City to install hydrants Sunday

City of Big Spring water department workers will shut off water to parts of the downtown area Sunday in order to install fire hydrants and water valves.

The water will be shut off between 8 a.m.-5 p.m. Sunday and will affect the following areas: Fourth Street between Scurry and Johnson streets; and Scurry Street between Fourth and Eighth streets.

Office launches voter program

The Howard County Tax Assessor/Collector's office is funding a program to get voter registration cards to area citizens through the upcoming Big Spring Herald's Community Guide.

According to tax assessor Kathy Sayles, this area has 15,263 registered voters, but the turn-out at the polls is not always good.

To register postage paid, return the voter registration cards when they are received with the Oct. 27 Herald and the Oct. 30 Herald advertiser.

Additional copies will be given to the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce and to area newcomers.

School out early today

Public school will be dismissed at 2:15 p.m. today to allow buses adequate time to travel to the football game between Big Spring and Fort Stockton.

The game will be in Fort Stockton, approximately 150 miles from Big Spring, beginning at 8 p.m.

Parents are reminded that bus students will arrive home approximately one hour earlier than usual, and children should be picked up from school at 2:15 p.m.

Japan reluctant to support SSC

TOKYO (AP) — A Japanese Cabinet member said today the government finds it difficult to provide financial support for the multibillion-dollar U.S. super collider project because of budgetary constraints.

Akiko Santo, director general of the Science and Technology Agency, said the government's position was conveyed to U.S. officials during two days of U.S.-Japan science talks that ended in Tokyo today.

Ms. Santo said the U.S. delegation, headed by Allan Bromley, a science adviser to President Bush, requested Japanese backing.

Officials have said the project could be in danger of being scrapped if it does not receive $1.7 billion in foreign help.

The super collider, which would be the world's largest scientific instrument, is due to be built in a 54-mile oval tunnel south of Dallas.

House strikes down measure on gun control

By PATRICK DRISCOLL
Staff Writer

Gun control measures struck down by the U.S. House Thursday would have put limits on the number of rounds used in clips for pistols like the one used to kill 23 people in Killeen Wednesday.

Rep. Charles Stenholm, D-Stamford, voted with a majority of House members to eliminate language in the Senate Crime Control Bill to limit clip sizes to seven rounds. The 9mm Glock Model 17 semi-automatic used by the gunman at a Luby's Cafeteria in Killeen had 17-round clips. It is also a popular law enforcement weapon.

George Hennard, 35, shot an estimated 100 rounds in 5-10 minutes, according to reports. Hennard, who wounded 23 other people, ended the massacre by killing himself. It was the worst single-day murder in U.S. history.

A law limiting clip sizes would not prevent such incidents in the future, said Stenholm aides at his Washington office. Local law enforcement officials tended to agree.

"The clip capacity would have affected the gun that he used but he had to reload anyway (to fire as much as he did)," said Russell Middleton, who handles gun control issues for Stenholm.

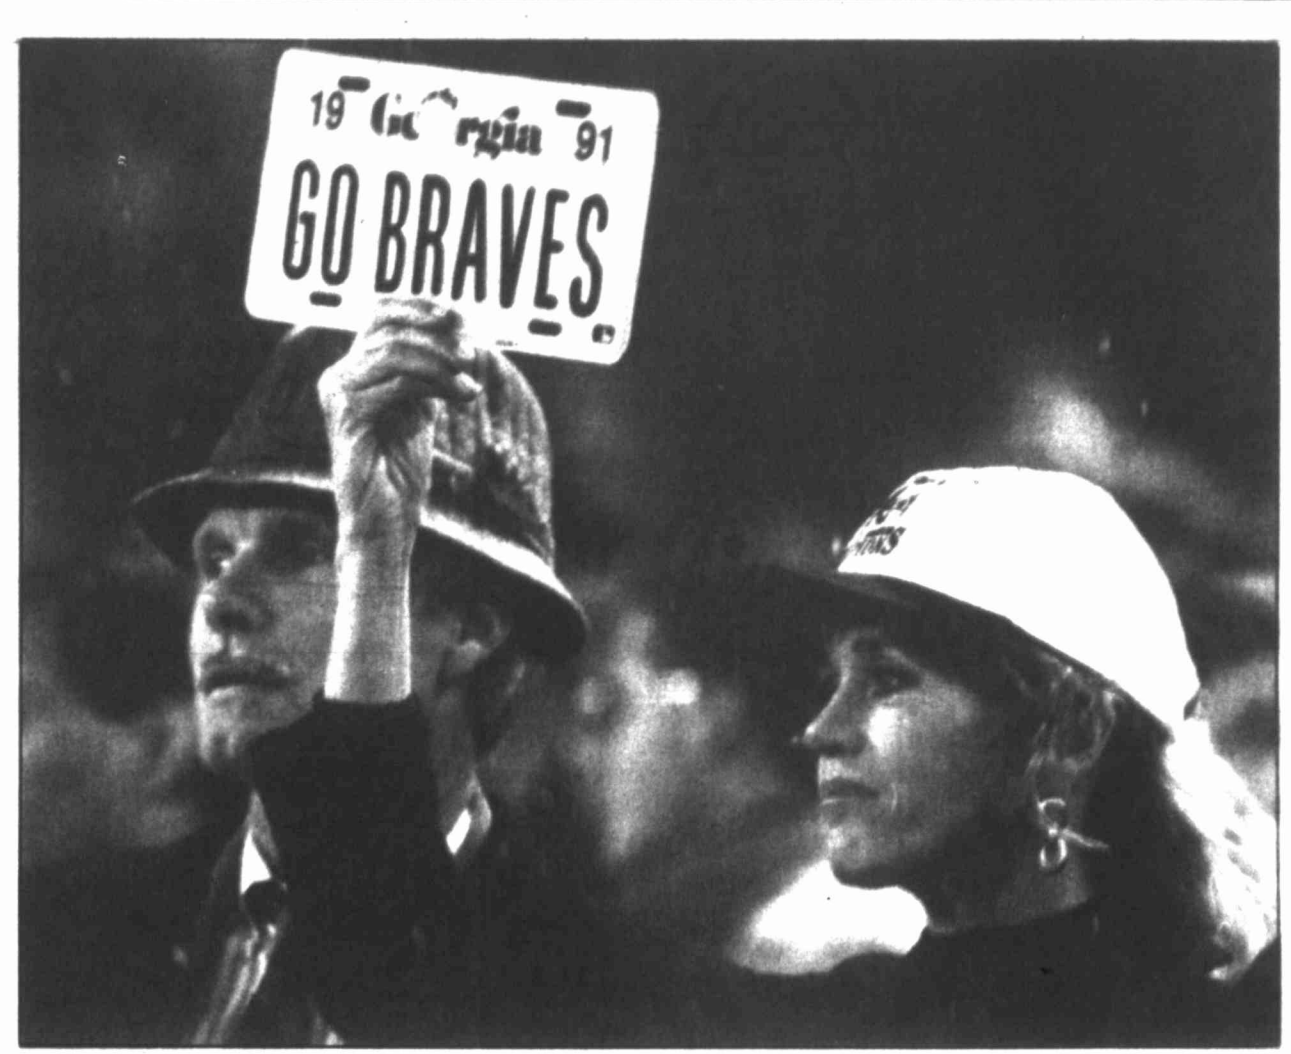

Howard County Sheriff A.N. Standard said limiting clip sizes would probably help discourage similar shootings, but not eliminate them. "There's so many ways to do it," he said. "Before guns came along they were using rocks and bow and arrows."

Big Spring Police Chief Joe Cook agreed. "I think it goes a lot deeper than just the weapons."

The House voted 247-177 to eliminate the clip limitation from the Crime Bill. "I think there were some members on the floor yesterday that switched their vote just because of what happened in Killeen," Middleton said.

The amendment that struck the

Drugs destroyed gunman's career

BELTON (AP) — Georges Hennard's life and the lives of 22 others ended in a pall of gunsmoke two years after his career went up in a puff of marijuana smoke, records show.

Hennard, armed with two semiautomatic 9mm pistols, went on a cold-blooded rampage Wednesday through Luby's Cafeteria in nearby Killeen after smashing his beloved blue Ford pickup through the restaurant's front window.

The massacre came one day after Hennard's 35th birthday and the day before the second anniversary of a personal tragedy — the permanent loss of his merchant seaman license.

"He lost something he really valued," said Houston lawyer David R. McCormack, who handled Hennard's appeal. "If he had other problems in his psyche, this could have put him out of balance." Hennard's other problems included a violent temper and his opinion that women were "treacherous female vipers," according to acquaintances and a letter he sent two neighbors.

A Houston psychiatrist who counseled Hennard for about four months in a drug abuse program in 1989 says he saw nothing to indicate he would become violent. The Houston Post reported today.

"I was really as shocked as anybody else," Dr. Harold Rockaway, was quoted by the newspaper as saying. "No way in the world to anticipate that it would come to this. I think it's normal people that commit murder — I'm afraid it's true."

The man police say was responsible for the worst mass shooting in U.S. history was born Oct. 15, 1956 in Sayre, Pa., at Robert Packer Hospital, where his father served a residency in orthopedic surgery

Festival expected to be one of the best

By GARY SHANKS
Staff Writer

The 15th Annual Big Spring Arts and Crafts Festival is expected to again be one of the largest and best shows of its kind in the state, said Mel Prather, founder and chairman of the Big Spring Arts and Crafts Festival Committee.

"We never planned to become one of the largest, we just wanted to be one of the best," said Prather. "But there were so many good exhibitors that wanted to do the Big Spring show, that it was next to impossible to turn them down."

Last year there were 384 participating artists, with three fourths of them being from out of town. As in past years, buyers are expected to fly in for the show.

This weekend's show has been filled since March 1, said Prather. At that time, there were more than 300 applicants on the waiting list.

"We probably should have closed the show long before that time, but we were holding it open for some new categories," he said.

The festival will be at the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum Saturday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Sunday from noon to 5 p.m. There is no charge for admission.

For the last 15 years, Prather has guided the festival to "an impressive amount of national recognition and honors," he said.

Among the new categories for this year's show are Victorian crafts and decorations, fabric and quilted works, finished furniture and wood relief, cedar chests and wood carvings.

There will also be leather

A potter works on a design during the 1990 Arts and Crafts Festival at Dorothy Garrett Coliseum. Festival officials expect the 1991 exposition to be of the biggest and best ever.

clothing and accessories, handbags, children's clothing, stained glass, floral arrangements and wreaths and gift baskets, said Prather. "Due to numerous requests from 1990 patrons, there will be more seasonal items and decorations."

Prather has been actively seeking out of town guests for the show by using television, radio and newspaper advertisements in Midland/Odessa and other surrounding cities.

"In doing so, we hope to accomplish two secondary goals," he said. "First of all, we'd like to see more people in our restaurants, motels, gas stations and convenience stores. And we'd also like to establish Big Spring as the central point for more than a million people in West Texas."

"If we can attract a lot of people to Big Spring for the festival, then perhaps we can interest other groups and promoters in considering Big Spring for their event."

HC deputy Howell honored by board

By MARSHA STURDIVANT
Staff Writer

COAHOMA — Sheriff's deputy Woodie Howell was honored during Thursday's school board meeting with an Outstanding Service Award for his efforts to provide drug education to the students.

Gary Rotan, superintendent for the district, said this is the first award of its kind to be presented by the district.

"He's been real helpful in the classroom as well as starting D-FY-IT (Drug Free Youth in Texas). He's been very supportive and he does a lot of additional duties when he's off-duty, like at our football games. Of course, he lives here, and he's put in a lot of extra time for us," Rotan said.

After an executive session, trustees nominated Benny Fishback and Jimmy Sterling to the Howard County Tax Appraisal office board of directors. Rotan said the election for the two-year term will be in November.

The 1991-92 budget was amended to reflect an additional $1,054 Chapter Two money the district received. "The money will be used for library supplies and AV (audiovisual) equipment," Rotan said.

A 12-member textbook committee was selected. Along with Rotan, other members include Al Phillips, Sarah Crippen, Wayne Ivey, Sue Neff, Mike Porras, Mark McLean, Carrie Conley, Carmen Ritchey, Kent Boyd, Tracy Dickerhoff and Mike Conley.

Neal Henry asked the trustees to allow Wayne Ivey, vocational agriculture instructor, to attend more than the allotted livestock shows this year.

"Currently Ivey attends two major shows plus a county and local show. We took no action on this, but it will be looked at again in November," Rotan said.

The next scheduled board meeting for the trustees is Nov. 18 at 7 p.m. Rotan said the trustees may discuss replacing Jim Mathison, a trustee who resigned recently, at that meeting.

COLORADO CITY — A parent asked the board of trustees to reduce the punishment a child received for drinking alcohol on a band trip during Monday night's meeting.

District policy calls for 20 days in-school suspension for such an offense, but the principal added an additional 10 days of ISS for misconduct, disobedience and anger, said Don Nimmo, superintendent.

"That's what the parent was aiming for. But the board held fast to the punishment," Nimmo said.

The middle school dress code was changed to reflect today's fashion, he said. Now clothing may be mid-thigh instead of four inches above the knee. "But if you measure four inches above the knee, you'll see that's mid-thigh," said Nimmo, adding that the policy still reflects no profanity or see-through clothing, or alcohol advertisement T-shirts.

Nimmo read letters to the trustees complimenting staff members on their performances. The speechdrama teacher was praised for an inservice meeting and West Texas Legal Services wrote to the district in support of its National Hispanic Week.

The textbook committee was selected. The 14-person task force include Tom Kelly, Orphie Conner, David Woods, Brenda Crosley, Ronny Conner, Linda Stewart, Larry Hartwick, Joanne Anderson, Walt Staats, Christy Dockrey, Ray Ellis, Joan Lemons, Phil Anderson, Ladene Hartin and Alex Martinez.

FORSAN — Trustees nominated Lewis Boeker for the Howard County Tax Appraisal board of directors for the November election.

Female student quits A&M cadets

COLLEGE STATION — A Texas A&M University woman has quit the school's Corps of Cadets, citing verbal abuse and harassment from its male members.

The Vietnamese-American student also accused the corps of attacking her because of her race.

She and her parents met Thursday with the co-chairman of a panel investigating charges that male cadets routinely discriminate against female cadets. The panel was appointed two weeks ago after four women aired similar complaints.

