Lottery system at center of firestorm

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas lottery, which won't be selling tickets for months yet, finds itself at the center of a firestorm of controversy.

Gov. Ann Richards voiced satisfaction with the handling of state lottery preparations, and the game's director said Thursday that Texas has been hit by "notoriously nasty" lottery industry infighting. But a state lawmaker, contending that serious questions about lottery operations remain, urged creation of a legislative oversight committee. And the Republican Party chairman charged that the lottery is "in chaos." The governor said lottery officials have acted properly as the state moves to begin instant-win, scratch-off games by July 1.

The lottery, approved by voters last year, is forecast to bring the state more than $400 million during the current two-year budget cycle.

"They have handled this in the most ethical possible manner by trying to make everyone aware, and I think all the players were," Richards said.

Lottery director Nora Linares said Texans are anxious to play the game and that state officials are working to start one with a process that is honest and aboveboard.

The state will award a contract worth $5 million to $10 million for printing instant tickets, and one worth up to $200 million for computerized on-line games.

Ms. Linares said competition among lottery companies for lucrative state contracts is fierce.

"Lottery industry fights are notoriously nasty, and this nastiness has clearly broken out here in Texas," she said. "Industry lobbyists are doing nothing but harming themselves, their clients and the state with their scud attacks by fax, phone and press release."

The lottery's private consultant resigned this week after news reports that he was related by marriage to an official of the company being awarded a contract to print the instant tickets.

Rep. John Carona, R-Dallas, said in a letter to Ms. Linares that the resignation of consultant John Pittman corrected "the obvious conflict of interest."

But Carona said he remains worried that the bidding process for lottery work may be tainted.

"When you have knowingly allowed the fox to guard the henhouse, as was apparently the case in the Pittman matter, you have to expect the concern and skepticism which now exists," the lawmaker wrote.

Lawyer going strong

Morrison celebrates 60th year of practice

By PATRICK DRISCOLL
Staff Writer

It was a time when you could buy a used Model A Ford by trading in your older Model A Ford and paying $50 to $75.

It also was a time when lawyers got more respect.

Walton Morrison, 84, of Big Spring was sworn in to practice law by the Texas Supreme Court on Feb. 3, 1932. Not only is he the oldest practicing lawyer in Big Spring, he is the longest practicing.

Things have changed in 60 years, Morrison said, but not his love for the profession.

"Lawyers were respected as much as anybody," he says with his usual good-natured smile filling his face. "Now, too often they're considered a bunch of rascals."

But, he said, "It's the only thing I was ever interested in doing. I take a great satisfaction in helping people when they need help."

Morrison, born and raised in Big Spring, grew up in a family of lawyers. After graduating from the University of Texas Law School, he came home to practice with his father and uncle. He married his wife, Mary Morrison, six months later.

He rented a three-bedroom house, where the Lutheran church now stands, for $7.50 a month. The law office paid the monthly telephone bill of $5.

Morrison said he did not make much money at first: less than $700 the first year and $15 in March

Support factor in prison site selection

By GARY SHANKS
Staff Writer

Overwhelming public support for a state prison in Big Spring will be a factor in site selection process, according to officials at the Texas Department of Criminal Justice.

A petition program coordinated by Joyce Crooker garnered more than 6,000 signatures in favor of the proposal, and only one against, she said.

The next step in the process will be a site inspection by a team from TDCJ, which is expected in February, said County Commissioner Bill Crooker.

This site inspection team will be composed of a team leader, and members with experience in utilities, health and agricultural impact and construction.

"It's not the pivotal factor in the decision, but we would certainly want to be welcomed."

TDCJ spokesman
Charles Brown

This team will report back to the TDCJ site selection board, which will compile a "short list," striking many of the 63 proposals from further consideration.

City proposals that make this short list will be notified on March 16, Bill Crooker said. At that time, all cities remaining on the list will be required to hold public hearings.

"It's not the pivotal factor in the decision, but we would certainly want to be welcomed," said TDCJ spokesman Charles Brown.

Selden Hale, who chairs the site selection board, was more firm on the idea of public support. He was quoted in a press release as saying, "If there is opposition in your community, you can be assured we will not place a unit there."

With the package offer of land and utilities Big Spring has prepared, the positive reaction from area residents will be considered. Final determination of sites that will receive the state institutions is to be announced following a meeting of the board on April 10.

Women achieved recognition

By MARTHA E. FLORES
Staff Writer

In the 20th century, many black women achieved recognition as tops in their field by overcoming discrimination against their race and gender. Sadie M. Alexander, Mary McLeod Bethune and May Edward Chinn are only a few of those black women.

• Sadie M. Alexander's academic and legal career is one filled with firsts. Alexander was the first woman to earn a law degree from the University of Pennsylvania, the first black woman to be admitted to the bar in the state and the first black woman to receive a Ph.D. in the United States.

Other achievements include receiving her bachelor's with honors from the University of Pennsylvania in 1918, law review associate editor, the Francis S. Pepper Fellowship in Economics and board member of the National Urban League in New York City.

Officials react to request

HOUSTON (AP) — Medical and legal officials have condemned the proposed voluntary castration of a child molester who prefers the procedure to prison.

Stephen Allen Butler, 28, who has a history of sex offense and now faces up to 35 years in prison for sexually assaulting a 13-year-old girl, says he wants to become the first person in Harris County to avoid prison by undergoing a form of castration.

State District Judge Mike McSpadden has said he will grant probation in Butler's case if he voluntarily agrees to be castrated.

"It is unconscionable for society to throw up our hands at a serious problem and simply chop away body parts," David Orentlicher, speaking as the American Medical Association's ethics and health policy counsel, said. "One would hope that in the 1990s we are beyond that. That is a medieval approach."

Sheriff seeks FBI probe

TYLER (AP) — Smith County Sheriff J.B. Smith, hoping to disprove insinuations of civil rights violations, has asked the FBI to investigate the recent jail deaths of two black inmates.

Leaders of the Tyler-Smith County chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People called Wednesday for renewed probes into the deaths of Michael DeWayne Rose, 35, and Demetrius Cortez Caddell, 19.

The NAACP has scheduled a protest rally for 9 a.m. Monday in downtown Tyler.

"After looking at all the facts, figures and evidence, I am thoroughly confused as to what they're saying or what they're insinuating," Smith said Thursday.

"And I think it's my duty if there is a doubt in the public mind as to civil rights complaints in the Smith County Jail, to call on a much higher and unbiased authority to investigate," he said.

Bishop's efforts to save killer spark debate

AMARILLO (AP) — Forgive him and spare him, says Bishop Leroy Matthesen.

No, let him die, says the Rev. Jim Smith, reflecting the overwhelming feeling of Amarillo residents over whether Johnny Frank Garrett should be executed for killing a nun.

Matthesen of the Catholic Diocese of Amarillo has been working for several weeks to spare Garrett from lethal injection. Garrett was convicted of raping and murdering 76-year-old Sister Tadea Benz after breaking into a Roman Catholic convent in Amarillo in 1981.

Matthesen's efforts on Garrett's behalf drew the attention of human rights group Amnesty International, which then solicited an appeal from Pope John Paul II.

Garrett was an hour away from receiving a lethal injection last month when Richards granted a 30-day reprieve, citing the appeal from the pope.

Garrett, 28, is now scheduled to die on Tuesday.

The bishop's outspokenness and subsequent reactions by the pope and governor have angered residents and caused some local church leaders to charge that politics have tried to interrupt justice.

"I think the bishop has a right to stand up for his convictions, but I think he has been too outspoken in this case," said Smith, senior pastor of St. Stephen United Methodist Church in Amarillo.

MATTHESEN GARRETT

"Because this affected a person in his diocese, he must show love and forgiveness. But the way of the Lord is to treat all people equally under the law, and this cannot be an exception."

An informal poll taken by the local newspaper showed residents were 10 to 1 in favor of executing Garrett, who broke into the St. Francis Convent near his home and stabbed Sister Benz, a Franciscan nun, before raping her and leaving her to die.

Garrett has said the victim recited the Lord's Prayer while he raped her.

"He should die now. It's taken long enough," said Brad Bowers, a local gun shop owner. "The bishop is not talking for the whole community. I think about the family of the victim more than I think about the Catholic church. Garrett took a life and I think he should pay for that."

Matthesen, who has also spoken but against the Pantex nuclear weapons assembly plant near Amarillo, denied any political motives in fighting for Garrett's life.

"I have no political ambitions," said Matthesen, who is in his early 70s and has lived in Amarillo for more than 40 years.

"I would invite the critical people to sit here and take the angry calls I get. I have come to say I am no saint, but if I was, I would be the patron saint of lost causes.

"I don't accept that the scriptures teach we have to support all the regulations and laws of the state," he added. "The role in the scriptures was constantly to challenge and shape public policy."

Board to set course on new Channel One

AUSTIN (AP) — Channel One, a classroom television program that includes commercials, has been described as a boon and a bane to Texas education in testimony to the State Board of Education.

Board members on Thursday heard from parents and educators about Channel One, which is part of a package put together by Tennessee-based Whittle Communications.

The company offers schools color televisions, videocassette recorders and a satellite dish if they run the 12-minute daily news and information program, which includes two minutes of commercials.

