Five counties have contested primaries

By PATRICK DRISCOLL Staff Writer

Five area counties have locally contested March 10 primaries, including three sheriff races and six county commissioner races

Three counties are included in two state district races.

Early voting began today at area courthouses and will continue through March 6. Applications for mail-in ballots must be received by county clerks before March 3. State district primaries that affect the area include:

 Senate District 25, which includes Mitchell County. In the Democratic primary are senators Bill Sims of San Angelo and Temple Dickson of Sweetwater. Republicans include state representative Troy Fraser, who is changing his residence from Big Spring to Llano County, Jim Deats of Boerne and Charles P. Johnson of Kerville

 A justice position on the Eighth Court of Appeals, which includes Martin and Glasscock counties. Five candidates in the Democratic primary, all from El Paso, include Susan Larsen. Richard Barajas, Luis Cesar Labrado and incumbent Jerry Woodard. The winner will face Republican Marc Skeen of Midland in the Nov. 3 general

Howard County has no contested state district primaries and only one local primary. Sheriff A.N. Standard faces Sheriff's Deputy Jimmy Wallace. The winner faces Republican Neel G. Barnaby.

Contested local primaries in Mitchell County, all Democratic, and candidates include:

 Sheriff — Acting Sheriff Patrick Toombs, Tim Atkins, Augustine Alvarado, David Ginkinger, Randy Wilkinson, and Linton Ray Webb. The winner faces Republican George Oliver.

• Precinct 3 commissioner - incumbent Buddy Hertenberger and Joe Luis Rivera. The winner faces Republican George Allen Walker. • Pct. 1 commissioner — incumbent

Ed Roach and Ralph Hines. • Tax assessor/collector — incumbent Clarence C. Burt and Shirley Ann

Clifton

Contested in Martin County, all

Democratic, are:

 Sheriff — Michael Adams, John Castro and David Saunders. The winner faces Republican Mike Welling.

 Pct. 3 commissioner — incumbent Ronnie Deatherage and Eldon A.

Contested in Glasscock County, Republican and Democratic, are:

 Pct. 3 commissioner Republicans Rita Hull and Mark Schafer. The winner faces Democrat Hugh Brian.

 Pct. 1 commissioner – Democratic incumbent Jimmy Strube and Democrat Dale Hillger.

Contested in Borden County is: Pct. 1 commissioner Democratic incumbent Frank Currey and Democrat Ed Vestal.

No bond set for escapee

By MARTHA E. FLORES Staff Writer

Pedro Sotello-Romero, the lone survivor from Monday night's attempted escape from Big Spring Correctional Center by two inmates, is being held in the Midland County Jail. He will be transferred to Abilene to be arraigned.

The other escapee, Juan Ramirez, was shot and killed when peace officers confronted the convicts near Midland.

"His transfer will not take place until the Texas Rangers complete their investigation of the shooting, which involved an officer," said Bruce Beaty, U.S. Marshall of the Northern District of Texas. "Once he is transferred he will go in front of the magistrate to be arraigned for escaping."

No bond is set for Sotello-Romero.

Sotello-Romero and Ramirez attempted an escape of the facility Monday night by taking Carmen Brooks, a bilingual instructor, as a hostage. They demanded a vehicle and a shotgun. The vehicle was granted, but they left the center unarmed, according to center officials.

The escapees, with the hostage, traveled westbound on Interstate 20 with several law enforcement units in pursuit.

The chase ended five miles east of downtown Midland on I-20 when a DPS trooper shot the vehicle's two right tires.

Outsiders win big in primary

WASHINGTON (AP) - Two outsider candidates who challenged their own parties, scorned statusquo politics and portrayed themselves as men of principle reaped big rewards in New Hampshire.

RELATED STORY — 3A

With many Americans concerned about the economy, convinced the country is off-course and in a search for leadership they can trust. analysts say the approach has great national potential.

"If you want to run for national office in 1992, you better be about change and you better not be about politics as usual," said Geoff Garin, a Democratic pollster.

Commentator Patrick Buchanan demonstrated the benefits of being about change in spectacular fashion in his first try for office, winning 40 percent of the vote against an incumbent president.

The former White House aide accused President Bush of backing off conservative tenets, breaking his promise not to raise taxes and ignoring economic problems at home. Against a recessionary backdrop and widespread unhappiness with Bush, it worked better than Buchanan dared hope.

In his less flamboyant way, Democrat Paul Tsongas was also a rebel. He crept slowly to the top of the field on a vow to change his party's course and a business-

Black churches founded in '20s

Mt. Bethel Baptist Church and The Greater McGee Chapel Church of God in Christ were two of the first black churches established in Big Spring. Mt. Bethel was established in 1924, while McGee was organized in the late 1920s.

According to the church history synopsis, Mt. Bethel was founded under the guidance of the Rev. Hill in April, 1924 with no more than 12 founding members. "The members would meet in homes to hold service in the first years, and it was the first black church established here," said Education Director Essie Person

In the late 1920s, the pastor at the time, Rev. B.H. Hubbard, moved the church into a dirt-floor house at the corner of N.W. Fifth and Lancaster Streets

The church had a change of locations throughout the 1930s and 1940s. In the late 1930s, the church at Fifth and Lancaster was destroyed by a fire. To replace the church, a building at 500 N.W. Fifth St. was purchased and used until it was condemned pastor at Mt. Bethel. According to church history documents, McGee Chapel was established to meet the needs of the pentecostal believers in the area in 1929. Mother Mittie Tucker, a founding member, received materials from the Big Spring Compress Company. The company also allowed the founding members to build the church on their premises located on N.W. Trade Street.

The first pastor for McGee Chapel was Elder T.F. Ford, who was installed in 1930. Ford pastored at the church until 1933. He was succeeded by Elder Collier, who watched over the church and

Stanton PD chief named to board

Stanton City Police Chief Mike Adams was appointed this month to a one-year term on the governing board of the 17-county Permian Basin Drug Task Force.

Adams, 37, Stanton police chief for six years and one of three Democratic candidates for Martin County Sheriff, said he has been involved with the Task Force since its inception in 1988. "I think the Task Force is the best tool to fight

HOUSTON (AP) — The man selected to be Houston's new police chief can't carry a gun or make an arrest until he passes a test, a state official

The former deputy police chief must pass a reactivation test required of former police officers who seek to rejoin a force. Lewis said.

Nuchia must submit to physical and psychological examinations, and he must pass a quiz on police procedures and state law, Lewis said.

"Most people pass it," he said. "The most important thing is for him to catch up on the new laws passed since he was a policeman. That shouldn't be hard to do, since he's with the U.S. attorney's office."

