President Bush told Iraqi President Saddam Hussein to free the inspectors and comply with U.N. cease-fire resolutions allowing U.N. teams free access to Iraqi nuclear and weapons facilities.

Meanwhile, Iraq was expected today to give the United Nations its first written statement outlining its position on U.N. aerial searches for weapons left after the Gulf War ended nearly seven months ago.

Bush has warned that the United States will send warplanes to escort the U.N. helicopters on the inspection missions, which Iraq has refused to permit on the ground that they violate Iraqi sovereignty. Iraq has denied repeatedly that its nuclear program was intended to produce weapons.

David Kay, head of the U.N. inspection team in Baghdad, said 60 armed Iraqi security men were surrounding the U.N. team in six cars and a bus outside the building where they examined documents

The Iraqis demanded the team give up any records taken or videotape shot during the search, but Kay said they had "no intention of giving up that film." The inspection teams routinely videotape the buildings they inspect and the

Voter turnout heavy so far in bond election

By MARSHA STURDIVANT Staff Writer

Today is the last day for early voting on the $11.745 million school bond election. Regular voting is Saturday. Margaret Ray, county clerk, said 1,320 voters have thus far cast ballots in the election, and the clerk's office has mailed 47 ballots at request.

'That's a good number. For a school election, it's heavy," said Ray, adding that the last school election on Aug. 10 had 550 total voters cast ballots.

"But it's not that high compared to our last general election. Then we had 2,400 (early) votes," she Registered voters may vote early without excuse or penalty in the clerk's office on the first floor of the couthouse until 5 p.m. today. During the regular election, voting polls will be located in the different precincts around the city.

The bond issue called by the Big Spring Independent School trustees is designed to provide money to build two new schools in the district and repair roofs on two buildings. An air conditioning upgrade at the high school is also part of the remodeling and construction called for by the board members.

Runnels Junior High School and College Heights Elementary will be replaced by two new buildings if the bond issue passes. The junior high school would be on Sixth and Owens streets where Boydstun Elementary is now. The new College Heights would be built south of Goliad Middle School.

The election has been marked by controversy with two area groups, Citizens For Kids and Citizens For Choice, providing advertising campaigns in support and against the bond issue.

Citizens For Kids wants new schools for the district. The district population has grown by 400 students in the last five years and currently more than 100 students are being bused to alleviate the overcrowded elementary class rooms, school officials have said. Portable buildings are being used on several campuses and school lunch rooms do not seat the number of students attending the elemetary campuses, officials

Citizens For Choice argue that all options have not been explored to meet the needs of the district. This group is opposed to closing Runnels as a public school, additional taxes and creating a fifthand sixth-grade elementary

Petition to be presented to city council

Staff Writer

The petition to lock in a minimum number of police officers for the city has received enough signatures to force a referendum, says Fraternal Order of Police attorney David Twedell

Twedell is scheduled to present the petition to the city council at its meeting at 5:30 p.m. today at building No. 1106 at the McMahon/Wrinkle Airpark.

Although the referendum will cost the city money, city officials were forewarned the matter would be taken to the votors, Twedell Big Spring Police Officer Stan

Parker, a member of the 36-member Big Spring FOP lodge said, "We'd like to thank the people of Big Spring. We've had about 825 total signatures in about a 312-day period.

Although only 651 of the signatures were certified as being from registered voters within the city of Big Spring, it more than accommodates the state-mandated 5 percent, or 541 for the city

The petition seeks to mend the proposed $225,000, seven-officer, four-jailer cut in the police depart ment budget with the addition of a paragraph to the city code. The paragraph stipulates one of ficer per 525 population (identical to the current number of officers), an open city jail and restrictions placed on the firing and disciplining of police officers and the police Twedell said two officers per 1000 population is common in mediumsized cities, but the current two per 1,050 is acceptable.

The referendum must carry by a simple majority at the earliest legal election, said Twedell, and may not be changed for two years and then only by another referendum.

City officials are reacting coolly to the push for the amendment, and Twedell is concerned about possible "road blocks" that might be placed in the way of the next uniform election date on Nov. 5. He did not elaborate.

City Manager Hal Boyd.

however, said federal election laws governing the referendum make it impossible to make the Nov. 5 date. "The council must have the ordinance prepared and have two votes. Since we meet on Oct. 8, and 22. it will fail to meet the required 30-day period before the election. Rather, the referendum would have to be scheduled for the next uniform election date on Jan. 18, he

The amendment would place harmful restrictions on the efficient management of the city, said Boyd. "I feel like they did not think this thing through.

Speaking of the Fraternal Order of Police, which in this instance has been acting as a collective bargaining agent for the police, Boyd said, 'Although I am not in favor of the petition, I do not feel that I could violate the First Amendment rights of the officers. . . . U.S. deficit reaching new high just a week to go in the fiscal year, the federal budget deficit is headed for a new record approaching $300 billion, government and private analysts agree.

The Treasury Department reported on Monday that the deficit rose $42.7 billion in August. boosting the imbalance for the first 11 months of fiscal 1991 to $260.9 billion.

"It fits with a yearly deficit of between $260 billion and $265 billion," said economist Marilyn Schaja of Donaldson, Lufkin & Jenrette Securities Corp. in New York. If so, that would top the previous record of $221.1 billion set in 1986.

Director Richard Darman of the Office of Management and Budget said in an ABC-TV interview on Sunday that the deficit would be about $284 billion. The Congressional Budget Office said in its midyear review in July the deficit would total $279.0 billion.

Although the August deficit was 19.1 percent less than the shortfall during the same month in 1990, the imbalance so far this year was 8.2 percent larger than the $241.2 billion shortfall during the first 11 months of last year.

About $25 billion of the August 1990 imbalance had reflected a shift of payments normally made in September, such as military pay and Social Security checks, to the previous month to avoid Labor Day weekend delays. That amount thus was not included in the September expenditures.

Revenues so far this year totaled $944.9 billion, up 1.8 percent from the same period of 1990. But spending jumped 3.1 percent, to $1.2 trillion, over the first 11 months of last year.

Receipts included $1.3 billion in contributions from allied nations to help pay for Gulf war expenses, down from $2.2 billion in July. So far this year, contributions have totaled $42.4 billion.