The package also includes a non-commercial educational channel, and a channel with programming for educators.

"I can think of no more damning evidence in the eyes of the world that American education is in an advanced state of decline than the fact that some school districts are actually forcing students to watch advertisements for deodorants and bubble gum and corn chips and candy every day," Austin parent John Kerr told the board.

But Superintendent Jim Tollett of the San Augustine Independent School District said the program offers his students current events and geography, and that the commercials "are in good taste, and some are directed in positive endeavors, such as stay in school and become a productive member of society."

Carolyn Crawford of Beaumont, who heads the State Board of Education, said she expected the panel to decide Friday whether to ban, regulate or take a hands-off approach to Channel One.

In making its decision, chairwoman Carolyn Crawford of Beaumont said the board will have to remember that about 1,000 Texas schools already have contracts with Whittle.

Names in the news

ESSEN, Germany (AP) — No. 1-ranked women's tennis player, Monica Seles says she's not interested — for now — in playing Jimmy Connors in a "battle of the sexes."

Connors, the No. 42-ranked male player, this week challenged Seles to put up $1 million to match his $1 million in a winner-take-all bet.

"The money is not important," the 18-year-old Seles said Thursday, adding that such a contest would force her to drop out of competition temporarily and thus jeopardize her ranking.

But Seles, in Essen for a tennis tournament, wouldn't rule out playing the 39-year-old Connors "on my own terms when I have time to get ready."

In 1973, Billie Jean King, who was then 29, defeated a 55-year-old Bobby Riggs in a nationally televised "battle of the sexes."

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Kirk Douglas, who has written of his immigrant parents' struggle to put food on the table, was honored here for his charity.

The actor and his wife, Anne, were named Palm Springs' citizens of the year at a Chamber of Commerce luncheon Thursday. Mayor Sonny Bono was among the guests.

Douglas, who has appeared in 75 films, including "Spartacus" and "Lust for Life," detailed his struggle out of poverty in the best seller "The Ragman's Son."

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Director Spike Lee's "Malcolm X" ran $5 million over budget and is under the control of a completion bond company.

"We have to complete and deliver the movie and we've got people watching over production," Joan Stigliano, director of business affairs for Completion Bond Co., said in Thursday's Los Angeles Times. The company seized control in December.

The Warner Bros. movie, starring Denzel Washington as the slain Black Muslim leader, was originally budgeted at $28 million. Co-producer Marvin Worth said the takeover didn't interrupt filming. "It just caused us some extra work, but we've shot everything we wanted to shoot," he said.

SELES DOUGLAS

Lee's other films include "Jungle Fever," and "Do the Right Thing."

"Malcolm X" is to be released late this year.

NEW YORK (AP) — Wal-Mart founder Sam Walton, who built the nation's largest retailer from one store, will reveal the secrets of his success, his publisher says.

Doubleday announced Thursday that it had acquired world book publishing rights to Walton's autobiography, to be written with Fortune magazine senior editor John Huey.

Verbal war affects Japanese in U.S.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Michi Onuma fears the anti-Japanese backlash might get worse than what he lived through during World War II. Dennis Hayashi has seen harassment complaints jump from one a month to three a week. And Honda dealer Bill Boggs has a lot of customers looking to buy American.

Little by little, the heated rhetoric between Japanese and U.S. leaders — who can't seem to trade anything but insults these days — is causing fear in San Francisco's century-old Japanese-American community.

"Japanese-Americans are sitting ducks," says Karl Matsushita, director of the Japanese American Library.

"There's a feeling that it might get worse," says Onuma, English-language editor at the Japanese-American Times.

On Wednesday in Japantown, a thriving center of houses, businesses and restaurants near downtown, Japan-bashing was an unpopular subject.

"I don't want to talk about it," the man behind the counter at Soko Hardware said, warding off questions with upraised arms.

One who would, retired longshoreman and World War II veteran Charles Toyooka, said the problems stem from subtle but longstanding racism.

"Hate has been planted many hundreds of years ago," said Toyooka, 67, who served with the 442nd, the Army's famous Japanese-American unit. "It grew to a big monster."

Health plan may be passed this year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional Democrats say President Bush increased the chances for a medical insurance bill this year — their bill, not his.

"My goal is action this year," said Senate Majority Leader George Mitchell, D-Maine. "I am very much encouraged by the fact that he (Bush) has offered a plan," even if it is "woefully inadequate."

"We'll try to put a bill on the president's desk," said House Majority Leader Richard Gephardt, D-Mo. "And if we can't override the veto, we'll try to work something out."

The president, on a campaign swing through Ohio on Thursday, announced what he said was a comprehensive answer for tens of millions of Americans who can't afford health insurance.

The president proposed a government subsidy of up to $3,750 per family to help them buy health insurance. The maximum would go to people below the poverty line, and nothing would go to workers whose companies already supply health benefits amounting to more than that figure.

Officials criticize safety inspections

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government safety inspectors fail to target airlines that pose the greatest safety risks, according to congressional investigators and the Transportation Department's own inspector general.

Their reports also said the Federal Aviation Administration's inspections often are superficial and that there is little followup.

"The possibility exists that serious problems will remain unidentified, putting airline passengers at risk," said Kenneth

M. Mead, director of transportation issues for the General Accounting Office.

Anthony J. Broderick, the FAA's associate administrator for regulation, said the GAO report "does not realistically portray... where we stand in our efforts to improve our airline surveillance and inspection programs."

"I find it disturbing that very little credit is given to the tremendous efforts we have made or the progress we have achieved...." Broderick said.

Sixteen people die in military plane crash

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP) — The breakfast crowd had about gone and cook Michael Kelley was preparing for the lunch rush when the huge military transport plane smashed into Jojo's restaurant and smothered it in flames.

"The wall and ceiling, they just came in on us and the grill came out toward me and knocked me down," said Kelley, who was in the kitchen. "I got up and called back, 'Everybody get out.'"

The plane, a Lockheed C-130 Hercules, plunged nose down, exploding into a giant fireball and spewing flaming aviation fuel as it hit the restaurant and the adjacent Drury Inn motel late Thursday morning.

"It looked like Pearl Harbor," said Mark Whitehead, who lives nearby and saw the 60-foot flames and tower of black smoke.

Sixteen people died: the plane's five-man crew, two restaurant workers and nine employees of a plumbing supply company who were meeting at the hotel.

At least 19 others were injured.

Ten were hospitalized, including three in critical condition.

An Air Force investigation team from Scott Air Force Base in Illinois was trying to determine the cause of the crash.

"It's way too early to speculate on anything... We're at as great a loss as you are to determine what happened," said Lt. Col. David Moremen.

Kelley said he and others tried to rescue the restaurant workers.

"The whole world was on fire... It was too hot. There was so much fire," he said between sobs.

Jojo's manager Dennis Serio said about 20 people in the restaurant escaped without serious injury. The two who died, he said, were in a corner of the building demolished on impact.

The 24-hour restaurant, part of a chain, and the motel are near U.S. 41 in this city of 125,000 at the southwestern tip of Indiana.

About one-fourth of the restaurant was destroyed.

Firefighters and soldiers walk through the wreckage of a C-130 military transport plane that crashed into a restaurant and motel in Evansville, Ind., Thursday. The plane was from the Kentucky Air National Guard. Sixteen people were killed in the accident.

Infantry attack reported in Croatia

ZAGREB, Croatia (AP) — Serb-led forces shelled two eastern Croatian strongholds, and Croatian troops repelled an infantry attack, Croatian defense officials said today.

The reported cease-fire violations overnight were among the more serious incidents since a truce halted Croatia's Serb-Croat civil war more than a month ago.

At the United Nations, officials announced that Croatian President Franjo Tudjman had unconditionally accepted a plan to deploy 10,000 U.N. peacekeepers in his republic. Pressure increased on the last holdout among the warring parties, Serb leader Milan Babic of the self-proclaimed Krajina region of Croatia, to do the same.

Croatian defense officials said about 200 shells landed overnight in and around Osijek.

Ukraine warns Russia to back off

MOSCOW (AP) — Ukraine reasserted its ownership of the Crimea and warned Russia against making territorial claims on the Black Sea peninsula once known as the "Soviet Riviera," Russian media reported today.

Control over the Crimea, a popular holiday resort and headquarters of the powerful Black Sea fleet, is the latest source of tension between Russia and Ukraine, the two most powerful members of the new Commonwealth of Independent States.

The two states already are jostling for control over the Black Sea fleet.

Russia transferred the Crimea to Ukraine in 1954. If Russia and Ukraine start seriously disputing the legality of territorial agreements reached in the Soviet era, it also could open the door to scores of similar disputes in the multi-ethnic commonwealth.

The Herald salutes:

- Members of our black community as we join in recognizing Black History Month.
- Members of local and area Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts and their adult advisors as they celebrate Scouting with a month of activities. There are more than 300 boys and 60 adults involved in Scouting in Howard County alone.
- Doc Hardy and those who are helping him through donations of time, money or equipment in the development and construction of a model railroad exhibit and display of railroad memorabilia. The center is located at 123 Main.
- Those local residents who helped with the clean-up of the Hotel Settles last Saturday. More than one-half of the hotel was cleaned as volunteers spent the day working. The project was coordinated by Main Street Big Spring, Inc.
- Howard County Citizens for the Environment, who held their monthly recycling drive on the north lot of the Big Spring Herald last Saturday.
- Big Spring High School Steer swimmers, who finished second at the district swimming meet held last weekend. This is the highest the team has ever finished in district competition.

