Mazz to perform Friday night at the Fair Barn

By MARTHA E. FLORES
Staff Writer

Consistent Tejano Music Award winning band, Joe Lopez and Mazz will be performing in Big Spring for the first time Friday.

The dance/concert will begin at 8 p.m. at the Howard County Fair Barns. Tickets are $10 in advance and $14 at the door.

"Having a band of such as Mazz in Big Spring is an opportunity that does not come very often," said Raul Marquez, La Favorita program manager and concert coordinator. "But there are enough people in town that would enjoy and deserve having a top band perform locally that I am sure this concert will be a success."

Last year at the Tejano Music Awards, Mazz captured six out of 13 awards, including Album of the Year for an orchestra or group with their 1991 release, Para Nuestra Gente; Song of the Year; Songwriter of the Year; Vocal Duo of the Year; Single of the Year; Male Vocalist of the Year, Joe Lopez.

With the band's six honors, it was the most successful nominee at the awards.

But the group is not a newcomer to the event. In 1990, three awards were presented to the band. They also won awards in 1989, 1988 and 1986 with nominations each year since 1984.

Mazz started more than 15 years ago by Joe Lopez, lead vocalist, and Jimmy Gonzalez, guitarist, lead and background vocals. The group has recorded more than 28 albums, two of which have gone platinum (selling one million copies or more).

Tickets for the concert are available at the following locations: Jimmy Marin's Exxon, 310 E. 4th St.; La Favorita at the KBYG office; Tony Dominguez Texaco, 1000 Lamesa Highway; David Dominguez One Stop Grocery, 3300 Business Service Interstate 20; El Rey Restaurant, Snyder Highway; and T. Marquez Jr. & Sons Radio & Television Service, 1010 Lamesa Dr.

Tables for the dance may be reserved for $6.

Luncheon tickets on sale

Tickets for the United Way Kick-off Luncheon with former San Antonio Mayor Henry Cisneros as the guest speaker are available at the United Way office, Bluebonnet Savings Bank, Citizens Federal Credit Union, Cosden Employee Federal Credit Union, First National Bank, Security State Bank and State National Bank.

The luncheon will be Sept. 22 at 11:30 a.m. at the First United Methodist Church, 404 S. Scurry St. Tickets are $10 each.

Seating capacity for the event is 500 with more than 200 seats reserved at this time.

Jail agreement pushed by city

By PATRICK DRISCOLL
Staff Writer

After one year, city of Big Spring officials are still pushing to work out an agreement with Howard County officials for the sheriff's office to handle all city prisoners.

Failed efforts so far could cause the city to restore four city jailer positions in October at a cost of $60,000 a year. The council last year planned to close the city jail to eliminate the jailer positions and reduce liability and in turn pay daily incarceration fees.

But Sheriff A.N. Standard says if he handles all city prisoners, he would need four more employees and about $200,000 in renovations, including two new detoxification tanks, a closed vehicle entryway, booking area modifications and some jail floor modifications.

"This would be a short term fix," he stressed, saying the county jail has been overfilled the past two weeks.

County Judge Ben Lockhart says the citizens of this county to move it along," said Councilman Jim Beil Tuesday at a council meeting after a report on the subject by City Attorney Mike Thomas.

Thomas was scheduled to give a verbal report to the council Tuesday but the council voted to table it until the written report can be reviewed and pending further talks with county officials.

The council last month requested Thomas look into the situation following a report by Police Chief Joe Cook that the police department was having difficulty getting the sheriff's office to accept city prisoners. Acting City Manager Tom Decell refused to provide the media with a copy of the Thomas' report.

Sheriff A.N. Standard has repeatedly maintained he follows state guidelines in handling up to 2,000 city prisoners each year charged with felonies and Class A and B misdemeanors. He said he accepts prisoners who are bondable, under warrants or have cases filed against them.

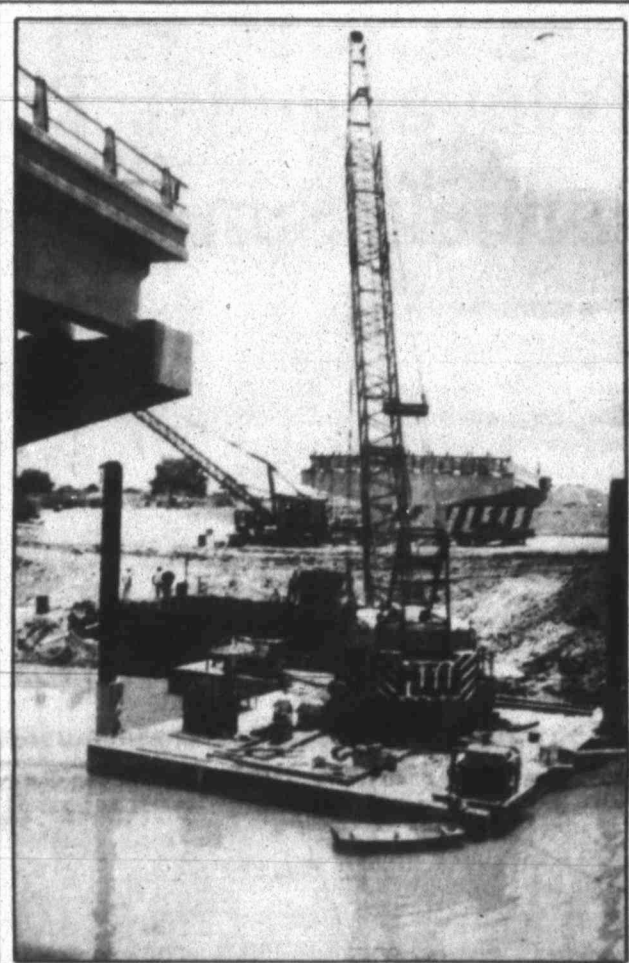

"We have been more than cooperative with the city," he said. Cook could not be reached Wednesday or this morning for comment.

Another problem is jail space.

The county jail has been over capacity the past two weeks, Standard said, with 40 prisoners — four more than state standards allow — being held Wednesday. Four prisoners each month are allotted to be transferred to the state prison in Huntsville, also experiencing overcrowding. About 20 local prisoners are waiting transfer to Huntsville.

Handling all city prisoners immediately could result in a population increase of five to 15, Standard predicts. That includes handling prisoners charged with Class C misde-

Park petition drive volunteers needed

By JOHN H. WALKER
Managing Editor

Volunteers are being sought to man state park petition tables in local businesses this Saturday.

Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce Vice President Linda Roger said the chamber-led petition drive to keep Big Spring State Recreation Area open is going well.

"We've gone over 5,000 signatures," Roger said. "We still have a long way to go, but I'm certain we will reach our goal of 8,000 signatures for delivery to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission."

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department announced on July 30 that Big Spring State Recreation Area — more commonly referred to as Scenic Mountain — would close along with 10 other state parks on Aug. 31.

It was then that the chamber took the lead in petitioning the state to keep the facility open. The petitions will be delivered to parks commission officials at an Aug. 26 meeting in Austin. That meeting will be the only time local input will be taken on the proposed closings.

Roger said a key part of the drive's success thus far came from last Saturday's effort.

"We picked up about one half of our signatures last Saturday at Wal-Mart, Don's and Furr's," she explained. "We'd like to be able to man as many of those locations as possible this week, plus add Winn-Dixie to the list."

Petitions may be signed by any resident of Texas. Persons signing the petition are not required to be a registered voter, nor is there an age limit. Parents may sign for their children.

Roger said if there were enough volunteers, the petition tables would be manned in two-hour shifts from 10 a.m. until 8 p.m., if possible.

"We at least want to be able to keep the tables open from 10 until 6," she said, "but we need help."

Roger said persons should call the chamber office at 263-7641 for more information if they are interested in volunteering to staff the petition tables this Saturday.

Cap Rock to appeal ruling

By GARY SHANKS
Staff Writer

Cap Rock Electric Cooperative Inc. officials vow to continue their legal fight with Texas Utilities Electric Company.

Midland District Court Judge John G. Hyde ruled Tuesday that Cap Rock must continue buying electricity from TU Electric in a lawsuit contesting a 1990 agreement with TU, filed by Cap Rock.

Cap Rock officials will continue the fight to purchase cheaper power for the company's 22,000 customers, and will likely appeal Tuesday's decision, according to Cap Rock spokesperson Teresa Kelly.

"We're deeply disappointed in the judge's decision, mainly because it's our customers who will not receive the electric savings that we still believe are rightfully theirs," Cap Rock CEO David Pruitt was quoted as saying.

Cap Rock had negotiated a power supply agreement with West Texas Utilities in Abilene for a 20-percent savings over power purchased from TU, Kelly said.

Of the contested agreement, Judge Hyde said, "I believe that the contract interpretation advanced by the defendant (TU Electric) is supported by a fair reading of the document and the prevailing law. I conclude that the agreement is valid and may be lawfully

Judge finds for TU Electric

A district judge has ruled against Cap Rock Electric Cooperative Inc. in its lawsuit against TU Electric.

The agreement, which restricts Cap Rock to the exclusive use of TU electricity, has been judged a valid contract by 238th District Judge John Hyde in Midland.

Cap Rock had hoped to be able to purchase electricity from less expensive sources and thereby cut its consumer cost by 30 percent enforced by either party to it."

Hyde also found in favor of TU's request for sanctions against Cap Rock because of "conduct by Cap Rock... contrary to the dignity of court proceedings," on the part of Cap Rock Director of Power Supply Steven Collier.

Hyde said Collier purposely misled the court by not producing a signed "success fee" contract, which paid Collier a percentage of all savings to Cap Rock from his work, when ordered by the court to do so.

For this, Hyde ordered Cap Rock to provide 200 hours of community service in a county where Cap Rock supplies power.