Expenditures amounted to $119.1 billion, 9.2 percent less than the same month last year.

Spending included $4.2 billion by the Resolution Trust Corp. for the thrift bail out, down from $9.2 billion in July. RTC spending during the first 11 months of the year totaled $36.8 billion, compared to $37.8 billion during the same period of last year.

As usual, the biggest spending categories were the military. Social Security and other programs of the Department of Health and Human Services and interest on the national debt

Military spending totaled $27.1 billion in August and $240.9 billion so far this year. It is projected to total $295.7 billion for the entire

Social Security payments amounted to $22.6 billion for the month and $243.8 billion for the year. They are projected to total $263.8 billion for the year.

County cuts budget, raises property tax

By PATRICK DRISCOLL Staff Writer

Howard County commissioners were able to cut overall spending in the annual budget for next year, which was approved Monday. But property taxes were raised 3 percent.

A $6.9 million 1991-92 county budget that projects to spend $32,619 less than the current budget was unanimously approved by the Howard County Commissioners Court A property tax rate increase of 3 percent over the effective rate was also unanimously approved.

The new tax rate of 35.936 cents per $100 of property valuation is almost a 10 percent increase over the current rate of 32.78 cents. The effective tax rate of almost 35 cents is what is needed to generate the same amount of tax revenue as the year before. Despite the tax increase, the budget is the seventh consecutive deficit budget that commissioners passed. It is underfunded by $769,271. An ending balance of about $1.4 million is expected.

"We feel if the commissioners court continues with the conservative attitude displayed this budget year and lives with the cuts that have been proposed, we can end Sept. 30, 1992, with enough in reserve to begin operation of the 1992-93 year," states a letter in the budget signed by County Judge Ben Lockhart and County Auditor Jackie Olson

The current budget had projected an ending balance of $761,971 when it was passed last year, but the balance now is over $2 million. When passed, a $945,729 deficit was cited Expected spending for next year was lowered as a result of county department heads cutting individual budgets, not including salaries and benefits, by up to 10 percent as requested by Lockhart in May. Salaries and benefits account for about 55 percent of the total county budget. There is no salary increase in the budget.

"What was so great is that everyone did (cut)," Olson said. There are no big cuts in one area of the budget, according to Olson.

The largest include $23,100, of which $20,000 was targeted for a new fire station in Knott last year. That dropped funding \ for the volunteer county fire department

Proposal goes to counties

AUSTIN (AP) - A lawyer for counties that successfully sued the state over jail overcrowding said she was concerned about how much time the attorney general's office took to complete a settlement proposal in the case.

"Now we're being really pushed up against the wall by the attorney general," lawyer Ann Clarke Snell said Monday The deadline for signing a proposal is Sunday. State lawyers completed work on a plan Monday, and planned to give it to parties in the case Tuesday, said Ron Dusek, a spokesman for Attorney General Dan Morales.

Because of public notice requirements for meetings, Snell said that the earliest commissioners courts now may vote on the proposal is Friday

The 14 counties had wanted the state to agree to a proposal by Sept. 20 to ensure their commissioners courts had enough time to meet and consider the matter.

Counties involved are Bexar, Collin, Dallas, El Paso, Galveston, Harris, Hidalgo, Hunt, Lubbock, Montgomery, Nueces, Tarrant, Travis and Victoria.

Dusek said the counties should have ample time to consider the agreement. He said that the attorney general's proposal includes some "fine-tuning" to a settlement

But Morales last week said that the proposal prepared by counties could cost the state another $650 million over the next four years because of possible additional litigation and the cost of caring for prisoners

Snell said she did not know where Morales got his $650 million estimate. She said that the settlement proposed by counties mirrored the agreement reached with state officials

Dusek said the law provides some "room to wiggle" in drafting a settlement agreement, and that Morales wanted to reflect the wishes of the governor and the legislative leadership. "I basically think that it appears

Dusek said the attorney general was not playing politics.

Snell said that counties likely could get more money by pressing on with litigation than through the settlement.

Human rights probe begins in L.A.

LOS ANGELES (AP) -Amnesty International investigators began a probe of police brutality by meeting with Police Chief Daryl F. Gates, who called the notion his department has something in common with foreign dictators "outrageous."

The London-based human rights group, which won a Nobel Peace Prize in 1977, is investigating both the Los Angeles Police Department and county Sheriff's Department to see if they are violating a United Nations code.

"Clearly, nobody can deny that police brutality has taken place," delegation leader Anita Tiessen said Monday. "There's lots of evidence of that. What we're here to determine is whether it is a serious problem, whether it's United States.

widespread or systematic." Gates, who has come under severe criticism since the videotaped beating of a black motorist by white officers in March, said he met with the group because "I want the international community to recognize this department for what I think it is — a very fine department."

But he also said that "when they're talking about looking at some of the Third World countries where an awful lot of atrocities have occurred, lumping us in with that, I think is outrageous,' Gates said.

Key witness killed in prison riot

HELENA, Mont. (AP) — One of the five inmates slain by fellow prisoners during a four-hour prison riot was a key witness in next week's trial against two other inmates charged with killing a man during a prison baseball game.

Corrections officials on Monday declined to speculate if the motive of the riot in the maximum-security unit was revenge.

"We don't know if this was a planned conspiracy to get at these (informants)," Corrections Director Curt Chisholm said.

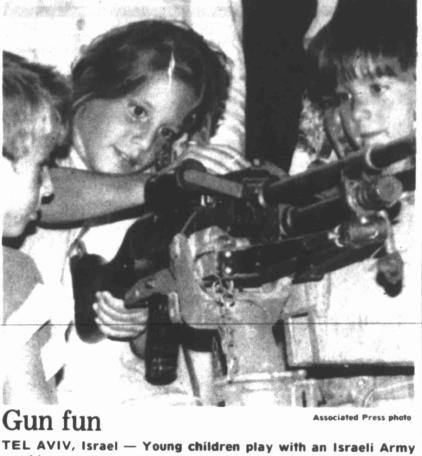

Eight inmates were injured, including four in protective custody.

Meanwhile, an official involved in the investigation told The Associated Press how officials believe inmates took control of source.

The official, who spoke on condition of anonymity, said approximately nine inmates got into the cellblock from a recreation yard by breaking through a fence. They gained access to one control room by setting fires that melted bullet-proof plastic glass and also got into the second control room.

