Kidnapped woman home

FORT WORTH (AP) — A woman kidnapped a month ago finally emerged from hiding only after friends convinced her that her abductor had been killed days ago, police said.

A friend of kidnapping victim Violet Sheppard, 28, contacted authorities Tuesday, two days after police killed her abductor during a car chase Sunday, said Fort Worth Police Lt. Ralph Swearingin.

Officials had little hope Ms. Sheppard would be found alive. For 26 days, Andrew Wesley Wright held Ms. Sheppard at gunpoint in locked car trunks and motel rooms.

Witness recalls night of murder

By PATRICK DRISCOLL Staff Writer

Billy Ray Nelson wept Tuesday as Carol Maynard told a district jury of sexual acts Nelson forced her and Charla Wheat to perform Feb. 23 before he stabbed both of them, killing Wheat.

"Me and Charla tried to offer him anything," said Maynard, who cried several times during her 2½-hour testimony in 118th District Court. "He said he would not hurt us, I mean, he would leave."

Nelson, 23, on trial for capital murder, wiped tears from his eyes and looked downward during much of Maynard's testimony. Capital murder is punishable by death or life in prison.

Nelson told police in two separate confessions that he was "schized" on cocaine and "pretty drunk" when he attacked Wheat, 18, and Maynard.

He did not take the stand in his own defense and did not make a plea of innocence or guilt. As a result, District Judge Bob Moore entered a "not guilty" plea in Nelson's behalf.

The presentation of evidence to an 11-woman, one-man jury was completed Tuesday afternoon. Closing arguments were scheduled for 10 a.m. today.

Maynard's testimony differed on several details in three confessions that Nelson signed the day Wheat was killed. The confessions were entered into evidence Monday over objections from defense attorney Don Richard of Big Spring, who indicated coercion or unwarranted promises may have been made by police officers who obtained the confessions.

The confessions stated that

Maynard came out of her bedroom during Nelson's attack on Wheat about 1 a.m., but Maynard said Nelson dragged her out of bed after she awoke to Wheat's screaming. Also, Nelson described two sexual acts but Maynard said there was another sexual act in which Nelson could not physically perform.

Nelson said in the confessions

Bentsen talks up bill

By PATRICK DRISCOLL Staff Writer

A small-business health insurance bill introduced in Congress by Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Houston, is a step toward creating a national health care plan, Bentsen said in Big Spring Tuesday.

"I think you're ultimately going to have it,"

Bentsen said of the need for an affordable nationwide health care plan. "What I've proposed is an intermediate plan to take care of it."

The Better Access to Affordable Health Care Act of 1991 will allow businesses to join together with state governments to bargain for rates, will limit rate increases for any one business to no more than 5 percent of increases for other businesses in an area and will increase health insurance tax deductions for self-employed from 25 percent to 100 percent.

Bentsen, speaking at a press conference at Harris Lumber & Hardware Inc. on FM 700, said the bill would prevent increases such as a 43 percent increase that Harris Lumber faced this year, despite no hospital claims being filed during the past year. Health insurance rose 24 percent nationally last year and is expected to increase another 24 percent this year.

The plan would enable some of more than 33 million uninsured Americans, including four million Texans, to have health insurance, said Bentsen, who is chairman of the Senate Finance Committee. "More and more small employers will be able to pick up insurance."

"We've been having to search more and more each year (for insurance policies)," said Bert Harris, owner of the 14-employee lumber store that has operated since 1965. "Small business needs a lot of help."

The proposed law is designed to prevent insurance companies from eliminating unhealthy employees from plans or dropping plans when too many claims are filed, Bentsen said. It should help prevent employees from getting locked into a job because of fears of losing insurance benefits by taking another job.

Asked if a national insurance pool to pick up all uninsured workers may eventually be formed, Bentsen said, "No one knows yet."

Rep. Charles Stenholm, D-Stamford, said in Big Spring last week that there is talk by lawmakers to create such a pool. Stenholm, who is co-chairman of the Congressional Health Care Coalition, has said that health care will be a major campaign issue next year and predicted last week that President Bush will address it when he accepts his party's nomination.

"I think the administration will have to face up to that issue," Bentsen said Tuesday. "You're going to see a major change," he predicted.

"What I'm talking about (with the current bill) is a moderate one." Bentsen and Stenholm are both up for re-election next year. Another big campaign issue will be the economy, which, Bentsen told more than 40 people at Howard College Tuesday, needs a "jump start."

City approves policy change

By GARY SHANKS Staff Writer

After considerable debate Monday night, the resolution changing the restrictions on employee political activity was passed in a 4-2 vote by the Big Spring City Council.

• Related council action, see page 8-A.

The resolution alters the current policy, which forbids involvement in city politics by city employees.

Council member John Coffee voiced reservations about allowing police officers to become involved in city politics. Discussing the city charter referendum sponsored by the Fraternal Order of Police, Coffee said, "Several people came to me after the referendum was signed and told me that they would not vote for the referendum, but signed it because the felt like they had to because a police officer asked them to sign it."

"A police officer should be free from any kind of obligation from anyone and citizens should be free from any type of coercion or intimidation by a police officer," he said, adding that Police Chief Joe Cook does not even allow his officers to accept free coffee, as it could imply an obligation by the officer (to the business).

"I think our founding fathers also saw that coercion can come from other places and gave us the right to cast secret ballots," countered council member Corky Harris.

Council member Pat DeAnda ap proved of the new policy, which restricts an employee's political activity only when on duty or in uniform. "I don't want to control anybody's political views," she said.

Speaking on behalf of the resolution, Mark Sheedy added that no political activity should be carried out while in a city vehicle.

Mayor Pro-tem Ladd Smith expressed fears about the removal of restrictions saying, "If an employee is free to engage in any type of political activity, then that same employee becomes coercible by his or her supervisors."

"If those supervisors have a political ax to grind... we don't want that employee's position or advancement to be dependent on what political activity they are forced into."

Prayer, faith help man kick drug habit

By BETTY JOHANSEN Staff Writer

John Doll spent many Christmases in a drug- and alcohol-induced blur. Now he can barely remember any Christmas at all during those days.

"The grandparents would probably provide most of the Christmas (our children) had," he said. "It wasn't always that way. He was raised in a loving, Christian home with a "preacher-dad," and has many wonderful Christmas memories from childhood. But as a young teen-ager, he began to drift away from the values he had been taught.

By the time he was 15, his dad was dying, confined to the hospital, and his mom was working day and night to support two teen-age sons and pay the medical bills.

John began to dabble with things he knew were wrong. And he made a big discovery the night his friends persuaded him to try alcohol.

"I chugged it down in a matter of seconds," he said, "and suddenly... something started on fire in

Peace talks enter second day despite glitches

WASHINGTON (AP) — Israeli and Palestinian negotiators took another stab today at settling a procedural dispute that threatens to trip up already unsteady Mideast peace talks.

They resumed their discussion in a State Department corridor while another Israeli delegation and a Syrian group held separate talks in a room on the sixth floor.

"We hope that we will make some progress, and we'll get to remove the various obstacles and maybe get into substance," Yossi Ben-Aharon, the head of the Israeli delegation meeting the Syrians, said.

"We talk about substance," he repeated in response to a question.

But the Israeli-Palestinian front was tied up in procedure again, and neither side said anything to reporters assembled at the C Street entrance to the building.