"The corps is unprofessional, corrupted, racist, sexist and so powerful that such violent and illegal acts are swept under a rug," wrote the freshman cadet in an Oct. 15 letter to her military adviser that also was given to the committee co-chairman.

"The things I have been made to say and do, the things I've seen done to others and the stories that others have told me disgust me," she wrote.

Agents remove aliens from trailer

HARLINGEN — The U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service has deported 17 Mexicans among 23 undocumented aliens found locked inside a truck trailer aboard a freight train.

Six Salvadorans freed early Wednesday from the trailer were detained.

Guard dogs helped agents locate the aliens, who apparently were headed to Houston.

They had been locked inside the trailer for up to eight hours, and suffered from hunger and dehydration in temperatures reaching up to 98 degrees.

Bentsen to propose health care solution

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislation that will make health insurance more affordable for small employers will be introduced next week in both the Senate and House, Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, says.

Bentsen called his bill only a short-term solution to the nation's health care crisis, but emphasized to reporters Thursday that his proposals are "things that I think we can do now — not things that will block fundamental change later."

Bentsen is chairman of the Senate Finance Committee. His counterpart in the House, Rep. Dan Rostenkowski, D-Ill., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, will introduce a similar bill, Bentsen said.

Bentsen said comprehensive reform is needed.

But, he added, "Major overhaul is going to take some time ... and in the meantime, lots of people are going to suffer." His plan would improve some of the problems now, he said.

Bentsen's proposal would cost the federal government about $10 billion over five years, most of it from increasing the tax deduction for health care premiums from 25 percent to 100 percent for the self-employed.

The rest of the cost, about $2.6 billion, would result from widening Medicare benefits to include cancer screening, influenza immunizations and other preventive care services.

Bentsen said he had not settled on a way to finance the measure. He said he isn't ready to discuss the options he's considering.

His legislation would set minimum standards for health insurance sold to employers with 50 or fewer workers. Insurance companies would be unable to exclude individuals in a group from coverage and could not cancel policies because of claims experience or health problems.

Premiums for small employers would be controlled and increases would be limited. Further, people with ongoing health problems would be protected from losing their insurance coverage if they change jobs.

More than two dozen proposals to reform the health care system are circulating on Capitol Hill. But like Bentsen, many lawmakers predict that comprehensive solutions are years away from approval because it will be difficult to accommodate the various interests within the industry.

Some of the plans, including one offered by Senate Democratic leaders, would require employers to provide health insurance to their workers or contribute to a public insurance program, but Bentsen said he decided against such requirements "because I can't get that done now."

Girls robbed, then slain, police allege

MATAMOROS, Mexico (AP) — Two people accused of luring young females to the outskirts of this border city so they could rob and kill them are blaming each other of masterminding the deadly robbery scheme.

Rodolfo Infante, 28, and Ana Maria Ruiz Villeda, 20, are accused of killing eight girls they enticed into their home with promises of jobs and money, State Judicial Police watch commander Eloy Trevino Gracia said Thursday.

"They took them like they were going to give them work, money or pass them over to the other side" of the border, Trevino said.

Police had been finding the bodies of young women in the river and canals and land around the El Ebanito communal farm for several weeks. They thought it was the work of bandits or a serial killer until they were led to the couple Wednesday, he said.

The couple had been living on the communal farm on the western side of the city for several weeks. "They told us where they killed them and where they had dumped the bodies," Trevino said.

Trevino said the two had confessed to all eight killings. However both denied that during separate jailhouse interviews.

Ms. Ruiz said she saw Infante drown the girls. She denied committing any of the murders herself. "I wouldn't kill them; he killed them," Ms. Ruiz said.

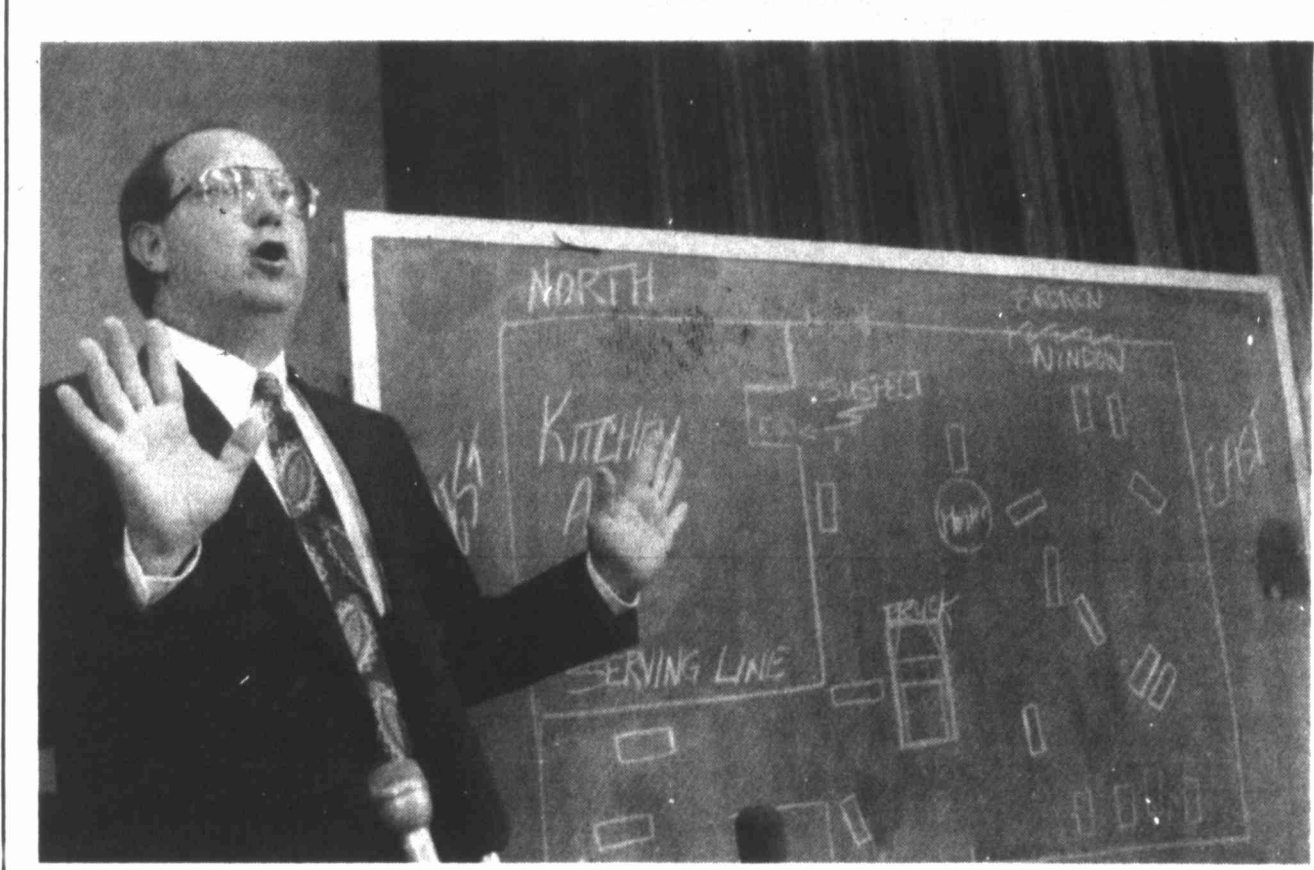

Infante acknowledged that he had killed three of the women. But he said Ms. Ruiz was responsible for the rest.

"The reasons we killed them is because we wanted to steal their money," Infante said.

"Everybody's trying to put the blame on me," he added.

Infante, formerly of San Benito, Texas, also said he was being tortured by police because he was "from the other side."

He begged American reporters to help him.

El Paso water needs stir unease

VALENTINE (AP) — Relaxing beneath a midnight sky, a group of visitors sway in rocking chairs on the porch of a historic West Texas hotel, their boot-clad feet propped on a rail while they enjoy longnecks and the idyllic night.

"Listen," says a visitor from Austin. "Do you hear that? It's so quiet here."

But recently, the tranquility of this vast West Texas land has been shaken by what locals call an urban intruder: water-hungry El Paso.

Two months ago, the city of El Paso's water utilities board announced it planned to purchase for $2 million the 25,000-acre Antelope Valley Farm, which sits on the tip of the Ryan Aquifer.

But West Texas residents have said the plans are tantamount to an invasion to rob their riches. They plan as their first counter-assault to pack a meeting today of the Rio Grande Council of Governments, hoping the voluntary body of officials from El Paso, Hudspeith, Culberson, Brewster and Presidio counties will pressure El Paso to drop the plans.

"It's our livelihood. Not only is the little town of Valentine dependent on that water supply but the ranchers in the area are dependent on that water supply," said Jody Miller at a recent Jeff Davis County town meeting. She and her husband, Clay, own a 36,000-acre ranch adjacent to the Antelope Valley Farm. "That's why it's important to us. And when that aquifer's drained, they'll drain another one."

In fact, area land owners are so serious about protecting their water supply some have proposed alliances with traditional foes, the government and wilderness groups, with hope of discovering an endangered species on the farm.

But Ed Archuleta, El Paso Water Utilities Public Service Board general manager, said El Paso does not intend to suck the aquifer dry. He said the ground water would be a supplemental water supply and is at the bottom of a list of options for the city.

"Part of our water planning is we're looking at all the combinations of options that would start with conservation, second would be surface water, third would be reuse of wastewater and then the ground water in the area. The other two options are importing and desalination," he said.

He said El Paso was approached about buying the farm by its owner, Connecticut General Life Insurance Co., and has been offered other land in the area by West Texas ranchers.

"It's beautiful ranch country out there," he said. "There's no doubt about it, any use of minerals and water should be properly managed."

This is not the first time El Paso has enraged a neighbor as it has sought to ensure an adequate water supply for its growing population, expected to reach 1 million by the year 2040. In March, the city settled a multimillion-dollar lawsuit with New Mexico that began when El Paso tried to tap an aquifer in southern New Mexico.

The lawsuit was settled in part because El Paso had drawn up a water conservation plan that went into effect in April. Since it began, the city has dropped its water consumption 8 percent using 2.601 billion gallons of water, said John Sutton, El Paso PSB water conservation manager. The city's goal is to cut consumption by 20 percent by the year 2000.

In addition to restrictions on lawn watering, car washing and a water rate structure that penalizes heavy water users, the city is now offering rebates to El Pasoans who replace their toilets with water-saving fixtures and is drafting a landscaping plan to encourage use of native desert plants.

"I think we've started learning (how to conserve water)," Sutton said. "There's a lot more we need to learn but I think that progression is initiated."

Despite the reassurances from El Paso, West Texas officials plan to form underground water districts. Under Texas law, a land owner owns the ground water beneath his or her property, but the number of wells drilled and pumping activity can be regulated by a water district.

Ban on assault weapons defeated

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gun control advocates, after suffering an overwhelming defeat in the House, concede that a ban on semiautomatic assault weapons will not be part of this year's crime bill.

In the face of a shooting rampage in Texas that left 23 people dead, the House voted 247-177 Thursday to reject the ban as part of major anti-crime legislation pushed by President Bush and already passed by the Senate.

Further work on the measure was put over until Tuesday.

Even though the Senate included a ban on nine models of assault-type weapons as part of its bill, the 70-vote margin of defeat in the House virtually assures its elimination from whatever compromise bill emerges later, said Rep. Charles Schumer, D-N.Y., a key sponsor. "This was just a first step, we did not expect to win," said Schumer, whose measure would have banned 13 models of assault guns.

The crime bill, however, still will have the first major new anti-gun initiative in years: a waiting period for the purchase of a handgun. It has been dubbed the Brady bill, for James Brady, the ex-White House press secretary who was critically wounded in the 1981 assassination attempt on former President Reagan.

Despite an all-out campaign in opposition by the 2.6 million-member National Rifle Association, the Senate included a five-day waiting period for the purchase of a handgun.

Lifting of gag-rule placed on bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress seems to be driving toward another veto showdown with President Bush, this time over an attempt by lawmakers to lift an administration ban on abortion counseling at federally financed clinics.

Senate-House bargainers agreed Thursday to revoke the ban as part of a compromise $204 billion spending bill for fiscal 1992 for the departments of Health and Human Services, Education and Labor. The fiscal year began Oct. 1.

In the same legislation, the negotiators dropped separate language that would have required many teen-age girls to notify their parents before receiving abortions from clinics or organizations that receive federal aid.

The bargainers planned to finish their work on the bill on Tuesday. Their decisions on the abortion provisions were not final, but changes seemed unlikely.

Both the House and Senate had voted separately to lift the counseling ban, making their decision to retain the language no surprise.

Nonetheless, the decision put them on a collision course with Bush.

People begin returning to homes

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — Hundreds of people chased from their homes by wildfires that blackened a quarter of a million acres were allowed to return today as firefighters counted on calmer weather to help them douse the flames.

Evacuees in Washington, Montana, Idaho and Oregon, where more than 100 homes were destroyed and five people killed by more than 100 fires, began returning to sooty foundations to see how much of their possessions might be left.

More than 6,000 firefighters battled the blazes.

Democrats want Bush to say economy hurting

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional Democrats are promising to work with Republicans on a tax cut to stimulate the economy and create jobs — just as soon as President Bush agrees the economy needs help.

"I have not heard this president tell the American people that the economy is in trouble," Rep. Leon Panetta, D-Calif., chairman of the House Budget Committee, said Thursday after Republican leaders met with Bush in search of support for a new tax cut.

Panetta and other Democrats cited Bush's veto of additional benefits for long-term unemployed as evidence the administration sees no need for economic stimulus.

"They've been trying to talk their way out of the recession for months but the reality just isn't there," said Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee. He interpreted the new GOP push as evidence that "at least the administration is starting to recognize how serious our economic problems are."

Bush acknowledged that "a lot of people are still hurting." But in a closed-circuit television speech to a Detroit meeting of the Associated Press Managing Editors association he added, "The trends, the economic trends, look good."

He made the assessment a few hours after government economists reported a minuscule growth in industrial production, a deepening merchandise trade deficit and an unexpected 0.4 percent increase in consumer prices last month.