Looking at adultery in presidential campaigns

There are a lot of things you can do that are worse than committing adultery.

It's like Hester Prynne, the only person who ever lettered in adultery and was awarded the "Scarlet A."

"At least I don't drink and drive," said Hester.

That's one thing right there that's worse than committing adultery — drinking and driving.

Most adultery takes place off the roads in such locations as motel rooms, trailer parks and an occasional elevator. (See "Fatal Attraction," the movie).

At least these people committing adultery aren't out there on the highways with a snoot full endangering innocent lives.

I bring this up not because I support Governor Bill Clinton of Arkansas, a Democratic presidential hopeful, who currently is fighting for his political life because a convenience store newspaper has claimed he had a 12-year adulterous relationship with a blonde I saw on television.

I bring this up for a couple of reasons, one being we seem not to be able to have a presidential campaign anymore without one of the participants being charged with fooling around.

Gary Hart might be our president today if he hadn't been caught monkeying around on the Monkey Business, a boat, which is another place you can have adultery.

As an aside, they've charged Christopher Columbus with every foul deed known to man, with the exception of committing adultery. It was too crowded on either the Pinta, the Nina or the Santa Maria for any monkey business. Besides, Columbus was too busy introducing all sorts of misery and disease to the New World even if he'd had room to do something else — if you want to be politically correct about it.

I also bring this up because history shows us an adulterer can still make a good president.

There's evidence George Washington had a fling or two on Martha. Thomas Jefferson is said to have had an eye for slave girls.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, who got us out of a worse economic mess than we're in now, had an affair and can you blame him? The only adulterer I know with an uglier wife than FDR is Jim Bakker's wife, Tammy Faye, who would finish last to a bowling shoe in a beauty contest.

There's also been some talk about Eisenhower, and that brings us to John Kennedy. Who didn't Kennedy have an affair with?

Tammy Faye Bakker is the only one we know for sure. There are the Marilyn Monroe rumors and there is even evidence the Secret Service procured women for President Kennedy, who had serious back problems. Now we may know why.

And that brings us to Richard Nixon. I'm certain he wasn't an adulterer. He looks too much like a prune. But he turned out to be a crook and a liar.

So, just because a person might have committed adultery, it doesn't necessarily follow this person wouldn't make a good president.

Ask yourself this: If you were better off now than you were four years ago, would you really give a damn if George Bush had slept with the entire University of Nebraska cheerleading squad?

Of course not. You would be too busy buying a new home or car, expanding your business, hiring new employees or getting a raise at your job with General Motors.

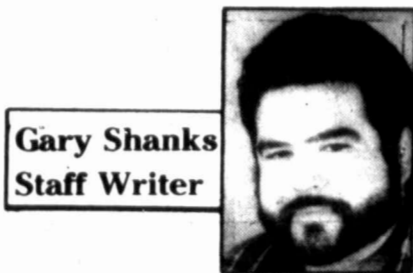

Sometimes, you just have to make a choice. The voters in the Louisiana gubernatorial race did. They decided being a bigot is worse than being a thief.

If you think Gov. Bill Clinton would make a good president and get our ox out of the ditch, I say support him.

As Hester Prynne said the other day on Geraldo, "Maybe he didn't even take his clothes off."

Ex-Soviet atomic experts go up for grabs

Gary Shanks
Staff Writer

POSITION DESIRED — 27 years experience in thermonuclear weapons design and plutonium 239 enrichment. $5 billion annual salary plus small fiefdom — or best offer. Write Vladimir Tatamovich, General Delivery, Commonwealth of Independent States, Moscow.

Looks like the former Soviet Union is going to bless our little planet with a few hundred maestros of the sub-atomic arts. Y'know, most of the world's terrorist states are still trying to build the chintzy little atomic bombs (fission type). Why your average terrorist couldn't carry one of these big enough to level a decent sized subdivision.

These Russians, however, can build the more sophisticated hydrogen bombs (fusion type — more bang for the buck).

Of course, we're all certain that these well-meaning professionals will decide to remain essentially unemployed, live in a one-room house with six or seven family members and eat moldy bread rather than sell their priceless talents in the third world. . . . NOT!

It should add some excitement to the morning news during the next century, though.

"Good Morning. This is Peter Jennings with a special report — Bonn, Germany, ceased to exist this morning as a result of a nuclear explosion large enough to have broken windows in Bucharest, Romania.

"The terrorist organization, Sociopathic Crusaders and Usurpers of Mankind have taken responsibility for the blast.

"A NATO pilot who overflew the area reportedly said, 'Man it's gone! Nada, zilch, goose egg, zero, vapor, crater city! — I quit!'"

They'll be selling new globes with removable cities. Just pop out the victim of the latest terrorist attack and put a black crater symbol in its place. Cool!

Big Spring should actually benefit from this because of the influx of people moving to rural areas from primary urban targets. (Hey! I'm just trying to look on the bright side!)

But I suppose there's nothing that can be done. They're building computers in Taiwan now. So it's just a matter of time before they're building nukes in Libya. So why not capitalize on this phenomenon? We have a small horde of poor, disgruntled Russian nuclear weapons designers. We have a host of oil-rich military and Muslim dictatorships who are dying to blow somebody up.

Just set up a kind of global dating service. Supply and demand! Just think of the profit margin!

"Hello. I am Moammar Gadhafi and I'm seeking a designer with experience in small tactical and MIRV warhead design.

"My country is composed primarily of sand, camel dung and oil. My offer is $75 billion annual salary and the kingship of Chad, after we overrun its borders, of course. My chief enemies are Chad, the Americans and anyone who crosses my line of death."

"Moammar baby! Have we got a top-notch nukester for you! You're just going to love this guy! "He's a warhead wizard. Really! He single handedly designed the three-megaton MIRVs for the SS-20. And get this — he worked his way up in a weapon's grade enrichment program in Kiev!"

"We'll need a cool $2 billion for this guy though, Moammar baby. He's top of the line. No scruples, you see."

"I will take him — will send you check."

"Sorry, no checks. Company policy."

"No. Am sending Czechoslovakian with money in gold."

"Oh! OH! Great Moammar! Have your girl call my girl and let's do lunch. Goodbye! Love ya' — mean it!"

Ciao!

The writer's art Casting a few dispersions

Just before the Orange Bowl last month, Nebraska's fullback was disqualified. The university had to forfeit two earlier Big Eight victories, and Coach Tom Osborne was understandably upset. "If we really aren't the Big Eight champions," he said, "then I guess it casts some dispersions on the game."

That was how the item appeared in the Charleston (S.C.) Post and Courier, which reprinted it from The Orlando Sentinel. It makes a reader wonder who goofed. Did the coach say "dispersions" when he meant "aspersions"?

Did the Orlando reporter get it wrong? Did the quote get messed up in the reprinting? Did anyone, anywhere along the line, know the difference between "dispersion" and "aspersion"? If not, why not?

It is self-evident that somebody's mind wandered. The point of today's sermon to writers is, let not thy mind wander. Horrid things are likely to happen.

Thus a reporter for the Oak Ridge (Tenn.) Journal launched confidently into a story for animal lovers: "Last year over one million animals in shelters faced euphemism due to an overpopulation of pets." Euphemism? The writer wanted "euthanasia," but he didn't look very thoroughly.

Thinking of animal rights: Last September, protesters in Schuylkill County, Pa., attempted to break up the 58th annual Fred Coleman Memorial Pigeon Shoot. Reported the Harrisburg Patriot-News: "State police made 90 arrests during the daylong conflagration between protesters and locals." Fiery arguments, that's what.

It was pleasant to read in the Hilton Head (S.C.) Island Packet

a few months ago that "Many states have outlawed capital punishment in schools." About time! Corporal punishment is more debatable.

The Cleveland (Tenn.) Daily Banner reported a bit unkindly last August on a revamping of the town's five-man Board of Commissioners. Two new members had come aboard. Adoption of a tax rate thus will fall "in the laps of encumbrances" Lyle, Ratterman and Rowland, plus the two newcomers. Are incumbents encumbrances? Watch that editorial opinion in a news story!

A writer for the New York Daily News let her mind wander last summer in writing about "Scarlett" by Alexandra Ripley. The sequel to Margaret Mitchell's "Gone With the Wind" was a $15 million deal. "The big benefactors will be the heirs to the Mitchell estate, and Ripley." The difference between a benefactor and a beneficiary is roughly the difference between sunrise and sunset. On the ball there, Daily News!

Last summer a motorcycle and a tractor-trailer collided near Fremont, Neb. Reported the Fremont Tribune: "The Fremont Fire Department was dispatched to the scene with the rescue squad to distinguish the burning motorcycle."

"In the current economy it is ineffectable that job reductions will occur," said a spokesman for Harcourt Brace Jovanovich in San Antonio. Anyhow, that's the way it came out in the Express News. "Ineffectable," meaning indescribable, is a fine word in its place, but its place wasn't where the writer had it.

