Suspect in Rip Griffin's robbery captured

By JOHN A. MOSELEY
News Editor

A 29-year-old Midland man wanted in connection with the Feb. 7 armed robbery at Rip Griffin's Truck/Travel Store has been arrested by Midland authorities and is currently being held in the Midland County Detention Center.

Capt. Lonnie Smith with the Big Spring Police Department said Thursday he expected it would probably be Monday before Demetrius Elkins, 29, of Midland was transferred to the Howard County Jail and be arraigned on charges.

Smith said a warrant for Elkins' arrest was issued Feb. 11 after several witnesses to the robbery identified through a photo line-up.

"He (Elkins) was identified after some of the property from the robbery was recovered," Smith said. "That led to some more information and Det. John Stowers was able to get a photograph ... that nailed it down."

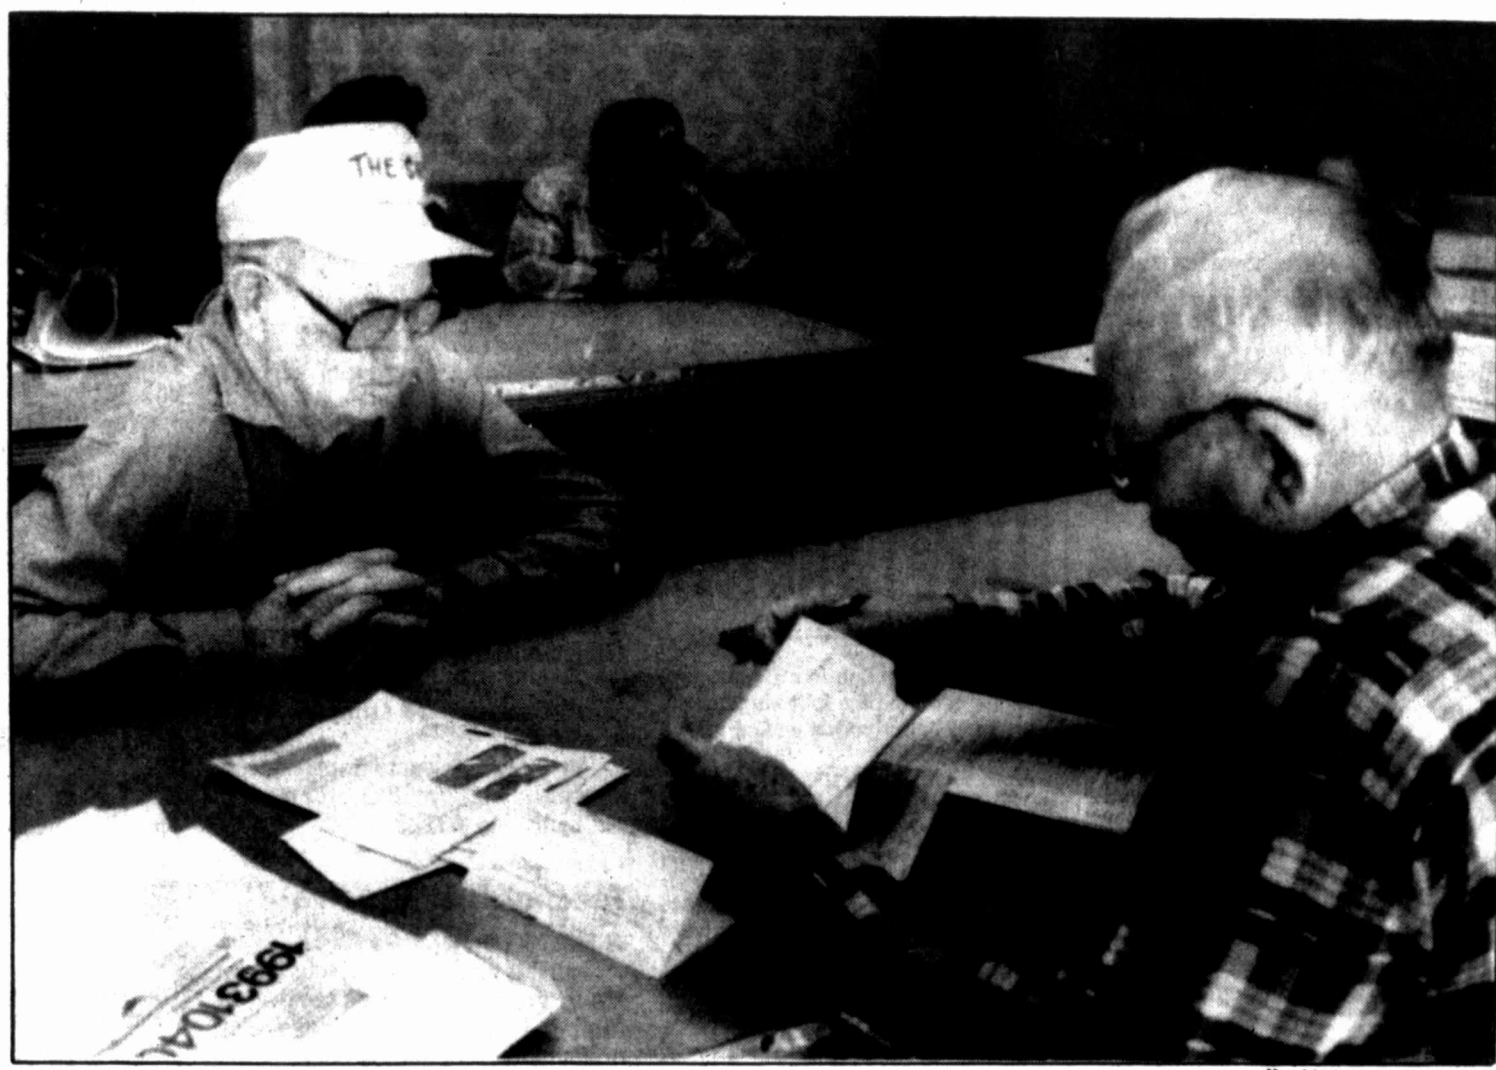

Elkins is charged with robbing the fueling center at the truck stop, as well as its attendant and two customers inside the center.

