Homecoming reunion time

R.E. "Peppy" Blount reminisces with Howard Cable about a sporting event during their school days as the Big Spring High School class of 1943 gathered at Howard College Saturday as part of its 50-year reunion.

BSHS class of 1943 celebrates 50 years

The Howard College student union building was full of smiles and memories as the Big Spring High School class of 1943 had its Golden Reunion Saturday.

Bill Mims, county engineer and chairman of the reunion, said he was chosen during the 1989 reunion to head up the 50-year festivities. "I started working on this three years ago," he said.

Reunion committee members included Bill Bunn, Billie Cain Carr, Frances Anderson Edens, Barbara Laswell Gage, Dolores Gage Heith, Jim Lemon, Laverne Porch Lewis, Jane McClendon Miller, Doris Ward Perkins, Merline Merwin Pierce, Colleen Slaughter, Terrell Thompson, Jewell Moore Tubb and LaVaughn Bowden Goss.

Mims estimated there would be about 86 graduates attending the reunion out of a class of 136. "We have people coming from as far away as Florida and California," he said.

"We usually have a reunion for the classes of 1943 through '46," Mims added, but the classes have decided to put on their own 50-year reunions.

Dolores "P.D." Gage Heith said she enjoyed the opportunity to see long-lost friends, some of whom she hadn't seen in 50 years. "Some only come back every 10 years or so," she added.

Heith did not attend the last reunion. "We try to do something big every five years or so," she said.

Does Heith think the high school experience has changed since she was a student?

"Well, of course it has!" she exclaimed, adding that the current Runnels Junior High School building housed Big Spring High School when she was a student.

Merline Merwin Pierce, the class' secretary-treasurer, chaired the 41-year reunion effort and was pleased to be attending the 50-year reunion simply as a guest.

She praised Mims' coordination of the reunion, particularly the reunion book he put together. "It's an excellent keepsake," she said.

Reunion fever swept Big Spring this homecoming weekend, and the Big Spring High School class of 1928 was no exception.

The 65-year reunion Saturday at the Colorado River Municipal Water District building boasted nine attendees before lunch. "We're expecting about 12 total," said 1928 graduate Joe Pickle.

"There's about 18 of us still alive out of a class of 47 people," Pickle continued, "and I'd say that's pretty good!"

The reunion was organized by Reba Leach Rogan and Nettie Arnold Creighton, with assistance from fellow classmates.

"We started planning this about two or three weeks ago," said Rogan. "It's hard to get someone to cater a group no larger than this."

Fellow graduates Blanche Griffin Brooks, Malcolm Patterson, Mable Eddy Wallace, Adele Thomas Tibbs, Katharine Bettle Lamb and Kathryn Phillips Thomas looked at a 1928 yearbook and proudly pointed out each other's pictures.

Clippings of Herald articles about previous reunions also decorated the lunch table. Pickle was editor of the Herald for nearly 40 years.

"When I left, they were still typing stories on typewriters and now they all have personal computers," Pickle said. Please see CLASS OF '28, page 7A

Big Spring High School principal Kent Bowerman hugs Judy Plumlee after presenting her with flowers after she was crowned the Coming-Home Queen before the Big Spring-Pecos football game Friday evening. Plumlee was a 1963 Big Spring graduate.

Plumlee given Coming-Home Queen honors

By JANET AUSBURY
Staff Writer

The Big Spring High School class of 1963 celebrated its 30-year reunion in shivery style at the homecoming game Friday.

Judy Plumlee was crowned Coming-Home Queen at 7:40 p.m., continuing a tradition of the 30-year reunions. "I think the Exes Association started it about 10 years ago," said Plumlee. "I'm not sure how it started."

Some Coming-Home Queens were past homecoming queens. Plumlee isn't among the group of former homecoming queens, but was excited to be chosen, nonetheless.

"The Exes Association sends out the letters (to vote on the Coming-Home Queen) and the grads send them back in," explained Plumlee.

The Coming-Home queen is crowned by the previous year's queen, she added.

Plumlee said about 75 members of the class of 1963 would be in town over the weekend for reunion festivities. "There were about 20 in the homecoming parade," she said. More were due to arrive Saturday.

Plumlee, who teaches second grade at Marcy Elementary School, said the weekend festivities would include a party after the homecoming game Friday night, a Saturday breakfast, an afternoon party at fellow grad Robert Wilson's house and dinner Saturday night at La Posada.

"We bought tickets for about 23 people coming from out of town," said Plumlee. She estimated that about 30 people from Big Spring would also be attending reunion festivities.

Plumlee chaired the reunion committee, which also included Kenny Kay Stephens, Darla Kilgore, Sarah Beth Warren, Robert Wilson, Beverly Miller, Joe Bill Wennick, and Jimmy Welch.

"We're going to have fun this weekend," said Plumlee. "We're a real close class. We're going to have a good time!"

Injured whooper 'High Sky' dies at San Antonio center

By PATRICK DRISCOLL
Staff Writer

A rare whooping crane, initially believed shot in the wing Sunday in Martin County, died Friday. It may have hit a power line.

"What a waste," said Bebe McCasland of Midland-based Eos Bird Rehabilitation, where the bird was nursed after being found Monday and until being transported to San Antonio Thursday. It was found 14 miles north of Midland on a ranch.

The three-year-old male, known as High Sky, suffered respiratory arrest and died at 2:30 p.m. at a San Antonio treatment center.

"It just kind of raised its head up and went into a seizure. We couldn't save it," a receptionist at the center is quoted as saying in an Associated Press report.

Stress from the trip to San Antonio nearly killed the bird, said Eos' Midge Erskine.

Erskine cared for the nine-pound, four-foot-tall crane, with a wingspan of about seven feet, and accompanied it on the plane to San Antonio.

"What they told us, these birds are endangered because they can't take stress," Erskine said. "The stress of transporting the bird was almost too much for it."

It arrived overheated, in shock and breathing with difficulty, according to the AP report. It was put inside a special oxygen chamber and fluids were administered. Please see WHOOPER, page 7A

George W. Bush looking at new game

The Associated Press

ARLINGTON — Leading a visitor around the Texas Rangers' stunning new Ballpark in Arlington, George W. Bush paused to put a hand on the seat that will be his when baseball season opens.

As managing partner of the club, he'll sit in the front row, beside the Rangers' dugout.

His view of the striking, $170 million park is expansive, his dark green seat as close to the field as a fan can get.

"You've really got to want to be governor to leave a seat like this," he said.

But Bush, 46, says he's ready for a new game.

So on Monday, he kicks off his gubernatorial campaign with a 27-city tour of Texas. Already the leading Republican contender, he's convinced he can unseat popular Democratic Gov. Ann Richards.

"I didn't take a poll to figure out if I could win. That didn't really worry me," Bush said. "The only poll I took was sitting out there at ball games, listening to people come up to me and say, 'We've got to do something about Texas.'"

Outlining his campaign themes, Bush said public schools must improve, criminals must be punished, government growth must be halted and taxes must stop climbing. Pounding the table, Bush took Richards to task for what he calls a lack of leadership on tough issues. "I asked the question — what are the results? What have you done? What has the current governor done that has made Texas' future look better? You hear a thunderous silence."

As the eldest son of the former president, he served as both an adviser and confidante in his father's campaigns.

His brother, Jeb, is running for governor of Florida. George W. Bush says his father is proud that his sons are interested in public service, knowing how big-league politics are played.

"He's proud he was able to instill that responsibility in his sons," Bush said.

"To me, the roughest campaign I'll ever go through was 1992, when I suffered for my dad. It was hard on me because I loved him so much. I also went through a fairly close scrutiny in 1992, as you'll recall. The politics of the situation caused all kinds of people to turn and investigate the Bush family ... I feel like I've been scrubbed pretty hard."

So he's eager for this game to begin.

"I've got the best life a person could possibly have — a serene family life, a fantastic job which happens to be in the baseball business. We're opening a brand new ballpark that's going to be one of the greatest facilities ever built. So the motivation (to run) has got to be strong."

Several GOP gubernatorial prospects, including Houston oilman Rob Mosbacher and Dallas businessman T. Boone Pickens, opted to stay out of the race. So far, only San Antonio writer-consultant Louis Podesta has announced.

Should he win the GOP nomination in the March primary, Bush will face a high-profile, nationally known incumbent who has made education, prison-building and luring new jobs her priorities, too.

But for now, Richards has little to say about the prospects of facing Bush. Late last week, she sounded testy when asked about such a matchup.

"I expect whoever runs, whether it's George Bush or somebody else, that it's going to be a very long and difficult race," Richards said, taking reporters to task for asking questions a year before the general election.

"You'll be asking inane questions and I'll be giving inane answers for an awful long time, and then the public will start paying attention about two weeks before the election," Richards said.

"If the people think that I've brought jobs and done a good job for Texas, then they will re-elect me."

Born in Connecticut, Bush grew up in Midland and Houston. He earned a bachelor's degree from Yale, a master's in business administration from Harvard. He flew F-102 fighters in the Texas Air National Guard.

He started an oil and gas exploration company in Midland. In 1977, he married Laura Welch. They have twin daughters. In 1978, he lost a race for Congress to then-Democrat

Kent Hance. In 1989, Bush was part of an investor group that purchased controlling interest in the Rangers.

"The thing that personifies George Bush is the Rangers games," says Texas GOP Chairman Fred Meyer of Dallas. "He's out there, sitting with the regular fans, wearing his jeans and his boots, chewing on his cigar."

Democrats have scoffed at Bush's political plans, saying he brings little experience to the job.

"Ann Richards is popular because she takes the issues head-on and talks no-nonsense to the voters," said Ed Martin, Democratic Party executive director. "We frankly are real proud to see a race run on that record against a man who has absolutely no qualifications or experience to suggest he could serve as governor."

The Ballpark, he says with a chuckle, was designed by an architect who'd never drawn a baseball stadium before. "What do you expect from a risk-taker? A guy who's running against a governor they say is unbeatable?"

Hundreds of plaintiffs signing on to accept rubber plant's offers

The Associated Press

ODESSA — Residents by the hundreds on Odessa's industrial South Side have signed a peace pact of sorts with the rubber company they sued.

Dorothy Lovelady vows she won't join them.

"A handful of pennies for the whole South Side," Mrs. Lovelady scoffed at Dynagen Inc.'s $1.5 million settlement offer to its neighbors. "You can pay me all the money in the world, but I can't spend it 6 feet under."

Mrs. Lovelady, 48, blames her family's health ailments on emissions from Dynagen.

She looked out her front door — across Interstate 20, where the plant's smokestacks peek over the rooftops — while ticking off a list of maladies: shallow breathing and olfactory deadening, nosebleeds and muscle spasms.

Mrs. Lovelady and a core group of Dynagen critics say they won't stop their battle until Dynagen stops polluting their living space.

Their mammoth case spawned accusations of environmental racism from the mostly black South Side, where some residents say they feel ignored by a city bent on keeping Dynagen, a major employer, open at all costs.

"There has never been one shred of evidence generated by anybody that anything Dynagen emits is harmful to the citizens of South Odessa," retorts attorney Gerald Holtzman of Houston.

A large group of neighbors filed suit in 1990 to stop the rotten-egg stench from the plant that makes synthetic rubber for tires and hoses.

No one knows for certain the number of plaintiffs. Attorney Michael McLeish estimates he has 1,000 clients.

Since 1991, the case lingered as a backdrop to the drama sparked by Dynagen's tangle with the Texas Air Control Board, in which the company agreed to install $30 million in pollution control equipment and pay a $1.4 million fine.

Hutchison attorneys seek opinion on defense fund

The Associated Press

DALLAS — Attorneys for U.S. Sen. Kay Bailey Hutchison are trying to determine whether contributions toward the senator's defense of a probe into her tenure as state treasurer are legal.

About $50,000 has been collected and is being held in a state account, The Dallas Morning News reported Saturday.

"You want to make sure that it's fully researched and done legally so that you don't run into conflict between the state and federal law," said David Beckwith, a spokesman for Mrs. Hutchison.

A letter has been sent in recent weeks by the senator's supporters soliciting contributions to combat "the political inquisition being waged in Austin."

Mrs. Hutchison was indicted by a Travis County grand jury on Sept. 27 on charges that she used the Treasury and state workers to further her political career and then destroyed records as part of a coverup.

But her indictments and hundreds of others were thrown out after her attorneys discovered that one grand juror was ineligible to serve because of a pending theft charge against him.

A second grand jury has taken up the investigation.

Legal expenses are expected to total more than $500,000, Beckwith said.

At issue is whether collecting unlimited contributions in a state account violates federal laws and Senate Ethics Commission rules governing U.S. senators.

"This thing has not been fully researched and until it is, that letter is probably authoritative, but we are not certain yet," Beckwith said.

The donation letter notes that contributions to the legal defense fund are not subject to federal campaign limits, which restrict individual donors to $1,000 in federal races. Texas has no limits for state elections.

Beckwith said the letter is not an official solicitation of Mrs. Hutchison's Senate campaign or her state treasurer's account, which remains active.

The letter instructs contributors to send money to the Austin office of attorney David Herndon, who oversees Mrs. Hutchison's state treasurer's account.

Herndon said the account can be used to pay legal expenses because the accusations against Mrs. Hutchison stem from her activities as a state officeholder.

Space station steppingstone for future trips

The Associated Press

SPACE CENTER, Houston — To some lawmakers and thousands of taxpayers, it's a money-gobbling, monolithic example of heedless government waste and everything that's wrong with the nation's space program.

To NASA leaders, scientists and many others, it's the nation's future in space and a steppingstone to the stars.

It's the space station, a permanent orbiting laboratory still stuck on the agency's drawing board after some $9 billion and six design changes over nearly a decade.

Although the idea first was hatched within NASA during the heady days of Apollo, President Reagan introduced America to Space Station Freedom in January 1984 and set a completion date 10 years hence.

"A space station will permit quantum leaps in our research in science, communications, and in metals and lifesaving medicines which can be manufactured only in space," he said in a State of the Union address.

Today the project is over budget, 10 years behind schedule and a shadow of what Reagan envisioned. But officials say the needs for a space station are the same as those the president outlined, and the mission remains vital if humans are ever to explore other worlds.

"If you're going to continue to explore, you need a way station ... a place from which to operate," says James Beggs, NASA administrator from 1981-85. "You have to learn to live and work in space for long periods of time."

Scientists say benefits of the space station, with teams of astronauts working year-round in microgravity, would include development of new medicines and insights into the human body's workings that could derail such aging effects as osteoporosis.

"Those are the fundamental things which drive a space program and drive all the research that we are doing," says astronaut John Blaha, commander of Columbia's recent two-week mission to conduct similar research.

"I think the space station is just the next step and it will provide us a much longer time stay in orbit to accomplish that type of science."

Knowledge of how the body degrades in space also is essential for long-duration moon trips or a voyage to Mars that could take years.

But first, the station has to get off paper, through Congress and into space.

Ever-nastier fights over money and growing public furor over the station's escalating cost led to the threat of it being scrapped altogether this year. Instead, President Clinton ordered the latest redesign to pare the pricetag from estimates of $40 billion.

Bryan O'Connor, a former shuttle commander who has led station transition efforts, said current efforts should lead to the first of 19 construction flights in 1998.

Every penny counts

There are 11 organizations in Big Spring depending on the generosity of the citizens of this town through donations to the United Way.

United Way is extending its fund raising drive to Nov. 23. Right now, about 40 percent - $94,310 - of the goal of $235,000 has been collected.

Depending on your donations are the American Red Cross, the Boys Club, Boy Scouts, Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center, Northside Community Center, the Salvation Army, Westside Community Center, Westside Day Care Center, Girl Scouts and Big Spring YMCA. Newly added to the list is Rape Crisis-Victim Services.

Each of these organizations is worthy of your support either individually or through the United Way. Needed services for adults and children are provided through these organizations.

Big Spring would be a poorer city without these and other organizations just like them.

Times are tough for everyone and every dollar is needed.

But, when asked to give, give what you can because every penny truly does count.

Learn about extinguishers

Portable fire extinguishers are intended as a first line of defense to cope with fires of limited size. There are four classes of fire: Class A, Class B, Class C, Class D. Class D fires won't be discussed as they are rare for the general public.

Class A fires: are your ordinary combustible materials such as wood, paper, cloth, and various kinds of plastics. An easy way to remember this kind of fire are those materials that leave an ash, Class A, "A" for ash.

Class B fires: are those that involve flammable liquids, oils, grease, tars, oil-based paint, flammable gases. These are things that come in barrels, Class B, "B" for barrels.

Class C fires: involve energized electrical equipment. Anything that carries a current, microwaves, toasters, radios, television, lamps, etc. Special non-conductivity of the extinguishing agent is needed for these type fires.

Using the proper extinguisher for a particular class of fire is important. Extinguishers can be identified by several ways. A Class A extinguisher has a large chrome barrel, is filled with water and is marked Class A. Class BC or ABC fire extinguishers have red barrels and the markings indicated which fire to use it on. Most all extinguishers have pictographs on the barrel so you can tell what class extinguisher you have and the type of fire you may use it on. If it is not designated for that class of fire it will have a red diagonal line through the pictograph.

In making a selection for the home you need to consider the type of hazards and the class of fire in that area. Also, there are plastic head and metal head fire extinguishers. I have been told that re-servicing plastic headed extinguishers sometime present a problem keeping its seal. Whereas, the metal head extinguisher does not have that problem. This will give you years of service life and will be economically feasible.

Fire Extinguishers need to be located in a permanent location and mounted on the wall. Fire Extinguishers need to be visible but out of the way of normal traffic, and away from the potential hazards so that having access to it won't be hampered by the fire.

All fire extinguishers have instructions on the barrel and are quite simple to operate. A system has been developed to help everyone remember how to use a fire extinguisher. It is called P.A.S.S. and is an acronym for Pull the Pin, Aim the nozzle, Squeeze the handle and Sweep the fire. In extinguishing a fire it is important to remember to spray the agent on the base of the flames for the best results.

In business establishments the State of Texas requires extinguishers to be mounted on the wall and is required to have a State Fire Marshal's Inspection Tag which must be renewed on a yearly basis. Depending on the age of the extinguisher it may be required to have a six year maintenance inspection and/or a twelve year hydrostatic test. This is done to insure the extinguisher will operate properly and is safe to the user.

We have several fire extinguisher service companies in Big Spring and they are all qualified and do good work. The Fire Marshal's Office will be glad to assist you in training your employees or any home owner regarding the proper use of fire extinguishers, by calling 264-2305 and setting up an appointment.

Although I don't often find much to recommend itself on the television these days, there are tidbits of interest that can be found channel surfing.

And, if you stay long enough with it, something can actually be learned. So, I learned something last Sunday while catching the last bit of "60 Minutes." And, that something caused me "furiously to think," in the words of Hercule Poirot.

What "60 Minutes" was going on about was the difference between the Japanese and the United States. Now, while that isn't exactly news, what made it interesting was it was U.S. citizens teaching the Japanese how to survive in our violent culture.

Remember the Japanese exchange student shot and killed in Louisiana last year. He was heading to a Halloween party, went to the wrong house and kept coming while the owner shouted for him to freeze. And, then the homeowner shot him when he didn't.

That type of violence doesn't seem to faze the majority of Americans anymore. It has become something you have to do to survive and maintain what you have earned. No, we weren't shocked when he was found not guilty although the world, especially the Japanese, were.

Routine, everyday occurrence here in the great United States.

So, what was the "60 Minutes" episode all about? Teaching the Japanese businessmen, who aren't used to the type of violence evidenced in the United States, how to survive here on our streets.

There were classes teaching English more in-depth so when someone shouted freeze to a Japanese person again, he would understand that it also meant to stop, not just something icy cold.

These Americans in Japan are making good money teaching the Japanese to be a little ruder than they are brought up to be. Teaching them politeness doesn't work with an American crook.

But, I guess what really struck me was a tape, made by a federal government office, that teaches foreigners "A Little Street Wisdom." That's right, a film delineating the type of violence found on American streets and how to cope with it and live - the main thing.

Why? The Japanese don't get a daily dose of the latest atrocity worked upon the public. There is an almost violence-free society. Which is not to say that there aren't problems in Japan, because there are. But, violence on the scale we have here in the United States is almost unheard of.

So, they can't cope with the streets like those of us who live here. And, so, we teach them how to survive as much as we already know how. But, how do we teach visitors to our soil how to survive a carjacking when we don't even know ourselves?

I guess what made me the saddest about all of this is this: my country - land of the violent. What has happened to us? Do we even know where to begin looking for the answer?

My brother thinks it has to do with the 1960s and television bringing the Vietnam War right into our living rooms. Which is what we are doing today, only it's not a war on a foreign soil, its skirmishes right here in our own backyard. And, daily we see the gruesomeness of what one man can do to another.

Yes, murders, violence of all types - including the mass and serial killers - have been with the world for a long time. This generation didn't invent it, but it may have refined it to a horrifying art form, bringing to an all-time low.

