Thursday crowd pro-prison

By PATRICK DRISCOLL
Staff Writer

One by one, 31 speakers in support of locating a state prison in Big Spring enthusiastically dwarfed comments from two in opposition at a public hearing Thursday night.

A total 390 citizens filled Municipal Auditorium to hear arguments on the proposed prison, which would create 317-800 jobs and was described by many as one step in a possible turnaround for a sagging Big Spring economy — but referred to by two people as a detriment to neighborhoods.

Community acceptance is among criteria being used by the Texas Board of Criminal Justice to decide which of 47 communities will receive 21-to-33 new prisons and drug rehabilitative centers (24,750 total beds). A final decision is expected April 10.

"We not only want one, we desperately need one," pleaded Big Spring City Councilman John Coffee to Texas Department of Criminal Justice representative Les Woods, who was in the audience as an observer and to collect records of the hearing.

Most audience members agreed with Coffee. At the door, 374 people signed a register in favor of the proposal, four signed against and 12 signed with no opinion. Those sentiments are reflected in the community as well. More than 6,000 people signed petitions in favor while 42 signed against.

But there was some skepticism. "I don't see how this one prison is going to do what you proclaim it is going to do," said speaker Eddie Arnold. "I just think that the money would be better spent" attracting other industries.

A 1,000-bed facility, which local officials are optimistic of getting, would create 317 jobs with an average $21,000 annual salary and would create an additional 202 support jobs in the community, said Howard County Commissioner Bill Crooker, who was allowed to speak beyond a two-minute time limitation on behalf of other county commissioners who did not speak.

Those jobs are sorely needed, said Crooker, who reeled off statistics illustrating a continuing downward economic spiral in the county. The population dropped 21 percent from 1982-90, jobs decreased 19 percent from 1982-90 and property valuations dropped 16 percent — mostly because of dropping oil prices — from a high in 1985 to last year.

Community turns out in support of prison plan

By JOHN H. WALKER

The crowd started arriving early at Big Spring's Municipal Auditorium for Thursday night's public hearing on the community's prison proposal.

Officials of Moore Development for Big Spring and the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce were ready, with volunteers manning four tables at each of the entrances to the facility.

"Hi, you need to sign in," one of the volunteers said. "This sheet is for the proposal."

Her voice trailed as the man immediately reached for a pen so as to be able to sign his support for the proposal on the form required by the Texas Department of Criminal Justice.

There were worries that there would be no crowd and thoughts that the early-arriving crowd was a good sign.

By the end-of-the evening, 390 persons had signed either their support, opposition or lack of opinion regarding the facility.

The numbers were overwhelming in their magnitude — as much so as the more than 6,000 persons who voluntarily signed petitions supporting the petition as compared to the 42 who signed Eddie

Sadowski: Check woes not the same

By PATRICK DRISCOLL
Staff Writer

Overdrafts totalling $97,261 at the U.S. House Bank by Rep. Charles Stenholm does not compare to a bounced $33.10 check by Republican opponent Jeanine Sadowski, Sadowski said.

Stenholm announced Wednesday he had 88 overdrafts but will contest 42 totalling $46,248 because the House Bank, he says, failed to transfer money from his commercial accounts on time.

"I thought if I put my money in on the date that check came due, it would not overdraft," the Stamford Democrat said at a Washington press conference.

"I could make all kinds of excuses too for my bounced check," Sadowski said.

But the issue is not that checks were bounced, Sadowski said. What is bothersome is that "they did not have to pay bounce fees and they did not have to make restitution in any way, and the fact that he (Stenholm) said he did not have any bounced checks at first. You should know if you have 88 of them."

Last fall, when it was announced that hundreds of legislators made frequent use of the House Bank's non-penalty overdraft policy, Stenholm at first said he had no overdrafts. However, a week later he said he did some checking and found some overdrafts.

Texas National Guard units hit with cuts

AUSTIN (AP) — The Pentagon's recommendation to trim 3,724 National Guard and reserve jobs in Texas didn't surprise the state's military officials, who say they've been planning cutbacks.

"We already had anticipated all this. We anticipated this and have planned accordingly," Guard spokesman Lt. Col. Eddie Komandosky said Thursday.

Two weeks ago, the Guard announced plans to close 18 armories around the state. Big Spring's armory will remain open, but the 290th Heavy Equip Maintenance Co. in Midland faces closure.

But Komandosky said the federal plan announced Thursday was not bad, just late.

"It's positive in the sense that we're saving money and having the best people return. The negative impact is that it gives the perception that we were overbloated to begin with, and we don't feel that was necessarily the case," he said.

Other state military officials said they also liked the plan, which would force a reorganization of Texas troops.

Big Spring's armory will remain open, but the 290th Heavy Equip Maintenance Co. in Midland faces closure.

"We see it as a very positive step by the president and the Department of the Army by streamlining our active force," said Maj. Rudy Purificato of San Antonio's 90th U.S. Army Reserve Command, which could lose 438 positions at four Texas units.

The Texas Army National Guard may see 2,383 spots eliminated or reduced this fiscal year and the state's Naval Reserve detachments could lose 33 positions, under a proposal Defense Secretary Dick Cheney sent to Congress.

In 1993, the Army National Guard would lose 28 positions; the Army Reserves would drop 1,240, and the Naval Reserve would decrease by 40.

The biggest two-year impact is in Houston, where 1,370 troops in seven units would be reassigned. In Dallas, three units totaling 573 spots would be lost.

Although the spots are proposed for elimination, the people who fill them may not lose their jobs. Those soldiers could join other units, making the force more efficient, said Maj. Gary Sibert of Houston's 36th Brigade, 50th Armored Division.

"The ballpark figure we use in Texas is that we're losing 2,400 slots, not 2,400 people. By losing the slots and keeping the people the state will be at 100 percent strength," he said.

While Sibert's detachment faces a 24-person reduction, he said the only impact he will feel is a new patch on his left shoulder. Instead of one that lists him as a member of the 50th division, he will don a patch signifying the 49th division.

Sibert said some "weekend warriors" — the traditional reserve soldiers — would be inconvenienced by the dissolution of their unit.

One-act teams win at zones

Big Spring and Stanton High School theater students advanced from University Interscholastic League zone competition for One Act Play this week.

Big Spring competed Thursday, while Stanton competed Tuesday.

"We did great. The kids are very excited. They didn't sleep at all the way back (from Fort Stockton)," said Tim Haynes, theater teacher at BSHS.

"Out of 16 individual awards, we came home with five of them," he said.

Jason LeGrande won the Best Actor award, Sunny Fraser won Best Actress, and Marci Weaver was named to the All-Star Cast. Travis Sinclair and Brandy Bedell were named to the Honorable Mention All-Star Cast, Haynes said.

"There were four schools competing, Fort Stockton, Pecos, Monahans and us. Monahans also advanced to district, which will be here, at Big Spring High School on Tuesday (March 31)," he said.

Big Spring's play is "The Runner Stumbles." The drama unfolds around a priest and a nun who fall in love, but are torn between their vows to their vocation and their love for each other.

The priest, unable to face himself or his love, runs away from the parish on the same night the nun is murdered. He is charged with her murder, Haynes said.

"It's set in 1910, and it's based on an actual court case," he said.

The cast includes 32 students this year, and rehearsals began in early February. District competition will also include Andrews and Sweetwater. Following district, the UIL contest progresses to area in Snyder April 10, to regional in San Angelo and finally state.

Teresa White, One Act play director in Stanton, said her students advanced from zone competition to district with their performance of "A Toby Show." There are 16 cast and crew members.

"It's a take-off on Cinderella, sort of a country Cinderella, and it's a comedy," White said.

Stacy Tollison and Blaine Hall were named to the All Star Cast and Janet Riney was named to the Honorable Mention All Star Cast.

Police probe 'ninja' attack

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Police are questioning three youths about an attack on a 31-year-old man by a Ninja-clad intruder, a newspaper reported.

Perry Dean Jensen, 31, awoke last week in the bedroom of his Leon Valley home to find a black-clothed Ninja figure standing over him with a knife, police said.

Jensen removed the assailant's hood following a struggle and discovered it was his stepdaughter's teen-age girlfriend, said Leon Valley Police Chief W.E. Stannard.

Jensen suffered a stab wound to the neck during the scuffle and was treated at Wilford Hall Air-Force Medical Center.

A 15-year-old girl was taken into custody by juvenile authorities, and it appeared at least two more teen-agers were being investigated in connection with the attack, the San Antonio Light reported Thursday.

The conspiracy may have simmered for a month as the teens considered murder methods, the Light reported.

"I don't want to comment on it. I have all the facts," said Jensen.