Police were called to the truck stop around 10 p.m.

Feb. 7 where station attendant Mike Smith told officers the gunman entered the back garage area of the truck stop, brandished a small caliber handgun and ordered the fueling center's occupants to lie face down on the floor.

The robber then took the wallets and watches of the three people inside the store and took an undisclosed amount of money from the store's register.

Elkins currently faces charges of aggravated assault on a peace officer in Midland County, stemming from an altercation at the time of his arrest.

Bob Brannon watches as volunteer R.L. Christenson works on his taxes at the First Presbyterian Church Wednesday afternoon. Members of the Volunteer Income Tax Assistance (VITA) program are available to work on tax returns every Wednesday at the church from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Incumbents file for college board seats

McKinney has served on the board for 21 years

By JOHN A. MOSELEY
News Editor

Incumbent Donald B. McKinney has filed for re-election to another six-year term on the Howard County Junior College District Board of Trustees.

The trustee election is scheduled for May 7.

McKinney has served on the HCJCD board for the past 21 years.

A lifelong resident of Howard County, he lives on a farm in the Center Point community which was purchased from the state in 1896 by his grandfather, Tom McKinney.

In addition to being a farmer, McKinney is a retired electrical foreman for Cosden Oil and Chemical where he served as president of the 25-Year Club.

He attended John Tarleton College and Howard College. He served in the U.S. Army Air Corps during World War II in the Pacific theater of action and now serves as a colonel in the Confederate Air Force.

"It has been a privilege to be a part of the Howard County Junior College District," McKinney said in launching his re-election campaign. "I know that the college is providing excellent educational opportunities to its students. I am especially proud of the faculty and staff at the college. A recent statistic showed that the college's transfer rate for academic students is more than 47 percent, while the state average is only 30 percent."

"The rest of the story is that of those students from Howard College who transfer, more than 50 percent are earning bachelor's degrees while the state average is 12 percent," he continued. "These statistics tell me that our faculty and staff are not only motivating students to continue their education, but are preparing them to complete that education."

McKinney and his wife, the former Frances Nan Sheedy of Coahoma, have two children, Dr. Larry McKinney of Austin and Molly Foss, a science teacher living in Scott City, Kan.

The McKinneys are members of the Coahoma Methodist Church and he has been an active contributor to community and civic endeavors.

McKinney is a member of the board of directors of the Texas Farm Bureau, past-president of the Howard College Foundation Board and a past member of the Howard County Tax Appraisal District board. He served as chairman of the college district's board from 1979 to 1982.

"Howard College and the SouthWest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf both offer outstanding vocational programs that are preparing students to enter the workforce with required skills," McKinney said, continuing to

Davis has held seat since 1971

By JOHN A. MOSELEY
News Editor

Incumbent Harold Davis has filed for re-election to his District 3 seat on the Howard County Junior College District Board of Trustees.

Davis' district is comprised of the southeast portion of the county, corresponding with the boundary lines of Howard County Precinct 3.

The former president and chairman of the board of Gamco Industries, a company that specializes in educational materials, Davis has served on the college board since 1971.

During his tenure on the board, he has served as its chairman, vice chairman and secretary. That 22-year span has seen Howard College establish the SouthWest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf and operate that program for the past 14 years.

Davis also notes that he took the lead in construction of Dorothy Garrett Coliseum and was instrumental in the major renovations and additions to the men's and women's residence halls.

"I feel that my 14 years experience as an educator and administrator in upper level institutions, 33 years of financial and budgeting experience gained in the management of multiple corporations and 22 years of experience as a trustee of the college district qualifies me to represent the interests of the community in this very important position," Davis said.

"Since I have been associated with the college for most of my adult life," he continued, "it has given me the opportunity to watch it grow from a few old buildings at the air base to the outstanding campus we presently have and to see all of the gratifying things it has accomplished in this community."

"I truly love Howard College and would be proud to serve the constituents of District 3 as their representative for another term if re-elected."

Davis has served as chairman of the HCJCD budget committee for several years.

He began his association with the college in 1947 as head basketball coach. He also served as business instructor, athletic director and dean of students. In 1959, he accepted the position of head basketball coach and associate professor at the University of Texas at El Paso. In 1961, he returned to Big Spring to help in the initial development stages of Gamco Industries.

In addition to his years as chief executive officer at Gamco, Davis served for a time as executive vice president and chief operating officer of Siboney Corp., Gamco's parent company located in New York. In performing those duties, he also supervised seven Siboney subsidiaries.

Davis has also served as a director of the Security State Bank for 24 years.

In addition to the college board, Davis serves on the Big Spring Industrial Foundation board, and has been involved in other civic activities. He served as president and chairman of the United Way, chairman of the Big Spring Parks and Recreation Board and as vice chairman for the Boy Scouts.

He has also been a director on other boards, including the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce, West Texas Chamber of Commerce, Howard County Tax Appraisal District, Howard County Hospital Authority, Medical Center Memorial Hospital, the YMCA and the American Business Club. He has also served as president and vice-president of the Big Spring Country Club.

Davis has also served on a number of chamber committees, including Coliseum and Convention Center Planning, Sports and Recreation, Community Development Council, Base Community Council, Aviation and Tourism and Convention.

He is a veteran, having served as a colonel in the U.S. Marine Corps during both World War II and the Korean Conflict. He served with the 4th Marine Division and was awarded the Silver Star and Purple Heart for wounds he received on Iwo Jima.

Redrawn lines create confusion

Commissioner precinct lines redrawn last year are causing confusion in two Sand Springs precincts, 207 and 409, according to Howard County Clerk Margaret Ray.

The problem in those precincts is voters will face for the first time a ballot from which they will select justice of the peace candidates in precinct 2 and precinct 4 county commissioners' candidates.

The confusion is a result of commissioners' precinct lines being redrawn last year but justice of the peace lines remaining unchanged.