It's not new, but why does it seem there is so much more of it? So much more rape, child molestation, abuse, killing. Is my brother right about the news and bringing it right into our homes? Have we become so used to the thought of people dying every day at the hands of someone else that it can't shock us?

If that can't shock us, what can? And, maybe more importantly, if it doesn't shock us anymore, what will make us want to do anything about it?

I believe my brother is partially right, but what I think is the main problem is a basic lack of respect for anyone or anything.

There is one piece of advice from the Bible that we all should remember. It's called the Golden Rule - "Do unto others as you would have others do unto you."

Not a bad piece of advice.

Help appreciated

On behalf of the Big Spring High School Golf Boosters Club, we would like to say a big "THANK YOU" to the Chicano Golf Association. On Saturday last, the Chicano Golf Association held a golf tournament and presented a check in excess of $800 to the Golf Booster Club.

What a "class" organization! Your group does as much or more for this community as any other organization in town. Not only do you make contributions to groups such as ours, you also contribute in a big way to the United Way. You have tournaments for individuals less fortunate, and have been very successful in donating scholarships for students from Big Spring to attend college.

Our "hats off" to the Chicano Golf Association for many jobs well done. Because of you our high school golf team will be better equipped for the coming year and years to come.

Thanks to all who have purchased Golf Booster Club bag tags. Your donations will go far in making high school golf successful at Big Spring High School.

Residents need to wake up to the issues

PAT DeANDA
Guest Columnist

"Who is there that can make muddy water clear? But if allowed to remain still, it will become clear itself..." Lao Tzu

There are issues in motion right now such as the water quality provided to citizens by our water district to the increase of water rates (again!) to Big Spring residents that if allowed will detract from a problem far too serious for anyone of us to want to ignore.

I have been told by one council member, "Ever since I've known you all you been doin' is stirring up s---" (rhymes with skit). You keep the cauldron boiling honey! I've got a tape if anyone cares to hear it. If such is the case I'm at my cauldron again honey!

Law enforcement in Big Spring has been under siege for at least four years. From gambling within the department to illegal abuse and arrest by officers.

All these allegations were made public and looked into from our county attorney to Texas Rangers to the attorney general and the worst thing they came up with was that, "they could have handled some things differently."

From personal observation I saw a department become paranoid even when performing their simplest duties. The department was constantly under the microscope. Getting up and going to work was becoming more and more difficult. We had a chief who was forever having to defend his department. I saw a man who was once very open and receptive change into a man who wondered what your ulterior motives were. This saddened me because I knew where it was coming from.

The morale was so low that you had to scrape it up with a spatula. Joe was having sessions (off the clock) with his officers to allow them to vent their emotions whether it be crying or anger (yeah, they are human). That in itself struck me as odd because the position administration in the city took and continues to take it if you don't like it leave.

Since leaving the council I have learned that I got nothing but lip service on several things.

Restructuring is another word for elimination, meaning they eliminate positions in jobs that are still essential to the workings of the city, pile it on another employee increasing their work load and expecting perfection with no increase in pay. Eventually, like an overloaded circuit it breaks down and an employee leaves. That position is rarely filled. The cycle starts up again.

Looks legal but there are civil rights organizations throughout our nation who have seen through the subtleties into the truth and are winning in challenges to the tune of millions to citizens of municipalities.

Administrators don't mind spending your money that way either. It's so easy to make citizens buy the lies. The patrolling of police actually went down because of a decrease in officers. It sounded like there would be an increase in officers on the street but there never was. Their shifts were longer. There is no doubt that the increase of crime is directly related to the department's manpower on the street. Don't let anyone tell you differently.

We can thank the council (certain members) for police officers wanting to unionize. If administration would treat them with the respect they deserve and not treat them as if they were the scourge of the earth they wouldn't have to look outside for support and help. They need security and stability where their jobs are concerned and if administration is insensitive to their simplest of needs, they'll seek relief elsewhere.

I understand why firefighters unionized. Their lives needed some sense to it. Their complaints fell on deaf ears. Now everybody listens it matters not if complaints have merit. You listen because they'll catch you on technicalities.

We deserve it, too. When you have administrations singing, "I did it my way" with disregard to civility. We, as citizens, should press the issues and ask what is going on to make people want to unionize?

Has the police department had bad officers? Yes it has! Have any of them been dismissed? Yes they have! What some citizens want is a public lynching. Anyone who has had dealings with the police whether it be speeding, DWI, drugs, etc. has an undying hate for them. That in itself is dangerous. Whatever happened to "You do the crime you do the time?"

I believe in law and order in front of and behind the badge and whichever side the crime falls on it should be dealt with accordingly. We should not totally surpass law enforcement. On the other hand I will tell you, as I told Joe, I am not for unionization of police officers. There is something about a job that requires packing a gun and unionization that doesn't jive with me. Imagine the worst scenario and a union lawyer getting an officer off on a technicality. Very frightening to me. Also why spend money on a chief? Once unionized all he or she will be is a figure head because union bypasses department heads.

If the council and city manager were to prioritize the most important needs of the city's citizens, certainly their protection and safety would be number one. Yet our department is so understaffed, its equipment so archaic that it is impossible to provide the very best service. Believe me when I tell you that there are citizens out there fighting to assure they have as little as possible to do their job with. I'd like to hear pro-law enforcement make the same noise.

I have always been concerned at the ease with which citizens forget things in Big Spring and how the manipulators use it to their advantage. What will it take to wake us up?

How many of you really believe that Joe Cook's remaining contract was bought out? Do you believe it was that simple? Administration has pulled no surprises on me - yet.

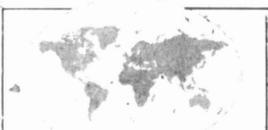

I will miss Joe as chief of police not, as many have said because I am pro police. I disagree with many things but things don't always go my way and that's ok. I see it as being mature. While I know no one who always gets their way, I know many who get even if they don't - it's their mission in life.

I get spooked at the thought that we as adults set the example. Is it any wonder our kids are so confused? Unless I read him wrong he never held against me our disagreements. With others I felt they felt it was their duty to tolerate me - not Joe. I respect him for that. He did more for Big Spring than any other chief. I've never seen anyone care as much for the citizens he protected. It's all on record for anyone who cares to check.

We should support Joe Cook and encourage him to stay in Big Spring. He is an asset to our community I know that there are more supporters than not. In times like this we need to recognize and acknowledge the good one has done. He has done Big Spring good as a representative of BSPD. I certainly appreciate what he has done and hope he understands my sincerity. We should also call the city manager and demand better accountability by him. Pressure your councilmembers for something other than vague answers. Lets not take the manana (tomorrow) attitude. Our manana is now.

In closing let me leave you with a quote by Edmund Burk: "The only thing necessary for the triumph of evil is for good men (and women) to do nothing."

Clinton hopes to set up Perot for fall

The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — In challenging Ross Perot to debate the North American Free Trade Agreement, the White House is betting it can win elusive support for the deal by discrediting its loudest critic, and by forcing fence-sitting Democrats to choose between the president and Perot.

But the strategy is fraught with risks.

Already, the announcement that Vice President Al Gore will debate Perot on Tuesday has returned the feisty Texan to the national spotlight, at a time when his standing with the public has been in decline.

Perot has spent months polishing his tart-tongued assault on the trade deal, mastering snappy one-liners that, accurate or not, often are the most memorable moments of such televised showdowns. Gore, on the other hand, is considered well-versed on the intricacies of the agreement, but not a debating dynamo.

"This risk is you get into a spitting contest with a skunk," said Clinton adviser Paul Begala. "Perot doesn't know beans about trade, but you can't take away from the fact that he has the fastest mouth in the West."

Perot was happy to return fire in the pre-debate jockeying. "The Titanic is sinking and they're desperate," he said of the challenge.

Sniping aside, it's clear that if Clinton loses the NAFTA vote, regardless of how Gore fares, Perot will be the big winner and Clinton's prestige dealt a serious blow.

Some are also questioning the wisdom of waging critical policy debates with campaign-style theatrics. Such an approach, critics say, only encourages opponents to taunt presidents with debate challenges.

Yeltsin opposes early presidential elections

The Associated Press

MOSCOW — President Boris Yeltsin said Saturday he opposes holding early presidential elections, despite a previous promise, and said that he would not run again once he had served out his term.

"Everybody knows how many blows have fallen to my lot. For one person, it's too much," Yeltsin told a meeting of Russian newspaper editors, according to the ITAR-Tass news agency.

The Interfax agency quoted him as President Clinton gestures while making a point during a speech at Lexmark International Thursday in Lexington, Ky. Clinton spoke to plant workers and conducted a question and answer session to promote the North American Free Trade Agreement.

"It weakens the presidency," argues Columbia University historian Henry Graff. "We have lost the sense of distance and mystery that leadership has to have. Even if they win in the short run, they have set a terrible precedent."

Clinton advisers heartily dispute that, noting that it is Gore, not the president, who will debate Perot. As for the other risks, the White House concedes it has little choice.

The NAFTA fight has deeply divided Democrats. Most labor loyalists are entrenched in their opposition to removing trade barriers, which they argue will cause a rush of manufacturing jobs from the United States to low-wage Mexico.

So Clinton is roughly 35 House votes short of victory with the vote but 10 days away. More than NAFTA is at stake.

"It would be a big loss because it would make clear that the Democratic Party is still driven by the old forces of big labor and protectionism," said Al From, who heads the centrist Democratic Leadership Council.

In his radio address Saturday, Clinton framed the Gore-Perot debate as "facts against fear," a contrast that is part of the administration's effort to paint Perot and other NAFTA opponents as defeatists who do not believe American workers can compete in open markets.

Since getting 19 percent of the vote in last year's presidential election, Perot has built his political organization into a powerful voice in many states.

telling the group, "I am against presidential elections in June 1994. I support using the president's mandate in full, until 1996."

It was the first time Yeltsin spoke directly against the early presidential elections he had called for June. Earlier in the week, he had presented a draft constitution that also would let him stay in office until 1996, when his regular term expires.

A presidential spokesman declined comment Saturday on what he called media "interpretations" of Yeltsin's statement.

Yeltsin's chief of staff, Sergei Fila-to, told Interfax before Yeltsin's statement became known that the president had a "moral right" to reverse his decision on early elections but would not make such a step.

Filatov called early presidential elections "a forced and unnecessary compromise" made during a political crisis.

Yeltsin promised to hold early presidential elections when he dissolved the Soviet-era parliament in September and ordered new parliamentary elections for Dec. 12. His opponents called for simultaneous elections, but Yeltsin said that would create a political vacuum.

Yeltsin's dissolution of parliament led to violence, and Yeltsin crushed armed hard-line opponents on Oct. 4 with tanks and troops.

Since then, some high-ranking presidential advisers and government officials have urged canceling the early presidential elections, arguing that Russia needs political stability instead of frequent balloting.

Yeltsin was elected in 1991 to a five-year term and won a referendum on his leadership last April.

Leigh Danielle Drew's beautiful music

I was scheduled to speak at the Statehouse Convention Center in Little Rock, Ark.

My host, Jimmy Simmons, asked if I might arrive backstage early; there was something he wanted me to hear.

When from backstage I heard the voice of a young woman — a voice such as you expect to hear when the gates of heaven open — immediately I moved from the wings into the darkened auditorium to hear more clearly.

The experience left me mesmerized.

She was a young woman in her mid-20s — in a wheelchair.

She was surrounded by the University of Arkansas Concert Choir.

I had to know more about Leigh Danielle Drew.

Daughter of a minister in Overland Park, Kan., youngest of seven children, Leigh Danielle Drew was a precocious child. She took advanced typing at the age of 5. Even earlier than that, a teacher had heard her sing in her father's church and urged her to concentrate on music.

Paul Harvey

She recorded an album of contemporary Christian music at the age of 10.

She took her magnificent voice with her to Wichita State University.

Presently, age 26, she is working toward advanced degrees at the University of Arkansas, majoring in vocal music.

Leigh Danielle has suffered epilepsy for most of her life.

Hospitalized for treatment in February of this year, she was given an overdose of phenobarbital and prozac. The toxic reaction left her unable to walk and talk normally, thus her present confinement to a wheelchair.

Yet, seated, she sings. And with one of the most monumental voices since Beverly Sills.

The conductor of the university's concert choir, Dr. Ray Moore, says she most certainly has the voice for grand opera, though she says she has pledged a share of her life to performing Christian music, convinced that it was for that purpose that she was thus endowed.

Fully to understand that, you must know this:

When I heard Leigh Danielle sing before that meeting of 1,500 Affili-ed Foods stockholders, I noted not only the texture and purity of her vocal sound but also the immaculate perfection of her diction.

It is only when she sings that there is not the slightest hint of an impediment in her speech.

And when she sings, even one who knows forgets that she cannot hear herself.

For Leigh Danielle is mostly deaf.

But what joy is in her voice; how infectious her enthusiasm; what fun to be around... though she can never know the grandeur of her own voice or see her own beautiful smile.

For this young black woman is also blind. She gives us what she can never share — her music of the night.

Cowboy poetry, song Jean Beck's life ambition

Herald photo

Jean Beck, a Big Spring area native, sings "In the Real West" while explaining the material she and her partner plan to record on her new album. She hopes to preserve cowboy songs with her work, and says her love affair with the Old West, cowboy music, horses and the like has been virtually lifelong.

GLENDA CUMMINGS Staff Writer

GARDEN CITY — Jean Beck was 13 years old when her family moved to Garden City from Big Spring. Her love affair with the West, cowboys and horses was already well established.

She was an eighth-grader when that move was made and soon thereafter she and a friend organized the Glasscock County Riding Club.

"Diane Melton was my best friend and we organized the first Glasscock County Riding Club. We had no funds, so we bought stencils and a roll of ribbon and sat here on the porch and made the ribbons for the first play day," she said, displaying one of the original awards.

She says from the time she was very small, she was crazy about anything having to do with cowboys or horses. She would ride her stick horse or her tricycle around and around the kitchen table while her mom, Wanda, cooked.

Then she would go over to the doorknob and "call" Roy Rogers and invite him over for supper. This obsession is why she plans to make it her life's work to "keep the heritage of the West alive through the songs of the Cowboy."

When she was 16, she learned to play the guitar from a $25 Montgomery Wards model, and a Mel Bay chord book.

"You know that everyone who came to visit got to listen to Red River Valley and Tom Dooley for entertainment," she offers with a smile.

In college, she went into the Les White Music store and met Don Tolle. She sang "How Far is Heaven?" by Kitty Wells and he hired her on the spot to do two sets a night for $10. Then she sang on the KWAB Saturday afternoon television show.

She later attended a Cowboy Poetry reading at Sul Ross. "I knew then, it was what I wanted for the rest of my life," she says.

Beck began to really practice and sing again. She attended every cowboy poetry reading she could. At one in Stamford, she stayed all night, sitting at the campfire with others, playing and singing.

Two years ago this month, she met her partner, Danny Thomas, sang for him about 10 minutes, and was again hired on the spot. The group is called Straight to the Heart.

Performing on the circuit, helped her to make friends and acquaintances that have enabled her to produce her first album, "Keeping the West Alive," which she is marketing herself.

She put together the album, and with the help of friends, it was completed Aug. 19. It was recorded in Weatherford, and is dedicated to Brad Busby, because, she says, he was instrumental in getting the album started and died of cancer the day it was released.

The album can be purchased locally in small stores, such as the small cafe in Garden City.

She has played at the National Cowboy Symposium in Lubbock. She was the opening act and the closing act, with entertainers such as Barry Corbin and Patsy Montana in between. She has played the Australian Cutting Horse Western Classic and the Abilene Western Heritage Classic. She is booked for several months in advance, but does play for private parties.

One of Beck's most memorable experiences involves a gig in Frankfort, Germany. She had just returned from a week there at the Cafe Cult, which translated means Cafe of Culture, and was approached to audition at the Hotel Crescent Court on Turtle Creek in Dallas. They were opening this cafe in a new ultra modern complex of office buildings, shops and restaurants called Schillerpassage in Germany and wanted a country singer that could yodel. She traveled, expenses paid to Dallas, and was again hired after an audition of about 10 minutes.

Her job was to stroll through the cafe several times daily, singing and playing for the customers. Then at night, she was on stage and miked for several sets a night. She was a great success and the cafe was the hot nightspot in its area.

"There I was in full Western dress, and this place was a show place for fashion," she recalls. "I seriously doubt that these fashions will make Texas for three or four years."

Upon returning, she decided to work at her craft full time and has several things going at once. While in Frankfort, she was offered a contract to appear at Euro-Disney in France, and a contract is under negotiation at present.

She is also about to start on a second album with Thomas. They specialize in harmony and have several songs in mind for the album. One was written by Gary Prescott and is titled "She's in Love With Roy Rogers!" It was, of course, written for and about her.

She has also received permission to use the work of Baxter Black, a well-known cowboy poet.

When asked how far she wants to go, she replies, "I don't know that I'd want to go as far as Reba McEntire, but I'd like to be known as a Texas singer. I'd be pleased to be another Nancy Griffith."

Howard SWCD wins Goodyear competition

Special to the Herald

LUBBOCK — Soil and water conservation district directors representing 212 Texas SWCD's attending their 53rd annual conference recognized the Howard Soil and Water Conservation District in the 46th annual Goodyear Conservation Awards Program.

The Howard SWCD, headquartered in Big Spring, was named an honor district as a result of nationwide competition sponsored by The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., in cooperation with the National Association of Conservation Districts.

"Honor District Awards were presented to those districts that were top award winners during the previous five years only if those districts ranked among the leaders in the current program. The Honor District Award was created to recognize continuing excellence by those districts," said Charles Walters, a Goodyear area sales manager.

selected the Howard SWCD on the basis of the district's accomplishments in soil and water conservation," according to Walters who presented the award.

Approximately 800 SWCD directors and other conservation leaders attended the 53rd annual meeting of SWCD directors which was held at the Lubbock Memorial Civic Center.

Forsan NHS chapters hold induction

By GLENDA CUMMINGS

FORSAN — National Honor Society induction ceremonies at Forsan Junior High School and Forsan Senior High School took place Oct. 25 in the high school auditorium.

Junior high students helped with the program, reading to the audience the qualifications for becoming a member. Those include scholarship (90 average or better), service, leadership, character and citizenship.

A teacher committee meets and reviews the students for possible membership.

Officers were chosen from the present members. Eighth-graders elected officers for the 1993-94 year were: President Terra Proctor, Vice-president Marlena Light, Secretary Meagan Stanley and Treasurer Dawn Parker.

Other honor society members present were Derek Trent, Brooke Reed, Erin Purcell, Amanda Epley, Amanda Burton, Allen Dunlap, Travis Womack, Casey Bristow, Matt Crawford and Erica Partlow.

Inductees for this year were: Joy Humphreys, Jerrod Fishback, Amie Evans, Cullen Sartor, Jeremy Hedges, Jason Anderson, Lacy Ray and Melanie Crouch.

High school NHS member Jenny Conaway was present as new members Bryan Alexander, Jacoby Hopper, Laurie Light, Lark Ray, Misty Carter, Shane Sims and Chris Evans were inducted.

At this time, plans for this year's projects are still under discussion and will be finalized at a later date.

Jan Sims is the NHS sponsor for Forsan High School, while Forsan Junior High School sponsors are Sharon Hirt Bryan Stringer.

Boy Scouts set food drive for Nov. 20

By JANET AUSBURY
Staff Writer

The Boy Scouts will be asking Big Spring to show its holiday spirit by donating food in a pre-Thanksgiving food drive on Saturday, Nov. 20.

Starting at 9 a.m. that day, the Boy Scouts, assisted by Cub Scouts, Tiger Cubs, Scout leaders and parents, will collect food from all over the city.

Sacks for food donation will be included in the Sunday, Nov. 14 edition of the Big Spring Herald.

"We will be grateful to receive any kind of non-perishable foods," said chairman Clem Jones. "The sacks will make it handy for you to put your gifts at your door for collection."

The Salvation Army will receive half of the food collected, with the other half going to the North Side Community Center.

Plans for the food drive were announced at the Lone Star District Committee meeting on Monday, Nov. 1.

In other meeting business, plans were detailed for combining the monthly Cub and Scout Leaders' Roundtable to improve communications and retain membership.

The roundtable meetings will be scheduled for 7 p.m. on the second Thursday of each month at the First United Methodist Church youth department.

District Executive Warren Wallace said Big Spring will serve Ackerly, and prospects are good for three units there. A unit at Sterling City is due to be reactivated, and the Church of Jesus Christ of the Latter Day Saints will be sponsoring a new Explorer post.

In the past month, 27 Scout leaders were trained, 14 of them in Snyder and Colorado City. District committee chairman Tom McCann said the financial membership effort will start in about one month, with new emphasis being put on increasing boy membership.

Combined agency raid results in 12 arrests

By JANET AUSBURY
Staff Writer

A Wednesday night raid on Willie's Bar in the 700 block of West Fourth resulted in 12 arrests on charges ranging from public intoxication to possession of a controlled substance.

