Governor's team to arrive here Thursday

Representatives from Gov. Ann Richards' office, scheduled to arrive here today, will arrive Thursday. They will be in Big Spring to investigate the conflict between SouthWest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf and Howard College administration, said an office representative.

At the request of SWCID student demonstrators, Gallaudet University official Angel Ramos had a meeting with representatives from the Governor's office last week. After the meeting confirmation was given by an office representative that a team from the Education Director's office would visit SWCID and HC campuses to gather information on the conflict.

SWCID student demonstrations began April 15 after HC President Bob E. Riley announced layoffs.

Prayer day activity set

Citizens of Big Spring are being asked to participate in "Meet at City Hall" on the National Day of Prayer, Thursday from 12:20-12:40 p.m.

On this day concerned Americans are asked to gather across America at their local city halls to pray for the moral rebirth of the nation.

Churches and individuals interested in participating in "Meet at City Hall" should call 267-7015.

Morgan advises caution

The Big Spring Herald is not connected to a telemarketing program being conducted by Merchants Sampler Preferred Membership, Publisher Patrick Morgan said today.

Merchants Sampler has been conducting a telemarketing campaign in Big Spring, and the Herald has been mentioned in telemarketing sales. Morgan said the newspaper is not connected in any way to the campaign.

Morgan recommends that persons use caution in dealing with this out-of-town telemarketing campaign.

City Secretary Tom Ferguson swears in new Big Spring Mayor Tim Blackshear, right, at the city council meeting Tuesday evening.

New mayor, Beil take seats

By GARY SHANKS
Staff Writer

New Big Spring Mayor Tim Blackshear and new Place 2 council member Charles Beil were sworn in at Tuesday's special council meeting.

As his last act as Mayor before canvassing the totals of Saturday's election, Max Green delivered a proclamation to Evelyn Anderson declaring the council's recognition of the severity of the problem of mental illness in America, in accordance with National Mental Health Month.

After the vote totals were accepted by the council, the gavel was passed to Blackshear and Beil took the seat Blackshear vacated.

After being sworn in by City

Secretary Tom Ferguson, Blackshear and Beil took their respective seats to take the following action:

- Approved an ordinance amending the Citizen's Advisory Committee bylaws nepotism clause regarding relatives being police officers or convicted felons to only those persons living within the same household. Only council member Corky Harris voted against the amendment as he had reservations about the objectivity of parents even though children are living outside the household.
- Heard a report from City Manager Hal Boyd, who explained that Rolando Rios, League of United Latin American Citizens attorney in the redistricting lawsuit, expected $15,000 in fees for settling the case.
- Approved a permit for the Firefighters Association annual carnival scheduled for May 26-30.

- Approved advertising for bids for seven wells around the Signal Mountain bailer to test for methane emission from the old landfill material. The wells will be monitored by the city and the Texas Water Commission, said Tom Decell, assistant city manager.
- Voted to redistrict a vacant lot near the H.E.B. construction for parking space.
- Voted to accept the nomination of Mina Serna-Benevides by Pat DeAnda to serve on the Planning and Zoning Board.
- Ask city staff to begin advertising for a new city manager to replace the retiring Hal Boyd.
- Called a special meeting for Tuesday May 12 to address any decisions that may need to be made regarding the search for a new city manager.

A county fire truck lies on its side following a collision with a private vehicle at the intersection of Driver Road and U.S. 87 south of Big Spring Tuesday night. Seven people were injured in the accident.

7 hurt in fire truck collision

By GARY SHANKS
Staff Writer

One Big Spring man was flown in critical condition to Lubbock University Hospital in a medical helicopter while two more area residents remain in Scenic Mountain Medical Center following a collision with a county fire truck.

Shortly after 11 p.m. Tuesday, volunteer firefighter Michael Wayne Chandler, 23, of Howard County was driving a county "initial attack" truck with passengers Lance Techik, 20, of 1709 Alabama, Scott Wolverton, 28, of 428 Dallas and Larry Garcia, 25, of Big Spring.

Responding to a fire, the truck, with lights and sirens engaged, passed through the stop sign at Driver Road and U.S. Highway 87 South. Chandler reportedly did not see the other vehicle, a Pontiac Sunbird, northbound in the near lane of 87, according to police reports.

The driver of the car, Richard Harrison Price, 30, 1526 E. 17th St., attempted to stop his vehicle as he saw the fire truck. Records stated his vehicle left 112 feet of skid marks before striking the back left tires of the truck.

As the fire truck was turning south at an acute angle to the car, the force of the impact caused the truck to overturn, the report stated.

All three passengers of the car were hospitalized.

Price was flown from SMMC to Lubbock where he remains unconscious and unresponsive in critical but stable condition in the intensive care unit, according to University Hospital officials. A passenger in the car, Leslie Martin, 24, of Big Spring, remains in stable condition at SMMC. The third passenger, Philip Price, 28, of 1526 E. 17th St., remains in stable condition after undergoing emergency surgery last night, according to hospital records.

Firefighters Chandler, Techik, Wolverton and Garcia were treated and released from SMMC after being transferred from the accident scene by ambulance.

"The driver was pretty shook up. I made the others go in to get checked out," said County Volunteer Fire Chief C. Roy Wright, who was at the scene of the accident until nearly 4 a.m., he said.

No charges have been filed against any parties as yet, but the incident remains under investigation, according to police reports.

County to consider land deals

By PATRICK DRISCOLL

The Howard County Commissioners Court will meet in closed session Thursday at 4:30 p.m. to consider one of several real estate deals. One deal may benefit the county library.

No one is publicly talking about details.

"It would be good for the county if it goes through," commented County Attorney Hardy Wilkerson of a deal to be discussed Thursday. Wilkerson was involved with drawing up a contract.

Several deals are being considered, including purchasing property for the library, said County Judge Ben Lockhart. At least one purchase would be made with donated money and the transaction needs to be completed by Monday. A vote in

Bush, Clinton sweep primaries

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Bush and Bill Clinton, having crushed their lone rivals in three primaries, today resumed a White House campaign molded by racial unrest and the likelihood of competition from Ross Perot.

Bush was continuing discussions on how to respond to the violence that ripped through Los Angeles after the acquittal of four police officers charged with beating a black motorist. He was traveling there tonight to visit sites scarred by the riots and looting.

"Justice, order and tolerance... these must remain our goals as we mend the wounds of Los Angeles," Bush said Tuesday at a Cinco de Mayo ceremony at the Mexican Cultural Institute.

Clinton, who emerged from the latest round of primaries with more than 80 percent of the delegates needed to clinch the Democratic nomination, barely acknowledged his victories before bringing up last week's disturbances.

"I'm tired of the politics of racial division," the Arkansas governor said Tuesday night at a campaign party in Charlotte, N.C. "We are Southerners, you and I. We have learned the hard way that when we are divided by race we never get anywhere."

Clinton amassed nearly two-thirds of the vote in Indiana and North Carolina and close to 75 percent in the District of Columbia. Exit polls suggested he was shedding the character questions that once dogged him. Bush, who locked up enough delegates for renomination last weekend, piled up margins in the 80 percent range in the Indiana and D.C. primaries and about 71 percent in North Carolina.

Clinton picked up 151 delegates Tuesday for a total of 1,743 of the 2,145 needed to capture the nomination. Rival Jerry Brown qualified for delegates only in Indiana.

West Texas desert?

Warming, grazing could wreck area

LUBBOCK (AP) — The fabled short-grass ranchland of West Texas could be reduced to a desert of useless dirt if global warming forecasts are correct and extensive animal grazing persists, scientists say.

"You are not going to have the Sahara, but you are much more likely to see spaced out arid shrubland like you find in southeastern New Mexico," says William Schlesinger, an ecosystem scientist at Duke University.

Schlesinger, who has helped publish a study called "Biological Feedbacks in Global Desertification," says desert conditions could affect hundreds of thousands of acres used for ranching in West Texas within 100 years.

"If weather models calling for increased temperatures and drier conditions are correct, the rolling short-grass prairie ranches significant to West Texas could be in jeopardy," adds Schlesinger.

Patricia Fall of Arizona State University and Bruce Hayden of the University of Virginia have also published data showing how grazing and its effects contribute to desert conditions.

Other scientists in the field of range and wildlife management and arid studies disagree with Schlesinger's findings, saying only under the most extreme conditions could the ranchland of West Texas evolve into a grass-less, mesquite-filled dust bowl.

"The threat about global warming in so far as it applies to our area is that it's going to get hotter and drier, but it's not going to turn West Texas into a desert," says Dr. Harold Dregne, a retired professor of Texas Tech's International Center for Arid and Semi-Arid Land Studies.

Schlesinger says cattle, sheep and goats have eaten much of the region's fertile foliage, making conditions prime for mesquite and creosote bushes, which suck up valuable nutrients and thrive in desert conditions.

"Research shows areas scattered throughout the western third of Texas have lost grass due to grazing and shrubs have invaded," Schlesinger said.

"The spaces between the mesquite and creosote bushes are exposed to wind erosion and could bring about the possibility of the dust bowl" similar to those witnessed in Oklahoma and Kansas in the 1930s.

Schlesinger says the only way to preserve the grasslands of West Texas is to "reduce grazing intensity because there's nothing we can do about the weather."

Jerry Holecek, a professor of range animal ecology at New Mexico State University, agrees that "there are ranges in New Mexico and extreme West Texas that are deteriorating due to excessive numbers of livestock."

Investigators say McDuff is a remorseless killer

FORT WORTH (AP) — In 1966, prosecutors portrayed Kenneth Allen McDuff as a remorseless monster who murdered two teenage boys to get at their 16-year-old female companion.

The young woman was raped and strangled with a broomstick and her body abandoned in a field.

"If there was ever a reason for the death penalty, this was it," says a prosecutor in the case.

Now, 26 years later, investigators maintain McDuff, 46, is perhaps even more dangerous, a predator abducting, assaulting and killing a new generation of women.

At least until his arrest Monday in Kansas City, Mo.

"He was basically an animal ... who had to be taken off the streets," said U.S. Marshal Mike Earp, a task force supervisor involved in the two-month manhunt for McDuff.

The search ended without incident. Police seized him at a landfill after viewers of a television detective show tipped police to his whereabouts.

Authorities said he would be returned to Texas to face federal drug and firearm charges, state murder charges and questioning about the kidnappings and slayings of at least seven women. Who is Kenneth Allen McDuff? First and foremost, he is a small-town tough who was condemned to die in the electric chair in 1966 after shooting to death two young boys and raping and strangling their companion.

The bullet-riddled bodies of cousins Marcus Dunnam, 16, and Robert Brand, 17, were found in a car trunk. The body of Edna Louise Sullivan, 16, was recovered from a remote field south of Fort Worth.