Sen. Phil Gramm, R-Texas, who has been pushing hard for the capital-gains cut, told reporters, "We need to have an economic growth package rather than sitting around and debating about whether the economy has turned the corner or not."

Baker says peace talks will begin

JERUSALEM (AP) — Secretary of State James A. Baker III today succeeded in efforts to set up a Middle East peace conference, announcing that the talks will begin Oct. 30 in Madrid.

Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir said Israel would attend. "The road to peace will not be simple," Baker said in a joint news conference with Soviet Foreign Minister Boris Pankin. "Old suspicions will not disappear overnight."

As Baker's latest peace mission neared an end, Shamir said he believes Baker when the secretary of state says that the Palestinian delegation proposed for the talks meet Israel's conditions.

"Jim Baker's word is good enough for me," Shamir said after talks with Baker at the prime minister's office on a rocky Jerusalem hillside.

Shamir stressed that the talks, which the United States and the Soviet Union will co-sponsor, would give Israel the opportunity to negotiate directly with the Arabs.

"Without negotiations we can never reach peace," Shamir said. "This is the first time we have been given an opportunity to conduct negotiations as we have wished... face-to-face, without pre-conditions, with our Arab neighbors."

There had been a brief delay earlier in the day when Baker and Shamir were unable to resolve the final details.

Ukraine pulls out of economic pact

MOSCOW (AP) — Hours before 10 Soviet republics were to sign an economic treaty, the Ukraine's president said he needed more time to consider it, a report said today. The move dealt a major setback to the accord seen as key to Moscow's bid to attract foreign aid.

The decision by the Ukraine, an industrial and agricultural powerhouse of 53 million people, was announced just a day ahead of today's scheduled signing in a Kremlin ceremony that capped weeks of intense negotiations.

Despite the Ukraine's withdrawal, President Mikhail S.

Gorbachev's office said today's signing was still expected to take place.

The Ukraine explained that the republic wants to maintain trade and economic ties with the other republics but insists on independence and will not join in any economic union with the central government.

It added, however, that it remained open to further talks.

The republic's president, in remarks reported today, also said his government had refused to sign because it hadn't seen the treaty.

Fighting continues, thousands flee

CROATIANS EVACUATE TOWN

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Fierce fighting raged throughout secessionist Croatia early today, and thousands of refugees fled the violence just hours before yet another cease-fire was agreed upon.

Artillery exchanges were reported overnight around the besieged Croatian Danube River town of Vukovar and in the region of the towns of Novska and Nova Gradiska, in central Croatia.

Radio Belgrade claimed that Serbian-dominated federal forces and Serb rebels had repelled Croatian attacks in those areas and had advanced in several sectors.

Burning jungle hurts everyone

The win-some, lose-some story of Brazil and its effort to stop slash-and-burn destruction of the rain forests has taken another discouraging turn. Thousands of acres have been set aflame this season.

It is spring in Brazil. It's a time when farmers and ranchers clear-cut the Amazon rain forest to plant crops or pasture livestock. Some set the forest on fire. That is a double blow for the environment.

First, the forest is lost. Its ability to cleanse the atmosphere of excess carbon dioxide, a substance that contributes to the greenhouse effect, is wasted. Its flora and fauna, with untold varieties of species as yet uncataloged, are gone. The climate-moderating effects of the jungle are wiped out.

But worse, burning releases carbon dioxide and other bases and particulates into the air. That can make worse the warming trend that the original rain forest helped moderate.

For a long time, Brazilian government policies encouraged the slash-and-burn development of the rain forest. In recent years, under pressure from international organizations such as the World Bank, Brazil has eliminated subsidies that encouraged ranchers to destroy forests.

Satellite photographs taken early this year showed that 5,500 square miles of forest were eliminated last year, a 27 percent drop from 1989. The 1989 total was down 15 percent from the total in 1988.

While subsidies have been eliminated, tax regulations continue to encourage devastation. The former forest soil quickly becomes barren, leading farmers to clear away more trees. Critics of slash-and-burn agriculture aren't always popular in Brazil.

An army general, Thaumaturgo Sotero Vaz, says the international criticism posed a threat to Brazil's right to develop the Amazon as it wishes. Its environmental protection agency has the power to fine violators of anti-burning regulations, but the agency is underfunded and short-staffed.

It is in Brazil's long-term interests to minimize slash-and-burn agriculture. Brazilians would be the first to suffer the consequences of deforestation, which include erosion, desertification, flooding and sometimes even drought. One scientific report published last year suggested that if all the Amazon were leveled, rainfall would plummet, temperatures would soar and the region would never again be a tropical forest.

Slash-and-burn policies are bad for the rest of the planet as well. The World Bank, other nations and environmental groups need to keep the pressure on.

Kennedy: Very dumb or without conscience

I didn't see every minute of the Senate Judiciary Committee's surgery on Clarence Thomas, which was performed with a broken Budweiser bottle. I had to leave the television on occasion to throw up.

What made me the sickest was having to sit there and watch Teddy Kennedy. It was an affront to Clarence Thomas that he was within 500 miles of that room.

I don't know if Clarence Thomas is guilty of sexual harassment or not. But I do know allowing Teddy Kennedy to have any part of those proceedings was an insult to the judge and to whatever sense of fairness remains in our government.

Talk about skeletons in the closet. Kennedy's got more than the Harvard medical school.

I must say I enjoyed his squirming up there, however. He reminded me of an unprepared student sitting in class, praying to himself, "Please don't call on me. Please don't call on me."

My favorite moment was Sunday when he got into it with Strom Thurmond, the old swamp fox from South Carolina.

Chairman Joe Biden, the noted plagiarist, had left his chair as one of Judge Thomas's former female employees had begun an impassioned defense of him.

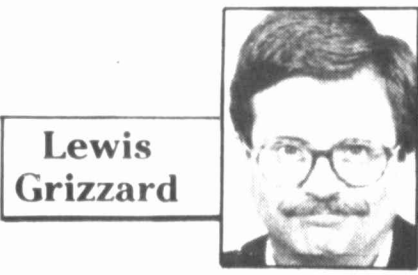

She was in the middle of describing the senators as "thugs" when Teddy interrupted her and said she had used up her time.

Old Strom appeared to be about ready to pull out the few hairs that remain on his head.

"That other crowd (Anita Hill's witnesses) had all day!" he bellowed in that deep drawl, telling Kennedy, in so many words to shut up and let the lady talk.

Just then, Chairman Biden came back in, took note of the disagreement, ignored Kennedy, and said to the former Thomas employee, "Please continue." Kennedy shut up and let the lady talk.

Ted Kennedy is either dumber

Lewis Grizzard

than I thought he was or he is totally without conscience.

When all this mess began, why didn't he say to somebody, "Look, in light of my problems in the past, why don't I take a long trip while you guys sort this out?"

The only people who know the truth about Thomas and Hill are Thomas and Hill and neither one has blinked.

But it is a galling process to watch those who are not without sin sit in judgment. From whom on the Senate panel would you dare buy a used car?

I don't want to be questioned about stealing chickens by a fox. What I would like to see though is Ted Kennedy on the hot seat, just for once. I'd like to see him grilled about Chappaquiddick as Judge Thomas has been grilled about allegedly sexually harassing Anita Hill 10 years ago. At least Anita Hill is alive to tell her side of the story.

Judge Thomas did you mention penis and breast sizes to Anita Hill? Did you tell her of your sexual prowess? Did you tell her the nickname of your sex organ?

Senator Kennedy what really happened at Chappaquiddick?

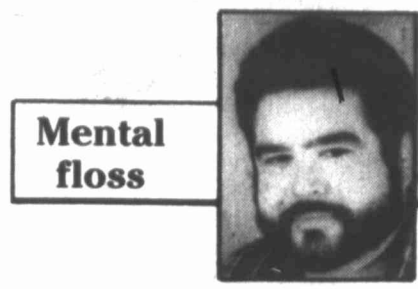

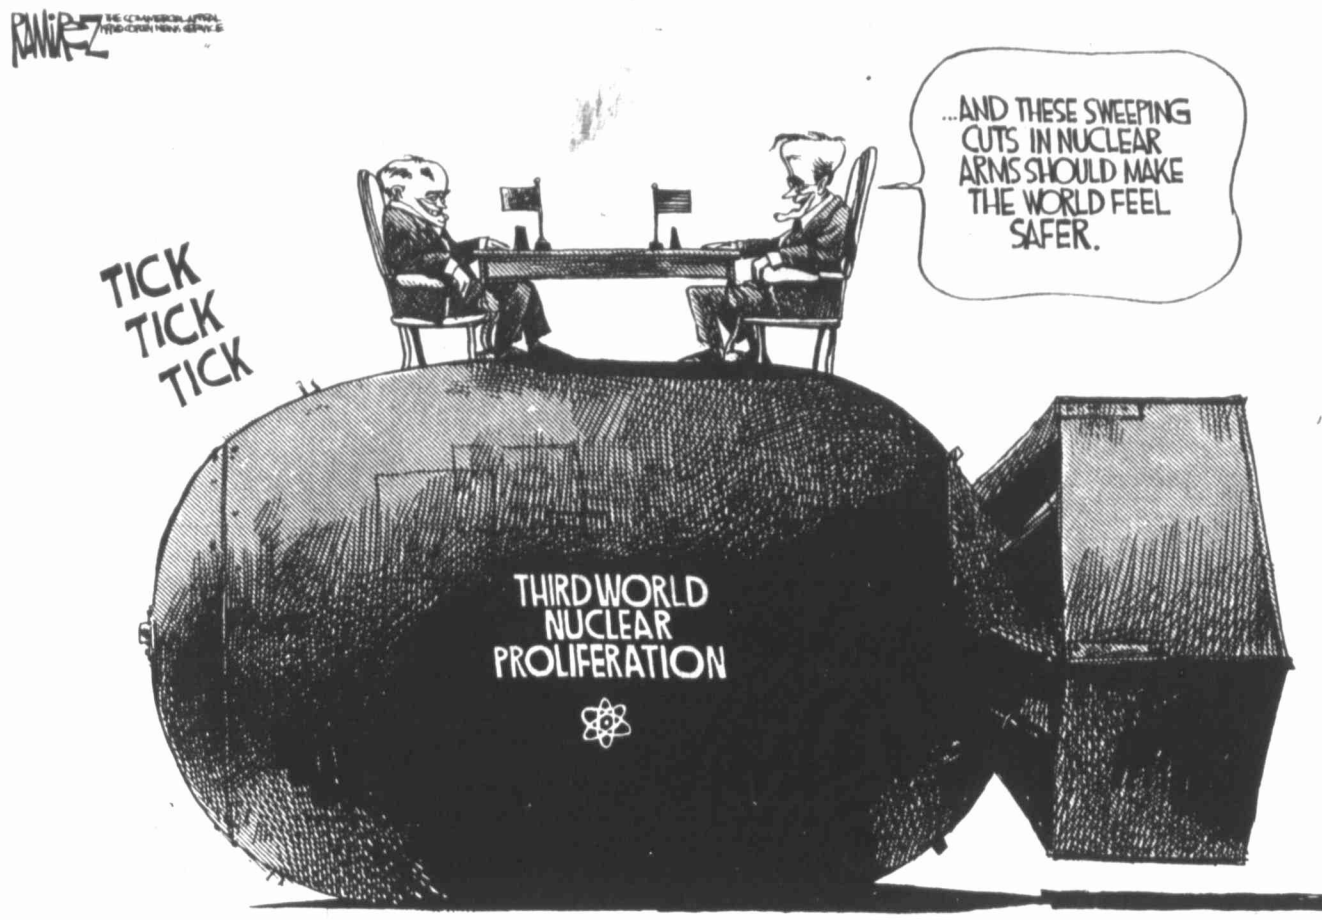

Do you have a serious drinking problem? Do you know more about the alleged rape at your vacation home than you have told us? Isn't it true you're just one big party animal?

Do you still beat your wife, yes or no?

I don't care if Clarence Thomas stood in his office butt-naked and read Anita Hill this month's letters to Penthouse. He's still a better man than Ted Kennedy.

Nuclear threat scares the kids

By GARY SHANKS
Staff Writer

I wonder if, when Ronald Reagan made his famous joke about declaring nuclear war on the Soviet Union, anyone in Big Spring would still be alive if Gorbachov had said, "Launch the meesles!"

Man, did the Soviet nuclear threat scare me to death when I was in grade school!

It was just the kids about my age that really suffered the threat of nuclear poofs-ville during the late 60s and early 70s.

This was at the end of the baby boom. Kennedy was dead, and blind patriotism was just a little overshadowed by the realities of Vietnam.

If anyone had asked in 1972 if I thought I would have lived to see 30, they would probably have heard something like, "Boy, you adults are so naive! Surely you know we'll all glow in the dark long before then!"

Don't get me wrong. I certainly can't blame anyone for thinking that, with Nikita banging his shoe and vowing to bury us. But it would have been nice to grow up without wondering when the world was going to be incinerated. Ya know?

I've read some interesting studies about the effect of the nuclear threat on a child's psyche. It was good to hear that it wasn't just me!

Feelings of hopelessness, lack of incentive and a non-chalant attitude about the future are common in children experiencing this phenomenon.

Fortunately, the Soviet threat has been greatly diminished in recent years, but, because we didn't help Mikhail when he needed it, we may soon be looking at four new, wildcard, former Soviet republics with intercontinental ballistic missile capabilities.

That's four new countries with the capability of nuking us!

As it was before, we didn't really have to worry about anyone besides the Soviet Union and maybe China. Britain, France and India are not likely to hurl warheads at us, and Israel is not thought to have intercontinental range, nor the inclination.

It appears that Iraq was pretty close to producing a hydrogen bomb (fusion bombs give more bang for the bucks), so other middle eastern countries will at least have atomic (fission) bombs before long.

I guess what I'm trying to say is: The threat of nuclear war is not gone, and the future is quite uncertain, but try not to alarm the kids.

Take it from me, kids can understand the concept of World War III, Armageddon, Ragnarok, Gotterdamung — whatever word one wants to apply to the end of the world, but they cannot understand the necessity of living life as if the nuclear threat did not exist.

I guess one of the reasons my mind wandered to this happiest of topics is because of the loss of our managing editor Karen McCarthy, who is leaving the Herald, hopefully for greener pastures.

Karen and I didn't always see eye-to-eye, but I had to admire her constant desire to put out a product that served the needs of Big Spring.

