Plans re-opening when new building completed

By JOHN A. MOSELEY News Editor

At least 30 people will join the ranks of the unemployed Monday when the Furr's Cafeteria in Big Spring closes its doors to await the construction of a new cafeteria.

According to Furr's manager Gene Slotke, Sunday will be the cafeteria's final day of operation until a new building is available, and construction of the new facility will take at least four to five months.

"It all depends on when we'll be able to start construction work," Slotke explained. "Once the site is plumbed . utilities and sewer made available ... we're looking at four to five months to completion."

In the interim, he added, the cafeteria's 30 employees, not including management personnel, will be eligible for unemployment benefits and will be able to make COBRA payments to keep their group insurance benefits.

"Any of them that decide to look for other employment will be given a good recommendation," Slotke said, "and they'll all be eligible for rehire when we open the new cafeteria."

While Slotke will not join his employees at the Texas Employment Commission office Monday morning, he will begin commuting between his home in Big Spring and one of the Furr's cafeteria locations in Midland.

"My home's here in Big Spring, and believe me, I'd like to be able to stay here and work here," Slotke said. "But I have to adjust just like everyone else.

Circumstances, he added, have proved to be considerably different than he and his employees planned when it was first announced that Wal-Mart Stores Inc. had purchased Highland Mall's site as the location of its new injuries he received in a Tuesday morning accident.

According to DPS reports, 36-year-old trooper Mike Dawson was seated in the front seat of his patrol vehicle, interviewing the driver from a previous accident which occurred on ice-slickened Interstate 20 Tuesday morning when two other vehicles lost control on the ice, collided with one another and then careened into the parked patrol vehicle.

The report shows a 1993 Ford, driven by Lisa Ann Ingram, 19, of Big Spring, and a 1988 Ford van. driven by John Andrew Miranda, 33, of Odessa, were both eastbound on I-20 when they hit a patch of ice on the highway and both drivers lost control.

The two vehicles slammed into each other and continued off the roadway where Ingram's vehicle collided with the rear end of Dawson's patrol vehicle.

Dawson, who complained of losing feeling in his legs and being unable to walk, was transported to the hospital by an ambulance.

None of the other drivers, including 38-year-old Juan Antonio Perez, whom Dawson was interviewing at the time of the accident, were injured.

175 visitors trekked through in January

By TIM JONES

Staff Writer

January saw a total of 175 tourists visiting Big Spring including 12 Russian visitors.

According to a report by the Tourist Information Center, 57 percent were from Texas; 43 percent traveled from 20 different states and two foreign countries spending a total of 305 nights in motels with 28 camping out for the night.

There were five people visiting from Canada along with the 12 from Russia. Residents from Arizona, California, Colorado, Illinois, Kansas, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, New Mexico, North Carolina, Oklahoma and Vermont also spent time in Big Spring in January.

The center, inside the Rip Griffin Truck Stop-Gift Shop/Convenience Store, is managed by part-time coordinator Mamie Lee Dodds, a part-time employee of the Convention and Visitors Bureau, and staffed by volunteers. Many of the volunteers are from the Retired Seniors Volunteer Program.

RSVP volunteers manned the center for 184 hours in January. They were Bill Birrell, Art Dodds, Mamie Lee Dodds, Wanda Erickson, La Wanda Hamm, Lou Hill, Jennie Lawson, Norma Perkins, Doyce Piper and Frances and Robert Pope.

- Five non-RSVP volunteers totaled up 31 hours; they were Mable Beene, Margaret Cooper, Evelyn Delatour, Clarence Hatfield Jr. and Harold Bentley.

Tourism for non-metropolitan areas, which includes Big Spring, showed a 5 percent increase in revenues in the last quarter of 1993, with a slight increase in occupancy and revenue per room, according to Texas Department of Commerce reports.

Metropolitan areas are defined as a city of at least 50,000 population or an urbanized area of 50,000 with a metropolitan area of at least 100,000.

> West Texas may have never looked so good as it did to Big Spring's Lucille Hopper when she returned home a couple of weeks ago after having been in the Los Angeles area when it experienced the Northridge earthquake.

In fact, Hopper says she was somewhat more spiritual the moment she boarded the plane which brought her home. "The minute I got on the plane, all I could think was 'Lord, thank you. I'm going home."

Hopper noted just how unsettling the experience was - even for longtime Los Angeles residents - by explaining that she spent 20 years living in the area, and is no stranger to Southern California's quakes.

"I've been through them before, but I can't remember any of them having as many strong and sustained aftershocks like this one," she explained.

