News Digest Girl Scouts schedule book fair for Saturday

Girl Scouts from the Big Spring, Forsan, Coahoma, Garden City and St. Lawrence areas will hold their first annual Book Fair from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday at Big Spring Mall.

The purpose of the fair is to raise public consciousness concerning the illiteracy problem

Big Spring Mayor Maxwell Green will officially proclaim Saturday as "Be A Reader Day" during the program.

Kennel Club sets clinic

Big Spring Kennel Club will sponsor a Von Willebrand's Disease and thyroid testing clinic March 14 at the Shannon Annimal Hospital, 3400 N. Big Spring St., in Midland.

"We are sponsoring this non-profit clinic to help cut the cost of testing for breeders and to encourage greater testing of breeding stock," said Big Spring Kennel Club member Carole Owen. 'Dr. Greg Adkins and Dr. Morgan Brown were kind enough to offer their veterinary sevices."

Von Willebrand's Disease is a bleeding disorder that affects more than 50 breeds of purebred dogs, and there is a correlation between Von Willebrand's Disease and low thyroid production.

Appointments are necessary and must be made through Big Spring Kennel Club. For information on the clinic or to make an appointment call Carole Owen at 263-3404.

Bond: GOP rivals unwelcome at convention clean sweep of the primaries so far has convinced GOP National Committee Chairman Richard Bond that conservative contender Pat Buchanan should abandon the race to top the party ticket in November.

"As Dandy Don used to say on Monday Night Football, turn out the lights, the party's over," Bond said Thursday during a tour of the Houston Astrodome, where Republicans will hold their convention this summer.

"In delegate terms, my count has President Bush with 750 delegates with Bond, however, did credit Buchanan for ousting David Duke of Louisiana as a factor in the GOP primaries.

"I want to thank Pat Buchanan for blowing David Duke off our television screens," Bond said. "It is a great contribution he's made to our Republican Party.

Bond, who said planning for the August convention in Houston is ahead of schedule, said Buchanan's role at the convention remains "an open question.

"If Pat wants to define himself as a responsible Republican working within the party structure and drops his stated goal, which is to destroy the Republican Party, then I wouldn't foresee any problems," Bond said. Otherwise, he suggested the former television commentator might gain entry to the convention by applying for

"I received an extensive briefing this morning from the convention staff and I inquired very carefully as to how a journalist gets credentialed to come to this convention," he said.

Bond, who got his first look at the Astrodome facilities Thursday, termed the stadium "spectacular."

press credentials.

WASHINGTON (AP) - Embarrassed House members are rushing to give constituents an explanation of their check-kiting habits before the release of an official offenders list. Many feared voters would seek retribution on election day.

RELATED STORY — 7A

The House early today voted 426-0 to make public the names of 355 current and former members who took advantage of free overdrafts at the House bank. It singled out 24 as the worst abusers, and left it to the public to label the rest.

The chamber began its debate by accepting the resignation of the overseer of the now-defunct bank, Sergeant at Arms Jack Russ. But for the most part. lawmakers worried aloud about their own jobs.

"As of today," ethics committee member Fred Grandy, R-Iowa, told his colleagues, "your talk-show hosts have a topic. Your opponent has an issue, And your constituents have a reason to support term limitations.

Before Thursday, only about five dozen lawmakers had confessed to writing checks beyond their balances, mostly small-change stuff. But when it became clear that the House was going to vote to disclose all the names, that figure began to soar.

House Speaker Tom Foley was asked today if he thought many members would lose their seats because of a repeated overdrafts.

"I don't think that you'll see many members of Congress losing their jobs ... over this itself," Foley said on NBC. "But members will have to tell the truth to their constituents, explain what happened. And I think for the most part, those who do, who come forward with the information and give it clearly and concisely, will have an opportunity to come back

The surprise move had immediate political consequences, as members fearful of negative publicity hurriedly came clean.

Among those who came forward were:

Rep. Charles Hatcher, D-Ga., who said overdrew his account as many as 780 times over the 39 months. Rep. Duncan Hunter, R-Calif., who disclosed he wrote an estimated 160 bad checks in the past three

Richards doubts she'll open session agenda

AUSTIN (AP) — A spokesman for Gov. Ann Richards says it's doubtful she will open the upcoming special legislative session's agenda to a proposal that would limit terms of Texas politicians.

Read — lives depend on it.

T oday, 27 million Americans are functionally illiterate. They can't read directions on an aspirin bottle. They can't read the ingredients listed on packages of the food they eat. They can't read warning labels on common household products they use. They can't even read this ad. As publishers, the alarming

Iraq to fulfill cease-fire terms

UNITED NATIONS (AP) -Under pressure from an increasingly impatient Security Council, Iraq has promised to fulfill all U.N. cease-fire terms, return Gulf War detainees and reopen talks on selling its oil for humanitarian

The council on Thursday rejected Iraq's appeal to ease crippling economic sanctions, saying Baghdad must first make good on the promises to comply with the cease-fire terms. A key test could come early next week when another U.N. weapons inspection team goes to Iraq.

"Iraq has not yet complied fully and unconditionally with those obligations, must do so and must immediately take the appropriate actions in this regard," the council said in a statement read by its president, Venezuelan Ambassador Diego Arria.

The council "hopes the goodwill expressed by the deputy prime minister of Iraq will be matched by deeds," it said, referring to Tariq Aziz, the Baghdad envoy who met with the council during an extraordinary two-day session that ended Thursday.

A skeptical U.S. Ambassador Thomas R. Pickering told reporters he believed Aziz was "offering mirrors and smoke."