McDuff denied involvement but was implicated by his companion, Roy Dale Green, 18. Green received a five-year prison sentence.

McDuff's sentence was commuted to life imprisonment when the death penalty in its earlier form was struck down. He was paroled in 1969.

"It was the most heartless case I ever prosecuted," recalls Charles Butts, now a San Antonio attorney.

"My personal impression was that McDuff was a heartless, cold-blooded, methodical killer."

Mrs. Martha Royal, McDuff's fifth grade teacher in the tiny Central Texas hamlet of Rosebud, remembers McDuff as an intelligent youngster but something of a loner.

Kenneth Allen McDuff, center, is flanked by Tarrant County Sheriff's Office officials during his 1966 trial for murder. McDuff was arrested Monday in Kansas City, Mo. Monday in connection with the disappearance of Melissa Northrup of Waco.

Paroled killer sought in cases of 7 women

DALLAS (AP) — A trail of bodies has dogged Kenneth Allen McDuff since he was first paroled from death row in 1969.

Within days a prostitute was found dead in Temple, and the numbers increased following a second release in 1990.

McDuff became the object of a nationwide manhunt this year after another man told police he and McDuff had abducted a woman from an Austin carwash.

The manhunt ended in Kansas City, Mo., Monday when McDuff was arrested at his job as a trash collector. He was arraigned Tuesday before a federal magistrate and advised of Texas charges of firearm possession by a felon and distributing LSD.

McDuff, 46, is being held without bail by the U.S. Marshals Service. A public defender will be appointed and McDuff could be returned to Texas anytime after a second hearing, currently scheduled for Wednesday, to ensure he is the person named in the charges.

"In my opinion, I have not looked for anybody worse than this individual," said Sam Williams, supervisor for the U.S. Marshal's Western District office in San Antonio.

In Rosebud, a town of 1,638 about 50 miles southeast of Waco, talk has been of nothing but McDuff, who spent most of his childhood there, before moving with his family to Temple in the 1960s.

"Of course everyone was nervous I guess. Kenneth was so cold-blooded. They were not happy with him being out of prison," said Martha Royal, McDuff's fifth grade teacher.

Texas police are anxious to question him about cases involving seven women.

Three days after McDuff's 1969 parole in Milam County, 31-year-old prostitute Sarafia Parker was found dead in nearby Temple, where McDuff's parole officers was based.

Names in the news

UNIVERSAL CITY, Calif. (AP) — Director Walter Hill is going to have to find a new name for "Looters," his movie starring rappers Ice-T and Ice Cube.

Universal Pictures ordered a new title and postponed the suspense-adventure film's summer release because of the Los Angeles riot.

Given the events in Los Angeles we found it necessary to avoid any misperception about its content," said studio spokeswoman Tracy Masington.

The movie is about two rural farmers who cross paths with criminals while searching for stolen loot in an abandoned East St. Louis, Ill., tenement.

Hill directed the Eddie Murphy hit "48 HRS."

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Country singer Rodney Crowell says he doesn't know if his latest album will match the success of "Diamonds & Dirt."

After all, that album had five No. 1 singles.

"It's unfair to put that kind of expectation on something," he said Tuesday about his eighth album, "Life Is Messy."

But he said the new album is "heads and tails above" the 1989 recording "in terms of what I wanted to fulfill as an artist."

ENGLEWOOD, N.J. (AP) — A prosecutor called Wilson Pickett "a loaded gun" at a hearing during which the singer pleaded innocent to drunken driving.

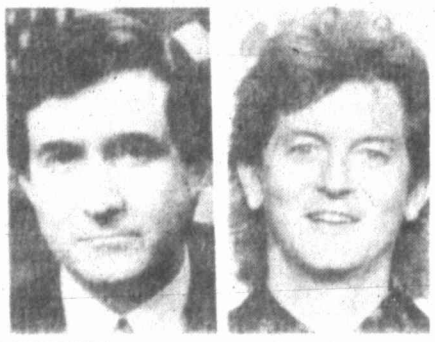

Municipal Judge Joseph Clark on Tuesday ordered Pickett to get help for his alcohol problem but refused to revoke his driver's license.

Pickett was released without bail.

In arguing for revocation, Prosecutor Leopold Monaco said of the 31-year-old rhythm and blues singer, "I'm still being out there ... is like a loaded gun."

Pickett also faces drunken driving charges in a separate case from last year. And on Monday, prosecutors agreed to drop assault charges filed by a former girlfriend after Pickett agreed to enter alcohol rehabilitation.

NEW YORK (AP) — Forrest Sawyer, who won acclaim for his front line coverage of the Persian Gulf War, is getting his own news magazine show on ABC.

The as-yet unnamed show starts this summer.

"Forrest's greatest strengths are his intelligence and his versatility," ABC News President Roone Arledge said Tuesday.

Sawyer, anchorman of ABC's "World News Sunday" since 1989, spent eight months in the Middle East, from the beginning of the Persian Gulf crisis, through the war and its aftermath.

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (AP) — "60 Minutes" humorist Andy Rooney visited Penn State University to speak on a subject close to his heart — ice cream.

"There aren't any bad flavors, with the possible exception of pistachio," he said Tuesday at the school's ice cream celebration.

Penn State was founded as an agricultural school and is known for its research in ice cream.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor George Peppard had a malignant tumor removed from his right lung that was previously believed to be benign, a spokeswoman says.

The 63-year-old former star of "The A-Team" underwent surgery Monday and got a clean bill of health, Cheryl J. Kagan said.

The tumor was discovered in February on X-rays taken when Peppard came down with gastritis. At the time, he said a biopsy showed the tumor was benign, but he vowed to quit his two-pack-a-day smoking habit.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Country singer Doug Stone is out of the hospital after undergoing quadruple bypass surgery.

Stone, 35, whose hit records include "Jukebox With a Country Song" and "I'd Be Better Off (In a Pine Box)," was released Tuesday.

Governor names Meek's replacement

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Ann Richards appointed a Houston lawyer Tuesday as the first Hispanic member of the Public Utility Commission, filling the vacancy created last month by Paul Meek's resignation.

Karl Rabago, a University of Houston law professor, is Richards' second appointee on the three-person commission. All three board members are now from the Houston area.

Karl Rabago brings a strong voice for consumers to the Public Utility Commission," the governor said.

"His background and understanding of environmental law and electric utility regulation brings a new perspective to this critical commission," she said.

Rabago, 34, has taught environmental law, electric utility regulation and criminal law at UH the last two years.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Exports of U.S. horticultural products in February totaled $500.9 million, 27 percent more than the same month a year earlier.

The biggest increases were in exports of fresh oranges, apples, pears, almonds, processed tomato products and hops, the Agriculture Department said in a report this month. The only decrease was in the dried fruit category.

For the first five months of fiscal 1992, the total value of U.S. horticultural exports was $2.5 billion — 15 percent over the same period last fiscal year. All commodity groups registered export gains during this period.

French imports of U.S. wines were up 28 percent in volume for the period, to 418,258 liters, as well as up 28 percent in value, to $1.8 million. French imports of U.S. wines have grown 42 percent in both volume and value since 1988.

Exports of frozen strawberries in 1991 totaled 43,189 metric tons, up 11 percent from 1990. Canada accounted for 84 percent of the total, making it the largest market. Strawberry exports to Japan, the second leading market, increased by 8 percent in 1991.

Exports of frozen strawberries in 1991 totaled 11,839 tons, down 20 percent from a year earlier. "This reduction was due largely to a decline in U.S. shipments to Japan," the report said.

Canned fruit exports totaled $54.6 million in 1991, a 29 percent increase from 1990. Larger sales to Canada and Japan accounted for 60 percent of the total increase.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Milk producers who reduced their marketing in 1991 were refunded $23.164 million, according to the Commodity Credit Corporation.

Under the 1990 farm bill, dairy farmers were assessed 5 cents per hundredweight (or hundred pounds) of milk marketed in calendar year 1991. A producer who did not market more milk in 1991 than in 1990 was eligible for a total refund of the assessment.

The refund had to be claimed by March 16.

Eligible producers filed 47,805 applications and claimed refunds of $23.164 million based on reduced milk marketings of 4.6 billion pounds, said Keith Bjerke, executive vice president of the Commodity Credit Corporation.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department is seeking nominations to fill nine member and nine alternate positions on the American Egg Board for the 1993-94 term.

The 18-member board administers the producer-sponsored research, consumer education and promotion program designed to strengthen the egg industry's position in the marketplace.

Daniel D. Haley, administrator of USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service, said 39 producer groups are certified to submit nominations for the board. Two-year terms for nine current board members and their alternates expire at the end of 1992. Half the board membership is replaced each year.

One juror speaks out on Rodney King case

SIMI VALLEY, Calif. (AP) — A juror in the Rodney King case says fellow members of the panel had made up their minds before deliberations began and mocked and pressured her when she fought for at least one conviction.

One panel member said King "deserved" the beating from police, said the juror, Virginia Loya.

VIRGINIA LOYA

Mrs. Loya, the lone Hispanic on the panel, said she agreed to speak publicly Tuesday after hearing criticism of the jury, which was all white except for her and an Asian.

"They keep saying all the jurors are this way. It was not all the jurors," she said in an interview at her home. "Don't they know there were four of us that fought?"

Mrs. Loya said she, another woman and two men held out for conviction of Officer Laurence Powell on a charge of assault. The jury deadlocked on that count, but the four white Los Angeles officers were acquitted of all other charges.

"We would break out in tears and tell them to open up their eyes and see," Mrs. Loya recalled of the seven days of deliberations. "It's like they wanted to see what they wanted to see. They already had their minds made up."

She said she was mocked by other jurors when she demanded they replay the videotape over and over. "They would say, 'Oh, Virginia wants to see the tape again,'" she recalled.

She said that there was enormous pressure to go along with the acquittals and that at one point a woman juror declared that King "deserved it."

"I said she had a poor choice of words because no one deserves to be beaten," Mrs. Loya recalled.

She displayed her notes from the trial, including seven points of evidence that she had seen as proving Powell's guilt.

But she said the other jurors explained away each point, including Powell's purported laughter on an audio tape as he called an ambulance for King.

She said the other jurors told her: "It sounded like a laugh, but he was really taking a deep breath and he was tired and exhausted."

She said she fasted for a day and a half, wept and "asked God to help me get out of this" as fellow jurors pressured her to acquit the four policemen.

Gang members pledge to join forces

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The rival Blood and Crip gangs say they have joined forces, but for what exact purpose they won't say. A flier addressed to gang members is circulating on the streets with the message "Open season on LAPD."