Ray said Wednesday "that all registered voters in precincts 207 and 409 were due an explanation."

Rally draws attention to homeless vets

The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Homeless advocates hope a summit and a White House rally will focus national attention on the plight of hundreds of thousands of Americans who fought for their country but now live on the streets.

Veterans Affairs Secretary Jesse Brown, who will lead the national symposium on homeless vets, said there were up to 250,000 veterans living on the streets of America, about one-third of the entire homeless adult population.

About half suffer from alcohol and drug problems, and one-third are afflicted with severe mental illness, Brown said at Senate Veterans Affairs Committee hearings Wednesday. A growing number have AIDS, HIV and tuberculosis.

"This is an American tragedy, and it must not be allowed to stand," he said.

Sen. Jay Rockefeller, D-W.Va., the chairman of the committee, said the thought of combat veterans "wandering the streets, sleeping on heating grates, having to beg for handouts ... is very troubling."

McDuff convicted; sentence to be decided

The Associated Press

SEGUIN — Family and friends of murder victim Colleen Reed say they want to make sure Kenneth McDuff is never free again. And if that takes executing him, they say he should be executed.

McDuff, 47, one of the most notorious criminals in Texas history, escaped the death penalty as a young man, only to win parole and kill again.

On Wednesday, a Guadalupe County jury convicted McDuff in the rape-slaying of Miss Reed, 28, who was abducted from an Austin carwash Dec. 29, 1991.

For McDuff, it was the third time he has been convicted of capital murder. "I expected it," he said after the verdict was announced in Ms. Reed's case. "I'm not upset."

For Miss Reed's family and friends, the verdict is just the first step. The punishment phase of McDuff's trial starts Friday and is expected to last a week.

Prosecutors are seeking the death penalty. "There are certain people who deserve the death penalty, and we feel like he's one of them," said David Counts, assistant district attorney.

"Death or life, at this point, I don't care as long as he's never free again. I don't want that man ever, ever to hurt another family again," said Miss Reed's sister, Lori Bible.

Miss Reed's former fiance, Oliver Guerra, said he doubts McDuff will ever be free but, he added, that's what people said in 1968 when he was sentenced to die for the slaying of a teen-age girl near Fort Worth.

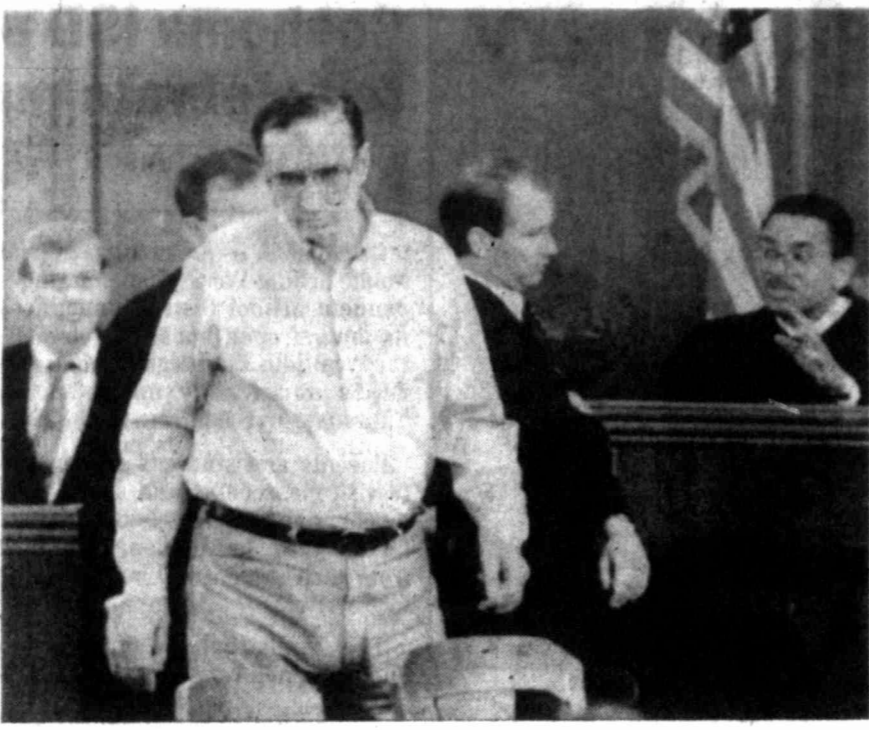

"It's important that we get him off the streets forever. And if the only way the state can guarantee that is through lethal injection, then so be it," he said.

"It's not revenge," Guerra added. "It's more trying to protect our families and our friends that are still out there who can some day become victims because people like this beat the system over and over again."

McDuff said he is innocent in Miss Reed's death. Although her body has never been found, she is presumed to be dead.

The main evidence in the case was the testimony of Alva Hank Worley, 36, who said he and McDuff abducted Miss Reed.

What followed was a night of rape

Kenneth McDuff walks away from the judge's bench just moment after he was found guilty Wednesday in Seguin of capital murder in the rape-slaying and abduction of an Austin woman.

and torture of Miss Reed, Worley said. He said the last time he saw Miss Reed, McDuff was placing her in the trunk of his car and said he was going to "use her up."

Worley said he confessed to police because he felt guilty. But McDuff's attorneys said Worley was trying pin the crime on McDuff to save himself.

Attorney Chris Gunter said Worley gave at least five different statements to police and lied on the witness stand when he told the jury he did not negotiate with prosecutors for better treatment in exchange for his testimony.

"How in God's name can you convict a man of capital murder based on the testimony of a liar?" Gunter said. Although Worley faces capital murder charges, Gunter said he believed those charges would be reduced after McDuff's trial.

Huntsville — State prison officials weren't immediately sure whether a death row inmate would face charges for sawing his way out of a cell and whacking a prison guard over the head with a pipe.

Corrections Officer Armando Cruz needed a dozen stitches to close the wound suffered in an attack by convicted killer William Kitchens, Texas Department of Criminal Justice spokesman David Nunnelee said Wednesday.