Gov. Ann Richards talks to reporters Thursday in Austin. She said she had approved the closing of Travis State School but that the State school would remain open.

Richards saves Mexia school; settlement appears uncertain

Richards on Thursday agreed to shut down Travis State School for the mentally retarded in Austin, which with Mexia was recommended for closure by a special task force.

It is "absolutely unacceptable to wait until 1993" for the state to obligate itself to closing a second school.

An immediate, firm commitment to close both schools is required for the settlement to be saved, he said.

Such a commitment still would allow for the schools to be shut down over several years.

Under the governor's decision, Travis likely will be closed by 1995, said Chuck McDonald, spokesman for Richards. Further legislative approval will not be required to close that school, because the task force was created by the Legislature.

Travis State School has about 600 residents and an annual payroll of $24.4 million.

If lawmakers now approve closing the Fort Worth State School, that would not have to be accomplished until 1999, McDonald said.

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Law professor Anita Hill is returning to her alma mater, Yale Law School, to talk about the subject that thrust her into the national spotlight: sexual harassment.

Hill, a 1980 law school alumna who teaches at the University of Oklahoma, is scheduled to speak Thursday.

In October, Hill told the Senate Judiciary Committee considering Clarence Thomas' appointment to the U.S. Supreme Court that Thomas sexually harassed her. He was confirmed.

Hill graduated from Yale in 1980, six years after Thomas.

NEW YORK (AP) — Leona Helmsley rues the day she posed as the queen of one of her New York hotels.

The ads "killed me," the Mrs. Helmsley, 71, said in an interview that airs on ABC's "20/20" tonight.

Each print ad for the Helmsley Palace Hotel featured a picture of Mrs. Helmsley wearing a crown and said "The only palace in the world where the queen stands guard."

Mrs. Helmsley says she dreads going to prison for evading $1.7 million in taxes. "Maybe I'll be lucky and die" before April 15.

That's the day a judge ordered her to begin the four-year sentence.

CHICAGO (AP) — Oprah Winfrey has filed a $300 million libel suit against a tabloid newspaper that said her fiancé had sex with a male cousin.

"There's no question that this story is false. The story is outrageous, insulting and offensive," her lawyer, Steven Molo, said Thursday. The lawsuit was filed in U.S. District Court.

The March 24 edition of News Extra featured a picture of the TV talk show host and her fiancé, Stedman Graham, under the headline: "I Had Gay Affair With Oprah's Fiance: Stedman's Cousin Reveals Shocking Untold Story."

The couple seeks damages for alleged character defamation, invasion of privacy and emotional distress.

Democratic leaders close ranks behind Clinton

NEW YORK (AP) — Party leaders and power brokers are beginning to close ranks behind Democratic presidential front-runner Bill Clinton to help him squelch the stubborn Jerry Brown challenge some believe could scar the likely nominee.

The rally-around-Clinton effort took hold Thursday as former rival Tom Harkin and two major labor unions endorsed Clinton, who also got some indirect help in the tough New York primary campaign as two prominent New York political leaders lashed out against Brown's flat tax plan.

While Clinton gathered more establishment support, he began to show the wear of the persistent questions about his character.

An AIDS activist interrupted a Manhattan fund-raiser, questioned his commitment to curing AIDS, and said Clinton was "dying of ambition" to be president.

"That's bull and I'm tired of it," Clinton shouted. "I have listened to all these attacks, attacks, attacks on me, that's just a bunch of bull. . . . This not a matter of personal attack it is a matter of human loss."

The pointed exchange came near the close of a day in which Clinton got significant help for his effort to halt any Brown momentum after the former California governor's upset win Tuesday in Connecticut.

Meanwhile, The New York Times published a story today saying Clinton and aides deleted a provision in a state ethics bill that would have required him and other state officials to disclose actions relating to their families' businesses.

Clinton said the provision was deleted after a tougher bill he authored stalled in the legislature. He said he and others decided to put portions of the bill dealing with lobby disclosures, which he described as the main feature of the bill, on the stateside ballot to circumvent the legislature's opposition.

Harkin, in endorsing Clinton, said Brown was steering the Democratic campaign into "a destructive phase."

The Iowa senator said his first priority was to convince skeptical labor leaders to back Clinton, and

Democratic presidential hopeful Bill Clinton, right, and Iowa Sen. Tom Harkin listen to a question posed to them during a campaign stop at the Temple Beth-El in Long Beach, N.Y., Thursday. Harkin, who dropped out of the presidential race earlier this month, announced his endorsement of Clinton Thursday and criticized the tone of challenger Jerry Brown's attacks on the party's front runner.

he produced immediate results. Within hours of Harkin's endorsement, the Communications

Workers of American and the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union announced their endorsement of Clinton, and other major unions were expected to follow suit.

Arrest warrant is issued

BHOPAL, India (AP) — A court issued an arrest warrant today for the retired chairman of Union Carbide Corp., who is charged with homicide in the 1984 Bhopal gas disaster that killed more than 4,000 people.

Chief Judicial Magistrate Gulab Sharma ordered the extradition from the United States of Warren Anderson, who was Union Carbide's chief executive when lethal gas leaked from the company's Bhopal plant. The company is based in Danbury, Conn.

The orders come nearly three months after the magistrates court charged Anderson with "culpable homicide not amounting to murder" and ordered him to appear in court Feb. 1. Anderson did not appear.

"Enough opportunity has been given to Anderson," said Sharma in his order. "The only way to get (him) is to initiate extradition proceedings."

An extradition order must go to the Indian government for approval and be relayed to the State Department in Washington for action.

At least 4,035 people have died and about 20,000 were injured when they inhaled poisonous methyl isocyanate gas from the pesticide plant in Bhopal operated by Union Carbide's Indian subsidiary.

In its previous ruling the court threatened to seize Anderson's property in India and abroad unless he appeared in court.

Today the court gave Anderson's lawyers until May 22 — the next date fixed for the hearing — to explain why the property should not be confiscated.

An official of the Central Bureau of Investigation — India's equivalent of the FBI — told the court that U.S. laws forbid the seizure of an accused person's property as a means to force him to appear in court.

Sharma rejected the bureau's plea to immediately seize Union Carbide's assets in India. The attorney for Union Carbide India Ltd. opposed the motion, saying it would have an adverse impact on its shares and the Indian stock market.

Bad checks written overseas also

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department has had to go after some House members who stopped into U.S. embassies overseas to cash checks that later bounced.

"It's been known to happen. . . . I only know the few that came to my attention," Sherman M. Funk, the department's inspector general, said Thursday. "There were a few congressmen who caused a problem. We went back to the congressmen and they paid."

Funk said in a telephone interview that there had been no such problems for "a couple of years." But he declined to say when the bad checks had been written or to identify the lawmakers involved.

The House members wrote the checks on their private bank accounts while traveling overseas on fact-finding missions and other official business.

It was not immediately known whether some lawmakers also wrote bad checks to the embassies on their accounts at the much-publicized House bank. Members were allowed to use House bank checks in the same way as normal checking accounts. But the House bank checks wouldn't have bounced because they were covered by money from other lawmakers' accounts.

In developments concerning the House bank:

- The House ethics committee is hearing appeals from lawmakers whose names are on a preliminary list of the 24 most flagrant abusers of the system, and one representative said he had won his case.

- Continuing their effort to capitalize politically on the situation, House Republicans announced a new advertising campaign that seeks to blame the bank's problems on the Democrats.

- Four New Jersey congressmen attacked the system of congressional privileges and proposed an end to government subsidies of their meals, medicine, haircuts and other services.

Democratic Reps. William Hughes and Robert Andrews, and Republican Reps. James Saxton and Dean Gallo also targeted ambulance services, printing and photography services, stationery supplies and use of the House gym.

Annual march canceled for fear of strike

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Hezbollah canceled an annual protest march today because the Shiite fundamentalist group said it feared an Israeli strike to avenge the deadly bombing of the Israeli Embassy in Argentina.

A statement issued by Hezbollah, or Party of God, said the move was designed to avert "the vengeful, malicious plans of aggressive actions being concocted by (the) Zionist enemy."

The Hezbollah communique was made public barely half an hour before the marches were to begin at 10 a.m. in south Beirut's Shiite Muslim slums.

It was the first time that Hezbollah has canceled the annual marches. The party usually has demonstrations and fiery speeches to mark Jerusalem Day, which was proclaimed in 1988 by Iran's late Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini to show solidarity with the Palestinian struggle to regain Jerusalem.

Officials' attitude was disappointing

To the editor:

On March 23 a county commissioner's meeting was held on the much debated and publicized abatement request by Fina. Fina was denied the request.

