Mexico warns U.S. border policemen

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexico issued a veiled warning Sunday that it will more strictly enforce laws along its border with the United States, where it claims U.S. agents have crossed illegally and assaulted Mexican agents.

The Interior Department ordered Mexican border agents on Sunday to arrest any "foreign" police officers who commit a "violent act" in Mexican territory.

The statement comes in the wake of a Sept. 14 incident in which U.S. border agents from San Ysidro, Calif., allegedly pursued a man into Mexican territory Sept. 14, arrested him and took him back to the United States.

Mexico called the incident a "violation of our territorial sovereignty," noting that U.S. law enforcement agents cannot officially cross the border without its permission.

The incident was considered particularly grievous because the U.S. agents allegedly assaulted Mexican border agents trying to stop the arrest.

Wildlife package eagerly awaited

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — South Texas environmentalists say they're waiting eagerly to see what a House-Senate conference committee will do to a multi-million dollar proposal for a Texas wildlife refuge.

The U.S. House has approved $5 million for the project, and the Senate approved $7 million last week. Frontera Audubon Society president Maurie Haas said she suspects the two branches will split the difference in their funding proposals.

The proposal covers the purchase of 10,000 acres for the Lower Rio Grande Natural Wildlife Refuge. Also covered are a variety of outdoor projects in the Texas Panhandle, the Valley and the San Antonio area.

Texas barge canal could help economy

LONGVIEW (AP) — The Northeast Texas economy could experience a boon within 15 years of the completion of a barge canal that's projected to cost about $660 million, a study shows.

An 11-year-old study by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers indicates that the project could create 120,000 jobs, 40,000 of those projected from the Daingerfield Reach segment.

The proposed canal would begin at the Mississippi River, go up the Red River to Shreveport, up Twelve Mile Bayou to Caddo Lake and then upstream through Lake O' the Pines to Daingerfield.

A waterway would boost the local economy, first by providing construction jobs during the digging of the canal, the study indicated.

Public safety referendum probable

By MARTHA E. FLORES
Staff Writer

A petition for a referendum to amend the city council is being filed today. The referendum would allow voters to require a minimum number of police officers per population and set conditions for the involuntary termination of the police chief and police officers.

David Twedell, state council for the Fraternal Order of Police, said local citizens had obtained 825 signatures on the petition, which had been circulating since Tuesday. More than 650 of the signatures had been informally verified.

Once the petition is filed, City Treasurer Tom Ferguson must certify that the signatures represent "The amendment as written curtails management's ability to manage. It locks in on a specific number of officers based on a mathematical ratio. And it severely restricts management on the dismissal of personnel."

Mayor Maxwell Green

sent 5 percent of the city's registered voters. Twedell said, by his calculations, 541 signatures were enough to require a vote on the referendum.

"We anticipate the city council being required by state law to set the election date at their meeting tomorrow night," Twedell said, adding that he is prepared to go to court to force an election if there are any obstructions. The first possible election date is Nov. 4, according to Twedell.

Mayor Max Green differed with Twedell on how soon an election could be held.

"When and if the petition does make, it will be submitted to the council. After two readings at the council, the earliest possible date for a referendum election looks like Jan. 18, 1992," said Mayor Max Green.

The local chapter of the FOP is asking citizens of Big Spring to attend the city council meeting Tuesday night, when Twedell will ask the council to freeze the current budget until after the election.

Tuesday is the final reading and vote on the 1991-92 budget that cuts funding for the police department by approximately $225,000. This amounts to 75 percent of total budget reductions made by the city council. The budget, if passed, will go into effect Oct. 1.

"If the budget is approved tomorrow at the council meeting in its second reading, then it will go into effect as scheduled, said

Green. "But this does not mean that seven police officers will be dismissed immediately. Mr. Boyd's and Mr. Cook's plan is to work towards attrition. As officers quit or retire, we will not look to replace them."

The proposed amendment's effect goes beyond the number of police officers on the force.

"The amendment as written curtails management's ability to manage," said Green. "It locks in on a specific number of officers based on a mathematical ratio. And it severely restricts management on the dismissal of personnel."

"In my opinion, the city manager is actually the one that is the chief executive officer. He is responsible

Capehart owners seek tax relief

By PATRICK DRISCOLL
Staff Writer

A suit disputing property tax appraisals on 313 homes in the Capehart addition of Big Spring was filed late last week in district court despite appraisals being dropped more than one-third in July.

Values on the Capehart homes were dropped from $4 million to $2.5 million in a Howard County Appraisal District Review Board hearing in July. That lowered the average value of homes in the addition from $12,849 to $7,870.

The Capehart addition contains the former Webb Air Force Base housing east of the Big Spring McMahon/Wrinkle Airport. According to the suit, the defunct Southwest Federal Savings Association owned more than 300 of the homes.

A tax representative for Texas Resolution Trust Corp., the receiver for Southwest, presented privately done appraisals at the review board hearing that set a $25,000 value on the homes — an average of only $1,677 per home.

The difference between the appraisal district's value and the value determined by the RTC is $1.9 million. Property taxes on this amount would be $47,717, not including tax exemptions, or as much as $152 per home, according to proposed city, county and school tax rates for 1991.

The suit, filed Friday in 118th Judicial District Court, asks that the value of the homes be set at "fair market value as determined by the court."

"The value that the county appraisal district has put on it is definitely higher," said Jim Rude, tax manager for RTC in Dallas.

But Howard County Chief Appraiser Keith Toomire disagreed. "I think they were treated more than fairly."

The review board in July dropped the economic factor — what homes are worth compared to similar homes in another neighborhood with optimum sales — from 50 percent to 30 percent after looking at figures of two recent sales in the Capehart Addition, according to minutes of the meeting.

But Toomire said, "I know we had more than two (sales) out in that area."

The board also dropped the front footage for the land from $45 and $50 to $30.

"Their tax rep seemed real pleased about it," Toomire said.

The tax representative, Margaret Iannvale of Real Estate Tax Compliance in San Antonio, referred questions to the RTC.

Meanwhile, Toomire, who has not been served a court notice of the suit, said he will pick up a copy of the suit today. "I'll have to get everything and get it to a lawyer."

WASHINGTON — With the Capitol in the background, participants take part in the second annual Hoover-ball Classic on the Mall in Washington Saturday. Hoover-ball, invented for then-president Hoover in 1929 to help keep him in shape, involves three-player teams heaving a medicine ball over an eight-foot net in a game scored like tennis.

Hispanics falling through health safety net

By PETER ROPER
Herald Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Cases of tuberculosis, malaria, and even leprosy are flaring up again among poverty-stricken Hispanic American families in border states, a panel of Hispanic doctors told a House committee Thursday.

The resurgence of those diseases is just one symptom of the fact that 35 percent of the 24 million Hispanics in the United States have no health insurance and little access to health care, according to federal health officials.

U.S. Surgeon General Antonio Novello told the House Select Committee on Aging that Hispanics are being ravaged by undetected diabetes, high blood pressure, and AIDS.

"Hispanics only account for 8 percent of the population in this country, but they account for 10 percent of all adults with AIDS and 20 percent of all children with AIDS," she said.

"Absolutely, we must do something to turn this situation around," Novello told Rep. Edward Roybal, D-Calif., chairman of the panel.

"It's unbelievable that we spend 12 percent of our gross national product in this country on health care but 33 million Americans don't have insurance. I believe you'll see a national health care system by the end of the decade."