Get spending under control

Amid the longest economic downturn in half a century, Americans are tightening their belts, curbing their household spending and paying down their debts. Meanwhile, the federal government is doing the exact opposite.

Under the Bush administration's proposed budget for 1993, domestic spending will rise by more than $50 billion and the federal debt will increase by more than $350

It was less than two years ago that White House budget director Richard Darman, working in concert with congressional Democrats, promised $290 billion in spending cuts over five years. These cuts, along with $137 billion in new taxes during the same span, were supposed to yield a $23 billion budget surplus by 1995.

The taxes took effect, but the spending cuts were illusory. The net result is that, for every new tax dollar soaked up by the federal treasury today, there is a $2.25 increase in domestic spending.

Fairly or unfairly, George Bush may be remembered as one of the biggest-spending presidents in history. In fact, if domestic spending maintains its current pace under Mr. Bush, it will exceed the first-term increases of the last five presidents.

Moreover, with domestic spending rising at an annual rate of $42.3 billion a year, after adjusting for inflation, the real growth under Mr. Bush is twice that of Jimmy Carter and eight times that of Ronald Reagan during their first terms.

The $52 billion in new domestic spending slated for fiscal 1993 is across the board. Darman failed to extract savings from any sector of the budget except defense spending, which would decline by 5.7 percent next year. Even though inflation is projected to rise only 3.3 percent next year, the administration proposes double-digit spending increases in the budgets of the Departments of Education, Housing and Urban Development, Justice, State and Treasury.

All told, the result of this runaway federal spending is that Washington now claims a greater share of the gross domestic product than at any other time during the past half century. One quarter of every dollar generated by the American economy this year will be consumed by the federal spending machine.

It has not always been the case that Washington claimed an increasing share of the nation's output. From 1983 to 1989, federal spending declined from 24 percent of GDP to 22 percent. In the past three years, federal spending has crept back to 25.1 percent of GDP, a post-World War

It also bears mention that, from 1983 to 1989, the relative size of the federal deficit was cut in half, from 6 percent of GDP to 3 percent. Under Mr. Bush, the deficit has risen to 4.6 percent of GDP.

The president is not entirely to blame for runaway federal spending and the record deficit of $352 billion projected for next year. Nevertheless, the president's 1993 budget does not go nearly far enough in restraining the growth of spending. Americans have responded to tough economic times by reining in their spending. They should demand no less from Washington.

NEA develops some backbone

John Frohnmayer, chairman of the National Endowment for the Arts, acquired three new vertebrae the other day. It was a nice acquisition: It gave him twice the backbone he had the day before. Thus emboldened, he actually denied grants to a couple of applicants from the far-out fringe. Hallelujah!

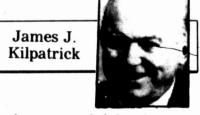

To be sure, it should not have required even one more vertebra to reject these beauties. One application came from the Franklin Furnace, the other from Highways. The Washington Post reported the story on Feb. 4. It appears that every year for the past 16 years, the NEA has given a potful of the taxpayers' money to the Franklin Furnace, a 'New York bastion of avant-garde art." The current grant is $40,000. Another way to put it is to say that last year Frohnmayer took all the income tax paid by eight middle-income families and gave it away to this outfit.

For the 1992-93 season, the Franklin Furnace sought a $25,000 grant. The NEA's advisory council looked at a videotape of a monologuist who goes by the bobtailed name of Scarlet O. Lest I be accused of making things up, let me quote from the Post:

In the videotape, she discussed attitudes about sexuality. She starts out dressed as a man (using a sexual prop) and shows highly explicit photographs of herself in various bizarre costumes that she uses to explore her sexual 'personae.' She then invites audience members to apply lotion to her nude body.

The Post noted that the NEA had not funded her performance on this particular tape. Nevertheless, the tape was submitted in support of the Furnace's application. A 12-member peer review panel recommended that the grant be awarded, but the advisory council said no, and Frohnmayer affirmed that recommendation

Naturally, this has set off a hullabaloo. Renny Pritikin, chairman of the peer review panel, is complaining that the council acted after seeing only a few minutes of the tape. He feels the council should have looked at all 70 minutes of the tape, on the theory that one must eat the whole of a rotten egg before concluding that something is fatally yucky.

The council also voted to turn down a $5,000 grant sought by Highways, identified in the Post account as a fledgling gallery in Los Angeles. The gallery submitted a selection of 25 "homoerotic photographs" as part of its application.

(Homoerotic photographs, for those unfamiliar with where the NEA occasionally spends our money, are the kind of photographs that were a specialty of the late Robert Mapplethorpe. He gained great adulation for a print depicting one man urinating into another man's mouth. One of the Highways' photographs depicted men engaged in oral

The advisory council voted 17-1 against the Franklin Furnace, 10-7 against the Highways application. The leading dissenter within the council was Donald Hall, identified as a poet, who urged the council "not to act out of fear of the bigots." He thought the council should accept the aesthetic judgment of the peer review

Frohnmayer once asked me why I picked on him and the NEA. I tried to explain, but couldn't quite get through to the gentleman, that I find no constitutional authorization -- none, zero, zilch -- for the NEA's funding of individual artists who produce art that is patently bilge.

An artist has no "right" to practice his art at the taxpayer's expense. The artist's right is a right of free expression, stemming from the First Amendment's protection of a right to free speech. Nothing on earth prevents Miss O from hiring a hall, selling tickets, stripping down to garter belt and stockings, "and inviting an audience member to rub lotion between her legs." The cops may raid the joint, but that's between the lady and the law. If her art is art at all, it is not the kind of art envisioned when the NEA came into being

Perhaps a constitutional authority can be found for granting tax subsidies to museums, major orchestras, and longestablished theaters and festivals. I say perhaps. It's highly doubtful. James Madison would not have thought so. The Constitution authorizes Congress to lay taxes to provide for the general welfare. Only by the most tortured twisting of that clause can justification be found for spending tax funds to promote the art of Scarlet O.

Congress has had abundant time and opportunity to abolish such individual grants. They ought to be abolished. We cannot rely indefinitely, after all, on Chairman Frohnmayer and his brand-new vertebrae

Toothpaste cleaned out my billfold

Lewis Grizzard

Have you ever tried to get toothpaste out of a carpet. No? Well, I have. Out of the carpet in my bathroom.

I suppose I should tell you how the toothpaste got on the carpet in my bathroom but it's a little embarrassing.

On the other hand, I've never been one to keep secrets. What happened was, I was in the midst of a rather spirited argument with someone else who was with me in my bathroom at the time.

The argument had to do with the fact I am insensitive, bullheaded, selfish and sometimes my feet don't smell so good.

