Interim chief may apply for position

By PATRICK DRISCOLL
Staff Writer

Acting Police Chief Jerry Edwards last week indicated he may apply for the police chief job.

"I'm still discussing that with my wife," he said. He added, "I'm enjoying what I'm doing ... if that's any help."

Edwards, a lieutenant and 18-year veteran at the department here where he recently headed up records, was named interim chief two months ago when Joe Cook resigned as police chief. In a deal with city officials, Cook got $21,000 for six months left on his contract.

A search for Cook's replacement is not yet in full swing, said City Manager Lanny Lambert. A job description is being written and a recruitment plan developed. Both should be unveiled at the Dec. 14 council meeting. A chief likely won't be hired until spring.

"We intend to get the best chief there is, whether it's in the department or out," Lambert said. "Jerry's doing a good job and we're in no rush."

Cook resigned Sept. 16, three hours after police union representatives announced they planned to take a vote of confidence. The union also asked city officials to investigate a two-day suspension of an officer, suspended for getting another two-day suspension overturned on a technicality. The original suspension was for discourteous comments to a citizen.

Cook declined comment on union activities. Lambert at the time said his sympathies are always with employees in any vote of confidence and said of Cook's resignation, "You can call it what you like, I'm calling it a resignation."

Scout food drive nets about 5,100 items

The Boy Scouts' "Good Turn Food Drive" on Saturday turned out to be a success, according to project chairman Clem Jones.

Jones estimates about 5,100 cans and packages of non-perishable food items were collected. All the food was taken to the Salvation Army and Northside Community Center on Saturday afternoon.

"The kids were like locusts out there," quipped Jones. "We had a lot of kids, Scout volunteer leaders, moms and dads. The turnout was really good."

Jones said the food drive is a national effort by the Scouts and they try to coordinate food drives nationwide to occur on the same day.

"We're a little below last year but we're above 1991 for donations," said Jones. "I believe this is the sixth year we've done it."

Jones estimated the Salvation Army and Northside community center received approximately 100 cases of food each. "Once it's unloaded and spread all over the room," he said, "you can see just how much food it really is."

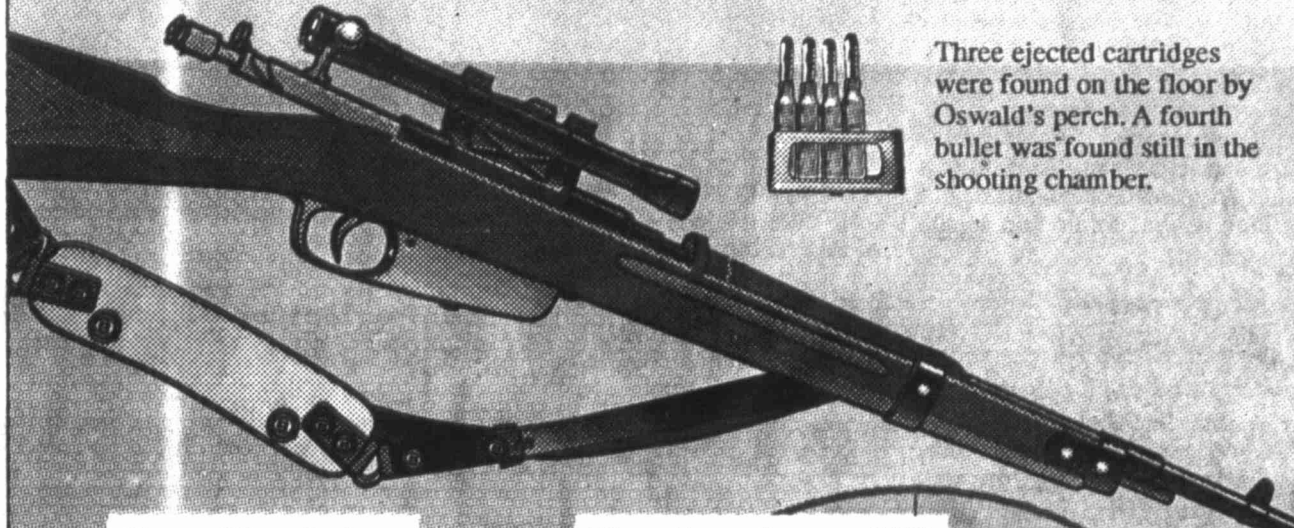

Jones praised the community and the Scouts for the results of the food drive. "It went extremely well," he said.

The rifle

Using the alias "A. Hidell," Oswald purchased a 6.5 millimeter Mannlicher-Carcano rifle and scope by mail order for $21.45 eight months before the assassination. In April he fired at and missed retired Army Gen. Edwin Walker, a prominent Dallas right-winger. After the assassination, Dallas P. D. found Oswald's print on the gun barrel, under its wooden stock. The Warren Commission concluded 2.3 seconds were needed to operate the bolt action, or 4.6 seconds to fire three shots. The commission said the time span for shooting was 4.8 to 7-plus seconds. Witnesses one floor below the assassin's perch heard Oswald operating the bolt during the shooting.

Three ejected cartridges were found on the floor by Oswald's perch. A fourth bullet was found still in the shooting chamber.

Way unlocks mysteries of the past

By JANET AUSBURY
Staff Writer

Angie Way, curator of the Heritage Museum, spends so much time at the job she loves that she literally lives in the past.

But that's not so bad, according to Way. She enjoys solving the mysteries held by the past. "There is as much in every day of the past as there is in the present," she says.

Way developed her love of history and museums early in life. "I grew up in an antique shop, and I was raised to be an archeologist, but I didn't want to spend all my time around snakes and bugs, digging things up," she quipped.

Her father has been a rancher most of his life but would have loved to be an archeologist, she added.

Way took a different path to discovering the past. After obtaining her bachelor's and master's degrees in history and museum studies, she found her place seven years ago at the Heritage Museum.

"I'm doing what I've always wanted to do. I can't imagine what it would be like not to do this," says Way.

She is especially intrigued by the personal artifacts left behind by people who lived years ago. "You can get a real sense of these people by the things they left and little quirks that show up," she explains.

"You can start to piece together who that person was."

Way concedes the past may hold an attraction for people because it is safer. "Everything is over and done with. You know how it all came out."

But what Way describes as "a romantic vision of the past" also attracts her and other devotees of days gone by. Way recalls one of her first tasks as a museum intern while obtaining her master's degree.

"I had to go through a judge's papers from about 80 years ago, and he had personal correspondence from his wife," says Way.

"She was in a sanitarium, she had one of their kids with her, and she wrote about how much she missed her life and how she looked forward to coming home and being with him again."

The letter, more than any dry legal briefs from nearly a century ago, touched Way. "I feel like it's my job, to remember these people," she said.

Way collects antiques and artifacts primarily for the museum but occasionally will pick something up for herself if it is an item the museum would not need. "I just got a pink hooked rug," she says, describing it as possibly from the 1920's or 1930's.

"I didn't figure the museum probably had a need for one of those," she joked.

Way's family encourages her personal collections, but not necessarily in a style that reflects her personal taste. "They think I should be interested in Roy Rogers items, so they send me Roy Rogers stuff. I have no interest in Roy Rogers stuff," she says, laughing.

"I have a Scottish terrier, Chester, and my family thinks I should be interested in collecting Scottish terrier things. I have no interest in Scottish terrier things!"

Way's hobbies include reading fiction and biographies. She also reads

House recycling program turns free lumber

By PATRICK DRISCOLL
Staff Writer

Those wanting free lumber can soon get enough to, well, build a house with.

In a house recycling program being enacted by the city, lumber from condemned houses being razed will be given away to save landfill space.

"It's a tremendous waste of landfill space," said City Manager Lanny Lambert.

Recipients just need to haul the wood off. It can't be sent to the city's mulching project because shingles, glass, pipes, concrete, etc., need to be sorted out.

"When we tear it down we just crush it," Lambert said.

There's plenty of wood where it's coming from.