Kitchens used two hacksaw blades to saw through a screen covering a vent in his cell and then slipped behind the cell wall into an area known as the pipe chase.

Nunnelee said Cruz was summoned by other inmates who said they needed water shut off in their cells. When the guard opened the door to the pipe area, Kitchens burst out and hit him over the head with a piece of pipe.

As the pair struggled, Kitchens tried to reach a device that would open all the cell doors on his prison row, but additional guards arrived and subdued him, Nunnelee said.

"They took him to the floor and he was apprehended," Nunnelee said. "He never got out of the cell block."

The incident occurred in the early morning hours Tuesday on a prison row known as J-21, an area of the Ellis Unit northeast of Huntsville reserved for inmates in administrative segregation. The classification is reserved for prisoners considered troublesome.

Nunnelee said Kitchens received scratches during the fracas and was treated by a prison nurse. It was not immediately known if charges would be filed against him. It also was not certain how Kitchens, who is allowed out of his cell just two hours a day for recreation, obtained the blades.

"The blades were old," Nunnelee said. "He may have had them for some time. There's no telling how long he had them."

Kitchens, 30, has been on death row since Sept. 2, 1986. He was convicted of beating, strangling, raping and shooting Patricia LeAnn Webb, the wife of an Abilene firefighter.

The woman's body was found May 17, 1986, in a wooded area west of Abilene off Interstate 20. Kitchens, who took her car, credit cards, money and checkbook, was arrested the following day in Blanchard, Okla., his hometown.

Kitchens is a former painter and eighth-grade dropout who also served time in Oklahoma for assault.

105 VISTA volunteers sworn in

The Associated Press

AUSTIN — A new wave of volunteers hopes to help themselves by helping others.

The 176 members of the Texas VISTA Health Corps will work to improve health care for needy women and children. At the end of a year, each volunteer is eligible for $4,725 in scholarship money or tuition forgiveness.

"I want to get off welfare, and I want to make it on my own. Going to college will make it better for myself and my kids," said volunteer Amy Collum, 27, who has two children.

She was among 105 volunteers sworn in Wednesday by Gov. Ann Richards. The governor also issued an executive order establishing the state component of President Clinton's national service program, and accepted $480,000 in federal funds for it.

Texas' volunteers are the first VISTA workers eligible for the education money — which was proposed by Clinton during his 1992 campaign and approved last year by Congress — according to the Corporation for National and Community Service, created to bring together federal domestic volunteer organizations.

The aid comes either in the form of a scholarship or loan forgiveness. Seventy-one members of Texas' project were sworn in last week. Eli Segal, an assistant to Clinton and head of the Corporation for National and Community Service, said at Wednesday's ceremony that it's the largest number of volunteers in one project in VISTA's 30-year history.

Segal called the volunteers, who will work around the state, "service heroes."

He told them that their task, which includes helping make sure children get immunized and educating mothers about prenatal care and the availability of food assistance, "is going to be boring sometimes. Sometimes it's going to be frustrating. But it's work that needs to be done."

For example, he said, 4,400 Texas children have had measles in the last five years, and that 14 died in 1993-94 from the preventable disease. Segal talked about the untapped potential of those who died, saying they might have included an artist, Texas governor or a researcher who would discover the cure for AIDS.

"We cannot allow our children to die from illnesses we have the knowledge and the skill to prevent," he said.

Richards told the volunteers, "We're asking you to walk a little way with someone who needs a friend, with someone who needs assistance ... We're asking you particularly to pay attention to the children of Texas."

Truce reached in shirt controversy

TYLER (AP) — Robert E. Lee High School pupils and administrators agreed to a 30-day ban on race-related clothing Wednesday after a conflict over a white student's T-shirt caused two student walkouts last week.

Students, parents, administrators, teachers and community members will participate in formulating future policy regarding race-related clothing after the ban ends, Principal Eddie Milham said.

"I'm proud of these students. I'm proud of the fact that we stayed in there and worked out something that will help us get through the next 30 days," Milham said.

On Feb. 16, student Alan Daigle wore a shirt emblazoned with a rebel flag that read, "It's a White Thing; You Wouldn't Understand."

Hundreds of students staged a lunch-hour protest Feb. 17 because the white student was forced to remove his T-shirt, which school officials declared racially offensive. Police were called after shoving and pushing broke out.

About half of the Lee student body either stayed home or left school early the next day, Milham said.

Monday and Tuesday were student holidays. Milham said the student was asked to remove the shirt because it was deemed disruptive to the school day, in violation of school and Tyler Independent School District policy.

Paroled burglar gets life for killing priest

DALLAS (AP) — A paroled burglar who was convicted of robbing a Dallas priest then beating him to death in the church rectory was sentenced Wednesday to life in prison.

David Burton Nesbitt, 22, was convicted of the capital murder of the Rev. Anthony Boake, an Eastern Orthodox priest whose body was discovered Nov. 6.

Prosecutors said Boake was beaten at least 25 times with a claw hammer and stabbed once in the face with a kitchen knife.

Nesbitt won't be eligible for parole for at least 40 years.

Members of the priest's congregation at the Saints Constantine and Helen Antiochian Orthodox Church said they were pleased by the sentence, but upset by testimony about Boake.

In court testimony, Boake had been portrayed as a closet homosexual who invited male prostitutes into his home and also used drugs.

Unsuccessful bidder is protesting procedures

AUSTIN (AP) — A company that bid unsuccessfully to operate an automated welfare system in Texas has filed a formal protest accusing the state of violating procedures in awarding the contract to another company.

Deluxe Data Systems, Inc., of Milwaukee, Wis., asked the state on Wednesday to disqualify a $200 million contract awarded to GTECH Administrative Services Corp., of West Greenwich, R.I.

The agreement calls for GTECH to operate an electronic welfare system using bank-style cards beginning this fall.

Deluxe officials said the state violated several procedural guidelines. One included allowing GTECH to change its bid price after the deadline established by the Department of Human Services, according to the protest.

Deluxe also said in its complaint that Human Services' awarding the contract to GTECH was in conflict of interest because GTECH received assistance from a former state employee whose staff helped develop the criteria for the bidding.