She brought a zeal to her work that will likely prove irreplaceable. At any rate, she will be missed.

Well, Armageddon, tired of writing about sad stuff. Take care!

The writer's art Of wasps, napes and paddies

A few weeks ago I remarked on the problems of a reporter who took a flying guess at a familiar ailment and missed. The reporter wrote of "psoriasis of the liver." I suggested that the word the reporter wanted was "cirrhosis."

For this kindly advice I was promptly jumped by John J. Darcy of Farmfield, Conn. He reminded me that "cirrhosis of the liver" is a redundancy. The fellow who suffers from cirrhosis is bound to be suffering from cirrhosis of the liver, for properly speaking, he can't have cirrhosis anywhere else.

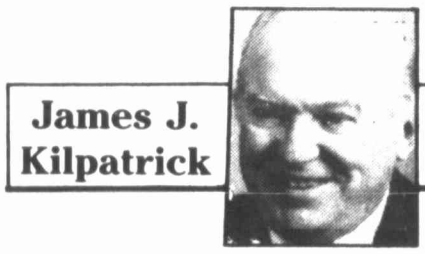

To this commencement I responded defensively. The phrase is indeed redundant. I knew it was redundant. But a few redundant combinations are so well engrained in English usage that they have achieved a certain respectability. "Rice paddy" is one.

"Connoption fit" is another. "Tuna fish" and "component parts" may qualify.

I expect that "WASP" is here to stay, even though it is difficult to imagine an Anglo-Saxon Protestant who is not white. Should writers abandon "HIV virus" for "HI virus"? I used to object to a flight attendant's reference to a "final stop" at the gate, until I acknowledged that there may be intermediate stops as a plane taxis in. The same thing applies to "grand total." A ledger may have several sub-totals.

These reflections go back to an instance a few years ago in which I wrote of "the nape of her neck." A venerable professor in North Carolina set me straight. The nape is located at the back of one's neck. You will not find a nape anywhere else. I confessed error, and then I got to thinking.

Suppose you had a paragraph in which a gentleman begins to caress a lady's nape. He kisses her nape softly. Little by little he increases the pressure of his fingers. "That feels so wonderful," she moans, etc., etc. I submit that many readers are likely to locate the nape farther south. If I ever again refer to a nape it will be to the nape of the neck.

Other redundancies are not so tolerable. The Illinois Press Association compiled a list of no-nos in 1988. Among them: basic fundamentals, hot water heater, invited guests, long chronic illness, new recruit, and personal friendship.

A few years ago the Hutchinson (Kan.) News covered a track meet at which the team scores were belatedly computed. The meet director said the scores would stand as announced "unless we find an erroneous error we didn't realize." That's the worst kind of error.

One is reminded of an Associated Press item in August out of Gulfport, Miss., about a rogue who had "14 phony aliases." In Las Vegas, the Review-Journal noted an employment policy of a telemarketing company: The company fires any employee who makes false misrepresentations. A reader of the Greenville (S.C.) News wrote the editor to complain that the true facts about abortion are suppressed.

In Olathe, Kan., "Murder Charge Filed in Man's Fatal Death." The Terre Haute Tribune Star, reporting on an historic property, noted that the property had been deeded in 1937 to 74-year-old John Bradford, "the only remaining male son of the family." In Mount Airy, N.C., readers of the News learned that in Coach Mike

A sad tale of drug use

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: I am a 25-year-old white male who, until recently, thought I had everything going for me. I had a wonderful girlfriend, a good-paying job, a nice apartment and a nice car. Then I began to use intravenous drugs and before I knew it, a year had blurred by. Today I have lost everything, everything!

I began to burglarize homes for money to buy drugs. I have lost all that was dear to me and am currently serving time in prison for burglary. While incarcerated, I lost my father to cancer, and the hardest thing I've ever had to do was walk down that church aisle to pay my last respects to my father—escorted by two guards and in shackles and -handcuffs! Dad was always there for me, but I couldn't be there for him in his last days.

Also, I found out that I have AIDS from using someone else's needles, and I don't know how much time I have left.

I want to run to every teenager, grab them and scream at them. "NEVER, NEVER TOUCH DRUGS!"

If I survive my incarceration (2 to 4 years), I want to tour schools and try to teach some of these kids before it's too late by telling them what I have learned. I can also tell them what they will miss as I'm finding out now: I can't have a normal, healthy relationship with someone I care for, for fear of infecting her. I will never know the joy of fatherhood because the AIDS virus could be transmitted to my child. There is so much in life I will miss—and all because of drugs. — TOO LATE FOR ME

DEAR TOO LATE: If you never get to "tour schools," you will have performed a valuable service by writing this letter. As you can see, I have printed your letter in full. God bless you, young man.

DEAR ABBY: Please tell me if I am right or wrong. My daughter-in-law's brother, "Bob," was married last week, and I was invited to the wedding. It was a big social event, and one of the most beautiful weddings ever held in our cathedral.

My daughter, "Lisa," was not invited, and now she's mad at me because I went. She thinks I should not have gone because she wasn't invited. Abby, there is no reason why Lisa should have been invited—she's not related to Bob, and I am related only through marriage. Also, she's never even met the bride. Do you think she's justified in being angry and insulted over this? Now she hates me because I attended the wedding.

Lisa is in her 50s and I am in my 80s. — HURT IN BROOKLYN

DEAR HURT: Lisa's behavior is childish and unreasonable. Do not permit your daughter to lay a guilt trip on you. If she "hates" you for attending a wedding to which she was not invited—it's her problem, not yours.

DEAR ABBY: To all the "flickers" out there: Going out to the movies these days is costly, you must note—But at least in a movie theater your husband can't flick the remote!

—ARLINE CLARKE, CAR-MICHAEL, CALIF.

DEAR ARLINE: Please don't assume that every husband is in charge of the remote and therefore has total say about what he and his wife will watch on TV.

In some homes, hubby says, "Honey, are you interested in this? If not, let's see what else is on."

Also, almost every home has at least two TV sets, so when the man of the house is watching the Padres clobber the Dodgers, his wife can watch an old Katherine Hepburn and Spencer Tracy movie, if that's her preference.

Sometimes you just give a smile

By Jill Cox For the Herald

"The spirit of volunteerism and compassion for others is a vital part of our national character. Each year close to a hundred million Americans help their neighbors through volunteer service. "We can never fully measure the positive effect that each kind word or deed has," said Fred Cox, Chief of Voluntary Service at the V.A. Medical Center.

Volunteers have played a vital role in the hospital system. They operate computers, serve food, distribute comfort items, and lend a helping hand wherever needed.

Nearly 87,000 volunteers nationwide dedicate 13 million hours of their time annually and provide millions in cash and donations.

One such volunteer is Martha Moody of Big Spring. She was honored at the National Veterans Affairs Voluntary Service Advisory Committee meeting in Dallas in Sept. for 25,000 hours of service. Moody is one of many that volunteer time at the V.A. individually or as affiliated with other organizations.

Mona D'Antonio, a member of the American Legion Ladies Auxiliary Unit #506, serves cake and coffee for patients and guests once a month with others in her unit. "My father was in the V.A. the last 3 years of his life. They were good to him. I like the idea of volunteering," she said.

Cynthia Boadle also serves cake and coffee to patients. She is looking forward to the Christmas program.

Reasons for volunteering vary greatly. Lila Holland is a full-time volunteer at the Medical Center. She has been in the volunteer work pool at the V.A. since 1972 and has accrued over 11,000 hours of volunteer time.

Mrs. Holland, who made signs for the first 3 or 4 years of service, goes wherever she is needed. She helps in administrative duties in the Voluntary Service office and in dietetics. When asked why she volunteers, Mrs. Holland said, "I feel like I should do something for veterans."

military for 20 years. She feels at home at the V.A. after living on air bases. "Veterans appreciate someone doing something small, taking the time even if you just say hello or good morning they appreciate it and it makes you feel good."

Carol Trevino is also in the volunteer work pool. She started serving in the volunteer program in March 1980. Trevino has 5,000 hours of service and volunteers her time in nursing service and

Experts: Hennard fit typical mass killer mold

BOSTON (AP) — The man who killed 22 people in a Texas eatery may be an increasingly familiar type in America, experts say: a loner seething with pent-up anger and ready to fly into a homicidal rage.

Jack Levin, sociology professor at Northeastern University and co-author of "Mass Murder: America's Growing Menace," said Wednesday that such killers usually have led lives of desperation.

"The kind of frustration required to take 22 lives doesn't accumulate overnight," said Levin. "You don't get a 'D' on your report card and then kill 22 people."

Shortly after noon Wednesday, George Hennard, 35, of Belton, Texas, drove his pickup truck through the window of a crowded cafeteria in nearby Killen and began methodically shooting people with a high-powered pistol. He shot himself to death after killing 22 people and wounding nearly two dozen others.

It was the deadliest mass shooting in U.S. history, surpassing the July 18, 1984, slayings in San Ysidro, Calif., when James Oliver Huberty opened fire at a McDonald's restaurant, killing 21

"The kind of frustration required to take 22 lives doesn't accumulate overnight. You don't get a 'D' on your report card and then kill 22 people."

before he was fatally shot by police.

Levin and his co-author, James Fox, also of Northeastern, said the killers in almost every such case were sent into a homicidal rage by a triggering event.

"It's usually a loss. Whether the loss of a job or a relationship, from the killer's point of view, it's catastrophic; it's the last straw," Levin said.

Huberty was an out-of-work security guard.

Pat Sherrill was a postal worker about to lose his job when he shot 14 people to death in an Edmond, Okla., post office in 1986.

Neighbors said Hennard was an unfriendly loner who had frightened people by running in front of their cars and making strange phone calls.

One rambling letter he wrote to two young women referred to "mostly white, treacherous female vipers" he said had tried to destroy him and his family.

"These guys have no place to turn when they get into trouble," Levin said. "They don't have friends and family, church and fraternal groups to support them, to get them through the bad times."

Fox and Levin said many of the killers target people they know and kill others who get in the way. But some, as Hennard appeared to do, just kill at random.

The best known of those was Charles Whitman, a student who shot and killed 16 people from a campus tower at the University of Texas in 1966.

Typically, a person who kills a group of strangers "might think there's a wide-ranging conspiracy against him," said Fox.

Levin said "the more random the massacre the more likely it is (the killer) is insane, delusional and paranoid."

C-City residents want look at 'their' film

COLORADO CITY (AP) — To hear Helen Ezell, business is booming at her video store in Colorado City — but the movie everybody wants to rent isn't likely to be a hit anywhere else.

That's because the budget murder mystery titled "Shadows on the Wall" was shot in Colorado City and features walk-ons by many of its residents.

Almost six years have passed since cigar-chomping filmmaker Pat Poole, beefy character actor Wilford Brimley and a film crew arrived in sparsely populated Mitchell County to shoot the thriller. Poole promised it would de-emphasize sex, violence and profanity while still telling a good story.

Just before it wrapped, Poole also said "Shadows on the Wall" would be in theaters nationwide within a year.

So much for that prediction. Last word anyone heard, "Shadows on the Wall" had been shelved because of litigation over ownership squabbles.

Then, a few weeks ago, the movie surfaced with little fanfare on mighty WGN out of Chicago. About the same time, "Shadows on the Wall" turned up as a videocassette offering. Helen Ezell promptly ordered several copies, which she received two weeks ago.

It's been checked out ever since. Just about everyone has a personal reason for seeing the film. Ronnie Clark's boy dropped by to see the scene where his dad is drinking a beer, but all copies were checked out that day.

Tommy Dixon, 59, wanted to see what remained of his dog "Tippy," who had a scene with a Hollywood actor.

And Edna Pace just wanted to see her late husband P.H. "Shorty" Pace, who once ran the Phillips 66 station.

"She said she really didn't know if she could handle it," said Mrs. Ezell, who's lived in Mitchell County a half-century. "He was there in close-up, eating popcorn in that scene they shot in the old Palace Theatre. He looked like he could just turn around and talk to you."

Unfortunately, Tippy — a 7-year-old cross between a hound dog and a German shepherd who later fell prey to the local dogcatcher — didn't make the final cut. That disappointed Dixon, though he consoles himself in at least one respect.

"Well," he said, "at least the dog made $100."

"Everybody really enjoys it because it's 70-80 percent made in Colorado City," said Tandy Curlee, 66, who's seen in the movie about three seconds. "I didn't know it was out till a few weeks ago. Someone drove by while I was in the yard and said, 'Say, I saw you on TV last night.'"

The 1985 filming took place during a busy period in Colorado City. Drivers transporting huge cargos of that autumn's cotton harvest passed only yards from where shooting on the $2.5 million film was going on, yet took little notice of it. Ditto for many merchants.

And so the film's cast and crew worked largely undisturbed on the thriller, which is mostly centered on the old, dilapidated Baker Hotel. The movie concerns a deranged bellhop, a cowboy movie star, a decades-old high society murder and a reporter trying to solve a forgotten mystery.

"I wouldn't say it's going to win any Academy Awards," Curlee said, "but it's got a fair storyline and the performances are good. I mean, it's not the greatest thing I've ever seen but it's not just the worst thing I've seen either."

Triplets going for 100th birthdays

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Vinal Mauss says it's because he's been blessed with good health. His sister Velma says she can't figure it out. But sister Vilda knows why they're still alive at 91 — the triplets are shooting for 100.

The triplets celebrated their 91st birthdays Wednesday with a small family gathering in Midvale, Utah.

"We're gonna go for 100" said Vilda Hughes in a telephone interview from her Utah home. "My brother said, 'let's go for 100,' and I said, 'OK, let's go for 100.'"

Sister Velma Torpin also lives in Midvale.

Each year, the three get together to celebrate their birthday and "sort of review our lives together," Mauss said in an interview from his home in Walnut Creek east of San Francisco.

"I think I was blessed with a strong body and I've tried to maintain that through living my lifestyle. I've never been involved with smoking or drinking or drugs. I've tried to avoid those things all my life," said Mauss.

Mauss, who is the oldest by 10 minutes, still goes to his newspaper distribution company every day and has no plans to retire.

"I don't even think of that," Mauss said. "I just want to keep going as long as I'm able."