Right now, 26 houses, of which owners can't be found, are scheduled to be knocked down, Lambert said. Another 40 are scheduled to go down next month and a 100 or so within the next three months.

"Is there anybody out there that would like to have these old houses for the lumber?" asks Lambert.

If you do, call Lambert at 264-2401 or Assistant City Manager Tom Decell at 264-2501.

The program is part of stepped up house razing efforts using city crews and machinery finished with summer projects and maintenance work. Only 100 condemned houses were taken down the past two years.

Another city plan to deal with vacated properties may be implemented next year. Delinquent tax attorney Drew Mouton said he will present a plan to systematically foreclose on some 600 properties and seek new owners.

Owed taxes and charges on each of those 600 properties are worth more than property value, making it difficult to collect, Mouton said. There are 900 other delinquent property tax accounts, but they appear collectable.

Lesbian officer is discharged

SAN ANGELO (AP) — A lesbian officer who dropped a lawsuit challenging the military's ban on homosexuals about a month ago has been discharged from the Air Force. First Lt. Heidi DeJesus told the San Angelo Standard-Times that her general discharge under honorable circumstances was final Friday. Ms. DeJesus, who was stationed at Goodfellow Air Force Base, had filed a lawsuit in federal district court in Dallas last December. She was seeking to overturn both the ban on homosexuals serving in the military and the military prohibition against sodomy. But she temporarily abandoned the case Oct. 22 because of lack of funding and differences with her attorney, Bob Wightman of Dallas, she said. A federal judge in another similar lawsuit had enjoined the military from discharging any individuals because they are homosexuals, but later limited that injunction to the case in question.

His ethics wasn't the problem at all

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four years have passed since Jim Wright stood before a hushed House on a late spring day and announced he was resigning as speaker. Then, the reason seemed obvious: A series of ethical lapses uncovered by House investigators had left him no choice but to resign. But the Texas Democrat now contends there were hidden forces behind his resignation that were far more damaging. Specifically, Wright says in a new book he was the target of a two-year campaign waged by a "right-wing cabal" infuriated by his high profile defiance of Reagan administration policy toward Central America. "Without intending to do so, I became a focal point of controversy and the target of vicious attacks when I undertook to help end the Central American wars," Wright says. "That struggle ended my 34-year career, but from my perspective it was worth it all."

Women still find barriers to office

AUSTIN (AP) — Women leaders say that although many of the barriers they once faced in elective politics have fallen, their pursuit of public office still is impaired by family and economic obligations. "When push comes to shove, women are the ones who assume family obligations," said Sen. Florence Shapiro, R-Plano. Nationally, seven of the 100 U.S. Senate members and 48 of the 435 U.S. House of Representatives are women, not including one delegate from Washington, D.C. In Texas, four women serve in the 31-member Senate and 25 in the 150-member House. Sue Schechter, who decided not to seek another term as a state representative, likens her situation to a case of the "cobbler's children having no shoes." "I spent most of my legislative work on children's issues," the Houston Democrat said. "By the end of the session, I realized I had spent so much time working on children's issues while my own children had received so little of my time."

Child psychiatric care under investigation

HOUSTON (AP) — Lenient state and federal Medicaid rules and a lack of outpatient alternatives have allowed hundreds of children to be placed, perhaps unnecessarily, in private psychiatric treatment, the Houston Chronicle has reported in a copyright story.

A red wreath with JFK and an American flag sits outside the former Texas School Book Depository Building in Dallas. Today marks the 30th anniversary of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy. The site is being dedicated as a national historical landmark.

Kennedy assassination site to become national landmark

DALLAS — The widow of former Texas Gov. John Connally returned today to the site where bullets rang out 30 years ago today, killing President John F. Kennedy and seriously wounding her husband. Nellie Connally agreed to make the official presentation in mid-day ceremonies today in downtown Dallas of a plaque designating the assassination site as a national historic landmark. She and her husband were riding in the same open-air limousine with President Kennedy and his wife, Jacqueline, when sniper's fire in Dealey's Plaza on the west end of downtown Dallas changed history. The program, open to the public, included traditional American music by the Dallas Wind Symphony and gospel spirituals by a community mass choir. Several students from Dallas public schools were asked to read passages from JFK's writings. For the ceremony, the city of Dallas ordered Dealey Plaza and the adjacent Triple Underpass closed to traffic for most of today, beginning several hours before the 11:30 a.m. CDT ceremony and continuing until mid-afternoon. The designation of the assassination as a national historic landmark was granted on Oct. 12 by Secretary of the Interior Bruce Babbitt. "Designation of the assassination site as a national historic landmark represents a clear mandate to preserve this tragic, but important part of history to serve as an educational guide for future generations," said

Walter S. Blake, president of the Dallas County Historical Foundation. "Therefore, the dedication ceremony will focus on our responsibilities in a democracy to preserve both good and bad history, and on the positive legacy of John F. Kennedy that lives on to inspire countless Americans who are not yet born," Blake said. The sixth floor of the old Schoolbook Depository Building, where Lee Harvey Oswald was said to have fired the shots that killed Kennedy and wounded Connally, is now a museum. It has drawn about 400,000 visitors a year. The Dallas County Historical Foundation is a private, nonprofit institution that was established in 1983 to organize and operate the exhibit.

AA to fly maybe half holiday flight schedule

Strike has cost airline about $50 million

FORT WORTH — American Airlines, hobbled by a strike that already has cost it at least $50 million, is telling passengers it expects to fly about a third to a half of its scheduled flights during this holiday week. American chairman Robert L. Crandall also said Sunday that travelers who can't be rescheduled at an acceptable time will get a $100 credit on top of refunds. But instead of sweetening the pot for picketing flight attendants, Crandall said 4,000 of them, or about one in five, won't have jobs to come back to a week from today, after the planned 11-day strike ends. The 21,000-member Association of Professional Flight Attendants began the walkout Thursday in a contract dispute over pay, medical benefits, staffing and work rules. The strike is taking its toll, Crandall said. "Our losses are very large. They are certainly more than $10 million a day. They may be substantially more than that. We simply aren't going to know for some period of time," he said. An undetermined number of other jobs at American also will be lost because the strike has damaged the public's confidence in the carrier and cost it business, he said. "There will be some layoffs because no matter what we do, no matter how aggressively we advertise, some passengers are gone," he said. Many of American's flights have operated without passengers since the strike began because they have not had the federally mandated minimum number of flight attendants. In hopes of placating the tens of thousands of travelers who have had to seek other arrangements, Crandall said holders of unused, non-refundable tickets could get their money back. Those who can't travel at an acceptable time between Tuesday and next Monday can get a $100 voucher good towards an American ticket for one year. The airline expects to operate a majority of flights at its main hubs at Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport, Miami and San Juan. American believes roughly a third to a half of flights from New York's LaGuardia and Kennedy airports and Los Angeles. But American expects to put passengers on only 12 percent of its flights from Chicago, the airline's second-largest hub, and even fewer on flights from its Nashville and Raleigh-Durham hubs, executive vice president Bob Baker said. Earlier Sunday, Denise Hedges, president of the flight attendants' union, suggested Crandall join her in asking the National Mediation Board to recommend that President Clinton create a presidential emergency board to referee the dispute. "Right now the parties are clearly deadlocked. The only mechanism that we can see that could conceivably break that deadlock and right now would end the strike is a presidential emergency board," said Rob Clayman, union negotiations counsel. However, Crandall said he would not ask for an emergency board to step into the dispute, in part because the panel could be expected to split the difference between American's and the union's offers. Hedges said it doesn't take both parties to request the emergency board's creation.

Space station's new named narrowed to five

HOUSTON — The planned space station hasn't made its way into orbit yet, but many think they know what to name it. In its drive to rename Space Station Freedom, NASA has now narrowed the field of hundreds of suggestions to five finalists: Unity, Alliance, Aurora, Alpha and Sigma. Former President Reagan dubbed the proposed orbiting laboratory Freedom in 1988. But President Clinton asked NASA for a new name this year to go along with a new design, lower costs and Russian involvement on the project. Space agency workers and contractors across the country submitted hundreds of suggestions. A committee in Washington narrowed the list to five. NASA public affairs officials in Washington will review them and make suggestions to NASA administrator Dan Goldin, who will make a choice in consultation with the White House. The public affairs office or Goldin can amend the list, and Clinton could choose a different name entirely. Alpha, the first letter of the Greek alphabet, is the working title of the station as it undergoes redesign. Sigma, also a Greek letter, signifies a mathematical summation and is used commonly by NASA engineers.