Rep. Edward Roybal, D-Calif.

"It's simply a fact that most of these people are in jobs that either don't offer any health insurance or don't pay enough to allow the employee to buy health insurance," said Eleanor Chelmsky, assistant comptroller of the GAO.

Roybal called the testimony "tragic" but said the facts were not news to the Hispanic community. He called it a "national scandal" that little improvement had been made during his 29 years in Congress in the quality of health care that poor Hispanics were receiving.

"Tuberculosis is a disease this country once rid itself of. But now it's back. That's shameful. This country has got to have a national health care program," he said.

Roybal has offered legislation for more than a decade to create a national health care system and he is introducing another bill this year. The plan, called "USHealth," would rely on private insurance companies but put them under tight federal guidelines.

Roybal said it was unlikely that his plan would get any further this year than previous efforts, but he said the continually climbing cost of health care is shifting Congress towards a national plan.

"It's unbelievable that we spend 12 percent of our gross national product in this country on health care but 33 million Americans don't have insurance," Roybal said. "I believe you'll see a national health care system by the end of the decade."

The Hispanic professionals who testified Thursday said that the largest health problems for Hispanics are really poverty and illiteracy. Poverty among the inhabitants is the reason there are no doctors at all in 18 southern Texas counties, said Francisco Gonzalez, director of a clinic in Harlingen, Texas.

In those areas, many Hispanics live in "colonias" — poor communities without sewage systems and running water. That means frequent outbreaks of hepatitis and other hygiene-related diseases. The situation has grown more serious in recent months because of a new epidemic of cholera in Mexico that is likely to cross the border in colonias.

Dr. David Espino, chief of family practice at the University of Texas Health Center in San Antonio, said a majority of elderly Hispanics in his region are illiterate in both English and Spanish. That is a severe obstacle in getting those patients to seek any preventive treatment, he said.

"By the time we see most of these patients, they are much sicker than they should be," Espino said.

Chelmsky said one simple step the federal government could take would be to keep better medical records on Hispanics. She noted that most federal forms have racial categories for "white" and "black," but lump everyone else in the "other" category.

"We really don't have a good read on the health problems of Hispanics in this country because we don't make an effort to keep track. Just adding that one category to federal forms would help enormously," she said.

Dentist battling rumor he has AIDS

BAYTOWN (AP) — Health care officials say doctors and dentists shouldn't have to explain they don't have AIDS, but a Baytown dentist says he had no choice when 3,000 families he treats heard he had the fatal and communicable disease.

Dr. David R. Wooten decided to mail 3,000 letters describing his personal health and office sterilization procedures to patients and colleagues to stem rumors he was dying of AIDS.

"The U.S. mail is not any faster than a Baytown rumor," said Wooten, who has been in practice 20 years. "I felt open communication was the best solution to everything, rather than just sticking my head in the sand. Because of the nature of AIDS, it is a blank screen for people to project their fears."

Jockeys refusing to ride will be banned

WILLOW PARK (AP) — The horses may very well be back on the track at Trinity Meadows Raceway Thursday, but officials say 27 banned jockeys won't be.

The track was forced to cancel all weekend races because jockeys refused to ride on a rain-slickened track. Now, track officials have vowed to replace those jockeys.

But their decision, which came Saturday night about 30 minutes after several jockeys and a Jockeys Guild representative met and later informed management that they would not ride Sunday, could backfire.

Barring jockeys could make it tougher for the track to attract riders, who are often a close-knit group.

Long-haired man denied nursing job

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — An American Indian has been refused a job as a nurse at a South Texas school district because school officials have ruled his hair is too long.

Jerry Fairbanks, a registered nurse and a Chipewewa Indian, was raised on the Fond du Lac Reservation in Michigan. Fairbanks, whose hair extends halfway down his back, says cutting his ponytail would violate a religious belief.

"We view it as cutting off a part of something our creator made for us. That would be insulting to our creator," Fairbanks said.

Suit against 'bounties' moves

HOUSTON (AP) — Texas Attorney General Dan Morales' legal battle against a corporate psychiatric hospital over allegations that the hospital violated state law by paying "bounties" for patients moves to a Houston courtroom.

In the request for a temporary injunction, the attorney general's office was expected today to ask that Psychiatric Institutes of America, a Washington, D.C.-based corporate hospital chain with 12 Texas facilities and its Fort Worth affiliate be stopped from paying fees "in cash or in kind" for "securing or soliciting patients."

Morales claims PIA "repeatedly violated" state law by paying Recovery Line Inc., a Stephenville-based referral firm, to gain patients. PIA officials have denied making such payments and say they have terminated a contract with Recovery Line.

Recovery Line even infiltrated Alcoholics Anonymous to solicit patients, members of the attorney general's staff claim.

A number of patients in the Fort Worth AA group said they had been solicited by Recovery Line. One private psychiatric patient said she had scrawled a note on the group's chalkboard declaring: "Recovery Line, stay out!"

Morales said PIA paid Recovery Line $155,000 a month to cover the firm's operating expenses. Recovery Line has seven offices, with 44 employees and a 15-car fleet.

David Brockett, administrator of the PIA hospital in Fort Worth, said the relationship between the hospitals and Recovery Line was in "complete compliance" with Texas law.

"Recovery Line provided education, outreach, after-care, crisis intervention and referral services" to the Fort Worth hospital, he said.

Last week, Morales stopped payment on more than $10 million in mental health claims filed over the past year with the Attorney General's Crime Victim's Compensation Fund. The amount includes $3.1 million filed by PIA.

The action came after claims filed by hospitals, doctors and mental health counselors tripled over the past six years, to an estimated $25 million.

More than a dozen state and federal agencies are investigating alleged abuses in the corporate psychiatric industry.

The Texas Legislature last month passed a law making it illegal to receive a bounty or fee to deliver patients to hospitals.

HOUSTON — Customs inspector Leo Elizondo, far left, Patricia McCauley, district director of the U.S. Customs Service, left, Customs Agents Steven Hooper, right, and John Kellogg, far right, display five pounds of heroin and $1 million in cash Sunday in Houston. The drugs and money were seized in two separate cases in Houston Saturday.

Homeless woman arrested with drugs

HOUSTON (AP) — Customs officials say drug smugglers are recruiting destitute people and offering them large sums of money to bring heroin and cocaine into the United States from overseas.

A homeless woman was arrested at Houston Intercontinental Airport late Saturday when authorities found five pounds of heroin, worth $2 million, in her handbag, U.S. Customs officials said Sunday.

The woman, 29, told investigators she is homeless, recently had her children taken away from her and was recruited to bring the heroin to the United States from Eastern Europe.

Her passport showed she went from Houston to Bulgaria, then to Austria and the Netherlands, said Patricia McCauley, district director of the U.S. Customs Service in Houston.

The woman returned about 10 p.m. aboard Saturday's last flight from Amsterdam, but was straggling behind the other passengers, said inspector Leo Elizondo, who became suspicious and asked to search her handbag.

Hidden in the bag between the sides and the lining were two packages of heroin wrapped in paper with Cyrillic writing and a stamp of the cartoon character Smurf. The heroin weighed a total of 5 pounds, with a street value of about $2 million, Ms. McCauley said.

Charges against the woman are expected to be filed today, Ms. McCauley said.

"What is significant about this is this means there are active recruiters looking for helpless people and offering them large sums of money to smuggle drugs," she said at an airport news conference.

The woman was being held in the Harris County Jail.