The first day of talks Tuesday brought Israel and Syria, two of the region's most implacable enemies, to a State Department negotiating table for more than three hours.

Each side accused the other afterward of intransigence, but both agreed to keep talking today.

Israeli and Lebanese delegates held two negotiating sessions Tuesday and planned to meet again today. Israel proposed that Lebanon sign a peace treaty; Lebanon asked that Israel pull its troops out of a buffer zone against terrorist infiltrations.

Israel promised it would — if Syria removes its 40,000 troops from Lebanon and arrangements are made to guarantee the security of Israel's northern border.

But ironically, it was the negotiations where most progress had been predicted that proved most unyielding.

After meeting for more than five hours, the heads of the Israeli, Palestinian and Jordanian delegations failed to break an impasse over a Palestinian demand to negotiate with Israel in a separate room from the Jordanians.

Israel insists on negotiating jointly with Palestinians and Jordanians.

Sheriff says seized cocaine was for sting

MONAHANS (AP) — More than 2,400 pounds of cocaine found in a horse trailer on Presidio County fairgrounds was to be used in a drug sting that the Drug Enforcement Agency did not know about, Presidio County Sheriff Rick Thompson said.

Thompson held a news conference at Ward County Courthouse to explain his connection to the cocaine seized last Wednesday. Glyn Robert Chambers of Alpine was arrested after the seizure and his detention hearing was held Monday.

DEA Agent Robert Mueller testified at the hearing that an informant said Chambers instructed the informant to call Thompson once the drugs reached the fairgrounds. Mueller testified the informant said his instructions from Chambers were to call 4715 in Marfa and tell the party "the deal was down."

The numbers are part of Thompson's listed home phone number. Chambers remains in the Reeves County Jail without bond on a charge of importing and possessing for distribution of cocaine. His detention hearing will continue next Monday.

Thompson said that he moved the cocaine up from the Rio Grande to the fairgrounds for the sting operation, the Pecos Enterprise reported.

Thompson is head of the Multi-county Drug Task Force, headquartered in El Paso.

"We in law enforcement have undesirable associations," Thompson said. "You get dirty by rumor and innuendo and the federal government feeds on it."

The 2,421-pounds of cocaine were stashed in a horse trailer registered to the Presidio County Sheriff's Department.

Dale Stinson, DEA resident agent in charge of the Alpine office, said he could not comment on whether Thompson was under investigation.

"We were not advised in advance that the cocaine was being stored there," Stinson said.

"It is highly unusual in reverse undercover operations that a law enforcement agency takes part in the smuggling of drugs into the United States," he said. Usually drugs confiscated in previous seizures are used in reverse stings.

Stinson said it also is unusual for an agency as small as the Presidio County Sheriff's Office to work solo on a drug investigation involving such a high volume of narcotics.

Thompson said he was not in communication with the DEA about his drug sting and was working on his own.

Names in the news

LANCASTER, Calif. (AP) — This city had an original idea for ridding itself of an abandoned Mojave Desert housing tract: getting Mel Gibson and Danny Glover to torch it in the climactic scene of "Lethal Weapon III."

"We think it's a serious blight on our community and we want to level it," Assistant City Manager Dennis Davenport said Tuesday of the unfinished, rotting 54-home eyesore north of Los Angeles.

But officials worry the tract, seized from a failed savings and loan two years ago, won't be gone after the proposed January shoot. Movie-makers want to use propane gas flames to create the effect of a conflagration, saying destruction would thwart any chance of reshooting the scene.

"I don't know much about what the Warner Bros. folks have in mind," Davenport said. "I understand the flames would flash but really wouldn't burn the wood," Davenport said.

Movie spokeswoman Anne Reilly said negotiations to use the building are under way.

DE KALB, Ill. (AP) — There probably aren't many mothers who can boast that actor Richard Gere wore their sweatpants. The mother of supermodel Cindy Crawford can.

Cindy Crawford, 26, recently brought Gere — her boyfriend — to this town west of Chicago to visit her family. The "Pretty Woman" star forgot his pajamas, so Jennifer Crawford came to the rescue.

Tibetans protesting Li visit are arrested

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Indian police arrested more than 230 people to quickly quell pro-Tibet demonstrations when Chinese Premier Li Peng arrived as the first Chinese leader to visit India in 31 years.

India and China have failed to resolve longstanding disputes along their 2,400-mile border, but the leaders planned to sign a number of cooperation agreements signaling a further thaw in their relations.

More than 10,000 police and paramilitary troops patrolled the streets of the capital as Li sped from the airport to his formal reception at the presidential palace. His 12-mile route was sealed to other traffic.

Most of the protesters arrested were Tibetans, part of a 110,000-member refugee community that fled to India to escape

Chinese troops who invaded their Himalayan homeland in 1950.

The Indian government says it recognizes Chinese sovereignty over Tibet but has granted asylum to the Dalai Lama, Tibet's Buddhist spiritual leader, and his followers.

Most of the Tibetans were arrested at a refugee camp four miles north of the presidential palace after police fired tear gas and lashed out with steel-tipped bamboo poles to halt a protest march.

Five hours before Li arrived, scores of Indians and Tibetans gathered on the lawns around India Gate, a towering stone arch in front of the presidential palace. But as soon as they cried "Li Peng go back" or "long live Tibetan independence," police wrestled them into jeeps and drove them away.

Delhi police cart off a demonstrator who was blocking the road as hundreds of Tibetan protesters rallied against the arrival of Chinese Prime Minister Li Peng in Delhi Wednesday. Security is tight, but Tibetans vow to turn out to protest the 1959 invasion of their homeland.

Yeltsin meets with military leaders

MOSCOW (AP) — Russian President Boris N. Yeltsin met today with military commanders to brief them on the new Slavic commonwealth, one day after Mikhail Gorbachev tried to gauge their loyalty to his dissolving Soviet Union.

Yeltsin's office refused to comment on his private meeting with the military brass in the Soviet Defense Ministry. But Russian Economic Reform Minister Yegor Gaidar told the independent Interfax news agency the talks "were held in an atmosphere of mutual understanding."

EC leaders overcome deep divisions

MAASTRICHT, Netherlands (AP) — European Community leaders early today overcame deep divisions to reach an accord on establishing a loose political federation with a common foreign policy and a single currency by 1999.

In a last-minute compromise heading off the two-day summit's collapse, Britain was granted escape clauses on currency and labor policies, but EC officials said they expect London to eventually become a full participant.

The 12 EC nations decided to give up some of their individual sovereignty and forge a single economy of 338 million people in order to better cope with increasing competition from the Japan-led Pacific Basin and a trading bloc forming between the United States, Canada and Mexico.

AMA approves self-referral policy

LAS VEGAS (AP) — The American Medical Association urged physicians to let patients know when they refer them to facilities in which they have a financial interest.

The practice, known as physician self-referral, was among the issues covered Tuesday by the American Medical Association House of Delegates, the governing body of the 289,000-member organization.

Numerous proposals approved Tuesday now become official AMA policy.

The 424 delegates also urged physicians to get more involved in trying to stem domestic violence, and stated their opposition to forcing women to use contraceptives in child abuse cases.