I realized I was losing the argument, which frustrated me. When I get frustrated, sometimes I get angry.

I got angry, and I happened to be holding a canister of toothpaste in my hand. I was just about to brush my teeth when the argument broke out. It wasn't a tube of toothpaste. The modern shopper like myself now buys toothpaste in a canister with a button on top. You push the button and the toothpaste comes out, which has made it possible for me to avoid another argument I've been having with women all my

Beginning with my mother, every woman with whom I have shared a bathroom has complained that I don't squeeze a tube of toothpaste from the bottom, which is the way they are convinced it should be done

Anyway, I was angry and I couldn't decide whether or not to ram my fist through the glass shower door or slam the canister of toothpaste down to the carpet. I went for the toothpaste slam.

We weren't arguing politics. The toothpaste canister broke into many pieces, and toothpaste got all over the carpet. She said, 'If you think I'm going to clean up that toothpaste, you're crazy."

"Did I ask you to clean up the toothpaste?" I shouted back at her. "I'll clean it up. Don't vou worry one minute about it. I'll do it. I'll have this toothpaste up before you can bat an eye. It's my toothpaste. I paid for it. I threw it on the carpet, which is also mine, and I'll clean it up. Yes, siree. I'll clean up the damn toothpaste. When it comes to cleaning up toothpaste I'm a world champion." First, I tried scrubbing it out with a brush. That didn't work. The toothpaste had caked in the carpet by this time. I tried scraping it out with a knife. That didn't work, either.

I tried a wet washrag on it. Nope. I wet a mop and tried that. Do you know how much suds a little toothpaste on a carpet can produce when you put water on it? Tons of the stuff, which now was spreading to other parts of the carpet. I tried to get my dog, Catfish, the black Lab, to lick the toothpaste off the carpet. He refused.

I tried everything I knew. Nothing worked.

So I said to myself, I'll probably sell this house one day, let the new owner get the toothpaste up.

She came home and saw the mess and called a carpet-cleaning service. It was my toothpaste, my carpet, and my carpet-cleaning

But I got even. I put a Pat Buchanan bumper sticker on her car. She likes the wimp from California because he seems so sensitive.

Article on New Age appreciated

To the editor: Thank you for the article on the New Age which appeared in the religion news a week ago last Friday. I've been a New Age believer since my childhood. From my earliest days I learned about a man who came to bring in a new age of love and understanding. Loving people taught me the name of that man. They taught me to sing "Jesus loves me. This I know for the Bible tells me so. I received the truth of that man into my life. I will be forever grateful.

That man, Jesus, who is called the Christ said He was "One with the Father." He prayed that His followers might be One with Him even as He was One with the Father. The religious leaders of His day so rejected these ideas that they framed the Loving Teacher and had Him killed.

Those who had walked most closely with this man, who knew He was the Son of God but called Himself the "Son of Man, preserved for those who would come after the principles and insights they received from Him.

We can observe from the New Testament that though Jesus showed respect for some of the traditions of the religion in which He was reared, he was aware of a need for some changes. He amplified the best in that religious discipline and let the rest fall away

Jesus walked in direct communion with God whom he called Father. He taught internal awareness of God as the key to right action. It seems to me that many of us are like the Pharisees of Jesus' day. He said they were like white-washed tombs. They look fine on the outside but are full of bones and decaying corpses on the inside.

Many people who have been classed as New Age advocates have seen in Jesus and the principles he taught a totally new way to live. They have cast aside some of the traditions to get to the heart of what Jesus taught. Jesus didn't find "being God" easy. People who believe they are "one with God and Jesus" are not finding life on Planet Earth to be easy either. Accepting responsibility for one's direct connection to God brings challenges. He taught His disciples to pray that God's Kingdom would come on Earth as it is in Heaven. He taught that that Kingdom is within. The truth or untruth of a movement is not determined by the number of people who follow its tenets. Rather a movement grounded in truth will stand the test of time. Its adherents will grow in strength regardless of what is going on around them. I'm glad the Herald gave space to the Associated Press article which discussed some aspects of the New Age controversy. I feel that it is not possible to lump all people who believe we need a new age of harmony and peace into the "weirdo section." It is subhuman nature to relegate people who disagree with us to a separate state, threaten them with annihilation, or even worse, unending torture. It is divine nature to accept people as they are and seek to lead them by word and example to a higher

The comfort lies in knowing that one is trying to be true to "the Light that comes into the world and shines on all men." (Good News translation of John 1:9)

Getting off the subject . . . Lady Plainsmen now, there's a name for you. It sounds about as puzzling as Lady Steers, but then what do I know about nicknames?

I do know the Lady Steers play pretty good basketball. Little did I suspect that coach Ron Taylor would transform last year's 5-21, bumbling, stumbling group into a playoff team. I knew Taylor had good credentials, but a miracle worker?

Well it's true, the turnabout is likened to the one C.E. Carmichael made with the girls basketball program back in the early 80s

In all fairness to last year's Lady Steers team, their two best players went down early with knee injuries — senior Jennifer Hendleman and junior Teveyan Russell.

Russell is back, knee brace and all, and she has been a force in the resurgence of this year's squad. Her scoring has made the other teams concentrate heavily on her. In return, her teammates, who were timid about shooting the ball early in the season, have become more assertive offensively

No longer can they gang up on Russell. If dimunitive threepointer bomber Leslie Fryar doesn't get you, Cassie Underwood, Casey Cook or Amber Grisham will.

Mixed with a relentless fullcourt press, the Lady Steers have established themselves a team worthy of meeting Canyon Randall in the area round of the state playoffs Friday.

On the other hand I suspected the Howard College Lady Hawks would be where they're at. Undefeated in conference play, 23-5 overall and No. 3 in the nation.

Especially impressive is their undefeated conference mark. In the tough WJCAC, that's only done every-so-often The Lady Hawks can conclude a perfect league record with a win over South Plains in Levelland Feb. 24.

It won't be easy. Lyndon Hardin's teams always give Howard a tough time. South Plains owns a 56-52 win over the Lady Hawks in a tournament early in the season.

This may be the year for the Lady Hawks. From what I've seen they can be so good it's

Accused Oiler must testify

AUSTIN (AP) — Houston Oiler Richard Johnson, accused of sexually assaulting a woman in his hotel room, must testify before a grand jury, according to police and court records.

Also subpoenaed were Oiler Cris Dishman and Atlanta Falcons Mike Rozier and Tracy Johnson, the Austin American-Statesman reported Wednesday

Richard Johnson, 28, who hasn't been charged in the case, had been scheduled to testify Tuesday. But his testimony was postponed after the cornerback's lawyer said his client objected to the presence of an Austin police officer in the grand jury room.