According to Kelly, Collier said, "We never at any time intended to disobey or mislead the court. We said, Cap Rock spokesperson Teresa Kelly.

In addition to the unfavorable ruling, Hyde found TU's request for sanctions valid, saying, "I believe that the testimony of Mr. Collier (of Cap Rock) was not due to inadvertence, forgetfulness or mere mistake, but was calculated to and did, in fact, mislead the trial court."

Cap Rock was ordered to provide 200 hours of community service for this infraction.

are deeply disappointed that the court concluded we did so.

"We fought TU Electric over turning over the document because we didn't think it was relevant to the case, but we did the best we could given the time frame and what we understood we were supposed to do."

Cap Rock would have no problem providing 200 hours of community service, Pruitt said. "It's what we do best, and doing more is a privilege not a burden."

The case will be sent for appeal to the 8th District Court in El Paso, Kelly said.

Cap Rock is a member-owned cooperative serving 17 primarily rural counties in West Texas, and is based in Stanton and Austin.

Matthews succumbs to injuries

HERALD STAFF REPORT

Kenneth Matthews died Wednesday afternoon from injuries sustained during a house fire occurring July 31.

Matthews, 33, was transported to University Medical Hospital burn unit in Lubbock after sustaining burns to more than 80 percent of his body. He had been in critical condition since his arrival.

Matthews, his wife, Kathy, and their children, Kendra, Kevin and Rory Kristian were awakened shortly after 3 a.m. by the smoke in their home, northeast of the city. Matthews escorted the older children out of the house returning inside to locate his wife and the infant.

He received his injuries when he returned to the home, said C. Roy Wright, chief of the Howard County Volunteer Fire Department. He was the only family member who sustained serious injuries.

Matthews was transported by his wife to Scenic Mountain Medical Center. Matthew's transportation to Lubbock was delayed several hours due to early morning thunderstorms.

During his hospital stay, Matthews was incurring an average daily bill of $3,600.

CED board considers approval of tax rate

By CONNIE SWINNEY
Staff Writer

Budget status and a proposed tax rate topped the agenda of the Howard-Glasscock County Education District board meeting today.

Ron Plumlee, the board's facilitator and BSISD superintendent for business, presented the 1992-93 tax collection figures to trustees representing Coahoma, Forsan, Garden City and Big Spring schools.

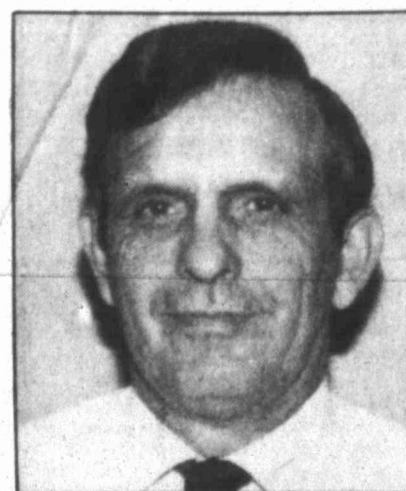

The board proposed a tax of .907 cents per $100 property valuation. The state's required minimum tax rate to fund schools jumped this year from 72 cents to 82 cents, so the local C.E.D. is dealing with larger numbers.

"Because of the decrease in values, this drives the tax rate up," he said. The current rate could increase 11 cents per $100 valuation compared to the rate last year if the board approves the rate at a meeting tentatively scheduled for Sept. 4.

The four Howard-Glasscock districts comprising the C.E.D. will gain a percentage of the money collected for redistribution of wealth for schools as legislated by the state.

The estimated local C.E.D. share is about $12.6 million, according to their budget report.

Big Spring gains the most funds receiving 54 percent, Forsan schools gains 16 percent, Coahoma will receive almost 16 percent and Glasscock County about 13 percent. BSISD schools receive the highest percentage because of the higher number of taxes collected. Big Spring taxpayers are expected to contribute about $6.8 million with the other three districts adding from $1.6 to $2 million each.

In other business, Dan Wise was sworn in as the representative for BSISD filling a vacancy created by Ford Farris' leaving the district.

The members of the Howard-Glasscock County Education District are Lee George, chairman and Forsan representative; BSISD Superintendent William McQueary; Forsan Superintendent J.F. Poynor; Coahoma Superintendent L.D. Monroe; Garden City Superintendent Charles Zachry; Plumlee, Phillip Reid, Coahoma representative and Dennis Fuchs, Garden City representative.

The next regular meeting of the board will be Aug. 27 at Big Spring High School.

Free trade agreement helps out maquiladoras

The ASSOCIATED PRESS

MONTERREY, Mexico (AP) — Under the new free trade agreement, U.S. manufacturers who assemble cars, televisions and even pianos in Mexico will soon be able to sell their products more cheaply in this country.

Along Mexico's 2,000 mile border with the United States, some 2,000 tariff-exempt U.S.-invested assembly plants called maquiladoras import raw materials, assemble them in Mexico, then ship them back to the United States for export.

The plants employ about 500,000 people.

Maquiladoras can sell only a small portion of their goods in Mexico now, and must pay duties on them. This has meant expensive corn flakes, Barbie dolls and jeans — to name a few products.

From Monterrey, shoppers drive 140 miles north to Texas to buy U.S.-made brand name items because they are cheaper and the quality is better than many Mexican goods.

But that may change with free trade between Mexico, Canada and the United States. American department stores and large grocery chains are planning to open outlets in Mexico.

Since the maquiladora program began in 1965, dozens of U.S. manufacturers have closed up shop in the United States and moved to Mexico, where labor is cheap.

With the signing of the North American Free Trade Agreement, maquiladoras can obtain their parts in Mexico and also sell them domestically.

The maquiladora program allowed duty-free import of raw materials, components and machinery for foreign, mostly American companies that export. They pay only a duty on the value of labor, which averages between $5 and $7 a day.

Free trade would eliminate all duties, tariffs and other trade barriers within the three countries over the next 15 years, allowing goods produced in North America to move freely across borders.

But economists and businessmen involved with the maquiladoras say that because the specific terms and exemptions in the treaty are still unclear, it is difficult to predict the agreement's impact on the plants.

"There isn't enough information," said Jose Luis Mastretta, an analyst with Monterrey's Chamber of Commerce. "The reason they're here is because of cheap labor and that won't change."

In all probability, the plants will continue to take advantage of cheap Mexican labor and could increase in number as more American and Canadian companies seeking access to the Mexican market launch manufacturing operations.

"With the maquiladora there are less barriers, less taxes," said Michael Habig, director of the Maquiladora Association in Reynosa, Mexico near McAllen, Texas. "So it's been a good model for the free trade treaty."

The environmental impact also remains a question.

Because of the flood of maquiladora industry to the border, new industry may skip that area and move inland to cities where infrastructure and services aren't as overloaded.

In many border cities, the migration has outstripped transportation, health and other services. A majority of maquiladora workers live cramped in squalid huts with no running water, drainage or electricity.

Resolutions could change open meetings, records act

The ASSOCIATED PRESS

LUBBOCK — Proposed resolutions that could change the Texas Open Meetings and Open Records acts by permitting exemptions under the umbrella of economic development will be considered by the Lubbock City Council.

City Attorney John Ross was directed last month to draft the resolutions, seeking support from the Texas Municipal League to lobby by the state Legislature for the changes.

Ross defended the resolutions Wednesday, a day before the council was to examine the resolutions. "Nobody is saying, 'Let's do away with the open meetings, open records law.' We're just saying,

"Hey, this is an exception like other exceptions that currently exist in the legislation," Ross said. "We feel it's something to be discussed and considered."

Nancy Monson, executive director of the Freedom of Information Foundation of Texas, raised concerns with the draft resolution.

"The concern being we're still talking about public funds here — we're still talking about public money," she said. "Not to mention the right of the public to know what type of economic development is going on."

"We would see this as an effort to keep information from the public, and it's their money," she added.

One resolution asks that economic development corporations and local governments be able to hold executive sessions and discuss economic development proposals in private.

The request would include local proposals, public/private contracts, incentives, business expansion or industrial attraction for the purpose of economic development.

The Open Meetings Act prohibits elected bodies, such as the City Council, from holding private sessions except to discuss personnel, real estate, pending litigation and security.

Another resolution asks that certain correspondence on economic development by a government or economic development corporation to a private business be exempted from the Open Records Act.

AUSTIN — The chairman of the Texas Department of Commerce board, Alan R. Kahn of Dallas, has resigned.

Kahn submitted his resignation Wednesday, saying he believed he had accomplished what he set out to do when appointed — guiding the economic development agency through a reorganization following Gov. Ann Richards' election.

Richards said Kahn would be "sorely missed" and that a search would begin immediately for a replacement.

"He brought to the board the kind of expertise and management know-how that opened new domestic and international trade markets for Texas business," the governor said.

AUSTIN — A drill team instructor says she'll change the way the no-pass-no-play rule is applied in her program if Education Commissioner Lionel "Skip" Meno allows her to continue teaching.

A Texas Education Agency lawyer is asking Meno to revoke the teaching certificate of Melissa Preston, director of the South Grand Prairie High School Chey-Annex.

Officials' kidnapping prompts show of force

The ASSOCIATED PRESS

TBILISI, Georgia — Some 3,000 National Guard troops took up positions today near a western town that is the stronghold of militants who have kidnapped top government officials, authorities said.

Georgian leader Eduard Shevardnadze, the former Soviet foreign minister, had warned in an emotional TV address to the nation Wednesday that the kidnappers would "pay dearly" unless they released the hostages immediately.

The ruling State Council headed by Shevardnadze ordered the guardsmen to move toward Zugdidi, the western Georgian stronghold of supporters of ousted President Zviad Gamsakhurdia, and take control of roads, bridges and railways.