Reports indicate that 10 percent of physicians nationwide have an ownership interest in health care facilities linked to potential self-referral cases. One study found that self-referring physicians sent patients for clinical lab testing at a 45 percent higher rate than non-investing physicians.

Family of victim welcomes verdict

NEW YORK (AP) — The father of a Utah man fatally stabbed by muggers in a subway expressed joy at the teen-agers' conviction, but said he felt sorry for their families.

Four teen-agers were convicted of murder and robbery Tuesday in the death of Brian Watkins, who was killed on a subway platform as he tried to defend his mother. Four others remain to be tried.

"We are extremely pleased with the verdict, feeling joy for that," Sherwin Watkins, the victim's father, said from his home in Provo, Utah.

Catering delivery crew found slain

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Police had few clues in the slayings of a catering truck operator, his son and three helpers who were found dead in a remote canyon three days after they disappeared.

The bound bodies were found lying side-by-side in brush Tuesday about five miles from where the truck was found abandoned Sunday, Lt. John Zorn said.

Investigators said a man walking his dog noticed the bodies on Monday, but thought they were discarded mannequins. After hearing news reports about the crew's disappearance, he called police Tuesday morning.

Studies show ads influence children to smoke

NEW YORK (AP) — Studies showed 6-year-olds are as familiar with a Camel cigarette cartoon character as they are with Mickey Mouse, strongly suggesting that advertising causes children to smoke, researchers said today.

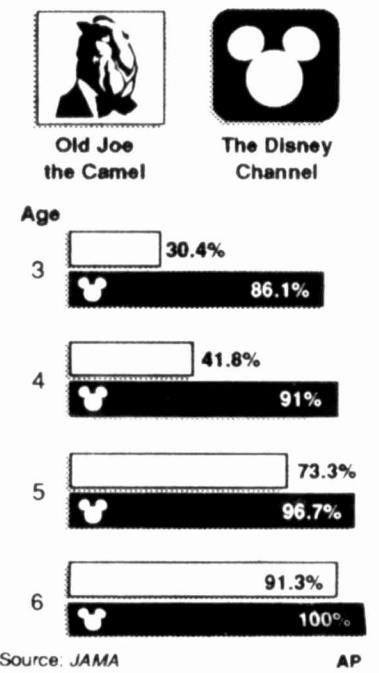

In a series of studies published in the Journal of the American Medical Association, researchers found that the Camel cartoon character, known as Old Joe or the "smooth character," is widely recognized by children of all ages.

That recognition has led to a sharp rise in the number of teen-agers smoking Camel cigarettes, they said.

Logo recognition by children

Old Joe, the cartoon character used to promote Camel cigarettes, looms over New York's Times Square. Studies found that the cartoon camel, referred to in ads as a "smooth character," was recognized more often by children than by adults.

American Cancer Society and the American Lung Association petitioned the Federal Trade Commission to immediately ban the Camel ads on the grounds that they are misleading.

"This campaign represents one of the most egregious examples in recent history of tobacco advertising targeted at children," the groups said.

The Tobacco Institute, the industry's Washington advocacy organization, responded with a statement saying, "Recognition of advertising logos or characters does not automatically translate into purchase of the product."

"And think of this — Joe Smooth has never been on television," said John P. Pierce of the University of California, San Diego.

Comparison with 1986 survey data showed that Camel smoking among younger smokers had increased sharply since the Camel cartoon character was introduced in 1988, Pierce said.

All Westerners must be freed

The world, and the United States in particular, rejoices at the freedom of American journalist Terry Anderson, who during six and a half years of captivity came to personify the agonizing ordeal of Western hostages held in Lebanon.

Anderson's release is a tribute to the efforts of United Nations negotiators. But at a deeper level, it also reflects the wisdom of responding to terrorists with a firm purpose rather than making concessions to satisfy their demands.

Anderson, 44, was the longest-held hostage and the last American to gain his freedom from Islamic Jihad, his pro-Iranian Shiite kidnappers. His release ends a brutal saga that, at one time or another, kept 15 Americans in chains, left three dead and bedeviled the U.S. government.

A former chief Middle East correspondent for the Associated Press, Anderson became a symbol of the world's concern and hope. He paid a terrible price, enduring isolation and mistreatment and missing out on the birth of his daughter. His sister, Peggy Say, had crisscrossed the globe, meeting with world leaders, terrorists and spies in a dogged campaign to free him.

Anderson became the ninth hostage, including the third American, released since August. His freedom was due in part to the tireless, behind-the-scenes work carried out by U.N. Secretary General Javier Perez de Cuellar and his chief negotiator, Giandomenico Picco.

Perez de Cuellar has led delicate negotiations involving a complex swap of Western hostages, hundreds of Arabs held by Israel and information about missing Israeli servicemen. In addition, the releases follow by days Washington's payment to Iran of $278 million for weaponry impounded during the 1979-'80 Tehran hostage crisis.

For the most part, however, the release of the Americans vindicated the Bush administration's stance against dealing with terrorists. Instead of granting concessions to gain the hostages' freedom, the administration patiently made it clear that there would be no improvement in relations with Iran, long the chief backer of the Lebanese kidnappers, until the hostage issue was resolved.

This represented a marked turnabout from the mid-1980s, when scores of foreigners were seized in Lebanon by Shiite fundamentalists backed by Iran, and Western governments unwittingly encouraged the kidnappings by offering various rewards for the hostages' release. This policy reached its extreme when the Reagan administration traded arms to Iran for the release of American prisoners.

The Bush administration, by contrast, has exploited the desire of Iran and Syria to improve their ties with the West. Because the prisoners became an obstacle to Tehran's goal of obtaining Western economic aid, steady progress was made toward their release. With other Westerners still being held in Lebanon, the hard-nosed posture should be maintained. As President Bush has properly stressed, the hostage ordeal won't be over until all of the Western captives are freed.

Graphic jam on TV news

I was just recovering from the shock of the Clarence Thomas confirmation hearings and discussions of such disgusting items as pubic hairs on soda drink cans, when along came the William Kennedy Smith rape trial.

There was a time one could not sit in on such things as confirmation hearings and rape trials, but now we get live television coverage of both on KNN Kinky News Network.

The Thomas affair got more graphic as it went along. Breast and penis sizes were mentioned more times than whether or not Judge Thomas knew which end of the gavel to hold.

The hearings also got into pornographic movies such as Long Dong Silver, or as Sen. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina pronounced it, "Lawng, Dawng, See-il-vuh." I have a Southern accent myself and I'm quite proud of that fact, but it doesn't take me three minutes to get out, "Mis-tuh, Chah-mun."

Sen. Thurmond, I'm afraid, delivered a smashing setback to the Southern accent during the Thomas hearings, the worst since Junior Samples first appeared on "Hee Haw."

And now the Smith trial. They spent days on bodily fluids and stains on underwear. I was trying to eat a cheeseburger in front of my television and just exactly what was that stain on the victim's panties?

Please. It was worse than trying to eat a cheeseburger in front of my television when the Drano commercial comes on, the one that actually shows the hairball stuck in the pipe that Drano can flush on down the drain.

Watching the Smith trial seemed to be simply a continuation of the Thomas hearings.

Sen. Ted Kennedy was at both, of course. Here's a man who once had a very good chance to be president. Now what he does is show up at confirmation hearings and rape trials and look more like the accused than the accused. If either the hearings or the rape trial had been a Perry Mason case, I can just see Sen. Kennedy under tough questioning by Perry, bursting out on the stand, "OK! I did it! It was me!"