The extraordinary council was called to try and resolve the escalating confrontation between the world body and Baghdad over terms of the year-old Gulf War cease-fire.

At the forefront is Iraq's past reluctance to reveal and scrap all Scud missiles and facilities built to develop or produce nuclear, chemical and biological weapons. Baghdad has hindered past missions by U.N. weapons inspection

The council has threatened "serious consequences" if Iraq does not comply and has not ruled out military action to enforce the cease-fire terms.

The United States, a permanent member of the council, pushed for authorization of military force to drive Iraq from Kuwait last year.

During the session, Aziz argued unsuccessfully that Iraq was cooperating and that the council should lift the trade sanctions imposed after Iraq invaded Kuwait on Aug. 2, 1990.

The 54-year-old Iraqi envoy said his country was ready to make "a full, complete and comprehensive declaration and disclosure of all programs having to do with (ceasefire) Resolution 687." But he said this disclosure should not violate Iraq's rights.

"We are not bargaining over our rights to live as a free, independent people," Aziz told the council.

Aziz also said Iraq would "do its utmost" with the Red Cross in arranging the return of Kuwaitis and other foreigners detained in Iraq.

He said Iraq was "ready to enter into serious talks and practical talks with the secretariat" on the U.N. offer to allow Iraq to sell oil to pay for humanitarian aid for its

But he said any sale of oil would have to be conducted outside the framework of a Security Council resolution outlining strict U.N. control over the transaction.

Western diplomats have blamed the Iraqi government for the food and medicine shortages hurting the Iraqi people, and urged it to agree to a one-time U.N.-supervised oil sale to finance supplies.

The Herald salutes:

 Gladys Thompson, named Thursday as the first recipient of the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce's 'Best of the Best Award." Gladys is employed at First National Bank

The "Best of the Best" is the annual recognition of those recipients of the monthly "Best of Big Spring" award. The program was designed to recognize front-line employees who deal with customers every day.

Gladys' efforts are appreciated — both by her employer and the people she serves.

 Volunteers for the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce who manned two phone banks this past week for the annual ticket drive for the Community Luncheons and the annual membership drive, then turned around and helped Chamber staff members put together the first Community Luncheon.

• The Clean Committee is also recognized for its efforts to rid the community of one of its long-standing eyesores, the Jet Drive-In on Wasson Road. A pile of rubble remains, but the Jet will soon be gone.

• The Big Spring Prospectors Club on its successful completion of its 23rd Gem & Mineral Show last weekend. The show brought numerous visitors to our community.

 Mitchell County Texans Against Pollution, for their efforts to rid our region of a proposed toxic waste landfill. Peggy Maddox, Darlene Hines and other members of the Mitchell County TAP group are to be commended for their grassroots effort.

 Mitchell County Commissioners, who voted this past week to rescind the county's host agreement with what once was known as National Waste and Energy Development of Pittsburgh.

 Local and area student-athletes named to various athletic honor squads. Included were Klondike's Cheri Franklin, named first-team All-State; Borden County's Melody Harrison, named to the second team and Klondike's Channa Cope, named to the honorable mention squad.

Also, Big Spring's Gerald Cobos, Rod White and Shanne Jones were named to the District 3-4A boys All-District basketball team.

Government is letting citizens in on decision

Do you feel as honored as I do that an agency of the government has asked we, the people, to make a decision for it?

If you haven't heard, here's the deal: The United States Postal Service soon will issue a stamp with the likeness of Elvis Presley. You will be able to send your Aunt Margaret in Topeka a letter, believe or not, with the King on a stamp right up there in the corner of your envelope.

And if the letter gets lost, don't worry. About 8 zillion people and two tabloids will claim they spotted it selling shoes in My Left Foot, Idaho.

What the Postal Service has asked us to do is select between two different Elvis stamps.

On one stamp, there is Young Elvis. This is the Elvis I remember from my youth. He has the familiar sneer smile, the sideburns, a strand of hair from his pompadour hanging down over his forehead and he's probably singing one of his early hits like "Don't Be Cruel."

On the other stamp is Older Elvis. His sideburns are even longer than the one of Young Elvis. Young Elvis has on a suit and tie. Older Elvis is wearing that godawful "Star Trek" outfit he wore in his last concerts in Las Vegas. The one with the huge collar, all the rhinestones and the bell bottom trousers.

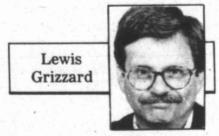

This is also Fatter Elvis in comparison to Thin Elvis on the other Elvis put on so much weight in the last years of his life, he is said to have worn a girdle when he performed.

He went from a Hunk of Burning Love to a Tub of Churning

What the Postal Service wants us to do is write them a letter and buy a 29-cent stamp and tell them which Elvis stamp we like the best. The mail-in poll will be conducted April 6-24. The people will choose which Elvis they want.

There's no question which I prefer. It's Young, Thin Elvis, the Elvis preachers warned us about when he sprang forth from Tupelo and shook the musical world, not to mention various body parts.

The patented Elvis pelvis-thrust sent young women into screaming hissies, and the preachers warned, "It's the devil's music," although nobody was ever able to quote the devil directly on the Older Elvis retained few moves from his younger days. Ever notice how Jello sort of does a weak wiggle when it's sitting on a plate? That was Older Elvis. Shaky Elvis.

But there is an issue here that goes further than which Elvis should be on a stamp. It's the fact we've been asked to make a decision for the government.

I'll admit deciding which Elvis should be on a stamp isn't exactly deciding how much of the defense budget should be cut, but it's a start.

