Carroll Vaughn

Baird Bears are hosts to the Santa Anna Mountaineers at 8 o'clock Friday night in the Bear's Den. The Mountaineers played Rochelle with the score 19-7 in favor of Santa Anna, and won from Richland Springs 12-6.

The Bears have promising possibilities this year as a high standing football team. They have 16 returning lettermen. New players from the freshman class are Hawk, Woods, Harris, Bullock and Corn. Stanley Loper, playing his first year of football, has shown up well in the first two games. He plays offensive guard on the starting line-up.

Probable starting line-ups:

SANTA ANNA

Ends, Melver and Clifton; tackles, Bass and Harris; guards, Benge and Robbins; center, Patterson, backs, McClellan, Stewart, Scarborough and Robinnett.

BAIRD BEARS

Ends, D. West and J. West; tackles, Gunn and Meadows; guards, Halle and Loper; center, Bullock; backs, Chatham, Higgins, Avery and Pleson.

The Bears have a few injuries with Randall Ivy, George Jones and Robert Halle on the injured list, but all will probably play.

QUARTERBACK CLUB ADOPTS RULES OF OPERATION

The recently organized Baird Quarterback Club met Monday night at the elementary school building, and adopted its constitution and by-laws. The club has been organized on the same plan that the Albany club is operating.

Dues were set at $2 per school year, and everyone will be given an opportunity to join and lend their support to the football team. The club's number one project will be to rent seat cushions at the ball games and other outdoor gatherings from which they expect to collect sufficient revenue to finance their program.

The home-making department at high school has taken the job of making the seat pillows.

The Gilliams received a telegram on Sept. 21, telling that Joe had received shrapnel wounds in the side and leg. He is serving with the First Marine Division.

Enlisting January 11, 1950, at the Marine Recruiting Station in Abilene, Joe trained at San Diego, Calif., before going to Korea.

A. A. Davis, Baptist Pastor, Accepts Pastorate at Nowata, Oklahoma

A. A. Davis, who has served as pastor of the First Baptist Church here for thirteen years, has resigned to accept a pastorate at Nowata, Oklahoma. He will preach his farewell sermon Sunday, Sept. 30, and the family will move to Oklahoma, Oct. 1.

An outstanding Baptist preacher, Davis has held meetings in Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and Kentucky, and has been a Bible Conference speaker many times in Texas and Arizona. He will be speaker at Wayland College Bible Conference in February, 1952. He is the author of several religious books, the latest of which is entitled "The Baptist Story," and it will be off the press next month. Among his most popular books is "Trail of Blood," which has had nationwide publicity.

The Davises have three sons, Bill Davis, now practicing law in Dallas; Alvin Davis, accountant with Huber Oil Co., at Borger, and W. D. Estes of San Angelo, with Sears-Roebuck & Co. The formal resignation, read to the congregation last Sunday, is as follows:

Dear Brethren:

In November of 1938, you extended me a unanimous call to become pastor of this church. After due prayer and deliberation, I felt led of the Lord to accept your call and moved on the field as of December 1, 1938.

These years that have followed are in the record and speak for themselves the extent to which the Lord was in that move. We are willing for the record to give its own testimony. These years have been happy, and we trust useful. We have been in and out before you in your labors and in your sorrows—as well as in your hours of victory and triumph. We have seen your children grow into manhood and womanhood; we have performed their marriage ceremonies and have seen them enter joyfully into life's struggle and assume the station in life to which nature and nature's God entitled them. We have experienced the same with our own children. We have stood by the bedside and listened for the last heart-beat of life, then followed you to that little silent city of the dead and told you of the love of God and of that Great Day in God's great tomorrow when we would all meet again in the land of Endless Day. We have preached the Gospel of the Son of God through the years and have seen your sons and daughters walk the aisle of this church professing Faith in Jesus Christ as a personal Savior—then lead them into the sacred waters of baptism to bury them with their Lord in baptism unto death and admonished them one and all to walk in newness of life before a lost world. Unworthy as we were of the high honors you bestowed upon us and the confidence you placed in us, we tried as best we could to walk circumspectly before you. Sacred ties have been formed that bound our lives together in such blessedness that to think of disturbing them is all but tragic. I shall always remember in joy and gratitude our ministry with you.