Brady bill compromise in works

Narrow victory for campaign finance bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Democratic leaders narrowly won a battle to get their campaign finance package voted on this year, prevailing over dissident Democrats and Republicans who called it "fraud" rather than reform.

Hurrying to complete as much as possible before Congress adjourns this week for the rest of the year, the House rejected, 220-207, a move to block the Democratic leadership bill on election spending from coming up.

Maverick Democrats, with the help of most Republicans, wanted to offer a bipartisan alternative they said accomplished true reform. If they had won, the House campaign finance bill effectively would have been dead for the year.

Debate on the leadership's bill was to resume today, as the House hoped to plod through a whole list of other hanging issues before adjourning late tonight or Tuesday.

Grisly murder trial enters defense stage

PRESTON, England (AP) — Blurred security videotapes, blood-stained clothing, 61 witnesses and one boy's tearful confession all have been used as evidence against two 11-year-olds charged with the grisly murder of a toddler.

After three weeks of grim evidence against the dark-haired, pudgy schoolmates, defense attorneys were to argue today that the pair did not realize what they did to 2-year-old James Bulger was seriously wrong.

The two boys were 10 when they skipped school on Feb. 12, went to a shopping mall and stole snacks, drinks and model paint until they got what the prosecution alleges they were after that day — a small child.

The pair, who can be identified only as Child A and Child B, are charged with abducting and murdering James, and attempting earlier to take another boy. Child B has confessed to killing James. Child A said he witnessed the stoning, but insisted in 6 hours of police questioning, "I never killed him."

Study: Health care will double by end of century

WASHINGTON (AP) — The health bill for the average American family is $7,739 this year with costs rising at a clip that will push the annual tab past $14,500 by the turn of the century, a consumer group says.

That's the conclusion of a study released today that calculated what families and businesses spend on health care both directly and indirectly through the tax system.

The health bill for each American family has tripled since 1980 when it was $2,590, according to a Families USA Foundation report drawn from newly released federal figures.

The $7,739 family bill counts everything individuals pay for health care — from doctor bills and insurance premiums to aspirin and bandages. Families bear two-thirds of these expenses ($5,190) and businesses the rest ($2,549).

Clam standing in way of bigger water supply

WILSON, N.C. (AP) — Water-starved yards and dirty cars, the legacy of this year's drought, dramatize this growing community's need for a bigger water supply. But the federal government and a tiny freshwater clam are standing in the way.

City plans for expansion of Buckhorn Reservoir, where water levels are so low that rock islands and large grassy patches poke to the surface, are clashing with the endangered dwarf wedge mussel that dwells in Buckhorn's tributaries.

The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Senate leaders say the Brady bill requiring a waiting period for handgun purchases is now certain to become law — it's just a matter of when and the fine print of the final compromise.

"It's one important step in many steps that must be taken to finally address the problem of violence in America," Attorney General Janet Reno said today on ABC's "Good Morning America."

The Senate passed a bill Saturday night that has a number of provisions — opposed by gun control advocates and the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms — not included in a House version cleared earlier.

"The question of timing remains up in the air, but the result is not in doubt," Senate Democratic Leader George Mitchell said Sunday on NBC's "Meet the Press." "It will become law."

Even Senate Republican leader Bob Dole, who voted against the Senate version, said on the same show: "I think it's time to move on. Let's move the Brady bill."

The question is, which one? Rep. Charles Schumer, D-N.Y., the bill's chief House sponsor, said the Senate version is unacceptable. He said he was willing to negotiate with Senate conferees but he understood that one of them, Sen. Larry Craig, R-Idaho and a member of the National Rifle Association board, was going to block any version other than the one passed by the Senate.

A Craig spokesman, David Fish, declined to give Craig's position.

The House was to appoint its conferees this morning, to be followed by a conference meeting of the two chambers.

It would be technically possible for the conferees to agree on a compromise and have both houses act on the final version before the Thanksgiving recess, but there was no suggestion that would happen.

Most of the Senate has left town — having been told there would be no more substantive votes this year — but key members remain and could pass legislation by voice vote if no member objected.

Schumer and the ATF oppose several Senate-passed provisions that would:

— Allow licensed dealers from different states to sell to others face to face. "This would allow traveling gun merchants to sell any guns out of the trunks of their cars," said

Schumer. "Now licensed gun dealers can only sell in the states in which they are licensed." Licenses have been relatively easy to obtain and are rarely revoked.

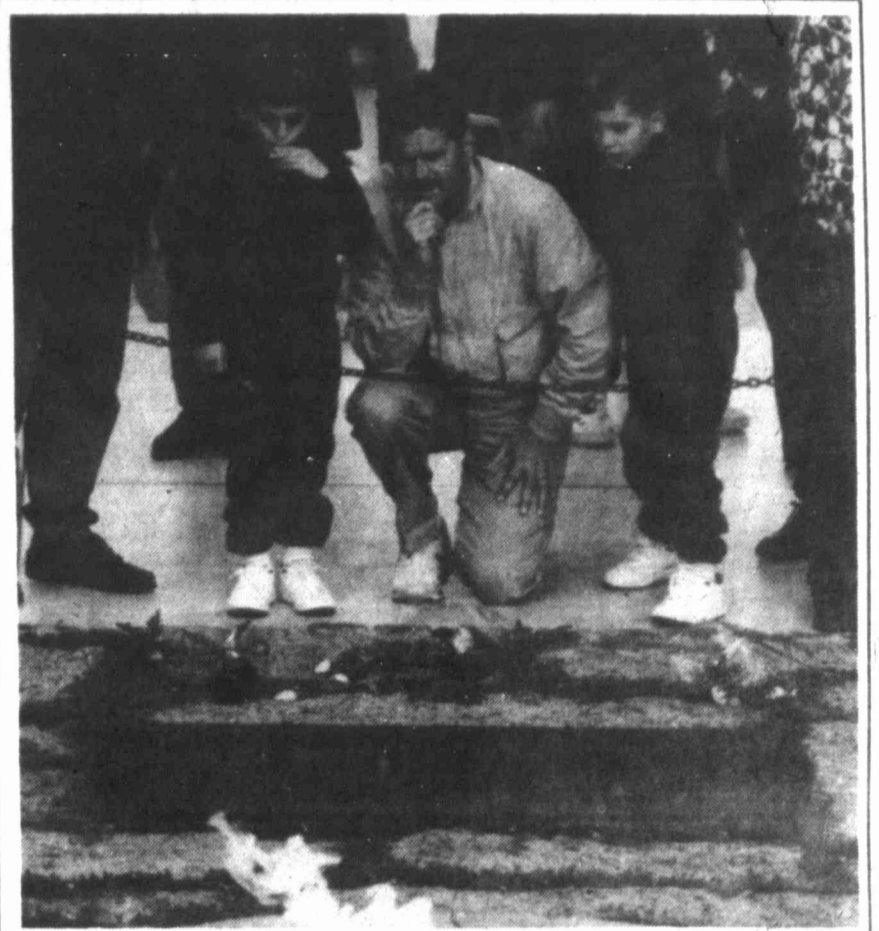

— Change the definition of an antique firearm from those made through 1898 to those made through 1918. Antique firearms other than machine guns are exempt from federal laws on ownership, including the ban on felons owning guns.

The Senate passed its version by a 63-36 vote late Saturday when Republicans dropped stalling tactics after winning some concessions on the bill.

Both versions require a five-business-day waiting period and a background check by law enforcement on would-be handgun purchasers.

Reno, appearing on CNN's "Late Edition," said Sunday, "Ninety-two percent of the American people support the Brady bill and it deserves to become law."

