Regents chairman hits the books

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — At 74, the chairman of the Ohio Board of Regents is hitting the books. Ted Bonda has a long list of credentials in the business world, but never went to college.

"I suggest everyone go to college now. It's more important now than it was then. See, I didn't have to get a job based on having gone to college. Today, you do," he said.

Bonda is studying contemporary urban problems and political science at Cleveland State University.

The Board of Regents coordinates the state's universities and colleges. Bonda also has been president of the Cleveland school board, co-founded the Airport Parking Co. of America, was chief executive officer of Penril Corp., chairman of ITT Consumer Services Corp. and Avis Rent-A-Car, and was president of the Cleveland Indians from 1977 to 1978.

Each day different from the last for BSISD nurses

By MARSHA STURDIVANT
Staff Writer

Each day differs from the last for the four nurses who take care of nearly 5,000 Big Spring Independent School District students.

"This job is never boring," said Helen Crandall, school nurse for Big Spring High School, Bauer Magnet School and Moss Elementary.

"I love it. I like working with the kids. I feel like this takes a lot of common sense. I try to help (students) see the importance of staying healthy and getting a good education. I want them to see how they can be somebody and not get lost in the shuffle," said Crandall, who has been with the district for seven years.

She said one duty she has is pregnancy counseling with high school students. That was not once a common need, but now she provides sympathy and help with locating medical and financial resources if the student is lacking the support of family and friends.

Crandall said she also sees students come to the nurse's office drunk or with hangovers. She said she watches the students for repeat behavior, and contacts the parents if appropriate.

"That's very touchy — it's hard to call parents and tell them to come get their child because they're drunk. But I do try to talk to parents and get them to talk to their kids," she said.

Helen Walters, school nurse for Marcy, College Heights and Kentwood elementary schools, said she enjoys working with student nurses from Howard College. With more one-parent families and working mothers, the school nurse can become a stable force in the life of an elementary student, she said.

"I feel like I'm an advocate for the child. We're doing more than Band-Aids and doctoring hurts now. Some children now come to school sick because there's not an extended family and no one to take care of them at home.

"We do a lot more than just take care of ill students, now we take care of family ills," Walters said. She has been with the district for 10 years and was county health nurse for eight years prior to that.

Comptroller forecasts solid expansion

AUSTIN (AP) — The average Texan will be better off financially in the year 2011 than today, according to a report from the state comptroller's office.

Per-capita Texas income, in 1991 dollars, is projected to rise from about $17,300 to about $22,500 in 20 years, the report said.

The average wage, adjusted for inflation, is estimated to increase from $25,100 to $26,600.

"For Texans who weathered the economic storms of the 1980s, the future beckons like a welcome star on the horizon," Comptroller John Sharp said in the October issue of Fiscal Notes, which was released Thursday.

Texas' economy will grow an average of nearly 3 percent a year over the next two decades, compared to the expected national rate of about 2.5 percent, according to the report.

The state is projected to have nearly 11 million non-farm workers in 2011, up from the current 7.1 million. Employment is predicted to increase by just over 2 percent a year over the next two decades.

Service producers will continue to dominate the Texas economy, according to Fiscal Notes. Business and health-related services particularly are expected to become increasingly important in the overall state economy.

A shrinking proportion of employment is projected to be provided by goods production — manufacturing, construction, and oil and gas production.

The state's population also is expected to change and grow.

By the mid-1990s, Texas is projected to become the second-most populous state.

Murder convict gets 25 years

By PATRICK DRISCOLL

COLORADO CITY — Eddie Martinez of Colorado City was sentenced Thursday to 25 years in prison for first-degree murder in the May 19 shooting death of Florentino Sanchez Jr. of Lorraine.

Because a weapon was used in the commission of the crime, Martinez, 40, will have to serve at least one-fourth of his sentence — more than six years — before being eligible for parole, according to state law. He could have been sentenced to life or up to 99 years.

As the sentence was read to a packed courtroom of more than 70 spectators, family members of both Martinez and Sanchez, as well as some jury members, were crying. Martinez remained calm throughout the four-day trial, jotting notes once in a while and bowing his head during some intermissions.

One of two defense attorneys representing Martinez said he has not talked with Martinez on whether the decision by the eight-woman, four-man jury will be appealed. District Attorney Frank Conard said such cases usually are appealed.

"I assume he will file an appeal," Conard said. "Normally, defendants that have a substantial sentence file an appeal."

Asked if the guilty verdict, handed down after an hour and 45 minutes of deliberation, was appropriate, Conard said he does not question a jury's decision. "I believe the jury did exactly the right thing." The jury deliberated

Vet stricken with virus dies

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP) — A veterinarian infected with a rare and fatal monkey virus while working at the Texas Primate Center in Alice has died, officials at Spohn Hospital say.

Authorities said Dr. Bill A. Pollock died Wednesday night at Spohn Hospital.

He had been working that center, a breeding facility that supplies monkeys for biomedical research, when he was stricken with the herpes virus simiae, also known as monkey B virus or just B virus.

Officials say it was the first time an employee of the Alice facility has contracted the virus, an infection that is common and apparently benign in monkeys but can be deadly to humans. Officials have said they do not yet know how Pollock was infected with the virus.

Aviation company owner sentenced

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The owner of an aviation company has been sentenced to eight years in prison after he pleaded guilty to two charges of money laundering in connection with the so-called "Jet Set" drug trafficking ring accused of smuggling tons of marijuana and cocaine into South Texas.

John "Jackie" Eugene Hinson, chief operating officer of Sunjet Executive Aircraft at San Antonio International Airport, entered the guilty plea Thursday. His daughter, Dara Diana Hinson, an executive, pleaded guilty to a misdemeanor, or not reporting a felony. She will be sentenced to 180 days in jail.

Snow, rainfall subsides in state

ATLANTA (AP) — Snowfall in the Texas Panhandle subsided and a warm front expected to bring rain and snow in the early season.

The National Weather Service canceled winter storm warnings last night, after up to 6 inches fell in Boise City, 6 inches fell in Perryton and Dalhart received 5 inches.

Flights were canceled and delayed in the Panhandle as heavy rain froze over runways Thursday.

Gov. Ann Richards urges support for Proposition 12 on the Nov. 5 ballot while holding Janette Cruz, 4, who lives in a colonia north of Mercedes. Proposition 12 would provide money for colonia water and sewer improvement.

Governor: OK Prop. 12

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Ann Richards says all Texans suffer from the substandard conditions of colonias and would benefit by approving Proposition 12 next week to provide money for water and sewer improvements in them.

"The state has the responsibility to help Texans who have been victims of unscrupulous promoters and as a result are living in Third World conditions," Richards said Thursday.

Many colonia residents often lack running water or indoor plumbing. Some must obtain water for from agricultural irrigation canals, and some colonias are plagued by health problems and high disease rates because of the unsanitary conditions.

"Many of us in Texas take decent sewers and clean water for granted," said the Rev. Nehemiah Davis of Fort Worth. "However, that day has not yet arrived for the 200,000 people living in the colonias along the Texas-Mexico border and Mercedes, the governor said children living in such developments deserve better.

It's a form of child abuse, Richards said, for children "not having the equal opportunity to have clean water, to grow up healthy."

The governor said all Texans will suffer if the colonias aren't improved. She noted reports of cholera in Northern Mexico and other health problems along the Rio Grande.

In other election developments: — The Texas Rural Water Association urged support for Proposition 10, which would give property tax breaks to non-profit water supply and sewer service corporations.

"About 2.5 million rural Texans are served by non-profit water suppliers. In their absence, the state would surely have to finance the provision of water and wastewater service in these areas," said Tom Duck, the group's executive director.

Bush hits campaign trail in Texas

HOUSTON (AP) — President Bush kicked off the fund-raising portion of his re-election campaign Thursday night by accusing Democrats of playing politics with an unemployment benefits bill and trying to "ram it down my ear."

"I think it's a crying shame to play politics when people are hurting in this country," a bellicose Bush declared in his adopted hometown at the first in a series of $1,000-a-plate "Bush-Quayle '92" fundraising banquets.

With his popularity in the polls sagging in the face of a series of pessimistic reports on the economy, Bush sought to place the blame for the slow pace of the recovery on Democrats.

"People are tired of this kind of old thinking, old politics," Bush declared.

He also moved to meet head-on

"We live in an integrated world. In that world, you can't divide foreign policy from domestic policy. I'm not going to let Democratic carping keep me from leading."
 President Bush

York and Washington.

Bush came out swinging at Democrats as he launched a campaign he formally doesn't acknowledge exists. He isn't expected to announce his candidacy until early next year, but with Thursday night's dinner the fund-raising part of the campaign moved into high gear.

The president joined Vice President Dan Quayle at the fund-raising dinner that was the first in a series of events designed to bring in close to $30 million for Bush's primary-season expenses.

Bush focused much of his speech on defending his veto earlier this month of a Democratic-sponsored bill to extend unemployment benefits for 20 weeks beyond the 26 weeks now provided by law.

The president has backed a more modest proposal sponsored by Senate Republican Leader Bob Dole, R-Kans., but Bush said Democrats won't consider it.

"I want to see the Democrats in the Senate lay politics aside and help those whose unemployment benefits have run out," Bush asserted.

"They could get something signed by me tomorrow," he said.

But, he declared, "the Democrats want to ram it down my ear in a political victory and I'm going to veto their bill (again) if they send it down in a way that's going to bust this budget again. And they can mark that one down."

Bush also defended his environmental policies, including his support for limited development of oil resources in Alaska.

He cited what he called were overblown claims by environmentalists that the building of the Alaska pipeline more than a decade ago would decimate the region's caribou population.

Caribou are so plentiful "You got to shake them away with a stick," Bush asserted. "They're all making love lying against the pipeline."

Gorilla will be moved to Bronx Zoo

CLEVELAND (AP) — A judge Thursday refused to prevent the transfer of a gorilla from Cleveland to a zoo in New York for breeding despite the pleas of animal rights activists who fear he will miss a female companion.

The decision cleared the way for the transfer of Timmy, a 500-pound mature gorilla.

U.S. District Judge Alice Batchelder dismissed a request for a court order to block the transfer of Timmy, a 33-year-old gorilla who has lived at Cleveland Metroparks Zoo for 25 years.

She said the Cleveland zoo and the Bronx Zoo arranged the transfer according to federal laws pertaining to endangered species. There was no reason under the law to stop the transfer, which should be considered interstate commerce, the judge said.

Gloria Homolak, a lawyer representing the animal-rights group Network for Ohio Animal Action, argued that the gorilla might be harmed physically or emotionally by the transfer.

KATIE

is the gorilla's relationship with his mate at the Cleveland zoo, Katie, a 32-year-old infertile female.

"The proper exercise of power of the federal court is certainly every bit as compelling as the welfare of Cleveland's gorilla, no matter how beloved he may be," the judge said.

There are four fertile female gorillas at the New York zoo.

Syrian official calls Shamir a terrorist

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Syria's foreign minister held up a 1948 "wanted poster" of Yitzhak Shamir at the Mideast peace talks today, accusing the Israeli prime minister of killing a Swedish peacemaker 43 years ago.

Shamir was in those days one of the commanders of the Stern gang, an underground organization which fought the British rulers of Palestine to obtain Jewish independence.

The poster seeks Shamir in connection with the Jerusalem assassination of Count Folke Bernadotte, a Swedish diplomat mediating the Arab-Jewish dispute.

Although responsibility for the assassination has never been firmly established, Shamir has made no secret of his history as part of the Stern gang and justifies the group's violence as essential to the struggle for independence that led to the creation of Israel in 1948.

At the peace conference, mutual recriminations between Israel and Syria began Thursday, when Shamir accused Syria of mistreating its Jews and Syria accused Israel of mistreating Palestinians.

AL-SHARAA DISPLAYS WANTED POSTER

It escalated today when Shamir accused Syria of fostering terrorism and being one of the most "tyrannical regimes" in the world.

Shamir himself had already left the hall to return to Israel for the Jewish Sabbath when Foreign Minister Farouk al-Sharaa launched his personal attack.

Other members of the Israeli delegation smiled in derision when the Syrian made his accusations.

Abandoning the prepared text of his speech, al-Sharaa held up the reproduction of the wanted poster.