Homemade weapons were found in the cellblock, including sharpened broomsticks, mop handles and metal from a filing cabinet, Warden Jack McCormick said.

The rebel inmates surprised the unit's prison guards, who were unarmed, The New York Times reported today. Five guards barricaded themselves in the showers and two escaped to the roof, it said, also quoting a

Marcos and two children indicted

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — The government today indicted former first lady Imelda Marcos and two of her children on 11 counts of failing to pay taxes to the government that drove them into exile in 1986.

The indictments made by assistant chief prosecutor Aurelio Trampe were submitted to the Quezon City regional trial court, which is to issue the arrest warrants.

Mrs. Marcos was indicted on seven counts and daughter Imelda "Imee" Marcos-Manotoc and son Ferdinand "Bongbong" Marcos Jr. on two counts each, Trampe said.

Trampe said the three were accused of failing to pay their income taxes due after the 1986 'people power' revolution that toppled the late President Ferdinand Marcos and propelled Corazon Aquino to power.

Marshall Plan for the Soviets

The idea of a Marshall Plan for the Soviet Union, similar to the plan that helped save Western Europe in 1947-1951, is a good one. Probably the grandest piece of postwar U.S. foreign policy, the Marshall Plan not only saved Western Europe, but provided substantial longterm benefits for the United States

The European Community floated the idea during the weekend, as its members met to consider the Soviet economic crisis. The Europeans, together with the United States, are considering emergency food aid to help the peoples of the crumbling Soviet empire get through the winter, but it is increasingly clear that food aid won't be

Americans will rightly ask — where would the money for a new Marshall Plan come from? In 1947, the United States, the world's largest creditor nation, held most of the world's gold reserves, had a favorable balance of trade and a currency "good as gold." Today, we run the world's largest trade deficits, have seen the dollar cut loose from gold and have become the world's major Assuming we wanted to finance a Marshall Plan for the Soviet Union, would we be able to?

Between 1948 and 1952, the U.S. government transferred $14 billion to the governments of Western Europe, which would be $76 billion today. Given existing U.S. budget constraints, we couldn't do it. The primary U.S. economic goal must be to reduce the federal deficit, not add to it. Annual interest on the debt has reached 18 percent of the budget, an intolerable level, about the same rate consumers pay on credit card purchases.

But returns on the Marshall Plan for the U.S. economy in the '50s were substantial, and a similar plan would have similar returns today. America can't afford to see all the benefits from investment in Soviet growth accrue to the European Community and other potential contributors, such as Japan.

Western European economic revival in the '50s was spectacular. In 1947, Europe was a wasteland, a ruin of the crippled and defeated, the destitute and unemployed stretching from the Memel to the Meuse. Secretary of State George Marshall returned from a bitter European winter to tell Americans that "the patient is sinking while the doctors deliberate." Three months later, he proposed the plan that would rescue Europe.

The government's $14 billion only primed the pump. When the plan ended in 1952, American private investment took over, creating a decade of economic growth, "surpassing any recorded historical experience," wrote historian Angus Maddison. When the European Community was formed in 1956 and Europe's currencies became convertible, American companies swooped into Europe to buy its assets. We did to Europe what the Japanese are doing to us today.

But how to finance it today?

Last week, Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis., chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, suggested a way. For starters, Aspin would take $1 billion from the defense budget to fund Soviet aid. With the Soviet threat diminishing, Aspin argues that the United States runs little risk in shifting some resources.

Predictably, the administration reacted with horror. It was "way too early" to think about that, said President Bush.

Not at all. Just as a previous generation of Americans was able to respond to Europe's collapse with bold new thinking, the same challenge confronts us today. Yes, 45 years ago we had more money, but in 1947 the United States had no tradition of giving money to reconstruct foreign nations, particularly ex-enemies like Germany and Japan.

The circumstances are different, not the wisdom of accepting the challenge.

By STEVEN KOMAROW

Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP) — The way House and Senate members fight to get credit for those federal projects back home, you'd think it was their money.

They put out press releases, testify at hearings, talk about them at town meetings and attend the ribbon cuttings. They defend them in the chambers of Congress when critics label their roads, buildings, dams or research grants "pork barrel."

And don't dare try to take their credit away - especially if you're another member of Congress.

Sen. Harris Wofford, D-Pa., who was appointed last spring and is the underdog in a special election this fall, beat Sen. Arlen Specter, R-Pa., in announcing $15 million in a spending bill for bus transportation improvements at Pittsburgh's airport.

Specter responded by storming to the Senate floor and delivering a speech on how he'd been work ing on the project for years. Sen. Frank Lautenberg, D-N.J., chairman of the transportation appropriations subcommittee, had let Wofford announce it even before the bill was formally approved.

This "warrants notice to the Senate and ought to be made part of the record . . . an action which I consider to be grossly inappropriate," Specter declared "It's surprising to me he's mak ing such a big deal out of it," said Wofford's spokesman, David predictable business. The Democrats control Congress, and therefore get a better shot at putting stuff into spending bills for their home districts.

The Republicans control the White House, which usually gives GOP lawmakers first crack at announcing the grants made by federal agencies.

Take Kansas, for example. Senate Republican Leader Bob Dole, as the delegation's big cheese in Congress, gets to announce virtually every grant any agency makes in the state.

If there were a Democrat in the White House, perhaps one of the state's Democratic House members would compete for that role, but Dole would still get more than his share.

Missouri Sens. John Danforth and Christopher Bond, both Republicans, have taken to issuing joint press releases to announce federal grants. Danforth, with his seniority, could hog the limelight, but Bond faces reelection next year and Danforth wants to help him out

Illinois has no Democratic senator, so the GOP administration tries to give House Republican Leader Robert Michel of Peoria advance notice of actions affecting the state so he can get his press releases out first. West Virginia has no Republicans in Congress, but it probably wouldn't matter if it did Sen. Robert C. Byrd is chairman of the appropriations committee, upon which federal agencies depend for their money. Byrd can announce anything he wants to, and he makes sure there's plenty for him to announce.

Sen. Alfonse D'Amato of New York, a Republican with far less seniority than Byrd, isn't able to come up with as many goodies, although he's known for trying as hard as anyone. And he certainly gets the most from each bit.

