Traffic deaths, accidents climb

By KELLIE JONES
Staff Writer

The Texas Department of Public Safety reports that fewer people died in traffic accidents on the state's highways in 1993 than in any year since 1965.

In Howard County, however, the number of fatal accidents was up slightly in 1993 compared to 1992.

In 1993, DPS statistics show that there were 689 accidents in the county, four fatal accidents and four deaths. In 1992, there were 687 accidents, three of them fatal with one person dying in each wreck. In 1991, there were 620 accidents, five of them fatal and five reported deaths.

Although the number of deaths statewide is down, the number of accidents was up. "Unfortunately, not all the news is good," said DPS Director Col. James R. Wilson. "The overall number of traffic accidents in the state was up and the number of persons injured in traffic accidents increased by six percent."

DPS officials reported there were a total of 390,417 accidents in 1993, an increase of 2.1 percent from 1992 figures. These accidents resulted in some degree of injury, from minor to life-threatening, to 298,891 people.

"Four in 10 traffic accidents last year were linked to alcohol or drug use by drivers," said Sgt. Lawrence Meadors with the local DPS Highway Patrol office.

"I think the reason there were more accidents reported last year is because there is more traffic, more cars and more people on the road. It increases every year," said Meadors. "The fewer number of deaths is probably attributed to more people using seat belts and more vehicles are equipped with mandatory safety equipment like air bags. Air bags by themselves wouldn't make a contribution, but with seat belts the fatality rate drops considerably."

It's Rodeo Week!

A Howard College student hangs on tight to his steer as other students watch from a safe distance during a steer-racing contest next to the Student Union Building Wednesday. Several events throughout the week have been coordinated to drum up support for the Howard College Rodeo, which begins Thursday evening at the Howard County Rodeo Bowl.

SWCID request gets OK

By KELLIE JONES
Staff Writer

Southwest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf officials recently returned from a symposium that was held in Austin and hope some of their ideas will become reality soon.

At the Symposium on Deaf and Hard of Hearing Texans, SWCID officials introduced five issues and had two of them accepted for support from those attending the seminar.

One of those is a legislative issue that will have to be voted on by the legislature when it convenes again in January 1995. The school wants to be able to waive tuition and fee charges for students from Texas so that they can attend SWCID for free. Right now, SWCID is one of two colleges in the state that has to charge deaf students to attend their school. Associate Vice President Ron Brasel said that if this becomes law, it will help with recruiting at SWCID tremendously.

"We have submitted some of our paperwork to Sen. John Montford and Rep. David Counts. We are asking for their help and support of this bill. If they support it, they will present it when they meet next January," said Brasel.

The other issue that received support at the symposium was to ask the Texas Rehabilitation Commission to extend the number of years they pay for a student's education. Right

Saturday program challenges gifted

By BARBARA MORRISON
Staff Writer

School on Saturday? Working and figuring on a day usually designated for sleeping in late and watching morning cartoons?

For most people, problem solving is not usually one of life's most pleasant undertakings, especially on a weekend. It has often come to be viewed in society as a tedious task, a situation that most people would rather avoid and one that shouldn't be addressed until a day named Monday.

This, however, was not the case last Saturday at Bauer Elementary School where the Big Spring Independent School District Gifted and Talented Student Round-up was staged.

The program was entitled "Rounding Up Problem Solvers For a Brighter Tomorrow." The day was an exercise in task solutions for fourth- and fifth-grade students and third-grade guests.

The structured curriculum was the brain child of teacher Beverly Jeffcoat who leads the fourth- and fifth-grade SIGNAL students.

BISD SIGNAL is the district's unique program for students who have been selected for participation according to a strict set of academic criteria.

"The idea came from a teacher in Abilene," Jeffcoat explains. "She had a 'lock-in' for students which allowed for special presentations of information students wouldn't normally be exposed to. I knew that a lock-in wouldn't thrill the kids, so we developed it into a Saturday idea."

Jeffcoat said the effort was a joint one between teachers and parents. "Parents have been working on this and planning since December," she explained.

The program consisted of a series of six 50-minute presentations, each one taught by a "field expert."

"Energized Fossils," led by Jack Richardson, provided pupils with insight into natural resources and energy needs. Students were provided with first hand observation — discovering how rocks store oil, seeing the oil storage sites under a microscope and then reviewing geomaps to discover where oil might be abundant.

Substitute teacher Lana Schooler brought Elvis and the reality of his way of living to life. Her presentation of the ups and downs of the famous singer's existence and her dramatic portrayal of the price of fame and fortune gave the learner an experience in retrospective analysis.

"Fame is famous," one student said, providing insightful definition. "But fortune is money."

Another asked, "if he had to do all those drugs to be happy, was he really happy?"

Elvis wasn't the only star exam-

Is it a thingamajig or a whatchamacallit? And just what exactly is it used for? Beverly Jeffcoat encouraged problem solving among BISD gifted and talented students at the first annual G/T Roundup recently.

ed States involve alcohol," he explained.
 Davis encouraged the kids to become active participants in the non-use of all drugs while recognizing the dilemma children find themselves in when dealing with peer pressure.
 "Everyone says, 'Just Say No'." Davis said. "But do you really know how to say no?" he asked the kids.
 Even the local water quality was analyzed by the group of young mind-benders. Chris Wingert provided students the opportunity to think about several water problems.
 What to do with an aquifer, filtration to measure chlorides and silver nitrate proportions were only a few of the topics covered in this presentation. Students examined water samples, making comparisons between creek, tap and reverse osmosis sources.

Comparisons were made throughout the day, over a variety of topics intended to intrigue the problem-solver. And even though it was a sort of "Saturday School," it didn't seem to dampen the spirits of these very definitely gifted and talented students.

 ined at the G/T roundup. Sonny Choate led the group through a graphic presentation and slide show of several constellations.

Students learned "a young star is only a million years old, many of the older stars have been around for millions of years." They also had the opportunity to realize "part of the Milky Way is made up of dark gas that will someday get together and make new shapes."

"Thingamajigs, Whatchamacallits, and Thingamabobs!" provided the young problem solvers with the opportunity to view and think about past technology and inventions. Led by Jeffcoat, students were shown antique gadgets and asked to tell what the gadgets were used for.

"It grabs metal while you do something!" one avid pupil brightly explained when shown a device for picking up large blocks of ice. This led to a discussion of ice-boxes and the realization that the modern day refrigerator has not been around since the Stone Age.

Frank Davis was deadly serious when he explained the dangers of drug and alcohol abuse. "Over one-half of the traffic deaths in the Unit-

Accidents

The DPS reports that the number of motorcycle fatalities was up in 1993. Last year, 157 motorcycle operators or passengers were killed in accidents, an increase of 17.2 percent over 1992. Of those killed last year, 18 percent had not been wearing helmets.

"During certain holidays, we run what is called the Operation Care Program," said Meador. "This is a state and nation wide campaign to control accidents and DWIs. We concentrate on people making unsafe lane changes, not wearing their seat belt and driving under the influence. We have more units on the road because more people tend to travel during the holidays."

Meador offers some tips on ways to reduce the chance of being in an accident:
 •Don't drive fatigued - it is recommended to take rest breaks every two hours, but if that is not possible, then every four hours is acceptable. Drivers should get out of the car and walk around for a few minutes.

"Don't drive under the influence - avoid using alcohol or drugs when you are behind the wheel

•Wear safety belts - this is required by state law and can drastically reduce injuries in case of an accident

"Most accidents on the interstate are caused by people trying to drive too far in one stretch. They overextend themselves and don't take proper rest breaks," said Meador.