What would have made watching the rape trial even more dramatic and steamy would have been for Anita Hill to have been the prosecutor and Clarence Thomas the judge.

"Would the prosecution please approach the bench," Judge Thomas might have said to prosecutor Anita Hill.

"Mistrial! Mistrial! Sexual harassment! Sexual harassment!" she could have screamed. "He wants me to approach his bench!"

We're concerned about putting condom ads on television, yet our children can sit and watch while a scientist testifies about just how many blades of Bermuda grass were inside the victim's underpants.

And why did she take off her pantyhose in the car? And whose Fruit of the Looms had sand inside them?

And did anybody dance with Long Dong Silver in the Palm Beach bar?

And who put the pubic hair in Sen. Kennedy's martini?

"We'll be right back for more live coverage of the William Kennedy Smith rape trial, but first these words from our sponsor, Morgan's Mouth Soap, just the thing to use when your child picks up too many bad words from watching our legal system at work. I'm Charles Jaco, Carnal Knowledge (cq) Network."

Quotas limit promotion of men

WASHINGTON — A letter came the other day from Tom Locker. He is a 41-year-old captain in the firefighting corps of the U.S. Forest Service in California. He is also, self-evidently, a male. This is important.

Locker is effectively denied promotion within the Forest Service, not because he lacks experience or qualifications. He has 17 years of experience and is fully qualified. He is stuck in grade because of the important reason: When it comes to promotions within Region Five of the Forest Service, no males need apply.

Such discrimination is pervasive within the federal government, where "affirmative action" has some highly negative human consequences.

The Forest Service story goes back to December 1972, when Gene Bernardi, a female sociologist with the service, complained of discrimination. Eventually she filed suit; the suit became a class action; in July 1981, a U.S. district judge entered a consent decree.

Under the decree, the Forest Service did not admit discrimination, but it agreed to a plan of "goals and guidelines" to enlarge the employment of women throughout the affected region. The decree was to remain in effect for five years, when results would be examined.

Since then the goals and guidelines have become, for all practical purposes, out-and-out quotas. Two months ago, word spread within Region Five that some fire management officers were telling young men, off the record, not even to apply: "You are of the wrong gender."

James J. Kilpatrick

Richard A. Henry, director of aviation and fire management, issued an "alert alert alert" denying the allegation. He said: "This program is an Equal Opportunity Program which is available to males and females alike — not one gender or another."

Then Henry added: "There is a consent decree requirement that we meet 65 percent female if it is attainable given the applicant pool, but that still leaves 35 percent for other selections."

Back to Tom Locker. He writes: "The quota system is tearing the agency apart, creating animosity and mistrust between men and women, management and workers, and lowering the agency's ability to do its job. . . . We spend much more time, energy and money managing our own work force than carrying out the mission Congress has assigned us."

"I'm writing this letter in the hopes of getting some public attention on the issue. If taxpayers see the tremendous waste this affirmative action program is creating, and when ordinary citizens see the pain and unfairness of these systems, they may have second thoughts about supporting others in the future."

It is not uncommon, Locker says, for job vacancies to be announced three or four times. He provided a recent specific example. The Forest Service invited applications to be received by Sept. 16 for enrollment in the apprenticeship academy next February. The period was extended to Oct. 16 for want of "an adequately diverse applicant pool." No males need apply.

On Oct. 4, Locker sent a notice of complaint to the service's equal employment counselor in San Francisco. He listed 18 positions for which he had applied since March. Two men actually were selected for promotion to fire management officer, one in Six Rivers, the other in Tahoe. But in Sierra, Angeles, Klamath, Cleveland, San Berdo, Sequoia, Stanislaus, Eldorado, Mendocino and Plumas the results were the same: "Female selected. . . . Female selected. . . . Female selected."

Locker is not a lonesome malcontent. Jan R. Seils retired two years ago after 28 years with the Forest Service. He wrote a sad letter: "We have a work force of many underexperienced women and disgruntled men." Fifty men in the Forest Service filed suit last January seeking relief from the quotas. Earlier an administrative law judge found their documentation "very strong."

Before writing this column I asked Locker if I could quote him by name. "Feel free," he said. "The agency has taken away my merit promotion rights. They have yet to take my freedom of speech." This is what "affirmative action" is all about. Would George Bush care to comment?

Bill of Rights has become cornerstone of free society

WASHINGTON (AP) — It was added to the Constitution as a political payoff, and played virtually no role in American life for well over a century. But on the verge of its 200th anniversary, the Bill of Rights stands today as a cornerstone of our free society.

Even as people continue to argue over the nuances of its meaning and purpose, the Bill of Rights — the Constitution's first 10 amendments — is celebrated as the document that defines America as a nation of individuals.

The Declaration of Independence gave birth to a nation, and the Constitution provided an inspired plan of how that new nation would govern itself as a representative democracy. But it was the initial amendments that captured the essence of today's America.

There were defects, most glaringly the silent endorsement of slavery and women's second-class status. But the amendments promised the freedoms of speech, press and religion, pledged protection against arbitrary police behavior and gave voice to the notion of fundamental fairness.

When ratified Dec. 15, 1791, the Bill of Rights fulfilled a political promise its principal author, James Madison, and others made in 1787 to assure states' acceptance of the Constitution.

Many distrusted the fledgling nation's centralized government, and wanted the Constitution, that government's basic charter, to include a declaration of rights and governmental limits.

"Today we sometimes think that we are entitled to free speech because the First Amendment gives it to us," said Ira Glasser, executive director of the American Civil Liberties Union, in his book "Visions of Liberty."

"That is not how the original citizens saw it," Glasser wrote. "They believed they were entitled as human beings to free speech, and they invented the First Amendment in order to protect it. The entire Bill of Rights was created to protect rights the original citizens believed were fundamentally and naturally theirs."

But the 10 amendments, like any laws, are not self-enforcing. For over a century, their impact on American life was minimal. "Significant protection of individual rights really did not come until judicial interpretations in this century," said M. David Gelfand, a Tulane University law professor. "Those rulings are what made the Bill of Rights a cornerstone of our free society."

When ratified, the document served only as a check on the power of Congress. It was not applied to state and local governments until a series of Supreme Court rulings within the last 65 years. The decisions interpreted due-process language in the post-Civil War 14th Amendment to impose certain Bill of Rights obligations on state and local governments. They sparked what historians call the nation's "rights revolution."

"It was in the states where most rights were being violated, and the Supreme Court never struck down any state practice until this century," said William Leuchtenburg, a history professor at the University of North Carolina.

"There was a rebirth for the Bill of Rights with the 14th Amendment and that subsequent history," he said.

That rebirth, said Alan Slobodin, president of the conservative Washington Legal Foundation, "made the Bill of Rights that which has defined America as a country of individuals. It provided the lexicon of political dialogue in this country."

Thursday: Bill of Rights detailed.

Christmas gifts from the heart . . . to the stomach

In addition to the warmth of family gatherings, the excitement of gift giving (for children and adults), there's the food. For a good many of us, the holidays without food would be an empty experience. Glittery packages aside, no gift is as special as a gift of the heart and in these days that increasingly precious commodity, time.