Luckily, Hopper and her family were at her brother's home in Hemet, a city in the southern Los Angeles area when the quake hit placing her something like 100 miles from the epicenter. "It was strong enough to get me out of bed, that's for sure," she said. "The next day we were at my son's home in Long Beach and you could feel the aftershocks very strongly." To give some idea of the difference, Hopper noted that Los Angeles television stations were showing live pictures of the aftershocks as they'd occur. "While we were in Hemet, I could count to 15 after they'd show one of the smaller quakes happening and then we'd feel it," she explained.

Lucille Hopper of Big Spring sits at her dining room table and displays one of the Los Angeles area newspapers she brought home after having experienced the Northridge earthquake while visiting family last month.

Hopper said all of her family members, including a sister and daughter and their families, all lived far enough from Northridge to have their homes escape damage.

However, she admitted that even the most seasoned of Los Angeles' residents become rattled at such times

"The initial quake, which is usually the worst one, happens so quickly and unexpectedly that you're not scared," she explained. "It's the aftershocks ... and this time there were an unusual number of stronger ones ... something like 30 of them between 4.0 and 5.3 on the Richter scale ... that are the problem. ## Victim's father vents rage at convicted killer

HOUSTON (AP) - Moments after a judge sentenced a Houston teenager to death for his role in the gang rape and strangulation deaths of two young girls, the father of one of the victims was allowed to vent his rage at the condemned man.

Jurors decided Wednesday that Pete Cantu, 19, should die by injection for his role in the brutal strangulation deaths of Jennifer Ertman, 14, and Elizabeth Pena, 16.

The girls, who stumbled onto the gang initiation while taking a shortcut in northwest Houston, were raped for an hour before being strangled with shoelaces, a belt and stomps to the throat, a witness said.

After sentencing Cantu to death, District Judge William Harmon allowed Randy Ertman to address Cantu as the jury and a courtroom filled with spectators watched and listened Ertman walked over close to the railing separating the defense table from the spectators' benches and shouted at Cantu to "Look at me! Look!

Judge rejects request to weight marijuana

KINGSVILLE (AP) — The drugs may not be reweighed in the case of a man sentenced to a year in prison for each of the 54 pounds of marijuana he was convicted of selling, a judge has ruled.

The defense attorney for 31-yearold migrant worker Pablo Diaz says marijuana should be weighed again because it was weighed the first time with its packaging.

Possession of more than 50 pounds of marijuana is punishable by five to 99 years in prison and a fine of up to $50,000. But for amounts less than 50 pounds, the sentencing range is two to 20 years and up to $10,000 in fines.

What that means is somebody may be doing 54 years on something for which the maximum sentence is 20 years," defense attorney Fred Jimenez said Wednesday.

District Judge J. Manuel Banales rejected a motion to weigh the marijuana without its wrappings and duct tape.

with jurors hearing a hairdresser's testimony and watching a movie blamed partly for inciting a woman's mutilation slaying. The movie "The Sailor Who Fell From Grace With The Sea," which includes a mutilation scene, was shown to jurors Wednesday over objections from defense attorneys for Kerry Max Cook.

The lawyers also objected unsuccessfully to the jury hearing testimony given in a 1978 trial by Tyler hairdresser Robert Hoehn.

The testimony was read in court because Hoehn has since died.

Hoehn said in the in the testimony that Cook came over to his apartment and that the movie was on television the night Linda Jo Edwards was slain. He said that Cook masturbated, and that the two went out to get cigarettes.

Hutchison's jury selection goes on

FORT WORTH (AP) - As jury selection was set to continue today, state government records in the criminal ethics trial against U.S. Sen. Kav Bailey Hutchison have been pouring in by the thousands.

Mrs. Hutchison's lead attorney Dick DeGuerin has subpoenaed telephone records, daily calendars, and campaign finance reports of statewide Democratic officeholders.

Mrs. Hutchison, a Republican, has been indicted on charges that while she was state treasurer — a position she held from January 1991 to June 1993 - she used state funds, state employees and state computers for political and personal purposes, and then tampered with computer records as part of a cover-up.

If convicted on all counts, Mrs. Hutchison could face up to 20 years in prison. She has pleaded innocent.

DeGuerin has said that what the state has accused Mrs. Hutchison of doing is legal and standard practice among other politicians.

Man injured by authorities goes on trial for assault

ATHENS (AP) - A graphic videotape showing a guard's beating and shooting at the hands of law officers is expected to be the focus of his trial on charges he assaulted the state trooper and a sheriff's deputy.