"I urge all Texans to take these numbers to heart," Wilson added. "Don't drink and drive, wear your safety belt, use child seats, stay within the speed limit and if you're on a motorcycle, wear your helmet."

NIE - a newspaper learning experience

NIE serving up 20,000 papers monthly

By KELLIE JONES
Staff Writer

Newspapers can play an important role in educating children in West Texas and the Newspaper In Education program was started for that purpose.

The NIE program was initiated by the Big Spring Herald in October 1990 on a limited basis in Big Spring and Coahoma schools.

"The NIE school participation has grown dramatically," said Donna Parker, NIE/Literacy coordinator for the Big Spring Herald.

Schools participating in the NIE program for the 1993-94 school year include Big Spring, Coahoma, Stanton, Forsan, Grady, Sands, Garden City, Sterling City, Marantha, Christian, Howard College and Southwest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf. "NIE participation includes 196 teachers and 5100 students. They receive more than 20,000 papers each month," adds Parker.

"NIE is a program that uses the newspaper as an instructional tool for grades kindergarten through twelfth," explained Parkers.

Teachers and students that use the program say it has been a tremendous success.

"I use NIE as a tool for number, color and letter re-enforcement. The grocery ad inserts are wonderful because the print is so much larger for small eyes and hands to work with. These ads can also be used as aids with our money units. Thank you so much for this tool that children can always use," said Pam Walker, a teacher at the Anderson Kindergarten Center.

"Thank you for helping tie school-room learning to the real world. Our children need to see a tie between the things we teach at school and the things they need to know to live successful, productive lives as adults. You are that link," said Linda Light, a second grade teacher at Elbow Elementary.

Lacy Eggleston, a second grader at Elbow Elementary writes, "I enjoy the MiniPage with the word searches and the Mini Spy. And the comics

What they are saying about NIE ...

The newspaper is current, more up-to-date and very versatile... especially in home economics where the textbooks become obsolete so quickly.

We use the newspaper to reinforce spelling rules, hunt for nouns, verbs, adjectives and adverbs; find out weather information; learn more about prominent people in our community; and read about special holidays. My class enjoys using the newspaper.

with pictures of cartoon characters. I like the sports page of people who play sports."

"The newspaper is a great teaching tool that provides students with current news and information," said Misty Gartman, a reading teacher at Forsan Junior High.

The program has two major areas of concentration. In one, students learn about the newspaper - how it is put together, what makes the news, the various types of articles and forms of advertising, how to read the newspaper critically and the important role the newspaper plays in society.

The second dimension has students learn with the newspaper. The newspaper is used to update and expand upon the information found in textbooks. "Our entire staff at the Herald is available to assist our teachers in their educational efforts," said Parker.

"Also the Herald provides teaching guides for a variety of subjects to area teachers. We offer 11 guides for grades K-12 and one for adult literacy," explained Parker.

The goals of the NIE program are: •to help students become informed and involved citizens who can properly participate in a democratic society

•to reinforce critical reading and thinking skills
•to provide educators with an effective and exciting teaching tool

•to motivate children to become lifelong readers

•to encourage literacy skills within the family

"The NIE program is provided to our area schools at no cost. We depend on corporate sponsorship to help underwrite the cost of this worthwhile and beneficial program. I'd like to express my deep gratitude and appreciation to all our NIE sponsors for their generosity and support," added Parker.

Your help needed in keeping NIE growing

The Newspaper in Education program has experienced tremendous growth since its inception two years ago.

It has grown from a limited basis in Big Spring and Coahoma schools to include 11 area schools.

Schools for the 1993-94 school year enrolled in the N.I.E. program include Big Spring, Coahoma, Stanton, Forsan, Grady, Sands, Garden City, Sterling City, Marantha Christian, Howard College and S.W.C.I.D.

The 1993-94 NIE sponsors include Dorothy Garrett, Marie Hall, Fina Refinery, Cosden Credit Union, First National Bank, Westex Auto Parts Inc., Coahoma State Bank, Fraser

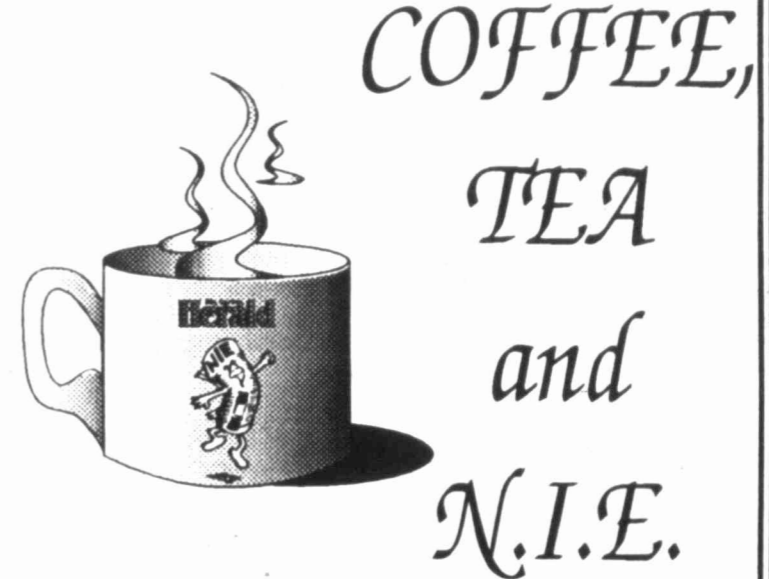

Industries, Inc., Gamco Industries, Inc., Fiberglass Technologies, Inc. and Otto Meyer's Big Spring Chrysler-Plymouth-Dodge-Jeep-Eagle.

NIE participation includes 196 area teachers and over 5100 students receiving 20,000 newspapers per month.

Due to the popularity of the NIE program and the overwhelming response from teachers and students, we are making a plea for community support.

In order to finish the school year out with a bang, we are asking for your help.

Call Donna Parker at the Big Spring Herald - 263-7331.

"Coffee, Tea and N.I.E." is a new project to give all businesses in the Big Spring Herald readership area the opportunity to help support the N.I.E. (Newspaper in Education) program.

To continue this program in our area schools, we need your HELP!

We are asking your business to match your monthly coffee budget with a donation to the N.I.E. program.

Your help in promoting literacy for our children is most appreciated.

Martin Co. eyes plan from Bell

By BARBARA MORRISON
Staff Writer

Extended area telephone service from Southwestern Bell was discussed Monday during a meeting of the Martin County Commissioners' Court.

Martin County Chamber of Commerce representative Rodger Burch addressed the court concerning possible application for extended area service for Southwestern Bell in Stanton.

This proposition would include service at no long distance charge for citizens of Stanton to Big Spring, Midland and the air terminal.

However, there would be a monthly surcharge of $3.50 for all residents and $7 for all commercial users if the service is granted, reported Deavenport. The service charge would apply to every Southwestern Bell subscriber.

According to Deavenport, if enough people petition Southwestern Bell, the company would proceed with a mail ballot to all of its customers in the area.

For the proposition to pass and the service to be put in place, 70 percent of the respondents would need to approve of the new service. "There are pros and cons to both sides," Deavenport said. "I'm not sure which way it will go."

While the road report was routine, it was reported that work on county roads A4101 and A4401 would begin soon. Caliche pit work was already in progress.