Also on Saturday, Customs agents arrested two people at a home in southwest Houston where they found nearly $1 million in cash in boxes.

Agent Steven Hooper said Customs was led to the house from a seizure of $400,000 in Miami in June. Although no drugs were found at the house, "We do believe it to be a product of drug trafficking, and we think (the money) was on its way to Cali, Colombia."

Adalgisa Quinonez, 32, was arrested at the home on a New Jersey warrant for drug possession, and Otto Alexei Montano was charged with possession of a firearm, Hooper said. No federal charges had been filed Sunday, Hooper said.

Hooper said 80 percent of the cash would probably go to the Houston Police Department, which helped in the arrest, and 20 percent would go to Customs.

ANAHUAC Chihuahua — In the state of Chihuahua, a young boy rides his bike through flood waters in the town of Anahuac Sunday. Heavy rains in northern Mexico have inundated many towns leaving at least 13 dead and many homeless.

Smokers' airline to open

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — A Dallas entrepreneur says he is starting a smokers' airline as a reaction to the negative treatment smokers have been getting recently.

"It's getting to the point that everyone is discriminating against us smokers," said Kay Cohlma.

His personal view of smoking, he said, is "If you smoke, that's your business."

"If I smoke, that's my business. If we both smoke, that's our business."

Cohlma is preparing to offer flights for smokers from Oklahoma City and Dallas to Las Vegas. He says service will begin at Will Rogers World Airport in Oklahoma City on Oct. 1 regardless of a U.S. Department of Transportation prohibition against smoking on airline flights of less than six hours' duration.

But Will Rogers airport officials say Cohlma has not advised them of his plans.

"We'll contact one of the airlines already in Oklahoma City to get a boarding gate at Will Rogers," Cohlma said.

As for advising Will Rogers officials of his plans, he said, "Las Vegas welcomed me and DFW (the Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport) welcomed me. Why not Oklahoma City?"

"Although he calls his proposed operation an airline, Cohlma also refers to it as a smoking club, which he says can operate under less restrictive charter flight smoking rules.

Cohlma says he will charge passengers a $10 annual fee for flying privileges to justify calling his American Smokers' Airline a club.

Then, as he envisions it, a traveler yearning for gambling casino pleasures can report to the boarding gate at the Oklahoma City airport, flash a membership card and buy a low-rate ticket to Las Vegas on American Smokers' Airline.

Cohlma said he will charge members $199 per round-trip ticket.

Sixteen killed in weekend violence

HOUSTON (AP) — At least 16 people were killed in what police are calling Houston's deadliest weekend in 10 years.

The weekend's toll was the largest since June 1981, 21 people were murdered between 6 p.m. on a Friday and 6 a.m. on a Monday, said police spokesman Richard Retz.

So far this year, Houston has seen 477 murders, a 7.9 percent increase over last year.

Retz said 36 percent of this year's homicides are drug-related.

Among the victims this weekend were James Bute IV, 42, a prominent businessman who once ran for a seat on the Harris County Commissioners Court, shot during an apparent robbery; and Virginia

Ann Bird, a 36-year-old widow, who was stabbed to death on the eve of her birthday.

The violence is straining the police department's homicide division, officials said.

Cloud of tear gas ends prison revolt

DEER LODGE, Mont. (AP) — Five inmates in protective custody were killed by other prisoners who seized control of a maximum-security cellblock and took five guards hostage, authorities said.

Eight inmates were injured, including four in protective custody.

The uprising Sunday ended in a cloud of tear gas four hours later when officers stormed the cellblock at Montana State Prison, 60 miles west of Helena. The guards were rescued uninjured.

Curt Chisholm, director of the state Department of Corrections and Human Services, said the SWAT team did not kill the inmates.

"It's clear to us that these inmates were dead when we entered the building. They must have been killed by other inmates in the prison," Chisholm said.

State officials refused to say how the five died, but a source familiar with the investigation who insisted on anonymity said some had been hanged.

Warden Jack McCormick said 23 officers stormed the prison unit after officers outside the building saw and heard inmates being beaten.

"The knowledge that lives were in danger... is the very reason the assault on the facility took place early this afternoon," he said Sunday.

During the standoff, inmates went on a rampage, "burning just about anything that would burn," McCormick said.

SAN MARINO, Calif. — Huntington Library director William A. Moffett, left, and the library's chief photographer Robert Schlosser pose with a selection of the library's negatives of the Dead Sea Scrolls Sunday in San Marino, Calif. The library angered the Israeli government with its decision to open its files to qualified researchers.

Library gives access to scrolls over objections

SAN MARINO, Calif. (AP) — The secrecy surrounding the Dead Sea Scrolls has been pierced again, this time by a research library that opened its record of the archaeological treasure despite warnings from Israel.

"If we had sat quietly we would have violated our own policy of unrestricted access," William A. Moffett, director of the Huntington Library, said at a news conference Sunday. "When you free the scrolls, you free the scholars."

The animal-skin and papyrus scrolls were found in caves near the Dead Sea between 1947 and the early 1950s. They are stored at the Rockefeller Museum in Jerusalem under the control of Israel's Antiquities Authority.

The scrolls were written by members of a Jewish sect during the time of Jesus, and contain the oldest known version of the Old Testament, biblical writings and information about the beginnings of Christianity and modern Judaism.

A small circle of scholars oversees the scrolls and other researchers have long complained that access is too limited and publication too slow.

Earlier this month, two scholars at Hebrew Union College in Cincinnati created an uproar when they released a bootleg version of previously unpublished text from the scrolls. It was put together with a desk-top computer and a five-volume reference to the scrolls.

Many researchers were elated then, and again on Sunday. But scholars who devoted years to translating the documents from Hebrew and Aramaic fear their work will be stolen.

Israel on Sunday warned the library not to allow patrons to view microfilms of the scrolls.

Amir Drori, director of Israel's Antiquities Authority, said the library would violate a contract under which fragments of 800 scrolls were photographed in 1980.

The photographs were given to several foreign institutions with the "written understanding that they would not be allowed to use them without our agreement," Drori said.

Moffett said he had heard from Israeli authorities, but that there was no legal reason to block access.

"We are not set up to be a rival of the Department of Antiquities," he said. "We are not in the publishing business."

Moffett said he doesn't believe Israel wants to control interpretation of the scrolls.

"They have more of a role of being custodian of the original documents," he said. "It's natural that they would have proprietary instincts."

Bush addresses General Assembly

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Bush is seeking to build momentum for a Middle East peace conference as he shares his vision of the post-communist world with the United Nations General Assembly.

Administration officials, said Bush in a speech today at U.N. headquarters in New York, would prod the assembly to disavow its 1975 resolution that equated Zionism with racism.

He also was expected to reaffirm U.S. determination to make Iraq fully open its weapons programs to U.N. inspection, but the address contains "no ultimatum" for Iraqi President Saddam Hussein.

Bush warned last week that he would send U.S. warplanes back to the Persian Gulf if necessary as escorts for U.N. helicopters.

Presidential press secretary Marlin Fitzwater called the address "a post-communism look at the world" following the disintegration of central authority in the Soviet Union.

The president planned to pay tribute to the United Nations for its steadfastness in the liberation of Kuwait and to "take a look ahead as to the role of the U.N. in the unfinished business" of shaping a new, more peaceful world order.

Gunman threatens to shoot babies

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — A gunman angry because his wife couldn't have more children threatened to "start shooting babies" in a maternity ward unless the doctor who sterilized her was brought in, witnesses said.