This year there's a new product in the kitchen that's as traditional as Santa's twinkle but as new as a fresh snow. It's Heath Bits, delicious chocolate covered toffee chips ideal for cookies, pies, toppings and holiday bar cookies.

WEST COAST FREEZER
(A nice big recipe great for larger gatherings — because it's good and easy)
50 vanilla wafers, crushed
1/2 cup chopped nuts
1/2 cup margarine
2 (3 oz.) pkgs. vanilla instant pudding
2 cups milk
1/2 gallon butter brickle ice cream, softened
1 (8 oz.) container non-dairy

whipped topping
1 (6 oz.) pkg. Heath Bits 'O Brickle chips

Mix vanilla wafers, nuts and margarine together and press into bottom of a 9"x13" pan. Bake 8 minutes at 350 F. Let cool. While crust cools, beat instant pudding mixes and milk together for 2 minutes. Blend in softened ice cream and half the bag of Bits 'O Brickle chips. Pour over cooled crumb crust. Top with the whipped topping. Sprinkle with remaining Bits 'O Brickle chips. Freeze.

To serve, take from freezer and place in refrigerator 2 hours before serving. Can be refrozen.

Makes 24, 2 inch squares.

HEATH BITS CHEESECAKE CRUST:

1 3/4 cups vanilla wafer crumbs
2 Tbls. sugar
1/2 cup butter or margarine, melted

FILLING:

3 (8 oz. each) pkgs. cream cheese, softened
1 cup sugar
3 eggs
1 cup sour cream
1/2 tsp. vanilla

1 (6 oz. pkg. Heath Bits

Preheat oven to 350 F.

CRUST:
Combine crumbs, sugar and butter; press mixture into bottom and up sides (about 1 inch) of a 9-inch spring-form pan. Refrigerate.

FILLING:

In a large mixer bowl, beat the cream cheese with the sugar until fluffy. Add eggs one at a time, beating well after each addition. Blend in the sour cream and vanilla until smooth. Pour half of the cream cheese mixture into the crust, sprinkle with 1 cup Heath Bits. Top with remaining cream cheese mixture. Bake one hour or until the filling is just firm when the pan is tapped. Remove from the oven and let cool 10-15 minutes. Sprinkle remaining Heath Bits over top. Cool on a wire rack. Refrigerate until ready to serve. Makes 12 generous servings.

BRICKLE CLASSIC CANDY
(Your friends and neighbors will give you a medal!)

1 (10 oz.) pkg. vanilla milk chips

1 "6 oz." pkg. Heath Bits 'O

Brickle

Grease a cookie sheet and set aside. Place chips in a heavy saucepan over low heat to melt. When completely melted and smooth, add the Bits 'O Brickle. Stir to blend well and immediately spread out onto the cookie sheet. Let cool completely. Break candy into various sized pieces. Makes 1 pound of candy.

BRICKLE CHIPS PECAN DREAM BAR

1 cup butter
1 cup brown sugar
1 egg yolk
1 tsp. vanilla
2 cups flour
1 (6 oz.) pkg. Bits 'O Brickle

With mixer, cream butter well; blend in sugar, egg yolk and vanilla. By hand, mix in flour, 2/3 cups Bits 'O Brickle and nuts. Press into ungreased 15 1/2"x10 1/4" jelly roll pan.

Bake 18 to 20 minutes, or until lightly browned. Remove from oven and immediately sprinkle remaining Bits 'O Brickle over top. Cool slightly but cut while warm. Makes 2 dozen bars.

Demand your rights

By PAPA JOE REED

I now call this meeting of M.E.N. (Men-Equality-Now) to order. It has come to my attention that many of you have back been sliding. You have forgotten that you have just as much right in the kitchen as the women. I've told you over and over again that the kitchen is not a woman's sacred domain. If we men are ever to be liberated from this sexist attitude that women are superiors in the kitchen, we must be diligent at all times. We must demand our rightful place in society and in the kitchen.

Now to the business at hand. Christmas is fast approaching and we must see to it that our presence is felt and appreciated. To do this, we will start with something that is tasty, liked by everyone, and best of all, is easy to fix. You noticed that I said "fix" instead of "prepare." I'm a Texan. We always say "fix." Today, we are going to have "Papa Joe's snibbles." First, get all your ingredients together. Today, you will need, oleo, brown sugar, vanilla, corn chex, corn kix, pretzels, popcorn and peanuts. Now for the recipe.

Papa Joe's Snibbles
1/2 cup oleo
1/3 cup brown sugar
4 cups Corn Chex
2 cups Corn Kix
1 cup pretzels (broken)
4 cups popcorn

How to open an egg

1/2 cup peanuts
First, heat oven to 275 degrees. Now melt the oleo in a large pan. Stir in the brown sugar and vanilla. Next, you add the remaining ingredients and mix well. Bake for at least 1 hour, stirring every 15 minutes. I tell you now, this is great snacking and will be enjoyed by all. Great to serve guests during this holiday season. Now, if you want a different taste, try 2 teaspoons of almond extract instead of the vanilla. Best yet, make both. As good as this is, you will need two batches, maybe more.

Papa Joe's kitchen tip: If you have leftover gravy, don't pour it out. Just pour it in an ice cube tray. Then wrap the frozen cubes in freezer wrap. Then when you need gravy, reheat a cube or two. A great time saver.

Refugee child

A Haitian refugee child stares off into the distance as he rests his head on his mother's shoulder aboard the USS Tortuga in Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, last week. The child was one of 688 Haitian refugees being cared for aboard the landing assault ship's well deck. The Haitians were picked up in the Windward Passage between Cuba and Haiti.

Boy gets stuck in chimney

SAN DIEGO (AP) — With visions of Santa Claus dancing through his head, a 12-year-old boy who locked himself out of his house tried to slide down the chimney and became stuck.

The boy, who wished to remain anonymous for fear of teasing from classmates, was stuck for about two sooty hours Monday until rescue workers plucked him to safety. He was uninjured.

"He figured that if Santa Claus can get in through the chimney, he could too," his mother said. "He was so embarrassed. . . . He said he might not go back to school for a week." She spoke to the San Diego

Union on condition of anonymity.

The crisis started when the boy came home at 3 p.m. and realized the front door was locked, with his key inside. He clambered up to the roof and slid feet first into the brick chimney.

About 90 minutes later, his mother and his sister came home and heard his voice calling out — but from where?

"At first, I thought he was playing some kind of scary boy's trick," the mother said. "But then my daughter said, 'He's in the chimney!'"

Mom was unable to pull her son out from the roof. Finally, about 5 p.m., firefighters were able to extricate the boy.

Canadian tourists staying home

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Petreus, Walter and Wilda Cameron have traded cold Canadian winters for Florida sunshine for four to eight months a year for more than a decade. But that's over now because of a change in Ontario's health plan.

The Camerons fear hospitalization in the United States could swamp them in debt, so they're selling their condominium and going back to Leith, north of Toronto. How many other visitors from the Canadian province will skip winter stays in the Sunshine State for in such other snowbird destinations as Texas, Arizona or California? Because of the health care premiums isn't apparent yet. Changes on both sides of the border agree the changes in the Ontario Health Insurance Plan likely won't affect vacationers who come just for a week or two. And the Canadian tourist season doesn't peak until after the holidays.