In additional road-related matters, Deavenport reported Martin County will be the recipient of recycled asphalt from the state highway department. "A portion of that asphalt will be used to redo the cemetery roads," Deavenport said.

In additional court action, the commissioners approved the sale of lots from a tax sale.

Eighth graders at Runnels Junior High were inducted into the National Junior Honor Society during a ceremony Monday night.

Runnels inducts 104 into honors society

By KELLIE JONES
Staff Writer

On Monday night, 104 students from Runnels Junior High were inducted into the National Junior Honor Society.

Being a member of the honor society is no small feat. The students must have at least an 85 semester average and at least a 90 average in English, math, science and history.

"We have 361 students at Runnels and 104 of them are being inducted," said Bob Grant, the honor society's sponsor. "That is about 40 more students than we usually have."

Grant added one reason for the increase could be attributed to "these students are more academically oriented than in the past years."

Last year, Goliad Middle School received $69,000 from the governor's office for scoring well on the Texas Assessment of Academic Skills (TAAS) test and it was this group that made those high scores. It was really a pleasant surprise at the number of students who were inducted this year.

"It's a great honor, it really is. I really worked hard for it and try to pass all my classes. I want to go into the education field, be a teacher and probably attend Texas Tech. I am also on the golf team and in the band," said Runnels Student Council Vice President Stefanie Waggoner.

Waggoner is not the only one that is involved in different school activities. Grant said that at least 75 percent of the honor society is involved in some sort of extracurricular activity ranging from band, to choir to athletics.

Here is a list of the 1993-94 National Junior Honor Society members from Runnels Junior High:

Amanda Ann Alvarez, Deanna C. Avery, Tiffany Barnett, Kristen Barrera, Honey Belew, Jeremy Blount, Amanda Brown, Chico Calderon, Eddie Campos, Rita Casillas, Jessica Cobos, R. Chelan Cook, James Darling, Jeff Denton, Steven Dickson, Shey Ditto, Licia Doll, Travis Edmiston, Heather Edwards, Chris Felty, Meghan M. Fernandez, Joshua Brandon Fernau, Matthew R. Coffee seeks re-election to Place 6 on city council

By TIM JONES
Staff Writer

Incumbent Place 6 City Councilman John Coffee, a resident for the past 57 years, has announced his intention to seek re-election.

Coffee has many years of public service dating back to 1957, when he was Howard County attorney for two years. Coffee was Big Spring's municipal court judge for 17 years from 1967 to 1983. He served as Howard County judge from February of 1989 to January 1, 1991.

Coffee has a doctorate of jurisprudence degree from Baylor University and has practiced law for 37 years.

"I offer my experience in city and county government," Coffee said, "I believe I've encouraged and wish to continue cooperation between the two entities."

"I'd like to somehow establish a fund to help indigent people pay their water bills, if they truly cannot pay them," Coffee explained. "I cannot fully explain right now how to do this."

"But, I'd like to see something like the voluntary pool that Texas Utilities has for West Texas Opportunities Inc. and the Salvation Army to dispense to deserving individuals and families," he explained.

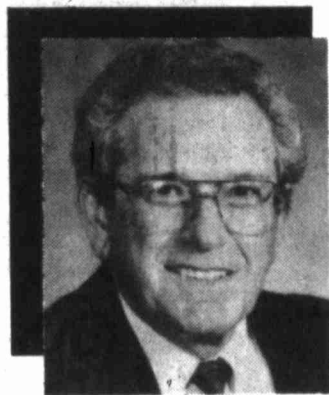

Coffee said he played a key role in the city's reactivating a joint seal-coat street project with the county. The project doubled amount of streets the city was able to seal-coat. Coffee says that city crews have gained in skill level and productivity and credits more professional city management and the city council's input.

Coffee also notes he was directly involved in the hiring of a professional city manager, and say he fully supports a downtown city-county jail project.

"I'll do what I've always endeavored to do — listen to my constituents and vote the way they want me to — unless I feel they don't have all the facts," Coffee said.

Fisher defends self-made loan

The Associated Press

HOUSTON — Millionaire Richard Fisher has been using his own money to help his campaign, but he rejects the notion he is an affluent man trying to buy a U.S. Senate seat.

That notion has been raised repeatedly by former Texas Attorney General Jim Mattox, who faces Fisher in an April 12 runoff for the Democratic senate nomination.

The winner will oppose U.S. Sen. Kay Bailey Hutchison, a Republican, in the November general election.

Instead of focusing on his own bank account, Fisher instead took shots at the banking community Wednesday, offering to ease lending for the small-business community if elected.

"Access to capital is access to power," said Fisher, who criticized banking regulators' strong hold on lending practices.

Fisher's tough talk at Velia's Cafe near downtown Houston offered nothing specific to remedy the situation, aside from his desire to be on the Senate Finance Committee.

The Dallas businessman has been accessing his own capital lately, as revealed Wednesday by The Houston Post. The newspaper reported that Fisher siphoned his own bank accounts for a $620,000 campaign infusion in three February and March installments.

That brings to $1.32 million the total he has spent so far on his campaign.

"I am not owned by anybody," Fisher said. "I earned money fair and square in the private sector."

Mattox released his campaign report that said he raised $343,315 from Feb. 17 to March 23, and spent $530,159. For the year to date, Mattox reported raising $662,446, and

Stressing his commitment to public service, Fisher promised to liquidate his interest in four businesses and invest in U.S. Treasury bonds, if elected.

In Austin, that access to private funds and just where they go was the basis of a new ad released by rival Democrat Jim Mattox.

Mattox called himself "the real Democrat," while criticizing Fisher's ties to the Republican Party.

The ad says Fisher has given thousands of dollars to right-wing Republicans, that he voted for presidents Reagan and Bush, wrote a $1,000 check to the Bush-Quayle campaign, and worked for independent presidential candidate Ross Perot.

"Today he says he's a Democrat, but Fisher wants to raise our gasoline taxes. And put new taxes on Social Security," the ad also states.

Fisher flatly denied the ads contents, saying Mattox was stealing items off Ross Perot's platform, not his. Mattox spokeswoman, Elna Christopher, said the ad is not meant to be a negative attack, but to inform Democratic voters.

"They did not know that Richard Fisher is really a Republican. Now that they know it, they are turning away from him fast," she said.

Fisher spokesman Martin Johnson said Fisher is a "lifelong Democrat" who worked both in the Carter Administration and with the Clinton Administration.

Webb executed for 1985 murder

HUNTSVILLE (AP) — A convicted killer labeled by his prosecutor as a predator on society was put to death early today for killing the husband of a Corpus Christi restaurant manager during a robbery nine years ago.

Freddie Lee Webb, 33, was strapped to a prison gurney and given lethal injection by Texas prison officials.

He was pronounced dead at 12:20 a.m. CST, eight minutes after the drugs began flowing into the veins of his arms.

His mother and sister watched a few feet away from behind glass, prying aloud, telling them they loved him and imploring him to be strong. He smiled and nodded toward them and a tear slipped down the side of his face but he had no final words.

Attorneys for Webb argued in final-day appeals that jurors at the ex-construction worker's 1986 trial were given improper instructions before they sentenced him to death. Lawyers also contended Webb's attorneys mishandled his original appeal.

Farrakhan moves speech from Texas Southern

HOUSTON (AP) — Louis Farrakhan will not give a speech at Texas Southern University because women would have been allowed to attend, a spokesman for the Nation of Islam leader says.

University officials had said that the April 11 event, billed as a man-to-man discussion of issues involving black men, could not be held on campus if women were prohibited.