BORN DURING CRISIS

A nurse was killed in the 8-hour standoff, during which he gunman took nine hostages — including a baby born during the ordeal — and threatened to blow up the hospital. Some of the hostages hugged their despondent captor just before he surrendered to police late Saturday.

"At the end, we just didn't think it was going to hurt us anymore," said nurse Margie Vylar, who delivered a baby in a coby-trapped office during the siege and was credited with persuading Richard L. Worthington to surrender.

Worthington, 39, is scheduled to be arraigned today on charges of aggravated murder, possession of explosives and eight counts of aggravated kidnapping.

Gates leaves positive impression

WASHINGTON (AP) — CIA Director-designate Robert Gates offered a plausible explanation of his role in the Iran-Contra scandal and "made a very positive impression" on the Senate Intelligence Committee, the panel's chairman says.

It's "a little too early to tell" whether Gates will be confirmed as director, but the committee views favorably his admission

"that he learned... some important lessons" from the scandal, said Sen. David Boren, D-Okla.

The lessons were "being more candid with Congress, digging more deeply into suspicious information that might come his way," Boren said.

In all, he said, Gates "made a very positive impression, especially his indication that he has grown personally..."

PLO meets to debate peace talks

ALGIERS, Algeria (AP) — PLO Chairman Yasser Arafat opened a crucial session of the Palestinians' so-called parliament-in-exile today to debate proposed Middle East peace talks, with one hard-line leader calling for a boycott.

Officials in the Palestine Liberation Organization are at odds over whether to support the U.S.-brokered talks that would ban a PLO role.

The 20th congress of the Palestine National Council opened with a speech by its chairman, Khaled el Fahoum. Arafat then took the podium, arm raised in a "V" for victory salute.

The four-day meeting began under heavy security that included an Algerian warship and armored cars.

Arafat was expected to call on President Bush and Soviet President Mikhail S. Gorbachev, whose countries are co-sponsoring the talks, to assure that the peace process "guarantees the legitimate rights of Palestinians," Palestinian sources said.

On the eve of the congress, Arafat urged Palestinian factions to unite. Not everyone fell into line.

"We totally, clearly and utterly reject U.S. Secretary of State James Baker's so-called 'peace initiative,'" George Habash, leader of the radical Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine, said in an interview Sunday.

Soviets prepare to withdraw troops

MOSCOW (AP) — A Soviet diplomat met with Cuban officials in Havana over the weekend to prepare for a staged withdrawal of Soviet troops from the island, the official Tass news agency said today.

The talks between Deputy Foreign Minister Valery Nikolayenko and Alzibiades Hidalgo, the Cuban first deputy foreign minister, followed a pledge earlier this month by Soviet President Mikhail S. Gorbachev to start negotiations toward pulling out a training brigade of 11,000 soldiers.

Nikolayenko told the Cubans the Soviet action should be viewed as part of the worldwide "transition from confrontation to cooperation," the Tass report said.

A Soviet pullout from Cuba would remove a sore point in Moscow's relations with Washington.

Cuba has objected to the proposed withdrawal of Soviet troops, saying it was not consulted before Gorbachev made his announcement Sept. 11.

Tass, reporting from Havana, said Cuban officials generally stuck to that line in the weekend consultations.

Latest truce seems to be holding

ZAGREB, Yugoslavia (AP) — A truce between the Yugoslav army and Croatian forces appeared to be holding today, with only scattered clashes reported in the war-ravaged republic.

"I think we have gotten over the worst," Croatia's President Franjo Tudjman said late Sunday, the Yugoslav news agency Tanjug reported.

Seniors helping seniors in support program

ROYAL OAK, Mich. (AP) — Clara Stiff's tidy house was that way for 51 years. She cleaned her own door jams, did her own wash, scrubbed her own floors.

But the 85-year-old was left unable last fall to get to the kitchen for a drink of water, let alone to the laundry room. She broke her hip and hobbled around for a week on the injury, unaware how serious it was, before she went to the hospital for surgery.

"I was the one that always helped other people. I worked for another family for 11 years," Mrs. Stiff said. "It bothered me that I had to bother somebody to even get up to go to the bathroom."

"This is the first time I was floored. I was never sick."

But Mrs. Stiff said a non-profit program operated through Harper Hospital in Detroit helped her, and with someone to whom she could easily relate.

Charlie Limbric, 68, goes once a week to Mrs. Stiff's house to do the wash and cleaning. They share stories about church work over lunch or coffee or tea. Neither notices the other doesn't race from room to room like she used to.

Senior Support Services, the program that got Mrs. Limbric and Mrs. Stiff together, "is wonderful because young people don't have to be bothered with us. It's too confining for them," Mrs. Limbric said.

"You get this age ... you get slow to do anything, so you got to have somebody here with time to wait," Mrs. Limbric initially worked Friendships are developed, absolutely, without a doubt," Bearden said. "We have many who continue to visit clients when they have to leave (home) for a nursing home."

five days a week, but as Mrs. Stiff's health improved, she reduced the number of visits. The two clearly enjoy each other as Mrs. Stiff's husband, Myron, sits in a well-worn chair studying his newspaper under their conversation.

The 6-year-old non-profit program started by licensed practical nurse Susan Bearden, working with the hospital, puts older adults to work helping other older adults.

The workers are paid $4.50 to $6.50 an hour to provide such services as cleaning, transportation and overnight care. Clients are charged $7.20 to $9.20 an hour, depending on the care. Senior Support workers do not dispense medication or perform other medical tasks, but Mrs. Stiff recalls one worker who was still sergeant-like in making sure she did her hip rehabilitation exercises.

"We match the workers and clients according to need," as well as by background and neighborhood, Bearden said. She said workers are warned their clients often will resist help, feeling their independence has fled, and Senior Support is designed to soften that blow.

"We tell them (workers), 'Find something in that house to relate to — crocheting, children, age, liking the same food,'" Bearden said. "Then, they just seem to relate to each other because they understand each other's needs. They share all of life's experiences, and they both want to do the same thing — doing things that make them feel good."

Mrs. Limbric, a widow, said the extra money Senior Support brings in helps her keep her Detroit home.

And she said she can't sit idly in retirement. "If I see something that needs done, I do it," she said.

The federal government has operated a similar program for about 16 years, said Nancy Yde, director of public affairs for ACTION in Washington, D.C.

The Senior Companion Program involves 12,600 low-income volunteers helping seniors in 144 programs around the country. Yde said the workers receive $2.35 an hour for at least 20 hours of work a week; the services are free to those in need. Volunteers provide everything from grocery shopping to conversation, Yde said.

To start her program, Bearden enlisted her eighth-grade son to help with paperwork; she posted flyers in senior centers.

Senior Support now employs two full-time staff members in addition to Bearden and has a six-room office in suburban Birmingham. The number of monthly service hours has risen from 2,500 initially to 8,500, and Senior Support is called on by many area hospitals to help seniors after a hospital stay.

"Friendships are developed, absolutely, without a doubt," Bearden said. "We have many who continue to visit clients when they have to leave (home) for a nursing home."

The number of clients and workers shifts monthly. New workers go through an eight-hour orientation, and they choose their hours and tasks. Most of the workers, about 80 percent, are older than 50.

Family attends WWII bomb wing reunion

Lennis Couch and daughter Annette of Lubbock, returned recently from the 35th annual 58th Bomb Wing Association reunion August 20th through 25th.