Lorenzo Colston went on trial Wednesday in this East Texas town. He could be sentenced to 10 years in prison if convicted.

A camera in a Texas Department of Public Safety patrol car recorded a videotape of Colston heing clubbed.

Authorities also said ice covered Interstate 10 between Sonora and Ozona and on U.S. Highway 277 between Christoval and Sonora. Most bridges in San Angelo and the Concho Valley began icing over about 8 p.m. Wednesday.

Murder charges filed in missing baby's death

The Associated Press

AUSTIN - The father of a boy who was found buried in a shallow grave scoffed at his baby sitter's statement that the infant died accidentally while in her care

Baby sitter Cathy Lynn Henderson has said she panicked and fled after 3-month-old Brandon Baugh died on Jan. 21, burying the baby's body before going to Missouri where she was arrested last week.

Mrs. Henderson was charged Wednesday with capital murder, which can carry the death penalty on conviction. The ultimate penalty is possible because Brandon is under age 6.

"I would like to know why, if it was an accident, what three numbers stick in your mind? - 9-1-1," Eryn Baugh said at a news conference, adding that Mrs. Henderson also could have called him or his wife at work.

"I would have done anything to help Cathy Henderson, had this been an accident," Baugh said. "But there was no phone call. Instead, she ran off and buried my son in a shallow grave, and how can you justify that to anyone? I want to see her prosecuted to the full extent of the law."

The baby's death was ruled a homicide by Justice of the Peace G.W. Ivey of Bell County, where the body was found between Austin and Waco, said Travis County Sheriff Terry Keel.

Keel said Brandon's injuries could have been caused either by "striking the child's head against something hard, or a hard object being struck against the child's head.

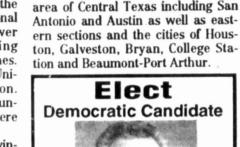

Brandon's skull was fractured. His body was found carefully wrapped in a blanket and placed face-down in a cardboard box, which had been taped shut and buried, said sheriff's office spokesman Andy Saenz.

The shallow grave was found northeast of Temple Tuesday, after law officers obtained a map that Mrs. Henderson had drawn after being arrested on kidnapping charges in Independence, Mo., last week.

Mrs. Henderson also gave a statement to authorities in Kansas City last week saying that the baby fell accidentally and struck his head while she cared for him at her home near Pflugerville, an Austin'suburb.

Bosnia begins a test of wills to lift siege

SARAJEVO, Bosnia-Herzegovina (AP) - NATO authorized air strikes. Serbs called a cease-fire. Bosnia began a test of wills today that could lift the siege of Sarajevo - or drag the West deeper into a war that won't end.

Dozens of cease-fires have collapsed in 22 months of fighting around Sarajevo. But until Saturday's massacre in a downtown market, NATO has never gone beyond threats to authorize air power.

On Wednesday, the allies endedtheir indecision, issuing an ultimatum for Bosnian Serbs to either withdraw heavy guns surrounding the city within 10 days, or risk NATO air strikes. The countdown begins at midnight (7 p.m. EST). They also authorized immediate air strikes against artillery or mortar positions that attack civilians in the Bosnian capital.

The withdrawal may not end the killing, though, unless Serbs adhere to the cease-fire, announced just hours before NATO issued its ultimatum in Brussels. Many of the deaths in Sarajevo have been blamed on snipers, and some Serb artillery has a range of 25 miles.

Clinton steering away from Bosnia

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wary of a Vietnam-like quagmire, President Clinton is steering the United States away from a major combat role in Bosnia even though American warplanes may be called upon to help silence the guns of Sarajevo. Clinton said Wednesday that U.S.

ground forces would not take part in NATO's newly authorized mission to get rid of the more than 500 heavy guns pointed down on Sarajevo by Bosnian Serbs. However, he acknowledged there would be risks from Serb air defenses for U.S. pilots on attack missions.

"There is no such thing as a riskfree air operation," the president said. "I don't want to mislead the American people on that." However, he said Serb air defenses "are sufficiently rudimentary that the risks are minimal.

Revolted by the slaughter last week of 68 people in a mortar attack in Sarajevo's central marketplace, NATO allies overcame months of doubts and hesitation and approved a U.S.-French ultimatum giving Bosnian Serbs 10 days to withdraw their guns 13 miles from Sarajevo or face air strikes.

Ice and snow hamper recovery from floods

Ice and snow today hampered West Virginia's recovery from the state's worst flooding in nearly a decade while large parts of the nation fought back from the latest winter bashing.