Gamsakhurdia won Georgia's first popular presidential election last year and led the republic's successful campaign for independence from the Soviet Union. But he was ousted in January after his former allies accused him of suppressing dissent.

Gamsakhurdia has since taken refuge in the southern Russian city of Grozny, capital of the self-declared Chechen republic in southern Russia. His supporters have been waging a guerrilla battle for his return to power, and on Tuesday kidnapped a dozen Georgian officials who had gone to negotiate with the militants.

Troops, tanks and helicopters, headed by Defense Minister Tengiz Kitovani, arrived this morning outside Zugdidi, 155 miles northwest of Tbilisi, said Interior Ministry spokesman Vladimir Gogolashvili.

Kitovani was to decide whether more troops were needed in western Georgia, Gogolashvili said.

Among the 11 hostages still being held were Interior Minister Roman Gventsadze, who heads all of the republic's police forces; Deputy Interior Minister Zilbert Khazalia; and Shevardnadze's national security adviser, David Salaridze.

On Wednesday, the kidnappers released one hostage, a ranking police officer.

Shevardnadze had said the officials traveled to Zugdidi to negotiate the release of Vice Premier Alexander Kavsadze, kept hostage for over a month by Gamsakhurdia supporters.

The hostages were believed to be in western Georgian, but their exact whereabouts were unclear.

Georgia's Foreign Ministry sent a formal note to Russia's Foreign Ministry saying Gamsakhurdia was hiding on Russian territory and asking Russia to "take effective measures to curb the activity of the terrorist center headed by Gamsakhurdia." There was no immediate response from the Russian government.

A firefighter helps an injured passenger of a southbound Amtrak train that derailed in Newport News, Va., Wednesday. The train derailed a short distance from a similar derailment in April.

Investigation into Amtrak derailment begins; 70 hurt

The ASSOCIATED PRESS

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. — Federal investigators were sent to examine the wreckage of an Amtrak train today to learn why it jumped the tracks about 25 feet past a switch. Seventy people were reported hurt, none seriously.

"It was pretty damned scary," said David Yancey, a 20-year-old from Newport News who was a passenger aboard Amtrak's Colonial on Wednesday.

Passengers said the train was about to reach its final destination here at the end of a run from New York when the cars started lurching and swaying shortly after 9 p.m. The train derailed about eight miles from the station.

Yancey said the lights flashed and then everything went dark. He and another passenger held on to each other until the train stopped rocking.

"It was done, it was over, just like that," he said, snapping his fingers. "But it felt as if it went on for two years."

The train's engine came to rest on its side against a hill. The five other cars jumped the tracks but remained upright and in contact with the roadbed.

Investigators from the National Transportation Safety Board and CSX Transportation Inc., which owns the track, were sent to examine the wreckage this morning.

The train had just come out of a curve when it derailed about 25 feet past a switch that governs a track leading off to a factory.

CSX spokesman Jay Westbrook said it is unknown whether the switch had anything to do with the accident.

But a passenger, Jim Jacobson, 26, of Alexandria, told the Daily Press of Newport News that he heard the conductor muttering: "I didn't get a chance to radio the switch was open. I didn't get a chance to radio."

Fire Department spokeswoman Lynn James said none of those hurt appeared to have life-threatening injuries. Officials said the most serious injuries appeared to be broken bones.

The accident occurred about 150 yards from where an Amtrak train slammed into a dump truck April 29, killing the driver and injuring 57 people. The truck driver had not heeded a crossing sign.

In response to that collision, Newport News officials asked CSX a few days ago to reduce the speed limit on the section of track from 79 mph to 50 mph, but the railroad refused.

"I think this is evidence that some adjustment needs to be made in the speed limit," Mayor Barry DuVal said.

CSX's Westbrook said it wasn't known how fast the train in Wednesday's collision was going.

100 killed in cluster bomb attack

The ASSOCIATED PRESS

KABUL, Afghanistan — Rocket-propelled cluster bombs sprayed shrapnel on the capital today as fundamentalist rebels battled the government. Defense Ministry officials said at least 100 people were killed and hundreds wounded.

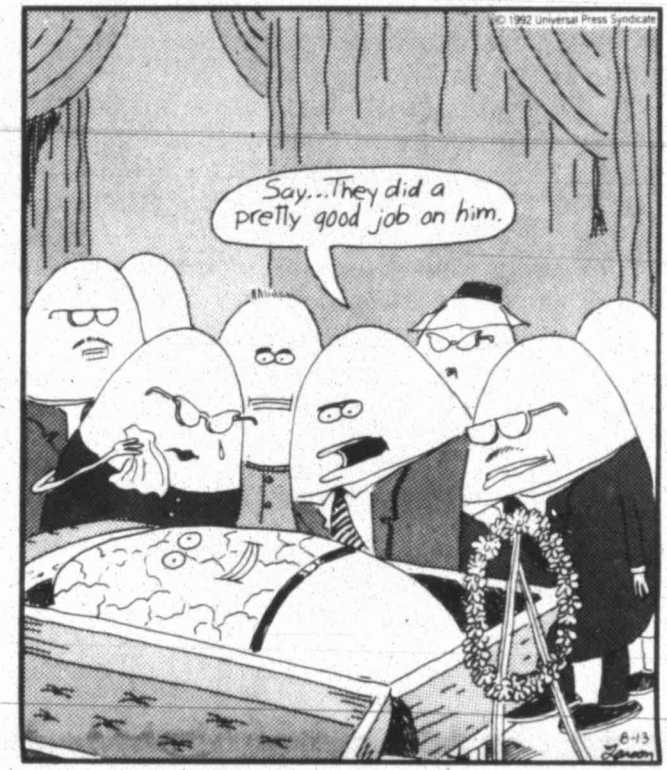

For more than a week, fighters loyal to rebel chieftain Gulbuddin Hekmatyar have pounded Kabul with thousands of rockets and relentless artillery fire, killing or wounding more than 1,000 people, according to the government.

The shelling, arising from a power struggle among rival factions of former Muslim rebels, is the most intense since mujahedeen fighters toppled the Communist regime of President Najibullah in April after 14 years of civil war.

The government said it believed the rockets were fired by Hekmatyar's forces, but that could not be independently confirmed.

WASHINGTON — The number of Americans filing claims for unemployment compensation, after surging by the largest amount in a decade, fell by a similarly huge 66,000 in the latest reporting week, the government said today.

The big decrease for the week ending Aug. 1, which pushed total claims down to 403,000, was the sharpest improvement in 13 years, but it followed an increase of 69,000 in the preceding week. Analysts said the wide swings were the result of a company-wide shutdown by General Motors.

The two-week shutdown at the end of July is likely to roil the weekly unemployment claims reports for at least another week, analysts said.

Ford Farris to be missed

Ford Farris' service to our community will be missed. Farris, who resigned Tuesday after 1 1/2 years as president and 8 1/2 years' service to the people of Big Spring by virtue of his service on the Big Spring Independent School District's board of trustees, will be making a business move to Arlington.

Through the years, Farris and his fellow board members have had to work through the difficulties created by HB 72, the continuing changes in the various exit exams required to be administered by local schools as well as the problems with school finance and the County Education Districts.

Service to a community through an elected position, especially one such as a school board, is never easy. It takes dedicated, committed individuals who want the young men and women of our community, to have the opportunity to excel in life.

It takes dedicated individuals who are willing to put up with the long hours and late meetings... with all of the hassles that accompany the job... to serve a community.

It is dedicated individuals... like Ford Farris... who help make the difference. Arlington's gain is Big Spring's loss.

HR 1300 bad news for all veterans

To the editor: H.R. 1300 must not pass, we must stop the erosion of entitlements to veterans.

There is a bill introduced in the house of representatives entitled The Universal Health Care Act of 1991. This bill is a guise if passed, to wipe out entitlements to veterans and champus. If passed, it will also interfere with social security, medicare and medicade. This bill should not be passed and will not be passed if all veterans and members of champus react now. Let the politicians in Washington know how the public feels about this bill.

Paragraph D of the bill, pertaining to champus, states: "No benefits shall be made available under sections 1079 and 1086 of title 10, United States code for items or services furnished after Dec. 31, 1994."

Paragraph E, listed under veterans benefits, states: "No benefits shall be available under Chapter 17 of Title 38, United States code. For items or services furnished after Dec. 31, 1994 to the extent that benefits with respect to such items or services available of the social security act."

Many of the paragraphs in this bill are not understandable to the wording of codes and various act numbers. This bill will not be passed if all veterans and retired military personnel will get letters to members of the house of representatives and members of Congress. Addresses are published regularly elsewhere in the Herald.

It is time for our so-called leaders in Washington understand there are many voters among veterans organizations and senior citizens groups. If these two groups would join together and act accordingly with letters to Washington we could control any election.

Money can't top mountain's beauty

To the editor: I have lived in Big Spring for 50 years, and have been going to Scenic Mountain since 1942. I have gone to the mountain in snow, rain, and beautiful sunny weather. The mountain has been a place not only to go and enjoy the view but to enjoy the tranquility and serene atmosphere in my walking.

I think that walking the mountain is a wonderful and healthful way to exercise. It is good for your heart, blood circulation, lowering of cholesterol, and even mild depression.

In years past, I have taken my children on picnics, hiking on the nature trails, Easter egg hunts, and Girl Scout outings at the mountain. While at Howard College from 1984 to 1988, I even had a special place to study.

Why is it that these people must continue to close the things that we hold most dear and dear to us. Money cannot purchase or buy the beauty and serenity that the mountain gives. Monetary gains cannot surpass the majestic beauty of God's creations, and I enjoy seeing these things that God created; not what man has destroyed.

You have seen their faces in camps

Like a smile being wiped off an innocent and joyous face, the beauty of the Olympic Games last week evaporated with the first sight of the prisoners in Serbian-run detention camps.