The Oiler has been accused by a 23-year-old Austin woman of sexually assaulting her in his hotel room in April 1991. The two had met that night at a club, the newspaper reported. According to police reports,

Richard Johnson told authorities

the woman consented to sex, but he later said she was asleep during intercourse. Dishman appeared Tuesday for the second time before a Travis County grand jury investigating teammate. Rozier and Tracy Johnson did not appear Tuesday, said Sgt. Hector Reveles, head of the Austin sex crimes division.

Hawks sweep two

LUBBOCK — The Howard College Hawks ran their record to 6-4 by taking a doubleheader from the Texas Tech junior varsity Tuesday, 10-1, 11-6.

Howard coach Bill Griffin said his young team is improving. "We're playing better," said Griffin. "I'm pleased because we're playing better as the season goes along. I think we're coming around. The Hawks will be in action against Angelina College in a five-games series at Jack Barber Field. Friday's doubleheader begins at 1 p.m.

HOWARD 10, TECH 1 Edwin Corps overcame a shaky first two innings, where he hit three batters, to pick up his first win of the season. Corps allowed five hits while going the distance.

Howard pounded out 14 hits, led by the four-hit performance of freshman outfielder Chad Dunavon

Howard scored four runs in the fourth and fifth inning to put the game away.

HOWARD 11, TECH 6 David Refkohl ran his record to 1-1 while going the distance and allowing 10 hits.

Howard scored five runs in the first inning off no hits, three walks and two Tech errors.

Howard iced the game with four runs in the fifth inning. Dunavon started it off with a triple. Then with two outs, Howard got doubles by David Suarez, Henry Martinez, Andrew Ortiz and David Snyder. Tech scored four runs in the seventh, but it was not enough.

Elway planning to play a little longer

DENVER (AP) — Quarterback John Elway hopes to play five or six more years with Denver Broncoes before ending

"I don't want to leave Denver," Elway said. "I want to be one of those guys who plays 14 or 15 years for the same club. The major goal is winning a Super Bowl, and I don't want to do that anywhere else. I want to do it here.'

And that decision wasn't always so clear with Elway, who recently underwent some controversy when offensive coordinator Mike Shanahan was fired by coach Dan Reeves. Reeves said he fired Shanahan after it became apparent that he and Elway had worked out what plays to call before games.

After that, Elway said he had some fleeting thought about retiring because he was sick of always being mired in some sort of turmoil.

"I'd be lying if I said no," Elway said of retirement. "It's something that I've got to figure out. I've got to enjoy playing football. I get beat up too much so I need to enjoy it. I get tired of getting caught up in the controversy because I don't look at myself as a controversial guy. That wears on

The only thing I thought Howard was missing was an accomplished outside shooter. Still the Lady Hawks don't overwhelm you with its outside shooting, but that's because their inside game is so strong, starting with sophomore post player Yolanda Wells.

Another major factor why Howard is so good is freshman point guard LeKisha Wiley, the best penetrating guard I've seen at Howard.

Coahoma survives Forsan

By GLENDA LOW For The Hearld

FORSAN - The Coahoma Bulldogs defeated the Forsan Buffaloes 81-77 in District 6-2A action improving their record 5-1, while the Buffaloes fall to 3-3.

In the first quarter the Bulldogs started off the scoring with a basket by Matt Coates, but Forsan's Chris Evans answered with a basket. This was how the quarter continued with each team trading baskets. With Bulldogs' Mark Arguello scoring 15 points of his game-high 27 in the quarter, teammates Brent Elmore chipped in two baskets and Coates scored another basket before the end of the quarter. Scoring the Buffaloes came from Micah Epley four points, Josh Wooten 7 points, Jacoby Hopper five points, Joey Conaway three points, and Evans two more points. Ending the quarter 23-23.

In the second quarter Forsan took the lead with a shot under the basket by Wooten, and after the Bulldogs Cory Mason fouled the Buffaloes took possession of the ball and scored another basket by Epley before the Bulldogs scored a basket by Elmore. Elmore went on to score 7 more points, Kenny Lowery chipped in a basket and Kirby Brown made 4 of 4 free throws. While the Buffaloes went on to ourscore the Bulldogs in the

In third quarter action the Buffaloes scored the first two baskets of the quarter with a basket by Epley and a 3 pointer by Evans pulling the Buffs up by 11 points

(49-38). The Bulldogs answered with the next two baskets by Mike Mendez, then Buffaloes Evans nailed a three pointer and Bulldogs Arguello answered with a three pointer of his own. Then the Bulldogs went on a 10-2 tear to take the lead by one point 55-54. With 2:57 left in the quarter Forsan's Conaway went in for a shot made the basket and was fouled, sank the free throw to take the lead back 57-55. Then the Bulldogs! Elmore went up for a basket to tie the game, teammate Arguello was fouled and sank both free throws to take the lead. By the end of the quarter each team scored 2 more baskets each ending the quarter 63-61 in favor of the Bulldogs.

In the final quarter of the contest the Bulldogs kept the lead until 3:47 left in the contest and Buffaloes Evans nailed his 5th three pointer to tie the game once again 73-73. The last 8 points for the Bulldogs came from free throws with Elmore sinking 6 of 6, while teammate Brown sank 2 of 2. The Buffaloes scored 2 of 2 free throws by Conaway and a basket from Wooten. The contest ended and the Bulldogs won 81-77.

"This was a well played game by both teams," said Forsan coach Kurt White. "Elmore and Arguello hurt us on driving the lane and shooting long three point shots.

Rockets give Don Chaney walking papers

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Rockets owner Charlie Thomas believes in motivating employees and in making hard decisions.

Those two management qualities added up to Don Chaney's dismissal Tuesday as head coach of the sagging Houston Rockets, who started the season with high hopes but have been sputtering most of the season.

Walker bumped

from competition

LA PLAGNE, France (AP) - Herschel Walker, who had hoped to add an Olympic medal to his football trophies, was bumped from his spot on the U.S. bobsled team today.

The Minnesota Vikings running back was scheduled to be the brakeman on the USA I four-man sled when competition begins Friday but was replaced by the alternate. Chris Coleman of Vestal, N.Y. who celebrated his 25th birthday Tuesday.

No reason was given for the change, although both Walker and U.S. Olympic Committee spokesman Mike Moran indicated it stemmed from the driver, Randy Will of Endwell,

"It appears the driver has a considerable amount of influence on the makeup of each sled," Moran said, without giving further details.

'He made the decision that's right for him," Walker said. Moran said the decision to remove Walker came today, the deadline for final entries, after a meeting between the team and bobsled officials, but Walker suggested otherwise.

"They made the decision last week," he said. "They knew about it but they didn't seem to have the guts to tell me.'