The 11 p.m. raid was conducted by the Permian Basin Task Force, their K-9 unit, the Big Spring Police Department narcotics unit, members of the Alcoholic Beverage Commission and the Howard County Sheriff's Office, according to a news release from the task force.

A usable quantity of cocaine and approximately under two ounces of marijuana were found.

Individuals arrested and the charges are as follows:

- Daniel Ortiz Gonzales, 45, public intoxication and outstanding warrants.
- David Dominguez, 23, public intoxication.

Luciano Ruben Rodriguez, public intoxication.

- Gilberto Herrera, 40, public intoxication.
- Daniel Ramirez, 36, public intoxication.
- Guadalupe Nieto, 26, public intoxication.
- John Darron Roark, 28, public intoxication.
- Richard Martinez Alcantar, 34, of 502 N. Runnels, possession of cocaine.

Janie Galaviz Molina, 22, of 1511 Johnson, possession of cocaine.

- Caitano Tano Chavarria, 44, of 2911 W. 80 Apt. 7, possession of cocaine.
- Johnny Rueda, 36, of 1105 W. Fifth, possession of marijuana.
- Michael Dutchover, 28, of 510 NE Eighth, possession of cocaine.
- Felix G. Olivias, 25, of 1013 Sycamore, possession of cocaine.

All suspects were taken to the Big Spring City Jail.

Deaths

Marie Johnson

Funeral services for Marie Johnson, 73, of Big Spring are set for 2 p.m. Monday, Nov. 8, in the Rosewood Chapel at Nalley-Pickle & Welch Funeral Home with the Rev. Flynn Long, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church officiating. Interment will follow at Trinity Memorial Park.

Mrs. Johnson died Thursday, Nov. 4, in an Abilene nursing home. She was born on April 26, 1920, in Blackwell. She married M.L. Johnson on June 21, 1937, in Blackwell and he preceded her in death on Dec. 26, 1992.

She and her late husband moved to Big Spring in 1962 from Colorado City. She operated the snack bar at the Bowlamara for 10 years and was a homemaker. She was a Protestant. She was active in the Women's International Bowling Congress and an active coach in Junior League Bowling.

She is survived by one son, Jimmy Johnson of Big Spring; one daughter, Ann Murphy of Dallas; two sisters, Annie Merle Buckner of Blackwell and Betty Jean Stevens of Sweetwater; seven grandchildren; 12 great-grandchildren; and several aunts, uncles, nieces and nephews.

She was also preceded in death by an infant son, M.L. Johnson Jr.

The family suggests memorials be made to the Alzheimer's Disease Association, 70 E. Lake St., Chicago, Ill. 60601. The family will be at 1506 State Park Drive.

Salome Rios

A funeral mass for Salome Rios, 40, of Austin and a former resident of Big Spring, is scheduled for 10:30 a.m. Monday, Nov. 8, at St. Thomas Catholic Church with the Rev. Robert Vreteau and Deacon Horace Yanez officiating. Burial will follow in Mount Olive Memorial Park under the direction of Myers & Smith Funeral Home.

A rosary is set for 7 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 7, in the Myers & Smith Funeral Home Chapel.

Mr. Rios died Thursday, Nov. 4, of injuries he suffered in an automobile accident in Pflugerville. He was born on March 7, 1953, in Brady, and married Debrah Kay Trevino on March 7, 1990, in Big Spring.

He had lived most of his life in Big Spring and moved to Austin only a month ago. He was a 1971 graduate of Big Spring High School and attended Howard College. He had worked at Fiberglass Systems and the Big Spring State Hospital before moving to Austin.

Survivors include his wife, Debrah Kay Trevino Rios of Big Spring; two sons, Salome A. Rios and Shane A. Rios, both of Big Spring; one daughter, Stacie J. Rios of Big Spring; his father, Faustino Rios Sr. of Big Spring; two brothers, Robert Rios Sr. and Alfred Rios, both of Big Spring; and three sisters, Annie Key, Sandy Johnson and Betty J. Walker, all of Big Spring.

He was preceded in death by his mother, Cresencia Rios, and two brothers, Fustavo Rios and Faustino Rios Jr.

Mary Woolverton

A funeral mass for Mary Lou Woolverton, 66, of Big Spring is set for 10 a.m. Tuesday, Nov. 9, at St. Thomas Catholic Church with the Rev. Robert Vreteau officiating. Interment will follow at Trinity Memorial Park under the direction of Nalley-Pickle & Welch Funeral Home.

A rosary service is set for 7 p.m. Monday, Nov. 8, in the Rosewood Chapel at Nalley-Pickle & Welch Funeral Home.

Mrs. Woolverton died Friday, Nov. 5, at her home. She was born on Dec. 6, 1926, in Flushing, N.Y., and married Raymond James Woolverton on Sept. 1, 1946, in Flushing. She was a member of St. Thomas Catholic Church where she was active in the CCD Program for nine years. She had been a resident of Big Spring since 1963 and was a retired seamstress.

Survivors include her husband, Raymond James Woolverton of Big Spring; three daughters, Micki W. Maddux of Amarillo, Irene Weimer of Canyon and Jessica T. Woolverton of the home; four sons, Edward K. Woolverton of Warren, Mich., Raymond Jim Woolverton Jr. of Corpus Christi; and Thomas R. Woolverton and Scott A. Woolverton, both of Big Spring; one sister, Irene Keller of Charlottesville, Va.; one brother, Remy "Buck" Chagnon of Copper Center, Alaska; 18 grandchildren; three great-grandsons; and several nieces and nephews.

She was preceded in death by her parents, Remy and Irene Chagnon; one sister, Peggy Lincks; and one granddaughter, Kristin Maddux.

The family suggests memorials be made to the Hospice of the Southwest, P.O. Box 14710, Odessa, Texas 79768-4710.

Albert Buford

BURNET — Funeral services for Albert Sidney Buford, 82 of Marble Falls are set for 10 a.m. Monday, Nov. 8, at the Edgar Funeral Home in Marble Falls with the Rev. Max Copeland officiating. Graveside services are set for 3 p.m. Monday at the Coleman City Cemetery.

Mr. Buford died Friday, Nov. 5. He was born on July 21, 1911, in Coleman County. He was a member of the First Baptist Church of Marble Falls and a retired railroad engineer for the Missouri Pacific Railroad.

Survivors include his wife, Ruth Buford of Marble Falls; three daughters, Marvlyn Burleson of Marble Falls, Martha Merrick of Houston and Sherry Mallett of Santa Barbara, Calif.; one son, Tom Buford of Spicewood; one brother Woodrow Buford of Flagstaff, Ariz.; 12 grandchildren; and nine great-grandchildren.

Herman Fisher

STANTON — Funeral services for Herman Fisher, 88, of Stanton are pending with Gilbreath Funeral Home of Stanton.

Mr. Fisher died Saturday, Nov. 6, in Brownwood following a lengthy illness.

said, "I'm glad I left when I did!"

Class secretary-treasurer Lucile Rogers Owen said she was surprised at how young everyone looked for their age. "I guess we're all survivors," she laughed.

The class of 1928 waited 50 years to have its first reunion and has slated reunions every five years since.

"We may hold them every 15 minutes from now on," joked Pickle. "You can't tell how many of us there will be left."

Pickle said the group would vote on whether to have a 70th class reunion. "The odds aren't necessarily real good on being able to have one," he said, "but we might like to try!"

these reunions is walking into a room of classmates who are difficult to recognize after so many years. "I feel like I haven't changed; why have they?" she laughed. "You realize you must have really changed too!"

She added that the number of people she recognized was exceeded by the number who recognized her. "Was Pierce complimented? 'No! It's embarrassing!' she laughed.

R.E. "Peppy" Blount, who currently practices law in Longview, was chosen to be the master of ceremonies for a Saturday evening reunion program.

"Bill Mims sent me the program, and it said, 'Peppy Blount will emcee,'" explained Blount.

Blount regaled his former classmates with memories of his activities as a high school and college football player, politician, judge and author of two books, in addition to his law practice.

Blount's sister, Helon, is a Broadway actress.

Royce Britton, not to be outdone, noted that he was the staff member at the American Heart Association who helped develop national CPR programs.

Mims said this would be the last big reunion until the 55th. "We'll vote on when to have the next reunion and who will chair it."

Meanwhile, Saturday's golden reunion activities seemed to provide a half-century's worth of good times for all who attended.

Whooper

injected to combat dehydration.

Early Friday, High Sky began improving but never stabilized enough for surgery on the wing, fractured above the elbow joint.

The crane "should have been dead coming off the plane," said Dr. Meliss sa Hill, a veterinarian who worked on him. "He fought very hard to stay alive."

Hill leads a group called Last Chance Forever Inc., which treats wounded birds of prey and other animals for return to the wild. The wounded crane likely wouldn't have been releasable into the wild had it survived and probably would have been kept in captivity and used for breeding.

There are about 145 whoopers in the wild today, up from a fflow of 16 in 1941. There are another 90 in several breeding centers around the country, including the San Antonio Zoo.

An autopsy will be performed on High Sky. An examination showed it may have hit a power line instead of sustaining a gunshot wound as earlier believed.

Nevertheless, a reward of $2,500 offered by the U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service for information leading to arrest and conviction of whoever may have shot the crane is being matched with another $2,500 in private donations, McCasland said. Conviction carries a fine up to $50,000, one year in federal prison or both.

Coin flips, playoffs and picks

Point differentials, coin flips, head-to-head - so this is the home-stretch of Texas high school football.

I can't remember the last time I was more confused.

The six-man Wellman Wildcats go from District 5 champion hopefuls to playoff watchers.

Grady, a team that looked dead for sure after losses to Sands and Klondike, gets revived by Wellman's win at Klondike last week only to come out a coin-flip loser. The Wildcats from Lenora finish their season 8-2. Sorry, though - no playoffs.

Klondike coach Ed Wilson kisses his postseason possibilities goodbye after his Cougars' loss to Wellman. He practically gave a concession speech outside the locker room after that game.

His team is in. Klondike won Friday, then watched as three things that had to happen for it to make the playoffs came true:

- * Sands beat Wellman
- * Grady beat Loop
- * Wellman lost the coin flip

If you think a coin flip is a bad deal, you must not be a fan of the Big Spring Steers. The Steers could use a coin flip right about now.

Big Spring coach Dwight Butler said that under District 3-4A's tie-breaking procedures, Monahans had to win at Sweetwater Friday by more than 17 but less than 20 to give the Steers a chance to reach the playoffs.

Monahans won, but only by one, 13-12.

It's possible that Sweetwater, Monahans and Big Spring will tie for second in the district.

Still, Big Spring is dead as far as the playoff hunt is concerned, and Monahans - a team that Big Spring humiliated, 28-10 - could be playing postseason ball.

Doesn't make much sense. What's the best way? Who knows. But leave it to me to provide another idea.

My alma mater, Orange Park High School in Orange Park, Fla., found itself in the tie with Gainesville Buchholz for second in its district. The two teams decided who would go to the playoffs on the field.

They did the ol' Kansas Tiebreaker routine - each team get four downs from their opponent's 10-yard line.

It was a crazy night in the middle of the week. Tickets were $3. Buchholz came to Orange Park, got the ball first and scored a touchdown and an extra point. Orange Park did not score, and that was it.

It was over in about 10 minutes, then everyone went home.

I remember thinking, "What a waste?" The bands came, the stands were about half-full, the concession stands was open, Buchholz had made a 90-mile trip - all for 10 minutes of football.

Now that I have a few years between that night and now, I look back and think:

What a waste. The teams play enough games, do enough battle and suffer enough injuries without any on-field playoffs.

It's a shame for teams like Grady and Big Spring to have strong seasons without playoff appearances, but that's life in Texas football.

With just two regular-season games remaining on our area slate - Big Spring at Fort Stockton and Garden City at Rankin - now seems to be the time to close our 1993 Friday Football Forecast.

Besides, Big Spring and Rankin are gifts.

Steve Reagan and I managed to pick 73 of 91 games correctly, good for 80.2 percent. I have to give Steve much of the credit - don't forget, I've only been in Big Spring for three months or so.

Thursday night in Big Spring, Klondike takes on District 6 champion Loraine. Loraine is rolling, but I keep remembering that Sands beat Loraine 56-6 (in a game we regretfully picked Loraine).

Take Klondike.

As for Sands, the Mustangs play the Borden County Coyotes Friday in Lamesa.

Sands should win easily.

OK, no more predictions for me this year.

Franklin, Perez qualify for state meet

By STEVE REAGAN Sportswriter

UBBOCK - Because Joe Franklin ran the race of his life and Evy Perez was able to overcome illness, Big Spring cross country coach Randy Britton won't have to cancel his motel reservations for next week.

Franklin knocked 23 seconds off his personal-best time, and Perez fought off a respiratory infection as both had top-10 finishes at the Region I-4A cross country meet at Mae Simmons Park Saturday morning. Their performances earn them spots in the state meet to be held Saturday in Georgetown.

FRANKLIN

Franklin, staying near the leaders the entire way, finished sixth in the three-mile event with a time of 16 minutes, 17.7 seconds. Perez, though struggling over the two-mile girls' course, had enough left at the end to finish ninth with a time of 12:26.7.

Competing as a team, the Big Spring boys finished fifth, two spots out of the running for a slot at the state meet. Fort Worth Boswell won the boys meet, followed by Justin Northwest and Borger.

Canyon Randall, San Angelo Lake View and Borger earned the top three finishes in the girls' bracket. "Joe did a hell of a job," Britton said. "This was his first time ever at regional, and he still qualified for state."

Franklin, who won last week's District 3-4A meet in Big Spring, said it took him awhile to settle into a comfortable rhythm.

"I'm not satisfied with my time, but I am pleased (with my performance)," Franklin said. "I had trouble on that first hill, and as we proceeded with the race, I tried to get my rhythm back ... The last half of the race, I felt good. The only part I had trouble with was the first half."

Another pleasant surprise for Britton in the boys' race was the 16th-place finish of Jesse Ornales (16:48.5), who believes he could have done even better.

"I was going pretty good," Ornales said. "I tried to stay with Joe, but I got tired. On the second mile, I just tried to run my best, but I didn't do too good at all."

Aside from Franklin and Ornales, however, Britton was displeased with the boys' team effort.

"Joe and Jesse ran well, but it all goes back to having a team effort, and it wasn't a team effort on our part," Britton said. "You can't knock the conditions, and you can't knock them being hyped up. You've just got to get the job done. I think we were more than capable of being a top 2 or 3 team."

Other Big Spring boys' finishes were: Robert Rios, 30th, 17:11.6; Jamie Olivarez, 55th, 18:04.1; Randy Farr, 57th, 18:15.4; and Lehebron Farr, 70th, 19:21.8.

In the girls' race, Perez started off in good position and was in fifth at the halfway point. But she was obviously affected by the respiratory infection and with about 400 meters to go had slipped to seventh.

"Evy ran tough," Britton said. "She ran the first part of the race hard, but just a little bit of a respiratory infection can cause you to be that much off."

Steers smash Pecos

By DAVE HARGRAVE Sports Editor

All Big Spring players and fans reveled in Friday's Homecoming festivities, but no one wanted to go home more than the Pecos Eagles.

The Big Spring Steers (6-3, 3-2 in District 3-4A) pummeled Pecos (5-5, 1-5) 41-0. Thank goodness for half-time and the crowning of the Homecoming Queen - otherwise, the suspense quotient would have been null and void.

Most of the Big Spring faithful evacuated the bitterly cold premises after the queen crowning. The Steers led 20-0 at intermission and had dominated the Eagles so thoroughly, prospects of a Pecos rally were laughable.

Taking into account a botched punt attempt and seven quarterback sacks, Pecos' total offense amounted to 4 yards. Pecos' quarterback Carlos Montano completed 2 of 12 passes for 19 yards, but his rushing attack gained minus-15 yards on 45 carries. Big Spring sacked Montano for 57 yards in losses.

Despite Big Spring's monstrous defensive effort, much of the attention has to go to the offense, particularly senior tailback Lonnie Jackson. Jackson scored four touchdowns, three on runs of 34, 57 and 18 yards, and gained 158 yards in 16 carries. Big Spring's open date Oct. 29 helped Jackson and the rest of the Steers recuperate from nagging injuries.

"I just had great blocking up front," Jackson said. "We had a lot of time to get focused. With two weeks to prepare, anybody will do well."

"The best thing for us was that our offense rose up to where our defense

Big Spring's Lonnie Jackson (31) was slowed down momentarily by Pecos' Steve Rodriguez (55), but Jackson broke free for his third touchdown of the game on this play, a run of 57 yards. Jackson scored four touchdowns and gained 158 yards on 16 carries. Big Spring won 41-0.

was," said Big Spring coach Dwight Butler. Pecos came into the game with the district's second-best defense, but the statistics meant nothing Friday.

Big Spring earned its second shutout of the season - the Steers blanked Snyder 31-0 Sept. 24. The defense crushed Pecos from all sides, but the most noticeable area was up the middle, where Big Spring junior linebacker Kory Ryan took control. Ryan continually cruised through the middle with little or no resistance - in the second quarter, Ryan registered sacks on successive plays to push Pecos back 16 yards.

"I've never had a game like that. The holes would open up, and I was just there to make the sacks," said Ryan, who added that down lineman Jimmy Johnson and Shay Adams helped create his sack opportunities. "This is the best we've played all year - we came together as a team and just played ball. If we'd played like that all season, we'd be undefeated."

Pecos was missing three of its regular running backs - Bobby Terry, Quinten Terry and Efen Cordova. But it really didn't matter.

"All our starting backfield from the beginning was out, but we can't make excuses. We just got whipped," said Pecos coach Felix Urias, who saw his Eagles lose five straight games to end the season.

None of the Steers' scoring drives lasted longer than five plays.

One score came off the defense. In the third quarter, Pecos was punting from its own 24 - Pecos punted 11 times Friday - when a high snap sailed over punter Peter Cano. The ball went to the back of the end zone, and Cano had a chance to fall on it and take a safety. Instead, Cano slid past the ball, and Big Spring linebacker Torbin Lancaster covered it for a touchdown.

Big Spring closes its season next week at Fort Stockton (2-7, 0-5). Monahans beat Sweetwater 13-12 Friday, but the Lobos' winning margin won't be enough to give the Steers a chance to win a three-way tiebreaker should they, Monahans and Sweetwater tie for second place in the district.

Butler said that under the district's tiebreaking system, Monahans had to beat Sweetwater by at least 17 points, but no more than 20, to give the Steers a chance at the playoffs.

Ozona's playoff march runs over Coahoma

JOHN A. MOSELEY News Editor

COAHOMA - It's called winning ugly. But when a win will give you a spot in the state playoffs, any old win will do.

That was the attitude taken by Ozona's Lions Friday following their 24-14 win over Coahoma that guaranteed them the runner-up's playoff berth in District 6-2A.

Otherwise, this wasn't one for the women and children.

Doubting Thomases need only tally the litany of frustrations endured by both teams and their fans alike. Let's see, there were 13 fumbles, four pass interceptions, 10 turnovers, three touchdowns nullified by penalties and a 30-minute injury timeout.

That, of course, didn't cover six or seven dropped passes, two or three others that defensive backs were unable to turn into easy interceptions, a punt that should have been blocked but wasn't and a busted play here and there for good measure.

In the end, however, Ozona's speed and the cold were too much for the Bulldogs to overcome.

From the outset, the Lions appeared to be a much better team than their 6-3 and 3-2 records would indicate.

Surrendering just 1 yard on Coahoma's initial possession, the Lions took a quick lead, driving 60 yards in eight plays. Julio Martinez's 2-yard carry capped the drive at the 7:56 mark of the first quarter, and Andres De La Garza tacked on the Coahoma's Kelby Bailey (25) goes down during Friday's Coahoma-Ozona game in Coahoma. Blocking on the play is Coahoma's Kraig Walker (71) and Eric Gang (60). Ozona beat Coahoma 24-14 to qualify for the playoffs, while Coahoma ended the season at 4-6. The Bulldogs led at halftime by one, 14-13, but did not score in the second half. On the ground for Ozona is J.J. Lozano (22).

Forsan falls at Bronte

BRONTE - The Forsan Buffaloes ended their season Friday with their fifth consecutive loss. Bronte beat the Buffaloes 39-8.

"It was just another one of those situations where they had better personnel than us," said Forsan coach Jan East.

Forsan finishes at 3-7, 0-5. Bronte tailback Gary Bilbrey had a field day, gaining 139 yards on 17 carries.

Forsan's lone score came in the third quarter on a 1-yard run from Jacoby Hopper. Hopper led Forsan in rushing with 55 yards on 15 carries.

"We had one good drive where we went down and scored, but basically they just physically whipped us," East said.

Most of Forsan's starters will return next season, but Forsan is in for a return to Class 2A, East said.

"I don't think there's any doubt we'll be in 2A next year," East said.

Late rally sinks Greenwood

By STEVE REAGAN
Sportswriter

GREENWOOD - Kermit quarterback Devalon Bryant has been compared to a stick of dynamite. You just never know when he's going to go off and burn you.