Mrs. Hughes recalls teaming up with her look-alike sister in high school and pulling tricks: fooling teachers by switching seats and confusing boyfriends.

"(Teachers) never knew us apart. They finally had to put us in separate rooms. The kids just laughed, but the teachers didn't hometown of Midvale, a suburb of Salt Lake City. Still vigorous and fond of spinning yarns and cracking jokes, the triplets are planning on reaching 100.

like it," she said. "Oh, it was real fun."

The triplets gained much attention when they were younger. They were on display at the 1907

Utah state fair, where photographs of them sold for 25 cents.

More infancy could be only two years away. The current listing in the Guinness Book of Records for the oldest living triplets is held by the Caughling triplets, Faith, Hope and Charity, who died in 1962 at age 93.

Exercise not enough

CHICAGO (AP) — Exercise alone won't reduce high blood pressure in many people who aren't fat, researchers reported Wednesday.

The report in the Journal of the American Medical Association contradicts four previous studies that found regular aerobic exercise could reduce high blood pressure in adults of normal weight without the use of drugs.

The researchers said the earlier studies were hampered by small numbers of participants, failure to take into account the weight differences of the participants and other flaws.

The new findings come from a study of 99 men and women ages 29 to 59 with moderately high blood pressure.

One-third of the subjects underwent a four-month aerobic exercise program, one-third underwent a strength and flexibility training program, and one-third took part in no specific exercise program.

"After four months of exercise training, subjects in the aerobic exercise group did not exhibit greater reductions in blood pressure than subjects in the control group," said the researchers, led by James A. Blumenthal of Duke University Medical Center in Durham, N.C.

Dr. Thomas Pickering, a cardiologist at Cornell University's hypertension center in New York, praised the study but said aerobic programs of more than four months may be the key to lowering blood pressure.

"And one factor may be that it works in some people and not in others," Pickering said in a telephone interview.

The researchers acknowledged that a longer exercise program might lower blood pressure, but they added that exercise alone should not be substituted for drugs in treating hypertension among adults of normal weight.

U.S. mercenary says Philippine official wanted an enemy killed

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — President Corazon Aquino today said she is satisfied with her foreign secretary's denial that he hired an American mercenary to kill coup plotters.

In Washington, Jack Terrell said Foreign Secretary Raul Manglapus hired him in May 1990 to kill renegade Lt. Col. Gregorio "Gringo" Ionasan and other leaders of the Reform the Armed Forces Movement responsible for some of the seven coup attempts against Mrs. Aquino.

Terrell, who once worked as a mercenary for the rebels in Nicaragua, said he backed out of the alleged deal because he was afraid his targets would include civilian politicians. He claims he taped his conversation with Manglapus.

"It was a business deal that went sour as far as I'm concerned because I wasn't willing to assassinate civilians," Terrell said Wednesday on ABC-TV's "World News Tonight."

He later repeated the story in a telephone interview with The Associated Press. He said Manglapus began talking about having several high-ranking officials killed who might oppose Aquino's re-election.

Manglapus denied the accusation shortly after Terrell appeared Wednesday on ABC-TV's "World News Tonight."

Manglapus again denied the accusation in a statement released today as he prepared to leave for Paris to attend an international meeting on the Cambodian conflict.

"Assuming that the voice ascribed to me on that tape is indeed mine, I now ask the public to examine closely the transcript of that tape," Manglapus said. "There is nothing in the transcript to indicate that I asked Terrell to do what he has said publicly I asked him to do."

Terrell said he decided to make the story public because he thought it eventually would surface and he wanted to tell his own version.

He said he believed Manglapus was merely the messenger for someone higher in the Philippine government who originated the plot.

Terrell said he asked Manglapus: "How high does this go?" and Manglapus answered that Aquino knew about it, but wouldn't have anything to do with "the operations aspect of it."

In a statement read by ABC News, Aquino was quoted as saying: "We doubt there was any such conspiracy involving Secretary Manglapus. Secretary Manglapus is known to be a peaceful and uncomplicated individual, not one to be involved in conspiracies."

Honasan has been at odds with Aquino for some time, leading a coup attempt in August 1987. He was arrested the following December and escaped in April 1988, resurfacing in December 1989 to help lead the coup attempt in which U.S. warplanes flew air cover for Aquino's government.

During the period when Terrell said he was hired, Honasan was actively traveling about the Philip-pinas recruiting soldiers for another coup attempt.

Terrell said he was approached to kill Honasan because the Philippine military wouldn't act on catching him.

"My role was to bring in a team, preferably Americans, to kill or assassinate the leadership and the key members of the infrastructure of the Reform the Armed Forces Movement," he said.

Terrell said he met eight times with Manglapus in the foreign secretary's home in Manila and made a secret tape recording to protect himself in case the government official sought to portray him as acting alone.

A copy of the tape was offered for sale by a Filipino to news organizations, including the AP, in Manila. The AP would not pay for the tape, but has a transcription of it.

According to the transcription, the voice identified as Manglapus suggests to Terrell that the killing be made to look like the work of communist New Peoples Army, or NPA.

"How can we do something in order to back up an explanation that the NPA did it?" the voice asks. "Is it possible to throw in an NPA corpse there or something?"

Terrell says it will definitely look like an NPA operation. The conversation ends later with the voice described as Manglapus saying: "Well, this is war obviously."

Terrell said he collected 850,000 pesos, or $30,000, from Manglapus to arrange the assassination of Honasan.

Manglapus said in an interview with ABC that he had no recollection of the conversation, although he acknowledged knowing Terrell.

Herald's Homemakers School attended by 500

By MARTHA E. FLORES
 Staff Writer

The Big Spring Herald's first Homemakers School took place at the Big Spring Municipal Auditorium Wednesday night with an audience of more than 500.

The event featured cooking demonstrations, a fashion show and door prizes.

"The show was something to help people in the audience enhance their homemaking skills and update them to fit the fast-paced lifestyle of today's family," said Guy Huffman, master of ceremonies and advertising manager at the Herald. "It was also a great tool for area merchants because of the excellent exposure and coverage."

Door prizes and give-aways were furnished by the sponsoring merchants.

"Don's IGA furnished 20 large bags of groceries that were given away," said Huffman. "Linda Paredes won a Riverside oak desk from Carter's Furniture. More than 80 people won door prizes. A silk floral arrangement was given away by Elrod's, and J.C. Penney gave more than $450 in shopping certificates."

The newspaper was one of many area merchants who helped to bring the Homemaker's School to Big Spring. Other merchants involved with the event include Carter's Furniture, Dunlap's, Harris Lumber, Elrod's, J.C. Penney, Don Newsom's IGA, Linens and Ladles, Gale's Cakes & Cookies, Bealls and Gifts, Etc.

"We also had a number of national sponsors that, without them, it could not have been the success that it was," said Huffman. "The national sponsors included Baker's coconut, Dream Whip whipped topping mix, Fleischmann's yeast, Hershey's and many others."

Lucinda Kahny, a home economist for Homemakers School, Inc., did the cooking demonstrations during the show.

"Several good things came out of the show. First of all, we give the audience a number of healthy recipes and helpful tips on nutrition," said Kahny. "I also try to educate the audience on how to be economical in the kitchen without sacrificing quality. But most importantly, I tried to have fun with them."

Guy Huffman, advertising manager at the Big Spring Herald, hands a door prize to one of the members of the audience at the Herald's first Homemakers School Wednesday night. The school attracted an audience of 500 and was sponsored by area merchants.

She prepared 11 menu items during the 2-hour event. Some of the recipes were featured in the Homemakers School pull-out section, which ran in the Herald last Sunday. "The turn-out was spectacular, and the event went really well. It was obvious that the people of Big Spring supported it," said Pat

Morgan, publisher of the Herald. "If the support we received last night is any indicator, then this was our first annual Homemakers School."

Hennard

The doctor and his wife, Jeanna, lived with their son and an older daughter in the upper half of a home in Waverly, N.Y., owned by Helen Abrams.

Ms. Abrams, who still lives in the house, told WBNG Radio that the Hennards fought constantly. "They were fighting all the time, she and her husband were screaming, and the children were crying and so my husband had to put them out of the house," Ms. Abrams said. "And we had quite a time getting them out. We had to go through a lawyer."

Hennard attended sixth and seventh grades in Las Cruces, N.M., school records show. He attended Mayfield High School in Las Cruces for the second half of his junior and all of his senior year, Jo Galvan, spokeswoman for Las Cruces Public Schools, said Thursday.

Hennard's father, Dr. Georges M. Hennard, was a colonel in command of the U.S. Army hospital at White Sands Missile Range, White Sands spokeswoman Debbie Bingham said she was told by a local resident.

Ms. Bingham said the base no longer had military records on the elder Hennard, and she had no other information on the family.

Hennard's high school yearbook shows he was known as Joe, a nickname said to have been used by his mother, Jeanna.

There were no listings in his cumulative record or in the 1974 yearbook that indicated Hennard was involved in any clubs, sports or other activities, Ms. Galvan said.

After graduating from high school in 1974, Hennard enlisted in the U.S. Navy, where he served through 1977, according to McCormack.

Hennard then spent a dozen years in the merchant marine until he ran into drug abuse problems, the lawyer said.

a requirement that gun dealers report two or more gun sales within five days by the same purchaser. It would be expanded to two or more sales within 30 days.

Another measure would require potential gun dealers to certify that they are in conformity with local and state laws before obtaining federal licenses.

The Crime Bill, passed by the Senate in July, would also give law enforcement officials up to five days to do background checks on potential gun buyers. The Brady Bill, passed by the House in May, would allow up to seven days.

Friday Football Forecast

Compiled by Herald Sports Staff

Big Spring (5-0, 1-0) at Fort Stockton (3-3, 0-2)

This promises to be an interesting game. For openers, the Big Spring Steers have never beaten the Fort Stockton Panthers in Fort Stockton. Secondly, Fort Stockton is a vastly improved squad from last year, or from the start of the season for that matter. Thirdly the Steers had an open week two weeks ago and last week they thrashed a weak San Angelo Lake View squad, 52-0. Meanwhile the Panthers have faced two district powerhouses, losing to Andrews 42-0 and Monahans 19-8. The Panthers have a good defense against the run, but they haven't faced a passing team all year. The Steers want to establish a running game, but they'll do it by setting it up with the pass. Look for the Panthers to play their best game of the season. Look for another stellar defensive performance by the Steers and Big Spring's passing attack will pose a problem. The end result? Win number six for the Steers. Big Spring 24, Fort Stockton 7

Coahoma (4-2, 1-2) at Eldorado (5-1, 2-1)

With two district losses, every game is a must win for the Coahoma Bulldogs. This is an equally important game for the Eldorado Eagles if they want to stay in the district hunt. Coahoma rebounded from losses to Iraan and Wall by thumping Forsan 31-14, despite having several starters suspended for the game because of disciplinary reasons. Eldorado tasted defeat for the first time last week, getting thrashed by Iraan 57-12. The Eagles are fighting mad after that embarrassing defeat last week. Coahoma has a point to prove after two close district losses. Look for the Bulldog defense to play one of its better games. Coahoma will have all of its players back and the Eagles will suffer their second straight loss, but it will be close. Coahoma 21, Eldorado 14

Iraan (5-1, 3-0) at Stanton (0-6, 0-3)

The good news for the Stanton Buffalos is that they're improving every week. The bad news is that this is the best team they've faced all season. The Iraan Braves are a methodical team. They play good defense and power-sweep you to death. The Buffalos have proved they're capable of moving the ball in between the 20-yard lines. But they've had problems getting the ball into the end zone. The Battlin' Buffs will put up a gallant fight, this game will be close for a half. In the second half the Braves will take scalps. Iraan 38, Stanton 12

Wall (6-0, 3-0) at Forsan (0-6, 0-3)

Last week the Forsan Buffaloes were beaten by the Coahoma Bulldogs 31-14 while the Wall Hawks were soaring over McCamey 46-6. This is yet another learning experience for the young Buffaloes. The Hawks are gearing for a showdown with Iraan. Last week the Forsan offense, led by its all-freshmen backfield, showed signs of life against Coahoma in the Howard County Bowl. The Wall Hawks have a good defense and a balanced offense. The Buffaloes get an "A" for effort, but the Hawks rack up another mark in the "W" column. Wall 42, Forsan 7

Colorado City (2-4, 0-1) Kermit (0-5, 0-1)

Both the Colorado City Wolves and Kermit Yellowjackets need a win here to stay in district contention. Both teams lost their district openers to teams that went to the playoffs last year. Crane edged Colorado City 19-14 and Sonora downed Kermit 25-14. The similarity in those games was that both the Wolves and Yellowjackets' defense kept them in contention, but the offenses faltered down the stretch. This one might be the best games of the week. The Wolves won't have that fourth quarter bad luck that they had last week, and that will be the difference. Colorado City 20, Kermit 18

Garden City (5-0, 1-0) at Bronte (1-5, 0-2)

The final tuneup for the Garden City Bearkats before their big showdown with the Rotan Yellowhammers. The Bearkats are coming off an open week while the Bronte Longhorns are coming off a 42-14 loss to Roscoe. Garden City is a mean, lean fighting machine. It's a rebuilding year for the Longhorns. Garden City will send a message to Rotan. This one could get nasty. Garden City 55, Bronte 6

Borden County (4-2, 1-0) at Ira (2-4, 1-0)

This is the area game of the week in the six-man circles. The winner of this game has the inside track to the 6-A six-man title. Both teams have strong rushing attacks and adequate defenses. But the Borden County duo of John Paul Harris and Brandon Adcock will outdo Ira's Mike Hughes. Borden County 40, Ira 30

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Atlanta Braves finally shucked their loser's image, shutting out Pittsburgh in Game 7 of the NL playoffs and setting up the most unlikely World Series ever. The Braves made winning look easy Thursday night as John Smoltz pitched Atlanta past the Pirates 4-0 for its first pennant. Now, a season full of surprises ends with the biggest one yet. The Braves, baseball's poorest team last year, and the Minnesota Twins, the only other team this century to go from worst-to-first, meet in the World Series starting Saturday night in the Metrodome. Brian Hunter's two-run homer capped a three-run first inning, and that was all Smoltz and the Braves needed. The Pirates' big hitters again went poof, and Pittsburgh was shut out for the second straight game.