Sometimes a writer's mind wanders so far afield that readers have real problems deducing what was intended. In Murrells Inlet, S.C., a restaurant boasted that Big Sam Karos "is world famous for his articulate food preparation." The Chicago Tribune reported from Panama City in 1990 that many Panamanians were angry because 54-year-old President Guillermo Endara had married "an uncomplicated woman less than half his age." In The Buffalo News a reader called for leaders "who will return our schools to arcades of learning."

Would readers like to speculate on what was intended in place of "articulate" cooking, an "uncomplicated" woman and an "arcade" of learning? Beats me.

In Belpre, Ohio, massage therapist Rebecca Humphrey advertised a treatment that "helps to elevate headaches." Alleviate them, maybe? In Charleston, S.C., a hospice received a grant from the Junior League to buy a set of child-sized dolls "which are automatically correct." Shall we try anatomical-ly correct?

Goofs are hard to explain. They may result from ignorance, haste or laziness, but you know what? Mostly they result from not paying attention. Shape up! Somebody is sure to read what a writer writes, and that somebody will send the clipping to me.

Lady Hawks pluck No. 1 team

HOBBS, N.M. — The Howard College Lady Hawks pulled off the hat trick against the nation's top ranked team, but the Howard College Hawks come up short in their bid against New Mexico Junior College Thursday night.

LADY HAWKS 82, NMJC 67
For the second time this season the Lady Hawks defeated the New Mexico Junior College Lady Thunderbirds, which was just moved to the top spot in the JUCO national poll. Howard is ranked No. 10. In the first meeting, Howard beat NMJC 80-68. At that time NMJC was ranked No. 4 and Howard was ranked No. 7.

The win gives the Lady Hawks a 9-0 conference record and 23-3 overall mark. NMJC falls to 6-2 and 21-3.

Just like in the first meeting, Howard dominated from the onset. The Lady Hawks led 44-33 at the half, and led by 61-41 with 8:43 left in the game.

Howard was paced by sophomore forward Desiree Wallace with 21 points. Sophomore guard Kathy Mangram scored 17 and freshman point guard LeKisha Wiley scored 10 points.

Coach Royce Chadwick said the Lady Hawks had something to prove. "We felt like we were not getting the respect we deserved," said Chadwick. "We felt like the poll people were looking the other way. We felt like Fay Wray, when she got down from the Empire State Building, and she'd say 'what monkey?' It was our best game to date.

"Our guards played an exceptional game. Desiree Wallace had a big game, she got a lot of offensive rebounds and Kathy Mangram played well. She played the last four minutes hurt (ankle). Yolanda Wells stayed in foul trouble and Kim Smith came off the bench and did an excellent job. Regina Huff also played well."

The Lady Hawks will be in action Monday at home when they play Odessa College at 6 p.m.

HOWARD (82) — Yumeca White 4 0 8; LeKisha Wiley 2 6 10; Rebecca Brown 0 2 2; Kathy Mangram 7 3 17; Kim Smith 3 3 9; Kelly Williams 1 3 5; Desiree Wallace 10 1 21; Regina Huff 3 0 5; LeAnn Heinrich 1 0 3; Yolanda Wells 0 1 1; totals 31 19-28 82.

NMJC 91, HOWARD 81

It all came down to the foul line and the Hawks were at their worst.

Howard shot a dismal 39 percent from the foul line (9-23) compared to 71 percent for the T-Birds (35-49).

The T-Birds had a great game from 5-foot-7 guard Greg Brown, who burned Howard's defense for 36 points. Corey Williams and Mark Davis paced Howard with 29 and 22 points respectively.

The scored was tied 41-41 at the half, and 71-71 late in the game.

Howard falls to 5-6 and 18-7. NMJC goes to 8-2 and 21-3. Howard plays Odessa Monday at 8 p.m. at Garrett Coliseum.

D'Angela Green will sing the national anthem. Halftime will feature YMCA youth basketball league play.

Freshmen Steers beat Merkel

The Big Spring Steers freshmen B team ran their basketball record to 4-1 by taking a 42-33 win over Merkel. Ryan Williams led Big Spring with 15 points. David Foresyth added 10.

Andrews takes two from Runnels

The Runnels Yearlings lost two games to Andrews Thursday night.

Andrews won the B game 38-25. Manuel Lopez and Clint Caudill scored eight and six points respectively for Runnels, which falls to 1-9.

Andrews won the A game 55-45. Tim Banks paced Runnels with 14 points. Bucky Crenshaw scored eight points, Marc Baker, seven and Brant Farris six. Runnels A is 3-10 for the season.

Goliad B nets first win of season

The Goliad Mavericks B team won their first game of the season Thursday, taking a 31-27 win over Andrews. Goliad B is 1-7 for the season.

The win was paced by Ismel Rodriguez with 11 points. Scott Walker scored eight, Frankie Green five and John Morelion four points.

Andrews won the A contest 54-26. Gabriel Rubio scored 10 points in the loss, while John Smith scored eight points. Goliad A is 3-7 for the season.

Bryant gets G-City job

GARDEN CITY — On the recommendation of superintendent Charles Zachary and former head coach Sam Scott, the Garden City school board named Dennis Bryant head football coach and athletic director. Bryant, the first assistant coach for 18 months in Garden City, takes over for the recently departed Scott, who took a similar job in Wink. In five seasons at Garden City, Scott led the Bearcats to a 43-16 record.

The 44-year-old Bryant was pleased with the board's decision. "I kind of backed into this because of Sam leaving," he said. "But I'm looking forward to the challenge and I feel good about it."

Lady Steer golfers will be very young

By STEVE BELVIN Sports Editor

The Big Spring Lady Steers' first golf tournament in San Angelo this weekend was cancelled because of wet grounds. Coach Lois Ann McKenzie may be grateful for the delay.

McKenzie has a squad this year that has virtually no experience on the links. Added to the fact that McKenzie has only a handful of players, it appears this season will be a learning session for the Lady Steers.

Meredith Baker is the lone returner McKenzie has. Baker has played the past two years on the varsity. After Baker, the rest of the Lady Steers are just learning.

"Meredith is doing good," said McKenzie. "She's been playing for two years. The girls are just real young. We've completely changed the way the kids have played. We won't know if it's right or wrong, but it is correct. They had a couple of habits they needed to break. Once we get some wrinkles worked out, it will be better."

Right now, the No. 2 golfer behind Baxter is freshman Milena

Hunter. "We changed her grip and she's (Hunter) already hitting straighter. We changed it to a interlocking grip from a baseball grip."

Other newcomers are freshmen Stacy Hollar and Sarah Bristow, sophomore Mande Fernandez and juniors Heather Farris and Keely Bowerman.

Farris and Bristow are still in basketball and will get a late start. McKenzie said Bristow played golf several years ago, and Farris and Bowerman don't have any experience.

Fernandez is a transfer from Kentucky. A former tennis player, she started playing golf last year.

McKenzie said things will be better when Farris and Bristow join the team. "When we get the other two it will make it more competitive," she said. "The girls have been working real hard, but they have no killer instinct. I hope they pick it up quick."

"I'm eager for them to play in a tournament so they can see how competitive it will be."

As for the district outlook, McKenzie said Andrews has the tradition, although two of last year's state championship team members graduated. Monahans and Pecos are also expected to be contenders.

With the San Angelo tournament being cancelled, the Lady Steers can start the season in the familiar surroundings of the Big Spring Country Club and Comanche Trail Golf courses.

Next Friday and Saturday, Feb. 14-15, will be the Big Spring Invitational, a tournament for both boys and girls.

Foster going after Millrose Games record

NEW YORK (AP) — Greg Foster has won just about every important title in track and field except an Olympic gold medal.

He hopes to jump that final hurdle in Barcelona this summer. But first, Foster will go after another honor tonight in the 85th Millrose Games at Madison Square Garden.

"I'm ready to win and run fast," said Foster, who needs a victory in the 60-meter hurdles to equal Harrison Dillard's meet record of nine in the high hurdles.

Foster, who calls Dillard "my idol," holds the world record in the event, 7.36 seconds, set in 1987 in Los Angeles. He is a three-time world champion in the 110-meter hurdles. "I thought I'd be out of the sport now," said the 33-year-old Foster, a Californian known for his compulsive training. "(but) I'm still hungry."

The Millrose marks Foster's 1992 debut and obviously is a step toward vindication in this year's Olympics.

"My goal is to win one race this year in Barcelona," Foster said. Among those trying to stop Foster tonight will be Tony Dees, 28, who twice defeated him in 1991. Foster won 11 of 15 major outdoor races last year, winning the world title in Tokyo and gaining a No. 1 world ranking.

His Olympic history is not as lustrous.

At the Los Angeles Olympics in 1984, Foster won a silver medal behind Roger Kingdom. In 1988, an injury kept Foster off the U.S. Olympic team.

Foster will headline an outstanding field that includes world record-holders Mike Powell and Jackie Joyner-Kersey. Overall, the meet will feature nine world record-holders, seven 1991 world champions, 12 other medalists from the World Championships and four 1991 world indoor champions.

Powell set the world long jump record last year, soaring 29 feet, 4 inches, at the World Championships in Tokyo. He surpassed the oldest record in track and field, the 29-2 1/2 set by Bob Beamon at the 1968 Mexico City Olympics. Powell also ended Carl Lewis' 10-year, 65-meet winning streak in the long jump.