The bill is named for former White House press secretary James Brady, who was severely wounded during the 1981 assassination attempt on President Reagan. He and his wife Sarah have been pushing gun control since the mid-1980s.

Badly injured cave explorer rescued

The Associated Press

CORYDON, Ind. — Rescuers chiseled away rock inside a cave today and freed a cave explorer who fell 30 feet in a pit and was badly injured.

Kenny Carrigan of Indianapolis was injured Sunday afternoon at Birthday Plunge Cave about 25 miles west of Louisville, Ky. He was finally freed this morning, 18 hours after the accident, and was being taken to University Hospital, Humana, in Louisville.

Rescue crews worked through the night, first raising him from the bottom of a pit and then chipping away rock so that Carrigan could be lifted from the cave entrance.

"It's hard going. It's very hard going," Tom Sawtelle, assistant manager of the Wyandotte Woods recreation area, said prior to the rescue. The recreation area is part of Harrison Crawford State Forest.

Carrigan had a deep cut on his head and also an injured, possibly broken, pelvis, Sawtelle said. During the night, he received intravenous liquids and was kept warm with blankets and heating pads.

Carrigan, described as an experienced cave explorer who had taken part in rescuing other people, was with two other spelunkers when he slipped from a ledge about 100 feet deep inside the cave.

Elections a blow to discredited parties

The Associated Press

ROME — Fed up with corruption in mainstream politics, voters turned to candidates of the left and right — as well as the autonomy-minded Northern League — in mayoral elections, exit polls and projections showed.

The Christian Democrats and the Socialists, who have governed Italy for 45 years, were shut out in six major cities on Sunday, showing that voters had lost faith in both centrist parties ahead of national elections likely next year.

In one of the most closely watched races, Alessandra Mussolini, granddaughter of World War II dictator Benito Mussolini and a prominent neo-fascist herself, made it to a runoff in the Naples mayor's race.

More than 11 million Italians — one-quarter of the electorate — were eligible to vote in Sunday's races. Up for election were governments in 428 cities, three provinces and the region of Trentino-Alto Adige in northeastern Italy.

Turnout was reported heavy despite snow and rain up and down the peninsula.

The major tests were in Rome, Venice, Genoa, Trieste, Palermo and Naples. To win, a candidate must receive at least half the votes cast. If no candidate does, the top two vote-getters enter a Dec. 5 runoff election.

Mussolini garnered 30.8 percent of the vote — enough to force a runoff with her leftist rival, Antonio Bassolino, who led with 40.6 percent, according to a projection based on early results by the Doxa polling service for state-run TV.

In Rome, the neo-fascists scored another gain, with national party leader Gianfranco Fini reaching the runoff against Francesco Rutelli, a Parliament deputy backed by the Greens and ex-Communists. The Doxa projection gave Fini a slight edge, conflicting with Sunday's exit polls.

With 50 seats in Parliament, the neo-fascist party holds itself up as the heir to Mussolini's Fascist movement, stressing the need for public order, immigration controls and the death penalty, outlawed since World War II.

Brady Bill needs to become law

It's just a matter of compromise but the Brady Bill, after many long years and many setbacks, is about to become law.

The question, though, remains - when? The bill's sponsor, Rep. Charles Schumer, has said he is willing to negotiate with the Senate conferees but expects any version of the bill to be blocked by one particular member - Sen. Larry Craig, R-Idaho, a member of the National Rifle Association.

The House version of the bill was passed with a five-business-day waiting period to purchase a handgun intact. The bill also called for the creation of a national clearinghouse for checks on gun purchasers.

Will the Brady Bill be the sole answer to America's soaring crime rate? No, but it is one step on the way to finding an answer to that problem.

The Senate needs to act on this bill, find a compromise quickly and make it law.

The American public - 92 percent of them - have said it is time.

Thanksgiving season

Who celebrated first, the Pilgrims or Conquistadors?

A Pilgrim is any person who journeys to some sacred place for religious reasons.

A Conquistador is any of the Spanish conquerors of Peru and Mexico in the 16th century.

The Pilgrims came to a new place and established a colony at Plymouth, Mass., in 1620. We may not know all the reasons they left their motherland, England, but many were trying to escape injustices and unlawful prosecutions from a tyrant king.

Many were in pursuit of freedom of religion. These people encountered many hardships their first winter. The following spring the Indians taught them how to plant and make good use of the land.

After the first crops were harvested, the Pilgrims and Indians got together to celebrate - the first Thanksgiving. They gave thanks to God for their many blessings in spite of many hardships and sorrows.

The Conquistadors on the other hand were educated, elite, refined, and heroes. These soldiers left their motherland, Spain, to conquer and claim new lands, and to find gold for their queen and king.

They brought their culture and religion with them. Some historians have related that there was a Thanksgiving in or near El Paso a few years before or about the same time the Pilgrims had their Thanksgiving in Plymouth.

It really doesn't matter to me who had the first Thanksgiving. Thanksgiving is a special day to set aside to remind us that we should be thankful every day.

I can appreciate both cultures and the rich heritage that we have today from both the Pilgrims and the Conquistadors, as well as from many other cultures. I am very proud to be an American.

This season I am thankful for my life, health - a Christian, profession - job, colleagues, friends, many freedoms and privileges that we enjoy in our community. I also believe that one can eat turkey anytime, and not just for Thanksgiving. After all shouldn't every day be a Thanksgiving?

Rudy Gutierrez is Parental Involvement coordinator and elementary school attendance officer for Big Spring Independent School District. His column appears twice monthly on Monday.

Thanks for all these things

A friend waltzed across Texas and asked me to water her flowers while she was gone. She has lots of flowers. Or used to.

The first night the temperature nosed into the low 20s, I covered the flowerbeds with sheets and sat brooding in a silent panic. The next day I bought pansies.

I'm glad there's such a winter flower, the dainty, never-say-die bloom that puts color into our bleak hours. Just one more thing to be thankful for.

The days before Thanksgiving constitute my favorite season, mostly because there are so few ways to commercialize this holiday. No matter how you slice a turkey, the animal isn't sexy. It's nothing but a merchandising nightmare. And I'm thankful for that.

There's something downright healthy about sitting around listing the things we have to be thankful for. I recommend it.

Once a year I write this kind of column and - no matter how bad the year - never have trouble filling it.

I'm thankful for my job, even on days when the mail is a stuck-out tongue and all ideas have escaped through the hole in the ozone. My holding a job probably appears high on the Thanksgiving list of Ford Motor Co. and a couple of banks, too.

I'm thankful for my heater, a three-stack gas one that will run you right out of here. Central heat is convenient, I guess, but how do you stand in front of it and warm your backside?

I'm thankful for the privet hedge that hides the ugly silver bullet of a gas tank in the yard. Privet and professional football fans are proof that ugly things really do reproduce faster.

I'm grateful for those outdoor plastic chairs that have replaced the old webbed, aluminum traps. You can stand in the plastic models and reach high places. And there are not a bunch of useless aluminum frames stacked in the garage against the fantasy prospect that you'll someday get around to rewebbing.

I'm thankful to know that a couple or three unspoiled children are left on the planet; Jack and Katie Branson of Memphis come to mind.

Which reminds me, I'm glad I grew up on Captain Kangaroo, who invented the leisure suit, instead of during the era of Beavis and Butt-head. I came of age when children went trick-or-treating without their parents and came back alive.

I'm thankful for clocks that need winding; they make me feel useful. For a new nephew, Scott Reid, whose name sounds like he's destined to be either a lawyer or a full-back. For the smell of new books. For the blue of hydrangeas.

I am thankful Jerry Lee Lewis eluded the IRS by going to Ireland, even if I miss him. And that Mike Royko's still putting his finger on common sense and Paul Newman his money into liberal causes.

I'm thankful for black-and-white photography, the only kind that doesn't fade, and American cities without gambling casinos - if there are any left.

I'm most grateful for Auburn University's winning football season, the best kind: unexpected.