If commissioners had granted the abatement in similar fashion to that portrayed in the meeting, I hope someone opposed to the abatement would have written a similar letter (as this).

As a proponent of tax abatement, I was disappointed by the decision. Even more perturbing was the commissioners' seemingly aloof and lackadaisical attitude. First, the failure to follow parliamentary procedure as mandated was questionable.

A motion was made to grant partial abatement. There was no second and no vote taken. Parliamentary procedure requires a new motion be made denying the abatement, a second made and a vote taken. This is what should have occurred if Fina was to be properly denied the abatement. Otherwise, only a vote of no action by the commissioners transpired. This may seem to be a moot point, but the commissioner's behavior of addressing the vote like an auctioneer by saying, "Going once, going twice, I feel like I am at an auction" was not appropriate.

The high interest in the hearing put the commissioners in the spotlight and gave them the opportunity to make up their minds. Unfortunately, their lack of participation and substantiation of their vote brings into question their respect they have for the community.

Except for Mr. Crooker, they apparently felt no need to inform the public how they reached their decision.

I applaud Mr. Crooker for taking a stand. He was the only commissioner who offered a compromise, but he was also forthright in his opinion as to why it was difficult to reconcile why the abatement should be granted.

Other commissioners did not come with a prepared agenda. In fact, the only agenda item one commissioner seemed to have was to remain awake — and he failed at this by actually dozing off several times. Aside from Mr. Crooker, the remaining commissioners could have been mistaken for mannequins — motionless and speechless.

Fifteen people spoke on the issue. A large number of Fina employees attended, but only one spoke in favor of the request. There were three individuals who were definitely against the request. The remainder who supported the abatement had nothing to gain... they simply felt it was in the best interest of the community.

It is possible commissioners were informed and perhaps represented the majority opinion. It is a shame they did not show this (knowledge) at the hearing. Their silence leaves us to interpret their actions. Were commissioners unprepared to discuss the subject adequately? Did they assume the average citizen is not capable of comprehending the issues, or did the publicity cloud their minds?

These may be false conclusions, but commissioners did nothing to dispel them. Lack of conviction and the strength to stand by their business or community to weak

I paid for it because I owed her

She wanted larger breasts and she wanted me to pay for them. I owed this lady at least that much. When I left her, I sort of left in a hurry and it blindsided her.

I had caused all those tears. She had never done one thing wrong, but I was determined to go. I inherited restless genes. At least, that's my story, and, as the man said, I'm sticking to it.

I asked her if she really wanted to go through the operation and, I assumed, a lot of subsequent pain just to have larger breasts.

"I want them," she said, "and you're paying for them."

Like I said, I owed her.

She had the operation. I had written her a check to pay for it. But we didn't live together anymore, and I was out of town when she went into the hospital, so I wasn't around for an immediate look at what my money had paid for.

In fact, it brought up a sort of sticky situation I'm not certain Ms. Manners would have known how to handle.

We were no longer together, but I had paid for the operation. Was I entitled to see the outcome?

Just another modern day dilemma.

I didn't push it. I thought to myself, if she wants me to see, if she thinks I'm entitled, she'll let me know.

I figured she'd eventually call and tell me how everything had gone and mention the next time we were together... well, that's the way I had it figured.

But she didn't call and then I was with some friends and her name came up.

I told one of the friends about the operation, I had paid for, and she replied, "I'd heard about that, but I was really shocked to find out she was getting married."

"Getting married? You must be mistaken," I said. "She's not going to get married. If she were, I'm certain she would have told me before she told anybody else."

That's me. She wouldn't get married until she told me first, would she? Of course not.

"I was going to tell you," she said when I called her later. "It was just one of those things that happened. He wants me and he wants my children. He's a good man and we share a lot."

One thing they shared was an interest in living in a state 2,000 miles away.

She came to see me one last time before she married and moved away.

I was hurt, as stupid as that sounds. I'd left her, and here I was pouting because she had the audacity to fall in love with somebody else.

We talked. She looked happy. There's that line from a country song, "You look so good in love."

But just before she said goodbye she asked, "Want to see them?"

That's as far as I'll go in the newspaper.

Anyway, that was a long time ago, and I assume she's still happy, and I pray she's not having any of the problems some women with breast implants currently are having.

She doesn't deserve a break like that, and for a long time I've been over the initial feeling it was a little unfair I had paid for the operation and somebody I didn't even know was, well, enjoying what I had paid for.

Modern-day dilemmas. Mama never said there'd be stuff like this to mess with my mind.

Manlyman's guide to vacations

Everybody take out their Manlyman Manual and turn to lesson No. 47 — we're going to take a vacation.

Yes, it's time to exude testosterone and gape in wonder at the awesome divinity of the "Y" chromosome.

Gary has to turn his keyboard over to me once a month. It's in his contract, ya' see.

Speaking of which, ol' Shanks worries me a bit. Oh sure, he can drive an 18 wheeler and he knows which end of a ratchet the socket goes on. But he has this Greenpeace sticker on his computer. Now I know it's a joke. As if he'd never clubbed baby seals before — yeah, sure!

Well, at least I think it's a joke. What got me wondering was this incident when I was tellin' the story of how me and Wayne Knurl were down in Brazil blasting the fannies off these lemurs that were running from a forest fire (We invested in a new chlorofluorocarbon plant and the land had to be cleared. Ozone is for wimps anyway.)

Anyway, I was tellin' about how this jaguar jumped out of the jungle with his tail on fire, and Gary just walked off shaking his head. He acted like he didn't even want to hear!

So this jaguar runs over Wayne Knurl and Wayne pulled the trigger on his .458 Winchester Magnum rifle, but he didn't have the stock tight to his shoulder and the rifle butt knocked his shoulder out of socket.

So anyway, ol' Wayne can't see his arm cause it's layin' across his back and he thinks the cat took it. Wayne starts screaming, "It's got my arm! Oh Lordy! The dang thang's got mah arm!"

Naturally I'm rolling around on the ground about laughing myself into a rapture. Ol' Wayne can be kind of a wimp sometimes.

But I digress.

Lesson 47 clearly states that no big city except for Las Vegas shall be visited on vacation. What do you want to see a Broadway play? See the Chicago Art Museum? That kind of stuff is for girlygirls and pencil-necked geeks.

Out in the mountains, down in Big Bend, or, for the real manlyman, climbing the north face of Killimanjaro, or kayaking the Amazon, that's where single manlymen go for a vacation.

But most of us have our girlygirls with us and we, of course, can't go galavanting around like angry Piets, no matter how fun it would be to dress in skins and kill things with spears — Oh! for the good old days... (sigh).

For manlymen with girlygirls and/or children you're going to have to settle for fishing. Most girlygirls don't like it when you blow away furry animals.

Huh! Women — go figure! If they didn't have the lovin' there'd be a bounty on 'em.

So grab your $200 graphite composite fishing rod and your stridently heterosexual tackle box, load the family up and head for the water.

Be sure to give your $10,000 bass boat a good tuning up before heading to the lake. If your obvious failure as a bread winner has left you without a bass boat, soundly berate your family with one or more of the following lines:

- If I hadn't married you, I'd have a damn boat!
- With what I've paid on braces and doctor bills this year I could've bought two boats!
- Look! Just fix me something to eat. I don't have a boat — I might as well have a sandwich!

With one's girlygirl properly upset, the fishing can commence. A manlyman works hard and plays hard. The least his family can do is treat him like a god.

Remember, no light beer.

That's for accountants and girlygirls.

Be sure to provide live bait. One's offspring must be taught to impale live minnows on a fishhook — how else will they grow to be manlymen?

As far as food goes, be sure to bring only raw meat and potatoes and stuff.

Remember: A girlygirl that's not busy cooking is thinking of ways to change you.

Well, it's time to give this keyboard back to that dolphin lover. Maybe he can find enough time to take off his sequin tutu and join us for a manlyman outing in the woods next weekend. Wayne Knurl spotted a rare ring-tailed cat on his ranch and all the guys are going up there to blast it to smithereens.

Gary probably won't come — that weeny.

Bye.

Explaining why fuel prices higher in area

To the editor:

I will refrain from commenting on the county commissioners' lack of respect for the public at the Fina abatement hearing on Monday for fear of being repetitious.

I would like to address the ongoing question in regard to the fuel prices in the Big Spring area and the refinery's role. Read closely and follow up on what I tell you if you are genuinely interested in why fuel prices are higher in our area.

The same refinery sells fuels to various jobbers at almost the same price but the Fina jobber receives the lowest price available at the refinery.