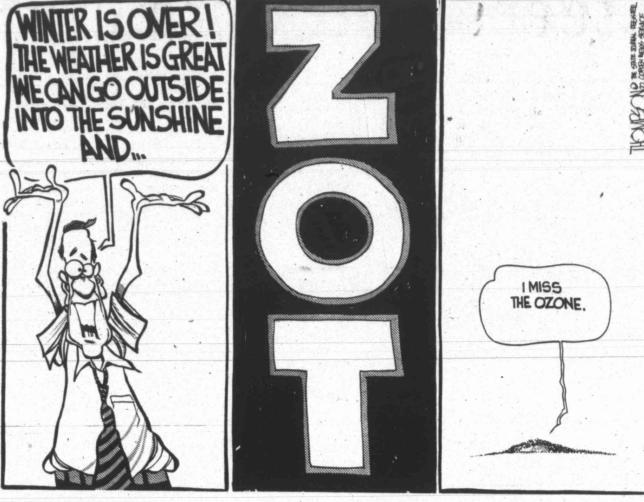

I suggest everybody take part in the Elvis poll in order to show Washington we would like to be in on other decisions.

Like deciding on a new tax bill. Like picking out which members of Congress we'd like to see tarred and feathered and run out of Washington and back to a job slopping hogs where they belong As a matter of fact, I'd like to see Congress disbanded and any time there's a decision to be made, we're asked to make it. A man comes on television, and says, "The government wants to know what's your pleasure on giving welfare mothers with more than 17 children a roomier Cadillac. You make the call!"

Government by the people. What a hound dog of a good idea. Copyright 1992 by Cowles Syndicate,

Looking forward to season of storms

Hot Diggity! It's getting to be thunderstorm time again!

I suppose you sane people don't understand my excitement. Y'see, I just love a good thunderstorm, the great big wrath-of-God type storms with lightning bursts and driving rain. Maybe it's weird, but a big ol' thundernasty is one of my favorite natural events. Kinda' like nature kicking up its

No, it's more than that. It's like nature reminding us that while we may kill off her plants and animals with our pollutants and bulldozers, we're a million years from being able to bend her to our

Back in the old days, boy! We didn't watch electrical storms from the comfort of a porch or window, no sir! As soon as we saw that tornado watch sign on the television, we'd jump in a car and go looking for the storm. Before I go any further - I do not suggest that anybody do this! We were all lucky to live!

Lightning was our lightning rod, so to speak. We'd drive into the night looking for the one spot where the lightning was the most intense. Usually we'd wind up on little county roads near Lamesa or Big Lake or maybe Chalk.

At the epicenter of a thundercell, or ground zero as we referred to it, the most amazing electrical activity is produced. The clouds are alive with it and enormous bolts of lightning strike the ground like huge power con-

Some lightning bolts are exceptionally impressive, a white-hot and cobalt plasma column lighting up the night! It was kinda' like being 30 feet away from the hand of God. (I suppose if one of them hit the car, we really would've seen God.)

No. We weren't exactly idiots we were all pretty well educated. We just didn't particularly care. There is an old wives tale that the rubber tires on a car will protect it from lightning bolts. This is, of course, pure poo-poo.

Air is a much better insulator than rubber, and these bolts are under enough voltage to jump several thousand feet of air - a little rubber isn't going to mean diddly!

Our rationale was that in the event of a direct strike, the metal hull of the car would hopefully disperse the electricity enough to let us live. Ok! I admit it! It was a really dumb thing to be doing - are you happy now?

Thinking back on those days, I think I'll gladly settle for watching the show from the porch this year, or maybe through the window with a hot mug of coffee in my hand.

Yeah. That'd probably be for the best. Keep the faith! Gary Shanks is a Staff Writer for the Woman accuses Mets of assault

PORT ST. LUCIE, Fla. (AP) - Three members of the New York Mets have been accused of sexually assaulting a woman last year near the team's spring training camp, police say.

The Mets players were not identified by St. Lucie police on Thursday, and the club did not disclose their names.

"I have no comment on the report," vice president Al Harazin said

The woman, in her late 20s and a resident of New York state, filed a complaint on March 3 about an alleged sexual battery which occurred sometime during the end of March 1991," said a statement released by spokesman Lt. Dwight Hart.

"The allegations are that three individuals, who are believed to be members of the New York Mets baseball team, committed the assault," the statement said.

The woman is a seasonal visitor to Port St. Lucie, the Mets' spring training home, Hart said.

Police had not determined the exact location of the alleged assault, but believe it happened within the city limits of Port St. Lucie, a coastal city about 50 miles north of West Palm Beach.

Steers win opener

By MIKE BUTTS Staff Writer

Big Spring pitcher John Kennedy started hitting the strike zone instead of opposing batters and the Steers took advantage of a four-run first inning to get their first win of the season Thursday at Steer Park with a 7-2 decision over Brownfield.

It was opening day of the threeday Big Spring Baseball Tournament. The Steers (1-5) will play Lamesa, a 10-1 winner over Sweetwater, at 4 today in the second round. Freshman Frankie Martinez will start against the undefeated Tornadoes (7-0).

Kennedy hit the first two batters he faced and hit three batters and walked one in the first two innings. But he shutout the Cubs (1-4) in the last five innings, striking out four and giving up only three base hits in that span.

"If he can get past the first two innings he's OK," coach Bobby Doe said of his junior starter. "The first two (innings) were kind of shaky. (After that) he got his composure.

The right-hander gave up two runs in the first two innings. The first batter he hit scored on a double by Brownfield designated hitter Benny Cabrera, and in the second the Cubs got singles from Shad Evans and Roger Muniz to cut the Steer lead to 4-2

"I just wasn't following through with it" Kennedy said. "I was rushing too much. (Later) I started taking my time."