I'm thankful not to be represented in Washington by Newt Gingrich of Georgia. And that I've never been the subject of a Mike Wallace profile on "60 Minutes."

I'm thankful for public television and radio, the only reasons to own electronics. For the PBS series "The Great Depression," full of hungry faces and history's lessons, which we need to see.

I'm glad my friend made it back safe from Texas, took a look around, sighed and said the weather was not my fault.

I'm thankful she likes pansies.

Most of all, I'm thankful for my memories, the bittersweet kind that make you smile or weep, that take you back to long afternoons on warm, flat river rocks. Memories of songs that inspired spontaneous dances. Memories of late Sunday morning breakfasts, candles on the table for no good reason, three tulips in a little green vase. Memories of rocky Colorado roads that went nowhere but up.

Long faces, long lives

Scripps Howard News Service

A whole self-help industry has sprung up around that idea that a person can, through dogged good spirits, achieve better health. But a new longevity study by University of California psychologist Howard Friedman will wipe the smiles from a few faces.

Analyzing data collected on more than 1,000 men and women over a 60-year period, Dr. Friedman discovered that, contrary to the conventional wisdom and the best sellers, people who are merry, optimistic and care-free tend to live about 6 percent shorter lives than those who always look like they just buried their favorite puppy.

One explanation is that sanguine types pay less heed to dangers and health risks, convinced that somehow they'll come out all right. In any case, here at last is news about which the nation's long-faced mopes can be cheerful. But - careful, there - not too cheerful.

Reinventing smoke and mirrors

Scripps Howard News Service

The administration's popular "reinventing government" scheme was intended to make agencies efficient and user friendly - and also to close the "trust deficit," the administration said. But now the exercise is bogged down in disconcertingly inconsistent estimates of how much it will save.

The first slate of reinvention proposals sent to Capitol Hill would lower five-year costs by $5.9 billion, according to the White House. Notl retorts the Congressional Budget Office, which projects a paltry saving of $305 million.

Some of this eye-popping discrepancy can be traced to differing treatment of federal worker buyouts. The administration wants to offer $25,000 severance payments to employees who resign or retire early (to help meet the overall goal of reducing the work force by 252,000). Budgeteers at the Capitol cost the buyouts at $2 billion in the first five years - while the White House fudges the issue by assuming the payments will be funded through unspecified tightening of belts.

"Thus," said budget director Leon Panetta with wonderful aplomb, "the ultimate cost would be zero."

There, the perfect restorative for public trust: free lunch!

Lewis Grizzard

Mom's not the word for these mashed potatoes

Editor's Note: While Lewis Grizzard is on vacation, "best of Grizzard" columns will be re-run.

For weeks, I've been seeing a television commercial for this certain chain of restaurants. The commercial claimed it served home-cooking. "The kind Mom used to do."

I'm not going to name the restaurant chain. I've already got one libel suit pending.

But I will say I've spent the nearly three decades since I left the cooking Mama used to do, looking for something, anything, that came close to it.

I grew up at a fried chicken, pork chops, pot roast and fresh vegetable table, with corn bread or Mama's home-made biscuits on the side.

I must have this sort of food at least once a week or be struck by the dreaded bland-food poisoning.

That's because I have to eat a lot of airline food, as well as hotel food. The airlines and hotels get together each year and plan their menus. Steak au Gristle and Chicken a la Belch.

So I gave this chain a try. I walked into one of its restaurants and looked over the menu. There was no fried chicken or pork chops.

But there was country fried steak and pot roast. I decided to go for the pot roast.

"Can I get mashed potatoes and gravy with the pot roast?" I asked the waitress.

"Sure," she answered.

The rot roast was so-so. The gravy was suspect. One bite of the mashed potatoes, and I knew. I called the waitress back over.

"I would take it as a personal favor if you would be perfectly honest with me," I said. "These mashed potatoes came out of a box, didn't they?"

The waitress dropped her eyes for a brief second. Then, she looked up and said, apologetically, "Yes, they did."

I hate mashed potatoes that come out of a box. When God created the mashed potato, I am certain the Bible points out somewhere, he had no intention of anybody goofing around and coming up with mashed potatoes from a box.

He meant for real potatoes to be used. You peel them, you cut them into little pieces and put them in a pot of boiling water. You put in some salt and pepper, and then you add some butter and maybe even a little sour cream and then you beat them and stir them and you've got biblically correct mashed potatoes.

I realized the waitress didn't have anything to do with the fact the restaurant served mashed potatoes from a box in a place that advertised Mama's cooking. What an affront to mothers everywhere! That was upper management's doing.

So when I paid my bill, reluctantly, because there should have been a warning on the menu that the mashed potatoes weren't really mashed potatoes, I did have a word with the assistant manager who took my money anyway.

"May the Lord forgive you for ye know not what you do, you potato ruiner."

I think he thought I was some sort of religious nut. He was still waiting for me to hand him a pamphlet and ask him for money as I walked out the door.

Mashed potatoes from a box! That's what's wrong with this country. That, and non-alcoholic beer, instant grits, canned biscuits, soybean anything, frozen french fries, fake flowers, staged photo opportunities for politicians running for reelection, tanning salons, and yogurt masquerading as vanilla ice cream.

What's real anymore? Computerized voices talk to me at the airport. I phone a friend and I talk to a machine. Musical stars are lip-synching it.

Did somebody mention silicone implants? As soon as I make the world safe from boxed mashed potatoes, I'll get around to that.

It's a matter of priorities, you know. 1993 by Cowles Syndicate, Inc.

President John F. Kennedy is slumped down in the backseat of his car after being shot on Nov. 22, 1963. Jacqueline Kennedy leans over the president as an unidentified Secret Service agent clings to the rear of the car. Today is the 30th anniversary of Kennedy's death.

Echoes of gunfire

30 years later, question of who shot Kennedy still remains

EDITOR'S NOTE — Americans in growing numbers reject the conclusion that Lee Harvey Oswald, acting alone, fired the shots that killed President John F. Kennedy and wounded former Texas Gov. John Connally. After three decades and countless books and TV specials, the conspiracy issue threatens to overshadow both the Kennedy legend and legacy.

MIKE COCHRAN
Associated Press Writer

DALLAS — In death as in life, John Connally could not escape the echoes of gunfire 30 years ago in Dealey Plaza.

As the former Texas governor lay in state in Austin this summer, researchers were demanding bullet fragments from his body. They insisted tests would prove President John F. Kennedy's slaying was the result of a conspiracy.

"It's an appalling attempt to capitalize on Governor Connally's death to gain publicity for worn-out theories," said Julian Read, a Connally confidant.

The attempt failed. The fragments from the horror of November 1963 were buried with Connally. But the theories were not.

Indeed, they have never been more pronounced than today, as a generation of Americans born after the assassination reaches adulthood.

It is almost as if the trauma of Kennedy's death and the memory of his Camelot cannot compete with the clamor about conspiracy.

The question these three decades later, it seems, is not "Who was JFK?"

It is "Who killed JFK?"

The sky was overcast that Friday morning, but the autumn sun melted away the chill and the cloud cover as Air Force One made the short hop from Fort Worth to Dallas Love Field.

It was Nov. 22, 1963. At the urging of local politicians, Kennedy ordered the reflective glass shield atop the presidential limousine removed.

"We can't have you hiding from the people," one official complained. And, after all, politics had brought the president to Texas, a pivotal and worrisome state in his 1964 re-election plans.

Huge, enthusiastic crowds greeted the motorcade. Kennedy, his wife Jackie at his side, smiled and waved from the back seat. Up front, John and Nellie Connally beamed at the Texas welcome.

Just before 12:30 p.m., the motorcade slipped out of the glass and steel canyons of downtown and zigzagged toward Elm Street and a drab, seven-story brick building.

Moments before the limousine reached the Texas School Book Depository, Mrs. Connally turned to Kennedy. And in one of the ironies of history, she said, "No one can say Dallas doesn't love and respect you, Mr. President."

"You sure can't," he replied. The first shot sounded like a firecracker. The second and third shots were unmistakably gunfire.

