Cook — where the buck stops

This is the third in a seven-part series, "Behind the Badge," which explores various aspects of the Big Spring Police Department from staff and budget cuts to a day in the life of an officer.

Today: A look at the Police Chief Joe Cook and dispatch, the nerve center of the department.

Wednesday: A look at the training involved in becoming an officer and the ongoing training they receive.

By MARTHA E. FLORES
Staff Writer

Ideas start and the buck stops for the Big Spring Police Department with its Chief of Police Joe Cook.

Formerly with the Federal Bureau of Investigation, Cook has been the chief since January 1987.

Under his direction the department has tried to meet the demands of the community by implementing proactive programs in hopes of strengthening the ties with the community.

Big Spring Police Chief Joe Cook explains the Adopt-A-Cop program to elementary school students. The program is just one of the pro-active stances the department has taken to improve its relationship with the community.

"The police are going to have to make adjustments in the way they enforce the laws," Cook said. "We have to be more diplomatic and more in tune with what the community wants."

Cook says he hopes the community sees officers as someone who is there to help, not as an adversary.

Cook considers himself the "ideas" man. He reads trade journals in search of ideas to improve the department while listening to ideas offered by his staff.

"I look at other systems, seeing how they work, to improve the system we have here," he said.

As the chief, Cook oversees all operations and delegates duties to eight supervisors. He is the official spokesperson for the department and reports to the city manager. Daily routine for Cook includes informal meetings with department supervisors, as well as meetings with city leaders.

"I try to stay abreast of particular situations, but it is impossible to know very detailed information about

Dispatch: PD's nerve center

By MARTHA E. FLORES
Staff Writer

Around the clock, seven days a week, 365 days a year and an average of 35,000 calls a year, dispatch is the nerve center of the Big Spring Police Department.

The responsibilities of the eight dispatchers are unlimited, said Lee Everett, sergeant of communications.

"They provide a support service," Everett said. "They serve the public and are support to the officers. They do anything they need to do."

Responsibilities include record keeping, computer information input, video recording of arrests, all 911 emergency calls in Howard County, non-emergency calls for the city from 5 p.m. to 8 a.m., dispatch for the Big Spring Fire Department and the 10 volunteer departments.

As the calls come in, dispatchers make calls out to officers. Simultaneously, they log the time the incoming call was made, the time the officer was contacted, when he arrived and departed from the scene.

"No other job can prepare you for this job," Everett said. "The Budget, tax increase top council's agenda

By PATRICK DRISCOLL
Staff Writer

A proposed fiscal 1992-93 city budget spending 4 percent less than the current budget and a proposed 3 percent property tax rate increase will be considered for approval tonight by Big Spring City Council.

The budget includes no new community service funding, would not keep up with a deteriorating city infrastructure, calls for a water rate hike of 17-cents per 1,000 gallons, to $1.80, would add six jobs to the police department, upgrade several other city jobs and implement a merit performance pay program.

"I think it's a very workable budget," said Mayor Tim Blackshear, who anticipates that the budget will be approved tonight.

A tax rate of 66.09 cents per $100 of property valuation would bring in an $90,000 for reserves. That rate is up nearly 2 cents from the effective rate — what is needed to generate the same property tax revenue as the year before — but lower than the current rate of 67.10 cents.

Annual city property taxes for a $20,000 home that did not change in value would increase by $4, before exemptions.

The council, meeting at 5:30 p.m. in council chambers in building 1106 in the Big Spring McMahon/Wrinkle Airport, will also consider numerous other issues, including:

• Appointments to the board of Moore Development for Big Spring Inc., a city-funded economic development group, and the 911 emergency board. Appointments to Moore Development will be discussed in closed executive session.

BS school board could appoint new member

By CONNIE SWINNEY
Staff Writer

Local trustees will appoint a new school board member Thursday to fill the spot left open by the resigning board president, according to the agenda.

Ford Farris, former school board president, resigned in August leaving the precinct 2 spot open.

Trustees realigned the board Aug. 11 appointing Don Baker as the new board president and Glynna Mouton as secretary. Viola Baraza retained her vice president seat.

The appointee will serve the term until May elections.

Other options trustees could exercise for filling the vacancy include conducting a public election or leaving the spot vacant pending the elections.

The Goliad Middle School principal will report to trustees on the state of Goliad including goals and objectives and problems of educating middle school youths, said Superintendent Bill McQueary.

"It's a positive way to let our community know what's going on in our school," he said.

In other business, trustees will discuss school property, north of Big Spring, requested by a woman trying to recoup the land given by a family member to the local district in 1963.