PITTSBURGH — Atlanta Braves Brian Hunter (center) is congratulated by Greg Olson after hitting a first inning two-run home run off Pittsburgh Pirates John Smiley Thursday at Three Rivers Stadium.

"This club came a long way from spring training," the Braves' Terry Pendleton said. "People said we were out of it at the All-Star break, but we kept battling. They said we couldn't catch the Dodgers and we kept battling. This is a team that won't give up." A day after NL playoffs MVP Steve Avery and Alejandro Pena shut down Pittsburgh 1-0, Smoltz won his second game of the series with a six-hitter. In reversing their history, the Braves also stopped the Pirates' series of Game 7 successes — Pittsburgh had played five previous deciding seventh games, and won them all. "I'm glad this is over," Smoltz said. "I was a little nervous at the start."

It really was over early. After the Braves knocked out 20-game winner John Smiley in the first inning, the Pirates had their best chance when Orlando Merced and Jay Bell led off the first with singles. But the big three of Andy Van Slyke, Bobby Bonilla and Barry Bonds each made outs, failing for the umpteenth time. They were a combined 0-for-33 with runners on base until Bonilla singled in the eighth. The Pirates' 3-4-5 hitters were a combined 15-for-75, a .200 average, and didn't drive in any runs after the third inning of Game 1. In last year's playoffs, they were 12-for-63. In the ninth, with 500 Braves fans chanting and chopping in the far reaches of the upper deck, Smoltz finished it quickly with a 1-2-3 inning. That set off an exuberant celebration on the field, and triggered an ever wilder scene in the clubhouse. For the Pirates, the loss marked another season of disappointment, far worse than last year's six-game playoff defeat by Cincinnati. Pittsburgh was baseball's best team during the regular season at 98-64, and came into the playoffs calm and confident. The Pirates won the opener, took two of three in Atlanta and returned to Three Rivers Stadium this week with a 3-2 lead.

But that's where it stopped for the Pirates and started up for the Braves. Smoltz capped a streak of 27 straight scoreless innings for Pittsburgh at home. The Braves won the fifth pennant in franchise history, and first since 1958 in Milwaukee. Atlanta had been swept in its only other playoff appearances in 1969 and 1982 before this year. Owner Ted Turner, who bought the team in 1976, was beaming when he accepted the NL championship trophy. "I had hoped for this sooner, but better late than never," he said. The Pirates went meekly, and so did their fans. A crowd of just 46,932, more than 10,000 fewer than watched Game 1, saw the season end. "You have to tip your hat to the Atlanta Braves," Pirates manager Jim Leyland said. "It's very disappointing. They're legitimate champs. What a great performance. What a great story for baseball." Hunter, a rookie, drove in three runs. He hit a two-run homer after Ron Gant's sacrifice fly in the first inning, and added an RBI double in the fifth. "I was looking for something over the plate and he got a pitch up and I just hit it as hard as I could," Hunter said of the homer. "We're a big family here. We're a young club with veterans who have helped us out. We had no fear of

Steers JV defenses Midland Lee

The Big Spring junior varsity Steers got a strong defensive performance and came away with a 12-6 win over the Midland Lee Rebels Thursday at Memorial Stadium. The Steers came away with the win despite turning the ball over three times deep in their territory in the first quarter. Lee only managed field goals of 40 and 48 yards. Lee led 6-0 at the half. Big Spring got on the scoreboard in the third quarter when Jimmy Johnson scored on an eight-yard run. The winning score came later in the quarter when Lonnie Jackson scored from three yards out.

Big Spring junior varsity Steers quarterback Wes Hughes (11) struggles for yardage against the Midland Lee Rebels defense in action Thursday night at Memorial Stadium.

Justin Jenkins blocked a punt in the win. "The defense did a great job, they kept us in the game," said JV coach Mike Ritchey. Big Spring improves to 6-0 this season. Their next game will be Thursday in Sweetwater at 7 p.m. BIG SPRING FRESHMEN 14, SNYDER 6
SNYDER — The Steers freshmen evened their record to 3-3 as Mike Sizenbach scored from two yards out with three minutes left in the game. Sizenbach also scored on the two point conversion. Big Spring scored its first touchdown when quarterback Dustin Waters sneaked in from one yard out. Snyder tied the score on a one-yard run in the third quarter. Playing well for Big Spring were wingback Tony Rodriguez and tight end Salvador Ramirez. Big Spring will host Sweetwater Thursday at 7 p.m. at Memorial Stadium.

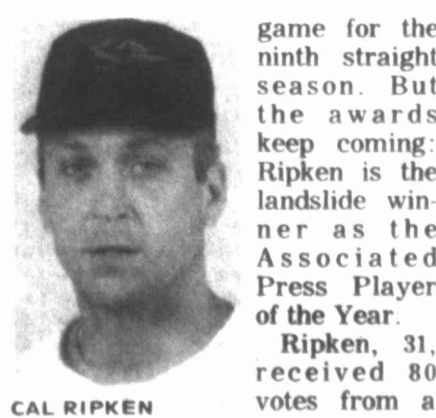

COAHOMA 8th 14, FORSAN 0
COAHOMA — The Coahoma eighth graders ran their mark to 3-1 behind a strong rushing performance of Kelby Bailey. Forsan falls to 2-4. Bailey led Coahoma with 160 yards in 19 carries. Chris Arguello added 67 yards on eight carries. After a scoreless first half, Coahoma scored in the third quarter on a 37-yard run by Arguello. Sean Marien passed to Adam Tindol for the two-point conversion. With 1:39 left in the game, Bailey scored on a 55-yard run. Coahoma will play Stanton in Coahoma Thursday. Seventh grade action begins at 5 p.m., followed by eighth grade play at 6:30 p.m. COAHOMA JV 26, ELDORADO 8
COAHOMA — The Coahoma junior varsity Bulldogs scored all their points in the third quarter as they ran their record to 5-2 for the season. The score was tied at halftime. 0-0. Coahoma struck when Robert

Ripken AP Player of the Year

BALTIMORE (AP) — Cal Ripken can't understand the fascination over his consecutive games streak, and is truly bothered by the prospect of being remembered solely for his endurance. This season, his 10th with the Baltimore Orioles, Ripken took a huge step toward changing all that. If there was any doubt before this year, he provided further evidence that he is one of the greatest shortstops in the history of baseball. Ripken's 1991 season was one memory — and award — after another. On the way to reaching career highs with a .323 batting average, 34 home runs and 114 RBIs, he homered in the All-Star game and received the game's Most Valuable Player award. One day earlier, he put on a Ruthian-like display in the All-Star home run contest. Ripken is taking a well-deserved vacation on the Eastern Shore this week after playing in every Orioles game for the ninth straight season. But the awards keep coming: Ripken is the landslide winner as the Associated Press Player of the Year. Ripken, 31, received 80 votes from a panel of sportswriters and broadcasters. Cecil Fielder of the Detroit Tigers was second with 37 and Pittsburgh's Barry Bonds finished a distant third with 14. Atlanta's Terry Pendleton had 12, two more than Frank Thomas of the Chicago White Sox. Pittsburgh's Bobby Bonilla got seven votes. "Obviously, it's a big honor and I feel very good about it," Ripken said. "Most people measure our season, at least I do, on how the team has done."

Bears whitewash Packers

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — The Chicago Bears did more than chase Green Bay quarterback Don Majkowski around Lambeau Field on Thursday night. They chased him out of the game and beat the Packers 10-0.

Majkowski was so ineffective against Chicago's relentless defense — completing three of 16 passes for 32 yards — he was replaced by former Bears quarterback Mike Tomczak in the fourth quarter.

One of Majkowski's longest completions was overruled by instant replay when it showed tight end Ed West had stepped out of bounds.

It was that kind of a night. Green Bay managed only five first downs and 138 yards offense and got no farther than the Chicago 43 during the game.

Chicago's offense, meanwhile, got only one touchdown, but that was enough as the Bears beat the Packers for the 11th time in their last 13 games. Jim Harbaugh's 8-yard touchdown pass to James Thornton late in the second quarter and Kevin Butler's 22-yard field goal early in the fourth sent the Bears (5-2) to a victory after two straight losses.

The Packers fell to 1-6 with their fourth straight loss and their 11th in 12 games dating back to last season. Green Bay hasn't been 1-6 since 1986.

"The whole team is struggling," Majkowski said. "This is absolutely no fun at all. It's do damn frustrating."

Packers coach Lindy Infante, whose team was booed as it left the field at the half and after the game, apologized for the performance.

"Maybe we've bottomed out. It might be a reflection on me," said Infante. "It's certainly an all-time low."

Majkowski fumbled a snap out of the shotgun and Richard Dent recovered at the Green Bay 14 with 30 seconds to go in the third quarter.

Chicago just missed a first down and settled for Butler's 22-yard field goal with 13:48 to play.

Trailing 10-0, the Packers apparently recovered a Chicago fumble on a punt return early in the fourth quarter. But a whistle while the ball was loose blew the play dead and allowed Chicago to maintain possession.

Harbaugh then scrambled for 15 yards and Neal Anderson broke loose on a 27-yard run to the Packers' 25. Butler then missed a 47-yard field goal with 7:45 to go.

The Bears, whose first two possessions of the game ended on a fumble and interception, finally scored when Harbaugh hit Thornton for a touchdown with 1:44 left in the first half.

The scoring pass capped a nine-play, 66-yard drive, featuring a 16-yard pass to Anderson, a 14-yard run by Brad Muster and a 10-yard pass to Thornton. Harbaugh's touchdown pass was his first ever to a tight end.

Majkowski was only 3-for-10 in the first half and the Packers have still not scored in the first quarter this season.

Harbaugh completed 18 of 29 passes for 142 yards, a steady effort on a night when Chicago's defense was in the spotlight for a national cable TV audience.

Smoltz, in danger of losing his spot in the rotation in midseason when he was 2-11, won for the 14th time in 16 decisions since the All-Star break. He pitched his first shutout of the season — and Atlanta's third of the series — striking out eight and walking one. His only trouble after the first inning came in the eighth when Bell singled with one out and Bonilla singled with two down. But Smoltz got Bonds on a routine fly.

Bonds is in line for his second straight MVP award, but for the second year in a row, he was a playoff bust. He went 4-for-27 with zero RBIs, and was 0-for-16 with runners on base.

Last year, he managed only three singles in 23 at-bats.

Evil isn't logical

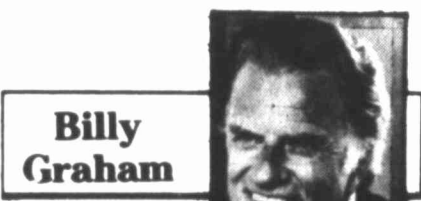

By Billy Graham
DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Why does there seem to be so much violence in our society? We have one of the most prosperous societies the world has ever known and it would seem like everyone would have enough and wouldn't need to steal or commit acts of violence. But a friend of ours just got beaten in her home from someone who only took a few dollars when he left. I just don't understand what is happening to our society. — Mrs. B.W.

DEAR MRS. B.W.: Evil is not always logical — in fact, at times it is totally beyond reason. I'm convinced there is, in fact, a demonic element to much of the evil we see around us today. I don't see how anyone can read the headlines and still deny the reality of Satan! No matter how prosperous a society we have, it still is subject to violence and crime. In part that is because not everyone shares equally in the prosperity, and envy is a powerful human emotion. But we need to remember also that the more people have, the more they want — and that can lead to violence also. Selfishness leads to more selfishness.

You cannot help but wonder if we are living in the days of which the Bible spoke: "But mark this: There will be terrible times in the last days. People will be lovers of themselves, lovers of money, boastful, proud, abusive, disobedient to their parents, ungrateful, unholy, without love, unforgiving, slanderous, without self-control, brutal, not lovers of the good, treacherous, rash, conceited, lovers of pleasure rather than lovers of God" (2 Timothy 3:1-4). The real problem is the human heart. We need our hearts changed — and only Christ can do that. We need to pray for our society, that evil will be restrained and that our nation will turn to God.

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I have just started college, and I am having a hard time holding on to my faith. I have one very intelligent and popular professor who openly mocks Christians in class and makes me feel like I must be very dumb to believe in Christ and the Christian way of living. Maybe you can encourage me. — C.M.

DEAR C.M.: Don't be misled by the unbelief of one man — no matter how articulate or educated he is — or let his cleverness sway you from your commitment to Jesus Christ. The Bible, in fact, warns that our minds can easily deceive us into pride and thinking we don't need God. Paul — who was one of the greatest intellects of all time — declared, "Where is the wise man? Where is the scholar? Where is the philosopher of this age? Has not God made foolish the wisdom of the world? For ... the world through its wisdom did not know him" (1 Corinthians 1:20-21).

Does that mean you have to bury your head in the sand (so to speak) to be a Christian, or that you have to be anti-intellectual? No, not at all. In fact, some of the greatest intellectuals in history have been strong believers — for example, men like Augustine and Pascal (who laid the foundations for the modern computer).

I encourage you to take time each day for God — to spend 10 or 15 minutes (at least) reading His Word and praying for yourself and those around you. Then seek out other Christians, for you need them. (Many campuses have groups such as InterVarsity, The Navigators, or Campus Crusade for Christ which draw Christian students together and help them cope with the problems they are facing.) Most of all, remember that Christ is always with you, and He will never fail you.

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Some months ago I was injured in an automobile crash, and the doctors say I probably will be confined to a wheelchair the rest of my life. I am a Christian, but I get very depressed because there is no hope for the future. Why did God let this happen to me, if He is supposed to love us? — P.D.

DEAR P.D.: There are many things we will never fully understand this side of eternity — and the question of why God allows things like this to happen is one of them. Yes, we all wish we had complete answers to the question of why there is evil in the world, but we don't. As the Apostle Paul said, "Now I know in part; then I shall know fully, even as I am fully known" (1 Corinthians 13:12).

No, you would not have chosen to live life in a wheelchair, nor would anyone else who is confined to one. But God is with you, and He wants to help you face the future. Isn't it far better to face the future with Christ than to face it alone? Renew your commitment to Christ, and ask Him to help you discover His strength every day.

Locals react to lottery

By RICK HOPE

At least five area ministers are opposing Proposition 11, an item on the Nov. 5 election ballot which calls for the legalization of state-owned lotteries.