Check with Fina jobbers in the Big Spring area and ask them to tell you the price they are being charged. If they will tell you that price, and you add all applicable taxes — currently 34 cents per gallon — you can use simple arithmetic from the posted prices at the retail outlets and you may get your answer.

I can tell you from being the owner of a Fina brand outlet — I owned my own pumps and tanks — that we sometimes made an exceptional profit on fuels, but we chose to remain with the higher price because other stores and stations, including non-Fina branded outlets, did not lower their prices.

It is unfair to blame the refinery for higher prices because it would be unlawful for them to try and put any pressure on retail outlets that they do not own in order to regulate prices. Since Fina does not own any retail outlets in the West Texas area, any intervention from Fina would be called price fixing.

New car dealers all pay the same price for their particular brand of equally equipped cars but sell them for different prices. Ford or General Motors would not be expected to interfere with the dealers to regulate the profit they choose to make.

Please take the time to investigate what I feel is fact and write your findings to the county commissioners — or better yet, call them, since they seem to listen better on the phone than in public.

Knowles to play ball at HSU

COAHOMA — Coahoma Bulldogs senior Mike "Tiny" Knowles recently signed a letter of intent to play football for the Hardin-Simmons University Cowboys in Abilene.

Mike Tyson: I feel humiliated

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Mike Tyson was supremely confident about fighting.

Prison is another matter. "I'm not here to beg for mercy," Tyson told the judge before being sentenced to prison Thursday for rape.

"Whatever happens, happens," the former heavyweight champion said. "I expect the worst. I don't know if I can deal with it, but I expect the worst."

"He could be," special prosecutor Gregory Garrison replied when asked if he thought Tyson could be a marked man in prison.

Tyson arrived at the City-County Building grim-faced to a few cheers of "Mike, Mike."

He left handcuffed. It appears he will serve from three to six years after being convicted of raping Desiree Washington, a contestant in the Miss Black America Pageant, last July 19 at Indianapolis.

Tyson not only maintained his innocence in a 10-minute address before Judge Patricia Gifford in Marion Superior Court, he presented himself as someone put upon.

He said he'd like to apologize for what he called his crass behavior while in Indianapolis, but "I didn't rape anyone."

"I was humiliated," he said of being tried. "Things said by the prosecution were distasteful. I was humiliated world-wide. Even women are coming up to me and saying humiliating things."

He also didn't want to hear that he was a sick man who needs help, as has been suggested by Washington on a national television show and in a letter to the judge. "I don't know what emotionally disturbed is," Tyson said. "Charles Manson is emotionally disturbed."

Coahoma's McGuire handcuffs C-City

By STEVE BELVIN Sports Editor

It wasn't the most sterling one-hitter you'll ever see, but Coahoma Bulldogs' pitcher Brandon McGuire did a number on the Colorado City Wolves junior varsity batters.

McGuire led his team to a 10-0 victory over the Wolves in the opening round of the Big Spring Junior Varsity Tournament Thursday.

The win gives Coahoma a 2-3 record. The Bulldogs will play Midland Lee at 1:30 today at Steer Field.

In facing the Wolves' JV, it wasn't like McGuire was shutting down more inexperienced players — McGuire is a freshman himself. He combined a sneaky curve and a good fast ball to keep Colorado City batters off guard all game long.

Colorado City's only hit was a bloop single in the fourth inning by designated hitter Mike Dossey. The hit barely cleared the outstretched glove of shortstop Jason Harmon.

"Brandon pitched well today," said Coahoma coach Doc Rowell. "Sometimes he gets himself into trouble, but he's young. He's got a good arm and good movement on the ball."

In going five innings (the 10-run rule stopped play) McGuire fanned seven and walked nine. He got strong support from his defense, which didn't make an error.

In the second inning, Coahoma turned away a Colorado City threat with good defense. McGuire walked Brad Hartman to lead off the inning. Hartman was thrown out by catcher Bryan Sledge, trying to steal second.

With two outs McGuire walked Travis Lynch and Ryan Gailey; both moved up on wild pitches. McGuire threw another wild pitch and Lynch tried to score, but Sledge retrieved the ball in time to throw to McGuire who tagged Lynch for the third out.

Coahoma turned away another threat in the fourth inning. It started with Dossey's single and continued with McGuire walking the bases loaded. With one out Gailey hit a grounder to second baseman Mark Arguello. Arguello tagged the runner from first run-ing to second and then threw to first baseman Dave Park to complete a double play.

"We've been working a lot on defense," said Rowell. "We're trying to get where we don't make a lot of errors. We want to make them beat us instead of beating ourselves."

Coahoma took control of the game by scoring eight runs in the third inning. The big inning was due mainly to six C-City errors, although Bulldog batters did contribute with four hits against C-City pitcher Doug Jones.

The biggest blow was a solo homer by Park over the left field fence. Harmon doubled in the inning. Sledge got an infield hit and Arguello singled. Sledge was the only Bulldog to get two hits.

Coahoma scored twice in the first inning when Brent Elmore singled and Arguello walked. The two came home on Sledge's single to right field.

In other tournament action, Greenwood beat the Big Spring No. 2 JV team 12-10; Midland Lee defeated Andrews 10-4 and Big Spring No. 1 JV downed Sweetwater 12-2.

In today's action at Steer Field, Big Spring No. 1 plays Snyder at 11 a.m. and the winner of that game plays Greenwood at 4 p.m.

At the Roy Anderson Complex, Colorado City plays Andrews at noon and the winner of that game plays Big Spring No. 2 at 2:30 p.m.

Stanford women roll by Lady Red Raiders

SEATTLE (AP) — Tara VanDerveer watched her young Stanford squad dominate in the first half like the Cardinal teams of previous years, then seemingly let up against No. 12 Texas Tech.

The Lady Red Raiders ran off eight straight points to start the second half, cutting the Stanford lead from 14 to six.

sparked a Cardinal run, and Stanford led by at least 10 points over the last 14 minutes as they defeated Texas Tech 75-63 on Thursday night.

Rachel Hemmer led all scorers with 21 points, and Goodenbour added 19 for Stanford. Whiting finished with 17 points and 11 rebounds.

named both Southwest Conference player and newcomer of the year, led the Red Raiders with 17 points but shot just seven of 19 from the field. She tied Whiting for the game high with 11 rebounds.

Stanford, which finished the regular season at 26-3, shot just 41 percent from the field (26 of 63), but made 17 of 23 free throws. Texas Tech shot 49 percent but went to the line only seven times, making six free throws.

The Red Raiders, Southwest Conference champions who finished the regular season with a 27-4 record, were making their first appearance in the regionals.

Stanford was up 35-21 at halftime after allowing Texas Tech only six points over the last 11 minutes.

Ladyjacks fall to USC, 61-57

SEATTLE (AP) — Lisa Leslie scored 25 points, including the go-ahead basket with just over two minutes left, as Southern California defeated Stephen F. Austin 61-57 on Thursday night in an NCAA West Regional semifinal game.

Leslie intercepted Deneen Parker's pass and drove the length of the floor for a layup and a 56-55 lead. The Trojans (23-7) never trailed after that and Joni Easterly's 3-point goal with 19 seconds left put the game out of reach.

Easterly finished with 13 points, including several key free throws down the stretch.

Parker led the Ladyjacks (28-3) with 18 points, 15 in the first half to keep her team within 32-29 at halftime.

Leslie, a 6-foot-5 sophomore who averaged 20.8 points and 8.2 rebounds per game during the regular season, was 11 of 18 from the field and had six rebounds.

Nebraska upsets La Salle

AMARILLO (AP) — Karen Jennings hit a high pressure free throw in the closing seconds to give No. 6 seed Nebraska an upset victory over No. 3 seed La Salle in the opening round of the National Women's Invitational Tournament.

The 79-78 victory moved Nebraska (21-13) into a semifinal game tonight against Georgia Tech (18-13). Georgia Tech defeated Wisconsin-Green Bay 78-77. The victory boosted Wisconsin-Green Bay to a 22-7 season record.

Sonja Tate scored 33 points to lead fifth seed Arkansas State to an 83-79 victory over Alabama-Birmingham. That victory moved Arkansas State (24-6) into tonight's semifinal game against Hawaii (23-6). Hawaii defeated Florida International 83-73. Florida International is 22-9.

Nebraska will play Georgia Tech at 6 p.m. tonight. The Arkansas State-Hawaii game is scheduled for 8 p.m.

The winners will play at 8 p.m. Saturday night in the championship game. Mary Heller had hit a layup with 19 seconds remaining to give the Explorers a 78-78 with Nebraska, setting the stage for the free throw by Jennings.

NIT Women

Jennings finished with 31 points for Nebraska to lead all scorers. Jennifer Cole scored 20 to pace the Explorers.