D'Amato recently announced that the Federal Aviation Administration was awarding a $39 million grant to the Buffalo airport for a new passenger terminal and other improvements. Then he sent the same press release out a month later, after a 30-day review period had passed, to announce it

D'Amato's an exception, but most lawmakers do little of this credit-grabbing in Washington, where critics might see it as unseemly

For example, Byrd's office distributed in West Virginia but resisted furnishing Washington reporters with his press release on moving part of the CIA to his

AT&T sliding downhill

I am sorry to be picking on the AT&T phone company all the time, but what else is a person to do? The greatest communications company in the world is sliding downhill fast. Note the six-hour breakdown of service last week in New York that brought East Coast aviation to a halt and longdistance calls to a dribble. It was caused by "human error," according to AT&T spokespersons who are paid to put the best light on things that go wrong.

"Thank heavens," people said when they read it was human error. "It could have easily been a bad dial tone

Charlotte Martin, a communications expert, says that the public cannot blame AT&T for a human

"Whom do you blame?" I wanted to know.

'A person. Someone who had a fight with his wife, or lost money on a pro football game, or was bawled out by his mother for no reason at all. It's very easy for a worker to pull Switch A rather than Switch B when his heart isn't in it.'

'Right, but shouldn't the phone company have a fail-safe system if someone pulls the wrong switch?'

"It does, but the company executives have been trying to save money. So when someone pulls the wrong switch, a silent alarm bell goes off in a situation room on the third floor. Unfortunately, the alarm is answered by a recording that says, 'We're sorry, all lines are busy now. Please hold on until an operator is available to assist you. If you have a complete blowout of the system, call 555-5432. If your emergency concerns the shutdown of all air traffic in the United States, dial 555-6778 and leave a message after the beep. If the accident you are reporting affects the country's national defense, go to the top of your nearest post office and yell for help.' ''
Ms. Martin told me that no matter whom you call you will still get the "Ride of the Valkyries" with the recorded message.

I said, "It seems to me that if human error can do so much damage, one of our enemies could do likewise

She agreed, "This has always been a concern of the military. That's why it is asking for $50 billion to construct a Stealth telephone system that would surgically bomb every enemyheld pay phone in the United States.

"Life seemed so good in the old days when AT&T didn't make

'They did make them, but in those times they never put anyone on hold. If something went wrong, one person talked to another person, confessed his error and it was fixed. AT&T has replaced these people with computers, and many of the computers aren't talking to each other.

"I would hate to be an AT&T executive responsible for the error last week," I admitted. Ms. Martin laughed, "I'd rather have been him than someone stuck on a runway for six hours because the phones didn't work." "I don't imagine things are going to get better," I said.

"The phone company is determined to correct its errors. It has installed a 900 number people can dial and hear a vice president of the company recite a prayer asking that AT&T breakdowns only happen during off-peak hours when cheaper phone rates are in

The hairdo is back again

Perhaps the drip-dry permanents got too casual, or maybe it was just time for a change. Whatever the reason, the hairdo is back, say stylists.

It's part of the back-to-glamour trend in fashion, says Christopher Downs, a hairdresser who serves as consultant to Alberto-Culver, the hair products company, "It's still touchable hair, but highly polished and styled," he says. 'Hair 'dressing' is definitely back for the '90s.''

Dramatic, longer hair with body and anything from waves to ringlets will give hairdos more definite form, says Downs, The styles will be more polished, with soft textures. Women will be pulling their steam rollers and curling irons out of storage and using light sprays and conditioners.

He recommends a fresh trim every four to six weeks, along with conditioning products. A hot oil treatment for hair that has been damaged by summer sun is a good idea, too.

Video game is addicting for young and old

DEAR ABBY: Last Christmas we purchased a video game for our sons, ages 8 and 10. At first it was fun, but now I am sick of the hours wasted in front of the television set. If the boys aren't playing it, their father is, and the arguments and hurt feelings are not worth the money invested. We used to go to the parks or beaches, or just spend time barbecuing after work. Now it's, "What game should we rent tonight?" followed by an evening of no communication.

I swear, they are addicted to it! Am I wrong? Has this happened in other households also? — MAD AT the reception could not have asked THE VIDEO GAME, LACEY, the caterer to pack up the $200 WASH.

DEAR MAD: You are not wrong. But who makes the rules at your house? You should allow your sons to play their video game only as a reward for having done their homework and chores. And there should be a limit on how much time they can spend in front of the television set. Kids can get hooked on a video game - but wise parents can turn that addiction into a bargaining chip.

DEAR ABBY: I have a lovely daughter - intelligent, welleducated, attractive, a kind and caring person. She has not married. Every now and then, some stupid jerk asks me, "Why hasn't your daughter married?"

I respond in a civilized manner, although I consider the question none of his or her business and think that only a clod would ask such a question. Can you think of any remark to put such people in their place? — OGDEN, UTAH, MOTHER

Kidnappers say British hostage to be freed

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Pro-Iranian kidnappers today promised to free British hostage Jack Mann, saying U.N. mediation has broken a logiam in the prisonersfor-hostages negotiations.

Iran's official Islamic Republic News Agency said Mann would be released by midnight (5 p.m. EDT), and the Tehran Times reported that an American hostage also would be set free this week.

The news agency said last week that a Briton, probably Mann, would be released within hours, but no hostage was freed. Eleven Westerners are missing in Lebanon, and most are believed held by Iranian-allied factions.

In Cyprus, Mann's wife Sunnie said: "The news is absolutely fantastic. But I still have that small feeling in the back of my mind that something will hold it up again."

The statement from the Shiite Muslim kidnappers, the Revolutionary Justice Organization, said Mann, at 77 the oldest hostage, would be released within two days. He was kidnapped May 12, 1989.

The statement said the decision to free Mann resulted from "immense efforts" by U.N. Secretary-General Javier Perez de Cuellar, who has been trying to arrange a swap of hostages, Arabs held by Israel and Israeli soldiers missing

Revolutionary Justice did not specify what Perez de Cuellar had accomplished. The group said last week it would not release either of the hostages it holds - Mann and American Joseph Cicippio because Israel had reneged on a promise to free more detainees. Israel freed 51 Arab prisoners on

In a brief dispatch from Beirut attributed to informed sources, the Iranian news agency said Mann would be freed by midnight.