Cook convicted in third murder trial

GEORGETOWN — Prosecutors are seeking the death penalty for Kerry Max Cook, who has been found guilty in his third capital murder trial in the 1977 slaying of Tyler secretary Linda Jo Edwards.

After an initial conviction was thrown out in 1991 and a second trial ended in a hung jury, Cook was again convicted Wednesday in the fatal beating and stabbing of Ms. Edwards, 21.

Houston ticket holder richer by $40 million

The Associated Press

AUSTIN — The single Lotto Texas winner in Houston has seized a jackpot of $40 million, or $2 million a year for 20 years. That's $166,666 a month. About $5,480 a day. That's $685 an hour if you put in a good eight-hour day.

Less 28 percent for the Internal Revenue Service, of course, which would reduce the take after taxes to only $1.44 million a year, $120,000 a month, $3,836 a day. Bummer!

Only one ticket correctly matched all six numbers drawn Wednesday night for the twice-weekly Lotto Texas game, state lottery officials said.

Lotto tickets sold quickly and waiting lines grew lengthy as Texans scrambled at the last minute for chances at the $40 million jackpot.

The numbers drawn Wednesday night from a field of 50 were: 6, 8, 32, 36, 37 and 50.

Lottery spokesman Steve Levine said the Lottery recorded its first $3 million hour between 6 and 7 p.m. Wednesday, when they were ringing up at $60,000 per minute.

Wednesday's sales reached $21.7 million, the third-best sales day in the history of Lotto Texas.

Sales on Sunday and Monday both set records, Levine said.

Deavenport enjoys work; faces tough primary

By BARBARA MORRISON
Staff Writer

STANTON - There are people fixtures in every community that provide that setting with identity. Big Spring has Dorothy Garrett, Coahoma has Quail Dobbs and Stanton has county judge Bob Deavenport.

Deavenport has served in the capacity of Martin County judge for the past 13 years. During his tenure in office, Bob has seen several hundred people pass through his courtroom.

When asked which cases were the most memorable, he is quick to respond. "It's definitely the juvenile cases," Deavenport said. "Some of those have really kept me up at night." Bob said he has seen numerous changes in county government through the years.

"The changes have come about primarily through federal and state government mandates," he explained. He cites the onslaught of landfill regulations and the Americans with Disabilities act as specific examples.

The majority of the issues Martin County have to deal with have been environmental, according to Deavenport. "Twelve years ago we didn't dream of inspecting rural sewage systems," he said. "Now we have a part time employee to do just that."

"Years ago the rural homeowner who wanted to build a new home worked with a good general contractor. It was that contractor's responsibility to make sure all the systems were in order," he explains. "Now days that homeowner has to apply and receive a permit and then get the permit approved. The county is responsible for all that."

Deavenport is quick to point out that amid all the governmental bureaucracy, he has "really enjoyed these last 13 years." He finds county government "fascinating and one of the most responsible governmental entities going." He also adds that one of the quirks of the office allows him to "enjoy a lot of free meals."

On March 8, Deavenport faces what he terms "a very tough primary election" against Democratic can-

DEAVENPORT didate John Castro who also ran for Martin County sheriff two years ago. Early voting is continuing in the Martin County Courthouse.

Coahoma ISD plans open house to celebrate public school week

By BARBARA MORRISON
Staff Writer

COAHOMA — In celebration of Public School Week, Coahoma Independent School District announces its annual open house for elementary, middle and high school students and family members on Thursday, March 3 from 6:30-8 p.m.

Parents and students are invited to visit classrooms and speak with teachers regarding school activities for the year. In addition, classwork from each student will be on display for review.

The Junior High will meet in the Junior High library.

In addition to the room displays and teacher discussion, the seventh grade will host a science fair featuring exhibits from several students.

Each exhibit will be judged and winners will be announced.

The eighth grade will have a rock exhibit on display to be viewed during the open house hours.

The elementary school will feature a covered wagon in the first grade hall, commemorating their study of Texas history. The pre-K grades will include their display centered around Goldilocks and the Three Bears, honoring their study of bears.

The Lions Club will be holding a pancake supper prior to the open house. The public is invited to attend.

Concluding the open house will be a variety talent show featuring Coahoma students from the elementary, middle and high schools. The show begins at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

Briefs

Old Sorehead Days start April 16

STANTON — The Martin County Chamber of Commerce has announced the dates for its 1994 Old Sorehead Trade Days.

According to Leticia Perkins, chamber secretary, the Trade Days will be held three times this year—April 16 and 17, June 25 and 26 and Oct. 8 and 9.

The Trade Days features hundreds of vendors selling food, wares and family fun.

The event will run all day on Saturday and from 12-5 p.m. on Sundays.

Elwood, Galliger to perform Saturday

COAHOMA — The Coahoma Community Concert Series enters its second season on Saturday evening with a concert by Michael Elwood and Beth Galliger. The duo presents a combination of folk and rock music, most of which is written by Elwood.

The duo has performed throughout the nation, developing in particular a West Texas following. Elwood's guitar and voice are accompanied by harmony vocals and Galliger's drums and flute.

The series is hosted by the First Presbyterian Church of Coahoma. The concert begins at 7:30 p.m. in the church Social Hall. Suggested donations are $6.00 per person or $15.00 per family. All monies go to support the artists.

In addition to the Elwood/Galliger concert, the series will feature cowboy poet Frank Hill on Saturday, April 9, New Hampshire singer/songwriter T.R. Ritchie on Friday, May 6 and Texas music favorite Allan Damon on Saturday, June 18.

Sweetwater plans annual round-up

SWEETWATER — The 36th annual World's Largest Rattlesnake Round-Up will be March 11-13 in Sweetwater.

Over 200,000 pounds of Western Diamondback Rattlesnakes have been collected over the past 35 years. Close to 30,000 people have attended from Texas, Canada, New York and Europe.

Since its inception in 1958, the Round-Up has focused on an educational theme, staying away from sensationalism and dangerous games.