Some analysts viewed his success as proof that "substance worked" — and in fact exit polls found that Tsongas' specific ideas mattered most to three in five of his supporters. More than 40 percent, however, cited strength and courage as the most important things about the former Massachusetts senator. "The bottom line was credibility," said Virginia Gov. Doug Wilder, who did time with Tsongas in the so-called second tier of candidates before dropping out of the race. "People believed him. There was a ring of sincerity to what he was saying.

Character emerged as a major consideration in light of allegations that Arkansas Gov. Bill Clinton dodged the draft and had an extramarital affair. He denied both, but enough questions arose to deny him what seemed like a certain victory.

The second-place finisher, Clinton staved off disaster on the strength of his campaigning skills and thoughtful economic proposals. He and Tsongas "were the two guys who could most clearly say what they would do as president to make the economy better," said Democratic analyst Ann Lewis

Some observers said the Bush campaign could learn a thing or two from the Democrats, particularly Tsongas.

'He's got a simple message of economic growth that has carried his candidacy a long way," said former Delaware Gov. Pete du Pont, who ran for president in 1988.

But finding a simple message may not be so simple for Bush.

"The administration does not have a theme," said Stuart Rothenberg, publisher of a newsletter called The Political Report. "When the president altered his position on taxes, he immediately undercut himself on the one obvious Republican theme."

A GOP strategist speaking on condition of anonymity lamented that "the Republican Party doesn't know what it stands for right now. We don't have any issues. That makes it kind of hard to run a campaign."

But he may not need the booklets and blueprints that seemed to impress New Hampshire's detailstarved voters. Come the Super Tuesday contests on March 10, say southern strategists, the candidates' personalities may prove more important than their 10-point plans to end the recession.

"You can't help but talk about jobs and the economy and health care," said Birmingham, Ala. pollster Natalie Davis. "But we're going to be more interested in a sense of confidence... We vote for people we like and trust.

The two candidates for the 17th Congressional District seat have different opinions of President Bush's health care plan, but both oppose the two major health-care plans proposed by Democrats.

One Democratic plan would nationalize health care while the other, called "pay or play," would require employers to insure workers or pay a tax to a government uninsured fund

U.S. Rep. Charles Stenholm, D-Stamford, and Republican challenger Jeannie Sadowski of Eastland criticize nationalized health care, saying it is too inefficient and could deny patient choice. Both said "pay or play" would be too hard on small businesses

"They don't have a plan that will work," Sadowski said. She adds, "Most of them require a tax increase.

"My constituents in the 17th Congressional District have made it clear to me that neither" plan adequately deals with cost containment "without seriously damaging the quality and choice which Americans enjoy today," Stenholm

Sadowski and Stenholm, saying they lack information, offered no comments on a proposal by Democratic presidential candidate Bob Kerrey that calls for a national fund to pay most medical bills but would allow states to negotiate and set doctor fees and hospital budgets.

Sadowski said the plan unveiled Feb. 6 by Bush, which includes up to $3,750 in vouchers and tax deductions to help families pay for health insurance, is the best plan proposed so far.

Stenholm, who is working with other congressmen to develop a "right in the middle" of Bush's plan and major Democratic plans, criticized Bush's $100 billion, five-year plan, saying it lacks details on where funds would come Stenholm and Sadowski agree with Bush that medical malpractice awards should be capped. Sadowski endorsed Bush's suggestion to cap Medicaid and Medicare spending but Stenholm said all spending should be capped. Singling out Medicaid and Medicare would hurt rural hospitals.

A Conservative Democratic Forum plan that Stenholm is helping with, expected to be finalized by the end of this month or early next month, so far includes cost cutting considerations of: Preventative health such as immunizations of all children and increased pre-natal care

 Forcing competition of providers and insurance companies but allowing limited anti-trust exemptions for costly high-tech

 Implementing government oversight of quality, requiring cost disclosures from institutions, and requiring government paperwork

• Requiring deductibles and copayments on basic insurance costs to make consumers cost-concious. Encouraging living wills

Limiting medical malpractice

Sadowski, saying she has no details of the plan Stenholm is working on, offered no comments

Stenholm and Sadowski disagree on whether Congress will pass a comprehensive health-care plan this year

"They should, I don't think they have much of a choice," Sadowski said. "It's that desperate."

Stenholm said, "It's too complex to be solved in four months time.

MEXICO CITY (AP) Sometimes the new world order looks a lot like a three-ring circus. Just ask Zsuzsa, 2 tons of reluctant Russian exile with a monkey Zsuzsa is a Moscow Circus hippo stranded in Mexico by a tour promoter's broken promises. It was a case of capitalist treachery as cold as Red Square in February.

Now Zsuzsa and her colleagues eight monkeys, trainers Tofic and Ludmilla Ajundov, and a pair of burly black hounds named Tarzan and Baby — are trying to work their way home

When the act left Moscow in September there was still a Soviet Union. The Moscow Circus was state-supported.

Not anymore.

Now they are on their own, under a big top 6,676 miles from home. Zsuzsa is in a particularly rotten mood. She just hurt her foot.

Zsuzsa should be home by now, at the famed Moscow Circus. Instead, she's part of a forced diaspora, one of 12 acts in a Moscow Circus touring troupe stranded when the Mexican backer ran out of money.

"I'm disappointed, to say the least," O'Banion said.

Hamilton County Common Pleas Judge Gilbert Bettman sentenced O'Banion to 60 days in jail, with eight months' probation and community service, on each of three counts of misdemeanor assault. But he suspended 40 days of each sentence, and ordered that they run at the same time

In announcing his sentence Tuesday, Bettman said, "There's no use pontificating at this point. Nobody's going to be happy with the court's sentence.

Chili with turkey meat? They are guaranteed to gobble it up

Any time of year, any member of the International Connoisseurs of Green and Red Chile will tell you, is chili time — as long as the recipe contains chilies. This organization, based in New Mexico where chilies are the number one food crop, is devoted to proclaiming the joys of chilies throughout the world.

Since turkey is a naturally mild meat, it blends perfectly with chilies to create savory combinations that will win you compliments as a cook. This White Turkey Chili, for example, combines such ingredients as convenient canned mild green chilies and jalapeno pepper along with cooked turkey meat to create a unique chili that's quick and easy to fix.

As you can see from the photo, it's also a very stylish dish that you could easily serve at a festive dinner party. For those who prefer a chili with a tomato base, Shotgun Billy's Turkey Chili with Black Beans or West Coast Turkey Chili offer traditional taste, with innovative twists. If you are looking for a different type of party, you could prepare all three and let your guests vote for their favorite.