In another report, it quoted Iranian Deputy Foreign Minister Ali Mohammad Besharati as saying: "By January, all hostages irrespective of their nationalities will be able to go home.'

Meanwhile, the report scheduled for publication Wednesday in the Tehran Times, said: "Two (hostages), one British and one American, will be released this week." The newspaper said one captive "may be released within hours and the second later in the week, possibly during the

Then, on Sept. 13, the body of a missing Israel soldier was returned to the Jewish state - leaving five Israeli servicemen unaccounted for. But in the ensuing days, Shiite clerics differed over whether Israel had done enough to warrant freeing another

Proposed district lines satisfactory

By PATRICK DRISCOLL Staff Writer

A preliminary county precinct redistricting plan would slightly dilute the minority voting strength of the only precinct that has a Hispanic majority, county officials

Howard County commissioners on Monday said they were satisfied the plan, which would decrease the proportion of Hispanics in Precinct 1 from 59.14 percent to 57.87 percent, would provide a good working draft to redraw precinct lines. Precinct 1 Commissioner O.L.

"Louis" Brown, who is Hispanic, said he was cautious of the new plan but was otherwise satisfied. "It doesn't look too bad. I need to do a little more research," he said. "I'm going to check every bit."

Commissioners are considering redrawing precinct lines following a request in August from San Antonio civil rights attorney Rolando Rios to even out the populations between the precincts. The precincts violate the one-man, onevote rule of the U.S. Constitution, Rios said.

The current populations of precincts 1 through 4 are, respectively, 7,377, 10,268, 8,618 and 6,080, according to 1990 U.S. Census Bureau numbers.

Under the proposed plan, drawn by Map Resources Inc. of Austin, the populations of the precincts would be, respectively, 8,078, 8,086, 8,082 and 8,097

The county population decreased by 1,207, to 32,343, since 1980, the census shows. However, the Hispanic population increased by 1,630, to 8,607, in the past decade and now account fors 26.61 percent of the total population. Whites decreased by 4,739 and are 68.72 percent of the population. Blacks decreased by 156 and are 3.63 percent of the population.

Other members of the court said the proposed plan was a good starting point to redraw precinct lines, a task they all agreed must be "As long as they leave me in Precinct 2, I can live with it," said Commissioner John Stanley, who would have nearly 2,000 people switched to Precinct 4 from the northwest side of Big Spring. "It looks like we've got to do something to live within federal mandates.

"It doesn't make a lot of difference to me," said Precinct 4 Commissioner Bobby Cathey. "Eventually we're going to have to do something. I think what we're looking at is something to start

"I feel that it's a starting point. We can use it as a basis for making our decision," said Precinct 3 Commissioner Bill Crooker, whose precinct would have the least amount of changes under the plan. 'At this point I feel reasonably satisfied.

Meanwhile, the court was awaiting legal property descriptions that were being sent by Map Resources, said County Judge Ben Commissioners said they hoped to have the plan drawn and approved by the U.S. Justice Department by Dec. 3 when candidate filing begins for the 1992 elections. The Justice Department has from 60 to 120 days to approve a plan after it is submitted.

Up for election next year are commissioners representing precincts 1 and 3.

Area football teams had mixed results in last Friday's games, going 4-6 against their competition.

On the winning side, Big Spring breezed past Lubbock, 39-6; Coahoma crushed Tahoka, 44-6; top-ranked Garden City nipped No. 8 Rankin, 22-21; and Sands had a big homecoming victory over Christoval, 30-6.

Area teams that were not so fortunate were Forsan, which dropped a close 14-6 decision to Roscoe; Colorado City, which was edged by Slaton, 28-21; Stanton, which lost 20-7 to Greenwood; Borden County, which dropped its homecoming game to Wellman, 38-12; Klondike, which fell to New Home, 25-14; and Grady, which lost 64-33 to Ira.

this week's opponents: Big Spring coach Dwight Butler, on the win over Lubbock and this week's game with Snyder — "It was good to see the kids come back and play well, especially after an emotional game like the one we had

Here is what area coaches had to say about last week's games and against Lubbock Estacado. 'Snyder should be a barn-burner. They're 2-1; they lost to Monahans but have won the last two . . . They've got some good athletes, and it should be a stern test. They play us as hard as any other game they play. They don't like us for some > Colorado City coach Tom Ramsey, on the loss to Slaton and this week's game with Merkel - "m Ithought the kids played pretty well. They performed better on offense and defense and the kicking game . . . We had a chance to tie or win with about 13 seconds left . . . It could have been a totally different game. "Merkel is an improving ball club. Their kids do a pretty good job. They're a little bigger than in the past, and they have some more team speed — and that concerns us. It should be a tough ball game.

Coahoma coach Steve Park, on the win against Tahoka, and this week's District 6-2A opener with Iraan — "The kids got after it from the word go; we got to play a lot of kids. I'm proud of the execution Mike Mendez and Steven New showed at running back, and the line did a good job again.

'Iraan is real quick on offense and defense, plus they have good size. (All-district running back) Riley Malone is back this week, but those two backs they used did a good job in his place. They're a very diversified ballclub.

Forsan coach Jan East, on the loss to Roscoe, and this week's game with Ozona — "After looking at the game films, the coaches feel that we should've won this game. Mistakes cost us the ball game.

"Ozona is 0-3, but they've played some pretty good people. They lost three seniors last week and are starting some young people. If we go down their and don't make mistakes, we've got a chance to win the game.'

Stanton coach Bill Grissom, on the Buffalos' loss to Greenwood, and this week's game with Wall — "I think it was one of our better games. We got a super effort from the kids, which is what really pleased the coaches. We did several things well, but we just had a few mental breakdowns.

Our effort was by far the best, though. "Wall has an outstanding team. They're ag- JAN EAST gresive and do things real well on defense. They have a good offense. They have a sophomore quarterback who runs the offense real well for a sophomore. They are a dangerous type football team. Garden City coach Sam Scott, on the Bearkats' win against Rankin, and this week's game with Wink — "We were glad to get it over with. The coaches have tried to downplay it — say it was just another ballgame — but for everybody between here and Rankin, it wasn't. I was glad to get the monkey off our back of never having beat Rankin. It was a good experience. "Wink is young — they have seven sophomores on defense and six sophomores on offense.