But now another chapter must be written. We are not our own, we are bought with a price, and our life is hid with God in Christ. God's will is sovereign and we must be obedient to That Will when it is made known to us, regardless of the personal sacrifices involved. Our vision is clear, the call is distinct, the Lord now beckons as the True Shepherd with His staff, and points in another direction and to another field of labors.

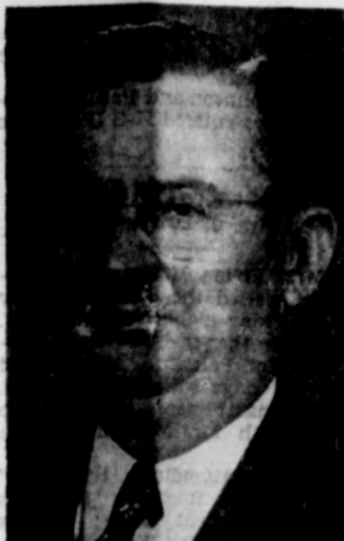

We have been called to the pastorate of the First Baptist Church of Nowata, Oklahoma, by unanimous vote of that church. We feel that the Lord wants us in this larger field of service. It will afford me an opportunity to preach to many more people than I am now ministering, and I assure you this is a commanding fact in impressing me that I should go—and in view of the fact that the call was made by unanimous vote, without any solicitation on my part whatsoever.

We have accepted that call to become effective as of October 1st, 1951, and accordingly herewith give to you this, our resignation as pastor of your fine church, to become effective October 1st, 1951.

Yours in Gal. 2:20,

A. A. Davis.

September 23, 1951.

A. A. Davis

The following expressions of appreciation have been received by The Baird Star for publication:

"Sunday, Sept. 23, will be one of those days long to be remembered at the First Baptist Church, Brother Davis, after delivering his sermon on Heaven, which was very impressive, read to us his resignation. We were so surprised we were speechless. During my 60 years in Baird, I have seen many pastors come and go, and always hated to give them up, but we always submit to the One who knows all things work for the best. Brother Davis is going to a much larger field, and that is why we will be glad for him and the cause of Jesus Christ. He has been a wonderful pastor and preacher, and I wish for him Goppspeed in his new field of labor. Our loss will be their gain."

Will D. Boydston, deacon.

"Expressing my appreciation for the gospel preaching Bro. A. A. Davis has done for the past 13 years. It has been a great inspiration to me and revealed many wonderful truths. His teaching of God's word is second to none and any one listening and heeding will be blessed. May God's richest blessings be with him as he continues to preach the gospel."

W. B. Atchison, deacon.

"In as much as our pastor, Rev. A. A. Davis, has been called to another pastorate and has accepted, and has said he felt called of the Lord to go, it is our duty to accept his resignation and bid him Godspeed. Bro. Davis is an outstanding preacher and is well posted on Baptist history, as well as ancient religion. He and his family will be missed in Baird, but what is our loss will be Oklahoma's gain."

A. T. Scroggins, deacon.

"Bro. Davis is to be commended on his long fruitful ministry here at Baird. He is a Bible scholar, a deep spiritual man, a champion of righteousness and of God's truth, a loving, understanding pastor, able preacher, and a friend to all. His ministry has been a rich blessing to our church and town. We wish him every success in his new field."

W. T. Payne, deacon.

Chest X-Ray Unit Here in October

The Callahan County TB Association met September 19, to make plans for the county-wide X-Ray survey to be made in October. The mobile unit will be in Callahan county the week of October 15.

Mrs. Pelk, Field Director and Consultant, met with the organization to assist them in making plans.

New Producer at Fred Hart Ranch

Pumps and storage tanks are being installed at a new well on the Fred Hart ranch, 11 miles northeast of Baird. The new producer was drilled by Trumpler Oil Company to a depth of 1946 feet. Railroad Commission tests will be made as soon as present installations are complete.

J. A. Roberson, of Tempe, Ariz., came Thursday to visit Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Thompson during the weekend.

Mrs. J. H. Weeks, of Putnam, was a Baird visitor Monday afternoon.

Belinda Klime, of Ft. Worth, spent the weekend with Martha Ann Martin.

Abilene Highway To Open Monday

According to an announcement made this week by R. N. Doman, resident engineer with the State Highway Department, the new Highway 80 between Baird and Abilene will be opened to traffic Monday. The new highway has been completed to the west Callahan county line for about a week, with some traffic flowing over the new road to that point.