Even salt trucks were sliding across ice-slicked roads as temperatures in West Virginia plummeted Wednesday from the 40s and 50s to the teens, where they hovered this morning.

"Earlier we were busy with the flood situation. Now we're working on complicated snow and icing situations," said Capt. Ron Garton, spokesman for the West Virginia National Guard.

Aid to drug trade counties could be curtailed

The Associated Press

WASHINGTON - The United States may reduce aid to Peru, Panama, Bolivia and other countries that produce or traffic in illegal drugs but have escaped penalties because of friendly relations with the United States, a Clinton administration official said.

Some of the countries typically have enjoyed U.S. anti-drug aid and other help, said the official, who spoke only on condition of anonymi-

They are on a list of nations that failed to convince U.S. officials they have cooperated with efforts to stem the flow of illegal drugs, and, consequently, failed to receive U.S. certification last year. Certification is a condition of receiving U.S. aid.

Nigeria and Afghanistan also could come under scrutiny. Afghanistan was on shaky ground last year, but received certification on the basis that it was in the U.S. national security interest.

Assistant Secretary of State Robert Gelbard, while not confirming specific countries, told reporters Wednesday that the administration also was considering countries that may not receive certification on the annual April 1 deadline.

"One of our concerns is that we need to approach this in a much more serious way," Gelbard said of the certification process. "We do intend to take this very seriously.'

Gelbard spoke while briefing reporters on the international component of President Clinton's new $13.2 billion National Drug Control Strategy, which places greater emphasis on domestic treatment and prevention rather than international intervention

"Drug producing and trafficking countries that do not make an effort will face increasingly serious economic and other sanctions," Clinton's plan said.

While Colombia gets high marks for combatting drug cartels and reforming its judicial system, U.S. officials have been increasingly upset that Peru and Bolivia have been preoccupied with other domestic concerns.

PLO-Israel accord could be final in a month

The Associated Press

JERUSALEM - Despite a breakthrough in PLO-Israel talks, Israel's prime minister said today it would take at least a month to finalize an agreement, and there would be no prisoner releases or Israeli troop withdrawal until then.

PLO leader Yasser Arafat and Israeli Foreign Minister Shimon Peres initialed an agreement on Wednesday in Cairo, Egypt, resolving key issues that had blocked the start of Palestinian autonomy for two months.

Israel released a 12-page English text of the agreement, but did not distribute maps that are also part of Palestinians won the right to raise the Palestinian flag and post armed police at crossings from Jordan and Egypt into the autonomous enclaves — the Gaza Strip and the West Bank region of Jericho. Humiliating ques-are to end. Palestinians achieved a foothold in the Dead Sea and limited control of two religious sites in the West Bank.

Israel, on the other hand, maintains all Jewish settlements in Gaza, controls roads leading to them and keeps army bases near the settlements. Israel also maintains ultimate authority over border crossings, and the right to prevent anyone from entering from Jordan or Egypt. Arafat, who flew to Jordan today to brief King Hussein on the agreement, described Wednesday's pact as a step toward fulfilling his dream of a Palestinian state.

"We can say that Palestine - and the name of Palestine - has returned to the map of the Middle East," he said.

The pact was "a very important step to implement the agreement from paper to the ground," he said. Palestinians in the occupied lands, tioning and searches of Palestinians however, complained that little had changed on the ground since the Israel-PLO accord was signed Sept. 13 and that bloodshed and tough army measures continued.

"As long as there is the army and roadblocks, the suffering will remain and the hopes will remain hopes." said Sufian Abu Ziade, one of the leading young PLO officials in the Gaza Strip.

Palestinian support for the Israel-PLO accord has dwindled as Israeli forces continue tax raids, house demolitions, land confiscations and arrests.

Palestinians say there are as many as 14,000 Palestinians in Israeli jails, although Israel contends the number is half that.

Most damaging to the peace process has been the ongoing bloodshed. According to The Associated Press count, 62 Palestinians and 20 Israelis have been killed in violent confrontations since Sept. 13.

Coahoma MATHCOUNTS team figures its way to second place Four students at Coahoma Junior High School are striving to become Howard County's first "mathletes."

The students have been working on this and many other challenging problems every Tuesday evening from 5-6 p.m. since October. These seventh and eighth graders were preparing for the regional MATHCOUNTS contest which was Feb. 5 at Midland College. The team came in second in the competition, behind Fort Stockton Middle School. Coming in third was Midland Alamo Jr. High.