They've got some good quality people, but they're young. . . . If we go down there not ready to play, we're going to be defeated." Klondike coach Tom Ham, on the Cougars' loss to New Home, and this week's game with Smyer

"We played better. New Home just outsized us. We stayed with them for a while . . . but in the third and fourth quarters, they just started running over us. But I was pleased. I thought we played better.

'Smyer is one of those teams that you never know exactly what they're going to do. They run a veer offense, which is hard to defend. Our kids have to be on their toes this week.

Borden County coach Bobby Avery, on the Coyotes' loss to Wellman, and this week's game with Loop, Avery's former team - "I thought we played pretty good, considering the shape the field was in. Again, we dropped the ball too many times; we had five turnovers. Wellman is a very good team . . . The game was certainly closer than the score indicated. It was definitely a hard-fought game.

"Loop has a good running back, David Rodriguez . . . and they like to sneak (center Bobby Medlin) out on passes. . . . Last year was more difficult (playing them) than this year. Last year was more of a surprise. They probably get up to beat me more than I get up to beat them.

Grady coach Leandro Gonzales, on the Wildcats' loss to Ira, and this week's game with Loraine — Ira was well prepared. We executed a lot better on offense . . . but we're still lacking on defense.

"Loraine runs a basic I and T formation on offense, and a 33 formation on defense. They're hurt quite a bit. They've had some injuries

Spurs trade for Carr

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The San Antonio Spurs, seeking immediate help up front, think they have their man in forward Antoine Carr.

The Spurs traded center Dwayne Schintzius and a 1994 second-round draft pick to Sacramento on Monday for Carr, a 6-foot-8 seven-year NBA veteran from Wichita State who led the Kings in scoring last year with a career-best 20.1 points per game.

"We acquired a player that will help up immediately," said Bob Bass, Spurs vice president of operations. "For a man his size, he has shown that he can shoot from outside and he can play either forward position."

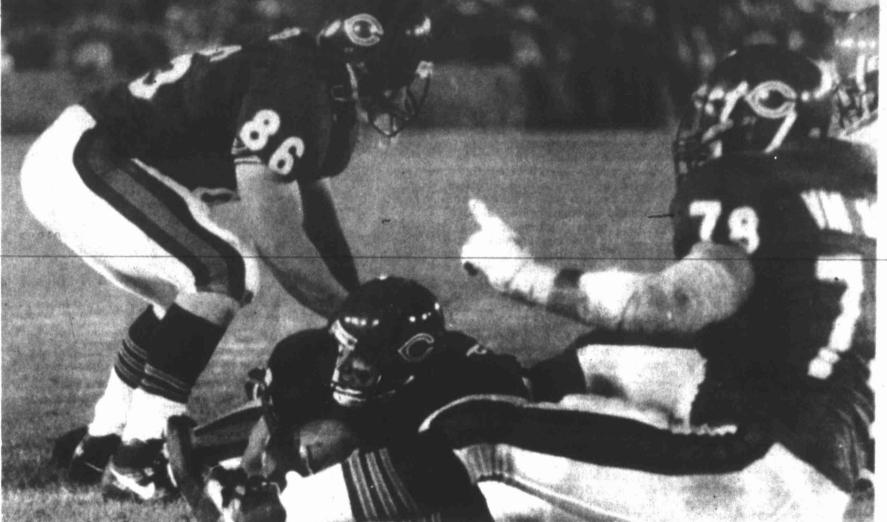

Bass said Carr, 30, will be an of fensive threat.

The 7-2 Schintzius, 22, averaged 3.8 points and 2.9 rebounds in 9.4 minutes per game in his rookie season last year as a backup to starting center David Robinson. He was a 1988 Olympic team finalist from the University of Florida. Schintzius was the Spurs' firstround draft pick and the 24th selection overall in 1990.

Spurs coach Larry Brown, who at times criticized Schintzius' work habits, said the trade will be beneficial for both clubs.

The Bears remained unbeaten Monday night and gave coach Mike Ditka his 100th win by twice coming back from almost certain defeat to beat the Jets 19-13 on Jim Harbaugh's 6-inch plunge with 18 seconds left in overtime.

It came after a 23-yard TD pass to Cap Boso had been overruled by replay official Bill Fette and the ball set back outside the goal line even as both teams and fans left Soldier Field

It was a game the Bears tied on a 6-yard pass from Harbaugh to Neal Anderson on the final play of regulation after Steve McMichael stole the ball from Blair Thomas with 1:54 left at the New York 36. That came after the Jets, leading

Then the Bears watched as 40-year-old Pat Leahy, one of the NFL's best kickers of the past two decades, missed a 28-yard field goal on first down with 3:50 left in the extra period. Leahy, who missed a 37-yarder earlier in the game, had missed only seven of his last 105 inside the 40 entering Monday night's game.

Harbaugh completed 29 of 43 passes for 307 yards, career highs in attempts, completions and yards. He drove the Bears 80 yards in 10 plays for the winning score in a surreal atmosphere rivaled only by the 1989 playoff game in which the Bears beat the Eagles in fog that obscured the field from almost everyone, including the players.

For the Jets, who fell to 1-3, it was the second heartbreaking loss

Then Brian Washington's stop of Harbaugh at the goal line kept the Bears away and Thomas, who gained 125 vards in 27 carries, moved the ball out to the 36 as the Bears used their final timeouts. The victory left Chicago as one of four unbeaten NFL teams, along with New Orleans, Washington and Buffalo, where the Bears will play next Sunday. The victory also increased Chicago's record in September under Ditka to 23-2.

The Jets had taken their lead on field goals of 19 and 34 yards by Leahy and a 1-yard TD run by Brad Baxter to cap a 60-yard drive with 3:30 left in the third period.

The Bears never got close to the Jets' end zone in the first three periods as Young, the free safety, roamed all over the field, making tackles and batting down passes.

New York had taken the lead on Leahy's 34-yard field goal as time expired in the first half, one in which both teams moved between the 20s but couldn't sustain drives.