Powell, ranked No. 1 in the world, will face two-time world indoor champion and world champion bronze medalist Larry Myricks and two-time U.S. indoor champion Mike Conley, who also is the world indoor record-holder in the triple jump.

"For so long, I was fighting for attention (against longtime nemesis Lewis)," Powell said. "I had to put on a little sideshow and say, 'Hey, notice me over here.' Now I don't have to fight for attention."

Neither does Joyner-Kersey, the world record-holder, 1988 Olympic gold medalist and two-time world champion in the heptathlon. She will compete in the long jump, in which she is the American indoor, and outdoor record-holder.

Like Foster, Joyner-Kersey also has Olympic aspirations. She wants to be the first woman to score 7,300 points in the heptathlon. She broke her own record with 7,291 at the 1988 Olympics in Seoul.

Courier advances to quarterfinals

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Top-seeded Jim Courier of the United States beat Jason Stoltenberg of Australia 7-5, 6-4 and Wally Masur of Australia eliminated eight-seeded Jimmy Connors of the United States 7-6 (7-3), 4-6, 6-3 to advance to the quarterfinals of the Volvo San Francisco.

If Courier reaches the final, he would overtake top-ranked Stefan Edberg of Sweden and become the first American to reach No. 1 since John McEnroe was there on Aug. 26, 1985.

Sixth-seeded Thierry Champion of France and Jeff Tarango of the United States also advanced to the quarterfinals. Champion defeated Richard Fromberg of Australia 6-7 (7-1), 7-6 (7-4), 6-0 and Tarango upset fifth-seeded Richey Reneberg of the United States 6-4, 7-5.

Pat McEnroe gains big upset

MILAN, Italy (AP) — Patrick McEnroe of the United States upset second-seeded Guy Forget of France 7-6 (7-4), 2-6, 7-6 (7-4) and Stefano Pescosolido of Italy defeated third-seeded Emilio Sanchez of Spain 6-4, 3-6, 6-3 in the second round of the Milan Indoor.

In other second-round matches, Goran Prpic of Croatia beat fourth-seeded Petr Korda of Czechoslovakia 7-6 (7-1), 6-1 and Javier Sanchez of Spain defeated seventh-seeded Sergi Bruguera of Spain 0-6, 6-0, 6-2.

Carter goes back to old team

MONTREAL (AP) — Gary Carter finally came to terms with the Montreal Expos, agreeing to a one-year contract for a guaranteed $500,000.

Carter, 37, had been negotiating with the Expos since the club claimed him on waivers from the Los Angeles Dodgers last Nov. 15. He can also make an additional $625,000 in bonuses.

Carter played 11 seasons in Montreal before he was traded on Dec. 10, 1984, to the New York Mets for Hubie Brooks, Mike Fitzgerald, Herm Wingham and Floyd Youmans. After five seasons with the Mets, he has spent a year each with the San Francisco Giants and the Dodgers.

Clippers name Brown head coach

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Clippers named Larry Brown as the franchise's seventh coach in 10½ years, signing him to a five-year contract for $750,000 a year. It's the 51-year-old Brown's seventh head coaching position in 20 years.

Brown, fired by the San Antonio Spurs on Jan. 21, replaces Mike Schuler, fired last Sunday after the team had lost 10 of its last 15 games under him. The Spurs were 22-17 when Brown was fired by owner Red McCombs on Jan. 21.

Pippen will start in All-Star game

CHICAGO (AP) — Scottie Pippen of the Chicago Bulls will start in place of Boston's injured Larry Bird in Sunday's NBA All-Star game, Eastern Conference coach Phil Jackson said. Bird, voted to the starting lineup, is sidelined with a back injury. NBA commissioner David Stern named Washington guard Michael Adams to fill Bird's roster spot, but league rules allow All-Star coaches to choose a new starter.

Arizona rallies from grips of defeat

Arizona needed just five seconds to turn an apparent loss into its sixth straight victory.

The seventh-ranked Wildcats appeared headed for a loss Thursday night at Stanford when Adam Keefe, an 83 percent foul shooter, went to the line with five seconds remaining and the score tied at 70. But Keefe missed the first shot — and never got a chance to take the second due to a lane violation. Khalid Reeves then took the in-bounds pass, drove the length of the court and hit a layup as time expired to give Arizona a 72-70 victory.

"I knew when I got the ball something good was going to happen," said Reeves, who had 13 of his 19 points in the second half. "Five seconds is a long time. I was either going to pull up for a jumper or lay it in. I knew I was going to have time."

Stanford coach Mike Montgomery took the blame for the lane violation, on which Brent Williams was called for stepping away from the lane after Keefe had been handed the ball. Montgomery said he called to Williams to move because he wanted him to go to the top of the key to guard against a possible fast break if Keefe missed again.

"I made a big error to yell at Brent when he was standing there," Montgomery said. "I yelled that he knew what he was supposed to do and he moved. We could have taken our last timeout to prevent them from doing what they did. I think everybody was too stunned and couldn't believe what had happened."

In other games involving top 25 teams, it was No. 4 UCLA 74, Washington 61; Iowa 77, No. 11 Michigan State 63; No. 14 Tulane 78, South Florida 70 in overtime; No. 16 Southern Cal 75, Washington St. 62; No. 17 UNLV 80, UC Santa Barbara 76; Louisville 73, No. 20 North Carolina Charlotte 63; and No. 25 Texas-El Paso 78, Colorado State 50.

Arizona (16-3, 6-2) beat Stanford (12-5, 4-4), which has lost four of its last five after an 11-1 start, for the eighth straight time.

Arizona coach Lute Olson said the Wildcats' last play was designed to go to Reeves because of his quickness.

"I don't think there's many people who can stay with him in the open court," Olson said.

The Wildcats overcame 29 points and 16 rebounds by Keefe. Sean Rooks also scored 19 for Arizona and Chris Mills added 17.

No. 4 UCLA 74, Washington 61
Tracy Murray scored 18 of his 22 points in the second half as the

College Roundup

Bruins overcame a season-low seven points by leading scorer Don MacLean to beat visiting Washington in a Pac-10 game.

Mitchell Butler added 12 points in his second start of the season for the Bruins (16-1, 7-1), who are off to their best start since going 18-1 in 1973-74. The Huskies (9-9, 3-5) were led by reserve Chandler Nairn's 18 points.

MacLean had his string of 68 straight double-figure games snapped. The seven points were one more than his career low.

Iowa 77, No. 11 Michigan St. 63
Chris Street scored 14 points and teamed with reserve James Winters in a second-half charge that carried Iowa to its fourth straight Big Ten victory.

The Hawkeyes (13-5, 5-3) broke a 40-40 tie with a 19-2 run, capped by a 15-0 surge, and took sole possession of third place in the Big Ten after a 1-3 start. Val Barnes led Iowa with 15 points, while freshman Shawn Respert led visiting Michigan State (14-4, 4-4) with 25.

No. 14 Tulane 78, South Florida 70
Anthony Reed had six of his 15 points in overtime as Tulane won at South Florida to take over first place in the Metro Conference.

Tulane blew a 68-60 lead by going scoreless in the final 3:40 of regulation. But the Green Wave (17-2, 5-0) forced three turnovers by South Florida (12-7, 1-4) in the overtime and scored four straight field goals, three by Reed, who also had 11 rebounds.

Reserve Kim Lewis led Tulane with 21 points.
No. 16 Southern Cal 75, Washington St. 62

Harold Miner scored 23 points and became Southern Cal's all-time leading scorer as the host Trojans won their seventh in a row.

Miner, a junior, raised his career total to 1,743 points, surpassing Ronnie Coleman, who finished his career last season with 1,727. He broke Coleman's record on a dunk with 14:07 remaining in the first half, highlighting a 10-1 run by the Trojans, which gave them the lead for good.

Miner left the game for good with 13 minutes remaining when he bit his tongue during a collision under the Southern Cal basket. The cut required two stitches and Miner is expected to play Saturday when the Trojans face Washington.

No. 17 UNLV 80, UC Santa Barbara 76
J.R. Rider's tiebreaking jump shot with 43 seconds left led UNLV to its 16th straight victory as the Runnin' Rebels won at Santa Barbara in a Big West Conference game.

Rider, who had been cleared to play on Wednesday after having his eligibility restored by the NCAA, got the last two of his 25 points on an 18-foot jumper that broke a 76-76 tie.

H Waldman, who had 15 points and six assists, was fouled with three seconds left and made two free throws to complete the scoring for UNLV (19-2, 11-0), whose winning streak is the longest in the nation.

Louisville 73, No. 20 N.C. Charlotte 63

Reserve James Brewer scored 19 points as Louisville handed visiting North Carolina Charlotte its first Metro Conference loss.

The 49ers (15-4, 4-1) were unable to overcome a sloppy first half in which they hit only 9 of 19 shots and turned the ball over 14 times in falling behind 35-21. Brewer hit a pair of key 3-pointers to keep the Cardinals comfortably in front.

No. 25 Texas-El Paso 78, Colorado State 50

Eddie Rivera had 17 of his 23 points in the first half and UTEP limited Colorado State to seven field goals in each half to end a two-game losing streak.

