters alone cannot produce famine. There are too many countries with the will and the wherewithal to ensure the hungry are fed, no matter how severe the drought, the flood, the earthquake.

But drought is only one of the Sudan's enemies. All of the others are manmade. There is the civil war that has raged for years between the Muslim north and Christian black and animist south. Then there is the Sudanese government's policy of achieving self-sufficiency, one which accepts offers of outside help only grudgingly.

Those who disagree with this policy, or any other, risk imprisonment without charge. Much of the country's intellectual elite has been imprisoned since Lt. Gen. Omar Hassan al-Bashir took charge two years ago in a military coup. The economy is in shambles along with the transportation system.

The government didn't ingratiate itself with the outside world last summer when it sided with Saddam Hussein in the Perian Gulf War, just at the time the nagnitude of the impending 1991 food crisis was becoming apparent.

Last January, as the air war against Iraq was about to begin, the State Department was torn by a difficult choice: withdraw U.S. personnel from the embassy in Khartoum rather than have them face the wrath of pro-Saddam mobs, or leave them there to try to help deal with the approaching famine

The diplomats were ordered home, producing outrage among some. "The Sudanese are too weak to throw rocks!" said one, debunking the notion that Khartoum was unsafe for Americans. The embassy was reopened a few weeks later.

Officials report that the Sudanese government is somewhat more open than before to outside charity. But pledges from donor nations, including 300,000 tons from the United States alone, do not even come close to overcoming the food deficit.

Hardly anyone argues with predictions that the death toll will number in the hundreds of thousands - perhaps enough some day to qualify as a "statistic" in Stalinist lexicon.

He says they taste like shrimp. Cicadas usually live underground in a larvae-like nymph stage and emerge every 17 years to mate. This is the year in western West Virginia and parts of eastern Kentucky and southeastern Ohio.

"The spiny legs on nymphs are kind of hard on the stomach lining," said Miller, who works in the entomology laboratory of the U.S. Department of Agriculture in Beltsville, Md.

Support could reduce rate of caesareans

By LINDSEY TANNER

CHICAGO (AP) - An oldfashioned remedy - childbirth companions - combined with modern medical care may mean fewer Caesarean deliveries and shorter labors for pregnant women, researchers said in a study published today.

Researchers led by Dr. John Kennell of Case Western Reserve University in Cleveland studied 616 women pregnant with their first children. The results of their studies at Jefferson Davis Hospital in Houston were reported in the Journal of the American Medical Association.

Of the women studied, 212 received continuous emotional support from women who had through delivery, soothing; touching and encouraging the pregnant woman.

Most of the patients were lowincome minorities, and few had received any childbirth education. All had experienced uncomplicated pregnancies and were considered low-risk for Caesareans.

The authors said they believe the supported women experienced less pain and less anxiety that could have disturbed the labor process and made a C-section necessary.

But they acknowledged that the presence of the doula and other observers may have influenced the hospital staff's choice of treatment

Dogs to aid deaf

The International Hearing Dog Inc. in Henderson Colorado is a small organization that trains and places dogs for the deaf. All the dogs come from animal shelters and would have been put to sleep if a home had not been found for them.

The dogs are selected for in telligence, adaptability and eagerness to please and are trained for about three months before they are given free to a deaf person. These animals are taught to respond to important household sounds including a crying baby, smoke alarm, telephone, doorbell or alarm clock.

If you or someone you know could benefit from one of these animals contact International Hearing Dog, Inc. 5901 East 89th Ave... Henderson, Co. 80640 or call (303) 287-3277.

Eight percent of the emotionally supported patients had Caesarean deliveries, compared with 13 percent of the observed women and 18 percent of the group that received no special care.

The women assigned childbirth companions also had labors about two hours shorter than those receiving no special care.

The childbirth companions were called doulas, a Greek word meaning an experienced woman who helps a new mother with her infant-care tasks. They received three weeks of training and were paid an average of $200 per patient.

Each doula stayed by her patient's side from admittance and the new.'

The Public Citizens Health Research Group, a Washingtonbased consumer organization, estimates half this country's Csections are unnecessary. "A low-cost, low-risk intervention that reduces the extremely 3 percent depreciation would result in a loss of $2.5 million in property value, which would nearly wipe out an abatement on the additions. "It's only 3 percent," he said. "It's very small.

But if taxes are abated on 1991 valuation, the base year of the abatement, the slack will have to be picked up by everybody else, cars and other items taken were said Terry Hansen, a vice president at Howard College.

Taxpayers would probably not entry. want to see the base lowered, said Big Spring ISD Assistant was reported stolen from a car of the theft, reports said. The car Superintendent Ron Plumlee. "That's the only way that I think the taxpayers are seriously going to be in favor of it," he said. Hansen and Precinct 3 Commissioner Bill Crooker said they agreed with Plumlee. Commissioners passed the agreement with the understanding that only increased property values above this year's value can be abated. A contract will be worked out later. Also, Power Resources is expected to seek approvals from the Big Spring ISD and the Howard Junior College District. At current tax rates, half of $270,000 in taxes over five years on $3.34 million worth of additions could be abated if all three taxing entities approve the abatement. In addition, there is a two-year construction period in which taxes are not collected Construction began last month on Power Resources equipment to remove solids from water, said plant manager Ken Hamby. It will help preserve equipment and keep long-term contractual commitments to sell electricity to TU Electric and steam to Fina Oil & Chemical Co., he said. Two employees can be added to the 35-employee company after construction. It is the second abatement approved by the county. A contract was signed with Fina last month for an abatement on $10.1 million in improvements.