These are difficult times to try to believe in the inherent nobility of humankind. The twin concepts of glory and love seem often to be little more than a cruel hoax. The Nazi Holocaust of World War II is fading into history, and as the survivors of that era die off, the concentration camps of the '40s become less real for new generations who were not born when the torture and starvation and extermination were being carried out. There are even people who believe that the Holocaust never took place; how could anyone propose that such a terrible thing could happen? they ask. Humans could not do that to each other.

If anything constructive comes out of the news of the Serbian detention camps -- and right now it's difficult to conceive that anything could -- it is that we now are learning once again that when it comes to heartlessness and utter lack of mercy, no act is impossible. Men and women here on Earth may all be children of the same deity, but that will never stop them from carrying out acts that would make even the Lord weep. Sometimes you have to stop and ask yourself what, at the core, is the true nature of man. Sometimes you think that man, at his marrow, is only a monster. How else to explain it? There must be something in the nature of man that, periodically, given the proper excuse, drops its mask and becomes that conscienceless beast again. You cannot round up your fellow men and women, imprison them and guard them, herd them together and let them thirst in the sun, and explain it away as politics or warfare. Those rationales are too convenient. The kind of bottomless hate that allows that comes from an awful core far too terrible to label as anything as conventional as politics.

As haunting as the faces in the detention camps were -- the faces too frightened even to speak of what was being done to them, the faces that only months ago lived on placid streets, some of them side-by-side with the faces that now confine them at gunpoint -- there was another face that, in its own way, was just as indelible. Perhaps you saw it.

That face belonged to a female functionary of one of the detention camps visited by a British television crew. With all the anguish and evil around her -- anguish and evil she was a part of carrying out -- she took offense not at the hunger or the pain or the heart-break of the people in the camp she helped to run. Her offense was reserved for the visitors who dared hint that this was a detention camp.

It was not a camp, she said, full of indignation. It was a center. Could they not get that straight? This was a center. A center. Her tone flat, her face betraying not a drop of grace or of love, she sternly corrected the visitors. What you are seeing is a center.

For generations who never understood the cold terror of the famous Nazi phrase -- "I was only following orders" -- this functionary at the Serbian detention camp was a grim education. How, with human grief all around them, could the Nazi guards have said they were merely following orders? All one had to do was look in the face of the woman who helped to run the Serbian camp to know the answer to that one. A center, she said coldly as she refused to let the visitors see any more. You are at a center.

If you are feeling safe and far removed from the ghastly scenes of the Serbian camps, if you are feeling that it is a shame but that it has nothing to do with you -- fine, perhaps you can find comfort in that delusion. But it is difficult to advise the presumption of safety in a world that has for so long honored hate. Who do you want to hate? The Jews? The blacks? The Croats? Take your pick. There is more than enough hate to go around. If we are certain of nothing else, we can be certain of that. Our world will never run out of hate, and just when it seems to be all used up, somewhere someone will discover a new storehouse.

Already some partisans are arguing that the parallels between the Serbian camps and the Nazi death camps are not exact, that it is irresponsible to describe them in the same terms. Fine. Of course. This is not a camp. This is a center. A center. The decades go by, and the old horrors are replaced by new, and the hollow faces behind the wire fences stare out as we approach the 21st century. The world turns and as darkness falls we go to sleep, and when we awaken the awful dreams are not dreams at all. They are real, and they have been there all along. Sometimes we just manage to forget them for a while.

Landlord's wallet is tenant-impaired

The couple in the first-floor flat plays the radio too loud. Or maybe they don't. But the guy in the second-floor flat thinks it's too loud, and gets even by jumping up and down. The couple in the first-floor flat retaliates by whacking the ceiling with a broom handle.

So they beef to the landlord, and it is his job to resolve the dispute. That is a heavy responsibility that goes with owning a three-flat.

He tells the couple on the first floor not to play the radio too loud. They say they aren't playing it too loud. So he tells them to play even less not too loud.

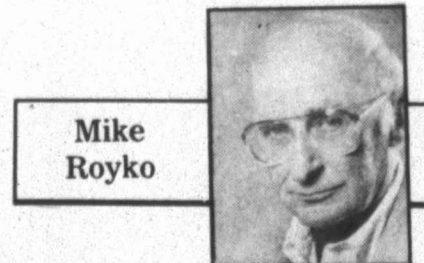

And he tells the guy on the second floor to stop jumping up and down, and he denies jumping. The landlord says, good, but don't even hop or skip.

The landlord hopes the matter is resolved. It's enough worrying about plumbing, the furnace, the roof, insurance, taxes, and the sump pump, without loud radios and up and down jumping.

But once these kinds of feuds begin, they have a way of escalating. Once again, the radio is too loud. Or maybe it isn't, but the guy upstairs thinks it is and resumes jumping. Plaster falls. So downstairs, they bang the ceiling with the broom handle.

Then it gets really serious. The guy upstairs calls the police about the loud radio. A few weeks later, the downstairs couple calls the police and accuses the guy upstairs of throwing an egg on their car.

So the landlord again talks to downstairs and upstairs. He goes back and forth, like a labor negotiator. But there is only so much he can do. He knows that when eggs fly and the police are called, there can be no lasting peace.

Finally, he tells both parties that if they can't get along in his building, maybe they should think about moving.

It isn't easy for him to say that because the downstairs couple, with the radio, have been there for 10 years and pay their rent on time and keep the place clean.

And the guy upstairs, the alleged egg thrower, has been there more than two years and pays promptly and even redecorated the flat with paint the landlord bought.

Nobody wants to move. It's not the fanciest neighborhood, but the building is clean, the apartments big, and the rent is $560, which is not a bad deal in Chicago.

But the landlord says, "I have done all I can do."

Finally, the alleged jumper and egg thrower sends the landlord a note saying he will be moving at the end of the month. And he does.

The landlord hopes that he will now have peace. And in a simpler age, he would have. But not in this litigation-crazed age.

As soon as the tenant was out, he got a lawyer and marched over to the Chicago Commission on Human Relations and filed a complaint.

He said the landlord had discriminated against him because he was gay. And that, he said, is why the landlord hadn't resolved his differences with the first-floor couple.

As he said in his complaint, the landlord told him: "If you're so unhappy, why don't you just move out? There is nothing I can do."

Which the landlord admits. What the hell could he do with feuding tenants?

The landlord was told by the commission to come downtown for an interview and to bring copies of all leases, all letters, all rent records, and a list of all gay, lesbian and disabled tenants.

The interview lasted about two hours, with the landlord trying to explain that it was a dispute between feuding tenants, and he did the best he could, but when people act crazy, what can he do? He's a landlord, not a shrink.

A month later, he was notified that the complaint had been amended. It was now more serious because it accused him of "constructive eviction." That meant that he threw the guy out, even though he hadn't.

And a month after that, he was called in for a "conciliation" hearing. But it turned out that it wasn't very conciliatory.

The landlord was told that there was "substantial evidence" to support the discrimination and eviction charge.

So the hearing officer advised the landlord to save himself a lot of hassle by settling.

How much? the landlord asked. The guy formerly upstairs -- the alleged jumper -- said he wanted $4,500 to cover the cost of moving, paying more rent in his new place, and the grief he endured.

Absolutely not, said the landlord. It wasn't like his building had rats and roaches. He vowed to fight.

Brave, but foolish. We have all sorts of federal, state and local commissions looking out for those who are victims, real or imagined. And they usually give the edge to the alleged victim.

"So we paid the $4,500," the landlord says. "It would have ended up costing us a lot more than that because we would have had to pay their legal fees and extra damages and God knows what. Those commission bureaucrats told us as much. Of course, if I won, he wouldn't have had to pay my lawyer. So I'm stuck with legal fees either way."

"And the thing is, I didn't do anything wrong. I couldn't care less about sexual orientation. I'm a social worker. I support gay rights."

"But what are you going to do? You get in front of one of these commissions, and you're the rich landlord against the downtrodden. So you pay."

All because of a radio that was too loud, or maybe it wasn't.

Daly ready to drive

The ASSOCIATED PRESS

ST. LOUIS — In a clinic for fans prior to the 74th PGA Championship, Long John Daly offered some advice to awed amateurs on driving the golf ball.

"Buy a driver with the biggest head you can find," Daly said. "Then hit the hell out of it."

Daly, the biggest hitter in golf, followed that philosophy to a startling triumph and instant celebrity last year at Crooked Stick, and will stay with it in an attempt to defend his title in the tournament that begins Thursday on long, tough Bellevere.

Daly, however, said he has little hope that the moon-shot drives launched from his wrap-around swing will make it a successful defense.

"I just hope to play about half as good as I did last year," he said before a final practice round for the last of the year's Big Four events.

"I'll just play the best I can and see what happens," he said.

And, while he will use a new driver with a massive head, called "the Killer Whale," at every opportunity, the meandering fairways of Bellevere will take it out of his hand on several holes.

"I'll probably have to hit the 1-iron on five or six holes" to avoid driving through the fairways on doglegs, he said.

"Crooked Stick didn't have any doglegs," he said. "And this course is a lot tighter than Crooked Stick."

Both factors work against him, as does the course setup. The fairways are less than 30 yards wide and become more narrow as the distance from the tee increases.

"At Crooked Stick, they got wider the further out you went," said Daly, who leads the world in driving distance but ranks a dismal 178 in driving accuracy.

And accuracy off the tee, most leading players agree, will be the key factor in this event.

Scott Simpson will be one of 151 golfers trying to win the coveted PGA Championship which starts today.

"I don't care if you hit it 350 yards, if you don't hit it straight, if you don't keep it in play, you're going to have a lot of trouble on this golf course," U.S. Open champ Tom Kite said.

British Open title-holder Nick Faldo concurred.

"The rough is severe as always," he said. "Driving will be demanding and the key is to hit it in the fairway. If you hit in the rough, you'll have to wedge it out and try to save par."