In a recent letter to area pastors, Weston Ware of the Southern Baptist Christian Life Commission said that pastors "have a moral and ethical responsibility to see that the people of Texas are exposed to the truth of the lottery before the vote is taken."

According to Harold Scarbrough, director of missions for the Big Spring Baptist Area, the "truth" that Ware is speaking of is that the lottery does more harm than good.

"It's a known fact that lotteries make new gamblers," said Scarbrough. "Almost everyone wants to get rich quick and the lottery seems to be an easy way to do it. Usually, it makes the poor become poorer."

Claude Craven, pastor of Trinity Baptist Church, agrees with McMeans.

"The people that will hurt most as the result of a state lottery will be those who cannot afford it," said Craven.

"Only one of millions of participants will benefit. It just doesn't make sense."

Two local ministers say they oppose the lottery because of the negative values it teaches.

Ken McMeans, pastor of College Baptist Church, agrees with Scarbrough and said that it should be offensive to Texas citizens that "our government is recommending gambling as a cure for our financial woes."

McMeans also contends that it is absurd for anyone to think the lottery will even be successful.

"If I were a gambling man, I would go where I had a decent chance of winning," said McMeans.

"People with the money to do so will go to Vegas or the race track. Only those who cannot afford to do so will spend their hard earned money in the hope of beating unbelievable odds."

Leo Free, pastor of Living Water Church, calls the state lottery "a type of seduction that promotes poverty. It goes against the idea of working for a living and promotes a false dream instead."

"The idea of the lottery is that someone can get rich quick with little or no effort," said Keith Gibbons, pastor of College Heights Christian Church. "The people that can least afford it are the ones who will be funding a large part of the project. As a society, we are sinking ourselves into a poor financial concept. It's bad economics."

Gibbons was also quick to point out that he spoke on behalf of himself and not his congregation.

"I don't tell my members how to vote," said Gibbons. "These are just my personal feelings."

Early voting for the November 5 election began Wednesday and will continue through November 1.

The Presbyterian Congregation in Big Spring will begin its 100th year of worship, teaching, and service in the community in November of 1991. Starting with seven members at that early time the church now serves as the focus for worship and witness for a parish of over 500.

The congregation today blends the talents and commitment of two former congregations, St. Paul Presbyterian and First Presbyterian, who joined together in 1978. The Session, comprised of 21 ordained Presbyters or Elders, elected by the congregation, leads the church in its ministry in six different divisions each led by members of the church.

Worship, central to the church's life, is carried forward in the Reformed liturgical tradition, reflecting the ancient Christian experience of praise, prayer, scripture, preaching, and sacraments. Inclusive of all worshippers, the morning worship each Sunday is broadcast on local radio. Evening Prayer each Wednesday and special observances at Advent, Christmas, Lent, and Easter are part of the worship schedule. Worship is supported by a full program of music and choirs under the direction of M. Keith Ross.

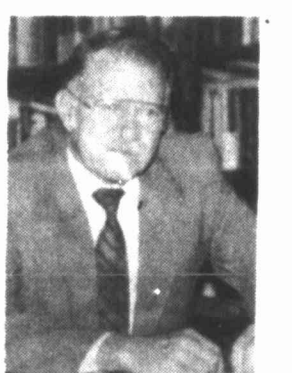

The Church School is a growing part of the church's life with a graded program of experience and Bible teaching for children of all ages, youth, and adults. Women's activities including a first Monday "Lunch Break" and circle meetings with Bible Study and service projects, an active youth fellowship, monthly prayer breakfasts for men and women, leadership classes, and annual classes of preparation for membership fill out a full round of teaching and guidance for young and old.

Fellowship centers around congregational dinners, a Harvest Moon Picnic, and the annual church barbecue which is a two or three day occasion in late August. This fall a new pictorial directory is being produced in honor of the centennial. A planned program of "Parents Night Out" once each month is a feature of fellowship and concern for families.

Presbyterians have a long tradition of service to the community both as individuals and as a church. Support for and involvement in the world beyond the church is a result of worship and commitment to show God's love. The most recent concern has been support for the Howard County Coalition for the Environment in developing an area recycling effort, but volunteer support for the State Hospital, Northside Center, scholarship aid to students, as well as gifts to support the worldwide mission service of the Presbyterian Church USA are only a few of the activities in this area.

Financial support for this ministry and care of the church building is based on principles of Christian Stewardship of possession and underwritten solely by the gifts of the people. In the coming year the church envisions the beginning of a renovation program for its 1929 building at 7th and Runnels, restoring its condition and improving its beauty and usefulness.

The minister is Flynn V. Long, Jr., who has served as pastor for the past seven years. Parish Associate is Walter C. Lee, who also serves as pastor of the Presbyterian Church in Coahoma, which has long-standing ties to this church. Pastor Flynn V. Long, Jr.

Ease up John

SEATTLE (AP) — Singer John Mellencamp was hospitalized after he became dizzy while performing on radio during the last day of an exhausting 17-day promotional tour.

Mellencamp, 40, was resting comfortably in satisfactory condition at Swedish Hospital, Dr. John Olsen said Thursday. Olsen blamed the illness on exhaustion and poor eating habits.

Mellencamp's promotional tour included visits to 46 radio stations, said his representative David Lonca. "It's been pretty torrid, to say the least," he said.

Kris Rosien-Smutek.

spokeswoman for radio station KX-RX, said Mellencamp became ill while singing the song "Rain on the Scarecrow" during a live broadcast.

Mellencamp was known during his early recording years as John Cougar, then John Cougar Mellencamp. His hit singles include "Hurt So Good," "Jack and Diane" and "Pink Houses."

Farrell arrested

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Perry Farrell, the rock singer who last month stripped naked during a performance by his group, Jane's Addiction, has been arrested for investigation of being under the influence of drugs.

Police responding to a call from managers at a hotel Wednesday arrested Farrell, whose real name is Perry Bernstein, for investigation of misdemeanor charges, said Sgt. Robert Oliver.

Heidi Robinson, the group's publicist, confirmed Thursday that Farrell had been arrested. She would not comment further.

The 32-year-old singer was freed Wednesday on $1,000 bail. Arraignment will be within 10 days, Oliver said.

Jane's Addiction's most recent album was "Ritual de lo Habitual." At the 1991 MTV Awards the band won the best "alternative" video award for "Been Caught Stealing."

Tremendous social success is part of the picture by summer. Check the references of anyone applying for a job.

CELEBRITIES BORN ON THIS DATE: columnist Jack Anderson, actors Simon Ward and Robert Reed, artist Peter Max, author John LeCarre.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): A key relationship gets back on track. Focus on improving your skills as a speaker or writer. Handle money matters with greater care. A favorite hobby could become a source of income.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Terrific news comes your way! Loved ones see you in a new light. Your talents and experience are much more valuable than you think. Devote more time and effort to a worthy cause.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Group endeavors provide the most fun today. If your health is good, engage in a team sport. Be patient with a relative or friend who is under a lot of pressure. Listen sympathetically.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): A female associate offers you pearls of wisdom. Listen closely but follow your instincts, too. Although an older person finds you very attractive, you may not be interested. Be kind but firm.

Steers break road jinx with 37-12 win

By STEVE BELVIN
Sports Editor

FORT STOCKTON — The Panthers Stadium jinx is over.

The Big Spring Steers finally beat the Fort Stockton Panthers at home, but made it hard on themselves for a while. In the end, Big Spring defeated Fort Stockton 47-12 here Friday night.

It gives Big Spring a 2-0 district record and 6-0 overall record. Fort Stockton falls to 3-4 and 0-3.

The Steers had to overcome a rash of penalties and fumbles to come away with the win. Big Spring moved the ball well, accumulating 469 yards. The Big Spring defense also turned in a fine performance, limiting Fort Stockton to 172 total yards, 67 of them coming on the ground.

Big Spring was hampered by penalties and fumbles in the first half despite collecting 269 yards in the opening 24 minutes of play. But in the process, the Steers fumbled the ball five times, losing three. Fort Stockton's Valentine Perales recovered all three fumbles. One fumble came at the Fort Stockton 25-yard line and another at the Fort Stockton 21.

Big Spring also hampered its own cause by getting seven penalties for 60 yards.

The Big Spring defense controlled the Fort Stockton offense in the first half. The Panthers had 72 yards, and 46 of them came on one play. It was a halfback pass from Jeffrey Hughes to Shane Velasquez in the second quarter. It turned out to be Fort Stockton's only score in the first half.

Following the touchdown, the Steers took the spark out of Fort Stockton's fire, however. On the two-point conversion try, safety Pat Chavarria intercepted Shawn Beeles' pass and returned it 103 yards for two points. It enabled Big Spring to take a 16-6 halftime lead.

The Steers scored on their first possession of the game. It seemed the fifty-yard, 10-play drive took forever. The big plays were a 21-yard scramble by quarterback Gerald Cobos and 18-yard run by tailback Maurice Evans. It was capped off with a 30-yard screen pass from Cobos to Oscar Cervantes.

In that drive, Big Spring was whistled for two holding penalties and the Panthers received two off-sides penalties and a facemask call.

The other Big Spring drive took place in the second quarter. The Steers marched 73 yards in 8 plays. In the drive, Cobos scrambled for 12 yards, fullback Darius Hill rambled for 18 yards and Cobos connected with Nick Roberson for 14 yards.

The scoring play was a 19-yard pass to Chavarria. Cobos' PAT gave the Steers a 14-0 lead with 5:53 left in the first half.

Fort Stockton's Mel Gierhart said Chavarria's theft was the turning point of the game.

"That's the one that broke our backs," Gierhart said. "It was 14-6 and all of a sudden he goes 102 yards to make it 16-6. That took the momentum away from our touchdown. I was wondering if they could handle us up front, and they did a better job than I expected."

"We scored 12 points on them, and that's the most points we've scored on them since I've been here. They did a good job of taking our fullback inside away. We just didn't make the play on their fullback inside."

Hill finished with a good game against the Panthers, rushing for a season high 155 yards on 15 carries. Evans, returning from a toe injury, chipped in 65 yards on 11 carries.

Big Spring coach Dwight Butler was very relieved after the game.

"I've been worried about this game all week. It has cost me a lot of sleep and made Coach Kennedy (Defensive Coordinator Jay Kennedy) sick," Butler said. "These guys are just good enough that they can whip you if you don't play tough."

"We figured they would stunt a lot, and it took us about a quarter to figure it out. After that, Darius had a good game. I can still think of about three touchdowns we could have had if we hadn't fumbled, but I'll sleep good tonight. I'll probably sleep on the way home."

The Steers iced the game with two scores in the third quarter. After cornerback Stacy Martin recovered a fumble, the Steers drove 64 yards in 7 plays. Chavarria caught a 17-yard pass, Hill ran for 30 yards and center Jon Downey recovered a fumble, picked it up and ran for a 5-yard gain. The drive was capped off with an 11-yard scoring pass to Chavarria.

Fort Stockton came back with its final scoring drive of the night later in the quarter. They drove 72 yards in 10 plays with the big plays being a 30-yard pass to Velasquez and a 20-yard run by Beeles. J.R. Aguirre scored from 1 yard out, cutting the margin to 23-12.

Big Spring answered with its best scoring drive of the night, going 53 yards in three plays. It consisted of a 19-yard run by Hill, followed by an 8-yard run by Hill, and capped off with a 26-yard scoring run by Tim Pearson.

The final Steer score came late in the game after Kevin Rodgers recovered a fumble at the Fort Stockton 42. Aided by a roughing the punter call, the Steers scored in 9 plays. Cobos got the final 20 with a pass to Nick Roberson.

Big Spring will host Sweetwater Friday; Fort Stockton will travel to San Angelo to play Lakeview.

Borden Coyotes lose high-scoring affair to Ira, 47-38

HERALD STAFF REPORT

IRA — The two top teams in District 6-A — the Borden County Coyotes and the Ira Bulldogs — met in a key game Friday night in Ira.

Strong defensive action on both sides, coupled with excellent running and passing, kept the fans guessing until late in the high-scoring game. The Bulldog defense was able to prevent the Coyotes' last-ditch scoring effort from paying off, and Ira came out on top 47-38.

Just over half of the first quarter had passed before the first score was made by the Coyotes on a 5-yard run by Brandon Adcock with 5:34 to go. The PAT attempt was no good.

Less than two minutes later, with 3:53 remaining, Ira's Mike Hughes put the Bulldogs on the scoreboard on a 6-yard run. Chris Haynes kicked for two extra points.

The Coyotes returned for their next score with 3:35 on the clock on a 56-yard run by Kirk Jones, followed by the extra point kick by Richard Buchanan.

The last scoring drive of the first quarter ended with 2:14 to go on a 10-yard pass from Ira's Chris Haynes to Hughes. Toby Hughes' PAT kick was successful, and the first quarter ended with the score of 16-14, Ira.

The second period of the game was almost a replay of the first as both teams added to their already respectable scores. Brandon Adcock led off the scoring on a 2-yard run, followed by another good kick by Richard Buchanan.

Chris Haynes' 30-yard touchdown pass to Mike Latham tied the score, and the PAT attempt was no good.

The Coyotes were not satisfied to go to the fieldhouse with a tie, and Adcock's 60-yard pass to Kirk Jones, followed by Buchanan's PAT kick, put the Borden County team ahead 30-22 at the half.

The Ira offense dominated the third quarter with two scoring series. With 6:55 remaining in the third, Mike Hughes connected with Ronal White on a 13-yard pass to narrow the scoring gap to 6 points. The PAT attempt was blocked.

Bryan Luna's 1-yard run with 2:15 to go put the Bulldogs out front. The extra-point kick went wide to the right, and the score going into the final quarter was 34-30, Bulldogs.

The Bulldogs opened fourth-quarter scoring with 9:42 remaining in the game. After breaking several tackles, Mike Hughes got into the open and sprinted 14 yards for the next 6. Then, with 5:40 to go, a 5-yard pass from Mike Latham to Chris Hayes saw the Bulldogs into the end zone one more time. Chris Haynes' pass to Travis Goswick was completed, and the extra point gave the Bulldogs a 47-30 advantage.

A final effort by the Coyotes closed the margin by 8 points on a 65-yard run by Doug Flanigan and kick by Richard Buchanan.

The Coyotes were able to get into scoring range one more time late in the game, but the Ira defense foiled Borden's efforts, and the game ended with the Ira team on top 47-38.