WASHINGTON (AP) - Law enforcement officials are praising a new Supreme Court decision that allows a gap of up to 48 hours between someone's arrest and a court hearing to determine whether the arrest was valid.

"We're definitely pleased. The flexible approach adopted by the court is sound," said Steven Michaels, a Hawaii deputy at torney general who in behalf of 24 states had urged the justices to uphold a 48-hour waiting period.

By a 5-4 vote Monday, the court said such a wait is constitutional. The vote of Justice David H. Souter, the court's newest member, proved the tie-breaker.

"Some delays are inevitable," Justice Sandra Day O'Connor wrote for the court. "In our view, the Fourth Amendment permits a reasonable postpone-ment...while the police cope cessing suspects through an overly burdened criminal justice system.'

The Constitution's Fourth Amendment bans unreasonable police arrests.

The four dissenters said waiting 48 hours is too long for people who may have been arrested by mistake.

Such a hearing should be held immediately after an arrested person is booked, and never more than 24 hours after the arrest, they said. Justice Antonin Scalia, considered the court's most conservative member, was its most strident dissenter in the case.

O'Connor was joined by Chief Justice William H. Rehnquist and Justices Byron R. White, Anthony M. Kennedy and Souter.

Scalia was joined in dissent by the court's three most liberal justices - Thurgood Marshall, with the everyday problems of pro- Harry A. Blackmun and John Paul secretary, Poynor said.

The outcome almost certainly yould have differed if Justice William J. Brennan, the court's leading liberal before he retired last year and was replaced by Souter, had participated. "Had the court ruled otherwise, the laws of many states could have been found to be unconstitutional," Michaels said. "We felt the 36-hour deadline imposed by the appeals court was never justified.'

Most arrests require quick action by police, and cannot be accompanied by previously obtained court warrants. The Supreme Court ruled in 1975 that "prompt" hearings must be held to determine whether the constitutionally required "probable cause" existed for the arrest.

That earlier ruling struck down Florida's practice of jailing people for 30 days before they received an arrest-validity hearing.

AUBURN HILLS, Mich. — Boston Celtics' forward Larry Bird tries to move closer to the basket but is pushed by Detroit Pistons forward Mark Aguirre during first half action of game four of the NBA Eastern Conference semifinals Monday night at the Palace.

AUBURN HILLS, Mich. (AP) -They are like ancient warriors, these Detroit Pistons and Boston Celtics. Big, slow and cunning. They battle from memory as much as from muscle.

They have fought one another so many times, in so many important games, there are no surprises. They slam and bang and grind on one another, as they did Monday night, until someone finds the strength and the will to win.

In Game 4 of their Eastern Conference semifinal, they were tied 53-all at halftime. Then Mark Aguirre played his best game in a Detroit uniform, leading the Pistons to a 104-97 win that tied the best-of-7 series at two games apiece.

Aguirre, whose previous best was 32 points since coming to Detroit in a 1989 deal for Adrian Dantley, scored 20 of his 34 points in the second half.

But there were many heroes: Joe Dumars and Dennis Rodman each played a full 48 minutes for Detroit. Dumars scored 24 points. Rodman, who was named NBA defensive player of the year earlier in the day, pulled down 18 rebounds.

James Edwards got the Pistons off on the right foot, scoring their first 10 points in the game. Vinnie Johnson, starting for the injured Isiah Thomas, scored 10 of his 12 points in the second half.

- Kevin McHale, playing 3? minutes in a reserve role, scored 28 points for Boston, often keeping the Celtics in the game with flurries of points that frequently slowed up Detroit scoring runs.

- Robert Parrish scored 12 points and pulled down 10 rebounds, despite fouling out after played only 23 minutes.

 Reggie Lewis scored 20 points for Boston.

'The key was that we did the job defensively," Detroit coach Chuck Daly said. "Those were two real good basketball teams going at it, old warriors who are very competitive. It was great basketball for any kind of purist who knows the game."

The Pistons are 5-0 in playoff games in which they have held opponents to under 100 points. They are 0-4 when allowing 100 points or more

In the first three games against Boston, the Pistons shot just 37.2 percent and averaged 90.7 points. Detroit missed 28 of 85 free throws during those three games. But in Game 4 the Pistons shot 44.4 percent and sank 38 of 51 free throws. And they did it without their floor leader, Thomas, who sat out the game with a sprained right foot. "They are still a very dangerous team, whether he's in the lineup or not," Parrish said. "So that had nothing to do with it." Indeed. The key was Detroit's 50-30 edge in rebounds, including a 15-3 advantage at the offensive end.

"It feels good when people say that we can't win without Isiah, Rodman said. "That's a lie. We've got a lot of people who can step up. If we keep on pounding and keep on going and wear them down, I think good things will happen.