"I really had hoped to focus on peace, for which we have come. But before that, I shall just show you a photograph, an old photograph, of Mr. Shamir at the age of 32," said al-Sharaa.

"Why was this picture distributed? Because he was wanted. He himself recognized that he was a terrorist, that he practiced terrorism, and that he helped in the assassination of Count Bernadotte, the U.N. mediator in Palestine, as it was called in 1948," he said. "He killed peace mediators."

Arab delegates gave al-Sharaa a loud ovation.

Benjamin Netanyahu, Israel's deputy foreign minister, later said al-Sharaa was "breaking the elementary rule of courtesy" in launching the personal attack, and that it made him wonder whether Syria ever was committed to peace negotiations.

Three years ago, two members of the Stern gang, known in Hebrew as Lohamei Herut Israel (LEHI), or fighters for the freedom of Israel, revealed their role in the assassination.

They said Bernadotte was slain because he planned to grant the United Nations control over Jerusalem and hand over key areas to the Arabs.

The two men did not mention Shamir and the prime minister's aides denied his involvement, contending that LEHI was officially disbanded about four months before the killing.

But ex-LEHI leader Yisrael Scheib-Eldad, asked specifically about Shamir's involvement, said the group's commanders approved the killing "and I don't remember anyone opposing it."

He added that Shamir's aides have denied his involvement "and I would not think of denying (the) denial."

ACLU supports nude poster display

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — The American Civil Liberties Union says shipyard workers have the right to display posters of nude women in work areas and will help appeal a landmark sexual harassment ruling.

Florida ACLU Executive Director Robyn Blumner said that a January decision by U.S. District Judge Howell W. Melton, which banned sexually suggestive posters and calendars at Jacksonville Shipyards Inc., violates the First Amendment's guarantee of free expression.

"The First Amendment is abrogated when the federal court forces the shipyards to remove legal materials from their walls," Ms. Blumner said.

The ACLU decided Thursday to join the shipyards' appeal, she said.

Melton ruled that some 30 posters of nude and semi-nude women around the shipyards, mostly on tool supply calendars, sexually harassed Lois Robinson, a welder who filed a complaint in 1986.

Coastal areas assess storm damage

(AP) Coastal communities from Maine to Florida began assessing damage today as they rode out the last hours of a fierce Atlantic storm that washed away buildings and roads, eroded beaches and was blamed for as many as four deaths.

The intense extra-tropical storm was expected to end its coastal attack today. Meanwhile, a separate storm continued to dump heavy snow from the Rockies to Texas to the Great Lakes region.

Things were ugly along the East Coast.

"It looks like someone ripped open the ocean floor and dumped it on the roadway," said Ilyas Bhatti of Revere, Mass.

He characterized the scene up and down the coast, which was littered with demolished seawalls, flattened homes, torn-up beaches and ruined roads.

Among the casualties was President Bush's vacation home in Ken-

Thousands of Massachusetts and Connecticut residents were forced to flee their oceanfront homes.

Peace laureate learns she won prize

OSLO, Norway (AP) — Pro-democracy leader Aung San Suu Kyi, under house arrest in Burma, knows she won the 1991 Nobel Peace Prize and is delighted, the awards committee said today.

Francis Sejersted, chairman of the Oslo-based committee, said a very reliable source confirmed that Mrs. Suu Kyi knows about the award.

"She was said to be delighted and referred to the prize as an encouragement to positive developments in Burma," said Sejersted.

Mrs. Suu Kyi has little contact with the outside world and it was not clear after the award on Oct. 14 whether she was told of it.

The 46-year-old laureate will probably not attend the Dec. 10 awards ceremony in Oslo. The junta has said she can leave but would not be re-admitted to Burma, an option she has rejected.

Parliament OKs increase in powers

MOSCOW (AP) — The Russian parliament gave preliminary approval today to President Boris Yeltsin's demand for increased political powers to implement radical reforms in the most powerful Soviet republic.

The 858-16 vote, with 11 abstentions, came as Yeltsin's government formally cut off funding to at least 70 Soviet ministries based on Russian soil in a move to cut the costly and inefficient national bureaucracy.

The decision to cut funding to the Soviet ministries, not including defense and transportation, could shut down much of the Moscow-based central government, which has repeatedly backed away from economic reforms.

The proposal for allowing Yeltsin additional powers would give him the ability to reorganize all levels of executive power and would freeze most local elections until Dec. 3, 1992.

Ozone layer is getting thinner

A few years from now, beachgoers may need to bundle up, even during the sweltering summer season. That's the grim impression left by a panel of 80 scientists last week. The ozone layer is diminishing faster than previously predicted, the scientists warned the United Nations. More cancer-causing ultraviolet rays will bombard people exposed to sunlight.

The rays also could affect crops. That's particularly true because the U.N. program's latest research shows that the ozone layer is thinning across our hemisphere during the spring and summer, when most crops are planted and grown, as well as during the winter.

Unlike global warming, depletion of Earth's ozone layer is not just a theory. It's a measurable phenomenon. It can be tied to specific causes, namely, the chlorofluorocarbons used in refrigerators, air conditioners and propellants used to make foam plastics.

Both scientists and political leaders seem to agree on that. As a result, the Montreal Protocol established deadlines for phasing out ozone-depleting chemicals throughout the world.

But good political intentions alone won't reverse the damage to the ozone layer. The most recent U.N. report suggests that giving developed countries until 2000 to phase out ozone-depleting chemicals — and 2010 for most developing nations — is slow.

William Reilly, administrator of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, predicts a 3 percent decrease in the ozone layer during the next 10 years. If true, we can expect 10 percent more skin cancer cases.

Du Pont Co. deserves credit for voluntarily speeding up its phaseout of chlorofluorocarbons and other ozone-depleting substances. Other chemical companies should follow suit.

The U.N. study is clear: We can't procrastinate. To do so would be an act of exceptional generational selfishness.

Catfish has reached November of his life

The first years of his life, my dog Catfish, the black Lab, was a quiet dog. Hardly ever barked, part of the reason being he usually had something like one of my shoes, a remote control device or a piece of my furniture in his mouth.

As a young dog, Catfish chewed up two of my address books.

But when he wasn't chewing, he didn't do too much barking, either. He was either sleeping, chasing his tennis ball, or salivating on my trousers as he stood beside me at the kitchen table watching me eat.

But Catfish is eight now. Hard to believe.

That's 56 dog years. Catfish is in the November of his years. Me, I'm the fourth of October.

I admit things bug me a little more than they once did. Once I could listen to a newscast without getting my blood pressure up. Now I rant at the screen, muttering such things as "That's what's wrong with this country!" or "Damned Japanese!"

Over the past several months I have noticed the same sort of thing happening to Catfish. He doesn't rant at the newscast, but he has become noticeably more apt, suddenly, to bark out, run through the house willy-nilly (or milli-vanilli, if you prefer) and, simply, get himself in an utter blather.

Also he doesn't sleep as soundly as he once did. Often in the middle of the night he will awaken me with a howl from hell.

"What on Earth?" I will scream, rising up from sleep.

I don't know why I ask Catfish questions like that because I am fully aware he can't answer me.

But I suppose somewhere, hidden away from reality, is the idea I will say to Catfish in the middle of the night, "What on Earth?" and he will reply, "It's the speech patrol, Dad! They've come to kill you for being insensitive to the gay-lesbian coalition in your last column."

Frankly I have no idea what Catfish barks at in the middle of the night. Perhaps he thinks he hears a squirrel in the backyard. The squirrel is Catfish's sworn enemy. He wants to catch one, I think, and tear it limb from limb for being faster than he is, which is the primary reason he's never caught a squirrel and never will, adding to his obvious frustration.

Catfish is given to barking fits in the daytime, too. He barks at the bug guy. I think he wants to eat his hat.

He barks at the mailperson. He barks at the guys who, on Tuesday, come to get the garbage and make a lot of noise and hurt his ears.

One Monday he started barking at no target I could determine. Then I figured, "He's barking at the very idea of the garbagemen will be here in less than 24 hours."

There are simply not that many tangible things around my house to send a dog into as many barking fits as Catfish has been having lately.

I think he has begun to bark at intangibles: ideas, the wind, old memories of his swifter days, darkness turning into light and light turning into darkness.

I think he barks now at approaching old age, at the fact Alpo is now making a cat food, for God's sakes. At the fact things are changing so quickly around him he can't keep up with it, and that squirrels just get younger and faster every day.

They say if people live with a pet long enough, they will begin to resemble their pets. Maybe personalities grow together, too.

There's a lot out there that's getting younger and faster on me, too; and baseball players are wearing earrings, for God's sakes.

We're both running toward twilight, I suppose, barking at a moon that was once our friend. Now, it simply hangs there and, tells us another day is lost forever.

Fanatical intolerance of intolerance

By GARY SHANKS Staff Writer

In accordance with the rules of political correctness, the Spring City PC Corps has declared that persons making statements such as, "He/she looks like a bison, weener dog, window dresser, etc.," will be sentenced to read L. Ron Hubbard books, or death for lesser offenses.

This whole political correctness thing is starting to make me see red. Oh! I'm sorry. I mean it's beginning to influence my vision toward the non-blue/yellow.

I suppose there are some folks around here who haven't heard of this new trend in communication.

Political correctness seeks to remove all racial, sexual, social and religious bias by restricting the English language in such a way as to remove all terms and phrases that could possibly be interpreted as bias.

What they're doing, however, is siphoning meaning from the language, and practicing their own form of totalitarianism.

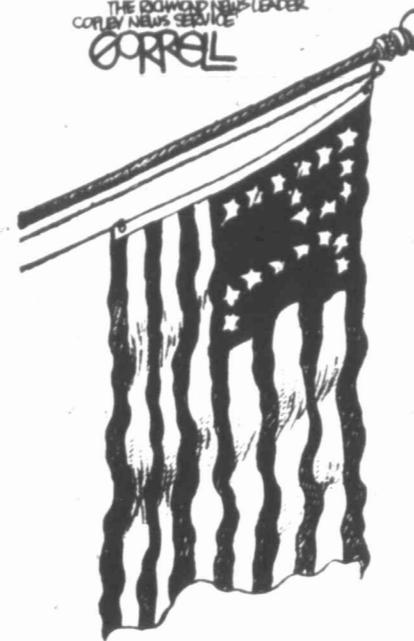

The idea has been around for a long time. But only recently has it been taken to the fanatical extreme.

For instance: There used to be mentally retarded people. But after a while, the term retarded just seemed to become too harsh — even an insult.

So in the 70s, these people became mentally handicapped, which was OK for a while.

This term now has fallen into disfavor with the political correctness patrol, however, as it implies that there is something wrong with the differently abled or the mentally challenged.

Look I'm sorry that the world is such a cruel place, but even if these political correctness pinheads succeed in violating the first amendment right to freedom of expression, no one is going to want to see a differently abled surgeon, or be defended in court by a mentally challenged attorney.

The nation's campuses are becoming hotbeds of political correctness. Professors are being ousted, entire courses are being obliterated because they've run afoul of one branch of PC or another.

The basic tenet here is to promote multicultural studies, but at the expense of the study of Western civilization. Under PC regulations, the works of Walt Whitman are not as desirable as those of ethnic poets for no other reason than his being a white male.

Here's another example: The term for black people gets changed about every 10 years or so.

The original word Negro was a scientific term — just like Caucasian.

This was changed to colored; then it became black; then Afro-American; then black again.

Now the PCers say African Americans or, get this, people of color.

I think most of my black friends would laugh at being called a person of color.

I'm sorry, but I'm not going to keep changing my language for no clear reason. I never refer to anyone's race unless absolutely necessary. And I always use the delineation as an adjective and not a noun, e.g. a group of black people — not a group of blacks; an Asian woman, etc.

And if that's not good enough for the political correctness brigade (which is comprised largely of overprivileged white kids), then they can just kiss... Ask me why PC is so upsetting and I'll give you four reasons:

1. It teaches, nay! it dogmatizes, intolerance. And the only tool in the world capable of correcting racism, sexism or any other "ism" — is tolerance. Tolerance of different ideas, cultures, religions etc., is the only path to social harmony I've found (and I've been looking.)
2. It is attempting to remove prejudice by forbidding certain topics from ever being discussed or examined. This inhibits learning. Learning and understanding are, of course, the only way to truly change biased attitudes.
3. It treats with deference, hypersensitive people. These are people whose sensitivities are so acute and manifold that other people's lives offend them.