Kennedy, in his second start of the season and the second start of his varsity career, got all the offense he needed in the top of the first.

The Steers, batting as vistors because they are tournament host, scored twice on a two-bagger by right fielder Jon Downey. Later in the inning with two outs and men on second and third, Big Spring tallied twice more on a sacrifice fly by catcher Mike Oliva and a throwing error by Cub catcher Muniz. "(Kennedy) didn't throw real hard," Brownfield coach Wendell Brown said. "He wasn't overpowering, but he moved the ball around a little bit and we swung at some bad pitches.'

Big Spring Steers pitcher John Kennedy fires a pitch to home in tournament action against the Brownfield Cubs Thursday afternoon at Steer Field:

they hit the ball timely and we made two mistakes.

Those mistakes came in the last two innings and accounted for two of the Steers' three insurance runs. In the sixth Brownfield pitcher

Johnny Quesada and second baseman Chuck Butler botched a pick-off play that allowed Sammy Gonzalez, who led off the inning with a double, to score from second. In the final frame Cub reliever

D.J. Sanders's wild pitch platted Todd Parrish from third. Steer first baseman Brandon Rogers drove in another run in the sixth with an infield single.

Pampa Harvesters fall in overtime, 65-64

AUSTIN (AP) - A miracle shot, a chance for a miracle season and victories by three teams debuting at the boys state high school tournament highlighted the opening day of the championship.

A record crowd was in attendance Thursday for the Class A, 2A and 3A semifinals at the 72nd annual University Interscholastic League event.

The tourney continues today with the Class 2A and 5A semifinals

. By virtue of victories Thursday, Laneville and Petersburg will meet Saturday for the Class A title while Stafford and Groesbeck will duel in 3A. The 4A clash will pit Georgetown and Dallas South Oak Cliff.

The last semifinal played Thursday proved to be the best as Georgetown downed Pampa 65-64 in overtime.

Georgetown's Matt Shell forced the extra period with a 16-foot jumper with 2 seconds left in regulation.

"I saw the ball on the floor and I knew there were only 8 seconds left when it was shot. I just picked it up, threw it up in the air and fortunately it went in," said Shell, who also scored the winning points in overtime with a pair of free throws

Pampa's Cedrick Wilson missed a chance at victory when his jumper with 3 seconds left hit the rim and bounced away. Wilson also missed two free throws in the last 38 seconds of the fourth

Glen Senclair led Georgetown (29-8) with 17 points in its final four debut.

Pampa (33-3) saw its season end in disappointment for the second straight year. At last year's tourney, Pampa was ousted in triple overtime by San Antonio Alamo Heights

The other Class 4A semifinal also was close, but Dallas South Oak Cliff scored seven unanswered points in the last minute to beat Austin McCallum

"Our kids did what they were supposed to do down at the end. Our kids hung tough," said South year's semifinals

Oak Cliff coach Chris Dyer. McCallum overcame a 40-26 halftime deficit to lead 54-50 with 3 minutes left in the game. But their comeback stalled just when South Oak Cliff heated up.

"We have nothing to be ashamed of. The sun will rise tomorrow," said McCallum coach Don Caldwell.

South Oak Cliff (33-2), playing in its seventh UIL tourney, will appear in its first final since 1977. McCallum ended the year 28-9 with its first final four game since

The appearance of Central Texas teams Georgetown and Austin McCallum helped sell a first-day record 28,253 tickets at

UCLA clinches Pac-10 tie

The ASSOCIATED PRESS

While most major conferences hold their postseason tournaments, the Pac-10 and Big Ten are still playing meaningful regular-season

Eighth-ranked UCLA clinched a tie for the Pac-10 title Thursday night by beating No. 2 Arizona 89-81. The Bruins can win the outright championship on Saturday if they beat Arizona State or Southern Cal loses to Arizona.

No. 10 Southern Cal, which beat Arizona State 81-66 Thursday night, can gain a share of the league title with a win over Arizona and a UCLA loss to Arizona State.

UCLA is 24-4 overall and 15-2 in the league, while Southern Cal is 22-5 and 14-3. Arizona is 24-5 and

In the Big Ten, fourth-ranked Indiana routed Wisconsin 66-41 to regain a share of the league lead with Ohio State.

Indiana and Ohio State are both 14-3 in the conference. Ohio State ends its regular season at Minnesota on Saturday, while the Hoosiers finish against Purdue on Sunday.

Indiana beat Wisconsin despite shooting a season-low 35 percent from the field. The Hoosiers made up for it by hitting 26 of 29 free throws.

No. 22 Massachusetts earned its first NCAA bid in 30 years Thursday night by beating West Virginia 97-91 to win the Atlantic-10 tournament. Maryland beat Clemson 81-75 in the opener of the Atlantic Coast Conference tournament, while Boston College downed Providence 78-68 and Miami upset Pittsburgh 83-71 in the first round of the Big East tournament.

In Southeastern Conference openers, Vanderbilt clobbered Mississippi State 77-55, Georgia beat Mississippi 85-66 and Tennessee topped South Carolina 70-63. Ole Miss coach Ed Murphy announced his resignation immediately after the loss to Georgia.

Memphis State beat Alabama-Birmingham 79-67 and Marquette downed St. Louis 74-63 in the opening round of the Great Midwest tournament, while Weber State defeated Idaho State 92-74 and Idaho beat Boise State 75-56 in the Big Sky.