"I think we can win, but we've got to focus, keep all this in mind." The Pistons, attempting to become only the third team in history to win three consecutive NBA titles, have reached the Eastern Conference finals the past four years.

"Now it's all even up," Boston coach Chris Ford said. "I'm not satisfied because I wanted to be up 3-1.'

And he had every reason to think the Celtics could go home with a two-game advantage after routing Detroit 115-83 in Game 3 on Saturday. The Pistons shot only 33.3 percent and missed 19 of 36 free throws in that game.

"You can't dwell on a loss like that in the playoffs," Edwards said. "The playoff series is too short to think about a loss like that. We have to put that behind us and come out and play like we know how to play." Like ancient warriors.

The Big Spring Steers senior has come up short three times until this year. For three seasons Rodriguez and his fellow teammates have come close to making the state baseball playoffs. This year Rodriguez and crew got over the hump.

Rodriguez is in his fourth season of varsity baseball. The previous three times the Steers have finished one game out of the state playoffs. This year the Steers earned a state playoff berth by winning the District 3-4A title.

Friday Big Spring will make their first state playoff appearance in nine years when they host the Frenship Tigers in area baseball play at Steer Field. The first game of the three-game series will start at 5 p.m. Games two and three, if needed will be played at Lubbock Christian University field starting at 2 p.m. Saturday.

Rodriguez has been one of the big reasons for the 17-7 Steers' success. He has been a steady performer at shortstop and at the plate for the past three seasons, and this year added to his versatility by being a pitcher in the starting rotation.

Not only he is a team leader with his attitude, but he a leader on the field with his performance. He leads the team in batting with a

It put a lot of presure on everybody.

"After Andrews and Pecos lost, we knew we had it won. People didn't understand it, that's what coach (John Velasquez) let the others play. I think if we had played the whole game we could've have won easily.

Rodriguez's pitching has been a major factor in the Steers' drive. He's currently 4-0 with an earned run average of 1.50.

"I've been wanting to pitch since I was a freshman. Coach told me it would be hard to play shortstop and pitch too. But I like to pitch and I'm glad I got a chance to win a couple of games," he said.

Rodriguez said this year's Steers team isn't the most talented one he's played on. "The other three teams had more talent," he stressed. "We play more together. We have a better team concept. The others were more of individuals, they played for themselves. On this team when we get down, the others pick you up. That's the main reason we've been winning.'

He said he thinks there will be the playoff jitters for the Steers at first. "We'll probably be tight, the coaches will talk to us all week. Hopefully we can go out and win a couple and not have to play two games on Saturday."

Afterall, Freddy Rodriguez has waited four years for this chance.

Indians outfielder appeals suspension

CLEVELAND (AP) -Cleveland Indians outfielder Albert Belle is appealing his one-week suspension for hitting a fan with a baseball because it is too severe, his lawyer says. "To me, it's clearly excessive. Not to say that it's entirely justified, what Albert cumstances here," Arn Tellem. Belle's attorney, said from Los Angeles.

My hope ALBERT BELLE would be that fans would understand that all players deserve to be treated humanely.

American League president Bobby Brown issued the suspension Monday, two days after Belle threw a ball that hit spectator Jeff Pillar of Cleveland in the chest. Belle can continue to play until his appeal is heard.

Pillar had been heckling Belle about his problems with alcohol. Belle spent 10 weeks in an alcoholism rehabilitation program last summer.

"I regret that I lost my spirituality for an instance," Belle said, reading from a prepared statement after the suspension was announced. "It will not happen again."

On advice from his attorney, Belle did not comment on his appeal. He refused to answer any questions.

"The potential dangers and ramifications of what you did are obvious," Brown said in a letter to Belle. "The seriousness of your offense cannot be minimized. Belle is making the major league minimum of $100,000, so a seven-day suspension would cost him $3,846.15. Brown directed the Indians to donate that amount to a charity of Belle's choosing.

Andy Benes had forgotten how to win. Kal Daniels had lost the RBI touch.

Both of them got back the good vibes Monday night in leading their teams to victory.

San Diego's Benes, a non-winner since last August, beat the New York Mets 5-2, getting relief help from Steve Rosenberg and Craig Lefferts. It was his first win in 14 starts, including seven losses and six no-decisions.

Daniels, in bed with the flu for nearly three days, recovered just enough to play for the Dodgers against Montreal. His two-run shot off Oil Can Boyd capped a four-run sixth inning that propelled Los Angeles to an 8-3 victory that ended the Expos' six-game winning streak.

Benes refused to bend in the face of his long non-winning streak. He did, however, tire in the seventh, when Howard Johnson had a tworun homer to make it 3-2.

Tony Gwynn had a two-run homer, his first since July 15. Dodgers 8, Expos 3

At Los Angeles, the Dodgers scored four times in both the sixth and eighth innings. Daniels was aided by Chris Gwynn, Tony's brother, who had a three-run homer, and Eddie Murray with a two-run double. And for Ramon Martinez (6-1), who won his fifth in a row. He left in the eighth, when Montreal got all its runs, including a solo shot by

Fan gets under Canseco's skin

NEW YORK (AP) - Jose Canseco doesn't mind a little razzing from the crowd. Just don't make it personal.