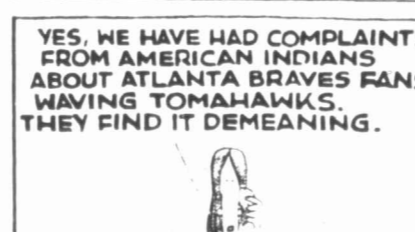

Example:

Normal sensitivity — can't stand the thought of child pornography because children, being too young to decide for themselves, are victimized by it.

Hypersensitivity — can't stand the thought of a mechanic having a swim suit calendar on his tool box, because it's an offense to women for men to look at such things.

4. It causes people who are not in any way biased toward sex or ethnicity to defend themselves — just as I have done.

Hasta la vista.

Voters urged to stand against crime

By RICK HAMBY

I would like to urge the voters of Howard County to take a stand against crime. While I am not one of those who believes the criminal justice system in our state is broken, it is beginning to make some strange noises. Its condition has left judges, prosecutors and law enforcement, from top to bottom, frustrated.

On November 5 Texans will be given an opportunity through Proposition 4 to allow the expansion of our prison system by over 25,000 cells. 12,000 of these spaces would be utilized as a way to inhibit the unremitting cycle of crime generated by substance abusers and would be dedicated to their treatment and rehabilitation. Yet it is the violent offenders and their premature release who are the cause for most concern.

The bottom line is that we must have the capacity to hold the violent offenders in the prisons where they were sent for the period of time that justice dictates without resorting to the helter-skelter release of violent offenders merely to satisfy the sometimes ill-advised dictates of federal guidelines.

Ten of the top 30 crime-ridden metropolitan areas in America are in our state. We rank second in the nation in crimes committed and arrests. Our West Texas common sense points to a lack of prison space as being one of the major causes for this trend — if a would-be criminal knows he may be released from custody before he has even had time to be taken to prison, there is little deterrent to crime.

This is not to denigrate in any way the fact that prison serves more of a purpose than merely to be a place to keep someone from society for a certain period of time. A vital aspect of prison is, in an ideal world, to serve as a place for rehabilitation and to give an offender the opportunity to rethink the conduct that resulted in his punishment. It is proper that such a person be sent back into society, after a suitable period of time, with a reborn notion that his behavior was wrong and, if he should resort to such behavior again, his future punishment will be fitting.

Under the current conditions even those individuals who might benefit from the rehabilitative aspects of prison have to be neglected in order to meet quotas that result in the early release of prisoners. Too often this release is after such a short period of time that even the most liberal of social commentators are shocked.

One of the most compelling arguments for voting for Proposition 4 is found in the statistic that of the five most populous states, Texas and Florida have relied the most on early release as a policy when confronted with inadequate prison capacity. The crime rate in each state has increased dramatically since 1980, up 29.7% in Texas and 29.1% in Florida. In contrast, California is in the midst of an unprecedented prison building program that was initiated to deal with the problem, and the increase in crime there has been held to a scant 2% in the same time period.

It is too easy to attach blame to the Board of Pardons and Paroles for a policy that has resulted in the premature release of violent criminals. They are doing the best job they know how given the limitations with which they have to work. No one in a rational world believes that violent criminals should not be punished appropriately.

However, the resources to accomplish that goal do not exist in Texas, and that is the long and the short of it. We are all conscious of the fact that positive measures are going to cost money. It appears that many of the propositions to appear on the November 5th ballot may dip into our pockets, and it is not the purpose of this letter to speak for or against the merits of any of those measures, only the critical necessity of enacting Proposition 4.

Some things that result in savings (lives, money, and heartache) may cost some money initially. It is because we have been unwilling in the past to spend the money needed for sufficient prison expansion that we find ourselves with this problem.

For us to act immediately is still too late for many innocent victims; it will be years before the benefits of Proposition 4 can be in place. But we must make a beginning.

Give Texas the resources it needs to advance programs that will save those souls who will profit from rehabilitation and appropriately punish those who will not. Vote "Yes" to Proposition 4 on November 5th — for the sake of us all.

Money

DEAR DR. GRABAND and I have been a year, and we see time making ends meet. Does the Bible say money is the root of all evil? I don't know, but I do know that money is the root of all evil. I don't know, but I do know that money is the root of all evil.

The most important thing is to get it in the bank. That's what we need. Money is the root of all evil. I don't know, but I do know that money is the root of all evil.

Tragically, how people make their money is not their main, all-consuming life. When that is made money, it is made money. You can't have it all. You can't have it all. You can't have it all.

Church heavily influences Afro-American community

By MARTHA E. FLORES
Staff Writer

Traditionally, the attendance of church has been a major influence in African-American society from a sociological standpoint, said Rosalie Beck, assistant professor of religion at Baylor University in Waco.

And it is still a major social institution in the Afro-American community.

"It has been a major source of identity and a community builder," she said. "When they found no sense of identity within the community, they could look within the religious structure. People would establish who they were in the church."

The service is one of participation and involvement. "Traditionally, African-American churches are more involved and much more exuberant during the service than other churches," said Beck. "I hope, the term for singing a sermon, is very encouraging to the congregation."

Church was one of the few places where African-American men could take a leadership role. The Civil Rights movements enhanced the ability of ministers to influence society.

African-American society found its identity and a voice in the church during a time when it was not acceptable to seek elsewhere or to speak out.

The service with its participatory angle allowed the people attending to join in and be a part of something wonderful and joyful.

Hands to heaven

BEAUMONT, Texas (AP) — Twenty people gathered for the mid-week church service to sing praises to God and hear his word.

The pastor put a finger to his lips and furrowed his brow, quieting talking children. He then returned to his message, preaching with a quick wit that kept his congregation laughing.

Overall, the service proceeded as usual, with singing, an offering, the sermon and a closing prayer, but in an unusual setting — Southeast Texas' first Pentecostal deaf church.

Anointed Hands Deaf Assembly meets in the fellowship hall behind Victory Temple, 2630 S. 11th St. The church is two years old.

Unlike some churches that might provide a sign language interpreter in a hearing service, Pastor William Olivarez Jr., or Pastor Bill, uses total communication, signing and speaking, to get his message across.

His message on Abraham (the sign for Abraham is the right fist on the left elbow) admonished the church not to make choices without first consulting the Lord (right thumb and fourth finger in 'L' shape, moving from left shoulder to right hip). Periodic choruses of "Amen" (right fist with thumb up hitting on left palm) echoed the congregation's approval.

Pastor Bill is not deaf, but he is fluent in sign language. The deaf members of his congregation speak, read lips and use sign language to communicate. They said having their own signing pastor makes all the difference.

"This is really good," said Rosie Markham, 33, of Beaumont. "It's much better to have a preacher that knows how to sign. I like the preaching. I've learned a lot."

Markham learned about deaf services when an interpreter visited her. "I've been coming to Victory Temple for four years for the interpreter service. The interpreter took me to church, and I learned about God," she said. "I would like other deaf people to come and learn and fellowship. They must."

Jerrilyn Tarver, 23, of Beaumont, agreed.

"I grew up hearing-impaired and going to the hearing church. I missed a lot there, but I'm learning so much here. We're allowed that opportunity here to learn," she said. "In the hearing church, they threw out so much. Here, the message is presented in units, and it's easier to understand."

She said the deaf church has drawn her closer to God.

"It's changed my life a lot, and it's still changing me. The deaf church is different. It's wonderful," she said.

But many deaf people do not attend church.

"A lot of time, the deaf don't go to church because there are only hearing churches to go to, and they don't understand so much of the service there," Tarver said.

Co-pastor Charles Shoemaker said only 1 percent of the deaf population across America goes to church.

"Many, many, many are isolated out there, and we have a burden to reach out to these deaf people," he said. "There are more than 600 deaf people in the Golden Triangle alone. We hope they will hear about our church and say, 'Thank God,' and come here."

Olivarez said Assemblies of God recognizes the need to minister to the deaf and is therefore starting churches like his.

"The Assembly of God church has named this the 'Decade of Deaf Harvest,'" he said.

His wife, Judy, who is deaf, invited deaf people in the community to visit the church. "My heart is burdened for the deaf in the Golden Triangle," she said. "I encourage the deaf to come and understand what God wants for them. God wants to bring the deaf into church, because He loves them."

Not all of the congregation's members are deaf.

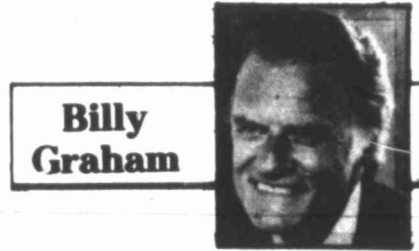

Money is a servant

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: My husband and I have been married only a year, and we seem to have a hard time making ends meet financially. Does the Bible say anything about money or is it really concerned about such things? We want to do what is right. — Mrs. S.C.

DEAR MRS. S.C.: Yes, the Bible says a great deal about money and how we should view it. Money, after all, influences almost everything we do — and God is concerned about every aspect of our lives.

The most important thing the Bible says about money is that we need to get it in a right perspective — that we need to make sure money and the things it can buy don't become more important in our lives than they should. Money, you see, should be a servant, not a master.

Tragically, however, many people make the pursuit of money their main, all-consuming goal in life. When that is the case, we have made money an idol, for we have allowed it to replace God. Jesus warned, "No one can serve two masters. ... You cannot serve both God and Money" (Matthew 6:24).

Billy Graham

The Bible also warns, "People who want to get rich fall into temptation and a trap and into many foolish and harmful desires that plunge men into ruin and destruction. For the love of money is a root of all kinds of evil" (1 Timothy 6:9-10).

The Bible also encourages us to be practical about money — to avoid needless and unwise debt, for example, and to budget our money carefully (including a portion for God's work). Jesus said, "Suppose one of you wants to build a tower. Will he not first sit down and estimate the cost to see if he has enough money to complete it?" (Luke 14:28).

Make sure you and your husband have committed your lives — and your marriage — to Christ. Then ask Him to help you avoid the traps money can bring, and to use wisely the money God gives you.

Baptist General Convention

WACO — More than 8,000 Baptists from throughout the state are expected to convene in Waco Nov. 11-12 for the annual meeting of the 2.5-million-member Baptist General Convention of Texas.

The messengers from many of the 5,400 Texas Baptist churches and missions will elect officers, hear messages and conduct business of the convention and its 23 educational and benevolent institutions.

The 193-member BGCT Executive Board will present a proposed Cooperative Program missions budget of $63.5 million, and a $68.8 million overall giving goal for 1992.

Also, the board will recommend a plan whereby Baylor University, Waco, would maintain a relationship with the BGCT in the wake of the school's revising its charter to establish a board of regents in September, 1990.

Under the plan drafted by convention and university officers and approved by the Committee on BGCT/Baylor Relationship, the convention would directly elect 25 percent of the regents, and Baylor would consider convention suggestions for the remaining 75 percent.

Coahoma Church of Christ 311 N. 2nd

First Baptist Church, Coahoma, Tx. celebrated its 100th anniversary in April of this year. The event recognized those who founded the church and those who played significant roles in establishing the church. But perhaps the most significant part of the celebration was the emphasis upon revival, not just for the church, but for the community as a whole. Revival meetings were held as part of the 100th anniversary celebration. During those meetings 27 people came to know Christ as their Lord and Savior. Not all of them were baptized into the membership of FBC Coahoma. Some were baptized into the membership of other Baptist churches in the area. For various reasons, some were even baptized into the membership of churches affiliated with other denominations. All of which serves to emphasize the philosophy here at Coahoma. The concern is not whether a person is a Baptist or not, but whether they are a Christian or not. The desire is that everyone has an opportunity to be "born again." Simply put, the desire is to give people the opportunity to have an encounter with the Lord Jesus Christ as they have never had before and one that changes their lives forever. That experience when a person first acknowledges his sin, realizes there is nothing he can do about his sin, believes Jesus died for his sin, and asks Jesus to forgive him his sin and come into his heart to reign as Lord is called in the Bible the experience of being born again, or being saved. Whether a person is saved or not is far more important than whether a person is a Baptist or not. However, we are a Baptist church. We believe the Bible is the Holy Spirit inspired word of God. We support home and foreign missionaries through the Southern Baptist Convention. We also cling to some of the age old traditions of Baptist beliefs, not just because our forefathers did so, but because we believe those beliefs of our Baptist heritage are based upon a sound interpretation of the Bible. Since the revival meetings, God has continued to send a spirit of revival to FBC Coahoma. People continue to be saved and baptized into the membership of the church. A sense of unity and the presence of the Holy Spirit is evident at each worship service. The membership is growing in number and in attendance. But more importantly, it is growing in spirit and in the likeness of Jesus Christ. FBC at Coahoma extends an open invitation to all who are looking for a church that is excited about what God is doing in their midst, and is striving to meet the spiritual needs of people who are hurting.