Proceeds go to the Sweetwater Jaycees to support many local charities, youth programs, a learning center for the mentally handicapped and other deserving community organizations.

Oil, gas conference set for March 16

MIDLAND — The Society of Petroleum Engineers has announced the Permian Basin Oil and Gas Recovery Conference for March 16-19 in Midland.

The conference will feature a comprehensive technical program, a panel discussions and an industry exhibition. Topics for the 107 paper technical program include reservoir management and surveillance, characterization and formation evaluation, CO2 technology, drilling and environmental safety issues.

For more information, call Fred Herbst, Public Relations Manager, 214-952-9393.

Gun owners plan rally in Abilene

ABILENE — Local gun owners are organizing across the state in a staged rally on Sunday, Feb. 27 at the 4600 block of South 14 and Bowie in Abilene. The People's Rally for the Bill of Rights will be from 3-4 p.m. with a press conference immediately following.

The purpose of the rally is to show opposition by gun owners to recent proposals from the Clinton administration and other federal office holders which cover a wide spectrum of legislation from complete bans to punitive taxes.

The rally is sanctioned by the N.R.A. and individuals are asked to bring large signs and wear appropriate clothing. Camouflage and hunting attire is strongly discouraged.

No. 7 Pampa poses tall test for Big Spring boys

By STEVE REAGAN
Sportswriter

The Big Spring Steers will be looking up at their first-round playoff opponents Saturday.

Literally looking up. The Pampa Harvesters, District 1-4A champions and ranked seventh in the state, will bring a huge front line with them when they face the District 3-4A co-champion Steers in a Class 4A area playoff game in Frenship Saturday night.

Game time is 7 p.m. The Harvesters (29-8) boast five players 6-foot-2 or taller, compared to the Steers' front line that barely clears 6-1 at its tallest.

But if anyone is thinking the Steers (13-16) might be a bit intimidated by the inside disparity, BSHS coach Gary Tipton urges them to think again.

"It's nothing we haven't seen before," Tipton said. "Our kids aren't going to go out there and look up at the skyscrapers and be intimidated. I think we're a bit quicker than they are inside, and a lot of coaches I know will take quickness over size. I will too."

Tipton said the key to negating Pampa's front line, which features

6-foot-6 senior Justin Collingsworth and 6-foot-4 senior Selvern Wallace, will be winning what he calls the "board wars - and I hope we have Luke Skywalker with us."

"You have to block out," he said. "That's something we've tried to do a good job of doing. We've been harping on it all year long, and we'll keep harping on it all next year. That's just part of our scheme."

Big Spring has been idle since its regular season-ending 79-78 overtime win at Monahans Friday. Pampa, meanwhile, survived a tough 52-50 win over Levelland in bi-district action Tuesday.

Even though the Steers enter the game on a roll - having won 10 of their last 11 games - Tipton concedes that his team has its work cut out against Pampa.

"They're definitely big, and they have good quickness. And on some nights, they shoot the ball extremely well," he said. "They're a good ball club. Of course, by the time you get to this level, that's all that's left ... I would compare them to Sweetwater, except Sweetwater's probably a little more physical."

Considering the Steers lost to Sweetwater by only one point the last time the two teams met, that makes Tipton feel better about Saturday's game.

"I like our chances," he said. "I think we've got to put out a solid ball game. If we do that, I think we've got a great shot at winning."

The Steers will definitely need solid performances from inside players Torbin Lancaster (6-1) and Dustin Waters (6-0) if they are to fight the taller Harvesters to a draw on the boards. Offensively, Big Spring will, as usual, depend heavily on leading scorer Wes Hughes, who brings an 18-point average into Saturday's contest.

But Tipton cautions people against thinking the Steers are a one-man offensive show.

"Torbin's been averaging in double figures, and lately Dustin and Trey (Terrazas) have been up there, too," he said. "and in the last three games or so, (point guard) Tyrone Banks has got in there. I think we're a very balanced team, as far as scoring goes."

Kerrigan flies, Harding dies; Blair wins record fifth gold

By The Associated Press

LILLEHAMMER, Norway — Nancy Kerrigan showed the world she can handle the pressure. And that, she admitted, was what mattered most.

There's no talk today of Kerrigan having the jitters, making untimely mistakes, not being tough enough. Not after just about everyone, even Tonya Harding, watched her skate like a champion while half-expecting her to crumble.

Now, having vanquished both Harding and her own insecurities, Kerrigan breezes into Friday's conclusion of the figure skating with the confidence of someone whose huge burden has been lifted.

"No one would complain leaving the Olympics feeling good about themselves," she said. "That's really what I came here for."

"If I get a medal, that's even better."

Lyubov Egorova of Russia was seeking an astonishing 10th career medal today in her 10th Olympic race, the women's 30-kilometer cross-country skiing. A gold would be her seventh, most all-time in the Winter Olympics; any medal would tie her with former Soviet Nordic skier Raisa Smetanina for tops overall.

The 27-year-old Siberian native said earlier this week that she didn't think she would win. But she said that before her last gold-medal victory,

Figure skater Tonya Harding has a slight stumble coming out of the triple lutz Wednesday.

As the Olympics headed toward their final weekend, Egorova and the Russians stood first in the unofficial medals race with 10 golds and 21 overall — close to the all-time Winter marks of 11 and 29, by their Soviet predecessors.

Forsan, Garden City battle bigger fish in region tourney

By DAVE HARGRAVE
Sports Editor

The Forsan Queens and the Garden City Lady Bearcats have succeeded in high school basketball's big show - the bi-district and area playoffs.

Now it's off to the bigger show. And as the show gets bigger, so do the opponents.

Forsan (21-8) and Garden City (25-4) are two of an eight-team field heading to Abilene Friday for the first day of the Region II-A tournament at McMurry University's Hunt Physical Education Center.

On paper, Forsan has the toughest opponent - tournament favorite Jayton, which is ranked No. 2 in the state. Jayton (30-2) won its area title with a 31-25 decision over Guthrie Tuesday at the Hunt P.E. Center, while Forsan beat Bronte 42-29 in San Angelo.