Completion of the 18.5 mile route marks the end of a project to re-route Highway 80 through this county, which was started when a $150,000 bond issue was voted almost unanimously by voter in the shoestring district which lies along the right-of-way through this county in January 1947. The first work on the new Highway 80 route was done between Baird and Cisco, and the completion of the Abilene-Baird stretch finishes the new road from Fort Worth to Abilene. The project is set up for the entire length of U. S. Highway 80, and when completed it will probably be the best super highway that crosses the nation.

With ideal living conditions, low living costs, available home sites, modern stores, and many other advantages offered in Baird, the new highway should interest numbers of people who work in Abilene to make their homes here. Baird will also probably be the home of numerous students attending colleges in Abilene. Baird people are awake to these opportunities and new people find a warm welcome in Baird.

Bloodmobile Visit Date Corrected

The Baird Star announced last week that a Red Cross Bloodmobile would be in Baird today. This was an error. The Bloodmobile will be here on Thursday, October 18.

An orientation is taking place today to instruct all workers in handling the project when the Bloodmobile comes, according to Mrs. Myrtle Berry, county chairman. A list of all community chairmen will be announced later.

Date has not been set at this time, but the Bloodmobile will be in Cross Plains within the next six months to gather blood from the southeastern sector of the county. This, however, does not prevent anyone, regardless of where he lives, to give blood when the Bloodmobile sets up in Baird or Cross Plains. It is very necessary for as many persons in our county to give blood to replenish depleted blood plasma supplies and to build up stockpiles against any possible national or international emergency.

William Reaves, BFR, will conduct the discussion at the Methodist church basement at 2:30 p. m., Sept. 28.

Teachers to Attend Haskell Conference

A group of Callahan county teachers, representing the County Unit of Texas State Teachers Association, will attend a Workshop Conference for District VII on October 2nd, at Haskell.

A. B. Passmore, of Vernon, president of District VII, will preside, and the keynote address is to be delivered by John S. Carroll, Dean of the School of Education, Texas Technological College, Lubbock. Several consultants also will be present in an advisory capacity.

The meeting has been designed to assist local unit leaders with their work and to acquaint them with the state-wide TSTA program relating to certification, retirement, salary, and improved reading instruction. Supt. K. H. Rowland, of Baird, will preside at the section meeting in which the retirement program is to be explained.

Those planning to attend from Callahan county are Supt. K. H. Rowland, president of the County Unit; Mrs. Roland Nichols of Putnam, Second Vice-President; Mrs. Clyde Bunnell of Cross Plains, Treasurer; Mrs. Archie Nichols of Baird, Reporter for Retirement Section; Mrs. W. L. Ivey of Baird, Secretary.

Many Friends Gather to Honor Dr. R. L. Griggs on Birthday

Some 250 friends attended the open house party at the Griggs' home Sunday afternoon to help celebrate Dr. R. L. Griggs' 76th birthday. Dr. Griggs has practiced medicine in Callahan county since 1900, and the open house was a community affair with gifts pouring in from near and far. Many sent flowers which filled the antique-furnished home.

Dr. Griggs is pictured in his living room after he opened gifts that filled the old cradle, which was made by his father for his use when a baby. The beloved physician has been practicing here for over fifty years and during that time he has ushered an estimated 10,000 babies into the world.

Receiving guests were the doctor, his wife and children, Mrs. Bruce Bell of Pecos, Beckye Griggs of Lubbock and Mrs. George Lambert and Mrs. R. L. Griggs, Jr., of Baird.

Other members of the house party were Mrs. S. L. McElroy, Mr. and Mrs. Fabian Bell, Mrs. Howard Farmer, Mrs. L. L. Blackburn, Mrs. H. D. Driskill, Mrs. J. T. Loper, Mrs. R. A. Webster, Mrs. Johnny Sparks, Jerry Loper, Mrs. Tom B. Barton, Mrs. Bruce Thompson, Mrs. Pat Haley, Sybil Ann Elder, Diana Waters, and Dr. Griggs' sisters, Mrs. Stella Smith and Mrs. R. D. Hickman of Slaton.

Dr. Griggs still maintains an active medical practice, with offices in Callahan County Hospital.

He tells of starting out as a doctor, equipped with an old horse, two pill bags and a borrowed $20 bill. He traveled miles on horseback and in buggy to remote farm homes and performed surgery by the light of kerosene lamps.