Tough lessons

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: Twelve years ago, I received a personal letter from you in response to my frantic plea asking how to handle my alcoholic husband. You became my special friend. When my mother died, you called me at home. I will never forget that. Now I want to give something back; it's some advice to your readers from my own experience.

In a recent column, a John C. Seaman, referring to his personal experience with alcohol and drug abuse, said, "I recommend intervention to anyone who is frustrated by another person's drinking or using. You don't have to wait for someone to 'hit bottom,' which could ultimately be death." Those words hit close to home!

My husband's alcoholism ultimately led, although indirectly, to his death. For 12 years I tried to help him, and finally we agreed that he should enter an alcohol and drug abuse program in an area hospital. Six weeks after his release, he resumed drinking. I tried "tough love" and moved him out of our house, saying he could return when he got back on the program and quit drinking.

Well, he wasn't strong enough to quit drinking, nor was he strong enough to fight off the killer who knifed him to death in his motel apartment. It happened in the early hours of April 10, 1991. A drug-crazed man forced his way into my husband's apartment and stabbed him 14 times, then stuffed him into a closet!

Now I have to live with the fact that I let him down. I failed him. It is too late for intervention. So, Abby, please tell your readers to keep trying! Keep trying to rehabilitate your alcoholic or user. Where there is life, there is, at least, hope.

After death, you will want them back so badly, drunk or high, but alive! I, too, recommend intervention along with Mr. Seaman, not out of professional knowledge — but from harsh life experience.

Call a treatment center, as he suggests. Please do not give up! Kindest regards to you, Abby, and love to all of your readers. You may print my name. —

DIANE SMITH
DEAR DIANE: Please accept my condolences on the tragic death of your husband. For those readers who may have missed it, the 24-hour helpline of the McDonald Center for Alcoholism and Drug Addiction Treatment at Scripps Memorial Hospital in La Jolla, Calif., is: 1 (619) 458-4357. That call could be a lifesaver.

This one's for everybody, from teens to seniors! Lionesses meet

As Howard County Lioness arrived at Memorial Hall of Wesley Methodist Church on Oct. 21, those in charge of refreshments were wearing witches clothes and hats.

Lioness President Marguerite Thompson called the regular meeting to order and asked Madeline Boodle to give the invocation and lead the pledge.

Lioness Freda Prince, Alice Cole, Connie Kendrick, Mary Ellen Reagan and former first lady Jo Barbee were introduced as guest from Midland.

Sgt. Stan Parker of the Police Department; Jamie Haas, president of the D-FY-IT Club and Shawna Griffith, treasurer, were introduced and presented the program.

Sgt. Parker explained is the resource officer for the DFYIT Club. The club belongs to and is run by the members. Jamie and Shawna told its purpose is to help youth stay drug free.

Starting in the summer of 1990 with a few interested high school students, they now have close to 800 members, making about 65 percent of the student body as members after only one year. This year 200 to 250 of the 300 plus freshmen have joined.

The Lioness business meeting followed with Kay Clark reading the minutes and Leta Kirby giving the treasurer's report.

District 2-A1 Cabinet Meeting was in San Angelo Oct. 24 & 25.

Red ribbons for a "Drug Free Texas" were given to the five visitors and 11 members attending.

Club improves public speaking

BY JILL COX FOR THE HERALD

Do you get the shakes or trip over your tongue when you speak to groups of people? Does it take you an hour to spit out one sentence that is so riddled with ahs and ums that it sounds like a foreign language?

Perhaps you just want to become more polished speaker and you have no one to practice with.

While most of us are just rolling out of bed, words are rolling smoothly off the tongues of this speech club that meets in the library basement at 6:45 a.m. every Tuesday morning.

Toastmasters of Big Spring was chartered in June 1983. Charter members felt there was a need for people to learn to speak before groups and to learn to effectively voice their opinion. Members also wanted to help develop leaders in the community.

The structure of the meetings are the same weekly. The President of the club opens the meeting, the invocation is given by a clubmember and the pledge of allegiance is said. Guests are then introduced.

The President introduces the Toastmaster who opens with a joke or anecdote to loosen things up. The Toastmaster then introduces the topicmaster who introduces a word or subject that is used by each member in a story or sentence. The object is to practice and be comfortable with impromptu speaking.

Two speakers of the day are introduced by the Toastmaster and speak on topics of their choice. Evaluators critique the speakers and offer ideas on improvement.

Toastmaster Dean Shepherd said "I'm excited about how I've grown with Toastmasters. I've had to get up and speak because of my job, but I've become more polished. Toastmasters teaches you to be funny without being offensive: Also how to retain an audience's attention and gain their participation. You grow week by week."

Awareness is broadened by each individual's speech because the tastes and interests of the members are so diverse.

Although Toastmasters helps members master effective speaking, it also promotes effective listening skills.

In summary, the benefits are great. "Great speakers lead to great statesmen." Polished speaking broadens horizons professionally and lifts self image.

Toastmasters is a supportive group. They encourage learning and growth. If you are interested in the club, Toastmasters is open to "anyone who wants the stimulation" said Dean Shepherd. For more information, contact President Bill Shepherd at 267-5845.

Big Spring (6-1, 2-1) at Pecos (2-5, 0-3)

Gut-check time for the Steers. After last week's debacle at the hands of Sweetwater, Big Spring is in a must-win situation each week in order to gain a playoff berth. Pecos, on the other hand, not only is winless in district play, but has yet to score against their district foes.

Do we predict an upset? Yes, the people of Pecos will probably be upset after this one.

Big Spring 32, Peco 0

Coahoma (5-2-1, 2-2-1) at McCamey (3-5, 2-3)

Though out of the playoff picture, the Bulldogs are still playing competitive ball, nailing Stanton last week. The offense was superb, racking up 374 yards to go along with the 42 points.

The Badgers from McCamey could only muster 29 yards rushing against Iraan last week and could find the going equally tough facing a hardened Coahoma defense.

McCamey could hope the Bulldogs will suffer from bus lag, but don't count on it.

Coahoma 34, McCamey 13

Forsan (0-8, 0-5) at Stanton (0-8, 0-5)

This is the game of the weak in the Crossroads Country as both teams attempt to keep their beaten streaks intact.

The main questions for this game are: Will either of these teams win? Will either of these teams score? Will either of these teams bother showing up?

Yes, both teams will show up to play. Both teams will score. And yes, one of these teams will finally put a notch in the W column.

Stanton will have a happy homecoming and Forsan will have the first pick in next year's NFL draft.

Stanton 20, Forsan 5

Garden City (6-1, 2-1) at Robert Lee (1-6, 0-3)

Pity poor Robert Lee. After what arch-rival Rotan did to Garden City last week, the rabid Barkats will be frothing at the mouth to get back into the win column. In fact, losing might have been the best tonic to keep Garden City from being complacent the remainder of the year.

The last-place Steers, though scoring 12 points against Roscoe, did so with 75 total yards in the contest.

Don't look for Garden City to be too merciful in this one.

Garden City 63, Robert Lee 6

Reagan County (6-1, 2-1) at Colorado City (2-5-1, 0-2-1)

An important game in District 6-3A. With a victory, Reagan County could vault into the district lead. With a victory, Colorado City could climb from the district cellar.

The Wolves have been inept at best on offense, averaging less than seven points per district contest. The defense can keep the team within striking distance of most any district foe.

Reagan County has the ability to put points on the board and a defense that shut down co-district leader Crane to a mere six points.

Weather could play a factor in this one, but the nod either way goes to the Owls.

Reagan County 34, Colorado City 7

Sands (7-0, 2-0) at Grady (3-4, 1-1)

After three losses to start the season, the Grady Wildcats came storming back with an impressive three-game winning streak before being drummed last week by a previously-winless Klondike squad.

On the other hand, the Sands Mustangs are an awesome 31-1 since the 1989 season and are currently ranked third in the polls.

Will the home field advantage be enough for Grady? Hardly, since Sands is on a different world in terms of six-man football.

Sands 46, Grady 6

Six-in-a-row Lady Steers seeking another title

By STEVE BELVIN Sports Editor

Can the Big Spring Lady Steers make it six-in-a-row? What's the major question when the District 3-4A cross country meet is run here Saturday at 10 a.m. at the old air base golf course.

While the question of who's going to win the boys title is really settled, the San Angelo Lake View Chiefs are a clear-cut favorite, the girls championship race should be very close.

Coach Randy Britton's Lady Steers have won five straight district cross country championships. The way the season has gone, the Lake View Maidens could be the meet favorite, but Britton isn't conceding anything.

"Since we've won the sucker five years in-a-row, I'd say we were the girls favorite," said Britton. "When we won our second district championship I knew someday it would end, but I don't want it to end now. We've got a chance."

A lot of Britton's chances depend on junior No. 2 runner Hope Martinez. Martinez, who has a best of 13:38 over a two-mile course, has missed school this week with bronchitis. Britton said she is questionable for Saturday. He said if Martinez can't run, junior Rebecca Trent will take her place.

The Lady Steers will get back junior No. 1 runner Elizabeth Lopez, who's missed a month with a strained quadriceps muscle. Lopez has run a best of 13:36. The Lady Steers' number three runner is sophomore Evy Perez, who's run a 13:56.

"Elizabeth Lopez is a gutsy runner, she's liable to win the whole thing," said Britton. "Everything is starting to come together, the freshmen are growing up real quick. Our freshmen ran real well last week (in Levelland)."

Other members of the Lady Steers squad are freshmen Stephanie Mendoza, Dorothy Trent and Brandy Wheeler and junior Shawnda Wilson.

"Last week Evy Perez ran excellent and Dorothy Trent and Brandy Wheeler ran exceptionally well. Stephanie Mendoza went out too fast, she tried to stay with Hope and experienced stomach cramps," Britton said.

"They (Lady Steers) finally realize how to score a meet, the importance of beating people. It will be hard but we've got a chance without Hope, but it will take a tremendous job by the other kids."

In the boys division, the Lake View Chiefs are solid favorites to win their third consecutive district crown, but Britton thinks his squad can make a run for second place.

The Steers No. 1 runner this season has been junior Lee Christian, who's run a 17:17 over a three-mile course. The No. 2 runner is senior Sammy Gonzales, who has run a 17:44. Other team members include sophomores Chris Padilla, Big Spring Lady Steers junior Hope Martinez, shown here in recent cross country action, is one of the top runners for Big Spring. Saturday the Lady Steers will be seeking their sixth straight district cross country title.

Lorenzo Pena, Mark Rocha, Nathan Trammell, and Jerry Trevino.

"We've got a chance to get second place," said Britton. "It will take the effort of all the kids to beat Andrews. Andrews has only five that really compete."

"I tell the kids just to do the best they can, if they do that, that's all

Baker-Finch shares lead

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — While Ian Baker-Finch is in Pinehurst for the Tour Championship, it sounds like he's doubling as a Chamber of Commerce ad.

"It's a great golf course. It's a great thrill to play here," Baker-Finch said Thursday after his 3-under-par 68 gave him a share of the lead in the $2 million tournament.

"Really, no matter what score you shot while you were out there, it wouldn't really matter too much because it's very special," the British Open champion said.

All week, players have been gushing about the great condition of the Pinehurst No. 2 course. At least half of them still should have been pleased after shooting par or better approaching today's second round.