WHITE TURKEY CHILI (Serves 4)

11/2 cup onions, coarsely chopped 2 Cloves garlic, minced

1 Tablespoon olive oil

1 Jalapeno pepper, minced 1 Can (4 ounces) chopped mild

Runny update

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — New Jersey's runny egg ban, ridiculed by everyone from the governor to Johnny Carson, is headed for the compost pile of state culinary history.

The state Public Health Council voted Monday to relax the infamous ban on undercooked eggs in restaurants that the state imposed Jan. 1 because of concerns about salmonella poisoning.

Louise Chut, the council's chairwoman, voted for the change after lambasting politicians and the media for making light of those concerns.

"I was very dismayed to see it was made a joke of," Chut said. The original rule required that eggs be cooked at a minimum temperature of 140 degrees Fahrenheit. The use of raw eggs in sauces, salads and other foods was banned. Violators faced fines of $25 to

The amendment, which takes effect in May, will allow restaurants and retail food establishments to prepare and serve raw or undercooked egg dishes. But thorough cooking will still be required when large portions of an egg-based dish are served, such as at banquets.

News accounts of New Jersey's ban prompted a torrent of jokes, such as Johnny Carson's quip on "The Tonight Show" that New Jersey required a 10-day waiting period to get a Caesar salad.

Gov. Jim Florio, enormously unpopular because of his tax in creases, recovered some support by attacking the regulation in his State of the State address

Eating Great Lakes fish could be hazardous to you and yours

For years, scientists and health officials have warned women not to eat Great Lakes fish lest they damage their fetuses.

The alert belies a debate among uncertain scientists, alarmed environmentalists and nay-saying corporate lobbyists. None of them can tell Great Lakes fish-eating mothers with certainty what risk their children may face

"We recognize that none of these studies are perfect," says June Fesseden MacDonald, a Cornell University toxicologist who chairs an international committee pushing for even greater Great Lakes warnings. "When one is worrying about human health, we're suggesting it is better to be wrong than subject people to harm and say nothing.

For Cindi John, the uncertainty is part of her life. In good-weather, she drops baby Ruby off at the sitter's and goes out on Lake Michigan to fish with her husband and other members of the Ottawa

The nets come back full with whitefish and salmon and trout and perch and walleye, and the giant ancient lake sturgeon.

Amid the abundance, she witnesses the imbalance of the lake. She finds sea lampreys with their circle saw mouths sucking the life from trout. She sees island rookeries with cormorants impaled on fishing lures or strangled in plastic beer can rings.

After a day on the inland sea, Cindi returns to bright-eyed Ruby, who in her blood carries a deeper imprint of the lake.

Ruby was born Nov. 23, 1990, her body carrying the toxins from her mother's lifetime in the catch basin of the industrial Midwest. Though Cindi stopped eating Lake Michigan fish when she learned she was pregnant, her fetus already had a toxic legacy of PCBs and DDT stretching back 32 years.

As I call this meeting of M.E.N. (Men-Equality-Now) to order, there are a few things I want to say. First, we men have made great inroads in our fight to become equals in the kitchen.

Yes, I know we have been fighting an uphill battle. Women do not like for men to be in the kitchen. They will even go so far as to say, we are inferior when it comes to the culinary arts. I say to you men, this is just a sexist Propaganda, in other words. Remember, I said when we started this movement, we would face opposition. It would come from every side. Wives, mothers, sisters. They just do not want us to enjoy the creativity and warm feeling that come from cooking a delicious meal. But I say, we are their equals in the kitchen. Second, I would like to commend you men for staying the course. The satisfaction of becoming good cooks is reward enough. Those of you that have achieved equal rights in the kitchen know in your hearts you have reached that high plateau of equality. My congratulation. Now to the business at hand.

Today, I will share with you two

Mr. Right to rock Starlight

By MARSHA STURDIVANT Staff Writer

The Big Spring band members of Mr. Right will offer the area their own breed of "Texas Rock" tonight at the Starlight, located on the Snyder Highway.

The four muscicians said their sound includes "old-fashioned rock'n'roll, heavy metal and southern rock, with a little outlaw country mixed in.

"And when we get all original material, we'll be Texas Rock'n'Roll; that's all you need to call it," said Scott Simpson, singer for the band.

But anyone who ventures to hear the men perform will be treated to at least three original tunes, "Cold As Ice, the Rodeo Song, and the Howard County Queen." They said the songs are a collective effort by themselves and their friends.

Tom Dunnam, guitar player for the band, said their music has been influenced by each other during the past five years, as well as the musicians they each enjoy, including Def Leppard, Bon Jovi, Lynyrd Skynyrd and David Allan Coe. "I was into heavy metal at a young age," Dunnam, 26, said. Tom Jones, the band's drummer. said the group has played with other area musicians during the last five years. But these four men have developed their own sound. "We say we have music that offers a crispy crunch to southern rock, that makes it Texas Rock. Like a crunchy candy bar. Nearly everybody here in town who plays music, plays together with somebody in town," Jones, 26, said.

The youngest member of the band, David Bingham, plays guitar and sings David Allan Coe songs. Bingham, 20, said he will perform "Long Haired Red Neck." As well as playing the guitar, he also "messes around with the piano and the drums.

"I hope everyone comes out to hear us play. Mr. Right has something for everyone,' Bingham said.

Mr. Right is scheduled to begin playing at 9 p.m. The Starlight is under new ownership, Tony Salinas. Cover charge for the band is $2 per person.

Raspberries for Vanilla Ice

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Fans of failed films dished up seven Golden Raspberry Award nominations for Vanilla Ice's 'Cool As Ice'' as Hollywood wags chose the worst movies of 1991.

Bruce Willis' "Hudson Hawk" and Dan Aykroyd's "Nothing But Trouble" both picked up six nominations for Razzie awards.

"Cool As Ice," was nominated for worst picture, worst actor for Ice, worst director for David Kellogg, worst screenplay for David Stenn, and worst original

Other worst picture nominees were "Dice Rules," "Hudson Hawk," "Nothing But Trouble," and "Return to the Blue Lagoon." In an unprecedented double-nomination for the same film, Sean Young was nominated as worst actress in "A Kiss Before Dying" as the twin who survives and for worst supporting actress as the twin who dies at the beginning of the movie.

Last year's worst actor winner, Andrew Dice Clay, was nominated again, this time for "Dice Rules." He joins another past winner, Sylvester Stallone, nominated for the eighth consecutive year, this time for "Oscar," a comedy about a mobster

Joining Clay, Ice and Stallone with worst actor nominations were Kevin Costner for "Robin Hood: Prince of Thieves" (which the Razzies renamed "Robin Hood: Prince of Dweebs") and Willis for "Hudson Hawk."