The duo attended as the family of the late John Couch who served with the wing in World War II. Lennis is a member of the auxiliary, and the family has attended reunions since the early 1970's.

The Couch's flew to Milwaukee August 21, rented a car and drove the 85 miles to Oshkosh where they registered with about 400 others at the Oshkosh Hilton across the road from the convention center.

"It was a beautiful drive to Oshkosh — lots of Holstein dairy cattle, rolling green hills and big trees," Lennis related.

A home front supper was served at the Hilton in the evening, followed by a trip to the Opera House to view "U.S.O. Radio Review" play reminiscing WWII.

A luncheon at the Country Club featured a "Snood and Snazz" dress review where the ladies modeled WWII uniforms and related styles, sponsored by the Gilted Lilly Dress Shop. Later that day a cheese party was enjoyed at the American Legion Post on the shores of Lake Winnebago amidst beautiful lakeside scenery.

Luther By MICKIE HARRINGTON

The following morning they joined a tour of the Eagle Hangar and Air Museum where they saw experimental airplanes. The afternoon was spent shopping in a huge Marketplace Mall, followed by a 45 mile trip north to see Green Bay stadium where the Green Bay Packers play.

"Coming back to Oshkosh from Green Bay that afternoon, we visited Simon's Cheese Factory and had cheese and sausages with crackers," said Lennis.

Separate auxiliary meetings for men and women were held in the Hilton Saturday morning where the time and place for the next reunion was decided. The 1992 reunion will be on Aug. 12-16 in Seattle, Washington at the Double Tree Inn and Double Tree Suites.

Next year after the reunion, the Boeing Aircraft Plant will entertain them one day. Boeing made the B-29 aircraft used in WWII.

Clara Stiff, 85, left, of Royal Oak, Mich., kept her house tidy for 51 years before she fell and broke her hip. Now she relies on Charlie Limbric, 68, who goes once a week to Clara's home to help out. The two have become fast friends like many of the participants in this popular program.

Son keeps family at arms's length

DEAR ABBY: Our 42-year-old son and his wife live in the same city with us. We never make demands on them and are self-sufficient and able to take care of our needs. We do, however, enjoy seeing them, and invite them to join us for dinner from time to time.

They never drop in, but we would be delighted if they would. My husband and I never go to them uninvited, and they rarely invite us over.

When friends or relatives visit us from out of town, we would like to include our son and his wife and ask them to share a meal. But when we do, they seem very annoyed and resentful and claim that our guests are ours, and they don't want to be bothered.

I occasionally coax them by telling them that if they would come, they are free to leave anytime.

It upsets us terribly that our adult son can't understand that family relationships mean a lot to us, and we would be proud to have our friends and relatives meet him and his wife. When he and his brothers were growing up, our home was always open to all their friends.

He is a nice and pleasant person, but he refuses to give of himself. We can't seem to make him understand that caring adults sometimes make an effort to please others — not just themselves. What are your thoughts on this, Abby? — CARING PARENTS

DEAR PARENTS: For whatever reason, your son is not interested in maintaining a close relationship with you or "the relatives." Too bad he has never learned the joy of doing something for the sheer pleasure it affords others. Your "nice, pleasant" son is also selfish.

Rig count expected to fall to lowest level in 50 years

HOUSTON (AP) — Domestic drilling activity may drop next year to its lowest level in half a century due to a two-year decline in the price of natural gas and a steady drop in the nation's oil output, experts predict.

They say the number of working oil and gas rigs — known as the rig count — is expected to fall to 750 next year.

The bellwether number soared above 4,500 during the glory days of the Texas energy boom.

The drop to 750 would be the lowest level since 1942, when war demands tied up the nation's steel supply, making it impossible to build equipment necessary to keep the crude flowing. Today, however, the industry's woes appear to be more permanent.

The steady decline in gas prices and oil output, combined with the sagging rig count, has added to the anxiety of an industry already worried that its heyday may be over.

"We are seeing a fundamental shift in the U.S. that just won't support a larger rig count," said Richard Spears, vice president of Spears & Associates, a Tulsa, Okla., energy consulting company. While it is impossible to gauge the health of an entire industry solely on the rig count projections — particularly since the estimates often are wrong — experts say the lower numbers serve as an important indicator of the industry's sliding health.

The count is expected to average about 874 rigs this year, down 13.5 percent from 1,010 in 1990, according to Baker Hughes.

"We are an endangered species," warned Raymond Plank, chairman of Apache Corp., an independent energy company moving from Denver to Houston. "Right now, we can use all the help we can get." For Houston, the sliding rig count means further pain in a city still trying to crawl its way out of the last drilling bust.

If the rig count continues to drop, experts warn of further job cuts, even bankruptcies. More than that, though, they say the decline marks the end of Houston's boom era.

The chief culprit in the rig drop is natural gas.

Five warmer-than-normal winters and a weak marketing effort by the industry that peddles the fuel have produced a glut of gas that shows no sign of easing.

This summer, the oversupply drove the price of gas below $1 per thousand cubic feet — the lowest level in a dozen years.

And while a whiff of fall has begun to push the price of the fuel back up, to about $1.70 per thousand cubic feet, there is no evidence that it won't plummet once again when the winter heating season ends.

"We're finally beginning to realize that we have been lying to everybody about when gas is going to turn around," Spears said. "The conventional wisdom has just been dead wrong."

Yeltsin announces peace talks

YEREVAN, U.S.S.R. (AP) — After visiting strife-torn Nagorno-Karabakh, Russian Federation President Boris Yeltsin said Sunday that Armenia and Azerbaijan had agreed to talks aimed at ending their bloody feud over control of the region.

Clashes over Nagorno-Karabakh have claimed hundreds of lives in the past three years, and the region remains one of the major ethnic flashpoints as Kremlin authority crumbles.

Yeltsin said he and Kazakhstan President Nursultan Nazarbayev would mediate at talks Monday between representatives of Armenia, Azerbaijan and Nagorno-Karabakh. The talks, to be held in the Russian town of Zheleznovod, are aimed at laying the groundwork for an eventual peace conference.

Yeltsin's two-day peace mission with Nazarbayev and Soviet Defense Minister Yevgeny Shaposhnikov coincided with Armenia's bid for independence that was overwhelmingly approved in a referendum Saturday. Nagorno-Karabakh is a mainly Armenian enclave inside Azerbaijan. Tensions between Christian Armenia and Muslim Azerbaijan go back centuries, but flared in 1988 when the Armenians in Nagorno-Karabakh expressed a desire to unite with Armenia.

Armenia wants the restoration of local government councils suppressed by Azerbaijan and controls over Soviet forces in the region.

Armenian Vice President Babrek Ararkstian said Sunday that preliminary returns showed that 99.31 percent of the republic's 2.05 million eligible voters approved declaring independence. Official results were expected Monday, when Armenian President Levon Ter-Petrosian plans to announce independence in parliament.

Most of the 12 remaining Soviet republics have broken with the Kremlin, which has recognized the independence of the three Baltic states. Thousands of Armenians raced through the streets of the capital in their cars early Sunday, honking their horns, waving the red, orange and blue Armenian flag out the windows and shouting, "Yes!"

Yeltsin stopped his limousine as it drove away from the Armenian parliament and stepped into a crowd of several hundred people who began to shout his name.

He told them he and Nazarbayev would make every effort "to stop the flow of blood." The crowd responded with cries of "thank you, thank you."

