Mitchell sheriff dies in hospital

Mitchell County Sheriff Wendell Bryant, 40, died Monday at University Medical Center in Lubbock from comtransplant

Bryant had removed himself from office last summer after being charged with official misconduct and official oppression. Still, he was a candidate for "e-election in the Democratic primary for the offire we had held since 1981.

Family friends said Bryant had undergone a kidney transplant last week but that his body had rejected the organ. He told a reporter last year that his kidney problems resulted from numerous insulin shocks he suffered because of diabetes. He had been on dialysis since November 1990.

Services are at 4 p.m. Thursday at First Baptist Church in Colorado City. Dr. Ted Spear will officiate. Burial will be in Colorado City Cemetery under the direction of Kiker-Seale Funeral Home.

$500,000 earmarked for Beal's Creek

Another $500,000 for a $5 million flood control project on Beal's Creek was listed in an annual budget released today by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

The project, scheduled to be completed in 1994, is expected to save $1.30 in alleviated flood damages for every $1 spent over a 50-year period

More than $1 million has been allocated to the project so far. The city of Big Spring is responsible for $1.8 million needed to purchase 22 acres of land for the project and to handle relocation easements, right of ways and

City raises garbage fees

By GARY SHANKS

The Big Spring City Council reviewed a report from the Envronmental Protecton Agency regarding needed upgrades to the city's wastewater treatment and collection system.

The city will also be required to make higher tax payments to the state for garbage collection.

Big Spring has already received a $7 million loan from the Texas Water Development Board under the state's Revolving Fund Loan Program.

These upgrades to the wastwater treatment plant will bring the city in compliance with new guidelines established by the EPA for effluent released into the

Because of increases in state taxes for landfill waste. the council was forced to pass on the taxes in the manner of charges for garbage collection.

The city has only $15,000 budgeted for state garbage taxes. With the new state taxes, however, $45,000 will be needed, said Public Works Director Tom Decell.

Even with the anticipated fee of $6 (up from the current residential garbage rate of $5.75), Big Spring's rates will still be lower than those of surrounding cities, Decell said.

'This money is in fact going in to our special fund for the payment of these taxes, and will not be used for anything else — period?" asked Mayor Max Green. Decell answered in the affirmative saying the increase will provide no extra money for the city.

Council member Corky Harris said the bill should be altered to highlight charges that are enhanced by these federal and state mandates. "I hate hidden taxes. And I consider things like this hidden taxes, so I think people need to know what kind of things they're paying. Decell said he would look into the possibility.

The EPA mandated the improvements on the wastwater treatment be done, therefore the council has no choice in the matter. This, however, still angered some council members.

"I agree with protecting (rivers and streams), but I think what we put in there is better than what comes down the creek," Ladd Smith said.

"I guarantee you what we're putting into Beal's Creek is 20 times better than what comes down," said The old wastwater permit from the EPA ended Jan.

1. Decell said. Currently, the city is operating under the new permit, but with allowances for less pure effluent, until the upgrades are completed. Because of the $7 million improvements, city water/wastewater services should, by 1996, cost $30.61 for water and $17.90 for sewer, Decell said. By Oct. 1, the rates should be $23.50 for water and $15.95 for

In addition, the EPA has also mandated that the city begin auditing its wastewater treatment regularly and supplying the results to the federal agency. The purpose of this is to ensure the city stays within specifications on it effluent 100 percent of the time, said Harris, who attended a seminar on this auditing procedure.

President Bush delivers his State of the Union message to a joint session of Congress as Vice President Dan Quayle looks on Tuesday evening.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Bush's electionyear plan to revive the economy ran into criticism today from across the political landscape. Democrats vowed to "stand our ground," and a Republican primary opponent said simply, "The problem is the president's credibility.

The president's economic revival plan included new tax breaks for first-time home buyers, an increased personal exemption for children, lower paycheck taxwithholding levels, a sharp reduction in the capital gains tax and a host of other tax incentives for businesses and individuals.

Stenholm, Sadowski react to Bush's talk

By PATRICK DRISCOLL Staff Writer

Candidates for the U.S. 17th Congressional District say President Bush provided some national direction in Tuesday's State of the Union address but disagree on how much.

"You always would like to see more," said U.S. Rep. Charles Stemholm, D-Stamford. "I don't criticize the president, he did what he had to do. We've got some differences but let's move ahead." Republican Challenger Jeannie Sadowski of Eastland said, "He gave us the right direction. He gave us the right general program.'

Sadowski and Stenholm agreed with Bush's proposals for tax cuts of: $500 per child, $5,000 for firsttime home buyers, reducing the capital gains tax from 28 percent to 15 percent. They also agreed with a proposal for early withdrawals from IRA accounts for first-time home buyers and education and medical costs.

TABC cuts charity bingo taxes

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission has changed its rules to reduce the tax burden on charity bingo groups, which are upset over a recent tax increase.

The rules change will allow bingo groups to file tax reports monthly instead of quarterly as is currently required, said TABC spokesman Jonathan

Bingo groups will save money because state law allows them to exempt $15,000 of their proceeds from taxation in each reporting period.

By reporting monthly, the groups can exempt $45,000 per quarter - $30,000 more than isallowed under the current rules. The change takes effect March

However, some bingo operators said the change does not go far enough. They had urged the commission to allow taxes to be reported twice a

Edward Plodzik, president of the Association of Texas Bingo Licensees, told the Amarillo Globe-News that bingo groups will continue with a lawsuit aimed at stopping the state from taxing charity bingo. They say the levy approved last year by lawmakers will force many charities out of business.

The measure raised the state's bingo gross receipts tax from 2 percent to 5 percent

Removal lawsuit targeting Moore

By PATRICK DRISCOLL Staff Writer

A Dallas attorney who lost a medical malpractice suit in Howard County filed a motion Tuesday to have the judge removed from the case, before a hearing is held to set an appeal bond.