There are people who are not coming down or coming just for two months. I know the health insurance situation is affecting them, but to what extent we won't know for a while yet," said Bruce Green, 64, of Ontario. He is president of the Canadian Club of St. Petersburg. Canada is Florida's largest foreign tourism market with 1.6 million visitors in 1990. "One of 16 Canadians visits each year, mainly from the eastern provinces," said

Raphael Marcucci of the state division of tourism.

The Ontario Health Insurance Plan, a socialized province-wide health care system, used to cover all emergency medical costs and 75 percent of elective care for Ontario residents outside Canada.

That was important for the Camerons. Cameron, 74, a former lawyer and judge, has lymph cancer. His wife, a former U.S. Army nurse from Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., suffers from osteoporosis. But in October, limits were imposed on how much the plan would pay for out-of-country care, and private health insurance costs soared.

Under the new rules, while a heart attack leading to a 28-day stay in a U.S. hospital easily could run $84,000, the Ontario government would pay only $9,000 to $10,000, Cameron said.

At home, the same heart attack would cost him nothing, he said. "The cost of health coverage is now astronomical," Cameron said. "Where you can afford the premium for coverage, policies exclude existing health problems."

So this year the couple came to Florida for six weeks — to sell their condo and pack up their things. They paid $135 for a short-term policy to cover emergency hospitalization in event of a heart attack or stroke — not for illness related to cancer or osteoporosis.

The insurance change has had at least some effect in Florida.

"I understand some of the places that rent to snowbirds have been affected. There have been some cancellations," said Bill Sheeley, head of Pinellas County's Convention and Visitor Bureau. "But it's not as serious as we thought at first."

Surfside, a community north of Miami that has been catering to Canadian tourists for 25 years, hasn't seen any slowdown, said Phil Halpern, executive director of the town's tourist board. "I just came back from Montreal and Toronto and, if anything, there's been a little bit of an increase in inquiries."

"It's too early to give a good assessment," said Eileen Richardson of Ontario, president of the Canadian Club of Ocala. She spends six months in Florida.

Last year, she and her 84-year-old husband, Fred, paid less than $800 for Blue Cross coverage. That same coverage this year would have cost them $2,817, Mrs. Richardson said.

Changes in the Ontario health system were triggered by soaring out-of-country costs; payments to doctors and hospitals in Florida ballooned from $120 million to $225 million over 18 months. A hospital stay in Florida can run $1,500 a day.

According to the American Cancer Society, one out of ten women in the United States will develop breast cancer sometime in her life time. It is currently estimated that over 37,000 women die each year as the result of breast cancer.

Ninety percent of breast cancers are diagnosed by women or their physicians finding a lump in the breast. Women who are diagnosed with a lump large enough to feel have a 50 percent five-year survival rate. A woman who is diagnosed as having breast cancer by mammography, before a lump can be felt, has a 97% five year survival rate and a 90% 10 year survival rate.

A mammogram can detect a cancer this small, even before it can be felt.

Guidelines For Screening Mammography Established by the American Cancer Society.

I. 35-40 years of age - One baseline mammogram.

II. 40-50 years of age - A mammogram every 1-2 years depending on breast type and risk factor.

III. 50 years of age and over - An annual physical examination and annual mammogram.

IV. Asymptomatic women under 50 years of age with significant high risk factors should be examined at appropriate intervals. These risk factors include previous breast cancer and family history of cancer.

V. A symptomatic woman should have a mammogram at any age when she experiences a mass, nipple discharge, skin changes or unexplained breast pain.

A screening mammogram is an x-ray of the breast using extremely low dosages of radiation (usually comparable to dental x-rays) and is designed to find very early cancers.

A female technologist who is highly trained in mammography will perform the examination.

The charge for the screening mammogram is $65.00. The Unit accepts cash, check, Visa, Mastercard and American Express.

Faith

John's mother, Helen Doll, recruited her whole church to pray for John and Wilma. It took years of prayer and faith, but they finally gave up alcohol and drugs forever. By 1987 their minds were clear, but there was a "huge vacuum" in their lives they couldn't fill with anything. They decided to try Jesus. "It was the most spectacular thing to ever happen!" said John. In Jesus, they found what they had been seeking in drugs and alcohol for years.

The next Christmas was a Christmas he will never forget. It "was like the first Christmas," he said. "As the season progressed, Jesus himself was there — and rightfully so — right in the middle of our lives. Our family was so happy.

"Everything was new! Santa Claus died and the birth of Jesus came alive! We really understood what Christmas was all about and were so amazed about the real gift that was given — the gift that keeps on giving — with life, light and love, the risen Christ-child, Jesus."

Policy

"The thing you have to remember," said Sheedy, "is they're people too. They pay sales tax and property tax, they pay their school tax, and I just can't get over the feeling that whatever they do on their own time, as long as they are not in a city vehicle, in uniform or on city payroll, it's their business."

The resolution, which should provide a more uniform policy as it is adapted from civil service rules, will receive a final vote on Jan. 14.

Mayor Max Green, whom was not present at Monday's meeting, is expected to vote against the new policy along with Smith and Coffee.

Unless one or more positions are changed, a majority of the council, DeAnga, Harris, Sheedy and Tim Blackshear, however, will still constitute a majority in favor of the policy change.

Magic interview to be aired

NEW YORK (AP) — Earvin "Magic" Johnson said he suffers no ill effects from the anti-AIDS drug AZT and wants to set the record straight: "I respect women to the utmost."

Johnson, who retired from professional basketball after learning he has the virus that causes AIDS, made the remarks in an interview to be broadcast tonight on the CBS-TV program "Face to Face with Connie Chung."

Witness

that he had argued with his common-law wife, Diane Brummett, 44, hours before the assault. A police statement by Brummett states that she rejected his sexual advances. However, Brummett testified Tuesday that that was not true, that an officer wrote down things she did not say and she signed the statement out of frustration.

Maynard, who was five months pregnant at the time of the attack and whose husband was serving in Desert Storm, testified that she and Wheat had never met Nelson before the assault.

Maynard said she and Wheat had seen Nelson looking at them from out of his door across the street on the 2500 block of Hunter on several occasions. Nelson also said in confessions that he had never met Wheat or Maynard.

The 20-30 minute assault on Maynard began after being dragged from bed and then being forced to go into the living room, Maynard testified. In the living room, Wheat was on her knees and was bleeding from the nose and lower face.

"She appeared frightened, scared. Her eyes were wide like she was wanting to tell me something," Maynard said. "He had told us that if we didn't take off

Johnson said he was only joking when he told Sports Illustrated magazine that he tried to have sex with as many women as he could when he became a star in the National Basketball Association.

According to a transcript of the CBS interview, he said, "When you say I tried to accommodate all these women, then you get into a disrespect for women, and I — I'm not like that. I really respect women, and I just should've been protecting myself, as well as my partner, and I didn't."

Johnson announced on Nov. 7 that he was retiring from the Los Angeles Lakers because he had contracted the HIV virus.

The drug AZT, proven so far to be the most effective drug available for delaying the onset of AIDS symptoms, occasionally has side effects that include anemia, nausea and muscle pain. Johnson said he has none of those problems.

our clothes he was going to kill us."

Nelson used a pocket knife to start cutting the clothing of Wheat and Maynard as they begged him not to hurt them or Maynard's baby, Maynard said. "We kept saying that I was pregnant."