Flash point for the Greenwood Rangers came late Friday.

Bryant, playing with a poise not found in ordinary 15-year-olds, directed a 49-yard scoring drive in the last 91 seconds of the game to give the Yellowjackets a come-from-behind 12-7 victory over Greenwood Friday night.

The game, which decided District 6-3A's second and final playoff representative, had just about everything to offer: sterling defense, explosive offense, heart-breaking turnovers, laughter, tears and that final game-clinching touchdown drive.

Greenwood's wishbone offense, which had been stifled much of the night, finally came to life with four minutes remaining when senior half-back Cody Hall took a handoff from quarterback Hilbert Ochoa and raced 76 yards for a touchdown that gave the Rangers (6-3-1 overall, 3-2 in district) a 7-6 lead.

On the ensuing drive, Bryant connected with tailback Edward Draughan on a 56-yard pass that looked as if it would give the lead back to Kermit, but Greenwood's Shawn Sayles stripped the ball from Draughan and the Rangers recovered in the end zone for a touchdown and, it seemed, the game.

"I felt a little panicked," Bryant said, "because this was my first (year) to be the quarterback on the varsity. But I felt like my elders on the team would help me out, and that took a little of the pressure off."

Greenwood was unable to secure a first down after the touchdown and punted into a stiff wind to the Rangers' 49, where Bryant and his mates took over with 1:31 left.

"The plan was to take it little by little, and that's what we did," Bryant said.

Bryant completed passes of 9 yards to Mitchell and 14 yards to Ty Miller to give the Yellowjackets a first down on the Greenwood 26, then scrambled 13 yards for another first. The next play, an apparent TD pass to Greenwood running back Shawn Sayles is tackled by an unidentified Kermit defender during their District 6-3A football game at Greenwood Friday night. Kermit rallied in the fourth quarter to defeat Greenwood, 12-7, in the final game of the regular season for both teams.

Corky McLean, was wiped out by a penalty, but Bryant responded by finding Mitchell all alone on the left flat for the game-winner with 34 seconds remaining.

"(Bryant's) a great athlete," Kermit coach Bruce Mitchell said. "He really didn't show what he could do, because Greenwood did a tremendous job on him ... but he's going to be a big-time college player someday; he has that kind of skill."

"This was a very emotional win for us," Mitchell added. "The kids worked extremely hard for a long time, and were deserving of a comeback win like this."

The final few minutes of the game were a sharp contrast from the preceding 44 minutes, in which defense dominated. The only scoring in the first three quarters came when Bryant sneaked over from the 1-yard line early in the third quarter.

Greenwood had a chance to take the lead in the second quarter when it mounted a 20-play drive that ate up 10 minutes of the clock. But the drive stalled deep in Kermit territory, and Josh Jones's 37-yard field goal attempt was wide left.

"That was an extremely important defensive series for us," Mitchell said. "Greenwood's such a big, physical team that I told the team that if we could just stay close, I felt at the half that our conditioning would pay off for us."

After the game, an obviously dejected Greenwood coach Bob Purser credited the play of both teams.

"I knew it would be this kind of ball game," Purser said. "I was proud to be on the field with these kids ... We thought we could defend the pass, but we knew (Bryant) could scramble for yardage, so it was kind of like sitting on a keg of dynamite."

Although the Rangers' season ended up 34 seconds and six points short of its goal - the state playoffs - Purser said the result took nothing away from his team's season. "I'm extremely proud of these kids," he said.

situation, Highland passed the Borden 20 and tied in penetrations, but it did not get the tying first down.

"The kids just played football," Avery said. "They didn't think about penetrations and first downs until we opted to tie the ball game. We knew we were going to have to play defense to win, anyway. The last minute of the game was the only pressure the kids felt."

Did lucky silver dollar save Klondike's season?

By STEVE REAGAN
Sportswriter

When Klondike football coach Ed Wilson tells you about his lucky silver dollar, believe him.

How lucky was Wilson's silver dollar? Well, it got his Cougars into the state six-man playoffs.

After Klondike and Grady won their season finales Friday, and Wellman lost, the three teams ended in a tie for District 5's second and final playoff spot. In such cases, district rules call for a coin flip between the three coaches.

Before Friday's games, Klondike school superintendent Mike Cope told Wilson the school had some silver dollars it would provide, but Wilson had a better idea.

He called his parents in Silver, near Robert Lee, and asked them to bring his lucky Bicentennial silver dollar up to Welch, where the coin flip would take place.

The three coaches - Wilson, Roger Smith of Grady and John Cornelius of Wellman - gathered in the Welch school superintendent's office for the fateful flip. Rules stipulated that the odd man out on the initial flip would be eliminated, and head-to-head results from the regular season for the two remaining teams would determine the playoff representative.

With little fanfare, three silver dollars were launched into the air - Wilson's lucky one and two "normal" coins.

Wilson's coin came up tails, as did Smith's. Cornelius' coin came up heads, meaning that Wellman was eliminated. Since Klondike had beaten Grady earlier in the season, the Cougars made the playoffs.

"You might think I'm nuts, but I felt sorry for the other coaches," Wilson said. "I was really jumping up and down inside, but I waited until I was outside before going, 'Yahoo.'"

"I'd just as soon we had a playoff game Saturday," Grady's Smith said. "But I don't really know that there's a better system. A coin flip is about as fair as you can get."

"They were obviously very disappointed," Wilson said of Smith and Cornelius. "But they shook my hand, wished me good luck and left. I told myself that if I'd have lost, I'd have done the same thing."

"There was really nothing else to do other than just congratulate Ed," Smith said. "What else could you say? We should be going to the playoffs and not you?"

Klondike opens the playoffs with a bi-district game against Loraine Thursday night in Big Spring.

The lucky silver dollar, no doubt, will be in Wilson's pocket.

Sands wins District 5

Sands coach Bob Keyes didn't have to comb his hair this morning. He doesn't have any.

At least not much. The Sands Mustangs (9-0-1, 5-0 in District 5) clinched a district championship and an unbeaten regular season with a 48-0 drubbing of Wellman Friday. After Sands beat Klondike earlier this season, Keyes told his players they could shave his head if they won the district title.

His players did not forget. "They were nice to me, they left me a little bit," Keyes said. "It's about a quarter-inch long."

The Mustangs stunned Wellman with a 36-point first quarter.

Jason Henderson started the Mustangs with an interception on Wellman's opening series. Henderson was the defensive star of the game with the interception, a fumble recovery and a team-leading seven tackles.

Heath Gillespie cashed Henderson's interception with a 1-yard touchdown run, then he scored two more touchdowns in a span of less than 4 minutes.

Gillespie had 81 yards on 12 carries. His fourth and final touchdown came on the second half's opening kickoff. Gillespie returned the kick 72 yards for the score that ended the game, since the 45-point rule took effect.

Sands quarterback Steven Cantu threw two touchdown passes - a 37-yarder to Delynn Reed and a 23-yarder to Clayton Fryar. Fryar also caught a 16-yard touchdown pass from Cory Maxwell.

Sands limited Wellman to one first down and outgained the Wildcats 306-57.

Klondike 42, Dawson 22
WELCH - The Klondike Cougars won a game then survived a coin flip to reach the playoffs.

Klondike (7-3, 3-2 in District 5) raced to a 24-8 lead after one quarter. The Cougars got themselves in the right mood when Cody Oaks caught a 67-yard touchdown pass from Tanner Etheredge for the game's first score.

Etheredge recovered a Dawson fumble in the end zone for another score.

Dawson fell to 6-4; 1-4.

Grady 46, Loop 0
LOOP - Tommy Hewitt rushed for 159 yards and four touchdowns in the first half and put Grady in position for a playoff berth, but the coin didn't flip Grady's way.

Grady (8-2, 3-2 in District 5) completed a fine season with a blasting of the hapless Loop Longhorns (0-10, 0-5). Hewitt rushed for touchdowns of 6, 7, 8 and 40 yards.

Tie gives Coyotes playoff selection

GAIL - Borden County used some last-second magic to tie Highland and squeak into the playoffs by the narrowest of margins.

Cody Cox scored a 13-yard touchdown with 59 seconds left to pull the Coyotes within one at 37-36, then Cox ran in the extra point to tie the game. The Coyotes (4-5-1, 3-1-1 in District 6) tied Highland (6-3-1, 3-1-1) for the district runner-up spot, but Borden had 17 first downs to Highland's 16 - a statistic that puts the Coyotes in the playoffs.

Cox had a fabulous game - 303 yards and four touchdowns on 34 carries. His touchdowns came on runs of 1, 3, 13 and 45 yards. He also kicked three extra points, and he had 15 tackles.

"Cody had a great game, but we also have to credit our line's blocking," said Borden coach Bobby Avery.

Avery said he elected to go for the tie since, at the time, Borden was leading in penetrations by one and in first downs by two. On the last play of the game, a third-and-five extra point for a 7-0 lead.

Coahoma

The Bulldogs had just three more plays before a Brandon McGuire pass was picked off by Ozona's Jesse Garza at the Lion 40.

Again, Ozona needed just eight plays to cover 60 yards, quarterback Justin Castro finding Garza all alone in the Bulldog secondary on a 25-yard scoring strike with 3:16 showing.

From that point on, however, what seemed like a well-oiled Lion machine seemed to slip a cog.

The next two Ozona possessions would end in pass interceptions by McGuire and Henry Delarosa. Sandwiched in between was a nine-play, 60-yard scoring drive mounted by the Dogs.

Getting on the scoreboard wasn't an easy matter for the Bulldogs, however.

It appeared as if Coahoma had trimmed the Lion lead when McGuire hit Edward Dunn with a screen in the left flat and the senior fullback broke a couple of tackles en route to a 48-yard touchdown.

A clipping penalty negated the play, leaving McGuire and Dunn with just eight yards to show for their efforts, but two plays later, McGuire dialed Delarosa from 19 yards out and Brad Hunt's extra-point kick trimmed the Lion lead to 13-7.

Delarosa's interception on the Lions' next possession went for naught, as Ozona's Chris Sanchez picked off McGuire on the very next play.

Two plays later, Coahoma had the ball again when Kelly Bailey fell on a Castro fumble at the Ozona 29-yard line. From there, Bailey and Dunn hammered away to the Lion 3 before wingback Eric McMillan covered the final three steps with five minutes to play in the half. Hunt's point-after kick gave the Bulldogs a 14-13 lead that would last until half-time.

The Dogs would never really threaten to score again, however, and even Ozona's 11 second-half points, while decidedly the difference, seemed somewhat overshadowed by the collection of turnovers, fumbles and other assorted miscues.

Ozona got all the scoring it would need on the second half's initial possession when Ryan Morris hit a 25-yard field goal.

A 27-yard option pass from Chris Sanchez to Garza midway through the fourth quarter gave the Lions an insurance score, and Garza's run for two points after fumbling the snap from center proved anticlimactic.

Also virtually lost in the comedy of horrific errors were strong running performances by Ozona's Anthony Sanchez and Castro, and to only a slightly lesser degree, Coahoma's Dunn and Bailey.

Anthony Sanchez finished the night as the game's leading rusher with 118 yards on 25 carries, while Castro had 84 yards on 14 totes. Dunn paced the Dogs with 91 yards on 12 carries, while Bailey had 54 on 13 carries.

Iowa State head coach Jim Walden pleads with field judge Cliff Hendrick after officials ruled Iowa State receiver Calvin Branch, right, fumbled the ball in the second quarter against Kansas State Saturday. Branch had caught a pass and Walden was claiming that the ground had caused the fumble. Kansas State was awarded the ball.

Raiders shred Froggies; stay in hunt for bowl

By The Associated Press

LUBBOCK — Byron "Bam" Morris led a second-half Texas Tech eruption, rushing for three touchdowns and a career-high 223 yards in a 49-21 victory Saturday over Texas Christian.

The Red Raiders (4-5, 3-2 Southwest Conference) kept their bowl hopes alive by winning their third straight. Victories over Southern Methodist and Houston would qualify Tech for a bowl berth.

TCU (4-5, 2-3) ended a three-game winning streak by not scoring in the second half. The Horned Frogs led 21-13 just before halftime, then allowed 36 unanswered points on five touchdowns.

The Tech offense gained 492 yards, featuring Morris throughout the game. He was the offense's main weapon in the second half, scoring from 17, 6 and 4 yards.

The Horned Frogs slipped into a hapless funk just before the half when they lost one of its four fumbles.

Jerome Lang's recovery led to a 25-second drive engineered by Tech quarterback Robert Hall. He completed 24 of 37 attempts for 233 yards, throwing TD passes of 27 and 12 yards and rushing for a 2-yard score.

Three seconds before halftime, Hall scrambled until he found Lloyd Hill standing in the left corner of the end zone for his first TD pass. Hall connected with Bruce Hill on a two-point conversion to tie the game at 21-21.

Georgia Tech 37, Baylor 27
ATLANTA — Dorsey Levens raced 75 yards on a swing pass for one touchdown and set up one of William Bell's three scores with a 49-yard run as Georgia Tech beat Baylor 37-27 Saturday.

Levens' scoring pass from Donnie Davis came on the first play of the fourth quarter and broke a 20-20 tie in a game that left both teams with 4-5 records.

Bell scored on runs of 1, 1 and 16 yards and Levens had another touchdown on a 1-yard run. Tyler Jarrett kicked a 40-yard field goal in Tech's 17-point fourth quarter.

Marcus Coleman set up Levens' short touchdown with a 17-yard interception return to the Baylor 13.

Coleman also stopped a threat in the second quarter when he intercepted a J.J. Joe pass in the end zone after the Bears had reached the Tech 9.

Baylor, hoping for a bowl bid, now must win its last two games against Rice and Texas to get the six victories required for bowl consideration. Tech can't go to a bowl because one of its victories was against Division I-AA Furman.

Pearce Pegross scored two touchdowns for the Bears — a 7-yard reverse with nine seconds left in the first quarter and on a 30-yard pass from Joe in the third.

Rice 31, Southern Meth. 24

DALLAS — Rice's Bert Emanuel ran for a touchdown and passed for two scores, including a 42-yarder to Emerson Allen with 3:43 to play that sealed a 31-24 victory over Southern Methodist.

The Owls (5-4, 2-3 Southwest Conference) still have a chance at a bowl berth, needing victories against Baylor and Houston to reach the mandatory six victories over NCAA Division I-A competition. One of Rice's victories was against Division I-AA Sam Houston.

SMU fell to 1-6-2 and 1-4-1 with the homecoming loss before 14,117 chilled fans in Ownby Stadium who braved the 45-degree temperatures and a sharp 20 mph wind blowing from the north.

Emanuel took Rice 88 yards for the winning touchdown after SMU tied the score 24-24 on a 10-yard scoring pass from Ramon Flanigan to Mick Rossley with 10:35 to play.

Emanuel ran two yards on fourth and 1 from the SMU 46. The key play came on third and 8 when Allen split the SMU secondary and caught a perfect pass from Emanuel for the touchdown.

SMU fought back to the Rice 19, but on fourth down Flanigan was caught at the line of scrimmage by Deric Rutherford and Jeff Sowell.

LSU shocks No. 5 Alabama, 17-13

By The Associated Press

If there was any doubt before, none remains: Last season's national champions will not be this season's national champions.

No. 5 Alabama, which was tied by Tennessee a month ago, had only the slimmest chances of regaining the final No. 1 ranking. But even those ended Saturday when the Crimson Tide lost at home to lowly LSU, 17-13.

The Tigers ended Alabama's 31-game unbeaten streak — the longest in the nation — by intercepting all three quarterbacks the Tide put on the field at Tuscaloosa, Ala.

"It's a game where we didn't perform on a championship level," said Alabama coach Gene Stallings, whose team has already clinched a berth in the SEC championship game.

Starter Jay Barker missed the game with an injury, so Alabama went with Brian Burgdorf. He had a pass intercepted by Anthony Marshall at the Alabama 42 on the first possession of the second half, and LSU scored six plays later.

Freshman Freddie Kitchens replaced Burgdorf on the Tide's next possession, but he also threw an interception that was followed by an LSU touchdown, making it 14-0.

After Kitchens was picked off again, wide receiver David Palmer took over at quarterback. He led the Tide to a touchdown, but was intercepted on the next series. That turnover was turned into a 36-yard field goal by Andre Lefleur, putting the Tigers ahead 17-7.

Palmer led Alabama to another score, but the 2-point conversion failed with just under three minutes remaining and the Tide never threatened again.

"This puts LSU back on track," said Ivory Hilliard, who had two of the interceptions. "This is the greatest win I've ever been associated with."

In other games; No. 1 Florida State beat Maryland 49-20; No. 4 Miami beat Pittsburgh 35-7; No. 6 Nebraska beat Kansas 21-20; No. 8 Auburn beat New Mexico State 55-14; No. 9 Florida beat Southwestern Louisiana 61-14; No. 11 West Virginia beat Rutgers 58-22; No. 19 Penn State beat No. 17 Indiana 38-31; No. 21 Virginia beat Wake Forest 21-9; Duke surprised No. 22 North Carolina State 21-20; and Boston College beat No. 25 Virginia Tech 48-34.

In late games it was No. 3 Ohio State at No. 15 Wisconsin; No. 7 Tennessee vs. No. 13 Louisville; No. 12 UCLA at Washington State; No. 14 Arizona vs. Oregon; No. 16 North Carolina vs. Clemson; No. 18 Kansas State at Iowa State; No. 20 Oklahoma at Missouri; and No. 23 Colorado at Oklahoma State.

No. 2 Notre Dame, No. 10 Texas A&M and No. 24 Wyoming were idle.

Florida St. 49, Maryland 20

At College Park, Md., the Seminoles found out that Charlie Ward isn't their only good quarterback. Danny Kanell, subbing while Ward heals from injured ribs, threw five touchdown passes in his first collegiate start. Florida State (9-0, 7-0 ACC) only led 28-20 early in the third quarter, but then scored 21 straight points. Maryland (1-8, 1-5) scored more points against FSU than any other team this season.

Miami 35, Pitt 7

At Pittsburgh, Ryan Collins threw four touchdown passes in the first half to give the Hurricanes (7-1, 5-0 Big East) their 62nd straight victory against non-ranked opponents. Pitt (2-7, 1-4) scored with 10:41 remaining, preventing Miami from its first road shutout since 1968. The Panthers have lost to three of the nation's top four teams this season.

Nebraska 21, Kansas 20

At Lawrence, Kan., the Jayhawks (4-6, 2-3 Big Eight) came within one play — a 2-point conversion — of ending Nebraska's national championship hopes. Freshman June Henley scored on a 3-yard dive with 52 seconds left and Kansas decided to go for the win. But Barron Miles tipped away Asheiki Preston's pass to allow the Cornhuskers (9-0, 5-0) to escape with the victory.

Auburn 55, N.M. State 14

At Auburn, Ala., the Tigers (9-0) scored five touchdowns in the second quarter. Stan White set an Auburn record with 16 straight completions and threw three TD passes, finishing 23-of-30 for 238 yards. Auburn out-gained New Mexico State (5-4) 579-194. The Aggies were reportedly paid $350,000 for this game.

Florida 61, SW Louisiana 14

At Gainesville, Fla., Terry Dean showed how happy he was to have his starting quarterback job back. Dean, a junior who started the first two games before being benched in favor of Danny Wuerffel, threw for 448 yards and an SEC-record six TDs for the Gators (7-1). The Ragin' Cajuns dropped to 6-3.

West Virginia 58, Rutgers 22

At Morgantown, W.Va., the Mountaineers (8-0, 4-0 Big East) stayed undefeated heading into their Nov. 20 showdown with Miami, but quarterback Jake Kelchner, the nation's passing efficiency leader, pulled a hamstring. The 58 points were the most allowed by Rutgers (4-5, 1-4) since 1952.

Penn State 38, Indiana 31

At State College, Pa., Kerry Collins hit Bobby Engram with a 45-yard TD pass with 6:25 left, virtually ending Indiana's Rose Bowl hopes. The Hoosiers (7-2, 4-2 Big Ten) moved to the Penn State 7 with 71 seconds left, but Tony Pittman intercepted John Paci's pass. The Nittany Lions improved to 6-2, 3-2.

Rice defensive back Sean Washington tackles Southern Methodist ball carrier Jacques Smith (29) during the first half of Saturday's game in Dallas. Rice defeated SMU, 31-24.

Virginia 21, Wake Forest 9

At Charlottesville, Va., Jerrod Washington ran for 119 yards and two TDs in the second half on a day when Symyon Willis, the ACC's top-rated passer, had his worst performance of the season (14-of-24, 218 yards, four interceptions). Virginia (7-2, 5-2) beat Wake Forest (2-7, 1-5) for the 10th straight time.

Duke 21, N.C. State 20

At Durham, N.C., the Blue Devils (3-7, 2-5 ACC) won a big one for departing coach Barry Wilson in his final home game. "Guys might not have outright said it, but deep down in my heart, I know that I wanted to send him out in the best way that I knew how," quarterback Spence Fischer said. The Wolfpack (6-3, 3-3) couldn't come back from a 21-0 halftime deficit.

