Leaks drain city

By TIM JONES
Staff Writer

If citizens know about, or spot, moisture or water leaks, by all means, please inform us about them, asked City Manger Lanny Lambert Tuesday.

A leak in a four-inch pipe discovered near Cole Street Tuesday is being corrected, said Lambert. A early morning leak near Denny's Tuesday kept city crews busy, Lambert explained.

Concerns are being expressed by local residents about the March 1994 figures that represent the difference between the amount of water the city of Big Spring purchased from the Colorado River Municipal Water District compared to how much of that water the city is actually billed out.

The difference for March 1994 was 76,232 million gallons at a total of $154,529 in water the city paid CRMWD for but did not bill anyone for.

Instead of isolating March 1994 and in order to represent an average over a period of time, go back 10 months to June 1993, when the monthly figures were about the same as March 1994.

June 1993 figures were 77,885 million gallons, worth $241,462.

Then, by adding up the months in between, over the 10 month period, you can arrive at, through an averaging-out process, a fairly decent representation of a median or average monthly figure.

The 10 months add up to 487,899 million gallons, at $2,217,464. Divid-

Cinco de Mayo, get ready for it

Celebration kicks off May 6

By TIM JONES
Staff Writer

This year's celebration of Cinco de Mayo in Big Spring will be the weekend of May 6-8 at Hangar 44 on the McMahon-Wrinkle Airpark.

The City Council, on April 12, unanimously approved the use of the World War II structure, the closest hangar to the old O.I.L., for the activities.

The local Coors Beer distributor is sponsoring the three day affair, according to event organizer Raul Marquez, program director of "La Favorita," KBYG radio's Hispanic programming.

Featured will be pure Tejano music and hopefully, as many as 28 food vendors, he said.

"This year's Cinco de Mayo looks to provide the best available musical entertainment," he added. "Everyone I've talked to expects a great turnout."

Kickoff for Cinco de Mayo is May 6, at 8 p.m. "Tommy Olague y Sangre Tejana" will play four hours, winding up at midnight.

May 7, beginning at 1 p.m. DJ music and "Ballet Floricos", a dance group will entertain until 4 p.m.

From 4 p.m. until 1 a.m. two bands, "Popo y Compania" and "Pete Mojica y Kastigo", will perform, alternating every two hours for a total of eight hours of "puro Tejano music."

At 8 p.m. Saturday, the music will temporarily pause and an explanation of the historical significance of Cinco de Mayo will be presented by Imelda Melendez, editor of the new Hispanic magazine, "El Pueblo".

May 8 is "El Dia de las Madres/Mother's Day".

After DJ music and "Ballet Floricos" from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m., a solo mariachi performer, Pepe Franco, will serenade the "moms".

Franco sings in the style of the much-loved Vicente Fernandez, Marquez said. He will be performing requests of older songs like "La Barca de Oro", for example, from 4 p.m. to 6 p.m.

Closing out the Cinco de Mayo Sunday evening will be "Michael Salgado y los Salgados del Norte," playing from 8 p.m. to midnight.

"An invitation is extended to all of you to celebrate Cinco de Mayo with us," said Marquez.

Democratic chairman Frank Hardesty dies at 74

By KELLIE JONES

Long time Big Spring resident Frank Williams Hardesty died Wednesday at his home.

early 60's.

Hardesty worked with the National Youth Administration and was a national convention delegate several times. Hardesty had close ties with such political figures as Speakers Sam Rayburn and Jim Wright, U.S. Senator Ralph Yarborough, Governor John Connally, U.S. Congressman J.J. Pickle and many others. Hardesty also served as a Big Spring city councilman from 1948 to 1952. His bid for state representative fell short in a plurality race.

He became postmaster in 1965 and saw numerous changes including the construction of the present post office and winning regional quality awards. He was named Texas Postmasters state president in 1978 and served two terms as vice president of the National Association of Postmasters. In this capacity, he frequently made trips to the nation's capital to discuss legislative matters and was part of a successful fight to prevent a halt to Saturday mail deliveries.

Hardesty was also the county Democratic chairman and had recently revived that role after had serving as chairman for six years in the late 50's and early 60's.

Women's Forum understands truth of volunteering

By BARBARA MORRISON
Staff Writer

In 1958, Dr. William V. Horbaly was superintendent of the Big Spring State Hospital. He wrote: "One of the bright spots in volunteer work is the faithfulness of your club in maintaining and keeping open the Fashion Shop each Thursday. You have worked tirelessly..."

The club he was writing to still exists in Big Spring with the same spirit of determination, with many of its same members and stopping along the way to add several new ones. The club Horbaly was writing to is today known as "The Women's Forum."

The organization was founded in October 1946 at a meeting of the Modern Woman's Forum. At that time, the group was named the Junior Woman's Forum and evolved through several name changes, finally settling on the current name in the 1970s.

The club is designed to be a study group, established to better inform women about today's issues and to convert the knowledge gained "into action for personal and community achievement."

And "convert to action" is a charge the group has taken seriously for almost half a century.

Hardesty was also very busy in civic affairs in Big Spring. He served as president, director and a physical fitness leader at the local YMCA.

He was also a member of the Big Spring Rotary Club and was named president in 1976. Hardesty served as post commander for the American Legion as well as division leader for United Way and disaster chairman for the American Red Cross.

Hardesty was born in Jackson, Miss., on May 8, 1919. His parents moved to Lamesa shortly after his birth. Later, the family moved to Fort Worth, where he finished high school. Hardesty attended the University of Texas and worked as a fireman. He roomed for a time with Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Pierson and that is where he met their daughter Daisy who became his wife on Jan. 31, 1938.