There have been no direct talks between Azerbaijan and Armenia since the fighting began and other mediation efforts have failed.

Ter-Petrosian said Yeltsin offered to mediate the conflict on Aug. 17, the day before the three-day coup against Soviet President Mikhail S. Gorbachev.

Yeltsin, speaking in the Armenian capital Yerevan, described his talks with Nagorno-Karabakh leaders as "stormy." But he added: "The discussions were constructive."

Mideast

U.N. officials have complained that the Iraqis have reported fewer missiles and chemical warheads than inspectors found. Teams also reported finding nuclear processing equipment the Iraqis denied having.

Three German helicopters are in Turkey ready for use by U.N.

teams in Iraq. German Foreign Minister Hans Dietrich Genscher told reporters in New York on Sunday that his country would drop its earlier refusal to permit use of the helicopters if accompanied by military escorts.

ACLU says art nixed on political grounds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Was John E. Frohnmayer pondering the artistic merits of bean sprouts and chocolate, or was he worrying that they might provoke another political assault on the National Endowment for the Arts?

The NEA chairman vetoed taxpayer grants for the bean sprouts-and-chocolate lady, Karen Finley, and three other avant-garde stage performers in June 1990 on artistic grounds, Frohnmayer's spokeswoman says.

Not so, says the American Civil Liberties Union, which claims Frohnmayer violated their free-speech rights by rejecting their grant applications for political reasons.

In a bid to buttress their argument, ACLU lawyers on Tuesday released a batch of confidential NEA documents they obtained after a lengthy tug-of-war with the Justice Department.

The documents surfaced during preparations for a long-delayed trial in U.S. District Court in Los Angeles, where the four performers — Finley, Holly Hughes, Tim Miller and John Fleck — filed a lawsuit challenging Frohnmayer's decision.

Among the documents was the transcript of a closed meeting of the National Council on the Arts, the NEA's presidentially appointed advisory body, on May 13, 1990, when the four controversial grants were debated.

The council was worried about the implications of an obscenity ban that Congress had imposed on the arts endowment. Frohnmayer seemed concerned about negative publicity and political fallout if the four grants were approved.

According to the transcript, Frohnmayer said:

"Karen Finley inserts vegetables into her orifices. That is what is going to come out — and rubs chocolate on her bare bosom and uses bean sprouts for sperm."

"That is not the subject for — that is a metaphor. That is not all she is about. But that is what is going to be in the press if you fund it."

The NEA chairman also cited a performance in which Fleck faced the audience and urinated on the stage.

An NEA observer "took that to be a badge of courage," Frohnmayer said, but "I don't believe that The Washington Times will view it that way."

Earlier, during a May 4 conference telephone call, members of an endowment grant-review panel urged Frohnmayer "not to fear controversy" and to support innovative artists whose works address such sensitive issues as AIDS and gay rights.

According to a transcript, Frohnmayer replied that "the intellectual arguments I have absolutely no problem with," but said they won't satisfy the endowment's critics.

"I guess the question is that, trying to put as crassly as I possibly can: if in the very short political run, the question were is it more important to fund one or more of these people, or to have the endowment continue in some sort of recognizable form, what do I do?"

Frohnmayer again cited Fleck's urination on stage.

"What am I going to say when one of our critics comes in, gets the file, sees the site report and says, 'Geez, they funded a guy who whizzes on the stage'?" he said. "An unidentified panelist responded, 'Who knows? Who cares? They're good.'"

NEA spokeswoman Jill Collins said Frohnmayer will refuse to comment on the documents until the court suit is settled.

Nevertheless, she said, "the endowment is confident that the full record will demonstrate that the plaintiffs' applications were denied for legitimate artistic reasons."

Lawyers from the ACLU, the Center for Constitutional Rights and the National Campaign for Freedom of Expression, who are representing the four performers, disagreed.

In a joint statement, they said the documents demonstrate that "the NEA process has become politicized as a result of right-wing pressures."

The transcripts show that Frohnmayer "never questions our clients' artistic merit; instead, he sacrifices them out of explicitly political concerns," they said.

Dallas D clamps down on Cardinals

TEMPE, Ariz. (AP) — A career night didn't faze Emmitt Smith, a budding star in the NFL who set 58 rushing records during his college days at Florida.

"Oh yeah, I heard that," Smith said when asked about his 182 yards around and through the Phoenix defense.

Smith raced to first-quarter touchdowns of 60 and 12 yards Sunday night, and Dallas made the 14-0, first-quarter lead stand for a 17-9 victory that snapped a two-game NFC East skid for the Cowboys.

Smith, whose 937 yards last year made him the league's most productive rookie ballcarrier, said he was more proud of a 37-yard carry he had in the fourth quarter that led to Ken Willis' 41-yard field goal.

"I made that run when we really needed it," Smith said. He said Phoenix adjusted to stop the holes up the middle through which he gained 109 yards on 11 carries by halftime.

"After the first run, they switched to what we call a 'Bear' defense. That's when we shifted to hitting off-tackle," he said.

It didn't help much, Cardinals linebacker Garth Jax said.

"He causes you to miss tackles. It just happened that he hit the gaps where we weren't," said Jax, a former Cowboy who signed with Willis had been a perfect 5-for-5 in field goals going into the game, but missed attempts of 48, 52, and 45 yards before he found the range for the three-pointer that clinched the victory.

"I wanted to call time out," Cowboys coach Jimmy Johnson said of one of Willis' misses. "The wind started whipping up and the rain came down. The elements kind of got the best of us."

4th-quarter rally gives Pats victory

FOXBORO, Mass. (AP) — By the second quarter, it was clear this would not be a typical New England Patriots game.

But in the fourth, all was back to normal. Warren Moon threw two scoring passes, the heavily favored Houston Oilers were heading toward their fourth straight victory and New England toward its 18th loss in 20 games.

Just another day in the tough life of the Patriots, who began it with the NFL's lowest-ranked offense.

Then something strange occurred.

Greg McMurtry, scoreless in his two professional seasons, got a 34-yard touchdown with six seconds left. Hugh Millen, playing his first game of the year, threw the winning pass.

And the Patriots, who had one touchdown in their previous three games, upset the Oilers, who had the league's second-ranked offense, 24-20 on Sunday.

"This is not the 1990 Patriots," defensive end Brent Williams said. "The sooner we lose that identity the better off for us. I think we can go out and we can play with anybody. We can go out and beat anybody."

Last year, the Patriots were 1-15 and battered by off-field controversy. But this season, the defense is strong, especially against the run.

Toronto edges Oakland

American League

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Just when it looked like Boston would overtake Toronto and move into first, the Red Sox slipped and the Blue Jays won a big game.

"The biggest thing we had to do was get over that hill and win a game ourselves," said Pat Borders, who hit a two-run homer that helped the Blue Jays beat the Oakland Athletics 3-2 Sunday night.

Boston, however, lost to the New York Yankees 7-5 in 10 innings. Jeff Reardon was one strike away from preserving a 5-4 win, but gave up a two-run homer to Roberto Kelly that sent the game into extra innings.

Instead, the Red Sox dropped 1 1/2 games behind the first-place Blue Jays in the AL East.

"It's a tough loss, especially since we had a ton of breaks," Boston manager Joe Morgan said. "Reardon was alright, except that Kelly clocked one. Then Young had a chance to get some tough lefties out, but didn't do the job. If ever he was going to help us out, that was the inning."