At first the Nation said Wednesday the speech would proceed as planned but that women would be encouraged not to attend. But Farrakhan later decided he didn't want to hold the event at the university if women could attend, said Houston-area Nation leader Robert Muhammad.

"We're not having it at TSU. It's not canceled, it will just be moved," Muhammad said. A new site has not yet been selected.

The school had said women must be allowed to hear the speech because it was to be held in a public building.

Blue Cross/Blue Shield pays old denied claims

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas Insurance Commissioner J. Robert Hunter is praising Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Texas for changing health insurance policies and paying $450,000 in previously denied claims for newborn babies.

The changes came in the wake of a state threat of disciplinary action in January.

"I'm glad the Blues have ended this case on a positive note by paying the medical bills that caused so much anxiety for the parents of these children," Hunter said Wednesday.

He said he issued an order dismissing the disciplinary case — which was brought against the company in January — because of its cooperation in making restitution to consumers and changing two of its "Select 2000" policies, which are purchased by individuals.

"The Blues' president, Dr. Rogers K. Coleman, flew to Austin and met with our attorneys the minute he knew there was a problem."

Israelis, PLO agree on Hebron

Planning observer dispersal

The Associated Press

CAIRO, Egypt — The PLO and Israel signed an agreement today on sending foreign observers armed with pistols to the West Bank town of Hebron and the immediate resumption of peace talks on an Israeli withdrawal.

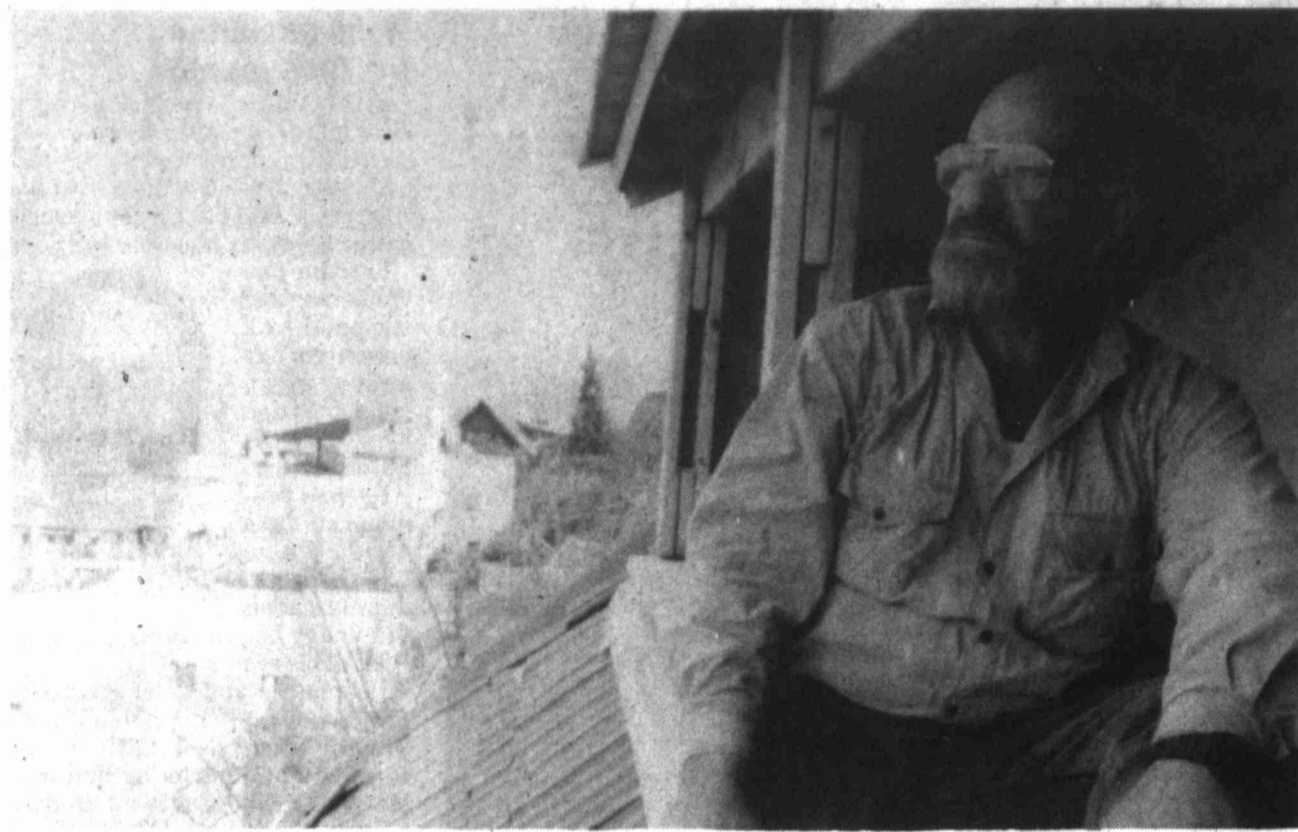

The agreement was signed by the chief negotiators, Nabil Shaath of the PLO and Israeli Maj. Gen. Amnon Shahak, in a Cairo hotel.

A PLO official close to the talks said the agreement came after the two sides settled the difficult issue of international observers in Hebron, where a Jewish settler gunned down 30 Palestinian worshippers on Feb. 25.

The massacre halted the negotiations on limited Palestinian self-rule in the Gaza Strip and West Bank town of Jericho. The PLO had refused to restart the talks until it got security guarantees for Hebron.

The chief negotiators signed the agreement on a table covered by a white cloth. On the table were paper cups and containers of Israeli orange juice, apparently brought in so the Israeli delegates could keep kosher during the Jewish holiday of Passover being celebrated this week.

The agreement was reached after the PLO dropped its demand for putting Palestinian police in the town. In exchange, Israel agreed to double to 160 the number of foreign observers it would allow in Hebron, the official said, speaking on condition of anonymity.

Eli Cohen sits on the unfinished porch of his 13-year-old dream house at the Jewish settlement of Ariel in the occupied West Bank. "I want to get out of here," Cohen said as he gazed out at the Arab towns set on the hills that ring the settlement 30 minutes from Tel Aviv.

A text of the agreement said 160 observers from Norway, Denmark and Italy would be armed with pistols and remain in Hebron for three months, with the possibility of extending their stay.

It also said Palestinian police would be moved gradually into Gaza and Jericho starting next week, even before a final agreement on an Israeli withdrawal and the establishment of Palestinian autonomy in the two regions.

An Israeli withdrawal was to be completed by April 13, under the agreement signed by the PLO and Israel Sept. 13 in Washington. The two sides had already missed a deadline in December for beginning the pullout.

Amid almost daily violence, including the killing of six PLO activists in Gaza on Monday, both sides seemed anxious to begin the autonomy process. The communique said the two sides had "an agreed agenda" to accelerate the talks "with the objective of making up for lost time."

It said Israel agreed to speed up its withdrawal from Gaza and Jericho "guided by the target dates" of the Israel-PLO accord.

The formal signing of the Hebron agreement was held up more than three hours this morning, apparently over whether a specific paragraph should be in the agreement itself or in an invitation to foreign observers.

Economy up 7 percent during close of 1993

The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — The economy grew at a 7 percent annual rate in the final three months of 1993, down a bit from the government's earlier estimate but still a sizzling pace not likely to be duplicated this year.

The seasonally adjusted gain in the gross domestic product announced today by the Commerce Department was 0.5 percent lower than its month-old estimate of 7.5 percent. The GDP is the sum of all goods and services produced in the United States.