The Police Department, meanwhile, said it is investigating news reports that gang members took a leading role in last week's riots.

In an unusual gathering of the archenemy street gangs on Tuesday, Crip and Blood leaders said the riots show that inner-city blacks cannot continue killing each other.

"Up to now, they've been getting us to kill each other. We've always been singled out. We're against the police because they're against us," said a man who identified himself as Chop, a 27-year-old Crip.

"We've been tearing each other up long enough," said Kip-Loc, identifying himself by his Crip nickname. "What the riots did was bring us close together."

Asked what they're uniting against, 22-year-old Spud of the Bloods replied, "Who else they going against? The system."

Meanwhile, fliers urging retaliation against police are circulating in urban neighborhoods.

"Open season on LAPD," the fliers say. "To all Crips and Police said the document appeared authentic.

"It's something that we certainly will be paying attention to," said Sgt. Steve Laroche, a member of department's gang unit.

Laroche also said police are investigating news reports that some gang members, linked by beepers and cellular phones, helped organize the rioting. Many of the 13,000 people arrested for looting and arson were gang members.

20 die in collapse of grandstand

BASTIA, Corsica (AP) — Authorities were still shutting injured soccer fans to mainland hospitals today as prosecutors opened a homicide investigation in the collapse of a temporary grandstand that killed at least 20 people.

Officials said that 60 of the 700 injured were hurt seriously in Tuesday night's tragedy, which occurred just before a French Cup semifinal was to have begun. They said the death toll could mount.

Authorities said the stands were not solidly fixed to the ground. The temporary stands for 10,000, made of metal tubing, had been brought in to increase the regular capacity of 8,500 seats at the stadium on Corsica, an island territory of France, for a match between Bastia and Olympique Marseille.

Several spectators said fans had been stomping their feet just before the collapse, and that the metal scaffolding was unsteady. Fans were unable to hear several warnings broadcast over loudspeakers to stop the stamping.

"The stand vibrated about three seconds, then just fell over," said Bastia fan Antoine Casanova. "When we arrived there were still workers tightening the bolts on the scaffolding."

"There was a huge noise, then an immense silence, and then cries for help," Bastia fan Jose Poggioli said. "It was horrible — a mass of metal tubes, and fans covered with blood."

The collapse of the top 15 rows of the stand built on the north end of the field threw some spectators 80 feet to the ground.

The tragedy quickly saturated hospitals on this Mediterranean island. Helicopters evacuated the injured from the playing field, where some received first aid and blood transfusions.

Air force and private planes shuttled hundreds of injured to mainland hospitals. By mid-morning, many families remained without word on the condition of their loved ones.

French Football Federation president Jean Fournet-Fayard said the stands had been inspected and certified on Monday.

Alain Giordanengo, president of the Entreprense General du Midi firm that built the stand over the last week, called the accident baffling.

"Even if some (cross-bars) don't hold, they should be supported by the others. It's really incomprehensible," Giordanengo told Europe-1 radio.

Prosecutors in Bastia opened an investigation on charges of involuntary homicide and injuries.

Teachers like classroom TV

The saddest thing about the results of a new study of the educational benefits of Channel One, the Whittle Communications daily video news program with commercials that's shown in many high schools, is not that students don't learn much from it, but that most teachers think it's wonderful.

According to the survey, conducted by the University of Michigan's Institute of Social Research, students who watched the program knew little more about current events than those who did not. What the students liked best, according to the researchers, were the soft features — about pop music, fashion and summer jobs — and what they remembered most were the commercials.

Nonetheless, almost half said they learned something important; among their teachers, 60 percent said they would strongly recommend the program to others while 27 percent said they would recommend it with reservations. Only 6 percent said they would not recommend it.

The big attraction of Channel One, which condenses and dumbs down the news considerably more than the nightly network programs, is that it lends TV receivers and other equipment to the schools that use it — provided that the schools make all their students watch it.

Not surprisingly, the program, which includes two minutes of commercials in each day's 12-minute program, has met strong opposition from some educators. Nonetheless, far more teen-agers now get their "news" from Whittle than from the three major networks combined.

It doesn't have to be that way. It would be easy enough for teachers to require students to watch the news on one of the commercial networks, or the MacNeil-Lehrer News Hour on PBS — or to read a newspaper — and then to discuss the major events with their students the next day.

The Channel One study showed, not surprisingly, that the students learned more from the program when their teachers made it part of their lessons than when they did not. But it also showed how bad things are in most schools.

When teachers like the thin gruel that Whittle provides, they are speaking volumes about how desperate things are — how poor the resources, how insubstantial the fare.

Show the real thing before the counterfeit

To the editor: When the Treasury Department begins to train a group of new agents to enforce the counterfeit money and securities laws in our country, they don't begin by showing their agents fake money until they have spent days studying the real thing. In this way, when a counterfeit is presented to them, the newly trained agent can spot the signs of counterfeit.

When a good dog trainer wants to train a bird dog, he never allows the dog to associate with or even view rats, cats, or rabbits until the dog is thoroughly familiar and keyed on birds only. In fact, when a person wishes to teach another person, or even an animal anything, the best method is positive reinforcement. It would be virtually impossible to get a reliable Treasury agent by training him through showing him thousands of counterfeits before showing him one true bill.

Is it any less foolish to teach our school children the negative side of our nation's social, racial and moral degradation before they are skilled in the positive elements of those same issues? Our public school system has taken upon itself to instruct our children and grandchildren in a code of immorality before they even know what is good moral character.

In fact, textbooks ignore anything religious and any hint that there might be some things which are absolutely right and absolutely wrong. Instead, schools increasingly are leading our children into a system of thought which supports socialism and humanism which have now established themselves as historical failures.

Instead of supporting some system of morality which might prevent many of our social problems from getting larger, they attempt to apply band aids to the wounds created by a lack of moral conscience. . . . Perhaps it is time that we become less concerned with treading upon the religious beliefs of our children and become more concerned about children who grow up with no beliefs at all.

Afterthoughts on the Los Angeles riot

James J. Kilpatrick

The fires of Los Angeles are out. The last troops are leaving. Now the fault-finding begins anew. Liberal voices will be heard in one more chorus of the same old song: White society must bear the blame. We brought it on ourselves.

This is nonsense. Rubbish! I am sick to death of this drooling "compassion" that lacks every element of true compassion.

No one is responsible for this appalling spectacle but the blacks — and whites — who looted the stores, set the fires and killed with senseless abandon. Sociology was damned. Let the academics wait over the residual psychological consequences of 19th-century slavery. This is history. Let us talk of grand larceny, arson and murder.

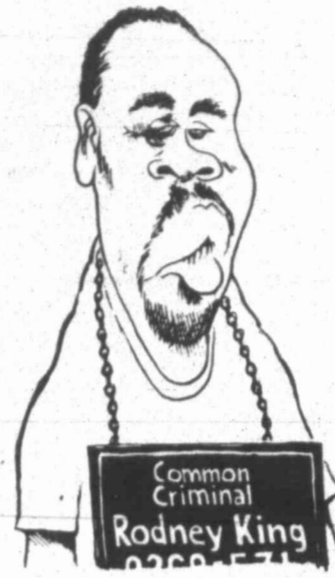

How are these crimes to be excused? They cannot be excused. They cannot be justified. If individual criminals can be identified from television tape, they ought to be rounded up and promptly put to trial.

It was the jury's verdict in the case of Rodney King that sparked the rioting. If the verdict had gone the other way — if the cops had been found guilty of assault — riot might have erupted out of jubilation rather than despair. The verdict was a flimsy excuse for a mob to hit the streets.

What about the verdict? Right or wrong? We have now heard from a hundred million second-guessers, none of whom had access to the evidence actually put before the California court. Did the state prove its case — prove it beyond a reasonable doubt? I have no idea. The jurors saw the famous TV tape, frame by frame. They gave the evidence the kind of scrutiny no one else has given it.

Out of that careful judicial process came the acquittal. This was

Common Criminal Rodney King

Acts of Excessive Stupidity.

B. The beating of Rodney King...

C. Rioting, looting, arson and killing...

no hung jury, irreconcilably split between conviction and acquittal. From the beginning of their deliberations, the jurors reported were of one mind. The evidence was not enough to overcome their reasonable doubts.

The American judicial process is not perfect. It is merely better than any other process yet devised. Yes, it is still flawed by racial bias. I am a reporter. Fifty years ago I was covering trials in Police Court and Hustings Court in Richmond, Va. Blacks were treated unconsciously then.

But during my years in Richmond I witnessed a tremendous change in the administration of justice. The worst abuses were eliminated. Every city in the South, to the best of my knowledge, has gone through the same experience. Beyond the South, courts function, for the most part, with an even hand.

Apologists for the black rioters complain that proportionately more blacks than whites are in jail. This is true. Why should this be so? The blunt answer is that blacks commit more crime, per capita, than whites. Yes, there are plenty of white robbers, muggers, skinheads, arsonists. No one excuses their conduct. They have no excuses either.

How can future outbreaks of mob violence be deterred? It may prove impossible to deter them. For the short haul, taxpayers in urban areas should prepare themselves to pay whatever is necessary to maintain order, for order is essential. Without order nothing can be accomplished. This will mean more police, more judges, more jails. So be it.

For the long haul — and it will be a very long haul — the community must rely upon black leadership. Legislators have yet to address themselves to the root causes of black crime; they do not yet understand that most programs of public welfare have served to make bad matters worse.

In my lifetime I have observed the disintegration of the black family and the black community. It never used to be this way. Most black children grew up with mothers and fathers who instilled in them the values of a Judeo-Christian ethic. Black ministers served effectively. Segregated schools were morally indefensible, but black teachers taught black children to be respectful of their elders.

The task of changing attitudes is immense. White society offers little help. What a sterling example has been set by Congress! What role models we provide! How can whites criticize black illegitimacy when white entertainers flaunt their own bastard offspring?

Our intellectual leaders condone pornography. Television screens resound with violence. Movies exploit sexual relations shorn of love. Without a return to the old virtues, the lawless mobs of May will form again. God help us, our social fabric rots.

They sure ain't blue suede shoes

As my close friends can verify, I am quite fashion conscious. A regular clotheshorse, I seek to be dressed correctly for all occasions.

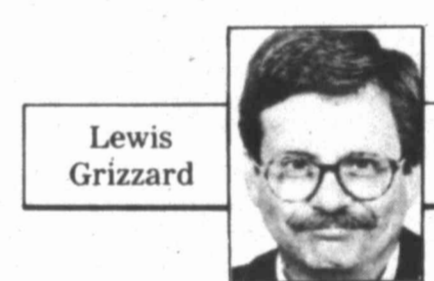

My formal evening attire, for instance, is always impeccable. For one thing, Harvey, the guy over at the tax rental place, always sees to it any cummerbund I get has no soap stains on it from a previous wearing.