Canseco engaged in a heated verbal exchange with a fan taunting him about pop singer Madonna in the first inning of Monday night's game between the Oakland A's and New York Yankees.

Saturday, the New York Post published photos of Canseco leaving Madonna's Manhattan apartment early Thursday Canseco said the two are friends and it was his only chance to see her while in New York.

After Canseco lined out to left field with one out in the first, the Oakland right fielder walked to box seats to the right of the A's dugout, pointed at the fan, Kenny Shabs, 30, of Lyndhurst, N.J., and asked him to be quiet. Shabs, however, pointed right back at Canseco as they argued.

'Don't come out and point at players, don't confront them, said Canseco, who had seven Madonna tapes on the shelf of his locker. "Don't talk about his family and his mother.'

According to a fan sitting near the scene, Shabs said to Canseco: "Hey Jose, how's Madonna? Where's Ester (Canseco's wife)?.'

A's manager Tony La Russa and several Oakland players charged out of the dugout to restrain Canseco from going after Shabs Shabs was ejected for disorderly conduct and moving from seat-to-seat.

"The guy didn't have a ticket for that seat," La Russa said. "The guy just wanted to be a big hero. It's not even worth talking about."

PUBLIC NOTICE CITY OF COAHOMA COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT FUND

TEXAS COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM The City of Coahoma has submitted a proposed amendment to its approved 1989 Texas Community Development Program (TCDP) contract with the Texas Department of Commerce to include additional waterworks improvements in this project.

These additional improvements will include 2,600 linear feet of sixinch PVC water line, two fire hydrants and related improvements. These improvements will be located east of the current TCDP project area and will be in the general vicinity of the other waterworks improvements already under construction as part of the City's previously approved 1989 TCDP project. The City will also be expending additional funds on project engineering and grant administration in connection with these proposed additional waterworks improvements.

A public hearing concerning the proposed contract amendment will be held at 6:00 o'clock P.M. on Thursday, May 16, 1991, in the City Hall located at 122 North 1st Street, Coahoma, Texas. The purpose of this public hearing will be to discuss the proposed amendment and solicit citizen input on the proposed change in the scope of the City's 1989 TCDP project.

Citizens are encouraged to attend this public hearing and present their views to the City. Written comments will be accepted by the City until this public hearing is concluded. Copies of documents describing the proposed amendment are available for inspection during normal business hours at the City Hall at the address listed above.

For further information about the City's 1989 TCDP project and this proposed project amendment, contact Eleanor Garrett, Mayor, at (915) 394-4287. Handicapped individuals who might have difficulty in attending this public hearing should contact the City Hall to arrange for special assistance.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY! IN THE NEXT YEAR OF YOUR LIFE: Adopting a thrifty, practical approach now will ensure that the coming months are highly Juccessful. Steer clear of casual romantic encounters this summer. Someone who shares your high ideals and devotion to family life suits you best as a mate. An older person plays a major role in business this coming October. The financial outlook should be much improved by Christmas. Be cautious about switching investments or changing jobs during the first quarter of 1992.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Your plans are working out nicely. Financial and career affairs can be wrapped in a neat package. Do not feel afraid to ask top dollar. Better still, let experts negotiate for you!

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Joint ventures could become burdensome. Communication snags can pose additional headaches. Take care of important details personally. Do not let false pride interfere with true love.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Do not put much stock in a newcomer's promises. A gamble will pay off nicely if you bet on yourself. Romance enters a particularly exciting period. Be honest with your partner.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Tackle a family problem before going to work. New insights will help you make the right decision in business or romance. Taking your loved ones for granted would be a big mistake.

LEO (July 23=Aug. 22): A mate or friend solves a problem, reducing your work load or responsibilities. Good communication plays a key role in your business success. Take part in a community campaign or fund-raising drive.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Be alert to new business opportunities. Investigate scholarship prospects for a teen-ager. An easygoing approach works fine with someone who is conservative. Be an ambassador of good will at the office.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Reexamine your priorities and adjust your schedule accordingly. Guard your resources if other people seek to use them. An older person wants an answer to a personal question. Be tactful.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): A disappointment may be due to your expecting too much. Take a more realistic approach. Your creative and artistic efforts will be well-received. New monetary rewards are possible.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Stick close to home and you will be more productive today. Those in publishing or communications make great progress. An advance for a first manuscript will be larger than expected!

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Success with a do-it-yourself project increases your income. Think twice before agreeing to exorbitant finance charges. An older person could frustrate you. Casually drop hints.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): An expensive business trip or seminar is worth the cost. Swallow your pride and admit a mistake; otherwise, you will continue to flounder. Be more gracious with your friends and your spouse.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): A sudden trip is a real possibility. Check tickets and appointments; others may slip up on important details. Gossip about a former romantic partner is incorrect.

Old Settlers group to honor family

The Martin County Old Settlers Reunion Committee met recently and announced the family to be honored at the 58th Annual Old Settlers Reunion celebration on July 13.

It was announced Tull Ray Louder and David Workman are to be the grand marshals for the reunion. The J.J. Cook family will be the honored family this year.