In the Midwestern Collegiate tournament, Butler advanced with an 87-70 victory over Detroit and Loyola, Ill., eliminated Dayton Texas-El Paso, BYU and New Mexico won their openers in the Western Athletic Conference tournament. Texas-El Paso edged Colorado State 66-65, BYU blasted Air Force 72-51 and New Mexico beat Wyoming 89-83.

The other WAC game, Utah vs. Hawaii, was postponed after Hawaii coach Riley Wallace collapsed at courtside and was rushed to a hospital.

Wallace, 50, was in good condition at Poudre Valley Hospital in Fort Collins, Colo., where he was expected to stay overnight.

Jerome Scott had 30 points and Trevor Burton added 25 as Miami shocked Pittsburgh in the Hurricanes' first Big East tournament

The Hurricanes (8-23), who won just one of 16 conference games in their first season in the league, took the lead for good on a 3-pointer by Scott with 15:48 remaining.

Southeastern

At Birmingham, Murphy resigned after Mississippi (11-17) finished its third straight losing season and fourth in his six years at the school. Georgia (15-13) will play topseeded Arkansas in the quarterfinals Friday.

Dan Hall scored 18 points to lead Vanderbilt over Mississippi State. Vanderbilt (15-13) will play Kentucky in the next round.

Carlus Groves scored nine of his 18 points during a 23-6 run that carried Tennessee past South Carolina. Tennessee (18-13) will meet LSU on Friday.

White Sox top Rangers

PORT CHARLOTTE, Fla. (AP) - Steve Fireovid shut the door on the Chicago White Sox for three innings Thursday, allowing only one hit, but it was too late to avoid a 9-5 loss attributed to poor Texas Rangers pitching.

Rangers pitchers issued eight free passes, helping Chicago to a 9-1 lead after only four innings.

Texas starter Hector Fajardo allowed a walk and a single in the first inning. He loaded the bases by walking Frank Thomas and then hit Carlton Fisk with a pitch. A fly out gave Chicago a 2-0 lead before Fajardo fanned Sammy Sosa to end the inning.

In the second, Fajardo balked in a run to fall behind 3-0.

The Rangers nicked White Sox starter Kirk McCaskill for a run in the second. McCaskill (1-1) worked three innings, allowing two hits, one run, with one walk and three strikeouts.

Chicago went up 5-1 in the third on a two-run double by Craig Grebeck off Floyd Bannister. He was succeeded on the mound by Lance McCullers.

Justice speaks out

DULUTH, Ga. (AP) - Atlanta Braves outfielder David Justice says black players don't get equal treatment in the media.

"How many white players do you see get abused in the paper?" asked Justice, who is black. "We see it happen all the time with black players. No matter what you do, you're still a nigger. Baseball is just an extension of life.'

Justice, the 1990 NL Rookie of the Year who was instrumental in the Braves' surge to the World Series last year, made his comments in a spring training interview in West , media." said Justice.

Palm Beach, Fla., published today by the Daily News of Duluth.

He said he knows speaking out will cause a stir, but that's fine if helps change the perception of black players by the public and the media.

Justice is no stranger to controversy. Last spring, two publications, the Los Angeles Times and New York's Newsday, portrayed him as an egotist and selfish player. 'The people who think I'm selfish or have a big ego are the

Smoking-related diseases may increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. surgeon general warned Thursday that Latin America may be headed for an epidemic of smoking-related Unless current trends are reversed, Surgeon General Antonia C. Novello said, in 10 years another generation of Latin American youth will be addicted to smoking, and 10 years after that they will give birth to deformed children and contract fatal diseases.

"Thirty years from now, and possibly thereafter, we will have to confront a social and economic health care burden whose upward trajectory, if not dealt with in a preventive fashion today, will be difficult, if not impossible, to alter," she said.

"This is the perfect window of opportunity now," Novello said as she released a report on smoking in the Caribbean and Latin America.

The report said Canada and the United States account for about 80 percent of the annual 526,000 smoking-related deaths in the Americas. "Since the smoking epidemic is more recent, less widespread and less entrenched in Latin America and the Caribbean than in North America, it may be thought of as less 'mature,' " it

But it adds that "sufficient time has not yet elapsed for the cumulative effects of tobacco use to become manifest" and acknowledges the statistics for the various nations are spotty and sometimes difficult to obtain.

However, some general trends time do emerge.

One is that while many Latin Americans seem to know about the health damage of smoking, the decision to smoke is based on whether they can afford to buy the cigarettes.

When the economies of those nations declined in the mid-1980s, so did smoking, the report said.

The decline in Latin America and the Caribbean seems to have been based on income elasticity rather than on health concerns,' the report said.

Smoking prevalence in the region is 37 percent for men and 20 percent for women, according to the report. That's roughly the same as the government's statistics for the United States during the same

PARIS (AP) - Long a magnet for adventure-seekers from troubled nations, the French Foreign Legion currently is drawing 40 percent of its recruits from eastern Europe, according to army headquarters.

The trend has helped boost the foreign component of the partly French legion to its highest level in decades, 70 percent of the 8,500-man force.

The scramble to sign up has even spawned unauthorized "recruitment bureaus" in Hungary, which charge would-be volunteers $130 or more to provide advice on how to join the legion. Army headquarters, in a communique Wednesday, stressed that the legion conducts no recruiting activities outside French territory and warned recruits to be wary of any agencies claiming to have official contacts in France.

The communique said applications from eastern Europeans have been increasing steadily in recent months because people in the region "are better informed about the outside world, and specifically about the legion, and are able to travel freely.

"The situation is not new," said Col. Henri Pinard-Legry. "France has always been a land of refuge, and this tradition has been carried on by the Foreign Legion, which is unique in the world.'