The department also reported that corporate profits in the fourth quarter of 1993 rose 8.4 percent to $297.4 billion, up 10.7 percent for the full year. The fourth quarter showing was the best for any three-month period since an 11.9 percent gain in the last quarter of 1992.

Energy Department freeing $6 million for collider study

The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — A congressional critic of the superconducting super collider is attacking the Energy Department's decision to give Texas $6 million to study possible future uses for the failed project's assets.

Rep. Sherwood Boehlert, R-N.Y., said the Energy Department is "hunting aimlessly for a new program to keep the site active."

"DOE is engaging in this whole process backwards," he charged Wednesday. "Instead of starting with a program goal and then seeing if SSC assets or the site might be useful in achieving it, DOE is trying to fabricate programs that will make the site seem useful."

The department's announcement Wednesday was swiftly hailed by Texas Gov. Ann Richards, who has been prodding the Clinton administration to ensure that the $2 billion in federal and state money spent building the giant atom smasher doesn't go to waste.

Official registration for new students at Bauer Magnet School, Grades 1-5, will be held on Wednesday, April 6, 1994 from 8:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon in the principal's office.

Former Sooner coach takes over Cowboys

By The Associated Press

IRVING — Barry Switzer moved today into the same office at Valley Ranch where Jimmy Johnson had once replaced Tom Landry, hoping he has as many Super Bowl trophies in his future as they did.

Related story, page 10

The first priority for the former Oklahoma coach was to meet players on the roster of the back-to-back Super Bowl champion Dallas Cowboys, including such free agents as center Mark Stepnoski, fullback Daryl Johnston, wide receiver Alvin Harper and offensive linemen Nate Newton and Kevin Gogan.

The second priority is to familiarize himself with the NFL, where he's never coached.

"There's a lot going on and the draft is on April 24," Switzer said. "I'm going to try to learn as much as I can as quickly as I can."

Switzer said he was "tanned, rested and ready" after five years away from football. He faces a challenge of matching two Super Bowls won by both Johnson and Landry.

Switzer said he plans to do it Johnson's way.

"There won't be any changes," said the 56-year-old Switzer. "I hope the Cowboys don't change. Jimmy and I are a lot alike. We've always been motivated and able to communicate to our teams. I just hope I can be compared to what Jimmy did."

He'll also be cashing checks similar to the one's Johnson got. Switzer signed a five-year, $5 million deal that includes an annual "five-year rollover" clause allowing him to renegotiate and possibly extend his term, the Fort Worth Star-Telegram reported in its Thursday editions.

Switzer, in one of his Sooner pep rally moods, said, "I've been watching the Super Bowl and wishing I was there. I want to be there, baby. I want to take this bunch there. Just give us a little time to get it together."

With that he grabbed owner Jerry Jones around the shoulders and shook him.

Jones, who played under Switzer as a freshman at Arkansas, didn't divulge the details of his contract other than to say, "I'm very committed to Barry Switzer."

Switzer will retain every coach on Johnson's staff, including offensive coordinator Ernie Zampese and defensive coordinator Butch Davis.

"It's the greatest coaching staff in the NFL," Switzer said. "I competed against some of them. I just ask them to give me a chance. Just let me garner their respect."

At times Switzer acted a little overwhelmed at being with the Cowboys.

"I never thought I would have an opportunity," he said. "I thought my time had passed."

When Jones mentioned Switzer's name in a bar during a trade against Johnson at Orlando, Fla., last week, it infuriated Johnson to the point of seeking a break from Jones.

Jones and Switzer had trouble getting their stories straight on when Jones first called Switzer. Switzer said, "I got a call last week from Jerry asking me if I wanted to coach."

Jones had said his first contact was on Monday, when the hassle with Johnson was boiling. Jones backtracked to say he called Switzer last week "to avoid embarrassment about mentioning his name."

Johnson visited Valley Ranch early Wednesday, then left, leaving the packing to secretary Barbara Goodman. Johnson later called the accounting department to see if his multi-million dollar check had been cut.

A source said "It wasn't. Coach Johnson will probably get it tomorrow."

Switzer gave his pledge of allegiance to Jones, who has felt he hasn't been given enough credit for the two Super Bowl titles.

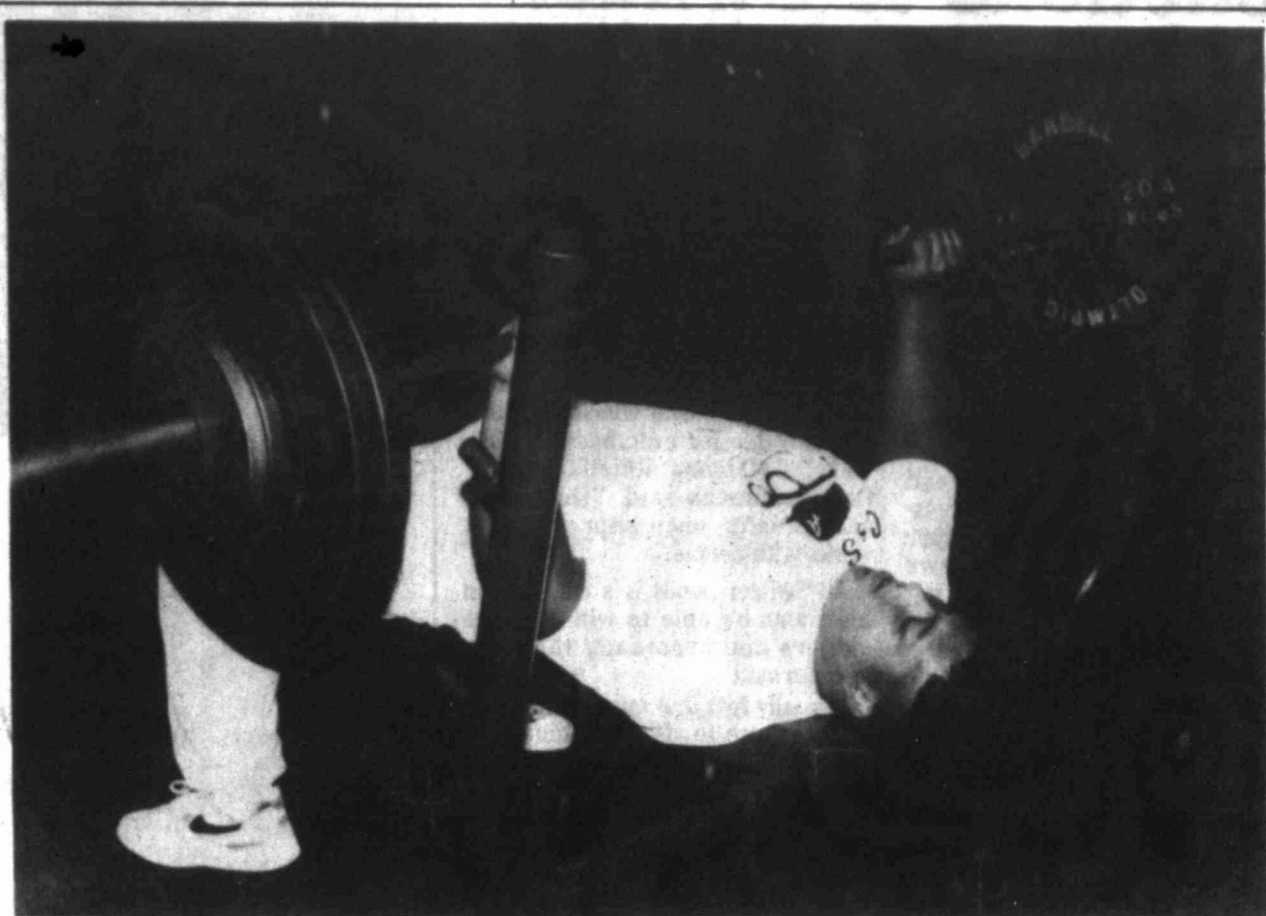

"I give my commitment of loyalty, excellence and commitment to make it the best," said Switzer, looking Jones in the eye.