 Committee president Frances Biggs announced the Midland Mule Club will attend and participate in this year's event. The club consists of 17 members and two covered wagons.

Authorities cheering high court's ruling

WASHINGTON (AP) - Law enforcement officials are praising a new Supreme Court decision that allows a gap of up to 48 hours between someone's arrest and a court hearing to determine whether the arrest was valid.

"We're definitely pleased. The flexible approach adopted by the court is sound," said Steven Michaels, a Hawaii deputy attorney general who in behalf of 24 states had urged the justices to uphold a 48-hour waiting period. By a 5-4 vote Monday, the court said such a wait is constitutional. The vote of Justice David H. Souter, the court's newest member, proved the tie-breaker. "Some delays are inevitable,"

Justice Sandra Day O'Connor the court's most conservative wrote for the court. "In our view, member, was its most strident the Fourth Amendment permits a reasonable postponement ... while the police cope with the everyday problems of processing suspects through an overly burdened criminal justice system.

The Constitution's Fourth Amendment bans unreasonable police arrests.

The four dissenters said waiting 48 hours is too long for people who may have been arrested by mistake.

Such a hearing should be held immediately after an arrested person is booked, and never more than 24 hours after the arrest, they said. Justice Antonin Scalia, considered member, was its most strident dissenter in the case.

O'Connor was joined by Chief Justice William H. Rehnquist and Justices Byron R. White, Anthony M. Kennedy and Souter.

Scalia was joined in dissent by the court's three most liberal justices - Thurgood Marshall, Harry A. Blackmun and John Paul Stevens

The outcome almost certainly would have differed if Justice William J. Brennan, the court's leading liberal before he retired last year and was replaced by Souter, had participated.

"Had the court ruled otherwise, the laws of many states could have been found to be unconstitutional," Michaels said. "We felt the 36-hour deadline imposed by the appeals court was never justified."

Most arrests require quick action by police, and cannot be accompanied by previously obtained court warrants. The Supreme Court ruled in 1975 that "prompt" hearings must be held to determine whether the constitutionally required "probable cause". existed for the arrest.

That earlier ruling struck down Florida's practice of jailing people for 30 days before they received an arrest-validity hearing, but the exact meaning of "prompt" never before had been defined.

Monday's decision sent back to a federal appeals court a civil rights lawsuit against Riverside County, Calif., by Donald Lee McLaughlin.

The county provided such hearings within 48 hours, excluding weekends and holidays.

The San Francisco-based 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruled that the county violated McLaughlin's rights because such hearings must be held immediately after arrested people have been booked.

O'Connor said the 9th Circuit court went too far, but she added that Riverside County's policy and practice "do not comport fully with the principles" of providing prompt hearings.

Lightning sparked area fires

By DEBBIE LINCECUM Staff Writer

A storm late Monday generated at least three oil tank battery fires in Howard, Midland and Martin counties, all believed ignited by a flash of lightning and aggravated by high winds.

Sandsprings volunteer firefighters noticed smoke rising from a tank battery on the A.K. Guthrie Stockton Lease 10 miles southeast of Coahoma about 8:30 p.m., said Howard County Fire Chief C. Roy Wright.

'They went on out there to check 9 (p.m.)," he said. Silver Heels, Coahoma, Forsan and the Sandsprings units extinguished the fire in 45 minutes, he said. The tank battery was a total loss," Wright said. "(Flames) blew the top off and destroyed it completely. Colorado City Firefighters fought a similar blaze on a farm known as the Shoemaker place, two miles north of I-20 on Highway 1229, said Fire Marshall Billy Ray Williamson. An alarm sounded shortly after 10 p.m., and firefighters worked more than an hour to extinguish two burning oil tanks. We generally don't try to put one out until the lightning stops,' Williamson said. "Contrary to what many people think, lightning can strike in the same place twice. We've gone out to some of the same batteries two or three times. Martin County Firefighters responded about 8 p.m. to a tank battery fire northwest of Stanton on the Adobe Lease, said Fire Chief Lonnie Long. "Lenorah (firefighters) got there first, and they put some (fire) out where the oil had run into the bar ditch," he said. Two tank batteries were destroyed by the blaze, Long said. Wright said firefighters in areas around Big Spring expect a rash of tank battery fires at this time of vear. Colorado City and Howard County firefighters had worked almost five hours late Sunday to extinguish a major tank battery fire also believed caused by lightning.

Staff Writer Monday night's rainfall will help the local greenery, but falls short for some farmers' May cotton planting needs.

"Even a half an inch of rain will only wet the ground for three to four inches and chances are we'll have dry soil below that (near Big Spring)," said Research Leader Bill Fryrear of the Agricultural Research Center.

Most areas in Big Spring reported 22 to 25 hundredths of an inch, the first rainfall since March 30, according to extension

counties need scouts

Cotton insect scouts are needed for Martin and Midland counties. Applicants must be at int 16 years of age, have a driver's license, provide their own transportation and be willing to work a 40-hour week June through August.

Applicants may contact Greg Jones, Extension agent, Martin County Courthouse in Stanton at 756-3316 or Earnest Kiker, Extension agent, Midland County at 687-1351. The deadline for applications is Friday.