Making up the team from Coahoma are Shana Earnest, daughter of Jimmy and MaryAnn Earnest; Jason Gwyn, son of John and Ruth Gwyn; Daniel Clark, son of Barbara and Danny Clark; and Jodi Rodgers daughter of Carl and Debby Rogers. Coached by Oneita Burgess, they competed against 10 other teams for trophies and a chance to advance to the state-level contest in Austin on March 5.

Burgess states that "these kids are strictly volunteers. They do it all on their own, gaining a greater sense of self-esteem at being able to solve difficult problems not encountered before on their own."

The competition was sponsored by the Permian Basin chapter of the Texas Society of Professional Engineers.

According to Burgess, MATH-COUNTS is based on innovative problem-solving methods that teaches students how to solve problems, even if they haven't experienced that problem before. "These problems are way and above what is taught in the regular curriculum," she said.

She explains the students are scored as a team and as individuals. "If we don't make it as a team, we still have a chance for one of us to make it as the individual champion," she explains. "We're all rooting for each other."

The goal of the program and for entering the competition is to raise the prestige of mathematics achievement. "These kids really gain some self-confidence as well," she explains. "There's a lot to be said for being able to do difficult problem solving on your own.

Each September, MATHCOUNTS School Handbooks are mailed out to all middle schools and middle school math teachers in Texas. The handbook is written by members of the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics.

Students who advance to the state contest will compete for scholarships and other prizes, as well as a chance to represent Texas at the National MATHCOUNTS Competition in Washington, D.C.

How would one of the Coahoma mathletes solve the problem of the lady with the train? Ask one of them. But for now, the answer is 15 miles per hour.

By The Associated Press PORTLAND, Ore. - Tonya Harding filed a $20 million lawsuit against the U.S. Olympic Committee on Wednesday, seeking to prevent the organization from blocking her participation in the Lillehammer Games. The 16-page suit, filed in Clackamas County Circuit Court in the suburb of Oregon City a half-hour before the courthouse closed, acknowledges people close to Harding have been charged with conspiracy in the attack on Nancy Kerrigan, but said no charges have been filed against her.

The document points out that Harding has complied with all rules and regulations of the U.S. Figure Skating Association. It seeks $20 million in punitive damages as well as additional general damages to be determined at trial.

The lawsuit contends the USOC lacks the authority to discipline an athlete for conduct that occurred before he or she became a member of the U.S. Olympic team. It also said the USOC's scheduled hearing does not provide adequate due process because: -Harding was not given adequate notice of the specific charges; -The time and place for the hearing made it not practicable for Harding to attend: -The hearing was not set before an impartial body of fact-finders: -Harding was denied the right to call witnesses and require their attendance:

-She was denied the opportunity to cross-examine witnesses; -The USOC failed to provide an appeals procedure and written notice of such procedure:

-The right to a full and fair hearing before the U.S. Figure Skating Association hearings planning was effectively destroyed and she was put in jeopardy twice for the same alleged misconduct.

Finally, the lawsuit claims the USOC interfered with Harding's rights as a figure skating association member

Sports

Harding strikes back, files lawsuit

"USOC's conduct is arbitrary, capricious, malicious and contrary to law and fact," the suit said.

The lawsuit seeks a temporary restraining order and a preliminary injunction to stop the USOCs' hearing on Feb. 15 in Norway. Her attorney, Bob Weaver, said he expected a hearing on the order to be held Thursday.

Weaver, said the suit seeks a temporary restraining order and HARDING hearing. He expected a hearing on the order to be held Thursday.

Asked if the lawsuit meant that Harding

Peter Alkalay, an attorney retained by the USOC, said any comment would have to come from the USOC.

Mimi Dane, a lawyer from Columbus, Ohio, said grounds existed for Harding to go to court to get a temporary restraining order against the USOC process. Dane represented Butch Reynolds in a lawsuit against the U.S. and international track and field federations that eventually resulted in a $27.5 million judgment.

"An argument that could be raised is that the notice and the process by which the USOC hearing is scheduled to take place does not comport with fundamental due process," Dane said. "It is too short of notice. It appears that the burden of proof will be shifted dramatically and placed on Miss Harding rather than on the USOC where it belongs."

Dane said the USOC is serving as prosecutor, judge and jury in the proceeding.

Earlier Wednesday, Harding's ex-husband Jeff Gillooly asked a court for permission to travel to Norway to testify before the USOC panel that was scheduled to meet Feb. 15 to determine whether Harding's role in the attack on Kerrigan violated Olympic ethics.

Gillooly also asked that the results of an FBI lie-detector test he took as part of his plea bargain arrangement be disclosed to his attorney so they can be presented to the USOC's Games Administrative Board.