With Friday's game, the Borden County Coyotes stand at 4-3 for the season, while the Ira Bulldogs' record is 3-4.

Wall Hawks hand Forsan Buffaloes 55-0 defeat

By LORNE FANCETT
For the Herald

FORSAN — The Forsan Buffaloes lost to the Wall Hawks Friday evening by a 55-0 score.

The game started off for the Buffaloes in a negative fashion as quarterback Ryan Hamby mishandled the snap on the first play and Wall recovered.

Forsan received a break on the very next play, however, as Wall's Chad Box was picked off by linebacker Joey Conaway, who returned the ball to his own 15. The Buffs could do nothing with this possession — losing one yard in three plays — and were forced to punt.

Wall fielded the punt at the Forsan 36 and needed only two plays — a 19 yard run by Cory Braden and a 16 run by Joe Martinez — to put points on the board. With the extra point kick from Frankie Evans, Wall led 7-0.

Forsan again could do nothing substantial with the ball once they regained possession and were forced to punt. Matters became worse for the Buffaloes as the punt travelled for only one yard, giving Wall excellent field position on the Forsan 25.

Again Wall only needed two plays to score. The touchdown run by Ben Thomas went up the middle for four yards. Another successful Evans kick made the score 14-0 with only five minutes elapsed off the clock.

Without gaining a first down on the next series of downs, Forsan once again punted to the Hawks. Wall took over on its own 33 and the Buffaloes made a strong defensive stand at first.

The first play saw the Hawks lose five yards on account of a penalty and the next two plays Forsan held the Hawks to no gain. But the next play saw Cory Braden scamper 40 yards to put the ball in Forsan territory. Two plays later Martinez scored his second touchdown of the evening. With the kick sailing through the uprights, the scoreboard read 21-0 in favor of Wall.

After punting again, Forsan received its second break of the night when Micah Epley intercepted a Chad Box pass, giving the Buffs the ball at their own 25. But a fumble two plays later turned the ball back over to Wall at the Forsan 26.

This time Wall needed only three plays to score. A pass from Box to Waylon Wike for 18 yards and an eight-yard run on the play after by Thomas put the ball into the end-zone. With the point-after kick by Wike, the score was 28-0.

The next series of downs for the Buffs gave the home town crowd something to cheer about as Forsan gained its first first down of the evening on a broken play.

Facing a fourth and six, punter Chris Evans stood ready to kick the ball away. But a high snap and a good rush by the Hawks forced him to scramble, carrying the ball for 10 yards and a first down.

Three plays later running back Chad Kemper gained 11 yards and another Forsan first down, but this was as far as the Buffs went, punting after gaining only one yard in three plays.

Wall fielded the punt on its 34 and, on the first play, Box hooked up with Martinez for a pass that covered 18 yards. Thomas ran twice for gains of 12 and 21 yards, setting Wall up on the Forsan 9-yard line. Cory Braden scored on the next play, giving Wall a 35-0 lead.

The Buffs once again showed signs of life the next series, as running back John Reese took the ball 12 yards on the first play. But three plays and one yard later, Wall prepared to receive another punt.

The Hawks started the drive at their own 38 and used only four plays to put their sixth touchdown on the board. The drive was capped off by Wike carrying the ball 19 yards for the score. His extra point kick fell short, leaving the score 41-0 going into the half.

The second half started off well for Forsan as it controlled the ball for 16 plays — gaining four first downs and eating up more than 10 minutes of the clock. Faced with a fourth and 19 at the Wall 29, Hamby attempted a pass to Jacoby Hopper that was batted away, giving the ball back to Wall.

The Hawks set up their own long drive — covering 13 plays and eating up a good portion of the clock. But the difference between their drive and the one by Forsan was the result. Dusty Burleson moved the ball through the middle for the score. Wall's two-point conversion was stymied as Wike was tackled at the two-yard line, leaving the score 47-0.

Forsan again could do nothing with the ball and was forced in a punting situation. For the second time that evening, punter Chris Evans was dealt with a bad snap. Instead of making it a positive gain as he had the first time, he was forced to fall on the ball, losing 20 yards on the play. This gave Wall the ball on the Buffs' 17-yard line.

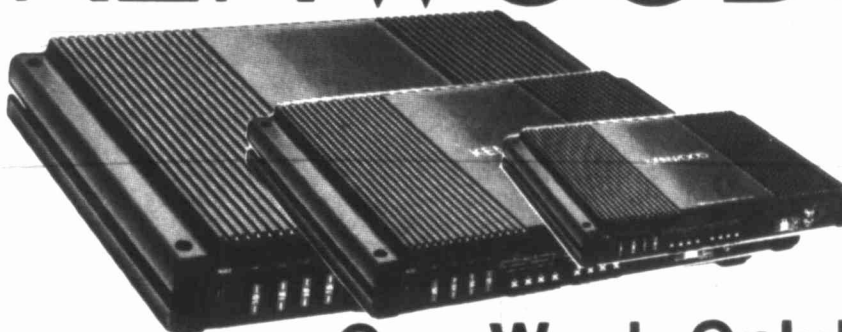

Wall used this opportunity to its advantage as John Medina scored on the third play of the drive.

Medina also scored the two-point conversion, making the score 55-0. "They just had us outmanned," Forsan head coach Jan East commented after the game. "We had six freshman on the field. They did as good of a job as they could do. We sat here with four seniors, and the kids, they're playing hard. We were just outmanned."

Next week, Forsan hosts Eldorado. Game time is 7:30 p.m.

STANTON — The Iraan Braves proved why they are one of District 6-2A's leaders as they pounded the Stanton Buffs 42-0 in Stanton.

The Braves, now 7-0 overall and 4-0 in league action, are tied with Wall for the district 6-2A lead, while Stanton fall to 0-7 overall and 0-4 in district action.

The visitors opened the scoring on a 47-yard punt return by senior tailback Sammy Galindo. Iraan placekicker Corby Maurer added the extra point and the Braves had a seven-point lead with 10:03 left in the first quarter.

Stanton responded by travelling the length of the field with fine running by tailback Jim Bob Kelly and fullback Rick Posey, but was stopped at the Braves' 15-yard line. The Buffs' 32-yard field goal try was short.

On the Braves' next possession, they marched 80 yards in four plays. Galindo scored and Maurer added the PAT giving the Braves a 14-0 lead.

The Buffalos again began another drive, keeping the ball for more than six minutes and moving to the Iraan 20-yard line. The Braves, however, stopped the Buffs' on fourth down and inches to regain possession.

Iraan moved the ball from its own 19-yard line for another score in 10 plays with Maurer finding Omar Galindo for a nine-yard score with five minutes left in the second quarter. Maurer added the extra point, giving the Braves a 21-0 halftime lead.

The Buffalos came out swinging on their next drive, as Kelly weaved loose through the Iraan defense and scampered for a 62 yard gain to the visitors' 43-yard line. A Stanton fumble stopped the drive, however, and Iraan recovered at its own 34-yard line with 1:18 left in

In the third quarter, the Braves began where they left off, driving downfield. QB Maurer engineered the drive to Stanton's 33-yard line. On the next play, Stanton linebacker Robin Barnes intercepted a pass on the one-yard line and returned it 24.

The Braves stopped Stanton and forced a punt. The rest of the game belonged to the Braves as they accounted for 13 first downs and three more scores by Galindo. He made five of six Brave touchdowns and accumulated 130 yards in total yardage.

Galindo scored on runs of four, eight and 16 yards for the visitors.

Kelly ended the contest with 91 yards rushing to lead all ball carriers in the contest.

Twins, Braves begin Series battle tonight

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — It's time to find out if the world should take the Minnesota Twins and Atlanta Braves seriously.

After remarkable worst-to-first seasons and impressive playoff victories, the Twins and Braves have the World Series stage to themselves tonight in Game 1 at the Metrodome.

Both teams are confident, but there are some worries, too.

The Braves wonder if they will be able to see fly balls coming out of the billowy white ceiling. The Twins are concerned about seeing fastballs from Tom Glavine, Steve Avery and John Smoltz.

Jack Morris (18-12) is scheduled to start the opener for Minnesota against Charlie Leibrandt (15-13).

Morris, who won two games against Toronto in the playoffs, is 5-1 lifetime in postseason play and 22-5 in his career at the Metrodome. He is becoming known as Mr. Inside.

"Our offense pretty much won the series against Toronto and I really believe our offense will win or lose this series," Morris said. "We have to do our job to give the offense a chance."

What Morris really meant is that for the Twins to win Kirby Puckett has to hit. As Puckett goes, so go the Twins.

Puckett started the AL playoffs 1-for-7 and Minnesota's offense looked flat. Once he got started, the Twins breezed by the Blue Jays. He finished the series 9-for-21 with two homers and six RBIs.

"No matter if it's the playoff or World Series as athletes you want to play well," Puckett said. "As far as I'm concerned, you have two last-place teams meeting in the World Series. Of course, I would like to win the Series, but if we don't, it doesn't mean we didn't have a good year."

Manager Bobby Cox' selection of Leibrandt came as a bit of a surprise. But Cox said the left-hander was going to be used sometime, anyway.

"I wasn't that surprised," said Leibrandt, 7-6 lifetime against Minnesota in 17 games.

On Sept. 27, 1987, while pitching for Kansas City, Leibrandt gave up first-inning homers to Puckett, Gary Gaetti and Kent Hrbek as the Twins clinched a tie for the AL West title.

"I haven't forgotten how horrible I pitched," Leibrandt said. "But I came back five days later and shut them down."

The Twins hit .302 at home this season and .291 against left-handers. Hrbek, a lefty swinger, hit .281 against southpaws.

"I made my major-league debut here," Leibrandt said. "I didn't know much and I had a good outing here. It seems the more you know about this place, the more horror stories there are. The less you know, the better off you are."

Taking advantage of playing at the AL park, Cox will use Lonnie Smith as the DH and start rookie Brian Hunter in left field. Hunter, who played some outfield in the minors, hit a two-run homer in the first inning of Game 7 against Pittsburgh.

"I think we have momentum on our side," Hunter said. "We played a tough seven-game series with a day off and now we're back."

The Braves also have the Tomahawk Chop and Ted and Jane on their side. The Twins have the Homer Hanky, the Metrodome crowd and Series experience.

"If we're doing something with the bats, the noise will be a problem for the Braves," Puckett said. "If we're hitting the ball all over the place, then it will be a tough night for them."

Atlanta practiced Friday night at the Metrodome to get used to the conditions they will see — or not see — during the Series.

"My main advice is to tell everyone to keep your eye on the ball," third baseman Terry Pendleton said. "Picking up the ball in this background is going to be the hardest thing to do. The hankies, the crowd noise will all be bearable. Finding the ball will be the hardest thing of all."

The Twins are worried about finding the ball, too.

"Their pitchers look pretty tough," Puckett said. "I think it will be a great series."

Layoff may have helped the Twins

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Kent Hrbek says the Minnesota Twins' five-day layoff between their AL playoff win over Toronto and tonight's World Series opener helped. Dan Gladden agreed. Brian Harper wasn't as sure.

"I loved the layoff," Hrbek said Friday. "I got in a couple of hunting trips, got to see some friends that I had been wanting to see."

Gladden said the layoff "helped us relax, to get our legs back under us. We were on an emotional high after beating Toronto. Now we're back on an even keel."

Harper, meanwhile, took a wait-and-see approach.

"You won't be able to tell until this weekend really gets started," he said. "The layoff could have been bad, the layoff could have been good. Hitters have a tendency to be a little rusty after a layoff. Then again, maybe the layoff will help some of us."

Hrbek is one of those hoping it helps. He batted .143 in the playoffs, with three hits in 21 at-bats.

"I went through some tough times," he said. "But we don't care who gets hits. We just care if we get wins."

Even without Hrbek's hitting, the Twins beat the Blue Jays in five games to win the AL pennant.

Football fans, beware: the "other" fall sport is almost here.

Granted, the football season is barely halfway complete — and the Super Bowl is still months away — but another sport will soon compete for people's attention.

The sport is called basketball. For the football fanatic, basketball is a strange bird, indeed. There are no kickoffs, punts, fumbles or marching bands at halftime.

The ball is round, not oblong, and players must bounce it up and down while advancing. Points are scored when the ball is thrown through what's known as a basket.

And another thing — the players are dressed funny. Instead of shoulder pads, helmets and cleats, basketball players wear tank tops, shorts and shoes; that's it.

Want more? Another thing about the sport is that women actually play quite well, by actually play it — and play it quite well, by all accounts. Why would anyone want to watch such a strange sport? "It's an American game," said Royce Chadwick, women's basketball coach at Howard College. "I think we've copied a lot of games from other countries, but basketball is truly American." Patriotism aside, there are other attractions to the game. Chadwick noted that the pace is much faster than the average game. "It's pretty much non-stop," he said. And with winter fast approaching, the fact that basketball is played indoors is another strong selling point. For those ready to take a gander at this sport, the Howard College men's and women's teams will open their season Nov. 4 at Dorothy Garrett Coliseum. The Lady Hawks will play Hardin-Simmons at 6 p.m., while the Hawks play the Angelo State junior varsity at 8 p.m. You have been warned.

The Bronte Longhorns came out strong, scoring the first touchdown of the game with 10:52 left in the first quarter. But the 87-yard toss from Brent Taylor to Jacob Golson was the last touchdown the Longhorns would get. The extra point was no good.

Less than two minutes later, the Garden City Bearkats scored a touchdown on a three yard run by Soles. Less than three minutes after that, Soles again scored on a one-yard run. Both extra point attempts were no good.

With 3:31 left in the quarter, Schae Scott of Garden City threw a seven-yard touchdown pass to Soles. Scott then ran two yards for the two-point conversion. A minute later, Soles ran six yards to score another touchdown and then ran the two yards for the conversion.

In the second quarter, Jody Bradford ran 24 yards for a touchdown with 11:58 on the clock and then kicked the extra point.

Bronte scored for the second and last time with 2:21 left in the third quarter when the Garden City center snapped the football over the kicker's head in the Bearkat end zone, allowing the Longhorns to get a safety.

Garden City in turn scored a safety when a Bronte player was tackled in the Longhorn end zone with 10:30 left in the fourth quarter.