Daly, on the other hand, tried to play down that aspect of the course. 52-year-old Jack Nicklaus called "the longest, toughest course I've ever seen."

"Like all the majors, the key is chipping and putting," Daly said.

"I've been working real hard on chipping and putting for about five days. I looked at the film of the (1991) PGA, and I won it with my chipping and putting."

"No doubt about it, that's what's going to win here," he said.

Among those more likely to succeed, Daly mentioned "Freddie Couples. And Faldo. The way he's playing now he has to be the favorite."

"And, oh, the usual veterans. The guys who usually play well in the majors," Daly said. They're the ones you're going to see on the leaderboard," Daly said.

That list includes Kite, Ray Floyd, John Cook and Bruce Lietzke, who chased Daly to this title a year ago, won the Colonial tournament earlier this season and leads the PGA Tour in combined driving statistics.

Among the other leading contenders in the 151-man field chasing $1.6 million in total prize money are Australian Greg Norman, Jeff Sluman, Scott Simpson, Payne Stewart, Davis Love III and veteran Lanny Wadkins, a recent winner at Hartford.

None of them, however, can be expected to match Daly's magical attraction to the galleries.

His unorthodox swing, his "good ol' boy" attitude, his interaction with the fans, have made him one of the greatest fan favorites the game has seen.

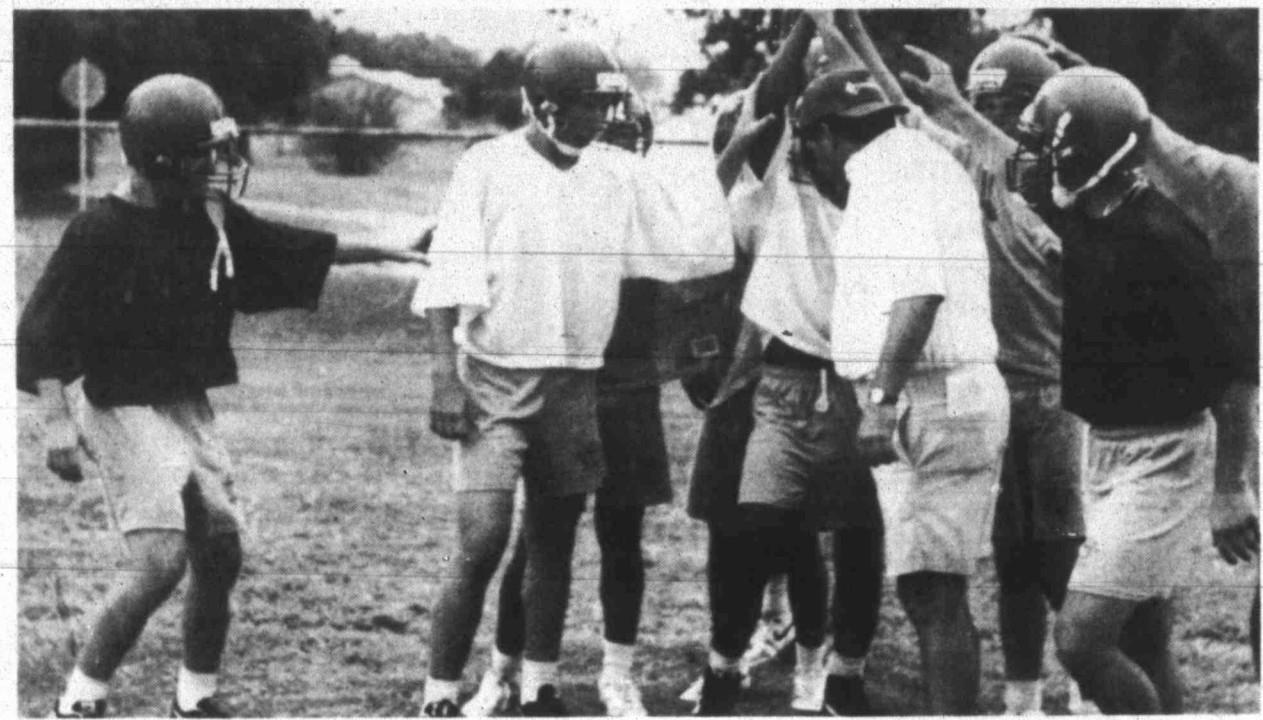

His widely publicized problems in his personal life — which have raised irate eyebrows among the game's administrators — have only added to his gallery appeal.

All of that has changed, he said, with his recent marriage and the birth of a baby daughter.

"I've settled down a lot," he said.

But he has no regrets for any of the episodes, public or private, no regrets for any of the attention that has been showered on him since he became an instant folk hero in the victory at Crooked Stick.

"I wouldn't change anything, not for the world," he said.

Longhorns leading rusher suspended for talking with Aggies

The ASSOCIATED PRESS

AUSTIN — Texas Longhorns running back Butch Hadnot says he does not regret asking Texas A&M officials about a possible transfer. But he is upset with the way his school reacted.

Texas coach John Mackovic indefinitely suspended Hadnot on Wednesday, the day after it was reported the junior discussed switching schools with Texas A&M coach R.C. Slocum.

"I'm really upset for something like this to happen to me, especially at such a crucial time," said Hadnot, who today takes the first of two final exams in his summer school classes. He must pass both to remain academically eligible.

"It's really messing with my mind. I think it was too harsh, but I'm a man and I'll accept anything that comes my way."

Hadnot, Texas' leading rusher last year with 501 yards, was the 1990 Southwest Conference newcomer of the year. But he is not expected to be featured in the Longhorns' new offense under first-year coach Mackovic.

"I'm a running back and I want to go somewhere where I can show my ability the best, providing I can get through my academics," said Hadnot, adding that he has not considered transferring to any other schools.

Hadnot said he was called in to Mackovic's office Wednesday afternoon shortly after the varsity players returned to campus. He said he expected to be punished, but only thought "I'd have to stay after practice, running laps."

Mackovic, who refused to speak with reporters Wednesday, released a statement saying Hadnot was indefinitely suspended for displaying "conduct detrimental to the team."

"After meeting with Butch regarding his conversations with coach Slocum, I have a clear and accurate picture of the events as they occurred," Mackovic said.

"Butch's recent actions toward the team and his own academic well-being are not what we expect from our student-athletes," said Mackovic.

To rejoin the Longhorns, Hadnot must regain his academic eligibility, show a dedication to his school work and mend his relationship with the team, Mackovic said.

Mackovic, who arrived in Austin last December from the University of Illinois, spent Wednesday welcoming players back in preparation for two-a-day practices that begin Friday.

"I have been looking forward to this day for eight months. The players tell me they are excited to be back and they appear to be in good shape," Mackovic said.

Thursday Notes

Gridders put on pads Friday

Football two-a-day practices are underway and area gridgers strap on the pads Friday.

The first four days all workouts are in shorts. Most of the first four days were devoted to learning offensive and defensive plays and conditioning.

The Big Spring Steers will have an intersquad scrimmage at 10 a.m. at Blankenship Field Saturday. The Coahoma Bulldogs will have an intersquad scrimmage at 10 a.m. and the Forsan Buffaloes will have an intersquad scrimmage at 9 a.m. also on Saturday.

"As one coach puts it — 'everyone looks good in shorts, but full pads is another thing.' It should be worthwhile seeing area gridgers in their first competitive contact action this weekend.

Former Forsan gridder honored

Former Forsan High football player Shay Howard is mentioned in this month's issue of Sport magazine.

Howard, an offensive guard at East Central State University in Oklahoma, is mentioned for his achievements on the football field as well as in academics.

The 1989 Forsan graduate is the son of Jack and Dena Howard of Elbow and the grandson of Leo and Nell Parker of Big Spring and Virginia Howard of Big Spring.

Local shooters compete at state

Howard County 4-H Shooting Sports members participated in the State 4-H Trap, Skeet and Sporting Clay Shoot in San Antonio last weekend.

Sub juniors who placed were: Cash Berry and Riley Hipp, fifth place in two-man skeet; Logan Gamble and Lorin Wolf, fourth place in two-man trap; Michael Brooks, Paul Kinsey and Cody Fryar, second place in three-man trap and the runnerup overall three-man team. Brooks was also sixth in individual skeet and second in international trap.

Juniors who placed were Judd Cathey and John Paul Nichols, at third place in two-man skeet.

Big Spring tickets on sale now

While on the subject of football, tickets sales are going on for Big Spring Steers football games.

Tickets sales for season ticket holders are on sale until Aug. 21. Tickets sales for the general public will be from Aug. 24-Sept. 11. Tickets may be purchased at the Big Spring ISD Business Office at 708 11th Place at the northwest entrance.

August times are from 8:30 a.m. until 3:30 p.m. Monday through Thursday. The office is closed from noon until 1 p.m. Friday sales last from 8:30 a.m. until 3 p.m., closed from noon to 1 p.m. Tickets window hours for August

If you want this letter jacket you'll have to buy it

The ASSOCIATED PRESS

AUSTIN — The high school letter jacket, a symbol of athletic achievement, has been cut from the Austin school budget.

If high school athletes want letter jackets, they'll have to pay for them. The school board voted earlier this week to cut the jackets to save $24,000.

"I realize cuts have to be made," athletic director Wally Freytag said. "Elimination of funding for the jackets won't have a direct impact on programs. But, in a way, it does have an impact because kids are working for letter jackets."

"It will impact some AISD schools more than others.

Johnston, LBJ, Reagan, Lanier and us may be hit the hardest," said Kleo Halm, Travis High School football coach. "Some of our kids can't afford to buy their own jackets."

He said since the jackets will no longer be on a bid basis, the cost for them will go up. The University Interscholastic League has a $50 limit on awards a school can give, but there's no cap for kids buying their own jackets, he added.