Jones said: "I feel we have one of the most talented teams that there is the NFL, if not the most talented team, and one of the best that has ever been put together. I feel very confident that the continuity can be kept in place and be motivated with the new head coach of the Dallas Cowboys, Barry Switzer."

There were mixed reactions from the players, but running back Emmitt Smith and quarterback Troy Aikman signed on with Switzer.

"I think Barry is an outstanding coach and the transition should be smooth," said Aikman, who played one year for Switzer at Oklahoma before going to UCLA because the Sooners wouldn't pass. "I believe he will do a good job. He's keeping the same staff. We're keeping the same offense and defense. I think we'll be comfortable with what he's trying to do."

Aikman said he felt grateful to please see SWITZER, page 10

Coahoma's Mario Martinez bench presses Thursday as he trains for Saturday's state powerlifting championships in Austin.

Coahoma powerlifter muscles his way to state championships

By STEVE REAGAN
Sportswriter

COAHOMA — Mario Martinez doesn't talk much, but then again, maybe he doesn't have to.

After all, when you're 5-foot-10 weigh 278 pounds and can deadlift more than 500 pounds, perhaps people just tend to listen to you a little better.

Coahoma High School's quiet giant will take his weight-lifting skills to a new level this weekend when he participates in the State Powerlifting Meet in Austin.

At powerlift meets, lifters press weights in three categories — squat, bench press and deadlift — then add those weights for a total lift. The best total weight wins.

Winning is something Mario has grown accustomed to this year. The CHS senior, who competes in the super-heavyweight division, has won all but one meet he has entered this year, including the regional meet two weeks ago in Kermit, when he lifted a total weight of 1,340 pounds (480 squat, 350 bench and 510 deadlift).

Mario, who has set a goal of 1,400 pounds for the state meet, said there's a simple reason why he participates in this grueling sport.

"I like it," he said. "It keeps me in shape. It's something I enjoy doing."

Remember what we said about not talking much?

Martinez began lifting weights seriously as a sophomore, and has progressed to be the best-ever at Coahoma, which has had a powerlifting program for at least the last 10 years.

"I think he just loves to lift," said his coach, Steve Park. "He likes it, he's dedicated to it, and when you do something you like to do, you usually do well."

Martinez is currently ranked fifth in the state in his division. A lifter from Mansfield has practically lapped the field, lifting more than 1,600 pounds, but Park said Martinez has a good chance to medal at Austin.

"I'd like to come in in the top half at state," Martinez said. "If I can do that, I'd be happy."

Martinez works like he talks: get to the point and don't waste energy. This get-down-to-business approach has earned him the praise of judges this year.

"I've had a lot of judges comment on how Mario lifts," Park said. "They like his technique. He just goes in there and gets it done."

Martinez has followed a strict regimen this year and has not changed the routine for the upcoming state meet. He lifts weights at the CHS weight room four days a week, alternating between leg and chest workouts.

Such a grind might not appeal to the average person, but Martinez likes it just fine.

"I've always liked it," he said. "Being the strongest one in my group makes me feel good."

Martinez, who also was an all-district tackle in football, would like to pursue that sport — and lifting, of course — in college, although he hasn't settled on a specific school.

HC rodeo gets underway tonight

Howard men have been cornerstone of team this year

By STEVE REAGAN
Sportswriter

If the Howard College rodeo team is going to make some noise at its rodeo starting tonight, it's likely the HC men will be making the biggest racket.

And it's a task the HC men are not unfamiliar with, because they've already caused a commotion of sorts this year.

The Howard men come into tonight's rodeo on a bit of a hot streak, having won the Odessa College rodeo two weeks ago in convincing fashion. They piled up 460 points to easily outdistance second-place Western Texas College by more than 150 points.

Leading the way for Howard was steer wrestler Brad Stewart and bull rider Ross Hataway, who placed first in their respective events. But the men's team, currently third in the National Collegiate Rodeo Association's Southwestern region, is anything but a two-man show.

"The Odessa rodeo was an excellent rodeo for us because all six team members got points," HC coach Mike Yeater said. "All of them did well, and last year we didn't have that."

The top two teams in each regional division qualify for the NIRA finals in June in Bozeman, Mont., and Yeater thinks his guys have an excellent chance to move up a notch or two in the standings, especially on their home turf this week.

"There's a few advantages to (being home)," Yeater said. "The kids' horses should be fresher because we don't have to haul them, we're a little more familiar with the arena, and the kids should be more rested, too."

An HC cowboy especially familiar with the Big Spring Rodeo Bowl is sophomore steer wrestler Dane Driver, the grandson of Big Spring Rodeo Association President Skipper Driver.

"Dane is just real solid," Yeater said simply. "His biggest attribute is that you can count on him not to beat himself. With freshmen, they may have the talent, but they may end up beating themselves. Dane's not going to do that."

Roughstock rider Brandon Arrington, who'll ride both bareback horses and bulls this week, is a freshman from Marble Falls who's just now rounding into form after injuring his shoulder last semester.

Another talented freshman Yeater will be counting on for points is Jason Freeman, a bareback bronc rider who joined the team at mid-year.

"He's better than I foresaw when I first saw him," Yeater said. "From the time I first saw him to the time he came down here, he's improved a lot. With the horses and stock we have here, he should do well."

Rounding out the group that will be gunning for team points is sophomore Ross Lowry, from Summerville, Ga. Lowry will compete in the roping and steer wrestling events.

"He's real strong in steer wrestling and team roping, and is competitive in calf roping," Yeater said. "Ross is the same as Dane: He's real solid and is not going to make a lot of mistakes."

The rodeo starts tonight at 7:30 at the rodeo bowl.

Yeater hopeful that HC cowgirls can contribute tonight

By STEVE REAGAN
Sportswriter

The Howard College women's rodeo team may be in a rebuilding phase this year, but their coach is hoping some home cooking this week will speed up the process.

Coach Mike Yeater knew the team would be young (all freshmen) and would struggle this year, and the mid-term loss of two team members didn't help matters. But if the locals are to win their own rodeo, which starts tonight in the rodeo bowl, the cowgirls are going to have to contribute.

Yeater's biggest hope for points comes from Shanna Owens, a freshman from Rankin who will compete in barrel racing, goat tying and breakaway roping.

"I expect Shanna to place in at least one event," Yeater said. "She's our most experienced and most accomplished team member."

Joining Owens tonight will be Jeannie Bindseil, a freshman from Spicewood, and Traci Duke, from Summerville, Ga.

Duke, who will also compete in all three girls' events, is strongest in barrel racing. Because barrel racing patterns differ from rodeo to rodeo, Yeater is hopeful that the home course will be to Duke's liking.

"She's got a good barrel horse," Yeater said. "I don't know that this pattern will be the best pattern for her horse, but I would like to see Tina make the short-go in barrel racing."