The women were then led into the hallway where Nelson unbuttoned his pants and began forcing the two to commit various acts, Maynard said. At one point, Nelson did not physically respond and he stopped and had the women get in another position.

"I asked him if we did this, if he would promise to leave and he said yes," Maynard said.

Eventually, Nelson began walking away but turned back and stabbed Maynard in the back of the neck. Maynard said she thought she was hit but realized she was stabbed when she could feel scraping and twisting "as if he was trying to cut something in there."

"After that he turned around and started hitting Charla. The first time it was about six times," said Maynard, who pretended to be passed out.

Nelson left the hallway and Wheat then began screaming "Carol." Maynard said. Maynard said she continued to lay still because she had not heard a door close to indicate Nelson left but moved her leg slightly to try to let Wheat know she was all right. "I was scared to move."

Nelson then ran back into the hallway, she said. "He was in a hurry, like he was mad. He started yelling at Charla, telling her to shut up (repeatedly) and he started hitting her again (6-7 times). I felt her body moving like she was trying to fight back."

Wheat suffered 13 stab wounds, including seven to the neck, testified Lubbock pathologist Ralph Erdmann.

I wanna be a baseball player

With the baseball winter meetings going on, it's mind-boggling some of the salary negotiations that are going on in Major League baseball.

To say the salaries are out of sight is an understatement. Just to make the major league is almost a sure sign one can become a millionaire.

Here are some figures compiled by the Major League Baseball Players Association that should give you an idea of what I mean. The figures are based on the 750 players on rosters and disabled lists on Aug. 31, the last day before rosters expanded from 25 to 40.

The average salary in 1991 was $851,492, a 42.5 percent rise from 1990's average of $597,537.

The $253,955 increase more than doubled the previous record of $100,283, which was set last season. In 1977, the dollar increase was from $51,501 to $76,066. The only higher percentage was the 47.7 percent rise in 1977, the first season after free agency began.

The Oakland Athletics, who fell to fourth place after winning three consecutive American League pennants, had the highest average at $1,394,119. The A's also led the payroll list in 1990 at $804,643. Los Angeles rose from eighth to second, nearly doubling its average from $685,780 to $1,302,979. California rose from fifth to third at $1,136,798, while the New York Mets dropped from third to fourth at $1,113,446.

Houston, which was ninth in 1990 at $681,664, dropped to last at $395,444 after shedding many high-salaried veterans. The only other team whose average declined was Cleveland. The Indians went from 19th in 1990 at $508,756 to 25th at $446,250.

Getting the most out of their payroll were the World Series champion Minnesota Twins rose from 20th at $495,270 to 12th at $922,408. The National League champion Atlanta Braves rose from 24th at $414,443 to 19th at $686,340.

The union report showed that first basemen were paid the most, averaging $1,696,071. Designated hitters were second at $1,594,325 and outfielders were third at $1,523,408.

So, to all you parents out there with young sons: Give them a bat, ball and glove and get to work. If they can develop a good arm, good speed, learn to hit a curveball or develop a split-finger fastball, then you may be in the money.

The Associated Press will release its All-State football teams Dec. 16 and several Crossroads Country football players were nominated. The teams are picked by sportswriters in Texas.

Players that were nominated were Big Spring's Pat Chavarria, Jon Downey, Gerald Cobos and Nick Roberson. Coahoma nominees were Mike Knowles, Mike Mendez, Steven New and Lee Coleman.

Garden City players nominated were Eric Seidenberger, Shae Scott, Jim Bob Scott, Jody Bradford and James Soles.

Colorado City's lone representative was Kevin Green.

It's time for the Surprise! Surprise! category.

In case you haven't heard, the Dallas Times Herald was purchased by the Dallas Morning News' parent company. Now there are 900 fulltime Herald employees out of jobs.

Times Herald sportswriter Frank Luksa heard about it on the car radio driving to the game. Fellow reporters Susie Woodhams and Mickey Spagnola didn't know until they had arrived at Texas Stadium.

The demise of the paper stunned them but they had a job to do, reporting as best they could the Dallas Cowboys' 23-14 victory over the New Orleans Saints, knowing it was the last time they would write for the paper.

It's reminiscent of the way the Cowboys treated Tom Landry.

Anderson propels Bulldogettes

By STEVE BELVIN
Sports Editor

COAHOMA — The center of attention was Loraine Lady Bulldogs post player Michi Atkins, but it was Coahoma Bulldogettes' guard LaTisha Anderson that stole the show.

Anderson scored 33 points in leading the Bulldogettes to a 52-46 win over Lady Bulldogs Tuesday night in non-district basketball play. The win evened Coahoma's record to 4-4, while Loraine fell to 5-4.

Anderson, a 5-foot-7 inch senior, made 14 of 19 shots and had three steals to boot. She divided the points between her outside shooting and quick drives to the basket.

Atkins, a two-time all-stater who's being recruited by several major colleges, showed her all-state form. With at least one college scout in the stands, the 5-foot-10 inch senior made nine of 16 shots, finishing the game with 19 points and 11 rebounds.

But when push came to shove, it was always Anderson who got in the last word. For instance, she scored all eight of Coahoma first quarter points, as Loraine held a 9-8 lead.

Atkins got ample help from guard Christine Lopez, who played a fine all-around game. Although struggling from the field, Lopez still managed four three-pointers to go along with four steals, three blocked shots and nine assists.

Giving Anderson help down the stretch were Amy Lawhon and Angela Crippen. Lawhon scored six of her seven points in the second half and Crippen turned in an eight-point, seven-rebound performance.

Coahoma coach Phillip Ritchey said his team was more aggressive. "We were especially more aggressive offensively," said Ritchey. "We had been sitting back waiting on things to happen and then making too many mistakes."

"Tonight is the best LaTisha Anderson has shot. We did a good job of getting her the ball. We rebounded well, most of the time we limited them to one shot. We were looking to stop the big girl (Atkins), drop back and sag on her. They (Loraine) surprised me with their outside shooting. That opened (Atkins) up a little bit inside. It was good win for us tonight to beat somebody with that caliber of player."

Coahoma led 25-21 at the half by outscoring Loraine 5-0 the last two minutes of the half.

Loraine came out with a 9-0 run at the start of the third quarter, but Anderson ended the run with a three-point play, pulling Coahoma to within 29-28. Coahoma then went on a 7-0 spurt, taking a 35-29 lead.

Coahoma led 39-33 going into the final quarter.

Loraine got as close as 43-39 midway through the fourth quarter, but Coahoma put the game away with unanswered buckets by Lawhon, Anderson and Crippen.

The Bulldogettes will play in the Ozona tournament Thursday through Saturday. In a round-robin format, Coahoma will play Ozona at 6 p.m. Thursday, Brownfield at 3 p.m. Friday and Sanderson Saturday at 4 p.m. Saturday.

Coahoma won the girls junior varsity game 32-22.

COAHOMA BOYS ROMP

The Coahoma boys made quick work of Loraine, coming away with a 100-26 win in the nightcap.

Mark Arguello led this mismatch with 30 points, including four three-pointers. Brian Sledge was next with 16 points, followed by 14 points by Matt Coates.

The win gives Coahoma a 5-3 record, while Loraine falls to 3-4. Coahoma also won the JV game, 49-24.