In 1928 Dr. Griggs opened the first hospital in the county, a privately-owned 12-room affair in the upstairs of a main street building. His life's dream was realized in 1939 when the modern Callahan County Hospital was built.

Dr. Griggs has a local reputation of never having sent out a bill for his services. Other stories tell that he never turned down a maternity case, no matter how poor the patient. Often, old-timers say, he traveled in flood or freezing weather to doctor patients, knowing he would never be paid for his services.

After spending a lifetime helping others, the tables were turned on Dr. Griggs on his birthday when his family and friends did something for him—and did it in a big way.

He issued his own marriage license at Callahan county courthouse, and married Miss Ida Mae Farrar, March 31, 1897, at Baird. Rev. Wm. Wilson, Methodist minister, performed the ceremony.

Mrs. Dunson told a Star reporter that Baird has developed and changed during the fifty years she has been away, and that it was wonderful to see a few of her old friends, such as W. D. Boydston.

Among others she recalls as their friends here those many years ago were: Dr. Sam Fraser, deputy Dick Cochran, principal Cutworth, teacher Bessie Wynett, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Gentry, merchant Tom Powell, McGowan Brothers, Nelson and Sisdale, Judge Thomas, Joe Tisdale, Brown Seay, Jim Maxwell, and neighbors Myeres, John Laird, Anthony Beel, Schwartz.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a pink chantilly lace and nylon net ballerina length dress made over taffeta. It was fashioned with fitted bodice, self covered buttons, and flaring peplum. A Juliet cap beaded with seed pearls and a single velvet rose held her veil in place. She carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations.

Miss Dorothy Jean Shelton, of San Antonio, cousin of the bride, was her attendant. She wore a ballerina-length dress of aqua nylon net over broaded taffeta. She wore matching mitts and carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

Guests attended from Albany, Fort Worth, Breckenridge, San Antonio, Houston, Eastland, Henrietta and Abilene.

For a wedding trip to New Mexico, the bride wore a toast gaudine suit with dark brown velvet hat and matching accessories.

The bride is a graduate of Baird high school and attended Abilene Christian College. She has been employed in the Farmers Home Administration office in Eastland.

DISPERSAL OF INDUSTRY A SMART MOVE

President Truman has acted wisely in ordering governmental departments and agencies to support an industrial dispersal policy worked out by the National Security Resources Board, the Office of Defense Mobilization Munitions Board.

The program will be bitterly fought by representatives of existing industrial areas. They will point to the fact that Congress recently rejected an amendment making the need for dispersal of industry a yardstick in the construction of plants built or financed by the government.

The dispersal program is imperative in view of the possibility of atomic bomb attacks. Certainly it would be extremely foolish for the United States to continue to pile up its essential plants in areas where there are already vital productive units, putting all our production eggs in the same basket and inviting the enemy to knock them all out at one time.

There is another side to the question which may be overlooked by those who argue against dispersal. Existing industrial plants in metropolitan areas are clamoring for a system of governmental insurance to protect them from loss in the event of an atomic bomb attack. It is hardly possible that the enemy will waste atomic bombs on the relatively undeveloped areas of the nation, and, consequently, passage of an insurance measure will be almost exclusively for the benefit of existing industrial areas.

In view of the fact that these industries expect the government to indemnify them against loss, if their plants are bombed during war, it is a smart policy on the part of the government to disperse the plants so that the loss will not be aggravated by an avoidable concentration of industrial plants. If the government is to indemnify the owners against loss, the government should have something to say about the location of new plants, especially those established through governmental assistance.

The safety of the nation is another factor that must be considered against the wishes of existing industrial areas to increase their productive potential. If we are to have uninterrupted production of essential items during war, we must have our plants scattered throughout the nation so that one successful attack will not seriously impair our facilities. Not only is it wise for the government, from this standpoint, to scatter all new plants that are constructed, but it might be advantageous to move some of the existing essential industries into other areas.

LOCAL STUDENT ENROLLED AT McMURRY COLLEGE

ABILENE — Over 500 students, including Vernon O'Kelly of Baird, have enrolled at McMurry College for the fall term, according to Jerome Vannoy, registrar.

Registration will continue through Sept. 28 for both undergraduate and graduate students. Classes get underway Sept. 14.

This is the first regular session that graduate courses leading to the professional degree, Master of Education, have been offered at McMurry.