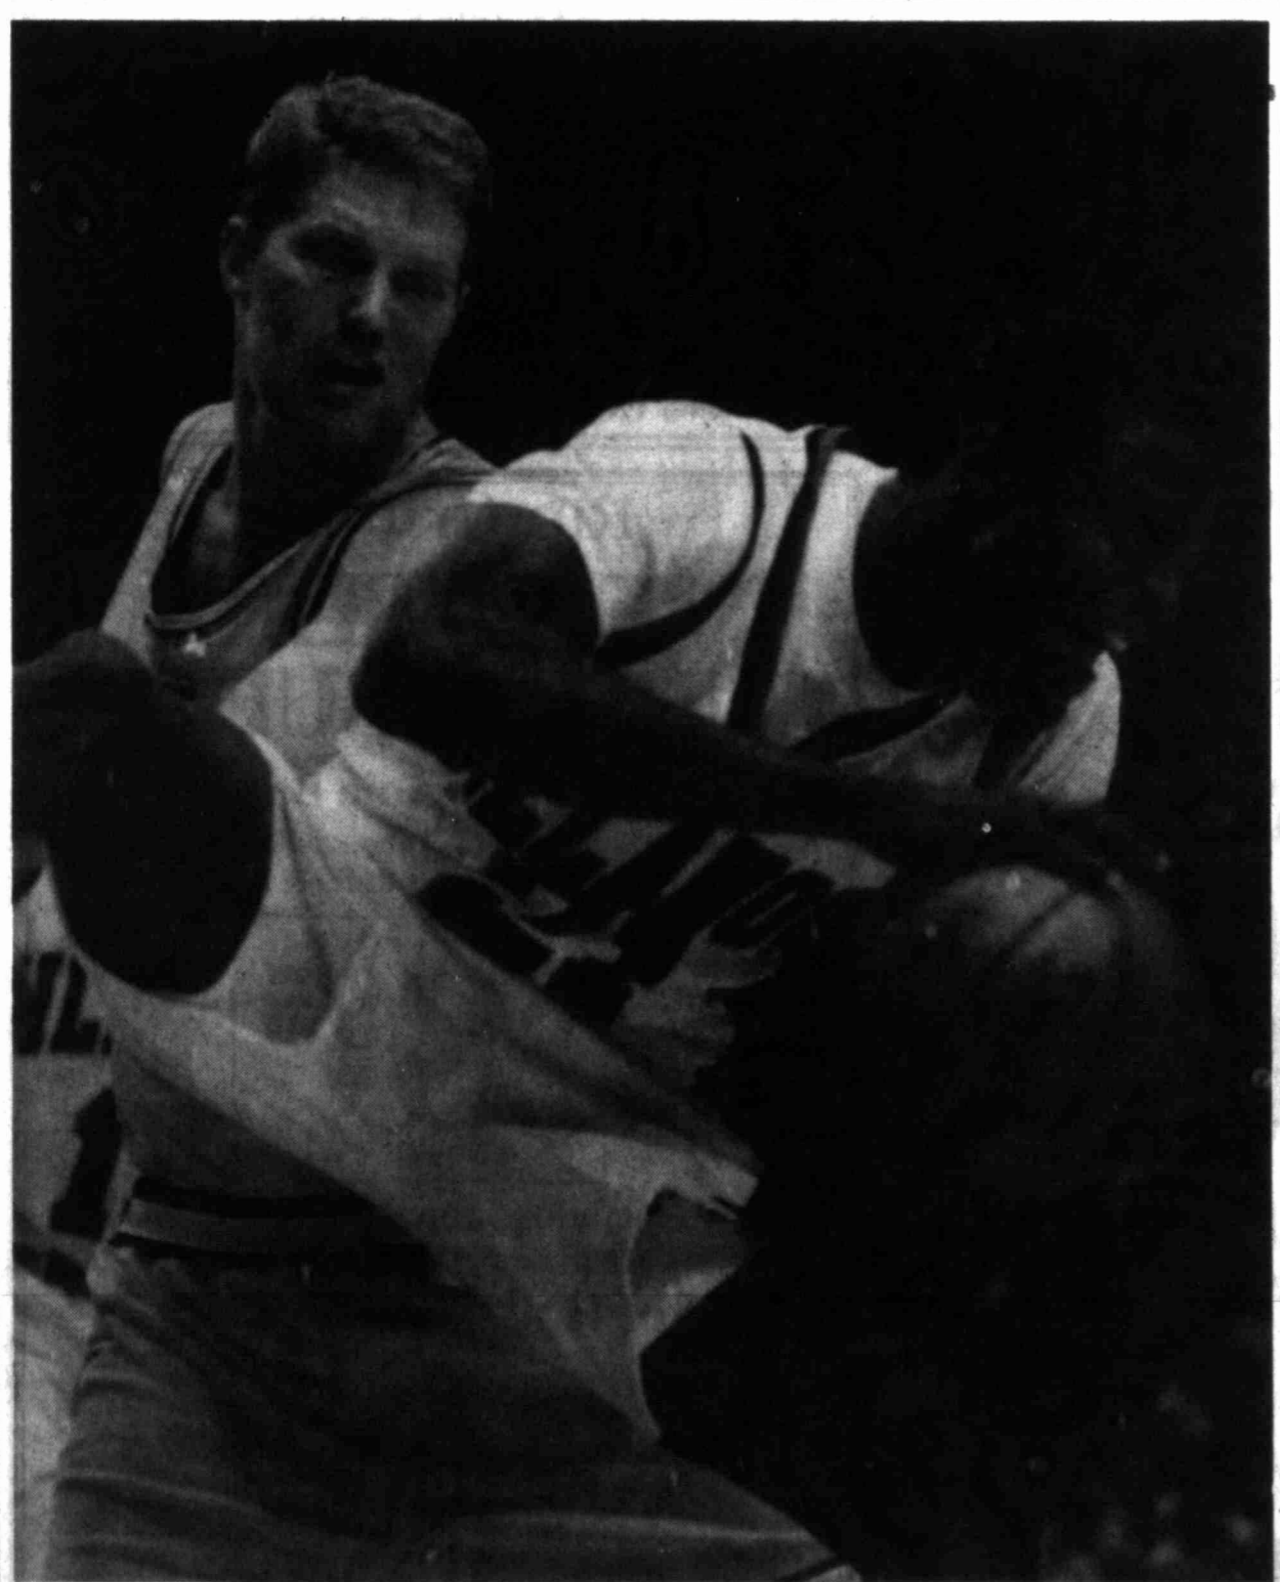

This week's rodeo will consist of two portions: preliminary rounds and the finals, or "short-go."

Although there is no limit to how many Howard cowboys and cowgirls can compete in the rodeo, only the finishes of six cowboys and three cowgirls count toward team standings. The rest compete individually.

Rounding out Howard's cowgirl trio is Bindseil. She will compete in breakaway roping and goat tying, and she has impressed her coach with her work ethic.

"She's probably the least experienced of all three, but she's probably the hardest-working girl I've got on the team," Yeater said.

Events at tonight's rodeo will include goat tying, barrel racing and breakaway roping for the women, and bull riding, bareback and saddle bronc riding, calf roping, team roping and steer wrestling for the men.

Cowboys show mixed reactions to Switzer

By The Associated Press

IRVING — Even if Barry Switzer's new players sign contracts instead of letters of intent and payments to them are encouraged, friends say the former Oklahoma coach will have no problem adapting to the NFL.

After all, it's Switzer's charm and charisma that made him so successful as a college coach, and his hyper antics during Wednesday's news conference announcing his hiring proved he still has a way with words.