What made Baker-Finch the happiest was the course design, which he characterized as old-fashioned golf.

Baker-Finch was the last of four golfers to reach 3-under-par and he did it with a second shot at the par-4 18th hole, hitting an 8-iron to within 12 feet.

Also at 68 were John Daly, Russ Cochran and Craig Stadler. Even the long-hitting Daly, who doesn't find much to frown about anyway, was especially happy.

"I did something different. I hit most of the fairways," said Daly, who used his impressive power to birdie each of the three par-5 holes.

Once again, Daly brought up the rear of a field as play began, squeezing in into the event as the last qualifier.

"Since winning the PGA title, Daly has found something else different.

"It's weird, everybody watching you play golf," he said. "Before it was just the marshals."

BYU romps Colorado St.

FORT COLLINS, Colo. (AP) — Near freezing temperatures weren't enough to cool Ty Detmer's hot hand. And 25,000 fans wearing frightful Earle Bruce look-alike masks on this Halloween night couldn't scare up a way to stop the BYU quarterback.

Detmer, having statistically a better season than his Heisman Trophy-winning campaign of 1990, humbled the Western Athletic Conference's top pass defense Thursday night, passing for 337 yards and three touchdowns in Brigham Young's 40-17 romp over Colorado State.

By the time Detmer sat down after three quarters, the Cougars led 40-3. Detmer could do no wrong, completing 23 of 28 passes and repeatedly converting on third-and-long and fourth-down situations. In the first half alone, he hit 20 of 24 passes for 299 yards, staking the Cougars to a 26-3 lead.

All of Detmer's TD passes were to sophomore Eric Drage in the first half. Detmer would have had a fourth TD but Micah Matsuzaki fumbled at the goal line after a 25-yard reception, and teammate Nati Valdez recovered in the end zone for that score.

"He was incredible," Drage said of Detmer. "I don't think we made any great catches because he made them so easy. I actually think he's getting better. He's so smart and he's getting the ball to the right guy every time."

Detmer battled the flu earlier in the week, but BYU coach LaVell Edwards said his quarterback "was as sharp as he's ever been. He's playing better now than at any time in his career at BYU. He makes it look easy."

The Cougars, finally hitting their stride after opening the season with three straight losses, posted their sixth victory in a row and extended their conference record to 5-0.

Colorado State (3-6 overall, 2-4 WAC) lost to BYU for the fifth straight year. Bruce's Colorado State teams previously were pounded by BYU by scores of 52-9 and 45-16.

The Cougars scored on four of their five first-half possessions, marching 70, 75 and 99 yards for three TDs and capitalizing on a short Colorado State punt for the other.

On the game's opening series, Detmer completed five of seven passes, hitting Drage for a 25-yarder on fourth-and-two after the receiver broke away from cornerback Harlan Carroll's attempted tackle at the 20.

Colorado State surprised the Cougars by opening with freshman Anthony Hill at quarterback and employing their full-house "robust" offense and a no-huddle strategy. Kevin Verdugo, who would alternate with Hill at quarterback, kept the drive alive with an 8-yard pass to Brian Copeland on fourth-and-five, and Mike Brown kicked a 29-yard field goal.

But BYU countered with a quick score on Valdez's end-zone recovery.

Detmer hit Drage on a 19-yarder to cap a 99-yard, 10-play drive in the second quarter, and the Cougars made it 26-3 when Detmer hit a wide-open Drage in the rear of the end zone from 5 yards out after Colorado State punter Alan Glazer got off only a 24-yard punt to near midfield.

Howard Lady Hawks could soar above crowd

By STEVE BELVIN Sports Editor

Could it be things keep getting better and better for Coach Royce Chadwick?

When Chadwick came to coach the Howard College Lady Hawks two years ago, the team went 27-5. Last season the Lady Hawks finished 28-4. Both years, they were two games away from the national tournament. Chadwick is expecting bigger and better things this year.

Chadwick unveils his team Saturday in the annual Red-Gray scrimmage at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in Dorothy Garrett Coliseum. The Lady Hawks officially begin the season Monday by hosting the Hardin-Simmons junior varsity at 6 p.m. at Garrett.

Chadwick returns six lettermen, including four players who started at one time or another last season.

"That's an unbelievable plus in a league so tough; every bit of experience counts," said Chadwick. "The league this year is not as overpowering. (Last year) you had Kim R. binson (HC all-American), Shawn Thomas and Twanda Wilson at Odessa and Sheryl Swoopes and Carol Bailey at South Plains. This year there are a lot of young kids in the conference."

Chadwick answers with Kathy Mangram and LeAnn Heinrich returning at guards, Desiree Wallace, Yolanda Wells and Kelly Williams of Coahoma coming back at forward, and Rebecca Brown at post. Mixed with a talented group of freshmen, Chadwick thinks he's got a good mix and so does the rest of the WJCAC. Howard is preseason pick to win the conference.

"We've got Yolanda and Desiree — there's no basketball players in JUCO ball that's better than these two," said Chadwick. "Really us and Odessa have the sophomores. Odessa has a transfer that's going to help them, Stacie Tave. She's 6-foot-1 and from Dallas. Odessa also has Lorna Ware, a 6-foot-1 girl, and Stephanie James back."

"We've looked pretty good in scrimmages. We scrimmaged Wayland (Baptist) twice and they're a top NAIA school. We split with them and outscored them overall."

Chadwick said this year's style of play will be similar to last year. "We hope to play pressure as much as we can. We don't have a post player like Mulu (Tosi) who can run all over them. We'll be more of a finesse team than a power team," he said.

Chadwick said one thing that is going to help the team is the emergence of freshman guards Yumeca White and LaKisha Wiley. "LaKisha Wiley is a good freshman point guard. Yumeca White had made the adaptation from a post player to a guard. The team is more athletic compared to

Riley debuts with Knicks

By The ASSOCIATED PRESS

Four NBA teams are getting a new look on the sidelines with new coaches this season, and three of them get an immediate test in tonight's opening games.

Pat Riley at New York, Jimmy Rodgers at Minnesota and Miami's Kevin Loughery are back after coaching stints with other teams, while Allan Bristow stepped down as vice president of basketball operations to coach at Charlotte. It is his first head coaching job, although he was an assistant at Denver for six years.

Riley, after a one-year hiatus as an NBC broadcaster, returns to coaching with the Knicks when they travel to Orlando.

Riley, the NBA's career leader in winning percentage and playoff victories, compiled that record in nine seasons with the Los Angeles Lakers.

The Hornets play at Boston, where Bristow will get a chance to see No. 1 draft pick Larry Johnson for the first time in a Charlotte uniform.

Johnson signed a contract Wednesday that will pay him nearly $20 million over the next six years. He missed all 27 days of preseason drills, but is expected to play tonight.

"We'll play a different system with an up-tempo offense and a pressure defense," Bristow said.

"With our kind of players I think that's the kind of team we have. It's a fun system. It's fun to play and fun to coach."

Johnson's signing leaves the status of J.R. Reid, the team's No. 1 pick in 1989, uncertain after a disappointing second season.

Rodgers' Timberwolves play to Utah tonight, and Loughery will coach Miami for the first time Saturday night against the Knicks.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. — Miami Heat's Ron Seikaly (left) takes control of the ball as Chicago Bulls Scottie Pippen watches in action Tuesday night. The NBA season starts tonight.

In tonight's other openers, it's Philadelphia at Chicago, Washington at Indiana, Milwaukee at Detroit, Dallas at San Antonio, Golden State at Denver, Cleveland at Portland, the Los Angeles Clippers at Sacramento and Phoenix at Seattle.

Loughery has been a head coach for 13 seasons with five other NBA teams, with a combined record of 341-503. Counting playoffs, none of his NBA teams have finished with a winning record, although he had three successful seasons, including one championship, in three years with the New York Nets of the ABA.

"Players have changed in the last five to six years," Loughery said. "They have to be more involved. As a coach, you can't say, 'This is the way it is, and the only way.' You have to get input from your players, even the young players. "I have my strengths and shortcomings, but I have the ability to get along with people, and I think that's important when dealing with NBA players."

The Knicks dropped to 39-43, 13 fewer victories than 1989-90, and Riley found the challenge irresistible.

The best parts of the Knicks are in the frontcourt with center Patrick Ewing and forwards Charles Oakley and Xavier McDaniel, newly acquired from Phoenix. Backing them up are Kiki Vandeweghe and free agent pickup Anthony Mason, a 6-foot-7, 250-pounder.

Rodgers is making a radical career turnaround, taking over the young Timberwolves after coaching the Celtics from 1988-90.

"Rather than doing a bunch of backtracking and concerning myself with the past, I'm concerning myself about today and tomorrow," Rodgers said. "From this point on, all that matters is showing improvement and growth."

Magic Johnson is recovering from the flu and is expected to sit out the Lakers' opener in Houston. Michael Jordan, who knocked down reports that he will need knee surgery after the season, is going for his sixth straight scoring title and will lead the Bulls in pursuit of a second straight NBA title.

When coach Phil Jackson was asked how the rest of the league might block the Bulls, his answer was direct: "I don't think anything can keep us from winning the championship, except ourselves."

Chicago's lineup — Jordan, Horace Grant, Scottie Pippen, Bill Cartwright and John Paxson — is intact from the 61-21 club that cruised to the championship by winning 15 of 17 in the playoffs.

past teams. I'm more excited about this crew than any other group. If this group isn't exceptional, then I'll be disappointed," he said.

Chadwick is assisted by wife Lisa. Here is what Chadwick had to say about this year's squad:

Rebecca Brown, 6-1, soph., post, Jayton — "Rebecca Brown has probably improved more in a year than any player I've ever coached. She's a very solid inside player."

LeAnn Heinrich, 5-8, soph., guard, Slaton — "She's our 'ace in the hole' shooter. She gives us the range we've lacked in the past. She'll make a difference in the program."

Kathy Mangram, 5-9, soph., guard, Matador — "She's as talented as anybody we have."

Desiree Wallace, 5-11, soph., forward, Amarillo — "She's a big-time major college player. She's quick, can jump and she's big. The only thing standing in her way is some respiratory problems; asthma."

Yolanda Wells, 6-0, soph., forward, Houston — "Yolanda is the best player in junior college women's basketball in the state. She has major college potential, a big-time player."

Kelly Williams, 5-11, soph., forward, Coahoma — "Kelly will play forward. Her experience last year will make her a major factor this year on our team."

Vernetra Allen, 5-7, fresh, guard, San Angelo — "She has unlimited potential. She has a chance to be a great basketball player in '92-93. She has to be patient in learning the five-on-five skills required in college."

Regina Huff, 5-10, fresh, forward, Corpus Christi — "Regina's been our biggest surprise. She's going to play post and could be the best rebounder on our team. She's a lot like Lisa Moore (former HC forward)."

Dina Rosner, 5-7, fresh, guard, Blessing — "She is a solid, methodical point guard. She can bring it down and set the table for the others."

Kim Smith, 5-11, fresh, forward, Nashville, Tenn. — "A tremendous athlete. She's working on making the transition from post to guard. Her future is in '92-93."

Kim Stanley, 6-3, fresh, post, Los Angeles — "She's very raw on the skills. She has the ability to become a very good player. It will come with a lot of hard work and patience."

Yumeca White, 5-6, fresh, guard, Dallas — "She's a post player that's now playing point guard. She has the skills to fill the job well. She has stepped up the quality of her play to get the job done."

LeKisha Wiley, 5-5, fresh, guard, Crosbytown — "She may be the best freshman point guard in the conference. She can do everything we need, shoot, drive, set the table — and she's a good leader. She's got a chance to be the best point guard at Howard since I've been here."

Anita Wright, 5-9, fresh, guard, Odessa — "She's similar to LeAnn (Heinrich). She's a great shooter. She is a very intelligent basketball player, she doesn't make very many fundamental mistakes."