Another beauty contestant testifies against Tyson

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — A beauty pageant contestant in Mike Tyson's rape trial testified for the defense that the boxer made aggressive sexual advances to her and several other contestants.

"I could have any one of these bitches out here. I know you want me. I know you want me," Parquita Nassau quoted Tyson as saying at a rehearsal for the Miss Black America pageant last July. She also said he grabbed her buttocks.

The defense called Miss Nassau and three other contestants on Thursday to try to show that Tyson's flagrant come-ons should have tipped off his accuser that he was interested in having sex.

Tyson, 25, is charged with raping an 18-year-old contestant in his hotel suite early July 19. If convicted, he faces a 60-year prison sentence.

His lawyers claim the woman consented to sex and viewed him from the start as a potential source of wealth.

Another contestant, Madelyn Whittington, quoted the accuser as saying after Tyson asked her for a date, "You see what Robin Givens got out of him."

Tyson and actress Robin Givens divorced in 1989 after a rocky eight-month marriage. Neither side disclosed settlement terms, but lawyers said Givens kept jewelry, several cars and an undisclosed amount of cash.

On cross-examination, the 20-year-old Whittington said she merely had the impression that Tyson's accuser wanted to be like Givens but that the woman never actually said so.

Nassau said she heard one of the accuser's friends say of Tyson, "Here comes your husband, but he can't talk to well."

She said Tyson's accuser replied, "He'll make all the money, and I'll do all the talking."

Nassau also testified that Tyson and the accuser were hugging and talking behind a ballroom pillar at the pageant rehearsal.

"I saw them cuddling up to each other," she said. "They looked like they were involved."

But prosecutor Greg Garrison pointed out that in a statement to investigators, Nassau said she hadn't paid much attention to Tyson and his accuser when they were together.

Walter Morrison, 84, the oldest and longest practicing lawyer in Big Spring, cuts a cake Thursday at a Howard County Bar Association luncheon. Morrison was recognized for 60 years of practice as of Feb. 3.

1933, when banks closed because of the Depression.

Legal strategies were a little different too, Morrison said. He recalled the time in court when a man suing for damage to his arm was asked how far he could lift his bandaged arm. After lifting it a little, he was asked how far he could lift it before it was hurt. Sure enough, he stretched his arm up.

"They settled that case in five minutes, right then," Morrison said.

Morrison, who has traveled the world and takes a cruise every year, admires modern conveniences, such as computers, but has no use for it in his office, where he now handles real estate, probate, and estate planning. He loves to watch several television lawyer shows, he said.

But some things will not change, he assures.

"I belong strictly to the old school of lawyers. I still wear a suit, no T-shirts in the office. I don't advertise, that's strictly a no-no. If I would have had a TV ad, my dad would have turned over in his grave."

Women

She also was the editor of Who's Who Among Negro Lawyers in 1949.

Mary McLeod Bethune dedicated her life to assisting young people and helping them to reach goals and take advantage of opportunities.

She served on President Franklin D. Roosevelt's advisory committee that established the National Youth Administration. Impressed with Bethune, Roosevelt established the Office of Minority Affairs, making her administrator. She was the first black woman to serve in such a position.

Bethune was a leading figure in what became known as the "Black Cabinet" during the 1930s. The cabinet began the fight for advanced integration in the government.

Later in life, she established Bethune-Cookman College, which was a merger between her own school, The Daytona Educational and Industrial School for Negro Girls, with the Cookman Institute.

Among her achievements, she received the Spingarn Medal in 1935, which gave her international recognition.

Dr. May Edward Chinn was the first black female intern at Harlem Hospital in 1926 after graduating from the Bellevue Hospital Medical College.

She began her studies in music, but she pursued medicine after she caught the attention of a science professor with a paper she wrote on sewage disposal.

Her work in cancer detection earned her high praise in the medical field.

She was a staff physician at the Strang Clinic and a consultant to the Phelps-Stokes Fund. She also received an honorary degree from Columbia University.

For further reading on black women and their achievements, The Negro Almanac: A Reference Work on the African American, is available in the reference section of the Howard County Library.

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is part of a daily series being published in the Herald during the month of February as recognition of Black History Month.

Police beat

The Big Spring Police Department reported the following incidents.

Edward Martinez, 24, of 1404 Wood, is in good condition at Scenic Mountain Medical Center after undergoing surgery earlier today to mend injuries received in a car/pedestrian accident.

Martinez was struck in the 1000 block of West Eighth Street after stepping in front of a car driven by Janie Juarez, 22, of Big Spring. Juarez left the scene in order to take Martinez to SMMC. Martinez suffered fractures to both legs and abrasions and contusions to the head in the accident.

Brenda McCright, 39, of Big Spring was treated and released from SMMC after her vehicle was struck from behind by another driven by Kenneth Hart, 81, also of Big Spring. According to police reports, Hart crested the overpass near Gregg and First Streets and was unable to stop before striking McCright, who was stopped waiting to turn left.

A trailer valued at $2,500 was reported stolen near the 11th Place extension.

A barbecue grill and other items totaling $493 were reported stolen in the 2500 block of Cindy.

Court docket

Filings in Howard County courts indicate the following:

Jerald Matthew Maynard, 19, 302 Jones, pleaded guilty in 118th District Court to theft between $200 and $750. He was sentenced to five days in jail and ordered to pay $167.

Sheriff's log

One more person was arrested on one of 16 sealed grand jury indictments handed down by a Howard County grand jury Friday. Four more people are being sought. Demetrius Lynn Pruitt, 25, 109 W. 19th, was arrested late Wednesday and released on a $10,000 bond.

The Howard County Sheriff's Office also reported the following:

Joseph Saiz Moreno, 23, 1509 E. Sixth, was arrested and charged with revocation of probation and burglary of a habitation. No bond was set.

James D. Self, 61, 2407 S. Runnels, was arrested on a warrant for parole violation. No bond was set.

Billy Joe McCoy, 32, of Lubbock, was arrested on a warrant for revocation of a driving while intoxicated probation. No bond was set.

Quayle dismisses parallel with Clinton

HELSINKI, Finland (AP) — Vice President Dan Quayle today dismissed any parallel between his National Guard service during the Vietnam War and reports that Bill Clinton, the Democratic presidential candidate, avoided the draft.

Later in the day, Quayle flew on to Lithuania, where he was greeted by enthusiastic pro-U.S. crowds. Lithuania was the first Baltic republic to declare independence from the Soviet Union in March 1990, and paid dearly when 14 of its citizens were killed in clashes with Interior Ministry forces.

Thousands of people lined the motorcade route as Quayle headed to the television tower in Vilnius, where the 14 Lithuanians died the night of Jan. 13, 1991, during a Soviet tank assault on the Lithuanian TV and radio center.

Quayle and his wife Marilyn laid flowers at the monument honoring the victims before driving on to the former Communist Party headquarters, now the site of Prime Minister Gediminas Vagnorius's office.

"Who doesn't like America?" said a smiling member of the crowd outside the government building. He gave his name only as Regimantas. A man next to him flashed the thumbs-up sign to the U.S. vice president.

Speaking to reporters before flying to the Lithuania's capital, Quayle stressed the differences between his military service and reports that Clinton avoided the draft.

"I would just point out that I served in the Indiana National Guard, and served over six years. One of my guard units of Indiana went to Vietnam, so my case is not similar, in fact, with Bill Clinton's situation."

The Wall Street Journal reported Thursday that Clinton, during the critical two months in 1969 that his draft board told him to expect to be called up, agreed to sign up for a Reserve Officers Training Program but never joined.

Clinton, governor of Arkansas, denied he tried to avoid the draft, saying he gave up the deferment after two months because "I didn't think it was right to keep it."

Discussing the political implications of the Clinton report, Quayle said if Clinton lied to the draft board, "It will be something serious." Quayle said he expected the media to delve deeper into the report.

"There was a great deal of press interest in my situation, far more than was needed. We'll see how much press interest there is with his," said the Indiana Republican.

Quayle's participation in the National Guard unit during the war drew scrutiny in the 1988 presidential campaign because of accusations his family used its influence to keep him out of Vietnam. He enlisted in the guard in 1969.

Groups sue to reverse moratorium

WASHINGTON (AP) — A group of breast cancer patients and plastic surgeons sued the government Thursday, seeking to reverse the Food and Drug Administration's stand against silicone breast implants.

The Citizen's Coalition for Truth in Science asked a federal court to declare the FDA's "voluntary moratorium" on the implants illegal.

The agency on Jan. 6 called on doctors to stop using silicone gel breast implants until new information on their safety can be assessed.

"Many thousands of women scheduled to undergo" breast cancer surgery and silicone implants "are going through extreme emotional upheaval" because of the FDA's action, Mary Follin told a news conference. She recently had breast reconstruction surgery following a bout with breast cancer.

The controversy has been stirred up by "junk scientists," Dr. Jack Fisher of Vanderbilt University, who does breast reconstruction in cancer patients. "Charlatans are exploiting these women's fears."

Views of New Age movement surveyed

NEW YORK (AP) — A recent survey indicates that most Americans have never heard of the "New Age" movement — and that most of those who know about it disapprove.