"He wants to cooperate with the USOC's fact-finding in an attempt to mitigate the injury he and others have caused Nancy Kerrigan and her family," Gillooly's attorney, Ron Hoevet, said in his motion.

A hearing was set for 2:30 p.m. PST Thursday for Multnomah County Circuit Judge Donald Londer to consider the request.

Lady Steers reach for district banner

By DAVE HARGRAVE Sports Editor

What do a District 3-4A championship banner and a handkerchief have in common?

Both work wonders wiping away the Big Spring Lady Steers' disappointment after losing Friday to Andrews

Big Spring (19-6, 10-1 in district) is long past handkerchief stage, however. Only a Big Spring loss at Fort Stockton and an Andrews win at home against Sweetwater would keep the Lady Steers from celebrating a district title on the long ride home.

Two Fridays couldn't possibly be more different. Friday at Steer Gym, archrival Andrews (18-12, 9-2) came calling and not only beat the Lady Steers but snapped Big Spring's 32game district winning streak.

"In the dressing room, there wasn't a dry eye," said Big Spring coach Ron Taylor.

"It was really hard," said junior post player Sarah Bristow. "Everyone was hurt and crying. It took forever for everybody to get out of the dressing room, cause nobody could stop from crying

Steers can clinch playoff spot with win at Ft. Stockton

By DAVE HARGRAVE Sports Editor

The Big Spring Steers need only a win at Fort Stockton Friday to complete a changing of the guard in District 3-4A.

A win Friday clinches a playoff spot for Big Spring (10-16, 7-2 in district), and clinching the berth at Fort Stockton could be almost as t as doing the job at Steer Fort Stockton (14-8, 5-4) is the defending district champion, and the Panthers beat the Steers handily last season in Fort Stockton.

Then there's the matter of the Steers proving their worth. Big Spring throttled Fort Stockton 91-67 at Steer Gym Jan. 21, but Steer coach Gary Tipton said some members of the Fort Stockton coaching staff suggested the Steers' easy win might have been full-court pressure it wants on the court, but in the standings the pressure is fully on the Panthers. Fort Stockton and Andrews are tied for third place, two games behind the Steers with three to play. A Big Spring win Friday would push Fort Stockton out of contention and Steers of at least a tie for second place with Andre .vs.

Should Andrews and Big Spring tie for second, Big Spring would receive the runner-up playoff spot since it is 2-0 a g a T n s t

'We were all very, very upset, said junior point guard Kristi Birrell. "At home I just laid there going, 'How couldn't we have done this right, or this right?"

Taylor and sophomore Robin Wise said it was Tuesday before the Lady Steers truly had the loss out of their system. But putting the past in the past, where it belongs, just moves the Lady Steers onto the next problem:

How do the Lady Steers keep from taking Fort Stockton lightly?

Standing between Big Spring and the district title are the lowly Fort Stockton Prowlers, who are in fifth place at 5-18, 3-8. Big Spring wiped the floor with the Prowlers at Steer Gym, winning 81-50 Jan. 21.

Still, going by what the players will tell you, the Lady Steers are treating Fort Stockton as if it were...well...

"They're the type of team that can

"I don't think Fort Stockton thinks we're for real. That should be some incentive for our kids," said Big Spring coach Gary Tipton. "They did tell me that things would be different when we came down there. So we're going to find out if it's real or if it's Memorex."

It's tough to call a 24-point win a fluke. Big Spring was just starting to enjoy the benefits of moving Tyrone Banks to point guard, and the Steers had little trouble with Fort Stockton's traditional fullcourt pressure.

"That was our best game I think we've ever played," said junior Trey Terrazas. "We were up for the game because Fort Stockton beat us really bad last year. We were just ready to play them, and we played really well. Coach got some things going with our press that worked really well against them, too."

Fort Stockton can apply all the

onship are TERRAZAS slim. To win the title, Big Spring would have to win its remaining three games, and Sweetwater (20-9, 9-1) would have to lose its last two. Tying Sweetwater does no good for the Steers, Tipton said, since Sweetwater is 2-0 against Big Spring and would claim the headto-head tiebreaker.

Worrying about the district title could get the Steers in trouble, since clinching a playoff spot in Fort Stockton won't be easy. Banks said Fort Stockton is a tough place to play.

Anything can happen in the wacky world of the WJCAC

Howard College women's coach Rovce Chadwick still recalls the words his father told him after a Howard loss five years ago: welcome to the Wac-Jack, R.C.