Future Farmers

banquet planned

The Stanton High School Future Farmers of America plan a banquet to honor its members at the Stanton Junior High cafeteria starting at 7:30 p.m. tonight.

According to the sponsor, Randall Redder, the banquet is to honor fellow FFA members that have displayed spirit of the future.

All parents and guests are invited to attend the dinner. The cost will be $6.50.

Firm to check

disputed fees

A computer firm representative told the Stanton City Council in a meeting Monday night that he will check to find out what he can do about $2,400 in disputed maintainance fees.

Council member H. Baker said Dallas CPA Systems Inc. representative Gary Day will try to work it out with his company.

"We contend that they didn't have us on line, so there wasn't anything to maintain," Baker said. "There were some bills that we didn't approve a few " onths ago."

In other business Monday, the council decided to check into what the law stipulates on hiring a city administrator. Baker said members had wanted to hire interim administrator Danny Fryar.

"We were going to have Danny, but then it was brought up that we need to advertise before we can hire anybody, to be in compliance with the law," Baker said.

office records.

Many areas south of Big Spr-ing, however, were excluded from last night's precipitation, with Lomax reporting no rainfall since March.

Stanton received a trace of rain on Sunday, but failed to receive any last night, said Chalmer Wren of Stanton. "All that thunder and lightning all around us and we didn't get a drop," she said.

For farmers in the far north sections of the county, the rain was welcome but incidental, as two to three inches have fallen within the last ten days, said Pat Porter of Vealmoor.

"Overall it's still real spotted but getting better," said past County Extension Agent Ron Wood.

"In Vincent they've had some pretty decent rain, $1\frac{1}{2}$ to 2 inches. Around Knott, Luther and Ackerly, they've had enough of these -six-tenths, eight-tenths rains to have enough to plant with," he said.

Coahoma had about .6 inches of rain. "Maybe 50 percent of the county has had enough rain to plant," said Wood.

There is still time for area farmers to plant. The planting deadline for Howard County farmers to qualify for crop insurance is June 10, said Sherry Wegner Insurance agents.

New principal hired in Stanton

By MARCELLINO CHAVEZ Staff Writer

The Stanton Independent School District Board of Trustees hired a new elementary principal and elected officers for the 1991-92 school year Monday.

Former Ingram Principal Lance Morton accepted the position, and the board voted to approve the hiring of Morton as elementary principal. Rhonda Johnson was also hired and will be subject to assignment by the administrator, Mitchell said.

The board also voted to send newly elected member Todd Smith and Terry Shanks as alternates to the state convention. According to Superintendent Wayne Mitchell, the convention proposes to board members new policy-making procedures and introduces them to proposed legislation.

Trustees tabled the selection of two delegates from the board to serve on the County Extension District. The CED is designed to have two board members from each school in the county to have representatives that set the tax rate and determine to have someone collect the taxes.

"Grady will have two members, and we will also have two of our own to represent us as required by the new state law passed asking us to create such a district," Mitchell said.

The board tabled the revision of the 1991-92 school calender until further rules and regulations are set, he said.

The board accepted the resignations of two faculty members, Pam Cannon and Nancy Alamaz. Cannon resigned as a middle school teacher, while Alamaz was at elementary.

Senate approves concealed handgun bill Sidelines

House tentatively OKs spending bill

AUSTIN (AP) - A $177 million emergency spending bill was tentatively approved by the Texas House.

The measure endorsed Monday includes money for welfare, criminal justice and a pay raise for the state education commissioner. Approval is needed in another House vote before the bill goes to the Senate for consideration.

The bulk of the money is from $139.5 million in spending reductions earlier approved by lawmakers, said Rep. Jim Rudd, a Brownfield Democrat who sponsored the bill.

It also includes some unspent funds from this fiscal year, he said, along with bond proceeds and earned federal funds.

Texan enters innocent pleas

BANGOR, Maine (AP) - A26-year-old Texan used the insanity plea while being arraigned on charges related to his alleged break-in at the home of horror writer Stephen King

Erik Keene of San Antonio pleaded innocent in Penobscot County Superior Court on Monday to burglary. He also plead ed "not guilty by reason of insanity" to a charge that he terrorized King's wife, Tabitha, during the break-in April 20.

Keene was arrested after he broke a window and entered King's Bangor home carrying a phony bomb. He's scheduled to undergo a court-ordered psychiatric evaluation.

Mark Perry, Keene's courtappointed attorney, said Keene maintains that King's bestselling novel "Misery" was based on the life of Keene's aunt, Genene Jones, a convicted baby-killer serving a 99-year sentence in Texas.

Keene told Perry that he had written a sequel to the book and had been trying unsuccessfully to persuade King to help get it published.

Perry said he plans to ask the court for a change of venue n the next three weeks because of the pre-trial publicity the case has drawn.

AUSTIN (AP) - With Congress considering a law to make it more difficult to buy a handgun, the state Senate went the other direction, passing a bill that would allow Texans to carry concealed handguns.

"Maybe the rest of the nation is out of step with Texas," the bill's sponsor, Sen. Gene Green, said Monday.