Boston College 48, Va. Tech 34

At Boston, Glenn Foley passed for 448 yards and three touchdowns, giving him 16 TD passes and just two interceptions in his last six games, all victories for BC (6-2, 4-1 Big East). Maurice DeShazo, the nation's second-ranked quarterback, threw for just 174 yards with two interceptions.

Hawks, Lady Hawks win ugly at weekend tournaments

The Howard College basketball teams started strong this weekend. The men's team took two games at the Midland Classic, while the Lady Hawks did the same at the South Plains Tourney.

The Hawks (2-0) got 20 points each from Charles Poe and Kavossy Franklin as they defeated Ranger Junior College 86-83 Saturday evening at Midland's Chapparral Center.

The Midland Classic was not played in a tournament format. Howard's big man in the middle, Spencer Stewart, added 13 points. Tavares White scored 11 before fouling out.

Howard won despite watching Ranger make 35 of 51 free throws. Howard sank 17 of 25.

Howard led 45-38 at the half. "It was a sloppy game, that's for sure," said Howard assistant coach Tony Ryndyk. "We didn't come ready to play."

On Friday, the Hawks beat Angelina 110-97. Poe scored 37 points to lead all scorers.

Gerard Billingsley added 14 points and Franklin 12 for the Hawks. Howard led 57-44 at the half.

HOWARD (110) — Charles Poe 17 3-7 37; Gerard Billingsley 6 2-5 14; Kavossy Franklin 4 2-5 12; Spencer Stewart 2 6-6 10; Tony Brown 2 4-4 9; Tavares White 2 4-5 9; Will Jones 2 3-6 7; Joe Smith 3 0-0 6; Che Chapple 2 0-2 4; Ken Carter 1 0-0 2; totals 41 24-41 110. ANGELINA (97) — Thornton 5 3-7 13; Williams 3

"We didn't play very well, we were lucky to get out of there with a win. I think we learned that you have to be mentally prepared every game.... We weren't ready tonight, and we looked horrible."

Royce Chadwick
HC women's coach

Howard coach Royce Chadwick credited Becky Barnes for her strong on-court leadership. Barnes had four points.

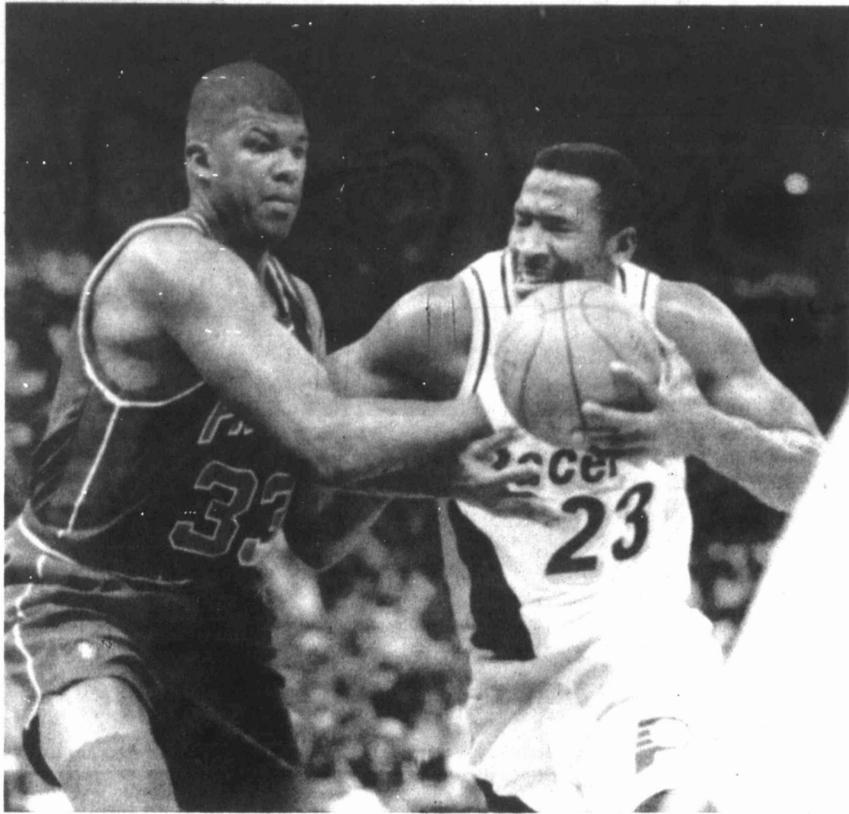

"We didn't play very well, we were lucky to get out of there with a win," Chadwick said. "I think we learned that you have to be mentally prepared every game.... We weren't ready tonight, and we looked horrible."

Howard led 33-26 at the half. Howard's women got off to a good start by downing Weatherford 82-66 in a first-round game Friday night.

The Lady Hawks raced to a 50-32 lead at the half, then cruised to the win. Five players, led by Robinson with 15 points, scored in double figures for Howard. Tara Pointer scored 15 to pace Weatherford.

WEATHERFORD (66) — Mary McCook 5 2-5 13; Christy Lake 1 1-2 3; Janett Vasquez 0 0-0 0; Rachelle Bowen 4 0-0 9; Larissa Sargent 2 0-1 4; Tara Pointer 4 7-11 15; Melissa Crawford 2 0-2 4; Traci Crawford 5 2-2 12; Chanda Shirley 2 1-1 6; totals 25 13-25 66.

Big Spring swimmers turn in strong showing

Big Spring High School's swim team improved over its performance in its season opener Oct. 30, but that wasn't enough to beat Monahans Saturday at the Horace Garrett Natatorium.

Monahans won the girls' half of the meet 84-71 and the boys' half 70-67. Despite the scores, Big Spring coach Harlan Smith said the girls' meet was just as close as the boys'.

"Basically, what it came down to was, they had more relay power than we did," Smith said. "But we had lots of improvement over last week's time, both boys and girls. The kids are responding well to our work-outs."

The following Big Spring boys won events Saturday:

Chris Bongers - 200-meter freestyle (2 minutes, 1.67 seconds), 100 freestyle (56.58). Alex Padilla - 50 freestyle (25.27), 100 butterfly (1:06.24).

Jason Ball - 500 freestyle (7:24.00). Ball, Bongers, Jason McVean and Josh Cox - 400 freestyle relay (4:17.26).

Also swimming well for the Steers was Eric Smith, who was second in the 100 breaststroke (1:11.81).

For the Lady Steers, the following girls won events:

Leann Campbell - 200 freestyle (2:31.19). Ronna Osburn - 50 freestyle (31.26), 500 freestyle (7:18.38). Shannon Korell - 100 butterfly (1:13.83), 100 backstroke (1:12.99). Brandi Kaz - 100 freestyle (1:03.10).

Big Spring's next swim action will be Nov. 13 at the Pecos Invitational.

National

Welcome to the post-Jordan world

CHICAGO (AP) — Michael Jordan sat by helplessly and watched three-time NBA champion Chicago suffer a humiliating 95-71 loss to Miami.

Jordan received the biggest ovation during the pregame presentation of the 1993 championship rings. Then he took a seat in the first row behind the west basket with his wife

Juanita and three children.

He saw the Bulls held to 25 points in the first half and only six in the second quarter, both team records.

Their previous low for a half was 28 three times, the last coming Nov. 7, 1982 against New Jersey.

Their previous low for a quarter was eight points three times, the last coming against Detroit on Feb. 9, 1988.

The Heat also set a team record by holding the Bulls to 25 points, the previous mark being 29 by the Los Angeles Clippers in 1989.

Glen Rice scored 13 of his 24 points as the Heat took a 21-13 lead. Rony Seikaly, who finished with 28 points, scored 15 in the third quarter as Miami grabbed a 69-50 lead.

Malone leads Utah to win

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Karl Malone had 32 points, 15 rebounds and eight assists, carrying Utah past

Minnesota, 105-95.

Malone also had three blocked shots and three steals, while John Stockton added 20 points and 15 assists for the Jazz, who have won 17 of 21 meetings since the Timberwolves entered the NBA in 1989.

Christian Laettner scored 22 points, but only four in the second half, for Minnesota. The Timberwolves are 0-2 this season after ending 1992-93 in a 1-12 skid.

Pistons use charity stripe to down Indy

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Joe Dumars scored 27 points and hit 10 straight free throws in the final five minutes, preserving the Detroit's victory over Indiana.

Reggie Miller, who led all scorers with 31 points, gave the winless Pacers their only fourth-quarter lead at 99-98 on a 3-pointer with 4:18 to go.

Area Fishing Report

Cold weather put a damper on fishing last weekend, but it also served to quicken results with crappie and large-mouth bass.

But it was the small-mouth variety that made news at Lake O.H. Ivey where Duke Beckhem, San Angelo, reeled in a 3-lb., 19-in. specimen to set a new lake record for this species.

Large-mouth bass fishing was rated up slightly to good or excellent. Topwater lures along the shoreline were most effective, while jigs and slabbing off points also got results. Much the same was true for small-mouth, which were mixed in with the large-mouth.

Minnows worked best for crappie, which were showing promise of more activity now that cold weather has returned. Channel catfishing was fair over baited holes.

Monahans stuns Sweetwater; Lake View bombs Ft. Stockton

Monahans, a team Big Spring defeated 28-10 this season, won at Sweetwater Friday and put itself in good position to reach the playoffs.

Should Monahans beat Lake View next week, they will have the inside track to the playoffs - provided undefeated Andrews, which was off this week, beats Sweetwater.

If all of that occurs, Monahans, Sweetwater and Big Spring would be tied for second, but Big Spring has no chance in the point-differential tiebreaker.

Sweetwater can avoid all of that by beating Andrews.

Monahans 13, Sweetwater 12

SWEETWATER - Missed extra points killed Sweetwater.

The Mustangs (6-3, 4-1) received two touchdowns from quarterback Terry Clemmer, both on 1-yard runs, but Sweetwater kicker Kyle Hale missed both extra-point kicks.

Clemmer's second touchdown ended the scoring with 6 minutes, 59 seconds left in the game.

Sweetwater missed a 39-yard field-goal attempt with 5:30 left.

Monahans' Tari Jessie gained 100 yards and 22 carries, but Sweetwater's Tyrone Amos was even better - 156 yards on 20 carries.

The game was tied 6-6 at halftime. Monahans broke the tie with 11:58 remaining on a Reagan Ratcliff 1-yard run.

Sweetwater had 255 rushing yards and 27 passing yards. Monahans had 190 rushing yards and 108 passing yards.

Lake View 33, Ft. Stockton 20

FORT STOCKTON - Lake View won for the second straight week on the strength of running backs Marcell Williams and Jay Jordan.

Williams, a senior, had 133 yards; Jordan, a sophomore, had 116.

Fort Stockton led 7-6 at halftime. Lake View's Marc Levens kicked a 42-yard field goal to put the

District 3-4A Roundup

Chiefs ahead 9-7, and Lake View never trailed again. Julian scored on a 2-yard run less than four minutes later, and Levens kicked a 24-yard field goal early in the fourth quarter.

Williams had one touchdown on a 2-yard run.

Jeffrey Hughes scored two touchdowns for Fort Stockton, and the other was scored by Benji Gonzales.

Lake View improved to 4-5, 2-3. Fort Stockton fell to 2-7, 0-5.

133-to-1 longshot wins Breeder's Cup

By The Associated Press

ARCADIA, Calif. — Party on, dudes. It was just about an all-Southern California affair Saturday at Santa Anita, until the French-based Arcangues staged the biggest Breeders' Cup upset of all time.

"I couldn't even understand the instructions in the paddock. I don't even know how to pronounce the horse's name," Arcangues' jockey, Jerry Bailey, said.

Learn it. It's Ar-Kong.

The Kentucky-bred Arcangues, who went off at odds of 133-1, rallied furiously down the stretch and won the $3 million Classic by two lengths over pacesetter Bertrando. Arcangues returned $269.20 for a winning $2 ticket.

Arcangues and the New York-based Lure, who won the Mile for the second straight year, were the only two non-California winners on the seven-race Breeders' Cup card. The last time the Breeders' Cup was at Santa Anita, in 1986, four of the seven races were won by Californians.

Bertrando took the lead, blazing out of the gate in the Classic and holding it until Arcangues blew past him in midstretch. Bertrando held on for second, ahead of Kissin Kris.

The 5-year-old Arcangues had won only one of four starts this year, all in France, but the $1,560,000 winner's share boosted his career earnings to $1,858,520 for owner Daniel Wildenstein, a Paris art dealer and historian.

Going off at 3-5, the shortest odds of the day, the once-beaten 2-year-old colt Dehere finished eighth in a field of 11 in the $1 million Juvenile, won by Brocco, the fourth California-based winner in the first five races.

Brocco now has won all three of his 2-year-old races and capped his season with a Breeders' Cup record of 1:43 for the 1 1/16 miles. The old mark was 1:43 2/5 by Gilded Time last year and Fly So Free in 1990.

Brocco, ridden by Gary Stevens, was content to run fifth going into the backstretch and began to make his move going into the final turn. Dehere, too, began to move there, got into fourth place in the final turn, then, when the field straightened for home, faded into the middle of the pack.

Brocco paid a winning mutuel of $8 and earned $520,000 of the purse for Mr. and Mrs. Albert Broccoli. He had won just $33,550 going into the race.

Dehere now has been beaten just twice in seven career races.

Lure, trained by Shug McGaughey, stopped the West Coast parade momentarily by winning the Mile on the grass. The only previous repeat champions were Miesque in the 1987-88 Miles and Bayakoa in the 1989-90 Distaffs.

Lure, ridden for the second straight year by Mike Smith, took the lead on the first turn, going five horses wide from his No. 12 post position in a field of 13, and held it the rest of the way. Ski Paradise was second, 20 lengths back, followed another 11 lengths back by Fourstars Allstar.

Lure covered the mile in 1:33 2/5 and returned $4.60 to win. A winner of three in a row and six of eight this year, Lure earned $520,000 of the $1 million purse and now has $1,815,573 lifetime earnings for owner Claiborne Farm.

Exercise rider Larry DaMore rides Thirty Sews through the paces at the Santa Anita Park track in preparation for the 10th anniversary of the Breeder's Cup, which was Saturday.

Dehere becomes Detortoise Saturday

By The Associated Press

ARCADIA, Calif. — Dehere learned West is best after the heralded 2-year-old from the East flopped in the $1 million Breeders' Cup Juvenile on Saturday.

Dehere finished out-of-the-money for the first time in seven career starts, beaten by more than 12 lengths.

Brocco won in 1:42 4/5 over 1 1/16 miles. He's 3-for-3 lifetime, with all his victories on Southern California tracks for owner Albert Broccoli, a producer of the James Bond movies.

Sent off as the 3-5 favorite, Dehere was eighth in the 11-horse field. Going into the Breeders' Cup, he had five victories in six starts and earnings of nearly $600,000.

"When a horse trains like he's been training — he's been training super — and runs like he did, there are no excuses," trainer Reynaldo Nobles said. "You learn from your mistakes, and I'll be back with him next spring stronger than ever."

Jockey Chris McCarron had Dehere fourth on the outside with the first quarter-mile run in a quick 22 3/5 seconds.

McCarron conserved Dehere on the backside before making a move on the far turn. But Dehere faded in the stretch and was passed in midstretch on the outside by Brocco.

"I let out a notch leaving the half-mile pole and he kind of shot past Ramblin Guy and I thought we were in great shape," McCarron said. "Then when we got to the middle of the turn I kind of gave him a tap on the shoulder and I didn't get any more response."

Dehere fared about as well in his West Coast debut as namesake Terry Dehere.

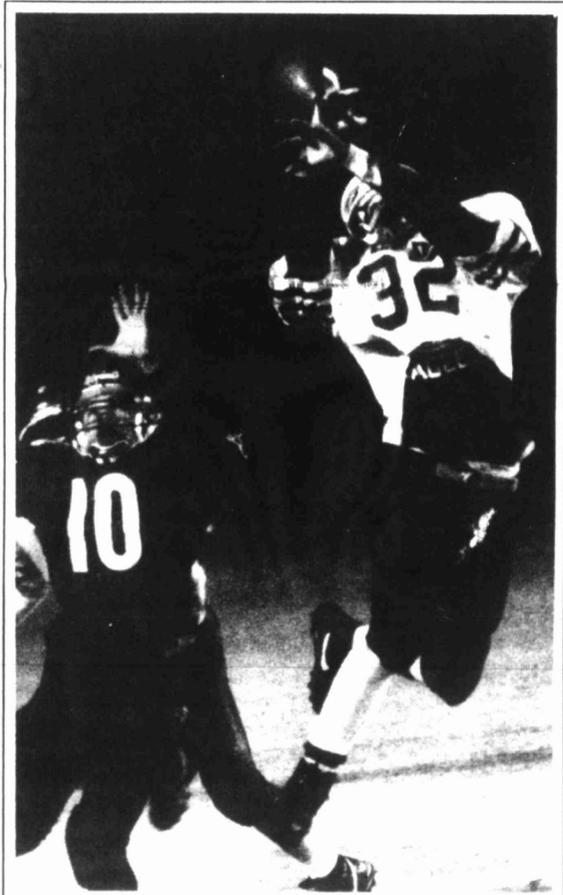

The human Dehere played 11 minutes and scored 8 points for the Clippers in his NBA debut Friday night, 20 miles away at the Sports Arena in downtown Los Angeles.

He watched the race on TV before catching a flight to Denver for a Sunday game.

Much was expected of the strapping bay colt with the impressive bloodlines. His grandfather is Triple Crown winner Secretariat, and a victory at Santa Anita would have clinched for Dehere honors as 2-year-old horse of the year.

"It's a puzzle to me," McCarron said. "I don't know why he ran so poorly, but he's still the best colt in the country, by far. One race doesn't win or lose an Eclipse Award and he still should get it."

Couples hold two-stroke lead after three rounds at Kapalua

By The Associated Press

KAPALUA, Hawaii — Fred Couples, improving his score each day, shot a 6-under-par 67 Saturday to take a two-stroke lead after three rounds of the Kapalua International.

Couples, who opened with rounds of 69 and 68, stands at 13-under 204. Second-round leader Mike Hulbert, who shot a third-round 71, was three shots in front of David Peoples, who had a 69.

Couples started the day at the par-73 Plantation Course two shots off the lead, but after birdies on four of the first nine holes was tied with Hulbert. Couples moved ahead by one stroke with four holes to play when Hulbert bogeyed, then opened up the two-shot advantage by dropping a 50-foot birdie putt on the next to last hole.

Peter Jacobsen's 67 put him four shots back at 208. Hulbert, Peoples and Jacobsen are all former Kapalua champions.

"I got off to a good start and played well today," said Couples, a two-time PGA player of the year. "I'll have to go out tomorrow and shoot another score in the 60s I'm sure. You might have about eight guys who have a shot at winning, but it doesn't matter if it's eight or 80, you still have to go out and play well."

Couples, 34, played only 19 tournaments on the PGA Tour this year, but still finished 10th on the money list with $796,579 in earnings. It was the fourth straight year he had been in the top 10. He attributed his abbreviated playing schedule to personal trials, primarily a difficult divorce.

"This year I wanted to play more, but I needed to get the divorce out of the way," Couples said. "There were tournaments where I wanted to come, but I couldn't. I didn't want to delay this divorce one more day. Overall, I think I played very, very well. Next year I'll play more and I'm looking forward to it."

Couples has played his last 39 holes without a bogey.

Hulbert, a Kapalua winner in 1991 and runner-up last year, eagled the 555-yard, par-5 15th hole to highlight his 2-under 71. He used a sand wedge from 45 yards.

Peoples shared the lead for much of the day until a four-putt double bogey with three holes to play dropped him back.

The Kapalua International, sponsored by Lincoln-Mercury, is not an official stop on the PGA Tour, but it is sanctioned by the PGA. Money won is not recognized on the official money list. The winner pocketed $180,000.

Former Dallas Cowboys head coach Tom Landry talks at his Dallas office Wednesday. Landry will be inducted into the Dallas Cowboys Ring of Honor at halftime Sunday. "My last hurrah," said Landry, who was fired in February 1988 when the team was sold to Jerry Jones.

Cowboys gunning for first; Ring of Honor adds Landry

By The Associated Press

IRVING — Both drama and nostalgia will be key players at Texas Stadium on Sunday.

The New York Giants meet the Super Bowl champion Dallas Cowboys in the game of the year — so far — in the NFC East. If division leadership being at stake through the midway point of the season wasn't enough, the halftime show will feature Tom Landry's induction into the Cowboys Ring of Honor.

"It's going to be kind of wild," Dallas coach Jimmy Johnson said. "These are the fun games."

Both the Giants and Cowboys own 5-2 records. They meet again Jan. 2 in the final game of the regular season.

"It's a great matchup," Johnson said. "Their strength is our weakness. They'll come at us with their power running game."

The Giants have the best ground game in the NFL and the Cowboys own the 15th-ranked defense stopping the run.