At the end of World War II, his brother-in-law persuaded him to take over the Crawford Hotel Drugs in 1942. It was so successful that the Hardesty's had to enlarge and re-open the store in 1952.

Services will be Saturday, April 23, at the First Baptist Church in Big Spring. Interment will follow at Trinity Memorial Park under the direction of Nalley-Pickle and Welch Funeral Home.

Family members will receive visitors at 506 Washington Boulevard.

He is survived by his wife Daisy; a son and his wife, Frank Hardesty Jr. and Lowry of Manchester, Ga., a daughter and husband, Nancy and Dan Plowman of Big Spring; two grandchildren, Kelly Andrews and Cody Plowman, Big Spring, and a great-grandchild, Ashley Andrews; also a sister, Mrs. J.D. Decidedly, the figure we can live with should be around 10 percent of that; which would be 4,879 million gallons monthly, at $22,175.

This translates to the "true" goal for the water-loss audit; "find the other 90 percent," which would be 43,911 million gallons "monthly", at $199,571.

Urban survival defense doesn't fly

The Associated Press

FORT WORTH — A majority of jurors called it far-fetched, but defense attorneys say they'll try again to win acquittal for a man using an urban survival defense for gunning down two rivals in a tough part of town.

A mistrial was declared Wednesday in the case against Daimion Osby, on trial on two murder charges for fatally shooting two cousins with whom he'd had a long-standing feud. Prosecutors said they would retry Osby.

State District Judge Bill Burdock ended the trial Wednesday. The jury of nine whites and three blacks deadlocked 11-1 after 2½ days of deliberations. All but the foreman favored conviction.

Court-appointed defense attorneys Bill Lane and David Bays had used a controversial self-defense strategy that argued Osby suffered from "urban survival syndrome," which they defined as the fear that black people have of other blacks in high-crime, urban areas. They called an urban crime witness to corroborate their claims.

But all but one juror still wanted to convict Osby in the April 1993 shootings of Willie "Peanut" Brooks, 28, and Marcus Brooks, 19.

"I was born and raised in New York City ... and I find it to be totally bunk," a 39-year-old juror who identified himself only as Paul said of the defense strategy. "We went in the back and laughed about it. We thought it was all a big joke."

Prosecutor Suzanne Hudson said the panel never seriously considered the urban survival argument.

Bush urges violation of prison settlement

AUSTIN (AP) — Republican gubernatorial candidate George W. Bush says Texas should "violate" a settlement of the long-running prison lawsuit and believes Texans should be allowed to carry concealed handguns.

Speaking to the Texas Police Chiefs Association on Wednesday, Bush said he would have approved a bill that Gov. Ann Richards vetoed last year, which would have let Texans vote on whether they should be allowed to tote handguns.

"I would sign such a bill. I believe certain people ought to be able to carry concealed weapons under strict licensing requirements," Bush said.

On the prison issue, Bush said the state gave away too much in a settlement with inmates in the Ruiz lawsuit.

Explosion rocks plant; 3 injured

The Associated Press

MONT BELVIEU — Three people were injured Wednesday night when an explosion and fire rocked an industrial plant, local authorities said.

The explosion occurred about 9 p.m. at Gulf Coast Fractionators, said Mont Belvieu Police Chief Jerry Whitman.

Flames reached 100 feet into the sky at one point, but authorities said the fire was out about two hours after it ignited.

"They are still fighting a few small fires in isolated areas, but they don't suspect any other further dangers," Whitman said around 11 p.m. "They expect to sound the all clear in the next hour or so." Whitman said eight employees were on duty at time, and all had been accounted for.

Three people suffered minor injuries and two of them were admitted to a nearby hospital, one with a flash burn and one with chest pains, he said. Both were in stable condition at Bay Coast Medical Center in nearby Baytown.

Whitman said authorities did not yet know what caused the explosion and fire. Texas Department of Public Safety troopers said the explosion occurred in a propane tank.

Telephone calls to the company could not go through Wednesday night because the circuits were overloaded. DPS spokesman Mike Cox in Austin said the first report was received at 8:58 p.m.

"The explosion took place prior to that," he said.

Cox said there are no residences in the area, which was sealed off after the explosion.

Fractionation is the distillation process by which natural gas liquids are broken down into component parts, including methane, ethane, propane, butanes, pentanes and heavier hydrocarbons.

The process takes place in a fractionator, a column or tower in which the liquids are split into different boiling ranges — fractions — by distillation.

Mont Belvieu is about 30 miles east of Houston.

Hispanic population will continue to rise

The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — People of Hispanic origin will make up 40 percent of the Texas population three decades from now, according to government projections.

The projections, released Wednesday by the U.S. Census Bureau, indicate that all minority groups except American Indians will constitute increasing percentages of the Texas population by the year 2020.

The state's population as a whole — nearly 18 million in 1993 — is projected to grow to 25.5 million by 2020. The government says Texas will surpass New York as the nation's second most populous state sometime this year. California is projected to retain the No. 1 spot through 2020.

Whites, who made up 85.2 percent of the Texas population in 1993, will drop to 82.9 percent by the year 2020, the study said.

Meanwhile, people of Hispanic origin are projected to become 40.3 percent of the state population, up from 27.3 percent in 1993.

Nationwide, immigration and rapid population growth are expected to make Hispanics the largest U.S. minority by 2020, totaling 51.2 million, or 15.7 percent of the population. That's up from 9.7 percent in 1993.

Under Census categories, people of Hispanic origin can be of any race, so many Hispanics are counted as both white and of Hispanic origin.

The projections estimate the state's white population will increase by 5.8 million during the next three decades, while the number of people of Hispanic origin will increase by 5.4 million.

Texas is expected to gain 2.2 million people through international migration between 1990 and 2020.

Blacks are expected to make up 12.6 percent of the Texas population by the year 2020, up from 12.1 percent in 1993.