But Green, D-Houston, said there is no relation between his bill and the federally debated Brady bill, which would require a week-long waiting period for handgun purchases.

Green says the concealed handgun bill would give law-abiding citizens a chance to fight back at

Panels approve prison measure

AUSTIN (AP) - A plan to build prisons for 14,000 more inmates sailed through legislative committees, while lawmakers also attacked the prison overcrowding issue on the federal level.

The House on Monday approved a bill that would allow the prison system to exceed the current 95 percent limit, which has been set because of a federal court order against prison overcrowding.

Rep. John Culberson, R-Houston, said the bill would give the state flexibility "in light of the overcrowding of the county jails and in light of the tremendous public safety crisis that we're in the midst of."

The number of inmates could be increased if agreed to by the state criminal justice board, governor and attorney general

The bill also would establish the maximum capacity for each prison unit, set up a procedure for allowing the units to exceed capacity and prohibit certain inmate housing situations such as tent housing. Meanwhile, the Senate Finance and House Criminal committees approved a plan to build 14,000 more prison beds, and limit state responsibility for accepting inmates from county jails The bill's author, Rep. Mark Stiles, D-Beaumont, said the measure would cost from $400 million to $500 million.

"People are scared to go outside their homes. This would give the people the ability to go through the training, satisfy the requirements and still be able to protect themselves," he said.

But Sen. Ted Lyon, D-Rockwall, a former policeman, said the measure would lead to more violence.

"A handgun is generally an instrument of death. To let just anybody have a pistol is a serious problem. It subjects a lot of people to needless dangers," he said.

Lyon, a policeman for five years in Mesquite, said law enforcement groups opposed the bill, and noted the Senate was debating the measure the same day a memorial was held at the Capitol for law of-ficers killed in the line of duly.

The bill goes to the House, where Green said it stood a good chance of passage.

Gov. Ann Richards said she was undecided about the measure. "I don't know what the rationale is. I'll be happy to look at it." "Any bill has to say to me 'It's going to make Texans better off, in their health, their safety, their education or their workplace.' I don't know whether this bill meets that standard," she said.

Lyon attempted to amend the bill to make applicants for a concealed handgun take a psychological test, but that effort failed 13-16.

He said assassins Lee Harvey Oswald and Sirhan Sirhan, and attempted assassin John Hinckley would probably have been able to get a handgun under the measure. But Green said the legislation has safeguards. License applicants would have to undergo gun training, and their past would be checked by the Texas Department of Public Safety. The review, he said, would take about four months.

Lyon managed to add an amendment that would require a handgun license applicant to prove to the DPS that they needed to carry a concealed gun because they are in

more danger then the general public.

Green said he accepted that amendment to avoid a filibuster of the bill by Lyon. Green said that any person who uses an automated teller machine at night would be eligible for a handgun under the amendment.

The Senate voted 23-7 to bring the bill up out of order, and then passed the measure on a non-record, voice vote.

To be eligible for a license, a person would have to be 21 years of age and would have to be a lawful resident of the United States and a resident of Texas.

U.S. troops to parade in El Paso

EL PASO (AP) - Hundreds of thousands of residents are expected to crowd a two-mile parade route when troops who fought in the Persian Gulf and their equipment rumbles along the street to celebrate Armed Forces Day.

An estimated 250,000 to 300,000 people are expected to attend the parade Saturday.

"It's time to have a grand event and this is it," said Gen. Donald M. Lionetti, Fort Bliss' commander.

Usually, the post has an open house on Armed Forces Day, but the parade and a worship service will replace that event this year. "We haven't had a military parade in El Paso in many, many years," Lionetti said.

In fact, it's been so many years that post historians couldn't recall when the last one was.

About 95 percent of the more than 10,000 Fort Bliss troops sent to the Persian Gulf have returned. Those still overseas will be represented at the parade by members of their units who remained behind. Equipment used in the war also will follow the twomile parade route.

"It will be an enormously uplifting experience to see probably close to 10,000 soldiers and their equipment ... to see the gold of the nation, the youth of America represented in that people,' onetti said

Group: Bill's opponents raked in NRA money

WASHINGTON (AP) - The National Rifle Association gave $152,594 in campaign contributions to 15 Texas congressmen who voted against a seven-day waiting period for handgun buyers, a consumer group says.

But only two of the eight Texans who bucked the NRA and supported the Brady bill had received any NRA contributions over the past five years, for a total of $14,348, said the study released Monday by Public Citizen.

A spokeswoman for one opponent of the Brady bill disputed the "power of the purse" claims and said her boss, Democratic Rep. Charles Wilson of Lufkin, was voting the wishes of his East Texas constituents

Only one out of every 100 phone calls or letters to Wilson's office ed defeat of an amendment was in support of the waiting period, said Wilson spokeswoman Elaine Lang.

"His constituents were very much opposed (to the bill) and whether or not he had received funds from the NRA, his position would remain the same," she said.

Public Citizen said Wilson had received $17,896 in NRA campaign contributions over the past five bill. vears.

Abby, I am the manager of the AIDS Education Project at California State University, Sacramento. Please advise your readers that AIDS IS a sexually transmitted disease (the term "venereal disease" was phased out several years ago).