Upset victory moves Corsicana to top 10

Corsicana coach Don Denbow isn't happy with his team, even after the unranked Tigers knocked off the state's second-ranked Class

The 13-12 victory over Waxahachie Friday night made Corsicana one of three debut teams in The Associated Press Schoolboy Poll. The Tigers entered at No. 8 Waxahachie dropped to seventh in the vote by Texas sportswriters.

With only five starters returning from a 7-2-2 team, Denbow said he wasn't sure what to expect this season. Corsicana started the year with a 28-21 victory over Highland Park and followed with a 24-0 whipping of Lancaster.

"I'm still not sure how good this team is and I'm still not satisfied with how we're playing," Denbow said.

If they weren't perfect, the visiting Tigers at least showed Denbow some mettle last week. Waxahachie led 12-0 midway through the fourth quarter when Corsicana awoke.

The Tigers scored on a 53-yard seven-play drive, including a 40-yard run by Lester Leonard and capped by Leonard's 4-vard dash. Leonard then scored the winning touchdown, another 4-yard run, with 1:24 remaining. He finished with 110 yards on 19 carries.

Also debuting in the poll were No. 10 Columbus in Class 3A and No. 10 Rotan in Class A.

Arlington Lamar retained its tenuous hold on the No. 1 ranking in 5A. The Vikings, led by Shawn Walters' 132 yards and two touchdowns, beat Irving MacAr-

Lamar received 220 points and 13 of 24 votes for first in the poll, followed closely by Dallas Carter with 211 points and nine first-place votes. Carter remained undefeated with a 47-19 thrashing of Fort Worth O.D. Wyatt.

Fort Bend Willowridge was ranked third, followed by Huntsville, Odessa Permian, Waco, Aldine, San Antonio Marshall, Killeen and Alief Elsik

Elsik dropped from third after its 26-10 defeat to defending 5A small school champion Aldine. Elmer Brown rushed for 147 yards and two second-half touchdowns and quarterback Eric Gray added two scores to lead Aldine.

In Class 4A, Bastrop remained the top team with 234 points and 20 first-place votes. The Bears walloped 5A foe Copperas Cove 44-0 behind Anthony Hubbard's 171 yards and two touchdowns.

Board member bad mouths Magic

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A civil rights activist urged restraint in responding to a Lansing Board of Education member's controversial remarks about Magic Johnson.

William Carter said he would issue a public apology for comments he made Sept. 12 about Johnson, an Everett High School graduate and Michigan State star now with the NBA's Los Angeles Lakers.

Carter called Johnson a "big, dumb black kid" who benefited from sports programs in the Lansing schools. A statement on the school board's reaction was to be released this afternoon, president Nancy Erickson said.

Another board member, Adell Flourry Jr., has called for Carter's resignation. But Lawrence Dark, executive director of the National Institute Against Prejudice and Violence, said that would be simplistic and unproductive. "You don't want him to become bitter," Dark said of Carter. "The thing is to work with him, raise his consciousness, sensitize him. He is a leader in the community, and he will probably still be involved in the community if he resigns.

Dark said he interpreted Carter's comments to mean sports are a valuable part of education. "But it was degrading and stereotypical." Dark added. "While he was trying to encourage, he was also discouraging.

Boxer dies from sparring bout

TUCSON (AP) — A Fort Huachuca boxer has died of brain injuries sustained while sparring.

Pfc. Anthony O. McWilliams, 20, died Friday after his brainstem function ceased, University Medical Center spokesman George Martinez said.

McWilliams, a flyweight, sustained the injuries on Sept. 3 while sparring with a teammate.

He was in a coma for 17 days after taking a blow to his head. The coma was deepened because of barbiturates used to relieve pressure from swelling of the brain, said Dr. Martin Weinand, who treated McWilliams.

He was wearing headgear while sparring, post officials said.

McWilliams had been placed on a respirator, remaining in place until a determination was made that he had died, Martinez said.

Blue Jays struggling on West Coast

By The ASSOCIATED PRESS

Not that it's on purpose or anything, but the Toronto Blue Jays seem intent on making a race of it in the AL East.

The Blue Jays continued to selfdestruct on their West Coast trip, losing 10-9 to California on Monday night. Boston lost 4-3 at Baltimore and remained 11/2 games behind Toronto.

The Angels had no problems with Tom Candiotti's knuckleball and scored seven runs in the first inning, all with two outs.

Give the Jays credit, though, they showed some heart.

Candy Maldonado drove in four runs, with a two-run homer and a two-run double, and Kelly Gruber hit a two-run homer, singled and scored twice to rally the Blue Jays.

Maybe a sign of Toronto's luck came in the ninth inning when Dave Parker singled with one out to left-center field off reliever Bryan Harvey and was thrown out trying to stretch it into a double. TV replays showed Parker was safe.

"I knew I was safe," Parker said of the call by second base umpire Jim Evans. "He blew the call. I was on the corner of the bag and I wasn't even tagged the first time. It's an important time of the year and I hate to see that happen, but you can't take out the human element.

Baylor Bears won't rest on No. 12-ranked laurels

WACO (AP) - Baylor coach distracting, the Bears insist Grant Teaff says he "honestly" doesn't know where his team is ranked in the Top 25.

The Bears are currently listed No. 12 in The Associated Press poll, but Teaff isn't ready to rest on his "Our players are not talking national championship. We do have our goals," he said Monday. Baylor thrashed Missouri 47-21 Saturday night and is looking to go 4-0 for the first time since 1980 when the Bears travel to Dallas to play SMU (0-2) on Saturday.

Baylor defensive tackle Santana Dotson pointed out that the rankings "don't mean anything right

"It's nice, but I want to be No. 1 on Jan. 2," Dotson said. While the lofty ranking may be they're only thinking about Southern Methocist. Baylor, which is 9-2-1 in its last 12 games, faces a SMU team that leads the nation in pass defense just as quarterback J.J. Joe is coming off his best passing game.

Joe, who came into the season with the reputation as a running quarterback, drilled Missouri for 300 yards, and for the season has 623 yards passing.

"J.J. has one of the most accurate arms in the conference," said receiver Melvin Bonner, who hooked up with Joe for 149 yards on two catches. "He knows where the ball has to be. I think we have shocked some people.

SMU has not beaten Baylor since 1986, and in their last two meetings the Bears have outscored the runand-shoot Mustangs 101-20.