"(Center Point) is of no value at all to the district," McQueary said. "The attorney general says there are certain things to do, like requesting bids, before selling school property. We're going to discuss it. It seems only right to let it go back to the family."

Other items for discussion include organizing the 1992-93 Career Ladder Committee comprised of board members, teachers and principals who review teacher appraisals and make career recommendations.

Trustees will also discuss a district tax analysis including current, delinquent and County Education District taxes; vote to accept resignations and employments; approve a student extracurricular activities list and discuss enrollment figures.

Seat belts must be used to save lives

DEAR ABBY: Enclosed is our oldest granddaughter's obituary. She was 16 years old, and I am enclosing her picture so you can see that she was an exceptionally beautiful girl.

We would have had her to hold and to love instead of a box of ashes, if she had only buckled her seat belt. She and the driver of the car were going down a country road when a tire blew. The driver lost control of the car and it went end over end, throwing both from the car, which ended up on its side with only our granddaughter's hand visible. The driver survived.

Please, please, please warn your readers to buckle themselves and their precious children in! Think of how much anger and grief could be spared for their families. I know, because we are just returning from the land of sadness. We are not done, and it is a hell of a long trip. All it takes is a few seconds to buckle up, and all it takes is a few seconds to die. Buckle up, for love's sake!

Abby, if you print this, please don't use our real names or where we live. Although the driver has been forgiven and was told it was not his fault, when we said good-bye, he was talking about suicide. -- GRIEVING GRANDPARENTS

DEAR GRANDPARENTS: My heart goes out to you. Your granddaughter was indeed an "exceptional beauty." I am printing your letter because its message is universal.

Although 33 states and the District of Columbia have seat belt laws in effect, many people still don't bother to buckle up. Such laziness caused more than 13,900 people to lose their lives in 1991, according to the most recent statistics compiled by the National Highway Safety Administration in Washington, D.C. I hope this letter serves as a reminder.

DEAR ABBY: I read in your column about "Baffled in Beaverton, Ore.," who was rebuffed by a woman for holding a door open for her.

I had a similar experience when a woman actually cursed me as I held the door open for her. I replied, "I'm sorry. I mistook you for a lady." -- R.R.M. IN MINNEAPOLIS

DEAR ABBY: Yesterday, a friend called to tell me that her husband said he had heard some vicious gossip about me at the club -- and he defended me.

What really bothers me is why on earth she would tell me this. She never did tell me what was supposedly said about me, or who said it.

FOR TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 8, 1992

HAPPY BIRTHDAY! In the next year of your life: Be ambitious but not bossy. Tying up loose ends now will help you take advantage of an exciting new trend in November. Exceptional financial advancement is possible by late December. Early 1993 finds you busier than ever at work. Executive openings come in March, new partnerships in April. Summer will bring a new romance and more time to play.

CELEBRITIES BORN ON THIS DATE: comedian Sid Caesar, basketball player Maurice Cheeks, activist Lyndon H. LaRouche Jr., actress Heather Thomas.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): A confidential tip could be your passport to financial profit or a little-known bargain. You may have to explore the byways, but the rewards are worth the effort.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Favorable influences affect your personal interests today. Assert yourself quietly but firmly. If you decide to go shopping with a friend, set a spending limit in advance.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): You find love when you least expect it. Be careful not to become part of a romantic triangle. Someone could try to cause trouble between you and a partner. Watch what you say.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): An excellent day for starting a self-improvement project. A new, more polished image will aid your career. Humor a loved one who acts frustrated or out of sorts.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Romance and a sense of mystery make this a very special day. Guard against household accidents. A loved one is eager to get in touch with you. Call someone you have not seen recently.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): This busy day finds you coping with a variety of problems. Solutions prove easy to find if you talk things over with the right people. Be open to suggestions.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): A close alliance could receive new attention now. Refuse to answer nosy questions. You benefit when others take the lead in making social plans.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Many social avenues are open to you. Seek introductions to interesting people. The secret longings of your heart become even clearer after you talk with a close friend.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Romance beckons. Follow the dictates of your heart. It may make all the difference in how you live and think later on. Start a journal or keep a log of your activities.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): You have a lot to handle but may feel indecisive. Wait until you have more data, before making a choice. An unexpected message brings delight.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Fate creates the conditions that could change the whole course of your life. Be honest about your desires. Repressing your emotions only leads to deep frustration.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Take advantage of a lull in activity to go over your plans. Greater subtlety may be needed. Balance togetherness with independence where a romantic relationship is concerned.