The jackets will likely cost the athletes about $70 when they are not on a bid basis, Freytag said.

Athletes who have a certain amount of playing time in a sport are awarded a letter jacket.

Rangers' Brown wins number 16

The ASSOCIATED PRESS

MINNEAPOLIS — Juan Gonzalez smashed his way out of a month-long funk with a three-run, pinch-homer in the ninth inning off Rick Aguilera, lifting the Texas Rangers to a 5-3 victory Wednesday night over the Minnesota Twins.

The homer made Kevin Brown

(16-7) the AL's victory leader, snapped Texas' three-game losing streak and dropped the Twins three games behind West-leading Oakland.

Tom Edens had sailed through 3 1-3 innings of one-hit relief but Twins manager Tom Kelly brought in Aguilera (1-6) to start the ninth. Aguilera has blown six saves in 37 chances although he often enters games with nobody on base.

Jeff Huson started the ninth with a single. After Geno Petralli, the first of three consecutive Texas pinch hitters, struck out, Dean Palmer walked.

Gonzalez, batting .165 in the previous 27 games to drop his average from .271 to a season-low .245, then sent Aguilera's thigh-high, middle-of-the-plate pitch 418 feet over the center-field fence.

While Gonzalez has struggled with his average, he hasn't lost his power. Nine of his last 18 hits have been home runs and he is second in the majors with 28 this season. It was his first career pinch homer.

Brown allowed 11 hits — all singles, including five that never left the infield — in eight innings.

Houston Astros defeat San Francisco Giants in 10th inning, 5-4

The ASSOCIATED PRESS

SAN FRANCISCO — The Houston Astros have a 19-37 road record — among the worst in the major leagues — yet they picked on someone their own size at Candlestick Park.

Jeff Bagwell's 10th-inning single Wednesday earned a 5-4 victory over the beleaguered San Francisco Giants, giving the Astros a 4-3 edge at Candlestick this season and a 6-10 record on their historic 26-game road trip.

The Astros had to schedule the prolonged trip because the Republican National Convention is being held in the Astrodome next week.

The Giants had the option of walking Bagwell with first base open that day, and history repeated after the two clubs entered the 10th inning in a 4-4 tie.

Brantley (3-6) was greeted by Steve Finley's lead off double. Finley went to third on Ken Caminiti's grounder and scored on Bagwell's first-pitch liner to left.

Right-hander Xavier Hernandez (7-1) pitched two scoreless innings.

Public Notice
Southwestern Bell Telephone Company is asking the Public Utility Commission of Texas (PUC) for approval to offer a new optional service called Remote Access to Call Forwarding (RACF) on a permanent basis beginning September 7, 1992.

RACF is an optional service that is intended for use by residence and business customers. RACF permits a customer who subscribes to the optional service Call Forwarding to activate, deactivate or change the Call Forwarding destination from a location other than the customer's premises. In order for RACF to function, it must be accessed from a push-button telephone.

The proposed monthly rate for RACF for residence customers is $1.00, and the proposed monthly rate for business customers is $2.75. These rates are in addition to the rates for basic local exchange service and regular Call Forwarding. (The monthly rates for Call Forwarding are $2.10 for residence customers and $2.65 for business customers.)

RACF is expected to generate first-year revenues of approximately $643,000.

Persons who wish to comment on this application, which has been assigned Tariff Control Number 11316, should notify the PUC by August 28, 1992. Requests for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757, or you may call the PUC Public Information Office at (512) 458-0256 or (512) 458-0221, teletypewriter for the deaf.

Jail

means or those previously released on bond prior to transfer to the county jail.

The 25-bed city jail typically has more than enough space, with three prisoners being held this morning, according to a police spokesman.

Standard says the city and county need a facility with about 100 beds. He has in the past advocated a private regional jail facility to help pay for costs.

His opponent in the Nov. 3 election, Republican Neil Barnaby, advocates the same idea. A 250-to-300 bed facility could serve local needs and pay for itself by contracting with government agencies to handle other prisoners, said Barnaby, administrator of the Big Spring Correction Center, a private jail handling federal prisoners.

"This is all the more reason to get a regional county jail, to stop all the duplicative effort," he said. "This is a chance for Standard to show his leadership."

The other alternative is a proposed city/county jail that would cost at least $2.2 million to build and cost $116,174 more, 22 percent, to operate annually than the police and county jails combined.

Standard opposes that idea because it would require bonds. Barnaby said he will not support it until a regional jail has been considered more fully.

Police beat

The Big Spring Police Department reported the following:

- Michael Ray Hernandez, 24, 508 N.W. Fifth, was arrested on a warrant for revocation of probation.

Suspect wounded in late-night shooting

By GARY SHANKS
Staff Writer

A Big Spring man is recovering from surgery for a gunshot wound suffered after he went on a late evening shooting spree Wednesday.

John Edward Lee Lopez, 22, was sitting in his front yard at 209 Northeast 8th St. with a sawed-off shotgun when two Big Spring police units responded to a neighbors' complaint.

Upon their arrival at 11:30 p.m., Lopez charged the car firing the shotgun and hitting the police car with one round, according to Department of Public Safety reports.

The police unit was backed quickly away from the assailant while the officer returned fire with his 9mm pistol. Lopez then ran behind the house at 211 Northeast 8th St. The police vehicle struck a large buckshot at the assailant at a range of about seven feet, reports indicated.

Pellets struck Lopez in the left arm and chest, spinning him around and knocking him over. Lopez fell face down on his shotgun.

Lopez was taken by ambulance with Scenic Mountain Medical Center where he was admitted to emergency surgery. At 5 a.m. Lopez was reported to be recovering from surgery.

Lopez has been charge with attempted capital murder and is reported to be in stable condition in the intensive care unit of SMMC.

The Texas Ranger's Office and Big Spring Police Department are investigating the shooting.

At this time, the DPS has no motive for Lopez's attacks. The Big Spring Police Department spokesperson did not return telephone calls today.

Court docket

The following cases were decided in area courts:

- Clyde E. Auwarter of Kansas pled guilty to sexual assault and was sentenced to 10 years in the Texas Department of Criminal Justice penitentiary and was fined $1,000.
- Larry Ray Bounds, 26, of 1109 Wood in Big Spring was sentenced to 15 days in the county jail for revocation of probation on two charges of driving while intoxicated.

Correction

On page 1B of Monday's Herald, the caption under the right photo with the Centerpoint reunion article should have identified Valerie Stevens and Jann Stevens serving themselves at the buffet.

Jann Stevens was misidentified. The Herald regrets the error.

Petitions are available in at least 27 locations — including through school districts in Forsan and Coahoma as well as Sands Consolidated and Big Spring.

"We feel — and school officials agreed — that it is important for our area students to participate in the petition drive," Roger said. "Many of our students have gone on field trips to Scenic Mountain and understand its importance."

Roger said that giving the students the opportunity to voice their support of the park to a state agency was a way of mainstreaming them into the democratic process.

Roger said the chamber is continuing its efforts to put together a charter bus for the Aug. 26 trip, but that early response has been slow.

Matthews was a Big Spring native and was employed by Pat Gray Body Works.

Funeral services will be at 2:30 p.m. Friday at Berea Baptist Church with burial in Mount Olive Memorial Park.

Correction

"We really need to know by Friday afternoon if we have enough people to charter the bus or not," she said. Roger said the bus holds 40 persons and the cost would be $40 per person, which would include one meal and soft drinks.

"We're asking interested persons to come to the chamber to sign up for the bus and make the $40 deposit," she said. "If the bus doesn't make, their money will be refunded."

Roger said she felt it was important that a strong showing be made from the community at the state meeting.

"We need at least 8,000 signatures — 10,000 would be better — and I know we can find at least 40 people out of 22,000 residents to make the trip."

Teachers learn new ways to make reading fun

By CONNIE SWINNEY
Staff Writer

Local teachers will return to classes this fall with reading-intensive ammunition aimed at inspiring students to learn, said Mary Tyler, a nationally recognized speaker and university educator.

Big Spring Independent School District educators in grades one through eight attended workshops this week with the theme, "Moving Into a New Reading Age."

Local educators will not discard past effective teaching approaches but incorporate some of the strategies presented in the workshops, said Helen Gladden, BSISD curriculum director.

"Next school term, school districts will select new readers to be used in (1993-94 school year)," she said. "The district is moving toward the literature approach in reading, but we will keep the approaches that have worked in the past, like sound phonics skills."

Workshop sessions, attended by 140 educators, featured motivational speaker and educator Tyler who said she credits traditional techniques for taking some of the fun away from teaching. "I'm going back to the truth of the word 'fundamental' in which the beginning of the word is 'fun,'" Tyler said. "I have never seen someone who is having fun become burned out."

Tyler reinforced past techniques which have worked for educators and introduced examples of a broader perspective on learning.

"I hope teachers can make reading realistic because most of our everyday reading is not out of a basal (basic educating reading books)," she said. "It's like reading letters, labels, catalogs and not just out of a workbook."

Rather than "pencil and paper" activities, Tyler stressed ideas like "Churnin' in the Learnin'" in which students, read silently from real-life materials and summarize to a partner. The partner then paraphrases the material back to the reader to show comprehension.

"Activities should stress better communication because we live in a world where communication break downs cause so many problems like high divorce rates," she said. "Kids love to sing and dance, so I tell teachers, 'Put it in a rhyme and cut your teaching time.'"

Speaker and educator Mary Tyler introduces local teachers to new techniques for teaching reading.

"I am reinforcing procedures that teachers have used for years," she said. "People will not learn when (instruction) is boring or confusing."

Educators agreed that Tyler's workshop presented informative ideas and helpful techniques.

"I listened to a lot of great and interesting ideas," said Regina Sledge, a Moss Elementary teacher. "I hope I can use them in the classroom."