For a more casual look I prefer the seersucker jacket I bought in 1964 for fraternity rush, the khaki slacks I wore on the bus to Panama City, Fla., on my first honeymoon and my faded blue Izod shirt, the one my third wife gave me for Christmas, the same year I gave her a new stepladder so she wouldn't have to borrow one from the neighbors when she cleaned the gutters.

Because I am such a slave to fashion I always look forward to Easter when I can begin wearing my white Gucci loafers again. As a yone with taste knows, one should never, ever, wear white until Easter. I've had my white Guccis for several years now. How I scrimped and saved to buy them.

Every extra dime went into my white Gucci account. When I finally had enough money I went to the Gucci store, accompanied by an armed Wells Fargo guard, to purchase them.

Desmondi, the Gucci footwear

consultant, went back to the store safe and brought out the dazzling loafers.

You should have heard the "ooohs" and "aaaahs" when I placed them on my feet and went for a test walk.

"Bravo!" gushed Desmondi. "Prego!" I said. "Prego" is Italian for "eat my dust." These weren't shoes I was wearing. These were a Ferrari tearing down the Apian Way.

I wanted white Guccis since I had seen a pair in the Gucci store in Florence during a European vacation.

I wasn't able to purchase them at the time, however, due to the fact my wife had already worn the writing off my credit card in previous stops in Paris and London.

I was also short of liras because the guy at the glass factory in Venice insisted on cash for the glass gondola my wife insisted I buy her or she wouldn't clean the gutters anymore.

But I vowed one day to own a pair of white Guccis and to wear them without socks, a trend I started at the University of Georgia in 1966 when I discovered black, over-the-calf men's hose had gone to $3 a pair.

White Guccis with no socks does make a rather bold fashion statement: casual, but elegant.

So I went through my clothes the other day and took out my white Guccis and made preparation to wear them.

I removed a wad of fossilized gum from the sole of the left shoe. I apparently picked up the gum when I last wore my Guccis Labor Day eve at my club's End of Summer Dance, featuring Eddie Cochran and the Cobs, who did a mixture of old favorites such as "Satin Doll," as well as modern tunes such as "The Theme from ABC News."

It came back to me. My companion for the evening, a young lady I had met in the hardware store who was shopping for a new stepladder for her gutter-cleaning business had popped in a piece of Juicy Fruit just before the last dance to the band's romantic rendition of "Jeremiah Was a Bullfrog."

Yes, the moment soon will be at hand when I can put on my white Guccis once more and become the envy of all the fashion conscious.

Forget the Italian Stallion. The Gucci Kid rides again.

Knicks shock Bulls, 94-89

The ASSOCIATED PRESS
The New York Knicks came up with a Pat answer for the Chicago Bulls.
Patrick Ewing had 34 points, 16 rebounds, six blocks and five assists Tuesday night as the Knicks ended a 14-game losing streak against the Bulls with a 94-89 victory in the opener of their second-round NBA playoff series.
"He showed us his versatility as a center," said Michael Jordan, who led the defending champion Bulls with 31 points.
Ewing made the go-ahead basket and four clinching free throws in the final 30 seconds to give the Knicks their first win at Chicago Stadium in five years.
"I was just playing my game," Ewing said. "We kept our focus and fought back. The challenge was winning."
Chicago coach Phil Jackson said the Bulls, who hadn't played since sweeping Miami six days earlier, were hurt by the inactivity.
"This game was evidence of a long layoff," he said. "I think it was the longest of the year for us. The ball handling and hand-eye coordination was not there."

NBA Playoffs

In another second-round opener, Terry Porter led the Portland Trail Blazers to a 113-111 victory over the visiting Phoenix Suns. Porter scored 31 points, including two free throws with 21 seconds left, and made a crucial defensive play in the closing seconds to clinch it.
"This game hurts more than any game I can recall," said Kevin Johnson, who scored 24 points for the Suns. "This one hurts deep down in my gut."
In tonight's only game, Seattle visits Utah in the opener of their Western Conference semifinal series. On Thursday, it's New York at Chicago and Phoenix at Portland.

Knicks 94, Bulls 89
Ewing scored 28 points in the second half, including a basket that ended a 13-0 run that gave Chicago its first lead of the game late in the fourth quarter.
Ewing put the Knicks ahead 87-86 on a 17-foot jumper with 2:05 left. After the Bulls tied it on a free throw by Jordan, Ewing put New York ahead to stay, 89-87, on a short jumper with 30 seconds remaining.
The Knicks showed surprising stamina after finishing a tough, five-game series with Detroit on Sunday.
"We came off a very emotional Game 5 with little time to prepare," coach Pat Riley said. "When it got tough in the fourth quarter, we got paralyzed for a few minutes, but Patrick bailed us out."
Despite the loss, Jordan remained optimistic.
"They are for real and a team to be dealt with," he said of the Knicks. "But one game does not make a series."

Trail Blazers 113, Suns 111
Portland shot only 39 percent from the field, but made twice as many free throws as Phoenix (38-19) and had a 25-15 advantage on the offensive boards.
"We were really aggressive," Portland coach Rick Adelman said. "We weren't shooting very well, but we wanted to keep pressure on them at the basket. They blocked some shots, but we were just relentless."
Phoenix coach Cotton Fitzsimmons was furious at the officials for sending the Blazers to the free-throw line 23 more times than the Suns.
"I just felt we should have won the game," he told reporters. "I think most of you in your hearts feel that way, too."
Porter made two free throws with 21.1 seconds left to give the Trail Blazers their first lead of the final quarter, 112-111.
On Phoenix's next possession, Porter knocked the ball away from Johnson. Portland's Clyde Drexler, who finished with 26 points and 10 rebounds, grabbed it and was fouled with 10.3 seconds remaining.

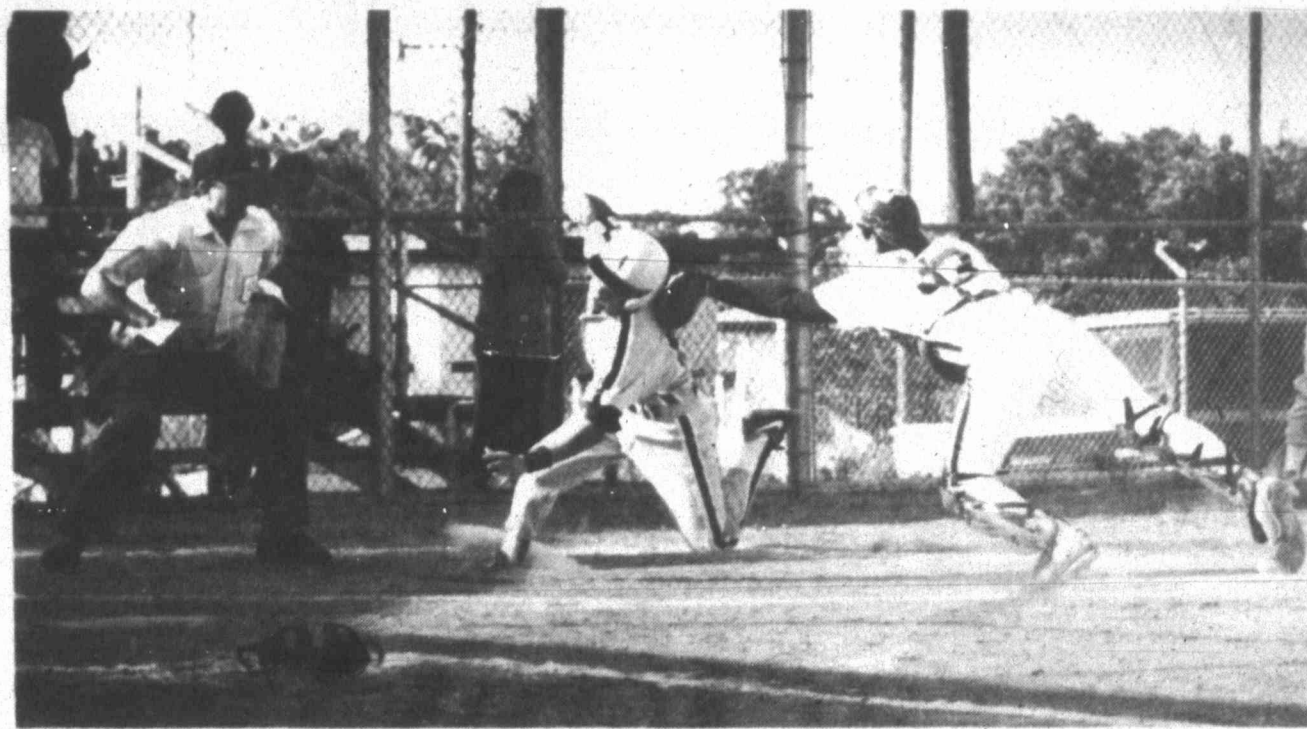

Big inning sends Steers into first

By MIKE BUTTS
Staff Writer

Steer coach Bobby Doe said he didn't vehemently argue with the home plate umpire in the fifth inning of Big Spring's game with Andrews Tuesday to get a rise out of his players. He just thought the umpire had missed an important call at the plate on Andrews baserunner Vincent Dominguez.
But none the less, when the Steers came to bat in the bottom of the fifth after Doe was confined to the dugout for arguing, they came up with six runs and went on to beat Andrews, 8-4, at Steer Park.

The win catapulted the Steers, 7-3-1 in district and 12-11-1 overall, into first place in district 3-4A with one game left on their schedule.
Big Spring plays Sweetwater Tuesday in Sweetwater. A win there would give them the district title. If Sweetwater defeats Pecos Saturday it will enter the Big Spring game tied with the Steers for first place.
The Steers could still miss the playoffs if they lose to Sweetwater and Andrews and Pecos win their last two games.

When the home plate umpire called Dominguez safe at the plate in the fifth inning it gave the Mustangs a 4-2 lead.
Steer second baseman Pat Martinez's relay throw to catcher Mike Oliva beat Dominguez home and Oliva, about four feet up the line, swung around to tag Dominguez's back. The umpire ruled he missed the tag.
"Mike tagged him and knocked him off stride and he (Dominguez) went out of the base line," Doe said. "When I got confined to the dugout the guys fought back hard. Either that or they're getting a whole lot more runs for the other coaches (who replaced me on the field) than (for) me."

The win marks the first time Big Spring has won two from Andrews since it began playing in the same district with the Mustangs in 1986, Doe said. The Steers beat Andrews 4-3 March 24 at Andrews in Big Spring's first district game of the season.
"They did what they had to do to get back in the game," Mustang coach Joe Ray Halsey said of the Steers. "Their relief pitching was excellent."