Coahoma coach Kim Nichols was almost apologetic after the rout.

"I've never really been involved in anything like this, I didn't want it to turn out this way," said Nichols after the lopsided win. "You can't tell the kids that come off the bench to go out there and not play. We shot really well and our big people got the boards."

Coahoma will play in the Ozona tournament. The Bulldogs play Ozona Thursday at 6 p.m.

Queens rally for win

By GLENDA LOW
 For the Herald

TAHOKA — The Forsan Queens rallied late in the game to defeat the Lady Bulldogs of Tahoka in their home court by the score of 54-43.

Coach Schafer attributes the win to the play late in the game.

"The girls did an excellent job of staying with it offensively and defensively after they dug themselves a deep hole in the first quarter," said Schafer. "They did not quit and they finally started making good things happen for themselves."

Jenny Conoway led the scoring for the Queens as she put half of Forsan's points on the board with 27. She hit nine from the floor and nine from the charity stripe. Leading scorer for Tahoka was Myra Williams with 16. Following Williams for the Lady Bulldogs was Lana Parker with 11.

Tahoka opened up the game with offensive firepower as they doubled the score of the Queens, leaving them in the lead by the score of 18-9. Runs of 8-3 and 10-3 led to the lead of the Lady Bulldogs.

The second quarter was a tighter ballgame as the Queens rallied back to outscore the Lady Bulldogs by only one basket. Conaway provided the offense as she scored six of the Queens 10 points as they closed the gap, 26-19.

The second half of the game was all Queens as they outscored Tahoka 35-17 to disappoint the home crowd at Tahoka. Forsan outscored the Lady Bulldogs 10-3 to tie the game at 29. Becky Gerstenberger then converted a couple of free throws to put Forsan on their way to victory.

With the win the Queens go to 4-4 on the season. Their next contests will be in the Borden County Tournament, which runs December 12-14.

TAHOKA '00, BUFFALOES '00
 Despite opening the game with an early lead, the Forsan Buffaloes came up short as the Bulldogs of Tahoka went on to win, 70-40.

Forsan opened the game strong as they scored the first six points of the contest, but the Buffs defense failed them as Tahoka went on a 12-0 run to take the lead and hold onto it for the rest of the night.

Leading scorer for Forsan was Chris Evans with 11, including two three-pointers. Josh Wooten followed Evans with 10. Mike Burleson was the high scorer for Tahoka with 16. Joe Hays and Brandon Cate both scored 15 for the runner-up position for the Bulldogs.

Forsan got most of their offensive output in the first half as they kept the score close 33-28 at the end of the second quarter.

But that's as close as it would get as the Bulldogs' defense shut down Forsan in the second half, including giving up only four points in the third quarter as they outscored them 15-4 and 22-8 in the final quarter of play for the win.

With the loss the Buffs go to 3-5 on the season. Their next contest will be in the Borden County Tournament, running December 12-14.

Ninety-point bull ride heads rodeo

LAS VEGAS (AP) — Ervin Williams of Tulsa, Okla., recorded a 90-point ride on Copenhagen Aces to win the fifth round of bull riding in the $2.45 million National Finals Rodeo on Tuesday night. Williams moved into sixth place in the standings, about $10,000 behind leader Tuff Hedeman of Bowie, Texas.

World champion Ote Berry of Checotah, Okla., took the title in steer wrestling with a 3.9-second run. He earned $10,780 to move $20,000 in front of second-place Todd Fox of Marble Falls, Texas. Berry has earned more than $25,000 in the NFR with five of the ten performances remaining.

World all-around champion Ty Murray of Stephenville, Texas, topped another round of bareback riding, sharing the lead with Ken Lensegraff of Rapid City, S.D. The pair had matching 82-point scores. If the score holds up, Murray climbs over the $200,000 mark. At this pace, he could clear the $300,000 before the week ends.

The fifth round is not official yet because Phil Smith of Emerson, Ark., could sneak in with a late victory. Smith, who won the first round of competition last Friday, was taken to Desert Springs Hospital for observation with a back injury that occurred when his horse reared in the chute. If Smith is able to compete, he will ride both his fifth- and sixth-round horses Wednesday night.

For the fifth straight night, an Etbauer won the saddle bronc competition — but it was Dan Etbauer, not reigning world champion Robert Etbauer, who topped the field Tuesday. Dan Etbauer scored 86 points on Bad News Skool, good for the $10,780 first-place check. Robert Etbauer won the first four rounds.

Fred Whitfield, the 1990 Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association rookie of the year, won the calf roping in 9.1 seconds for $10,780. With more than $25,600 in NFR earnings, Whitfield has climbed from seventh place to second in the world standings.

Barrel racers Angie Meadors of Wetumka, Okla., and Twila Haller of Phoenix, continued their strong NFR performances with twin first-place 14.26-second runs. Meadors has placed in every round of the NFR and Haller has won three rounds. Each received $5,898.

The title in team roping went to Mark Simon of Florence, Ariz., and K.C. Jones of Pueblo, Colo., with a 5.0-second mark.

The competition continues through Sunday at UNLV's Thomas and Mack Center.

Mother's talk sets daughter straight about sex

DEAR ABBY: I am writing this as a follow-up to the letter I wrote you in June about my 13-year-old daughter. (I told you she was getting dangerously close to the boyfriend she had been seeing morning, noon and night.)

I took your advice and spoke to her about sex. I purchased at the local drugstore several forms of birth control (condoms, contraceptive sponge and vaginal suppositories). I also bought something called a "teen pack" which contained several trial-size items introducing young females to such things as tampons, mini-pads, maxi-pads, shaving lotion and razors for shaving legs. When I got home, I invited my daughter to join me at the kitchen table. My husband was working late that night, so it was a perfect opportunity for girl talk.

I lined up the contraceptive devices on the table. My daughter was a bit curious. I gave her the teen pack, telling her that all the items in that package were things that we had discussed. Then I pointed to the other items on the table and said they were items that we needed to talk about.

I carefully explained to her that now that she had become a young woman having a monthly period, she could become pregnant if she had sex. I then told her that I was in no way condoning sex in someone as young as she, but that I wanted her to be informed. I then took each product and explained how it was used, and showed her the directions and how to check the expiration date on the product. After that, I opened each package and let her touch the device, examine it and ask questions.

I made sure she was aware that even if you are on the birth control pill, that still did not stop sexually transmitted diseases such as AIDS. I told her that safe sex with condoms could not completely guarantee the prevention of pregnancy or disease, but that the only way to ensure not getting pregnant or a sexually transmitted disease was not to have sex.

I then took the remaining products and placed them in a box in her bathroom closet. I told her I would not check the box, but if she ever felt a need to experiment, that they would be there. I stressed to her to always feel that she could come to me before making any decisions that could change her life forever.

And, I made some important points to her that truly hit home: I pointed out that she was too young to obtain a driver's license, too young to drink, too young to get a job, and too young to be responsible for the life of another human being. I reminded her that if she were to have a child, her education and social life would cease until such time that she could afford a baby sitter to resume her studies and social activities.

I trust my daughter, and your advice was a big help in dealing with a very difficult situation. I realize that I have a long way to go in completing the journey through her teen years, but I feel that we, as a family, will survive.

I am truly grateful, Abby. Thank you. — NORTH DAKOTA MOM