Attorney Luis Avila says "threats" and "yelling" by 118th District Judge Bob Moore in a recent appeal hearing shows bias against Avila and his client, Joan Herrera of Big Spring.

Herrera sued a local doctor for the 1988 death of her two-month-old daughter, Crystal Herrera. A jury unanimously aquitted the doctor in November.

Moore, who refused to step down, says Avila is using Herrera to avoid paying appeal costs of more than $10,000. If Herrera is liable for appeal expenses, as Avila contends despite that not being stated in a written attorney-client contract, then county taxpayers could be held responsible to pay appeal

"Judge Moore made it obvious that he felt there was no grounds for appeal and considered any appeal to be in bad faith," states Avila's motion.

"The bottom line is," Moore said, "he (Avila) wants the taxpayers to pay the bill.'

In a hearing three weeks ago, Moore declined to uphold an affidavit of indigency filed on behalf of Herrera and chastised Avila, who was absent, for an incomplete contract. Moore also criticized Avila for charging Herrera fees as part of a contingency contract despite the case being lost, which is unusual. Moore threatened to notify the State Bar of Texas. In a contingency contract, attorneys usually take a percentage of an award after costs are subtracted, according to a survey of several Big Spring attorneys. If the case is lost, attorneys usually absorb all costs.

During the hearing, Moore became upset and raised his voice while questioning Herrera about receipts for $450 that she said she paid towards fee bills that, at that time, totalled more than $9,000. Herrera and a representative of Avila's law firm who was at the hearing did not produce receipts. After questioning, Herrera left the the courtroom in tears.

"This was done to embarrass her in front of the courtroom crowd and press representatives," states Avila's motion

Meanwhile, 32nd District Judge Weldon Kirk of Sweetwater, who sits as administrative judge over this region, said he will appoint another judge to hear Avila's motion "probably within the next 10

Skeletal remains found in Marfa evidence room

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

MARFA — West Texas authorities are culling case files in an attempt to identify two sets of skeletal remains found at the Presidio County's Sheriff's office during an inventory of the office's evidence

Interim Sheriff Abe Gonzalez said some photos also were found with the remains but he said officials don't have many clues.

"It's going to take a long time for sure," Gonzalez said. "We might have to bring an expert over here to try and straighten it out."

An inventory of the evidence locker was done following the indictment of suspended Presidio County Sheriff Rick Thompson on federal drug trafficking charges. The charges stem from the Dec. 4 seizure of more than 2,400 pounds of cocaine from a horse trailer at the Marfa fairgrounds.

Thompson is being held without bond in Reeves County jail. Glyn Robert Chambers, who was named in the same indictment, has pleaded guilty to a charge of possession with intent to distribute in exchange for testimony against Thompson

Thompson was suspended without pay pending the outcome of his trial tentatively scheduled for March 2 in Dallas federal court

Cole Fulks, interim district attorney for the 83rd district, said he has found no active cases that could be linked to the remains. Authorities have been unable to find an evidence log which would list the evidence and cases it was linked to.

Fulks also is searching his records to help identify the narcotics, mostly marijuana, found in the evidence locker. He said some of the drugs stored in the locker was being kept by the sheriff for other area law enforcement agencies.

"My interest simply is to determine if any of the evidence is related to any current pending cases and if it is what condition is it in," Fulks said.

Fulks said the inventory is not a criminal investigation. A destruction order must be obtained before a law enforcement officer can destroy evidence. Fulks said there is no set standard on when an agency should destroy evidence, but normally it is held onto until a case is completely through the judicial process.

"It's a large amount of narcotics to be built up before a destruction order could be issued," Fulks said. "But then a large amount of narcotics goes through this area.'

MATAMOROS, Mexico — Ongoing maquiladora labor disputes and 'spiraling" wages could ultimately cost this border city jobs and future economic development, industry officials say

The strikes that over two days have idled thousands of workers are worrying industry officials, who fear such displays could drive some businesses out of Matamoros and deter others from moving into the

"We feel strongly that if this happens again next year, it's over," said Fred Quintana, a spokesman for the Matamoros Maquiladora Association, a trade organization that represents nearly 70 of the city's maquilas.

Maquiladoras, also known as twin plants, are generally subsidiaries of American companies used for the manufacture and assembly of goods that are returned and sold in the United States.

The plants take advantage of cheaper labors costs. But Quintana said Tuesday that the closer Matamoros maquila wages get to U.S pay scales, the less attractive the area becomes to industries.

"If these wages continue spiraling like this ...," Quintana said trailing off. "They're already in a dangerous position.

Clinton, Cuomo mend fences

HOUSTON (AP) - Democratic presidential hopeful Bill Clinton has apologized to New York Gov. Mario Cuomo and chastised the media for continuing to question him about alleged extramarital liaisons

Clinton concluded a three-city tour of Texas, raising some $150,000 for his campaign chest on Tuesday.

Clinton drew rousing applause at a rally of some 800 supporters at the Seafarer's International Hall when he spoke about education reforms, improved health services and job programs. But when questioned later at a press conference at the Wyndham Warwick Hotel following President Bush's State of the Union address, he seemed to lose his temper.

"The American people are sick and tired of your (media's) obsessive preoccupation with a failed setup," Clinton said, referring to allegations about his friendship with Gennifer Flowers.

Ms. Flowers, who made unsubstantiated claims that she and the Arkansas governor had a 12-year affair, has played audiotapes she said were telephone conversations with Clinton. In one, the two apparently discuss Clinton's campaign and refer to a possible challenge from Cuomo.

Clinton is heard to say Cuomo "acts like" a Mafioso and refers to Cuomo as "a mean son of a bitch." At the press conference, Clinton did not acknowledge making the statement, but said he issued an apology to Cuomo and to Italian-Americans, if they were offended by the comment.