Jayton is making its sixth consecutive trip to the regionals under coach Randy Courtney, who is in his 11th year at the school. Jayton, which played in Big Spring's Crossroads Classic in November, hasn't played Forsan in a while.

"We might have played Forsan maybe nine years ago, but I'm not sure," said Courtney. "To tell you the truth, we don't know much about Forsan yet. We've just been taking it one game at a time."

Chillicothe, which has an unimpeachable 13-11 record. The Lady Eagles are the runner-up from District 17-A. Chillicothe has an enrollment of just 75 students.

The Lady Eagles do have some height to go against Garden City's front line of three 6-footers, but those tall players are young. Sophomore Christy Walser, 6-2, starts in the post for Chillicothe, and freshman Vicki Walser, 6-1, comes off the bench.

Other starters for Chillicothe include Jennifer Henson (5-6 wing), Sally Bradshaw (5-6 guard), Bonnie Graham (5-7 wing) and Melody Donahue (5-7 wing).

Christy Walser is Chillicothe's leading scorer at 17 points per game, while Graham averages 15.

Chillicothe has never been to the region tournament, and this season's team does not have a senior. Those facts, plus their record, make the Lady Eagles seem prime for plucking, but Chillicothe coach Roy Martinez begs to differ.

"If you do a little research, you'd understand why our record is what it is," Martinez said. "Our schedule is predominantly made up of Class 2A and 3A teams. We didn't play a Class A team until we got to district. At one point our record was 3-9. But we don't play a schedule to pad my coaching record."

So sorry about Tonya Harding - NOT!

I wish I could stand before you all and not admit to snickering just a bit when Tonya Harding went belly-up in Wednesday's figure-skating program at the Olympics.

I wish I could say, with complete and total honesty, that I didn't get a charge out of the fact that Nancy Kerrigan captured everyone's hearts - not to mention the judges' scoring - while little Tonya watched from the sidelines.

I wish I could say I am so sick and tired of the whole Tonyagate affair that I would rather put flaming hot needles in my eyes (now there's a pleasant mental picture, Reagan!) than watch the two ice queens skate for Olympic glory.

But, like the vast majority of you out there (admit it, folks), I watched Wednesday's figure-skating competition with more than passing interest.

Didn't Katarina Witt look spiffy in that Robin Hood outfit? Who is this Oksana Baiul girl and how the heck do you pronounce her name? Weren't all those triple lutzers and double toe loops just out of this world?

And who cared about all that? No one in this neck of the woods, that's who.

Ever since Harding sued her way onto the Olympic team, everybody this side of the Atlantic has been foaming at the mouth waiting for the Great Showdown.

Steve Reagan

Would Harding be greeted by a chorus of boos? Would Kerrigan be able to overcome the stress of having someone who might have OK'd the hit on her watching from the stands? Would Tonya slip up, or would that fate befall Nancy? Would the two exchange gunfire?

And, pray tell, what would they wear?

Harding was the first of the two to skate, and I have to admit to feeling a bit of grudging admiration for her when she entered the arena.

Wearing that splashy red halter top outfit and sporting her muscular thighs and forearms, she looked like a cross between a Barbie doll and a biker chick. It was as if she was consciously acknowledging her sordid past and telling all of us to lump it if we didn't like it.

Then there was her choice of music: "Much Ado About Nothing." You didn't have to be Sigmund Freud to figure out the greater meaning behind all that.

She had gall - and like Lt. Worf on Star Trek would say, I appreciate gall.

But if I got a bit of perverse pleasure out of her display of brass, I confess to even more of the same feeling when she slipped coming out of one of her spins.

Oops. Sorry about that, Tonya! Sport. Better luck next time.

Harding-har-har.

The mess-up cost her any realistic hope for a medal, and all she could do then was sit and wait and hope that Kerrigan would fall on her delicate keister and join Harding on the junk heap of Olympic failure.

Oops, again.

Kerrigan, looking as refined as Harding looked trashy, was all elegance and arms as she mesmerized the crowd with her flawless performance. The woman who just a few months ago was clutching her damaged knee and crying "Why me?" showed Harding and the whole world that she was a lot tougher than any goon with a tire iron.

Her performance left the judges helpless. They had to give her the best marks of the night, which put Kerrigan in first place heading into today's final portion of the competition.

In the great scope of things, Wednesday was just a minor blip. But it did make for a splendid diversion, just as any soap opera aspires to do. Millions of people across the country no doubt were glued to their sets watching the drama unfold.

And CBS executives across the land were all going "Ka-ching!" at the same time, but that's another story.

But the best might still be on its way. Friday is the final part of competition, and who knows what will happen. Can Kerrigan keep up the flawless work? Does Tonya have a rabbit (or an Uzi) up her sleeve?

Regardless, we otherwise normal types will once again be drawn to the tube tonight to see the on-ice denouement of this sordid little drama.

gold medals, we can have a good night's sleep," said Valentin Sych, head of the Russian delegation. "Now we've won 10 - and now I cannot sleep because we have the chance of winning even more!"
Closely bunched on the Russians' heels were Norway with 18, Germany 16 and Italy 15. The United States was tied with Canada with nine, closing in on its all-time high of 12. Bonnie Blair provided the Americans' fifth gold, her second, by cruising to victory Wednesday in the 1,000 meters, her Olympic farewell.

Also on the schedule today were the men's and women's aerials skiing finals and the women's 500-meter short-track speedskating. Four consolation hockey games included the Czechs vs. the Americans, 6-1 losers to unbeaten Finland in the quarterfinals Wednesday.
Two freeze-frame images summed up Wednesday's much-anticipated showdown in the technical programs, which count for one-third the total scores: A beaming, relieved Kerrigan as she ended her near-flawless routine with a flourish at center ice. And a grim-faced Harding clapping mechanically as she watched from a glassed-in VIP box over the Hamar Olympic Amphitheater rink.