In 1964, the Warren Commission concluded that three shots were fired on the motorcade, all from the depository building's sixth floor and all by Lee Harvey Oswald.

Soon, however, the first wave of conspiracy buffs were arguing over how many shots were fired, from where and by whom. The grassy knoll next to the book warehouse would become, as one writer called it, "an elevation on the American landscape as prominent as Mount Rushmore."

Significantly, no one reported seeing a second gunman that day, and virtually everyone reported hearing no more than three shots.

Even so, the Warren Report came under attack almost immediately, and a zealous district attorney in New Orleans launched an investigation that eventually resulted in the only criminal trial connected to the bloodshed in Dallas.

Jim Garrison prosecuted businessman Clay Shaw on conspiracy charges in a trial that included 34 days of testimony and less than an hour of jury deliberations. After the acquittal, Garrison arrested Shaw for perjury, but the courts dismissed the case, branding it outrageous and inexcusable persecution.

Thirty years later, surveys show that more than eight out of 10 Americans do not accept the basic conclusion that Oswald, a lifetime misfit, was the lone assassin.

Yet, as so many reject the commission's finding, the Kennedy family itself accepts it.

The slain president's brother, Sen. Edward Kennedy, has refused to debate conspiracy theorists or comment on their contentions, but he complained recently when informed a new book would contain autopsy photographs and enhanced pictures of the shooting from the Zapruder film.

"This is the ultimate and most heartbreaking exploitation of President Kennedy," he said, "and it deeply saddens me."

At the heart of most conspiracy arguments is whether the same bullet — the so-called Magic Bullet — could have passed through Kennedy's upper back and caused the wounds suffered by Connally.

The two were struck almost at the same instant. If the same bullet could not have wounded both men, there had to have been a second bullet — and therefore a second gunman.

A new book by lawyer-journalist Gerald Posner offers a case for the single-bullet theory that adheres to the government's basic conclusion.

While relentlessly denounced by conspiracy buffs, Posner's "Case Closed" has reaped mainstream acclaim.

Posner explains how medical expertise combined with computerized re-enactments, special enhancements of the Zapruder film and new bullet-impact tests prove the single-bullet theory. Accordingly, Oswald's first shot missed, the second hit both Kennedy and Connally and the third indisputably was the fatal Kennedy head shot.

"This case has indeed been closed by Mr. Posner's work," said presidential biographer Stephen

Falcons stun Cowboys; Leg injury downs Smith

By The Associated Press

ATLANTA — Suddenly, the Atlanta Falcons are a force. And without Troy Aikman and Emmitt Smith, the Dallas Cowboys found trouble.

Atlanta, which blanked the Los Angeles Rams 13-0 last week, beat the defending Super Bowl champion 27-13 Sunday, ending the Cowboys' seven-game winning streak. And they knocked out Smith with a quadriceps injury two minutes before halftime.

"This is going to pick up the tempo for the rest of the season," said Atlanta linebacker Jessie Tuggle, who led the Falcons with nine tackles.

Smith ran the ball only one time for a yard and caught four for nine yards before the injury. He was hit while quarterback Bernie Kosar, starting in place of the injured Aikman, scrambled.

Still, Smith said he might be able to play in Thursday's game against Miami.

"I'll take whatever treatment it takes and see how it goes," Smith said.

Dallas lost two straight before Smith ended his holdout.

"We haven't had one of these in a long time," Smith said of the loss.

"But we'll just have to put it behind us. The great thing about it is that we can go again three days."

Dallas coach Jimmy Johnson said he was disgusted — he said that was a mild term — with the way the Cowboys played.

"But I also know this — and this may be the most important thing — it is a long season, and one game does not make a season," he said. "We'll be back."

Atlanta (4-6), which won for the fourth time in five games, led 13-0 at halftime.

"Some people said we wouldn't be here for this ball game," Atlanta coach Jerry Glanville said. "But not only did we show up, we did a great job."

Quarterback Bobby Hebert completed 24 of 32 passes for 315 yards and three touchdowns — 13 and 10 yards to Mike Pritchard and a 70-yarder to Deion Sanders. Norm Johnson kicked field goals of 26 and 24 yards and extended his streak without a miss to 24, third-longest in NFL history.

Atlanta's defense, last in the league after a 31-24 loss to Tampa Bay two weeks ago, hadn't been scored upon in eight quarters until Kosar connected on a 1-yard touchdown pass to Scott Galbraith with 41 seconds left in the third period. But Atlanta had built a 20-0 lead before the score.

Dallas' other touchdown came with 1:30 left on a 28-yard pass from Kosar to Kevin Williams.

The running of Erric Pegram and the short passing of Hebert combined to hold off the Cowboys in the first half. Dallas gained just 25 yards on 14 plays and had one first down in the first two quarters.

Dallas gained 230 yards for the game, the first time all season the Cowboys were held under 300.

"The key was we stopped their running game," Tuggle said. "We shut down the run and kept them off the field. We showed a lot of people we could play football."

Injured Dallas Cowboy running back Emmitt Smith (22) is taken off the field in Atlanta Sunday. Smith suffered a leg injury — a bruised quadriceps — and is questionable for Dallas' game with Miami Thursday.

Oilers burn Browns; Chiefs fall

By The Associated Press

At Cleveland, Marcus Robertson made three of Houston's four interceptions as the Oilers matched the longest winning streak in team history with their fifth straight victory.

Gary Brown ran for 194 yards for the Oilers (6-4). Houston also recovered a fumble and blocked a punt.

Cleveland (5-5) lost its second straight game since coach Bill Belichick cut quarterback Bernie Kosar. Belichick was booed at the start of the game and crowd chanted "Bill Must Go!" at the end.

Bears 19, Chiefs 17

At Kansas City, Mo., Jeremy Lincoln's interception led to Neal

Anderson's 1-yard touchdown run with 3:09 left as Chicago beat the Chiefs (7-3).

Dave Krieg's pass was bobbled by Jonathan Hayes, and Lincoln intercepted. Three plays later, Anderson scored.

Marcus Allen had two short touchdown runs in the first 19 minutes for Kansas City. Kevin Butler had two field goals later in the first half for the Bears (5-5).

Giants 7, Eagles 3

At Philadelphia, New York got the only offense it needed when Phil Simms threw a 26-yard touchdown pass to Mark Jackson on the first play of the fourth quarter.

The Giants (7-3) won at Veterans

Stadium for the first time since 1987. They also surpassed last year's record of 6-10.

Philadelphia (4-6) has lost six straight, its worst skid since a seven-game string in 1983. Eagles-quarterbacks Ken O'Brien and Bubby Brister were ineffective.

Broncos 37, Steelers 13

At Denver, John Elway found holes in the NFL's No. 1 defense, passing for 276 yards and one touchdown.

Elway and the Broncos (6-4) led 20-0 at halftime. He threw for 230 yards in the first two quarters; Pittsburgh's defense was allowing an average of 226 yards per game.

Pittsburgh (6-4) was missing injured Barry Foster. His replacement, Leroy Thompson, fumbled at Denver's 5 on Pittsburgh's first possession.

Dolphins 17, Patriots 13

At Miami, Steve DeBerg, the oldest player in the NFL at 39, threw two touchdown passes in the fourth quarter that rallied the Dolphins over New England.

DeBerg completed 16 of 27 passes for 252 yards and no interceptions. He signed as a free agent after an injury to Scott Mitchell, who took over when Dan Marino was lost for the season.

Miami (8-2) beat the Patriots for the ninth straight time. New England (1-9) has lost five games in a row, the last four by a total of 11 points.

Bills 23, Colts 9

At Orchard Park, N.Y., Jim Kelly came back from last week's concussion and guided Buffalo past Indianapolis. Kelly was injured in a 23-0 loss to Pittsburgh on Monday night.

Thurman Thomas ran for 116 yards for Buffalo (8-2). The Colts (3-7) lost for the sixth time in seven games.

Jets 17, Bengals 12

At East Rutherford, N.J., Boomer Esiason passed Ken Stabler as the NFL's career passing leader among left-handed quarterbacks, and led New York over his former team.