The Western Junior College Athletic Conference, which for some reason goes by the acronym Wac-Jack, has long been one of the most competitive junior college conferences in the nation, but hardly ever more competitive than this season.

The women's race has been particularly wacky - or Wac-Jacky, if you insist - this year. By my best estimation, four of the league's six teams have taken turns either holding or sharing the top spot the past few weeks.

Howard, South Plains, New Mexico JC and Western Texas have been playing a game of "Who's in First?" ever since the conference schedule started. And the merry-go-round shows no sign of stopping.

The Lady Hawks and New Mexico currently share first place with 4-2 records, followed by WTC and South Plains, both 4-3. But that will change tonight.

Howard plays its latest biggest game of the year tonight when the Lady Hawks travel to Hobbs to play NMJC. So it's a given fact that someone will have sole possession of the Wac-Jack lead after tonight.

"The refs are rougher than in any other town. They let you play. And the crowd's all into it."

"They've got all of Fort Stockton packed in that gym, and it's loud," said Terrazas. "And the referees they let you get away with murder, and that plays right to Fort Stockton, cause they're an aggressive team."

Tipton said playing at Fort Stockton is tough - but not that tough.

"They play really well there, they have great fan support, they pack that place and it's a long way to travel, so yes sir, it's a hard place to play. But I wouldn't say that it's harder than a lot of spots we've been in. It's no harder to go there and play than it is to go to Andrews and play.

Working in the Steers' favor is their continued improvement. Since losing 15 of their first 18, the. Steers are 7-1 and have played hold it is another matter.

This war of attrition may be driving coaches to antacids, but it has made for some interesting basketball.

"It's not interesting to me," Chadwick said. "I'd like a two-game lead on the world, but I guess it has been a very good race for the fans."

What really makes this year's race strange, at least to Chadwick, is that traditional power Odessa College is currently in last place. Although the Lady Wranglers have been savaged by injuries. Howard's coach doesn't expect them to keep up with their cellar-dwelling ways.

"You can write it down: Odessa's going to the regional tournament." Chadwick said. "They're going to put on a late flurry and push someone out of the regional.

The top four teams in the conference will qualify for the Region V tournament, which will be held at Garrett Coliseum next month. Who it'll be and how long they'll Barring a late push by OC or an sneak up on you if you're not ready," said junior post player Kerry Gregg. "If we're not ready to play, then we'll play sloppy, and if we play sloppy, we usually don't do very well.

"It's their last home game, so they're going to be promoting their seniors and everything, and they're going to be really hyped up," said Wise. "But I'm confident. I think we're going to take it out on them, what we got from Andrews, cause we're mad.'

Taylor said, "When you're on the road, you never know what to expect.

and equating the Fort Stockton Prowlers to the Chicago Bulls have been accomplished. Sounds like all that's left in the pre-game preparation plan is to add as much importance to that district title as you can. As if that were necessary. But just titles. "And then with what happened to Amy, we've really had to suck it up. I think a lot of us feel like we want to win it for her.'

"I'd like to win it for Coach Taylor," Birrell said. "Give him three in a row."

Taylor may have to watch his back in the locker room Friday in search of Gatorade showers. The Lady Steers seem poised for the title, and losing only Earnst from this team has Big Spring pointed in the direction of blown out at your own tournament and losing four of your first five games - things that happened to the Lady Steers this year.

Or maybe it was 10 years ago. It seems so long ago.

"All the district titles stand out, they're all important, but these kids have already exceeded expectations, regardless of what happens," Taylor said. "Starting the way we started, and the way we're finishing, we're two totally different ball clubs. That just shows the kids have a lot of character, and they were willing to work very hard."

Steers' turnaround, but the first one that jumps out at you is Banks. Since Tipton introduced Banks to the point guard position, the Steers have been raking in the profits. "It took a lot of pressure off some people," said junior Heath Anderson, whose strong play off the bench, particularly from threepoint land, has been another part of the turnaround. "I guess Tyrone's pretty much done it all. He's helped out where some of us couldn't do it."

A win Friday sparks celebration: a loss leads to another weekend of waiting and perhaps a few days of doubt. If the Steers need a confidence builder, they need to turn to assistant coach Mike Ritchey, who has already discovered the positives of playing for a playoff spot at Fort Stockton.