Washington Elementary Principal Bill Tarlton said the ideas were fresh and informative.

"(The session) was getting us to try and break down traditional ways of teaching that don't work," he said. "It showed you how to make reading meaningful to the students instead of it being an isolated subject."

Midland reading consultant Susan Gee presented practical applications for teachers using literature-based approaches to reading.

Gee's workshop stressed techniques like webbing, which increases comprehension by drawing on what the student knows; story mapping, which offers sequencing of story events; Readers' Theater, which allows students to act out story dialogue; and shared reading, a reading "think-aloud exercise."

The approach and application workshops concentrated on uplifting the district's success in education, said Gladden, elementary curriculum director. The Texas Education Association along with members of the area Reading Committee embrace the idea of interconnecting language arts program sections that includes reading, spelling, writing and language.

"The new strategy is using the literature approach to reading," she said.

With successful teaching strategies comes an emphasis on student praise, Tyler said.

"Our society doesn't have a praising attitude which is evident when you see people having trouble accepting or giving praise," she said. "Everyone has the attitude that working hard is doing what should be expected. 'You raise what you praise.'"

Special Olympics Groups needs support

By DEBBIE LINCECUM
Features Editor

Howard County Special Olympics is looking for special people.

The group, which offers confidence-building athletic events to people with mental retardation, needs both volunteers and participants — coaches, "huggers," organizers and fund raisers.

It also needs money and corporate support. "Special Olympics can never have too much of anything," said Denise Malm, Region 18 director. "Big Spring's group has a great potential for growth."

Malm spoke at an informational session Monday — a gathering to generate interest in the event locally.

Certain misconceptions exist about Special Olympics, Malm said, including the idea that it's a one-day track meet for young people. In fact, the events span the entire year with athletes ranging from 8 years old up — including people in a wide range of ages.

Big Spring's program has about 30 participants, although Malm said there may be as many as 600 people who could benefit from it in the community. It is estimated that about 3 percent of the population has some form of mental retardation.

Right now, only seven people make up the volunteer core group for the Howard County program. Local athletes, with a budget of $900 annually, only have enough money to participate in local and area competitions.

"It costs a good bit to do Special Olympics," Malm said. "It's worth every penny spent for those athletes."

Big Spring hosts a Special Olympics bowling tournament each year, sponsored by the Optimist Club.

Local coordinator Carol Green needs volunteers to help the local program grow. And with more community support, she can help fulfill the national program's goal of reaching more athletes this year as well.

Overman earns degree

Leslye De Overman will receive her master of education degree from Abilene Christian University Friday.

The daughter of D.W. and Jane Overman, Leslye is a 1983 graduate of Big Spring High School and received her bachelor's degree from Abilene Christian University in 1987. She is employed by the Abilene Independent School District.

Children need sponsors

Thirteen children are waiting for sponsors in the Northside Community Center's sponsor-a-child program for the school year.

"With school starting so soon, we need more sponsors," said director Marianne Brown-Esquelin. "It's a great need right now."

Although many local people and groups have taken advantage of the program, which helps to buy back-to-school clothes for disadvantaged youth, more help is needed, Esquelin said.

Conaway is scholar

Joey Conaway, a 1992 graduate of Forsan High School, has received a career advancement scholarship from Odessa College for the new year. The academic scholarship is awarded to first-time students from the area.

He will also play baseball for the OC Wranglers this year. Joey is the son of Garrett and Debbie Con-away and the grandson of Edgar and Margaret Ray, all of Big Spring.

Horseman Club results

The Howard County Youth Horseman Club (HCYHC) finished their belt buckle series. The events took place at the HCYHC arena on Garden City Highway. Winners for each class were:

Age 6 and under girls, Lyndsey Barnett; 6 and under boys, Ky Hofacket; 7 to 9 girls, Meagan Knight; 7-9 boys Bandi Barnett; 10-12 girls, Lauren Middleton; 10-12 boys Waylon Wolf; 13-15 girls Tracy Green; 13-15 boys Randi Mask; 16-19 girls Laurie Scott; 20 and over woman, Jo Hart of Post, Texas; and 20 and over man, Ralph Passmore.

The club invites new members. For information call Diane Hofacket, 267-6251; Paula Perry 393-5617 or Mr. Harrison, 263-7985.

Locals get scholarships

Five Permian Honor Scholarships have been awarded to local students.

Among the winners are: Katie D. Cobb, majoring in accounting; business administration majors Jennifer P. Cooper and Kenny L. Lowery, Corky J. Mitchell, life science; and Janie A. Wright, education.

All will attend Howard College for two years and then transfer to the University of Texas of the Permian Basin in Odessa for their final two years.

The foundation has granted residual scholarships to four

Howard County students: Toni L. Ferrell, Andrea S. Gee, Terri J. Newton and Angela R. Yarbar.

Graduate scholarships have been granted to two Big Spring residents to attend The University of Texas of the Permian Basin: Michael D. Evans and John S. Medlin.

Sponsors of the scholarships include, from Howard County, Coahoma State Bank, Fina Oil & Chemical Co., First National Bank, TU Electric Service Co., and Western Container Corp.

Locals place at contest

Ferguson off to Earth seminar

April Ferguson of Big Spring, from West Texas Girl Scout Council, has been selected by Girl Scouts of the USA to attend "Earth Matters," Aug. 15-22.

Girl Scouts in girl/adult teams from across the United States have been selected to participate in this one-week event which will include environmental field studies, exploring environmental issues from global to local perspectives and translation of values into community action.

Ferguson, also known as "Mother Earth," has been involved in Girl Scouting for nine years, three of those as a Leader for Troop #230. She regularly shares her knowledge of the environment by giving speeches to local churches, clubs and organizations.

Stanton council discusses tax rates

By PATRICK DRISCOLL
Staff Writer

The Stanton City Council on Monday discussed the 1992-93 property tax rate and annual budget.

Nothing has been officially proposed.

The council authorized the publishing of an effective tax rate — what is needed to generate the same revenue as the year before — of $1.07 per $100 of property valuation and scheduled a 7 p.m. budget workshop for next Monday at City Hall.

The effective tax rate is 1½ cents, or 1.4 percent over the current rate.

Budget expenditures for the 1992-93 fiscal year are not expected to deviate much from the $1.1 million in projected spending for this year ending Sept. 30, said Mayor Lester Baker.

"We tried to maintain the exact same costs. The budget is going to be roughly the same as last year," he said.

So far, only a working draft of next year's budget has been prepared.

In other action, the council:

- Declined to apply for a Texas Community Development Project grant to finish paving streets around housing projects in Stanton.

Street paving was reclassified as a secondary priority under grant guidelines, Baker said. "It wouldn't be worth spending the money for the engineering and the time."

The city applied for TCDP grants for the same street-paving project the past two years but was not awarded funds.

- Swore in Dennis Kotasek as a council member. Kotasek fills the unexpired term of Ronnie Christian, who resigned to run for the vacated seat of county tax assessor/collector.

- Appointed three people to the Housing Board. They are Wade Turner, Clemente Villa Jr. and Edell McCaister.
- Discussed but took no action on a grant for city park renovations now underway. A group of citizens last month protested the construction of a recreational vehicle park as part of the $85,000 in renovations.

But, city officials said, the RV park cannot be eliminated without invalidating the grant for 50-50 funding from the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

A scale drawing of the proposed renovations are available for review at City Hall. Besides the RV park, the additions include a walking trail, a pavilion, tennis court lights and handicapped accessible restrooms.

- Approved the third and final reading of a telephone franchise tax. Taxes will increase from 19 cents per phone line to 43 cents the first year, 60 cents the second year and 71 cents the third year.

The city now collects $2,800 annually from the tax. After the third year, it would be an estimated $10,500.

SISD budget up 3 percent

By CONNIE SWINNEY
Staff Writer

The budget adoption for 1992-93, a board officer appointment and a hearing on student test scores topped the agenda for Stanton Independent School District this week.

Trustees conducted the budget hearing on Aug. 10 to provide the public with a view of school financing for the district.

"No one attended," said SISD business manager Rob Roberson. "We really didn't anticipate any problems."

The potential local effective tax rate, which members will discuss at the next regular meeting, could fall between 49 and 58 cents per $100 valuation, he said. The potential rate does not include the rate to be added by the County Education Districts to help fund schools.

The budget jumped 3 percent over last year, he said. He added that trustees approved the budget unanimously.

The board also named Gayle Wheeler as secretary.

Another hearing focused on analyzing information reported by the Academic Excellence Indicator System.

"We were about average with the rest of the state," he said. SISD fared well in overall scores compared to other districts in Texas in tests like the Texas Assessment of Academic Skills.

Superintendent John McGregor said the SISD will see scoring improvements in the future.

"We're doing quite a few things we're excited about," he said. "We feel like we'll have a positive effect on student achievement."

In other business, trustees accepted bids from companies for automobiles, supplies, furniture, computer equipment, library books and vehicle servicing.

Amendments to SISD's 1991-92 budget included a $22,000 increase in expenditures which covered about 20 different items with transportation and building improvements topping the list.

The SISD school board meets at 7 p.m. on the 2nd Monday of each month. Roberson said the next regular meeting on Sept. 14 will include a vote on accepting tax rates.

"My heat pump's so efficient it saves money. And it's a clean system. I like what it means for the environment." —Elta Chandler Park Board Member

Elta Chandler cools and heats her home with a heat pump because it saves money and energy. And since it's electric, it's "wonderfully clean."

A heat pump uses the energy in the air to keep her home comfortable all year. Even on cold winter days there's heat in the air. A heat pump captures that heat and uses it.

And it costs less to operate than a gas furnace. It's so efficient that for each unit of energy it uses, it creates two to three units of heat.

In the summer a heat pump becomes a high-efficiency air conditioner, capturing the heat inside the home and removing it.