Borden County (5-3, 2-1) at Loraine (2-6, 2-1)

Both teams remain in the playoff picture, with Borden County soundly whipping the Trent Gorillas last week, and Loraine beating a hapless Highland squad.
However, don't let district records fool you. The Coyotes are an up-and-coming team with a solid nucleus of players. Loraine should be the "7-Up" of six-man football. "Never had it, never will."
The Coyotes are one step closer to locking down second place in District 9.
Borden County 37, Loraine 12

Flo Jo turns into cross country runner

NEW YORK (AP) — Remember Florence Griffith Joyner, who not only ran dazzling world record times in the 100-meter and 200-meter dashes in 1988 but was attired in a dazzling array of colorful running outfits? She's coming back ... as an unglamorous road racer. "I've gone from the glamour of the track to the dirt of the streets," she said with a laugh Thursday.

She will make her comeback debut as a competitive road racer Jan. 19 in a 5-kilometer (3.1-mile) race in conjunction with the Miami Mile. There will be several other events on the program, including the men's elite mile with world record-holder Steve Cram of Britain, 1988 Olympic 1,500-meter gold medalist Peter Rono of Kenya and 1991 Fifth Avenue Mile winner

Mathew Yates of Britain, the women's elite mile with former NCAA champion Suzy Favor, and the men's Masters mile with Rod Dixon of New Zealand and Wilson Waigwa of Kenya. The biggest attraction, however, promises to be Griffith Joyner. Still a paragon of glamour and glitz off the track, FloJo is ready to get down and dirty as a road racer. She dabbled at the 5K distance twice recently, running that far in non-competitive events Oct. 12 at Griffith Park in Los Angeles and Oct. 16 at Chicago. The first time, wearing sweats and jumping in at the back of the pack, she ran with her husband, Al Joyner, the 1984 Olympic triple jump champion, and a nephew in a race to benefit the homeless. The second time she again ran with her husband — and beat him for the second straight time — "and the boys from Mercy Home." Neither of her times was close to world class — 23 minutes, 3 seconds, at Los Angeles, 20:53.37 at Chicago. The world best is 14:57, shared by Judi St. Hilaire of the United States and Liz McColgan of Britain. But the fact that Griffith Joyner reduced her time by more than two minutes within four days was encouraging. By the time of the Miami race, Griffith Joyner expects to be more competitive, since she will have run several more low-key 5k races before then. After conquering the 5k, she wants to run 10 kilometers (6.2 miles), 15 kilometers (9.3 miles) and eventually a marathon (26 miles, 385 yards).

Burns signs in Vegas

LAS VEGAS (AP) — George Burns says he signed a five-year deal with the Riviera Hotel — instead of one for 10 years — because he wasn't sure the resort would last until 2001.

"They wanted to make it 10 years, but I said 'What's the hurry?'" the 96-year-old comic said. "I told them 'If you're still around, I'll talk.'"

Burns opened at the Riviera Thursday night with singer Pia Zadora.

He said his contract is for about 35 shows a year.

"Why would anybody want to retire?" asked Burns.

GEORGE BURNS

PRINCE

Prince goes Gemini

NEW YORK (AP) — Pop star Prince battles his evil alter ego Gemini in a comic book arriving in stores today.

The battleground isn't the Metropolis of Superman fame or Batman's Gotham City. It's Minneapolis, the 33-year-old singer-guitarist's hometown.

What a guy

CHICAGO (AP) — Michael Jordan, the National Basketball Association's most valuable player, is tops on the home front, too.

"He's affectionate and romantic," said his wife, Juanita. "We often have candlelight dinners. He likes champagne, and he sends me flowers all the time."

What's more, she said in an Ebony magazine interview, the 28-year-old basketball superstar lends a hand on household chores and is a good father who helps out with their two children.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY! IN THE NEXT YEAR OF YOUR LIFE:

Emotions will run high this month. A positive approach will help boost your earnings in December. Health-oriented activities help you start the new year right. An unexpected legacy or windfall in spring of 1992 will reduce financial concerns.

CELEBRITIES BORN ON THIS DATE: frontiersman Daniel Boone, President Warren G. Harding, actress Stefanie Powers, actor Burt Lancaster.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Do not be surprised if someone wants to team up with you. The idea should not be dismissed lightly. Think it over calmly. Find time for a "sports break" later in the day.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Express your views and sentiments in the most tactful way possible. Taking too brusque an approach could scare people away. In romance, it pays to be an optimist. Play a waiting game.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): It may be difficult to stop worrying when you face some tough decisions. A gleam of light can be seen at the end of the tunnel. Take command in a social situation.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Boost your loved ones' confidence with encouraging words. Tact and patience will help you bridge a generation gap. Avoid bringing up past errors in judgment. Entertain a new friend in your own home.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): A sincere effort on the part of all concerned will help settle outstanding differences. Soothe someone's hurt feelings by showing more affection. Apologize promptly to a family member.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): You are in the mood to make decisions and take action. However, be cautious. You have what it takes to be an effective community leader. Try out recipes on friends and relatives.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Call a household meeting to discuss money matters, purchases and budgets. You may need to re-evaluate your priorities. Be skeptical of glamorous-sounding schemes and so-called bargains.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21):

Improvements in your career or finances may be due — directly or indirectly — to well-connected or especially helpful friends. Put romance on hold. Decide what you want to accomplish in life.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): You could find the suggestions of someone close to you either impractical or far-fetched. Be careful not to sound impatient or bossy. Give your loved ones a voice when making vacation plans.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Recent changes dictate a period of transition. Balance the books and follow through on a promise. Someone may need special reassurance. Offer encouragement. An attractive stranger comes into your life.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Do not let others casually toss their responsibilities on your willing shoulders. You will not lose a friend by saying "no." Financial papers are favored. Offer to baby-sit for a neighbor.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Short trips, family activities and errands indicate a busy, enjoyable weekend. Your thoughts turn to fun and frolic. Do not let someone's negative mood spoil your evening plans.

Big Spring quarterback Gerald Cobos (12), shown in this file photo, had a tough time passing the ball, but nonetheless led the Steers to a 23-6 victory over the Pecos Eagles

PECOS — It wasn't the most impressive win in the world, but the Big Spring Steers came away with a 23-6 win over the Pecos Eagles here Friday night.

The win kept the Steers in the playoff hunt with a 3-1 district record. Big Spring is 7-1 overall. The Eagles fall to 0-4 and 2-6.

Big Spring took advantage of three Pecos turnovers in the first half to take the win. The Steers' offense had a rough night against a pesky Pecos defense, gaining 204 yards, most of it coming on the ground. Big Spring's defense also played well, limiting Pecos to 146 total yards.

One bright spot for Pecos was

"We knew Pecos had a good defense, it was the strong point of their team. We blew a couple of scoring chances. We would get a first down and then have a penalty. It could've been worse, but we just decided to run the ball in the second half."

Big Spring coach Dwight Butler that the Eagles scored their first points in district play. It came early in the fourth quarter as the Eagles went 75 yards in 11 plays.

The drive was aided by a personal foul penalty against the Steers after they had stopped Pecos 10 yards short on a third down play. The Eagles got a first down and scored three plays later on a 12-yard run by Trey Harden.

The game was marred by penalties. Big Spring was whistled for 100 yards in penalties and Pecos was penalized 85 yards.

Steers coach Dwight Butler said his team lost a little intensity as the game went on.

"We started out good. It was a case of too much, too early, too easy," said Butler. "I think after last week's game this is a confidence builder. We knew Pecos had a good defense, it was the strong point of their team. We blew a couple of scoring chances. We would get a first down and then have a penalty.

"It could've been worse, but we just decided to run the ball in the second half."

Big Spring's only scoring drive in the second half came after Pecos recovered an onside kick following its touchdown.

"We felt like they would try an onside kick, they had tried a couple of times before. We were expecting it," said Butler. "Our player fell on it, the hit speared him and the ball popped loose."

The Big Spring defense held, however, forcing Pecos to punt. Safety Nick Roberson broke up two passes and cornerback Stacy Martin tackled Matt Peters after a five-yard reception.

Big Spring then iced the game with a 16-play, 67-yard drive. The drive took seven minutes off the clock and featured the running of Tim Pearson, Darius Hill and Oscar Valencia.

In the drive Hill became the third Steer starting running back to go down with an injury when he hurt his hip. Tailback Maurice Evans is out with an ankle injury and wingback Pat Chavarria is out with an injured back.

"I think we might go to a no-back offense next week," joked Butler after the game.

Pearson capped off the scoring drive with a seven-yard TD run with 1:36 left in the contest.

The Steers were a very opportunistic team in the opening half, taking advantage of three Pecos turnovers to take a 16-0 halftime lead.

The Pecos defense did a good job containing the Big Spring offense, limiting the Steers to 94 yards total offense in the first half. On the other hand, Big Spring's defense was just as impressive, limiting the Eagles to 62 yards offense.

Big Spring had to drive 15, 11 and 64 yards for its scores. The Steers had good luck on Pecos' first possession of the game. On the third play from scrimmage, Oscar Cervantes recovered a fumbled snap at the Pecos 21.

Big Spring fullback Hill carried three times for 10 yards. Gerald Cobos threw an incomplete pass, then Hill scored around right end from the five. Cobos' kick gave the Steers a 7-0 lead with 8:32 left in the first quarter.

Big Spring got its next break when Sal Trevino recovered Trey Harden's fumble at the Pecos 21. On the first play Cobos hooked up with Ricky Gonzales for 17 yards. Tim Pearson ran for three yards before the Pecos defense tightened. Pearson lost three yards on the next play and Cobos was sacked by Joe Cano for a seven yard loss.

Cobos then booted a 28-yard field

The next Big Spring scoring drive was set up by Cervantes' interception at the Pecos 21. A personal foul penalty moved the ball to the Pecos 36. From that point Big Spring drove 64 yards in 10 plays.

Key plays in the drive were runs of 10 and eight yards by Hill and Pearson, a 10-yard pass to Pat Martinez and a 25-yard screen pass to Gonzales.

On a fourth and goal from the one, Pearson barley got in. The extra point was blocked by Harden, giving Big Spring its 16-0 halftime lead.

Stanton breaks ice with homecoming win

By MARCELLINO CHAVEZ
Staff Writer

STANTON — The Stanton Buffalos broke a long, dry losing streak by upending the Forsan Buffaloes, 48-6, in District 6-2A action in Buffalo Stadium Friday night.

"We have been playing good offense all year. It was a great super effort by our kids tonight. All year Jim Bob (Kelly) has almost broke the long run. Tonight he and Allen (Prough) did a good job on our counter-trap plays as always," Stanton coach Bill Grissom said.

Things didn't start so well for Stanton in its homecoming game, however, as it fumbled away the opening kickoff. From there, Forsan's John Reese put the visiting Buffaloes on top with a 27-yard scamper on the first play from scrimmage. The extra point was mishandled and the kick was wide to keep the score at 6-0.

Not to be outdone, Jim Bob Kelly took the ensuing kickoff 78 yards for Stanton's first score of the night. With less than 20 seconds gone off the clock, Stanton led Forsan 7-6 after Stanton placekicker Hector Jimenez was successful on the PAT try.

Forsan took the next kick on its own 40-yard line, but good defensive efforts by Robin Barnes and Sherman Bryand eventually forced a punt.

Although the punt pinned the home team deep on its three-yard line, Stanton drove the football to the 40-yard line and appeared to be on the move for another score, but fine defensive play by Forsan forced the Buffs to kick the ball away.

The visiting Buffs set up shop at their own 29-yard line after a clipping violation, but again failed to move the ball and were forced to punt.

From their 40-yard line, Stanton began a 12-play scoring drive with 3:57 left in the opening quarter. Kelly, Stanton's workhorse, moved the football to the Forsan two-yard line.

Teammate Allen Prough scored from two yards out to add to the Buffalo lead. Forsan appeared to have stopped Prough short of the goal line, but Prough managed to bull his way across and scored with 10:42 left before halftime.

Kelly led Stanton with 189 all-purpose yards.

The next Stanton drive was interrupted by Forsan's Micah Epley, who intercepted a Stanton pass and returned it to the Forsan 45-yard line. But unable to move the ball, the Buffaloes were forced to punt back to the home team.

Neither team was able to move the ball on their next two possessions.

Stanton got the ball back with two minutes left before halftime on the Forsan 43-yard line. From there, Kelly and Prough moved the ball on eight plays down to the Forsan six-yard line.