Luis Bustamante relieved starter Gerald Cobos in the sixth inning with the Steers ahead by four, the bases loaded and one out. He struck out two batters to end the inning and then allowed only one base runner in the seventh on an error.

Cobos picked up his second win against four losses giving up three earned runs and six hits in five and 1/3 innings.
The Steers big fifth inning was aided by five walks, with the last two base on balls bringing in runs. Andrews used four pitchers in the inning, who together surrendered four hits.

"Our pitchers just couldn't find the strike zone whatsoever," Halsey said. "And we tried a lot of 'em (pitchers)."

Big Spring sent 11 batters to the plate in the fifth. Designated hitter John Kennedy led off the six-run frame with a walk. Martinez followed with a single.
Center fielder Abel Hilario then drove in two runs with a single to tie the game at 4-4.
Two batters later Gerald Cobos walked. With two outs Oliva knocked in his second and third runs of the contest with a single to left, giving the Steers a 6-4 lead.

Mike Ross's single and three consecutive walks led to the last two runs of the inning giving the Steers an 8-4 lead.
The Steers fell behind 3-0 after a disastrous first inning in which they committed three errors.
They came back quickly with two in the bottom of the second on RBI by Brandon Rodgers and Oliva, but Doe said he is concerned about his team's tendency to fall behind in early innings.
"At one point in time you're not going to be able to fight back," he said. "You're going to need to be able to get a lead and jump on people."

The Mustang's Jamie Emiliano took the loss in relief of Chad Gatlin, who entered the game with a 6-2 record. Emiliano gave up five runs on four hits in the fifth inning.
Andrews drops to 6-4 in district and 14-10 overall.

Wall forces rubber match with Coahoma

COAHOMA - Wall stayed alive in the District 6-2A baseball race by edging the Coahoma Bulldogs 8-7 Tuesday afternoon.

The Hawks win gives both Coahoma and Wall a 1-1 district record. The deciding game is Tuesday at 4:30 p.m. in Wall. Coahoma is 10-5 overall.

The Hawks hit Coahoma pitching well, registering 13 hits, compared to five for Coahoma. Coahoma was also plagued by five errors, compared to one for Wall.

Mark Arguello was the losing pitcher for Coahoma, going five 1/3 innings. Brandon McGuire pitched the rest of the game.

Wall never trailed in the contest, jumping out to a 5-0 lead in the top of the fourth inning.

Wall roughed Arguello up in the third inning, scoring four runs on five hits. Wall added a run in the top of the fourth before Coahoma got on the scoreboard.

The Bulldogs came up with two runs in the bottom of the inning thanks to three walks and base hits by Brian Sledge, Dave Park and Brent Elmore.

Wall scored a run in the top of the fifth but Coahoma scored twice more in the bottom of the inning. Five Bulldogs walked with Steven New and Mark Arguello scoring runs. Wall led 6-4.

Wall scored its final two runs in the sixth, taking an 8-4 lead before

Coahoma launched a last inning comeback attempt in the bottom of the seventh.

Arguello walked, followed by a single by Sledge. With one out Lowery walked, loading the bases for Jeff Phermetton. The Bulldogs then pulled off a double squeeze play with Phermetton's bunt going between the shortstop and third baseman. Both Mike Mendez, running for Arguello, and Sledge scored, cutting the lead to 8-6.

Lowery scored the last run of the game via a passed ball. Wall got the final out of the game by throwing out Phermetton trying to steal third base.

"It would've been nice to win it (district championship) at home," Coahoma coach Doc Rowell said. "We didn't hit the ball very well and the errors hurt us. We made some mental errors too, especially our base running."

"In the fifth inning we had already scored two runs and the bases were loaded with no outs. Kenny Lowery hit a line shot to the shortstop and he tagged Brian Sledge for a double play. Brian went too far off the base. He was already even with the shortstop. That took us out of a big inning."

Daly leaves Pistons

BLOOMFIELD HILLS, Mich. (AP) - When Chuck Daly found there was "just no place to go" in the Detroit Pistons organization, he decided to just go.

Daly, who led the Pistons to two NBA titles, bid farewell to the team during a news conference at his restaurant Tuesday.

At the moment, he doesn't know where he's going. And he doesn't care.

"It's not easy to separate, or say 'Goodbye.' But I've known for a long time I was ready for it," said Daly, who led the Pistons for nine years. "I was ready for it. It's been time for a long time."

"I think you're going to look back on this as a legendary time in basketball in Detroit," said Daly, who led the Pistons to the Eastern Conference finals five times, the NBA finals three times, and consecutive championships in 1989 and 1990.

Daly, 61, who began his coaching career over 30 years ago at Punxsutawney High School in his native Pennsylvania, made collegiate stops at Penn, Boston College and Duke, and had NBA jobs in Philadelphia and Cleveland before rescuing the Pistons.

Howard athletes honored

The Howard College Athletic Banquet ended and era at the college, and outgoing Athletic Director Bill Griffin raked up the awards.

Griffin, who is leaving Howard to start a baseball program at Northeast Texas Community College, ended his nine-year tenure as Athletic Director at Howard. Griffin, his wife Mel and daughter Ginger received several awards. Included among the awards was a World Series watch presented by Howard President Dr. Bob E. Riley.

Riley told the Howard athletes that lately he's been under a lot of pressure with the recent budget cuts at the school. "What you athletes have gone through this year, the lessons you've learned from coping with your class schedule and the pressure of athletics, is really preparing you for life," Riley said.

"In your lifetime you will be confronted with situations you have to deal with. What you learn in athletics will come back to help you in life."

The big award winners were the Most Valuable Players in each sport. The awards went to Santiago Rivera in baseball, Mark Davis in men's basketball, T.J. Kenney in men's rodeo, Jamie Bean in women's rodeo and Desiree Wallace in women's basketball.

Shortstop Rivera is a sophomore transfer from Eastern Pennsylvania University. The Puerto Rican native is currently leading the Hawks baseball team in batting with a .449 average and leading the nation in runs batted in with 82.

Kenney is a sophomore from Pecos. He led Howard's men's rodeo team in scoring with 385 points. He finished second in the Southwest Region in saddle bronc riding. He will compete in the National Finals Rodeo in Bozeman, Mont., June 13-22.

Bean led the Howard women's rodeo team in scoring with 620 points. The sophomore from Fort Hancock won the Southwest Region in barrel racing and is currently ranked second in the nation in that event. Bean will also compete in the NFR.

Davis is a freshman from Thibodaux, La. The forward averaged 15 points and seven rebounds per game. He was an All-Western Junior College Athletic Conference selection.

Wallace is a sophomore from Amarillo who recently signed a scholarship agreement with the University of Missouri. The forward averaged 10 points and seven rebounds per game. She was named the All-Region V team.

Ralph Johnson was named to the Howard College Hall of Fame. Here is a list of the other athletic award winners.

Trio haunts former teammates

The ASSOCIATED PRESS

The last time the Minnesota Twins saw Frank Viola, Jeff Reardon and Tom Brunansky together on the same field, it was one of the greatest days in team history. That was on Oct. 25, 1987, the night the Twins clinched their first World Series championship with a 4-2 victory over St. Louis in Game 7 at the Metrodome. Viola was the winning pitcher and earned the MVP award, Reardon got the save and Brunansky scored the go-ahead run in the sixth inning.

On Tuesday night, the Twins saw Viola, Reardon and Brunansky together again, this time playing for the Boston Red Sox. And it was almost a repeat performance for the trio as Viola was the winner, Reardon got the save and Brunansky hit a two-run single in a 4-1 victory over Minnesota.

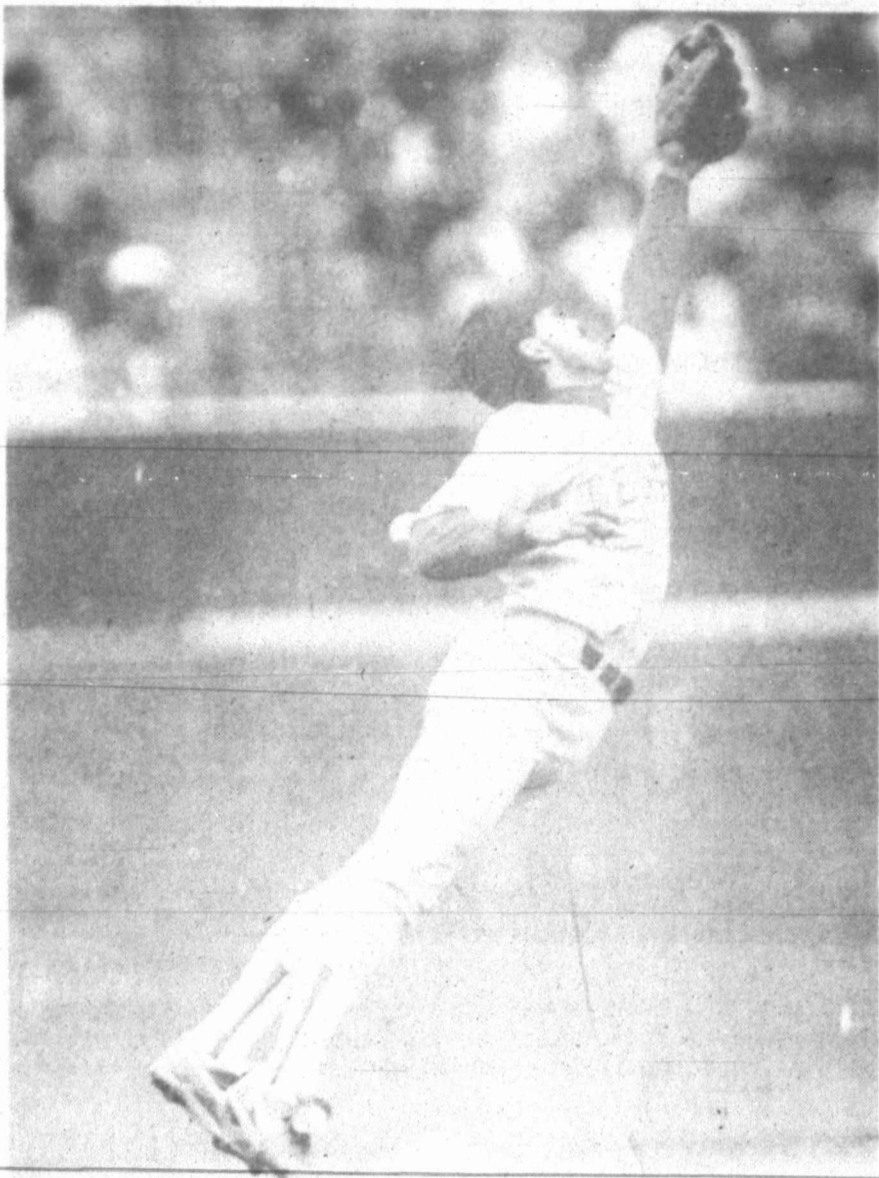

"It was an ex-Twin night," Viola said. "I did my job, Bruno got some big hits and Jeff wrapped it up by doing his job."