In the 1960s and '70s, the legion was roughly 55 percent foreigners and 45 percent French. Now, 70 percent are foreigners from some 100 different countries

Motorcycle ministry growing popular

ARLINGTON (AP) - Since Marlon Brando played the sneering leader of a fierce biker gang in the 1953 movie "The Wild One," motorcycle groups have worn that outlaw image like the patches on their leather jackets.

Forty years later, the image is still there, but belonging to a motorcycle group has taken on a less hedonistic meaning.

In Arlington, about 600 motorcycle riders have formed the Full Gospel Motorcycle Association International with the mission of traveling the state to help stranded motorists and preach about God.

"The biker portrayed in movies mugs the ladies for his past time," said Shrader Gant, 42, a spokesman for the 3-year-old group. "And a lot of the public think a person who rides a motorcycle is associated with that lifestyle.

"We use our motorcycles to minister."

Members of the group range from their mid-20s through late-60s. Most of their membership is in the Dallas-Fort Worth area, but members are scattered across the state, in Florida, Washington, Australia, New Zealand and Canada, Gant said.

Its oldest member is 69-year-old Bill Mays, who leaves his North Dallas home four hours early on Sunday in case he needs to help someone stalled along his 30-mile trek to services in Arlington. While on the road, Mays listens to Country Western-style Gospel music piped into his helmet. He says it puts him in the "mood for ministering.

Passing drivers and their passengers in cars wave, sometimes before Mays greets them with a smile that reaches the width of his face.

"I started doing this after one Sunday, when I was on my way to church, I saw a man about my age on the side of the road with his stalled car," said Mays, who joined the FGMAI two years ago. "I wanted to stop and help him, but was afraid of being late for church. Afterward, I wish I had helped Mays' 1985 Honda Gold Wing motorcycle totes a trailer with tools, gas, car jumper cables, water, cookies and religious tracts. His was one of the most colorful of the group's bikes lined up outside a Grand Prairie diner one Saturday morning, while inside, members at their weekly breakfast exchanged stories of near-death accidents.

'Officially, no church shuns people, but I don't know of any church that would feel comfortable if 20 bikers came roaring up on their bikes with beards, leather jackets and tattoos.'

Rev. T. Stewart Coffman

Like Mays, several of the group's members spend a few hours every week riding on Texas highways looking for stranded motorists who need food or water, a jump-start or a ride to get gas. After the biker helps the stranded motorist, he often leaves behind a religious pamphlet, a coupon for Houston and Bikers for Christ in Fort Worth, but the largest and oldest international organization is the Christian Motorcycle Association in Hatfield; Ark., which boasts 37,000 members.

The organization began its motorcycle ministry 15 years ago, said David Edwards, editor of Cy-

Edwards said such groups are so numerous, he couldn't figure how many there are in the United States.

Many Texas members of the CMA also belong to smaller, locally formed groups, said CMA leader Herbie Shreve, 35, in Hatfield. There may be subtle religious differences between the groups, but they often work together holding rallies, visiting biker bars and trying to recruit outlaw motorcyclists, those who may be involved with drugs or other crimes, Shreve said.

Although state safety officials praise the Texas groups for their efforts, they warn motorists to be wary when stranded on the road.

Mike Cox, spokesman for the Texas Department of Public Safety, said one problem is that motorists needing help can't always distinguish Good Samaritans from evildoers.

"I certainly would urge anybody to exercise caution with whom they're dealing with" on the road, Cox said.

The FGMAI meets weekly for services and holds a religious rally in Arlington every September to recruit outlaw riders and those who belong to non-religious clubs.

"That is why I intend to set aside the majority of the prize money to rebuild the churches in the north as soon as it is politically possible,"

Han, reared on a farm in what is now North Korea, was educated in Christian schools, including Princeton Theological Seminary in New Jersey. In Korea as a pastor, he faced harassment, first by occupying Japanese, who imprisoned him, then by North Korea's communist regime.

After escaping to South Korea in 1945, he and fellow refugees started the Young Nak church.

defies categorization except to say that it is God's music. It's music that ministers, gives peace, challenges and makes one think about himself and his relationship with God.

Dr. Paul Fox is the husband and father of the family, a chiropractic physician who had practiced successfully in Florida for seventeen years. God began to speak not only to this father but to the whole family about his will for their lives. Without great fanfare and in a very humble way, the Fox family began sharing the music God gave to them in churches, schools and county fairs all over Florida. Last year the family traveled over 120,000 miles across this country, appearing in 342 concerts. Paul and Pattie have seven children and the newest addition was born four years ago while touring in Little. Rock, Ark., a baby girl named Joy. Wait till you hear her sing. The oldest son is 23, his name is Paul Jason. He's the quiet one but probably the hardest working one, driving one of the buses, loading and unloading equipment as well as playing the lead and rhythm guitar. Abilene Railroad Festival begins

ABILENE - Plans are steaming ahead for the Second Annual Abilene Railroad Festival, March 13-15, which will include events aimed at celebrating Abilene's historical ties to the rails.

The festival, sponsored by the Abilene Preservation League, has events aimed at every member of the family, ranging from the "I Think I Can" children's activities to the Iron Horse Dinner.

The festivities kick off in the Abilene Civic Center with the Irone Horse Dinner March 13.

Entertainment will be provided by local country-western band Lonesome Dove. Tickets to the event are $25 per person.

At 9 p.m., Abilene's historic Paramount Theatre will begin rocking with the music of the Dixie Chicks. Tickets are $10 and available at the Paramount Theatre

Saturday's activities get underway at 9 a.m., when the "I Think I Can" children's activities, Riding the Rails Exhibit of model trains, Union Pacific miniature train rides, Tent City of food and craft vendors, and T&P Activities and Games all open to the public.