However, the Cowboys also have the No. 1 offense in the league, led by Troy Aikman, who is tagged by Giants coach Dan Reeves "as the most accurate passer I've seen."

Dallas is 5-0 since owner Jerry Jones capitulated in his contract dealings with Emmitt Smith, who displayed his value once again in a 23-10 victory over Philadelphia with a club-record 237 yards rushing.

"You hold your breath every time Emmitt touches the ball," Reeves said. "He's elusive and he can break tackles. He doesn't have great speed, but boy is he dangerous."

"Right now, he's the best player in the game," Giants cornerback Mark Collins added. "He has fresh legs because of the holdout."

A key Giant doesn't have fresh legs. New York could be without linebacker Lawrence Taylor, who was listed as doubtful because of hamstring problems.

Although the Cowboys were 10-point favorites, Johnson is wary of what the Giants can do to the soft underbelly of the Dallas defense, which became even softer because of an arm injury to middle linebacker Ken Norton.

Also, the Giants may get Rodney Hampton back. He's been out since arthroscopic knee surgery on Oct. 7. Lewis Tillman has been averaging 5.3 yards per carry in Hampton's absence.

"It would help us if Rodney can play, because he's a big back who can push the pile," Reeves said. "Tillman has been doing a tremendous job."

Johnson has scoffed at the Cowboys being big favorites.

"Everyone seems to be thinking about the Giants of a year or two years ago," Johnson said. "You can't compare 'em. The Giants are a very balanced team now and all the credit goes to Dan Reeves. He's doing things differently than he did at Denver. He's taken the personnel he has and put in a power running game."

The Giants remember last season, when Dallas hung a 30-3 rout on them on Thanksgiving Day.

"They tried to rub it in our faces," guard Bob Kratch said. "Some players are going to remember that and use that."

Reeves wasn't coaching the Giants then. Ray Handley was, and Handley never faced as important a game.

Death visits Cleveland Indians again

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND — For the Cleveland Indians, the mourning resumes.

The American League team's star-crossed year took another tragic turn when a truck driven by left-handed pitcher Cliff Young crashed into a tree Thursday night near his hometown of Willis, Texas, killing him instantly.

Young is the third Cleveland pitcher to die in an accident this year. Steve Olin and Tim Crews died and Bob Ojeda was injured in a March 22 boating accident in central Florida on the team's only day off of spring training.

"I had that same heart-wrenching feeling of sorrow and helplessness," general manager John Hart said Friday. "We are looking forward to calendar year 1993 going away. You just shake your head and you wonder, why is this happening?"

Young, 29, was on his way to pick up a relative from a dance class about 9:30 p.m. when his four-wheel-drive truck veered off a winding road, hit a tree and flipped over. The accident occurred between the towns of Willis and Conroe, about an hour north of Houston.

According to Texas Department of Public Safety reports, Young — who was not wearing a seat belt — was thrown halfway through the sunroof and was dead at the scene. A passenger, 26-year-old John Wilkerson, was wearing a seat belt and received only minor cuts and abrasions.

Montgomery County Peace Justice Edie Connelly ordered a blood test to determine whether alcohol was involved.

Texas Department of Public Safety Trooper John Fain said

YOUNG

Wilkerson told authorities that Young was trying to light a cigarette when the accident occurred.

"The passenger stated that Cliff Young was reaching over to light a cigarette and he probably took his eyes off the road about the time it veered off," Fain said. "That's all I really have to go by."

Hart learned of the accident Friday morning from Young's agent. Hart and manager Mike Hargrove both spoke with Young's wife, Tamara, by telephone.

"Certainly it's a very difficult time for her," Hart said. "I let her know our support is there and will be as we go along."

Young appeared in 21 games for the Indians in 1993, seven as a starter. He was 3-3 with one save and a 4.62 ERA before undergoing season-ending surgery Aug. 13 to have bone chips removed from his left elbow.

He became a free agent at the end of the season, but the Indians were negotiating to retain him. He spent most of the previous 10 years in the minors with the Montreal

Smith's Automatic, Transmission A Guaranteed Winner

Owner Billy Smith gives free estimates and guaranteed service on cars, pickups, 4 wheel drives and RV's.

The need for transmission service is a fact of life. That's not the reason you should see Billy Smith at Smith's Automatic Transmission. More important is the fact that Billy and his crew guarantee the work they do. "We can do that because we know the job will be done right."

"Our estimates are free and without obligation," says Billy. "You won't find any surprises when you get your bill. Our estimates are guaranteed."

Smith's Automatic Transmission has been serving the people of Big Spring for over 25 years. The reason is simple. Owner Billy Smith explains, "When we get a new customer, we want to keep them. We count on repeat business. That's why we stand by our estimates and guarantee the work. If the customer knows he has a solid estimate and that the work will hold up, he can figure that into his budget comfortably without worry."

Transmission service is a year around consideration, not just something you think about when you're getting ready to take a trip. Owners who regularly drive great distances, drive in the mountains or pull heavy loads, have added reasons for having their transmissions checked regularly.

"This is the work we do best, day in and day out. That's why our transmission service is the best available."

For a free inspection or more information call or stop by Smith's Automatic Transmission at 2900 FM 700, 267-3955. Billy Smith and his crew will be ready to help you.

PERFORMER

by design

If, during Saturday's Big Spring Symphony concert, you see Frances Wheat gripping the armrests of her chair, it's not that she doesn't like the music.

It's that her son, pianist Larry Wheat, is playing.

Not that Mrs. Wheat doubts her son's abilities. Big Spring native Lawrence Reagan Wheat has performed in many capacities in cities all over the United States and Europe.

He studied at Texas Christian University in Fort Worth, under the tutelage of Madame Lili Kraus and Dr. Donna O'Steen Edwards. While in school, he gave numerous recitals, and Mrs. Wheat attended all of them.

But she always had that same nervous feeling.

"It's the mother thing," said Mrs. Wheat, who, with husband Walter, has owned Wheat Furniture for more than 20 years.

Their son will perform Rachmaninoff's Concerto for Piano and Orchestra No. 3, during the second half of the concert.

Wheat, 31, began studying piano at age 6, in the studio of Ann Gibson Houser - a prominent local teacher. Right away, he must have shown himself to be a promising pupil.

"I got to move into her studio earlier than some others," Wheat said. "Everyone started with a student teacher. As time went on, I got into some competitions and I did well there."

"He might have been about average at first," Mrs. Wheat said. "But he always loved it. He practiced many, many hours."

Wheat said music was not a priority until late in high school. He studied with intensity in college and began performing in places such as Nuremberg, Germany, and Florence, Italy, and made U.S. appearances.

But Wheat would not make music his career.

"In the performing arts, there's an element of living on the edge," he explained. "It's terrifying and exhilarating at the same time. I was seeking some stability."

So the pianist got his master's degree in architecture from the University of Texas at Austin. Since 1984, Wheat's work in that field has been marked by awards, published projects and other honors. He is focusing on hospitality design in his current work for Daiker-Howard of New York and Dallas.

For his mother, Wheat's stand-out work in architecture is just further proof of his immense creative talent.

"He always drew, from the time he was small," she said. "He was always creative and artistic."

His decision to leave music was a complicated one, Wheat explained. A life of performing was too uncertain.

"I think for the sort of music I wanted to pursue, there was a very limited audience," he said. His favorite, the "avant garde, 20th century music," was not generally as popular with audiences.

LAWRENCE "LARRY" REAGAN WHEAT

Big Spring Symphony's season opener will feature Larry Wheat, Big Spring native and concert pianist Nov. 13 at 8 p.m. in the Municipal Auditorium. Wheat will perform "Concerto for Piano and Orchestra No. 3" by Rachmaninoff. Also on the program are "Fanfare for the Common Man" by Copeland, "Overture to the Barber of Seville" by Rossini and "Romeo and Juliet, Overture - Fantasy" by Tchaikovsky. Jan. 29, the Big Spring Symphony will perform with a guest soloist. March 28, the symphony association will present the Fort Worth Chamber Orchestra. May 7, the symphony will be joined by Jody Nix and the Texas Cowboys. Season tickets are available now at $35 for adults, $25 for students and senior citizens. Single performance tickets are $10 for adults, $7.50 for students and seniors. Children 6 and up are $5. Younger children are free. Tickets are available at the door for all performances.

But teaching was not part of the plan, either.

"I think I'm short on patience," Wheat said.

As for joining the family furniture sales business, begun by Wheat's grandfather nearly 50 years ago - that was out of the question.

"On the day I left for college, my father gave me some advice," Wheat recalled. "He said never go into retail."

But music will always be part of his life, and if the right opportunity comes along, the architect still enjoys being the pianist.

His upcoming performance is special, Wheat said, because Big Spring was where his talent had its early nurturing.

"For such a small town, there was a lot of cultural activity when I was growing up," he said. "I think it was largely because of the numbers of people who came to Webb Air Force Base."

But Wheat also credits the public school commitment to cultural events. A concert series active in the local community at that time brought big-name performers to Big Spring - in jazz, orchestra and dance.

"That gave us a lot of exposure," Wheat said. "Big Spring was a strange kind of Crossroads for many different things."

Mrs. Wheat said her son honed his love for performing at another activity, the Big Spring High School Campus Review variety shows.

"The band director at the time put these on for the kids," she said. "There must have been 10 of these, and they were a great experience."

Wheat, who played trombone in the band, took part in many acts during those shows, his mother recalled.

Another element was that, among Wheat's group of friends, the arts were important. And in his family, there was a drive to succeed.

"My parents had demanded of us to do our best," Mrs. Wheat explained, "and I never thought anything of demanding the same of mine."

Wheat's sister, now Elise Kail, was the family athlete, although she took piano lessons as well. She now coaches basketball in Midland.

The entire family is expected to attend Wheat's performance. His father, Walter - battling cancer - will be joined in the audience by the pianist's namesake, Walter's college roommate.

"This is a wonderful thing for the symphony to do," Mrs. Wheat said. "It's good for the performer and the hometown."

Those who plan to attend the Big Spring Symphony performance with Larry Wheat Saturday can join the pianist for a reception at the Greenhouse Restaurant from 6-7:30 p.m.

Peace, quiet and no cooking

My friend Pam wanted me to go camping with her overnight. She told me I'd love it. The campgrounds would be almost deserted this time of the year, so we'd practically have the place to ourselves.

I told her her potassium must be low. No way was this summer girl about to go camping in October.

She told me there would be no little kids anywhere near the place. I told her that was good but not good enough. She told me her camper had hot water, a stove, fridge, bathroom, heat and color TV, but no phone.

It was the combination of no kids and no phone that brought me around to her way of thinking.

When we built the campfire it was a balmy 47 degrees. Before the night was over it would dip down to 33. I told myself I must be nuts. We placed our chairs close to the fire, toasting our toes near the flames. Pam was right, most of the neighboring campsites were empty.

I drank in the solitude, listening in particular to the sounds I didn't hear. I didn't hear, "Mommy, make him get off me." "Mommy, tell her to get out of my room." "Mommy, the toilet won't flush." "Mommy, the cat threw up."

Nor did I hear a male voice ask, "Do we have any penicillin?" "My sinuses are clogged, where's the Vick's?" "Feel my head, do I feel hot to you?" Several times I thought I heard a phone ringing, but it was only in my mind. It would take a month in the wilderness to shake loose of that sound.

I stared into the fire and let the flames work their magic. For the first time in a very long time, I began to feel comfortable in my own skin.

It was so mercifully peaceful. Then, out of the blue, came the unmistakable scent of testosterone. Man had entered the camp! The two men were friends of Pam's family. Dressed in jungle camouflage they hunkered in front of our fire.

Ignoring me, they questioned Pam, "Where's your old man tonight? Why didn't he come along? You mean you're out here by yourself?" (I, apparently did not qualify as a bona fide person.)

Christina Ferchalk

Pam told them her husband was home with the kids ... where he belonged, knowing full well how much that statement would be appreciated.

The men had been in the woods since the crack of dawn, in search of the almighty buck (the antlered variety). The hunting stories commenced. Naturally Pam and I were enthralled. When women are so fed up to the teeth with home and hearth that they prefer to sit in the woods, what they appreciate more than anything is listening to men swap hunting stories.

The men dropped subtle hints. They hadn't eaten all day, now they were too tired to cook for themselves. Pam said, ever so sweetly, "Sorry fellas, I didn't bring any food, none at all." Their little faces crumpled. The testosterone disappeared into the night ... leaving skid marks.

Now it was truly girls night out. Pam produced a Janis Joplin tape. While Janis sang the blues, Pam and I talked the way women talk only when they are certain they are alone. Some men believe they have a fairly accurate picture of such private female conversations. They don't have a clue, and the truth is, they're better off not knowing.

We played the Joplin tape 17 times in a row. I thought of how pleased Pam's husband would be to know his car's ignition was turned to auxiliary the whole time.

It was early in the morning before we went inside the camper, and to bed. The toes of my sneakers were curled from the heat of the fire. It would take three days for my fanny to thaw.

But it was worth it!

Nighthawk Jazz Band busy performing

By DEBBIE LINCECUM
Features Editor

Howard College's Nighthawk Jazz Ensemble recently returned from an appearance at the State Fair of Texas and is gearing up for local performance this week.

Under the direction of Adolph Labbe, the 16-member group played for fairgoers in the Food and Fiber Pavilion, sponsored by the Texas Department of Agriculture. The Nighthawks gave two shows on the closing weekend of the fair.

"It was a quick trip," explained Labbe. "We had to make it back in time for Monday morning classes."

Now the group is preparing for a Nov. 11 performance at the Big Spring VA Medical Center, as part of the observance of Veteran's Day.

Their renditions of popular 1930s-40s music by Glen Miller, Count Basie and Duke Ellington should begin about 10:40 a.m.

"This music has been recognized as being real 'American music,'" Labbe said. "It goes back to the '30s and '40s. It's recognized all over the world."

Such hits as "In the Mood," "Tuxedo Junction" and "Little Brown Jug" will be paired with patriotic selections for the Veteran's Day performance, Labbe said.

Cajuns have strange words for good food

Cajuns enjoy life. They like dancing, singing, crawfish races, storytelling and fishing. They love to eat gumbo and listen to accordion music. Their favorite saying is "Let the good times roll" (laissez les bons temps rouler).

Lafayette, Louisiana, center of Cajun culture, has restaurants with names like Prejeans (pray-jahns), Enola Prudhomme, Mulattes and Poet's.

Although Cajuns live in the South, they originated in the North. The word Cajuns is short for Acadians, who were originally French-speaking farmers in what is now Nova Scotia (once called Acadia). They were driven from their homes nearly 250 years ago for refusing to swear allegiance to the British crown.

They searched for a permanent home until the King of Spain invited them to live in what is now Southern Louisiana. While looking for a place to settle, the Cajuns mixed with Creoles (offspring of Africans, Europeans and West Indians) and Native Americans.

Tumbleweed Smith

The immigrants settled along the bayous and learned to make a life for themselves, enjoying hard work, good times, a proud heritage and a way of life preserved with a French accent.

Cajuns represent a segment of American culture that never quite dissolved into the great melting pot. You hear Cajun music and Cajun French on the radio in Lafayette.

Cajuns eat all kinds of seafood: shrimp, oysters, catfish, speckled trout, crawfish, crab, froglegs, flounder, snapper, turtle and alligator. Jambalaya (a rice and meat dish), gumbo (without okra), etouffee (a-tou-fay, a sauce to cover rice) and boudin (a sausage pronounced boo-dan) are popular Cajun treats. So are red beans and rice. And they make all kinds of sweets from sugar cane. A type of corn bread is called kush-kush.

Like their music, language, architecture and the Cajuns themselves, Cajun cooking is a hybrid of French, Acadian, Spanish, German, Anglo-American, Afro-Caribbean and Native American influences.

It has been said that Cajuns don't eat to live, they live to eat. To the Cajuns, food and its preparation are more important than just nourishment.

Roux (roo) is an equal mixture of oil and flour that is browned and used as a thickening base for many of the South Louisiana dishes such as stews and gumbos.

File (fee-lay) is dried sassafras leaves and is used as a spice for various dishes.

Early Cajuns ate all types of wildlife, on hoof or wing. Some of today's Cajun menus contain items with a history: Turkey Mornay, Deviled Chicken Breasts, Breast of Wild Duck, Verna's Quail on Toast and Venison Roast Chateau.

The Cajuns discovered some new vegetables when they got to Southern Louisiana. They did not know the eggplant until then and had no name for it. They borrowed the Spanish word berengena, which eventually became breme. To this day, the standard French word for eggplant, aubergine, is unknown in South Louisiana.

Crawfish is the most symbolic of Cajun food. It used to be called "mudbug" until the mid fifties when commercial production of crawfish started and it became a popular dish. Eighty-five percent of crawfish harvested in Louisiana is retained for local consumption and some Cajuns wonder how the other fifteen percent is getting away.

The Cajuns are an interesting bunch. Like the Aggies, they are the object of jokes, most of which they make up themselves.

Bob Lewis of Big Spring is also known as Tumbleweed Smith.

Elvis: King of rock 'n' read?

By The Associated Press

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — Elvis Presley not only swiveled his hips. He enjoyed curling up with a good book.

That's why the American Library Association has chosen him for a poster encouraging people to read.

The late king of rock 'n' roll is shown on the poster reading a script of the 1961 movie "Wild in the Country." Above his head is the word "READ."

The association will send out catalogs offering the poster to about 280,000 schools, government offices, military bases and other library sites.

Big Spring home to Hurd's plaster pioneers

The mandates of the Works Progress Administration said that WPA projects be useful to the public, completable in one year; most of their expense was to go for labor, not materials; and they must not compete with private employment.

Begun in 1935 as part of the Federal Government's Depression recovery efforts, the WPA also had a Fine Arts section for the employment of artists to "decorate government buildings." One such artist who was approved for a U.S. Post Office mural was Peter Hurd, and the post office in which he was to paint that mural was here in Big Spring.

Mural competitions were announced quarterly in the year. Art judges chose from sketches submitted by "known and unknown" artists. The January 27, 1941, edition of Life Magazine reported that, as of that time, 1,125 murals had been commissioned by the government.

However, in a letter to his wife, Peter Hurd indicated his standing in the art community when he wrote that the job painting a post office mural in Big Spring was his, "subject to their approval of (his) designs." For a panel 23 feet long by 6 feet high he would be paid $1,300.

"There isn't a great deal of pay in it but plenty to make it worthwhile and besides the way I feel these days I almost will paint decorations gratis given interesting wall spaces and free rein in subject matter dealing with this land!"

On the Big Spring side, the townsfolk were elated. The Big Spring Daily Herald announced that the "city is destined for the upper strata of culture or something ... As we understand it, murals are quite the rage now ... When the plaster painting is finished, local residents can justly 'look down' on muraless towns in this section."

Peter Hurd came to Big Spring and met with Postmaster Nat Shick whom he described as a "zealot of the first order," but the post office building earned his praise as "simple and attractive in design." Together he and Shick worked on ideas for the drawing Hurd would submit to the government. "We are allied in the cause of getting an epic decoration installed," wrote Hurd from Big Spring.

The two men differed in their ideas about how the mural should be designed. The artist had a strong connection with the pioneering spirit of the area - such as would be seen in detail in the wet fresco painted by him in the museum rotunda at Texas Tech University. The Big Spring Postmaster fervently supported another idea of detailing a history of the U.S. mail service with Western motifs.

This pioneer design won out over a bid for publicity for the Post Office in the mural painted by Peter Hurd. The building is now used by the Howard County Library, which plans to move within a few years.

Peter Hurd wrote that the postmaster provided a diorama of his idea with "stones and twigs ... a toy airplane, stagecoach and Pony Express rider ... Hanging by a henpen string like clothes on a line are big signs saying Shop Now Mail For Christmas (and) The Eighty Years Progress Of Postal Service U.S. Post Office Big Spring, Texas."

In June of 1938 Peter Hurd began working on the cartoon (full size drawing) of the Big Spring Mural. The approved design was a theme favored by Hurd. It featured a pioneer family standing in front of their half-dug-out home, a team of oxen hitched to a plow, a water well, chickens, sapling and even a Conestoga wagon tucked behind the home, empty and uncovered.

Joe Pickle, in the Big Spring Daily Herald, represented the feeling of the town. "Side tracking of the stagecoach and pony express idea for post office mural in favor of a pioneer family about the task of breaking the sod might be disappointing to some at first thought. All things considered the second theme offers opportunity for something unique and fine."

The mural area on the east side of the building facing the entrance was prepared by removing the plaster, placing galvanized lath in the area, and then replastering. Hurd used the wet fresco method which required that the painting be done "in feverish haste and with terrific concentraeach brush stroke being applied to each part of the mural's story. Hurd was surprised by the citizens' enthusiasm and disconcerted by their uninhibited discussion of his work beneath his feet. He felt himself "lucky in hitting on a theme and approach which they really understand and which insofar as possible is really stirring them."