"I've not listened to those tapes, and I don't intend to," he told reporters sternly. But when pressed about why he would apologize for something he did not do, Clinton said it was out of respect for

"I just think I don't want Mario Cuomo or any other ethnic group to think I have said something against them," Clinton said, adding that he has known Cuomo as a friend since 1976. "If anything was said, I didn't mean anything like

Clinton has denied Ms. Flowers' description of a love affair, and he and his wife, Hillary, appeared on a "60 Minutes" program Sunday to debunk the claims, saying their marriage was not perfect, but it was strong

"We tried to be real honest, real forthright. I hope it's enough because it's all I can say, all I'm going to say," Clinton said

Democratic presidential hopeful Bill Clinton hugs Texas Rep. Wilhelmina Delco, D-Austin, after she introduced him in the Senate chamber Tuesday.

Clinton says he wants to talk about issues and not allegations of marital infidelity.

Still the questions dogged Clinton through stops in San Antonio and Austin, where he addressed several hundred supporters at the Texas Capitol and received endorsements from several Texas congressmen and state legislators.

Two legislators appeared to refer during introductions — to Ms. Flowers' charges, however.

"I don't know about you, but I want a strong man for president not God," state Rep. Wilhelmina Delco, D-Austin, told a cheering crowd and a laughing Clinton.

"Bill Clinton is talking to us about the 1990s and he's got a plan," Ms. Carr said. "We've got to have people that are looking ahead and not backwards.

As she spoke, a few balloons on the dais popped, startling Clinton. "When those balloons broke, I thought we just made a million peo-

Marcos arrested for bank accounts

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — Imelda Marcos was arrested today for allegedly keeping unauthorized foreign bank accounts and called the move part of a harassment campaign to deter her from running for president

"I think this will just strengthen my candidacy," said the widow of President Ferdinand Marcos, looking irritated as she waited at the police station for her lawyers to post bail. She was freed after posting $1,132 bond.

Mrs. Marcos was arrested hours after pleading innocent to four other criminal charges filed by the government of President Corazon Aquino, who rode to power the 1986 popular uprising that forced the Marcoses into exile.

She was served the warrant at the luxury hotel where she has been living since returning Nov. 4 from exile in the United States.

She got into a police car and was driven to suburban San Juan, where she was booked and finger-

'60 Minutes' 14, Clinton 86

It was 37-24 Redskins when the Super Bowl wound up Sunday night, but the more interesting score came half an hour later. By my reckoning it was 14 for "60 Minutes," 86 for Bill Clinton. Call it a wipeout.

The Arkansas governor and his wife, Hillary, took a gamble. They agreed to appear on "60 Minutes" for an interview limited to allegations of infidelity on Clinton's part. He neither affirmed nor denied. In effect, he took the Fifth Amendment. That recourse carries an inescapable inference of

So be it. And so what? By every indication the Clintons' marriage is solid now. If the Bible thumpers are outraged, let them recall two great precepts of Christianity: The first is to forgive the repentant sinner. The second is to judge not, lest ye yourself be judged.

A survey had shown, said the CBS inquisitor, that 14 percent of the voters would turn their backs on Clinton because of his alleged adultery. Clinton tellingly observed that if the survey is accurate, 86 percent of the voters find his private failings irrelevant. That sounds about right to me.

The principal allegation against Clinton, that he carried on a 12-year affair with one Gennifer Flowers, is old stuff. One of Clinton's political foes, who has since recanted the story, began spreading the rumor long ago. Good reporters looked into it and found it groundless

This time around, the Flowers woman sold her story to a sleazebag tabloid, The Star. She got thousands of dirty dollars for it. The story has more holes than a moth-eaten sweater. Even so, my brothers and sisters of the major media decided that publica-SIELL GIONZ SANDIEGOUNION CONLEY NEWS SERVICE

tion in The Star was news, big news --news that must be given wide circulation

It was in fact news, but only to a point. Considering the source, reporters could have acknowledged the fact with a single disdainful sentence and then gone about their serious business of covering a presidential campaign

In a poignant moment, Hillary Clinton pleaded for a "zone of privacy" for public people. God knows they are entitled to it. Even in an aquarium, fish have places to hide from the tourists.

Leslie Gelb, writing in The New York Times, says it is "not easy to figure out when to bring private failings into public view. Nonsense. The rules of the game are as clear as football's rule on personal fouls.

When private conduct clearly affects public responsibilities or involves public funds, the conduct must be reported. Secondly, when the private conduct of a public official becomes a matter of public record, the press has a duty to report it. Remember Rep. Wilbur Mills of Arkansas? Everyone in the press galleries knew he had a drinking problem, but we regarded it as Wilbur's own business. He did a superb job as chairman of House Ways and Means. Then he went on a boozy fling with the Argentine Firecracker. The cops came in, and it became a matter of public record.

Same with Rep. Wayne Hays of Ohio. One of his staffers leaked word that he had put a paramour on the payroll though she could scarcely type a line. The report checked out. Public funds were involved. Goodbye, Hays.

These always have been the rules. As the whole world now is aware, John F. Kennedy had the same sense of fidelity that one finds in a tomcat. His adulteries should have been reported, but the rogue was discreet and the press was more complaisant then We are more persistent, or more prurient, now Misconduct on the part of a public servant has to be overt. Sen. Charles Robb of Virginia, while governor, went to parties where coke was being used. Plenty of witnesses were ready to testify to the incident. Sen. Bob Kerrey, while governor of Nebraska, enjoyed a close relationship with actress Debra Winger. It didn't become public until she began staying overnight in the mansion and driving around in the governor's car.

At the level of national politics, men drive in the fast lane. Not all of them are angels. Evangelist Pat Robertson, a candidate four vears ago, confessed to premarital sex. Jimmy Carter told Playboy that he had known lust in his heart. These are men who have known power. And power, said Henry Kissinger, is the ultimate aphrodisiac

In agreeing to the "60 Minutes" grilling, Bill Clinton took a gamble. This is no bad quality in a man who would be president. He won, hands down, and good for him. I'm not ashamed of Clinton. I'm more ashamed of us.