"I think this is the best Baylor team I've ever seen," SMU coach Tom Rossley said.

The 1991 version of the Bears is drawing comparisons to the 1980 SWC champion team and the 1988 team that started 3-0. "The teams we have beaten this year are better ones than we beat in 1988," Teaff said. But he said, "All teams have their own personalties. It's really too early to compare this team with anyone but themselves."

Baylor's 649 yards in total offense against Missouri was the second best in school history, and the Bears are averaging 483 yards a Bonner said, "We're playing at a level that we should have been at the last couple of years. It's fun being ranked. It gives you something to talk to your home boys about.'

Rice gains respectability

HOUSTON (AP) — The Rice Owls are kicking down one ugly milestone after another this

Already they've jumped to a 2-0 start for the first time since 1972. won their first non-conference road game since 1958 and suited up the first Owl to lead the nation in rushing. But coach Fred Goldsmith will not be stampeded into making rash predictions about the rest of the season. He's sticking to the original goal set before the season started.

"I'm proud of what we've done so far but our goal remains to get that winning season," Goldsmith said

He doesn't even have time to gloat about cross-town rival Houston, which had hopes of a national championship and a Heisman Trophy for quarterback

David Klingler before the season started. The Cougars have a 1-2 record.

"We didn't play the Patriots or Miami either," Goldsmith said.

'We just have to take care of our business. No. 12 Baylor (3-0), Texas Christian (3-0) and Rice (2-0) are atop the standings while preseason stars Houston, Texas (0-2) and Texas A&M (1-1) have tasted defeat

Goldsmith remains realistic following Saturday's 28-19 victory over Tulane.

'We have advanced now to where we are respectable," Goldsmith said. "We're happy to be winning but we're still a blue collar football team. We're not winning because of any spectacular plays. We're winning because the kids are fighting and scrapping."

It hasn't escaped Goldsmith's attention that Rice's two opponents this season have a combined 0-5 ning season since 1963, are enjoying their moment in the sun but keeping an eye on Saturday's home opener against Iowa State (1-2).

Junior running back Trevor Cobb gained 216 yards against Tulane to take over the national rushing lead with an average of 204.5 yards per offense.

"He's getting a lot better," Goldsmith said. "He's getting his steps down, checking off to the right plays and he burned them on their blitzes. A lot of people don't realize the coach calls the play but the quarterback sometimes has to get you in the right play."

Rice's next hurdle comes Saturday in their home opener against Iowa State. The Owls haven't opened the season 3-0 since 1953.

Time growing short for Colts' coach

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) - Indianapolis coach Ron Meyer's job appears safe for the time being, although he admits his boss' patience is being severely tested.

"There's a saying, 'Tough times fired. don't last, but tough people do.' Well, we're stretching that to the limit," Meyer said.

The Colts, battered by injuries, dropped to 0-4 on Sunday with a 33-24 loss to Detroit. Rookie tight end Kerry Cash underwent surgery on Monday for a broken ankle and was put on injured reserve, probably for the rest of the season.

"It's been a frustrating start," general manager Jim Irsay said. If someone before the season had handed me a list of our injuries and said we'd be 0-4, I would have been shocked. At the same time, you have to be very careful how you treat the situation. Things can and will turn around, as they have in the past.'

The four-game losing streak is the Colts' longest at the start of a season since 1986, when they lost their first 13 games and Meyer took over when Rod Dowhower was Meyer, whose job has been rumored to be in jeopardy the past two seasons, got another vote of confidence Monday from Irsay, who said no coaching change was expected. 'The key is to progress the franchise, not make rash changes through frustration or anger," Irsay said. 'Right now, the injury situation is as bad as we've ever had. Obviously, the fans and the media are trying to equate which came first the injuries, or the kind of play that causes injuries. I think it's a combination of both. But defensively, we're fairly healthy, and we're healthy at quarterback, which is something this franchise is not used to.'

Meyer also was at a loss to explain the injuries, which have decimated the offensive line. Due to the injury to Cash, a fifth-round draft pick who was starting in place of injured veteran Pat Beach, the Colts will start a different line for the fifth consecutive game in Sunday's game against

"There have been a bunch of injuries that are hard to explain. But there are answers," he said. "Unfortunately, the answers have to come from within the team, with execution.

'Saying your team is not properly prepared or not motivated, I don't buy that," the coach said.

Irsay's father, team owner Robert Irsay, also indicated earlier he would not make a coaching change, though the elder Irsay said, "I've got to find out what's going on. I just might have to come over and stay here seven days a week, go to workouts, watch the coaching and really get involved."

He was not at Monday's practice. Jim Irsay said, "Obviously, no one's happy with the way things are going. But at this point, it doesn't make a lot of sense to make changes at midstream. We've cast the die this year with the direction we're going. When times are tough, it's important we work together, that there isn't any fingerpointing.

Cash's broken ankle was identical to injuries that sidelined offensive guard Pat Tomberlin and center Ray Donaldson, who had never missed a game due to an injury in his 12-year career. Recently acquired tackle Irv Pankey did not play because of an achilles injury; guard Randy Dixon, hampered earlier by a calf injury, hurt an ankle; and guard Bubba Paris played despite a bruised knee ligament.

Running back Albert Bentley, tight end Tim Bruton, and tackle William Schultz also are on injured

Jim Irsay said he couldn't explain why the bulk of the injuries were to the offense.

"I don't see a trend, any pat-tern," he said. "It happens. It's unfortunate, but it's one of the things you have to try to overcome.'

The Colts were held to a franchise-low 4 yards net rushing against the Lions and Eric Dickerson had a career-low 17 yards, though he moved past Franco Harris into fourth place on the NFL's all-time rushing list.

"It's extremely frustrating," Meyer said. "We're having a tough time getting any real push on the line of scrimmage. We're scrapping for every single yard we get.

'Whatever it is, we haven't come up with a successful execution of the play." Meyer said. "It's not because of preparation, work ethic, enthusiasm. I don't think there's a player out there playing tentatively.

"Without a doubt, you're certainly limited offensively" because of the injuries, Meyer said. "Your people don't have the background, the experience. Not only are you diminished talent-wise, they (replacements) don't know the fine points to make a team click."