Wyckoff found Prough for a six-yard touchdown pass with :15 left in the first half. The PAT failed, but Stanton had a comfortable 20-6 lead going into the locker room.

Forsan took the second-half kickoff and returned it to its own 36-yard line. Bryand, having a busy night, swiped a Forsan pass and returned it to midfield, setting up another Stanton score.

Moved back on two violations to its own 31-yard line, Stanton came back and scored on a Wyckoff-to-Bryand 30-yard pass with 9:12 left in the third quarter. Jimenez added the PAT and the Buffs led 27-6.

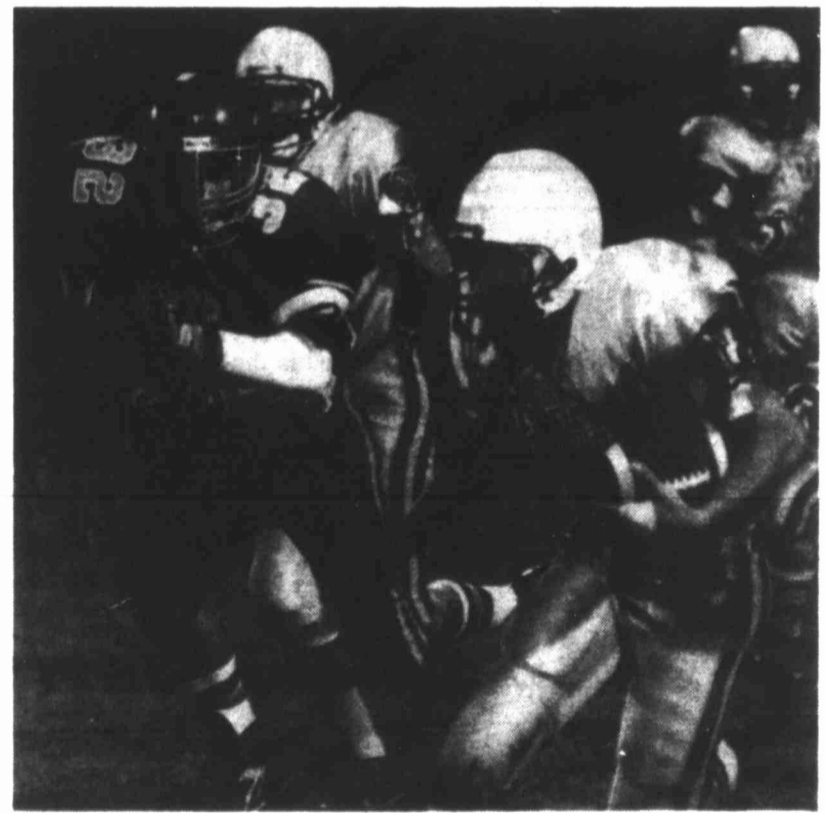

The Sherman Bryand show kept going as he recovered a Forsan fumble near midfield. Prough then escaped for a 52-yard run with 4:41 left in the third. Wyckoff got into the scoring act with a high-stepping two-point conversion and a 35-6 lead.

A Stanton miscue gave the ball back to the visiting team on the Stanton 35-yard line. Once again Harbison and J.J. Ortiz turned back Forsan, and the visitors were forced to try a 53-yard field goal. The kick was well short and Stanton took over at its own 37-yard line.

Three plays later, Kelly capped the 63-yard drive after Prough gained 42 yards on several carries. Jimenez added the PAT for a 42-6 Stanton lead.

Forsan started another drive from its own nine-yard line and began to eat away yardage on the ground. John Reese and Chad Kemper worked their way to the Stanton 29-yard line. Ortiz, Barnes, Harbison, Deacon Carson and company stopped the Buffaloes short, however, and Forsan was forced to try another field. It too was short and Stanton took over.

Two plays later, Lucas scampered 65 yards for the last score of the night with 3:20 left. The PAT was wide.

Reagan Co. defense blankets Wolves, 48-13

By LORNE FANCETT

COLORADO CITY — The Wolves of Colorado City didn't seem to get their offense in motion Friday night as they were soundly defeated by Reagan County, 48-13.

"Their quickness neutralized a lot of things we did and we found out early that we couldn't run the football," C-City Head Coach Tom Ramsey said after the game. "We were going to get into the two-back set and try to run the sweep a little bit, but their quickness offset anything we could do."

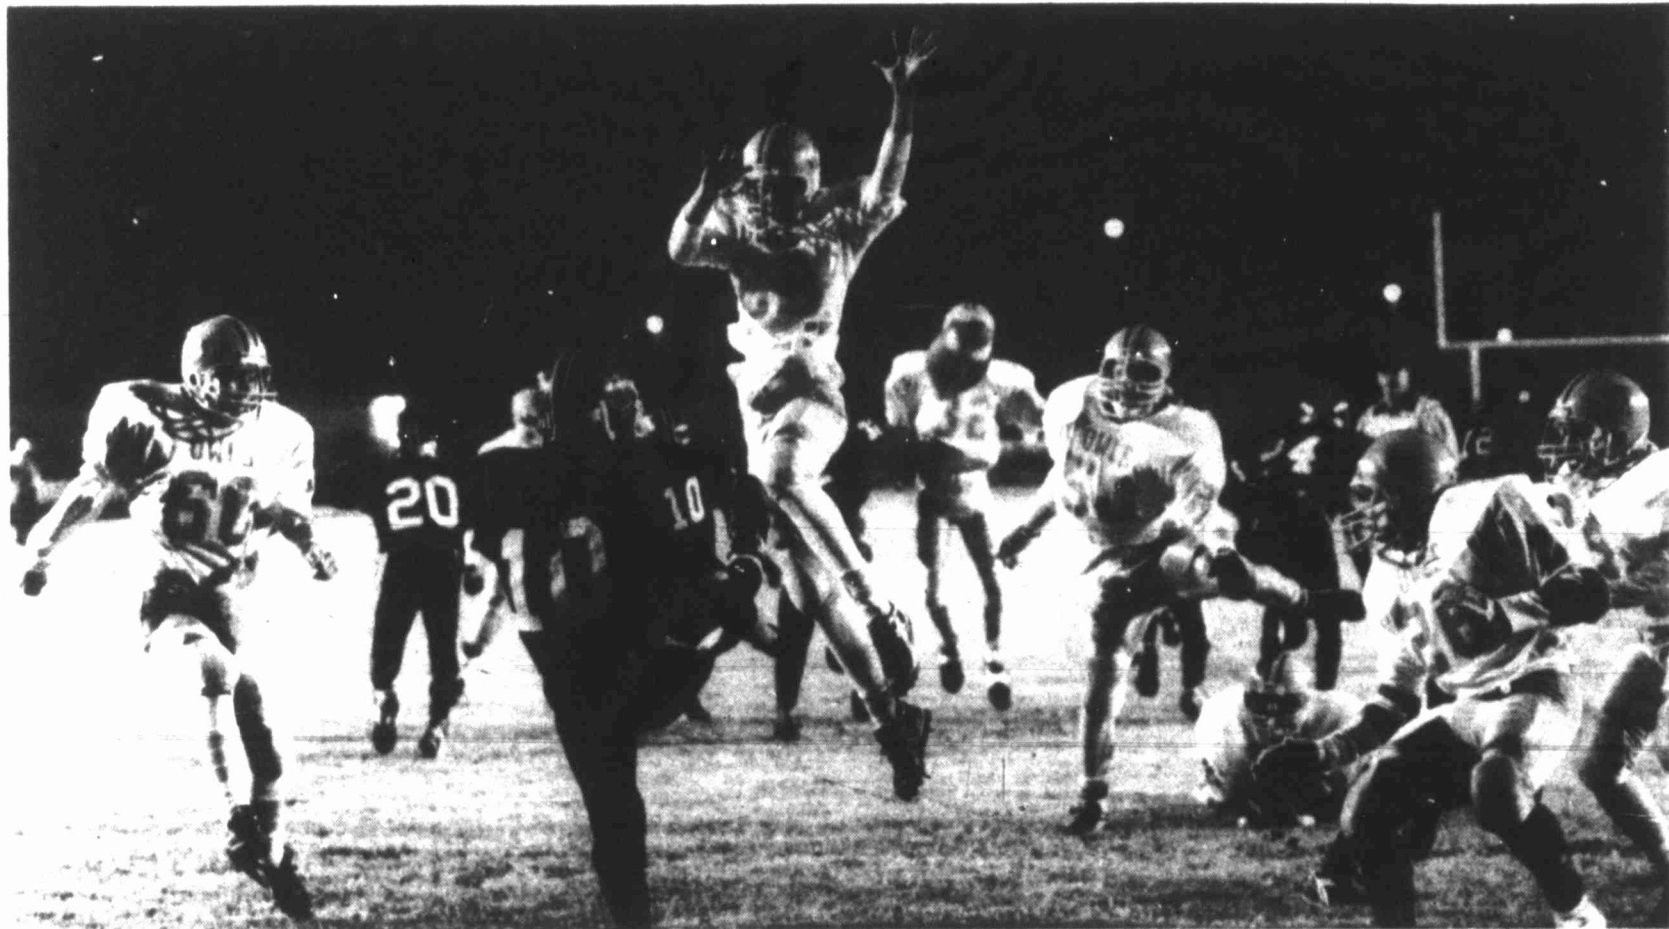

The quickness that coach Ramsey referred to also helped Reagan County move the ball well on offense.

In the first quarter the Owls scored twice. The first scoring drive started at C-City's 13-yard line, as the Owls' special team recovered a fumble on a punt attempt.

They only needed three plays and less than 1:30. Running back Nuno Rivero, who ended the evening as the leading rusher with 175 yards on 22 carries, scored on a four-yard run. The second score of the quarter for the Owls was Rivero again carrying it into the endzone, this time from 66 yards out.

The second quarter again saw the Wolves' offensive woes as they weren't able to make a first down. Their defense, on the other hand, played better than it had in the first quarter, this time holding the Owls to one score.

As with the other two scores, the Owls only needed three plays. This time running back Michael Goodloe ran the ball four yards for R-County's Goodloe mishandled the opening kickoff and turned the ball over to the Wolves at the Owls' 26-yard line.

Colorado City only needed one play to put their first points on the board. Quarterback Kelly Ramsey found wide receiver David Castillo, who made a circus-style catch for the touchdown.

Colorado City's other score of the evening also came late in the third as Ramsey again hooked up with Castillo, this time for 52 yards. Instead of sending kicker Frank Briseno out to cap off the score, the Wolves opted to try a 2-point conversion. Their effort failed as running back Kevin Green was stopped short of the goal line.

"We had to throw the football and they probably knew that we had to throw the ball if we were going to go anywhere on offense tonight. We were able to throw two touchdowns on them but it was not near enough," said Ramsey of his passing game.

The remainder of the third quarter was dominated by Reagan County's running game. The offense controlled the ball for the majority of the quarter and added 21 more points to their score.

The Owls' first score of the second half came on a quarterback keeper by Jackie Hill. It was set up by a Jefferie Ellison that gave the Owls the ball at the C-City 13-yard line, and Reagan County scored three plays later.

Reagan's next score came on a sweep from Goodloe that covered 72 yards. The final score of the quarter was the longest scoring drive of the evening, taking six plays. Rivero capped the drive by running 27 yards up the middle.

Holyfield hopefuls

By LORNE FANCETT
Staff Writer

Boxing is one international sport that people have been enthralled with ever since Jack Johnson won the world heavyweight title in 1908.

Since then, the history of boxing has read like a storybook tale with greats like Jack Dempsey, Joe Louis and Muhammed Ali making their marks on its history.

So where is it that the hopefuls of today learn the ropes so they can put their name alongside these greats? One place is boxing clubs.

"Right now we have about seven in our club, ranging from the ages of 8-20," said Zeke Valles, one of the coaches of the Big Spring Boxing Club. "We are expecting more to join once football (season) is over."

Are there any pro possibilities? "Two of our boys are looking like they might go pro. One is Cruz Guitterez. He's been here with us since he was nine years old. Right now he's 16 and about to go to the upperclass division. He's only lost three or four decisions out of the 83 fights he's had.

"Another fighter we feel that might turn pro is John Villareal. He just relocated here from Odessa and has been with us for about one year. Right now his record stands at 19-2 and we feel like he is growing and improving in great leaps."