Portugal signs with Giants

MILLBRAE, Calif. — To become a member of the San Francisco Giants, Mark Portugal had to overcome his rejection by the Houston Astros and his childhood loyalty to the Los Angeles Dodgers.

PORTUGAL

"It's kind of funny being here, because I grew up outside of Los Angeles and never really liked the Giants," the right-hander said Sunday after agreeing to an $11 million, three-year deal with the Giants.

Now the 31-year-old pitcher sees a lot to like — a team favored to win a realigned NL West and a chance to play in the World Series.

By signing Portugal, the Giants addressed their most critical need, starting pitching. He was 18-4 last season with a 2.77 ERA, winning his final 12 decisions for the Houston Astros.

Portugal, who made $2,095,000 last season, gets a $1 million signing bonus, $2 million in 1994, $3.6 million in 1995 and $4 million in 1996. San Francisco's option for 1997 is for $4.25 million with a $400,000 buyout, but becomes guaranteed if Portugal makes 30 starts or pitches 200 innings in 1996.

Stich beats Sampras in ATP final

FRANKFURT, Germany — Michael Stich became the new No. 2 in the world by beating Pete Sampras 7-6, 2-6, 7-6, 6-2 Sunday to win the ATP Tour World Championship.

The loss in the last match of the tour season left a little blemish on Sampras' record but didn't change his No. 1 ranking.

Stich won $1.24 million for his sixth title of the year and became the second straight German to win the tour-ending event. Boris Becker won last year but failed to qualify this time.

Graf wins Virginia Slims

NEW YORK — Steffi Graf didn't want to work any longer than necessary.

Complaining about her back and coming off foot surgery, Graf captured her third Virginia Slims Championships title Sunday, beating Arantxa Sanchez Vicario 6-1, 6-4, 3-6, 6-1.

The world's No. 1 female player earned $250,000, bringing her total to a women's single-season record $2,853,837 and boosting her career total to more than $13 million.

NHL, referees resume negotiations

NEW YORK (AP) — The NHL and its striking referees and linesmen resumed negotiations Sunday after a week of silence.

The five-hour meeting was held at an airport hotel near Hartford, Conn., NHL spokesman Arthur Pincus said. There was no word of any developments in the talks, but Pincus said both sides agreed to speak by phone Monday.

Don Meehan, chief negotiator for the 58 members of the NHL Officials Association, returned to Toronto after Sunday's session. Neither he nor NHL commissioner Gary Bettman was immediately available for comment.

Sands' Neil Allen (88) and another Sands defender bring down Sierra Blanca quarterback Troy Canaba (10) Friday in a six-man regional playoff game. Sierra Blanca won, 36-20.

Local football finally finished Friday

Well, shoot-fire and dawl-gurn-it all, another high school football season has come and gone in our little corner of the world.

With Sands bowing out of the playoff picture Friday night, every high school in the Herald coverage area is now concentrating on basketball.

Which means a certain two-man sports staff can shelve football for another year.

Back in August, when most of you lucky stiffs were working on your tans or sipping on your mint juleps or whatever, Hoosier Hargrave and I were making like the proverbial bees, working our tails off to get ready for another football season.

I don't remember the exact moment — maybe it was while I was typing my umpteenth preview story — but it was around that time that I first uttered the immortal words, "Ye Gods! I'll be glad when football season is over!"

It was a saying that was repeated many times over the following three months.

I have lived in West Texas for most of my life, and it still amazes me at times how much folks around here love their high school football. And since many of those football fanatics also subscribe to the Herald, this means that a certain two-man sports staff better do everything in its power to give the sport the best coverage possible.

Steve Reagan

Hey, no one ever accused me of not knowing who buttered my bread.

Anyway, football demanded — and received — a lot of our attention the past few months. With 11 area schools to cover, time management was of the essence.

Dave and I basically checked our personal lives at the door, and devoted much of our time to the goings-on with the Steers, Bulldogs, Buffaloes, etc.

And there were the other sports that deserved coverage, like tennis, cross country and volleyball. Then, with football season still going strong, the Howard College basketball teams decided to join the crowd.

It was the best of times, it was the worst of ... Sorry, got a bit distracted there.

Don't get me wrong, I enjoy football almost as much as a Texas Rangers' game, which is quite a lot. But there were times when the routine seemed just a bit too much, especially when someone would rag on us for having the audacity to pick against the Steers, Bulldogs, Buffaloes, etc.

But we survived quite nicely, and we saw some really good football along the way. The Coahoma-Rotan and Greenwood-Kermit games were among the best I've ever seen, and I will remember them for a long time.

Of course, I'll also remember the night I almost froze my hmm-hmm off in Loraine, but why dwell on the negative?

There were plenty of outstanding individual performances this season. Big Spring's Lonnie Jackson, Borden County's Cody Cox, Sands' Heath Gillespie, Stanton's running combo of Jerele Lee and Ricky Lucas ... this area had more than its share of top-notch ballplayers.

And if none of these players and their teams achieved state championships, so what? To quote the cliché, they gave us plenty of thrills and chills this season.

Not a bad way to spend your Friday nights, wouldn't you agree?

Dallas dethrones LA Kings

By The Associated Press

DALLAS — The Dallas Stars and Los Angeles Kings continue in opposite directions in the NHL's Western Conference.

Dallas got the second go-ahead goal in as many nights from defenseman Paul Cavallini and went on to its fifth victory in its last six games, beating the Kings 7-4 Sunday night.

Dallas improved to 7-1-4 at home this season. The game featuring NHL leading scorer Wayne Gretzky drew the third total sell-out at Reunion Arena in the Stars' inaugural NHL season.

"It's exciting in this building," Stars right wing Russ Courtnall said. "This is our home, and it's important for us to play well in front of our fans. We hate to lose here."

Mike Donnelly and Luc Robitaille had two goals each for the stumbling Kings, who lost for the fifth time in their past six games.

Gretzky had only one assist. Gretzky knew he was in for a tough night against Dallas' big, physical defense. He finished with only one shot on goal.

"They're a big, tough team," Gretzky said. "They're going to play hard. The thing is, when things go bad, you've just got to go back to work. There's nothing fancy, no magical answers."

"We just wanted to play hard against him," Stars coach Bob Gainey said. "He's not an easy guy to shut down. He got a few chances tonight, but luckily for us we were able to keep him from scoring a goal."

Seven different Stars scored goals Sunday, but none was bigger than Cavallini's tally at 4:46 of the third period.

His second goal of the season snapped a 4-4 tie, then Ulf Dahlen and Mike McPhee added insurance scores against Kings goalie Dave Govere, making his first start of the season.

Cavallini's first goal of the season sent the Stars ahead for good in Saturday night's 4-3 victory over the Calgary Flames.

Rookie lights up Philadelphia; Mavs fall again

By The Associated Press

The Philadelphia 76ers learned what Kansas and Illinois learned last year: Lindsay Hunter can shoot.

Hunter, a rookie from Jackson State, scored 23 points Sunday and played the entire game at point guard in the Detroit Pistons' 103-89 victory over the 76ers.

He set the tone early with three 3-pointers in the first three minutes to put Detroit ahead 14-4.

"I was wide open," Hunter said. "I guess they thought I couldn't shoot." They were wrong.

Hunter proved he could shoot last year when he averaged 26.7 points — fifth best in the country. He had 48 points against Kansas. He had 43 against Illinois, with 39 in the second half.

"During the exhibition season, everyone got excited about his one-on-one showmanship, but that's not what you want from a point guard," Pistons coach Don Chaney said. "Right now, he's getting everyone involved, and he has court vision, which he had been lacking."

Hunter, subbing for Isiah Thomas while the All-Star recovers from a broken hand, also had five assists and only one turnover. He was 9 of 20 from the field and 3 of 7 from 3-point range.

"They didn't tell me to expect 48 points, but it happened and I really didn't mind," Hunter said. "I was feeling really relaxed, and it really didn't bother me."