Mrs. Ben F. Russell, of Dallas, and Martha Kline, of Ft. Worth, are spending the week with Mrs. H. J. Gibbs and Raymond at Rowden, and visiting relatives and friends in Baird.

SENATOR JOSEPH McCARTHY

of Wisconsin probably assured that Secretary of State Dean Acheson would continue in his job indefinitely, by predicting he would be fired in favor of a Republican. And President Truman gave Acheson a pat on the back for a good job well done at the Japanese peace conference in San Francisco. In the meantime, the big three—Schumann of France, Morrison of Britain and Acheson of the United States—were holding important conferences here with regard to what to do about Germany. The three countries would like to bring about a peace treaty much like the Japanese treaty, but split of Germany by the Russians into east and west zones, and of Berlin itself into two zones, precludes any such treatment.

If the house concurs, it looks like the old three-cent stamp is doomed and also the one-cent postal card, as the senate voted for increases in all classes of postal rates for first, second and third class mail—post cards from one to two cents—first class mail from three to four cents; air mail from six to eight cents. Also voted for war limitation on size of parcel post packages and an increase on second class mail for newspapers and for periodicals in third class.

The second class mail increase would be a hike agreed to generally by newspapers for a ten per cent increase for each of three years following enactment, but not affecting the in-county privileges of the present law. The house postoffice committee has agreed to a postal increase bill, but the measure has not reached the floor of the house. The senate bill is expected to increase postal revenues something like $300,000,000, but already this revenue increase may be cut in half by a proposed increase in postal workers pay, a loss of revenue due to the increase in air mail and a subsequent boost in subsidies to the air lines. Paradoxically, every time the post office department is given a rate boost to ease up some of its $500,000,000 deficit, the congress cancels all or part of it by a wage increase for postal workers.

In the meantime the taxing of farm cooperatives is confused. And the reason for the confusion, according to observers here, is that farm organizations themselves were confused over the issue. The treasury department, while asserting that taxing of patronage dividends would be a negligible figure in the overall tax structure, made several suggestions which were taken to mean that it favored a tax increase. The department of agriculture definitely opposed any changes in the tax picture of co-ops, and the President issued statements also opposing any tax changes.

However farm spokesmen at hearings were split. Business organizations which backed the National Tax Equality Association and National Associated businessmen favored complete taxation. Spokesmen for the American Farm Bureau Federation, the Cooperative League of the U.S.A. and the National Grange were willing to concede that those earnings of a co-op which are neither distributed to the patrons in cash nor credited to the patrons on the organization's books could be taxed.

CIO, the Missouri Farmers Union, The National Farmers Union, the National Federation of Grain Cooperatives and the National Milk Producers Federation opposed any change in the Co-op tax status. And curiously enough the National Council of Farmer Cooperatives' attitude was variously reported by others at the hearings. The NCFC spokesman, however, took no definite stand on the unallocated reserves issue.

While the farm organizations were split among themselves, not so were some others. For instance the American Mutual Alliance, the National Association of Mutual Insurance agents, Cooperative Food Distributors of America, Credit Union National Association, National Association of Mutual Savings Banks, National Savings & Loan League and the U.S. Savings & Loan League were united in opposing any change in the co-op status.

Since that time a boiler and press, puff iron, solvent filter, tumbler, adjustable form, and small topper have replaced the old equipment, thus enabling the Warren Brothers to greatly improve their cleaning and pressing services.

LOCAL BANK ASKED TO HELP GATHER HOARDED PENNIES

Bob Norrell, president of the First National Bank of Baird received the following letter this week from the Comptroller of the Currency, requesting the Baird bank to assist in putting hoarded pennies back into circulation. The gathering of pennies would help the acute shortage of copper for the war effort, and he urges everyone to cooperate in this worthwhile cause. The letter follows:
 The director of the Mint, Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross, has informed me that, due to the acute shortage of copper, the Mint is unable to meet the present extraordinary demand for pennies and nickles.
 There are undoubtedly enough of these coins lying idle in various home containers to alleviate the shortage. Vigorous efforts are being made to have such coins returned to circulation. Your bank will render a real service to the country and to itself by encouraging your customers - through advertisements, broadcasts, posting of notices, or otherwise - to bring in their hoarded pennies and nickles for deposit or exchange into other currency.
 Sincerely yours,
 Preston Delano
 Comptroller of the Currency.