The percentage of Asians and Pacific Islanders in Texas is projected to move to 4.2 percent from 2.3 percent during the same period.

The bureau said it expected American Indians to drop from 0.4 percent to 0.3 percent during the same time span.

Lawmakers still fight for collider

The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Texas lawmakers say they'll work to block a proposal that could prevent any future project from rising out of the ashes of the failed superconducting super collider.

They are targeting a measure offered by Rep. Sherwood Boehlert, who last year helped orchestrate the successful campaign to kill the $11 billion atom smasher.

State health officials say the exposures were detected in two wood rats, two house mice and one white-footed mouse — all common species in Kleberg County.

Julie Rawlings of the Texas Department of Health said the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention in Atlanta will test the rodents' tissues to determine whether they actually developed the hantavirus after being exposed to it.

"It's very likely that these (rodents) were," said Rawlings, a specialist in diseases that can be transmitted from animals to humans. "The other thing we need to find out is what hantavirus they were exposed to."

Results are not expected for several weeks.

Ruling allows new evidence to be presented

AUSTIN (AP) — Lawyers for death row inmate Gary Graham are praising a court ruling that lifts his stay of execution but gives him a way to air new evidence he contends proves his innocence.

The ruling "creates one more step to make sure innocent people don't get executed," said lawyer Jim Harrington of the Texas Civil Rights Project, which has handled Graham's case.

He said the procedure set up Wednesday by the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals doesn't apply exclusively to murder cases, but would be rarely used in others.

The high court ruled 5-4 that an appeals court in Austin overstepped its authority in halting Graham's August 1993 execution while considering whether he was entitled to a clemency hearing before the state Board of Pardons and Paroles.

Nixon still in critical condition

NEW YORK (AP) — Get-well messages poured in from ordinary people and heads of state as a stroke-ridden Richard Nixon lay critically ill, partially paralyzed and unable to speak.

The 81-year-old former president suffered swelling of the brain, a potentially deadly complication of the stroke he had on Monday.

New York Hospital-Cornell Medical Center said on Wednesday that there would be no further updates on his condition unless it changed significantly.

"We've gotten too many telephone calls to count," Liz Johnston said Wednesday at Nixon's office in suburban Woodcliff Lake, N.J. "Some are friends, some are complete strangers, some are people with remedies."

Russian President Boris Yeltsin, who was miffed last month when Nixon met with his opponents during a trip to Russia, sent a telegram saying, "I hope you recover and return to the rough and tumble of political life."

Doctors cry for help in Sarajevo

SARAJEVO, Bosnia-Herzegovina (AP) — Bosnian Serbs raked Gorazde with artillery shells, rockets and heavy machine guns, blasting the hospital from close range as doctors begged for help.

"Please do something that we stay alive. We cannot stand this anymore," said Dr. Aldijana Rebic, sobbing over ham radio.

Ten people were killed when Serb shells hit the hospital Wednesday.

The hospital's director said Serb tanks were firing from only 100 yards away at the building which had its roof blown off Tuesday. "This is not war anymore. This is slaughter, massacre," Dr. Aljija Begic said.

No second class treatment proven

BOSTON (AP) — Do women get second-class treatment for heart disease? The latest evidence suggests not.

Several studies have shown that men often get more aggressive treatment, such as bypass operations, to relieve chest pain. Critics have argued sexism is at play: Doctors take heart disease more seriously when the victim is a man.

However, many cardiologists deny this. And a report published today backs them up.

It concludes there is another explanation for why men and women are treated differently: differences in age and severity of the disease. Women are typically 10 to 15 years older than men when they develop heart disease.

West, south will get the population

WASHINGTON (AP) — The South and West will continue to be magnets for America's people over the next quarter-century, but it will be a more varied population, and an older one, than today.

Stepped up threats don't scare Serbs

The Associated Press

SARAJEVO, Bosnia-Herzegovina — Unfazed by Washington's calls for wider NATO air strikes, Serb gunners pounded away today at the embattled enclave of Gorazde. Said an exasperated amateur radio operator: "The hell in Gorazde continues."

U.N. officials said intransigent Bosnian Serbs finally allowed a convoy of U.N. peacekeepers and medics to leave Sarajevo, but there was no guarantee it would reach Gorazde, 35 miles to the southeast over the mountains. Many previous convoys have been blocked.

The Serbs have openly defied the United Nations over the besieged Muslim town, promising truces while advancing into the enclave and shelling it relentlessly, sometimes firing an artillery round a minute into the town.

Serbs, who agreed Tuesday to cease fire, have simply ignored the accord. Today, Kris Janowski of the U.N. High Commissioner for Refugees reported one shell crashed into a Red Cross refugee center in Gorazde, killing and wounding many people. There was no precise figure of casualties.

He said another shell that landed near the town's mosque at mid-morning also caused heavy casualties.

International aid workers pleaded for help Wednesday after at least 10 people were killed in a rocket attack on the Gorazde hospital. U.N. officials said at least 34 also were killed elsewhere Wednesday in Gorazde.

Nearly 400 people have been killed and 1,300 wounded in the three-week offensive, said Janowski, a spokesman for the UNHCR.

"The hell in Gorazde continues," said ham radio operator Enes Musovic in a broadcast monitored in Sarajevo.

The U.N. Security Council was meeting today to consider adding 7,000 peacekeeping troops to the 34,000 already in former Yugoslavia, but there was no guarantee it would take action.

Security Council President Colin Keating, the ambassador of New Zealand, told reporters Wednesday night that the council would adopt a resolution condemning Serb aggression.

To which Bosnian U.N. Ambassador Muhamed Sacirbey asked: "And what do we do about the rest of Bosnia? Bosnia is not made up of six safe areas. It is a place where civilians live outside the safe areas. Who will defend those?"