Work is found in Ontario

All you hundreds and thousands of people out of jobs can relax. Vice President Dan Quayle has discovered there is work to be had at a Burger King in California

The vice president was on his way to play golf in the Bob Hope tournament when he saw a sign in a Burger King window in Ontario, Calif., that said, "Help Wanted.

Quayle stopped his motorcade, went inside the Burger King and was told that jobs were available there for $4.25 an hour

He was asked what advice he would offer the nation's unemployed. After discovering they needed help at the Burger King, he answered, "Don't give up hope

The article regarding the incident went on

'Quayle then headed for Palm Springs where he played golf with comedian Bob Hope, former President Ford, and pro golfer John Daly.

Let's see now: The vice president tells me not to give up hope even though I just lost my $50,000 a year job. I'm in my early 40s and I've got a wife and two children at home and one about to start college

I've also got a monthly mortgage payment on my house, the bank and I are still sharing ownership of my car, one of the kids at home needs braces, and we've already had to get rid of the dog because we couldn't afford to feed him anymore.

I lost my health insurance when I lost my job. College costs have tripled since I was in school. We're eating frozen fish sticks three times a week. I've sold the TV and the VCR, the dining room table, and my watch to help make ends meet.

I can't afford a haircut or to fill the car with gas. We've cancelled our newspaper subscription and the entire family is using one toothbrush to save money

If I have to eat one more frozen fish stick I'll throw up, and my brother-in-law wants to come live with us because he's out of work. too, and they foreclosed on his

We'll have to put my brother-inlaw and his wife on cots in the den and his two kids will have to sleep on the floor. Everybody will be cut to one frozen fish stick per meal.

But the vice president of the United States says I can go to work at Burger King in Ontario, Calif., for $4.25 an hour

But we live in North Carolina and I've already tried three local Burger Kings and two McDonald's and I even applied for a job driving a Rotorooter van, but they said they were cutting back because nobody was stopping up much of anything anymore, due to the economy.

"What they used to throw away and clog up the sink with," the guy had said, "they're eating these days They told me even if they needed help at the local Burger Kings and McDonald's, I would be too old and overqualified.

"You simply don't have enough acne to take burger orders," they

I asked if there might be any managerial positions open.

"Are you kidding," I was told. "Our current manager is so young, his mother still dresses him before he comes to work each morning.

I wonder how much bus fare is to Ontario, Calif. That much? If I had that kind of money we could afford to turn on the furnace and shower in hot water more than once a week.

I went down to the appliance store and watched Vice President Quayle play golf in Palm Springs on television.

After the round, Bob Hope said, "The vice president really knows how to hit a golf ball.

That's the only hope I've had in

A colleague of mine told me there can't be competitive Super Bowls back-to-back. I disagreed.

Super Bowl XXVI was supposed to be an encore of last year's New York Giants 20-19 win over the Buffalo Bills. The Buffalo Bills made it to the big dance for the second consecutive year. The Washington Redskins went in as a clear-cut favorite, but last year's Bills' experience was supposed to make it a down-to-the-wire confrontation.

The Redskins did an excellent job of preparing. Buffalo took a passive approach to the game

The Washington coaching staff took great notes of the Bills' game with Denver. Washington used the blitzing defense Denver used to stifle the Buffalo offense. It got the job done. It pressured Jim Kelly and stopped Thurman Thomas.

Buffalo made the mistake of going into the game thinking it couldn't run on the Redskins defense. Therefore the Bills offense ignorged Thomas early in the contest. If you've got the NFL's leading rusher, you've got to give him the ball. Thomas carried 10 times for 13

That theory was blown to bits in the first quarter, thanks mainly to forward Cassie Underwood and guard Casey Cook. With the defense keying on Russell and Fryar, Underwood and Cook had a field day.

Underwood, Cook and Teresa Ross combined for 12 first quarter points and Big Spring led 16-4 after one. Big Spring started the second quarter with Ross passing to Amber Grisham inside for a basket, Underwood getting a steal, resulting in another Grisham basket, followed by two Cook free

Duo paces Sands past Grady, 65-35

By TOMMY WELLS Staff Writer

ACKERLY — Once upon a time, many moons ago, there was a man by the name of Ruth who rocked his house with some monsterous blows. Then later along came a man by the name of Landry who constructed a legend that spelled Doomsday. Luci Schnelke and Shawna Kay weren't alive when The Babe was wreaking havoc with opposing pitchers and the days of Tom Landry may be but just a blur. But make no mistake about it, Schnelke and Kays know how to dominate too.

Schnelke and Kays each pumped in a game-high 19 points Tuesday night to help lead the Sands High School Lady Mustangs to a 65-35 victory over District 16-A rival Grady.

With the win, the Lady Mustangs improved their district record to 7-1.

Sands, under first-year head coach Leland Bearden, set the tempo for the contest early, nailing down a flurry of quick baskets from Schnelke, Jade Johnson and Mandy Hadnott in the first three minutes to race out to a 9-4 lead

This went from bad to worse for the Lady Wildcats from there. Grady managed to score just once from the floor, on a last-second jumper from Tandi Peugh, during the final three and-a-half minutes. The Lady Wildcats trailed at the start of the second period by a 13-6

Kays got hot in the early moments of the second. The junior post chalked up eight of her nightly total in the second to help key a 19-9 run and a commanding 32-15 halftime lead. Schnelke, Leann Maxwell and

Courtney Fryar also scored in the stanza for the Lady Mustangs

The Lady Wildcats, who were paced in the game by Missy Romine's 10 points, seemed to get things on the right track at the start of the second half. Grady pulled to within 14 midway through the third quarter when Michelle Madison buried a shot from the free throw line. Madison's free throw cut the Lady Mustangs' lead to 38-24. That was as close as the Lady

Langhorns could come though. Kays almost single-handedly squelched the GHS efforts by scoring the game's next six points and rebuilding the SHS advantage to 44-24 with less than three minutes remaining in the third

Fielder becomes richest player

DETROIT (AP) — Cecil Fielder received the biggest one-year contract in baseball history when he agreed to sign with the Detroit Tigers for $4.5 million.