Viola (3-2) pitched against the Twins for the first time since Minnesota traded him to the New York Mets on July 31, 1989, the season after he won the Cy Young Award. Viola allowed one run on five hits in 7 2/3 innings, struck out five and walked one.

Viola kept the Twins guessing, the same way he used to pitch when he played in Minnesota. He won his third straight decision, all of them at Fenway Park.

Viola shut out the Twins until the eighth, when Puckett singled home a run. Reliever Greg Harris finished the inning and Reardon worked the ninth for his sixth save of the season and 33rd of his career, eight behind Rollie Fingers' all-time record.

Rookie Pat Mahomes (2-1) lost for the first time in his career. The Red Sox scored three times in the first inning on Ellis Burks' RBI double and Brunansky's bases-loaded single.

Burks got a run-scoring triple in the fifth when Puckett missed a sliding catch in shallow center siam led Chicago at Comiskey Park.

McDowell (6-0) is off to the best start for the White Sox since Joel Horlen won his first eight games in 1967. He has won all of his starts this year and has a 2.87 ERA, with 29 strikeouts and five walks in 47 innings.

McDowell pitched eight innings and gave up two runs on seven hits. He struck out five and walked one.

Rangers 5, Orioles 3
Nolan Ryan pitched poorly before leaving after a rain delay, but Texas rallied to stop Baltimore's nine-game home winning streak.

Ryan allowed the first five batters to reach base. He gave up three runs, three hits, two walks and hit a batter in two innings, and left after a 62-minute rain delay.

Last Thursday, in his first start since coming off the disabled list, Ryan yielded seven runs in 2 1/3 innings at Chicago.

Jeff Robinson (3-2), released by the Orioles after last season, shut out Baltimore for five innings on two hits, and Jeff Russell got his eighth save.

Ruben Sierra, Kevin Reimer and Ivan Rodriguez homered for Texas, and the Rangers scored the go-ahead run in the sixth against Storm Davis (1-2) on Dickie Thorn's single.

Blue Jays 5, Athletics 1
Juan Guzman improved to 4-0 and Joe Carter and Kelly Gruber homered as Toronto finished off a two-game sweep in Oakland. The A's have lost four in a row.

Guzman won for the 14th time in 15 decisions since last June 22. He gave up four hits in 6 2/3 innings, struck out eight and walked four. He has made six starts this season, pitched at least six innings each time, and never given up more than four hits.

Dodgers continue to skid with loss to Philadelphia

The ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Los Angeles Dodgers were still thinking about what happened back home last week when they took the field at Veterans Stadium.

The rioting in wake of the Rodney King verdict caused Los Angeles to postpone four games against Philadelphia and Montreal. Two of the Dodgers' stars, Darryl Strawberry and Eric Davis, grew up in neighborhoods torn apart by the fires, and looting.

The Dodgers left LA for an East Coast trip and opened with a 6-2 loss at Philadelphia on Tuesday night, their fifth straight defeat.

The Dodgers ended Terry Mulholland's shutout bid in the eighth inning on a walk to pinch-hitter Stan Javier, who stole second and scored on Mike Sharperson's one-out single. Eric Karros led off the ninth with a homer for the Dodgers' other run off Mulholland (1-3).

Mulholland explained that he has felt uncomfortable since being hit on his pitching arm April 27 in San Diego by a liner off the bat of Benito Santiago. He had a well as round as a baseball.

Tom Candiotti (3-1) lost for the first time in the National League. He was trailing when forced to leave the game in the third after being hit in the chest by a liner off the bat of John Kruk. The Dodgers said he had bruises and would be re-examined Wednesday.

Dale Sveum drove in three runs for the Phillies.

Expos 5, Padres 2
At Olympic Stadium, the Expos won their first night game of the season after 12 straight losses as Larry Walker hit a ground rule inside-the-park homer off a rooftop speaker to help Montreal beat San Diego.

National League

The game was the first for the Expos since last Thursday in San Diego because three games in LA were postponed due to the civil unrest.

John VanderWal, a late substitution in left field, and Walker hit consecutive solo home runs in the third inning off Greg Harris (1-2) to support the pitching of Dennis Martinez (2-4). Martinez gave up one run on seven hits in seven innings before Bill Landrum relieved.

Cubs 4, Braves 3
At Wrigley Field, Rey Sanchez hit a sacrifice fly with the bases loaded in the 10th inning as Chicago beat Atlanta and ended a five-game losing streak against the Braves.

Astros 5, Mets 1
At the Astrodome, pinch-hitter Eric Anthony sparked a four-run seventh inning with a two-run single as Houston took advantage of sloppy fielding by New York. The Astros entered the game with only two runs in their previous 29 innings, and had lost four straight games against the Mets.

Starters Sid Fernandez (1-3) of New York and Mark Portugal (3-1) of Houston were in a pitcher's duel until the seventh inning, when the Mets made two key errors.

Chairman of TVA to become postmaster

WASHINGTON (AP) — Marvin Runyon, chairman of the Tennessee Valley Authority, was named U.S. Postmaster General on Tuesday. He will take over an agency struggling to reduce spending and hold rates steady as it moves from hand work to an increasingly automated business.

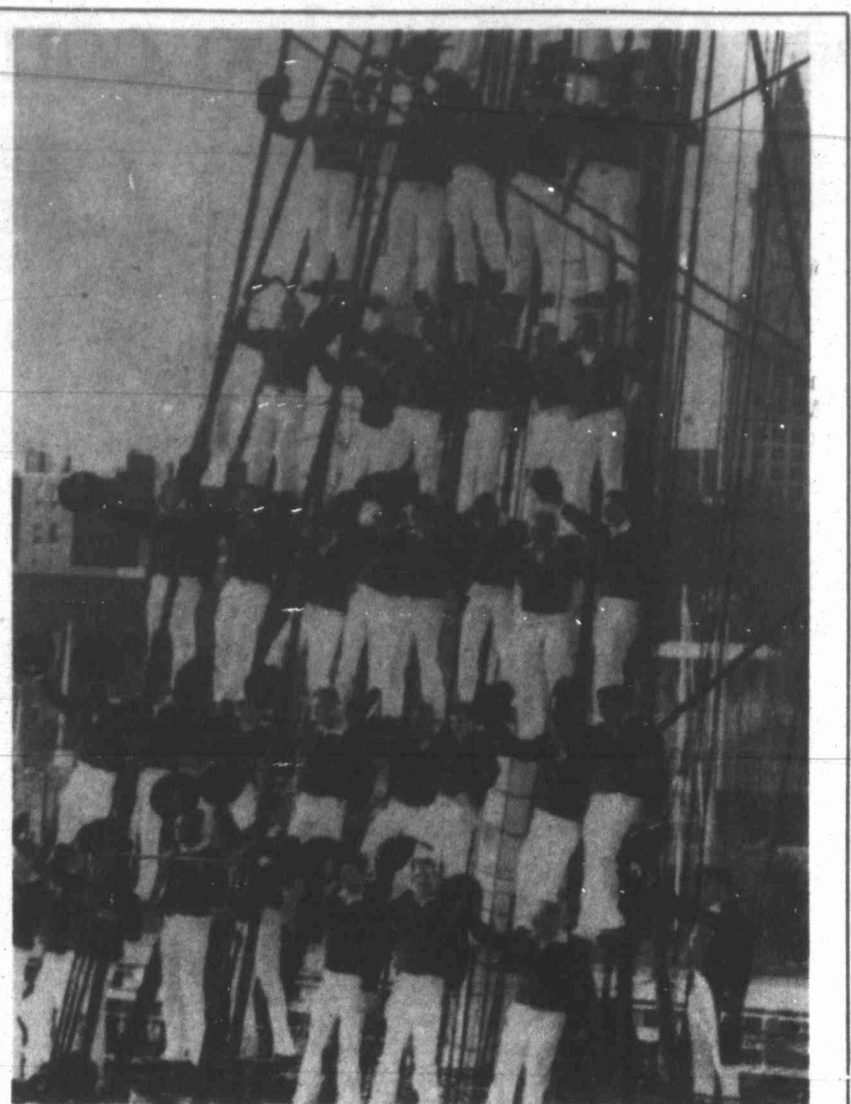

MARVIN RUNYON

Runyon will replace Anthony Frank, who resigned from the $138,900-a-year job in March. The selection was announced by John Griesemer, vice chairman of the agency's board of governors.

During his four years at TVA, Runyon directed a major streamlining of the agency that saved millions of dollars but also cut thousands of jobs.

The cuts did not make Runyon popular with some employees, but have given ratepayers four years of steady electric rates.

Runyon also is credited with creating programs that have saved TVA's industrial customers money and helped create jobs.

Sailor salute

U.S. Navy sailors stationed aboard the U.S.S. Constitution doff their caps during a morning salute as they pose for a traditional picture in the ship's rigging Tuesday at the Charlestown Navy Yard in Boston. The ship, commonly known as "Old Ironsides," is the oldest commissioned ship in the U.S. Navy and the seamen serve a two-year hitch aboard her.

Clinton

where he came in second with 24 percent of the vote; he got 20, bringing his total to 342, according to the Associated Press delegate count.

The presidential campaign shifts now to West Virginia and Nebraska and later this month to Oregon, Arkansas, Idaho and Kentucky before culminating June 2 with contests in California and six other states.

GOP challenger Patrick Buchanan and Brown fared poorly on Tuesday, with Brown losing not only to Clinton but trailing "uncommitted" and Paul Tsongas, a non-active candidate, in North Carolina and Washington, D.C. But both he and Buchanan are pledging last stands in California.

Polls there have shown Brown, the state's former governor, well ahead of Clinton. But some Democrats predicted that lead will shrink because voters have turned a psychological corner.

"People have decided the election is between Bill Clinton and George Bush and maybe Ross Perot, and there's just no room for anybody else," said Bill Carrick, a Los Angeles consultant who managed Democratic Rep. Richard Gephardt's 1988 presidential bid.

Carrick said Clinton stands to benefit from simply spending time in the state. "He has a lot of repair work to do. The campaign has been so far away from California. All the people here have heard are these negative dispatches from the front. It's really imperative that Clinton come in here and tell people who he is."