Why then, do many accept some of the best-known "New Age" ideas?

"There can be reasonable explanations for it," said sociologist Barry Kosmin, who directed a survey in the fall of 113,000 Americans about their religion, turning up hardly a trace of New Agers.

He said sometimes seemingly incompatible results can be due to an incongruous mix of elements.

For example, he said, suppose that a group with curious tenets also holds that the Earth is round; and if those disapproving the group are then asked if they consider the Earth round, they'll doubtlessly agree.

Such factors may have figured in a recent extensive survey by the Gallup organization about the so-called New Age movement, which has been the subject of numerous books and articles.

The movement is less a religion than a loose-knit array of beliefs, disseminated by some writer-advocates and entertainment figures such as Shirley MacLaine.

Some hefty criticism of it — and sometimes apprehensions about its impact — have come from biblical quarters, Jewish and Christian.

It is among the "most serious theological errors Christianity has ever faced," an "alternative world view," says Maurice Smith of the Southern Baptist Interfaith Witness department.

He says a New Age belief that "all is one," akin to Eastern religions, with everything from people to water to energy considered a unitary whole, leads to a view that everything, including each individual, is God.

"If I had to put my finger on one reason New Age is popular, it is the belief that you are God," Smith says, "and therefore can determine what is right and wrong. ... New Age is the ultimate do-it-yourself religious system."

However, its grip is not as extensive as sometimes indicated. Gallup's survey of a nationwide representative sample of 2,045 adults found that only a fourth of Americans have ever heard of New Age.

Of the minority who have, only 18 percent have a favorable opinion, while 49 percent disapprove, and others undecided. Only 13 percent of the minority aware group think effects of New Age are good for society.

The findings, detailed in Emerging Trends, published by the Gallup organization's Princeton Religion Research Center, with an error possibility of plus or minus 3 percent, also bring out this odd quirk:

That while most Americans have never heard of New Age, and most of those who have hold an unfavorable view of it, a surprisingly high proportion accept many of its practices and beliefs.

The New Age movement stresses the paranormal, the harnessing of special mental powers, and also techniques such as presumably drawing energy from crystals and communicating with the dead, including messages "channeled" from dead sages.

Among some paranormal phenomena espoused by New Age, the survey found:

— About half of Americans believe in extrasensory perception, the ability to perceive thoughts or feelings by means other than the five senses.

— More than a third believe in mental telepathy through which people presumably can communicate their thoughts to others through pure mental energy.

— A fourth believe in astrology — that affairs of their lives may be governed by movements of planets.

— About a fifth say they have been in touch to varying degrees with the dead.

The survey found that most Americans, like New Agers, believe in life after death — 84 percent of Catholics and 74 of Protestants, and that about 45 percent of adults share New Age belief in psychic or spiritual healing.

'If I had to put my finger on one reason New Age is popular, it is the belief that you are God.'

First Christian has new interim minister

First Christian Church has a new interim minister. Alan Abraham is a life-long Disciples of Christ member, baptized at the age of 9, and active in local church settings through his teens.

Graduating from an Albuquerque high school, he went on to Texas Christian University for a Bachelor's Degree, and then was accepted into Yale Divinity School where he was ordained in 1963. While at TCU, he served as coordinator for the Christian Youth Round-Up.

He came back to Texas after graduating from Yale to become minister of education at Midway Hills Christian Church in Dallas. He accepted his first senior pastorage at First Christian Church in Tulia, and subsequently held a pastorate at El Dorado, Arkansas, and Houston Heights Christian church in Houston for eight years.

About this time, after over 20 years in the ministry, Abraham began to suffer ministerial burnout and decided to work in private industry while working part-time as a supply minister and in a special ministry to singles. He became increasingly interested in a new movement to give specialized training in interim or transitional ministry, and at the urging of Dr. Frank Mabee, Coastal Plains Area Minister, Alan began his training.

His first interim was at First

ALAN ABRAHAM

Christian Church at Katy, a Houston suburb. He went from there to Seabrook, another Houston suburb, then to the Northgate Christian Church in El Paso, and First Christian Church in Pecos.

After serving from 6 to 18 months as interim at each of these 4 congregations, Abraham is more convinced than ever of the value of interim specialist to work with congregations in transition. He said in his application letter, "I believe this interim period is one of the most exciting times in the life of a congregation and represents a prime time for renewal." He has likened his style of ministry as a "coach" and not a "superstar." But he believes an interim minister must be aggressively involved in the total scope of ministry from the administration to the preaching to the calling. He is a dynamic speaker from the pulpit, according to his references.

East Side welcomes singers

The East Side Baptist Church, located at the corner of 6th and Settles, will host the musical and preaching group 'Forever His.'

The four member family group is from Irving and has built a reputation for uplifting audiences with original Southern Gospel type music.

'Forever His' has been travelling, singing and preaching around the state of Texas since 1985. The group has recently expanded its travel throughout the United States.

You can catch them in concert on Feb. 9 at 9:45, 10:50 a.m. and again at 6 p.m.

For more information call the church at 267-1915.

First Church women study Gospel cultures

Women of First Church of God met in regular session Feb. 3 in Fellowship Hall.

Frances Miller, Unit president, presided at the business session. Unit members will furnish refreshments for the State Hospital, Feb. 14th. The ladies were encouraged to attend the Texas Spring Convention in Fort Worth on Mar. 19-21.

Betty Reagan, Missions Education Coordinator, directed the second lesson in the Mission study titled "Gospel and Culture: Windows on the Word" written by Kay Shively, Associate Secretary of the WCG, Anderson, In.

The objectives of the lesson are to explore further how our culture preceptions influence our understanding of the Gospel; to appreciate the truth that other cultures may teach us about the Gospel, and to understand the Gospel better, having seen it through other's eyes.

Linda Lindell, Spiritual Life Coordinator, closed the service using group responsive reading taken from Psalm 86: 9-10 (RSV).

The next meeting will be Mar. 2 in the Church Fellowship Hall.

Wesley United Methodist attends Vision 2000

Twenty members of Wesley United Methodist Church attended seminars on Vision 2000 held in Lubbock Feb. 1.

Seminars on "Singling Out Singles of All Ages," "Identifying, Contracting & Visiting the Unchurched," and "Strengthening, Renewing and Expanding Your Christian Education" were held at the conference.

Those attending were Bert and Ernestine Harris, Sandra Browman, Marilyn Clark, Bill Lovelace, Gary Bishop, Elvin and Loydola Bearden, Ben and Madeline Boadle, Donna Barron, Ethel Pringle, Dale and Beverly Humphrey, Connie Edgemon, Carol Stephens, Jacque Mauch, Sandy Griffin and Rev. James and Carlene Willborn.

Interesting and tried methods to reinforce the leadership of the laity in ministry were given at each seminar.

Pope greets Mother Teresa

Mother Teresa, recovering from pneumonia and heart problems, on Wednesday attended the pope's private Mass in his chapel.

The 81-year-old nun, winner of the 1979 Nobel Peace Prize for her work with the sick and downtrodden of Calcutta, is better but needs more rest, according to her Rome doctor.

Mother Teresa arrived in Rome on Tuesday from the United States, where she was hospitalized after becoming ill in December.

The Vatican released no other details about Mother Teresa's visit.

Muscular Christianity regains popularity

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
After the Washington Redskins' victory in the Super Bowl, coach Joe Gibbs and some players mentioned their dependence on Jesus Christ.

Such affirmations have become common in the sports world, ranging from prayer circles on the field to discussions of faith by notables such as baseball's Darryl Strawberry and Dave Dravecky.

In various crowd-drawing sports, star performers frequently speak out about their religious commitment, apparently at the behest of conscience, and sometimes explicitly as a boost to evangelism.

They've been called "jocks for Jesus." Historically, the combination is termed "muscular Christianity."

Judging by recent indications of the strength of the movement, these athletes' activity and the publicity given to them are not likely to decline soon," says sociologist James A. Mathisen.

"Muscular Christianity is not going to disappear."

Besides its modern prevalence, however, it also has long roots going back to 19th century England, and indirectly perhaps even earlier as a Christianized version of an ancient Greek ideal — sound mind and sound body.

Mathisen, who teaches at Wheaton College in Illinois, traces that history and also its present-day manifestations in the ecumenical weekly, Christian Century, published in Chicago.

For more than a decade, "the press and public have struggled to make sense of the increasing number of elite athletes who proclaim their faith in Jesus," Mathisen writes.

"What is the significance of the burgeoning number of athletes using their cultural prominence as a platform for Christian convictions?"

He sees both positive and negative effects: It spreads a message that can help individual lives, yet does so with an inadequate "folk theology" that accepts the sports culture without subjecting it to biblical standards.

On the benefit side, he says, sports ministries since World War II have provided evangelistic "enthusiasm and energy," rooted in fundamentalist approaches, for spreading the Christian witness.

"Sports evangelism participants also have helped spread the news that the Christian gospel can still make a difference in everyday lives," he says. But he adds there also is "a downside."

"Modern muscular Christianity has little if any appreciation for the intrinsic value of leisure or play — its practitioners tend to reduce sports to a mere tool in the hands of enthusiastic evangelists.

Nevertheless, it is striking that muscular Christianity has largely avoided challenging the racist, sexist, dehumanizing, anti-academic and drug permissive structures of bigtime sports."