The Bosnian Serb information agency SRNA again tried to foist blame for the fighting on Muslim-led government soldiers, saying they were firing on Serb positions but U.N. observers say the Serbs are clearly the aggressors.

Yugoslavia's Tanjug news agency said its reporter was allowed by Serb forces on a hill overlooking Gorazde, and denied that it was devastated. The report accused Western TV of using footage made "who knows where and when."

Jobless claims up for third week in a row

The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — The number of Americans applying the first time for state unemployment benefits rose unexpectedly for the third consecutive time last week, reaching a two-month high, the government said today. The Labor Department said claims totaled 364,000 in the week ended April 16, up 14,000 from a revised 350,000 the week before. Initial reports had put the previous week's figure at 348,000.

Most economists had predicted a decline of about 10,000 as warmer temperatures fuel new hiring in manufacturing and construction. The 456,000 new jobs created in March was the largest number in more than six years.

But the figures show the effects of downsizing by many employers determined to streamline their operations to survive in an increasingly competitive marketplace. The 364,000 new claims was the highest number since the week ended Feb. 19, when 375,000 claims were filed.

The Labor Department said its four-week moving average of weekly claims was 345,250, the highest level in a month.

BSHS star signs with Howard

By STEVE REAGAN
Sportswriter

The Howard College Hawks added a bit of local flavor Wednesday night when they signed Big Spring High School star Wes Hughes to a letter-of-intent to play basketball at the school.

Hughes, who started the past three years for the Steers, signed a full scholarship to attend Howard.

He was a major reason the Steers ended the season 13-16 and tied for first in District 3-4A. He averaged 19.2 points per game, including a school-record 104 three-pointers, as well as five assists per contest.

He was named all-district the past two seasons.

"Howard's got a kid who did a great job for us this year," BSHS coach Gary Tipton said. "And he's going to play for a coach (HC coach Tommy Collins) I have the highest respect for."

"The first thing you've got to respect about Wes is his shooting ability. He's a great, great shooter," Tipton said. "But I also thought that, as a senior, Wes turned into a pretty good leader for us."

Hughes steps into a good news, bad news situation at Howard. The good news is that he will be one of several freshmen playing for the Hawks, who will return only two players from last year's 19-11 team.

The bad news for Hughes, however, is that one of those returners is all-conference performer Kavossy Franklin, who plays shooting guard - Hughes' position.

Collins said Hughes' role on the team is still undefined.

"It's hard to say," Collins said. "He's coming into a tough position. We've got an all-conference performer at the position ... It depends on what kind of shape he comes in next year ... but he'll be right in the middle of things."

Tipton concedes that Hughes needs to work to become a consistently strong college performer.

"In order to take that next step, any kid has a lot of adjustments to make," he said. "There are areas of Wes' game he'll have to work at. He's going to have to become a better ball-handler, and he'll have to become a better defensive player - which is definitely within his grasp."

"The good thing is that he'll be able to devote more time to basketball," Tipton added. "At Big Spring High, Wes was involved in a lot of sports. In college, he'll have more time to put into basketball."

HUGHES

Jones set to call Cowboys' shots

By The Associated Press

IRVING — Recently retired Jimmy Johnson will probably be lounging on his boat "Three Rings" soaking in Florida sunshine when the Dallas Cowboys face Sunday's NFL draft with owner Jerry Jones' finger on the trigger.

With seven free agent losses, Jones needs to hit some bullseyes.

What would Jimmy have done? It's a question that will be hanging in the draft war room air like gunsmoke at Valley Ranch.

Jones, who paid Johnson $2 million to end their feud, has wanted to be in charge in the draft room.

With Johnson out of sight and out of mind, Jones finally has his wish.

He talks like he has been a decision maker but anyone familiar with the Cowboys operation knows it was Johnson who wheeled and dealt on draft day with Jones on the sidelines as a cheerleader.

There have been published reports that Jones even asked Johnson to confer with him so it would look good for the television network cameras.

"I'll have to make decisions that Jimmy and I made in the past," Jones said. "But I never thought I wasn't making the call."

But it was Johnson's call in 1990 when he moved up in the draft to get Emmitt Smith when others said the Florida star was too slow and too small. Johnson saw what others missed, Smith's courage and heart which have been on ample display in the last two Super Bowl seasons.

Anyone could have drafted Troy Aikman but Johnson hit on players like offensive tackle Erik Williams, a third round pick from small Central (Ohio) State and seventh-round pick Leon Lett, a rising star at defensive end who played for tiny Emporia (Kansas) State.

Johnson had a few misses such as second-round wide receiver Alexander Wright, who lacked the good hands to match his blazing speed, and first-rounder Robert Jones, who has yet to pan out to be a game-breaking linebacker.

But his overall mark is of a gambler who won more than he lost.

New coach Barry Switzer will be in the war room and he said "I'm here to watch and learn. It wouldn't be reasonable to expect me to know how the game is played."

Switzer has been out of college coaching for five years since he left under a dark cloud at Oklahoma. He's never had a fling as an NFL coach.

Jones does have a powerful ally on his side. Larry Laceywell, director of college scouting, knows football players, particularly defensive players.

At Oklahoma, Laceywell was one of the best defensive coordinators in college football and knows what it takes from that side of the field. Johnson called Laceywell the best football technician he has ever been around.

Fishing

Black bass fishing continued good to excellent at Lake O.H. Ivie last weekend, and occasionally there were nice strings of crappie reported. Water was clear in the main body, murky to muddy in upper reaches; temperature 62.7 degree surface, 56.5 bottom; and level almost two feet below spillway.