"Of the head coaches I've had, he's without question the best motivator I've been around," said Cowboys quarterback Troy Aikman, who spent two years at Oklahoma under Switzer.

"That's just a matter of the charisma he possesses, the honesty he reveals to his players. He does what it takes to get through to a player so they'll accomplish what he wants," Aikman said.

Switzer's 157-29-4 record at Oklahoma proves he also knows something about play-calling.

"Barry Switzer knows football," said Steve Owens, who won the 1969 Heisman Trophy at Oklahoma and has remained good friends with Switzer through the years. "He knows Xs and Os and he can evaluate talent."

Switzer doesn't have to worry about taking over a sinking ship. The Cowboys won the last two Super Bowls, and all the assistant coaches hired by Jimmy Johnson are sticking around to work for Switzer.

"He made it clear we're not going to change much," Aikman said. "We're going to continue doing the things that made us successful."

"Just like he was in college, Barry will be a successful coach and he'll be enjoyable for everybody to work with," Oklahoma athletic director Donnie Duncan said. "He has an enthusiastic, open approach that works with people."

All Switzer needs is a chance and he'll also be able to win over the players and eventually the fans, Aikman said.

"I really feel that once the players get a chance to visit with him, they will feel very comfortable with the direction we're going to be going," said Aikman, whose endorsement may prove pivotal for Switzer. "He's going to be a difference-maker for this football team. We're going to look to him for leadership."

Switzer became the Cowboys' leader Wednesday and immediately met with his assistant coaches and with Aikman. He hasn't met with the entire team yet, but he comes to them with a reputation as being a player's coach.

"You hear that over and over, but I think he's the kind of coach that players can relate to," Owens said.

Area Fishing Report

The real big ones weren't biting for the Striped Bass Tournament at Lake E.V. Spence last weekend, but there was a robust black bass catch.

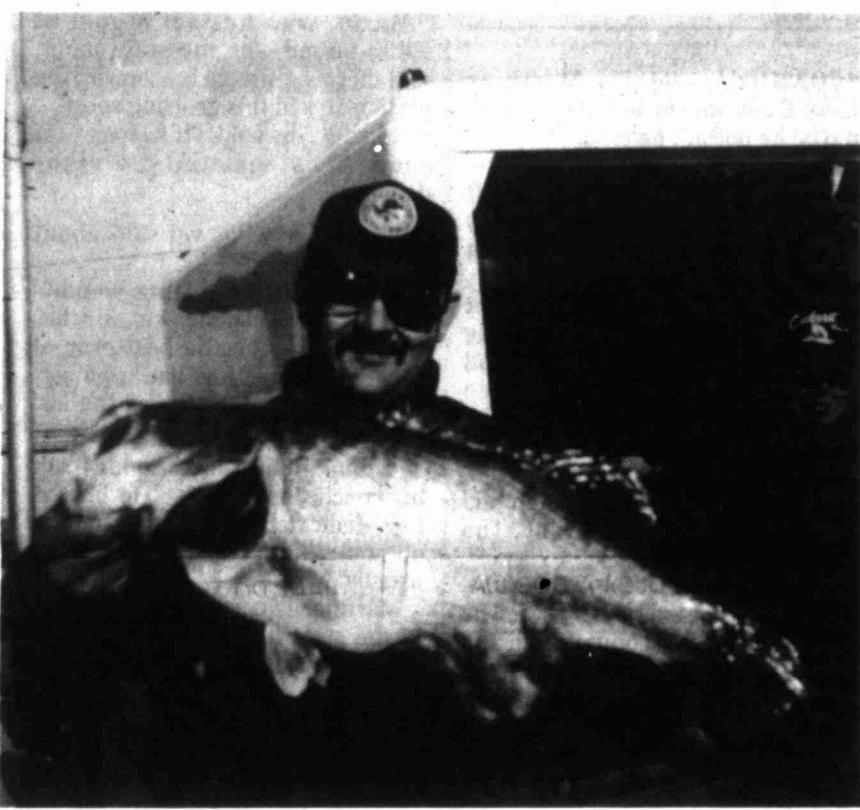

Ronnie Brown, Odessa, reeled in a 12-lb., 8-oz. bass and released it. The Striper Tournament drew 30 entries, plus two young anglers, and there were only two 15-lb. catches or better, the best being 16.24 lbs. caught on live shad.

Lake O.H. Ivie and Lake J.B. Thomas also have reports of accelerated large-mouth bass catches. Crappie fishing in both places was going well also.

Before the weekend cold snap, Lake Ivie waters were 60 degree surface and 55 bottom, contributing to good and excellent results for large-mouths. Most catches were in the 3-lb. range but with some around seven and eight. Spinners, cranks and worms worked best in 4 to 20 ft. of water. Occasionally there were good catches of small-mouths in with the blacks, particularly along rocky points.

Jigs and minnows worked best for crappie fishing, which generally was good in 2-15 ft. of water up river, or 15-20 ft. in the main body. Channel catfish were biting better up both the Concho and Colorado arms, and in baited holes of the main body. Worms and stink baits were most effective. Slowly, trotline fishing for yellow catfish was improving. White bass was fair for trollers with crank baits in 10-20 ft. of water. Best reports came from shorelines and the Concho Park area.

Lake Thomas water was up to 57 degrees, and there were reports of a couple of 8-lb. black bass. Blacks were hitting baits at varying depths. Crappie were active in about five feet of water. Only one yellow catfish was reported, but it was a hefty 40-lb. one Ken Huffaker, Lubbock, took off his trotline.

Ronnie Brown, Odessa, caught a 12-12, 7-oz. black bass, fishing out of Paint Creek Marina at Lake Spence.

Bob Edwards, Odessa, caught one weighing 5-1/2-lbs, while Bob Minton, San Angelo, hooked a 16-1/4-lb. striped bass using cut shad. Patrick's Country Store reported Louis Cornejo, Midland, came in with all 1/2-lb. crappie, using minnow bait. Jeff King, Midland, caught a 4-lb. black bass and a 24-in. striper.

There were good crappie results at Lake Spence, particularly in the Wildcat Creek area.

Switzer in college because "he was very helpful getting me to a university (UCLA) to do what I do best."

Aikman transferred to UCLA in 1985 and later became the Cowboy's No. 1 draft pick.

Smith, who had said on Saturday "if you fire Jimmy, you fire me," had calmed down after talking to Johnson.

"I talked to Jimmy and he was very positive and upbeat," Smith said. "He said Jerry treated him well with his contract. If Jimmy is satisfied, I'm satisfied."

"There is no need for me to moan and groan. I have to make the best of the situation and keep moving."

Smith said he had never met Switzer.

"I understand he's a player's coach, and you don't have too many like that," Smith said.

Smith joked about Switzer running the Wishbone-T at Oklahoma, saying: "I think Barry knows the Wishbone won't work on the NFL."

Wide receiver Michael Irvin, who had said earlier "Hell, no!" when asked if he would play for Switzer, was back at Valley Ranch slamming doors and declining interviews.

"He'll learn to deal with it," Smith said.

Switzer led the Sooners to three national titles and 12 Big Eight championships in 16 seasons at Oklahoma. He finished with a 157-29-4 record, the best among all active coaches, and ranks fourth in career winning percentage at .837.

Switzer left Oklahoma in 1989 amid several scandals involving arrests of his players.

"I get to work with 50 professionals now," Switzer said. "I don't miss the hassles with the NCAA and recruiting."