Past winner Madonna collected a worst actress nomination for "Truth or Dare."

And because of the Jacobsons, the Great Lakes Science Advisory Board for which Fesseden Mac-Donald works is asking the International Joint Commission of the United States and Canada to declare the Great Lakes a human health threat.

The advisory board also wants the commission to begin monitoring PCB levels in breast milk.

Yet the Jacobsons cannot yet say if Ruby John pays a real price for her mother's fish diet.

"It's interesting, but I don't know if it makes a difference," Jacobson said recently from his office at Wayne State University. Jacobson says his findings are not conclusive. But he says there is enough to suggest a cause and an effect, to warn of a diminished potential in

"It's enough to tell companies we're worried about adding new PCBs to the environment," he said.

Though banned for nearly two decades, PCBs continue to recycle in the Great Lakes basin through landfills, dredging, soil erosion and other means. After playing host to heavy industry for a century, the lakes are awash with 373 such identified persistent chemicals. Small doses are a concern because they build up in the body over a lifetime.

The Jacobsons surveyed 8,482 new mothers at four western lower Michigan hospitals in 1981 and from there found a core of fisheaters, 236 women who each ate an average of two to three fish meals a month.

The two child psychologists tested the women's blood and found PCBs. And they tested their children.

At birth, the fish-eaters' babies were about 160 to 250 grams lighter than other infants in the study about the same lightness as babies of mothers who smoke tobacco during pregnancy Jacobson said tobacco babies catch up to the rest of the population in five months. The fish-eaters' babies did not. When the Jacobsons revisited the children four years later, they were an average 4 pounds lighter than their peers. At that time, the PCB-exposed babies had slightly reduced short-term memories compared to babies

Other researchers have found links between PCBs and other Great Lakes toxins and birth defects, low birth weights, wasting, internal organ damage, abnormal sexual development and behavior changes in the offspring of fisheating animals.

"It's really frightening. Really an entire generation of Great Lakes kids doesn't have the intelligence potential they should have," said Tim Eder with the National Wildlife Federation in Michigan. "They're subtle problems, but how do you put a price tag on that?"

As fast as the environmentalists seized upon the studies, a counterattack was launched by the pulp and paper industry, which also prompted the recent rethink-this year paid two Johns Hopkins University researchers to critique the Jacobson studies. Most of the criticism centers on uncontrolled factors such as mothers' smoking

7.9% APR NEW CAR LOANS

Now is the time to take advantage of historically low interest rates on new car and pickup loans! Unlike most of the "good rates" offered by captive finance companies, our 7.9% APR is not tied to any particular car or pickup model. It is good for up to 60 months on any new 1992 vehicle. And, if the manufacturer is offering a rebate, you get to keep it!

But hurry, this rate is good only for a limited time!

NEW YORK (AP) - Right-hander David Cone won a record $4.25 million salary in his arbitration case with the New York Mets. Arbitrator Nicholas Zumas, hearing, picked Cone's figure over the team's offer of $3 million. Cone was 14-14 with a 3.29 ERA last season when he made $2.35 million. His new salary tops the $3.35 million awarded last year to Pittsburgh right-hander Doug who presided over Monday's 51/2-hour

ATLANTA (AP) — NL Cy Young Award winner Tom Glavine and the Atlanta Braves agreed to a one-year contract for $2,925,000, more than triple the righthander's 1991 salary of $775,000. Glavine, 20-11 with a 2.55 ERA last season, asked for $3.4 million in arbitration and was offered

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Left-hander John Smiley and the Pittsburgh Pirates agreed to a one-year contract for $3.44 million. Smiley, 20-8 with a 3.08 ERA last season, asked for $4.1 million in arbitra tion and was offered $2.7 million. The Pirates also signed right-hander Bill Landrum to a one-year deal for $1.7 million, the midpoint of his arbitration request of $2.1 million and the club's offer of BALTIMORE (AP) — Outfielder Mike Devereaux and first baseman Randy Milligan agreed to one-year contracts with the Baltimore Orioles. Devereaux, who hit .260 with 19 homers and 59 RBIs last season, settled at $1 million after asking for $1.075 million in arbitration and being offered $875,000. Milligan, who hit .263 with 16 homers and 70 RBIs last season, will make $1.05 million. He asked for $1.4 million in arbitration and was offered $900,000.

LOS ANGELES (AP) -- Larry Johnson

had the use of a $32,000 sports car last season that was the property of an automobile dealership with ties to the UNLV basketball program, the Los Angeles Times quoted court and state records as showing. Such an arrangement is an apparent violation of NCAA rules that prohibit student-athletes with benefits not available to the student body in general, the newspaper said in today's editions. It said Johnson, now a member of the NBA's Charlotte Hornets, drove a 1989 Chevrolet Corvette belonging to Fletcher Jones Import Center of Las Vegas last season at least two weeks before the car was sold by the dealership to a high school coach in Dallas, Johnson's hometown.

HOUSTON (AP) - Don Chaney, the NBA coach of the year last season when he led injury-riddled Houston to a 52-30 record, was fired as coach of the Rockets. The 45-year-old Chaney, replaced on an interim basis by former Rockets star Rudy Tomjanovich, was 26-26 this season and 164-134 in 31/2 seasons with the Rockets.

SAN ANTONIO (AP) - San Antonio Spurs guard Willie Anderson has a stress fracture of the left leg and sidelined for several weeks. Anderson, averaged 13.9 points and 5.5 assists, was injured in Monday night's 124-110 loss to the Los Angeles

FOOTBALL EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) -

The Professional Spring Football League is giving itself another two weeks to find more financing before deciding whether to cancel its first season, commissioner Rex Lardner said. He said the new league set a March 2 deadline to come up with a $3 million cash infusion to get the 10-team league off the ground.

EDEN PRAIRIE, Minn. (AP) - Minnesota Vikings running back Darrin Nelson said he had agreed to become running backs coach at Stanford, ending his 10-year NFL career. Nelson, 33, said he will return to his alma mater to join coach Bill Walsh, his freshman coach at Stanford away from the gold-medal game. "We feel like we're a team on a mission, we're a team on a roll," U.S. forward Ted Donato said Tuesday night after scoring two goals in a 4-1 quarterfinal win over "Other people have a perception of us playing over our heads. We just feel like we're starting to play like we're capable of," Donato reputation as the goons of the Games for their habit of hitting first and asking questions later. Whether that style is blue-collar hockey or downright dirty remains open for interpretation. 'They have to play physical to be successful," said Philippe Bozon of the French team (2-4), who thinks the Americans played dirty during the game's skirmish-filled last five minutes. "I don't think they're going to stop now. U.S. captain Clark Donatelli doesn't disagree with that

BULLETIN: The scoffed-at Uglv Americans are now just a victory

'The bottom line is we win and people can say whatever they want," he said. "I don't think we're a dirty team. We're a hard-working team. Italy's Deborah Compagnoni better known until Tuesday as Alberto Tomba's training partner was dreaming of double gold in the women's giant slalom after surmedal contention — Julie Parisien already are starting to earn a championship run in super-giant slalom. But she injured her left knee early in today's first run after turning too sharply at a gate and falling. The 21-year-old lay in the snow weeping loudly in agony before being carried off.