All of a sudden the intermediate and larger striped bass were showing again at Lake E.V. Spence, where water temperature rose to 63 degrees surface. Kathy Roquemore, Odessa, led the parade with a striper weighing 18-1/4-lbs., measuring 34-in.

At Lake Ivie there were reports of a few black bass up to 9 lbs.; and most were being caught in 8 to 15 ft. of water on spinners, cranks and plastic worms, fished slowly. Large-mouth bass continued to spawn in 10-15 ft. of water upstream, and are beginning to spawn in the flats and shallow covers off the main body. Along rock ridges to 10-15 ft. of water, small-mouth bass were striking fairly well.

Night fishing resulted in good strings of crappie, which generally are ming to 15-20 ft. of water, although a few were taking baits into a couple feet below surface. Minnows were best bait.

Channel catfishing was fair, and best up the Colorado River arm in the Twelve-Mile River area; yellow catfishing was fair. Trollers had mixed results catching white bass with crank baits, spoons and spinners in 5-15 ft., with the Concho arm the best area. Bass fishermen, casting in deeper 2-40-ft., with the Concho arm the best area. Bass fishermen, casting in deeper 2-40-ft., occasionally hooked a walleye.

Lake Spence results included:

PAINT CREEK MARINA - R.L. Flanagan, Robert Lee, reeled in 15-1/4 and 14-3/4-lb. stripers, using cut shad; Don Blair, Paint Creek, caught a 11-1/2-lb. striper, with top-water lure; Kevin Haser, Dallas, caught a 15-2/4-lb. striper; Gary Mitchell and Jerry Tredaway, Odessa, used Poppers top-water lure to land 10 and 15-lb. stripers; Paul Lane and Ernie Branscum, San Angelo, limited on stripers from 3 to 4 lbs.; and next day Lane joined with Jim Giles for 15 stripers from 2-1/2 to 4 lbs. It was David Counts, Water Valley, who baited with crawfish to catch an 8-lb., 2-oz. black bass; while Ch ad Payne, Odessa, reeled in one at 6-1/2-lbs. E. C. Offield, Midland, used amodel A bomber to catch one at 3-1/2-lbs.

Behind-the-plate sales pitches have their place, and it's not in the majors

The most exciting part of a televised baseball game for some people isn't the home run, or the strikeout, or even the rare triple play.

It's the advertising pool.

Specifically, we're talking big-time advertisers who shell out thousands of dollars to put those hideous, revolving jingles behind home plate, where the center-field camera can't help but see them.

Thus, you can't help but see them.

Can't you see the president of the Schott's lawn care products line sitting at home watching the game when his advertisements come up to bat behind home plate?

"Come on, baby! Big inning here! We need six runs now, to keep this inning going as long as it can. Hey, pitcher - take your time, keep that ad up there!"

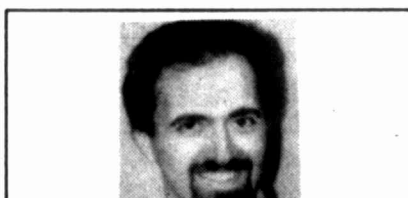

"By the way, dear - Who's playing?"

Baseball has enough problems as it is, then we tune in Opening Day to see pitches behind the plate as well as toward the plate.

We were warned. The American and National leagues discussed these home-plate pitches during the offseason, and it was reported that both league presidents were considering banning such advertisements.

Apparently the owners waved the money issue in front of the presidents' heads, because both leagues have the pitch machines behind home plate.

Let teams make their money,

Dave Hargrave

but get rid of these dumb signs.

Even the players have complained (imagine that), saying the advertisements behind home plate make it difficult to pick up the ball off the bat. It's not an empty concern - some of those displays have plenty of white in them.

But baseball is all about money, and baseball teams are raking in the dough with this latest revenue plan. First there were revolving advertisement displays in the upper deck, then on field level and now behind home plate.

Why don't they just put advertisements on the pitcher's rear end? No way the center-field camera could miss that. The pitcher could change pants every inning so nine businesses could pour money in the coffers.

OK - maybe we shouldn't make such a big deal about this. It's just capitalism at work, right?

Maybe it is, but billboards and on-field advertisements already have their place - in the minor leagues.

That's where they should stay.

Dave Hargrave is the sports editor of the Herald.

SWC dying fast

By The Associated Press

HOUSTON — The Southwest Conference's demise could occur faster than expected now that three more conference members appear ready to flee.

SWC athletic directors have scheduled an April 29 meeting in Dallas to "discuss how we're going to close down the conference," said Texas A&M athletic director Wally Groff.

It appears Rice, Texas Christian and Southern Methodist are heading to the Western Athletic Conference.