For more information, call a heat pump dealer or TU Electric. It's your chance to save more than money.

Detergent mixture stops killer bees

WASHINGTON BUREAU

An Agriculture Department scientist says that a sprayed mixture of liquid dish detergent and water will stop Africanized honey bees from stinging people and pets. "The mixture immediately stops the bees from stinging and kills them within 60 seconds," said entomologist Eric Erickson of USDA's Agricultural Research Service.

"It's critical that emergency rescue personnel know they have a fast-acting way to stop these highly defensive Africanized bees," Erickson said.

The bees have been found in 34 counties in south Texas since crossing the Mexican border in 1990. Over the next 18 to 24 months, Erickson said, they are expected to spread to other nearby states.

A solution containing 1 percent to 3 percent detergent "will stop a bee attack on or near a victim in 60 seconds," he said. A wall of spray 20 to 30 feet in the air near a victim also can create "a curtain of safety" from approaching bees, he added.

1992 Property Tax Rates In STANTON ISD

This notice concerns 1992 property tax rates for STANTON ISD. It presents information about three tax rates. Last year's tax rate is the actual rate the taxing unit used to determine property taxes last year. This year's effective tax rate would impose the same total taxes as last year if you compare properties taxed in both years. This year's rollback tax rate is the highest tax rate the taxing unit can set before taxpayers can start tax rollback procedures. In each case these rates are found by dividing the total amount of taxes by the tax base (the total value of taxable property) with adjustments as required by state law. The rates are given per $100 of property value.

Last year's tax rate:

Last year's operating taxes	$635,047
Last year's debt taxes	$192,438
Last year's total taxes	$827,485
Last year's tax base	$167,337,799
Last year's total tax rate	$.4945/$100

This year's effective tax rate:

Last year's adjusted taxes (after subtracting taxes on lost property)	$813,777
+ This year's adjusted tax base (after subtracting value of new property)	$157,261,279
= This year's effective tax rate	$.51746/$100

In the first year a hospital district or city collects the additional sales tax, it must insert the following lines unless its first adjustment was made last year.

- Sales tax adjustment rate	$	/$100
= Effective tax rate	$	/$100

× 1.03=maximum rate unless unit publishes notices and holds hearing

$.53298/$100

This year's rollback tax rate:

Last year's adjusted operating taxes (after subtracting taxes on lost property)	$624,526
+ This year's adjusted tax base	$157,261,279
= This year's effective operating rate	$.39712/$100
× 1.08 (or add $.08 for schools) = this year's maximum operating rate	$.47712/$100
= This year's debt rate	$.11660/$100

A school district must insert the following lines:

- This year's rollback rate before adjustment	$.59372	/$100
+ Rate to recoup lost revenue	$.06927	/$100
= Adjusted rollback rate	$.66199	/$100

= This year's rollback rate

$.66199/$100

A hospital district or city that collects the additional sales tax, including one that collects the tax for the first time this year, must insert the following lines:

- Sales tax adjustment rate	$	/$100
= Rollback tax rate	$	/$100

NOTICE OF COMPARABLE TAX RATES AND REVENUES STANTON I.S.D.

The legislature has enacted a statute on school funding to comply with a court mandate enforcing the state constitution. Under prior statutes the tax rate for last year provides $5,323.00 per student in state and local revenues. Under this statute that same rate now provides $5,764.00 per student in state and local revenues.

State law only requires a minimum tax rate of $.8655 for County Education Districts. State law does not require a school district to adopt additional taxes. Neither does state law require a school district to adopt a tax rate that maximizes the receipt of state funds.

The board of trustees of the Stanton School District hereby gives notice that it is considering the adoption of (or "has adopted" for tax bill notice) a tax rate of $.45 that will provide $3,643.00 per student in state and local revenues.

1992 Property Tax Rates in Martin County

This notice concerns 1992 property tax rates for MARTIN COUNTY. It presents information about three tax rates. Last year's tax rate is the actual rate the taxing unit used to determine property taxes last year. This year's effective tax rate would impose the same total taxes as last year if you compare properties taxed in both years. This year's rollback tax rate is the highest tax rate the taxing unit can set before taxpayers can start tax rollback procedures. In each case these rates are found by dividing the total amount of taxes by the tax base (the total value of taxable property) with adjustments as required by state law. The rates are given per $100 of property value.

Woman losing sleep over fear of dark

DEAR ABBY: I am a perfectly normal 28-year-old woman in the daytime, but as soon as it gets dark outside, I change. I fear the dark! I don't go outside alone after dark unless it is absolutely necessary. I am afraid to be home alone at night and, when I am, I become so frightened that my heart pounds! I have had two "peeping Tom" incidents.

If I go to bed before my husband does, I can fall asleep just fine. But if he goes to bed first, I have trouble. I can't stay up and watch television by myself.

Sometimes I wake up in the middle of the night and think it had to be for a reason, so I listen to see if someone is trying to break into the fears are triggered by "real" incidents -- but instead of diminishing when the incident is over, they continue to grow. Therapy can help you overcome your anxiety. Seek help from a psychologist or psychiatrist who specializes in phobias.

DEAR ABBY: I work in a small office with a woman who never shuts up. What makes it worse is that 90 percent of what she says is negative. I have tried telling her that I can't tolerate any more of her complaining because I take her problems home with me. It worked for a while; then she went back to her old ways. I've tried changing the subject and dropping hints, but I can't seem to get her to stop. We were close friends years ago, and I got her this job, and now I regret it.

I love my job and don't want to quit. What can I do? --SHAKY NERVES

DEAR SHAKY: Obviously, you can't avoid her, so explain that you want to help her, and need her cooperation: Tell her that she needs to be reminded to stop depressing people with her negative conversation, so from now on when she starts in with a "downer," you will walk away.

Perhaps your friend needs professional help. Suggest it -- it would be a kindness.

house. If I hear a noise, my heart pounds and I cannot go back to sleep. We have an alarm system in our home, and I still don't feel safe. Please, can you tell me where I should seek help? All I want is to feel safe and normal again at night.

DEAR SCARED: Sometimes

FOR FRIDAY, AUGUST 14, 1992

HAPPY BIRTHDAY! IN THE NEXT YEAR OF YOUR LIFE: Long-standing financial problems could be put to rest before November. Attending a holiday party in December could lead to happy new romance.

CELEBRITIES BORN ON THIS DATE: actor Steve Martin, actress Susan S. James, journalist Russell Baker, singer David Crosby.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): The financial tide turns in your favor now. Hunt for new funding sources. A polished appearance helps you attract the attention of people who have wealth and power.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Curb a tendency to challenge those in authority. By giving people the courtesy they deserve, you will get cooperation in return. Put all complex assignments on indefinite hold.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Do not let pride stand in the way of accomplishment. Be willing to start at the bottom if necessary. Once you learn the ropes, the sky is the limit! Settle a legal matter.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Do not be afraid to take on additional responsibilities. A financial venture will prosper. Tend to home repairs promptly before the damage becomes major. A tattered relationship can be salvaged.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Changes at work will improve the office atmosphere. Bankers prove cooperative if you are seeking a loan. Strong spiritual values do not preclude worldly success.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): The price

may not be right today. Keep your wallet closed. Analyzing recent business trends could reveal a whole new market. Be careful not to get swept away by a romantic typhoon tonight.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Now is the time to spread the word regarding your plans. Get in touch with overseas contacts. Sheer determination is your ace in the hole. Finish up paperwork and make an early exit.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Compromise and diplomacy will help you settle the petty disagreements. Concentrate on essentials; less urgent matters can wait. A personal letter will bring long-awaited news.

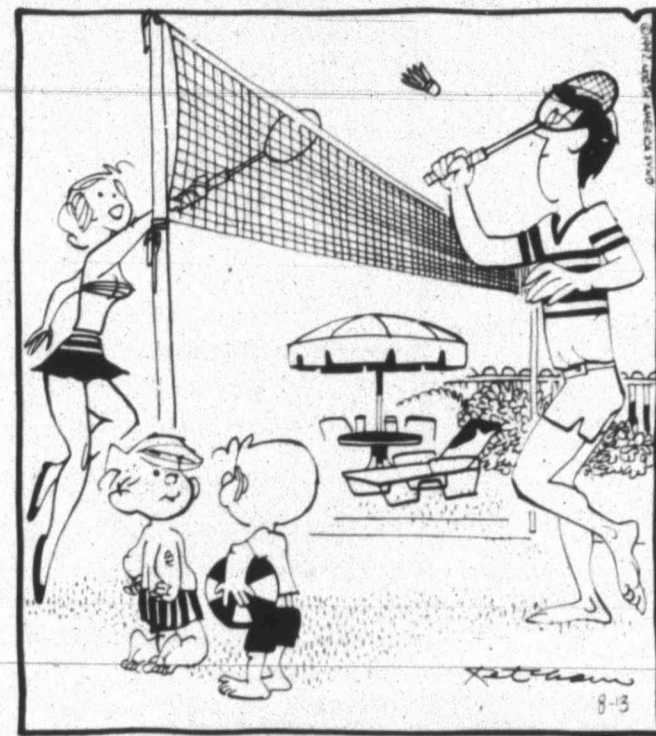

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Group gatherings prove congenial. Your chums are close by if you need them. There could be some domestic trouble brewing. Let loved one cool off a bit before discussing a sensitive issue.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Take time to think things through before speaking your mind. A small but welcome sum of money comes your way. A relative may play an important role in your career now. Be appreciative.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Peace at any price may not be worth it. Find a way to discuss your concerns in a loving fashion. Long-distance travel is necessary because of work demands. Accept an interesting invitation.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Your personal magnetism is at an all-time high. Strengthen your leadership credentials. A promising relationship will thrive with time. Someone who played an important role in your life returns.