In addition to Tate's offensive output, Arkansas State got 20 points from Nicole Wilkett. Jacques Nero scored a game-high 36 points for UAB.

Karen Lounsbury scored a game-high 24 points to lead No. 2 seed Georgia Tech to a 78-77 win over seventh seed Wisconsin Green Bay.

Dawn Schirmacher was the leading scorer for Wisconsin-Green Bay with 16 points.

Valerie Agee scored 16 points Thursday as top seed Hawaii took an 83-73 win over Florida International.

Blue Devils drown Pirates

The ASSOCIATED PRESS

A familiar foursome has moved into the elite eight of the NCAA basketball tournament.

Top-ranked Duke, No. 4 UCLA, No. 5 Indiana and No. 6 Kentucky advanced to the regional finals with relative ease Thursday night. Altogether, the four schools have won 21 national championships and been to the Final Four 38 times.

Duke downed No. 19 Seton Hall 81-69 and Kentucky beat No. 17 Massachusetts 87-77 in the East, while UCLA beat New Mexico State 85-78 and Indiana eliminated No. 20 Florida State 85-74 in the West.

On Saturday, Duke (31-2) will play Kentucky (29-6), and UCLA (28-4) will meet Indiana (26-6).

Tonight, third-ranked Ohio State plays No. 18 North Carolina and No. 11 Oklahoma State faces No. 15 Michigan in the Southeast semifinals. In the Midwest, it's Memphis State vs. Georgia Tech and No. 12 Cincinnati vs. Texas-El Paso.

Defending champion Duke used a balanced attack to get within one victory of its fifth consecutive Final Four. The Blue Devils got 16 points apiece from Christian Laettner and Antonio Lang, and 15 each from Grant Hill and Brian Davis. "It took everybody to do it," Duke coach Mike Krzyzewski said. "That was one of our tougher ballgames."

Seton Hall scored seven straight points to pull within six with 7:36 remaining. But Duke responded with a superb passing sequence that led to a pair of free throws by Davis, and the Blue Devils were never threatened again.

"Seton Hall did a good job on us defensively, but we had a lot of guys who stepped up," said Laettner, a 6-foot-11 All-American.

Terry Dehere had 21 points for Seton Hall (23-9), which beat Duke at the 1989 Final Four.

"I'm very disappointed," said Seton Hall coach P.J. Carlesimo, whose team was eliminated by top-ranked UNLV in last year's regional finals. "We accomplished some things and were a good basketball team, but I don't think we accomplished as much as we should have."

UCLA ended New Mexico State's dream season with a tough, man-to-man defense and the inside power of Tracy Murray and Don MacLean. Murray, a 6-8 forward, scored 21 points and the 6-10 MacLean added 19 as the Bruins moved one victory away from their first Final Four since 1980. "It was a game of inches — in the Bruins' favor," said New Mexico State coach Neil McCarthy. "When they had (Ed) O'Bannon and Murray and MacLean, they were really big."

New Mexico State (25-8) was trying to become the first 12th-seeded team to reach the Final Four. But the Aggies' matchup zone defense and court leadership of 5-foot-8 guard Sam Crawford, who had 16 points, were no match for the Bruins' savvy and scoring.

Trailing 47-31 at halftime, New Mexico State scored the first 10 points of the second half. But UCLA pulled away again, taking a 61-47 lead on a three-point play by O'Bannon and a 3-point shot by Gerald Madkins.

NCAA Tournament

"We fought back in the second half and we've got nothing to be ashamed of," said New Mexico State center Chris Hickman. "I thought they really weren't going to look past us and understood that we were for real."

Kentucky capitalized on a technical-foul call against Massachusetts coach John Calipari and overcame poor 3-point shooting to defeat the Minutemen.

Jamal Mashburn scored 30 points for Kentucky, which won despite being outshot from 3-point range for the first time this season. The Wildcats made only 3 of 15 long-range shots, while Massachusetts was 5 of 9.

UMass (30-5), which had won 14 straight, cut a 20-point deficit to two points with 5:47 remaining when Calipari was called for venturing outside the coaching box. Kentucky then went on an 11-2 run and Massachusetts couldn't come back.

"I think it kind of took something away from us," Massachusetts guard Anton Brown said. "At that point, we had momentum and were playing real strong. That took a lot of wind out of our sails."

Calipari wasn't bitter about the call.

"The official has a job to do and I have a job to do," he said. "If I step out of the box, he has the right to call a technical."

John Pelphrey scored 18 points for Kentucky, while Jim McCoy led Massachusetts with 21.

Eric Anderson, playing with four stitches in his chin, scored a season-high 24 points in a reserve role as Indiana beat Florida State. The Seminoles jumped to a 9-2 lead before the Hoosiers rallied behind Anderson, who came off the bench and scored 17 points in the next 14 minutes.

Anderson, a 6-9 senior who averages 10.6 points per game, swished a long jumper as soon as he entered the game. He followed it with a 3-pointer and helped the Hoosiers take a 34-29 lead before banging his chin on the court while chasing a loose ball. He continued to play for awhile with a big bandage on his chin, but went to the locker room shortly before halftime to get stitches.

Doug Edwards, who finished with 20 points, made a layup and Byron Wells hit a 3-pointer for Florida State (22-10) just before the halftime buzzer to close the gap to 40-38. But Indiana reasserted control at the start of the second half when Calbert Cheaney and Greg Graham combined for the first 10 points to make it 50-38.

"Anderson had a really good first half to keep us in it, and in the second half we had better flow and better contributions from everybody else," Indiana coach Bob Knight said.

Spurs center pondering thumb surgery

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — David Robinson says he won't play any more games on the current San Antonio Spurs road trip as he ponders surgery on his thumb that could sideline him for six to eight weeks.

The All-Star center headed back to San Antonio today and will miss the Spurs' next three games, including tonight's against the Miami Heat, newspaper and radio reports said.

"It's a day-by-day, game-by-game situation," Spurs spokesman Matt Sperisen had said Thursday.

Robinson has not decided yet whether to have surgery to repair a torn ligament in his thumb, Sperisen said.

As his teammates suited up Wednesday to face the Charlotte Hornets, Robinson decided to sit out because of soreness and swelling in his injured left thumb. It was the first time he had missed a game because of an injury during his pro career. Robinson previously had played in 232 consecutive games.

The 7-foot-1 Robinson wore street clothes as he sat on the bench in Charlotte, where the Hornets defeated the Spurs 113-108.

A ligament in the thumb's socket was torn last week when the left-handed Robinson collided with another player in a loss to the Hornets in San Antonio.

Robinson, who is undergoing therapy on the thumb every day, told reporters Wednesday in Charlotte he was leaning more toward having surgery to repair the ligament.

"I'm certainly closer to surgery now than I was when it first popped out of joint," he said. "I thought I could have the best of two worlds, let it heal and play at the same time."

Robinson played in games against Sacramento, Seattle and Philadelphia after suffering the injury. But a blow to the hand in the game against the 76ers led to more soreness and swelling.

If Robinson does have surgery, he probably would be out six to eight weeks, Sperisen said. That could sideline him for the rest of the regular season and perhaps part of the playoffs.

It is too soon to say what effect the injury would have on his chances of participating in the Summer Olympics in Barcelona, Sperisen said.

"It's like each bridge has to be crossed first," the team spokesman said.

Arnold's petition opposing the proposal.

A total of 374 of the 390 persons — 95.9 percent — said they were in support of the proposal while four, or 1 percent, were opposed. The remaining 12, or 3.1 percent, said they had no opinion.

As the crowd filed into the auditorium, it looked more like a Sunday morning church sanctuary, as people hung to the back of the auditorium.

Once the meeting got under way, however, there was no question as to how the crowd felt.

Rounds of applause greeted comments made by elected officials, followed by applause for the official presentation made by Prison Coordinating Committee Chairman Hooper Sanders.

Sadowski

"I was shocked, to say the least, when I reviewed my account and embarrassed completely that in my own way I have added to the negative attitude expressed by the people toward the Congress," he said.

Stenholm said he is in "total agreement" with a new policy at the House Bank to assess service charges for overdrafts and not to honor checks lacking sufficient funds.

Also, disclosure of 355 current and former members of Congress who floated checks, to be released soon by the House Ethics Committee, was supported by Stenholm. It involves 70 percent of the current House.

Stenholm offered no comments on Sadowski's bounced check that resulted in a Class B misdemeanor charge of theft by check, said a spokeswoman in Washington. "He doesn't want to get into that."

The charge, in connection with a June purchase of clothes from Walmart in Abilene, was dropped after Sadowski paid restitution and court costs of about $100.