Bush aides had previously worried that Buchanan might do better than expected in California, where the president's approval ratings are particularly low. But after Tuesday, with Buchanan at about 20 percent in all three contests, that concern abated.

"I do not view him as much of a problem" going into California, Bush campaign spokeswoman Torie Clarke said of Buchanan.

But Perot, the billionaire from Dallas, could be a problem for both candidates in the general election. About a quarter of the voters in both parties in both Indiana and North Carolina told exit pollsters they would vote for him in the fall.

The computer magnate could announce an independent candidacy as early as next month. He said Tuesday he was cutting back appearances and interviews to prepare for a campaign.

For Brown, the numbers were dismal.

Residents leave homes again

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Two thousand residents of Guadalajara had just returned to the homes they evacuated two weeks ago when a new gasoline leak was discovered, and they were forced to leave again.

Residents of the Valle del Alamo and Ferrocarril neighborhoods had to leave home Tuesday when fuel leaking from a nearby gas station renewed the risk of an explosion, the Excelsior news agency reported.

On April 22, at least nine explosions ripped through five miles of streets after gasoline seeped into sewer lines. Federal officials said the gas leaked from a pipeline owned by the state-owned Pemex oil monopoly.

At least 194 people were killed, 5,000 are homeless and more than 1,400 homes and hundreds of businesses were obliterated. Four Pemex officials and five state and local government officials are charged with negligent homicide and other crimes in connection with the blasts.

The storage tanks blamed for the leakes that prompted Tuesday's evacuation were at Pemex station. Workers emptied 26,000 gallons of fuel out of the tanks around noon Tuesday. It was not clear how long the tank had been leaking.

The evacuated residents had just returned home Sunday, many finding their houses damaged by the explosions or looted. In the wee hours Tuesday, the strong smell of gasoline again permeated the air and triggered the alarm.

Following presidential orders to inspect and inventory hazardous facilities throughout the nation, Pemex late Tuesday announced it has hired the San Francisco-based Bechtel Engineering to evaluate its oil, gas and gasoline lines, distribution terminals and storage tanks for problems.

Engineers from Bechtel and the Pemex-financed Mexican Petroleum Institute have 90 days to make their report.

They must also review Pemex procedures for operation, inspection and maintenance, and report on the environmental impact of petroleum operations and risks posed by faulty installations.

The huge monopoly has been criticized by some of its own workers for poor maintenance and inadequate safety equipment.

More than 600 families affected by the tragedy have claimed damages against Pemex, forcing state and federal judicial branches to set up a special office.

Today the federal Ecology Department was to begin training of 23 new inspectors in a pilot program to make private industry responsible for policing its pollution.

open session also is scheduled Thursday.

"We're checking into it," Lockhart said. "We don't know all that it's going to entail."

For more than a decade, library officials have wanted to renovate or have a new building built.

"We are in great need of more room and have been for several years," said County Librarian Donna Jackson.

According to recommendations from the American Library Association, she said, the 14,000-square-foot of library space should be increased by 11,000 square feet to adequately serve the county. That is based on the 34,000-county population. Ideas looked into:

- "Of course my dream is to build a new library," Jackson said. "You can just visualize what that would do. We could have more room for children to study, we could have more elbow room." Estimated cost, $2 million to $2.5 million, not including a parking lot.

- Renovate the basement of the present building, which would add only one-third of the desired space. Estimated cost, about $300,000.

- Add to the present building "It wouldn't give us as much square footage as we need," said Jackson, who did not have construction and cost estimates available this morning. She added, "It would cut into our parking lot."

At this time, there is at least $115,000 in donations available for construction, Jackson said.

The county budgeted $242,983 for the library this fiscal year. That includes salaries, books and equipment.

Beating becomes video counterpoint

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The footage of white truck driver Reginald Denny's beating by blacks has become a video counterpoint to the Rodney King tape.

Like the King video, the scenes of Denny being pulled from his rig and bloodied shocked the nation. And much as King became a symbol of police brutality, Denny has become a symbol of the savagery of the Los Angeles riots.

His ordeal is also testimony to the power of television to move people to action.

"It just broke our hearts when we saw that on TV," said Yvonne Honore, a black woman and one of hundreds of people who sent money or letters or called with words of support for Denny. "To have this happen, to actually see it, just made me cry."

She and her husband contributed $2,000 to a burgeoning fund for Denny.

"It's just a sad thing, and the whole world is looking," Mrs. Honore said. "There are thugs and criminals in every race. I just hope people know blacks aren't all like that."

Until Monday, Denny wasn't even aware of his celebrity, said Cicily Kahn, a social worker at Daniel Freeman Hospital, where he is recovering.

"I'm just a regular guy," he said in a handwritten note to Kahn. "I work. I go home. I never wanted to be famous."

Gregory Alan Williams, one of four people honored Tuesday by the City Council in Los Angeles for helping rescue motorists from angry mobs in riots last week, wipes a tear from his eyes after delivering an emotional speech before the council. Looking on is another Good Samaritan, Lei Yuille.

Denny realized he was targeted by young blacks angry over the acquittal of the white policemen who beat King, who is black. But "he didn't realize the enormity of it all. . . . He didn't know there was a war on the streets and he just happened to be one of the first victims," Kahn said.

Denny, 36, may owe his survival to black passersby who helped him get to a hospital.

Several black youths had pulled Denny from his rig in South Central Los Angeles, kicked him and smashed his skull with his fire extinguisher as a TV helicopter showed it live.

Denny lay unconscious in a pool of blood for about 20 minutes before he got back into his truck. His eyes swollen shut, he steered while one rescuer pointed the way. Another took the wheel when Denny's steering ability failed, and drove him to the hospital. Two other people provided an escort in their car.

"He was unconscious when I saw him and he looked just about dead," said Dr. Bayliss Yarnell, medical director in the hospital's emergency room.

Denny's condition was upgraded to good on Monday. He will need reconstructive surgery on his face, and doctors said he might have suffered neurological damage.

The hospital started a Reginald Denny Fund, as did his employer, Transit Mixed Concrete in Los Angeles, and Teamsters Local 420.

Kravchuk plans to sign START agreement

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ukrainian President Leonid Kravchuk met with President Bush today and said he intends to sign the START agreement calling for cuts in nuclear weapons.

Kravchuk also said all short-range nuclear weapons will be removed from his country by July 1. In Moscow, Gen. Sergei Zeltsov, a top official of the Commonwealth of Independent States defense ministry, said the last tactical nuclear weapons were enroute from Ukraine to Russia.

Easing of nuclear tensions between Russia and Ukraine was high on the agenda of the meeting between Bush and Kravchuk.

As the two leaders sat side-by-side in the Oval Office, Kravchuk was asked if he would sign START. "I think we will," replied the Ukrainian president. He said he and Secretary of State James A. Baker III had been discussing the treaty and "if something is left out we will negotiate on it today."

Under the treaty signed last July, the Soviet Union agreed to a one-third reduction in its long-range missiles, bombers and submarines. The collapse of the Soviet Union complicated the issue because the long-range missiles were on the territory of four different independent states — Russia, Ukraine, Kazakhstan and Belarus.

The administration now is attempting to convince Ukraine, pressed irritation at U.S. attempts to pressure Kazakhstan into giving categorical assurances that it will become non-nuclear by 1999. However, he indicated eagerness to reach a weapons accord with the Bush administration on his first official visit to Washington later this month, the newspaper reported in its dispatch from Kazakhstan.

In Washington, Kravchuk cut a blue and yellow ribbon to formally open the embassy. He called it "a historic moment. . . . It was a long wait, but we are happy the day has come."

"Your visit here symbolizes the extent to which America sees Ukraine as a full partner in a wide range of bilateral and multilateral issues," said Baker at the embassy opening.

The secretary of state said he looked forward to the two countries "building a democratic peace together" and said his presence at the embassy "means I think that now we can get down to the daily business of making that partnership and making that peace a reality."

Tony nominations showered on two plays

Keith David, left, and Gregory Hines are shown in a scene from "Jelly's Last Jam." The song-and-dance biography of jazz pioneer Jelly Roll Morton led the competition with 11 Tony Award nominations Monday for the Best of Broadway's busy 1991-92 theater season. Hines portrays Morton in the musical.

Both were nominated Monday for best musical, along with "Falsettos." William Finn's tale of family and friendship in the age of AIDS, and "Five Guys Named Moe," a revue celebrating another jazz star, Louis Jordan.

NEW YORK (AP) — The musicals "Jelly's Last Jam" and "Crazy for You" dominated the Tony Award nominations for the richly packed 1991-92 Broadway season. Several well-known playwrights and Hollywood stars were ignored.

"Jelly's Last Jam," the story of jazz pioneer Jelly Roll Morton, received 11 nominations, and "Crazy for You," a 1930s-style musical with old songs by George and Ira Gershwin and a new book, received nine.

Both were nominated Monday for best musical, along with "Falsettos," William Finn's tale of family and friendship in the age of AIDS, and "Five Guys Named Moe," a revue celebrating another jazz star, Louis Jordan.

The best-play nominees included two shows that have closed, John Guare's "Four Baboons Adoring the Sun," about the search for love, and Richard Nelson's "Two Shakespearean Actors," a tale of two 19th-century acting rivals.

The favorite for best play is "Dancing at Lughnasa," Brian Friel's Irish memory play about five unmarried sisters; the fourth nominee is August Wilson's "Two Trains Running," set in a Pittsburgh coffee shop in the late 1960s.

Neil Simon's "Jake's Women," Herb Gardner's "Conversations with My Father," Alan

Ayckbourn's "A Small Family Business" and Ariel Dorfman's "Death and the Maiden" were among the shows that missed the best-play nomination.

"Dancing at Lughnasa" received eight nominations, including three for featured actress for Brid Brennan, Rosaleen Linehan and Dearbhla Molloy, who play sisters.

Glenn Close, who will be host of the awards ceremony on CBS on May 31, was nominated for best actress for her role in "Death and the Maiden."

Also nominated were Jane Alexander of "The Visit"; Stockard Channing of "Four Baboons Adoring the Sun"; and Judith Ivey of "Park Your Car in Harvard Yard."

Alan Baldwin was nominated for best actor for his role as the bruising, blue-collar Stanley Kowalski in the revival of "A Streetcar Named Desire."

He will face Brian Bedford of "Two Shakespearean Actors"; Alan Alda of "Jake's Women"; and Judd Hirsch of "Conversations with My Father."

Among the overlooked performers were Gene Hackman and Richard Dreyfuss, both of "Death and the Maiden," and Jessica Lange of "A Streetcar Named Desire."

CBS from third to first in one season

CBS Entertainment president Jeff Sagansky is walking tall these days. No longer last among the Big Three networks, CBS is in the enviable position of first place, having made television history by going from third to first place in a single season.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Journalistic dissertations on CBS Entertainment president Jeff Sagansky inevitably revert to describing his looks.