Harding, who apparently is saving her trademark triple axels for the free skate, is 10th and out of medal contention after a lackluster performance that she shrugged off as not perfect but satisfying.
But now Harding faces a future without her life's goal, a gold medal, and with a criminal investigation continuing into her alleged role in the Jan. 6 clubbing of Kerrigan's knee.

And now, instead of a Nancy-vs.-Tonya showdown, it's a gold-medal battle involving Kerrigan, world

Jacqueline Bigar - Horoscope

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 25, 1994

ARIES (March 21-April 19): You'll work hard today if you are smart. Others are being particularly difficult and want to have things their way. Your personality helps you handle a co-worker well. Be aware of how pushed you feel. Tonight: Rest up.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Draw on your inventiveness today when plans unexpectedly change. Partners are being picky and overcritical. You might decide simply to go it alone. The full moon brings many opportunities. Concentrate on your long-term desires. Tonight: Try to have fun.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): You find yourself singing "Blue Moon" as pressure between work and home has you feeling crazy. Realize that you don't have a clear perspective today and are being harder on yourself than necessary. Lighten up. Tonight: Vanish while you still can.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): The unexpected occurs today as plans change and misunderstandings abound. You'll feel better if you swing with the ups and downs. Laughter will help everyone gain a better perspective. Tonight: Hang out with a dear friend.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): You are not pleased with your fiscal situation. Look carefully at ways to cut back or perhaps create some extra money through more work. Today's crisis is a warning of what could become a permanent situation. Prepare to change direction. Tonight: Make it cheap.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): The full moon in your sign highlights you and has others feeling crazy. Use your intellectual side to find solutions. Realize that others are not acting normally and that you need to use your leadership qualities to fix things. Tonight: A smile helps.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Consider playing the ostrich today. You feel as if you have no choice in what is going on. Detach and look at the situation through new eyes. Information gained about a co-worker is important. Don't push yourself. Tonight: Vanish.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Friends are acting strangely, and you feel it is time to choose between love and friendship. Avoid making that decision now at all costs. Tomorrow is another day. Use humor, and let another know how much you care. Tonight: Be where the gang is.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Work is demanding as you look for a new way to handle a troublesome situation. Be positive about your options, and listen carefully to what a boss says. Let a family member or roommate be angry. Right now you can't do anything to help. Tonight: Work as late as you can.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): You are being asked to stretch to the max to find a solution. Information you get is not completely accurate. Check it out and confirm a bit of gossip. Solutions will appear out of the blue if you open up. Tonight: Let go of a plan that is not working.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): You are closely tied to another, and that means you must help deal with problems that are unique to that person. Look to the long term. Upheaval surrounds finances and partnership. This, too, will pass. Tonight: Be loving, please.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Your agreeable side needs to come out today as the full moon adds stress to partnerships. You hear troubling news. Realize that you are under added pressure and should not take things too seriously. Lighten up, as your attitude affects others as well as you. Tonight: Go along for the ride.

IF FEB. 25 IS YOUR BIRTHDAY: Partnership challenges will be highlighted in the year ahead. You've been feeling as though you've been giving too much or not enough, and you need to find a happy medium. You are your own harshest critic, and you should ease up on yourself. Understand where others are coming from, and be willing to discuss matters in a detached way.

THE ASTERISKS (*) SHOW THE KIND OF DAY YOU'LL HAVE: 5-Dynamic, 4-Positive, 3-Average, 2-So-so, 1-Difficult.

Dear Abby - Letters...

Teen promotes no sex as safest sex

DEAR ABBY: I applaud your response to "17 and Well-Informed." You said that abstinence is the only foolproof protection against venereal disease and unwanted pregnancies. In an era and in a society where it is assumed that adolescents and young adults are having sex anyway, your statement bears repeating. If all sexually active young people would be motivated to cease their sexual activity outside of a committed, monogamous relationship, a host of national crises such as teen-age pregnancies, abortions, and unwanted and abused children could be virtually eliminated.

Today's youth needs to realize that sexual activity does not need to preclude finding an identity and proving maturity. It can, in fact, inhibit both. I challenge my peers to take offense at the assumption of our educators that we do not have control over our own bodies.

I am not writing from a nursing home or a monastery. I am a 19-year-old college girl who recently met a wonderful man whom I hope to marry someday. And when we do marry, we will consummate our marriage in complete confidence that neither of us is infected with a venereal disease, nor will we have to struggle with guilt feelings from past sexual encounters. He is 20, and also a virgin. — 19 AND PROUD TO BE A VIRGIN, LEBANON, PA.

DEAR "19 AND PROUD": Thank you for helping to convince sexually active young people that the only safe sex is no sex. And although condoms reduce accidental pregnancies and venereal disease, they are not foolproof.

DEAR ABBY: Here is what happened to me: I sat down one morning and wrote out

Christmas cards. When I got to the W's in my address book, my fingers were numb. (I have the start of carpal tunnel syndrome.) I sent my brother and his wife a Christmas card, but on the envelope, I addressed it using his first and last name. On the inside of the card, I addressed it to all the family and sent a gift certificate, and wished them a happy trip, as they were going away.

Two weeks went by, and I got the card back marked "refused." I checked the address, and it was right, so I phoned my sister-in-law who said she rejected it because it had only my brother's name on the envelope!

Was I wrong to have addressed it that way? I addressed it like that on several other holiday cards and no one complained. (They were happy to get a card.) Is my sister-in-law hung up on manners and protocol? — PATTY H., BONITA, CALIF.

DEAR PATTY: You should have addressed the card to both your brother and his wife: Mr. and Mrs. ( ). However, your sister-in-law was petty and rude to have returned it marked "refused."

DEAR ABBY: I am writing in response to Patricia Murchek's letter regarding the abortion issue. I don't understand how, after editing five years worth of videos and writings concerning abortion, she could have come to a conclusion about the pro-life movement that is so completely wrong.

Pro-life DOES encourage information on birth control (not just abstinence) and sex education. It also promotes the fact that all children, born and unborn, are precious — and all human life should be afforded the respect and dignity that it deserves. — MARY MASSINPOLE, COLUMBUS, OHIO