Over thirty years later, Nat Shick recalled the story, but not the name of a model used by Hurd. "Hurd was painting one afternoon when a little girl walked into the lobby and stopped to watch. He saw her out of the corner of his eye and yelled to me to stop her until he could get down off the scaffolding."

"We persuaded the child to pose for Hurd. He made sketches of her face, hair, and hands. Later he painted her into the scene of the mural."

On July 25, 1938, the local newspaper heralded the completion of the mural - only lacking the demolition of the scaffolding. Hurd had finished by painting the compilation of two lines of poetry by Walt Whitman. The words described the subject of his artwork, "O Pioneers, Democracy Rests Finally Upon Us, and Our Visions Sweep Through Eternity."

Peter Hurd went on to paint murals in Dallas and Lubbock. He developed a reputation as a highly regarded regionalist artist and an important part of the Wyeth dynasty. Angie Way is curator of the Heritage Museum.

Stay committed

Graham, wife are example of marriage

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I heard you and your wife celebrated your 50th wedding anniversary recently. Is that true? What is the secret of your long marriage, and did you ever think about divorce when things got difficult (as I am sure they did)? — Mrs. E.J.

Billy Graham

DEAR MRS. E.J.: Yes, we did celebrate our 50th anniversary not so long ago, and we both thank God for His faithfulness and goodness in giving us each other across the years. There's no greater joy than a marriage in which both partners know that God has brought them together. Yes, like any other couple we've had times that were difficult. But, no — it has never even crossed my mind to get divorced. For one thing, from the beginning both Ruth and I were convinced God had brought us together, and (as Jesus said) "what God has joined together, let man not separate" (Matthew 19:6). We took a vow before God to be faithful to each other as long as we lived, and that commitment has never slackened. True love is not just a feeling; it is a commitment. We also have sought to build our lives and our marriage on Christ. I've often said that a good marriage should involve three people: the husband, the wife, and God. When we leave Him and His will out of our lives, we easily become selfish and seek our own way rather than sacrificing and helping each other — and selfishness will destroy a marriage. But Christ can make the difference. That's why we have always found it important to pray together and read God's Word, the Bible, together every day.

Is Christ the foundation of your life and your marriage (if you're married)? Many things in our society work against marriage, but with Christ in your hearts your marriage can become the source of joy and happiness God intended it to be.

What is happening is nothing less than a dramatic change in society, says pollster Al Tuchfarber, director

Coahoma Ribbon Week

Red Ribbon Week was recognized in a variety of ways at Coahoma High School, largely through the efforts of the FHA second period mini-chapter, which organized the activities of the week.

Tuesday the class dressed in black and white to symbolize that they were killed by a drinking related accident. They were not to talk all day to stress the realization of it.

Wednesday the mini-chapter organized an assembly for the high school. The guest speaker was Pat Crowell, assistant professor from Howard College. She spoke on the causes of teenage drinking and the different effects. Following the speaker the speech and drama class performed a skit portraying the effects of drinking and driving.

Thursday, the mini chapter gathered statistics on the amount of teens killed by drinking and driving. To show the statistics to the student body, names of all the students in high school were put together in a box and one name was randomly drawn every 30 minutes to show who was killed. Announcements were made each time telling who was "killed" and how.

Friday, videos were shown to all Home Economics students as well as some other classes about drinking and driving.

Coat drive continues

Big Spring Woman's Club is continuing its winter coat drive through Dec. 18. Local residents are encouraged to donate coats for the needy in the community at drop-off boxes in three locations: Harris Lumber and Hardware, Don's IGA at College Park, and Coldwell Banker Sun Country Realtors.

WW II symposium

MIDLAND - Set amid World War II aircraft and artifacts, the international symposium "A Sleeping Giant Awakens," hosted by Midland College and the American Airpower Heritage Museum Nov. 11-13 at Confederate Air Force Headquarters in Midland, will offer a wide variety of World War II topics to satisfy a full palette of interests.

With a slate of over 30 World War II scholars and veterans giving presentations, the symposium will feature luncheon addresses by Senator Barry Goldwater on Nov. 12 and World War II leading, living flying ace Francis "Gabby" Gabreski on Nov. 13. Record-holding test pilot and aeronautical engineer Scott Crossfield will also present a dinner address on Nov. 13.

Concurrent sessions featuring a wide range of speakers will be held Nov. 12 and Nov. 13. Speakers include Tim Wooldridge, author, lecturer and fellow, National Air and Space Museum; Werner Seitz, former Luftwaffe pilot and sole survivor of Germany's top-secret Mistel program; and Jeremy Howard-Williams, World War II RAF night fighter pilot, radar test pilot and Distinguished Flying Cross recipient.

Early registration is encouraged as seating is first come first serve basis. To receive a registration form call Midland College at (915) 685-4518. For more information contact Barbi Woods or Terese Buckley at (915) 563-1000.

Women veterans

The Seventh Annual Women Veterans Day will be held at the Big Spring VA Medical Center on Tuesday, November 16, 1993, from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., according to Conrad Alexander, Medical Center Director. This observance is intended to focus attention on the significant contribution of women in the Armed Forces. Because of their traditional roles as non-combatants, the heroism of military women in war has been overlooked, but they, too, have paid the price for freedom.

This year's Women Veterans Day is designed to inform the women veteran of her rights as a veteran and to provide an array of health screening examinations, such as blood sugar and cholesterol levels, pelvic exam and Pap smear, general physical examination, mammography, and other examinations.

The day will begin with registration in the front lobby of the medical center, with speakers starting at 9 a.m., in Room 212. An explanation of benefits available to women veterans will be presented. Ms. Florene Watson of Borger, Texas, will be the featured speaker. Ms. Watson was one of the first 12 pilots in the original group of 25 to qualify for the Womens Air Force Service Pilots and the first WASP Commander at Dallas Love Field.

Women veterans who have not received an invitation and are interested in registering, or those wishing more information may write Phyllis J. Fults (118), VA Medical Center, Big Spring, Texas 79720, or call (915) 264-4830.

Hyperions tour historic Scarborough Medallion Home

By GLENDA CUMMINGS
Staff Writer

Scarboroughs ranched in Dawson and Andrews counties, but moved to Midland for the education of their six children.

Once a year, the "1953" Hyperion has an "out-of-town" meeting. Some of these meetings have included tours of the Confederate Air Force and the Ranching Heritage Museum in Lubbock. This year's event was a tour of the W.F. and Kara Scarborough Medallion Home in Midland.

This house received the Texas Historic Society medallion as a historic landmark in 1965. The medallion is awarded to a building or home that is at least 50 years old and has been lived in and maintained continuously by the same family. The house is described on the state seal as being "ranch style architecture characteristic of West Texas cattlemen."

The house was built on South Main Street in Midland in 1908. The

The Fryng Pan ranch consisted of 285 sections and was one of the largest individually owned and operated ranches of the state. That house is the second oldest home in Midland and is the oldest still maintained as a private residence. The original home contained eight rooms and a hall, and cost the owners $4,000. Today, the property covers a complete and uncut city block and many of the pieces are Kara Scarborough's original furnishings.

The house has 65 lamps of varying styles and sizes, and many of the unique ceiling light fixtures have been converted from gas-burning to electric.

It is maintained by Evelyn Scarborough Lineberry and the Lineberry Foundation.

Help your children enjoy life with humor

By PATT FRANK
Thomson News Service

With a glint in his blue eyes, the 16-month-old boy clutches the piece of bread in his fist — then tosses it. The bread hit the floor, jam side down, prompting a hoot of delight from the boy.

A parent's attitude in such situations colors how he will react, said James Van Horn, Penn State professor of family sociology.

If the child's behavior is taken personally with the child being perceived as "an obnoxious, devious conspirator, who should know better," the parent is more likely to respond angrily.

"Or the parent can see what a great developmental step he's taken. That the child can use thumb and forefinger to pick up food is a very important milestone in development and the parent should be able to see the lighter part of that," Van Horn of State College, Pa., said.

"That's obviously the better way to go, not to create a big international scene over food. It's not the bomb dropping over some country. Parents need to realize this and see the importance of the moment."

But many parents have difficulty seeing the humorous side of parenting, said Joel Goodman, director of The HUMOR Project, Inc. The HUMOR Project of Saratoga Springs, N.Y., is an organization that focuses on humor and creativity in everyday life and work situations.

"I think the challenges of parenting are increased these days," Goodman said. "The ambiguity of the world can't make it any easier. Parents are more under the gun and with the barrage of self-help books, parents are more overwhelmed with information and possibilities on what they should or shouldn't do. It's a time of increased stress for parents and along the way they have lost their sense of humor."

But more parents are trying to recapture their lost sense of fun, judging from the 50,000 letters The HUMOR Project received from parents across the globe last year.

Awareness of humor loss is the first step to recovery, he said. The second is to realize the benefits humor brings to one's life. A sense of humor can help parents cope better with the stress in their lives. A parent with a sense of humor can then pass along this coping skill to his children.

"Having a sense of humor isn't being childish, but being child like," Goodman said.

Some parents find it difficult to be humorous, said Carol Fenton, a registered nurse who teaches maternity and pediatrics courses at the Altoona, Pa., Hospital School of Nursing.

"For some people humor is not a predominate mode. Some people are said, 'I didn't realize a hurricane

Tips to keep you and your kids from taking life too seriously

Thomson News Service

Carol Fenton of Altoona, Pa., refers to her house as one of the neighborhood "Kool-Aid stands" because it's often filled with children and their laughter.

One weekend, Mrs. Fenton decided to set up a "fun house" for the very stoic in our culture," she said. Parents need to be able to laugh at things that happen, Van Horn said.

"For instance, I walked in and found the newspaper strewn all over the table. Instead of saying, 'Why can't anyone fold the newspaper?' I children to "relieve the frustration of being trapped."

Fenton used humor to combat a potentially stressful situation, (a handful of kids) by becoming an active participant in creating humor.

Upon entering the fun house, players had to "purchase" tickets for everything from food to using the bathroom and playing the Atari came through. I'm glad it didn't do more damage.' And they get the message."

"You can teach children with humor," Fenton said, but some parents have to learn how.

games. Hand stamps and fake checks made the fun house more realistic and kept the kids busy.

—Create a humor bulletin board. The refrigerator or the bathroom mirror are ideal places to post funny cartoons.

—Make a ritual of enjoying humor as a family by renting humorous video tapes or watching television programs.

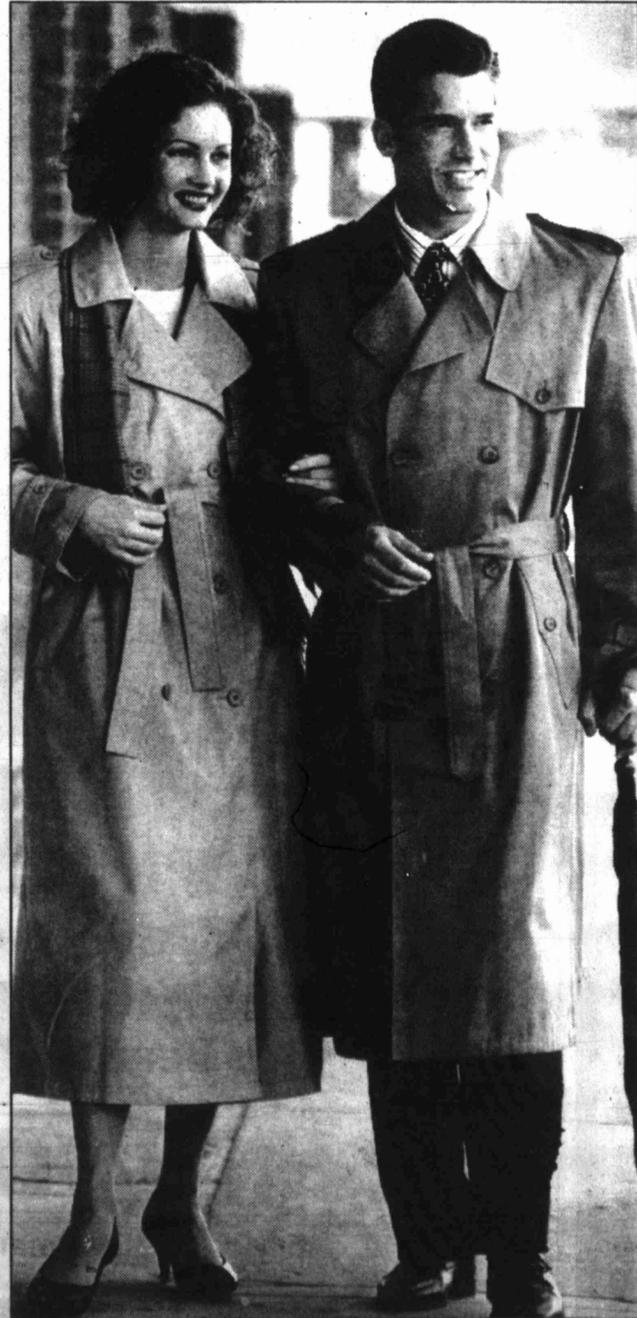

One way, Goodman said, is to appreciate and nurture the qualities of being childlike. Children are naturally creative, spontaneous and free from the influence of stereotypes and preconceptions.

Thursday honors nation's veterans

Each year, we Americans gather together in special places to honor those who have served in the uniforms of our country. On Nov. 11, 1993, at 11 a.m. in front of the medical center we will gather once again to give a special "Thank you" to those in uniform right now, all around the world, and for all veterans who have long since taken off those uniforms.

Seventy-five years ago on November 11, the world celebrated the end of the Great War - WWI. Armistice Day, as it was known, was proclaimed to be the first day of eternal world peace - but it was not to be.

This year, all living WWI veterans will receive a 75th Anniversary of World War I Commemorative Medal. During the Veterans Day ceremony, we will have the honor of presenting medals to WWI veterans residing in our area.

Keynote speaker for this year's ceremony will be General Jarrold Allen, 7th Wing Commander, Dyess Air Force Base.

We encourage you to join us in honoring all veterans for what they have made possible, not just for America, but for all the nations of the world.

On October 8, 1993, 11 residents of the Nursing Home Care Unit were special guests at the Confederate Air Force Air Show in Midland. The Confederate Air Force bestowed an Honorary Colonel rating to 97 year old WWI resident, John Collie. Congratulations, Mr. Collie!!

Pat Atkins

In recognition of National Infection Control Week, October 17-23, 1993, Les White, RN, infection disease control nurse, presented a program on preventing the spread of infection.

According to White, "Quick action is effective if a person has been exposed to potentially infectious materials. Early response can prevent infection, help track potential sources of infection, and prevent transmission of disease to others."

White offered the following information on exposure controls: safe work practices, the use of personal protective equipment, certain house-keeping practices, and communication. An exposure incident occurs when your eyes, mouth, mucous membrane or hospital or broken skin comes into contact with blood or other potentially infectious materials.

Social Worker Ron Gray received the Director's Commendation at the Director's Staff Meeting this month.

Gray's dedication to serving veterans was proven one evening when his dauntless actions quite possibly saved the life of a suicidal veteran. In the middle of the night, Gray drove over 50 miles to visit with the veteran after being alerted about the problem. Gray persuaded the veteran to come to the medical center for treatment. We are very proud of Ron Gray.

On October 29, 1993, Toni Burks, creative arts therapist, treated patients to a halloween party. Staff dressed in Halloween costume and decorated pumpkins for a "punkin' contest."

A big West Texas welcome to the following new staff members: Mickie Harris, Radiology Service; Patricia Barrera, and Robert Black, Medical Administration Service; and Geraldine Bedwell, Nursing Service.

Pat Atkins is the Public Affairs Officer and Patient Representative at the Big Spring VA Medical Center. She can be contacted at 264-4839.

 tion that reveled in hedonism and narcissism. It became acceptable to be totally self-centered and not worry about personal responsibilities to people around you. In the process, civility broke down.

 "But this incivility is just a symptom of a larger problem - the lack of taking personal responsibility for our own actions. Until people once again decide to become responsible for their own behavior, this incivility will continue."

 In short, he says, "The culture has changed."
 Incivility is dramatically demonstrated by blunt language.

Degree of danger present in many jobs

DEAR ABBY: This is for "Unsure in Framingham, Mass." whose fiancée refuses to marry him if he becomes a street cop because it's too dangerous.

Dear Abby

Someone should point out the fact that more people are killed or seriously injured working with farm machinery. And what about construction workers, welders and electricians? Also, building high-rise buildings, dams and bridges isn't exactly a walk in the park.

How many lumberjacks and loggers are killed on the job each year? I personally knew two house painters who died on the job, and one who fell off a ladder and was permanently paralyzed from the neck down.

Not along ago, 12 coal miners in eastern Kentucky were buried alive on the job. When was the last time 12 cops died at the same time? And when did 25 people die together, as did the employees of that chicken processing plant in North Carolina two or three years ago?

I would feel a whole lot safer being a street cop than being a clerk in a 24-hour convenience store. — B.L. IN GOODLETTSVILLE, TENN.

DEAR B.L.: There are many jobs with great risks, but it doesn't necessarily follow that a career in law enforcement is safe by comparison — police face violence and death every day. Their tasks run the gamut from social worker to diplomat, from bouncer to minister. And as any cop can tell you, it requires a touch of genius to feed and clothe a family on a police salary. However, as you so aptly put it, life is not without risks — and nobody has a contract with God.

DEAR ABBY: I have been in a relationship with a wonderful man for two years. We are both in our late 30s. I'm divorced and he has never been married. He is kind, hard-working, loving and generous.

We have taken many trips together and we are sexually compatible.

The problem? He spends too much of his free time with male friends who are gay. I have met them, and they are nice, decent people. He also has heterosexual friends, but he seems to prefer the company of these gay men.

My question: Is my gentleman friend a secure, healthy heterosexual male who can handle friendships with gay men? If so, that's great. Or, is he secretly bisexual?

I truly love this man and he says he loves me, and we're considering marriage. (We both want children.) However, if he is bisexual, this relationship won't work for me, and I need to get out fast.

I would ask him, but I'm afraid he might either be insulted — or lie. Please help me. — ANY WOMAN, USA

DEAR ANY WOMAN: Ask him anyway. If he had something to hide, he would not have introduced you to his gay friends. I would guess that he is a well-adjusted heterosexual male with no hangups about the sexual preference of his friends.

BIG SPRING HERALD BIRTHDAY SWEEPSTAKES OFFICIAL RULES

- The Big Spring Herald Birthday Sweepstakes Contest begins today and will terminate Friday, December 24, 1993.
- Entry forms for the Birthday Sweepstakes Contest will appear in the Herald each day. Additional entry forms will be available at the participating merchants. No purchase is necessary. A person may become a contestant by depositing their entry form with the participating merchants or delivering their entry form to the Big Spring Herald, 710 Scurry St., P.O. Box 1431, Big Spring, TX 79720. All entries being forwarded by mail must bear sufficient postage. The Herald takes no responsibility for any lost or misdirected entries.
- During the first 50 days of the Herald's 54 day contest, the Herald will publish 2 birthday dates as chosen by random draw from all entries received in the advertisements of 2 participating merchants on the Birthday Sweepstakes page each day. The value of each of the birthdates published will be $10.00. The final week of the contest will be known as Grand Prize Week; Tuesday and Wednesday of this week (December 21, 22) the two birthdates published will have a value of $25.00 each, on Thursday (December 23) the two birthdates published will have a value of $100.00, Friday, December 24, the final day of the contest one birthdate will be published. The value of this number, know as the Grand Prize Birthdate, will be $250.
- All entries drawn during the contest, up to and including December 24, will be returned to the draw drum the day following the publication of the birthdate number.
- The holder of the Birthday number published in the Herald's Birthday Sweepstakes Contest from October 24th to December 24th, must call the Big Spring Herald at 263-7331, by no later than 5:30 p.m. on the 7th business day following the publishing of the winning number. Contest Department hours are from 7:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., Monday thru Friday. The contest office is not open on Saturdays, Sundays or Statutory holidays. Upon reporting a winning Birthday, the holder of the number will be advised of the steps to follow to claim the prize. Published Birthday numbers reported to the Herald following the close of the contest department on the 7th business day following publication of the number, will not be accepted and will not be eligible to claim a prize.
- The holder of the Grand Prize Birthday number as published on December 24, the final day of the contest, must call the contest department of the Herald at 263-7331 no later than 5:30 p.m. December 31st. Business hours are shown in rule number 5. If the Grand Prize, relating to the birthday plate number published in the Herald on December 24th, has not been claimed by the close of the contest on the 7th business day following publication, a 2nd Grand Prize Number will be published on the 8th business day following the publication of the initial Grand Prize number. This process will be repeated, until the Grand Prize has been claimed.
- If a successful winner receives 6-day home delivery of the Big Spring Herald, by carrier, motor route delivery, or mail, the prize money awarded to that person shall be DOUBLED. The winner must be receiving home delivery the day the winning number appears in the Herald.
- It is not necessary to purchase the Herald to participate in the contest. Live birthday numbers will be posted in the main business office of the Herald, 710 Scurry St., and copies of the Herald are available for inspection during regular business hours.
- Published birthday numbers will not be given out over the telephone.
- By playing Herald Birthday Sweepstakes contest, contestants agree to accept these rules and to allow publication of their name and address and/or picture within the Herald. The decision of the judges appointed by the Herald will be final and binding.
- Anyone 18 years or older can play the Herald Birthday Sweepstakes contest except employees and their immediate families (residing with them) of the Big Spring Herald and Thompson Newspapers Corporation.
- Photo identification is required to collect your prize.