The club is not only a place where kids can go and learn about the sport of boxing — they also learn a little about life.

"One thing that we really concentrate on is teaching our boys how to act respectful toward everyone. We keep them off the streets and teach them a strong sense of discipline. We instruct them not to use what we teach them about boxing in school or in the streets."

Sands clinches district crown with 46-0 win

By CHARLENE SALL
for the Herald

LENORAH — Sands Coach Rando Roemisch directed his "Pony Express" 91-yard drive to an all-important 46-0 victory over the Grady Wildcats Friday night.

The 46-0 win clinches the District 3-A 6-man championship for the Mustangs, as well as guaranteeing them a spot in the playoffs. With the win over the Wildcats, the Mustangs' season record is 8-0 and 3-0 in district. Grady dropped to a 3-5 season record with 1-2 in district.

Since beginning the Sands "reign of terror" with the 1989 season, Coach Roemisch's Mustangs have a remarkable total of 32 wins and 1 loss. Part of the credit for this outstanding performance must also be given to assistant coaches Jerry Gooch and Leland Bearden.

Grady coach Leandro Gonzales, Jr. was not unhappy with his team's performance, stating that their efforts were hampered by the injuries of two of their key players. Senior running back Gilbert Cortez was unable to play Friday night, and Florencio Hewtty was not at full strength.

Grady team won the toss and received the kick-off to start the action. Following a short offensive drive, the Wildcats were forced to punt.

On their very first offensive play, the Mustangs' Aaron Cowley took the ball and gave the fans a preview of what was in store for the rest of the game. After Cowley's 25-yard gain, the ball was quickly moved down the field by Eric Herm and Pank Grigg, with Herm carrying the ball 18 yards off right tackle for the first touchdown. Grigg kicked the 2-point PAT, and the Mustangs led 8-0 with 6:38 remaining in the first quarter.

Following Adrian Zarate's kick into the endzone, the Wildcats took over at their own 20-yard line. On the third offensive play, Pank Grigg sacked Wildcat quarterback Tommy Hewtty for a loss of 6 yards. Odom punted, and the ball was dead at the Sands 36.

Determined defensive action by the Wildcats held the Mustangs at bay for a number of plays. Pank Grigg was finally able to rush in for another touchdown and the kick for two more points just as the first quarter was winding down, making the score 16-0.

Early in the second quarter, Grady fumbled the ball over to the Mustangs. With 8:52 remaining in the half, Sands scored again on a 4-yard run by Eric Herm. Grigg's kick was accurate, and the Mustangs were up by another 8 points.

Later in the second quarter, Sands went up by 24. In a surprise move, Grigg took the hand-off from the quarterback and pitched the ball to Eric Herm, who gained 23 yards for the Mustangs, getting to the Grady 15-yard line.

Cowley passed to Clay Parker for an 11-yard gain, and Grigg then carried around the right side for the score. After Grigg's successful kick, the score stood at 32-0 at half-time.

Third-quarter action started with Shawn Rivas' kick-off to the Mustangs. Pank Grigg returned the ball 19 yards to the Sands 39-yard line. Heath Gillespie then gained an additional 13 yards. On the next play, Charles Rhodes ran the ball 26 yards, dodging tackles, for the Sands TD with less than one minute gone in the third quarter. Grigg's kick took the score to 40-0 with 9:07 remaining.

Sands ended the game on the 45-point rule later in the quarter. David Ybarra started the game-ending drive when he intercepted a pass, returning the ball to the Grady 4. Ybarra then carried in for the score, and the game ended with 3:56 remaining in the third quarter.

Coach Roemisch stated that his team will not be thinking of the play-offs until after next week, when they will face the Klondike Cougars in their final district game of the 1991 season.

ROBERT LEE — The Garden City Bearkats rebounded from last week's loss to Rotan by pummeling the Robert Lee Steers, 42-7, in District 9-A action Friday night.

The Bearkats, showing no ill effects from last week's loss, which knocked them out of the top spot in the Associated Press poll, had an easy time with the Steers, scoring 35 first half points.

Brothers Shae and Jim Bob Scott led the way to the win. Quarterback Shae completed 10 of 13 passes for 205 yards and two touchdowns. Jim Bob caught three of his brother's passes for 61 yards and added a 10-yard scoring run in the fourth quarter.

Backup tailback Jody Bradford led all rushers with 130 yards on 10 carries.

Garden City's defense also had a sterling performance, limiting the Steers to 96 total yards on offense.

The Bearkats record improves to 7-1 overall, 3-1 in league play. Garden City will play Roby next Friday night.

McCAMEY — Strong defensive play by the Coahoma Bulldogs held the McCamey Badgers' rushing game to a negative 25 yards as the Bulldogs cruised to a 48-7 win Friday night in McCamey.

The win gives the Bulldogs a season record of 6-2-1 and District 6-AA record of 3-2-1. The Badgers drop to 3-6 for the season and 2-4 in district play.

McCamey started off with a bang, putting the first seven points on the scoreboard with 9:58 remaining in the first quarter on a 10-yard run by Andy Patterson and a point-after kick by Jimmy Salinas.

Coahoma's counter-attack was launched with 7:23 to go in the quarter on a 3-yard run by the Bulldogs' Steven New. Because of a bad snap, the PAT attempt was unsuccessful.

With 2:33 remaining in the first period, Mike Mendez intercepted a pass from the McCamey quarterback and ran it back 75 yards for the second Coahoma TD. Kenny Lowrey then caught the pass for two extra points, and the quarter ended with the score at 14-7.

The Bulldogs were on a roll and didn't waste any time adding to their point total. Matt Coates caught a 9-yard touchdown pass from Brent Elmore for the next Coahoma score. Shannon Smithie kicked the point after with 9:40 remaining in the half.

The Bulldogs scored twice more before the half: Once on a 5-yard run by Steven New and again on a 33-yard pass from Elmore to Coates. Following Smithie's extra-point kick, there was only 1:10 on the clock.

Outstanding gainers for the Bulldogs were Steven New, with 21 carries for 132 yards and Mike Mendez with 80 yards gained on 7 carries.

Next week the Bulldogs will play their last home game of the 1991 season against the Ozona Lions.

Mavericks mugged in Mr. Robinson's neighborhood

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — David Robinson scored 24 points and Terry Cummings 22 as the San Antonio Spurs routed the Dallas Mavericks 140-99 Friday night in both teams' regular-season opener. San Antonio, debuting a new run-and-pass offense, came within four points of its all-time largest victory margin of 45 points. San Antonio held its largest lead of 43 points with 15 seconds remaining.

The Spurs played most of the game without coach Larry Brown, who was thrown out in the second quarter with two technical fouls, the second for shouting an expletive at official Jim Clark.

But the Spurs were in control all the way, leading 73-45 at halftime and 105-73 at the end of the third quarter.

Sean Elliott scored 19 points for the Spurs, who played without holdout point guard Rod Strickland. Fat Lever led the Mavericks with 17 points, and Terry Davis had 13.

The Mavericks got off to a grim start of a season they will be playing without troubled forward Roy Tarpley, who was banned from the NBA earlier this year for a violation of league drug policies.

Rockets 126, Lakers 121 (2 OT)

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston's Otis Thorpe scored six of his 33 points in the final 1:59 of the second overtime period, rallying the Rockets to a 126-121 victory over the injury-plagued Los Angeles Lakers Friday night.

Thorpe hit back-to-back baskets in the second overtime to give the Rockets a 123-118 lead with 1:27 to play. He sank two free throws with 9.7 seconds to go, providing the final Rockets points.

The Rockets had to overcome James Worthy's three-point shooting display to claim their season-opener. Worthy's 3-pointer at the buzzer forced the first overtime at 97-97 and he had two more 3-point goals with 37.9 and 11.1 seconds left in the overtime, cutting the Rockets' lead to 112-110.

A tip in by Elden Campbell with .8 forced the second overtime at 112-112.

Lakers guard Magic Johnson did not play the game because of illness and the Lakers lost forward Sam Perkins with 23 seconds left in the first period with an abrasion to his right cornea, suffered when he was hit in the face with the ball.

Bucks 109, Pistons 99

AUBURN HILLS, Mich. (AP) — The new-look Detroit Pistons had the same old problem — scoring — in their opener against the Milwaukee Bucks on Friday night. Dale Ellis scored 24 points before being ejected with 2:19 remaining to lead the Bucks to a 109-99 victory at The Palace, Milwaukee, which shot 42 percent, had a 52-37 edge in rebounding over the Pistons, who shot 43 percent.

Detroit let long-time favorites Vinnie Johnson and James Edwards go during the offseason, picking up Orlando Woolridge and Darrell Walker in an effort to get more offense. The Pistons averaged only 101.1 points last year.

But Woolridge scored two points and Walker four against the Bucks.

Joe Dumars, the only Piston to average 20 points last season, scored 20 against the Bucks. Mark Aguirre had 19 off the bench for the Pistons.

The Bucks took control of the game in the third quarter, outbounding the Pistons 17-4.

Magic 106, Knicks 96

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Nick Anderson led a balanced scoring attack with 22 points and Scott Skiles had 17 points and 12 assists as the Orlando Magic beat New York 106-96 Friday night to spoil the Knicks' debut under coach Pat Riley.

Orlando scored nine consecutive points to open a 13-6 lead early in the game and didn't trail after that. New York rallied to tie the score 50-50 just before halftime, but fell behind by 12 points in the third quarter while shooting only 36 percent from the field.

Anderson scored the last six points of the third period for Orlando, which improved its record against the Knicks to 5-2 over three seasons. He spent the offseason working on his jump shot and it showed as he hit 10 of 15 attempts.

Bullets 109, Pacers 103

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Michael Adams, acquired by Washington in the offseason, had 23 points, 13 assists and nine steals, leading the Bullets to a 109-103 victory over Indiana Friday night in a ragged season-opener for both teams.

Pervis Ellison and Harvey Grant each scored 18 points for the Bullets, while Reggie Miller led Indiana with 21.

Breeders' Cup assembles the world's best

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — America's best day of racing has brought the best in the world to the Breeders' Cup.

Seven races, worth a total of $10 million in purses, drew 91 entries, 28 either based or bred outside the United States.

"This is where we show our best horses for the world to see," trainer Nick Zito said.

The entries included two winners of America's single-most prestigious race, the Kentucky Derby: 1991 winner Strike the Gold, trained by Zito, and 1990 winner Unbridled, who also won the Breeders' Cup Classic last year.

Both were entered in the centerpiece of today's program, the $3 million Classic at the classic distance of 1 1/4 miles. The rest of the field included 1990 Preakness winner Summer Squall, 1990, 2-year-old champion Fly So Free, and Festin, runnerup in the inaugural 10-race American Championship Racing Series.

ACRS winner, Farma Way, trained by D. Wayne Lukas, was among the Classic pre-entries but had to be withheld when he sustained an ankle injury.

"You don't have to win the Breeders' Cup to run good in one, you know what I mean?" Summer Squall's trainer, Neil Howard, said. "You want to win, but the races are so tough, so competitive, that if you run third and you're not beaten by much, you know he ran a good race."

The champions are in no way restricted to the Classic.

This year's leading Horse of the Year candidate, In Excess, opted for the $1 million Breeders' Cup Mile on turf after being pre-entered for the Classic and Sprint as well. Eight of the Mile's 14 entries were European horses, including the Irish-bred In Excess who now is based in the United States. The early favorite in the Mile was Tight Spot, a U.S. horse who has never lost on grass.

"The Breeders' Cup gives fans a few hours to see all types of horses," Zito said.

The 1990 Eclipse Award-winning sprinter, Housebuster, is in the 6-furlong Sprint. An early odds-on favorite, Housebuster missed last year's Sprint with an illness, and 1990 winner Safely Kept had to pass up the race this year with an injury.

The Distaff field included Canadian Triple Crown champion Dance Smartly, who has won seven in a row.

"You have to have seen her to realize how easily she did it," trainer Jim Day said.

Missing from the Distaff field were Meadow Star, the 2-year-old filly champion who was taken out of training after several poor races, and archrival Lite Light, the Coaching Club American Oaks winner who bled after the Super Derby.