"We clinched our last district championship there," Ritchey said,

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 11, 1994

Jacqueline Bigar - Horoscope

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Today is a good day to clear out early. You need some time to consider an important communication. Take a serious approach and you will come out ahead of the game. You might want to look into a program to reduce stress. Tonight: Chill out.***

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Many of your recent decisions will be reversed today. Look at this in a positive light. Your awareness about what is necessary is critical. Focus on long-term benefits, friendship and getting more of what you want. An old pal or lover is likely to show up in he next few weeks. Tonight: Join vour friends.*****

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Work provides a challenging opportunity, but the stress it causes at home could be large. Ease up about what is going on. Be aware of what you are seeking from another. Accept responsibilities and look to the long term. Tonight: Work as late as necessary.****

CANCER (June 21-July 22): You are marching to a different drummer today and need to be sensitive to the opportunities around you. Take off those rose-colored glasses and look at the real world. An opportunity for higher education is likely. Touch base with your higher self. Tonight: Consider taking off for the weekend.****

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Togetherness works today as one-to-one relating brings new results. You might feel much better than you thought thanks to a long talk. Money matters ease up but don't count on new funds arriving quickly. Understand where another is coming from. Tonight: Go for togetherness.*****

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Partners present changes that seem uncomfortable. Look for a better way of doing things, then make the necessary changes. The next few weeks could be difficult because of how you are looking at a situation. Look to breaking through past restrictions. Tonight: Say yes to a partner.****

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Your workaholic nature will help you get much done today. Something behind the scenes is bothering you, and with good reason. Discuss it with a loved one, who knows more than you realize. A friendship could be off-center for a few weeks. Look to positive changes and grow. Tonight: Do something just for you.****

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Finances are causing tension. Loosen up and look to making positive changes. A creative approach will go far. If you are artistic minded know that creativity will be difficult but you will manage. A project started today will be significant but take a long time to blossom. Tonight: Dance up a storm.****

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): You have been giving much thought to changing your inner circle off friends. What hasn't worked up to now is likely not to improve. Serious talks with a family member prove more irritating than worthwhile. Lighten up. Tonight: Consider new options.****

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Communications are highlighted today, but expect a partner to lose an important message. Make all the calls necessary to feel better about your opportunities. New possibilities will open up if you look at what is needed. Tonight: Open new doors.****

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): One-to-one relating is highlighted as a flirtation takes a serious tone. Be sure you are ready for the necessary commitment because in the next few weeks other enticing opportunities will appear. Tonight: Hook up with a favorite person.*****

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): You finally get relief from recent stress. Don't be overly hard on yourself. Loosen up about what could be and look to what will be. Good communications are likely if you think about what must be said. You might hear some long-overdue news. Tonight: Be yourself.****

It was not generally known that such a practice could have devas-tating results — although many must have heard that a very young Thomas Edison — German as well as English, and Spanish, too.

became deaf after having his ears boxed.

At the age of 4, I recited some indecent poetry in front of polite company. My father, an otherwise model parent, slapped the left side of my head vigorously with his right hand. (That was the only time he ever struck me.) Soon after, and from then on, I felt a certain numbness in my left ear. Later, there were spells of buzzing and roaring along with dizziness centered in my left ear. Finally, seizures and repeated blackouts sent me to the hospital, where surgery was performed by a neurosurgeon.

My hearing was never restored in that ear. And all this was brought on by a "loving" parent.

So, Dear Abby, if a parent feels that a little physical punishment is necessary to teach a child a lesson, tell your readers to keep it below the neck. Please withhold my name: I'm quite well known in ... LAKE PLACID, FLA.

DEAR LAKE PLACID: I disapprove of hitting a child to "teach" him (or her) a lesson. Hitting has escalated to beatings -- some brutal enough to send a child to a hospital, or worse. Denying a child his favorite entertainment or sport is far more effective.

DEAR ABBY: Your response to the mother who objected to her child's grandmother speaking a foreign language to the child was right on the mark. May I add a few thoughts on the subject?

My grammar and spelling may not be perfect, but I can communicate well enough to be understood in German and Spanish. - RUTH SACARTO IN DENVER

DEAR RUTH: I appreciate your affirmation. People of any age (especially children) who are challenged intellectually usually meet the challenge.

DEAR ABBY: I cannot imagine why a woman of 74 would marry a man who is over 80.

I became a widow at age 76, and I would never consider remarrying. All these old geezers want is a nurse, or a purse.

Never would I sully the memories of my 30 wonderful years of marriage by taking on another man. Sign me ... WELL-ADJUSTED READER

DEAR WELL-ADJUSTED: Thank the good Lord that not every person who remarries in his or her twilight years considers the remarriage "sullying the memory" of a previous marriage.

Some second-time-arounders have found their second marriages far better than their first.