The Pistons, up by 11 at halftime, pulled ahead 75-53 as the 76ers hit just three of their first 14 shots in the third quarter.

Bill Laimbeer led the Pistons with 25 points, 13 in the fourth quarter, while Sean Elliott added 22. Tim Perry led the 76ers with 17 points and nine rebounds. Detroit shot 55 percent to 42 percent for Philadelphia.

"That's the difference in the game right there," 76ers coach Fred Carter said. "You can't let any team shoot 55 percent."

In other games, New Jersey defeated Los Angeles 105-102. Chicago beat Sacramento 103-101 and Portland downed Dallas 103-90.

Nets 105, Lakers 102

At East Rutherford, N.J., the Nets snapped a three-game losing streak and kept the Lakers winless on the road.

Kevin Edwards scored 23 points and Derrick Coleman and Kenny Anderson each added 21. The Nets, who had lost five of their previous six games, went into the fourth quarter trailing 84-77, but reeled off the first 10 points.

The Lakers had a chance to tie at the end, but a 3-point attempt by Nick Van Exel with 3 seconds to go fell off the side of the rim. Sedale Threatt led the Lakers with 30.

"The game was there for us to win," said Lakers forward Doug Christie.

Kings 103, Bulls 101

At Sacramento, Calif., Walt Williams was back in the Kings lineup after missing the first few weeks of the season with a stress fracture in his left leg.

"It felt pretty good. I worked really hard on it while I was on the injured list and I wasn't very tired out there. It felt good to get out there and run," Williams said after scoring 17 points.

Mitch Richmond had 28 as Sacramento beat the Bulls for the first time since the 1989-90 season. Wayne Tisdale also scored 17 points to help the Kings snap a four-game losing streak.

Trail Blazers 103, Mavs 90

At Portland, Ore., Clyde Drexler shook off a slow start to score 10 of his 20 points in the third period to spark Portland. Clifford Robinson added 18 for Portland, which sent the Mavericks to their fifth straight loss.

Drexler played only 11 minutes in the first half, scoring seven points and committing five turnovers. For Dallas, Jamal Mashburn scored 21 points, 18 in the first half, and Jim Jackson added 20.

The Jets (6-4) won their fourth straight, their longest streak since 1986. Cincinnati (0-10) remained the league's only winless team.

Esason, the AFC's passing leader, was acquired from the Bengals in the offseason. He threw for 192 yards and increased his lifetime total to 28,130, moving ahead of lefty Kenny Stabler.

Packers 26, Lions 17

At Milwaukee, Chris Jacke kicked four field goals and Edgar Bennett scored on two short runs, leading Green Bay over Detroit.

Jacke's 34-yard kick with 9:03 left put the Packers ahead for good. Green Bay stopped the Lions' four-game winning streak.

Barry Sanders gained 75 yards on 17 carries for Detroit. Sanders, Eric Dickerson and Tony Dorsett are the only runners to gain 1,000 yards in each of their first five seasons.

Raiders 12, Chargers 7

At San Diego, Jeff Jaeger's four field goals were enough to send Los Angeles past the Chargers. He had a pair of 20-yarders in the first half, a 37-yard kick in the third quarter and a 27-yarder in the fourth period.

Los Angeles (6-4) won for the fourth time in six games. Stan Humphries played for the first time in six weeks for San Diego (4-6), but was only 8-for-12 for 84 yards.

Rams 10, Redskins 6

At Anaheim, Calif., T.J. Rubley took over for Jim Everett late in the third quarter and led Los Angeles over Washington. Rubley threw a touchdown pass and guided the Rams on another drive to a field goal.

In a game between two teams with quarterback troubles, the Rams (3-7) stopped a five-game losing streak. The Redskins (2-8) did not score a touchdown for the second consecutive week and have lost eight of nine.

Buccaneers 23, Vikings 10

TAMPA, Fla. — With their top two running backs injured, the Tampa Bay Buccaneers called on Vince Workman to carry a heavy load against the Minnesota Vikings.

Workman more than doubled his season rushing total Sunday night and also caught seven passes for 65 yards in a 23-10 victory that knocked the Vikings out of a tie for second place in the NFC Central.

Craig Erickson threw 27 yards to Horace Copeland to set up Workman's 1-yard, fourth-quarter touchdown run and Milton Mack returned an interception 27 yards for a TD on the second play after halftime for Tampa Bay (3-7).

The Bucs, who lost their previous two games, entered Sunday ranked 26th in the NFL in offense and defense.

Workman said

"I hope this is a turning point," Workman said. "You can see us coming together as a team. The offensive line did a great job of opening holes, and Craig made some great moves to get the ball to me."

The loss was the third in four games for Minnesota (5-5), which could have joined Green Bay in moving within one game of Detroit in the race for the division title. The Packers beat the Lions 26-17 earlier in the day.

"Tampa Bay outplayed us in every phase of the game," said Minnesota coach Dennis Green. "I thought we could still get back in it until the seven-minute mark, but we could not get in position to win it."

Workman, an off-season free agent acquisition who had rushed for only 53 yards in nine games, gained 58 on 20 carries in the absence of Reggie Cobb and Gary Anderson.

Dear Abby - Letters...

Vaccinations protect against killer

DEAR ABBY: Thank you for informing the public about hepatitis B by printing the excellent letter from Thelma King Thiel, president of the American Liver Foundation. I would like to add three points about this disease and the national recommendations for its prevention.

First, as a family physician, I want the public to know that in addition to the American Academy of Pediatrics and the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, the American Academy of Family Physicians also recommends the routine vaccination of all infants against hepatitis B.

Second, all pregnant women should be tested for hepatitis B during pregnancy to make sure they are not silent carriers of this disease. If undetected, hepatitis B can be passed to their infants, and may cause liver failure or liver cancer. The testing of all pregnant women has been a national recommendation since 1988.

And third, please urge parents to check their babies' shot records to make sure they have been vaccinated against both hepatitis B and Haemophilus influenza B. These vaccines are both recommended for all infants. Although their names are similar, the vaccines are different. — DEBORAH L. WEXLER, M.D., EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR, HEPATITIS B COALITION

DEAR DR. WEXLER: Thank you for a valuable letter. Readers who want more information on hepatitis B should send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to: Hepatitis B Coalition, 417 University Avenue West, St. Paul, Minn. 55103.

DEAR ABBY: A neighbor of mine who is also a good friend had a two-pack-a-day cigarette habit. She promised her husband she DENNIS THE MENACE wouldn't smoke anymore, so she started chewing tobacco as a substitute.

Abby, it's bad enough to see a tobacco-chewing man looking for someplace to spit, but seeing a woman do it is really disgusting.

She claims a lot of women chew, but few people know about it. I have told her it looks terrible to have tobacco juice gathering in the corners of her mouth, but the poor soul has the habit so bad, she can't quit.

Will you please ask your readers to pray for her? —MOLLY MAE

DEAR MOLLY MAE: An entire nation could pray for her, but the Lord needs her cooperation. An addiction (and chewing tobacco is an addiction) is an "undo-it-yourself" project.

The American Cancer Society offers Fresh Start classes nationwide that include chewing tobacco addiction, as well as a self-help guide for those who prefer to quit on their own (or with a friend). Your neighbor can obtain information on a Fresh Start class nearest her, or a copy of the self-help guide, by calling the society's national, toll-free number at (800) ACS-2345.

DEAR ABBY: Can you stand one more name story?

I was watching television with my family some years ago, when my 13-year-old daughter asked me during a commercial, "Mom, is Betty Crocker married?"

Before I could answer, my 7-year-old son piped up, "Of course."

Indignantly, my daughter challenged her brother with, "Who is she married to?"

Without hesitation, my son very seriously replied, "To General Mills, of course."

Hope you enjoy this — we usually agree on everything, Abby. — MURIEL MUNRO, GLENDALE, ARIZ.

DENNIS DOESN'T WANT A CLASSIC THANKSGIVING DINNER. HE SAID IT WOULD TAKE ALL THE FUN OUT OF IT FOR THE TURKEY.