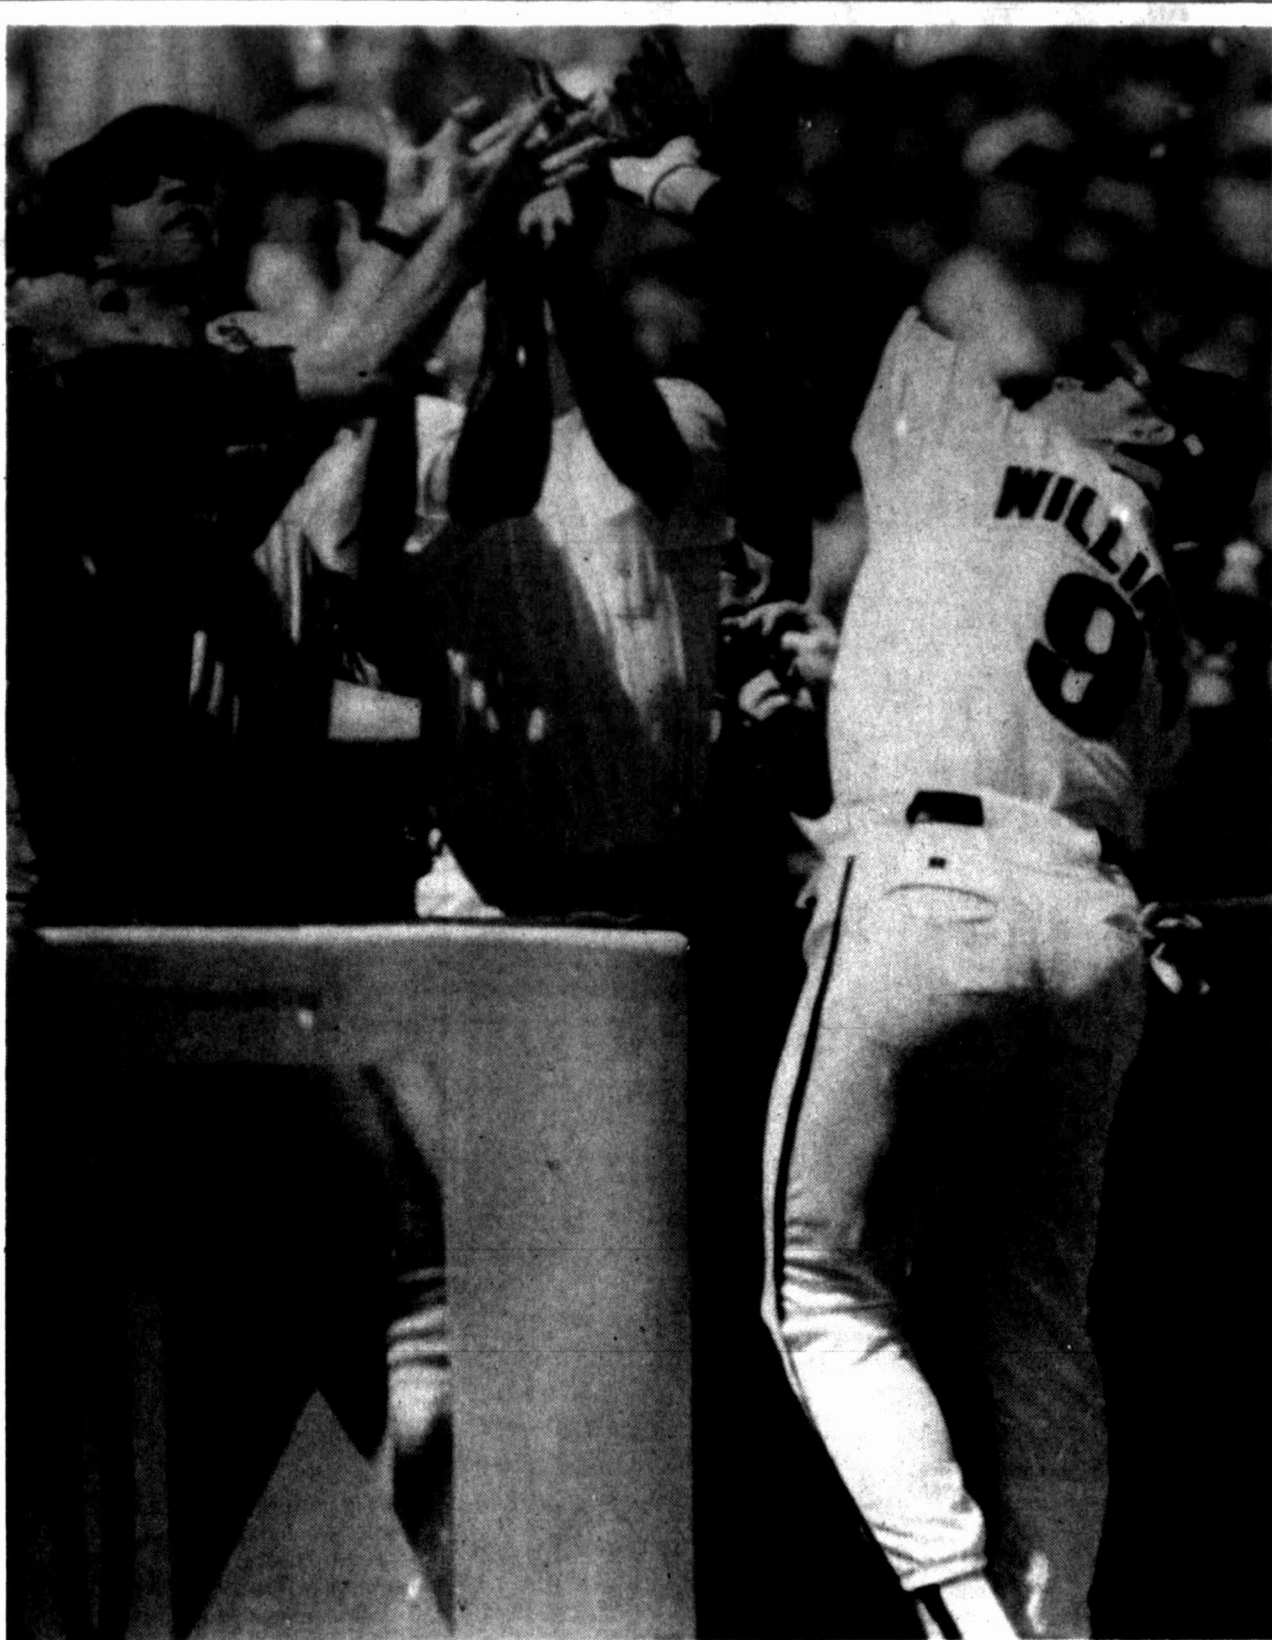

Texas, Texas A&M, Baylor and Texas Tech already have bolted the Southwest Conference for the Big Eight.