AIDS can be transmitted through an infected person by one of three ways: 1) sex (without protection), including penis to vagina, penis to mouth, penis to rectum, mouth to vagina, mouth to rectum, or sharing sex toys; 2) direct blood-toblood contact, including sharing hypodermic needles, tattoo equipment, sex toys or razor blades; 3) infected mothers may pass the virus to their unborn babies during pregnancy, delivery or through breast feeding.

Support could reduce rate of caesareans

By LINDSEY TANNER CHICAGO (AP) - An old-

Researchers led by Dr. John Kennell of Case Western Reserve University in Cleveland studied 616 women pregnant with their first children. The results of their studies at Jefferson Davis Hospital in Houston were reported in the Journal of the American Medical Association.

Of the women studied, 212 received continuous emotional upport from women who had through delivery, soothing, touching and encouraging the pregnant woman.

Most of the patients were lowincome minorities, and few had received any childbirth education. All had experienced uncomplicated pregnancies and were considered low-risk for Caesareans.

The authors said they believe the supported women experienced less pain and less anxiety that could have disturbed the labor process and made a C-section necessary.

But they acknowledged that the presence of the doula and other observers may have influenced the hospital staff's choice of treatment.

onored at the State Meeting Frances Zant, T.E.H.A. Chairman, gave the news from District VI. One of the issues before the District right now is getting more money into the District VI 4H Scholarship Fund. One of the projects now is to make a donation to the Pecos fourth of July give-away celebration. For $2.00 a person has a chance of winning rodeo tickets, motel room, meals and royal treatment. Anyone interested in donating to this cause can call Frances Zant at 263-4651. The deadline for donating for this worthy cause is June 15.

Naomi Hunt, Howard County and/or sexual. Extension Agent, asked for help for the upcoming Family Community Leadership Seminar to be held at the Howard College May 16-17. Interested persons from all over District VI will be here to participate in this learning experience. The Extension Club members will cook one meal to be served after a tour of Potton House for these visitors.

The refreshment table was covered with a white cloth and a native wildflower centerpiece. Delegates elected in the T.E.H.A. election were Frances Zant, Jowili Etchison, Myrl Soles and Nadine Hodnett for the State Convention to be held in Austin Sept. 8 through 10.

Dogs to aid deaf

The International Hearing Dog Inc. in Henderson Colorado is a small organization that trains and places dogs for the deaf. All the dogs come from animal shelters and would have been put to sleep if a home had not been found for them.

The dogs are selected for intelligence, adaptability and eagerness to please and are trained for about three months before they are given free to a deaf person. These animals are taught to respond to important household sounds including a crying baby smoke alarm, telephone, doorbell or alarm clock. If you or someone you know could benefit from one of these animals contact International Hearing Dog, Inc. 5901 East 89th Ave., Henderson, Co. 80640 or call (303) 287-3277.

The longer food is being digested, he said, the more nutrients can be absorbed.

"Other positive characteristics include the domestic pig's ability to produce large numbers of offspring, the pig's ability to grow fast, its early value as a source of lard for cooking and soap, and its value as a source of meat,' Spinelli said.

Also, leaner bacon-type hogs were developed in Canada and Scandinavian countries where the animals could convert small grains and dairy byproducts into pork.

In Germany and Poland, pork, lard and potatoes became dietary mainstays. And in China and many Latin American countries hogs were fattened on garbage from the kitchen and refuse from gardens and fields.

Under this year's commodity programs, farmers will idle more than 28.2 million acres, compared with 26 million acres taken from production under the 1990 programs, the USDA report showed Monday.

State judge dismisses charges

HOUSTON (AP) — A district judge has dismissed retaliation charges against a man accused in a "60 Minutes" story of being involved in an odometer rollback scam on used cars.

William Frank Whitlow, 70, had been charged with third-degree felony retaliation after someone fired bullets last November into a building owned by Charles Vance. Vance helped "60 Minutes" secretly tape Whitlow admitting he took part in the rollbacks.

State District Judge Doug Shaver Monday dismissed the charges against Whitlow. Assistant District Attorney Julian Ramirez said there was not enough evidence to pursue the case against Whitlow.

When Whitlow was arrested in January, police said they found a pistol in his car and that bullets in the gun matched bullets retrieved from the building.

"Another person confessed to firing the shots at the complainant's business," Ramirez said. "We really don't have enough evidence to go forward."

Cafeteria chain's earnings take drop

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) Furr's-Bishop's Inc. reported a $5.0 million loss on revenues of $65.4 million for the quarter that ended March 30

During the same period a year ago, the Lubbock-based cafeteria chain earned $723,000 on revenues of $69.8 million.

Furr's-Bishop's first quarter loss equaled 61 cents a share. The profit in the same period last year was 10 cents a share.

The company said Monday the first-quarter loss was expected, due in part to lower customer counts created by the Persian Gulf, War, the economic recession and intense competition in the food service industry.

Also contributing to the losses was $1 million in expenses related to converting from a master limited partership structure to the corporate form on March 27 and about $1.2 million he sale of securities, company officials said.