"There is going to be very few people who have not bounced a check at one time or another in their life," Sadowski said. "The difference is we have to pay penalties."

Prison

The result of less population and lower property valuations is higher tax rates, Crooker said. "More jobs means less taxes for you and me, or at least holding the line."

But Don Proctor, who asked to use Arnold's unused speaking time to speak beyond the two-minute time limit but was denied by mediator Bob Riley, said he believes the prison would only add other problems to the community, known now for bad quality water and high gas prices.

"It would be real close to existing residential areas," Proctor said of the proposed prison site near McMahon-Wrinkle Airpark and the Capehart neighborhood. "It will no longer be a quiet neighborhood." A federal prison in the area is already too noisy, he said.

However, several speakers that live in Capehart, some with children, attested to the tranquility and safety of the neighborhood despite the federal prison and said they have no worries of a state prison being built nearby. A kindergarten center is across the street from the federal prison.

"I have never had any problems with any of the prisons," said Debbye Valverde, who has lived in Capehart 4 1/2 years. "I don't plan to move."

Comments from other speakers included:
• "The prison can only enhance property values," said Katie Grimes, president of the Big Spring Board of Realtors.

• The prison would benefit Howard College and the Veterans Administration Hospital, said officials from those institutions, both of which share programs with the federal prison.

• "I think it's a good, clean industry," said Richard Atkins, small business owner.

• "They're very well kept. They fit into our community," C. Roy Wright, salesman and county fire chief, said of the three prisons currently in Howard County.

• "The best thing we can offer to the state is our spirit. We have a wonderful spirit," said Donna Jackson, Howard County librarian.

• "The Hispanic community supports the project," said Raul Marquez, local business owner and Hispanic leader.

• "I would like to see Big Spring return to the active viable community that it was," said Frances Wheat, small business owner.

Perks scrutinized for Congress, staff, lobbyists, news media

WASHINGTON (AP) — As word spread that the Senate stationery store was discontinuing its discounted stock of gift items, lines of staff members formed at the checkout to take advantage of this endangered perk.

"Fire sale isn't the word for it," said one, his arms loaded with purchases. "It's a feeding frenzy."

No longer will Senate aides and members of the news media be able to buy at cost ashtrays with the Senate seal as Christmas gifts, or coffee mugs with pictures of the Capitol.

House Speaker Thomas Foley, D-

Wash., was clamping similar restrictions on his chamber's stationery store.

As Congress agonizes over a series of scandals, lawmakers are hoping to minimize the damage by shedding some longstanding perquisites enjoyed by themselves, their staffs, and even lobbyists and the news media.

Four House members on Thursday proposed eliminating all taxpayer subsidies for services available on Capitol Hill such as meals, haircuts, printing, stationery and photography.

"The perquisite problem... has become the symbol of what is wrong with the Congress," said Rep. William Hughes, D-N.J. "At the very least, we should be charging ourselves... what the public would have to pay."

Foley announced last week that he was cutting off free prescription drugs for members of the House, and that the fee they pay to use the House gymnasium would quadruple to $400 a year.

Foley and House Minority Leader Robert Michel, R-Ill., also have appointed a 16-member task force to study the House's internal problems and recommend reforms.

The measure also would require that any foreign travel by a House member or aide be approved by a committee vote and the need for it be justified in writing.

Hughes said the institution's image problems, fanned by scandals at the House Bank and Post Office, have become so bad they are distracting members from doing their legislative work.

Last week, for example, he could not get a quorum for a subcommittee bill-drafting session, he said. Other senior staff sources concurred, saying the House leadership has become so consumed with the problems they don't have time to focus on nuts-and-bolts legislative matters.

Hughes declined to criticize House Speaker Thomas Foley directly, but he said "a lot of us have been very upset a lot of these matters weren't dealt with a long time ago." Hughes had introduced a similar perk-reform bill last fall that never left the Rules Committee.

The measure also would require that any foreign travel by a House member or aide be approved by a committee vote and the need for it be justified in writing.

Deaths

Lilliss Jones

Lilliss M. Jones, 82, Vincent, died Thursday, March 26, 1992, at Golden Plains Nursing Center after a long illness.

Services will be 10 a.m., Saturday, at Bell-Cypert-Seale Funeral Home with Richard Jordan, minister of Ira Church of Christ, officiating. Burial will be in Hillside Memorial Gardens under the direction of Bell-Cypert-Seale Funeral Home.

She was born July 14, 1909, in Colorado City. She married C.L. Jones on Nov. 9, 1946 in Lamesa. He preceded her in death on Feb. 28, 1979. She moved from Ira to Vincent in 1969.

Survivors include one daughter, Patsy Anderson, Big Spring; one sister, Mirl Springfield, Weatherford; and two grandchildren: Rich and Clint Anderson, both of Big Spring.

She was also preceded in death by two sisters and two brothers.

Perks are available for others, as well. Staff members on both sides of Capitol Hill can shop at the stationery stores, which provide writing supplies, picture frames, leather goods, umbrellas, and knickknacks at well below retail prices. And a few favored lobbyists receive free parking close to the Capitol.

But some worried that the perk-cutting frenzy might go too far. "We're going to have members of Congress naked in barrels, and then people will be asking 'Why have they got the barrels?'" said one senior Democratic leadership aide, who spoke on condition of anonymity.

The bill introduced by Hughes and colleagues Robert Andrews, D-N.J., James Saxton, R-N.J., and Dean Gallo, R-N.J., would change House rules to ban use of appropriated funds to provide services below the cost charged the public. It suggests the services be contracted out to private companies.

In addition, reporters are granted a certain number of free parking spaces, access to the curate Senate stationery store and credentials that allow them access to non-public areas of the Capitol complex, he said.

College Baptist takes mission to Acuna

By JEAN WARREN
For the Herald

Fourteen members from College Baptist Church spent the week of March 7-14 on a mission trip to Acuna, Mexico.

The trip was under the auspices of the River Ministry, which is an attempt by the Baptist General Convention to minister to and evangelize Spanish-speaking people who live in remote, isolated villages along the Rio Grande. The ministry is in its 25th year and is directed by Elmin Howell, who works to link people in upstate churches with those along the river.

Plans for the mission trip began over a year ago when James Ham, Pedro Ruiz, and Ben Herrera, along with CBC pastor Ken F. McMeans, met Pablo Gomez, pastor of Primera Iglesia Bautista in Acuna. From him, they learned of the plans for Getsemani Ranch, which is located 10 miles from Acuna. It is a 22 acre site for an encampment that will be utilized by the Ciudad-Acuna Baptist Association to minister to the people of the surrounding area.

After meeting with Rev. Gomez, Ruiz and Herrera traveled to Acuna to assess the needs and to see how CBC could help. In February, they took a load of materials to Mexico, in preparation for the mission trip.

The CBC volunteers worked at a variety of tasks at Getsemani Ranch. They re-roofed a shower house, dug a pipe line for water, and built chicken coops. A 2-ton truck, donated by Tim Blackshear, was delivered to the ranch. By utilizing a part of the encampment to raise chickens, the Ciudad-Acuna Baptist Association will be able to secure funds for expansion and ministry.

On March 8, CBC Pastor Ken Mc-

Means and Youth Minister Rick Hope preached at Primera Iglesia Bautista in Acuna. The entire group provided special music for Wednesday evening prayer service. They also conducted four days of outdoor Bible School at the ranch, with an average of 66 children and 10 adults in attendance each day.

For most adults, participation in the mission trip meant giving up a week of vacation. Ruiz, who teaches at Big Spring High School, says he was simply responding to a great need, adding that he felt his fluent Spanish could be a help in communication. Herrera, who was accompanied by his wife and their three children, voiced similar commitment.

James and Nellie Ham had participated in four River Ministry trips when they were members of Lone Oak Baptist Church in Somerville before moving to Big Spring. Both feel a strong sense of commitment to the River Ministry.

Michael Webb, a freshman at BSHS, gave up his spring break to participate in the mission trip. He says, "We had a great time. Everything went fine, and I think we got our message across. It was a good opportunity to help others and to learn about a different lifestyle. It made me appreciate my home and the opportunities I have."

Others involved in the mission trip were Sammy and Debra Lewis and Vivian Williams. Gabriel and Nattie Natividad, from Andrews, also joined the group.

Nattie Natividad teaches 'open air' Bible school to Jr. high students on the mission trip to Acuna, Mexico. Members of the College Baptist Church recently returned from a mission trip to that city.

Christian music's working mother

ANDERSON, Ind. (AP) — Sandi Patti, Christian music's working mom, wants to take it easy this year. But her plans for a new album, book and TV special hardly resemble a vacation.