The Hobo Stew Cookoff begins at 10 a.m., and will be judged at, 3 p.m. Saturday, and the Great Locomotive Chase Bicycle race pushes off at 10:30 a.m.

The Royal Order of the Hibernians Annual St. Patrick's Day Parade, held in conjunction with the Railroad Festival this year, is scheduled to begin at 11 a.m.

The T&P depot stage on North First and Cypress and the West Texas Utilities Stage under a tent in the WTU parking lot will provide bands and entertainers, and the stage in the Foyer of the Civic Center will feature storytellers, magicians and other children's entertainers.

Saturday night at 7 p.m. the Paramount is the site of another concert, this one featuring the heavy-duty heartland music of Pirates of the Mississippi,

The word, evangelism, "is unpopular," he said. "It's equated with a lapel-latching type of proselytizing." The better approach is living in a way that draws people.

He also advised stronger youth programs and formation of small groups for discussion and mutual support. He said a third of Americans now participate in a variety of small, shared-interest groups, 60 percent church related.

Confront a problem, don't ignore it

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: We can't understand our daughter. She was always such a sweet child and good student, but now she's withdrawn and is very rebellious and angry. I know teen-agers often go through stages of rebellion, but we're very worried because she's about to flunk out of school and doesn't even seem to care. We even suspect she might be on drugs, although we've never talked with her about it. We don't know what to do. - Mrs. M.J. DEAR MRS. M.J.: The worst thing you can do is to do nothing even if it is painful to confront your daughter. Problems like this almost never solve themselves without some kind of action, and the future is not bright for her unless she changes.

Let me recommend first of all that you talk with her teachers and the guidance counselor at her school. They may have spotted a problem which you have overlooked, and together you can begin to help your daughter. In addition, tell them frankly of your suspicions that your daughter may be on drugs. They can alert you to some of the signs, or at least point you to other resources in your community.

Then confront your daughter with your concerns, openly and yet lovingly. Tell her clearly that you're concerned because you love her very, very much and want what is best for her. The Bible says, "Better is open rebuke than hidden love. ... Faithful are the wounds of a friend" (Proverbs 27:5-6). It also says, "A gentle answer turns away wrath, but a harsh word stirs up anger" (Proverbs 15:1).

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: My husband lost his job a couple of months ago because of the recession. He's getting more and more depressed and feels like it's hopeless even to look for a job. We argue a lot more, although I don't know why I allow myself to. I know I'm not helping him, but I don't know what to do to encourage him when the job market is so bad. - Mrs. J.C.M.

DEAR MRS. J.C.M.: This is a very frustrating time for your husband. He knows he's not responsible for being laid off, and he probably feels that he is powerless to do anything about it. To argue with him only makes the situation worse, because he probably feels you're only blaming him for his problems.

Be as supportive and encouraging as possible. Men, particularly, tend to feel like they're worthless if they're not being productive and working - and you need to let your husband know that that is not so. You love him for himself, not because he used to bring home a paycheck. The Bible reminds us, 'An anxious heart weighs a man down, but a kind word cheers him up" (Proverbs 12:25). It also says, "Do not withhold good from those who deserve it, when it is in your power to act" (Proverbs 3:27).

Let this be a time also when you

(Psalm 55:22).

Mrs. D.O'N. DEAR MRS. D.O'N.: I can understand your dilemma - we have just had several of our 19 grandchildren visiting us! The Bible says, "Children's children are a crown to the aged" (Proverbs and commit your future to Him.

God loves you both, and He wants you to discover the truth of His promise: "Cast your cares on the Lord and he will sustain you; he will never let the righteous fall"

Be sensitive to your daughter's concerns; after all, she has to deal with your grandchildren's demands every day. I suggest that you let her know in advance if you're planning a special excursion or other event when your grandchildren visit. If she expresses concern, work with her to find activities the children will enjoy but which will not make it harder for her. On the other hand, she should be grateful that the children are able to do some things with you that she may find difficult to do.

Be careful also about buying your grandchildren too many gifts or other things. It is tempting for 3:2).

grandparents to give them everything they want + but sometimes it's best to say "no" or "not now" to them. Giving in to every demand not only makes it harder on their parents (who can't do that every day), but in the long run is not good for the children.

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: What do you think Heaven is like? Will it be a lot like this Earth - buildings, animals, trees, and so forth - or will it be a lot different? — T.I.

DEAR T.I.: One truth about Heaven and what it will be like is that it will be far, far more glorious than anything we could ever imagine.

The Bible says, "No eye has seen, no ear has heard, no mind has conceived what God has prepared for those who love him" (1 Corinthians 2:9). If there are buildings or trees there similar to what we have on Earth (as the Bible indicates), they will be far more wonderful than anything we know here. "It shone with the glory of God, and its brilliance was like that of a very precious jewel, like a jasper, clear as crystal" (Revelation 21:11).

The most important truth about Heaven, however, is that we will be there with God throughout all eternity. All the pain and sin and suffering of this world will be over, and we will be secure in the presence of God Himself. The Bible declares, "Dear friends, now we are children of God, and what we will be has not yet been made known. But we know that when he appears, we shall be like him, for we shall see him as he is" (1 John

The Kingdom of Heaven can be compared to a king who decided to bring his accounts up to date. In the process, one of his debtors was brought in who owed him $10,000,000! But as he was not able to pay, his master commanded that he be sold, with his wife and children and all that he had, and the payment be made. The servant therefore fell down before him, saying, 'master,

But when the man left the king, he went to a man who owed him $2,000 and grabbed him by the throat and demanded instant payment. His fellow servant fell to his knees and begged him, 'Be patient with me, and I will pay you back.' But he refused. Instead, he went off and had the man thrown into prison until he could pay the debt.