The contract tops the deal Nolan Ryan signed with Texas a few month ago for $4.4 million. Fielder, the 10th highest paid player in the maiors based on average annual contract value, said the next step is negotiating a multiyear contract that will keep him in Detroit past 1993, when he's eligible for free agency.

The 28-year-old first baseman, unable to become a free agent for two more seasons, asked for $5.4 million in arbitration and the Tigers of fered $3.2 million. Fielder won the American League home run and RBI titles in each of his two seasons with the Tigers. He has hit 96 homers and driven in 265 runs since coming to Detroit.

Earlier in the day, the Tigers also averted an arbitration settlement with Mark Carreon, signing the outfielder to a oneyear contract worth $355,000. Carreon, obtained last week in the trade that sent left-hander Paul Gibson to the New York Mets, asked for $380,000 and was offered $315,000.

Colts hope coach can return squad to the playoff days

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Ted Marchibroda's first public comment as the NFL's newest head coach was almost fitting, even if he didn't intend it the way it sounded.

The former Buffalo offensive coordinator was hired Tuesday and promised to bring his trademark no-huddle offense with him in his second stint as coach of the Colts.

"I'm very excited to be named coach of the Baltimore Colts," he began at a news conference, a remark that was greeted by laughter. "Well, I'm off to a great start! I mean the Indianapolis

He laughed it off and left the impression it was an intentional slip of the tongue.

But it's been eight years since the Colts moved from Baltimore, and regardless whether Marchibroda was joking or not, he may have signalled his feelings for a franchise that hasn't tasted more than fleeting success since he was its coach for the first time in the

★★★★★ Highlights of Bush's speech★★★★★

Defense spending

- Cut defense spending by $50 billion over this and the next five years. If Russians agree to scrap all land-based multiple warhead ballistic missiles, the United States would eliminate all MX missiles, reduce to one the number of warheads on Minuteman missiles and cut the number of warheads on sea-based missiles by about one-third.

- Immediately adjust income-tax withholding tables to boost Americans' take-home pay. It would reduce the size of next year' refunds, but pump $25 billion into the economy over the next six months, according to administration estimates. Increases in take-home pay would range from around $175 for single taxpayers to more than $600 for two-income families.

- Raise the personal exemption for dependent children, now $2,300 per child, to $2,800. It would take effect next Oct. 1. — Cut the capital gains tax, or the tax on profits from the sale of stock, real estate and other assets, from its current top rate of 28 percent to a maximum rate of 15.4 percent for assets held at least

 Let businesses take an extra 15 percent depreciation allowance to encourage them to invest in more equipment and machinery.

Homebuying

- Give first-time home buyers a tax credit of up to $5,000 for homes built this year, with the credit spread over two years. - Allow first-time home buyers to withdraw up to $10,000 from Individual Retirement Accounts without penalty.

Provide tax credits and vouchers to help low and middle-income families buy health insurance, up to a maximum of $3,750 per family.

The White House hoped voters will blame congressional Democrats if the economic stagnation persists.

"It's up to Congress to produce," chief of staff Samuel Skinner told CBS. "If they don't, they're going to go into the fall having failed the American people and if they fail the American people they won't be coming back in January.

"We'll act in a timely manner," said House Majority Leader Richard Gephardt, D-Mo. "We're not going to play partisan politics.'

Gephardt repeated the Democratic leadership's opposition to Bush's plan to cut capital gains tax rates and said the Democrats would use their congressional majority to press for a middle class tax cut.

Patrick Buchanan, the conservative commentator challenging Bush for the GOP presidential nomination, applauded Bush's message but said he didn't believe the messenger.

"The problem is not some of those proposals which are good; the problem is the president's credibility," Buchanan told CBS.

But Senate Minority Leader Bob Dole, R-Kan., said: "The president displayed leadership, for the present and for the future, and now it's time for Congress to do the same."

The budget Bush sent Congress was contained a volume the size of a New York telephone book with a red, white and blue cover.

For 1993, the president proposed spending a record $1.516 trillion and taking in revenues of $1.164 trillion, leaving the $351.9 billion The budget reflected Bush's acknowledgement that the nation was in a period of "hard times." Gone was last year's forecast of a short downturn.

Instead, White House Budget Director Richard Darman wrote that "the euphoria of summer has been displaced by another winter's gloom" that has pushed consumer confidence to a "remarkably low"

"The American people were expecting meat and potatoes on the menu tonight, and instead they got pot luck and leftovers," said Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee.

The Bush plan faces stiff competition from Democratic alternatives that generally call for bigger middle-income tax cuts.

Bush also called for a freeze on many federal programs and a 90-day moratorium on government regulations that stifle growth. The president also proposed a large cut in defense spending and major reductions in the U.S. nuclear arms

In his prime-time address, Bush conceded the economy was in poor shape but declared, "We are going to lift this nation out of hard times inch by inch and day by day.

He challenged Congress to back his economic programs by March 20. "From the day after that, if it must be: the battle is joined," Bush said. Invoking Gulf War rhetoric, he vowed that the recession "will not stand.

Bush also renewed his call for a lower capital gains tax, and produced applause from Republicans and some chuckles from Democrats when he asserted: "This time, I won't take no for an economy

Over six years, the president proposed to cut defense spending by $50 billion as a result of the relaxation of East-West tensions. "Communism died this year," he declared in his speech in the packed chamber of the House of Representatives.