Patti craves time at home with her growing family, and her 11 1/2-year break a few years ago shows she can afford to stand out of the spotlight without being out of her fans' minds.

Winner of five Grammys and 29 Dove awards (for gospel music), she has sold more than 6 million albums since her big break 12 years ago when Bill Gaither invited her to join his gospel group.

She spent half of 1991 on the road. Except for the state fair circuit, she doesn't plan to tour this year.

Instead, she's working on a new album and a children's Christmas book. The book is being offered to the major networks as a made-for-TV movie, and Patti plans her own Christmas TV special.

The children's book is based on a song from Patti's Christmas album released several years ago.

"It's a song called 'Merry Christmas With Love' and it's a story about a lady who's alone at Christmas. I just started asking a lot of questions about why she was alone, why was Christmas a painful time for her and what might have happened," she said.

"I think when you're a singer you rely on those childlike qualities within you. It just seems to be a real natural thing to be drawn to something that will communicate with children. I think sometimes adults see things better when it's said in a child's way."

While Patti applauds the crossover of Amy Grant and Michael W. Smith into mainstream music, she doesn't envision that for herself.

Their audiences of teen-agers and young adults contrasts with the mothers attracted by Patti's down-to-earth image.

"It would be a totally different direction for my music. I just feel real strong about the message that I'm singing ... encouraging people and challenging people to a deeper walk with the Lord," she said.

"For me to move over there would necessitate so many changes that I just really don't have any interest in."

Grant reached No. 1 on the pop charts last year with "Baby, Baby" and Smith was named best new artist at the American Music Awards in January.

Sandi Patti singer

SANDI PATTI

"They're offering a wonderful alternative to the whole secular music scene. It's just really neat to see their acceptance," she said.

Grant and Smith achieved their success with minimal references to Jesus and a softened spiritual tone in their music.

"I think whenever there's new ground charted everybody feels the impact," Patti said. "Some great doors have been opened to them that have not been opened to people who got their start in Christian music before."

The Oklahoma native came to Anderson to attend college and ended up meeting her husband, John Helvering.

Their 12-year marriage has produced four children, including a twin son and daughter, and a business partnership that handles a recording, music publishing, concert booking and merchandising operation from her newly rebuilt offices.

Patti spoke in spacious offices decorated in her signature color of lavender. The tranquil setting beside a frozen lake helps Patti forget the April 1990 fire that destroyed her offices and melted her Grammy and Dove awards.

Her inspiration and in-house critics are her children, who range in age from 7 to 2. She formed a club for kids, The Friendship Company, which publishes a magazine for its 25,000 members.

At 35, Patti is interested in getting back to basics with her husband and children, who often appear onstage with her.

"I guess I'm just going through a re-evaluation of my life, weeding out the things that have been time-consuming but not important, and replacing all that with things that do have eternal value," she said.

"I'm still in that process of trying to figure all that out and to realize that the more happy, content and peaceful that I am is going to make me a better mom and a better artist and affect all those relationships."

Precious time

Jennifer Yanke, Corrie Yanke, Kim Hughey and Joshua Free, all members of Living Water Church, play with several children recently in the church's nursery. The church, located at 1008 Birdwell Lane, will conduct "Couple's Night Out" Saturday, from 7 to 11 p.m. Church members will babysit children from newborn to 10 years old. Although there is no fee for the service, donations will be accepted, and will be used to buy shirts for the church's drama team "Care Company." "This is for everyone in the community. ... We'll have puppet shows, crafts, games, video and refreshments," Joshua explained.

Special friends have special needs

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Why are some people so sensitive and constantly getting their feelings hurt? I have a friend who's this way, and no matter what you do she almost always feels like you've slighted her or not done as much for her as you should. My husband and I would like to be her friend, because she's a lonely person who needs friends, but it's a strain to be around her because you never know how she's going to react. — Mrs. S.G.

Billy Graham

DEAR MRS. S.G.: I've found that many people who are extremely sensitive and get their feelings hurt easily often have very little confidence in themselves. It therefore is easy for them to feel that others have a low opinion of them also — and to feel that the other person was intentionally hurting them, even when no hurt was intended.

Try to understand your friend, therefore, and don't judge her just on the basis of her reactions. She may, in fact, have had some very painful experiences in the past (particularly as a child) which have made her feel insecure and worthless.

She needs friends who will accept her and encourage her — and even confront her lovingly about her attitudes. It is wrong for her to criticize others, but be careful that you don't fall into the same trap, being critical and judgmental toward her. The Bible says, "We who are strong ought to bear with the failings of the weak and not to please ourselves. Each of us should please his neighbor for his good, to build him up" (Romans 15:1-2).

Pray for her, that she will come to realize that God loves her and Christ can change her attitudes — both about herself and about others. And ask God to help you be the kind of friend she needs — even if it is difficult at first.

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I am 14, and my mother died of cancer last year. It has been the hardest time of my life, and I don't understand why God took her. Sometimes I feel so lonely and full of grief that I just want to give up. Maybe you can give me some encouragement. — K. McD.

DEAR K.: I don't understand either why your mother had to suffer with cancer and die. We live in a world which is infected by sin and evil, and life is not always the way we wish it were. The book of Job in the Old Testament observes, "Yet man is born to trouble as surely as sparks fly upward" (Job 5:7).

I know this does not necessarily ease your pain. But there is one truth which will — and that is that God knows all about your sorrow and your hurt, and He wants to help you because He loves you. The Bible promises that "weeping may remain for a night, but rejoicing comes in the morning" (Psalm 30:5). Jesus said, "Blessed are those who mourn, for they will be comforted" (Matthew 5:4).

You have experienced a tragedy which is real and painful. But don't let it make you bitter against life or against God. Instead, ask Jesus Christ to come into your heart and take over your life. He can take away the sting of loneliness, and

He can give you hope for the future. God put you on this Earth for a purpose, and my prayer is that you will seek to follow Christ and His will for your life.

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I know this may sound odd, but I'm afraid to pray for fear I'll make a mistake and say something that is wrong or insulting to God. You see, I grew up in a church where all the prayers were memorized or written, and the idea of just praying to God and saying whatever is in your head is foreign to me. Do you understand why I feel this way? — Mrs. T.Y.

DEAR MRS. T.Y.: Yes, I do — and so does God. There is not necessarily anything wrong with the prayers you learned as a child. But God also wants you to learn to express your inner feelings and concerns to Him just as clearly as you would to a friend you trusted very much.

God takes delight in the prayers of His people! The Psalmist prayed, "Give ear to my words, O Lord, consider my sighing. Listen to my cry for help. ... Morning by morning, O Lord, you hear my voice; morning by morning I lay my requests before you and wait in expectation" (Psalm 5:1-3). Why could he say this? He could say it because he knew that God loved him, and God wanted him to pray to him.

God is not a stern judge, just waiting for us to make a mistake so he can punish us. God loves you. Do you believe that? It's true, and we know it because Christ died on the cross for our sins and rose again from the dead. And even now He is in Heaven praying for us. "For we do not have a high priest, who is unable to sympathize with our weaknesses.

Genealogical Society

The Big Spring Genealogical Society will meet April 2, 7:15 p.m., in the Howard County Library Conference Room.

Bill Steagald, Coahoma, will speak on genealogy including Civil War research. Steagald was a charter member of the Society and was instrumental in the formation and early development of the organization. He has spent many years on genealogy and had done extensive research.

Elizabeth Plett of Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada delighted members and guests with her presentation at the last meeting. She told the story of her family who immigrated into Canada from Russia in 1929 and described how they lived in an isolated area of Northern Alberta.

Her Dutch ancestry traces back to a Mennoite group who left their homes in Holland and went to Russia in the mid 17th century where they soon prospered through their farming and trade skills.

About the time of the Bolshevik Revolution they became targets of persecution and decided to leave Russia, planning to go to Canada. Leaving their possessions behind, they went by foot over the mountains into Germany. Many of them were killed. In 1929, her parents arrived in Canada.

The April issue of the Society periodical is almost ready to go to press. Anyone having records or items of genealogical interest to be included should bring them to meeting.

Elbow Extension Homemakers Club

The Elbow Extension Homemakers Club met March 19, in the home of Ireba Griffith. Eleven members and two guests, Helen McIntyre and Zay Birrell attended. Mrs. Griffith read the Devotional: Proverbs 25:11. Zula Rhodes read the thought: Spring is wonderful. It makes you feel young enough to do all the things you're old enough to know you can't.

The group will make a donation to the State 4-H Center in Brownwood. The District 6 meeting will be April 16 in Andrews.

The March birthday breakfast will be (WAS) March 25 at the Rockhouse.