NAFTA supported more locally than nationally

By PATRICK DRISCOLL
Business Editor

Airport and U.S. highways to move interstate goods, bigger markets for cotton, cattle and manufactured goods, more reason to extend Interstate 27 south through here.

Those are some arguments why Big Spring, as is Texas and likely the United States, is poised to gain from the North American Free Trade Agreement. Low wage jobs would go to Mexico but more high-tech jobs would eventually be created in the United States, where worker productivity is as much as five times higher.

Sucking thousands of jobs down to Mexico where workers are currently paid as low as 60 cents an hour and operation costs aren't jacked up by strict regulations like environmental mandates are arguments against. There's not enough assurances that interstate regulations would be consistent between countries.

Just as the historic agreement with Mexico and Canada has resistance nationally, it has pockets of opposition locally. The difference is a majority of local leaders appear to back it while a U.S. House vote, scheduled for Nov. 17, would fail if taken now.

"I am a little concerned that jobs will go down there," acknowledges Mark Sheedy, Big Spring city councilman and manager of a hardware store, who supports it, but with some hesitation. "I feel like it'll help our area, especially if we get the interstate in here," he said.

The Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce, as well as the state and national chamber of commerce, backs the agreement. The local chamber board bases their support on a fax poll last month that indicates 62 percent of membership support it, 8 percent oppose and 10 percent are undecided. It was a representative sampling of 10 percent of 589 members.

"I think the business community feels pretty solidly that the positive aspects far outweigh the negative aspects," said chamber Executive Director Terry Burns.

Potential winners under the agreement, which would create the world's largest and richest trading block possibly by January, include textiles, the auto industry, service industries and machinery and heavy equipment. Losers could be apparel, and glass. Side agreements released Friday protect sugar, citrus and vegetables. Other side agreements cover minimum wages and the environment.

Most resistance is coming from labor groups, locally as well as nationally.

"By their (supporters) admission we'll probably lose some jobs to start with and I don't know if we can stand that," said Joe Merrick, president of International Union of Operating Engineers Local 826. He added, "We don't have any assurances that they're going to comply with the same regulations that we have to ... Mexico's environment is a mess."

But it's those types of engineering jobs that would benefit in the United States, said Jeff Morris, manager of the Fina Inc. refinery that employs most in Local 826.

Surrounded by hundreds of nearly-completed uniforms, Diana Oviedo places another on the pile at Walls Industries Inc. factory in Big Spring. Although the U.S. apparel industry is expected to be hurt by the North American Free Trade Agreement, Walls officials say it will help them because of increased exports. Wages aren't an issue because workers are paid by piece.

Perot, Gore will debate NAFTA

The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Ross Perot and the White House traded insults all day Friday, then settled on terms for an extraordinary 90-minute debate between the Texas billionaire and Vice President Al Gore.

The two will face off at 9 p.m. EST Tuesday on CNN's "Larry King Live" to debate the North American Free Trade Agreement. They will also take phoned-in questions.

Administration officials said the TV confrontation with President Clinton's former campaign rival — while risky — was necessary in a bid to drum up support. The measure is still far short of the backing needed for passage in a Nov. 17 House vote.

White House spokesman Mark Gearan said that time and format were nailed down in a late-afternoon conference call among Perot, White House counselor David Gergen and Cable News Network president Tom Johnson.

"The Titanic is sinking and they're desperate," Perot said of the Clinton forces earlier, at first pressing for holding the debate on Sunday in Tampa before an already scheduled rally of his supporters.

The White House ruled out such a format immediately. "What Ross Perot wants, as always, is a show, not a debate," Clinton said as efforts to arrange the debate hit obstacles through the day.

CNN said the debate would originate from its studio in Washington.

Administration officials conceded that giving Perot — one of the nation's most outspoken opponents of the free-trade agreement — such a visible stage with Gore could be dangerous. But they said something dramatic was needed.

By most counts, Clinton is 40 or more votes short in the House. A heavy White House lobbying effort over the past few days has produced few converts.

Perot and organized labor contend the pact, to end tariffs and other trade barriers among the United States, Canada and Mexico over 15 years, would cost hundreds of thousands of U.S. jobs.

"Mr. Perot's arguments have been largely discredited when he's been questioned," Clinton said during an Oval Office conference call to ranchers and farmers around the country. "I think the vice president will do just fine. I've got a lot of confidence in him."

Others were not so sure. Some, including White House aides speaking privately, suggested that Gore — who is known as much for his wooden speaking style as for his grasp of details and technical matters — could be dominated by Perot.

Henry Graff, a Columbia University political scientist who specializes in debates and rhetoric, said that even putting such a showdown on a TV talk show "demeans the debate."

"I just hope the slash-and-burn style of Perot doesn't overwhelm the reasoned approach you will hear from the vice president."

Richardson gets top state honor

Special to the Herald

Don Richardson, Howard County extension agent, was chosen to receive the highest honor an employee of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service can receive.

The Superior Service Award honors faculty and staff who've contributed to the success of the organization. Richardson will receive the award at Texas A&M University.

Richardson has been working in Howard County as the extension agent for 15 years. He's been responsible for educational programs benefiting people throughout the county.

He works with area crop production specialists and researchers, to bring information to local producers. When weather prohibited cotton production, he helped acquire information about alternative crops so area producers could stem losses. He's also been helpful to area farmers and businesses in experimenting with different cotton varieties and management practices.

One of Richardson's most notable achievements is success of the West Texas Ag EXPO. The EXPO is hosted annually at Howard College and features county, area, state, and national agriculture businesses and products for review. The EXPO also provides educational courses.

Richardson also works closely with youth of Howard County in 4-H and other extension-sponsored programs. The 4-H program is responsible for the development of future leaders. Fair play, honesty, and a friendly attitude have always been stressed to those young people not, through his words, but by his actions.

Richardson is also involved in the Big Spring Junior Leadership Program to provide youth opportunities in exploring the city and county. The program also provides young people the chance to investigate different career options by exposing them to livelihoods.

Richardson is knowledgeable on horticulture and landscaping and says 70 percent of calls he receives are related to horticulture in some fashion. He's has annually organized a horticulture and landscape workshop open to the public and free of charge. The seminars offer information concerning lawn grasses, ornamental flowers and trees, potted plants, insect control, garden management practices and any other issue that a horticulture enthusiast may want to discuss.

In addition, Richardson is involved in numerous other activities.

Heavy rains didn't curtail water use

Special to the Herald

Despite soaking rains and sharp cold the last week of the month, October deliveries by the Colorado River Municipal Water District almost broke even with those of a year ago.

Sales totaled 1,376,257,700 gallons for the month, down from 18,500,000 gallons or 13 of one percent. Munciple deliveries of 1,228,666,200 gallons were off 44.2 million gallons or 3.48 percent, but oil-industrial deliveries rose 21.15 percent in hitting 147,591,000 gallons for the month.

Geography contest for kids coming up

The Associated Press

ATLANTA — American Express has announced its fifth annual geography contest. The contest is divided into two categories, for students in grades 6 to 8 and for students in grades 9 to 12. Deadline for entries is Feb. 28, 1994.

Two first-place teams in each category will receive $7,500 in American Express travelers checks each. Two second-place winning teams in each category will receive $5,000 each; two third-place winning teams in each category will receive $2,500 each; and the teacher-sponsor of each winning team will receive $1,000.

Student entrants pose a question related to the environment, trade and travel or cultural diversity, and then examine and draw a conclusion in a written project report. The contest has been developed in conjunction with and endorsed by the Association of American Geographers.

All secondary school students nationwide enrolled in an accredited public, private, parochial or home school may enter as individuals or as a team of any size, according to American Express.

For information, write to: American Express Geography Competition, Box 672227, Marietta, Ga. 30067-0038.

Jobs in Big Spring looking good

Congratulations to our hardworking city officials as they announce over 140 new jobs with the third prison unit and the expansion at Western Container.

Add in the 25 jobs that Moore Development just announced from Flamecoat Inc., another 25-30 coming on line with Wright Fibers, and 100 new jobs with Walmart and that will be going into the new year with 300 new jobs. You also get to factor in the construction jobs involved in these cases, plus those in several million dollars worth of highway work that is slated and that adds a couple of hundred more jobs. Finally, there are companies in the negotiation stages that could represent over 500 more jobs if things go well. This could all put over 1,000 new jobs in the community next year. I don't know about you, but this looks pretty positive to me. Our congratulations to all those involved.

We just had a testimonial dinner for the hard-working volunteers that staff the visitor information center at Rip Griffin's Truck Stop and do a myriad of other duties to support our visitor activities. If you don't know why these folks are important to you and your business, then I'd better tell you. They are in contact with hundreds of visitors to our community each week and they work hard at trying to get them to stay. Stay for an hour and eat or gas up ... stay for an afternoon and see our attractions ... stay for the night ... or maybe even think about us for relocation or retirement. In other words, stay for the rest of their life.

They are referring requests for goods and services to our members ... the retail community and other businesses. They are doing all this hard work, and the only pay they get is a grateful community. How much hard work are we talking about? Art Dodd was recognized for over 1500 hours, and Norma Perkins for over 400! Lawanda Hamm, Mamie Lee Dodds (who coordinates the program) Doyce Piper and Wanda Erickson were all over 200 hours, and G.N. Walker, Robert Erickson, Mable Beene, Bill Birrell, Evelyn Delatour, Margaret Cooper and Lou Hill were all over 100 hours. There were a whole tassel of folks that put in less than 100 hours.

Our President, Ben Bancroft, spoke to the group and told them how important they are to the community. However, now that you know what they are doing for you, if you get the chance, make it a point to tell one of these hard-working folks that you know how important they are to Big Spring. And that you appreciate it! We are beginning to accept nominations for man/woman of the year. This prestigious award will be given at the annual banquet, tentatively set in February. You have to be a chamber member to make the nomination, but the nominee does not have to be a member. If you'd like a copy of the criteria and the procedure, call the chamber office and we will be happy to send it to you.

Agriculture being threatened

Last week I had the opportunity, at the request of higher authorities, to make my presence known in College Station at Texas A&M and be in attendance at the first Agricultural Summit Conference to be held in Texas.

We have been snowed under lately with on-going local programs going night and day trying to keep up with everything and I really must admit that the idea of traveling all the way to College Station in the midst of all that we had going on was not too appealing. I reluctantly met a colleague in San Angelo who also had the same "invitation" to attend this program, Billy Reager, county extension agent from Ozona, who had about the same thoughts I had about being called away at this time of year from county programs.

Anyway, we dutifully registered in at the conference and almost immediately became overwhelmed with the amount of agricultural power that was showing up. We had no idea of the importance that this conference might play on the future of agriculture in not only Texas, but the entire USA! The program was outstanding and we, along with almost everyone else there, thoroughly enjoyed the program and came away with some sobering thoughts about our industry and its future.

The planning committee of the conference had earlier identified about 140 concerns they felt many agricultural producers shared. At the end of the conference two days later these had been narrowed into six major concerns.

One of the most outstanding speakers was the editor of Good Housekeeping magazine ... yes, that most popular of women's publications. She opened the eyes of a lot of people there when she explained what kind of predicament agriculture might be finding itself in if the consuming public she serves continues to receive the type of materials that are becoming available to them more and more.

Some of these were concerned with extremists for animals rights, extreme environmentalists and other groups that pose as potential threats to the agricultural industry. She emphasized the need for agricultural leaders to develop educational programs for the consuming American public demonstrating such facts as where milk comes and how it is marketed, the production costs, etc. Too many consumers are developing the idea that milk comes from cartons purchased at the super market ... without a clue that it came from some cow, fed and cared for by a dairyman somewhere that was regulated to death by federal and state laws and regulations and health department regulations to insure that milk was safe to drink. The cheap food policy adopted by America has finally taken its toll.

Only 2 percent of the American public is involved in production agriculture. Many urban congressmen view this as such a few people, "Why should we be concerned with them?" This kind of attitude can have serious effects on our industry. We must educate everyone about the importance of agriculture in our economy and nation's well being. It was pointed out in the conference that a nation that can not feed itself can not survive for long.

We consider Howard County and Big Spring a rather rural community, as compared with Houston, Dallas and San Antonio, but as I work with such groups as the chamber of commerce's Leadership Big Spring programs, I am amazed at the high percentage of local individuals who have so little knowledge of what it takes to produce a bale of cotton or a marketable calf or the many processes (and jobs) it takes to get that pair of jeans or hamburger and french fries to you.

The failure of the recent proposition 16 in Texas which asked for a constitutional amendment to allow expansion of funds for development of agricultural industry in Texas only emphasizes the fact that a lot of education of our public continues to be made to stress the importance of this vital industry to the well being for all of us. New industry to replace the rapidly depleting oil and gas industry Texas has been dependent upon for so long is vital and promotion of new agricultural industry in one of the nation's leading agricultural producers only makes sense.

Most of our raw products are currently being shipped out of state to other states and other countries for the manufacture of goods that must be shipped right back to Texas for consumers to use. It only makes sense to utilize more of our own resources, including labor, to enhance our economy. Tax weary Texans can not be blamed for the total defeat of this amendment. All of us in agriculture just need to set back and take notice of the predicament we are in and concentrate on the need to educate our urban friends and neighbors just how important our industry is for the well being of everyone.

Don Richardson is Howard County extension agent for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. His column appears Sundays.

More skilled jobs would be needed to provide manufactured products as Mexico spending power increases.

"For us, a growing economy means people can drive more cars, buy more cars," Morris said. "You pay wherever you are, higher wages for high skills."

Low-wage jobs are going to Mexico anyway, supporters say, such as the maquiladora plants in border towns like El Paso, the largest inland border town and the one hooked by rail to Big Spring.

"They're already doing it," said John Freeman, owner of a company that exports a ceramic coating for corrosion and abrasion resistance to Mexico. "It's not going to be the big gloom and doom that some people say it is."

"With the trade barriers down ... it's going to open up the market a lot easier," he said. "We're doing business in Mexico now but it's very difficult." And since strong economies generally have stronger economic policies, a blossoming Mexico would be an answer to pollution problems along the border, Morris and others say. Fina spent tens of millions of dollars in recent years to meet U.S. clean air mandates.

"We should see ... environmental improvements even on Mexico's side of the border," Morris said.

Opposition isn't just coming from labor. "I think there will be many, many jobs lost to Mexico," said Glenn Fillingim, local accountant and board member of Moore Development for Big Spring Inc., a city-funded economic development group.

"How can I compete - with eight dollars and ten dollars an hour - with five dollars a day," said Herb Wright, who recently opened a natural-fiber textile mill.

According to wire reports, textiles could benefit because Mexico is a fast growing market. Wages and competition aren't issues because the U.S. industry is larger, produces more economically, especially with recent modernizations, and is considerably less labor intensive than industries like apparel. Mexican textile tariffs average 16.5 percent while the U.S. averages 7 percent.

Apparel would likely suffer, according to reports, but Walls Industries Inc., which manufactures work and sporting garments in Big Spring and seven other factories around the state plus one in Mexico, expects to benefit by exporting more to Mexico. Start-up costs aren't worth moving factories to Mexico and pay is the same anyway. Mexican apparel tariffs are slightly higher than here.

"The apparel (pay) is based on a piece-rate system. The more efficient the worker, the more money they make," said Chief Executive Officer Albert Archer in Cleburne. "I don't see anything that will change that."

Those aren't the only contradictions. Howard County Extension Agent Don Richardson recently returned from an agriculture conference at Texas A&M and said most agriculture experts say opening trade barriers would be good for the country. Ag groups across the state and nation support it too, according to reports.

"I was real surprised, it was almost 100 percent supporting," said Richardson, who believes it'll have a positive effect on West Texas because markets would widen for cotton and beef. "Overall, cotton and livestock, I think it would be beneficial to us."

But the same consensus doesn't exist among board members of Plains Cotton Growers Inc., representing 25 counties surrounding Lubbock, the country's most productive cotton area.

"We've had producer member board members feeling both ways about it so there's been no position taken yet," said Roger Haldenby of Cotton Growers. "You want this organization to say solidly what it feels. This isn't one of those issues where we've got a solid standing."

Of course, many don't know all the details of the 1,300-page NAFTA document and side agreements.

"In principle, I agree with free trade. I just don't know the tradeoffs and all the intricacies that effect us," said Jim Purcell, president of Moore Development and president of State National Bank.

The principal, he said, agrees with the Big Spring area.

"We have the location and we have the transportation that others do not have," he said. "We have high work standards here too. We will survive."

FORECAST FOR TODAY, SUNDAY, NOV. 7, 1993

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Although your creativity is high today, you do face a lot of frustration. A friend disagrees with your plan, and that annoys you more than you're willing to admit. Fatigue is one cause of your problems. Slowing down will help you get a different view of the situation. Tonight: Go to bed early.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Your best bet is to keep a low profile. You will feel better once you see a situation in a clearer light. Problems revolve around work or an older relative. You need to recharge your batteries before a solution appears. Tonight: Get a good night's sleep.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): You have many options today and feel quite good about yourself. A change in plans is for the best in the long run. Look to a happier and more consistent relationship. Tonight: Catch up on gossip, gripes and news.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Your playful side makes an appearance just when a partner tries to act obstinate. Watch your urge to spend; you might go overboard. Zero in on your desires. Tonight: Be unavailable.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Tension is high between you, partners and a family member. You need to find a new way to deal with a problem. You feel more connected than you have in a long time and are able to make a big difference in someone's life. Use your sense of humor to heal. Tonight: Take it easy.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): It is a good day to chill out and do nothing. You will feel much better as a result and will be able to handle a situation effectively. Creativity and understanding are high. Be aware of what you want and where you are going. Tonight: Sleep, sleep, sleep.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Tension is high in a matter concerning finances and a loved one. Play it cool. Focus on your expectations but do not alienate another. You will ultimately feel better and begin to enjoy yourself. Tonight: Be gentle with a loved one.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): A parent or other family member is raining on your parade today - and you are also being quite difficult. Try to accept your responsibilities. Hold up a mirror and be honest about what is going on. Understand how much you are cared about. Tonight: Time out.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): You feel pushed today. Look to making positive changes and handling things differently. Expect news about a trip or exciting offer. Tonight: Watch a movie.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): This is a good day to spend alone. You feel disappointed but aren't sure why. Worry less about a current situation and focus instead on the long term. Tonight: Chill out.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): You feel out of sorts and need to pull back and take a clearer look at a situation. Partners continue to offer many options. Trust your judgment and concentrate on what will make your life work. Examine alternatives. Tonight: Say yes to an off-the-wall invitation.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): You feel exasperated with a project but are being too hard on yourself. Take some time off to relax - a day trip or a completely new experience. Tonight: Early to bed.

IF NOV. 7 IS YOUR BIRTHDAY: A new cycle after January will have you taking a serious look at your home life. Be careful how far you push others this year, especially an older relative. Don't resist necessary transformations; know that they will help you succeed. Remain positive about what is happening and allow yourself to take advantage of new options. You'll work well this year in tense situations and will be able to create new possibilities out of them. AQUARIUS may be difficult.

THE ASTERISKS (*) SHOW THE KIND OF DAY YOU'LL HAVE: 5-Dynamic; 4-Positive; 3-Average; 2-So-so; 1-Difficult.

AFFORDABLE HOUSING PROGRAM OFFICER

The Permian Basin Area Foundation is seeking to hire an affordable housing program officer. The successful applicant will work with the Foundation's executive director, Advisory Board and Board of Governors to make grants and loans for affordable housing programs/projects from a Housing Trust Fund with an initial capitalization of $1.25 million.

Duties include: providing technical assistance to affordable housing providers, soliciting and evaluating funding proposals, managing grant and loan transactions, assisting with Advisory Board business and increasing financial resources for affordable housing both within the Foundation and the community.

Required skills include: grant-writing, financial analysis, budgeting, public speaking, one-on-one and group training and general organizational skills. The position requires significant knowledge of: affordable housing programs/projects, HUD funding programs and other major sources of financing. Working knowledge of local affordable housing programs is desirable.

Minimum qualifications are: (a) one year's experience in an equivalent position with diverse kinds of affordable housing programs and/or projects, (b) five year's experience responsible positions that required similar skills and knowledge and (c) completion of four years of college (an additional year (up to 2 years) of related work experience may be substituted for each year of college).

Salary: $30,000 to $45,000 negotiable dependent upon qualifications.

Reply with resume and letter explaining reasons for wanting the position, to: Jack Swallow, Executive Director Permian Basin Area Foundation P.O. Box 10424 Midland, Texas 79702