Two other favorites also were early victims of the "Roc de Fer" course. World Cup circuit leader Petra Kronberger of Austria fell near the bottom after hitting a gate too hard with her left arm. Defending Olympic champion Vreni Schneider of Switzerland simply missed a gate, collapsing in frustration and disbelief when she realized what she'd done. Austrian Ulrike Maier led Sweden's Pernilla Wiberg by .20 seconds and Austria's Anita Wachter by .27 going into this afternoon's second run, with favored Frenchwoman Carole Merle fourth. Three Americans were in Eva Twardokens of Santa Cruz, cluded his second straight Olym-Calif., in sixth, and Diann Roffe of Potsdam, N.Y., ninth. Germany held a comfortable lead in the medals count with 23, nine of them gold. Austria and the Unified Team were next at 17, one ahead of Norway. The United States was holding at six medals, the eighth-best total, but with high hopes going into the women's figure skating that begins tonight. Compagnoni's emergence out of nowhere, or at least short left field, typifies the first week and a half of the Albertville Winter Games. The ski slopes and rinks of the French Alps are littered with big winter names who froze, fizzled or just didn't sizzle as advertised: Paul Accola, Dan Jansen, Kurt Browning, Christopher Bowman, Yvonne van Gennip, Todd

Eldredge, the Swedish team. "Look around at all the events, it's happening everywhere," said pics without a medal Tuesday. This whole Olympics has been weird in every sport. "Strange things happen at the Olympics because it's only a oneshot thing," he said. "Olympics are for people to come out of nowhere and do this.

Except for Alberto. Since winning Olympic gold at Calgary in the slalom and giant slalom, Tomba has had every move on and off the slope scrutinized, part of the demands he must endure as Italy's most famous athlete Not only that, some of his fellow skiers taunted him — behind the rugged 6-foot, 200-pounder's back as a "mama's boy" for refusing to ski the more "macho" events of downhill and super-G. Brash bigmouth or not, the 25-year-old Tomba showed a champion's grace under heavy pressure

DEAR READERS: I am indebted to The New York Times (Jan. 29) for this thoughtprovoking verse:

"When the phone is out of order, and the roof has sprung a leak, "When the money in your paycheck barely gets you through "When the baby has the colic, and your dog is full of fleas, "Don't complain to Washington just blame the Japanese.

"When the crooks are running rampant, and the judges are too so the air begins to stink,

"When letters from the IRS demand some extra tax. 'When your son is quitting college, and your daughter's getting

"When everyone around you is complaining of the news, 'And some condemn Arabia, while others blast the Jews, "Then stiffen up your lip, my son, and never bend your knees -"Just be a true American, and blame the Japanese." —GEORGE DAWSON, EMERITUS PRO-FESSOR OF ECONOMICS, EM-PIRE STATE COLLEGE, THE STATE UNIVERSITY OF NEW

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I were invited to a dinner party at the home of a very high-class, prominent society leader, who has a reputation for entertaining beautifully.

My husband's widowed sister came to town unexpectedly, so I telephoned my hostess and asked if I could bring our houseguest. She asked, "Is your houseguest a male or female?' I said, "She is my husband's widowed sister.' Abby, would you believe this socalled high-class society lady replied, "Oh, dear, that's too bad; we already have three extra women — if you could bring a man, I would be delighted, but we don't need any more women.'

Have you ever heard of anything to top this? —SPEECHLESS IN LA

DEAR SPEECHLESS: Yes. It actually happened to a friend of mine some years ago. When she was told an extra man would be welcome, but they couldn't accommodate an extra woman, she replied, "Oh, I didn't know we were going to mate at the table." (Thank you, Mickey Ziffren.)

Hot off the press - Abby's new booklet, "The Anger in All of Us and How to Deal With It." To order, send a long, business-size, self-addressed envelope, plus check or money order for $3.95 ($4.50 in Canada) to: Dear Abby, Anger Booklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, Ill. 61054.

FOR THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 20, 1992

HAPPY BIRTHDAY! IN THE NEXT YEAR OF YOUR LIFE: Handling a financial project with finesse can lead to a smashing success. A dramatic rise in profits is part of the picture. An infatuation could develop into the real thing. Your feelings for a member of the opposite sex will intensify the longer you know each other. A romantic commitment must be total or love will go right out the window. Protect your relationship from prying relatives or friends.

CELEBRITIES BORN ON THIS DATE: auto racer Bobby Unser, actors Peter Strauss and Sidney Poitier, singer Nancy

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Something terrific could happen today. A new plan is perfect for you. Be certain you make the right choice. You and a longtime romantic partner can recapture the original magic.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): It is time to turn idle talk into positive action. Do not be afraid to take the plunge! A romantic relationship changes for the better. Your ego could have caused problems. Admit past

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Romance and good luck go hand-in-hand. You are never too old for love! Community work appeals to recently retired seniors. If a project seems difficult, get your second wind and try

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Emphasize your desire to do something constructive when talking with influential friends. A new job offer could come your way. Round out the day by showing off your culinary talents. LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Keep up a steady pace at work. You may have to dig deep to get certain information. Stress your stamina and common sense. Someone could signal you to stop. Keep an open mind. VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Avoid both extravagance and exaggeration today. Show ing enthusiasm for your work will help put this day in the success column. Problems arise involving scheduling or logistics. LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): You may have to cancel certain plans in order to deal with a private matter. Banish depressing thoughts before they get the better of you Do not walk away from an incomplete task

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Steer clear of conflicts, but do not act stand-offish. You are moving up the career ladder and need to be at your best at all times. Romance soars to new heights tonight.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Two of our allies may not like each other much. Try to keep the peace by suggesting certain concessions. Giving in to an emotional ultimatum would be a mistake.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Stay on your toes. Indecision or another person's deception could make money slip through your hands. Romance is in the air tonight. Avoid rushing things.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): A pact with someone at a distance could bring long-term benefits. The scales of justice swing your way. Past favors will be repaid. Consult mate if you want to entertain at home.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Curb a tendency to get too wrapped up in your own affairs. Co-workers could turn resentful. Let your colleagues know that you are a team