Muriel Prokschl presented the program on chocolate. She said the chocolate flavor comes from the bean of the Cacao tree. These trees grow only in hot, rainy parts of the world. Africa and South America have many Cacao tree farms. The trees produce giant bean pods. The pods grow right on the tree trunk. A pod is about half the size of a football. Inside the bean is a NIB. This is the secret of the wonderful chocolate taste. The nibs are ground up into a powder that we call cocoa. In the United States, chocolate companies buy 460 million pounds of cacao beans a year.

The next meeting will be April 2 in the home of Gloria Kappes.

When teachers make learning meaningful, students learn. New Zealand has the highest literacy rate and they have a second language. Students are not taught phonics but taught in context using the whole language.

Teachers are learning to extend thinking skills into analysis, synthesis and evaluation. Analysis is taking information apart, synthesis is making something new from old learning and evaluation is thinking things through.

Blackwood Brothers at First Church of God

The legendary Blackwood Brothers Quartet will be appearing in concert April 5 at 6:30 p.m. at First Church of God, 2009 Main Street.

Their concerts are filled with the songs they helped make famous, from 1934 up to the present. Their new "Parade of Songs" spans their 55 year history, including "Turn Your Radio On," "How Great Thou Art," "Because He Lives," "Learning To Lean," and their brand new single, "Turning The Soil."

Enjoy this fabulous quartet who has traveled more miles, sung before more audiences, ministered in more countries, sold more recordings and won more awards while doing the service of the Lord than any other musical group! They are the internationally famed "Blackwood Brothers!"

First United Methodist give silver offering

Once again members of First United Methodist Church will observe the beautiful lenten tradition of the thirty pieces of silver offering, an offering going to special needs beyond the local church.

The idea of the 30 pieces of silver is based on the scriptural account of Judas betrayal of Jesus. Persons are asked to prayerfully make a gift of that amount to special offerings thus turning the amount and act of betrayal into a gift of triumph and help.

This year the council on ministries has designated the money to go to three causes:

1) Sixty percent of the total amount will go to McMurry University. The college is owned by the Northwest Texas and New Mexico Annual Conference and is located in Abilene.

2) Twenty percent of the total will go to United Methodist's One Great Hour of Sharing. This money means that wherever and whenever there is a need or a tragedy your church can be there saying "We care, here is help."

3) Twenty percent will remain at First United Methodist in the Helping Hand Fund — used to assist local and indigent persons with their needs.

Members received small plastic bags and ties in which to save their offering and return to the church. This thirty pieces of silver offering represents our gift of love! And is an opportunity of transforming the price of betrayal — 30 pieces of silver — into an offering of love.

Carry a Heavy Load of Guilt? Lifescope Says "Quit Condemning Yourself"

Don't let others spoil your faith and joy with their philosophies, their wrong and shallow answers built on men's thoughts and ideas, instead of on what Christ has said. For in Christ there is all of God in a human body; so you have everything when you have Christ, and you are filled with God through your union with Christ. He is the highest Ruler, with authority over every other power.

When you came to Christ He set you free from your evil desires, not by a bodily operation of circumcision but by a spiritual operation, the baptism of your souls.

You were dead in sins, and your sinful desires were not yet cut away. Then He gave you a share in the very life of Christ, for He forgave all your sins, and blotted out the charges proves against you, the list of His commandments which you had not obeyed. He took this list of sins and destroyed it by nailing it to Christ's cross. In this way God took away Satan's power to accuse you of sin, and God openly displayed to the whole world Christ's triumph at the cross where your sins were all taken away.

Since you became alive again, so to speak, when Christ arose from the dead, now set your sights on the rich treasures and joys of heaven where He sits beside God in the place of honor and power. Let heaven fill your thoughts; don't spend your time worrying about things down here. You should have as little desire for this world as a dead person does. Your real life is in heaven with Christ and God. And when Christ who is our real life comes back again, you will shine with Him and share in all His glories.

Who then will condemn us? Will Christ? Not! For He is the One Who died for us and came back to life again for us and is sitting at the place of highest honor next to God, pleading for us there in heaven.

This is what I have asked of God for you: that you will be encouraged and knit together by strong ties of love, and that you will have the rich experience of knowing Christ with real certainty and clear understanding. For God's secret plan, now at last made known, is Christ Himself. In Him lie hidden all the mighty, untapped treasures of wisdom and knowledge.

Woman wants to put teeth in relationship

DEAR ABBY: I met a man who is very nice in every way, and I really like him a lot. He dresses neatly and keeps his hair trimmed. However, when he smiles, he shows a tooth missing on either side of his mouth.

He has asked me a few times if I would go out with him, but I've hesitated because I know his missing teeth would bother me. He has a very good job and I'm sure he can afford dental work.

Now, I know that I am far from perfect myself, so I don't have the right to tell him how the missing teeth ruin his appearance, but I am in my 40s and there are not a lot of single men in my age bracket, and I would hate to pass up a good thing.

How would you suggest I handle

Dear Abby

— NEEDING AN ANSWER

DEAR NEEDING: The next time he asks you to go out with him, accept, and get to know him better. Then — if you think there could be a "spark" of mutual interest — suggest that he see a dentist and have those missing teeth replaced, as it would make a world of difference in his appearance.

Even if nothing comes of your relationship, you will have done this nice man an enormous favor.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I went to visit his sister. We called first and she said, "Come on over; I'd love to see you." She didn't tell us that she had a cold and a bad cough, but after we got there, she was coughing her head off and blowing her nose every two minutes. Had we known of her condition, we would not have gone to her place.

Well, two days later, my husband started feeling terrible — coughing and sneezing. The next day, I came down with the same symptoms. I went to the doctor and paid for the visit and medication.

Don't you think my sister-in-law should have told us she was ill? We would have stayed home. — SICK

AND ANGRY

DEAR SICK AND ANGRY: Yes, she should have told you she wasn't feeling well and given you the choice of whether you wanted to risk getting whatever it was that she had.

You learned a costly lesson. Before you go to visit anyone (especially this sister-in-law), inquire about her health.

DEAR ABBY: Re: "Hurting in Houston" — the woman whose mother-in-law continually sang the praises of the previous wife: I can certainly sympathize with the wife.

During the eight years of my marriage, my in-laws displayed a picture of my husband and his former fiancée. Now we are getting divorced, and I can't help but wonder if my picture will be coming down, or will it remain there to irritate any future wives or girlfriends? — CAN'T WIN IN WASHINGTON

FOR SATURDAY, MARCH 28, 1992

HAPPY BIRTHDAY! IN THE NEXT YEAR OF YOUR LIFE: Trust your instincts about money and love. Sharing your ideas with a gifted partner will help you both become more productive. September could be the best time for a vacation. Give freely when asked to aid a worthy cause in October and you will reap a wonderful reward by Christmas. You may have to work overtime to get a big project off the drawing board early in 1993. Be prepared to make intelligent concessions to a family member next February.

CELEBRITIES BORN ON THIS DATE: actors Dirk Bogarde and Ken Howard, singer Reba McEntire, actress Diane Wiest.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): An excellent day to take care of correspondence and travel arrangements. Be swift and bold; you want to generate excitement! Mull over an important decision.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Check maps and timetables to ensure smooth travel. You will feel more comfortable after a lighthearted chat with a new acquaintance. Be a pleasure-seeker tonight.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): The weekend arrives, bringing new peace of mind. Travel and parties link you to marvelous people or bargains. Be careful not to stir up a hornet's nest in romance.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): You may be able to obtain a loan for a key purchase. Shop around for the best interest rate. Avoid shirking your domestic obligations. Do your fair share of shopping or child care.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Now is the time to showcase your talents or product to influential people. Your drive and aptitude will impress someone in a position to help you. Passions are on the upswing.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Mentally and emotionally, you feel in top form. Strike while the iron is hot. You will get what you request. In romance, abandon old habits for a new approach.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): You may have to cut through a lot of red tape to advance your plans. Do not sit back and wait; get busy! Generosity will kindle the home fires tonight.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): You could be riding the crest of popularity now. Your captivating manner and gift of gab make you the center of attention. Take your show on the road.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Trying out a new look could work to your advantage. It is high-time that you cleared up a misunderstanding. Showing more compassion bridges a generation gap.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Avoid all authority figures today and forget about career pressures. Steal away to someplace new or unusual with a favorite companion. Focusing on spiritual values refreshes your soul.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Take a break from your domestic routine and have some fun. See the sights or do something out of the ordinary. An unexpected incident could shake up your love life.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): A busy pace seems to suit you now. Set out on a shopping expedition or work on a pet project. New job opportunities present themselves. Put romance on the back burner.