In other games, Minnesota beat Texas 9-4, California beat Chicago 4-2, Milwaukee beat Detroit 9-5, Kansas City beat Seattle 2-1 and Cleveland beat Baltimore 2-1.

Juan Guzman led the Blue Jays to victory, allowing two hits in eight innings and winning his eighth consecutive decision.

"When you go out there and the other club has already gotten beat, it just makes you feel a whole lot better about your game plan," Toronto acting manager Gene Tenace said. "It takes some pressure off."

The Blue Jays, who had five hits, trailed 1-0 in the fifth when Candy Maldonado singled and Borders hit a two-out, 1-0 pitch from Ron Darling (3-5) a dozen rows into the bleachers down the left field line, his fourth home run this season.

Toronto got another run in the seventh when Darling walked pinch-hitter Rance Mulliniks on four pitches with the bases loaded and two outs.

Guzman (8-2) allowed two unearned runs, struck out seven and walked four. David Wells finished with a one-hit ninth for his first save since April 24, 1990.

Darling lost his fifth consecutive decision despite giving up three runs and four hits in eight innings. He struck out nine and walked four.

"No matter how the other guy is pitching, we've got to figure out a way to score three runs," Oakland manager Tony La Russa said.

Yankees 7, Red Sox 5 After Kelly's game-tying homer, Bernie Williams hit a two-run double.

Dodgers down Atlanta; Pirates clinch East

National League

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS The Pittsburgh Pirates know they'll be going somewhere in the second week of October. They're just not sure quite yet if it will be Los Angeles or Atlanta.

The National League playoff picture became a little clearer Sunday as the Pirates clinched the East with a 2-1 victory against Philadelphia and Los Angeles moved 1 1/2 games ahead of Atlanta in the West by beating the visiting Braves 3-0.

"It really doesn't take an awful lot of time to make up ground," Atlanta first baseman Sid Bream said. "We were up by two games, and we lost it in a matter of two days. Right now, 1 1/2 games is nothing. It comes down to the last two weeks of the season."

Pittsburgh, however, doesn't have to worry about the last two weeks.

The Pirates took the lead on April 27 and never gave it up, building their lead from 2 1/2 games in late July to a current 13 1/2 — the biggest East Division runaway since the New York Mets won by 15 in 1988.

Unlike last year, when they

Miami gives Shula 300th coaching win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It looks like Don Shula has gotten the hang of coaching in the NFL.

Just 28 years after his first NFL coaching victory, Shula got his 300th Sunday as the Miami Dolphins beat the Green Bay Packers 16-13.

Now Shula can set his sights on George Halas' all-time record of 325 wins.

"I'm glad it's in the can. It won't be one I'll pull out and look at a lot," said Shula, who was drenched with a bucket of water by his players when the game ended.

Shula already was the first coach to win 100 games in his first decade and the first to win 200 in 19 years.

Since he joined Miami in 1970, the Dolphins have the best record in professional sports. He's also the only coach to lead a team to three straight Super Bowl appearances (1971-73), and his 1972 team was 17-0, the only perfect season in NFL history.

"I'd like someday to win the most games," Shula said. "If it happens in the framework of the playoffs or a championship year ... that's what makes it all worthwhile."

In other games, Atlanta beat the Los Angeles Raiders 21-17; Washington took Cincinnati 34-27; New Orleans blanked Minnesota 26-0; Detroit defeated Indianapolis 33-24; Philadelphia downed Pittsburgh 23-14; the New York Giants struggled to get past Cleveland 13-10; San Francisco downed the Los Angeles Rams 27-10; Buffalo took Tampa Bay 17-10; Kansas City beat Seattle 20-13; and Denver defeated San Diego 27-19.

The Monday night game has the Chicago Bears, with coach Mike Ditka seeking his 100th career victory, at home to the New York Jets.

Dolphins 16, Packers 13 The Dolphins offense gained just 232 yards and extended its touchdown-less streak to six quarters. But Pete Stoyanovich kicked three field goals and Reggie Roby punted seven times for an average of 52.7 yards.

Mark Higgs, the second-leading rusher in the NFL, was held to 43 yards in 18 carries by visiting Green Bay. But the Packers couldn't get out of their own way early — in their first two possessions, they were flagged for four penalties, gave up three sacks and failed to pick up a first down.

49ers 27, Rams 10 Jerry Rice broke loose for one of his patented long touchdown catch-and-run plays, going 62 yards and breaking three tackles. That gave San Francisco a 20-10 lead and Harry Sydney's 25-yard touchdown run with 3:16 remaining clinched it. The 49ers kept Jim Everett as the league's only starting quarterback without a touchdown pass.

18 to the Pirates. "I'm proud of what we've done here," said manager Jim Leyland, who in 1986 inherited a last-place club that had lost 104 games the year before. "Five years ago, not many guys wanted the job I've got. There's a lot of guys who'd like to have it now."

Just like last year, when the Pirates wrapped it up by winning 2-0 in St. Louis on Sept. 30, Doug Drabek (15-13) won the clincher. He won't win the Cy Young Award again, but Drabek again was the Pirates' best big-game pitcher, shrugging off a first-inning run to improve to 10-4 lifetime against Philadelphia.

"We realized this was special after we did it last year, and we wanted to keep it going," Andy Van Slyke said. "I don't think we ever thought we wouldn't win it."

When Drabek struck out Charlie Hayes to end the game, he was mobbed by his teammates as the Pirates celebrated near the river. A crowd of 33,662 at Three Rivers Stadium also stayed on after the final out.

"This is a great, this is a good feeling, but what we want to do is still undone," Barry Bonds said. "We had a chance to do what a lot of teams never get the opportunity to do, and that was to do it again. We ble off Dan Petry in the 10th after Matt Young (3-7) walked Alvaro Espinoza and Kevin Maas and hit Matt Nokes with a pitch.

It was the first loss in five games for the Red Sox and their fourth in 19 games. Steve Farr (5-4) got the victory, allowing one hit in the final two innings.

Twins 9, Rangers 4

Minnesota lowered its magic number to five and completed a three-game sweep as Jack Morris (17-12) reached the 17-victory mark for the seventh time in his career.

Texas made four errors, including three by third baseman Dean Palmer, that led to five unearned runs. Hector Fajardo (0-1) was the loser.

Angels 4, White Sox 2

Chicago dropped eight games behind division-leading Minnesota with 12 to play as Lance Parrish hit a two-run homer off Greg Hibbard (10-11) in a three-run sixth at Comiskey Park.

Joe Grahe (3-7) allowed five hits and both runs in 5 1-3 innings. Bryan Harvey pitched a hitless ninth for his 42nd save.

Brewers 9, Tigers 5

George Canale drove in three runs as the Tigers lost their sixth straight. B.J. Surhoff had four hits for the visiting Brewers, who swept the three-game series and dropped Detroit seven games back.

Chris Bosio (13-10) allowed three hits in five innings before leaving with a stiff back. Walt Terrell (12-12) gave up five runs and eight hits in 5 2-3 innings.

Royals 2, Mariners 1
Bret Saberhagen (12-8) pitched a three-hitter, struck out a season-high 11 and walked one in the Kingdome for his sixth career three-hitter.

Brian Holman (13-14) allowed two runs in the third, an RBI double to Kirk Gibson and a run-scoring single to Todd Benzinger.

Indians 2, Orioles 1

Mark Lewis drove in a run with a squeeze bunt and Carlos Baerga hit a game-winning double as Cleveland rallied for two runs in the ninth off Mike Mussina (4-5) and won for the fourth time in five games. Visiting Baltimore has lost four of five.

wanted another championship season."