Most of the address — the first volley of Bush's re-election campaign — dwelled on domestic policy, not usually seen as his strong suit or his main interest

Dahmer trail: Made-for-TV horror

MILWAUKEE (AP) -- The prospective jurors who will decide whether Jeffrey Dahmer is insane were asked if they li movies. A macabre question, but

The trial, after all, will put reallife horror onto TV screens around the country. By all indications, it will be gruesome stuff.

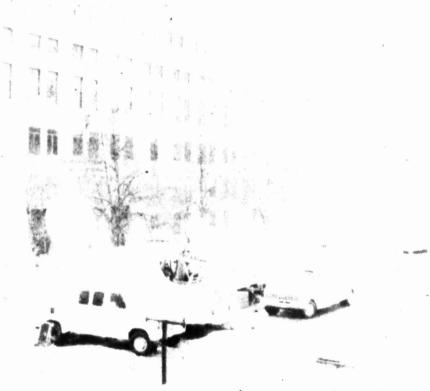

"Judge, I just don't have the stomach for it," one prospective juror said Monday before she was excused from the case

By the end of the trial, some television viewers may be saying the same thing Dahmer, a 31-year-old former chocolate factory worker; has confessed to 17 killings and pleaded guilty but mentally ill to the 15 with which he is charged in Wisconsin. A jury will decide whether he was insane at the time of the slayings. The verdict will mean the difference between life in prison and an indefinite stay in a mental hospital. One Milwaukee TV station plans testimony at length, as it did at the William Kennedy Smith rape tria in Florida

Like the Smith trial, however the Dahmer case promises to push the boundaries of what is con sidered acceptable television.

Just as the Smith trial exposed viewers to unprecedented frankness in its testimony about sexual organs and functions, the Dahmer case will offer more than most people care to know about dismemberment, necrophilia and cannibalism.

Already broadcasters have agreed to limit their camera views of the many photographs that are expected to be shown to the jury.

WDJT, the Milwaukee station that plans live coverage, said it may cut into some of the most gruesome testimony

"We don't want to homogenize this trial, but when it gets extremely graphic we're going to have to make a decision," said WDJT general manager. Bill LeMonds 'It's going to be extremely difficult.

WDJT and another local station, WITI, also plan to use a small symbol in the corner of the screen to warn viewers of potentially

Boat people trek across Australia

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) Chinese boat people who landed on a remote beach trekked more than 120 grueling miles through a desolate "bit of hell," surviving on snakes, lizards and small crocodiles, officials said last week.

Darwin Police Inspector Con Calameri called the refugees remarkably enterprising and fearless after two weeks in the dense bush. They made fishing hooks from nails, fishing lines from wire and a knife from a sharpened

Soon after they landed Dec. 31 on the remote northwestern beach, they clubbed a 3-foot-long crococile to death.

They ate some of it there, then south. They also dried snake flesh, making it into soup, and caught several large fish.

The refugees said they survived by traveling at night, avoiding the scorching summer heat. Temperatures reach 95 degrees on average in the vast desolate region of northwestern Australia.

Easy does it

By PAPA JOE REED

Today, we are going to delight the youngsters in the family. Well, not only the youngsters, but the adult members as well. Remember men, cooking is easy. The women folks don't want us to know that and that's the reason they have kept us out of the kitchen for these hundreds of years. But our time has come. More men are learning to cook and the joys of food preparation. And it is easy. For example, today we are going to fix a simple, but delicious dish. A dish that everyone will like. It's simply

CHEESEBURGER PIE 1 pound hamburger meat 1/2 teaspoon salt 1 cup cheddar cheese, shredded 1/2 cup instant biscuit mix Tomato slices

11/2 cups onion, chopped 1/4 teaspoon pepper 1 cup milk

Once you have your ingredients together, brown the hamburger meat and onions. Drain the surplus grease and water and stir in the salt and pepper. Place the meat and onions in the bottom of a lightly greased 9 inch pie plate. Sprinkle with the cheese. Now, combine the milk, biscuit mix and eggs. Beat until it's smooth and creamy. Pour over the meat and cheese. Bake for 30 minutes at 350 degrees or until brown. Let cool for about 5 minutes before serving. Let cool for about 5 minutes before serving. Use the tomato slice on top. Here's a complete meal for the family and it takes less than an hour to fix. What could be better?

A salad would go good with that cheeseburger pie, so let's have one that's called a HILLBILLY SALAD

1 stack of saltine crackers

Sweet pickles, 1 cup, chopped Pimientos, small jar, drained 1 pint salad dressing 1 chopped onion 1 medium, chopped bell pepper 5 boiled, chopped eggs 1/2 cup grated cheese You first crush the crackers and put in a large mixing bowl. Add all the other ingredients and mix well. This salad is especially good if you chill it before serving.

And now for dessert, let's have a pie. This one will amaze you. It's called the

IMPOSSIBLE PIE 4 eggs

1 cup sugar 1/4 teaspoon salt 2 cups milk

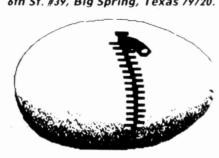

1 teaspoon vanilla 1/4 cup oleo

1/2 cup flour 1/2 teaspoon baking powder 1 cup coconut

You place all the ingredients into the blender at one time and blend until they are thoroughly mixed together. Pour into a buttered 10 inch pie pan. Bake in a 350 degree oven for one hour. Now here is the amazing part. When this mixture is done, the crust will be on the bottom, the custard in the middle, and the coconut on top. All of them right where they belong. Thre you have it, a main dish, a salad and a dessert. Who could ask for more?

Papa Joe's kitchen tip: To keep bacon slices from sticking together, roll the package into a tube shape and secure with a rubber band before refrigerating.