So when his fellow servants saw what had been done, they were very grieved, and came and told their master all that had been done. Then the master called the servant in. 'You

Be gentle and ready to forgive; never hold grudges. Remember, the Lord forgave you, so you must forgive others. He who covers his sins will not prosper, but whoever confesses and forsakes them will have mercy.

Hockey Today

Friday, March 13 SCOREBOARD Hartford at Winnipeg (8:35 p.m. EST). Two fourth-place teams meet, still fighting for playoff position. The Whalers are 10 points behind the third-place Sabres and 10 in front of Quebec, and the Jets are four behind the Oilers and four ahead of Calgary for the final Smythe Division spot.

STATS

Vancouver clinched a playoff berth with a 2-1 victory over New Jersey on Thursday night. The Canucks are 24 points ahead of fifth-place Calgary in the Smythe Division and the Flames have only 11 games remaining. ... Vancouver, which has a fourgame unbeaten streak, also tied to team record set 17 years ago for points in a season with 86. ... New Jersey is 2-11-2 lifetime at Vancouver.

SEASON SERIES

The Pittsburgh Penguins are 5-1-1 against the New York Islanders this season. The fourth-place Penguins have 72 points and the Islanders have 66. Pittsburgh has three more victories and the Islanders have played one more game than the Penguins. STREAKS

The Philadelphia Flyers have just two losses in their last 21 home games (13-2-6).... Detroit ended a four-game winless streak with a 5-4 victory over St. Louis.

The Red Wings are 7-1 against St. Louis this season. SHOTS ON GOAL Philadelphia's Ron Hextall is 3-7 lifetime against Calgary. STARS

Thursday - Sergei Fedorov and Vyacheslav Kozlov, Red Wings. Fedorov scored two goals and Russian countryman Kozlov assisted on both goals in his NHL debut as

Detroit beat St. Louis 5-4. - Mario Lemieux, Penguins, had an empty-net goal and four assists in Pittsburgh's 6-4 victory over the New York

- Kirk McLean, Canucks, made 26 saves - 14 in the first period - in Vancouver's 2-1 victory over New Jersey.

NHL president John Ziegler said Thursday in Chicago that the league's executive negotiating committee and the players' union will resume bargaining talks today in Toronto

STRIKE TALK

SELECTED Marcel Dionne and Lanny McDonald were among 10 players nominated for the Hockey Hall of Fame. Other candidates in the Players Category are Bob Gainey, Guy Lapointe, Jean-Guy Talbot and Billy Smith. Nominated in the Veteran's Category are Woody Dumart, Edgar Laprade, Sid Smith and Harry Watson.

The seletion committee will meet on June 19 during the NHL's annual Congress in Montreal to choose this year's inductees, who will be honored at the Hockey Hall of Fame Induction Dinner in Los Angeles on Sept. 9, 1992.

SCOUTING Scott Pellerin scored two goals as topseeded Maine's 7-3 victory over Boston College in the semifinals of the Hockey East tournament ay Boston Garden on Thursday night.

SPEAKING

"We're down six points with 11 games to go. We're capable of doing it because we've done it before. We have to do it for 11 games. Nobody here is getting down and nobody's going to quit. We haven't packed our bags." - New York Islanders coach Al Arbour said on the team's playoff hopes.

Mom wants answers on school's policy on rape

DEAR ABBY: Please help. I don't know how to handle this situation. My daughter is a freshman at a Midwestern coed college. She was assigned to a coed floor in a dormitory with 11 girls and 64 boys.

The first week of school, a girl she knows who lives across campus was raped in her dorm room. Campus police were notified. The boy admitted the rape. His "punishment": He was moved out of the victim's dorm, across campus, and onto my daughter's coed floor!

I am outraged! I definitely want no contacts or support. to do something, but my daughter and her roommate are upset because they feel my involvement would label them, and the boy's friends would harass them. The roommate won't tell her parents because she is afraid her parents moved to an all-male floor! Please will make her move back home. These girls are young and naive, but I have to respect her wishes. Since I am new to the state, I have

I know that local police should have been involved and the victim should have pressed charges, but neither was done. I am deeply concerned for my daughter's safety; the rapist should have at least been tell me what to do. — CONCERN-ED MOTHER

DEAR CONCERNED: It is unfortunate that the local police were not notified immediately.

If the young man admitted to the rape, he should have been expelled. And, if your daughter is afraid to speak up because of possible harassment, you should contact the president of the university and request a copy of the school's policies about rape. Also, ask for the university's explanation for its action in this case. Finally, inquire about the school's programs for educating students about their vulnerability to this crime. If there are no programs, something should be started.

DEAR ABBY: I recently attended a bridal shower. Many attended, since the bride-to-be is a wellknown, well-liked local woman.

After opening all the gifts, the bride stood up and thanked everyone for coming and bringing such lovely gifts. Then one of her aunts, who was one of the hostesses, stood up and said, "Because of the price of postage these days, the verbal 'thank-you' you just heard from the bride will be the only one you will get. She will send written thank-you notes only to those who were unable to attend the shower.'

Abby, I think this was very tacky. What gift isn't worth a 29-cent postage stamp to acknowledge? What do you think? - PUT-OFF GUEST

DEAR GUEST: If the aunt made that announcement without the consent of the bride, she had a lot of nerve. And if she had the consent of the bride, shame on both of them. Every shower gift calls for a written thank-you.

Readers can write to: Dear Abby at P.O. Box 69440, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069.