This fascination usually focuses on two traits. Sagansky is tall and has freckles.

Newsweek called the 40-year-old programmer "seemingly nerdy."

The Graduate sequel

BASKING RIDGE, N.J. (AP) — The last time we saw "The Graduate," Benjamin was roaring out of town on a bus with Elaine still in her wedding gown, fleeing materialism and the skin-crawling artifice of Southern California.

We cheered. Charles Webb, the 24-year-old author of the little 1963 book that became a movie hit in 1967, made piles of money.

That was a quarter century ago. Now Webb has written a sequel.

Like the first installment of "The Graduate," the second draws closely on Webb's life since he turned the American Dream upside down and cried "Phooey!"

But grown-up rebels who saw mirrored in the angst-driven escape of Benjamin Braddock and Elaine Robinson their own early quests may not recognize themselves in the continuing adventures of these two. At least not right away.

We catch up with Charles Webb and his ex-wife, Fred (the real-life Benjamin and Elaine) and their hairy barking dog, Mrs. R., bickering in the Spartan bungalow that comes with their jobs as caretakers for a nudist colony 35 miles west of Manhattan.

To humor their employers in this forested suburban Eden, the couple do their chores (but not interviews) in the buff.

The sequel is Webb's eighth novel; his last was "Booze," published in 1978. Charles' literary agent, Ben Camardi, expects to clinch a deal any day.

"It's to the '90s what 'The Graduate' is to the '60s," Camardi says from his New York office. "It has Charles' inimitable voice and observations of American society and the world. ... It's going to be an important book."

"The Graduate" remains in print around the world, with 2 million copies sold in this country alone. The 1967 movie starring Hoffman and Anne Bancroft was among the top 50 grossing films of all time, and video rentals gross upwards of $44 million, Camardi said.

Now for the sequel. It's called "Gwen," and not to give too much away ...

Benjamin and Elaine join the Peace Corps. After a stint in Indonesia, they move to Washington, where he joins the State Department and she becomes a major factotum in the women's movement.

One day Benjamin decides to chuck it all, buys a tent and en-camps his wife and small daughter, Gwen, in the living room to practice for a nomadic journey back to California.

network spokeswoman put it.

Sagansky walks a little easier to interviews these days. No longer last among the Big Three networks, CBS is in the enviable position of first place.

Not only is CBS No. 1, it made television history by going from third to first place in a single season.

"It feels much better than being No. 3," Sagansky said last week in his CBS Television City office. "We did our time for a long time at No. 3."

The last four seasons, to be precise.

A combination of factors booted CBS from the ratings basement. Notable among them is the strength of CBS' Monday night lineup — which consistently dominates the top 10 list — and a sports package that included three years of major league baseball broadcasts (for which CBS paid a ridiculous $1.2 billion).

What CBS had this season was a mixture of strong regular programming boosted by ratings-grabbers such as the World Series and the Winter Olympics. Besides Monday's blockbuster schedule, Sunday's "60 Minutes" and "Murder, She Wrote" also gave the network added superiority.

Since Sagansky moved to CBS two years ago from the president's office at Tri Star Pictures, he has been stockpiling product. For the coming 1992-93 season, he has an extremely full cupboard.

Cookbook is 'seasoned with love'

By LYNN HAYES
Staff Writer

Volunteers at Scenic Mountain Medical Center recently compiled their latest cookbook. They call it, "Seasoned With Love."

A collection of favorite hometown recipes, the cookbook features everything from appetizers to desserts. It also includes valuable information for those who enjoy spending time in the kitchen.

A joint effort by hospital volunteers, the cookbook is a fund-raiser that helps provide important extras for the hospital and its patients.

In the past, funds have been used to purchase rocking chairs for the hospital's maternity ward; scholarships for student nurses, and the chapel has benefited as well.

Most recently, donations were used to provide a reception desk in the hospital's lobby.

Although most of the volunteers are retired from paying positions, they agree volunteering is a worthwhile profession.

After retiring from her 30-year career as a journalism teacher at Big Spring High School, Erma Steward has spent the past 11 years as a volunteer.

"I enjoy it... It gives me the satisfaction of serving other people," she said with a smile.

Erma was recently installed as vice president of the organization.

Ruth Manuel began her "second career" five years ago when she retired after 26 years as an employee of Energas.

Cookbooks, which sell for $8, are sold exclusively at the Volunteer Gift Shop located at the hospital. The gift shop is open Monday through Friday, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

For the birds

Helen Witty, an award-winning cookbook author, and husband Dick, put together some recipes from their book "Feed the Birds." The book tips about providing for their feathered friends. "I like using things that would otherwise go to waste," says Mrs. Witty. "Raisins, eggshells, sugar, stale bread or potato chips, acorns, elderberries and other foraged foods all will entice them to backyard feeders."

I like taters, especially sweet taters. So let's have a go at a:

Sweet Tater Casserole
Sweet potatoes (1 can, large)
Pear halves (1 can, 29 oz.)
Butter (1/2 cup)
Syrup (1 cup, maple)
Cinnamon (1/2 tsp.)
Nutmeg (1/4 tsp.)

Drain the sweet potatoes. Combine the butter, syrup, cinnamon and nutmeg. Arrange the potatoes in a shallow buttered casserole dish. Pour the syrup mixture over all. Bake at 350 degrees for about 40 minutes, or until glazed, basting several with the syrup in the casserole. There you have it. A simple, but different sweet tater dish.

Now, for that fantastic pie. Everybody likes peanut butter. So, we are going to have a:

Peanut Butter Pie
Peanut butter (1 cup, chunky)
Cream cheese (1 - 8-oz. pkg.)

Sugar (3/4 cup)
Whipping cream (1 cup, whipped)
Vanilla (1 Tbsp.)
Pie crust (1, prepared graham cracker)
Hot fudge topping (1/3 cup, melted)

Cream together the peanut butter, cream cheese and sugar. Now add the butter and vanilla and blend well. Fold in the whipping cream until well blended. Pour this mixture into the graham cracker crust. Drizzle the top with the hot fudge topping. Chill anywhere from 30 minutes until overnight.

Now, folks, this is rich. It will serve quite a few because you will only need a tiny slice.

Papa Joe's kitchen tip: If you're baking a pumpkin or sweet tater pie, put a layer of marshmallows in the bottom, then add the filling. This makes a nice topping as the marshmallows will come to the top.

Stepmom hurt when overlooked on Mother's day

DEAR ABBY: Sixteen years ago, just before Mother's Day, I clipped your column from the Chicago Tribune because it described my own situation so perfectly. I could have written it. Please run it again. Here it is:

DEAR ABBY: Six years ago, I married a divorced man whose sons came to live with us because their "real" mother thought they would be better off with their father. (They were then 11 and 13.) I love these boys and I think they feel some affection for me, yet on Mother's Day they always remember their biological mother with flowers, and I don't even get a card.

In six years I've done a ton of laundry, mended their clothes, cooked for them, shopped for them and spent hundreds of hours chauffeuring them around. I've nursed them when they were sick and listened to their troubles. I lectured them about sex and drugs, instilling in them decent moral values. I couldn't have done more had they been my biological children.

Their "real" mother has had very little time for them. She has never taken them on a trip or asked them to spend a holiday with her.

(She phones occasionally and makes plans to be with them, but if something better comes along, she cancels.)

I think stepmothers deserve a little recognition on Mother's Day. Just because we didn't bear the children doesn't mean we don't feel like "real" mothers. It would be a kindness to all stepmothers if you would print this. —HURT ON MOTHER'S DAY

DEAR HURT: I have long held the view that giving birth to a child doesn't make a woman a mother any more than owning a piano makes a person a musician. But the woman who takes a child into her home because she wants to, and raises that child with love and understanding, is in every sense of the word a "real" mother.

DEAR ABBY: I smiled when I read the letter about the lady who was accused of talking to herself. My mother, may she rest in peace, used to talk to herself. Once I said, "Mom, you're talking to yourself again."

She said, "Yes, I know, but I'm the only person I know who won't give me an argument. —IDA IN COBLESKILL, N.Y.

DEAR ABBY: My pet peeve: responses that do not match your questions. Here's a good example: "Would you like more coffee?" "No thanks, I'm fine." I usually say, "I didn't ask you how you are, I asked you if you wanted more coffee." —CECELIA R. DELBACCO-GREEN

FOR THURSDAY, MAY 7, 1992

HAPPY BIRTHDAY: IN THE NEXT YEAR OF YOUR LIFE: Hard work and daily effort will pay big dividends, especially in July. Land a new job in early fall and you will have that financial security you want. Traveling for pleasure in November will put you in touch with exciting people. Both romance and academic endeavors flourish in the first half of December. A windfall or grant early in 1993 lets you return to school or change residences.

CELEBRITIES BORN ON THIS DATE: actor Gary Cooper, weatherman Willard Scott, poet Robert Browning, actress Robin Strasser.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Your ability to lead others attracts new notice. Postpone making a large purchase; you could get an opportunity to buy it at a bargain price later this month. Keep quiet about a romance.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): The push-and-pull of a home-work conflict affect your productivity or spirits. A serious chat with your partner or mate could improve the situation. Make your priorities crystal-clear.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Business success depends on your showing more get-up-and-go. A candid conversation improves a parent-child relationship. Call a halt to unnecessary spending.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): There are many changes you can make that will result in substantial savings. Try and see what you can do. Concentrate on the task at hand instead of indulging in idle daydreams.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Everything should go according to plan early today. An opportunity to add to your income may shortly arise. Continue to keep your everyday expenses within reasonable limits.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Do not postpone a purchase intended to complete your wardrobe; tomorrow could be too late. Positive thinking will give you the edge over any competitors at work. Put your ideas in writing.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): A feeling of hope and optimism is engendered by socializing with good friends. Your energy and enthusiasm return. Keep in touch with people at a distance.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Nothing seems too pressing, giving you another day to think things over. Any plans you draw up should be practical. Be gentle with your loved ones. Meditate for greater clarity.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Turn to an old friend whose maturity and experience can help you get your bearings. Financial matters need careful handling. Seek interviews and write letters.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Married couples find they have something to discuss and settle. A family or domestic problem may be a hard nut to crack. The pursuit of pleasure seldom comes cheap.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Many misunderstandings can be cleared up by a frank discussion. Avoid being influenced by an outsider who usually takes a dim view of your choices. Seek guidance from older and wiser heads.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Those who have worked valiantly are about to reap their reward. Spirits run high! Watch out for an emotional tidal wave. Keep busy with domestic chores and other down-to-earth activities.