Sand Springs Lions

Sand Springs Lions Club will hold their 7th annual chili supper on Feb 8 from 5 to 8 p.m. at the Sand Springs Club Community Center on Scout Hut Road. The supper is all-you-can-eat featuring chili, beans, dessert and drinks. Prices are $3.50 and children under 12 eat free with a paying adult.

Visit our Veterans

During the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) National Salute to Hospitalized Veterans Feb. 9-15, local celebrities, children's groups, members of the business community, Veterans Service Organizations leaders, government officials, representatives of the military, medical center volunteers, and medical staff have been invited to visit patients at the Big Spring VA Medical Center. "National Salute to Hospitalized Veterans Week gives all citizens the opportunity to let hospitalized veterans know they are not forgotten," said Conrad Alexander, Director. "We invite local people of all ages to join those already invited in spreading cheer to our patients. We've scheduled special patient activities and patient visitation throughout the week, as well as a special Salute program on Valentine's Day, Feb. 14," added Alexander. VA volunteers play an important role in the total care and well-being of veterans patients, and National Salute to Hospitalized Veterans Week is the perfect time of year for the public to share in the volunteer role.

Divorce shakes child's security

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Our son (who is 14) has had a lot of problems in school, and they finally insisted he get professional help. The counselor says his problems come from the turmoil my husband and I had during our divorce several years ago. Do you think this is possible? I thought he was too young at the time to know what was going on. — Mrs. L.Y.

DEAR MRS. L.Y.: Children observe much more than we realize — which is one reason the Bible urges us to be good examples to our children by our lives, and not simply to tell them what to do.

Yes, children detect when there is tension and fighting in a family, and when there is a lack of love. And when this is the case, it not only makes them upset (although they may try to hide it or act indifferent to it), but it can have long-term psychological effects. One reason is because young children need love and security more than almost anything else, and when there is tension in the family that security is shattered. They enter life insecure and uncertain, and may have a hard time relating to other people as a result (including

God Is Handing Out Gifts! Lifescope Asks, "Are You Using Yours?"

Some of us have been given special ability as apostles; to others He has given the gift of being able to preach well; some have special ability in winning people to Christ, helping them to trust Him as their Savior; still others have a gift for caring for God's people as a shepherd does his sheep, leading and teaching them in the ways of God.

Why is it that He gives us these special abilities to do certain things best? It is that God's people will be equipped to do better work for Him, building up the church, the body of Christ, to a position of strength and maturity; until finally we all believe alike about our salvation and about our Savior, God's Son, and all become fullgrown in the Lord — yes, to the point of being filled full with Christ.

Then we will no longer be infants, tossed back and forth by the waves, and blown here and there by every wind of teaching and by the cunning and craftiness of men in their deceitful scheming. Instead, speaking the truth in love, we will in all things grow up into Him Who is the Head, that is, Christ.

God has given each of us the ability to do certain things well. So if God has given you the ability to prophesy, then prophesy whenever you can — as often as your faith is strong enough to receive a message from God. If your gift is that of servicing others, serve them well. If you are a teacher do a good job of teaching. If you are a preacher see to it that your sermons are strong and helpful. If God has given you money, be generous in helping others with it. If God has given you administrative ability and put you in charge of the work of others, take the responsibility seriously. Those who offer comfort to the sorrowing should do so with Christian cheer.

I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that you present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable to God, which is your reasonable service.

And these signs will accompany those who believe: "In My name they will drive out demons; they will speak in new tongues; ... they will place their hands on sick people, and they will get well."

WHAT SCOUTING IS

NATIONAL BOY SCOUTS WEEK FEBRUARY 1-8TH

SCOUTING EXPERIENCES PROVIDE A BOY WITH —

Healthful Outdoor Adventure—hiking, camping, and a kinship with the pioneer and Indian scouts who led the way into the wilderness. It is today's answer to lack of physical fitness of boys.

Fellowship and Teamwork—as a member of his own patrol—a wholesome, lively group of boys working and playing happily together.

Knowledge and Skill—ability to find his way in the open, to set up a shelter, build a fire, find food, and do many other things that develop his self-reliance. He gains ability to help others in emergencies.

A Code of Honor—the Scout Oath or Promise, by which a boy affirms his duty to God and his country, his obligation to help other people, and his aim to keep himself physically, mentally, and morally fit.

A Scout does not just talk about cooking,
He cooks!

He does not philosophize about swimming,
He swims!

He does not merely read about camping,
He camps!

He does not merely meditate about service,
He helps!

BSA MISSION STATEMENT

It is the mission of the Boy Scouts of America to serve others by helping to instill values in young people and, in other ways, to prepare them to make ethical choices over their lifetime in achieving their full potential.

The values we strive to instill are based on those found in the Scout Oath and Law:

SCOUT OATH

On my honor I will do my best
To do my duty to God and my country and to obey the Scout Law;
To help other people at all times;
To keep myself physically strong,
mentally awake, and morally straight.

SCOUT LAW

A Scout is:
Trustworthy Obedient
Loyal Cheerful
Helpful Thrifty
Friendly Brave
Courteous Clean
Kind Revere

Collecting is No Fun... For Anyone.

Make it easy on yourself as well as your newspaper carrier by paying directly to our office. Collecting from hard to catch customers is one of the reasons that carriers give up their routes.

By paying direct, you will eliminate any interruptions in your evening activities. And if you pay by the year, you'll even save 10% off the regular monthly subscription price. That's better than getting a month free. Why not call Today? 263-7331

Memories of violence haunt mother and child

DEAR ABBY: I was gang-raped 20 years ago; I remember the day, time, faces, and every detail of what happened on that horrible day as though it was yesterday. Justice was never served because a police official was too afraid of the gang involved. He said, "I'm sorry, Miss, but I urge you to drop the charges because if this case goes to court and these men are convicted, I can't promise you a 24-hour bodyguard for the rest of your life." So, being scared, I dropped the charges. I blocked all this out of my mind until my daughter, who is now 14, confided in me that when she was 6 years old, a teen-age neighbor guy who baby-sat for her made her do terrible things to him, then threatened to do bodily harm to her father and me if she told anyone. Now I recall that she had horrible nightmares for the longest time, but I never knew why. She doesn't want her father to know for fear of what he might do to this guy who still lives in the area. She asked me if it was too late to bring him up on charges of molestation. I don't know. Is it?

get counseling soon. Is it too late to make the feeling that I am dirty and cheap go away? And is it too late for my daughter to make the guy who molested her face up to his crime? — NIGHTMARES IN THE MIDWEST

DEAR NIGHTMARES: No. The healing process begins when the victim (and both you and your daughter are victims) confronts the guilty parties. The city you mentioned has an excellent Rape Crisis Center. It is listed in your telephone book. Call them. Laws vary in different states. The center will know if there is a statute of limitations on the crime of rape and/or child abuse or molestation.

Both my daughter and I plan to

DEAR ABBY: I am a 50-year-old

Jeane Dixon

HAPPY BIRTHDAY! IN THE NEXT YEAR OF YOUR LIFE: Everything seems to come together for you now. Tie up any loose financial ends before March. The marriage of two minds makes May a banner month for your career. A platonic relationship could turn romantic in midsummer. September is the best time for a wedding. Make a big financial push in November and you will get that long-sought promotion. A December vacation helps you recharge your batteries. Visit a place you have never been before.

CELEBRITIES BORN ON THIS DATE: comedian Robert Klein, journalist Ted Koppel, actor Jack Lemmon, actress Audrey Meadows.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Someone may try to shift responsibility or blame onto your shoulders. Explain the facts calmly. A low-key approach is more convincing than anger.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Your ego and ambition receive a big boost today. Now is the time to showcase your special skills. Talk to your mate about your desire for greater independence. A compromise is favored.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Continue to work hand-in-glove with the person who can lead you safely through a maze of complications. Do not let your age keep you from contributing to the community. Volunteer!

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Something is on the verge of ending in the most agreeable manner. A certain amount of red tape is inevitable when seeking official help. Be patient. The contacts you make now will prove valuable.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Giving unsolicited advice to relatives is a big mistake. Mutual friends will help you keep things in perspective.

Spent more time on a favorite hobby — it could lead to a second income.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Do not give up your search for the right partner. Instead, plot your social life as carefully as your business maneuvers. Joining a community or political campaign will widen your circle of acquaintances.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Put off making any major decisions until Monday. You may have to postpone certain personal pleasures to tend to a family member's needs. Be a good sport. An out-of-towner brings welcome news.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Your creativity is undisputed. Proceed slowly and you will make fewer mistakes. A psychic experience gives you a fresh perspective on recent developments.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): There is no need for financial panic; you have resources you may have forgotten about. A setback is strictly temporary. Forget your worries and throw an impromptu party tonight.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Get household chores out of the way early today. Recreational activities will restore your usual vim and vigor. Group projects and social events are favored. Take a more active role in a club.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Your dependability pays big dividends now. Create an environment for young people that will encourage their creativity. Do not let critical comments sour your pleasure in an exciting new venture.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Buy necessities only; luxury purchases can wait for a while. A romantic fling has more implications than you originally thought. Protect your possessions from those who are greedy.