Football competition will not begin until 1996, because of scheduling and College Football Association contractual obligations. But several non-revenue spring sports could begin play next spring and basketball could begin after just one more SWC season, the Houston Chronicle reported Wednesday.

Groff said he believes there will be two more Southwest Conference football seasons.

"But we may start with some spring sports next year. And we might like to start all the other sports as quickly as we can get in," Groff said. "Now, with the three schools getting in the WAC, they might want to get on with their business, too."

The latest moves will leave Houston as the lone Southwest Conference school.

Dear Abby - Letters...

Teacher turns lice into lesson for class

DEAR ABBY: I teach elementary school in rural Wisconsin, and I have found that head lice are fairly common in schools (one-third of my class was infested with them), because kids share combs, brushes and hats with their friends. (Lice do not jump from person to person.) The students were all sent home for treatment, and under the direction of the school nurse, they all returned the same day. Abby, October is National Head Lice Month, so the kids in my class did some research and learned that they cannot get lice from (or give them to) their pets. One boy made a headband with "feelers" on it for the nurse to wear during head lice checks. The kids even came up with a "cootie cheer" to scare the lice away.

The family who shunned their relatives over lice were lousy relatives. — KATHLEEN COOK

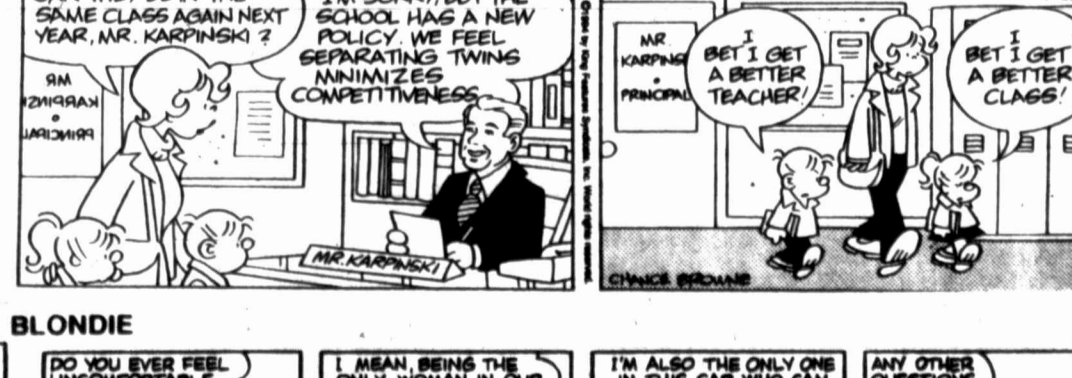

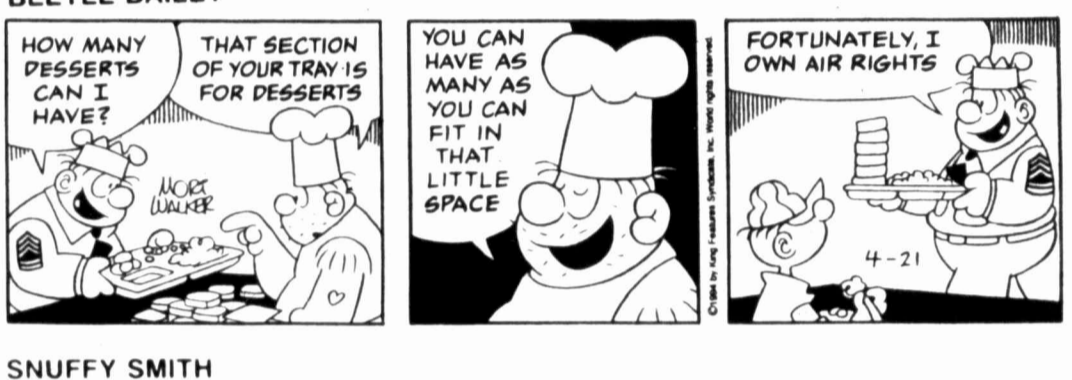

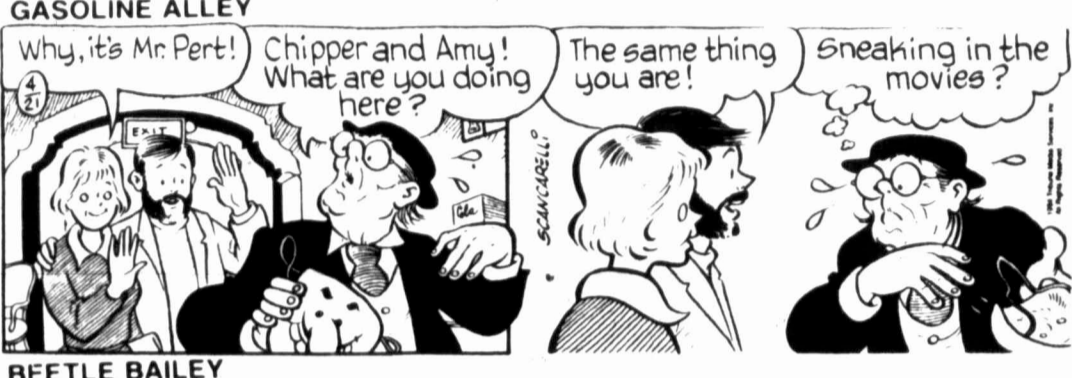

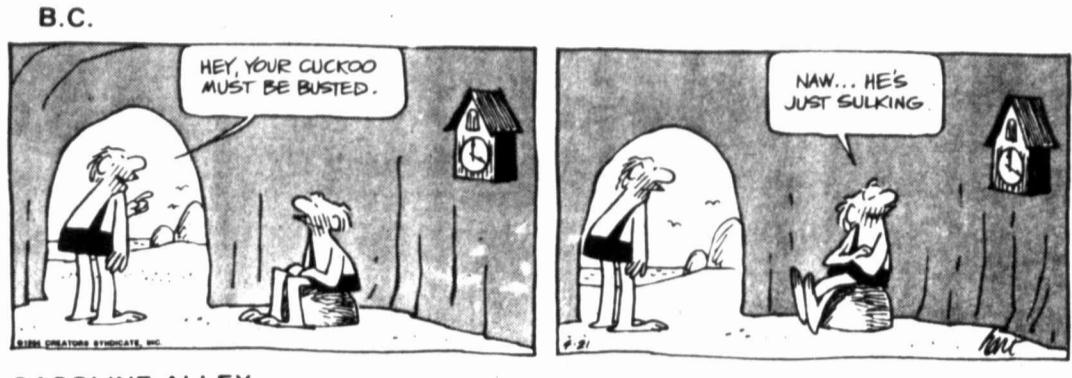

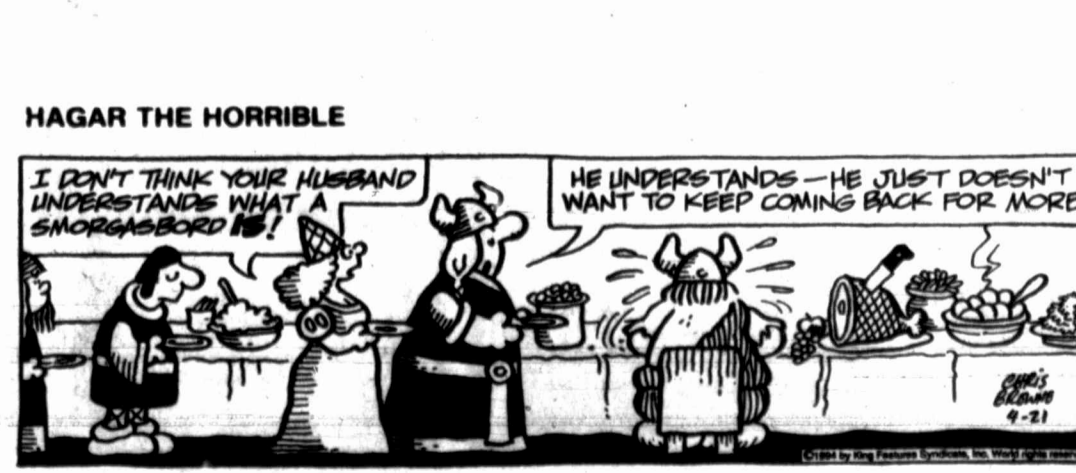

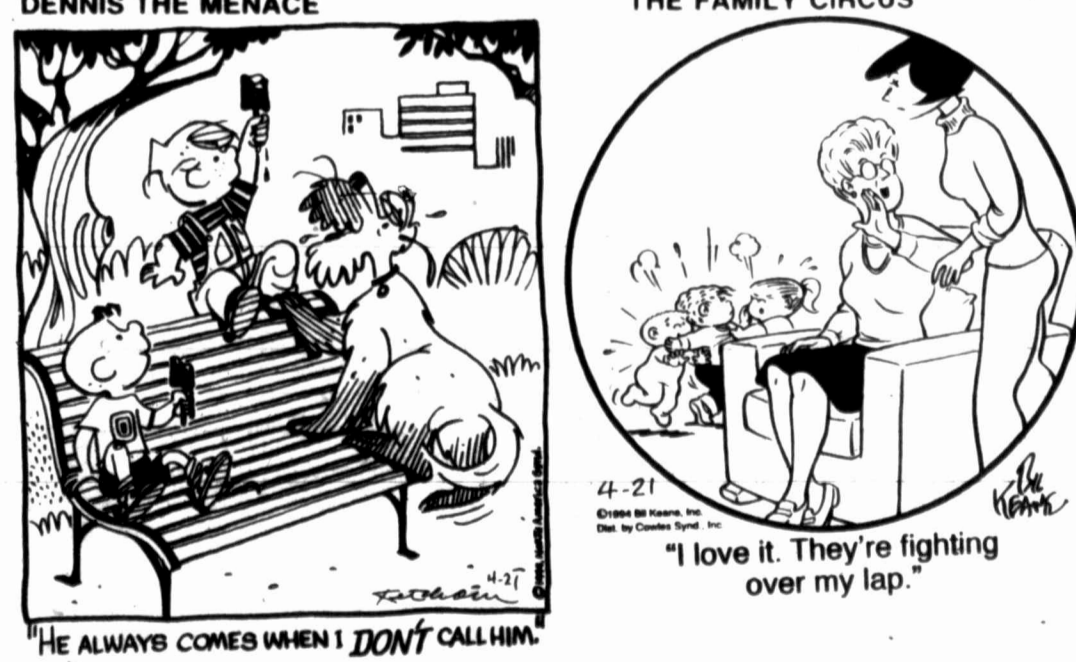

DEAR KATHLEEN: My, what a graphic letter! I could barely get through it without scratching my head half a dozen times. Thanks for advising me that October is National Head Lice Month. It was news to me.

DEAR ABBY: A close member of my family recently passed away. My co-workers where I had worked for almost 20 years sent one sympathy card signed by all my co-workers.

Abby, I have contributed to every collection in my department — and other departments — for births, deaths, sicknesses, retirements and other occasions. Maybe I am being overly sensitive, but I was very hurt by this seeming lack of caring.

I would appreciate your opinion. And I hope that maybe someone will learn that a death in one's family should not be acknowledged as one acknowledges a birthday —