If you would like a copy of Papa Joe's Cookbook, "How to Open An Egg," just send $5.95 plus $1.00 postage to Papa Joe Reed, 1425 E. 6th St. #39, Big Spring, Texas 79720.

Consumer Reports:

Much retail seafood unfit to eat

WASHINGTON (AP) - Much of the raw seafood sold in stores is spoiled or contaminated by pollutants, according to a sixmonth Consumer Reports investigation released recently.

The magazine blames retail stores and others who handle the fish for the spoilage and says that, although spoiling fish tastes and smells bad, thorough cooking probably removes any danger of sickness.

The tested fish — salmon, flounder, sole, catfish, swordfish, lake whitefish and clams from supermarkets and fish stores in Chicago and New York City was sent in the original packaging in refrigerated containers by overnight delivery to a laboratory

The magazine concluded that almost 30 percent of the fish tested was spoiled and 9 percent more was on the verge of spoiling.

Nearly half the fish was contaminated by fecal bacteria from human or animal waste. Some were contaminated by carcinogenic substances that pollute oceans, lakes and rivers. says the article in the February edition of the magazine. "It is retail store practices that put fish quality at most risk," said Trudy Lieberman, a senior editor at Consumer Reports. "Too long a storage time, high temperatures, lack of cleanliness and good sanitary habits by handlers all compromise the freshness and flavor of the fish we

But the magazine also said the industrial pollutants polycholorinated biphenyls, or PCBs, were found in 43 percent of the salmon, 25 percent of the swordfish and 50 percent of the lake whitefish. Mercury was found in 90 percent of the swordfish. Some catfish, lake whitefish and swordfish also contained residues of DDT and other pesticides that have been banned for 20 years.

The National Fisheries Institute disputes the magazine's findings and is criticizing the sweeping conclusions based on fish from just two locations.

The institute, which lobbies for the seafood industry in Washington, said the magazine's testing method, known as the aerobic plate count, or APC bacteria test, is imprecise and of limited use as a quality indicator. Unlike meat and poultry, fish

does not undergo mandatory

federal inspection. States vary in their procedures

Jonathon Red, a seafood specialist at a Chicago grocery store, arranges fish. A report in the February issue of Consumer Reports said that

Ellen Haas, executive director of Public Voice for Food and Health Policy, which has long pressured for federal seafood inspection, said "risks don't exist at the retail supermarket level alone, but are pervasive at every level from the harvesting and processing of seafood to the time it reaches consumers' tables.

The National Academy of Sciences recommended last year that the government improve monitoring of waters from which seafood is taken, saying most health risks associated with seafood originate in the environment.

The academy's Institutes of Medicine called for more inspection, noting that very few checks are made of fishing vessels or processing plants to make sure fish are properly refrigerated and protected from contamination.

The academy said food poisoning from seafood most commonly traces to consumption of raw oysters, clams and mussels taken from waters containing human sewage

Consumer Reports said good

Chinese New Year, the time is right for a second start. On Feb. 4, the Chinese will welcome in the Year of the Monkey, Chinese lunar calendar year 4690, and bid farewell to the legend, Buddha bestowed these names when he called a meeting of all animals prior to his departure from Earth. When only 12 attended, he named a year after each animal in the order that it arrived Rat, Ox, Tiger, Rabbit, Dragon, Snake, Horse, Ram, Monkey, Rooster, Dog and Boar

To this day, many believe that will profoundly influence his or her life. And, in the Chinese zodiac, those born in the Year of the Monkey are motivators, inventors and improvisers who will be successful at everything they do.

Traditionally, the Chinese prepared for the new year by cleaning house and paying off not unlike many Americans' intentions for the new vear. Now, Chinese New Year celebrations include parades, fireworks and gift giving.

So why not honor the indomitable spirit of the Year of the Monkey with a Chinese New Year's party? A gathering of friends or family members might be just the cure for the winter doldrums. # New play looks at married life

HOUSTON (AP) — The fact that Edward Albee's "Marriage Play" depicts a long-married couple in sometimes violent conflict may have some theatergoers jumping to the conclusion that the playwright's latest is some sort of "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?

Albee quipped, "Maybe I should just begin the play with these two watching the end of the movie of Virginia Woolf on television, and have one say to the other: 'Wasn't that interesting? And isn't it wonderful our marriage isn't like theirs?'

Actually, "Marriage Play" begins with a husband returning home to tell his wife of 30 years that he's leaving her. What follows is the couple's struggle to come to terms with the emptiness that has overtaken their shared existence.

Albee is directing the American premiere of "Marriage Play," on the Alley Theater's Large Stage. The play premiered in Vienna in 1987, was well-received there, and since has been staged successfully in several European capitals.

"Marriage Play," the first new Albee play seen in the United States in nine years, is a coproduction with the McCarter Theater of Princeton, N.J. Following its month-long run in Houston ending Feb. 2, the play will travel to the McCarter, with a subsequent New York run a possibility.

Tony-winner Shirley Knight and New York Shakespeare Festival veteran Tom Klunis are starring in the two-character play.

'Marriage Play's' Jack and Gillian are as different from 'Virginia Woolf's'' George and Martha as were the couples-incrisis of "A Delicate Balance" and 'Seascape' (Albee's two Pulitzer Prize winners) "Playwrights do tend to write about people in relationship to each other," Albee said. And most often that means the long-term involvement of a couple. "There are few plays about hermits because we see few hermits in life. Anything one writes is based on one's own experience, what one observes and what one makes up.' The impetus for writing "Marriage Play," beyond the fact that plays as ambiguous. Albee had a commission to create a new work for the American Theater in Vienna, was simply that it was the play in his head at that

"I always have two or three plays in my head," Albee said. In most cases, he lets each play gestate there a long while, so that the actual writing is the least of his creative labors.

Regarding his subject and intent in "Marriage Play," Albee gave the following description:

"It's about what happens in most relationships, even good ones, with two intelligent and responsible people. There comes a time in any relationship - if it goes on long enough — when the question has to come up: Is this all there's going to be? Is this enough?