Drabek allowed seven hits, striking out seven and walking none as the Pirates clinched a division title at home for the first time since they edged Montreal on the final day of the 1979 season.

The Dodgers got a big game from their ace, too. Ramon Martinez (17-11) pitched two-hit ball for seven innings and hit a home run to beat Tom Glavine (19-11).

Martinez had allowed 10 earned runs in his last 5 2-3 innings, and hadn't won since Sept. 1 against Chicago. Steve Wilson pitched one inning and Roger McDowell got the last three outs to finish the combined three-hitter.

At the plate, Martinez went 2-for-3 against Glavine. Martinez, who got two days' extra rest because of a bruised right bicep, hit the first homer of his career in the fourth inning to give the Dodgers a 3-0 lead.

The Dodgers scored twice in the first inning on Darryl Strawberry's RBI triple and Eddie Murray's run-scoring single.

"It was a little disappointing because we didn't gain any ground," Glavine said. "If the season ended today — and thank God it didn't — it would have been disappointing to finish second. But this team has come a long way, regardless of what happens."

Elsewhere in the NL it was St. Louis 2, New York 1; Houston 4, Cincinnati 1; San Diego 6, San Francisco 3; and Montreal swept a doubleheader at Chicago, 6-2 and 5-3.

Expos 4, Cubs 2

Expos 5, Cubs 3

Montreal swept a doubleheader, winning 6-2 in the opener and 5-3 in the nightcap, in a pair of games moved to Wrigley Field because of structural damage at Olympic Stadium. In the opener, Mark Gardner pitched four-hit ball for 8 1-3 innings. In the second game, Dave Martinez led the way with two homers against his former team.

Cardinals 2, Mets 1

Ken Hill and Lee Smith combined on a two-hitter as St. Louis beat New York at Shea Stadium, but it wasn't enough to stave off elimination in the NL East for the Cardinals. Felix Jose snapped a scoreless tie with a home run in the seventh.

Houston

And on Sunday the offense, which scored just 22 points in the first three games, finally clicked against a team off to the best start in its 32-year history.

It resulted in the Patriots (2-2) bolting to a 17-6 halftime lead that remained after three quarters. Even after Houston (3-1) grabbed a 20-17 lead with 1:52 left on the second of Moon's scoring passes to Curtis Duncan, New England persevered.

"We were celebrating too soon," Houston linebacker Lamar Lathon said. "In the end, everything is chaos. We played uncertainly."

Millen, starting for the benched Tommy Hodson, completed six of eight passes for 88 yards on the final drive.

"Being 500 is a motivation for us to go ahead and have a good season," Millen said. "We had struggled offensively, and I'm grateful I had the opportunity to throw."

McMurtry had struggled all year. Despite being a starter, he had only one catch in the first three games.

But on the winning play, he caught Millen's pass down the middle at the Houston 22, cut to the right past safety Mike Dumas at the 15 and raced into the right corner of the end zone.

"I've been saying since preseason that what Greg McMurtry needs is to make one big play to get him going," Patriots coach Dick MacPherson said. "I'm just happy that this was the time he was able to do it."

Moon is used to making big plays. The triggerman of the Oilers' run-and-shoot offense was the NFL's second-rated quarterback last season. He usually had four talented wide receivers in the game.

But he and his teammates had a short week of practice after Monday night's 17-7 victory over Kansas City that left several of them banged up and unavailable for practice. His struggles through the first three quarters helped put the Patriots in position to win.

Dallas

Phoenix had closed the gap to 14-6 by halftime before the defenses took over as a thunderstorm hammered the area of Sun Devil Stadium with a spectacular lightning display and brief rain.

One play might have closed the gap even more.

Tom Tupa, who hit 24 of 37 passes for 247 yards but was unable to get the Cardinals over the goal line, found Ernie Jones in the right corner of the end zone about five minutes into the second quarter. But Dallas cornerback Issiac Holt managed to get a fingertip on the ball, and Jones dropped it.

Phoenix, blanked 34-0 by Washington in its last game, now has gone 10 quarters without a touchdown by the offense.

Robert Williams and Jim Jeffcoat sacked Tupa in the second half, killing drives at crucial points. Jeffcoat's sack was the biggest play for the Cowboys after halftime. It came after the Cardinals had driven to a first down at the Dallas 17-yard line.

The 9-yard loss forced the Cardinals (2-2) to settle for 29-yard field goal from Greg Davis, who scored all of his teams points. Davis kicked two field goals of 32 yards in the second quarter.

In the third quarter, the Cardinals appeared to have some momentum before Dallas lineman Tony Tolbert separated Tupa from the ball. Cardinals running back/Tim Jordan recovered.

Host San Francisco was ahead 13-10 when Young completed a short squareout to Rice at the San Francisco 40. Rice shook off hits by Sammy Lilly and Robert Young, sprinted down the left sideline, cut back to the middle near the goal line and overpowered Michael Stewart in the final yards.

Bills 17, Buccaneers 10
For the second straight week, the Bills needed a late drive to remain unbeaten. They produced 421 yards of offense, the final 76 coming on the decisive drive. Jim Kelly's 29-yard touchdown pass to Keith McKeller won it.

Kelly completed 20 of 35 passes for 322 yards.

Buffalo wasn't safe until Chris Chandler's final pass from the Buffalo 8 fell incomplete in the end zone.

The victory snapped Buffalo's five-game losing streak in Tampa Stadium, site of the Bills' loss to the Giants in last January's Super Bowl. Tampa Bay (0-4) has lost six straight under coach Richard Williamson.

Broncos 27, Chargers 19

At Denver, Gaston Green broke loose for 63- and 20-yard scores in the fourth quarter. Green carried 24 times for 127 yards and scored three times — the first rushing TDs of his 4-year NFL career.

Twice, the winless Chargers pulled within one point. First, at 13-12, Green produced his 63-yard run. Then, at 20-19, Green scored again.

Broncos rookie Kenny Walker ended the Chargers' chances with a sack of John Friesz that produced a fumble that Denver recovered.

Chiefs 20, Seahawks 13

At Kansas City, Steve DeBerg threw two touchdown passes and Nick Lowery kicked two field goals. Derrick Thomas, who sacked Dave Krieg an NFL-record seven times last year when the Seahawks won in Kansas City, was double-teamed most of the day and got to Jeff Kemp only once, for a 9-yard loss late in the game.

The scoreless first quarter took only 20 minutes as each team had one possession. The Seahawks took the opening kickoff and marched from their 35 to the Kansas City 3 before Deron Cherry got his 47th career interception and 10th against Seattle. The Chiefs then went 71 yards on 15 plays to take a 3-0 lead on Lowery's 27-yarder.

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Sid Caesar says he misses the days when funny didn't necessarily mean dirty.

"Humor has gotten much bluer, it's gotten much raunchier," he said. "And I think it's not a good thing because it demeans the language and it also demeans the culture."

That's all there is: sitcoms and violence and sex. You put them all together and you have laughing sex. Laughing, violent sex."

Caesar, 69, said there are better ways to make people laugh. He hopes audiences will agree when they see his new play, "Together

King, 66, on Sunday began three nights of performances at the B.B. King's Blues Club on Beale. He is to play tonight and Tuesday.

King was nicknamed "The Beale Street Blues Boy" in the late 1940s. The name was shortened to "Blues Boy," then finally to "B.B."