E"The play examines a couple as they ask those questions. Everything in life changes and mutates from one form into another. You have to be objective about yourself, and not expect a relationship to be what it was 20 years ago.

After more than 30 years as a working playwright, Albee is still interested in writing new plays. When he writes, commercial suc-

PUBLIC NOTICE

PUBLIC NOTICE OF CHANGES IN ELECTION PRECINCTS NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, pursuant to Arti cle 42.035, Texas Election Code, of changes in election precincts of Glasscock County, Texas.

County election precincts were modified by action of the Commissioners Court of Glasscock County in compliance with duties imposed by the United States Constitution, Texas Constitution, Texas Election Code and Chapter 42 United States Code 1973c, otherwise known as the Voting Rights

The changes made accomplish numerical balance between the four Commissioners Court precincts, and insure opportunities for minority impact upon electoral offices within the county.

Maps of the modified election precincts are available for inspection in the Glasscock County Clerk's Office, Glasscock County Courthouse, GLASSCOCK, Texas, during business hours of 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., Monday thru Friday, county holidays excluded.

The public is encouraged to review the adopted election line changes prior to any election utiliz

Baby sitter wants to do more than sit

DEAR ABBY: I am a 17-year-old girl who has been baby-sitting for nearly five years. Ever since I started baby-sitting, I've been nervous because I don't know exactly what the parents expect from me.

For example: I arrive at a home to baby-sit, and the parents are waiting at the door for me and are all ready to leave the minute I get there, so I can't ask them any questions. I see that the house is a mess sometimes there are dishes in the sink and there are baskets of laundry that need folding. Anyway, after I get the kids bathed and in their beds, I have plenty of time to straighten the house and I know where everything belongs, so why shouldn't I do it? I could even do the ironing.

This really bothers me, Abby. I always put the children's toys and clothes where they belong, but how a girlfriend who also baby-sits, and should I be paid extra if I do? — BAFFLED BABY SITTER you are also capable of cleaning the kitchen, ironing and doing other household chores after the baby is asleep; and if you do household chores, you should be paid accordingly. So don't feel guilty asking for a reasonable compensation.

DEAR ABBY: If you print this, please do not use my name, my city or state — just get my message about the rest of the house? I have across so another woman will be spared the disappointment I just she says she gets paid extra for experienced. I was married two picking up the place. Should I offer years ago, in a picture-book perfect to do more than just baby-sit? And church wedding. All who attended said it was the most beautiful wedding they had ever seen. I wore a DEAR BAFFLED: When you designer's wedding gown that cost are asked to baby-sit, suggest that $2,400. It was satin, and beautifully

When a very close friend of mine announced her engagement, she asked if she could wear my wedding gown, and I said yes. Abby, I have never regretted a decision more than that one

I gave it to her in perfect condition — and it was returned to me in such a sorry state, I cried. She had perspired profusely, and someone spilled red wine on it. Although the garment was sent to the best dry cleaner in town, it was totally ruined. Although the wine stains were not visible, that area was visibly damaged. Some beads had apparently come off in the cleaning and were replaced with beads of poorer quality — and not the right

I am crying as I write this, Abby, but I am determined to get this message across to other brides: If you value your wedding gown, DON'T let anyone wear it. Sign me .. UNSELFISH AND SORRY

Readers can write to: Dear Abby at P.O. Box 69440, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069.

FOR THURSDAY, JANUARY 30, 1992 HAPPY BIRTHDAY! IN THE NEXT YEAR OF YOUR LIFE: New social and professional contacts will soon put your career into high gear. March brings new business your way. An unexpected windfall or legacy is featured in June. Make new investments in August. October calls for great practicality on your part. Spend money on overdue home repairs or relocation. December finds you pressing for greater commitment in romance. Spend the Christmas holiday in sunny climes

CELEBRITIES BORN ON THIS DATE: ctor Gene Hackman, actress Vanessa Redgrave, chess player Boris Spassky, golfer Curtis Strange

ARIES (March 21-April 19): You feel loved and appreciated now. Minor annoyances slide off your back. Although trying to please everyone is an impossible task, give t a good go anyway.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Another fine day to spend with those who are closest to your heart. Your more imaginative loved ones will want to play this coming weekend Plan an outing everyone can enjoy.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Attend to whatever formalities are required and stick with a project until it is finished. You may be able to patch up a rocky relationship tonight. Use words to heal, not condemn. CANCER (June 21-July 22): Clear the decks before starting a time-consuming new project. A windfall or legacy could make a dream come true. Steer clear of friends' getrich-quick schemes LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Be aware that someone is in a combative mood today. Certain associates could be their own worst enemy. Stay home tonight or at least stick to familiar territory. A romantic alliance needs nurturing.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): You have the opportunity to change a relationship for the better. Emphasize mutual benefits if trying to forge a new union. Give your loved ones extra encouragement

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct, 22): Be careful now your star may dim if a business venture does not pan out. Set to work with a will! Others lack your creativity. Have a fun lunch with a good friend. SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): A relation-ship may have a lot of fancy trimmings, but where is the beef? Can you really count on this person when the chips are down? Plan for the future. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Generosity is advised. Do a favor for so meone you have not seen in years. Keep your poise in a social situation even if you feel uncomfortable. Dine with loved one tonight. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Your diplomatic manner puts you in an influential person's good graces. A fundamental restlessness compels you to get in touch with old friends. Your generosity is gratefully acknowledged.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): It is perfectly fine for you to change your mind. Go with the decision that makes you feel most comfortable. Your gentle, sentimental ways charm others. Keep tabs on expenses when socializing.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Tender loving words will strengthen family ties. They also could start the ball rolling for a new enterprise. Enjoy the fanfare tonight -you are in the spotlight
